glory...to...god in...the...highest

And it came to pass in those days that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be taxed.

And the taxing was first made when Cyrenus was governor of Syria.

And as it was that while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

And she brought forth her firstborn son and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And to the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them, and they were afraid.

And the angel said unto them: Fear not, for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall come to all people.

For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

And the shall be a sign unto you: Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host, praising God, and saying:

Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

And it came to pass as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another: Let us now go, even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us.

And they came with haste, and found Mary and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger.

And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child.

And all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds.

But Mary kept all these things in her heart.

And the shepherds returned glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them.

Parolee Is Jailed On Rape Charge

By BILL SCOTT

A 24-year-old South Seminole Raiford parolee is being held in county jail charged with the Christmas rape of a 19-year-old Winter Park girl.

Det. Sgt. Raymond Parker said David Marion Mullis, Mattland carpenter, is being held without bond on a county warrant charging him with the rape of a friends fiancee.

The detective said Mullis attended a holiday party at the home of a friend and asked his alleged victim to "give him a lift home."

Mullis, according to Parker, assaulted the girl twice at separate south county areas after placing a knife to her throat and threatening her life unless she submitted.

The first assault is alleged to have occurred on a dirt lane known as Grove Avenue, which is off Howell Branch Road and Bear Gully Road. The second incident is reported to have happened on Dyke Road, between Red Bug Road and Howell Branch Road.

The victim said she was made to disrobe by Mullis and deputies reported finding several articles of woman's clothing left at the rape scene.

Parker said after the second assault, the victim was released but warned not to call police.

Instead the girl returned to her fiance's home and he called sheriff's officers to advise them of the attacks.

A warrant was obtained from County Judge Wallace Hall. Mullis voluntarily came to the sheriff's office after receiving notification.

Parker said Mullis is on parole from Raiford Prison after conviction on a breaking and entering offense.

Janitor Bequeaths $300,000 Estate

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sam Hamilton, a shy, quiet man who spent his declining years as a dishwasher in a mission and a janitor at the stock exchange has left a $300,000 fortune.

His bequests became known over the weekend. They include $150,000 to the Life Lane Mission in San Francisco and $150,000 to Messiah College in Grantham, Pa. Both are operated by the Brethren in Christ Church.

Confirming the bequests, Rev. Paul Hill, superintendent of the mission, said Hamilton also had willed $1,000 each to more than a dozen friends he had made during the 25 years he lived at the mission.

Hamilton entered a convalescent home at Upland, in Southern California, in 1969, and died there last April 4 at the age of 89.

The minister said the staff knew that Hamilton had some money but was surprised at the amount.

He worked at the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange for many years, and "he apparently picked up some pretty good tips," said Hill.

At the mission he paid $50 a month for his room, always in cash, and earned his meals by helping in the kitchen.

Area Business Is Boomed By Santa All During The Christmas Season

By MARION BETHA

Precipitated by balmy weather and a burgeoning economy, cash registers in the Sanford and Central Florida area continued their merry jingle all through the Christmas season, according to area merchants.

"Biggest season we've ever had" . . . this was the elated comment of E. C. Eliza, manager of the local J. C. Penney Department Store. Sales on Christmas Eve, according to Eliza, were "fantastic" . . . best the store has ever had. "With the demise of the pre-Christmas shopping spree, Eliza finds no cause for gloom . . . people are still flocking in here today . . . apparently they still have a lot of money to spend."

Edward Fryer, assistant manager of Zayre's Department Store in Fern Park, continued the "ho, ho, ho" sentiment, noting that the season was the "best ever in the four years in which the store has been in business. The store, he said, had a sale-a-thon beginning at 10 p.m. on Dec. 23, and continuing until 6 a.m. on Dec. 24. Things were slow during the early morning hours because "people didn't realize that we were open although this would have been an ideal time to shop. However, at 9 a.m., the crowds arrived en masse, and the store was "packed all day Christmas Eve."

Exchanges are not as heavy as in previous years, Fryer said, who hopes that statement on the fact that the store converted four cash registers exclusively for refunds and exchanges and all four were not used except for about 10 minutes yesterday.

The store is offering a discount on trim-a-tree items, and sales in this department are "pretty fair . . . about what we expected."

Fryer explained that the momentum builds to Christmas, slowing down afterward.

James Sheets, manager of the local HHS Store, in which "his majesty reigns supreme," said that "business is excellent . . . the best we've had in the two years we've been in business." Exchanges are not prevalent this morning, he said, "possibly two or three." The store is offering a 30 per cent post-season discount this morning and the store is filled to capacity, Sheets said.

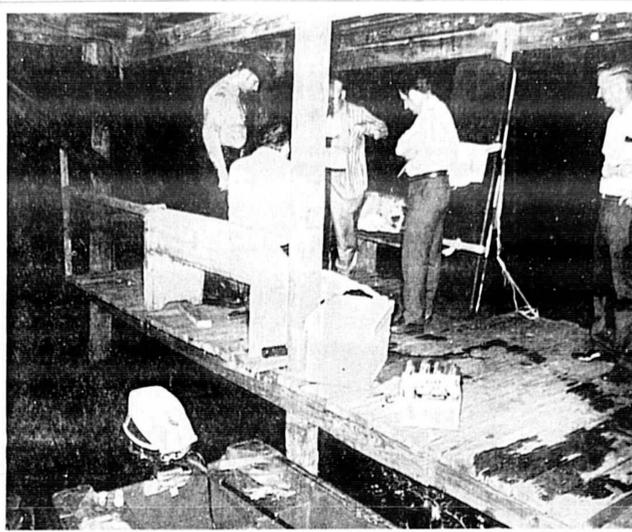

"Better than last year . . . we had a steady stream all day Christmas Eve . . . in fact, all week . . . business is really good."

Initially commented Charles Tetenham, of Manuel Jacobson's Department Store in downtown Sanford.

The only "negative note" was sounded by Ralph Cowan, owner of Cowan's Department Store, who said that business during the holiday season has "been better." Nevertheless, he stressed, it's satisfactory and "we have lots of bare spots in the inventory which means that many items are sold out." Exchange, he said, are "so far, so good" . . . noting that many persons wait until after the new year to begin their exchanges. "There is good customer traffic today," Cowan said.

Ending on a note of levity, The Herald's Oris Williams, co-owner with Larry Blair, of the doggie domain, Caro-Soll, quipped that "Physicians" was "frimmed and decorated as well as the Christmas trees and garlands" at the people palace sporting and dog green boxes, and were pedicured to the nth degree.

So, running the gamut from mild to non-mild, from the same old to the "new" generation . . . and finally to all the "new" ones . . . the Yuletide season was "marvelous."

VICTIM RECOVERED FROM WATER

'Slapping Bandit' Hits Again

Maybe it was the holiday spirit or perhaps the so-called "slapping bandit" had a change of heart. Anyway, the blond-haired robber didn't slip his latest victim, a woman, in the Christmas night hold-up of a South Seminole store.

The "slapping bandit," name given the slapping robber, sported a red jacket-wearing robber, who has specialized in convenience store "stick-ups," was courteous in his latest escapade at Shop and Go, located off SR 128 and Howell Branch Road.

Det. Sgt. William Hogan reported the robber held up a name while Marsha Marcus, employee, carried out cash just before he pulled a snubnosed pistol from his coat and ordered her to place the register receipts in a paper bag.

After the "transaction," the bandit withdrew politely after warning the victim to remain silent as he walked away. Hogan said the man escaped with approximately $150.

Another holiday robbery occurred just outside Sanford at the home of Arthur and Edna Knight, according to a report filed by Deputy Elijah Faulkner.

The deputy reported a man wearing a red shirt and blue pants came to the couple's 302 Hawkins Avenue address and shouted through the door he had a Christmas present for Knight. When Mrs. Knight opened the door she was greeted by a pistol held by a man she did not recognize.

The Levin's two daughters suffered minor cuts and bruises.

Levin said he is going to try and restore his blackened nose, but right now, "Somehow I've got to thank all those people—the many, many people I don't even know."

There Is, Too, A Santa Claus

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Stan Levin and family woke up on the morning after Christmas to find their home engulfed in flames. They just managed to escape with little more than the clothes they were wearing.

Friends, neighbors and strangers were moved by the tragedy.

Within a few hours donations began pouring in and now, much to his dismay, Levin says he is almost better off than he was before.

"I don't think it's fair for a family to come out of a disaster with more than they had when it happened," said Levin, an elementary school teacher.

A fire department captain named Levin, his wife, Estelle, and their three children a vacant house across the street, friends, neighbors and strangers filled it with furniture and groceries and neighboring children collected two jars of an undetermined amount of coins and paper money.

"Bless them all for their tremendous generosity . . . I'm an independent guy and I hate taking charity but what can you do when people just take over and insist you let them help?" Levin asked.

Fire investigators said the blaze apparently started in the living room of undetermined cause.

The Levin's two daughters suffered minor cuts and bruises.

Levin said he is going to try and restore his blackened nose, but right now, "Somehow I've got to thank all those people—the many, many people I don't even know."

Detention Facility Still In Limbo

Seminole County's long-awaited juvenile detention facility, which voters approved over a year ago in a bond issue, is still in limbo.

However, at tomorrow's 2 p.m. meeting of the County Commission, a status report on the facility will be given by Commissioner Al Davis.

One of the cited reasons for the project is the fact that it is difficult to pursue a course of action until it is determined whether the state will assume the responsibility of detention facilities or whether the county will function on its own.

Civil Defense Director Clinton Westbrock will report to the Commission on an expanded county shelter program.

The status of proposed tie-down regulations governing mobile homes will be reviewed by zoning Director Robert Brown.

Chairman Greg Drummond will report to the Commission on participation by civic and youth groups in the development of West Lake Jessup.

Three public hearings are scheduled for 7 p.m. and in-

Viet Vets Protest Army Drug Policy

By TIM REITERMAN
TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Eighteen Army enlisted men, hours back from Vietnam where officials said they used narcotics, seized the floor of an observation ward here to protest military drug treatment policies.

The men, who officials said were aided by three former soldiers who were members of Vietnam Veterans Against the War (VVAW), used mattresses and chairs to barricade themselves on the second floor of the Second Aeromedical Staging Flight Facility Sunday night.

the new language of global finance (what are they talking about, anyway?)

DEVALUATION
A dollar is worth only what somebody will pay for it. It used to be worth 1/35th of an ounce of gold. If the price of gold is raised—say it has been to $38 an ounce—the dollar is worth less.

REVALUATION
When a higher official value is set for a currency, it's worth more. "Revalued" currencies would buy more dollars than they have in the past.

BALANCE OF PAYMENTS DEFICIT
When the total of all leaving the U.S. (in payments, investments, travel, etc.) is higher than what the U.S. is taking in from all sources, there's a balance of payments deficit.

RESERVES
Similar to a bank account, but on a national basis. Reserves are a nation's holdings of foreign currencies, gold, etc.

DEMONEZING GOLD
When this happens, the practice of valuing a currency in terms of gold ends. The U.S. would like to do this, and peg the value to some artificial standard, or to other currencies.

EXCHANGE RATES
When governments set the price at which their currencies can be exchanged for others. Unlike floating currencies, the prices are fixed—but may have to be changed anyway.

CURRENCY
A currency whose value is officially set in terms of something else. The dollar is "pegged" to gold. Currencies of many other nations are "pegged" to dollars.

FLOATING CURRENCY
A currency whose value has been declared to be whatever anyone will pay for it. The German mark is an example. Value of these currencies can change from transaction to transaction.

Russia, China Pledge Help Reds Hike Foreign Aid

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — A State Department study reports that the Soviet Union stepped up its arms-aid commitments to non-Communist countries sharply last year while Red China became the largest Communist provider of economic aid.

The survey by the State Department's intelligence and research bureau on Communist aid and trade with developing countries in 1970 dealt with pledges which cut vary widely from year to year.

Actual aid deliveries tend to run lower than the amount pledged and to fluctuate from one year to the next.

The study estimated that less than half of $11 billion in Communist economic aid since 1956 has gone to the 100 or so non-Communist countries which have received Communist economic assistance.

Under the Soviet arms-aid program, at least 20,000 troops have gone to the Soviet Union from less developed countries since 1953.

China's new pledges of arms assistance to non-Communist developing countries last year came to $80 million, the largest total since 1964, with most of this going to Egypt. China pledged little or no military deliveries to these countries in 1970.

Bank Robbers Seize Police As Hostages

By PETER REHAK
Associated Press Writer
COLOGNE, Germany (AP) — Three gunmen held up a bank opposite the Cologne Cathedral today and drove away with two police hostages. Armed police and thousands of spectators helplessly watched the noon drama.

The gunmen took with them the equivalent of $60,000 in West German marks. The hostages, described as high-ranking police officers, had exchanged themselves for employees of the branch bank. The robbers had seized three employees after being surprised by the arrival of a police patrol.

The patrol shot out three of the tires on the robbers' getaway car. There followed two hours of negotiations between the police and the robbers. This ended with the police agreeing to supply a mini-bus as a getaway car and the exchange of police for the original hostages.

Then one of the hostages, identified as district Police Chief Hans Kraus, came out of the bank and called out over a megaphone. "Please remain calm," he said.

The crowd responded with silence and one of the gunmen quickly followed the police officer. Although the trio had been masked when they entered the bank at 10:15 a.m., their faces were uncovered when they came out.

The gunmen got into the mini-bus with what appeared to be the cash. The others followed. Werner Hamacher, chief of Cologne's criminal police, got behind the wheel and drove the vehicle away through streets lined with thousands of onlookers.

All main routes leaving the city were ordered sealed off and a police helicopter hovered over the area.

Antiwar Veterans Barricaded

By SAM MAULL
NEW YORK (AP) — Sixteen antiwar veterans were barricaded inside the Statue of Liberty today, vowing to remain until New Year's Eve in a protest against the continuation of the Vietnam war.

"We, as the new generation of men who have survived Vietnam, are taking this symbolic action at the Statue of Liberty in an effort to show support for any person who refuses to kill," the demonstrators said in a statement issued by the Vietnam Veterans Against the War (VVAW).

Administrators for the National Park Service, which has jurisdiction over Liberty Island, talked with the group during the night but there was no indication what action officials would take if the men did not leave.

Some of the protesters wore military fatigues and medals, others were in civilian clothes. They mingled with the tourists who took ferriesboats to the national landmark Sunday, then hid at closing time.

A night watchman discovered the group about 7 p.m. The group erected the watchman and used lumber taken from a renovation project inside the statue to barricade the doors.

In a statement issued from the VVAW office in Manhattan shortly before midnight, the group said: "We support any action taken by our brothers in Southeast Asia to end the war and we demand that this message be transferred to our brothers in Southeast Asia."

Al Hubbard, national coordinator of the VVAW, said the demonstrators came from an encampment of veterans near Valley Forge, Pa. He said they would not resist with violence if authorities tried to evict them.

Longwood Approves Extension Of Water

By DONNA ESTES
LONGWOOD — Approval for extension of water lines south from Wildmere Avenue on U.S. 17-92 to serve two businesses, using a rebate formula for payment of the extension by the businesses, was approved by the City Council on a three-to-two vote.

City Engineer William Palm 65 months ago estimated cost of the extension at $4,000. At last week's council meeting he said the estimate was later "lowered to $4,000 for some reason" but he did not explain the reason.

Council was told that the Owens 10-unit motel, the advisory body approved the permit subject to the approval of the building inspector.

It was reported that the building inspector has recommended 12 separate improvements on the exterior of the building and eight more on the interior before the move is permitted.

Councilman Agnes Weber who has observed the matter closely said the building is in bad condition and a promise that repairs would be made when the first move was allowed was not kept.

He said the house does not meet the Southern Standard Building Code.

Councilman-elect William H. Hester added that the people in the Wildmere section are opposed to the move and former

City Councilman James Brown, also a resident of the area, said the Wildmere residents will petition against the move and might seek a court injunction.

Attorney representing petitioner, William Study, in an appearance before the Council, insisted his client is complying with the law and the city has to grant the permit. Study, meanwhile, said it would be fruitless to make the repairs required before moving. A five-month extension of the permit might be demanded in the move.

WHO'S AHEAD

In the Democratic primary contest? Three leading candidates—Sen. Edmund Muskie, Edward Kennedy and Robert Humphrey—tried their particular brand of political charm on Carmen Jones, 1972 March of Dimes National Poster Child. Judging by Carmen's reaction, the gentleman from Minnesota wins by a smile.

When from the audience, former councilman James Brown asked the amount to be charged for water connection fees, Palm said under the city's latest policy connection fee for the motel will be flat $50.

Brown continued with his opinion that the business owners should be required to participate in the cost of the extension and James answered that the businesses should be extended the same privileges of water service available to other citizens. "But these are businesses," Brown replied.

Mrs. Thompson added that Longwood should consider using the same policy as other cities by requiring participation in costs of extensions of this kind.

Mayor Brown, defending the plan, said he was perhaps the greatest arrangement in the world, but it is an arrangement "that is the trouble with Longwood." Mrs. Thompson said, "There has always been an arrangement but not a great one. Surely this is too much money to be rushed through."

Councilman-elect William H. Hester added that the people in the Wildmere section are opposed to the move and former

City Councilman James Brown, also a resident of the area, said the Wildmere residents will petition against the move and might seek a court injunction.

Attorney representing petitioner, William Study, in an appearance before the Council, insisted his client is complying with the law and the city has to grant the permit. Study, meanwhile, said it would be fruitless to make the repairs required before moving. A five-month extension of the permit might be demanded in the move.

Longwood Approves Extension Of Water

LONGWOOD — Approval for extension of water lines south from Wildmere Avenue on U.S. 17-92 to serve two businesses, using a rebate formula for payment of the extension by the businesses, was approved by the City Council on a three-to-two vote.

City Engineer William Palm 65 months ago estimated cost of the extension at $4,000. At last week's council meeting he said the estimate was later "lowered to $4,000 for some reason" but he did not explain the reason.

Council was told that the Owens 10-unit motel, the advisory body approved the permit subject to the approval of the building inspector.

It was reported that the building inspector has recommended 12 separate improvements on the exterior of the building and eight more on the interior before the move is permitted.

Councilman Agnes Weber who has observed the matter closely said the building is in bad condition and a promise that repairs would be made when the first move was allowed was not kept.

He said the house does not meet the Southern Standard Building Code.

Councilman-elect William H. Hester added that the people in the Wildmere section are opposed to the move and former

Hog Jowl, Peas For New Year

This New Year's Day the byword is being No. 1 and staying No. 1. Colleges will put undefeated teams against the professional footballers will be trying to determine their "super" champions.

BLACKEY PEAS AND HOG JOWL.
1 lb. of hog jowl.
1 c. blackeye peas
1 tsp. salt
1/2 cup cooking oil
1/2 tsp. monosodium glutamate
8 c. water
Cut hog jowl into slices. Boil in water until tender. Wash peas. Bring water to a boil and stir in peas, salt and cooking oil. Boil gently until peas are tender, about two hours. Stir occasionally. Season with monosodium glutamate and rice. Makes 4 servings. To shorten cooking time, soak peas overnight.

The housewife will be No. 1 with tradition and No. 1 with soul food. And then the smell of baked cornbread will be more than the football fans in the living room can stand.

CRACKER CORNBREAD
2 c. meal (yellow)
1 this flour
1/2 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
water
Mix the above ingredients and be sure that it is damp, not dry. Put some grease in a cast iron skillet, heat to a medium temperature. Put mixture in pan or grease and pat some grease on top. Cook at 400 degrees F until it is brown all over.

NEW YEAR'S CORNBREAD
1 c. sifted all-purpose flour
1 cup sugar
4 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1 c. yellow corn meal
2 eggs
1 c. milk
1 c. soft shortening
Sift flour with sugar, baking powder, and salt; stir in corn meal. Add eggs, milk, and shortening. Beat with rotary or electric beater till just smooth, about 1 minute. Do not overbeat. Pour into greased 8x8x2 inch pan. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) 20 to 25 minutes.

The Florida food market is the ideal place to get the ingredients for the traditional dinner on Jan. 1. Like a successful play, the plot, the stage, cast, characters and the sets are all ready. It's hog killing time on the farm in winter. It's turkeys and collards time from Plant City and turkey roots from Sanford.

And in many backyards, the collards stand tall and erect like a rugged Eskimo in Alaska. That, says the old-timers, means "real maturity" for collards. Some insist they are much better tasting after they have been hit and survived a good frost.

Whether it's a shopping trip to the supermarket for the traditional dinner or a trip to the freezer and the garden, these recipes will make the day on which everybody tries to be No. 1.

Archaeological excavations in Mexico's Tehuacan Valley indicate corn existed in the wild state as early as 5,200 to 3,400 B.C. Wild corn cobs were found to establish this fact. Cultivated corn cobs were found in the same area and were dated 3,400 to 2,800 B.C.

Florida Pot Roast, Stuffing

By ALLEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor
A pot roast goes a long way and makes a pleasurable and inexpensive meal for several persons. A departure from the normal roast is to stuff the center with a surprising combination of ham, hard salami, green pepper, chopped egg mixed with onion and garlic, corn with green, mashed potatoes and a hearty green salad.

FLORIDA POT ROAST
1 round eye round beef roast
1 cup chopped ham
1 cup chopped hard salami
1 cup chopped green pepper
1 hard-boiled egg, chopped
1 cup chopped onion
2 cloves garlic, chopped
1/2 cup corn
1 teaspoon oregano
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon fresh ground pepper
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 cup water
1 tablespoon instant flour
Have butcher make a pocket through the center of the roast or cut one yourself. Mix ham, salami, green pepper and egg and fill pocket with mixture. Tie or skewer ends.
Brown roast on all sides in large aluminum Dutch oven. Drain off fat. Add remaining ingredients except flour. Cover and cook over low heat about 1 hour or until meat is tender. Remove roast to platter. Measure liquid in pan and add additional water to make 2 cups. Stir in flour. Bring to a boil, stir 20 seconds and serve with gravy. Makes 4 servings.

Turkey Flavor Treat

By ALLEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor
Melding of flavors is the mark of a good cook. Many households still have turkey leftover from a long holiday season with family and friends. Instead of the usual turkey sandwiches try a new combination. This is an Apple Stuffing Ring filled with Creamed Turkey.

1/2 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 cups canned apple sauce
1/2 teaspoon allspice
1 package seasoned bread stuffing
1 cup hot water or broth
1 cup (about) creamed turkey
Cook onion and parsley in butter until onions are soft. Stir in apple sauce and allspice. Add creamed turkey, stuffing and hot water or broth. Mix well. Spoon into greased 5-quart casserole. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Loosen top edges and turn out on a warm serving platter. Fill center with creamed turkey (about 1 cup). Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Highlights Of 1971 Foreshadow The Spotlights of '72

During this in-betweenish week as beat-up 1971 drags out and 1972 peers in to see what is waiting, a rather superficial backward look is quite in order.

Not that hindsight is what is needed. Foresight is, as usual in great demand and in small supply.

Yet the gales which now shake the ships of state on the smaller waterways where the lesser banks of democracy and city chart their courses were apparent in December, 1970.

Before this traditional end-of-the-year punditing is over and presidential 1972 sweeps in to upset and confound the prophets, there are a few generalities which bear stating.

One, without doubt, must be the one which historians will be grinding their mental jaws over for a long time to come. This is the puzzle of Richard M. Nixon's presidential acts.

For here was a Republican Chief Executive, the party which had nurtured the famed "American Free Enterprise" system, who did a turn-about at mid-stream in his third presidential year, established wage and price controls which are accepted by many economists as spelling the end of the capitalistic, individualistic era.

Again there came the global shock when Henry Kissinger, Nixon's powerful but un-chaired secretary of state, went to Pakistan, turned up in Peking and arranged the invitation from the leaders of the Communist People's Republic of China for the American President to be a guest of mainland China.

This was a denial of the American-China policy which had chosen to back Chiang Kai-shek, ever since he had fought the Red Chinese and been chased off the mainland. At stake was the UN seat to which China was entitled. As a direct result of the Peking invitation, relations had softened with the U.S. putting the Communists in the China UN seat.

There were other shockers which would come from the White House. One of which was the support which the Nixon administration gave to Pakistan and refused India when those two nations on the sub-continent clashed in war. Old American ties with India were strained to the point of breaking.

The past year was also one in which the state of Florida experienced major changes. These were not entirely political. The strong and dedicated leadership of Gov. Reubin Askew in a drive to correct tax inequities is, as the year ends, the single most important political development.

While this gives the Democrats, a party to which the governor belongs and of which he is the leader, a flair. It also places some burdens on their management of more than taxation which will head-up in 1972. Not the least of which is the first presidential primary, where a number of Democratic hopefuls will clash on March 14.

Nearer home, the phenomena of the Walt Disney

World, about 30 miles from Sanford, must be rated as the development which has already caused a change in the tourist flow and the appeal of Florida to tourists generally.

One spectacular and very visible result in Sanford is the daily arrival of Auto Train from Alexandria, Va., bringing about 400 tourists (with their autos) to the delights of Central Florida. This was in the works a year ago.

Issues which surfaced and then subsided and will be seen again include education, transportation and a means of assuring responsiveness found.

Such are the generalities. The specifics will be dealt with in our news columns and on this page as their urgencies and their importance are defined by actions.

With Snail's Pace

By designing compatible hatches and docking mechanisms on future U.S. and Soviet spacecraft, the way would be clear for emergency rescue operations in space involving American astronauts and Soviet cosmonauts.

Rehearsal and test of rendezvous and docking procedures apparently is the joint U.S.-Soviet manned space mission contemplated sometime in the future.

Otherwise the Russians are moving like a glacier in fulfilling their promise of more cooperation with the United States in space.

The death of information released from Moscow about the mission of two Soviet spacecraft now in the neighborhood of Mars is in striking contrast to the step-by-step reporting of every move of our own Mariner 2 spacecraft orbiting the planet.

While using space to test mysterious weapons like their "killer" satellite and a fractional orbiting missile, the Russians have taken the wraps off their space program only to create a showcase for their technology.

They persist in glossing over their failures, inflating their successes, and leaving the rest of the world to guess.

A docking and exchange of greetings between astronauts and cosmonauts in space would be a showcase event and a symbol of cooperation.

However, unless the Russians become more open about their aims and capabilities in space, it would hardly amount to more than a showcase and a symbol — and a long-shot prospect for saving the lives of space pilots in an emergency.

Global View:

Benqal: India, Soviet Trouble

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — India and the Soviet Union may have won a lemon. Bangla Desh, or East Bengal, may turn out to be an albatross.

This reporter has traveled its length and has seen its hideous poverty and its bitter overpopulation. He has seen the slum-dwellers of Dhaka and the hopelessness in the people's voices. They are an appealing and energetic people, but a vast, unending sea of poverty and the great stress in their souls.

For days on end East Bengal's prewar businessmen, government economists and planners and I have discussed the economic future. Without massive inputs of aid and capital investment, the country's outlook is bleak.

Without a multibillion dollar control of the rivers and flood plains the situation is hopeless. Some 75 million people are crowded into a small land the size of Wisconsin. 1,300 to the square mile. Moslems hit the rice crops heavily. Cyclones and tidal waves take an awful annual toll. A cyclone late last year resulted in almost 250,000 dead.

The diet is deficient. Infant mortality is high. Cholera is endemic in the delta and in nearby Indian areas.

About 17 million tons of rice are imported each year to meet the differences between East Bengal and West Pakistan, which is why the area was at long last in the first place.

If these prospects were not troublesome enough for the Indians, there will be the heavy toll in the Bengali Desh, then remember the People's Republic of China is close by. Already a small but energetic pro-Mao Communist party is operating in East Bengal and in nearby Calcutta. The Chinese have taken men out of the border areas these past few years for training in northern Burma, or Southwest China. Peking has supplied weapons to some of these underground groups.

Communist China cannot afford to allow the Russians to dominate Southern Asia, with feelers stretching out through Southeast Asia. This would leave Peking virtually surrounded by Soviet whiplash.

The Chinese already have accused the Indians of illegal border crossings into Chinese territory. There is no indication that Peking will put troops into the fray. But if history is any lead, Mao Tse-tung's men will work underground to harass the Indian and Bangla Desh governments internally. How far they will be able to get with their own limited resources is uncertain. But that they will try is quite clear.

Young Voters Won't Take Over

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The anti-establishment young are neither going to take over the country in 1972 nor vanish into the woodwork of the "system." But both notions have had some nurturing.

When voting finally became a reality for 18-20-year-olds, one young militant said to his father:

"Good. Now we'll take control."

Dreams like that are being clung to by some of the young people who in a month or two may be flooding into the Democratic party's precinct caucuses in several states. These events may bulk large in the party's open-up presidential nominating process.

Some among the young like to tell us that many things, like the Communist world or the "working class" are not monolithic. Well, they aren't either.

Only a third are in college. That heralded 18-20 age bracket includes not only millions of nonstudents but, however, members of the armed forces, and workers on factory and farm.

The many 1971 samplings of the campus mood suggest, too, that the protests are just basically quieter these days. Mutiny doesn't have the appeal it once did. Listening to student reactions at candidate rallies, I find many kids laughing scornfully at the "far-outs."

None of this, however, means the articulation young folk are about to do a fast fade. As the more perceptive social analysts have been saying for three or four years, their hostility toward present-day society goes well beyond the Vietnam war. Nor do their objections end with the charges against the society of corruption and rotteness.

As writer Irving Kristol noted in a recent Fortune magazine piece, for many of the students of today's affluent world is at least a huge bore and at worst some kind of nightmare. They don't see challenge and excitement but only a smothering sameness.

Helen Fuller Says: National Health Insurance

WASHINGTON — Once upon a time national health insurance had a bad name. It was condemned in many a campaign as "socialized medicine."

Public ideas have changed. People see that with health insurance they go less deeply in the hole with the extravagant costs which attend what member of the family grows ill. People look with surprise and considerable sympathy on the self-employed who have no national health insurance or who have state insurance to fall back on in times of medical disaster.

Those who have experienced speaking lead protests for yet more national health insurance. This and other national concerns have led both Senate and House committees to hold basic hearings on a national program.

The number of physicians, to be sure, has grown at a faster rate than the number of patients. But this is not true of the number practicing patient care. This has decreased.

Young doctors are settling in big cities, especially in the suburbs and close to university medical centers. Many country and downtown city areas have no physicians or too few.

The new medical graduates have turned to more specialization, sharply reducing the number of general physicians. General practice doctors exceed the supply; specialists often exceed demand.

Private physicians practice alone or in small groups. Hospitals often operate, usually take in cases treated there by private physicians. These fees are usually paid separately directly by the patient or by an insurance company. The extremely confused system at present is actually a "non-system."

Eighty per cent of those under 65 have some health insurance protection, provided mostly at places of employment. Those

Easing Of Relations With Cuba Is Urged

MIAMI (AP) — Former Sen. Eugene McCarthy, back on the presidential campaign trail, said Sunday that U. S. recognition of Cuba might have prevented the seizure of two Miami-based freighters earlier this month.

"One of the problems of being President is to try to anticipate these situations so we won't have these minor crises," McCarthy said in an interview on WCKT-TV's "Florida Forum" program.

However, the former senator from Minnesota said he thought the Nixon Administration "proceeded with reasonable caution" after Cuban Gumbos captured the Johnny Express and Lola Express, two ships owned by a Cuban exile shipping company and operating under Panamanian registry.

McCarthy also became the third leading Democrat to urge normalization of relations with the Communist island.

"I see it as a country to which we ought to make a decision," he said. "Not so much because of the importance of Cuba itself, but to indicate a mature and responsible approach to general international problems."

Pressed on whether he was advocating recognition of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime, McCarthy replied, "I don't see how things could be any worse than they are and I think they might be improved by establishing something approaching what we call normal relations."

Sen. George McGovern, D-S. D., also making a bid for the Democratic nomination, said in Miami Oct. 3 he thought it foolish for the United States to "ignore a little Communist country in our own back yard" when it is seeking normalized relations with Communist China.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., who has repeatedly said he is not a candidate, said in Chicago Oct. 12 the U.S. "should begin to explore the complex and difficult matter of re-establishing formal diplomatic relations with Cuba."

McCarthy said he would permit his name to be placed on the presidential primary. "I don't think I have any choice," he said.

But the unsuccessful 1968 Democratic presidential candidate, who announced Dec. 17 he would run again as a Democrat, said he doesn't plan to actively campaign in Florida because so many candidates are running.

President Consoles Loser

Nixon, Redskins Look To '72

By FRANK CORMIER

Associated Press Writer

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon, here for the week, and Washington Redskins coach George Allen are agreed: they both look forward to 1972.

Just before flying to Florida from Washington Sunday night, Nixon placed a phone call to 24,200 less of the Redskins to whom he had a good session. It was a fine

San Francisco 49ers in a National Football League playoff game in the Bay City.

Ronald L. Ziegler, the president's press secretary, reported that Nixon, who has a soft spot for underdogs, watched the contest on television and told Allen afterwards.

"You can be proud that you had a good session. It was a fine

Ziegler said Nixon and Allen both are looking forward to 1972. The president, of course, hopes the new year will bring him a popular mandate for a second term and Allen would settle for a shot at pro football's Super Bowl.

Landings at nearby Homestead Air Force Base, Nixon strode to greet a few score well-wishers, a series of six summit talks and talked mostly about football as he chatted his way along a fence in front of the terminal.

Of the Washington Star-Francoise body, he remarked, "Somebody had to lose."

Air Canada officials said he was a small man, apparently of Latin origin but spoke good English. He handed a stewardess a note about five minutes before the plane was to land in Havana.

Despite the size of "we," an airline spokesman said only one man was believed involved.

When asked if the man could have been a Delta mechanic, an airline spokesman in Atlanta said none of its employees was missing. The spokesman also said Delta mechanics wear grey coveralls.

Police theorized that the man may have died of oxygen starvation or exposure, or he may have been crushed to death as the retracting landing gear airer takeoff.

Skyjacked Jet Back In Canada

TORONTO (AP) — An Air Canada DCP jetliner returned to Toronto with its six crew members today after a trip to Cuba ordered by a hijacker wielding a revolver and a hand grenade.

The armed man took over the plane as it neared Toronto just before 8 p.m. Sunday at the end of a round trip flight to Thunder Bay, Ont., on the northwestern shore of Lake Superior.

The other 82 passengers got off at Toronto, and some of them did not know the plane had been hijacked. After refueling the plane flew to Havana, landing just before midnight.

The unidentified hijacker got off the plane refueled again, and then it returned to Toronto, setting down at 5:41 a.m. after a three-hour flight home.

The six crew members were rushed to a nearby hotel for rest, and newsmen had no chance to question them.

Man's Body Is Found Jet's Nose Wheel Well

CHICAGO (AP) — The body of an unidentified man was found late Sunday in the nose wheel well of a Delta Airlines jetprop air freighter shortly after it landed at O'Hare International Airport on a flight from Atlanta.

Police said the man may have crawled into the well as a way to Atlanta.

The body was described as being about 40 and dressed in a white coverall and vest. A search of the body yielded a letter address only to "Bob."

When asked if the man could have been a Delta mechanic, an airline spokesman in Atlanta said none of its employees was missing. The spokesman also said Delta mechanics wear grey coveralls.

Prison Freedom Given Condemned

By JOHN VAN GIESEN

Associated Press Writer

RAIFORD, Fla. (AP)—Willie Porter's broad, impassive face wrinkles into a grin, and the rumbling laughter wells out of his portly, bear cub belly.

James Land's solemn, grand fatherly face softens into a beaming smile and chuckles shake his wiry frame.

"They are serious men who have learned they have something to laugh about."

For 9 1/2 years they lived on Death Row at Raiford State Prison, where a man passes time in a tiny cell playing checkers through the bars of his door with a neighbor whose face he cannot see.

Then, three weeks ago for Land and two weeks ago for Porter, they were put on the maximum security east unit and given the same privileges as other prisoners.

"Being up here you have something to laugh about," Land said.

Porter is quick to correct the notion that "a little more freedom" is all a man gets when he walks off Death Row.

"It's a lot more," he said. "You feel like you're walking out in the free world when you walk out of there."

"There's a great difference," added Land. "You can go to the library, watch television, go to the movies, go to school, go to a job and come here to the dining room. That's a big novelty to us."

Porter, 41, was convicted in 1952 in Stuart of hacking the mother of his common-law wife to death with a machete. Land, 41, was convicted the same year of beating a woman to death in a Jacksonville boarding house.

Land has no family, but Porter has three grown children living in Philadelphia.

They are among the first four Death Row inmates returned to general prison population under a program that would benefit as many as half of the 80 persons under death sentence in Florida.

It's the right thing to do, explained Gov. Reubin Askew, who is overseeing the program.

But the move has been a great cultural shock, something like moving from Tampa to Timbuktu, and Land and Porter are feeling their way along slowly.

They are working as janitors in their cell blocks. Porter would like to try a more demanding job but will stick to his menial job for now.

Both have been granted hearings early next in U.S. District Court in Jacksonville on writs that could bring them freedom.

The policy of letting Death Row inmates out of the prison population may indicate that Askew is considering commuting some death sentences.

Earl A. Hunt, Superintendent of the State Prison, said he is convinced that Land could be freed today and he would never harm anybody again.

"I've made a big change in my life and more or less rehabilitated myself and I can see a lot of things I couldn't see before," Land said.

Porter said he is too has rehabilitated himself.

"I personally believe there are two wrongs that make a right," he said. "When you estimate a man you have no chance to rehabilitate him."

Youth Vote Drive Is Scheduled

By RICH OPEL

Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — When politicians urge the registration of new 18-20-year-old voters these days they seem to mean those on college campuses.

But a registration drive planned next month is to concentrate on registering the new enfranchised young at plant gates, construction sites and on the ghetto street corner.

"All the focus has been on the student," says Secretary of State Richard Stone, Florida's chief elections officer. "We want to make the rolls available to the other two-thirds in that age group."

Stone said he personally will lead the drive "to stimulate interest" on the part of wage-earning and unemployed youth in registering to voice their convictions at the ballot box.

County elections supervisors will be encouraged to bring their books not only to the campus but to wherever scattered Floridians may begin to vote can be found prior to the close of rolls on Feb. 19.

The first official meeting of the Seminole Advisory Council for Aging was held at Seminole Junior College. Subjects for consideration included a review of federal programs. A discussion was held on future programs of transportation, mobile library and coordination of educational programs.

Present at the meeting were Mrs. Tamar Braden, council chairman representing Sanford; Mrs. Helen Drylie, consultant from the Bureau of Aging; Mrs. Ruth Fuller, representing North Orlando; Dr. Anita Harrow, coordinator of federal projects at SJC; Mrs. Mollie Steudle, representing Casselberry; Joe Bove, coordinator of retired education; William Gordon, director of adult and continuing education at SJC; William L. Hamilton, representing Oviedo; and Rodney Leyer, administrator for the Seminole County commissioners.

This little can will keep mosquitos out, decorate your car grill, protect you on the road, take you fishing and help roast your turkey.

Remember all those cans you've tossed away? Well, electricity is giving them a new life. A life that begins at aluminum recycling centers all over the country. Like the three here in Florida.

For instance, with the help of Floridians who care about their environment, the Reynolds Aluminum Reclamation Center in Coral Gables, Florida, receives thousands of cans daily.

The cans enter the complex electric process of being sorted and shredded. Then made ready for melting and re-use. Like window screens, highway guard-rails, boat hulls and, of course, aluminum foil.

So the next time you look at a clean, beautiful park, or picnic in a place that looks the way nature intended it to look, remember electricity.

It's not only part of the solution to cleaning up the environment, but is ingeniously giving old cans a new life.

Electricity. Part of the solution.

Beginning Of Life Question

By DAVID HENDIN

NEA Editor

Discussing abortion, a topic which may be one of the decade's most controversial, the American Medical Assn. notes in a recent report:

"Although no new liberal state abortion laws have been passed this year (1971), New York's new law has had strong impact. Both maternal and infant mortality have dropped since the law went into effect, and the number of illegitimate births decreased for the first time in a decade."

The U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare's Center for Disease Control estimates that more than 235,000 legal abortions were performed in the United States in 1970. More are expected in 1971.

Many more than half of the abortions were performed in New York, the state with the most liberal of all U.S. abortion laws.

Robert Byrn, chairman of the Life League, recently asked a New York State Supreme Court justice to stop all abortions in the city until a suit he filed in early December was settled.

Byrn's suit was the first major constitutional attack on the state's liberal abortion law which has been in effect since July 1, 1970.

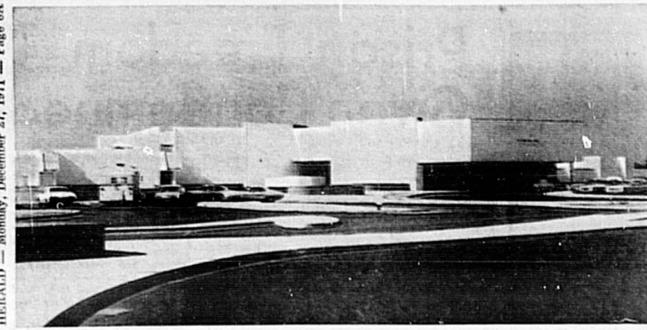

Byrn, most frequently described as a 46-year-old bachelor Catholic law professor, "which he is, charges that the New York abortion law violates the 14th Amendment to the Constitution. The amendment says that no state shall "deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law."

The state judge formally appointed Byrn the legal guardian of "Infant Roe," a fictitious name representing a fetus between four and 24 weeks of gestation who are scheduled to be aborted in New York City hospitals.

"Until someone prays otherwise, I believe that human life begins at the moment of conception," says Byrn.

In fact, however, there is little agreement on scientific, legal or theological levels — as to when a specific human life begins. Today we are really no closer to answering that question than were the ancient Greeks.

Askew Misses Solitude Governorship Full Time

By RICH OPEL
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — What Reubin O'Donovan Askew misses after a year as governor is solitude. Time with his family. Time to visit along Pensacola's Palafox Street and maybe shop for a tie.

"That has been one of the hardest adjustments, not being able to walk around by myself, and accepting the reality that the office of governor is with you all of the time," he says.

Now security men guard the Askews night and day. Sometimes Askew can't even duck into a men's room without a crowd following on his heels. And public life complexes with family for his weekend time.

"As hard as you try," Askew reflected in his office last week, "the office limits the time with your family. After awhile you realize you're getting involved almost every Saturday and sometimes Sunday afternoon."

The 43-year-old father of two, an attorney by profession, tries to reserve weekends for wife Donna Lou and Angela 16, and Kevin, 8. But things seem to interfere. Last Saturday it was a hotel dedication at Marco Island. He'll try again, he said. One new year's resolution will be to spend more time with the family. Join Kevin at Cub Scouts meeting, as he has done often. And attend horse shows with Angela, who recently won her first riding blue-ribbon.

"If you wait for time to be left over after your duties, that time never comes," he said. "I don't have a remarkably good job. But as the children go into adolescence and become teenagers, they will need me increasingly more."

In the last year, Askew's official life has been so jammed that he is only now getting around to selling his $30,000 home at 1860 Bayou Boulevard in Pensacola and to unpacking boxes of books and files he brought to the executive mansion.

Askew said he has every intention of returning one day to Pensacola, but for the time being the sale will save the expense of maintaining an unused residence. It is a three-bedroom home, and the Askews will need another bedroom now that the children are growing.

"And I've got a mama and a mama-in-law," who visit, he said. Mrs. Askew's mother is in Sanford.

"It certainly would be my inclination to return to Pensacola," said Askew. "It is my home and I love it. I would never even have had the privilege of being governor if it were not for the confidence of those close to me."

Speed Traps Are Out

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida motorists may be able to breathe a little easier starting next Saturday. Speed traps are on their way out.

That's expected to be one of the results of a new uniform traffic code which takes effect on New Year's Day, consolidating the former hodgepodge of city, county and state traffic laws.

"We hope the main effect of this will be to eliminate all speedtraps," said Sen. Joel Gustafson, R-Fort Lauderdale, an author of the code during the 1972 legislative session.

"A speed trap is usually where the posted speed limit suddenly drops—for no apparent reason. Under the new code, before a speed limit can differ from the code, there must be a good reason—supported by engineering studies," Gustafson said.

He added, however, that a city could adopt a variance to the speed limit code to cover special situations, once it completed proper engineering studies.

When the new code becomes law, Gustafson said the change-over initially may have little practical effect on the driver.

The New Year's eve drunk driver who is arrested before midnight in most cases won't be treated any differently than the drunk driver arrested at one minute after midnight by the same city policeman, Gustafson said.

"The change is one of nomenclature mostly," he said. "It will make things a lot simpler for the law enforcement agencies and for the courts, however, as well as the motorists."

For one thing, it will mean a driver arrested for speeding on an interstate highway will be given the same kind of ticket as one arrested on a city street or county road.

For another, law enforcement agencies will be able to start using speed detection traffic radar units at intersections and

His birthday passed Sunday without any indication that official celebrations were held in mainland China.

All recent indications have been that Mao, who has in past years discouraged all celebrations on his birthday, is in good health.

He now is reported brushing up on English in preparation for a meeting with President Nixon in February.

ROME (AP) — Pope Paul VI has called for a "moral ecology" to safeguard family life.

"We must advocate... that ecology for which today a necessity is at last felt, don't our children need and have a right to live in a healthy atmosphere, not polluted by the seductions of a licentious immorality?" the pontiff said Sunday.

Speaking from his window overlooking St. Peter's Square, Pope Paul described the family as "that small singular and incomparable society in which Christ lived as infant, child, youth and artisan and 'grew in wisdom and grace'."

He was released after posting a $15 battery bond and a $6,125 warrant bond.

U. S. Planes Hit Red Defenses Vietnam Air War Intensified

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — As the United States intensified its air attacks on North Vietnam's supply lines to Laos and South Vietnam, the North Vietnamese intensified their attacks on the American planes. Now the Americans are hitting back at the enemy's anti-aircraft defenses in a big way.

The escalation of the air war revolves around two mountain passes on the border between North Vietnam and Laos, the Barthelmy and the Mu Gia passes. Guns, bullets and food flow from the interior of North Vietnam through the passes to North Vietnamese troops fighting in northern Laos. In South Vietnam and in Cambodia.

The United States has been hitting these two passes with hundreds of air strikes in efforts to slow the flow of supplies. But as the United States increased its air strikes, the North Vietnamese increased their attacks on the American planes, trying to keep the passes open.

The Barthelmy pass lies on Highway 7, 150 miles southwest of Hanoi and 235 miles north of the demilitarized zone. Supplies go through the pass to the Ha Chi Minh trail, the heavy U.S. air strikes, the North Vietnamese captured the plain of Jara last week and inflicted heavy losses on the Laotian defenders.

The Mu Gia pass, 100 miles farther south, is the beginning of the Ho Chi Minh trail, the farthest the supplies get down the trail, the harder they are to intercept.

North Vietnam is said to have doubled the number of anti-aircraft missiles and large caliber guns guarding the Barthelmy and Mu Gia passes. And for the first time since the bombing halt three years ago, MIG jets are rising to harass U.S. planes.

The Cosmopolitan Club members of Orlando presented the Christmas program for the Lake Mary Woman's Club recently at the Lake Mary Elementary School auditorium.

The audience was regaled with stories of how Christmas is celebrated in many different foreign countries, with members dressed in the costume native to the country which they represented.

The finale of the Cosmopolitan program was the presentation of "The Festival of Lights" which was carried out by the children of the members.

Opening the program at the school was a talented trio from All Souls Church Choir composed of Anna Morgan, Colleen Harrison and Jennifer Burke, who presented a contemporary story which the girls composed and held hands in a circle in Vietnam and his longing for his loved ones at home.

Interpersed most effectively in the story were some modern and traditional Christmas carols. Concluding their program, the girls had the audience stand and hold hands in a circle in Vietnam and his longing for his loved ones at home.

CHULUOTA
Mrs. Alberta Bartonek, 200 Fourth Street, was one of the six winners of Seminole County in the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Seminole County win-a-bike contest. Her name was one of two winners drawn at the Oviedo Branch.

Mrs. Bartonek was really thrilled to win the marauding racer with 10 speeds, however, it being a man's bike, she gave it to her husband, Louie for a Christmas gift and is the ever proud of that red and white racer. He rides it to the post office and throughout the streets of Chulota.

Mrs. Bartonek has joined the crowd, so to speak. A lot of folks are riding their bicycles all over the community. In fact one man suggested a bicycle club for Chulota. It is good exercise, good for the heart, just plain good enjoyment and last but not least, saves pollution and parking space at the post office!

Mrs. Eleanor Pearson, a new member, was introduced.

U. S. Readies Its 'Long Bomb' Strategy Against Cancer

By BOB CORRETT
Copley News Service

The United States has committed itself to a "long bomb" strategy in its efforts to defeat cancer once and for all, its sports journal, it's a whole new ball game.

argued that the creation of an independent cancer agency might lead to the dismemberment of the National Institutes of Health, of which the National Cancer Institute is now and remains a member.

The new game plan is "strapped up" in the $1.6 billion war on cancer bill approved by both the House and Senate and signed by President Nixon.

get requests will go straight to the White House with only comments from the head of the NIH.

However, all of this is in the realm of master strategy. Any Monday morning quarterback knows success depends on how well that strategy is executed.

for cancer has proved to be a tricky and imprecise opponent, fought to score again. Not all his secrets are known yet.

One can only wish them well.

The scientists directing the new plan might do well to keep in mind another old football maxim.

They have to establish your running game. (In this case, however, it's to set up your passing game. The "big bomb" doesn't happen by accident.

Trophy Winners In Intramural Football

WOODSIDE-Skipper claims two of the wins for the Conroy Kennel, both coming over the Seminole course. One of the many trophies in the Conroy Kennel, Woodside's Skipper holds the record for the Seminole course at SOBK. He set it opening night with a time of 38:08 seconds.

Over a week remains before the Seminole Junior College Raiders swing back into action. When they do they'll tackle the heavy end of a Jacksonville state or even national championship competition.

The local quint has broken the clock in one of their 11 outings and are averaging 109.6 points per game. Their best offensive game, ironically, came in their only loss as they were beaten by North Florida, 125-131. The Raiders finished that game with only four men on the court after six men left the game. Jones and another player also averaged 14.5 points per outing.

Shane's team will make an appearance although their wrestling title will not be on the line. They are pitted against Stogie Garvin and Duke Myers. Bob Hood and the Great Melenko will join forces tonight for their tag team clash with Bobby Duncum and Ole Anderson.

Shane will be matched against one of the top pro grapplers in Central Florida at the present, Johnny Walker. This bout is being billed as the headline or tonight's card.

For SJC Raiders Tough Schedule Ahead

Two more away games follow before the Raiders open their home stand of 1972. And what a home stand that should be. They meet Lake City Jan. 5, contest with the Rollins varsity. They have a new and other varsity battle on Jan. 11, the Jacksonville University January 8 when they meet the freshmen January 22.

Unmarked by Blin, Ali said that he cut his opponent's cheekbones with left jab. Blin had often boasted that he had never been cut in the face during a fight.

Blin was no surprise, he was just tough," said Ali, flashing that well-known handsome smile. "He was hard to hit. He took a lot and just kept coming."

Shane, Walker Head Wrestling Program

Shane comes back tonight. Bobby Shane that is and he'll be featured in Milo Stenbom's all-star wrestling program at night at the Orlando Sports Stadium.

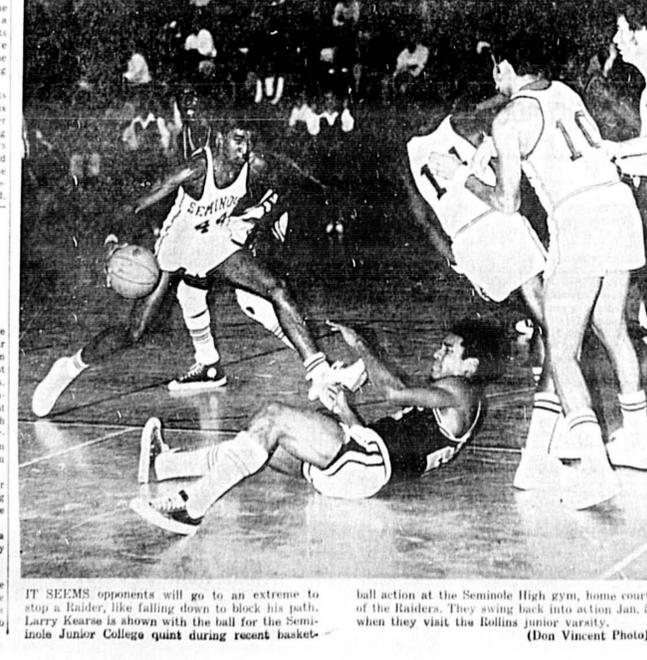

The second annual Vince Lombardi award dinner will be held Jan. 14 in Houston. It is sponsored by the Rotary Club. The Florida Tag Team champion of Houston.

Ali Set For Next Fight; But Not With Frazier

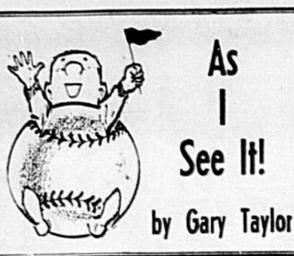

Ali knocked out the German after knocking down Jaegeron at 2:12 of the seventh round with a short right cross that came after he was set up by a left hook.

Ali's trainer said Sunday in an open to questions about a possible rematch with the heavy weight champion.

Blin was no surprise, he was just tough," said Ali, flashing that well-known handsome smile. "He was hard to hit. He took a lot and just kept coming."

IT SEEMS opponents will go to an extreme to stop a Raider, like falling down to block his path. Larry Kearse is shown with the ball for the Seminole Junior College quint during recent basketball action at the Seminole High gym, home court of the Raiders. They swing back into action Jan. 5 when they visit the Rollins Junior varsity. (Don Vincent Photo)

No Looking Back Super Bowl Contenders Reduced To Four

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Don't look back" was the message from the White House. Unfortunately, it went to the Washington Redskins, who have nowhere else to look until next season.

It's San Francisco, Dallas, Baltimore and Miami that aren't looking back today. They're looking forward to the final step that leads to New Orleans and Super Bowl VI.

The other, and Cowboys will go at it next Sunday in Dallas.

Congratulations are in order to both Clifford Martin and Dallas Brown. Martin was named to the All-State first team on offense, after claiming first team spots on both offense and defense on the Sanford Herald All-Seminole County football team.

Martin could have easily gained All-Region and All-State competition on offense, though his offensive effort greatly overshadowed the role he played on defense.

Brown was recently named to the Parade Magazine High School All-American Football Team. Brown received the honor in recognition of his high school football achievements over the last three years.

Brown didn't have as good a season this year as he did as a Junior when he was named All-State first team, but certainly no one questioned the talents of the gridiron player who plays both offense and defense. With the right coaching he could develop into an outstanding prospect.

Kind of seems odd that none of the local high school gridiron have been signed by college scouts. But then, maybe it shouldn't seem strange since the team had a 6-3 record, because last year they were 10-0 and I don't see anyone playing college ball off that team.

More local names keep popping into the air when the Deland coaching vacancy is mentioned. Seems a local Junior varsity coach has also got his sights set on the job.

It seems nothing stirs up a little action more than a coaching vacancy, especially football. Maybe that's what we need around here.

Of course I wouldn't know for sure, but the grapevine has it that Seminole High is planning another football banquet this year, separate from the Spring. The football players had a banquet with a big name speaker which I'll bet cost a pretty penny. So what did the other sports get... a barbecue. Of course the football players were at that too.

Don't get me wrong. The barbecue was handled nicely by the Boosters Club, but are the football players as much greater than the students that participate in other sports. It seems they are at Seminole High.

Another interesting point made to me. It seems a new policy was brought into effect last year concerning letterman jackets. I understand the athletes don't qualify for as much greater than the students that participate in other sports. It seems they are at Seminole High, you'd better play football.

Don Woodard of Lake Mary took first place in the final football contest of the year sponsored by The Herald and several area businesses. He captured the first place prize of $100. Harry of Sanford took the second place winnings of $6, while third place and $4 went to Tom Chitty of Chuluota.

If you didn't watch that game on television Saturday you missed some kind of ball game. The Miami Dolphins pulled it out in the SIXTH period. You were watching history in the making as they won the second place game of the year in the history of the sport.

Miami won it 27-24 with a field goal in the second overtime period. It was only the fourth overtime game in the history of the NFL.

What a crowd there'll be in Miami next weekend when the Dolphins battle the Baltimore Colts once more.

The Florida State Seminoles meet Arizona State today in the Fiesta Bowl in Tempe, Ariz. The bowl is the first ever in the Southwest.

Though it's being staged in Tempe, it is hosted by the Phoenician-Tempe-Sentinel area. The game will be broadcast locally on WTEB, 1400 on the AM radio dial. Air time is 2:45 p.m., with kickoff at 3 p.m.

A prediction: Look for Arizona State to win by 20 points.

New out-of-state entries have arrived at Sunshine Speedway for the fourth Winter Nationals Figure Skating championship race, Sunday afternoon, Jan. 9.

Three new entries for Islip, N. Y. — John Craft, Al Worth and Don Boyce — bring the total of four from the Islip area. Islip Speedway is the home of ABC Television's Wide World of Sports race, for which Sunshine's stock car races were patterned.

The second $2,000 purse is attracting drivers from other cities in Florida too. Jim Williams of Jacksonville and George Kerr of Sarasota will race on the collision course spectacular.

Kerr raced the No. 18 at Sunshine during the past season and was involved in one bad crash, but was not injured. It will be the first time on the track for Williams. The Jacksonville Figure Skating center is two years old.

The program will also include races for Tornados, Mini-Stocks and a Tom Thumb Derby for four-to-eight-year-olds on mini-kites.

Safety inspection and practice is set for Jan. 8 from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m. Gates will open at 11 a.m. Sunday, the day of the race. Race time is 2 p.m.

The track is located on Fla. 66A between 17th and 15.

Lakers Extend Streak To 28 Straight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Los Angeles, Calif. (AP)—The Los Angeles Lakers' record National Basketball Association winning streak has reached 28 games, but Coach Bill Sharman still is hungry for more victories.

"I'd like to win 10, 15 or 20 more in a row," Sharman said after the Lakers had demolished the Houston Rockets 117-115 with an 81-point second half Sunday night.

"It's a pattern with us," explained Sharman. "We dribble and stand around too much in the first half before we get going. We run much better in the second half, and when we're running like that, nobody can stop us."

No team has stopped the Lakers since Oct. 31, when they suffered their last defeat, 109-105 to the Golden State Warriors.

And no team has stopped the Lakers this season when they have had Jerry West in the lineup. West has played 32 games—Los Angeles has won them all. In the five games he missed, the team was 2-3.

Against the Rockets, West was sensational. He hit 14 of 17 field goal attempts and 10 of 13 free throws for a game-high 34 points. He also collected 17 assists.

Gail Goodrich added 28 points for Los Angeles. Jim McMillan, who suffered a seven-stitch wound in his right cheekbone in a collision with Houston's Cliff Meyers, had 20 points. And Happy Hairston netted 15 points and grabbed 21 rebounds.

Elvin Hayes scored 23 points for Houston and Stu Lantz had 28.

The Lakers, held to a 25.6 percent shooting percentage in the first two periods.

Eisewhere in the NBA Sunday night, Milwaukee trounced Houston 41-35 and 49-21 in the final two periods.

Season Tix Holder Gets First Crack

MIAMI (AP)—Miami Dolphins season ticket holders will get first crack at buying seats for the American Football Conference championship game between the Dolphins and the Baltimore Colts Jan. 2 in the Orange Bowl.

Ticket director Charles Gering said season ticket holders have been advised they can purchase their same seats for the championship game, plus an additional $6 per ticket. In other words, said holders of four tickets can buy 37.

To buy their tickets, season ticket holders must bring the notification letter to the Orange Bowl Tuesday or Wednesday.

THEY'RE SHIVERING IN PLACES UP 'NORTH'
 However, here in Seminole County, this is a typical scene being enjoyed by residents and tourists alike. Yesterday's high was 81 with much the same predicted for today. To make you feel even better, this morning it was 20 below zero at Butte, Montana. Editorial Editor Stafford Derby captured this view at the public boat ramp on Highway 17-92, with the I-4 bridge in the background as it crosses the St. Johns River.

AF Retiree Stabbed To Death

Clues Are Sought In Ex-Officer's Murder

By BILL SCOTT

Seminole County authorities are "processing" a retired Air Force officer's murder and white Oldsmobile today in an effort to find clues pointing to the killer of the 52-year-old Casselberry liquor store assistant manager. His stabbed body was found Monday near Trinity Preparatory School by the daughter of the school's headmaster.

Lt. L. J. Kritz, Seminole chief investigator, said today, "The car is about the only thing we have to work on," in trying to solve the puzzle of who fatally stabbed Richard Franklin Day, 5120 Ferncrest Drive, Goldenrod.

Day's fully-clothed body was found a short distance from his car, parked just off SR 420 on a private road, by a daughter of Canon A. Ross Hay at approximately 7:45 a.m.

County authorities were called by her father and an autopsy was performed on Day's body Monday afternoon, at which time seven stab wounds in the chest were discovered. Pathologist G. V. Garay reported the man died as a result of "massive internal hemorrhage," according to Kritz, who reported the body was found approximately one and a half miles from Day's Woodcrest area home.

The detective said robbery was not the apparent motive, since the man's wallet containing approximately $18 was intact. Preliminary examination disclosed several stab wounds, which would indicate it might have been Day's vehicle.

Acting on this assumption, it is possible that Day may be in a garage or in an apartment house lived in the same general area.

Investigators established that the man left the ABC liquor store, where he was employed, shortly after the Sunday night closing time.

Kritz said today a car was seen driving onto the private road between 12:30 and 1 a.m., which would indicate it might have been Day's vehicle.

Investigators are continuing to search for clues that may lead to the killer of the retired Air Force officer.

Uncle Sam Plans Check Of Stores

By BILL NEIKIRK
 Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Internal Revenue Service agents will begin checking retail stores closely next week for violations of rules requiring freeze-period price ceilings to be posted prominently.

"We will vigorously enforce this statute," an IRS spokesman said. "These directions have gone out to the field."

Enforcement will be concentrated in big chain stores, those with annual sales of $100,000 or more and subject to a government regulation requiring prior approval of price increases, the spokesman said.

But he emphasized that consumers searching for the high cost possible price a store can charge on a given item can obtain that information only by asking the store's management.

What must be posted under government requirements are freeze-period prices, the legally permissible ceilings that existed on goods during the 90-day wage price freeze from Aug. 15 to Nov. 13.

In many cases, retailers have asked and received approval from the Price Commission to boost their prices beyond this limit. As a result, the freeze-period price is intended only as a rough guide for consumers.

There's one general rule, however, that government regulators informally pass on to consumers: If the price increase on a given item exceeds 25 percent, ask the retailer for the new ceiling price.

Although 25 percent is a general target, the government has approved many price increases higher than that. The rule is that a retailer may not boost his percentage markup, and price increases must be justified by cost increases.

Consumers, however, will not get a look at all the ceiling prices that were permissible during the freeze.

A retailer with annual sales of more than $100,000 a year must post the freeze-period ceiling prices on, at most, 40 items in each department of his store. The items covered are those that were sold most during the last fiscal year. Or he may post prices only on items that accounted for at least half of total dollar sales in each department.

The exception: Large retailers must post freeze-period prices on all of their food products.

For retailers with annual sales less than $100,000, the same posting rules apply, with a few exceptions. Not all food ceiling prices must be posted, only the ceiling prices on high volume goods.

Christian Village Is In Limbo

The Christian Village development proposed for 18.6 acres of property located adjacent to Onora Road extension and near Lakewood Middle School is in limbo as far as actual construction is concerned, although the governing body of the $1.8 million first phase was held approximately two months ago.

In attempting to find the "bottleneck" that has prevented the start of construction of the over 190 units of apartments in the first phase, The Herald has discovered various problems ranging from a possible sewage lift station situation to lack of engineering plans being filed with the city.

City Engineer Mack Lazenby said the County School Board would have to approve the routing of sewage through the Village's lift station near the Village site. He indicated the board will discuss the situation at the next meeting on Jan. 11.

City Manager W. E. Knowles said he does not know why the building had been held up, but believes the engineering plans may not have been fully completed, since there has been an indication from the "Village" to split the overall project into two phases.

Sanford building inspector, Lynn Risher said he has not seen anything but a general layout of the project, as yet.

The Christian Village project is sponsored almost entirely by Federal Housing Administration (FHA) and, according to persons who deal with the governmental agency, much time is required to obtain FHA approval of the various rezoned areas involved with construction.

The first construction phase was expected to consist of over 130 apartments and the second phase to be larger. There is enough land to build up to 300 to 360 units, according to the city's density requirements.

Expected to be included with the apartment units are commercial shops and a one-hour parking garage, according to preliminary information given on the project at the outset some two years ago.

The Herald attempted to contact the Tampa builder of the project but he was unavailable.

3 Convicts Escape At State Pen

RAIFORD, Fla. (AP) — Three convicts—one a murderer under three life sentences—escaped through a window of a maximum security cell, scaled two fences and fled from Raiford State Prison early today.

Prison employees tracked the men with bloodhounds. They ran on foot south from Raiford, according to inmate treatment Director David Bachman in Tallahassee.

The three were Larry Gene Anderson, 19, of Lakeland, serving three life terms for 30-year-old robbery; and Harold LeRoy Radaubaugh, 22, of Calloway, in prison for 10 years for robbery and aggravated assault.

The breaking boosted to nine the number of escapes from the heavy security prison, the state's largest, this year. Each man said Anderson's escape was the only recent one involving a convicted murderer.

The corrections official said the men fled through the window of Keene's cell, from which two bars had been sawed away. No cutting tools were found, he said.

Altamonte Fire Chief Resigns In Conflict

By DONNA ESTES

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — No decision has been reached on a replacement for Fire Chief Gary Kaiser, who has resigned from the post he has held for the past three years, Mayor Lawrence Swofford said today. The mayor continued an appointment may be expected within the week.

In the meantime, he said the city and suburban fire control district is covered with an adequate volunteer and paid department. Kaiser, 36, submitted his resignation from the office last Thursday, effective today.

In his written resignation Kaiser said, "My reason for leaving was numerous and outstanding changes in the police-Administration conflict during the past eight years."

Kaiser, who was the youngest fire chief in Seminole County, continued, "Based on the above and a number of other circumstances, I have decided to return to college full time and finish the requirements to attain my degree in fire technology and related sciences. I am thankful for the opportunity to have served the fine citizens of Altamonte Springs and surrounding community for the past eight years."

Jail Morals Trials Are Scheduled

By MARION REITHA

Four inmates of the county jail, charged with two counts of crime against nature in an alleged sexual assault against a fellow inmate, were arraigned today in the county court before Circuit Judge Dominick Sall.

Trial had been set on the charges for Gary Adair on Jan. 19. Adair was incarcerated on possession of a dangerous drug at the time of the alleged incident.

Trial was set for Jan. 30 in the case of Thomas Todd, who is also waiting trial on Jan. 19 on charges of the rape of a South Seminole woman.

Finally, trial was set for Feb. 7 in the case of James Knight, charged in the sexual incident. However, this morning, Assistant State Attorney Newman Brock told the court the state had dropped these charges due to a Florida Supreme Court ruling last week.

The court struck down the state law in which homosexual acts and crime against nature were felonies and punishable by 30-year imprisonment. The court ruling declared the statute was unconstitutional, but still left standing a misdemeanor charge prohibiting unnatural and lascivious acts.

Three of the men, Knight, Hiloy and Todd, are now charged with aggravated assault. They were without counsel present this morning, although special public defenders have been appointed for each. Arrangements were made for a combined force of narcotics undercover agents.

Trial has been set for Feb. 7 for the four other suspects in the case.
