

Sanford Drug Deal Really Was A 'Bust'

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Sometimes it's difficult to tell the good guys from the bad guys, and the confusion early this week could cost area law-enforcement agents $500.

"Our people were setting up a drug deal in Sanford and it moved out to Seminole County's jurisdiction," said Sanford Police Chief Ben Butler. "What happened was the middleman (whose identity Butler would not disclose) had set up a deal between our agents and Seminole County's and Metropolitan Bureau of Investigation (MBI) agents to buy $60,000 worth of Qualudes. It wasn't until the deal was going down that we realized we were dealing with other agents."

Butler said the middleman who set up the deal was promised $500 in the transaction and that "it's a price you have to pay and a chance you have to take in this type of deal."

"It was a case of the right hand not knowing what the left hand was doing," said Sanford Police Sgt. William Bernosky.

Butler said his agents met with prospective drug buyers at about 11 a.m. Tuesday near the Foxfire restaurant on U.S. Highway 17-92. After showing the buyers a sample of the depressant drug, the group arranged to meet a short while later at a location between the Sanford Plaza and the Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurant on U.S. 17-92, outside the city limits.

"I wasn't even aware of the drug deal going down," Butler said. "I don't follow every traffic arrest, so why should I follow every drug arrest? But I got wind of the thing and so did the sheriff, so we got involved. It could have been a very bad situation — cops shooting cops — because you never know what can happen dealing with that much money and that much dope."

"The real unfortunate thing about the deal is that the bad guy got away with $500 after pitting good guys against good guys," Sheriff John Polk said. "He thought he was getting bad guys and drug agents together but what happened was that he got agents together with agents."

Polk said his department, plus Sanford police and MBI agents, are continuing their investigation of Tuesday's incident.

"The $500 paid to the middleman comes out of the Orlando department's investigation expenses," Polk added.

"It's really bad it happened," Butler said. "We might still be able to make an arrest in the case, but we won't know until the investigation of the incident is complete. But for now, the middleman got the $500 payment."

Polk said the confusion over the drug deal resulted from a "lack of communications between this department and Sanford. It was not a lack of cooperation. We thought the deal was to go down in south Seminole County. But things got turned around and started up in the Sanford city limits."

Lake Mary Police Cars Not Lost

Missing Fords Turn Up

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The two new Ford LTD police cars ordered by the city of Lake Mary seven months ago and believed lost in New Orleans have been found.

City Councilman Gene McDonald said he waged what he called a "Big Mac Attack" on the Ford Motor Co. over the last three weeks until the cars were seen in the Jacksonville railroad yard. They should be delivered to the city today or Monday, McDonald reported to the Lake Mary City Council on Thursday night.

McDonald, as his first chore as the city's public-safety director, took on the challenge of finding the cars in January. Earlier it had been reported that the two vehicles were lost somewhere in New Orleans.

McDonald said it was supposed to take 90 days for delivery of the special police-equipped cars from the order date last July.

The councilman said he got "rhetoric" from the automaker about how Ford plants are operating only part-time and how the firm couldn't get the cars through the manufacturing cycle.

"It was a lot of bull roar," he said, adding that he was irate and less than civil with company officials. "I couldn't understand the chin music I was getting when car sales are so depressed."

He said he talked with Ford officials in Atlanta and insisted they could not possibly have lost $16,000 worth of merchandise in transit.

"Three weeks ago they told me the cars had been shipped from Kentucky Jan. 20 and 21. I waited a reasonable time and then started chasing them down," he said.

Dead Girl's Father Blasts Cheshire Over DWI Case

By MARK VOGLER
Herald Staff Writer

John F. Hebel, the father of the 14-year-old Longwood girl who was killed last May in a vehicular-homicide case, blames "gross incompetence" by Seminole-Brevard State Attorney Douglas Cheshire's office as the reason manslaughter charges against a teen-age motorist later were dropped.

"They really mishandled this one. It was a matter of gross incompetence — sloppy paperwork and not getting things filed properly," Hebel said Thursday. "And what the state attorney's office is doing now amounts to nothing but a cover-up. I don't like it — and it's not going to accomplish anything."

Hebel directed sharp criticism at Cheshire's office prior to Thursday's hearing in Circuit Judge Dominick J. Salfi's chambers to consider a request by the state attorney to reverse the judge's dismissal of manslaughter charges against Jerome Alexander Jowals, 18, of Longwood.

DOUGLAS CHESHIRE
...his office is criticized

Laurie Anne Hebel, of Longwood, died May 17 after being struck by a car allegedly driven by Jowals on Wekiva Springs Road in Longwood at about 1:20 a.m. Four other girls were injured when the car ran into the group that was walking along the road.

Police investigating the accident later testified Jowals' blood-alcohol level tested at .24 percent two hours after the crash. Under state law, a person whose blood-alcohol level tests at .10 percent or higher is considered legally drunk.

Salfi dismissed charges against Jowals on Jan. 21, ruling that the state had taken too much time to bring the case to trial. Under the Speedy Trial Law, the state has 180 days to try a case after making an arrest. The judge maintains the state's time ran out Jan. 14.

However, prosecutor Alan Robinson argued during Thursday's hearing that he has a different interpretation of the Speedy Trial Law than the judge, asserting that certain provisions of the law would permit the case to be tried before Feb. 22.

Hebel, who is on assignment for the Martin Marietta Aerospace Corp. in Plano, Tex., flew into Orlando this week to find out the progress of the case. He said he is unhappy with the way the state handled the prosecution of Jowals and that he will await the outcome the case before making a detailed statement.

Cheshire could not be reached for comment today.

Meanwhile, Chief Assistant State Attorney Chris Ray said he hopes Salfi will reverse his decision to dismiss charges against Jowals. Otherwise, the state plans to appeal that decision on the grounds that the judge failed to interpret the law properly.

Whether Salfi will change his mind and order the case to be placed back on the criminal court docket will be known shortly after he receives final legal arguments from the prosecution and defense next Wednesday.

Salfi outlined his decision with detailed calendar and supportive court documents during Thursday's hearing.

DOMINICK SALFI
...will he be reversed?

The state's assertion that a time extension should have been granted due to a continuance should be ruled out as a legitimate argument because the continuance was requested four days after the Speedy Trial clock had expired, according to the judge.

Excerpts from court transcripts presented by Salfi also suggested that the state was guilty of contributing to significant delays in the case, particularly the fact that it took four months before the state even filed a motion in adult proceedings. The state initially pursued the case in juvenile court.

"The delay in this case has been caused by the actions of the state and certainly not the actions of the defendant," argued defense lawyer Leon Cheek.

He further said that "it's too late" for the state to argue about interpretation of the Speedy Trial Law now, since it failed to raise the issue when the defense filed a motion of discharge.

Salfi also said the state failed to raise the issue until after he made his ruling.

Longwood Man Facing Minnesota Drug Counts

A Longwood man, held on drug charges in Minneapolis, is free on $25,000 bail today after he also surrendered his passport to the judge. Mark Steven Wallraff, 28, of Longwood was indicted Wednesday by a federal grand jury airport when he arrived on a flight from Florida," said John Erskine, superintendent of the Minnesota Crime Bureau. "Officers searched his luggage and found the cocaine. It was good stuff, too — about 97 percent pure."

The investigation into Wallraff's suspected drug dealings began when an ounce of cocaine, sent by air express to a Stillwater, Minn., resident, was intercepted by federal drug agents, authorities said.

following his arrest Monday in Minneapolis for possession of 2 1/2 pounds of pure cocaine, valued at about $1 million, law-enforcement authorities said.

"Wallraff was arrested Monday night at about 9 p.m. at the Minneapolis-St. Paul Erskine said Wallraff's arrest was the result of a three-month investigation involving Minneapolis agents and the Orlando International Airport Narcotics Task Force. More arrests are pending in the case, he said.

Erskine added that Wallraff is believed to be part of a drug ring whose members carry drugs on commercial flights to Minnesota and surrounding states.

The investigation into Wallraff's suspected drug dealings began when an ounce of cocaine, sent by air express to a Stillwater, Minn., resident, was intercepted by federal drug agents, authorities said. Wallraff's telephone records indicate he has received calls from that Stillwater address, they added.

Wallraff, a construction worker, was observed by Florida agents for several months and subsequently was arrested by Minnesota agents when he arrived by commercial flight in the Twin Cities Monday.

No trial date has been set, Erskine said.

An Altamonte Springs woman is free today on $1,000 bond following her arrest on charges of dealing in stolen property, theft and child abuse.

Dolores Marie Fernandez, 34, of 853 Darwin Drive, was freed after her arrest Wednesday.

Ms. Fernandez, a homemaker, is charged with soliciting two Altamonte Springs youths to steal thousands of dollars worth of jewelry and silver from an Altamonte home, according to police Det. Robert Fedl. The child abuse charge relates to contributing to the delinquency of a minor and not that of physical harm to the boys, he added.

Police said a woman convinced a 15-year-old boy to rob the home of Norma and Antoun Harou, of 854 Darwin Drive, of about $5,000 worth of jewelry on Jan. 22. On Jan. 26, the boy convinced his 16-year-old friend to join in another burglary. The two stole about $9,000 worth of silverware in that incident. Some of the stolen property has been recovered, Fedl said.

The youngest boy was charged with two counts of burglary and one count of dealing in stolen property. He was later released into his parent's custody.

The 16-year-old boy was charged with one count of burglary and taken to the Seminole County Division of Youth Services Wednesday afternoon, police said.

Lake Mary Considering Water Saving Measures

Conservation measures which could cut water consumption by the typical Lake Mary family of four by 12,000 gallons per year has received the City Council's informal nod of approval.

The council Thursday night asked New Resource Group, a non-profit conservation firm from New England, to prepare a plan for Lake Mary's 8,000 water customers.

Tentative plans call for the purchase of $18 kits to be used by individuals to curb water usage in showers, sinks and toilets.

George Adkins of the conservation group said water customers who wish to purchase the kits could be billed for the cost with their water bills.

Adkins said the new shower head included in the kit could cut the use of water by two-thirds. He demonstrated the shower head for the city council and for representatives from the cities of Sanford, Tavares and Altamonte Springs.

The shower head, he said, breaks water into fine droplets, eliminating the water which is usually wasted. With two spring steel devices to be placed in toilets, water used for each flush could be reduced from five to 3½ gallons or less.

Adkins said that $18 kits will pay for themselves in 30 days. He said by using a plan where water customers pay for the kits on their water bills, the city can expect 50-to-60 percent of the customers to take advantage of the program.

Adkins said research has shown that families use 70 percent of their water in the bathroom, 30 percent in the shower and sink, and 40 percent in the toilet.

The average shower, he said, uses 6-to-18 gallons of water per minute. He noted that by saving water, a person would also save the electrical energy needed to heat the water and sewer capacity to receive the water after use.

Adkins said the New Resources Group was formed in Cape Cod and incorporated in 1977 for the purpose of protecting the country's natural resources. The organization receives no federal or state funding, he said.

Unemployment Dips In Nation, Rises In Florida And Seminole

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Florida's unadjusted unemployment rate rose to 7.7 in January from December's rate of 7.3, but was still under the national figure of 8.5 percent.

The latest Seminole County figure available is for December, when the unemployment rate was 7.6 percent. Tim McCauley, manager of the Florida State Employment Service office in Sanford, said the number of jobless seeking employment in Seminole is up. The January figures for the county will not be released until Feb. 26.

"We are on the appointment system and we are booked two weeks in advance," he said. "We have a steady stream from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m."

He blames the increase here on a combination of things, one being the September closing of the Casselberry office. The Sanford office also is seeing job seekers from southwestern Volusia County. Other reasons include recent layoffs. Those laid off from October through December have now depleted their unemployment checks and are required to look for work, McCauley said.

"The cold weather has hurt the agriculture people pretty bad, too," he added.

Unemployment nationally dipped to 8.5 percent in January in revised figures reported today by the government, but a sizable decrease in industrial jobs indicated the recession has not eased.

There were 9.3 million Americans out of work, according to the seasonally adjusted figures issued by the Labor Department.

The new data showed the unemployment rate has gone up 1.1 percentage points during President Reagan's first year in office — from 7.4 percent in January 1981.

The overall meaning of the new figures was muddled by an annual adjustment of the data for 1981 by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. It switched this month from using the 1970 census to the 1980 census as the basis for projections from its survey of 60,000 households.

Under the revised figures, the unemployment rate for December was 8.8 percent reported last month. It meant the January rate of 8.5 percent was a drop of 0.3 percentage points.

Economists say the current recession began last summer, and the report for January is the first time in five months the unemployment rate has dropped.

Most of the reduction occurred among adult men, which went from 7.9 percent to 7.5 percent over the month.

The overall number of American employed dropped slightly to 88,561,000.

Labor and government officials had feared that the January data would continue the unemployment rate climb to above the post-World War II record of 9 percent set in May, 1975.

Sanford P&Z Commission OKs Proposed Mobile Home Park

A proposed mobile home park to be located north of Carriage Cove and south of Airport Boulevard on a 70-acre tract has received the blessing of the Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission.

The commission Thursday night recommended that the City Commission rezone the tract from multiple family residential to mobile home residential to permit the development of the mobile home community.

In other business, the commission approved a site plan for a $750,000 radiation therapy clinic to be built at 301 N. Mangrove Ave., south of the new Central Florida Regional Hospital.

Randy Reyna, an associate with Walton Architectural Associates Inc., said construction of the facility is tentatively scheduled to begin in June.

When the facility is completed, patients needing radiation therapy will no longer have to travel to Orlando for treatment.

The commission also approved:
— A 30-day extension on the conditional use by the Maranatha Pentecostal Church of the property at 1016 French Ave. A new church is being constructed on Pecan Avenue.

— Approved the site plan for an office and garage on the first floor and a three-bedroom apartment on the second floor for the manager's use at Franklin Arms Apartments, 1120 Florida Ave.

— Approved a site plan for a 2,400-square-foot addition to the meeting room of the Rescue Church of God at 1700 W. 13th St.

— Approved a site plan for three warehouses and five metal canopies to cover existing tables at the Village Flea Market at 1500 French Ave. with the condition that 25 additional parking places be constructed within 12 months near the warehouses.

— Approved a site plan for a lean-to addition to a wooden hangar for Air Engines of America located on Flightline Avenue at the Sanford Airport. Cost of the improvement is estimated at $15,000.

— Approved a site plan for an $85,000 warehouse for Codisco Inc. on 29th Street, east of Melkenville Avenue at the Sanford Airport.

Cost-Saving Insurance Plan Approved By House Committee

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A House committee has approved a novel scheme that would allow businessmen to form commercial insurance co-ops to cut premiums and keep millions of dollars in investment money in the state.

But insurance company officials are crying foul, saying the co-ops would not be as regulated as they are and warning that the co-ops could prove not as financially stable as their members might think.

The House Insurance Committee approved the proposed co-ops — called limited reciprocals — by a 12-2 vote Thursday as an amendment to a proposed rewrite of the Insurance Code.

The proposal would clear the way for groups of from two to 250 businesses to pool their premiums and aggregate net worths to provide commercial property and casualty insurance coverage. Members who suffer damage would be compensated from the pool.

"It's going to open this market up," said Jon Shebel of Associated Industries, a business lobby which pushed hard for the proposal. Shebel estimated the insurance co-ops could cut commercial insurance premiums by as much as 70 percent.

Bankers said the co-ops could prevent millions of dollars from flowing to out-of-state insurance firms and homebuilders said this would increase the state's pool of mortgage money.

Insurance company officials, insurance agents and other critics questioned whether participants in a co-op would be as protected as they might think against a collapse of the group.

Proponents disputed this, saying the dangers of bankruptcy would be no greater than those for regular firms.

The proposal parallels a change made in 1979 to the state's workers' compensation law that allowed companies to self-insure. Business groups say that change has saved millions of dollars in workers' comp premiums.

Insurance Chairman Tom Gustafson, D-Fort Lauderdale, said if the co-ops produce similar savings, "That's $300 million in premiums deposited in Florida instead of Hartford, Conn."

The Florida Bankers Association offered an even higher estimate, saying as much as $1.8 billion of the $2 billion in commercial insurance written in Florida might stay in the state.

Speaking for agents and insurance companies, Buddy McCue disputed the claim that so much money will remain in the state. He reminded the panel that his own research found that the insurance industry has $11.6 billion invested in Florida, much of it from commercial premiums.

He objected that the co-ops would not have to comply with Insurance Code requirements concerning false advertising, job discrimination and coverage cancellation guidelines.

"We want them to compete on the same basis we compete, no more, no less," McCue said.

The proposal, which would take effect Jan. 1 next year, includes specific standards for the co-ops in the size of their surplus and coverage limits.

The Department of Insurance would oversee the co-ops but not have veto power over their rates or rate structures, as it does for regular insurance carriers.

Williams' Lawyer Attacks Key Prosecution Witnesses

ATLANTA (UPI) — The police recruits who discovered accused killer Wayne Williams on the Jackson Parkway bridge last spring were actually asleep at the time — on the same side of the bridge, a defense witness testified today.

Ken Lawson, who was also a recruit last May but has since been discharged, said Freddie Jacobs and Robert Campbell stayed together because "they were scared, it appeared, of being alone in the woods."

Lawson also said it was common knowledge the Jackson Parkway stakeout detail was drinking on the job. The state rested its case near the end of the trial's sixth week Thursday after presenting 119 witnesses — the last several offering the first clear picture of any motive in the Atlanta child killings. They said Williams, a 23-year-old black photographer, appeared ashamed of poor blacks and once suggested they could be gradually eliminated by systematically killing their children.

Williams is on trial for the murder of Nathaniel Cater and Jimmy Ray Payne, two of the 28 young blacks plucked off Atlanta's streets and murdered over a 22-month-long period. All but two of them were males.
Testimony connected Williams to 11 more victims — although he denied knowing any of them.

Williams first came to police attention on the morning of May 22, when Campbell heard a "big loud splash" in the Chattahoochee River and Jacobs, who said he was at the bridge level on the other side of the river from Campbell, saw Williams' station wagon move slowly off the span.

Two days later Cater's body surfaced downstream.

But Lawson, the defense's third witness, said he was a good friend of Campbell and he "told me they were both on the same side of the bridge because they were sleeping together."

Campbell told him, Lawson said, that Jacobs was "scared even to go in the woods to urinate by himself."
"He indicated they did consume alcoholic beverages at the ridge," Lawson said. "At the Police Academy the first two weeks, that was all they talked about."

Lawson also joined the first two witnesses in attacking the credibility of prosecution witness Nellie Trammell, an elderly black woman who testified she saw Williams with victim Larry Rogers, at two of the victims funerals, and coming in and out of his house, which was across from her church.

But officials of the True Light Baptist Church across from the Williams' home said she was not a member, and Lawson said she was considered a crank by police.

"Every time a body was found she would call the task force or come down to tell us about her visions," he said.

"We were under the impression from her calls and coming to the taskforce she was a psychic or she had visions."

Lawson also testified that the rumor of Freddie Jacobs' "ghost stories" at the Jackson Parkway Bridge was largely a joke. He said Jacobs once reported seeing "someone beside the river and he thought they were throwing a body in. The SWAT team was called out to search the woods. They said he'd seen a ghost."

Williams was linked to the victims by hundreds of fibers that various experts contended made it "virtually certain" the young blacks had been in either the home or the car Williams shared with his parents, both retired teachers.

A total of 14 witnesses claimed they had seen Williams with various victims. Two testified he had offered them money for homosexual acts, and one said he saw Williams and Cater holding hands.

Used Car Buyers Get A Break

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The 1st District Court of Appeal has ruled that dealers who sell used cars must exercise reasonable care in making sure that the mileage reading is correct.

The court upheld a $12,000 damage award against Bill Terry's Inc., a Jacksonville car dealership that certified a "suspiciously low" mileage reading on a four-year-old Buick.

The court allowed both actual and punitive damages but threw out the Duval Circuit Court's award of triple damages, saying it was excessive to allow punitive and triple damages for the same act.

The case grew out of the 1976 sale by the dealership of a used car on which it had kept service records for four years that the court said made it apparent the odometer had "rolled over" past the 100,000 mile mark and begun to register in the low thousands.

"Absolute certainty that an odometer has turned over is not necessary if the transferor would have discovered the 'roll over' in the exercise of reasonable care," the court said in the decision announced Thursday.

The court said there was enough evidence to infer that Terry's had either actual or constructive knowledge of the car's mileage sufficient to form the requisite intent to defraud. It also could have concluded, the court said, that a Bill Terry's salesman forged an odometer statement when the car was originally traded in.

"When the car was resold, Bill Terry's never made an effort to check its own service records although the four year old car had suspiciously low mileage," the court added.

The car, bought originally from Terry's in 1972, changed hands several times before it began giving mechanical trouble in 1977. The owner, who had bought it from Atlantic Motor Sales with an odometer reading of 11,202 miles, recovered his purchase price.

Atlantic then sued Terry's for breach of warranty, fraud and violation of the Odometer Disclosure Law.

After Trask-Bush Amendment Struck Down

Another Anti-Gay Bill Filed

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Sen. Alan Trask, undeterred by a Supreme Court decision striking down his 1981 amendment seeking to keep homosexuals from using state campus facilities, says he has another bill to accomplish his aim in a constitutional way.

The court declared the Trask-Bush Amendment to last year's general appropriations bill unconstitutional Wednesday in a decision that said legislatures cannot prohibit the advocacy of even unpopular ideas at taxpayer-supported institutions.

Trask, D-Winter Haven, said he has filed a bill (SB 442) that will cut off state funds to a university or community college that assists any group that promotes illegal activities.

Trask makes no bones about the fact that homosexuals are his main target.

But the new bill, he said, "does not say they cannot talk about an illegal act, only that they cannot advocate the doing of an illegal act."

The Florida Task Force, a civil rights group for homosexuals, hailed the court decision, saying, "we are tired of legislators taking cheap shots at the last frontier of legal bigotry — the lesbian and gay community."

Director Ronni Ranko said the voters should defeat officials who "legislate discrimination."

The proviso the court struck down cut off funds to a university or college permitting its facilities to be used by homosexuals or other groups advocating sex between unmarried people.

The court said a state cannot abridge freedom of speech on campus any more than it may do so off campus.

"While a state might choose not to establish any state-supported institutions of higher learning, once it has decided to do so, it may not make the privilege of attending contingent upon the surrender of constitutional rights," it said.

"The First Amendment," it added, "even protects the right to express the view that our constitutional form of government should be overthrown by illegal means."

"While reasonable regulations pertaining to time, place and manner may be imposed upon the exercise of the right to public expression of views, such regulations must not be based upon the content of the speech. They must be content-neutral," it said.

The opinion, signed by all seven justices, said a college need not tolerate activities that are disruptive or infringe on reasonable campus rules, but "mere speculation that certain kinds of speech might lead to disruption that the institution has a right to prevent is not sufficient to support a regulation that limits the exercise of free speech rights."

The court said the right of people to express themselves freely is not limited to statements of popular views.

Pregnancy Inhibited In Women Who Took Pill

CHICAGO (UPI) — Women who stop using birth control pills may have to wait a year or more before being able to become pregnant, a new study in the Journal of the American Medical Association says.

Dr. Kenneth J. Ryan, chairman of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology at Harvard Medical School in Boston, headed a study of 3,214 married women who discontinued use of pills and other birth control methods.

Women who used pills had a lower percentage of conceptions for more than a year than did women who discontinued other birth control forms.

The interval between discontinuing use of the pills and conception was 13 months or longer for nearly 25 percent of the women. Of the women who used other forms of birth control, only 10.6 percent experienced a similar delay.

Rethinking Labor Policy

The intent of Congress in passing the Labor Management Relations Act of 1947 was to promote collective bargaining concerning wages, hours, and terms and conditions of employment. The statute guarantees the rights of employees to form labor organizations and to bargain collectively with employers. Such a collective bargaining right encompasses activities aimed solely at furthering the "collective bargaining" process.

The intent of Congress in passing the Sherman and Clayton Antitrust Acts was to prohibit monopoly, and promote competition. None of these statutes intended to create monopolistic labor unions. And yet, that is precisely what subsequent amendatory laws and court decisions have given us. Monopoly labor unions have frequently breached their lawful sphere of organization and collective bargaining to fix prices, limit production, allocate territory or sales among employers, and impose numerous restraints on competition among employers, all of which violates antitrust laws when done by companies.

The impact of this conflict of law and national policy on the U.S. economy has become intolerable. It bears directly on America's ability to compete in a global economy and maintain a high standard of living for her citizens.

One courageous voice in the Congress has taken the first giant step toward needed change. Rep. Philip M. Crane (R-Ill.) has introduced H.R. 5246, a bill which would remove the statutory limitations upon the application of the Sherman Act to monopoly unions. The purpose of this act is to prevent and punish monopolistic restraints on U.S. productivity without undermining the freedom of America's workers to engage in lawful strikes, boycotts or other activities which are guaranteed by federal labor statutes.

For instance, union activities which pertain to negotiations or the administration of agreements as to wages and other terms of employment on a plant-by-plant basis would be fully protected.

On the other hand, it would be unlawful for a labor union to negotiate any otherwise lawful agreement on a multi-plant or industry-wide level. Furthermore, it would be unlawful for labor unions to enter into any agreement with an otherwise lawful collective bargaining unit which fixes prices; limits the volume of production or sales other than for the express purpose of establishing working conditions; restricts the number or kind of employers for whom members of a labor organization will work, or the area in which an employer may sell goods or services or the persons with whom an employer may do business; or otherwise limits access to any market other than a labor market by employers.

Moreover, the bill should make it unlawful for any labor organization, its members or employees, to engage in a strike, boycott, or other concerted actions for the purpose of compelling any employer to enter into a contract or agreement otherwise prohibited by the new Act's prohibitions.

Big unions will do whatever is necessary to scuttle H.R. 5246 in the House Judiciary Committee, where it has been referred for study. Just after last year's elections, House Speaker Tip O'Neill stacked the committee with pro-monopoly-labor-union lawmakers.

Nevertheless, the urgency of Rep. Crane's bill will be felt as the standard of living of the American working man, union or non-union, continues to decline.

Bridge Over The Atlantic?

By LLOYD SCHWED
NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — His formal education ended with high school, but Charles Cloutier insists he can solve any engineering problem — even cleaning up 42,000 gallons of oil an hour in 12-foot seas.

Cloutier's technical expertise translates into many areas, but he has made a name — and a fortune — in the energy business. When oilmen have big problems they go to Cloutier for simple solutions.

He sent shock waves through the energy business in 1978 when he took just 38 hours to vacuum up 52,000 barrels of oil that spilled into Black Lake in southwest Louisiana. Eighty percent, or about 38,000 barrels of the oil, needed no treatment before it was returned to its owner.

"There is no problem you can't solve if you've got the money," he said. "I'll build you a bridge across the Atlantic Ocean if you give me the money."

Cloutier's last physics lessons came from a Morgan City, La., high school, but the mechanical genius has solved technical problems that have baffled highly trained government scientists for decades.

The 54-year-old entrepreneur holds nine patents on salvage and clean-up devices that have revolutionized the oil business and made his anti-pollution company among the best in the world.

These include a paddle wheel skimmer that sucks up major oil spills within hours and another device that cleans mucky oil spills from white beaches without damaging the delicate sand.

In 1967, Cloutier designed a state-of-the-art device that is still used by most salvage operations to lift sunken vessels with compressed air.

Cloutier's companies — Triple C Marine Salvage and Anti-Pollution Inc. — have been hired by every major oil company to handle oil rig disasters and spills across the globe. His trick is simple: lightweight, extremely portable machinery rather than manpower.

He is a skilled commercial diver, airplane pilot, licensed electrician and mechanic, but Cloutier says the inspiration for most of his inventions comes from on-the-job experience.

One of his greatest brainstorms came in 1980 when 3.1 million barrels of oil gushed into the Gulf of Mexico from a blowout at the Itaxco 1 oil well.

In nine months, scientists from across the world could not devise an effective way to clean the mucky mess from Texas beaches. It took Cloutier 15 minutes.

Although his invention came too late to help in the Itaxco operations, Cloutier devised a method of cleansing oil-spotted beaches of future spills.

"I just sat down in a beach chair, ordered a beer and watched the spill," he said. "I watched Mother Nature float the oil on and off the beach so I figured that's what we had to do."

His patented beach skimmer amounts to an elementary, but ingenious, system that gently lifts oil from the sand with water pressure and then skims it off the surface of the water.

The system picks up about 12,000 gallons of water a minute from the ocean and drops it on oil-stained beaches. Like the ocean's natural tide, the large volume of water causes the oil to float to the surface.

Cloutier believes "research is the cheapest way to intelligently solve problems."

Reds May Become South Pole's Top Dog

WASHINGTON — In a development that gives literal meaning to the phrase "cold war," President Reagan's intelligence advisers have warned that the Soviet Union may take the top position at the bottom of the world.

A classified report, now under review by the National Security Council, warns that the United States is in danger of losing its leading role at the South Pole — just when decades of investment might begin to pay off.

If the United States loses its foothold in Antarctica by default, it would be a historical irony — a reversal of the way we acquired Alaska in 1867 from a Russian government that couldn't see the potential value of that inhospitable icebox.

In 1959, the 12 nations with interest in Antarctica signed a treaty that suspended territorial claims for 30 years and reserved the continent for peaceful research. The treaty has been observed scrupulously ever since — probably because no nation thought a scientific laboratory in the world's most hostile environment was worth quarreling over.

But that attitude has changed now. In recent years, the scientific research — mostly by Americans and Russians acting independently — has revealed that there's a lot more to Antarctica than penguins and paralyzing cold. The continent could be another Alaska in the value of its natural resources.

For example, Antarctica has been found to have huge beds of krill, a shrimplike species that may well be the world's richest marine protein resource — an important consideration for a country like the Soviet Union, whose agriculture routinely fails to meet the demands of its huge population.

Antarctica also is known to have oil under all that ice; some experts suspect it has more than Alaska. And scientific studies indicate that minerals are abundant.

My associate Dale Van Atta, just back from a personal inspection of Antarctica, has seen top-secret CIA and National Security Agency reports and an exhaustive review by a 14-agency Antarctic Policy Group. These documents note that the Soviet presence on the frozen continent has increased greatly in recent years. The Russians now have eight bases in Antarctica to our four — though the U.S. scientists are still ahead of the Soviets in research.

Part of the U.S. preeminence is due to the Amundsen-Scott South Pole Station, the American base that sits right on the spot where six nations' territorial claims meet. But the policy group expressed concern that the U.S. presence will diminish, despite the longstanding presidential order that the United States will maintain an "active and influential presence" in Antarctica.

"Continuing decline of the U.S. presence and level of effort in Antarctica will force the abandonment of the prestigious South Pole station to probable occupation by the U.S.S.R.," the group has warned.

The ease with which the Russians could take over the South Pole if we abandon it was made clear in February 1981, when a Soviet aircraft — an IL-14 equipped with six — flew 12 Soviet scientists from their base at Druzhnaya and landed at the U.S. base. This and other developments, the policy group warned, may have given the Russians a new "mobility, flexibility and reach..."

One confidential document said that the U.S. program's budget is already "dangerously close to a level that will force a choice between a mere presence and a low-visibility but quality research program."

Should the United States be reduced to a "mere presence," the advisers warned, it would forfeit its influential role in "determining the political and economic future of this continent, its surrounding oceans and its continental shelf." The vacuum would be filled, no doubt, by the Soviet Union.

Womanpower is here to stay.

In 1978 the Central Florida Educational Consortium for Women was formed as an association of the University of Central Florida, Brevard, Seminole and Valencia Community Colleges and the Central Florida Commission on the Status of Women.

Rollins College became the sixth member of the Consortium in 1981.

Purpose of the Consortium is to encourage, promote and assist regional educational efforts for women by sharing resources, developing model programs and continually assisting the needs of women in the community.

Consortium representatives include: Dr. Elena Flom, Laura Woodward, Marilyn Crotty, Stephanie Haines, Dr. Bettina Beer, Judy Provost, Dr. June Gordon, Dr. Jennie Loudermilk, Dr. Carol Wilson and Beatrice Ettinger. The latest Consortium activities follow: "A Tribute to Women in Music, Drama and Dance" will open the annual WOMANPOWER IV conference today sponsored by the Central Florida Educational Consortium for Women in cooperation with the Central Florida Council of Arts & Sciences in the Annie Russell Theater of Rollins College, Winter Park.

This performance will showcase leading Central Florida female talent including members of the Central Florida Civic Theater and the Southern Ballet Theater.

Among the featured acts will be a chamber group, a traditional folk singer, Barbara Muller, accompanied by a dulcimer, a collage of dramatic female roles and a contemporary ballet.

The celebration of women and the performing arts is being hosted by Carole Nelson of Channel 9 News.

The conference will continue to explore the theme "Woman and the Creator: The State of Her Art and Image" with three panel discussions at the Crummer Auditorium, Rollins College.

Women's roles and contributions in newspaper journalism, television broadcasting and commercial advertising will be the topics of the Women in Media panel. The roots of the feminist novel tracing back to three turn-of-the-century works will be examined by the Women in Literature panel.

The challenges and opportunities for female painters, sculptresses and photographers will be discussed in light of the personal experience of the panelist in the Women in Art workshop. Weaving, quilting, sculpture, painting, drawing and jewelry by women artists will be exhibited.

Cost of the performance tonight is $5 which includes a wine reception at intermission and a chance at the drawing for an art work by a female artist.

Admission fee for the seminar Saturday is $8 which includes lunch. The combination fee for both events is $12. For information, call the Consortium office, 896-1761.

The Road To A New Regionalism

What can be said about the specifics of Ronald Reagan's "new Federalism" that hasn't already been said — most of it several times over — in the editorial columns?

Not much, and consequently the impulse is to move rapidly on to the next subject.

Which today is regionalism. As a concept and in practice, it has been around for a long time. Almost as long as the old federalism.

Briefly, it is the recognition that economic and social interests tend to cut across artificial political boundaries. They can, therefore, often be dealt with most effectively on a regional basis. In some emergency situations, in fact, they may defy treatment in any other fashion.

In a sense, regionalism motivated the uniting of the original states. It was the realization that the larger interests of all could be served only in concert that produced first the Articles of Confederation and then the Constitution.

So much for ancient history. More recently, regionalism has been a fact of the American experience. It was strengthened by industrial development and territorial expansion and produced, among other national trials, the Civil War.

In the Great Depression — an emergency situation if there ever was one — its dynamics were inescapable. An entire region, the Dust Bowl, exported its miseries to another, the West Coast. It was a mass population transfer that was to be repeated periodically — from the impoverished rural South to the industrial North in the '50s and '60s, and in recent years from that now depressed North to the Sunbelt region.

The Depression era also produced the most ambitious institutionalization of regionalism, the Tennessee Valley Authority.

On a smaller scale, it is functioning in metropolitan New York City, which spills into three states, a regional fact recognized in the operation of an inadequate transit system and more successfully, on a bi-state New York-New Jersey basis, in the Port Authority.

There has long been a body of opinion among political scientists that regionalism should be the way of the American future in dealing with problems that transcend political boundaries.

Efforts in that direction, however, frequently have been blocked by the old federalism, the myth enshrined in the Constitution that the states remain sovereign entities. Too often, they have opted — willingly or as a result of paralysis — to surrender powers to distant Washington rather than cooperate effectively with their immediate neighbors.

The idea of reversing that flow of power to Washington has been around for some time in several different packages prior to the current Reagan proposals. The most serious flaw of all the new federalism schemes may not be the abdication of federal responsibilities, which draws most of the criticism, but the failure to recognize the truth about the old federalism and the possibilities of regionalism.

The future of the Reagan concept is uncertain at this point. It must first run the congressional gauntlet and then depend for full implementation upon the states, most at the moment more dubious than enthusiastic.

What is fairly certain is that whatever emerges will be considerably changed from the original proposals. Political, economic and social realities have a way of doing that to such grandiose concepts.

In And Around Geneva

Open House Coffee Set To Honor School Volunteers

National School Volunteer Week will be celebrated at the Geneva Elementary School on Feb. 12 with an Open House Coffee at 10 a.m.

The Seminole County volunteers have been organized into what is known as the Dividend Program. Although the program was not initiated in Geneva until November, it has been very successful according to principal, Mrs. Nancy McNamara.

Over 15 volunteers from Geneva — most of them mothers who have children enrolled in the school — have given their time to help children learn number facts, reading vocabulary and spelling words. They work with the children on a one-to-one basis. Mrs. McNamara reports that the students who had the benefit of a Dividend volunteer have done "much better at test time."

The Open House Coffee will honor those who have been involved already, but will also be a time for others in the community who may have an hour a week to devote to a worthwhile cause to come and learn more about the program.

The volunteers who have been coming regularly since November are: Karin Cockran, Dianne Durand, Karen Kelley, Nancy Shumate, and Patricia Vass.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Johnson of Geneva, owners of the Orange Wood Feed & Tack in Oviedo, are anxiously awaiting the evening of Feb. 20. That is the date of the next Gospel Sing at the Oviedo High School auditorium.

The concert, free to the public, will begin at 7:30 p.m., and will feature the internationally known Blackwood Brothers.

During 1981 the Blackwood Brothers traveled and sang their brand of gospel music from coast to coast in the U.S., ventured to foreign soil in the Philippine Islands, Hong Kong, Canton in Red China, Taiwan, and The Holy Land, and spent two days taping with Barbara Mandrell and the Mandrell Sisters for a television show which aired this past fall.

The Johnsons have sponsored and promoted gospel sings at the Oviedo High School for the past two years. The sings are well attended — so better go early if you want a good seat!

Happy birthday to Gordon Johnson, Jerry Coakley and Mike Hudson who all celebrated birthdays last week.

In case you have heard that the First Baptist Church in Geneva has purchased 13 acres of land directly across the street from their existing buildings, you heard right.

The long range plans for this new property will include the building of a new sanctuary and more educational rooms.

In case you heard they plan to build a Christian school, you heard wrong. This is not in their long range plans at this time.

If you are trying to plan an exciting vacation for your family this year, why not consider the World's Fair? It is scheduled to be held in Knoxville, from May 1 to Oct. 31.

For more information, write for brochures to: Knoxville City Hall, Knoxville, Tenn., 37902.

If you take school children out of school to attend, remember, you must make arrangements for their make-up work and time before you go. Some educators feel that a trip such as this does a lot more for a student's education than reading about abstract facts.

Attention Little League enthusiasts in the Geneva area!

The nearest organized Little League venture is in Oviedo, and their last day of registration for the 1982 season will be Saturday, at the Oviedo Women's Club building.

Tryouts will begin the following Saturday, Feb. 13 at the Little League field. Check for your age group's time when you sign up.

League officials remind last year's players — even though you were on a team last year, you still must re-register this year in order to be eligible to play.

Remember to bring your official state issued birth certificate, too, as it is used by the Player Agent to determine your official "league age."

Miss Jackson, W.R. Spillman Repeat Vows

Melessia Annette Jackson and William Roger Spillman were married Jan. 17, at 3 p.m., at the First United Methodist Church, Sanford. The Rev. Leo King performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Marge Wright, Deltona, and Bobby W. Jackson, Lake Mary. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Spillman of Sanford.

Organist James Thomas played nuptial selections and accompanied soloist Aurora Berguson.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows an original Champagne Collection gown designed by Michelle Piccone. Fashioned along the Queen Anne silhouette, the white chiffon gown was accented with scallops of Schiffli lace circling the waistline and caught to a bustle in the back.

The double full knife pleated skirt cascaded into a triple layer Castilian train. The bride wore her sister's cathedral length veil of imported illusion which was secured to a cap of Chantilly lace and seed pearls. She carried a formal cascade of pearl white cymbidium orchids, white bridal roses and stephanotis interspersed with Galax leaves and sweetheart ivy streamers.

Teresa Jackson Cobb, Sanford, attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore a lilac gown, styled with a pleated skirt and accented with lace and ruffles. She carried a white chiffon parasol embellished with Chantilly lace appliques. She wore white silk gloves and a silk wristlet of dahlias, petunias and azaleas in shades of grape, lavender and lilac. Her headpiece was of the same flowers.

Bridesmaids were Tina Spillman, sister of the bridegroom, Sanford; Linda Jarrell, sister of the bridegroom, Sanford; Melanie Webre, Sanford, and Janell Spolaki, Lake Mary. Their aubergine-colored gowns and accessories were identical to the honor attendant's.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM ROGER SPILLMAN

Jimmy Skates, Sanford, served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Mike Pharis, Ward Behrens, Steve Berry and Larry Finnerty, all of Sanford.

Flower girls were Kristy and Kelly Richards, cousin of the bridegroom. Kurt Bachelor, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

The reception for about 400 wedding guests was held at the Sanora Clubhouse, Sanford. Hostesses were Morgan Howard, Joann Holt and Ida Tindall. Lisa Porzig registered guests in the Bride's Book.

Following a wedding trip to Winter Park Ski Resort, Denver, Col., the newlyweds are making their home at 110 Arrowhead Trail, Stone Island. The bride is a clerk at Seminole County Courthouse. The bridegroom is store manager of B & W Market, Sanford.

Gardening

Pampas Grass Attractive, Functional In Landscape

Pampas grass is a large perennial grass native to Brazil and Argentina. Once established, Pampas grass is practically trouble free.

There is no need to spray for insects or any other bothersome garden pests. It will grow in most soils and responds very well to frequent fertilization.

It grows in large clumps eight to 10 feet high, bearing in late summer silvery-white or pinkish silken plumes which may rise to a height of 12 feet. There are many ornamental forms of Pampas grass. Some have rose or purple flowers and others are smaller plants that only grow four to five feet tall.

There is a slight difference in the plumes between male and female plants. The female plants produce plumes that are broad and full due to silky hairs covering the tiny flowers. The male plumes appear narrow and thin because of the absence of hairs on the flowers.

I get quite a few calls by local residents as to how to go about propagating and pruning Pampas grass. First of all there are considerable variations among seedlings in growth habit, period of flowering and size and shape of plumes. Therefore, if uniformity is desired, Pampas grass should be propagated by dividing the clumps rather than by seed.

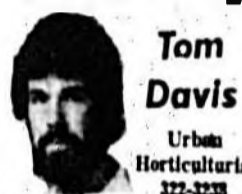

Pruning is usually done before growth begins in the spring. Prune away any brown leaves and dead materials that accumulate at the base of plants. However, I would advise that you move slowly and wear jeans, a long sleeved shirt and gloves when pruning Pampas grass as the leaves have razor sharp edges which can cut through the skin very easily.

Pampas grass can be a very attractive and functional plant when used correctly in the landscape. It can be used as a specimen plant in isolated locations on large lawns or as a screening plant for sunny locations.

Unfortunately many homeowners plant Pampas grass as a foundation plant. The plants are usually purchased from a nursery quite small and planted very near the house. The plant will look great the first year, but after several years it usually grows so large that it will be difficult to find the house for the Pampas grass.

Pampas grass should be planted where it will receive full sun most of the day. It will grow very slowly and usually will not produce plumes when grown in shady areas.

To obtain good growth and plume production Pampas grass should be fertilized with a complete fertilizer such as 6-6-6 or 8-8-8 at the rate of two pounds per 100 square feet four times each year.

The plumes of Pampas grass are highly prized for indoor decorations. Plumes used for this purpose should be cut as soon as they have fully emerged. They can be used in dried arrangements immediately after harvesting or dried by hanging upside down and used later.

One word of caution when using these plumes indoors: they will shed and become quite a problem. This can be prevented by spraying mature plumes with hair spray before using them in arrangements.

Tourist Club Elects

The Longwood Tourist Club elected the following new officers: Charles Kaley, president; Howard Neff, vice president; Dorothy Berg, secretary-treasurer and assistant tour director.

Trustees elected were Richard Christopher, Earl Hutchinson, Karl Berg and Murray Porter.

The club resumed suffleboard at Sunny Shade Park Thursday.

Travel plans were announced by Mrs. Layo. She said there are a few openings left for the World's Fair tour to Knoxville, Tenn., on May 10-14. Anyone interested may contact Mrs. Layo.

The club members will go by bus to Tampa on Feb. 10 to attend the Florida State Fair and on March 27 to Once Upon A Stage Dinner Theatre to see "Lil' Abner."

Preserving Friendship Matter For Ladies Only

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were invited to dinner by a childhood friend of mine. We wanted our husbands to meet. The invitation was extended after I had called and invited them to our home for dinner. She insisted that we come to their home first, saying they would come to ours next time.

Abby, the evening was a total disaster! Immediately following dinner, her husband picked up a magazine, read a little, then promptly fell asleep in our faces.

My friend kept making excuses. ("He's tired.") The three of us carried on a conversation as best we could. It was very embarrassing. My friend and I talked about "old times," while my husband just listened. I felt sorry for him.

As soon as it was proper for us to depart, we said our goodbyes, and our hostess woke up her husband to see us to the door. He never once apologized for his rude behavior. I felt sorry for my friend, who had gone to a lot of trouble preparing a delicious dinner.

Naturally my husband and I were appalled by this incident. Do you think we did the right thing by staying while the host slept? Or should we have departed as soon as he fell asleep?

Should we invite this couple to our home? My main concern is preserving the friendship that my friend and I have maintained for 27 years.

PERPLEXED

DEAR PERPLEXED: There is a possibility that your friend's husband has a health problem. Ask her, in any case, do not subject yourselves (or them) to another such evening. If you want to preserve the friendship, do both husbands a favor and meet your friend for lunch.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 44-year-old divorced father of a daughter, 18, and a son, 19. We live together in a three-bedroom apartment and share expenses equally.

Dear Abby

I feel uncomfortable when my daughter has her boyfriend sleep with her, which is practically every night.

I have explained my feelings to her, but she says since she is paying her share of the rent, she will do as she pleases, and if I don't like it, I can look the other way.

I love my daughter, but I think she and her boyfriend should find another place to live if living together is their thing.

Is my thinking old-fashioned for the 1980s?

ALLENTOWN PAPA

DEAR PAPA: No. Don't look the other way — look for another apartment. Or tell your daughter so.

DEAR ABBY: You're supposed to know everything, so maybe you can tell me why nobody wants to use those pretty little guest towels people have in their homes.

I have had the same half-dozen guest towels displayed in my powder room for months on end, and I have had many guests, but not one guest towel has been used. Instead guests choose to dry their hands with Kleenex, toilet paper, the bath towel, the bathmat and even the curtains, while the guest towels remain untouched. Why?

PERPLEXED

DEAR PERPLEXED: It probably has something to do with your guests' early training. ("Save the guest towels for 'company!'")

RETIREMENT: TEA FOR 3

A Southern "Belle" employee, Virginia Wallace, retired this week after 35 years service with Southern Bell and a total of 44 years recorded in the telephone industry. Mrs. Wallace was presented a silver service set from Southern Bell by her former boss, Tom Hunt, center, now district manager of Southern Bell, and Larry Strickler, Sanford manager. Further honoring the dedicated employee was the planting of a tree in her name at the Phone Center Store in Sanford.

Robinson Can't Whip 'Element'

It's called the "human element." It's what makes people walk out of arenas in disgust or jump up and snap off their television set. In some areas of the United States, it has gotten to the point where they blast a shotgun into the set when one certain human (Howard Cosell) appears on the tube.

It was never more human than Thursday night at the Golden Gloves Regional Boxing Tournament at the American Legion.

Sanford's Glen Robinson was the victim. He decisively whipped Plant City's Ben Hall. The judges, nevertheless, gave Hall a unanimous decision.

When a guy is taken, you could probably swallow a split decision. But when you should have won a fight and then lose by a unanimous decision, then something's wrong somewhere.

"Glen was done a disservice," agreed Gloves' promoter Kent Foyer. "But anytime you have the human element involved anything can happen."

Now, a lot of people make a big deal of judging a fight. They say it depends on where you sit, what angle you have and a bunch of other garbage.

They say amateur boxing is different. That's all a bunch of crap. If a guy hits another guy more times than he gets hit and properly defends himself, he should win the fight.

What's so hard about that. Yet, the judge I sat next to gave four 20-20 scores out of six rounds during two fights. Now, you tell me how many draws you've ever seen.

This 20-point must system is a joke. A fighter has to walk out on 1-4 and get hit by a semi before he scores less than 19 points if he loses the round.

One fighter was knocked down in the round, yet the judge awarded him 19 points for his lack of effort. It seems as if they are afraid to pick a winner and a loser.

Robinson is a stylish boxer who is 27 years old. He continually builds up points as he fights. He never loses his balance and very seldom gets hit hard. Yet, he lost unanimously.

Of course, Robinson is black and his opponent was white. That may have had something to do with it. However, his opponent was no slouch. He won the Florida AAU championship two weeks ago at 147 pounds.

Whatever, it was a tough night for Sanford fighters except for 165-pounder Jerry Dickerson. The ex-Seminole cage player looked impressive in winning a unanimous decision over Curtis Morris.

It was just Dickerson's second career fight and its obvious why he can get no one to fight him. Morris is a rugged competitor from the Police Athletic League, but Dickerson constantly beat him to the punch.

In other bouts, Sanford's Glen Wade lost a unanimous verdict to the Naval Training Center's Mark Albright at 132 pounds and Seminole High junior Sherman Ware was leveled by NTC's David Matthews at 147 pounds. It was Ware's first fight.

Another card goes tonight at 8. Sanford's Frank Mann is in the lineup.

"We really wanted that one" repeated a Lady Seminole head basketball coach Ron Merthie.

And indeed the Lady 'Noles did want their 56-43 victory over the state's fourth-ranked DeLand Lady Bulldogs of Clifford Cox.

The loss was the second in two games for DeLand (16-5) while the victory gives Seminole (16-4) the five star lead, with the season heading to districts in two weeks with an 11-2 mark. DeLand is 9-3.

The balanced scoring and play of the Lady 'Noles just overpowered DeLand, as Cathy Jones, (14), Johnnie Bennett (14), Deldre Hillary (12), and Maxine Campbell (10) all reach double figures.

The real hero on this night was center Jones who held DeLand all-time scoring leader Loretta Pate to 13 points.

The battle got of on a snail's pace as both teams couldn't find the handle which led to an abundance of turnovers.

Johnnie Bennett gave Merthie's 'Noles a 12-9 first quarter edge, with three pull-up jumpers.

Seminole cranked up the offense in the second period, working the ball inside to 5'11" Sophomore Deldre Hillary. Three straight buckets by Bennett gave the intermission lead, 29-16, to the 'Noles, as Pate and company continued with more frustration turnovers.

In the third quarter Seminole opened

Prep Basketball

the biggest margin of the night at 41-21 as senior Jones overpowered the smaller 'dogs inside. DeLand's Holly Curry battled for three steals and buckets to prevent an early blowout as the third period ended at 46-28.

Both squads got out of the box quick in the final eight minutes, trading buckets up to the midway point. At 3:27 Merthie moved the Lady 'Noles out into a stall offense which drained the final minutes, and left the orange and black with a 56-43 triumph.

"We controlled the tempo and played our game," smiled Merthie. "We never really got into our game over there."

"If you can control the game you should win."

In junior varsity action Beth Corso's J.V. Lady 'Noles continued their torrid pace through the opposition with a 45-42 decision over DeLand.

"We worked together," "it was a total team effort," replied Corso. "They didn't panic and kept their head together."

Arlene Jones and Sharon Jenkins did the scoring for Corso's 'Noles with 11 and 10, respectively.

On the other end of the county, Ray Dalfonso's J.V. Lady Patriots of Lake Brantley blew away Lake Howell, 66-29, to run their tally to 10-1 on the season (one loss to Seminole).

As usual the Lady 'Pats were led by Michele Brown with 23 points. Kim Lubnow (13), Michele Canipbell, (10) and Vivian Pinkston (10) all aided in the rout.

Brantley's varsity took care of Lake Howell, 60-52, as Landa Trimble pumped in 18 points and Rhonda Vazquez supplied 16.

Brantley buzzed to a 32-25 halftime lead over Howell who received 13 points from Mary Johnson. The Lady Patriots held usually high-scoring Christy Scott to just seven points.

The Patriots are 10-11, while Howell is 7-13.

Bulldogs Bail Out Title In Overtime

For the second time in two days, the Hawks and the Bulldogs battled into double overtime Thursday in Sanford Biddy Basketball League playoff action.

And, for the second time, the Hawks came out winners. The win Thursday gave the Hawks the second half title and the overall league championship.

Michael Merthie had his best game of the season for the Hawks, scoring 25 points, while teammate Michael Hartman contributed the other eight points for the winners.

The Bulldogs led 8-4 at the end of the first period and led by as much as eight points in the second period before the Hawks scored the final four points of the period, including a buzzer shot by Merthie.

The Bulldogs stretched their lead to 18-12 at the end of the third period and still led by five points with about two minutes left in the game. But the Hawks kept pressing and finally tied the game to send it into overtime.

The Hawks scored first in the first overtime period, but the Bulldogs scored two buckets to make it 25-23. The Bulldogs had possession of the ball with less than 10 seconds to play, but on an in-bounds play after a timeout, Merthie stole the ball and went the distance of the court for a layup that sent the game into a second overtime session.

Hartman and Merthie scored four points apiece in the second overtime session as the Hawks out-scored the Bulldogs 8-2 and coasted to the win.

McCoy's Dominates All Stars

Unbeaten McCoy's Cleaners placed four players on the Sanford Junior Boys Basketball League all-star team, selected Tuesday by the coaches in the league.

Perez Perry, the league's top scorer, led the McCoy's Cleaners picks. He finished the season with a 27.6 points per game average and had the three best single game efforts of the season — 47, 37 and 33 points.

Joining Perry on the all-star team are teammates Reginald Bellamy, George Gordon and Berhard Burke. Bellamy, the number four scorer in the league, finished with a 22.2 points per game average.

Gordon finished the season with a 6.7 points per game average, while Burke averaged 3.7 points per game.

Tip top placed three players on the team, led by Ernest Lewis, who averaged 11.8 points per game. Teammate Tarrance Carr averaged 11.0 points per game to earn a spot on the all-star team, while Sammy Edwards was picked for his 8.7 points per game average and excellent ball-handling skills.

Sanford Electric, despite winning only one game this year, placed two players on the all-star team. Steve Hathaway, the league's number five scorer with a 15.5 points per game average, and Ondraus Redding, who averaged 10.9 points per game, will represent the Electric Company.

Rounding out the all-star team are Steve Warren of First Federal, the league's number two scorer with a 26.0 points per game average, Travis Brown of Atlantic Bank, the league's number three scorer with a 23.8 points per game average, and Willie McCloud of Joe's Variety with a 13.4 points per game average.

Alternates are Sherrick Knight and Darris Littles of First Federal, Patrick Dougherty of Sanford Electric and Bobby Coefield of Tip Top.

Seminole's Cathy Jones lets go with a jump shot in Thursday night's game with DeLand. In addition to Jones' scoring, she held Lady Bulldog standout Loretta Pate to just 13 points.

'Hounds Annihilate Evans

Skip Pletzer's been saying all year, "wait until we get healthy."

Thursday night at Lyman, a resurrected Greyhound wrestling team annihilated Evans, 41-16.

Evans, champions of the Metro Conference and the Lyman Christmas Tournament, couldn't get untracked from the opening match when 102-pounder Pat Bell pinned James Whitehead in 3:42.

The 'Hounds claimed victories in nine of the 13 weight classes.

Much Can Be Done To Cure Depression

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have an 18-year-old son who goes through very deep depressions and he doesn't know exactly why. He tries to explain that he can't control his brain and it scares him. He has a definite personality change. He is basically happy and when he goes through this change he cries, he's nervous, doesn't eat and sometimes hears things. The unusual thing about this is that his father gets the same way. We are no longer together, but he was the same.

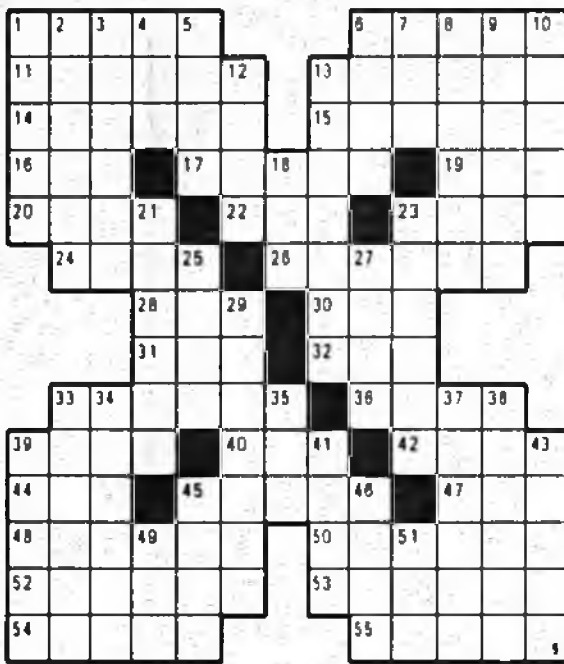

don't guess. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

There is a lot that can be done for depressions these days. Support from family and friends is very important even though it can't replace the professional guidance that is needed.

DEAR DR. LAMB — A guy I really like asked me out but he told me that he kissed a girl with a sore on her mouth and got herpes when he was 12 years old. He said he only had a slight case and the only way I could get it is if he had an open sore on his mouth. I really like this guy but I'm afraid if we got too serious I would get it. Please tell me, is an open sore on his mouth the only way to get this disease?

DEAR READER — You may already have the disease. From 30 to 90 percent of young adults have antibodies for herpes simplex type 1, proving they have already had the disease. You can get it in childhood when any one of the people you have kissed may have given you the disease.

Avoiding contact with an open sore is certainly advisable. But the virus can also be spread even if a visible sore is not apparent. The virus is in the surface cells that are shed. The virus lives in the nerve roots and migrates to the surface of the skin to cause the sores but sometimes the virus may be there without a sore. And the virus can be spread by hands or close forms of contact.

For Saturday, February 6, 1982

YOUR BIRTHDAY
February 6, 1982
Projects or enterprises which are of a progressive nature should prove lucky for you this coming year. Seek to involve yourself with persons who are inventive and futuristic.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Harmony on the home front will be difficult to maintain today if everyone is set upon having his or her way. Don't be the primary culprit.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Situations of your own making should work out rather well for you today, but complications could result if you permit yourself to be drawn into another's affairs. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in each of the seasons following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph, Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Your customary compassion and generosity may desert you today. You might, uncharacteristically, be unwilling to help others unless it's to your benefit.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
It may seem like everything that you have to do today will be of greater benefit to others than to yourself. However, conditions could suddenly change, making you the recipient.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Pay particular heed today to contingencies which could affect your financial security. If steps are required to shore things up, take them now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Achieving what you set out to do today may not come as easily as you hope. However, this shouldn't be an excuse to stop trying or curtail your efforts.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Persons you try to please the most today may be the very ones who will be the least appreciative. Keep trying anyway.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
You can't expect others to react enthusiastically today to ideas which they might suspect you're doubtful of yourself. Don't espouse what you don't believe in.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Strive to be industrious today, but don't take on projects which are beyond your capabilities. Involvements out of your balliwick could ruin your day.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Involvements with friends today may not start off smoothly, but don't let this discourage you. All will work out well if your efforts are positive and consistent.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Take extra measures today to guard against loss or theft.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Your associates may not be as perceptive as you are today in matters relating to your goals or finances. Don't be afraid to use your own judgment.

is corrected an opponent who has played after the revoke may change his play without penalty.

This rule does not provide for an intentional revoke by a criminally minded declarer. The first record of it is shown in today's hand. Sam Fry Jr., one of the great players of the '30s, was the victim and Sam named it the Alcatraz coup since he felt that the only proper place for that declarer would be the worst possible prison.

Today's hand shows this play at its worst. East wins the first spade and continues. South ruffs the second spade with the 10 of trumps. West overruffs with the jack and now South says, "I have a spade."

He corrects. West picks up his jack and a third spade is led. South ruffs with the queen this time. West discards, but South leads his 10 of trumps for a finesse. He is able to pick up that jack and makes his contract.

Bowlin' Em Over With Style And Grace

By LEE DANCY

Nothing sounds better to a bowler than the reflexive thunder 10 pins make when his ball hits the strike pocket.

Even the novice pinpuncher can hear the melodic reverberations of hard rubber mixing with solid wood to put an "X" in its proper place on the score card. To roll a strike, be certain the ball hits the pins either directly to the right or left of the center pin.

Getting the ball to hit that magic mark on a more than occasional basis requires practice. Bowling 10-pins (with the big ball) is a pastime available to anyone from ages 6 to 96, according to Roger Quick, manager of Sanford's only bowling alley.

Joining a bowling league is one of the best ways to learn how to bowl more strikes, Quick says.

"One misconception made especially by beginners," Quick says, "is that they aren't good enough to join a league."

Quick said all bowling leagues are handicapped to keep the more lackluster bowlers somewhat on par with the "stars". League play is available throughout the week for age groups from young children to senior citizens, he says.

"We have over 600 senior citizens who bowl during the daytime," Quick says. "All equipment is furnished."

One of the first decisions a novice bowler must make is the size of the ball they intend to use. Balls range in weight from 8 to 16 pounds, Quick said.

"If you are big and healthy," Quick says, "use a 15- or 16-pound ball. Small children should use an 8-pound ball and senior citizens and ladies should roll an 8- to 11-pounder."

Quick says if a rookie bowler uses the wrong size ball, he or she should know it by the end of the first game. If the ball is too heavy, the bowler will feel tired.

Lessons can also be helpful to the first-timer. Many bowling alleys, including the one Quick manages offer free lessons to those willing to learn the right way to bowl. Scorekeeping instructions are also thrown in at no extra cost, Quick says.

In the do's and don'ts department of bowling, some of the DON'TS include, taking food or drink inside the bowler's circle. Keep all munchies on tables away from the area where bowlers sit.

If a bowler steps in a spilled soft drink or on a stray candy bar, his or her bowling shoes could stick to the lane and pose a serious safety hazard for all bowlers, Quick says.

DO'S include courtesy to other bowlers. If the player next to you has already stepped up to bowl, wait until the ball is well down the alley before bowling. Other people should extend the same courtesy, he says.

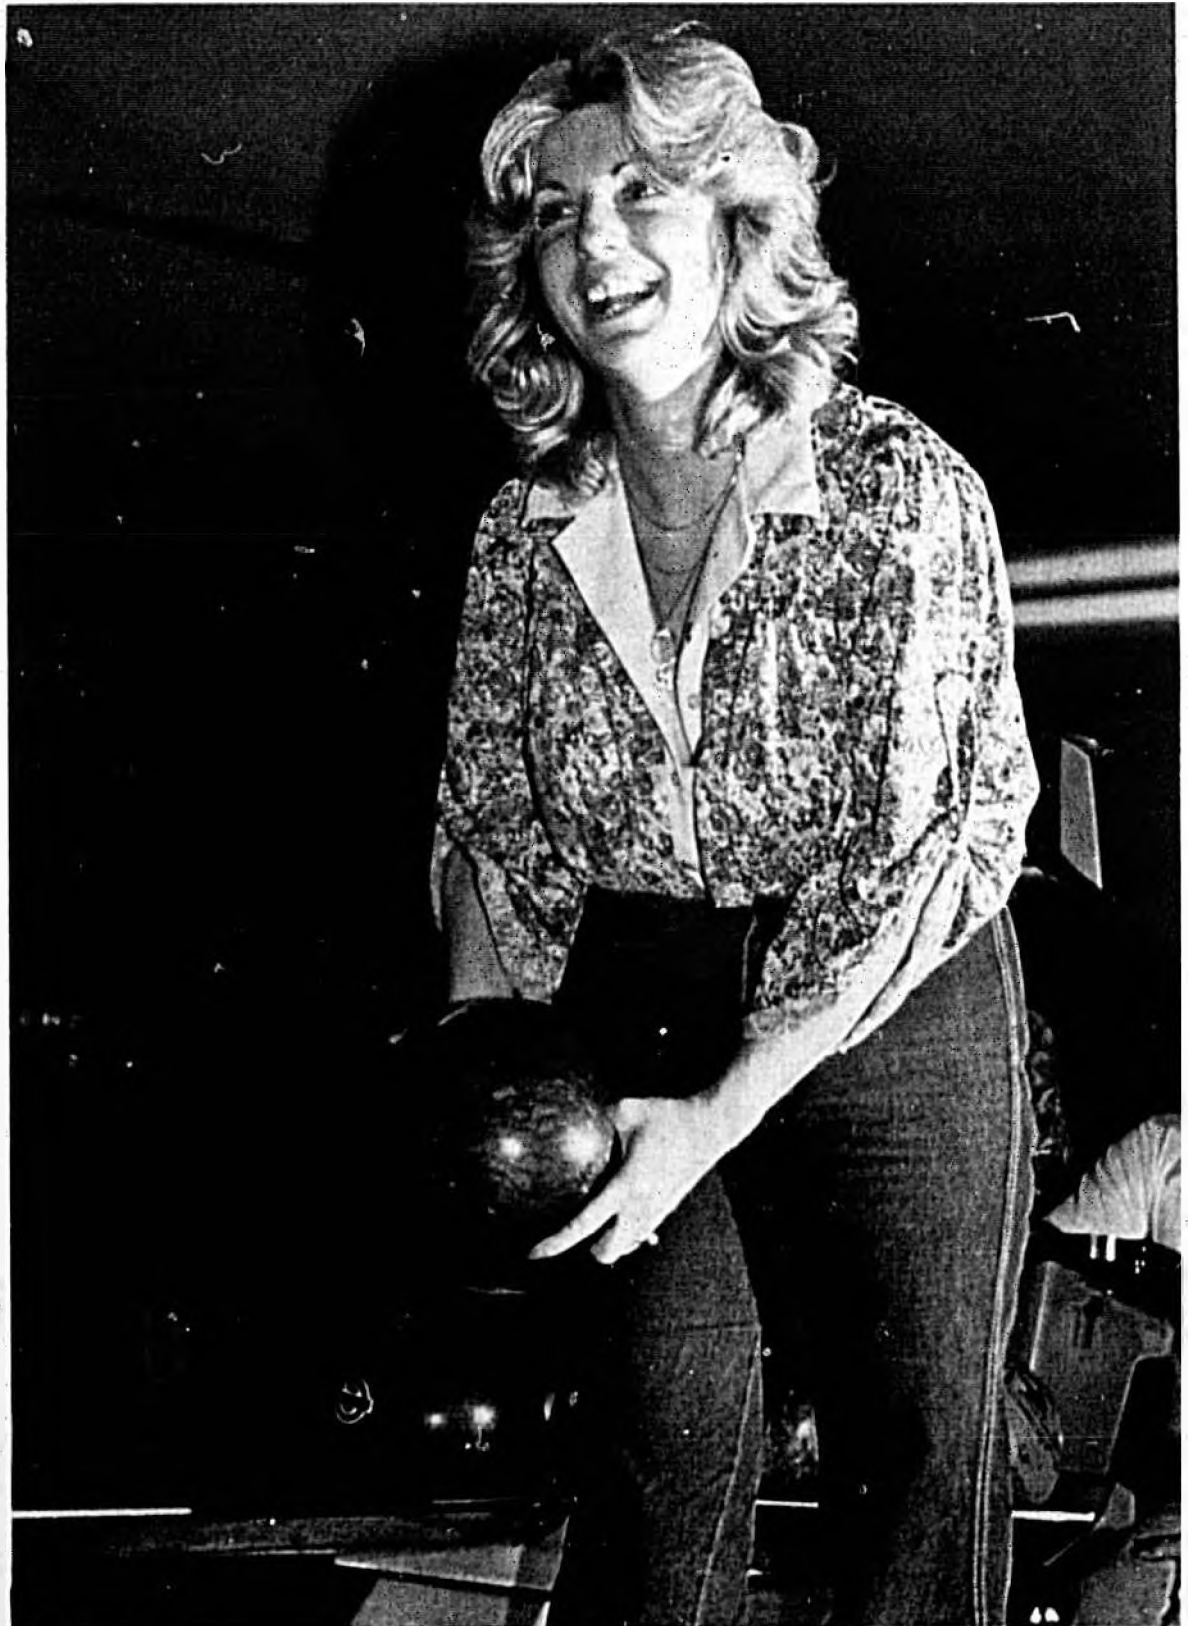

If someone steps up to bowl at the moment another bowler is about to send the ball down the alley, it could break their concentration and force them to throw a gutter ball — which is deadly to their score.

Another DO includes paying attention when the ball is returned. If a bowler grabs his or her ball without thinking, fingers could be smashed by a ball just coming out of the chute, Quick says.

If you get serious about the sport, you'll probably want your own ball, bag and shoes. This can cost anywhere from $65 to $160, Quick says.

New bowling balls range in price from $30 to $80. A pair of bowling shoes will cost $25-$50, Quick says.

Bags to carry your new balls and shoes will set you back $10-$30, he adds. Many bowling alley pro shops also offer used equipment which can be purchased for a fraction of the cost of new equipment.

Gayle Pettis of Sanford steps up to the lane markers and hopes to hit that magic mark for a strike. Bowling requires careful concentration, form and practice. You can get it, plus free lessons, at area bowling lanes.

Joanne Woodward Directs PBS Movie

DEAR DICK: We understand that Joanne Woodward recently played in and directed a movie to be released soon on the PBS network. Can you tell us the name of the movie and when it will be seen? Pauline and Lou Rotberg, Tucson, Ariz.

Yes and no. Joanne did direct a show which will be part of the PBS series "Playhouse." It is called "Come Along with Me" and it's based on an unfinished Shirley Jackson novel. But she doesn't appear in it, merely directs it, and they do not yet have a definite air date. Estelle Parsons, Barbara Baxley and Sylvia Sidney are the stars. Joanne also co-wrote the script.

DEAR DICK: Could you settle a bet for my girlfriend and me? I say Alice Cooper is the son of Capt. Kangaroo. She says he isn't. Who's right? A.J.G.J., Kalamazoo, Mich.

You lose. Alice is no kin to Cap Roo. Now you have to push a koala bear from Sydney to Perth with your nose.

DEAR DICK: I recently saw Ted Bessell in "Breaking Up Is Hard To Do." Could you please tell me what TV show he was on — the sit-com on which he was co-star? Glean Malone, Washougal, Wash.

That was "That Girl," in which he was Marlo Thomas' co-star. It ran from 1966 to 1971.

DEAR DICK: Who was the comic who played in a serious TV play, when he was the only character and it was just him in a room talking on the telephone? Mrs. Kent, Amarillo, Texas.

If you and I are remembering the same program, it wasn't a comedian. It was Mickey Rooney in a show called "Eddie" on "The Alcoa Theater," originally telecast over NBC on Nov. 17, 1958.

DEAR DICK: Will you please tell me when Burt Reynolds played in "Gunsmoke." I believe it was in the early '60s. What was his name on the show? J.A.D., Joplin, Mo.

You're right about the date. Reynolds played a young blacksmith named Quint Asper on "Gunsmoke" from 1962 to 1965.

DEAR DICK: What is the name of the actor whose last name was Deunzio or something like that in the movie "Caddyshack"? X, Battle Ground, Wash.

Scott Colomby is the actor who played the part of Tony D'Annunzio in that dreary film.

DEAR DICK: Is the Richard Simmons on "General Hospital" the same Richard Simmons that has his own show on ABC? R. Dugas, Hightstown, N.J.

The same. How many like that could there be?
DEAR DICK: A My son believes that the very first show

Ask Dick Kleiner

of "Lassie" starred Jane Wyman as the mother. I cannot remember her in any "Lassie" series. I thought the first was June Lockhart. Would you please put us straight on this? Dorothy Baker, Delton, Mich.

No, Jane Wyman was never a regular on "Lassie," and no, June Lockhart wasn't the first one to play the boy's mother. That part was initiated by Jan Clayton, who played Ellen Miller — mother of Jeff Miller, and guardian of the orphan Timmy — from 1954 to 1957. In 1958, June Lockhart began playing Ruth Martin, who took over the care of Timmy, Lassie and the farm, when the Millers moved to the city.

DEAR DICK: Could you please tell me if Bernadette Peters is married? Milquades Candelaria, Albuquerque, N.M.

No. She's still Miss Peters, although she and Steve Martin have been together for a few years now.

DEAR DICK: As usual, you are needed to settle a bet. There is $5 riding on this one. Who played the nun in "Two Mules for Sister Sara"? JEAN CARROLL, Portage, Mich. Shirley MacLaine.

DEAR DICK: The TV show "The Prisoner" was one of my favorites. Whatever happened to the star in real life? What years did the program air? Was it ever revealed why and where he was a prisoner and did he finally escape? Is the program still in syndication? BOB M. HASIL, Amarillo, Texas.

Patrick McGeehan, who starred in that series, is very active in films (such movies as "Silver Streak" and "Escape from Alcatraz") and TV (he starred in "Raferty" in '77). The series was aired originally in the '68-'69 season, but it has been rerun frequently. Yes, it is still being syndicated. In the final episode, the prisoner escaped and the village was destroyed, but it was never established where it all took place or why he was being held. By the way, McGeehan created and produced the series and even wrote some of the episodes.

Consumer Reports' The Smart Buy Show

What's the word on walkaround cassette players? What's the buzz on food processors? What's the dirt on toilet soaps? Home Box Office takes a fast-paced look at these questions and more in "Consumer Reports Presents: The Smart Buy Show," debuting Feb. 18 at 7:30 p.m.

The eighth in HBO's exclusive series of programs produced by Consumers Union, this 30-minute video magazine combines documentary, animation and parody to present shoppers with an entertaining and informative look at how to make sound choices in the marketplace.

The show will rate the top brands of walkaround cassette players, testing them for acoustics and convenience in addition to considering which machines are best for joggers in terms of size and weight.

A special report reveals that one out of every 10 Americans is exposed daily to levels of noise that could damage hearing and, if loud and continuous, it can cause stress, affect one's blood pressure and even harm an unborn child.

"The Smart Buy Show" also takes a close look at levels of caffeine in soft drinks, finding citrus and fruit flavor drinks contain high levels of the drug and that ginger ales, club sodas and tonic waters have no natural or added caffeine; tests 34 different brands of bacon, giving tips on how to cook it properly, and reveals ways to make wood stoves safer and more energy efficient.

Singing Success, Film Roles, Hosting Spots

NEW YORK — Some exits and entrances:

When Stephen Brooks requested a release from his "Days of Our Lives" contract as Joshua Fallon, Scott Palmer stepped into the role.

After 14 years on "Another World" as Pat Randolph, actress Beverly Penberthy was fired.

Exiting "Texas" was Robert Burton, who portrayed Beau Baker.

Tom Nielson (Floyd Parker on "Guiding Light") is having wonderful success with his new recording career. His single, "Wake Up and Wonder," was just chosen as a "future hit" by three major record industry magazines, Cashbox, Billboard and Record World. Tom wrote the tune himself.

Ernie Garrett (Mark Wheeler on "Texas") appeared briefly on three other soaps before landing his role on "Texas." Ernie also appeared in the film "Rollover" and several nighttime series and he has worked extensively in Australia. What are the young actor's comments thus far on daytime television work?

"Everyone is much more professional here in New York. I never have to worry about someone not knowing their lines on the set of 'Texas.' That's very different than back in L.A."

Allen Fawcett (Kelly McGrath on "Edge of Night") has been set to host a new television special titled "American Rock." Ariene Dahl (Lucinda King on "One Life to Live") found she had an instant rapport with her soap daughter Kristen Meadows (Mimi King) because she bears a striking resemblance to Ms. Dahl's real-life daughter, Carole Cristine Holmes, who is a college student.

SATURDAY

Robert Guillaume joins Barbara Mandrell on "Barbara Mandrell and the Mandrell Sisters," to air Saturday, Feb. 13 on NBC.

When Actors Play Disagreeable Men

By RUTH THOMPSON

ELI WALLACH

In recent years, Eli Wallach has appeared in three shows dealing with the Nazi era. The first, from the viewpoint of a victimized family — Anne Frank's — he did on stage with his actress-wife, Anne Jackson, and their two daughters. Then, in the recent CBS special "Skokie" (starring Danny Kaye as a concentration camp survivor), Wallach played the city prosecutor trying to diffuse emotions when neo-Nazis planned a parade in Skokie, Ill.

But it was "The Wall," he said, that gave him his most difficult challenge. The three-hour drama special, filmed many months ago in Poland, is scheduled to be shown Tuesday, Feb. 16 on CBS. It is set in the Warsaw ghetto and focuses on a small group of Jews who are suddenly engulfed by the Nazi hatred and the Nazi plans for their extermination.

"This is definitely not a likeable man," said Wallach of the character he plays. "He was a prosperous jeweler. Then the terror comes. "He lets his wife and children go to concentration camps. He thinks just of saving himself. He doesn't look Jewish. His youngest daughter (played by Lisa Eichhorn) pleads with him that she, too, can be saved because — like her father — 'I don't look Jewish.' But he saves only himself. He rationalizes at first that if he gets away he can rescue his family. Then he rationalizes that there was nothing he could have done. The was no way I could make that man sympathetic. Just understandable."

It takes the finest of actors to pull off a role like Wallach's in "The Wall."

Bridges In 'Dangerous Company'

"You're walking way too fast. Slow down. Just amble along. In prison, nobody hurries; there's no place to go."

Thus did ex-convict Ray Johnson counsel Beau Bridges during the filming of "Dangerous Company," a new motion picture for television in which Bridges stars as Johnson, who survived a damaging childhood and 27 years of crime and imprisonment to ultimately earn respectable citizenship and achieve a successful career in business.

"Dangerous Company" will air Tuesday, Feb. 9 on CBS.

"I first met Ray Johnson before filming on the picture began," Bridges said. Ray also was present as an observer, from time to time, during the shooting period. I would never accept the role of any living, real-life guy unless it included meeting and conferring with that person so that I could learn and convey the essence of him, as I perceive it, with some hope of accuracy. It's just a principle with me. In a case like this, I feel a responsibility to the person."

That first meeting of Bridges and Johnson took place at Johnson's home in Dallas, where Johnson now works as a security consultant to national corporations.

"I'd never before played a character of Ray's grittiness," said Bridges. "One of the first things I asked him was, 'Am I tough enough for this?'"

Johnson's advice to Bridges about walking slowly in the prison scenes was in response to Bridges' occasional question, "Do you see anything that doesn't look right?"
