To Be Delivered At "Radio Hour" Number Of Listeners Chosen For Talk

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's decision to deliver his annual message to Congress tomorrow night at an hour when the number of radio listeners is the greatest was defended today by Democratic leaders against Republican charges of "politics."

Speaking in an address by Henry F. Fletcher, national Republican chairman, that the arrangements for the annual presidential duty were in the level of a political speech. Fletcher said: "I think this effort to make a record talk out of a message is rather absurd. It seems to me no one should desire to prevent the country from having the opportunity of becoming familiar with the President's viewpoint, and that anyone who takes that attitude cannot justify it."

The Republican high command last night denounced arrangements for President Roosevelt's message to Congress as an "unpleasant surprise" and "a political maneuver." G. O. P. spokesmen said the President's message would be "a part of his campaign for re-election."

A Year Of Progress

No one can read the story of Herald headlines for the past year, published in Tuesday's edition, without being impressed by the remarkable progress which this city has made during the past year. It is true that many businesses which have been struggling along during the depression have not yet felt the full benefits of recovery and it is true that as compared with 1925 (which we like to regard as "normal" in our city's history) conditions are not what we might have hoped for. Nevertheless the period of the past twelve months has witnessed substantial growth.

One of the most noteworthy events of the entire year was the re-opening of the Mayfair Hotel. This magnificent tourist hotel had been closed since the days of the boom, and had served only as a monument to real estate follies as well as a collector of cobwebs. Early in the year of 1933 it re-opened, and since has been a mecca for social gatherings and a means of promoting Sanford as a tourist resort and convention city. The Montezuma is another local hotelery which has recently changed hands promising great things for the future.

Other headlines disclose the lending of over one million dollars to local farmers by U. S. Land Banks, and the refinancing of over $400,000 worth of home mortgage paper by the HOLC. This borrowing of money from governmental agencies may not seem like returning prosperity, but when we learn that most of this "outside" money was spent locally, and when we realize what shape we would have been in had we been unable to borrow, we can see something of how much this has meant to us.

New construction has formed a considerable part of this city's activities during the past year from which the building and supply houses as well as the workmen in the building trades have benefited materially. A number of new filling stations have been erected. A Farmers State Wholesale Market was built and operated so successfully that an additional allotment for improvements amounting to $43,000 has already been made, and Mr. W. E. Kirchhoff, Jr., who has bought the Mayfair Hotel and made other extensive local investments, has announced that he plans to operate a similar market.

In October building permits set a record for the year, reaching a total of some $35,340, while a little earlier in the year pledges made for home improvements in a Federal Housing campaign reached the unusually large figure of $119,633. Other headlines reveal that $80,000 has been allotted for repaving city streets, that the contract has been let for the new Elks Home, and that construction has been commenced on the new State Armory.

Early in the year the Federal Savings and Loan Association was organized for the purpose of refinancing real estate mortgages and making loans for modernization and other improvements. By the end of the year we read that this Association has already met with success and that a dividend has been declared. A renewed activity in real estate deals is also noted including the sale of a large block on First Street, the largest deal of its kind since the boom.

Other developments throughout the year of hardly less significance but too numerous to mention include the completion of the Lake Front Boulevard. This in itself was an event culminating years of effort and worthy of widespread rejoicing throughout this section. But we do not have the space to go on. Suffice it to say that 1933 for Sanford was a year of expansion, which if continued for another year or two, will find this city definitely out of the doldrums.

Railroad Development

There's life in the "Old Iron Horse" yet and the railroads today are going "full stream" ahead, says Charles F. A. Mann, noted railway expert and authority, who predicts within the next five years in the transportation industry the airplane may find "a fast, economical and comfortable competitor in the swift, birdlike flights of streamlined trains across the vast transcontinental network of railroads."

"America's ten-billion-dollar railroad system is in for a swift overhauling," Mann declares in a survey of the current railroad situation published in Collier's magazine. "The day of speed is at hand and the challenge is being met with fierce competitive efforts to regain for the rails their rightful place in America's complicated transportation system."

"Possibly a few billions of watered stock will have to be drained off, and maybe thousands of miles of surplus trackage abandoned, but the ultimate, if present trends continue, will be a new deal for the railway security holders, a wonderful transportation for the American public and speeds and economies that would have been considered fantastic in 1925."

"Schedules all over the United States have been speeded up in the past ninety days and the long-dreamed-of Chicago-New York 12-hour train is not far distant. Uncle Sam's vast grade crossing elimination program is the key factor in speeding up trains. The Milwaukee, Seaboard Air, Baltimore & Ohio, and Boston & Maine have all adopted the new combination Diesel power and baggage cars now used in riveting short-line day passenger business."

Mr. Mann points to railroad traffic as "one of the most encouraging signs of the revival of business ever witnessed." Total gross passenger revenues showed a $17,000,000 increase in 1933 over 1932 and a $5,000,000 increase in the first seven months of 1934 over the corresponding period in 1933.

The Pullman Company is planning new-type streamlined cars, including one with individual bedrooms on two levels. Experiments are also being made with streamlined freight cars of alloy steel that will cut the total weight of freight trains by thirty percent and be able to haul just that much more pay load.

THE COMPASS

Popularity of the Townsend Plan By ARTHUR DUNN

HOUSTON, Texas, Jan. 1.—"Why," asked the editor of the Galveston Tribune, "do so many people favor the Townsend Plan?" Politicians are commencing to ask the same question, and Father Coughlin in his Christmas philippic says his Union of Social Justice favors it. And they are quite a tidy number.

My rather extensive tour of Florida convinced me that no one can be elected to any important office in that state unless he stands for a liberal old age pension. The same is evidently true of Michigan and California.

No longer can columnists and editors laugh it away as fantastically costly. People generally are not satisfied that the Democratic Deal or the Republican deal represents the ultimate. They are groping for some method of increasing the distribution of our potential abundance, and to millions the Townsend Plan seems to be the answer. What are their arguments, pro and con?

The plan would completely solve unemployment is the main Townsend argument. The "eligible" would be only those with investments yielding less than $200 per month. The amount they would receive would be the difference between their investment income and $200. The pension would not be paid them in money but passed to their credit in banks, and they must agree to become or remain unemployed and to consume the full pension each month. Thus goods, not cash, would be given them.

It is estimated that 3 million pensioners would receive from $200 downward. An average of $150 per month would amount to something over 14 billions a year. The vacancies created, plus workers required to produce the increased consumption of the pensioners, are expected to give employment to every idle person under sixty.

They also argue that removing fear of want in old age would stimulate spending by those under sixty and so cause still more jobs. It is claimed the plan, by increasing distribution, will be no added burden without the buying power of the pensioner the extra 14 billions would not be produced.

Let us analyze all this. We know that any sudden large increase in demand increases prices, so that unless the government held prices at the prevailing levels, the resulting advances would decrease the purchasing power of all. A price increase of 50 percent would nullify the plan.

Also, no matter how sound a program may be, until a goodly majority believe it to be sound, its adoption brings loss of confidence. If people become afraid of the plan, those under 60 would diminish their spending, which might easily offset the increased demands for products by the pensioners. If so, there would be no increase in distribution—the elderly would merely consume more and the rest of the population less. Reduced to figures—6 percent of the people (non-producers) would receive 10 percent of everything produced.

If the plan had an overwhelming majority, and a roof were put on prices, it would result in an increased production, probably sufficient to cover its cost. 14 billions of pension purchasing power would represent no productive effort by the pensioners—simply consumption of commodities produced by others. The same is true of the 23 billion dollars of added buying power of investors and speculators due to advancing prices of stocks and bonds since March '33. The latter has resulted in a large loss.

Should not the former do the same? On confidence depends the success of either. When confidence vanishes, securities fall and buying power disappears.

The most serious objection to the Townsend Plan is its probable effect on many young people. Parents just naturally help their children. Nothing could prevent fathers and mothers, whose incomes would amount to $400 per couple, from giving quantities of commodities to their offspring. This would surely make losers of many thousands. A sane approach would be a sum which would not disturb confidence—say $50—and let experience determine further action.

PIONEER NIGHT AT LAKE MARY WAS BIG EVENT

(Continued From Page One) An interview with Mrs. Hilliard who explained how she has lived to be 109 years of age. As told in her own quaint way, Mrs. Hilliard has always eaten sweet potatoes, grits and "saw-bosom." She lives alone and does her own work.

Another "old timer" on the program was George Howard, 82, of Winter Park, who entertained with some minstrel song sketches which were enjoyed by all. Mr. Howard, who is now retired, was with a minstrel for 60 years. Mr. Evans introduced Mrs. Evans' mother, Mrs. Pelley, and Mrs. Evans' sister, Mrs. Claire Lemaire, both of Boston. The absence of Mrs. Evans, who is confined to her home on account of illness, was noticeable and brought from those present the expression of hope for her speedy recovery.

Among others introduced by the master of ceremonies were Frank Forster, 83, of Sanford; C. W. Smith, 83, of Lake Mary, the youngest Civil War veteran; Harry King of Washington, D. C., re-

President May Be Relieved Of Some Of His Authority

Trend Of "New Deal" Away From Use Of Emergency Power

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—(P)—Behind three recent administrative acts and utterances seemingly isolated and unrelated in themselves may be detected a general, but definite, trend by the "New Deal" away from the extraordinary use of emergency power. Granting that unforeseen contingencies might halt and even reverse this drift, there is now an apparent desire to return to old sources some of the authority heretofore exercised by President Roosevelt in the emergency campaign against depression.

The first hint of this state of affairs came in Mr. Roosevelt's recent disclosure that the $500,000,000 public works bill to go before the new Congress is to be vastly increased to $1,000,000,000 from producers. In the past such funds have been provided in huge lump sums by Congress for expenditure substantially as the Administration—meaning the President in last analysis—might see fit. Now, Mr. Roosevelt has made plain he wants Congress itself to appropriate for specific projects.

That means the power—and the responsibility—for selection of projects will return in large measure to Capitol Hill.

The second straw in the wind is seen in a carefully prepared analysis by AAA economists asserting that the farmer's income had been boosted to the relative point it occupied in 1929—the year before the great debacle. Examining this statement further, observers found AAA really was saying, also, that the Administration had done about as much as it could do, standing alone, to improve the farmers' position. Further improvement, it was held, must come through greater demand for farm products through increased industrial payrolls. The final significance of the analysis was that it had a tendency to put AAA on record as seeking a quieter, more stable course, with the employment of less executive power and action for the future—always barring major contingencies.

Again, a third arrow pointing toward comparatively decentralized executive authority was raised in President Roosevelt's decision for the final liquidation of NRA, long only a ghost of its tired newspaper man; and J. S. Dinkle, 87, of Sanford, the only Confederate veteran in this part of the country. Honor guests from the County Home were also introduced.

Refreshments of ice cream and cookies were served and the party was over at a late hour. Mr. Evans stating that he was reluctant to draw it to a close, but that the "children" had to go to bed as they were to be honor guests at a party at the Milane Theater in Sanford this afternoon.

Government will be completely self-contained. Functions of NRA will be understood, and to be spread out among old-established government departments.

Miss Mildred Myrick Weds James F. Smith

Word has been received here of the marriage of Miss Mildred Myrick of Washington, D. C., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Myrick of this city, to James Franklin Smith of Silver Spring, Md., son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel P. Smith of Danville, Va.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Howard L. Doll on Saturday, Dec. 21 at 5:00 P. M. at Christ's Episcopal Church in Alexandria, Va. before a small gathering of friends and relatives. The church is noted for the fact that George Washington attended it regularly during his lifetime.

500 People See New Year's Day Greyhound Races

Waltz King, a 7 to 2 favorite to win, not only equalled his own record of running the 1487 foot distance in 30 seconds flat but also made three straight victories in three starts. He paid $9.20 to win, $4.60 to place, and $2.20 to show.

That the track was fast last night was indicated by the fact that Coal Black, W. A. Mason's pride, turned the quarter mile off the seventh race in 27 3/8 seconds to equal the track record for that distance.

In a New Year's Eve "resolution" which was announced over the public address system, Myer Goldberg, general manager of the plant told a sizable crowd on Tuesday night that "we are determined upon completing our 90-day meeting which began last Saturday night. We believe the people of this section want greyhound racing conducted on a high plane, and I say to you now that this track will operate for 90-days, rain or shine. We plan also to open a meeting in late December of 1936 and operate for 90-days next year."

Two fast races will be run again tonight, starting at 8:15 o'clock rain or shine. Weather prediction was for a bright day.

And they brought a look for another large crowd. No minors are allowed on the grounds, however, Mr. Goldberg reminded parents who have been turned away upon several occasions much to their disappointment and the embarrassment of the management.

Official results Wednesday night: 1st Race, Quarter Mile: Center Five 3.40, High Hooter 3.40, Captain Moulton 3.40.

2nd Race, Quarter Mile: Justa Forge 12.40, 4.50, 3.00, Morlock 6.20, 4.00, Omaha 5.40.

3rd Race, Futurity: Norvick 14.10, 4.50, 3.00, Highland Forge 6.20, 4.40, Tuffy Bits 10.20.

Barrymore At His Best In 'The Return Of Peter Grimm'

Long famous for his character studies on the stage and screen, Lionel Barrymore is said to bring some of his finest work to the films in his portrayal of the tyrannical but kindly old Dutch horticulturist in RKO Radio's "The Return of Peter Grimm" playing at the Milano Friday.

The fictional Peter Grimm has many of the same characteristics that mark the man Barrymore. Both are blunt of speech, and dominating in manner, but with an underlying gentleness and sweetness that makes them utterly lovable. Both are lovers of beauty. Peter Grimm spends his life in the development of flowers while Barrymore devotes his leisure to musical composition and sketching.

In his character of Peter the Beyond to remedy the mistakes he has made in life, Barrymore wears no make-up except that his eyebrows have been made a little heavier. Audiences will see him much as he is in real life, except for the rather old-fashioned clothes he wears.

Peter Grimm was made famous by David Warfield in his original production of the play. Later, on the silent screen, the late Alec B. Francis played the role. In the silent screen version, Janet Gaynor played Catherine, Peter's foster daughter but in the production the part is in the hands of lovely Helen Mack who recently appeared as Tanya in the film production of H. Rider Haggard's "She." This is the third time that Miss Mack has appeared with Lionel Barrymore. The first was in "Sweepings" and the second in "Christopher Bean."

Federal Fund For Fruit Fly Losses Sought

Fight Being Renewed By County Chamber Of Commerce To Ask Growers' Help

Estimate Loss of Over $8,000,000

Papworth Hopeful Of Early Action By Present Congress

Renewing the fight to obtain federal funds for the fruit fly losses sustained when fruit and vegetable fields were destroyed several years ago in the campaign to eradicate the Mediterranean fruit fly in this section of Florida, the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, through its president, H. M. Papworth, has written Florida's senators and congressmen asking them to endeavor to push the measure early during the session of Congress which opened today.

Losses sustained in this part of the state approximated $8,500,000, claims from growers in Seminole County being about $1,000,000. Mr. Papworth said today: "Letters have also been sent to organizations in other counties asking them to join in this fight. Every grower and every farmer who owns a grove or farm in this section can help by writing to members of Congress. Mr. Papworth said that letters from growers to senators and congressmen from their home states might be of more benefit, as it would be expected that the Florida delegation would favor the measure.

The Mediterranean fruit fly menace has been in 1928-29 and before the past was brought under control immense damage had been done. However, the greater loss, it is said, was sustained by the wholesale destruction of crops in which the fly did not make its habit, it was later determined. Not only were citrus groves wiped out in the campaign of eradication, but tomato fields, bean fields, "everything excepting celery," according to Mr. Papworth, were destroyed.

The measure to appropriate funds to pay the growers for their property which the government destroyed came up too late in the last two congressional sessions to obtain favorable action. Mr. Papworth said, but if enough pressure can be brought to get the bill into the hopper early there is said to be a good prospect of its being passed.

Many Reservations Made For Jackson Day Dinner

Buys First Ticket

Judge J. G. Sharon, candidate from this county for Congress, bought the first ticket to the Jackson Day dinner at 8 o'clock, Tuesday evening, Jan. 8.

Many reservations have been made for the Jackson Day dinner to be given by the Young Democrats Club of Seminole County in the Mayfair Hotel on Wednesday evening, Jan. 8, it was reported today by J. Alex Sharon, who is in charge of ticket sales. The committee was allotted 250 tickets. The price is $1.50 per plate.

The main speaker at the banquet will be President Roosevelt, whose voice will be heard over the radio, but another address will be given at the dinner, that by Rayner Maguire, Orlando attorney. Judge J. G. Sharon is to be toastmaster.

Final arrangements for the Jackson Day dinner are to be made by the Young Democrats Club at a meeting called for City Hall at 7:30 o'clock this evening. Mr. Sharon said he hopes a radio can be installed in the assembly room so those attending the meeting can hear President Roosevelt's message to Congress this evening.

The dinner on Jan. 8 will be at 8 P. M.

Spud Planting Has To Be Cut By 25 Per Cent

Revision Of Plans Of Growers In County Will Be Necessary Under Control Act

Seminole County potato growers must cut their production acreage by fully 25 percent or else pay a tax of 45 cents per bushel on all potatoes grown above their allotment. This was disclosed today after County Agent G. R. Dawson had figured individual allotments in many cases, cutting down the production amount permitted under the Warren Potato Control Act now in force, having calculations on the applications filed by growers in recent years. Fred Bateman, Velsia county farm agent, advised Mr. Dawson in some of the figuring this morning, and two farm agents had a long discussion as to how best to work through a 100-acre grower's acreage of figures and true acreage and arrive at the true amount for each grower.

Mr. Dawson said that it appears that planting of potatoes this year will be somewhat more than the exact amount, until the "whole crop of figures" is tabulated. "It looks to me," he said, "that if I get it, you'll have to get into a boat and row out to the middle of Lake Monroe where I won't be bothered."

Additional applications for tax exemption status on potatoes will be accepted at the county agent's office and handled in the regular manner, Mr. Dawson said, but those will be classed as late applications and the allotments given these late applicants will be taken out of the reserve of 4,500 bushels being allowed by the state committee for that purpose. After the individual allotments are figured out a committee of farmers will go over the schedule and then an announcement of the allotments will be made.

Vance E. Douglass Pleads Guilty To Embezzling County Funds And Is Sentenced To Term Of 3 Years

Vance E. Douglass, former clerk of courts for Seminole County, removed from office last year by Governor Sholtz because of shortages in his accounts, pleaded guilty this afternoon before Judge M. B. Smith in Circuit Court and was promptly sentenced to serve a term of three years in the State Penitentiary at Raiford. The case against the former clerk, who was indicted by the last Grand Jury on three counts, was to have been called for trial at the resumption of the Fall term of Court next Monday. He pleaded guilty to one indictment, and the other two were nolle prossed by motion of Assistant State Attorney L. H. Bogle.

Congress Receives Bill Intended To Keep U. S. Neutral

President Is To Address Congress At Night Session

Both Houses To Meet In Joint Session To Hear Message

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The Seventy-fourth Congress opened its second session today after a four-month recess. After praying in one room, senators and four hundred representatives, and commencing two days' sessions, both houses met in the Senate chamber at 3 o'clock tonight to hear President Roosevelt read his message on the "State of the Nation." Then Congress from those leading issues: immediate cash payments of soldiers' bonuses, a new agrarian program, government expenditures, national defense, social security program amendments, the subsidy for marketing systems, and new farm relief of the Supreme Court scraps the A-B-C.

Political warfare of the presidential election year began tonight from the fall of the great conclusion with the introduction of the disputed neutrality and business program bills. Although the Senate and House agreed unanimously to recess until this evening for the President's message, Representatives Small, Republican leader, rebuked the plan. "Will not this message stand in light of the usual reading, say," he demanded, while the three-hour daily House session listened seriously. Small charged that holding the speech off until night was a "shoot a frog" to him politically.

Senator Norris (R. Neb.) stated that he would propose a bill to authorize a $100,000,000 self-help program for the next year. Representative M. J. (Mich.) proposed an investigation of "suspicious waste and disposition of relief funds." He said he would offer a resolution for appointment of a committee of seven House members to conduct the inquiry and suggest "restrictive measures" before additional relief funds are appropriated. Hints were heard of a possible Senate investigation of the American Liberty League, in view of its accusation to the House that it had spent $289,873 in arranging New Deal acts and policies.

U.S. Chamber Of Commerce Hits New Bonus Plan

$1,277,000,000 Cost Above Estimate Is Forecast By Body

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—(AP)—Congressional conflict over cashing the soldiers' bonus was augmented today by a vigorous attack against immediate full payment from the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Simultaneous with publication of a payment plan agreed on by the three veterans' organizations, the Chamber of Commerce said in a statement that payment would cost $1,277,000,000 more than Congress originally intended.

Representatives Vinson, Kentucky, and McCormack, Massachusetts, gave out a bill backed by the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and the disabled American veterans of the World War. The measure provides for immediate payment in full of the bonus, for refund of interest on loans and cancellation of unpaid interest, moving up the maturity date from 1945 to April 6 of next year. Payment would be made by the treasury by issuance of bonds.

$750,000 More Is Allotted Schools, Sholtz Announces

TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 2.—(AP)—Governor Sholtz announces an allocation of $750,000 being made to county school funds, bringing the total since Oct. 1 to $2,925,635.

He added that another allotment, the largest yet, may be expected Jan. 20, five days after the deadline for purchase of 1936 automobile licenses.

The fund came principally from automobile tags, which accounted for $600,000. Another $100,000 was from the state's general treasury, and $100,000 from the constitutional one mill ad valorem levy and interest on school funds.

Of the total contributed by the state during the present term half a million dollars came from the general treasury. The Governor said the new allocation was made following a conference with Comptroller J. M. Lee.

NO TIME EXTENSION FOR BUYING LICENSES

TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 2.—(AP)—Florida motorists are warned by Governor Sholtz that there will be no extension of the deadline for buying new automobile tags.

The law fixes Jan. 15 as the last day for old license plates, but the Governor is given the privilege of extending the time to Feb. 15.

The Governor's warning was to those who are "waiting until the last minute thinking the time will be extended." He urged motorists to avoid the rush which always comes on the last day. "This is final," he said. "There will be no change. The money goes to schools, and we are making an effort to get it as early as we can. It will make a big help."

Slot Machines In Orlando Must Pay Double Licenses

ORLANDO, Jan. 2.—(AP)—A double-barrelled tax plan which slot machines would be required to pay $12 of licenses, instead of $60 now being collected was upheld Thursday by Circuit Judge Frank A. Smith, but opposing attorneys said the decision would be appealed to the Supreme Court.

It was a new interpretation of the slot machine law enacted by the 1935 Legislature, and it upped Orlando's contention that since occupational licenses, instead of one, should be paid for the privilege of operating the machines.

The WPA said evidence "would not appear to substantiate" the accusation. It added Hutchinson was accused of being "bitterly opposed" to the canal and "using his office to delay progress by furnishing undesirable labor in response to regulations for the project."
