Elections Supervisor Admits Errors

Petition: Rerun Balloting

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

A petition was filed today in Seminole Circuit Court asking for a ruling on the validity of District 1 returns in Tuesday's city election. The apparent loser in the contest for Sanford city commissioner, A.A. "Mac" McClanahan, filed the petition.

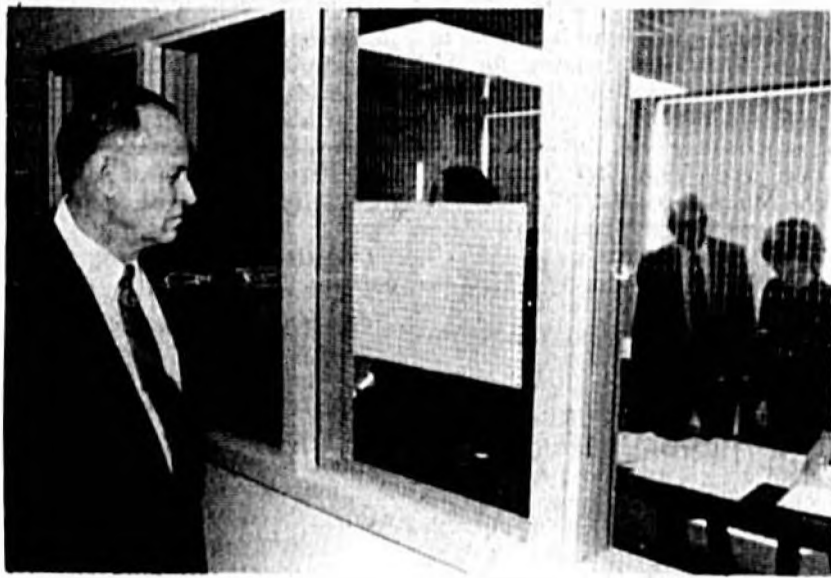

A hearing was scheduled this afternoon before Circuit Judge Kenneth Leffler.

The petition contests the results of the race between John Mercer and McClanahan.

While Mercer was the apparent winner polling 368 votes, 12 more than McClanahan's 356. McClanahan asks the court to throw out the election and call a new one to coincide with Sanford's Dec. 18 mayoral runoff.

The basis for the appeal is that 16 persons, who actually reside in other districts, voted in the District 1 race, McClanahan said, and that two persons who reside in District 1 voted instead in District 2.

Seminole Supervisor of Elections Sandy Goard said she certified a document containing the list of 18 discrepancies. McClanahan said his attorney and son, A.A. "Mick" McClanahan Jr., will submit Mrs.

A.A. McClanahan, watches through the computer elections center window as City Clerk Henry Tamm and Supervisor of Elections Sandy Goard recount ballots Thursday.

Goard's statement to the court as evidence in the appeal.

"The 18 discrepancies add up to more than the difference of the votes between the two candidates," McClanahan said.

McClanahan said he expects other voters from District 1 to protest the election to the circuit court as well.

"I hope the court decides we can rerun on Dec. 18. If a judge grants us one week to campaign that is all I want," McClanahan said.

McClanahan decided Thursday afternoon to file the petition when the original vote totals in his race with Mercer remained firm after a computer recount.

On the discrepancies with where 18 persons voted, he said that wasn't the fault of the voters. "It was due to confusion, an error in the county elections office. But 18 mistakes out of 10,900 voters is not a whole lot of mistakes," he said, reluctant to lay any blame on Mrs. Goard and her staff.

When McClanahan reviewed on Wednesday morning the list of persons who had voted in Districts 1 and 2, he said he found 22 whose addresses he questioned as being legally part of the district designated for them.

After comparing the addresses with a city map showing the four districts in Sanford, Mrs. Goard agreed with McClanahan that 18 of the 22 were not in the right districts.

"I did not review Districts 3 and 4," he said.

Mrs. Goard said her office made the errors.

"It appears that Elliott Avenue gave us a real problem. The boundary between Districts 1 and 3 runs right down the middle of Elliott into Fourth Street and then down Mellenville. We tried to be as perfect as we could be. The even

Lake Mary Moves To Shut Out Strippers

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

If strippers ever plan to take it all off before a Lake Mary audience, they're going to have to get past Mayor Dick Fess and Police Chief Harry Benson to do it.

Fess told the City Commission Thursday that he and Benson were collaborating on ways to prevent x-rated "movies, massage parlors, topless bars and dance halls" from operating in Lake Mary.

He and Benson are studying the ordinances of other Central Florida communities to examine how they regulate such establishments. After gathering information, Fess said he will draft a proposal for an ordinance and then the City Commission will vote on it.

Fess said he isn't trying to impose his beliefs on anyone but added that "it seems to be the sentiment of people we've talked to that they're against this type of thing in Lake Mary."

He also said he is trying to plan ahead and get an ordinance on the books before the city has to deal with this "potential problem."

After the meeting, Commissioner Harry Terry agreed with him.

"With all the problem they've had in Orlando with it — having it move in and then not being able to get rid of it — I think we ought to stop it before it gets here," Terry said.

Commissioner Burt Perinchief said he was sympathetic toward civil libertarians who might consider such an ordinance a "legislation of morality." But, he added, the commission has the authority and responsibility to determine the "fate of the city."

"I do not want to see Lake Mary in any way, shape or form, become a haven for honky tonks and tackiness," he said.

In other commission action Thursday, an apparent refusal by one of the city's four garbage franchisees to comply with an order not to raise its rates caused one commissioner to call for ways to scuttle the company's Lake Mary operation.

Commissioner Colin Keogh, without naming the company, asked City Manager Kathy Rice to find a legal way of getting the garbage franchise to comply or cease doing business in the city.

"I just don't like the idea of someone coming before this commission and laughing at us," Keogh said.

At its Nov. 15 meeting, the commission denied a request for a rate hike from $8 to $10.50 a month by Danjohn Services, Inc., of Longwood. Danjohn said the increase was needed to offset higher dumping costs at the Seminole County landfill.

Since the commission passed an ordinance giving itself the authority to review garbage rates, Danjohn has been the only company requesting an increase.

A Danjohn customer told the commission his December bill, which reflected the unapproved increase, flew in the face of its commission's decision.

Martin Bacon, of 192 S. Fifth St., Lake Mary, shamed the commission for not taking enough action to enforce its ruling.

Bill Alpaugh in front of his 104-year-old house on Lake Charm. The building was originally a church.

Lake Charm Historical Recognition Set

Northern visitors once flocked to Lake Charm near Oviedo because it was said a dip in its pristine waters would cure whatever ailed them. Today, Bill Alpaugh, who lives in the oldest house on the lake, says he doesn't swim much but a walk around the placid lagoon is good for the soul.

"There's no mugging going on out here," Alpaugh said of the serene neighborhood. "It's a wonderful place to live."

He is one of a handful of people who live on Lake Charm Circle, a cracked, 8-foot-wide walkway that rings the lake. Some of the houses are among the oldest in Seminole County. They were built by settlers who came from the north in the 1870s seeking a warmer climate and a chance to make a living growing oranges, cotton and sugar.

Alpaugh's home, built as a church in 1880, was converted to a Masonic Lodge and then a private residence in 1920.

Saturday at 10 a.m. the Seminole County Historical Commission and the Oviedo Historical Society will unveil a marker on the edge of the lake, denoting its historical significance.

Alpaugh, who is incoming president of the commission, said the community was started by Walter Gwynn, who came to Florida from Kentucky in the 1850s and worked for the state's public lands office. While in Tallahassee, he became ill and decided he needed to return to farming to restore his health.

In 1859, Gwynn bought land in the Lake Jesup area and started a sugar plantation on Lake Charm.

In the early 1870s Henry Foster, a New York doctor, moved to the lake and planted orange groves. He also started developing the area as a resort, persuading his northern friends to build winter homes there.

By 1886, the community had about 250 residents, along with its own church, post office and hotel.

But a freeze in 1895 drove many sun-seekers back north and the community wilted as a resort. Some of the homeowners remained, however, and today there are about 40 residents on the lake.

Alpaugh said the area still retains the

Hijackers Extend Deadline To Kill 66 More Hostages

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Arab hijackers who killed three passengers aboard a Kuwaiti jet, including two Americans, today extended a deadline to kill 66 others but agreed to release some hostages when negotiators accept one of their demands.

Iranian officials said the five hijackers briefly cut radio contact with Tehran airport control tower today when Iranian and Kuwaiti negotiators pleaded for an end to the killings.

The hijackers later told their negotiators that "if a statement prepared by them is released through the mass media, they would free a number of other passengers on board," Iran's state-owned news agency, IRNA, said. It said the Kuwaiti government negotiators at Tehran airport had accepted the demand.

"Nothing is yet known about the contents of the statement," the agency said.

Thursday, the hijackers marched two passengers to the plane's staircase and shot them to death as the other hostages sat helplessly roped to their seats, IRNA said.

The killings brought to at least three the number of passengers slain in the three-day showdown at Tehran's Mehrabad Airport. The hijacking is the first in which passengers have been singled out and executed.

Iranian officials said the hijackers had threatened to kill the remaining passengers at midnight Thursday unless Kuwait released 21 prisoners convicted of attacks on U.S. and French targets. They later agreed to extend the deadline but officials did not say what new deadline, if any, was set.

Minutes after agreeing to extend the deadline, the hijackers broke off radio contact with the control tower from where Iranian and Kuwaiti negotiators pleaded for an end to the hijack — now in its fourth day.

Revising previous figures, IRNA today said "at present, there are 66 passengers on board, and so far 99 passengers, mainly women and children have been released in three stages through the efforts of the officials of the Islamic Republic of Iran." The agency did not explain the change.

At the time of the hijack Tuesday, the Kuwaiti government said there were 150 passengers and 11 crew members on board the aircraft. When the aircraft landed at Tehran airport, the Iranians said there were 166 people on board — including the five hijackers.

The hijack drama began Tuesday when the gunmen seized the Kuwaiti airlines A-300 Airbus on a flight from Kuwait to Karachi, Pakistan.

The State Department said one of the two passengers killed

Holidays Ease Jobless Rate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. unemployment rate dropped to 7.2 percent in November, helped down from October's 7.4 percent by a burst of Christmas-season hiring in retail stores, the Labor Department said today.

The improvement, the first since a smaller decline in September, made the unemployment rate the lowest since June's 7.1 percent.

The number of unemployed persons fell by 275,000 to 8.2 million, after seasonal adjustment, the department said.

Civilian jobs rose by nearly 300,000 to a record 105.9 million, with 40 percent of the gain — 115,000 jobs — in retailing.

But factory jobs showed little change, a leveling off of job growth in industry that has been the case since July.

Manufacturing has regained only about 70 percent of the jobs lost in the 1981-1982 recession.

The improvements did not affect adult men, whose 6.3 percent jobless rate was unchanged. But the unemployment rates for adult women and teenagers did show improvement.

The jobless rate for teenagers, at 17.5 percent, was down substantially from October's 18.8 percent.

The unemployment rate for black workers declined to 15 percent from 15.4 percent in October and that for Hispanic workers dropped even more, from 10.9 percent to 10 percent in November.

The nation's unemployment rate was 7.5 percent in both July and August and lingered at 7.4 percent in September and October.

McNamara Says Westmoreland Didn't Lie About Troop Strength

NEW YORK (UPI) — Breaking his long silence on the Vietnam War, former Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara appeared at Gen. William Westmoreland's libel trial against CBS and said he had disagreed with the general but never doubted his integrity.

McNamara, Secretary of Defense under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, testified Thursday that he never felt Westmoreland deceived him or Johnson on the number of enemy troops in South Vietnam.

A 1982 "CBS Reports" documentary — "The Uncounted Enemy: A Vietnam Deception" — accused Westmoreland of lying to his superiors about the number of enemy troops during the war to make it appear U.S. and South Vietnamese forces were winning a battle of attrition.

The retired four-star general, claiming the program had damaged his reputation, sued the network and those who made the documentary. The suit demanded $120 million in damages.

The trial now is in its ninth week in U.S. District Court in Manhattan.

Kennedy's Children Arrested

By United Press International

Two teenage children of the late Robert Kennedy, the Senate's stalwart civil rights supporter in the 1960s, and the wife of the Rev. Jesse Jackson were arrested in protests against South Africa's apartheid policy.

Twenty-five more Americans joined the ranks Thursday of those arrested protesting Cape Town's constitutional racist politics.

Seven people were arrested in New York; six in San Francisco; three in Washington, D.C.; six in Boston and three in Chicago at South African diplomatic missions or businesses.

The protests, which began outside the South African Embassy in Washington, have resulted in 65 arrests since Thanksgiving Eve. Rep. Gus Savage, D-Ill., State Sen. Richard Newhouse, D-Chicago, and Jacqueline Jackson, the wife of the Rev. Jesse Jackson, were led from the office of the South African Consul General in Chicago by police when they refused to leave.

They were released because consul officials refused to press trespassing charges.

Union Carbide Chief Arrested In Indian Gas Leak Tragedy

BHOPAL, India (UPI) — Police arrested Union Carbide Corp. Chairman Warren Anderson today as he arrived in Bhopal to inspect a pesticide plant that spewed toxic gas over the central Indian city, killing more than 2,000 people.

The 63-year-old American executive — who Business Week magazine estimates earned $837,000 in salary and bonuses last year — was arrested at the airport with two executives of Union Carbide's Indian subsidiary, the Press Trust of India said.

Sudeep Banerjee, spokesman for the Madhya Pradesh state government, said Anderson and the Indian executives were arrested for "criminal liability for the events that led to the great tragedy" on Dec. 3.

Anderson and the two Indian executives joined six supervisors of the Bhopal Union Carbide plant arrested previously on charges of criminal negligence in the accident — the worst chemical disaster in history.

Tracked Down Through Lost Driver's License

'Back Yard Rapist' Arrested

A 24-year-old Longwood man was being held in the Seminole County jail without bond charged with rape, kidnapping and armed burglary in connection with a Thursday attack on a Winter Park woman.

Sheriff's deputies report the man, who entered the woman's apartment through an open sliding glass door, held a knife to her throat, forced her outside and raped her in the back yard, was traced through a driver's license found near the scene shortly after the attack.

The man was picked up by deputies as he walked along state Road 436, Casselberry, shortly after the 3:30 a.m. assault. The 24-year-old victim identified a suspect from a photo lineup. The suspect reportedly told deputies that he couldn't remember what had happened Thursday morning because he was drunk.

Rene Munoz, 24, of 1415 Meadowlark St., has been charged in the case.

The officer first spotted the suspect in the van in the parking lot of the Hotline Bottle Club, state Road 436, Altamonte Springs, where he appeared to be hiding from the officer, the report said.

The officer searched the man and reported finding a plastic bag of pot in one of his pockets.

'School Busing Could Be Ended Nationwide'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For the first time, the Justice Department has told an appeals court a local school board can abolish court-ordered busing for school desegregation — a move that could affect school districts nationwide.

The department filed documents Thursday in the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Richmond, Va., in support of a Norfolk, Va., plan to end part of the city's school busing program, in effect for 13 years.

The case could affect school districts nationwide that have used mandatory busing to desegregate schools. Many districts are located in urban areas where the white population has been declining.

Napoleon Williams Jr., an attorney with the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund and one of the attorneys who argued against the plan, called the move by the department "outrageous."

"Every school district in a roughly comparable situation could do the same thing," he said. "School busing could be ended nationwide."

Former Richmond, Va., Mayor Henry Marsh III, who also argued against the plan, said the school board was asking the courts to overturn the Supreme Court's landmark 1954 Brown vs. Board of Education case, which struck down separate but equal provisions for educating black and white students.

The Norfolk school board first proposed the plan in February 1983 to end "white flight," the departure of white families from the city and the school system.

Supreme Court Reprimands Judge Who Set Up Golf Betting

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Orange County Circuit Judge James S. Byrd has been reprimanded by the Florida Supreme Court for his organizing of a $17,600 betting pool at a country club golf tournament.

The high court, in its 6-0 ruling Thursday, adopted without elaboration the findings of the state Judicial Qualifications Commission, which concluded that the judge had violated the Code of Judicial Conduct.

Byrd, 59, did not contest the allegations that he had helped organize and promote a "calcutta" gambling pool at three annual golf tournaments held in honor of his late twin brother, Jack, who died in a 1974 plane crash.

The judge also agreed to accept the reprimand.

The commission told Byrd his conduct "has impaired the confidence of the citizens of this state in the integrity of the judicial system."

How To Pay For Canker Relief?

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida House approved a $5.9 million program to fight citrus canker Thursday but the Senate delayed action on the matter when a committee disagreed with its approach to the problem.

The House measure would free $3 million from the state's general revenues to cover the cost of burning the more than 6 million citrus trees and saplings infected with the canker thus far. The measure would also provide $2.9 million to reimburse growers for their losses.

The bill would not completely repay growers for plants burned by agriculture officials seeking to destroy the bacteria which cause the disease. The growers would have to absorb 25 percent of their losses on their own.

But some legislators resisted the entire idea of using general revenue funds to repay the growers for their burned plants, preferring instead that the funds come out of the Citrus Advertising Trust Fund, an account to which grove owners contribute to promote the industry.

Non-Bank Bank Ban Sought

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Florida legislators have sent Gov. Bob Graham a bill declaring a six-month moratorium on state chartering of "non-bank banks" in Florida.

Sen. Jake Garn, R-Utah, and Rep. Fernand J. St. Germain, D-R.I., plan to introduce federal legislation to close a loophole through which nationally chartered banks in one state can set up deposit offices — known as "non-bank banks" — in other states. The U.S. Comptroller of the Currency recently suspended a self-imposed ban on the practice.

Florida Comptroller Gerald Lewis asked legislators Thursday to ban state chartering of non-banks until July 1. By then, he said, Congress will have acted or the regular 1985 state legislative session can act on the issue.

Existing Florida law defines a "bank" as an institution that takes deposits and makes commercial loans. By providing only one service — taking in money — lenders could avoid state banking regulations, Lewis said.

PBA Plane Crash Kills 13

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — The wreckage of a Provincetown-Boston Airline plane which crashed after takeoff Thursday night was so tangled that officials still had not removed the bodies of 13 people more than half a day later.

The 11 passengers and two crew members aboard the Jacksonville to Tampa flight died instantly, officials said. It was the third fatal accident in little more than four months for PBA, which was grounded for 15 days by the Federal Aviation Administration for numerous safety violations.

PBA Flight 1039, making its fourth commuter trip of the day between Jacksonville and Tampa, lost power, crashed and burned in a swampy pine woods about 6:15 p.m., just moments after clearing the runway on takeoff.

"For an unknown reason the airplane lost power, crashed, disintegrated and burned, probably killing everyone aboard instantly," Jacksonville police spokesman Charley Hill said.

Officials still had not removed any of the bodies from the tangled wreckage at mid-morning today. FAA and National Transportation Safety Board investigators were at the scene.

The charred bodies of the victims were inside the mangled fuselage. PBA said it would not release the names of the dead until they were positively identified by the coroner.

It was the second worst commuter plane crash this year and the third involving fatalities for PBA.

On July 13, an unscheduled PBA flight crashed into Boston Harbor, near Logan Airport, killing the pilot's wife — his only passenger. On Sept. 7, a PBA plane crashed in Naples, Fla., killing one person, after the propeller-driven aircraft was given jet fuel.

In the worst commuter accident this year, a Wings West airliner collided with a private plane Aug. 24 after leaving California's San Luis Obispo airport on a flight to San Francisco, killing 17 people.

PBA, the nation's largest commuter airline, just resumed full service Tuesday with its fleet of 105 aircraft after being grounded Nov. 10 for safety violations. The FAA had permitted limited service since Nov. 25.

School Construction Bill Veto Overturned

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham's veto of a "something for everyone" public school construction plan — a record $185.2 million package enacted by the 1984 legislative session — never stood a chance.

On the opening day of the special legislative session, the Senate voted unanimously Thursday to overturn Graham's veto of the Public Education Capital Outlay bill. In the House an hour later, the vote was 114-1.

Rep. Peter Deutsch, D-Sunrise, cast the lone vote to uphold Graham's veto.

In other business Thursday, both houses passed bills repealing the unitary tax on business, but there was some dispute as to how to replace about $50 million in lost annual revenue. Both bills include an increase in the corporate income tax from 5 percent to 5 1/2 percent.

The differences in the bills were expected to be resolved today.

Senate President Harry Johnston, D-West Palm Beach, said the easy override votes were not related to the governor's recently acrimonious relations with the House and Senate on other issues in the current special legislative session.

Correction

Sanford engineer, B.C. "Cal" Conklin, 58, recovering from an attempted armed robbery and then knifing in Tallahassee, was not injured while near the University of Florida campus as was reported in Thursday's Herald. It was near the Florida State campus.

house numbers went in one district and the odd numbers went in another. It appears that the person I assigned to the project got confused and reversed the numbers putting 18 voters in the wrong districts. The responsibility was ours," she said.

However, Mrs. Goard reminded that she asked the city of Sanford to follow precinct lines as closely as possible when the city was divided into four districts last spring.

She said she was assured by City Attorney Bill Colbert that her assistance would be called for before the district boundaries were set. She said the next she heard about the districts was when she was given a legal description of the boundaries already set and several precincts were cut into in two or more districts as a result.

"The district lines do not conform with precinct lines," Mrs. Goard said.

"This just hasn't been my year," the elections supervisor said, noting the breakdown of vote counting equipment in the general election a month ago. Then the recount in Longwood, the recount in Sanford and now the court case in Sanford.

The city was split into four voting districts after five black city residents filed suit in federal court seeking single member districts, insisting the city's at large voting system made it impossible for a black to be elected in Sanford and diluted minority voting strength. The districts proposed by Robert Lipman, the attorney for the plaintiffs, were approved by the Sanford City Commission and Federal Judge Elizabeth Kovachevich.

Despite the furor in the District 1 contest, the race for a commission seat in District 2, the predominantly black west side of Sanford, resulted in the election of the first black man — Robert Thomas Jr. — to office here, the object of the lawsuit.

Thomas not only became the first black elected in Sanford, he is also the third black elected to office in Seminole County. Roland Williams and Joe Williams have been elected to seats on the county school board after first receiving gubernatorial appointments. Blacks have not been elected to the county commission or to any other city commission or council in the county.

"If we're going to have control over those working in the city we should have control," he said.

At that, the commissioners voted to have Mrs. Rice try to convince the company to withdraw the increase or be dropped as a city franchise.

Commissioner Burt Perin chief said action may not be needed if many Lake Mary customers "leave this company in droves" and start taking service from the other three franchises.

Danjohn General Manager Jeff O'Connor said today the company was "willing to get out of Lake Mary" if city hall gave the word.

"If the city does not want us to go in there, they should write us an official letter and let us know. But we cannot pick up garbage in Lake Mary at $8 — period," O'Connor said.

But, he said, the three other companies will not be able to provide the same service for $8 and will probably have to go up on their rates also.

In another move, the commission adopted a statement calling for the city to remain a participant in a Sanford waste-water plan.

Sanford officials were told by the Florida Department of Environmental Regulation that they must ask Lake Mary representatives and other Seminole County residents if they wish to be included in a plan for a waste-water treatment plant before construction could begin.

Sanford City Manager Warren "Pete" Knowles asked Lake Mary to withdraw from the so-called 201 plan since the city had not helped pay for any of the planning expenses.

But DER officials said Sanford had to give Lake Mary more time to decide.

In a statement sent to Sanford officials, the commission said Lake Mary's current policy of using septic tanks isn't posing any environmental problems now but the city would like to be included in the plan at a later date.

Thursday was an American, the second U.S. citizen slain since the plane was commandeered Tuesday. His body was riddled with six bullets.

In calls to media Thursday, Larry Stanford said he believed his father, William L. Stanford, an AID employee in the Middle East, was one of those killed Thursday.

The third hostage killed Thursday was identified as a Kuwaiti.

The State Department said three AID employees en route to posts in Karachi were among six Americans on board the plane when it was hijacked.

Tempest In A Ski Cap

Should people be able to work at home knitting ski caps, embroidering shirts and doing assorted other manufacturing jobs for the garment industry? Forty years ago, the federal government banned such home work. The cities at the time were still dotted with tenements full of impoverished women, who usually understood neither the English language nor their legal rights, laboring long hours at home, under terrible conditions for illegally low pay, and often pressing their children into service, as well. A ban on home work seemed the only way to prevent employers from thus evading the labor protection laws.

But in 1979, when the government ordered a Vermont ski-cap company to stop farming out its work to local housewives, the situation was entirely different. The Vermont home-knitters didn't feel they were being taken advantage of; in fact, they were outraged that the government would limit their freedom to work at home where they could mind their children, set their own hours and avoid a long commute in the snow.

In response, the Reagan administration in 1981 tried to wipe the old home-work ban off the books. But that, in turn, outraged the urban garment workers unions. They were witnessing a resurgence of sweatshop-style labor among a new wave of immigrants, particularly in California and New York, which would only grow that much farther out of control if home labor were once more legalized. They took the matter to court, where the ban on home work was reinstated.

Who was right? Both. And that's why the controversy raged on for another several years, until recently, when the Reagan administration came up with a sensible compromise that recognizes both realities.

The administration once again lifted the federal ban on home-knitting, but this time it provided an alternative method of securing the labor protections the ban was originally meant to promote: Under the new rule, any company employing home-knitters will have to keep records that regulators can inspect to make sure wage and hour and other labor laws are being obeyed. Moreover, any state that is faced with a less tractable situation — more like the old sweatshop tenements than the Vermont cottage industries — can continue to impose its own statewide ban on home work for the garment industry. Quite appropriately for their circumstances, New York and California — among others — have such state laws.

This compromise hasn't satisfied the die-hards on either side, and it, too, may be challenged in court. But its eminent practicality ought to save it. Although there are those who deny it, assuring decent working conditions throughout the country is properly the government's business. On the other hand, doing so with a minimum of restrictions on the prospects of individual workers is equally important.

The home-work controversy is sure to continue as technological advances expand the number of industries that can operate with low-skilled, home-based labor. The home-knitting compromise suggests an approach that could serve well in the future, by acknowledging both the need for government protection and the variety of the situations in which it occurs.

BERRY'S WORLD

By Rick Brunson

People who want to put in their two cents worth concerning the selection of school books and materials will have a chance through Dec. 13 in room 227 of the school board office, 1211 Mellonville Ave., Sanford.

Driver education materials have come up for review and the school board is asking parents and citizens to come by and give their input. You may do so between 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Also, the board's Driver Education Instructional Material Pre-Adoption Evaluation Committee will meet Dec. 11 at Crooms School at 1 p.m. Interested persons are invited to attend.

It will cost $9.6 million to educate Florida students in kindergarten to high school from 1985-87. That's the figure Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington turned in to the State Board of Education in the form of a budget proposal. The board sent it back to him with its blessing. Now it must go to Gov. Bob Graham and the Florida Legislature for approval.

In keeping with the commissioner's goal to move teachers' salaries into the top 25 percent of the nation by 1989, the budget calls for $220 million in salary increases for kindergarten through 12th grade teachers.

Community college teachers will get an extra $916 a year raise and university instructors will get a $433 a year raise, along with an overall 5 percent increase.

The budget asks for $7 billion in general revenue funds for public schools and $847 million for community colleges. State universities want $1.6 billion

About $277 million is requested for a catch-all category of other programs and services.

In addition to the $9.6 million budget, the SBE also approved $23 million more to be spent on various studies and committees.

Included in this figure is $4.7 million earmarked for the SBE Advisory Committee on the Education of Blacks in Florida — a study group designed to help improve educational opportunities for minorities.

The other $17.7 million will go to, among other things, a feasibility study for pre-school programs for students from disadvantaged families, scholarships to attract more bright students into teaching, additional school counselors and continuance of the eminent scholars program at state universities.

View From Taipei

TAIPEI, Taiwan (NEA) — There can be few places on the globe where plans for the 1997 incorporation of Hong Kong into Red China are viewed with closer attention than here in Taiwan, island bastion of the (Nationalist) Republic of China.

For one thing, Britain's agreement to surrender sovereignty over its exotic crown colony has already triggered an exodus of money and (to a lesser extent) people from Hong Kong to safer non-communist havens around the globe. Inevitably, many Hong Kong residents look to nearby Chinese-populated Taiwan as a possible refuge.

Secondly, Peking has hailed its own consent to the continuation of Hong Kong's system of democratic capitalism for 50 years after 1997 ("one country, two systems") as a model for the peaceful incorporation of Taiwan itself into the People's Republic of China.

Finally, the communist regime has hinted darkly that if Taipei stubbornly refuses to "go gently into that dark night," force may be used to bring it to heel.

With regard to the first point, there is no question that the vast majority of Hong Kong residents would oppose the colony's incorporation into Red China if they had any say in the matter (which they don't). Everyone who is wealthy enough has already transferred funds abroad, to draw on if and when the time comes to flee. A good many others, not rich but lucky enough to have relatives abroad or some other legal excuse for living elsewhere, are diligently acquiring permits for permanent residence in Taiwan, Singapore, Britain, Canada or the United States.

The government of the Republic of China on Taiwan realizes that it would have a good deal to gain, in terms of prestige and propaganda, by compassionately throwing open its doors to all Chinese seeking refuge from communism. But Taiwan already has a serious overpopulation problem, and thus almost certainly couldn't accommodate all of the Hong Kong refugees who might seek to settle here. A special governmental commission has therefore been set up to see what can be done, and meanwhile Premier Yu Kuo-hwa on Sept. 16 publicly pledged sympathetic attention to the needs of any Hong Kong residents seeking asylum in Taiwan. One educated private guess is that Taiwan might ultimately be able to accommodate 250,000 refugees (5 percent of Hong Kong's total population), mostly middle-class families with financial resources of their own.

Conservatives Plan Reagan Roast

WASHINGTON — Some unreconstructed conservatives, unhappy over President Reagan's failure to live up to their expectations, plan to stir a series of mini-furors. They will accuse Reagan of giving lip service to issues dear to their hearts while he plays the politics of palliatives and postponement.

The center of the coming confrontation between conservatives and moderates will be the Heritage Foundation, which will fire the first shot in a few days. The foundation is about to release a report that will contain a tough assessment of the Reagan administration's performance in the Middle East.

In language reminiscent of Walter Mondale's campaign attacks, the report will charge: "The administration failed to develop a clear policy on the Arab-Israeli, Lebanese and Iraq-Iran conflicts, or on relations with Israel and Saudi Arabia. Persistent confusion in policy has been the result."

Conservatives' Defeat

By Steve Gerstel
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican Sen. Jesse Helms of North Carolina had very good reason to look grim and tight-lipped when the Old Senate Chamber doors finally opened.

In the three hours they were sequestered in the chamber, Republican senators and senators-elect administered a stunning setback to the most conservative wing of the party.

And Jesse Helms, even more so since he won easy but expensive re-election to the Senate, is the acknowledged leader of that wing, often referred to as the New Right.

In electing Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas as the majority leader for the 99th Congress, the Republicans chose a self-described moderate-conservative who is despised by many leaders of the New Right.

Richard Viguerie, publisher of the Conservative Digest, said Dole's election was an "unmitigated disaster" and said conservatives would have preferred "anybody else."

"Bob Dole was the second choice of conservatives," Viguerie said. "The first choice was anybody else."

Although the conservatives might have been happier with any of the other four candidates who sought the prestigious post, their candidate from the start was Sen. James McClure of Idaho, a card-carrying conservative.

Yet, McClure the 52-year-old Westerner, was the first candidate bumped in the unique low-man out election.

On the first ballot, McClure managed 8 votes out of 53 cast, a paltry show of support from fellow conservatives.

Nor was Dole's election the only setback for the Right Wing.

The most conservative candidate running for the post of assistant leader was Wisconsin's young Robert Kastner.

But Kastner also failed to survive the first round with Sen. Alan Simpson of Wyoming beating Sen. Slade Gorton of Washington.

Simpson is a conservative but certainly not an associate of the Helms wing.

The most surprising outcome and perhaps the most galling for conservatives was the defeat of Sen. Jake Garn of Utah by Sen. John Chafee of Rhode Island, a member of the liberal-moderate "Gang of Six," as chairman of the GOP conference.

In fact, the conservative enthusiasm was limited to the election of Sen. Thad Cochran of Mississippi as conference secretary and Sen. William Armstrong of Colorado as chairman of the policy committee.

Sen. Malcolm Wallop of Wyoming lost by one vote, 27-26, to moderate Easterner John Heinz of Pennsylvania for the post of campaign committee chairman but that probably was due to the GOP's disinclination to have two senators from one state in the leadership.

The chain reaction activated by the elections brought more bad news for the conservatives.

With chairmanships decided on the basis of seniority, moderate Bob Packwood of Oregon took over the Finance Committee, which has jurisdiction over taxes and a raft of social programs.

Packwood not only is actively disliked by the New Right but also has troubles getting along with the Reagan White House.

Few Belong To AMA

By Linda Corman

BOSTON (UPI) — Dr. Thomas Lee, a 30-year-old Harvard Medical School fellow at Brigham and Women's Hospital, is one of hundreds of thousands of doctors who have never joined the American Medical Association.

He first began jettisoning the AMA's frequent mail solicitations while in medical school because he did not like the organization's politics. It dragged its feet about warning of the links between cigarette smoking and cancer and it opposed Medicare, Medicaid and national health insurance, said Lee.

"It was not proposing solutions of its own. They were merely being obstructionist," he said.

Now, less concerned about the organization's politics, in part because he feels the AMA has lost its clout, Lee remains a non-member because the AMA does not speak to his interests as an academic physician.

Since 1964, membership in the AMA has declined from 73 percent of licensed physicians (206,000 members of 283,000 licensed physicians) to 49 percent in 1983 (255,000 members of 519,403 licensed physicians), according to the AMA.

Doctors mentioned several explanations for the flagging interest, among them an enduring impression that the institution is a bastion of conservatism bent on promoting the interests of doctors over those of their patients, and competition from specialty societies for doctor's time and money.

Peter Loewinthan, 40, a pediatrician in a community health center in Dorchester, Mass., is among those doctors who never joined the AMA because of political difference.

"I would never consider joining," he said. "Its interests aren't mine nor are their interests that of patient care. I've never looked into it."

Loewinthan is an active member of the American Academy of Pediatrics.

"They've done a lot of lobbying for car seat safety and come out pro-choice," he said. "Its political stances are much more in line with mine."

Dr. Arnold Relman, editor of the New England Journal of Medicine, said it is the competition for doctors' time presented by the specialty groups, even more than money, which has put a dent in AMA membership.

"Doctors are busy people," said Relman. "Whereas there used to be only one major, national organization, interested in the political, social aspects of medicine, there is now competition from a number of large specialty groups, claiming the allegiance, time and dues of increasing numbers of doctors."

It relates to the Soviet Union and its proxies." Try to de-emphasize the West Bank controversy.

— Libya: "The U.S. should pressure its allies, particularly France, to help contain Libyan adventurism."

— The Iraq-Iranian war: In one of its few passing grades for the Reagan administration's Middle East efforts, the report says approvingly: "American policy has been consistent through four years of war; condemn both sides' aggression, maintain strict neutrality and quietly give military help to whichever side is losing. This stance is proper in a conflict where both belligerents are governed by anti-Western regimes."

This will be followed by other assaults upon Reagan by the conservatives who once supported him with unabashed ardor. They are determined to push the conservative agenda and let the devil take the White House.

"This explains why the United States has sold sophisticated arms to Riyadh that the Saudis are incapable of maintaining by themselves." The report deplores U.S. dependence on the Saudi government for political influence in the Middle East, noting that "it is in fact a defensive and weak regime."

How To Choose A Fresh Christmas Tree

If you haven't been to the Christmas tree lot yet, be sure to take enough cash when you do go. Like everything else, tree prices keep on going up with each passing year. To be sure you get your money's worth, you should keep certain things in mind as you shop.

Choose a fresh tree — one with good color that holds its needles well. Our warm weather causes many Christmas trees to wilt quickly and drop their needles. How well a tree survives depends on the type of tree and when it was cut. Scotch pines and Douglas firs hold their needles quite well. Spruces tend to lose needles more quickly.

Buying a fresh tree is probably the most important piece of advice. There are a couple of reasons why. A fresh tree will last, and look better longer. Old, dried-out trees are unattractive. And they're fire hazards as well. Since most of us use electric lights on our trees, it's easy to see that a dried-out tree becomes very dangerous.

How can you tell if a tree is fresh? First, bend the needles. If the tree is fresh, the needles will be supple and springy. If the tree is old, the needles will snap and break off. Second, bounce the tree's

Alfred Bessesen
Urban Horticulturist

Ext. 181

stump on the ground to see how many needles fall. It's normal for a fresh tree to drop a few needles, but if bouncing produces a shower of needles, put the tree back and select another. Feel the bottom of the stump. The sap of a fresh tree is sticky. On an old stump, it's hard and caked. A fresh tree will have a pleasant fragrance — one that will last throughout the Christmas season.

The tree you select should have a good green color, be full and bushy, and have sturdy branches. Strength of branches is more a matter of tree type than the tree's age or condition. White pine and red cedar trees are well suited to the Florida climate. But, unfortunately, they both have fairly flexible boughs that won't hold decorations very well. Firs, spruces, and Scotch pines, on the other hand, usually have very firm branches.

Since firs, spruces and Scotch pines don't grow here, they have to be imported from the north. They generally cost more than white pines or red cedars. In addition to lower price, Florida-grown trees have another advantage — you can get living trees balled in burlap. They can be added to the landscape after the Christmas season is over.

If you buy your tree several days before you plant to set it up, store it outdoors — in a cool spot in shade or in a carport. Cut the tree stump at a diagonal about one-inch above the original cut. Then, place it in a container of water. When you bring the tree inside, saw the stump again, this time squaring off the diagonal. This creates a fresh wound which helps the tree take up water through the stump. Now place the tree in a stand that holds water. Be sure you keep the stand filled with water at all times. It's surprising how quickly a good-size tree can take up a quart of water. Check the water level at least once a day.

Place your tree in the coolest part of the room.

Keep it away from things like fireplaces, radiators, air ducts and TV sets. The heat from these can cause the tree needles to dry out and drop off very quickly.

Keep a few safety rules in mind too. Never use candles or anything with an open flame on or near the tree. Check your tree lights very carefully for loose connections and worn wires. Don't overload your electrical circuits. If you must use an extension cord, run it out of the way of foot traffic, and be sure it's heavy enough for the power load. Always turn the tree lights off when you leave home or go to bed.

Start your Christmas tree shopping early, so you'll have the best selection of the healthiest trees available. Remember, look for the tree with good color, a sticky, sappy stump, and sturdy branches which hold their needles well. These make the best tree for displaying and decorating. Make sure you keep the tree in the coolest possible place, and that you water it faithfully every day. Take the time to properly care for your Christmas tree, and it will reward you with radiant beauty throughout the holiday season.

Happy Gardening!

Doubts Rise In Woman's Mind When Men Raise Family Issue

DEAR ABBY: I am interested in dating men who have the same thing in common with me, but how do you find them? Let me explain. I am not yet 30, and I've had a hysterectomy. All the men whom I have dated get serious to the point of proposing marriage and speak of raising a family. I feel less than a woman and must discontinue the relationship because I cannot have children.

If I could meet men who have had vasectomies, I wouldn't feel so useless. We could marry and adopt children.

I need to know now where to find these men. Can you help me?

UNHAPPY IN COLUMBIA, MO.

DEAR UNHAPPY: Several years ago a reader suggested that all men who have had vasectomies should wear a small "V" on the heels of their shoes in order to identify themselves. (It never caught on; most women never saw it, and those who did thought the "V" was for Virgin.)

In any case, quite searching for vasectomized men, and please don't feel "less of a woman" because you've had a hysterectomy.

When talk of "raising a family" begins, you can speak your piece. No man worth his salt, excluding royalty, would refuse to marry a woman because she couldn't bear a child any more than a woman would turn down a man because he couldn't give her one.

My question: Do I include his name on our holiday greeting cards? He's still a part of our family even though he doesn't live with us. We don't want to leave him out, but neither do we want to give an incorrect impression as to his residence.

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN DOUBT: You most certainly should include your son's name on your holiday cards. Regardless of where he is, he's still "family." Those close to you know where he is; don't worry about misleading others.

'Tales Of South At War' Told By Chapter Hostess

The regular monthly meeting of the Norman Devere Howard Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, was held Nov. 30 at the home of Mrs. H.B. McCall with 13 members present.

The opening ceremony was led by Mrs. W.B. (Grace) Wallace, with the members joining in the pledge to the American flag and to the Confederate flag. The business of the Chapter was presented by the president, Mrs. Charles (Toni) Hobson. A report was given by Mrs. Hobson on the District meeting in Jacksonville which she and Mrs. Burch (Carolyn) Cornelius attended and she told of the District plans for the coming year.

The colonial home, furnished with antiques, was the perfect setting for the nostalgic program presented by Mrs. McCall, citing excerpts from "The Tales of the South at War," stating crops were scarce due to the shortage of labor and planting was at a minimum with an average of 40 acres being planted instead of the customary 300; thorns were actually used instead of pins; one needle was shared and used by the entire village.

Announcement was made of the December meeting, a luncheon, to be at the home of Mrs. Dobson. Assistant hostesses will be Mrs. M.R. (Minnie) Strickland, Mrs. Martha Ashby and Dr. Sara Irrgang.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. Others attending were Mrs. Katie Corley, Mrs. Sarah Krider, Mrs. Virginia Jones, Mrs. Juanita Miller, Mrs. Eloise Wimblish, Mrs. Carmita Ray, Mrs. Hazel Cash and Mrs. Domarious Varn.

Patz Rallies Lady Knights Past Stubborn Stetson

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

ORLANDO — After trouncing Florida State, 93-76, their first big Division I opponent this season, the University of Central Florida's Lady Knights came back to earth for awhile Thursday night and found out that Stetson's Lady Hatters are one tough group of humans.

After falling behind by seven, 43-36, at halftime, Stetson came on strong in the second half and outscored the Knights, 15-8, in the first 10 minutes to take a 53-51 lead.

But that was the only lead the Lady Hatters would have as Susan Patz rallied the Lady Knights to a 10-point lead with three minutes left as UCF fought off Stetson, 74-67, at the UCF gym before 300 fans.

UCF now stands at 5-0 for the season and will be back in action Saturday at 7:30 as it hosts Sam-Houston State. Stetson, which now stands at 4-2, returns to action a week from Saturday as it hosts Alabama-Birmingham.

Patz scored six of her game-high 24 points in a two-minute span in the second half when UCF took control of the game. The 6-1 junior forward from Orlando scored 15 points in the first half. She also added eight rebounds, DeAnn Craft, a 5-6 junior guard out of Garden City, Kansas, popped in 15 points, 10 in the first half, and Kristy Burns, a 5-10 junior out of Pueblo, Colo., tossed in 13 points.

Dallas Boychuck led the Lady Hatters with 18 points. The 6-2 junior center from Orlando also pulled down 12 rebounds. Terri Cain, Tris Bell and Michael Reilly added 12 points each for Stetson. Sanford's Deidre Hillery, a 6-2 freshman forward, contributed six points and eight boards.

Both teams came out blazing in the first half as UCF hit 20 of 36 shots from the floor for 55 percent and the Hatters hit 17 of 32 for 53 percent. UCF wound up shooting 47 percent from the floor for the game and Stetson shot 44 percent.

Stetson, trailing 43-36 at halftime, opened the second half with six straight points to pull within 43-42. Hillery's layup provided the first two points and Reilly hit a jumper on an assist by Hillery to make it, 43-40. Rishal Dinkins' layup cut UCF's lead to one.

UCF came back with four points to take a 47-42 lead and the Knights hung on to a five point lead, 51-46, until Boychuck hit a pair of short jumpers to pull Stetson back within one, 51-50, with 11:13 remaining.

Stetson got the ball back on a UCF turnover and Cain hit a jumper from the free throw line to give the Lady Hatters a 52-51 lead with 10:40 left to play. Dinkins came back to hit one of two free throws to give Stetson a 53-51 lead.

The Lady Knights called a time out to regroup and then came back with seven straight points to take a 58-53 lead with seven minutes left. Boychuck's bank shot kept Stetson within three, 58-55, but Patz scored four points to boost UCF's lead to seven, 62-55, with 5:50 remaining.

Stetson failed to score on its next possession and Christine Strahl gave UCF a 10-point lead, 65-55, on a three-point play with 5:17 left in the game.

The Lady Hatters rallied back to within four, 67-63, with 1:05 left to play. Burns missed a layup with 53 seconds left, but Strahl came up with a big offensive rebound and was fouled. The 6-3 junior center made both free tosses for a 69-63 lead.

Boychuck's layup made it 69-65 with 31 seconds left but UCF went on to seal the victory by making 5 of 6 free throws the rest of the way.

Temika Skins Wildcats

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

WINTER PARK — Seminole High's girls basketball team, ranked eighth in the 4A state poll, has a 4-1 record in the early going of the season. And, in all four of those wins, the Lady Seminoles have had to fight for their lives.

After beating Orlando Evans by two on Tuesday, Seminole had another tough battle Thursday night against Winter Park's Lady Wildcats. The teams fought to a 44-44 tie at the end of regulation but Seminole came through in overtime to claim a 48-47 victory on Temika Alexander's short jumper with 11 seconds left.

"I'm looking forward to the time when we win by 15 or 20 points," Seminole coach Ron Merthie said. "Every one of our games so far has been a struggle. But I'd rather win by one point than lose by one."

Seminole may be in for another struggle Tuesday as it hosts Daytona Beach Seabreeze in the Tribe's Five Star Conference opener.

The Lady Seminoles jumped out to an early 10-4 lead Thursday night but Winter Park roared back with seven straight points to take an 11-10 lead into the second quarter.

The Lady Wildcats continued to play well in the second quarter and they took a three-point lead, 22-19, at halftime.

"The were really psyched up and emotional," Merthie said of the Wildcats. "Every time we'd get the lead, they'd come right back. We put pressure on their guards and that helped but we couldn't find a big girl to come through until the end when Antika Mitchell came in and did a good job inside."

The two teams traded baskets most of the third quarter and Winter Park clung to a one-point lead, 31-30, going into the fourth. It was nip and tuck throughout the fourth quarter but Seminole outscored the Wildcats, 14-13, to tie the game.

Mona Benton scored the first bucket of overtime to give Seminole a 46-44 lead but Winter Park came back to take a 47-46 lead on Tina Pinkney's three point play with 55 seconds remaining.

Benton put up another shot with 18 seconds left in OT but she missed it. The ball bounced away and there was a scramble for it. Alexander wound up with the ball and the 5-2 junior popped in a five-foot jumper to give the Seminoles a 48-47 lead with 11 seconds left to play.

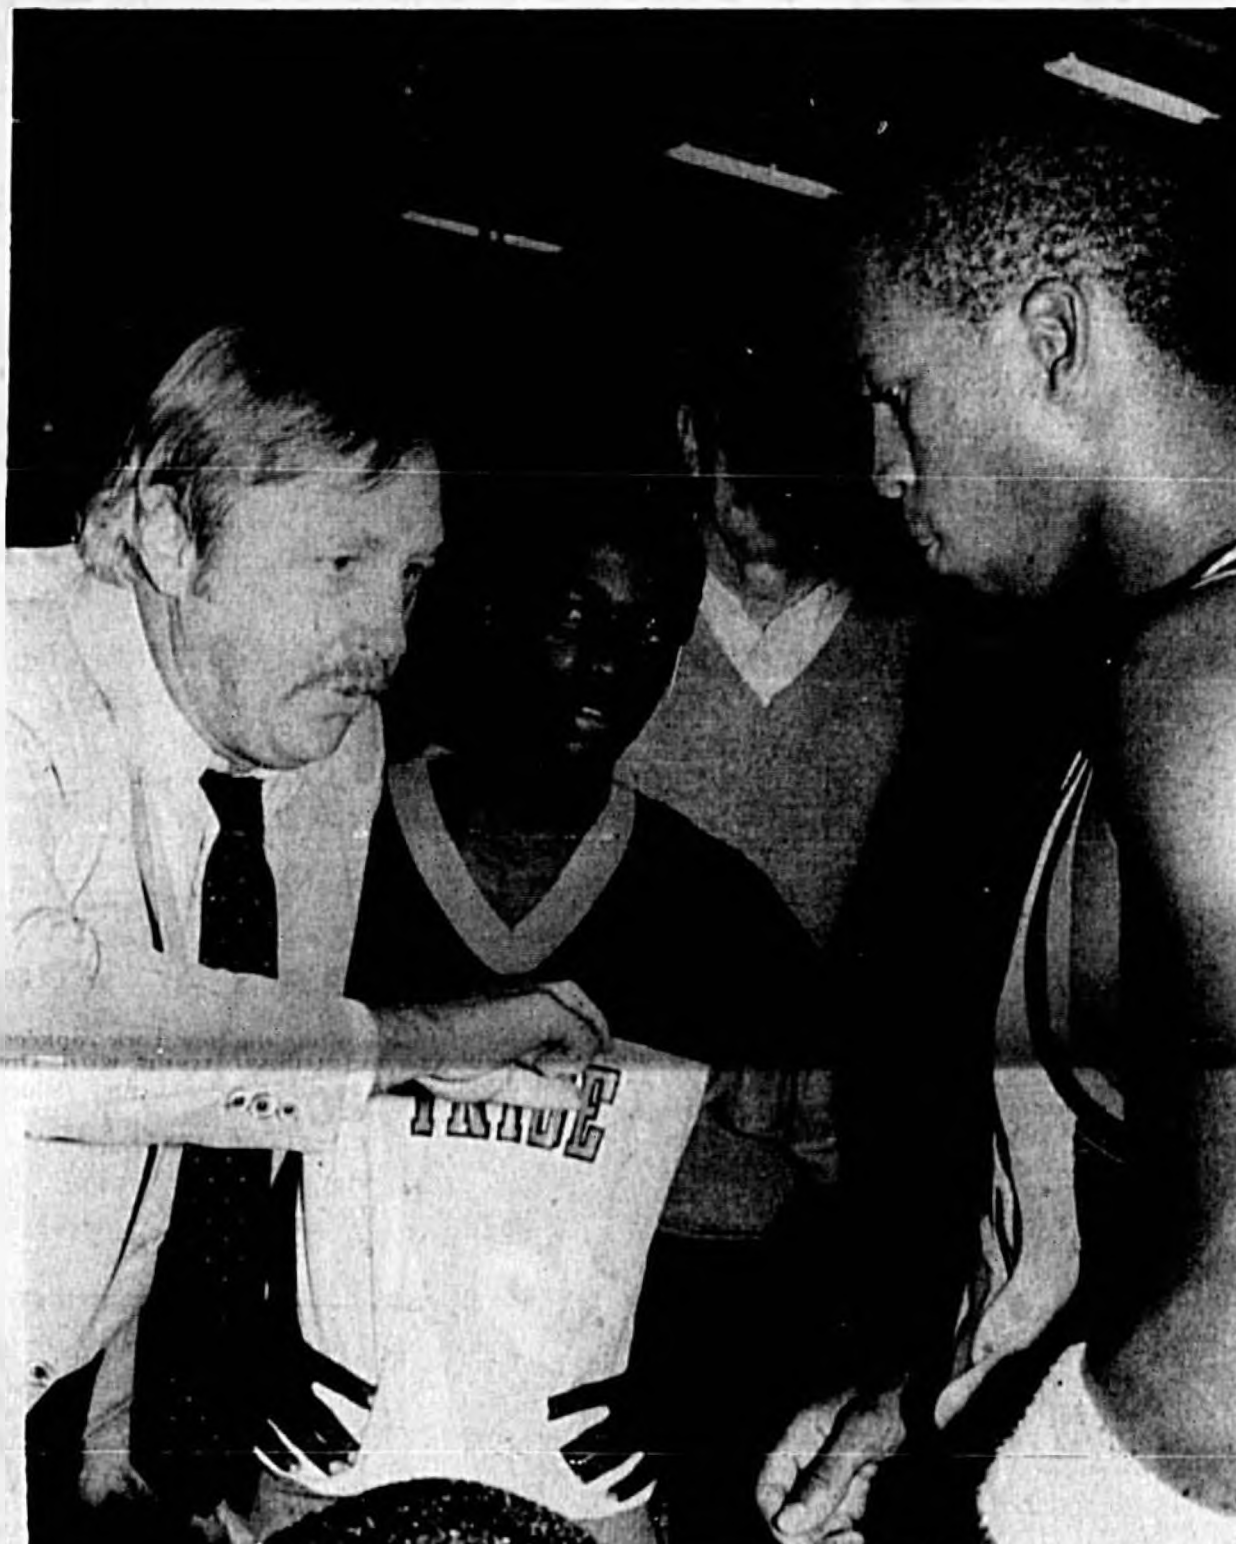

Winter Park had the ball one more time and it got the ball downcourt and called timeout with four seconds left. The Wildcats tried to go to Pinkney on the inbound pass but Catherine Anderson came up with a steal to seal the victory for the Lady Seminoles.

Benton led the way for the Tribe with a game-high 22 points and the versatile senior also added seven rebounds, four assists and four steals. Alexander added 10 points, including the game-winner, two assists and three steals. Beatrice Smith and Ravonda Wallace chipped in with five points each and Anderson pulled down seven rebounds.

Tribe's Pressure Wilts Astronaut

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

The preseason doesn't last very long for Five Star Conference basketball coaches. If they can get three games under their belt, they're lucky. The conference season is just around the corner.

Coach Chris Marlette and his Fighting Seminoles tightened their defensive belt one more notch Thursday night. The Tribe used some balanced scoring and a large dose of defensive pressure to wild Titusville Astronaut, 53-37, before 400 delighted fans at Seminole High's Bill Fleming Gymnasium.

"It was pressure, pressure and pressure that did it," said Marlette about Thursday's win. "Now we've got to do the same thing with Seabreeze on Tuesday."

After disposing of Titusville High and Apopka in the Seminole Sunrise Kiwanis Invitational last weekend and Astronaut Thursday, the Marletemen appear ready for the conference opener against Seabreeze. The Sand Crabs are ranked seventh in the 3A poll. They lost to fourth-ranked 4A Mainland Thursday night in the Daytona Beach New Journal Tournament.

"Seabreeze will be a lot tougher than the teams we've played," said Marlette. "But if we keep playing great defense and hitting our outside shots, we can beat them."

Astronaut, behind the strong inside play of 6-7 sophomore Mike Newton, seized a 12-10 first-quarter edge. Despite numerous Astronaut turnovers, Seminole couldn't overtake the War Eagles until 2:40 remained in the first half when zonebuster Daryl Williams popped one in from the corner for a 16-14 Seminole lead.

Basketball

"Daryl did a good job for us," said Marlette about his junior guard who scored five points. "We used about all the guards we had to keep the pressure on."

The Tribe took just a 20-16 lead into intermission but it wasn't long before senior Ken Gordon blew open the game in the third quarter. Gordon, who scored 13 points and grabbed nine rebounds, tossed in three straight jumpers from the wing to spark Seminole to a 33-26 lead after three quarters.

In the fourth quarter, 6-3 sophomore center Rod Henderson and 6-2 guard James Rouse helped the Tribe outscore the visitors, 20-11, and put the game away earlier.

Rouse, a three-year starter, had eight points in the quarter. He beat the War Eagles three times on backdoor layups, tossed in a soft bank shot and tossed in a long bomb from the wing. Rouse finished with 12 points and seven rebounds.

Henderson, displaying his all-around ability, totaled 11 points, 11 rebounds and three steals. Seminole stole the ball nine times and had six floor recoveries for the night.

In the junior varsity opener for coach Tom Smith's Tribe, James Dennard scored 21 points and added a slam dunk on a rebound as the JV's topped Astronaut, 52-44.

Raiders Test Tournament-Tough Delgado Tonight

Seminole Community College's Raiders get their first taste of a national-class tournament team tonight when New Orleans' Delgado Junior College invades the SCC Health Center. Tip-off is 7:30 p.m.

Delgado, which played in last year's national tournament at Hutchinson, Kans., was beaten by Gulfcoast earlier this week so SCC coach Bill Payne figures it will want to take it out on his rebounding Raiders.

J.C. Basketball

"They have a very talented team," said Payne. "They've well disciplined and well coached. They have a 6-8, 240-pound center named Simmons who is very good and a good shooter named Ray."

Payne said Gulfcoast beat the Louisiana visitors but it might have taken some help from the men in striped shirts. "Gulfcoast's coach (Milton Johnson) said 'Delgado didn't get to the foul line very often.' When you play in North Florida, you have your work cut out for you."

Payne's Raiders snapped a three-game losing streak Tuesday night with a 99-67 victory over the Rollins junior varsity. The victory improved the SCC record to 6-4.

Tonight's starting lineup for SCC is overloaded with guards. Freshman Mike Landell, sophomores Lenny Graoe, Kenny Edwards and Greg Bates will provide the speed along with 6-6 freshman center Willie Strother.

"It's the first time we've started this group," said Payne, who has experimented with several quintets while searching for the right combination. "This group has a lot of quickness, plays good defense and has more scoring firepower."

Broen Kicks Lady Rams Past Luther

Kelly Broen broke loose for three unassisted goals in the second half Thursday night as the Lake Mary Lady Rams squashed Luther, 5-1, in prep soccer at Lake Mary High School.

"Finally, we got into the win column," said coach Bill Elsaele about the Lady Rams' first victory after a tie and a loss in their first two games. "We had 52 shots on goal again, just like Seminole but this time some of them went in."

Five to be exact. Jodi Gall took a pass from Fran Gordon and scored Lake Mary's first-half goal which gave the Lady Rams a 1-1 standoff. Two minutes into the second half, Gordon received a feed from Marlo Baumelster and kicked it home to break the stalemate.

Twenty-five minutes later, Broen started her string. "Kelly took the ball at midfield each time and just dribbled by the defenders," said Elsaele. "Each kick was a good one, from about 20-30 yards out."

Broen's second goal came with 10 minutes to play and her third for the hat trick came with four minutes to go.

Laura Hellegaard had four saves as the Lake Mary keeper. Elsaele said she received excellent support from Mary Anne DiTucci and Dorrie Ehlers.

Lake Mary, 1-1, returns to action Saturday when it hosts Gainesville Buchholz at 1 p.m.

Lady Patriots Use Press To Demoralize Lady Lions

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

After four minutes had elapsed in the game Thursday night, Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots were clinging to a 9-7 lead over Oviedo's Lady Lions. The Lady Patriots then went to their pressure defense and the rest is history.

Oviedo couldn't handle Lake Brantley's press as the Patriots reeled off 28 straight points and shut the Lions out the rest of the half to take a 36-7 halftime lead and Brantley went on to win, 53-32, at Oviedo High.

"We had about eight steals in a row when we went to the press," Lake Brantley coach Renny Betris said. "It really demoralized them (Oviedo)."

Lake Brantley improved to 3-1 for the season with its third straight victory. Oviedo fell to 0-5 with the loss.

Kiraten Dellinger, Brantley's 6-1 senior center, had another impressive game with 12 points and a game-high 16 rebounds. Junior guard Sherry "Ice" Asplen popped in 10 points and handed out six assists while sophomore guard Ashley Thomas came off the bench to contribute nine points.

Senior forward Michelle Brown scored just four points Thursday but she showed her versatility with 10 assists, nine rebounds and six steals. Cammie Twaddell ripped down 12 rebounds for the Patriots and Angie May tossed in eight points.

Kicking The Habit May Reduce Angina Attacks

DEAR DR. LAMB — More than 10 years ago, an ECG (electrocardiogram) showed that I had suffered a "silent coronary." I had no knowledge that this had happened. The doctor told me this would show up on all my future ECGs, and he was right. I believe it was termed a myocardial infarction. I don't know if this differs from angina pectoris.

I am 63, and my blood pressure and everything else is good. I must admit, though, that I average about two packs of Camels a day and have for 50 years. I have been unable to quit.

DEAR READER — When people had tuberculosis a few decades back, they were often locked up until the disease was under control. That was because it was caused by a germ (mycobacterium) and was contagious. We can't do that for people with illnesses that are not infectious, but you would certainly be better off if you could be locked up, away from cigarettes, until you had stopped smoking. You would probably have far fewer angina attacks, maybe none, if you stopped smoking. Cigarette smoke has a specific action on diseased coronary arteries. This differs from its effect on normal arteries: There is solid evidence that cigarette causes diseased coronary arteries to go into spasm. This decreases blood flow to your heart muscle and causes the angina attacks you speak of.

Many people do have silent heart attacks. Probably one-third of all heart attacks either cause no symptoms or result in symptoms that are so mild or vague as to go unrecognized. Sometimes unexplained fatigue is the only indication.

The electrocardiogram shows changes that occur in electrical conduction through heart muscle. It does not show artery disease, only the muscle damage when it occurs as a result of artery disease. The damaged area of heart muscle is replaced by scar tissue, which has no electrical activity. This changes the electrocardiogram heart specialists interpret as evidence of a myocardial infarction. Since the scar is permanent, the change is usually permanent.

Angina pectoris is pain caused by heart disease. Duration is the main difference between angina and the pain of a heart attack. Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
Forty-three years ago today, Oswald Jacoby was in the finals of the National Open Pairs in Richmond, Virginia. He and his partner were leading the event when they began the afternoon session. Our family will always be proud that he did not win. The Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor was announced in the playing room, and my father immediately left the event to volunteer his services in Washington.

Last year about this time, though beset by cancer, Oswald Jacoby won the North American Championship Team-of-Four. Then 81, he set a record as the oldest player ever to have won this demanding and prestigious event. Today's deal is from that team championship.

Jacoby was South and responded with a temporizing bid of two clubs. The subsequent bidding was as shown, with Jacoby ultimately going to six no-trump, a slight overbid characteristic of my father's optimism. Intimidated by the two-club bid, West led a heart, and that was 12 tricks and the championship to Jacoby, since his team won by the narrowest of margins.

Shortly after that victory he spoke to me: "Jim, since I have won this event with the help of my teammates, I think the Lord will help me beat cancer too." Such was not to be. Had he lived, tomorrow would have been his 82nd birthday.

In national and world championships, Oswald Jacoby was a great player and captain. But even more than for his victories, he will be remembered for how he played the game — with honor and complete integrity, with love of battle and zest for

What The Day Will Bring...
YOUR BIRTHDAY
DEC. 8, 1984
Try to get more involved in projects where you have a chance to use your creative talents this coming year. This will afford you pleasure and relaxation, as well as possible profits.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your first ideas may not be your best today, so be careful about making hasty decisions. Allow adequate time for study before rushing to judgment. Astro-graph's year ahead predictions at $1 each and the Matchmaker set at $2 each make great gift items for the entire family. Mail to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Instead of calling in expensive tradesmen for minor household repairs today, get out your tool kit to see if you can handle the tasks yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll be adept at managing personal affairs today but don't try to impose your will upon others by telling them how they should run their lives.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Things might not go too easy for you early in the day, but don't use this as an excuse to toss in the towel. Victory comes through persistence.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) Someone you like may do something today that you disapprove of. If you make a big deal out of it, it will worsen what could be rectified.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Associating with big spenders today could give you delusions of grandeur. Trying to match them financially is a folly you'll later regret.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Even though you may feel your decisions are wiser than those of your companions today, be prepared to bend a little in order to save their pride.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This can be a productive day for you, provided you get an early start. If you dillydally too much you'll only accomplish a portion of your aims.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Today you may encounter someone who holds strong opinions that diametrically oppose yours. Don't permit this person to involve you in a debate.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Beware of tendencies to do things the hard way today at work or in your career. Look for easy routes, not ones cluttered with obstacles.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In truly important matters it is OK to be competitive today, but don't let this aggressiveness carry over into social situations.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you are intending to spruce up your surroundings at this time, try to do so without spending too much money. Shop hard for bargains.

... 'Sun Also Rises'

offers the dramatic highlight of the four-hour production. Ivanek, who was born in Yugoslavia and studied drama at Yale, plays Jake's best friend, Bill Gorton. His description of the death of a young pilot in combat with a German ace embodies Hemingway's picture of war and horror, of death and bravery. It is a war in which the combatants are close enough to see each other's face, even in the air, and a war in which an enemy can admire his foe's courage and weep as he kills him. It is the character of Gorton that is most typical of Hemingway — Gorton who saw the awfulness of war and also was most alive while fighting it. It is not the war that Gorton cannot live with — it is peace. Hemingway's characters are haunted by the war in which they lost their innocence, but beyond that they can find no meaning in the world they return to — nothing to make it all seem worthwhile. The "lost generation" fought a war with their country behind them, won a victory and then found that victory hollow. That is very different from the disillusionment of men who came back from fighting in Vietnam, their war unpopular, their efforts unvictorious, their sacrifices ignored. "The Sun Also Rises" is what is called a full-scale production — it was filmed entirely in France and Spain, where the action occurs. The costumes are stunning, the photography excellent, the theme and the characters meant to be taken seriously.

If there is something missing, it is the essence of Ernest Hemingway.

For those who don't remember their Bible class, the title is a slight paraphrase from Ecclesiastes, which says:

"What profit hath a man of all his labour which he taketh under the sun?"

"One generation passeth away, and another generation cometh; but the earth abideth forever.

"The sun also ariseth"

'The Furniture Doctor Will See You Now'

He Doesn't Make House Calls, But He Can Fix You Right Up

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

In a way, Walter Hendrix, Jr. is a "good Samaritan." The 49-year-old Oviedo furniture refinisher takes in many old, beaten-up chairs and tables, gives them a loving touch and keeps them from becoming kindling on somebody's woodpile.

When he is washing, gluing or coating a piece of furniture at his shop, Hendrix speaks of each as though it were a beloved heirloom. He doesn't rub or scrape the grain; he strokes and caresses it. He talks intimately of the feel and smell of certain kinds of wood.

Hendrix is a master craftsman. Other local refinishers say he's probably one of the best in the county. He should be — he's been at it 25 years.

He learned his trade from another Fern Park refinisher after he graduated from Crooms Academy. Hendrix was an apprentice at the shop for seven years, learning the subtle qualities of various woods and chemicals.

After learning all he could, he struck out on his own and in 1966 started his own refinishing and antique shop on state Road 419 in Oviedo. He has been at it ever since.

"I love it ... but I'm still learning," Hendrix said.

During the average day, pickup trucks back up to Hendrix's shop like ambulances, delivering loads of battered furniture that critically need his attention.

He sorts through the injured, picking out the most desperate cases first and going back for the others later.

Each piece tells its own story of owner abuse, grain poisoning, lacerated spindles, or fractured legs. Hendrix gets them all.

His process for healing takes five days. It starts out back behind the shop next to a collar green patch, among some rusty vats.

First of all, he strips off the old finish with a solution of paint remover, detergent and water. He uses steel wool and a brush to make sure all the old residue is removed.

"This also gives the wood a better smell. It gets rid of that old musty smell."

After letting the wood dry for a day, he starts the repairing process. He glues what is broken and fills in holes and cracks with putty and lets the piece sit another day.

Next comes the sanding. Grasping a piece of sandpaper with his rough, ebony hands, Hendrix rubs the surface to velvety smoothness. He doesn't use a belt sander.

"Not a belt sander; that's a no-no. That will kill the wood,"

he says emphatically.

He then applies a "sanding wood sealer" which fills the wood's pores and makes it ready to take a finish. Then he sands the sealer off.

The next day he applies one of his 10 finishes — from walnut to mahogany. He also has a homemade mixture for a cherry stain but he said the ingredients are a secret.

"I can match pretty much anything except some of this modern furniture."

Hendrix said different refinishers have different ideas about the best way to finish furniture. But he says any method is good as long as the grain comes through in the end.

"You have to finish it so you can see the wood grain — because there is nothing prettier than the wood grain."

Hendrix uses an air gun to apply four coats of finish, and he doesn't rub the wood in between coats. He then puts on a coat of clear lacquer to seal the finish.

After that, he strokes it down with some fine steel wool. This "cuts down the shine ... and gives it a nice satin finish," he says.

He then applies some wax and gives the piece one last massage. One man's junk has become another man's treasure.

Apparently a lot of people appreciate Hendrix's special talents. He is so busy he can't take the time to sit and talk; the interview for this story was conducted while he worked.

And it wasn't just because he was busy. He genuinely enjoys his work, says he considers himself fortunate because he's one of the few people whose job is their hobby.

"The Lord has given me something I enjoy that I can make a living at," he says with a smile.

But alas, his peculiar skills may die with him. His five children are not interested in continuing their father's trade.

Hendrix's 23-year-old son, Walter III, helps him some, but says he is easily bored by the tedious process.

"It's too monotonous. I'm going into computers," he said.

That doesn't discourage Hendrix. He said he is proud of all his children, no matter what vocation they choose. As for himself, he said he will continue to restore furniture for as long as he's healthy.

"Going to church, refinishing furniture and going fishing now and then — that's my life."

Danny Glover Making Plans

By Dick Kleiner
HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Danny Glover is facing a couple of ceremonies in the next few months. One is a distinct probability, the other is definite.

The probability is that he may get nominated for an Oscar for his work in "Places in the Heart" with Sally Field. Glover plays the hired hand who helps keep her farm and family together.

If that nomination comes to pass, he'll be part of the glamour and glitter in March.

But, before then, there is another ceremony he must attend. His grandparents in Georgia are going to be honored as the oldest members of their church.

"I'll have to fly to Augusta," Glover says. "Then I take the bus beyond Wrens, on the way to Louisville. In Jefferson County, I'll tell the driver to let me off just past the Galilee Church and that's where the farm is, the Hunley family farm."

His mother had left the farm and gone to New York, where she met Danny's father. They got married and moved to San Francisco, where both worked in the post office, and where Danny Glover was born and grew up.

The day the deal was set for Danny Glover, who starred with Sally Field in "Places in the Heart," might be nominated for an Oscar.

Danny Glover to appear in "Places in the Heart," his mother was killed in a car accident in San Francisco.

Some months before, she told her son that she had been to a tarot-card reader who had seen, in the cards, that Danny was going to have something good happen to him. After his mother's death, Danny went to see that tarot-card reader and asked her if she had seen the accident. She said yes, she had. But he isn't sure.

Glover grew up in San Francisco and he did some acting in college. He majored in economics and after graduation he didn't act at all, but worked for the city and county of San Francisco. He was involved in some important civic works, including establishing the Mission Reading Project.

Gradually, however, he began doing some acting on the side — "just for fun." Eventually, the fun became more serious. At 30, he quit his other job and concentrated on acting.

YOUNGSTERS KEEP flocking to Hollywood, land of dreams-come-true, figuring they will become overnight stars this afternoon. And it happens just often enough to make it possible.

It has happened again, this time to Julianne Phillips.

She starred in the NBC movie "His Mistress," which aired earlier this fall. It's really the first thing she's done, except for a video with a group called .38 Special.

While she was in college, her father found a flyer in the street, about auditions for a local community theater. He pushed her into auditioning, and she got a part. Then she turned to modeling, went to New York — and the rest you know.

Mary Lou To Vault From Olympics To TV

DEAR DICK — While I was watching the Olympics this summer, I was struck by the women gymnasts, especially Mary Lou Retton. Could you please tell me if Mary Lou has ever appeared on TV, either in movies or in soaps? — T.P., Saginaw, Mich.

Did it hurt, getting struck by the women gymnasts? Anyhow, Mary Lou has done no regular TV shows, yet — except for such appearances as being a guest on the Tonight Show or a presenter on the Emmy telecast. She also is doing some commercials for Vidal Sassoon hair care products. However, she does have an agent and a production company. So, it won't be too long before she's on TV quite often.

DEAR DICK — Would you please settle a bet for me? I say the lady who plays Clara on Wendy's "Where's the Beef?" commercials is an old man dressed up like a lady. My husband disagrees with me. Can you please tell us whether Clara is a woman or a man dressed like a woman? — T.C., Lamar, Mo.

She's a she. Her name is Clara Peller. And I find those commercials so dreadful that whenever I see a Wendy's I make a beeline for McDonald's.

Ask Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK — What is the name of the actor on "Medical Center" who played Dr. Joe Gannon? Was it Dan Dailey or James Daly? Are they related to Tyne Daly? — Unsigned, Houston, Texas.

Dr. Joe Gannon wasn't played by any sort of Daly, but by Chad Everett. However, James Daly — Tyne's father — played Gannon's boss on the show, Dr. Paul Lochner.

DEAR DICK — Please help. I've been watching reruns of "Ben Casey." Can you tell me what years that show ran, and what has happened to Vince Edwards? How old is he and is he married? — M.B.B., Rock Hill, S.C.

"Ben Casey" was king of the hill back in 1961-66.

Edwards, who is 56 now and married (again), is still acting, as well as doing some directing. His latest film was last year's disappointing "Deal Of the Century."

DEAR DICK — What ever happened to George Fenneman, the announcer on the Groucho Marx TV series, "You Bet Your Life"? — B.H., Borger, Texas.

George is semi-retired, living the good life. He does some announcing on commercials now, and he's as good as he ever was.

DEAR DICK — Can you tell me if June Allyson and Dick Powell ever played in a motion picture together? If so, what year and what picture. — D.D.A., Reading, Pa.

I know of three films in which they appeared together, and there may be more. The three: "Meet the People" (1944), "The Reformer and the Redhead" (1950) and "Right Cross" (also 1950).

DEAR DICK — In the made-for-TV movie "A Streetcar Named Desire," who played the lead role? Treat Williams or Stacy Keach? My daughter says Keach, I say Williams. — S.H., Joplin, Mo.

You win — It was Treat Williams.

No wonder it's called Gay Paree. As Lady Brett, Jane Seymour goes wild in a Paris cafe in "The Sun Also Rises," the four-hour miniseries airing Sunday and Monday on channel 2.

NBC's 'Sun Also Rises' More Post-Vietnam Than 1920s Lost Generation

By Joan Hanauer
UPI TV Reporter

NEW YORK (UPI) — The costumes are stunning, the scenery authentic, the ambience distinctly that of the 1920s — but the underlying theme of NBC's "The Sun Also Rises" is post-Vietnam, not Lost Generation.

All the outward trappings are there in the television adaptation, to run Sunday and Monday, 9-11 p.m.

This version makes war pure hell, though, and that wasn't the way Ernest Hemingway saw it. He recognized the horror, but for Hemingway bravery in the face of death — even meaningless death — had a special grace. It is an idea that no longer has the appeal it once had.

The basic story remains unchanged. Jake Barnes, made impotent by a war injury, has become one of the colony of maimed American expatriates living in Paris in the 1920s. For this lost generation, it was a time of jazz and flappers, sex and booze.

He loves Lady Brett Ashley and she, alas, loves him. The hopelessness of their situation drives her from one lover to another, seeking and not finding in them what she wants but cannot have with Jake.

Jane Seymour plays the role and she is beautiful, exotic, gorgeously costumed and the focus of attention whenever she is on screen, slipping champagne, narrowing her eyes seductively as she chooses her next victim.

When "The Sun Also Rises" was shown as a Hollywood movie in 1957, Tyrone Power and Ava Gardner played the lead roles. Power, not Gardner, was the center of attention. Of course, he also was gorgeous.

In this version, Hart Bochner plays Jake with stoic patience,

'What profit hath a man of all his labour which he taketh under the sun? One generation passeth away, and another generation cometh; but the earth abideth forever. The sun also ariseth.'

as the maimed survivor that he is.

Leonard Nimoy plays a sinister Russian count, a role much built up from the Hemingway original to add suspense and leave viewers wondering between Part 1 and Part 2 what dastardly revenge he will take on Lady Brett.

Nimoy's character is fun as he almost twirls an imaginary moustache in melodramatic menace, but it is a baby-faced actor with the improbable name of Zeljko Ivanek who
