REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING CHAMBER OF COMMERCE VALDEZ TOMORROW NIGHT

THERE WILL BE NO PROMINENT SPEAKERS BUT REGULAR COURSE PREVAILS

FINE MEETING

Is Scheduled and Many Members Have Purchased Dinner Tickets

The monthly evening membership meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be held at the Valdez hotel tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. There will be no prominent speaker at this meeting, the usual course of business will be transacted, as is done at the weekly noon-day luncheons, held each Friday.

It is expected there will be a large attendance at tomorrow's meeting. Those members who have not been present at previous meetings are urged to come out. The Chamber of Commerce, in order to attain real results, must have the interest of its membership. No better method has yet been devised to secure this interest than these monthly membership meetings, which afford each one the opportunity of becoming familiar with what is going on in the business life of Sanford. The many problems of the city, which the Chamber of Commerce is expected to solve, can be handled more efficiently if the entire membership will co-operate with the officials of the Chamber in arriving at satisfactory solutions.

The Sanford Chamber of Commerce is recognized as the premier civic organization of the city and the actual results it has accomplished in many ways testify to this efficiency. There is hardly a day that passes that someone in Sanford does not submit some proposition for the action of the Chamber. Its activities have reached such proportion that it has become necessary to secure more spacious quarters. In addition to advertising the many advantages of Sanford to other sections and attracting new citizens, the organization, through different committees, is handling traffic and transportation questions, co-operating with the county agent on agricultural matters, working for good roads, and the development of the St. Johns river. It is also working to secure new industries for the city, and is active in the passage of legislation beneficial to both city and state, and with thoughts of the future development of the city is having plans prepared which will guarantee a well laid out city. The Chamber of Commerce has also been active in educational work and has been instrumental in promoting the interests of the local merchants. It has also been delegated the responsibility of the band, which is handled through its tourist and convention committee. With the advent of tourists attracted to Sanford since the construction of the Golf course, this committee will also provide for their entertainment while in Sanford.

These many activities entail a great amount of work which heretofore has been borne by a few individuals who possessed sufficient civic pride in their community to volunteer their time and effort to the service of the community. While the Chamber of Commerce since its organization has accomplished a great deal, these accomplishments would have been greater had the majority of the membership been correspondingly active.

THOMAS PAIGE FAMOUS LAWYER AND DIPLOMAT

DIED AT HIS VIRGINIA HOME OF HEART FAILURE LAST NIGHT

RICHMOND, Nov. 2.—Within the Old Fork church where he was christened, near his boyhood home, Oakland, in Hanover county, the funeral services of Thomas Nelson Paige, author, former ambassador to Italy, and lawyer, will be held at ten o'clock tomorrow morning. Later in the day the body will be laid to rest beside that of his wife in Washington, D. C.

RICHMOND, Nov. 2.—Thomas Nelson Paige, lawyer, diplomat and author, dropped dead of heart failure at 1:20 o'clock this afternoon while walking in the garden of his old plantation home "Oakland," in Hanover county.

Mr. Paige, apparently in the best of health, was walking in the garden with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Rosewell Page, when he suddenly collapsed. He was carried into the house and medical aid was hastily summoned, but the distinguished statesman was to be beyond the assistance of human agencies. He died within a few minutes.

Mr. Paige had apparently enjoyed the best of health in recent months, and his sudden death came as a shock to Virginia and the Nation. About a month ago he came to Virginia to spend the winter at the old home near Beaver Dam with his brother's family. He announced that he would soon begin the preparation of a book dealing with his experiences as a diplomat in the service of his country as ambassador to Italy during the trying days of the world war.

MRS. HALL GIVES IDEA OF HALL-MILLS MURDER SPEAKS FOR FIRST TIME

Interview Planned by Counsel to Clear Her of Complicity

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 2.—"What comment could I make? Of course that was not so, and that's all!" With these words, Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall opened yesterday her first interview—an interview planned by her counsel so that she might seek to extricate herself in the public eye from the circumstantial net in which the unfolding of the Hall-Mills murder mystery had enmeshed her.

For the first time since she was widowed by the slaying of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and his choir leader, Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills, Mrs. Hall emerged from the seclusion she has maintained for seven weeks, meeting a small army of newspaper writers in her home and subjecting herself to an hour's bombardment of questions.

At the end, she retired as she had entered the room, wan but composed. She had shed no light on the mystery. She had fallen into none of the traps the cross-examiners prepared for her. Hers was a negative story. It amplified but did not materially alter the statements previously made on her behalf by counsel and friends.

Briefly, it was that Dr. Hall had started out to his doom, saying he was going on an errand to mercy to discuss with Mrs. Mills a hospital bill which he was paying with church funds, and that he was slain by a person and for a motive it which she has not the slightest conjecture; and that her memory of him is unsullied by the ugly scandal in which his name has been involved.

It was half past two o'clock when Timothy N. Pfeiffer, Mrs. Hall's lawyer, escorted her into the quaint library of the big Hall home, where the reporters were waiting in sequestered ranks.

He introduced her and withdrew, leaving her alone with her ordeal of personal publicity—an ordeal from which she had said she had shrunk since youth.

Attired in a gown of black crape, with a light scarf of black silk about her shoulders, she seated herself in an old-fashioned rocker and let her gray eyes rove over the strange scene her family library presented.

At a round mahogany table at her side sat two court stenographers, to make a transcript of the interview.

The reporters, matching her roving gaze with intent stare, saw a rather plump woman of 47—, pale, obviously tired and slightly nervous. Her gray hair was brushed back in a high pompadour that emphasized slightly the long oval of her face.

She braced one hand on each arm of her rocker and the interview was on.

"Have you any comment to make, Mrs. Hall," the spokesman began, "on that part of Mrs. Gibson's story (Mrs. Jane Gibson, the so-called eye-witness of the slaying) in which she says you were present on the Phillips farm on the night of September 14?"

Moistening her lips, Mrs. Hall replied:

"What comment could I make? Of course that was not so, and that is all."

"You were not there?"

"I certainly was not."

For an hour, then, one reporter after another volleyed questions at her, talking over her story of her actions before and after the murder, then quizzing her sharply for any possible knowledge she might have had of the actor's affairs with Mrs. Mills; seeking some point at which a wedge could be driven into her story.

Three or four times she took refuge behind the reply, "I cannot remember," and three questions she refused point blank to answer. But through the interview, she maintained that she always had believed, and still believed, in the faithfulness of her husband to his marriage vows.

Brushing aside the letters and the diary, which her counsel admits is written in a hand remarkably similar to that of the slain minister, she declared:

"I had such faith in my husband. If he were here he could explain. He could explain, if he were here."

She said she had not even read the documents, most of which have been published in the newspapers, asserting, "They did not seem to interest me at all."

When she was pressed to express an opinion as to whether she did not think they might have bearing on the solution of the murder, she said:

"I don't even see that that would

Kidpapper Caught, Assaulted a Girl Lured from Church

Muskegon Girl Only 11 Years Old Was Badly Mistreated

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. Nov. 2.—Raymond Eugene Wilson was arrested here today for investigation in connection with the abduction in Muskegon Sunday of 11 year old Rosalie Shanty, who was found in the woods of Muskegon county last night in a serious condition from exposure. Wilson's description police said, tallied with that of the man who enticed the child into an automobile as she returned from a Muskegon church and drove out of the city with her, against her protests.

MUSKEGON, Mich., Nov. 2.—Suffering from exposure, her clothing hanging in shreds and her body cut Rosalie Shanty, 11 year old swimming and diving marvel, lies in a serious condition at Dublin, Mich. today, while officers of Muskegon county are scouring the Jack Pine swamp country for a man who kidnapped her from her home here Sunday.

A physician who is in constant attendance at the bedside of the child at the home of Fred Zink, Dublin, is reported by officers as having said the girl had been attacked and roughly handled. Reports received late today were that the girl has a high fever and that her condition was growing steadily worse.

When found by Joe Preeski, a farmer, three and a half miles east of Dublin last night, Rosalie was wet from splashing through a small creek and her body was bleeding from barbed wire and underbrush cuts.

The girl wore no hat and no underclothes.

Rosalie was kidnapped Sunday as she returned from church, when a man drove up to her home, declaring he was the father of one of the child's little chums. He asked the child's mother if Rosalie could come and have dinner with his daughter. Mrs. Shanty is said to have given her consent with the proviso that Rosalie must be home before dark.

BLACK HAMMOCK LANDS RICH AS DELTA OF THE NILE

6 THOUSAND ACRES

Of Fine Farming Lands Will Have Loop of The Seaboard R. R. Built at Once

This is not an advertisement, nor a boast for anybody, but just a plain statement of facts concerning one of the many fast growing and prosperous sections of Seminole county—Oviedo.

The writer lived in Oviedo from June, 1911, to July, 1913. In 1911 there were twelve pupils in the white school and about the same in the colored school. Returning there in 1922 we find a beautiful $20,000.00 brick school building for whites, with four teachers and about one hundred pupils enrolled. The colored school has been improved and enlarged and the attendance three or four times as large as it was in 1911.

What is known as Black Hammock lands lying contiguous to the town of Oviedo, has an area of about six thousand acres, the soil of which is a black, sandy loam. It is unsurpassed by anything in the state for its richness and adaptability to the growing of all kinds of Florida winter vegetables, such as celery, lettuce, pepper, tomatoes, peas, beans and many others too numerous to mention. It is equally good for staples such as sugar cane, rice, corn, etc.

In 1911, there was not to exceed ten acres in the Oviedo district cultivated as truck farms. Today there are over seven hundred acres growing winter vegetables and over four hundred and fifty acres tilled for sub-irrigation.

These lands, before they were tilled and drained were assessed for taxes at from $1.50 to $3.00 per acre. They are on the tax roll now at from $10 to $50 per acre, an increase of over $150,000 in assessments. In addition to the improvements already made, there are five different companies now preparing for development work.

In 1911 there were no car load shipments of vegetables. Last season there were over five hundred cars of vegetables and four hundred cars of citrus fruits shipped from Oviedo and near by points.

In addition to development work done by local people, there has been over $250,000.00 of new capital invested and the work has just commenced.

In 1912 this tract was thoroughly drained at a cost of about $60,000. It lies on the south shore of Lake Jessup, a fresh water lake, fourteen miles long by four to six miles wide. Through this lake, the picturesque and famous St. Johns river runs. In 1911 there was added to this tract, the Florida Groves Drainage district, about four thousand acres more, making in all about ten thousand acres in the two drainage districts, drainage alone costing over $100,000. There are twenty-eight miles of canals and drain ditches. These are the only two drainage districts in Seminole county, organized and operated under the Florida law.

All these lands are furnished with water for irrigation purposes by ar-

New Members Are Joining Every Week—Club Progressing

The Seminole County Motor Club is gradually forging ahead, new members joining every week, over 100 Sanford people have promised to join in the near future. Many people in the county have pledged themselves to join within the next 60 days.

Many things should be done to assist people regarding traffic laws, erecting road signs, preparing county road maps, showing character of soil for the use of northern farmers and tourists. The Motor club is a powerful factor in the state in getting results on repairing roads, etc., having a large membership. There are nearly 2,000 automobiles in Seminole county of which 1,200 are owned in Sanford. At least half this number should be members of the Motor Club to give number and financial weight in handling the developments of the eight departments of service this Motor Club includes. The Mechanical Service Department assists the motorist on the road in case of breakdown, lack of gas or tire trouble.

Everybody who owns an automobile should join, and help make it the largest and most influential club in Florida. Nothing is impossible in Sanford or Seminole County. AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

The American Legion of Sanford are planning a big day for Armistice day and want the co-operation of everyone in Sanford towards making this day a great celebration. The committees on the Armistice Day Celebration had a fine meeting at the Welaka Dining Room Monday and they enjoyed a fine dinner, after the dinner was served they brought up the many plans and at the close of the meeting everything was all O. K. for the big day.

One of the most important things that was brought up was the parade and this is the big thing of the day. Everyone is urged to have a float in the parade and all those who will enter a float in the parade be sure and turn your name in at Lloyd's Shoe Store. The more we have the merrier. Another very important subject bro't up was the decorations for this day and we want every merchant and business man to help us on the decorations.

There was a committee appointed to call on the merchants and explain a proposition that Geo. W. Stewart, of the Art Decoration Company at St. Petersburg, Fla., brought to the American Legion and it is a good one. Mr. Stewart has a fine proposition to offer anyone wishing to decorate for the day. The committee on this particular subject consists of Joe Hutchison, Sherman Lloyd and George G. Herring, so when you see any of them call on your place of business you will know that they want you to decorate for the big day. We want the whole town decorated for that day, and we hope to have it so, by the way in which the merchants are co-operating with us.

PURDEN WINS CASE OF SHELLS AT TRAP SHOOT

TRAP SEASON CLOSES YESTERDAY IN BLAZE OF AMMUNITION

The trap season at the Rod & Gun Club closed yesterday with one of the most interesting contests of the season. Not until the last gun was fired did the final results become known and the prizes offered for the last two contests go to their rightful owners.

Right up to the last it looked very much as if John Purden would take both prizes but he was shooting alone to finish his program and dropped four out of his last frame of 25. However, he captured the big prize of a case of shells to the member increasing his season's average the most points in the last 100 shots of the season. Mr. Purden, breaking 89 out of 100 increased his season's average from .774 to .788, fourteen points in all. Ralph Stevens, shooting under a very heavy handicap of a sore foot, was second with an increase of 6 points, breaking 86 out of his program.

The prize for the high gun was carried off by J. B. Coleman, who broke 90 out of the 100 shots. This prize created more enthusiasm than the other one and of the six high men there was a difference of only five. The scores of the top notchers was as follows:

Coleman	90
Purden	89
Hill	86
Hutchison	86
Stevens	86
Wight	85

Another interesting feature of the season is the fact that Ralph Wight finished one point ahead of the next man, J. B. Coleman, their respective averages being .893 and .892, leaving Wight at the top of the list for the season where he has been during the greater part of the year.

The season at the local traps has been a very successful one and the local boys have developed some wonderfully fine shots. Opening in April contests have been held each week during the entire summer. On Labor Day a state shoot was held that led all previous shoots on record in point of attendance.

The 1923 season will open shortly after the hunting season and among the early attractions of next season will be the official state championship shoot that will be held here in the spring.

The final scores of the members with a season's average of over .500 is as follows:

Wight	.893
Coleman	.892
Knight	.885
Hill	.849
Hutchison	.833
Puleston	.827
Whitner	.812

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—A double defense of psychic epilepsy and "unwritten law" is planned for Mrs. Clara Phillips, on trial for the murder of Alberta Meadows, who was beaten to death with a hammer, it was made known yesterday by her chief counsel Bertram Perrington.

OUR BAND ENJOYED AUTO HORNS NIX SAYS SANFORD CITIZEN

The music by our city band, of which we are all proud, given in Central Park Sunday was greatly enjoyed by those privileged to hear same. It is a pleasure to note the tendency to prepare and render a class of music that is not trashy, but elevating and refining, and it is in keeping with the holy day that as much of substantial and sacred character as possible constitute the program on the Lord's Day. Also, a suggestion, by the way, that we are sure our citizens will be glad to adopt, is that on the Sabbath, especially marking the distinction of the day, listeners refrain from expressing approbation by use of auto claxons. On week days, no embargo is suggested, but on Sundays let us indicate our love and respect for its sacredness by a total silencing of the auto horns about the park, as the band completes any of its selections. The churches in the vicinity, will also appreciate the courtesy of observing above suggestion.

Grand Lodge Committee on Work is in Charge of the Classes

Since its organization some fifty years ago, Sanford Lodge, No. 62, Free and Accepted Masons, is having its greatest school of instruction.

Beginning yesterday morning at 10 o'clock the Grand Lodge Committee on Work, composed of Marcus Endel, chairman, of Jacksonville, familiarly known as the "Grand Old Man of Masonry"; Walter L. Scott, of Sebring, and T. Hunter Long, of Pensacola, enrolled Masons from all points in Florida, ranging from Pensacola to Key West, in the several classes being instructed at this school.

The entire day yesterday was devoted to instruction in the Entered Apprentice degree, and the degree conferred on actual candidates last night, the committee occupying the principal stations in the Lodge and conferring the work. After the work had been conferred those present adjourned to the banquet hall where delicious refreshments were served by the local stewards. More than 100 Masons were in attendance at the meeting last night.

At 9:30 this morning the committee began instruction in the Fellowcraft degree and will confer the degree on actual candidates tonight, the lodge convening at 7:30 sharp.

Tomorrow, beginning at 9:30 a. m. instruction in the Master's Degree will be given and the degree conferred upon actual candidates at 7:30 tomorrow evening. It is expected that the capacity of the hall will be more than taxed, especially at the conferring of the Master's or Third Degree tomorrow evening, and the local lodge has arranged for a large attendance. The Stewards have prepared the "feast of the occasion" as a grand finale of the present school tomorrow night, so if any of the lady readers of the Herald have Masons in their family they need not expect said Masons to return until the morning after.

While in the city the Committee on Work are comfortably located at the Montezuma hotel, while other Masons in attendance on the school are located at the various hotels of the city, some of them being taken care of at private homes.

Future

"B UILD for the future" is the watchword today in public construction. Public buildings, accordingly, are designed to meet the needs of generations to come. "Pave for the future", likewise is the watchword in street and highway improvement. The rapid increase in weight and number of vehicles necessitates providing a margin of safety in a pavement laid today to take care of traffic in years to come. Only by providing such a margin of safety can taxpayers be protected against the necessity of financing early reconstruction and meeting costly maintenance charges in the meantime.

VITRIFIED Brick PAVEMENTS

properly designed and constructed, always contain this margin of safety. Many brick pavements built thirty years ago—and designed only to carry traffic of that day—are still giving satisfactory service because of this built-in margin of safety. Vitrified brick are so hard, tough and durable that they last for a lifetime under the heaviest possible traffic, and require next to nothing during that long period of years for maintenance and repair.

MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT OF PUBLIC PAYS

Sanford High School Athletics Show Results of Coach and Training

The appeal made by the local football association for support after they had been striving for ten years for victory was an appeal that should never have had to be made as our local men should have been behind this movement during all these years past and now that the civic organizations are behind them the results show for themselves. There has never been a year one-tenth as successful as the year we are now going through and the success is all caused by the support given our athletic association.

You can imagine the feelings of a little handful of football men all alone out on the field, unheralded and unsung, because the rest of the town did not turn out. Men fight better when they are cheered on and that is why the army has regimental bands. The public is the regimental band for a football team and the public is a stimulus to further endeavors and finally result in victory.

This lack of support is a thing of the past in Sanford and the Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations as well as the ardent fans are now all behind Sanford athletics and things are bound to go well from now on. Sanford is not the only city that realized the mistake and amongst the other cities in the same boat is Orlando. Orlando, like Sanford, has good material, but it must be developed, and the fans are appealed to for the necessary help. We feel sure Orlando will get it and when they do, the Celery City lads will find it a difficult proposition when the Tigers play in Sanford again. The Morning Sentinel has the following to say about it:

"This afternoon at 3 o'clock the Tigers of Orlando high school will meet the fast eleven from the Osceola county high school of Kissimmee at Exposition Park. Coach Boone has been hard at work shaping a battling squadron out of the material he has on hand, and it is hoped that this game will result in a victory for the Tigers.

GENERAL RAINS IN GULF STATES RESULT OF STORMS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Disturbance of considerable intensity developed over lower Mississippi valley and attended by general rains in Gulf States moving northeastward.

"Despite their defeat at the hands of the Celery Feds last Friday, the team is not downhearted. It is up to the school and to the citizens of Orlando to back up the team in their struggle for victory. Imagine the feelings of a little handful of football men all alone out on the field, unheralded and unsung, because the rest of the school did not turn out.

"The athletic committee of the Parent-Teachers' Association, which is composed at large of D. P. Sias, chairman, E. J. Michan, Mrs. John Cook and W. R. Clark, met yesterday at the old high school building in conjunction with representatives from every civic organization in the city to discuss and formulate plans for the raising of $2,500 to further athletics in the high school and to pay off the standing deficit of the high school athletic association. $1,000 of this amount will be used in equipping the new high school gymnasium. Association membership tickets will be sold for five dollars each, which will admit the holder to all athletic contests held under the auspices of the athletic association. These contests include the remaining games of the football season and all the basketball, base ball games and track events staged at home.

"Those present representing the various civic organizations authoritatively pledged the support of the organization which they represented and asked that an appeal be made to the people of Orlando to co-operate with the committee and buy an associate membership ticket. The committee from the local organizations was composed of J. Y. Cheney, American Legion; Karl Lehman, Orange County Chamber of Commerce; Harry S. Wilson, Rotary Club; Chas. S. Rybolt, Lions Club; A. R. Douglas, Kiwanis Club; Miss Dorothy Slemmons, Rosalind Club; Miss Dorothy Johnson, Sorosis; and Miss E. R. Davis from the Orlando Business and Professional Women's Club."

SHIPMENTS OF FRUITS HEAVY THIS SEASON

More than 3,000 car loads of citrus fruit have been shipped from Florida for the present season, according to figures given the Sentinel yesterday by the local board of citrus growers of the American Fruit Growers. Shipments of grapefruit have amounted to 2,065 cars, while 1,001 cars of oranges have been sent to the Northern markets, it was said.

While no definite figures were given on the shipments from Orange county, it was indicated that fruit has been moving from the Orlando packing houses rapidly and in greater quantities than is usual at this time of the year. There is, however, a tendency among local shippers to go slow just at this time, because the green fruit which was shipped at the beginning of the season has accumulated on the market and caused a slump in the price.

It is not expected, however, that the decline in price will last much longer, as the demand for Florida's citrus crop this year is expected to be greater than last, and the production is estimated much larger than last season.

The American Fruit Growers announced that the first car of grapefruit which they shipped to New York was sold at auction, bringing $0.75 a box. The second car brought $0.72 a box, it was said. The price for oranges, that is, for those which reached the market before the green fruit caused the slump, was said to be approximately the same.—Orlando Sentinel.

S. H. S. HALLOWEEN PARTY

Last night the high school auditorium was the scene of many Halloween costumes, from a little black dwarf to the giant strong man were all sorts of gay colors and costumes. All four classes joined together in having this gay event. Many visitors were present beside the pupils, making a crowd of nearly two hundred and fifty.

The Freshmen put on their share of the entertainment first. They put on an exceptionally good entertainment, especially the dance given by Eva Grace Wagner. The Freshmen introduced the tallest man on earth to the audience. He was some tall man too,—because he stood on a chair. The two smallest men showed their great strength when the two were supposed to be the strongest men, failed to pick up the 1000 lb weights, by doing it themselves.

A number of girls dressed as witches gave a witch dance which was very much enjoyed. A balloon ascension was also attempted but failed because the balloon burst. Those mirth makers, introduced by Clair Zachary, were immensely enjoyed by all.

The Sophomore part consisted of a rookie drill. Warner Scoggan, the 'general' announced that his army was the best in the world. He proceeded to prove that it was—not. Everyone enjoyed the awkwardness of 'General' Scoggan's soldiers just the same.

The Junior part of the entertainment. With George Smith at the piano and Jim Stone as leader, this class produced a new orchestra piece. The piece they played had never been played before and probably never will be again. Jim, the leader, was tired out trying to make the many flutes, harps, baritons and cornets, all of which were toy instruments, keep together.

Last came the Senior share of fun. Edna Lord performed as tight rope walker, only the rope was stretched tightly on the floor so she wouldn't fall.

Byron Stevens, dressed like a drunk man staggered to the stage and announced that the judges would render their decision. Dr. Brownleo presented the silver loving cup to the class who in the opinion of the judges, gave the best entertainment.

He called the presidents of the four classes to the stage, Ralph Woodruff of the Senior, John Hilsen of the Juniors, Warner Scoggan of the Sophomores and Margaret Peters of the Freshmen. With a comical speech he unwrapped and presented the cup to Margaret Peters. The Freshmen president exhibited the cup that her class had won to the crowd. It was a large tin cup.

After this refreshments were served by the officers of the classes in the domestic science room in the basement. This consisted of cold soda water and a paper bag in which an apple, banana and peanuts were stored.

Nearly everyone, at the close of the party declared that they could not have had a better time any place else at any time.

INDICTMENT WILL BE RETURNED IN HALL-MILLS CASE

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 1.—"There will be an indictment in the Hall-Mills murder case within the next three days," declared Prosecutor Beckman, of Somerset county, late today. He declined to amplify his statement.

Mr. Beckman's statement came at the close of a day of melodrama which gave little indication that the denouement was approaching in the investigation of the double slaying of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills, his choir leader, on the Phillips farm September 14.

Mrs. Jane Gibson, self-styled eyewitness to the murders, who has been absorbing public interest in the drama the last five days, became irritated at the repeated efforts of reporters to interview her and shooed them off her farm by the simple expedient of firing a charge of bird shot over their heads. Thereafter interviews were conducted by telephone, whenever Mrs. Gibson could be induced to answer the bell.

Mrs. Gibson later issued a formal statement in which she admitted that she is the wife of William Easton, a New Brunswick tool maker. She said in her statement that there was at corroborate her account of what she saw on the Phillips farm on the night of the two murders.

"I have been assured that Mr. Mott has no corroboration of my story. I know he has corroboration," she stated.

PLAYER AND ATTENDANTS TO HARVARD

GAINESVILLE, Nov. 1.—The Florida Gators, Massachusetts bound, will leave here this morning. Twenty-four players and a corps of attendants headed by Coach Charles Kline and Van Fleet will make the trip for the Harvard game. The squad will arrive in Boston Friday morning and thus will have opportunity for a rest and workout before the skirmish Saturday. The party will spend about two hours between trains in Jacksonville today, where the players and attendants will be the guests at luncheon of the Rotary Club there.

The Harvard game will be the first inter-sectional football Florida has engaged in since its defeat by Chicago since 1916. A victory is hardly looked for by the staunchest Gator supporters but the followers of the Blue and Orange hope to hold the score down to a point that will bring their prominence in the football realm.

The players selected for the trip are: Captain Dunham, Dotty, Scott, Gunn, Byrd, Robins, Mounts, Pomeroy, Case, Newton, Dickson, Merrin, Simmons, Hodge, Balsh, Carleton, Ble, Murphree, Hendey, Hockenstadt, Barham, Mohan and Mathews and Cox. LADIES' TOURNAMENT COMES TO A SUCCESSFUL CLOSE

Mrs. L. P. McCuller Wins First Prize With Mrs. J. D. Woodruff Close Behind

The Ladies' tournament, started some time back and postponed on account of the weather, was resumed yesterday and came to a successful close just as the sun went down. Mrs. L. P. McCuller, making the six holes in 52, which is one of the best scores made by any of the ladies yet, won the first prize, with Mrs. J. D. Woodruff coming second, making it in 54.

At the appointed hour for play there were at least fifty of the Sanford Country Club ladies present to witness the start and the fourteen players, left in twosomes, all with minds made up to grab one of those valuable prizes they heard that Mrs. Lake had stored away for this occasion.

After all the dust had cleared away and the smoke died down and the scores all tabulated it was found that the prize winners were as follows: Mrs. L. P. McCuller, first prize. Mrs. J. D. Woodruff, second prize. Mrs. Geo. D. Hart, third prize. Mrs. L. P. Hagan, fourth prize. These prizes consisted of golf balls, prorated amongst the winners in the order the came. Mrs. Reg. Holly, Mrs. D. C. Griffin, Mrs. R. J. Holly, Mrs. A. P. Connelly and Mrs. J. M. Wallace were each presented with a beautiful Japonica as a reward for being the best five after the prize winners Mrs. Deane Turner also received one of these beautiful flowers, but as far as we can learn, it was not given for the best score unless the list were turned up side down. Mrs. Turner is one of the beginners and made a remarkable showing for the short time she has been at it and she says that next time look out for her.

The game was played on first, second and fourth fairway, the ladies making the three holes twice. The game was played under good weather conditions and the tournament was voted a success. The following ladies participated:

POISONED CAKE KILLED ONE— INVESTIGATION

LOOKS LIKE POISON WAS MIXED IN ICING OF THE CAKE

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—Authorities are still seeking clue to sender of poisoned cake which killed W. W. Sterrett, of Devon, an accountant, and resulted in illness which may cost the life of his wife. Coroners physician who conducted post mortem of Sterrett declared his belief that two poisons cleverly mixed by expert were placed in the icing of the cake sent to Sterretts.

How Shall the Funds be Administered and expended?

The call for the Florida Advertising Conference has been signed by twenty-six business men representing: The Florida Development Board; the Florida Realtors Association; the Florida State Hotel Association; railroads, nurseries, newspaper publishers, bankers and a number of other interests. Every person interested in the subject will be welcome at the Conference, which will be held in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, beginning at one o'clock. Since the initial announcement of the Florida Advertising Conference there has been considerable interest taken in what is being done in other states to advertise their resources and advantages. California is the principal competitor of Florida, both for tourists and for settlers. The All Year Club of Southern California is reported to have a subscription fund of $500,000 per year for advertising that section of their state, and during the past summer the business interests in the San Francisco trade territory raised a fund of $400,000 per year for advertising.

The following is from a report on their subscription campaign, received by the Florida Development Board; "The arrangements for raising the fund were planned and completed by a group of representative business men headed by E. R. K. Kingsbury, president of the Standard Oil Company of California, assisted by the heads of practically all the large banks as well as other foremost business and industrial organizations.

"The expenditure of the fund is under direction of an advertising committee. About $200,000 of the fund will be spent in publications and the balance will be used for literature, direct advertising and administration."

KEEPS CHILDREN WELL AND STRONG

THIN, pale, impoverished blood makes children frail, backward and delicate. TO ADVERTISE FLORIDA IDEA ORLANDO MEET

"SHALL FLORIDA ADVERTISE" IS THEME OF MEETING TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 9TH

Judging from the number of letters received by the Florida Development Board, expressing intention of the writers to attend the Florida Advertising Conference in Orlando on November 9th, there will be a very representative gathering of business men from all sections of the state.

"Shall Florida Advertise" is the theme for discussion, the subject being divided into three principal sub-topics as follows:

- Does Florida Need Advertising?
- If Decided Affirmatively, How Shall the Funds be Provided?

The Sanford Daily Herald is published every afternoon (except Sunday) and thoroughly covers this trading section. Advertising rates reasonable and made known on application. $5.00 per year, or 15c per week.

Summer weather again.

And it looks like more rain.

Looks like the sun would shine for a few days.

Maybe it will get cool sometime and maybe it will not.

Sanford merchants had a better Dollar Day Saturday than on Friday.

One week from today is the general election. No one is worrying any about it.

We believe if the weather was cooler there would not be so many crimes committed.

The Democrats are predicting a big victory for the Democrats and the Republicans are doing the same thing.

Dispatches say it is snowing in Montana. How delightful. We wonder how much it costs to get to Montana.

Despite all the advices given by newspapers and other agencies the public persists in getting killed at railroad crossings.

Man named Mussell Shell has taken over Italy and represents the Fawcetts or something of that sort and we suppose they will immediately raise the price of bananas in America.

Man and his wife in Philadelphia were poisoned by eating cake that was sent through the mails. Now if it had been liquor—but who ever heard of cake being poisoned and sent thru the mails at that.

The Leesburg Commercial says that Lake county was the original Garden of Eden. We don't know so much about it at this particular time but twenty years ago it was the Garden and it was filled with Eves, yes.

Despatch says the job seekers are locked out until after the election and we would advise that the law remain in force for several years after election. If all the political job seekers were made to go to work the country would be better off in many ways.

Goode Guerry and W. L. Thorndyke both on the Palatka News ought to make that paper one of the sparkling lights of Florida journalism. These gentlemen are two of the best in the profession and Palatka should rejoice in this valuable acquisition.

If every business house in Sanford would decorate a car for Armistice Day there will be some parade on that day. Last year it was said that Sanford had one of the finest parades ever witnessed on Armistice Day in a city twice the size of Sanford.

After the meeting of the Orange county commissioners last week it was decided that to call another election to vote more bonds to build the east coast road of brick instead of penetration would not be good policy. Even the most progressive counties finally get to where they think they have enough bonds for awhile.

Eustis will have a Rotary Club and Eustis is said to be the smallest city in the world to have a Rotary Club. While this may be true the Herald will make the prediction that it may be the smallest but it will also be one of the best clubs in the state. Those folks over in Eustis are all live wires and they spark all the time—no dead ones in the bunch.

Kansas is making plans to expel the Ku Klux Klan from the state and among the first steps the attorney general will enjoin anyone from joining the order in that state. Since the whole business is very "secret" we fail to see how he can find out anything about who is joining or who is not. However, such proceedings will serve to make the members of the Klan to watch their step and not pull anything shady.

The Sanford High School football team is one of the state winners and we would like to see them pitted against the champions of the northern part of the state or the southern whichever it happens to be at the end of the season. Sanford has one of the best football teams in the state but you would never know it from the state papers. They do not seem to see Sanford at all and yet Sanford people are subscribers to all of these papers. Do you get the drift?

The Herald office is neither a peanut stand or a nut factory and if there are any people here who want us to pull their chestnuts out of the fire they will have to go farther. As far as we are concerned there are some of them we devoutly wish would go so far down they would not get back in this decade.

Tonight is Hallowe'en and the goblins and the spirits and all the spooks will walk. All we ask them to do is to leave our buildings alone and not destroy any property. They should jail all the bad spooks and get them out of the way. At that Hallowe'en is a fine evening and the young folks usually have some corking good times in many ways. Times was when we really enjoyed the good old Hallowe'en with the cold weather and the hard cider and the pumpkin pies and the merry time of late October.

We are glad to note that the Kiwanis Club has abrogated to itself the sports for the winter tourists and will have barnyard golf and other amusements on the vacant lot on Magnolia avenue next to the Chamber of Commerce and inside the room will be checkers and other indoor games when the weather is cold (this is a joke about the weather.) Our winter visitors will appreciate this and the Kiwanis Club can go a bit farther and demand more good benches scattered over the streets where the visitors can sit down and rest and enjoy the summer weather this winter.

Congratulations to the Florida Grower upon moving into their fine building in Tampa—a building of their own—and all arranged just like Edgar Wright wanted it. The newspaper or magazine that can have their own building is fortunate indeed as there are few building comfortable unless built for the business. The Florida Grower has achieved a great success and deserves all that it has achieved since it had the regular struggles of all new magazines trying to gain a foothold. It is now one of the best citrus publications in the United States, bar none.

There are reports coming into this city of much shooting going on in the upper reaches of the St. Johns river and that the firing seems to be from people who are hunting ducks out of season. This is something for the Fish and Game Protective Association and the game warden and the county officials to take up at once. The season is almost ready to open and those who are hunting out of season can either wait for the opening day or go to jail. The rest of us are patiently waiting for the opening day and while we wait the other fellow jumps in and kills all the ducks or scares them away before we can even get a glimpse of them. Put them in jail, officers.

The Orlando city election will take on new life next Friday night when the two candidates for mayor will be asked to state their case to the people. Some of the followers of the gentlemen want the facts in the case that have been hurled from time to time in the newspapers and they want the men who have been doing the hurling to stand up in the hustings and tell the world what they know. This is really the proper way to play politics. Play it out in the open and above board and tell where you get your information. But the best way to play politics is to make no assertions about the candidates—then there will be no come-backs.

With the many new garages being built in Sanford the new dealers starting in business here the automobile business will take its rightful place in Sanford as one of the biggest in the world which it is. This city has always been a good automobile center but few of the manufacturers of cars seemed to think so and did not put dealers here but relied on selling cars in Sanford with headquarters in other cities. Now all this is changed. The dealers are coming to Sanford in order to cover this territory as it should be covered. In the automobile business you have to give service just as you do in other lines. There are as many automobiles to the population in Sanford as in any other city in the world and this is responsible for the increased business along this line and the many new buildings being erected for the dealers.

Editor Thorndyke has edged back towards the east coast, being now located at Palatka with The News. He has "severed his connection" with The Kissimmee Valley Gazette. Funny how all the great ones finally gather along the Atlantic seaboard, and if

THE CONSTITUTION AS IT IS

The genial Bob Holly wants to leave the question of reapportionment to the next legislature, and says in a recent issue of the Sanford Herald: Reapportionment must be made according to population and according to the constitution, and we fail to see where south Florida or west Florida or any other part of Florida will get anything except a square deal. Correct in the premise, but far from correct in the conclusion. For more than 30 years the constitution has borne a mandate for a reapportionment on the basis of population every 10 years. We have "left it to the legislature." How many have been made? Experience is the best teacher, and it warns us not to depend longer on the sense of fairness and justice of the west and north Florida legislators. West Florida has been standing still in development and population while south Florida has been growing rapidly. We pay three-quarters of the state taxes for the support of public institutions, and the buildings or roads in north and west Florida. We feel that we have "left it to the legislature" about long enough. The old constitution is plain enough and covers the case. It says that a reapportionment shall be made every 10 years dating from 1887, based on population. The succeeding legislatures have refused to obey that plain mandate and a condition of intolerable inequality has grown up, and will get worse with every year. South Florida asks nothing more than equality and justice, and that is her right if we pretend to be a democratic government. Obey the constitution and we have, and do not try to amend it with a provision which means nothing more than fastening the shackles on us for 10 years more.—Tampa Times.

And while we are on the subject we wish to remind the Times that the last legislature was the first one to get any kind of reapportionment bill over in all that time and we for one favor their bill because it sounds like progress. If the Times has no confidence in the legislature how can anyone hope to get a better bill thru the next legislature or any session in the future. For our part we have more faith in humankind than most people and we have faith even in the legislature and in west Florida.

POOR CAR LOADING CAUSES LOSSES

Carloading is one of the most important jobs the house manager has under his supervision and yet it is one that is too often left to someone whose only interest is what it brings him on Saturday night. We try to grow good fruit, pack it under up-to-date conditions and then spoil it all by poor car loading. The strain a load goes through on the journey is tremendous, shock after shock of terrific impact that jars every box with great force. Unless loaded properly and "stayed" just right there are bound to be broken boxes, sometimes very many, and such shipments are discounted on sight, in fact many buyers would prefer not to bother with such a load at all. Spraying makes clean fruit, a nice high pack with a firm fabel on the end of the box makes a pretty package. Why spoil it all by poor loading.—Florida Grower.

IS THERE A CAR SHORTAGE?

There is so much talk in transportation circles about the car shortage that it seems only fair to the shippers to have the truth known early in the season that he may time his shipments of citrus fruits accordingly if such a thing is possible. Citrus fruit can be shipped over a period of time as long as the fruit has not reached maturity and could probably be arranged with the view of saving in cars especially since refrigerator cars do not have to be used except in very warm weather. The reports on the car shortage give the ventilated cars short and state that there will be plenty of refrigerator cars. Since the Sanford section uses only the refrigerator cars during the season it will be good news to the growers to learn that there will be sufficient refrigerators to haul their perishable stuff. When celery and lettuce and other Sanford vegetables get ready to ship they must be shipped right now without any delay and the shippers want to know that they will have the cars and the service before the season starts. It is all right to say there will be plenty of cars but sometimes it is another thing to get them when wanted. With the fruit shippers getting alarmed about the ventilated cars it is time the vegetable shippers investigated the refrigerators and find out just what the situation will be in regard to sending our perishables northward from the first of December to the first of June. Our crops are our greatest investment at present and we want nothing to interfere with their transportation. The growers have enough trouble to get the vegetables ready for market and with the high freight rate they are obliged to pay they should have real service from the railroads.

HUGHES DEFENDS THE PARTY

In today's Herald the speech of Secretary Hughes in Boston last night is given for the benefit of the readers. It shows clearly the trend of thought in the Republican ranks and the plans upon which they expect to build their platform in 1923. Secretary Hughes says that the party has a foreign policy of helpfulness and good understanding without entanglements that would fetter American independence. This is a high sounding phrase and is old stuff. It was sounded by George Washington if we can remember back that far but it does not work out altogether as the speakers would have it. For instance America did not want any entangling alliances during the World War but before we knew it we were entangled up to the neck. We helped to win the war, we made the profiteers rich, we helped them to become richer after the war was over, we spent billions and gave up thousands of lives to keep from having any entangling alliances maybe—but when it came to putting over a real peace program that would have kept us out of trouble in the future the Republicans for political purposes only killed the greatest American of them all—Woodrow Wilson. Call it what you will. It is there.

The trip north in a skiff has awakened renewed interest in the plan sponsored by the Atlantic Deeper Waterways association in Portland, Me., for the establishment of an inside and protected waterway from Maine to Florida.

Some of the northern newspapers are taking up the matter in earnest since the recent eating of the association, at which time resolutions were passed urging the importance of congressional assistance in forming the necessary links to complete the inside passage.

In speaking of the the great results already attained by the association in the 16 years since its organization, the Christian Science Monitor, published at Boston, Mass., says:

"The section from Norfolk, Va., to Beaufort Inlet, N. C., was adopted by congress in 1912, and is under construction, which the section connecting Chesapeake bay with Delaware river was later authorized and the purchase of the existing Chesapeake and Delaware canal completed. The work of enlargement of the canal to the standard depth of 12 feet is now in progress of the Cape Cod canal, as the war department, under the authority of congress, has recommended its purchase. It is likewise hoped that congress, at the same time will authorize the purchase of the Dismal Swamp canal in Virginia and North Carolina. With the acquisition and completion of these waterways there will be established a continuous inside passage from Feaufort Inlet to Boston, with the exception of the link across the state of New Jersey, connecting Delaware river with Raritan and New York bays.

"It may be recalled that for the greater part of the distance, from Cape Fear river, N. C., to Winyah bay, S. C., and from Winyah bay to Florida nature has provided a series and inland sounds and bays, which only require deepening to afford a continuous canal to the St. Johns river, Fla. In this connection the existing waterway along the east coast of Florida should be acquired and improved for the further promotion of commerce.

"Nothward from Boston it would be chiefly necessary to extend the waterway to a suitable point on the coast of Maine to be determined by engineers and serving the important industrial areas along the Merrimac, the Piscataqua and the Kennebec rivers.

"In view of the continuous cry of the railroads that they are unable to carry all the traffic consigned to them, it would seem that any such proposal having for its ultimate a considerable increase in the possibilities of freight transportation in one or more of the sections of the United States should merit serious consideration of congress."—St. Petersburg Times.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP PAYS IN THE METROPOLIS

The city commission and the realtors' association of Jacksonville are conducting jointly in the Times-Union an advertising campaign, the main purpose of which appears to be "sell" Jacksonville to its own people, and the showing made and the facts presented should not only create a feeling of pride, but should give confidence and encouragement to all who intelligently consider the facts presented.

Tampa, the metropolis of the empire of south Florida, has no feeling of jealousy of the metropolis of the state, while striving by all legitimate and honorable means to catch and surpass her in development and population. To the contrary, we rejoice in her prosperity and take pride in the results she is achieving by progressive and courageous policies.

We have much to learn from a study of the methods and policies which have contributed to Jacksonville's growth. Conspicuously outstanding as the chief contributor to this marvellous development is the policy of municipal ownership of public utilities. Jacksonville owns the water and lighting plants and extensive docks and terminals. The commission says of these interests:

The water works for the past five years has paid small dividends, while the docks and terminals pay their carrying cost. The charges on the service from these utilities are very low and it is not the intention to make a profit. They are looked upon rather as city streets, parks, the postoffice and public highways, to render cheap, essential service without thought of profit. But if the city of Jacksonville did not own them, they would be operated privately, at a cost to the public to earn dividends. Therefore this statement of assets as to water works and municipal docks and piers, etc., is based on actual cost, and are worth actually more than these figures.

The total bonded indebtedness of Jacksonville is $6,774,500.

This includes the recent $200,000 issue which is now being spent on streets, water extensions, docks and piers, streets, sewerage etc. If Jacksonville today sold just these three municipal holdings and paid off every dollar of debt against this city, there would remain a surplus large enough to run the government two years without a dollar city tax.

Last year the electric lighting system turned into the city treasury $473,000, and improvements and extensions were made out of earnings costing $295,556.55. The total gross income from the plant was $1,078,157.27. Put this way, the net earnings were more than 40 per cent of the total income; based on actual book cost of the city, net earnings were about 20 per cent while another 11 per cent was used for improvements.

When you have studied these points, you realize the tremendous earning power of your lighting plant, that it is one of the great business concerns of Jacksonville. You see why if owned privately it could be capitalized for ten millions on present rates.

But suppose your light rates were raised to 14 cents per kilowatt and owned privately.

Do you now realize the value to Jacksonville as a great city of her municipality owned utilities.

We want you to realize that her ocean shipping while not paying dividends to the city of Jacksonville, is paying you individually as citizens of Jacksonville.

Finally: If Jacksonville business people need a convincing argument to prospective investors in our city, they need but quote the statistics of our municipal light plant. Gross earnings in 1899 were $28,666.50 in 1921, $1,078,157.27 a gain of 3,700 per cent. These figures are indisputable. They show that Jacksonville business sound. A prospective new industry may base its prospects upon what the city has done. Those figures prove that Jacksonville is a "good buy" for home or business.

The Times has a purpose, of course, in reprinting this extensive Jacksonville advertisement. It wants the people of Tampa to make a local application—to vision what a similar policy would mean to Tampa.—Tampa Times.

First families Mr. Paige was one of the old Dominion's first citizens. His father and mother were both descendants of General Thomas Nelson, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

Mr. Paige was educated in the schools of his native state. He entered Washington & Lee University at the time General Robert E. Lee was its president. He graduated later from the University of Virginia.

A fondness for literature caused Mr. Paige to devote much of his time were sought eagerly by some of the largest publishers in the country. His quaint style of writing added an attraction to his stories that was irresistible, and he soon won a host of admirers among the readers of popular magazines and periodicals to which he contributed.

In addition to his degrees from the two Virginia institutions where he received his education, Mr. Paige was honored with degrees from many of the leading universities and colleges throughout the country. Mr. Paige was twice married.

tell you who was the criminal." "Don't you think it widens the sphere of motive if a married man and a married woman are conducting an illicit love affair?" she was asked. "I suppose it would."

"Isn't Mr. Pfeiffer tremendously interested to know if those letters and the diary are correct?" "That doesn't interest me very much."

The three questions Mrs. Hall refused to answer were:

1.—A request for her estimate of the character of the woman slain with her husband.

2.—Whether or not she believed in divorce and would have sought one if she had known of intimacy between Mr. Hall and Mrs. Mills.

3.—Where Mr. Hall got half of the $20,000 in securities which were found in his safety deposit box vault, and with the use of which he was reported to have planned an elopement to the Orient with Mrs. Mills.

Her lawyer later explained that she refused to discuss the origin of the funds because she herself had given them to him and she felt delicacy in going into so personal a matter.

The questions on divorce came more nearly to arousing her to resentment than any of the others flung at her in the long stages.

"I won't answer any such questions" she flashed almost before its propounder had finished.

Mrs. Hall was apparently deeply affected when the questions regarding Mrs. Mills were put, moving restlessly in her chair and folding her arms tightly across her chest.

"Was Mrs. Mills a vamp—do you think she was a woman of good character?" was one of the questions barked near the end of the interview.

"I do not care to say."

"You do not think she deliberately set her cap for Mr. Hall?"

"I never saw any indication of it."

"Now, what do you think?"

"I do not know. I do not know—what—to think."

The widow maintained throughout the interview that she harbored no malice toward her husband's slayer and that she was not personally interested in seeing the murderer punished, although she said she hoped, for the good of society, to see the guilty person or persons apprehended.

"I think anyone who has committed a murder is not a safe person to have at large," she said, "But as for a vindictive feeling, I have none."

Outwardly, at least, the investigation of the double murder mystery was at a practical standstill today while the interview was being held.

Investigators, who have been seeking corroboration of the story of Mrs. Gibson, in which she connected Mrs. Hall with the slaying party, continued their work under cover.

OVIEDO GROWING FAST IN MOS FAVORED SECTION FAMOUS SEMINOLE COUNTY

tesian wells, just as the far famed Sanford Celery delta lands are supplied. Nature has been kind to this section of the state.

In 1911 there were no improved highways in this section. Today there are four different directions that you can enter this thriving community by brick or macadam roads.

The county of Seminole, while one of the smallest in the state, is one of the richest in agricultural production, and leads in hard road construction, having spent in the last few years $940,000 on hard roads outside the city limits of Sanford, the county seat.

Three railroads touch this particular section, the Florida East Coast, Seaboard Air Line and Atlantic Coast Line. The Seaboard Air Line is now at work building a loop from Oviedo through this farming district, and expects to have trains running in time for spring movement of crops.

Due credit for practically all this great development and bringing in all this new capital should be given to Hon. O. P. Swopo (now member of the Board of County Commissioners for Seminole county from his district) He came in 1911 and cast his lot with us, and seeing the great possibilities of this rich, undeveloped section, plunged in as only a man of his foresight and determination can, and he has made the wilderness produce and bloom like the rose.

He is always first in any movement for the betterment and uplift of his home town and county, tireless in his efforts to harness nature and turn it to the use of man.

In addition to the many other things above enumerated, Oviedo has a number of prosperous mercantile firms, a beautiful community club house, good churches, and one of the most prosperous banks in this section of the state.

Seminole county is proud of this, one of its most prosperous towns and farming sections, proud of its citizenship, and proud of Hon. O. P. Swopo who contributed so much, not only of his money but of his time and energy to its substantial growth and development.

REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AT VALDEZ TOMORROW NIGHT

A great amount of effort has been expended by the Chamber of Commerce in stimulating the interest necessary in order to secure activity from the majority of its members. This obviously is best method, for every one in Sanford should be interested in seeing it develop and be willing to expend not alone their money but their time as well on community problems.

Last month's meeting was a success from a point of attendance and enthusiasm. Indications for tomorrow night's meeting are that it will be larger and it is hoped that attendance and enthusiasm will increase with each subsequent meeting. There are a number of very important matters to be discussed Friday. Inasmuch as they affect the future welfare and prosperity of Sanford, it is needless to say that they will be of interest to all. Everyone is invited to attend the meeting and invite a friend to accompany them. This invitation is also extended to the Woman's Club and the Business and Professional Woman's Club. "Count" Catterone has arranged an excellent menu, the cost of which will be one dollar per plate.

IN MEMORY OF MAY LONG

The death angel visited our community on the 11th inst. and claimed for his own Sidney May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gabe Long.

May, as she was known to her friends had been a sufferer for nearly four years, but, in spite of all medicines, operation and treatments, was always cheerful and hopeful until the last, always expecting to become well again.

May was born Feb. 1892 at Chuluota where she lived all her life. In her early youth she united with the Chuluota Baptist Church to which she lived a true and helpful member.

The funeral services were conducted at the Chuluota cemetery at 3:30 p. m. on the 12th inst., by Rev. J. M. Thompson of Oviedo in the presence of a large assemblage of relations and friends.

The subject was: "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord." The favorite hymn of the deceased. "When I pass over the tide" was sung and the remains were tenderly consigned to Mother Earth and left to sleep in peace under a mound lavishly covered with beautiful flowers brought by loving hands.

The deceased leaves her parents, a sister, Mrs. O. W. Townsend of Cocon, and a brother, George, to mourn her loss.

We commend the bereft family to Great Heavenly Father who does all things well, and to look to Him for comfort.

I love to think our Father knows The thorns I pluck with every rose.

Good crops are reported this year in the United States but prices are not satisfactory in face of a shortage of crops in other parts of the world. Nearly every large producing country, except our own, seems to have smaller returns from field, garden and orchard. Indications are that prices will advance with the new year. The trouble abroad is the poor financial conditions.

Remembered the barrel, looked behind it. There was the rat—dead but the slightest odor." Three sizes, 35c, 65c, $1.25. Sold and guaranteed by Ball Hardware Co.—Adv.

U. D. C. An interesting meeting of the N. D. Howard Chapter of the U. D. C., was held in the Parish House Friday afternoon.

The Chapter was honored by having a state president, Miss Person, of Orlando visit with us, and she gave a very interesting talk on the work of the woman's chapter throughout the state and urging that our chapter be more active in the three important places of the work, membership, education, and the care of Confederate women and veterans. The officers' Home in Jacksonville was reported in good condition, but the presence of the men in our Confederate times would be dreamy indeed, if the daughters of their comrades did not bring to them good cheer.

Mrs. Person also spoke interestingly of the recent movement for a largeowment fund for enlarging and reconstructing the famous Lee Chapel at Washington and Lee University, at present the chapel is entirely inadequate and without fire protection. Among other valuable contents is the great Lee statue by Valentine, which is priceless. Work has begun on the Stone mountain memorial to the Confederacy, which will be the greatest monument on earth.

HALLOWEEN DANCE One of the most delightful social events of the season was the Halloween Dance given last evening at the Parish House by the Members of the St. Agnes Guild.

The Parish House, which lends itself so well to the decorators hand, never looked lovelier than on this occasion. Festoons of orange and black, moss and streamers were suspended from the corners of the room. The lights were covered with pumpkin Jack-o-lanterns and cast a weird glow over the scene. In one corner of the room an attractive punch table had been arranged and throughout the evening, delicious fruit punch was served. The whole scene resembled a veritable Witches Land.

The Country Club of Orlando furnished the music for the evening, and this fact alone assured it a success. The affair was a decided success all entertainment given by the Guild usually are and the evening was one of the exceptional enjoyment. The members of the St. Agnes Guild were assisted in entertaining, by Mrs. A. P. Connelly, Mrs. R. A. Newman and Mrs. S. E. Barritt.

During the social hour Mrs. Williams served delicious refreshments. The club will meet next Monday with Mrs. A. F. McAllister on West First street.

LOVELY BRIDGE PARTY Mrs. John C. Smith was the charming hostess yesterday afternoon when she entertained at bridge at her home on Union ave., complimenting Mrs. Howard P. Smith, who leaves the latter part of the week for West Palm Beach. There were four tables of players and the guests included the member of the Seminole Bridge Club and one extra table.

Orange and Black, the Halloween colors prevailed in the decoration and other details of this pretty party. Large brass bowls filled with daisies, cosmos, golden rod and other yellow flowers were effectively placed in the rooms where the card tables were arranged.

The tally cards were dainty suggestions of the season and when scores were counted after several spirited games of bridge it was found that Mrs. Reginald Holly held high score among the club members. She was awarded an attractive vanity, while the high score guest prize a Madoria tray covered to Mrs. F. E. Roumillat. Mrs. Smith, the honoree, was presented a set of crystal salts.

Following the card game, Mrs. Smith served dainty refreshments consisting of brick cream, cakes, lady fingers and coffee. On each table were cunning Witches riding brooms.

The guest list for the afternoon included Mrs. Howard P. Smith, Mrs. F. E. Roumillat, Mrs. J. C. Bennett, Mrs. J. D. Woodruff, Mrs. Ed Lane, Mrs. Ben Caswell, Mrs. Fred Daiger, Mrs. Robert Hines, Mrs. Donald Smith, Mrs. W. Morton Thigpen, Mrs. D. C. Marlowe, Mrs. J. B. The members of the club are: Mrs. George Knight, Mrs. Hal Wight, Mrs. Ralph Wight, Mrs. W. E. Watson, Mrs. Fred Walsma, Mrs. Harry B. Lewis, Mrs. Roy Chittenden, Mrs. Sam Yountz and Mrs. C. E. Henry.

CECILIAN CLUB The first of the winter season's musical programs from the Cecilian Club was given last Saturday afternoon in the studio of Mrs. Munson.

Elizabeth Whitner told very interestingly of the Armonica, a musical instrument invented by Benjamin Franklin, and which she saw in the Metropolitan Museum in New York this summer.

The Armonica was based on the idea of the musical glasses, which George Washington so greatly enjoyed. A series of bowl like glasses were operated by means of a foot treadle from underneath (sewing machine fashion) tones were produced by pressing on these glass plates, as they revolved, deep pressure for low, light pressure for soft. The semitones, corresponding to piano black keys, were painted white, the C scale (corresponding to piano white keys) followed the colors of the rainbow, red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo.

Franklin said "The tones were uncomparably sweet." Mozart and Beethoven wrote music for the armonica. Miss Fowler, soprano, was the assistant talent, and sang beautifully a group of songs from Bohm and Eugene Cowles.

The entire program was greatly enjoyed and included in piano selections:
