City Wins In Second Phase Of Fight For Regaining Its Bonds

Federal Judge Grants Preliminary Injunction To Municipality Stopping Bond Sale

Decision Received With Satisfaction

Action Is Believed To Indicate Sweeping Victory For Sanford

The city of Sanford today won the second round of its court battle to obtain possession of $740,000 in bonds and $500,000 in certificates of indebtedness, alleged to be held illegally by the Chase National Bank of New York City, according to a telegram received this morning by city officials from counsel representing the municipality in the litigation.

Federal Judge Knox sitting in the United States court for the southern district of New York this morning granted a preliminary injunction to the City, the court's ruling having the effect of further restraining the New York institution from disposing of the bonds or certificates. The City's bond was increased from $25,000 to $500,000.

The court's decision was received with considerable satisfaction by local officials who expressed belief that it strengthened the City's position to the extent of granting possession of a complete victory in the litigation. City Attorney George A. DeCates, who has been active in the handling of the case, was asked for an expression of his views.

He declared that the campaign of vilification which Doyle Carson was making was hurting the City's position to the extent of making it more difficult to secure a complete victory in the litigation. City Attorney George A. DeCates, who has been active in the handling of the case, was asked for an expression of his views.

Plant Sale To Be Practical Feature Of Flower Show At Woman's Club

One of the most practical, as well as pleasing features of the Annual Flower Show of the Woman's Club is the plant sale that is carried on at the same time and place. The recent, unusually cold winter which brings that a great deal of care and thought should be given to just what kinds of plants and shrubs should be cultivated in order to withstand the frosts, thereby avoiding the possibility of a brown, delapidated garden at the close of an unusual winter.

CARSON OPENS HIS DRIVE WITH CATTS ATTACK

Candidate For Governor From Miami Takes Issue With Ex-State Executive In Speech Delivered To Large Throng

Municipal Stand Is Filled With People

East Coast Lawyer Raps Plan Of Catts To Reduce Expenditures For State Schools

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 20.—In his opening campaign speech here last night James M. Carson of Miami, latest candidate for Governor, issued a challenge to Governor Sidney J. Catts to meet him anywhere at any time in open debate on any of the questions on which Carson has taken issue with the gubernatorial opponent he has singled out from a full field of enemies.

Carson issued his challenge after ascertaining that his audience, which filled the municipal band stand park in spite of cold weather, was a larger gathering than Catts had when he made his speech in Tallahassee. Carson said he had not intended to issue the challenge until he had addressed as large a crowd as the ex-Governor could bring out, since he did not intend to give Catts a chance to accuse him of seeking a drawing card.

After what he termed some plain talk about the propriety and consistency of a minister of the gospel who begins his speeches with prayer and ends them with a benediction, Carson took Catts to task for circulating pamphlets attacking the Florida State College for Women and the University of Florida because of reference books on psycho-analysis the ex-Governor had found in the libraries of those institutions. The speaker read from what he said was a stenographic report of a recent speech made by Catts and quoted the ex-Governor as saying that if elected he would decrease the appropriation of the two schools from one million dollars, their present annual stipend, to $225,000, which when he was the state executive, was the amount of their allowance.

CUMMING, Ga., Mar. 20.—(INS)—Several boys were playing today in back of the Forsyth County Jail, a new two-story brick building. At a call, one of them dashed himself from the group. At first he seemed as light-hearted as the rest, but as he approached the mature expression came over his thin little face. The realities of life seemed written on his face.

He was Marvin Barrett, 12 years old, who killed his father, a shotgun last Saturday. He said he was drinking heavy when he shot his father, and he said he was drinking heavy when he shot his father, and he said he was drinking heavy when he shot his father.

Sportwriter Gives Report On Ball Clubs After Tour Of Spring Training Camps

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service
Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Mar. 19.—Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker will let in more runs than they drive in this season, American League ball players claim.

Valves were asked by the Cardinals on Tommy Thevenow, one of the brightest stars of the 1924 world series, about a month ago and they were hastily withdrawn. The New York Giants are "short" on their spring development so far and don't look better than a fourth place club without Hornsby.

Bob O'Farrell, catcher manager of the 1924 Cards, went South with a finger on his throbbing hand stiffened from an old injury and nobody knows whether or not it has healed. Hafey, star outfielder of the same club, may never again have normal vision, according to observers with the club.

These were the outstanding impressions the writer brought with him today from a swing around the Southern training sites on and contiguous to the Florida Peninsula. The Thevenow incident has pretty well been "shushed" by Cardinal officials but the story seems to be predicated purely on fact. At least one newspaperman in the camp of the Phillies claims to have seen the valves request while a manager of a rival club freely admitted to the writer that the request to waive had been forwarded to him. He declined with all haste and the request, probably a so-called "feeler" for a trade, was withdrawn in such the same spirit.

It may be judged therefrom that a month ago the Cardinals didn't expect Thevenow to fully recover from his broken leg of 1924. How they may feel about it now is unknown, the withdrawn waiver request being the last heard of the incident by the rest of the league.

As for Cobb and Speaker, a well known American League sump up the current version of their appearance in the athletic outfield by informing the writer that no longer was either man a Major Leagueer except in hitting. When asked why Cobb could be so readily felled while the rest of the league was so smart, his reply was: "Cobb isn't being fooled any more than anybody else. We all are in this business for the money and naturally Cobb wants his. He is figuring Cobb and Speaker for their box office value, not as probable help in his attempt to win the American League pennant."

O'Farrell and Hafey, it seems, were taken South with every precaution against adverse reports on their state of health getting aboard. Perhaps this attempt has defeated its own purpose by creating an air of suspicion. Anyway, I note that O'Farrell caught a ball during the other day, finger or no finger.

There can be no justifiable attempt, however, to conceal the fact that Hornsby's departure has left the Giants in that nebulous state best described under that example of faint praise, "just a ball club." In addition hasn't been hitting. This being particularly true of Hogan and Welsh, the two young men who were sent to New York in the Hornsby transaction. As for the gentleman himself, he is troubled by bad feet but since this is an annual Spring complaint on his part, nobody is worrying about it. Hornsby furnishes the most notable exception to the statement largely because he also furnishes the fact.

Training Camp Briefs

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 19. (INS)—The Cubs smarted today under their second exhibition defeat, having lost before 7,000 Sunday fans to the Hollywood Club of the Coast League, 5 to 4.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Mar. 19. (INS)—Chicago's White Sox were primed today for the series final against Jackie Ariz's Fort Worth team. The score was 2 to 1, Lyons and Thomas pitched for the big leaguers, Chicago put six hits as compared to five for the Cats. Frigging's home run was the Cats' margin of victory.

FORT MYERS, Fla., Mar. 19. (INS)—Hitting on all cylinders, the New York Giants invaded the camp of the Philadelphia Athletics here today for the third game of their Spring series. The Giants ended the count by swamping the A's at St. Augustine, Fla., yesterday by a score of 6 to 1.

WINTERHAVEN, Fla., Mar. 19. (INS)—The Brooklyn Robins faced the Phillies here today with their lineup still unsettled. The slugger, Babe Herman may replace Stutz, a weak hitter, in center field. Howard Frigau and Jake Flowers are making a strong bid for berths in the infield.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 19. (INS)—E. S. Bernard, president of the American League, who is stopping at the camp of the New York Yankees here, intends to see to it that teams in the Junior Circuit lay fast ball this year. He is striving for 1.45 games, and players whose dawdling prolongs game beyond the two hour mark will be dealt with harshly. A ball will be called on pitchers who take more than twenty seconds between pitches, and a strike will be called on batters who step out of the box for no good reason.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Mar. 19. (INS)—The Phillies dropped a rattler for Winterhaven immediately after taking a 6 to 2 trouncing from the St. Louis Browns here yesterday. Bert Shotton's squad have a game scheduled for every day this week but it appears they will have to get more timely hitting to break into the win column.

KNOCKOUT PREDICTED
NEW YORK, Mar. 19. (INS)—A quick knockout is predicted in the ten round bout here tonight between Phil Scott, English heavy-weight champion, and Pierre Charles, Belgian champion. ### Sarazen Is Favored To Win Rich Stakes In La Gorce Meet

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Mar. 19. (INS)—Despite the sensational showing of Henry Cui of Stratford Conn., and Light Horse Harry Cooper of Buffalo in the qualifying round, Gene Sarazen went to the post a favorite today in the first rounds of championship play in the $15,000 Miami Beach La Gorce Open Golf Tourney.

The remarkably steady play which won Gene the Miami Beach Open, the Miami Open, the Nassau Open, and the International Four Ball Play, made him the pick of the gallery today, although he was forced to take third place in the thirty-six hole qualifying round, with 139, while Cui and Cooper tied for medal honors at 137.

Others watched by the gallery at the start of the battle for the $5,000 and $3,000 gold plate offered. The winners were Johnny Farrell of Marceuck, N. Y., leading pro. Last summer, Bobby Cruickshank of Purchase, N. Y., and Joe Kirkwood, trick shot maker of Chicago, who tied for fifth in the qualifying round with 142.

Douglas Casey, brilliant young amateur of Chicago who went into fourth place in the qualifying round with 141, was regarded as a good bet to win the $1,000 John Oliver La Gorce Trophy, but he had to battle such amateurs as Eddie Driggs, of Greentree, Eddie Held, of St. Louis; George Veight of Washington; Crockett Sewell, Miami Beach; and J. E. Junkin, Jr., Miami.

Ruth Bryan Owen States Women Are Needed To Aid In Managing Government

(Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, who is a candidate for congress, in the following statement written for clients of the International News Service, tells why she is following in the footsteps of her famous father by entering politics.)

By RUTH BRYAN OWEN
(Written for the International News Service)

MIAMI, Fla., Mar. 19. (INS)—We have often heard that woman's place is in the home and I believe that that is just as true today as it has always been in the years past. I believe that a woman's place is in the home but that the modern mother has been home from the home, which the mothers of a few generations ago recognized.

There was a time when, if a woman kept the inside of her house clean and sanitary, she had done her duty by her family, but I believe that my home is the place where my family and my children live, and I find that a child can move about in a space as big as an automobile can travel in every direction from the house that I live in, and I believe that it is useless for me to try to keep the inside of one house safe and sanitary, if the town that I live in is not a safe place for my boy or my girl.

First Experience
I remember the first time that I had a glimpse of this wider home. It was when I was 29 years old and had two children of my own, and a neighbor came and asked me to go with her to the city jail.

"There is a little boy of 12 years old in the jail and the crime for which he was jailed is stealing a watermelon," she said.

"It surely is not possible to lock a 12-year-old boy in jail for having stolen a watermelon?" I exclaimed.

"He is not only in jail but he is locked up amongst criminals who have a long record of crime," she replied, "and there he must stay tomorrow and the next day unless we do something about it."

"I cannot see why the mothers in this town tolerate such a law as that," I said.

"The mothers pay no attention to the law, sometimes, until it touches their own boy and then they find out what it is," she said, and added, "sometimes I think God gave me no children so that I can help those in this community who need me the most."

I said "I do not think that I was given children in order to keep me from helping the others and I am going with you down to the city jail."

That was the beginning of our work for a juvenile court in the town I lived in, for I knew that if it was possible to treat one boy unjustly under the law, that my own boy was not safe while I loved that law to remain.

City Playgrounds
Not long ago, in Kansas City, the women noticed how many children were being injured and killed by automobiles in traffic and set out to study this problem as "modern mothers." They took a map of Kansas City and every time a child was injured or killed

Miss Love Turner who held highest score received a pair of green candlesticks, while the low score prize, a pretty green vase was won by Miss Lulu Childress.

British Lawyer Declares America Is Dependant On Great Britain For Its Tin

LONDON, Mar. 14.—(INS)—“If anything happened to America's tin supplies, about 25 per cent of the American husbands would go hungry, for the simple reason that tinned foods have robbed American women of their culinary art.”

In this sentence, Lord Ashurst, famous British lawyer and tin-mining specialist, threw out the galling truth that the British Empire could put the screws on the United States in regard to the price of tin produced within the Empire.

Lord Ashurst was addressing the Royal Colonial Institute on the subject of “The Empire's Tin Supplies.” He did not mention rubber. He elaborated his point in regard to America.

“The United States is effectively sealing itself up in a tin can,” he said. “Half the food Americans eat is tinned. Americans are so busy and so imprisoned in their tinned lives that they never stop to consider what would happen if the tin supply ran out and they had to fall back again on ordinary food.”

Live In Tin Age

“This is the Tin Age,” Man has successfully passed through the Stone Age, the Bronze Age, and the Iron Age.

“Do people realize that tin is more precious to the human race than silver, more useful than gold? They do not. In twenty or thirty years time when it is more than probable that, if present predictions hold good, tin will be almost as expensive as either or both.”

Tin is a commodity for which no satisfactory substitute has been found. Nor will it ever be duplicated successfully.

The greatest amount of tin produced in a year is about 150,000 tons. Some 42-1/2 per cent is produced in the British Empire.

Thanks to Imperial Preference, more than 80 per cent of the world's tin is smelted in the Empire. Fifty per cent of the world's tin is consumed in the United States.

Demand has increased 81 per cent (since 1914). Yet supply with every price inducement and with all the help of heavily subsidized scientific assistance, has only increased 36 per cent.

In 1914, the United States imported 43,000 tons of metallic tin. In 1926 it imported 77,000 tons.

It is admitted that world supplies of tin cannot be increased appreciably. Yet we are dissipating these supplies, and using nearly 160,000 tons yearly of irreplaceable reserves.

Canning Interests

The metallic tin consumption of the vast canning industry alone has nearly tripled in five years. That of the automobile industry has more than doubled in the same period.

There is great, if not urgent, need for a method of conserving the Empire's tin supplies.

It may be through a form of merging and trustification of all the existing British tin-producing companies, together with the chief smelting interests, thereby enabling them to obtain direct contact with the world's chief consumers to the benefit of both.

Such a method, confronted with difficulties though it may seem at first sight, has much to recommend it from the constructive point of view. It would bring about Empire conservation automatically, while retaining the strong spirit of enterprise which is essential to this great industry.

Another method which is receiving careful examination is copper-selling.

Whatever the form, some such system of the conservation of this valuable asset is highly desirable, not only from an Imperial but also from a world aspect.

“I have no doubt that a method will be found in the near future which will consolidate all Empire producers and more closely align them with the major world consuming interests.”

Bulb Production Attracts Many To F. W. Bender Place

A large number of out-of-town persons, all of them interested in bulb culture, yesterday visited the F. W. Bender place near the Country Club, where they saw many of the bulbs, whose production is being pushed in this section by the Southern Bulb Association.

The anemone bulb, which Mr. Bender has been particularly successful in growing, caused the greatest comment, Mr. Bender reported. Others attracted much attention. Detailed explanation in connection with the production of plants were given to the visitors, many of whom are making plans to become interested in bulb growing.

Among those who visited the Bender place yesterday were: William Reitz of Summerfield, B. M. Young of Summerfield; George Wilkins and S. A. Wilkins of Winter Park, Victor Tupper and A. S. Tifler of Mount Dora, W. T. Frocher, Ira Parks of Titusville, J. R. Gunn of Kissimmee, J. M. Conway and A. Parrot of Apopka, C. O. Fairchild of Orlando, R. B. Kirke of Lakeland, James Higgins of Haines City, J. M. Whitfiel, Mrs. Anna Enright of Orlando, F. W. Davidson of Mt. Dora, F. W. White of Paducah, Ky., Charles Hultner of Kissimmee and B. Boyle and C. Lawrence of Sorrento.

Large Telescope In Ohio University Is Product Of States

CLEVELAND, O., Mar. 17.—(INS)—The largest telescope now in use in any college or university is located in a little town in the central part of Ohio. It is the third largest telescope in the world.

Installed at Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware, Ohio in 1921, the huge telescope stands as a monument to its donor, Professor Hiram Mills Perkins, who died during the year of its installation. Professor Perkins, who was born in 1823, taught classes at Ohio Wesleyan for fifty years.

Following Professor Perkins' death, Professor Clifford C. Cummings planned and directed the construction of the large optical instrument, which weighs 28 tons.

The mounting for the telescope was made in Cleveland at a cost of approximately $20,000. Lenses required, are being ground and polished at the Bureau of Standards in Washington, D. C., and will be the first work of this kind in this country.

In the meantime lenses being used at Harvard university, are being used.

An unusual feature of the Perkins telescope is that it can be moved on its working base and stand as a unit as a 1,000-pound machine and stopped.

AMERICAN PRODUCT

The telescope is an entirely American product, which is itself an unusual case. Every part put in to the work, including all accessories, was made in this country.

When completed, it will comprise one of the most expensive pieces of apparatus in any college or university, and will be the biggest available for student instruction.

It is predicted it will take two years for the Bureau of Standards to grind down and polish the lenses, largest ever moulded in the United States.

Total cost of the telescope amounts to one-half million dollars.

According to the Ministry of Health of Great Britain, 20,292 persons have been cut annually in recent years of outdoor recreation.

In total Egypt nearly $100,000 worth of felt hats and only $110,000 worth of straw were imported last year.

The motor car makes available to travelers many such quaint old-world spots as this one, on which the Buick party dined while touring ancient Berkeley. This village cross and sundial did service before the invention of clocks. Presumably the hour was a matter of guesswork on sunless days, though the tale is told of a villager who visited the dial at night to tell the time, by means of a lantern.

Radios Placed In Buicks Comprising Police Fleet Of Town In California

FLINT, Mich., Mar. 17.—Police Chief August Vollmer of Berkeley, Cal., has just completed installation of radio sets in all Buicks comprising the city's police department fleet, according to word from the Howard Automobile Company, Pacific Coast distributors of Buick cars. The combination of radio communication and fast pursuit machines, in Mr. Vollmer's opinion, is one which will vastly increase the odds against crime.

Chief Vollmer is widely known for his work in criminology. He is frequently called into consultation on police subjects in other cities, and asked to prescribe for conditions confronting authorities there. His policy of providing his own men with the most up-to-date equipment at the disposal of science has attracted much attention to him, over a period of several years.

Among the residents of Berkeley, this policy is credited to a very large extent with making it possible for that city to maintain law and order with the smallest police force, per capita of population, in the country.

Past indications of Mr. Vollmer's convictions on the subject of crime prevention included equipping his men with Buicks that they might acquire fast and reliable pursuit cars. His most recent step, installation of radios in all these cars, was aimed at providing instantaneous communication with the men manning the cars, no matter in what part of the city they might be.

When a few seconds after an alarm is received at headquarters, lights flash in the drivers' compartment of each car, notifying its crew that a message for them is in the air. By means of the fixed (and short wave sets) located in the rear deck, it is then possible to receive the message and mobilize for action with a minimum of lost time.

Injunction Aims To Protect Statue Of Confederate Chief

ATLANTA, Ga., Mar. 17.—(INS)—An injunction restraining the Stone Mountain Memorial Association from abolishing away the head of General Robert E. Lee, carved on the side of the mountain by Gutzon Borglum, has been filed in the Federal Circuit Superior Court and hearing will be held on April 12.

The petition, which was filed by Mrs. Frank Mason, one of the owners of the mountain and a member of the association, declares that no effort has been made to interfere with the monument carved by Augustus Lukeman, the present sculptor, but merely to prevent destruction of the Lee head as carved by Borglum, who was discharged several years ago.

There are now two heads of General Lee on the side of Stone Mountain, one carved by Borglum and the other by Lukeman, who designed a new arrangement of figures to compose the memorial to the heroes of the Confederacy.

NEW ENGLAND IS LEADING COUNTRY IN MAKING PARKS

Section Of Country Maintains Nearly One Tenth Of Total Of Nearly Quarter Million Acres Used For Such Space

BOSTON, Mar. 15.—(INS)—City and county parks in New England cover 2,966,822 acres, approximately one-tenth of the total of nearly a quarter million acres devoted to such space in the United States, according to a nation-wide study of parks recently completed by the Playground and Recreation Association of America.

The bulk of the New England park acreage is in Massachusetts, which reports 14,075,188 acres, stands fourth in this respect among the ten most populous states of the nation. California leads with 20,854,822 acres, New York is second with 19,414,412 and Texas third with 15,531,831.

Other New England states reported the following acreage in city and county parks—Connecticut, 6,335,666; Rhode Island, 1,271,181; New Hampshire, 757,919; Maine, 623,910; Vermont, 310; Rhode Island, the smallest state in the Union provides almost one-twelfth as much park space as Texas, the largest state, though the area of Texas multiplies that of Rhode Island by more than two hundred.

In Other Towns

The hundred and eighty-two New England towns and cities have public parks. The largest is Boston, with 2,673 acres, the smallest is Joricho, Vermont, population 109, which has a park of four and a half acres. One hundred and twenty of these communities are in Massachusetts, twenty-three in Connecticut, thirteen in Rhode Island, nine each in New Hampshire and Maine and eight in Vermont.

Boston, with one acre of park land to every 284 inhabitants, is twice as well supplied with parks as New York or Chicago, the study points out. However, Boston's ratio is exceeded by other New England cities, particularly Meriden, where the ratio is 26; Lynn, 102; Hartford, 103; Portland, 129; Worcester, 149; Burlington, 151; Meriden's low ratio is due to its large Hubbard Park, containing 1,200 acres, and Lynn's to Lynn woods, 1,847, which is the ninth

Bootleggers Of Present Day Lack The Principles Of Old Time Moonshiners

DENVER, Mar. 13.—(INS)—Moonshiners in the mountains of the old South, in the days when Volstead was unheard of, were gentlemen with principles and traditions as compared with the present day high-powered bootleggers who care only for profits.

And prohibition, following the advent of the bicycle and the motor car, has brought about a faster pace which would have made the old folks in their younger days fall back in astonishment and shun the shanks and flappers as outcasts.

These are the opinions of J. R. Calloway, former chief of police Longmont, Colo., and Fred A. Mangold, retired federal revenue officer and Colorado pioneer. Both attended the annual gathering of the Colorado Sheriffs Association in Denver recently.

Despite their illicit trafficking, Calloway had high praise for the hill billies of Virginia, North and South Carolina, Alabama and Kentucky, who he worked years ago as a federal sleuth. They held themselves as Lee Americans, primarily and stood upon their rights in vigorous Elizabethan language.

Expert Distillers

They held their trade, the production of good whiskey, in high esteem, he declared, and their liquid corn output was hard to rival, even by the better grade of legal brands which once were permitted in the land.

“The hill men,” he said, “conducted their brew from their own ovens, in their own pots and with their own corn, and it was beyond their comprehension that Uncle Sam should interfere. No one ever heard of their stuff being poisonous, for they inherited their quorum trade from generations of stillers and they also believed they inherited the right to make.

They were hard fellows to catch, Calloway remembered. They ransacked the fastness of the hills, and usually the only clue to their whereabouts was a slip of oak ascending far off from the e under their stills. When they were apprehended they fought like duels and engaged in gun duels that rivaled the present Chicago gun feuds, according to Calloway.

Moonshiners also were taken under wing by their law-abiding neighbors who hated the federal officers as much as they loved a nip of good corn. The officers, Calloway said, were either on horseback or in a buggy and often time they would be cut by the friendly hill boys, who always said the law had done the setting, and the law was over with far because of prohibition, Calloway said. In place of the genial bootlegger, who is first and last a business man who sells his stuff fair or foul. Needle beer in Chicago, poisoned sugar rum in the Rockies, had gone on the coast and anything in New York are some of his productions. He is unsentimental and if he is caught he usually escapes with a small fine.

Do Not Fear Law

At worst, if he owns a still, he can be sent to the penitentiary for from three to five years under the Colorado anti-still law. Even that law has not perceptibly diminished the bootlegging business, which shows that most leggers are merchants or brokers purchasing their stuff from still men.

Mangold also has a colorful record as a federal revenue officer in Colorado, coming here in 1879. He was sheriff in El Paso county in 1891 and was a spectator of the boom days in Cripple Creek. He agrees with Calloway that the liquor situation is “unsatisfactory,” and declared that disobedience of the Volstead law is one of the weakening influences in modern life.

As Mangold sees it, another bad influence was ushered in with the automobile, which increased contacts and resulted in a condition in which the smell of booze on the breath of young people is considered an achievement. Life was simpler in the old days, he said, and consisted mainly of church, mid-week prayer meeting, a weekly dance, maybe a buggy ride. Women were draped thoroughly from head to foot and whiskey breaths on young people caused their ostracism.

Both Calloway and Mangold, however, have faith in the young people of the day and believe that conditions will improve.

Edinburgh To Isolate Sex Disease Victims

EDINBURGH, Mar. 12.—(INS)—Widespread opposition is being organized to a bill being promoted by the Edinburgh Corporation seeking power to isolate and compulsorily detain people suffering from sex diseases.

If the bill should become law, magistrates would be authorized, on the application of the local Medical Officer of Health, to issue a warrant for the detention of a victim of the disease.

Opponents of the Bill point out that any extension of the idea would mean that about one in every ten persons would be liable to compulsory detention. Such a scheme would cost millions of pounds and lead to vast disorgan-

From Typist To Movie Star In Two Years

Janet Gaynor, who rose from the ranks of extras to that of star in a full over two years, plays strangely enough a part from real life in her first starring role in "Girl Wanted," now showing at the Milane Theater. It is that of a typist in a business office. And a typist in a business office is what Miss Gaynor was after she graduated from the Polytechnic High School in San Francisco. That was her first job. But, like many other girls, she dreamed of other things, and the story of her meteoric rise to fame should prove encouraging to others who, like her, are fighting to climb from the first round of the ladder of success to the next.

The next meeting will be held at Miami in April on the same date as the Southeastern National Electric Light Association meeting. Mr. Holly reports St. Petersburg as filled with tourists and the hotels and business houses doing a rushing business. Two big league teams are training there and bringing many people to St. Petersburg to see them play.

The members of the Marie Ruffo Missionary Society of the Methodist Church enjoyed a most delightful outing, Friday evening, starting from the church at 6:30 o'clock. Later in the evening refreshments of roasted weiners, hot rolls, potato salad, toasted marshmallows and hot tea and coffee were served.

HIGH OFFICIALS TO BE GRILLED IN OIL SWINDLE

There seemed little likelihood that the Senate Committee would call Smith as a witness. There appeared a greater probability that Smith would demand a hearing. Whether or not he is subpoenaed, his connections with Sinclair will be aired thoroughly in the Senate within the next few days.

The attacks on the silence of President Coolidge, Mellon, Hughes and Herbert Hoover, came from both Republican insurgents and the Democrats. Senators LaFollette and Blaine, of Wis., joined with Senator James A. Reed (D) of Missouri, in demanding that these public utterances on how they view the Teapot Dome case and Sinclair's heavy contributions to the Republican Party.

Senator Borah (R) of Idaho, endorsed this demand, declaring "the people who remain silent (about corruption) will be taken care of by the American citizens, who believe in clean government." He declared it was "quite correct" to believe the American people expected some utterance from President Coolidge, Mellon, Hughes and Hoover.

The political developments overshadowed the pending plans of the investigating committee, which resumes its hearings Wednesday morning. Investigators were reported working in Illinois upon the sensational story of a "mystery witness" that a package had been sent a high government official by an oil company official. One untitled report reached the committee that the package only contained Christmas cards but there was no official verification of this.

Merritt Baldwin, a confidential secretary to Sinclair from 1922 to 1924, also was subpoenaed. He will be asked to tell something about Sinclair's activities in 1923, when the oil man was turning over huge sums in Continental liberty bonds to the Republican cause.

Meanwhile, another federal judge, Chief Justice George B. Martin of the district court of appeals, added his denial today that he had ever received "a package of liberty bonds" from any Sinclair source.

Rumors of a package of bonds having been sent to a Washington judge reached the committee through a so-called "mystery witness." Justice Frederick L. Siddons trial judge in the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy case, quickly denied that he had ever received any, and Judge Martin made a similar denial today.

Judge Martin, whose son-in-law Adolph A. Sus is an employee of the Sinclair Oil Company, said the rumors probably had their origin in the fact that his son had sent him a large package of Christmas cards at Christmas time. The package bore the return address of the Sinclair Company, and apparently had been misdirected to Washington, Ill.

"I never received any bonds from or had any business dealings with Mr. Sinclair, or with anybody else connected with the Teapot Dome case," said Judge Martin.

Louis H. Brush, who with Roy D. Moore formed the Marion, Ohio, Star from President Harding, declared he welcomed the fullest inquiry into the details of that sale. "I emphatically urge," said Mr. Brush, "that all friends of the late President Harding will get actively behind an investigation of anything and everything pertaining to Mr. Harding's affairs in connection with this situation."

"Let us, for the sake of square shooting and in fairness to the memory of President Harding, bring this thing right out in the open and go straight through it."

URGES APPOINTMENT

WASHINGTON, Mar. 20. (INS)—Senators Dale (R) and Green (R) of Vermont, today urged President Coolidge to appoint Patrick J. ## Pastor Desires Free Use Of Radio Station

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Mar. 20. (INS)—"Freedom of the air" was being demanded here today by Rev. A. C. Schuler, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, and members of his congregation.

Rev. Schuler has called a mass meeting of his congregation as a protest against action of officers of the Municipal Broadcasting Station, WJAX, in cutting parts of his sermons off the air. This, they said, was done because of a rule that ministers using the radio station must not attack another religion or sect or to inveigh against personalities.

During the course of broadcasting Schuler's sermon, the microphone circuit was broken upon several occasions when the pastor started to attack another religious organization, it was said.

Roumania for the overthrow of the Bratiaru Cabinet.

The peasants, 60,000 strong, swept into Bucharest yesterday, vehemently declaring their intention of staying on en masse until their demands were granted. Manu's unsuccessful conference with the Regency Council followed.

Mass meetings were held in various parts of the city all day yesterday but the accosting of Prince Nicholas was the first disorder of any serious consequence reported. Premier Bratiaru, brother of the late Jan Bratiaru, who died last year, refuses to yield to the peasants. He threatens to employ troops to crush any attempted coup.

Lake Case Uses Morning Session For Picking Jury

Judge Gray excused W. E. Jamieson when he declared emphatically that he had formed an opinion and that it had been in the process of formation for the "past twenty years." M. B. Lindner was excused by the defense and Harry Weeks was dismissed by the court. Thomas L. Sullivan was also excused by Judge Gray, the latter declaring that he had an opinion which would require evidence to remove it.

State's Attorney Millard B. Smith used his first peremptory challenge to excuse A. D. Rosier and his second to dismiss W. L. Harvey. Judge Gray excused C. S. Lee and Ralph King and Albert Hall was dismissed by the state. F. W. Talbot was excused by the court as were G. F. Smith and Harry Lee. The defense dismissed Elmer Hyothaine and the state excused P. Bayard Smith. The defense excused A. S. Hawkins for its fifth peremptory challenge and C. Collins was excused on a challenge for cause made by the state.

Completion of the jury was in prospect shortly after the court was scheduled to reconvene at 2:30 o'clock. The state was prepared to begin submission of its case shortly thereafter.

Remains Of Ancient People May Be Found Of Palatka Citizen

PALATKA, Fla., Mar. 20. (INS)—What may be the remains of an ancient people, who inhabited the State of Florida before the glacial age, was discovered a few miles from this city by Gus Matheson and George Dykes when they uncovered parts of 26 skeletons and one complete assemblage of bones while excavating for a new house in the past few days.

A wire to the Smithsonian institute in Washington brought a quick reply from the National Capital, requesting the local men to bring the bones to the institute at once.

The fact that the bones were found under six feet of soil and under the shell formation that was here before the ocean covered this state led to the belief that the bones were part of those buried in an ancient cemetery of prehistoric peoples. Further excavating is expected to shed some more light on the discovery and experts from the university of Florida may be called in to examine the bones.

Brawl In Restaurant Proves To Be Fatal

CHICAGO, Mar. 20. (INS)—One man was shot to death, another was probably fatally wounded, and a third was so badly hacked with a meat cleaver that he may die, in a brawl in a restaurant here today.

The dead man was identified, from postal money order receipts, in his pocket, as A. Seddo. A bullet pierced his head from the rear. Michael Pecore, 40, manager of the restaurant, was shot twice through the abdomen. Phillip Marchese, 32, had been chopped with a cleaver.

Moon shine was blamed for the quarrel. When police searched the scene they found the interior of the restaurant wrecked and the body of the dead man and his two wounded companions stretched on the floor. The wounded men refused to discuss the battle.

Wealthy Bostonian Crashes With Plane

EASTON, Mass., Mar. 20. (INS)—Frederick Lothron Ames, millionaire graduate of Harvard and his bride of two months were recovering today from the effects of a crash when the airplane in which they were returning from the West was wrecked on the Ames estate here.

Coming from Buffalo, N. Y., as the plane was approaching the hangar on the Ames estate, a gust of wind caught one wing and turned it over twice. Ames, however, righted the plane and brought it down, but being forced to land in a swamp, the plane was wrecked. Young Ames and his bride, the former Miss Maurice Morette, were married at Nogales, Mexico, in January and were returning from a tour of the West. She was formerly assistant coach of the Chicago Opera Company and later was an entertainer in a club at Nogales, Mexico.

All streets in Jerusalem are to be impaved.

Heartbeats To Be Broadcast By Radio In Medical House

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 20. (INS)—Heartbeats of an individual may be heard in every room of Temple University's medical unit by means of a radio amplifying device which will be one of the distinctive features of the new $1,000,000 medical building to be erected.

Announcement of this and other new departures in the field of clinical education which will be a part of the new department was made by Dr. Charles E. Beury, president of the Temple University Medical Alumni Association.

Advantages of the radio device in question are manifold, Dr. Beury said, but his merits will receive greatest appreciation from those who are called in to have their heart action studied by the students of medicine. Under present conditions, where every student has to apply his individual stethoscope and listen at the breast of the patient, the latter is pretty well worn out after a morning of this kind of attention, Dr. Beury said.

"With this radio amplifier," said Dr. Beury, we may attach a stethoscopic instrument to one patient and his heart beats will be heard clearly and distinctly in every clinic room where the students are studying heart action. Thus the teacher may lecture while the heart beats continue to be heard in full volume."

Motion pictures will also play a large part in clinical work in the new building, the president announced. Slow-motion pictures have been taken of all sorts of surgical operations, treatments and applications of medicine, he said, and will be presented on the screen to students.

Twenty-five thousand persons watched the wedding of the Seattle girl to the Maharajah of India. Must have been as thrilling as a football game.

We trust that the publisher of Tampa Life, a new but promising paper, is not as green in the field of journalism as the ink he uses would seem to indicate.

We do not understand how an American heiress could wear jewelry in her nose and become the wife of an Indian maharajah unless she had been hypnotized.

The big question of the hour seems to be whether Publishers Barry and Editor Graves of the Jacksonville Journal speak to each other when they meet in the office.

Jim Carson says he is against any new public indebtedness for me time to come. What Florida does now is fiscal economy while population catches up with its development.

Bobby Jones magnanimously deprecates, "I do not recall that I have ever seen what appeared to me to be an intentional breach of the law."

The Ocala Star says that Governor Main is not to have an "amateur" take for the Senate. Possibly so, but Senator Park is nearer being Trammelled than Maritz does.

It is not a bad one.

His First Slip

Lindbergh has not offended some wealthy dowager who wished to lionize him for the sake of her social prestige or marry him off to her daughter...

But he has done worse. He has criticized the War Department. Can it be that the conqueror of the Atlantic has forgotten the spanking administered Colonel Billy Mitchell when that servant of Uncle Sam dared to open his mouth about air service conditions?

Of course Lindbergh has not yet gone so far as to say that the army and navy are ruled by an autocratic collection of bureaucratic lunkheads...

So we, who have watched Lindbergh's career with interest and marveled at the suave manner in which he has avoided difficult situations and who had almost come to believe that here at least was a man who knew how to keep out of hot water...

No Ban On Knickers

Not all universities and colleges prohibit automobile driving by students. Some of them find that the relaxation and mental revivification which comes from a short spin on a crisp winter's evening tend to promote learning and stimulate grades.

The University of Michigan, up to very recently, has been among the more broad-minded who believed that students could decide for themselves what mixture they desired of books and night air.

Whereupon squawks arose, and, according to Time, the university mentor issued the following explanation:

"Insofar as this office is concerned, no restrictions on rules not now in operation are planned for: (1) Canoeing, rowing, sailing, drifting, swimming or sinking."

"(2) Hours of rising, eating, tooth-brushing, getting to bed, or turning out lights."

"(3) Types of clothing (even to the extent of knickers) half way to the ankles and red neckties."

"(4) Bridge, checkers, croquet, knitting, or other boisterous sports."

"Of course, student ingenuity might devise circumstances under which any or all of these actions might be unwise or combined or misused."

"For example, a man in red flannels might try whiff brushing his teeth to paddle with a croquet mallet, a canoe down the diagonal walk at noon. Such behavior, if it became customary, might mean very mild and gentle restriction."

I like to be beholden to the great metropolitan English speech, the sea which receives tributaries from every region under heaven. I should as soon think of swimming across the Charles river when I wish to go to Boston as of reading all my books in originals, when I have them rendered for me in my mother tongue.—Emerson.

GROWING PUBLICITY - COMPETITION

Time is almost here for the appearance of a grazable line of demarcation between the radio and the newspaper, and that pointed in both directions.

Radio, it is generally held, is the wonder of a new invention, the radio has been given a wonder in total of publicity in newspapers and magazines. When the first national announcement of a commercial nature was made by radio, newspapers did not avail themselves of the broadcast they were helping to create.

Today, the National Broadcasting Company with its two great chains of high-powered radio stations stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Gulf through the Rock, mountains to the very edge of Canada, has so intensely commercialized the air that it has created an entirely new line of advertising. The newspapers are said to be awake to this competition. They are giving their space day after day to the announcement of programs that are nothing in the world but paid advertising.

Night after night through the WJZ and the WFLP chains, practically each half hour brings forward a program from some different industrial or commercial advertising. We hold in our hand at the moment, an announcement sent out by a Jacksonville concern addressed merely to the editor, suggesting that we call attention to an address that will be delivered shortly from a Chicago station by the president of the company whose letter head is used. This is a typical example of the kind of thing that is growing in volume. Should it reach its ultimate conclusion is would set up a situation whereby the newspapers would run free a directory showing the advertising talks, and the radio owners would get the pay for permitting the verbal advertisements to be delivered from their power plants.

It is time for the newspapers to awaken to the situation. Personally, we have no objection of more than the attention of Florida editors to the condition that exists and the part toward which we are headed. Too often, the editor of the Commercial has wasted his energy and his time delving into these propositions for the good of the fraternity as a whole, and for all the appreciation he has received, he might as well have been spending his time playing golf. So the Commercial will look for itself alone, and with this suggestion, close the subject as far as public discussion of it is concerned. We do not want to say, however, that it would be a wise move for the newspapers of the entire country to pay a little attention to Will Henderson at Shreveport, and to whoever it is that talks at KMA at Shemudwah, Iowa, on the subject of these advertising chains that have so deeply entrenched themselves with their powered stations on such a wide range of wavelengths that they are virtually as Will Henderson says, "confound them, they come from day by day, jumping the air all the time."

Buffalo trails

For miles they stretched across the prairie and up into the foothills, smooth, clearly marked, beaten hard as rock through the centuries by the hoofs of buffalo on their way to the salt licks.

When the railways came, and the engineers were confronted with the great bastion of the Rocky Mountains, these buffalo trails assumed a new significance. It was found that they always followed the easiest gradients, that they penetrated the mountain fastnesses by the most direct and practical route.

Buffalo trails became one of the greatest assets of the early railway builders. Time, money, energy, were conserved: a vast amount of fruitless pioneering and surveying was eliminated, by trusting to the infallible instinct which had led the herds along these obscure and little-known ways.

Advertising, like those old buffalo trails, provides a clear and unmistakable path among the perplexities of modern buying. It points the way to the goal of safety and sound value; it avoids the pitfalls of unknown and unreliable goods. By following the ad-high road to true economy.
