

FLORIDA AN ELDORADO

Writer in Chicago Tribune Gives Some Facts

GREAT POSSIBILITIES OF STATE

The Real Place For The Homeseeker—No Longer Only Rich Man's Playground

There is a new "land boom" on that bids fair to eclipse anything of its kind ever inaugurated in America, says the Chicago Tribune. For years Florida, "the neglected state," has been known principally as the winter playground of the rich. Magnificent hotels along the east coast of Florida have catered to the whims and fancies of those of unlimited wealth; fabulous fortunes have been spent in providing luxurious accommodations for those who could afford to escape from the rigor of the northern winter and bask in the smiles of the perfect climate of Florida. Paradoxical as it may sound, it might be said that the rich—the more or less idle class—has been the backbone of the new Florida.

Men of affairs from the north coming to Florida to disport in the surf at Palm Beach, or to idle away the hours in the orange groves or along the palm-embowered walks of Daytona could not close their eyes to the possibilities of the state. Upon every hand they saw evidences of enormous agricultural wealth, simply needing the man behind the plow to develop its wonderful resources. They saw an empire in itself, providing everything necessary to the health, wealth and happiness of its inhabitants. It was not difficult to picture Florida as a future agricultural paradise where men weary of the fruitless struggle against reluctant nature in the north, might come, and almost for the asking, take fortunes from the fruitful soil of this wonderful country.

To such men, to think was to act. Co-operating with the railroads of the state—always the advance guards of civilization—they went forth and spread the gospel of Florida. They poured their money into enterprises designed to develop its natural resources, and in every way known to man advertised the advantages of this section of the United States.

Gradually the farmer and homeseeker of the frozen north began to sit up and take notice of the "land of dreams." The reports of the wonderful productiveness of Florida read like fairy tales to the discouraged agriculturist wrestling an existence from his barren field. He found it hard to believe that in Florida the soil produced three, and sometimes four, crops in one year. It was impossible for him to conceive of a land of perpetual sunshine, where ten or twenty acres of ground could be made to produce more than 100 acres in the north. However, there were enough venturesome spirits to take the plunge and see for themselves what this new Eldorado had to offer.

What they discovered in Florida is history. They found, indeed, that the half had not been told. They found a land where fruit grew wild in luxuriant profusion—a land where the soil produced almost every crop that could be grown in the north, a climate that exceeded the liveliest imagination, a country teeming with possibility. They found that celery could be made to yield as high as $600 an acre profit, grapefruit $400 an acre, potatoes and all kinds of vegetables as high as $300 an acre. Is it any wonder that they named it the enchanted land?

It is almost impossible to describe Florida without recourse to superlatives. It is easy to understand poor Ponce de Leon's faith in his fountain of perpetual youth after one has experienced the delights of a sojourn in Florida. No pen can do justice to the magnificent vistas of waving palms, luxuriant vegetation and wide sweeps of primal verdure.

Florida offers to-day more opportunities to the poor man than any other section of the country. A little capital goes a long way here. At the present time good farm lands can be obtained as low as $10 an acre, and ten acres properly handled should produce a profit of $2,000 a year. The farmer in Florida does not have to work as hard as his brother in the north, and he realizes a great deal more for his labor. Owing to the richness of the soil crops spring up like magic, and at a time when the northern farmer is planting his crops the Florida farmer is almost ready to market his first crop yield.

The movement toward Florida is becoming more and more pronounced as the northern and western homeseeker becomes acquainted with actual conditions in this state. No efforts are being spared by the railroads and other large interests to properly advertise this marvelous section. Millions are being spent in this educational work, and the result is apparent in the thousands upon thousands of inquiries being received by the different commercial associations of the cities of the state.

It is only a question of a short time when, instead of being known as "the rich man's playground," Florida will answer to the title of "the poor man's paradise." Nothing can stop the tremendous tide of wage earners—farmers who have failed of success in other and less productive sections—and homeseekers looking for a place where they can live in comfort and realize a living from their land—from Florida.

Florida offers more inducements to these classes than any other one spot on earth, and while it has taken a long time for Florida to come into her own the next year or two will witness the "enchanted land" taking her rightful position among the agricultural states of the Union.

A Socialist Lecture

Last Saturday evening, J. L. Fitts, a national organizer of the Socialist party, lectured on the street to a large and very attentive audience.

He made many telling points and was frequently applauded. After the speech many questions were asked by the audience, and Mr. Fitts answered them cheerfully, courteously and completely. The audience showed great interest and remained until he closed. Mr. Fitts said in part: "Everybody hates ignorance, poverty, misery, vice and crime. All people want themselves and all others to be intelligent, well-fed, strong, healthy, happy and virtuous. That is why I am a socialist, and you will be a socialist when you understand socialism."

"Capitalists get most of the wealth we make, and want to keep on getting it. They know that socialism will stop this robbery, so they oppose socialism and misrepresent it, to get the working people to fight it."

"Most of their objections are about one-tenth truth, enough truth to sugar-coat the lies."

"Socialism is a philosophy of human society, a scientific interpretation of history, and a political program."

"Our political demands are that the collectively used industries shall be collectively owned and collectively, democratically managed, and that all people shall have equal rights and chances to work, the workers to get the full social value of their labor."

"The industries which we must use collectively (railroads, steamships, telegraphs, mines, factories, etc.) to get our living, have been, are and will be used for the benefit of the owners. They should be used for the benefit of all the people."

"Therefore they must be owned by all the people, owned collectively."

"These industries, now controlled by idle owners who need not care for the health or welfare of the toilers, shall be controlled by the workers who understand them, who suffer on account of bad conditions, who know how they can best be made safe and healthful, and who will benefit most by this improvement."

"In these collectively owned, collectively managed and collectively used industries, all persons shall have equal chance to work, and the workers instead of surrendering four-fifths of what they make, will get the full product of their labor."

"Hear our speakers, study our books, read our papers."

"Learn the science, the philosophy, the economics and the political program and organization of the socialists, then you will vote and work for socialism, and get everyone one you can to do likewise."

Mr. Fitts has been touring southern Florida, and is now on a three weeks' stunt through north Florida, hence west to the Rockies. —A FOLLOWER.

Polar Expedition Returns

Lieut. E. H. Shackleton, of the British navy, and commander of the Antarctic expedition has returned on the barkentine Nimrod to Invercargill, New Zealand, and, although he did not achieve his object, he succeeded in getting within 111 miles of the pole. The Nimrod expedition left England in July, 1907, and after reaching the ice fields and making the most elaborate preparations, the main expedition started on a sledge journey, which occupied 120 days and traversed 1,708 miles southward. The explorers reached latitude 88.263 and longitude 162 east, which was estimated as 111 miles from the pole.

A second party pushed forward to the southern magnetic pole at latitude 72.25, longitude 154 east. The British flag was left flying at both points. The ascent of Mount Erebus was accomplished with difficulty and geological discoveries of great importance were made. Results attained have thrown much light on the past history of the Antarctic continent. There was no loss of life.

Mrs. Mary Van Bibber, Second St., Sanford, Fla., says: "I suffered a great deal from backache. My kidneys were also weak and the frequent passages of the secretions were positively annoying. In spite of the doctoring I did, and the various remedies I tried, I grew no better. Finally I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. They removed the soreness and pain from my back and made me feel like a new man."

LARGE SALE OF LANDS

Indiana Capitalists Purchase Over 4,000 Acres

WILL MAKE MANY IMPROVEMENTS

The Soil is Very Rich And Will Be A Most Valuable Addition to The Sanford Celery Lands

One of the largest deals pulled off this season was consummated this week in the purchase of 4,200 acres of land just south of Lake Jessup. The purchasers are Harry Ward and M. E. Brackett of Decatur, Indiana, and Geo. Lemoux of Indianapolis. Messrs. Ward and Lemoux spent several weeks in Sanford in February, and were so favorably impressed with the wonderful possibilities of this section that they decided to get in the game in earnest, and accompanied by Mr. Brackett arrived in the city this week, and immediately made arrangements to purchase as much of the available lands as possible before the price soared any higher. Mr. Ward had already purchased a ten-acre tract in conjunction with R. C. Maxwell, and like everyone who has spent any time in Sanford, the lure of the celery delta induced him to make further purchases.

The gentlemen intend to put 500 acres in cultivation at once, and expect to push the improvements upon the same. The details of this vast enterprise are not in shape for publication, but it is rumored that several hundred families will be placed upon this tract this fall.

All these men are well-known business men in their native state. Mr. Ward being president and Mr. Brackett secretary and treasurer of the Ward Fence Co. of Decatur, and Mr. Lemoux president and general manager of the Indianapolis Brush Co. They propose to incorporate at once, and the deal promises to give an added impetus to the rapid development of Sanford and the celery delta.

PROMINENT HOOSIERS HERE

Indiana Men Think Sanford Is a Great Proposition

M. Earl Brackett, secretary and treasurer of the Ward Fence Co. of Decatur, and Geo. Lemoux, president and manager of the Indianapolis Brush and Broom Co., arrived in the city Tuesday. Mr. Lemoux is already known to Sanford people, having been here several weeks in January.

Both gentlemen are so favorably impressed with Sanford's great possibilities that, in company with Harry Ward, they invested a small fortune in lands in this section, account of which is found in another part of The Herald.

We welcome these genial fellows to Sanford. They are among the future builders of this section, and the right sort, taking conditions as they exist, and scattering sunshine as they go.

It will be remembered that Messrs. Ward and Lemoux succeeded in killing a monster alligator upon their former trip that created a furore among their Indiana friends.

Celery City Eagles

Sanford Eagles seemed to have good wings from the very start, and the number of new eagles is increasing with every meeting night. Last Tuesday night, pursuant to a special invitation from Secretary Runge, the order met to discuss the question of building a temple. This was the first meeting night in the new quarters in the Stone-Gove block, and a wonderful transformation has been made in this building, and the Eagles now have one of the best lodge rooms in the city.

In the midst of the discussion, a dove sought admission into the order, and was immediately voted upon and taken into the aerie "very gently."

A stock company of Eagles will be formed, capitalized at $20,000, and the enthusiastic manner in which the members responded leaves no room for doubt as to the success of the project.

As soon as a suitable lot can be purchased a fine home will be erected with all the modern improvements.

After the regular business of the meeting on Tuesday night, an elegant luncheon was served, and the Eagles enjoyed themselves as only Eagles know how. Celery City Aerie now numbers 175 members, and with the many applications of the past week the total membership will soon reach the 200 mark.

An Easter Party

Among the many very pleasant Easter festivities, none could have been more delightful than the party given by Miss Kate Underwood last Saturday afternoon to the ten of her little Sabbath school friends. Miss Kate is an energetic and persistent worker in the Baptist Sabbath school, and her energetic labors among the young has added a considerable number to the school. It was to entertain some of these that the party was planned.

Promptly at three o'clock the little tot arrived, all decked out in their best "bib and tucker," and all eager for egg-hunting. All over the lawn they scampered, and amid shouts of joy drew from their hiding places beautifully-colored eggs. Each guest was the bearer of a pretty little bag, and it suffices to say that each girl and boy found enough to fill their bags, as well as their little hearts with joy.

Then table cloths were laid on the lawn, and a real picnic lunch of ice cream, cake, sweet drinks, and other good things that appeal to children, was served. Then followed games until it was time to go home all voting Miss Underwood's party a happy success.

To Subscribers

An order of the Postoffice Department, Washington, D. C., effective Jan. 1, 1908, provides that no delinquent subscriber shall be carried longer than three months, giving as a reason that the department is furnishing a low rate of postage on newspapers, and does so for the benefit of a bonafide subscriber who pays for his paper.

Box Sociable

The ladies of the Baptist church will give a "Box Sociable" next Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Chandler on Park avenue, recently occupied by Dr. Neal. Everybody is invited to go and spend a pleasant evening.

Another Bank Holiday

April 26, being Memorial Day, The First National Bank and The People's Bank will close for the day.

Well Known Newspaper Man Dies in Washington

SUICIDE THEORY IS ADVANCED

Gas Jet Turned On And Air Excluded From Room In Hotel Gives Rise To This Story

John LaFontissee, one of the best known newspaper men in the state was found dead in his room in a Washington hotel last Tuesday. The following dispatch to the Tampa Tribune gives the details:

J. O. LaFontissee, title expert of the forest service of the department of agriculture, of Jacksonville, Fla., was found dead shortly after 12 o'clock today in a bathroom adjoining his room at the Regent hotel, with the gas turned on. The body was discovered by E. W. Wheeler, manager of the hotel, who detected the odor of gas. Wheeler reached over the transom of the door, and with a stick pushed back the bolt. He was nearly overcome by fumes.

Wheeler opened the bathroom door and saw the body of LaFontissee on the floor. A rug had been pushed against a crack of the door. The gas jet was turned on full force. Coroner Nevitt deferred giving a certificate as to the cause of death until he could make a thorough inquiry.

No notes were found among the effects of the deceased. Numerous government papers, as well as personal papers and money belonging to LaFontissee were in his suit case. The body was attired only with the underclothing and socks. The bed was undisturbed except for the appearance that some one had rested on top of the coverings.

No one about the place is known to have seen LaFontissee enter the hotel last night, and it is not clear at what time he went to his room. It is stated that he generally retired late and slept until a late hour in the morning.

The deceased was about 37 years of age and entered the forest service in July last year. He was appointed with the title of expert, but last summer he collected data regarding the production of naval stores. He came to Washington in the early part of January for the purpose of compiling his report and only recently completed it. His wife was with him in this city and they resided on Vermont avenue until a week or ten days ago, when she returned to her home at No. 1852 Iowa street, Jacksonville.

SOLID CITY OF SANFORD

Prosperity of the City Built Upon Firm Foundation

NOT DEPENDING UPON ONE CROP

Diversified Vegetable Culture Makes Sanford Section the Richest Of Any in the World

There is an old adage that admonishes one to "never put all your eggs in one basket," and upon more than one occasion has this old truth come home to individuals and different sections. It struck this section with considerable force when the orange trees were frozen, and left the growers without an anchor to windward upon which they could hold the sinking ship. Since that time the great celery crop has been fostered and made one of the best paying ventures in the vegetable line the world has ever known. Along with the celery success came the pessimist who never failed to croak about the celery crop going to the land, and what an awful misfortune Sanford would suffer. This has not happened so far and if it did no one would be seriously crippled longer than one season. But the failure of an entire crop of celery of every grower in the Sanford section would cause but little hardship, as the celery crop, while a leader in the list of vegetables, is by no means the only crop of this section.

This season lettuce brought such a fancy price that many growers could have passed up the celery growing and still have a snug fortune left. Those who raised lettuce and celery realized $1,000 net profit upon every acre of land in cultivation. This statement can be easily verified by any of the growers who shipped prime stuff.

Now the lettuce and celery has been shipped, and it would seem time for a lull in the vegetable business. But the Sanford grower is of the thrifty sort who never sits down upon laurels already won, and the crops of Irish potatoes, egg plants, cabbage, beans, squash and sweet corn going forward, or that will go forward in a few weeks, will make another record in the profits of vegetable growing.

H. H. Chappel stated today that he has shipped this season a total of 4,500 crates of celery and is now busy shipping other vegetables. He has not received returns from all his celery, but will realize a handsome profit, and it will average about $1.25 per crate at a low estimate.

The Irish potato crop of Sanford will be a record-breaker this year, and this early in the season has witnessed about 25 cars moving northward.

Tomatoes will move in car lots about the first of May, and will be in prime condition, and are bound to bring good prices.

Cabbage has been going forward for several weeks, and one dozen cars left last week, netting good returns.

Egg plants will be shipped about the 20th May, and the Sanford product being of the choice variety always commands top-notch prices. A considerable acreage has been planted in egg plants this season.

The strawberry crop, a new departure for Sanford, has proved a most profitable crop, and was among the first to leave the state, and our growers are still shipping this delicious fruit to the northern cultures.

Many are of the opinion that Sanford is destined to become famous as a strawberry section, as the sub-irrigation and rich soil is peculiarly adapted to the culture of strawberries.

Cauliflower is another of the early Sanford crops, and went forward before the celery started. Cauliflower is raised in this section in large quantities and always commands a good price.

Beans, beets and squash are now holding the boards, and are moving at a lively rate this week.

The Sanford grower has discovered that his northern neighbor is fond of sweet corn and our crop comes into the market about the time the crop is being planted in the north. Of course, it always brings a fancy price and those who tried the culture of sweet corn for the past few years, have found a ready market. Sanford will ship a large quantity this season.

In fact, every known vegetable grows in the Sanford section prolifically, and the grower can raise so many different crops that failure is unknown. Thus it is that Sanford prospers and this season, of all others, the harvest will be most bountiful.

The world at large is also becoming acquainted with the fact that Sanford is built upon a solid foundation, and no storms can ever shake the prosperity, or retard the steady growth of the city built upon this Gibraltar that fortifies the financial standing of Sanford forever and anon.

"A Chiel is Among Ye Taking Notes, and Faith, He'll Prent' Em"—So Says Saunterer.

A newspaper is not altogether published to tell the people what they would like to know, but has to give much of its space to telling them what they ought to know.—Greely.

Special Correspondence to The Herald.

I frequently hear it said of some citizen eminent for integrity and common sense: "What a pity he does not go into politics! We are willing to trust his judgment in all private matters. We need him in public life." The fact that such men are by a process of natural selection told off for the conduct of private trusts and sometimes excluded from public life is cited as a reproach to Democratic government, on the ground that it ignores a certain class of valuable and trustworthy men.

I believe the truth is that these men lack a certain element necessary to eminence in a democratic community, which I venture to designate as the "folk-qualitiy." They have patriotism, energy and ability, but they lack a certain love for the rough and tumble of a primary election, they lack the adaptability to the conditions which make politics attractive to some men. This love and this adaptability may co-exist with honesty and integrity. Possibly they partake more of manliness than of delicacy and refinement, but in that case the delicacy and refinement are superficial. They are entirely compatible with the innate uprightness and refinement that President Lincoln possessed. The same might be said of Senator Voorhees. To both of these men politics was the breath of their nostrils.

I hear a great deal nowadays of folklore and folk-poetry, by which is meant something which grows among the people, and as it is their own product is marked by qualities which suit them. A writer like James Whitcomb Riley or Eugene Field, whose work is tinged with this quality, is sure of success. "What he says goes." If a man possesses a feeling of being at home among the people simply because they are his people, he loves politics irrespective of his moral or his education. It brings him to the front. After he gets there his political economy and his high ideal of public duty will help him wonderfully. But they will not do him the least good unless he has some share of the universal sympathy which lying unconsciously in his heart makes him willing to put up with the ridiculous and the disagreeable.

It is absurd to say that a man must force himself to be familiar with what he despises, that he must lay on one side his honor and sense of shame before he can hope to succeed in politics. If that were true we should, indeed, be in sorry case. We carry too many examples to the contrary. He must possess the folk-qualitiy in order to make a start and in order to get on. Perhaps this is only giving a name to something that is indefinable or the term stands for a conglomerate of all the qualities that lead to political success in America.

Undoubtedly our American system does tend to eliminate some men, who if born in England, might have proved valuable in public situations. But in all countries some men rise in public life who ought to have been kept out, and some men are kept down in defiance of public interest. Gladstone would have risen had he been born in New England. Webster would have been as great in England as he was here, probably have risen higher. It is doubtful if Lord Salisbury could have become secretary of state if he had been an American citizen. The point insisted on is that the one absolutely necessary quality for political advancement is not a narrow, unprincipled nature. It is the ability to take hold with hearty, natural interest in the work. Sometimes an able, ambitious man forces himself forward by will power, but he feels out of place and is usually relegated to the ranks before long. Sometimes a wealthy man buys his promotion. That we shall have to stop. The man who is really fitted to get on in politics gets on. I shall never believe that that fitness consists in qualities of which he should prefer to be destitute.

I would like to see the clock in the tower of the Welborne Block put in good repair and have the mellow tones of the gong striking the hour. It makes us feel more homelike and entwines Sanford closer into our heartstrings and the first thing we would miss in a strange city would be the old town clock. The face is already there and just why the clock was never put in is a question. This tower commands a good position and the clock would prove a valuable acquisition to our city. Especially would we folks appreciate a clock who have been compelled to loan our watches to our "uncles." There is no doubt but what every citizen would aid in having a clock put into the tower. In a few years we will have another place for a clock tower, but until that great event transpires it would be well to use the Welborne Block.

I wish to say to say to some of the men who are checked up too high in the collar and cannot see their poorer neighbors, that mortal man amounts to very little anyhow.

In the words of Lord Bacon: "Who then to frail mortality shall trust, But carves in water, but writes in dust."

That must be true, and science says that 90 per cent of our poor mortal frame is water. It says, take a man weighing 150 pounds by head and heels, wring him out like a dishrag and there will be only fifteen pounds left. No wonder we are all "poor, miserable critters," as the Widow Bedott says. And men walk around on stilts, with their little empty noggins thrown back, not knowing that if, in addition to being wrung out, they were also hung out to dry, they wouldn't weigh one per cent—not enough to fill the little bowl of a little girl's first thimble.

Early one morning this week I was awakened from a deep sleep by a most unearthly noise. It filled the house, wave upon wave and rumbled and roared. It was so thick you could cut it with a knife and when I came to in the middle of the floor it was several minutes before I decided whether the Seminoles were attacking the house or the state had gone prohibition. Carefully raising the curtain and peeping out upon the street nearby the creature that had caused the earth to take this sudden upheaval was plainly discerned. It was a Spanish Jack corralled my one of the neighbors who probably sought a kindred nature and purchased this long eared quadruped. The extent of the visit of this new relative is not known but we people who have to listen to this beautiful music hope the animal will get choked by his own bray and peacefully pass out. I may be a Philistine but I hate to be slain by the jaw bone of an ass.

How my heart swells with joy as I walk down First street, and note the brick paving being laid. This has always been the dream of my life and now that it is actually being done I want to throw up by old hat and give a war whoop. This one item of paving alone is worth $100,000 to Sanford and what a beautiful boulevard we will have when it is finished. Mine host, Harry Driver, intends to plant palm trees between the curb and sidewalk on the Sanford House property and when these trees get started the hotel will present a fine appearance on First street. It is certainly wonderful the way Sanford people have caught the craze and our city will soon be in the lead among her sisters in improvement.

Somebody asked Felix Frank the other day what he did to train down in weight. "I don't do anything," he replied, "except to take automobile exercise." "But you don't run an auto do you?" exclaimed the questioner in surprise. "No, I don't," said Felix, "but everybody else does and it keeps me busy dodging 'em."

"A pure white whale with pink fins" is sporting around in the Atlantic off Pablo Beach. It requires a regular course of training in Jacksonville customs, however, in order to see it.

If that wood rack of the A. C. L. gets on fire again this week the fire department ought to stay away and let it burn out. Most of us good citizens ran out there last week until our tongues hung out so long we almost stepped on it and after getting out to the fire discovered the same old wood rack. If the A. C. L. would start something real nice to burning, like the coal chute, the people of Sanford would greatly appreciate their efforts to please.

The Board of Trade will second the motion to have a grand Fourth of July in Sanford and the ball will soon be started rolling. Let all join in the chorus and whoop 'em up for Sanford.

I see by the Jacksonville Metropolis that Hon. Joe Stripling will soon out Joe Lee from the fattest job in Florida and take it for himself. What a great move this would be and no doubt will meet with all of Taff's views upon the negro holding office. The position of collector at Jacksonville has been held by a negro for a number of years and this fact is a disgrace upon the Republican party and a blot upon Florida. The wonder has been that the Republicans other than negroes ever stood for it and I am certainly glad that Stripling, who represents the Lily White faction has at last found a way to oust "Mr." Lee and have a white man appointed. The day of the negro and the negro lover in politics seems to be upon the wane.

Sanford will have a good ball team in the field this season and if possible our boys will try to take the rag in the Sand League. We are to have a fine park and grand stand and the organization is to be made permanent. There is nothing advertised a city like a good ball team and while I am too old to be one of the boys will always be found on the bleachers yelling like a Comanche for the home team. Anything for a winning team and get the best material possible. Remember that you have a friend in—THE SAUNTERER.

Florida Products in N. Y. New York, April 9.—Receipts of Florida products were little heavier than last week. Celery was in heavy supply with a good demand for fancy stock. Range in price was from $2 to $2.50 with only very good stock bringing the outside figure. Cabbage 2.50 to 2.75, Cucumbers brought $3 to $4. Egg plant $3 to $4. There was a lot of poor lettuce coming which did not bring over 1.50. Fancy stock brings easily 2.50. Peas were in heavy supply and showed irregular quality. The range was $1.50 to $3. Peppers sold at $1.50 to $2. Romaine 75c to 1.25. Wax and green beans $2.50 @ 3. White squash $1.50 to $2. Fancy tomatoes brought $2 and choice 1.50.

There was a good demand for fancy Valencia oranges and the range on the street was from 3.50 to 4.25. On Wednesday Indian river Valencia oranges brought at auction as high as $5.50 for very fine stock.

Pineapples sold at $2 to 2.50 and tangerines 1.50 to 2.50 per strap. There are hardly any tangerines on the markets.

Grapefruit shows a decided improvement. There was a good demand for fancy golden russets, small sizes, which brought round 5.50 but the range of prices on the bulk of the offerings was from 2.50 to 3.50.

Strawberries sold at 15 to 25c a quart in open crates.

Dog Killed the 'Gator

To The Editor of the Herald:
Having just read a piece in the Times-Union about alligators and how they catch hogs, dogs and sometimes cows, reminds me of a little circumstance that happened on the upper St. Johns, a few miles above Sanford several years since. A large alligator was frequently seen on a narrow point of land that projected some distance out into the St. Johns river and many shots had been fired at him from time to time. I was out cow hunting and had left my dog at home, knowing that it would be necessary to swim my horse across the river. I did not wish to run any risk of losing my dog by being caught by an alligator, as they were plentiful in those days. After swimming my horse across, and landing safely on the point where the gator often crawled out to sun himself, I heard a dog bark and looked around just as my dog, who had broken loose and followed me, plunged into the river and began swimming across. The dog had gotten half way across when the gator made his appearance on the surface and began swimming after the dog. I saw the gator was about to overtake his prize. I had no gun, and I began to holler at the top of my voice hoping to frighten the gator, but instead the dog thought I was scolding him and turned to swim back to the other shore. He soon met the gator. They both snapped at each other and made quite a commotion in the water and soon disappeared from sight. After a short time the dog rose to the surface and had gotten half way to the point of land where I was standing when the gator rose close behind him. I picked up a pine limb and threw it with all my might and came so near striking the dog that he again turned and swam toward the gator. They grabbed each other again and sank to the bottom, from which came a tremendous amount of bubbles and muddy water. I had given up all hopes when the dog rose again, feebly began swimming toward me, and crawled out on the point. The gator was never seen alive again.

OUR ESTIMATE OF MAN'S WORTH

Synopsis of Sermon by Rev. J.W. Boyd, First Baptist Church

In olden times, which some are not yet too old to remember, had some one asked how much is General Grant worth? or Abraham Lincoln? who would have dangled over the question of property? Possibly, if one were so small a soul as that, but if you were a man, and a patriot, you would have answered worth? worth just the sum-total of this republic's life and future among the nations.
There was once what passed for a man, gross in habit, depraved in morals, beastly in appetite and of vast estate, the owner of fast horses which he housed in a palace, and he died worth millions. No, he was not worth a snap of the finger. Any sane man would say that one of his horses was worth more than he. He cared more for his horses than he did for his soul.
Estimate things at so much in gold, if you will, but estimate men, women, boys, and girls—souls—by another standard. You cannot measure a soul with a yardstick. The material universe has no worth to set over against a soul. God alone knows the fullness of our estate.
We bow down in awe with enthusiasm before mere money bags when only great souls should have the real respect. The liberal, or the reform Jew, has a better idea of Christ than do some of our own people, they say: He is any man who has for us a better thought, the inspiration of a nobler motive and a higher life. To know the real worth of a man, he must be saved, the whole of him—body, soul and mind—then he will be brave, capable, generous, loving, beautiful and holy forever through the universe, and not arbitrarily a little to heaven of God within him.
When you see a man, saved the whole of him, body, mind and soul, you have set a life into righteousness and nobleness, shaken a life from vice, meanness and shame, the whole circuit of his influence is being a branch of healing into every bitter pool of human care to sweeten it. Casey, the father of modern missions, gave a good sound when he said: My business is preaching the gospel, but I cobble shoes for a living.
Whoever among us tries to educate, or do anything else, for a child or a man without making an effort to uplift, glorify and save the soul, has no real profession and is merely cobbling for a living, and might as well not have lived. Souls that think meanly and selfishly and wrongly; that abdicate their moral and spiritual sovereignty, are lost souls. They are worse than valueless, for their corruption infect and deprave others. Alas! that it should be so.

For every pile of yellow grain heaped for the garner there are great heaps of chaff for the fire. Back of every manufactory of valuable things is a rubbish heap into which the refuse is flung. In the lumber camps, up in the solemn redwood forest, great piles of sawdust, slabs and bark are carried out on endless aprons from the mills. See them smouldering and smoking and flaming up in lurid light in the titanic blackness. I shudder to think of the refuse of the universe and its Gehenna.

Men and women thinking rightly, feeling as they should, generous and sweet, with characters full of moral integrity and spiritual grace, and bursting with valour, glowing with splendors—these show their redemption.

No wonder that Jesus endured the cross and despised the shame that was set before him in such souls. Souls of such magnificent value can so beautifully exemplify the life of our risen and glorified redeemer that his glory and likeness will be reflected to the end of the earth.

Whatever you do, settle it that you will be a soul bigger than your body. I'll venture the assertion that there are those listening to me now who are no nearer heaven in spirit and attainment than you were when you first believed. As for me and mine, rather let us follow Holmes in his idea gotten from the little seashell which he calls nautilus chambers, in which he says: build thee more stately mansions, O, my soul, as the swift seasons roll, leave thy low-vaulted past, let each temple nobler than the last shut thee from heaven with a dome more vast, till thou at length art free, leaving thine outgrown shell by life's unresting sea.

Man stands forth clothed with power to control and influence his fellows in that he can sweeten their bitterness, and allay their conflicts, bear their burdens and surround them with the atmosphere of hope and sympathy.

Just in proportion as men have talent, capacity and genius, are they to be guardians and teachers for men. All the majesty of the summer, all the glory of the storms, all the beauty of the galleries, is nothing compared to the majesty and beauty of a full-orbed and symmetrical manhood.

Should there be in every village and city a conspiracy of a few persons toward this refinement and culture, this beauty and sweet Christian living, the presence of this Christ-formed person would transform the community. We no more need to demonstrate the worth of the same, sound Christian-like character, than we need to prove the value of the all-glorious summer when it fills the earth with fragrance, the air with blossoms, and all the boughs with luscious fruits. Each Christian is to be a man-maker and a man-mender. He is to help and not to hurt man. This is to be a master of the art of right-living and a teacher of the science of character-building.

When the lonely traveler finds himself in France and Germany how he wishes his lips could speak his language: Such power could make France and Germany seem like home. Man is made great by sentiment. The painter paints for sentiment, the sculptor carves for what society loves, the musician works wholly for man's delight and tears, and literature utters all its eloquence to the heart. The immediate need of the world at this moment is not more of us, but a better brand of us, if you please, to have ten men of an improved type would be better than ten thousand more of the average Christian distributed all over the world.

The Pensacola Journal says, "let the lynchers be caught." Sure, let them be caught, if they will.

The Tallahassee Democrat darkly hints that the new daily being issued at the state capital is not a prohibition organ.

Orange County does not need a bill in the legislature to build hard roads. Sanford may need a bill to get roads. That's different.

The Indian uprising the other day was rather surprising. Very few Indians these days are so "rash" as to indulge in "outbreaks."

The Gainesville Sun recognizing the value of an Easter edition issued a most creditable paper last Sunday enclosed in a beautiful Easter cover.

Next fall will see the "launching" of the Sanford Daily Herald, so we infer from what Editor Holly says in the last issue of his excellent paper.—Punta Gorda Herald.

Osceola county will build a marl road
from Kissimmee to the Polk county line.
Wouldn't it be nice if Orange county commissioners built a marl road from Orange county to Sanford.

The Morning Daily News of Tallahassee
is the latest out. Thomas J. Appleyard is the editor and his accomplished daughter, Miss Sara is local editor. The paper is full of flashes from the state capitol and will be read with interest by every one in Florida.

The celery crop is off and now the Irish potatoes, beans, beets, cabbage and every other vegetable are being shipped by the Sanford growers. Will this vegetable-industry ever find a limit? We get pop-eyed watching the wagons go by and trying to keep up with the shipments.

Bru Crawford of the Pensacola News
published a Woman's Edition of his excellent paper the other day.—It consisted of 32 pages and demonstrates the ability of the Pensacola ladies. It also demonstrated that Crawford is a diplomat for up to the present time his hair remains untouched and not a wrinkle mars his brow.

The Sanford Herald is to become a daily
in the fall, equipped with a type setting machine, etc. The paper already has the editorial and reportorial ability, and needs
only additions in the composing rooms.
It is only seven months old, but it is a healthy youngster, and all that a good newspaper should be.—Citrus County Chronicle.

The election of Dr. Murpree to the presidency of the University of Florida will give general satisfaction. As THE HERALD stated several weeks ago Dr.
Murpree is the man for the place and the future development of this state institution will bear out the statement.
We congratulate Dr. Murpree and the people of Florida.

The railroad commission is a joke and no one has been able to discover any real benefit to be derived from this body.
The Tampa Tribune sums up the great deeds of the commission as follows: The recent report of the commission failed to disclose where it had rendered any great service to the people. The height of its ambition seems to have been the deprivation of the newspaper men of the privilege of exchanging their advertising space
for transportation, on strictly business terms. This wonderful "reform" is the proudest boast of the superfluous body.

The Florida Press Association has a few faithful members who keep it very much alive and give it standing, but the great body of members are lukewarm in their allegiance and rarely attend. There were but few at the meeting in St. Augustine last week. One good thing about the association—it always elects a wide-awake,
representative editor to the presidency.
M. F. Heatherington of the Lakeland News has been succeeded by Harry Brown of the St. Augustine Record. Such men give the association tone and make us derlects proud of our membership and ashamed of our neglect.—Palatka News.

Most of us are warm enough in allegiance but the real difficulty is getting away from business long enough to attend the meetings. THE HERALD will be represented at the next meeting, however,
if we have to close the shop.

BEWARE OF THE PETITION

A petition is being circulated in the county asking the legislature to permit the county commissioners of Orange county to levy an additional four mill tax for road purposes, thus increasing the levy for that purpose from six to ten mills. THE HERALD is for good roads, and more of them, and we believe this to be the sentiment of a very large majority of Sanford's citizens.
But we are everlastingly opposed to this proposition in its present shape. If the additional four mill fund paid by the Sanford district could be spent on our own roads then we are for the proposition, but under any other arrangement we are emphatically opposed to the bill. If the present law can be amended to conform to the general statute for special road tax districts, well and good.

No portion of the county is increasing its tax valuation as rapidly as our district, and no portion of the county has so little to show for its road money. Hundreds of short local roads leading into main highways will never receive any attention from the county commissioners. Only some local body, every member of which is in touch with and in entire sympathy with our people, thoroughly understanding the imperative needs of our people, any development can handle the situation with any intelligence. By no other possible method can our road matters be managed to satisfactorily meet the demand imposed by our own changing conditions. This proposition ought to be satisfactory to the balance of the county, and we dare hope will receive the approval of our senator and representatives from this county.

Considering the condition of our roads,
it occurs to THE HERALD that the Sanford
district is just a good, kindly family cow
for the rest of the county, and this petition looks like another pull at bossy's overworked udders.

Don't Sign The Petition!

DREAMS OF AVARICE

THE HERALD a few weeks ago published
some interesting facts about Sanford section. The article was taken from the Hartford (Conn.) Courant, headed "Dreams of Avarice" and was the product of a personal canvass among the growers. A statement made this year which has been a banner year for crops of every kind, would show a much larger profit and the figures would read like a romance. In fact the truth of the status of affairs in Sanford at the present time is stranger than fiction and can hardly be believed by those who are not familiar with the conditions. The marvelous returns and the wonderful crops raised in the Celery Delta have excited the cupidity of the people living in every part of the United States and this fall there will be thousands seeking this new Eldorado.

The past few weeks have witnessed
some of the largest sales of celery lands in the history of the state. This week 4200 acres were sold in one deal and several smaller sales will bring up the grand total to nearly 5000 acres.
These lands will not be held for speculation alone but will be developed and put in first class shape for farming in order that the new arrivals can take up their new residence upon the land at once.

The "Dreams of Avarice" have come true to all the growers this season and in a statement soon to be published this year's crop will demonstrate that upon Sanford lands, over $1000 per acre can be netted to the growers from two crops, celery and lettuce. Besides these, many are growing Irish potatoes, cabbage, beets, squash, cauliflower, beans, strawberries
and numbers of diversified crops, thus demonstrating that there is practically no end to the crops that can be raised by the grower who is willing to tickle the earth with a hoe.

The protection from frosts, the flowing wells, the rich lands and cheap transportation rates from Sanford have all combined to make the Celery City famous as the greatest vegetable section the world has ever produced.

CELERY

The Tampa Tribune jumps on the Sanford Herald for claiming that Sanford celery is better than that in Hillsboro county.
As a matter of fact you are both wrong.
Manatee celery leads everything—at least the buyers think so, and are glad to pay from 25 to 60 cents a crate more for it!
—Manatee River Journal.

"Now isn't it funny how we all think so much alike on this celery question? Of course we must all be right. "Our" celery is the best. The only way to settle the thing is to have that apostle of Payne's Celery Compound of the Sanford Herald declare which town sells the most.—Reporter-Star.

Don't know anything about Payne's Celery
Compound. Bro. Howard being a prohibi-tionist is an authority on those drugstore brands. As for the celery crop—ah, well, dear brothers, would you go to a blacksmith shop to get a watch repaired
or to a drug store for groceries?

Sanford celery spells success.
The other kind is just a game.
The buyer wants a staple brand.
Buy "Sanford Celery" and "Sanford Land."

A WISE PROVISION
Gov. Gilchrist in a special message to the legislature, calls attention to the fact that under the existing law prescribing
the mode of advertising the election for the adoption or rejection of constitutional amendments, it is practically impossible for the most of the voters to vote intelligently thereon.
The Governor's recommendation is that every such advertisement shall embrace a brief but lucid statement of the actual effect of the proposed amendment, such statement to be prepared by the Governor,
Secretary of State and Attorney General,
and that the county commissioners of each county be required to give such statement due publicity in the printing of the amendments for general information.

The effect of such a change in the law
will be to enable every voter to learn quickly the scope and intent and effect of every amendment proposed and to vote intelligently thereon. It will abolish the "kill 'em all" policy that has heretofore prevailed concerning constitutional amendments and make the referendum
to the people intelligently effective.—

MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING

Most of them up this way prefer "setting" to "sitting."—Tallahassee Morning News.

The Holly sort never "set;" they simply
"sit" and then, seeing the empty nest,
they fly the fence.—We believe, however,
that "sitting" is the way the dictionary
has it.—Reporter-Star.
The editor of the Reporter-Star being a bantam rooster never had a nest. He is only hired when no sitters can be found.
Sort of a cross between a nest egg and a feather duster.

Charleston wants the next meeting of the National Irrigation Congress. As Jacksonville is the greatest irrigating point in the south it would seem that all matters pertaining to irrigation could be better discussed in that city. Tampa would also be a good meeting place and the new skate factory would be a diversion for the visitors.

Governor Gilchrist recommends in his message to the legislature that a law be passed forbidding any Governor from being elected to congress or the U. S. senate, and adds "This appears unnecessary in view of the experience of two recent Governors."
—Perry Review.

Quite so, but such a law would have saved these candidates considerable expense and saved the people the torture of so many political harangues.

The city council is derelict in their duty if they do not force the A. C. T. Ry. to protect the crossing at First street and also to remove the coal chute that now
blockades two streets and two avenues.
Sanford has long ago outgrown her village garments and donned the habiliments
of a city and it is high time the people dictated the policy to the railroad instead of vice versa. First street should be protected by gates or the railroad forced to vacate the best portion of the city which it now occupies.

If the legislature will take the matter up sanely, without prejudice and with a broad comprehension of duty, they will grant division to every one asking it. The minor matter of legislative representation will not be allowed to hamper the development of the state. There is no reason why county division should not be given to these sections asking for it, and a conspicuous division called fixing the number of representatives under a new apportionment. To refuse making new counties simply because it affects the representation of another county is picaresque politics of the most pronounced kind.—

When you wish to buy The Sanford Herald, a Stetson hat, Sanford celery, a Butterick pattern, a package of Quaker oats or a can of Royal baking powder, would you feel satisfied if your dealer should send you some other brand for the same money, claiming that it was "just as good?"
When you put down your nickel for a bottle of coca-cola, will you expect coca-cola or some other "just as good" imitation?
No real good article has ever been put on the market, that there were not imitations made after it, and the more imitations there are, the better is the guarantee for the wholesomeness of the original,
and also there was never an imitation
made to equal the original.
There have been on the market more than two hundred cola drinks, and whatever their name may be, they are nothing but imitations of coca-cola, trying to profit from the tremendous favor coca-cola has
with the public, on account of its superior qualities.
Talk about cocaine in coca-cola, the state chemist of nearly every state and the department of agriculture have all pronounced it pure, with not a trace of cocaine, and only about one-third as much caffeine to the bottle as a cup of strong coffee contains.
Dr. Abbot, state chemist of Texas last year, said that out of eight cola drinks examined by him, coca-cola was the only one without cocaine or artificial sweeten-ing.
Therefore, if you want what you pay for,
when you call for a bottle of coca-cola, be sure and inspect the crown or bottle for the well-known trade-mark, and do not allow him to palm off something on you which he can probably buy for less money.

LAKE MARY MELANGE

Special Cor. to The Herald.
[Received too late for last week]

Mrs. H. Perdue of Pinecastle has been spending a few days here with her sister, Mrs. W. Perdue.

Rev. J. F. Sundell has gone to Winter Haven to attend the meeting of Presbytery there.

Mr. N. Cowart who has been spending a few months in Florida returns to his home in Savannah, Ga., today. We are sorry to lose him from our midst.

Mrs. H. Wood from Tampa is here visiting her sister, Mrs. J. G. Martin. We are always glad to see Mrs. Wood come to Lake Mary.

Mr. W. Perdue was on the sick list last week.

GENEVA GLEANINGS.

Special Correspondence to The Herald.
[Received too late for last week]

The Taylor brothers sustained quite a loss recently by having nearly a hundred sheep drowned in Lake Harney. They were washed upon the shore. The only solution of the matter is that during the recent blow they became frightened and ran or were blown into the water. The Messrs. Taylor had a short time ago refused $2.50 a head for them, so this is quite a loss to them.

Mr. Herman Daniel has been sent by the Methodist church at Geneva to preach at Planters on the East Coast. This is quite a compliment as Mr. Daniel is very young in years if not in the Master's service. His many friends wish him success in this great work.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Harrison have as their guests Mr. Henry Harrison of Jacksonville and their mother, Mrs. Harrison of Washington, D. C.

A memorial service to the memory of Mrs. Pert Smith will be held at the Baptist church next Sunday (April 18) at 11 a. m. The friends of the deceased and of the family are invited to attend.

Mr. Hoyte Taylor has gone to Miami to spend a while.

Geneva would welcome a good up-to-date doctor as a citizen. The nearest doctor is six miles away and this is very inconvenient at all times and with Geneva steadily growing we need one in our midst.

Mrs. Nicholson of Sanford is visiting at the home of her son, Mr. Homer Nicholson. Little Georgia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thad Geiger is sick with fever.

The orange crop is reported as being unusually good this year. Several of our farmers have vegetables ready to ship now.

How badly we do need that railroad!

APOPKA AFFAIRS

Special Correspondence to The Herald.
[Received too late for last issue]

Mr. J. J. Combs, who formerly conducted a fruit and vegetable commission business in Atlanta and who came home a few weeks ago to visit his family, has decided not to return to Atlanta for the present but will engage in the trucking business. He has rented the Cummings place near Lake Apopka and will grow a crop of tomatoes.

Mr. H. H. McClure celebrated his 56th birthday anniversary last Wednesday by spending the day with his family and Dr. Williams and family at Wekiva Spring. Mr. McClure and the doctor went down early and caught a fine lot of fish. Their families went down later in the day and all enjoyed a fish fry.

Mr. H. B. Caldwell and family who came to Apopka some months ago from Nashville, Tenn., for Mr. Caldwell's health returned to Nashville this week, Mr. Caldwell having greatly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Cunningham, after a pleasant visit of several weeks' duration with friends here, left Tuesday for their home in Jefferson City, Tenn., going by way of New Smyrna. They will return next fall and will probably make their home here.

Genial Fitz McDonald of Grasmere was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bennett last Sunday.

Miss Sallie Smith has been spending quite a while with her sister, Mrs. Lois McCollum, in Thomasville, Ga. She returned a few days ago accompanied by Mrs. McCollum who will visit her parents here.

Rev. H. W. Thlot, who is now pastor of the Baptist church at Eau Gallie, will preach in the Baptist church here Thursday evening, April 22. Mr. Thlot was formerly pastor here and has a great many friends who will be glad to hear him again. Everybody is cordially invited.

Gay McLeod, who is studying dentistry in Vanderbilt University, Nashville, has been quite ill lately with appendicitis. For some time the doctors thought they would have to operate. We are glad to state however that he is now better and that an operation is not necessary.

News has been received here that Dr. J. C. Weaver, for several years a practicing physician at this place but now residing in Lodowici, Ga., recently lost his home and all of his furniture, instruments, medicines, etc., by fire. Our people sympathize with Dr. Weaver and his excellent family very much and some of them are showing their sympathy in a substantial way.

OVIDEO OCCURRENCES

Special Correspondence to The Herald.

The Oviedo Magazine Club omitted its regular weekly meeting, out of deference to Good Friday.

A picnic at Lake Charm, celebrated the closing of the public school here last week. Miss Chapman, the principal, and Miss Myers, assistant, labored zealously to maintain a high standard of excellence for the school and left a flattering record behind them to speak of their work.

Mr. Harry Alexander has recently bought out a job printing office at Lakeland, fully equipped, and with well established business. He left this morning, accompanied by his wife, to take possession.

Oviedo sympathizes with Mrs. Mend in her recent bereavement. Her aged father, Mr. Edwards, passed away last week at his home in Virginia.

Our community is lamenting the loss of Mr. J. S. Moore and his estimable wife, who with their family moved to Sanford last Wednesday. Mrs. Moore, by her uniform courtesy and cultured manner, formed a shining acquisition to our circle, while Mr. Moore was one of our most prosperous, energetic citizens. Besides a valuable celery farm Mr. Moore conducts a general merchandise business and has built for his family a large, comfortable dwelling house. Sanford seems the Mecca toward which all faces are turned in these parts.

Miss May Alexander is at home from the Cathedral School for a few days recuperating after an attack of illness. She has thus far the distinction of leading her class for three successive years and is to be the valedictorian at her approaching graduation in May.

Miss Martha Fox of Sanford has been on a visit to her cousin Miss Helen Lawton the past week.

Miss Kate Matthews has opened a summer school with an enrollment of fifteen pupils.

Dr. Hunter, Oviedo's new physician is up-to-date in method and practice of the medical profession. His grandfather was a distinguished physician, so that the talents of the present Dr. Hunter in that line are somewhat of an inheritance. One of the most valuable additions to Oviedo is the attractive little drug store he has fitted up.

Dr. Crawford of Orlando continues to find magnetism in Oviedo's atmosphere. He came on Saturday evening and spent Sunday here.

"Oviedo girls have pretty faces Dressed to death and trimmed in faces."

Miss Dixon, a guest of the Cushing House, after a strenuous city life and seeing the world from California to Florida has decided to invest in a home and locate here. Not only is the fabled "Fountain of Youth" to be found in this sunny clime, but it is a veritable paradise amid a "Land of Flowers."

Mr. and Mrs. Yonge spent last Sunday in Orlando attending the beautiful Easter service at the Catholic church.

Mrs. Rigaby who has been visiting her daughters, Mrs. Cushing and Mrs. Smith left last week for Charleston, S. C.

PAOLA POINTS

Special Correspondence to The Herald:

Easter Sunday proved a disappointment in the way of weather. Threatening skies and high winds made the attendance at afternoon service rather small and winter clothing more comfortable than new spring finery.

Mrs. Curtiss has closed her pretty winter home here and has gone to Sanford, the guest of her daughter Mrs. Paul Keely, until her departure for Atlanta and the North.

A jolly party of Sanford young people spent the day in our little burg Saturday the guests of Mrs. and Miss Cooley.

Mr. and Miss Campbell left Monday morning for their Ohio home. They took the beautiful river trip to Jacksonville and were accompanied to that city by Mr. C. D. Pearson, who attends the postmasters' convention being held there this week.

We ought to have a "flowery May" if "April showers" are any indication.

Wanted—To know, do "haughty looks" go "before destruction" and "pride before a fall?"

GENEVA

The people of Geneva and community had the first fishry of the season at Geneva dock on last Saturday. We are indebted to Messrs. Smiths, Culpepper and Suttan for an abundance of nice fish. The occasion will long be pleasantly remembered by all.

The Misses Drake, who have been occupying the Marsh home for a few months have returned to their home in the North.

The many friends of Dr. J. J. Burns, so well known in Geneva, will be sorry to learn that he continues quite feeble. He returned to Ohio some few weeks ago yet does not improve.

Quite a crowd attended the Easter services at the Methodist church on Sunday. The decorations in green were very pretty and with the addition of quantities of cut flowers the air was made fragrant. The choir excelled itself on this occasion, rendering some excellent Easter songs.

Mr. C. N. Hays made a business trip to Sanford on Monday.

Mrs. Lonnie Worthy and bride are now "at home" at the residence of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Worthy, where a six o'clock dinner was given them on their arrival Friday last. A delicious feast was spread, consisting of chowders, meats, pickles, salads and ices. Many were the handsome and valuable presents received by the bride and groom, both in Havana where the ceremony took place and in Geneva.

Meets a Deserved Fate

While out riding last week alone, Miss Mary Ewing of Arcadia was dragged from her carriage by a burly negro who attempted to assault her. Her screams attracted the attention of William Knowles and his brother who happened to be in the vicinity, and they hastened to Miss Ewing's assistance. The negro fled without accomplishing his purpose. The news of the attempted crime spread rapidly and soon a large posse of well-armed citizens were on the trail of the would-be assailant. Sunday morning the negro's body was found about a mile south of Arcadia riddled with bullets. It was recognized as that of John Smith. His capture was made at a turpentine camp by the aid of bloodhounds.

After discussion, it was decided that the Sanford Baseball Club be incorporated to the amount of $10,000, stock to be sold at $10 a share, subscription list to be passed among the citizens of Sanford by the following committee:

D. G. Wagner, H. R. Stevens, O. W. King, A. T. Rosseter, Ralph Stevens, Geo. A. DeCottes, Geo. Fox.

One thousand dollars of the amount is to be expended on a grandstand, fence, and in preparing ball grounds for the coming season. If any further amount is needed, further stock is to be sold.

Committee on selection of grounds was appointed by the chair as follows: H. R. Stevens, O. W. King.

Said committee to have entire charge of selection of grounds, and report its action at the next meeting.

It was the sense of the meeting that the manager appoint the field captain, instead of this officer being elected by members of the club.

There being no further business, meeting adjourned.

A Fox Drive With a Barbecue

Last Friday night a dozen of our local sportsmen enjoyed a fox drive east of town—that is, they went out to "drive", but Sir Reynard did not materialize. But for a' that, the night was filled with pleasure for the huntmen, the crowning feature of which was a barbecued pig, to which all did full justice, particularly Messrs. Derry and Biggers. The latter it is said deserted the whole "bunch" when half way home to go back and "finish the pig." Those who composed the party were: Dr. Puleston, G. S. Derry, Paul Biggers, D. L. Thrasher, Dr. Neal, Henry Lae, Louis James, John Thompson, W. Nelson, Frank Hand and A. Westerdick.

At the Pastime

Manager DeCottes continues to make improvements at the Pastime theatre, all of which goes to make the place more popular than ever. Within the past few days two large electric fans have been placed, and these keep the audience cool and comfortable, and enables the patrons to enjoy an hour of refined amusement with the greatest degree of pleasure. The class of pictures now being shown are much better than those formerly used. Instead of getting them from Jacksonville, Mr. DeCottes now receives his reels direct from the manufacturers at Chicago. The Pastime is deservedly popular.

Two more of Steve Gullion's hens commenced laying last Sunday. Steve is naturally much pleased.

St. Blizard's five-year-old twins looked quite manly last Sunday at Easter service in their long pants and derby hats.

Barnabas Stubbs has taken a position as buggy washer and stall cleaner in Dan Smoot's two buggy livery stable.

Bill Korpeter says he may expect rain in the near future. Bill is quite a weather prophet as he's always having squally weather in his house with his mean dispositioned kids and stormy times with his red-headed wife.

The new janitor of the Newlight church has had his salary raised to $3 a week and gets on the gun when it comes sticking under the seats. It is said he gets enough gum for his entire family and has had some made over to sell to the boys.

We learn that a Sanford dentist is going to start a misfit dentist office here soon. He has had a good many upper and lower sets that haven't been used but little and are as good as new. St. Holcom's wife got a set for $3 that cost $10 and you couldn't tell 'em from a bran new set.

Cascaretta Snodgrass is studying French and can speak it quite fluently already.

Ellis Peabody, who is now juggling spittoons in the legislature, expects to read law in Squire Gullett's office next summer.

The Stork is said to be hovering over the home of Rev. Deuteronomy Jones, our preacher. One more little mouth to feed probably.

Skinny June Slocum had her ears pierced for earbobs last week and Punk Jones is going to blow himself a pair. Punk seems much devoted to Skinny June.

Bijah Hoplight's coun dog had his tail bit off by a Sanford dog the other day and the poor stumptail animal seems much chagrined and stays under the barn most of the time since.

Seth Jenks' bull, which has been quite ill with holler horn for some time, had to be killed to save its life and Seth gave the liver to his hired man. Seth has got a heart in him as big as an ox, and the world would be better, with more Seth Jenkses.

Melindy Cheezum, Gil Spooner's hired girl, is going on the stage to sing opera songs and do contortion acts in Asa Willett's one-ring circus. Her sister is a tight-rope walker and snake charmer, and show-acting seems to run in the Cheezum family.

How Much Land Was Bought?

The Ocala Star is authority for the statement that the National Tribune Company, Washington, D. C., has purchased 35,000 acres of land six miles southeast of Kissimmee and formed the Seminole Land and Investment Company. This company, according to the Star, sold 1,000 lots in the city they have founded with five-acre plots outside the city for $50 each in three weeks after advertising the lands. Now they are offering 1,200 lots in the proposed city and 1,200 five-acre lots for $100. According to the usual ratio, this would mean when all the property is sold an addition of several thousands to the population of Ocala county, supposing that each city lot is bought by a family intending to settle. At all events, it means a large increase in the population within a short time. Last Friday's Valley Gazette speaks of the sale to an Illinois colonizer of 3,500 acres of land just north of Kissimmee—a similarity of figures which awakens suspicion of error in one or the other story. Real estate, however, is very active in and about Kissimmee just now, for which credit is due to the judicious and extensive advertising done by the Kissimmee Gazette and the Kissimmee Board of Trade—an enterprising newspaper and an energetic commercial body.—Times Union.

Kansas Residents in Sanford

O. E. Walker of Topeka and J. B. Taylor of Kansas City, two prominent Kansans, are in the city this week. Mr. Walker claims Sanford for his winter home and owns "Topeka place," ten acres of fine land on Beardall avenue. Mr. Taylor is also greatly interested in Sanford land, and these gentlemen will both invest in the Celery delta. Mr. Walker is also looking after his fine crop of Irish potatoes which he disposed of at a good profit.
