

Florida Wildlife Group Holds State Meet In Sarasota

ST. PETERSBURG, July 14—(Special)—The Florida Wildlife Federation meeting in the First Conservation District, which was held over the week-end in Sarasota at the Orange Blossom Hotel, with members from every corner of the State attending, representing all five conservation districts.

The sportmen were officially welcomed to the city by Mayor John Pitts Robertson, Millard Davidson, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and James Younkman, Sr., chairman of the Sarasota County Fish and Game Association, after the invocation by the Rev. F. P. Fraz, pastor of the Salvation Army.

Highlights of the meeting were reports of the surveys of the Okechobee and St. Johns fisheries and the work of the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission; a report of the cooperative program for hunting on privately owned and ceded lands; a report in detail by Cecil M. Webb, Commissioner of First Conservation District and author of the popular Webb Plan; a presentation of recommendations for rules and regulations for the coming hunting season; the plans for the Federation's annual convention to be held late in October and Memorial Day at the late Ben C. Morgan, former Director of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, the late D. H. Bowman, former Vice President of the Federation and the late Fred Collins, former President of the Federation and one of its original founders.

The annual convention of the Florida Wildlife Federation will be held at the Soreno Hotel in St. Petersburg. It was announced by President Ralph A. Cooksey, and will include a four day sportsman's show.

Many noted national and international conservation authorities, from the far corners of the United States, Canada, and other countries will address the sportmen during the convention. Representatives will be present from national wildlife agencies such as the National Wildlife Federation, the U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service, the Wildlife Management Institute, and Ducks Unlimited of Canada.

Social events will include a reception and dinner for the sportswomen of Florida, to meet the State and National champions of fishing and hunting, and other celebrated women in conservation work. An invitation has been extended to Marjorie Rippen Rawlings, popular authoress of Florida outdoor novels, to attend the four day event.

IMPORTS CUT
LONDON, July 14—(AP)—This year Britain will import only 75 cents worth of goods for every dollar's worth she bought last year in the United States and other areas demanding payment in dollars.

Sir Stafford Cripps announced the slash today—cut of $400,000,000 off the $1,600,000,000 spent last year. Since some prices have dropped, the cut will not necessarily mean a 25 per cent reduction in tonnage. Cripps told the House of Commons of plans to cut tobacco imports from America and mentioned timber, paper and pulp, non-ferrous metals and steel as other types of goods due for slashing.

The one story, nine room, ranch type home, constructed by Dick Elsberry, is of frame construction. It was covered by insurance, said Mr. Fleischer, who revealed that he had just completed remodeling the home which he purchased in April from Mr. and Mrs. Elsberry.

The living room, including furniture, the dining and kitchen, was badly damaged, but the charred and broken roof is still on this portion of the house. The lawn near this part of the house was charred by the heat.

Fire Chief M. N. Cleveland directed operations of the firemen including Assistant Chief Thomas, Lieut. Crow and George Harriett.

Congress Action

Robeson was assigned, Johnson said, to "certain secret work that was intercontinental in connection with his concert work."

The singer has "developed a complex," with "delusions of grandeur and power," Johnson added, and aspires to "become a black Stalin" among negroes.

Johnson said the Communist Party is encouraging Robeson's delusions "because they can use them." As a great artist, Johnson explained, Robeson can impress other artists and intellectuals.

"It is regrettable indeed that such an able man has sold himself to Moscow," Johnson said.

Johnson called to testify in the committee's current investigation of Communist infiltration in organizations, lives in New York.

And with a whopping 27 to 0 vote, the House Armed Services Committee approved a major organization of military spending.

It sent to the House a bill to establish a comptroller in the office of the secretary of defense, with sweeping authority over the military budget which this year runs in the neighborhood of $16,000,000,000.

The measure was, in reality, a section of the discredited bill to tighten up the military unification law.

The vote reversed a decision of the committee last Tuesday to do nothing about the unification measure until after an investigation of Air Force purchases of $3.38 billion.

Earlier President Truman called a conference at Blair House at 4:00 P. M. Eastern Standard Time, it was learned.

Chairman McMahon (D-Conn.), Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) and Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) were reported among those asked to attend a session which may have a direct bearing on the committee's investigation of charges made by Hickenlooper against the Atomic Energy Commission.

Lake Mary

John Evans revealed that when he was a boy, Little Lake Mary and Lake Mary were connected, but later the water level had gone down leaving a narrow strip of lakes. In order to connect them, Frank Evans had a canal dug affording passage for small boats. Over the canal he built a bridge high enough to allow the boats to pass under.

John Evans is planning to paint his home where the Evans family settled 47 years ago, and also plans porches and additions to the house. The grounds now have a green carpet of centipede grass. He pointed out that his citrus grove was badly damaged during the storms of 1946 and 1948. The grounds are shaded by trees of many varieties.

Last year, Frank Evans erected a neat one story ranch type home on the south shore of Lake Mary which is now occupied by a Frank Saunders, Orlando Commercial Agent of the Atlantic Coastline Railroad. Nearby is the attractive new home of John Peckham, ACL shop worker here for many years. He is building a new dock on the lake.

Church-State Fight

Meanwhile the Pope's excommunication of Communists stung the Communist-controlled press of Europe to violent reaction.

The Vatican disclosed last night that Pope Pius XII has cut off from the sacraments and comforts of the faith all Roman Catholics who make professions of the materialistic and anti-Christian doctrine of the Communists.

The action was a stern warning that the church will not compromise on matters of military spending.

It came, Communist-line newspaper in Rome, called the decree "an act of hatred" and the official Italian Communist newspaper, L'Unita, said the order "crowns a violent and provocative campaign of the Holy See against Catholics who do not intend to submit to its political directives."

Italy is an overwhelmingly Catholic country in which the Communists officially number more than 2,000,000, and the Papal decree could have a telling effect here.

The Communists have swung 1,000,000 votes in the postwar elections in France, also the predominantly Catholic country, where the warning of the Pope to the faithful to avoid exposing themselves to Communist doctrines and newspapers, could have a heavy effect.

The concern the Communists apparently feel in France is reflected in the official French Communist newspaper L'Humanite. In an angry attack on the Vatican, the newspaper cried out the decree "pure totalitarianism."

L'Humanite said it would be impossible "to violate more directly the freedom of thought of men in a domain that is political, not religious."

The decree, announced by the sacred congregation of the holy office—which is in charge of protecting the faith—and approved by the Pontiff—is interpreted by informed Vatican sources to be a last warning to Catholics who may be leaning toward Communism.

As for the President's remark that many people would like to have a depression for political reasons, Flinders said:

Steel Strike

He asked for an answer.

Replying to the companies' argument that he ought to use the national emergency provision of the Taft-Hartley Act, he said the situation does not constitute enough immediate peril to the "national health or safety" to warrant such action until after a "prolonged interruption" has occurred.

The Taft-Hartley "health or safety" provision, which includes authority for an 80-day injunction against a strike if necessary, does not permit inquiry boards to make any recommendations. The board to be set up shortly by the President would make recommendations within 45 days.

The President emphasized the companies are not being asked to "nationalize" themselves to accept these recommendations.

Significantly, Mr. Truman chose to interpret the position of three other steel companies—Jones & Laughlin, Wheeling and Youngstown Sheet & Tube—as meaning they have accepted his plan and will appear before the board.

He telegraphed his thanks to them.

Thus along with other government officials, he saw the present

21-GUN SALUTE CUT DOWN IN ISRAEL

TEL AVIV—(AP)—The Argentine embassy in the United States forwarded to Israel a request for information on how many gun salutes are fired here for Israeli President Weisman.

Actually the new state hasn't had time yet to work out a lot of these matters. But its protocol department set to work, drew up a code, and replied: "21 guns, as other states do for their presidents."

But the note added, confidentially, that in fact so far they've only been firing five guns—because of the war and munitions supply and all that. (And whether it's five or 21, it is the first time military censorship has passed the fact that Israel has that many guns.)

The American flag should not be displayed on days when the weather is inclement.

Festival Time Brings Thunderous Union Of Old And New Japan

By RUSSELL BRINES

AP Newsfeatures

SHIMODA, Japan — Festival day in this little fishing town brings old and new Japan together almost thunderously. The way it is done is somewhat symbolic of modern times.

Shimoda, which became famous by accident, is neither the most backward nor the most progressive of Japanese communities. It is known primarily because it clings to a fragment of history.

It was here, 100 miles southwest of Tokyo, that Commodore Matthew G. Perry's "black ships" first broke Japan's medieval seclusion in 1853. Here, too, the first United States consul to Japan, Townsend Harris, lived for the initial year of relations between the two countries.

Once a year, nowadays, Americans and Japanese come from miles distant to commemorate the annual "Black Ship" festival in honor of Perry's visit. The occasion calls for a celebration by Shimoda's 7,000 residents.

Their drab little shops blossom with paper flowers, and the plain street is crowded with people. But the shops are full of merchandise, and townspeople never tire of gazing at them.

Hundreds gather at the weather-beaten primary school to hear formal speeches sent from Tokyo by high ranking American and Japanese officials. No one blinks when, as usual, it is recalled that the First American-Japanese treaty pledged permanent peace between the two countries. No one squirms at the mention of the "unfortunate episode" which interrupted that peace.

But Shimoda preserves its history most particularly in two temples. One stands on the site of Harris' house, where he raised the first consular flag in Japan. American marines and sailors who died ashore in those early years each decorated annually with a wreath of flowers.

The second temple marks the spot where the important Kinnagawa treaty was signed in 1854 to clarify American landing rights. But few remember the treaty. The temple is better known for the collection of portraits of a demure young Japanese girl who was supposed to have been Harris' faithful mistress.

Shimoda insists upon preserving the story of Okichi and her love for the aging American consul, although historians generally believe that, if she lived, she was only a servant in the house of an aristocratic man.

acts of farm life come farm animals—mostly mares, kicking horses, charging bulls, biting pigs and similar animals with unpleasant dispositions caused injuries to 233 farmers. These accidents cost on the average $30 for medical care. The farmers lost an average of 19 days from work.

The men folks have about three times as many accidents as farm women. Most accidents involve men from 25 to 44 years old.

The South has the lowest accident rate. The BAE says this probably is because there are fewer farm machines in the South than in other areas.

The accident rate is slightly below the national level in the Northeast and far above the national average in the North Central states and West.

The average medical costs also were lower in the South, around $24 per accident. The highest cost, $66, was in the Northeast.

Years of research pioneering guarantee LUCKIES ARE A FINER CIGARETTE!

Constant research at Lucky Strike's famous cigarette laboratory—America's largest and most completely equipped—is devoted to giving you a finer cigarette!

THERE is no finer cigarette in the world today than Lucky Strike. Here's why! Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. And every step in the making of Luckies—from before this fine tobacco is bought until the finished cigarette reaches you—comes under the watchful eye of the largest and most completely equipped cigarette research laboratory in America.

For many years, the famous Lucky Strike laboratory in Richmond, Virginia, has been a center of cigarette science and technology. In this remarkable building you can see a fascinating collection of scientific instruments—microscopes, spectrophotometers, balances, projectors, humidification chambers, and many other complicated and costly machines.

Working with this array of scientific equipment are more than 60 highly trained specialists—chemists, biologists, engineers, physicists. They work on tobacco, on finished cigarettes, on paper, foil, cellophane and even printing inks. For Lucky Strike scientists have for years delved into cigarette research on an extensive scale.

Today, because of the miracle of modern science, Lucky Strike is a finer cigarette.

Testing tobacco. Samples from every tobacco-growing area are analyzed before and after purchase. These extensive scientific analyses, along with the expert judgment of Lucky Strike buyers, assure you that the tobacco in Luckies is fine, light and mild. No wonder Luckies are a finer cigarette.

Luckies stay fresh. After Lucky Strike cigarettes have been packaged, they must be tightly sealed to remain fresh. Here you see the cellophane seal being tested for air-tightness. Such instruments are in constant use at every plant.

3 Top Demos To Hold Meeting In Jackson, Miss.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP)—Three high ranking Democrats will be in Jackson, Miss., tomorrow for a meeting of pro-Truman Democrats.

They are Mrs. India Edwards, director of the women's division of the Democratic National Committee, T. Lamar Caudle, assistant attorney general, and Clifford E. Dudley, alternate democratic national committeeman for the District of Columbia and assistant director of the CIO Political Action Committee.

Mrs. Edwards, committee spokeswoman, will explain the administration farm program at the Jackson meeting. He said the national committee also had arranged Mississippi Democrats arranged for Caudle's speech.

Dudley told a reporter he plans to attend but not to make an address.

Dudley has been in Mississippi recently conferring with pro-Truman Democrats who seek to set up a new Democratic organization in the state, which east its electoral college vote last year for the States Rights party presidential ticket.

Rep. Williams (D-Miss.) told a reporter that information furnished him by the House committee on Un-American Activities listed Dudley as a member of the Washington book shop in 1941.

The book shop was labeled a Communist front organization by the committee in 1944, he said.

Dudley told a reporter he belonged to the book shop about ten years ago "when practically every liberal in Washington belonged to it and received into books and records."

He withdrew later, he said, long before the shop was labeled a Communist front organization.

"In fact," he told a reporter, "later during the time I was with the National Labor Relations Board, I was checked by the FBI along with other board employees and I got an official clearance. That was sometime along about 1941."

As to his work in Mississippi, he said "all I do is give suggestions."

"I think the struggle in Mississippi essentially is between the Democratic and Republican parties, but that the use of party labels has been inaccurate and confusing and that the majority of the people in Mississippi who are true Democrats are confused over the issue," he said.

"I think the situation needs clear and calm thinking and patient and sincere efforts by all Democrats in the state to understand each other and unify the party."

A National Democratic Committee spokesman said that Dudley is not a member of the national staff of the national committee "but he has cooperated with the Democratic National Committee officials and apprised them of his talks with Democrats in Mississippi which had no connection with his PAC work."

"The national committee does not intervene in the activities of state Democratic committees although it aids them in providing campaign material and in arranging for speakers from Washington to appear at meetings conducted by state committees," the spokesman said.

Tampa Growth Is Cited As Reason To Deepen Harbor

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP)—Rep. Peterson (D-Fla.) today cited the steady growth of Tampa as one of "many reasons" for additional improvement of Tampa harbor.

He made this comment in testimony prepared for a Senate public works subcommittee. He asked for authorization of further work at a cost of $7,787,000. Senator Holland (D-Fla.) and Army engineers endorsed the project.

Peterson declared "there has been a steady growth in Tampa's population since the last improvement to the harbor was authorized six or eight years ago."

"Engineers," he said, "have shown clearly that the work is needed." He said Hillsborough and Pasco counties produced 60 percent of the world's phosphate supply "and in the past vast shipments were made by water."

He said that as "world business stabilizes, both imports and exports will grow at Tampa."

The project, he added, is the result of nearly four years of study by the engineers and their recommendations have been approved by Governor Warren and other Florida officials.

Gunby Gibbons, representing Tampa shippers and the Tampa Chamber of Commerce, an I. William W. Bakemon of the Tampa Chamber of Commerce were here to attend the session.

The project would mean the deepening of Egmont Channel, to 30 feet; enlarging Tampa Bay, Hillsboro Bay, and Port Tampa channels to a depth of 34 feet and a width of 750 feet; deepening Sparkman Channel and Ybor-Tanning Basin to 31 feet; revoking an authorized improvement of Alafia River and substituting a channel 30 feet deep and 200 feet wide from Hillsboro Bay Channel to and including the existing turning basin to be enlarged to a depth of 30 feet, a width of 700 feet, and a length of 1,200 feet; and substantial widening at entrances, bends and turns.

Cornmeal Cleanup Drive Is Launched By State Agency

TALLAHASSEE, July 14.—(AP)—The State Department of Agriculture is launching a cornmeal cleanup drive.

The department's inspection division began a cleanup drive after a check of samples from one mill showed contamination. In operation of an act, a good many other mills gave the same result.

The contamination doesn't do anything to the appearance of the meal, but it is a way of telling the quality of the meal they buy by looking at it.

Not as the farmers are serious from a health standpoint. "It's the thought of the thing

IMPROVED PASTURES

GAINESVILLE, July 14.—(AP)—Improved pastures and increased forest production were described as the two most important goals for farmers and other Southern states here Wednesday.

The speaker, Dr. Earl Rauber, command with the Federal Reserve Board of Atlanta, appeared before the closing session of the two-day conference on Florida forest development.

Attending the meeting were state and federal forestry officials, operators of pulp and lumber mills, and members of the state bankers' association.

African slaves were first introduced in America in 1619, the first shipment going to Jamestown.

More than anything else," said State Chemist J. J. Taylor. Among foreign materials found in the meal have been rat hairs and excoria, comb heads and weevils.

"It certainly won't poison anyone and it's not likely to make anyone sick," he reported. "What contamination there is is likely to be sterilized by cooking. It's just that the thought of eating these things is not a pleasant one."

He said the meal got contaminated "before the corn reaches the mill." Many small corn processors lack facilities for storing their product away from rats and insects.

Of course, the miller should have some means of cleaning it up before he mills it," the state chemist said. "Some have got about 20 minutes to clean up and I would say that with care the thing could be controlled."

HUME'S RECORD AS AN AGRICULTURAL LEADER IS GOOD TO CONSIDER. It is good to consider the record of a public servant such as Dr. H. Harold Hume, who recently retired as dean and provost for agriculture at the University of Florida.

Dr. Hume is personally known by a great many people in Florida and he is held in very high esteem for the great service he has rendered to the state's agriculture and to the state as a whole. Retiring in vigorous health, he will keep busy in his research on ornamentals and other phases of agriculture, and soon he will depart for intensive studies in England.

If there is any phase of agriculture in Florida in which he has not been interested during his half-century of residence in this state, it is difficult to discover it.

While his major research and writings have been in the field of horticulture, he has taken a very active interest in field crops, improved pastures, livestock, poultry, ornamentals, and processing of agricultural products. He has assisted in and encouraged research in nearly all of these crops.

For many years he has been a leader in the Florida State Horticultural Society. He wrote the State Plant Act of 1916 which created the Florida State Plant Board, the organization which protects Florida Agriculture from pests from other countries. He brought honor to himself and to Florida with his interesting and authoritative books on citrus, gardening, and camellias and azaleas. Florida is famous for its beautiful azaleas, and Dr. Hume was the man who not only showed that government employee. He was an official of the National Labor Relations Board and the war labor board from 1936 to 1944.

Giannini Daughter
2,000,000 women customers of the bank.

Twenty years ago, Mrs. Hoffman recalled, the bank made an effort to offer services especially for women through a woman's department. It was unpopular, she said.

"The women showed us," she commented, "that they realize banking whether for men or for women, is business and should be handled as business, regardless of sex."

But Mrs. Hoffman also feels that many women expect more from men in business than from women. Therefore, they prefer to do business with men, especially in money matters.

Another of her viewpoints is that women are more conservative than men in financial affairs. She is desirable in the home, she says, where the housewife must conserve the family funds. But she believes it is a handicap in the larger world of financial enterprise where there must be more venture.

Mrs. Hoffman's special interest in banking is in the administration of wills and estates for the benefit of widows and their children.

"Our bank has already gone to great lengths in developing this kind of service," she said. "I have no startling new ideas to propose but it is a most useful service which intrigues me and I intend to pay it special attention."

"This fall, stender member of the Giannini family looks the business woman's part. She likes to wear tailored clothes. Her hair and eyes are dark. Deeply tanned, she uses no makeup, not even lipstick.

For years she has not hesitated to accept the working jobs in community and charitable enterprises. She has been active for 25 years with the Telegraph Hill Neighborhood Association. It is concerned principally with settlement work in San Francisco. She administers its treasury and also works as a doctor's aide.

She has been actively identified as an officer or board member of the Junior League, Pinhaven Home for problem children, Young Women's Christian Association and Community Chest, among other organizations.

She is a director of the Bank of America Giannini Foundation. It was founded by her father in 1945 to finance education, research and other beneficial activities.

Mrs. Hoffman also finds time to cook and sew and to supervise the domestic side of life. Her hobbies include hunting and fishing and she is fond of ballroom dancing. She enjoys sports but says she plays them badly.

A gift for music, her friends say, was neglected. She was a soloist at St. Mary's Church here and at Mills College when a student there. She was urged to develop her talent but she was more intrigued by the world of business and finance.

Clara Giannini married Clifford P. (Bill) Hoffman, former football star at the University of California. Finance is her life interest. He is a partner in an investment concern here.

The Hoffmans live at Seven Oaks, the old Giannini home at suburban San Mateo where she was born.

At a table draped with costume jewelry and girls' suits, neckties, ties and caps. She suffers from lack of throat and her reactions are so slow that she does only about one-third of a normal person's work. But she thinks and reasons well and appraises the jobmen "specie" in a way that will bring the most cash.

A youth moves up and down the aisle passing out work. He is mentally retarded but physically associated and he whistles around at such a rate that he wears out a pair of shoes a month. He makes a good delivery boy. Before a power sewing machine sits a girl handicapped whose right hand is paralyzed. He no longer can do handwork, but he walks for three years. The radio told her about Goodwill. Her father carried her downstairs. She got a Goodwill job taking telephones calls for truck collections. Joy at being back in the world reflected itself in her health. In time she began to walk with a cane. Finally she threw it away. Now she is secretary to a New York doctor and has only a slight limp in her walk.

"Several shipments of critical materials destined for export without military government approval have been shipped recently and confiscated at the border."

New regulations will apply even to personal imports by foreign consular representatives in the U. S. zone. They also cover military and occupation personnel, displaced persons and Germans.

Displaced persons, Germans and non-American allied personnel are mostly responsible for the racket," McCarthy said.

Mrs. Hayes has just received a Miami sentence of 30 months in prison for helping Johnson get out of the Dade county jail in Miami. He walked out of the "escape-proof" jail shortly after he and three others were arrested there.

One of the other three, John Eugene Anderson, later pleaded guilty to state and federal charges of taking part in the bank robbery and received sentences totaling 40 years.

The other two, Mr. Scroggins and Mrs. Anderson, both testified for the government against Johnson.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CURP

HARRY RUBY, songwriter and America's Baseball Fan Number One, writes, "I am distressed by the trend of present-day politics. Too many people are either for the extreme left or the extreme right. What this country needs is more articulate and emboldened citizens who are for the extreme middle!"

Peterina Bowker, compiling a list of familiar, but paradoxical phrases, cites as perfect examples "light housekeeping; free love; honest prejudice; civilized warfare; lawyer's brief; and simple arithmetic." Can you suggest any additions?

The terrible-tempered Donald Klopfer trudged into the Hollywood Club locker room after a tough eighteen-hole round of golf. "Didn't lose a single ball this afternoon," he reported with some satisfaction. "Just a driver, three irons, and a putter."

50 Per Cent Of West Germany's Theaters Closed

FRANKFURT, Germany.—(AP)—An estimated 50 per cent of western Germany's private theaters closed after last year's currency reform. There are even some state-subsidized houses which fear their curtains will never rise again.

Some people here believe the Germans have lost their interest in cultural things. Baiding, bespectacled Erich Otto, president of western Germany's Players' Association, says no.

"Germans are as hungry for stage plays as they were fifty years ago," he added, "but they don't want to be disillusioned." Eighty per cent of Germany's playhouses were either destroyed or badly damaged when the war ended. New theaters were soon started in barns, cinemas and private houses.

"But you can't perform an opera of Verdi or a French comedy in a former gymnasium. It's too disillusioning. This especially is meant for those depressing ultra-modern plays. If they see a play like this performed on a pastry house, people leave bored."

He says Carl Zuckmayer, German-born American playwright and author, keeps open German theaters with his "The Devil's General." This play features the end of General Ludwigs Gen. Ernst Udel, whose conscience conflicted with his sense of military obligation to the Nazis. He ended his struggle by taking his own life. The play had all-time high attendance throughout Western Germany. "If there were no Zuckmayer," Otto said, "we would have been in desperate straits."

Mr. Braxington stresses the fact that he has regained his health since coming to Florida to live. Although he brought three electric fans down from Cincinnati, he has not had to use them due to the cool breezes in the lake. Raymond Hall has erected a new guest cottage near his home and it will be ready for occupancy this fall, he stated.

A new pier on Lake Emma and other improvements to the former Wyle home have been made by Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Fawcett. Ralph Williams, builder, has completed his new concrete block home near the Community Center. Opposite the Center is a home with new stucco finish which is being rebuilt by Frank Evans, who with Mrs. Evans is spending the summer near Boston, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Pugh left Saturday for a month's cruise in the vicinity of Key West. They operate a garage and filling station in Lake Mary.

Dr. McMurray warned that some type of injury is the beginning of every case of mastitis. He said that while four types of germs can cause the disease, the germs can go to work only when the animal is damaged by one of three types of injuries.

He listed one as mechanical injuries such as cuts, abrasions and bruises, sometimes caused by rough milking and sometimes by accidents.

A second was described as temperature injuries, caused by severe chilling of the udder when the cow lies on a cold damp floor or is otherwise exposed to sudden cold.

The third, he said, is chemical injuries, caused by the chemical contents of filth in the barn remain too long in the udder.

Windy Sure "Stopped The Show!"

The other night a bunch of us were over at Judge Cunningham's watching a great baseball program on his new television set. It came in late, but just once, the screen got a little shaky.

Before the Judge could teach the knob to bring it into focus, old Windy Taylor starts feeling around with the antenna connections. "I can fix that!" he says.

Windy had it all right. He "adjusted the show" for us, and now the knob had to come out for a 15-minute rest.

Glenn McCarthy Gives Grid Credit For His Success

Waco High School played San Jacinto High School of Houston in the quarter-finals of the Texas schoolboy football race. It was Dec. 8. When San Jacinto came to Waco it was not given a shadow of a chance of stopping the Tyson juggernaut.

But early in the game San Jacinto's right tackle raised out of the line and said: "You won't gain an inch over this place today." The Waco team was amused but he was right. Waco won 36-0 but it never could gain over the fighting McCarthy.

As soon as the game ended Tyson sought out the husky tackle. "You men," he said "you put on a great fight out there today. We beat San Jacinto but we didn't beat Glenn McCarthy. If you battle against the odds in the future the way you did on that football field today, you'll really go places."

And so to the folks who paid him tribute in Beaumont, McCarthy had this to say: "Those were the first encouraging words anybody ever said to me. They went a long way toward putting me on the road to success."

Canada, with an area of almost 4 million square miles, covers a surface almost as large as Europe and larger than the United States, excluding Alaska.

DALLAS—Glenn H. McCarthy, who made millions from oil and has become a fabulous personality, credits the encouraging words of an admiring football coach with putting him on the road to success.

The Beaumont Texas A. and M. Club was giving a testimonial dinner to the owner of the swank Shamrock Hotel in Houston where the movie stars helped make it a national occasion when the hostelry was opened. McCarthy was born in Beaumont and the home folks were paying him tribute.

Among the 800 guests was Paul Tyson. In the twenties he coached Waco High School to four State football championships and one of them claimed the national title. Tyson is a college professor today but his interest still lies with athletics.

McCarthy had been invited by Tyson to come to Houston and then fly with him to Beaumont in his private plane for the dinner. Everyone paid tribute to McCarthy but when the multi-millionaire responded he recalled what happened in 1925 when life. The play had all-time high attendance throughout Western Germany. "If there were no Zuckmayer," Otto said, "we would have been in desperate straits."
