RENO TERMS AAA PROGRAM 'PEASANTRY'

Agency Has Violated Constitution, Says Head Of Farmers' Holiday Association

DES MOINES, Iowa, May 24.—The Agricultural Adjustment Administration, celebrating its first anniversary yesterday, has succeeded only in "breaking the morale" of farmers, in the opinion of Milo Reno, president of the Farmers' Holiday Association.

Occasion of the AAA's anniversary led Reno to comment: "Through bribery and coercion it has broken down the morale of self-respecting, independent farmers of America; violated both the letter and the spirit of the Constitution, is attempting to destroy the people's confidence in representative government, and the end is not yet."

"It has confused and disrupted the moral self-supporting farm organization, has coerced and intimidated in an effort to complete its enslavement, has refused to concede to the farmer production costs."

"Farm prices have been held down on the theory that if they advanced farmers would refuse to submit to the AAA program of regimentation, which is simply another name for peasantry. The compulsory crop reduction program, in the face of starving millions, is a cruel joke."

"It has demanded the farmer waive his constitutional rights, deprived the farmer of his property and financial ruin until he is humbled sufficiently without protest to any burden it sees fit to lay on his shoulders."

Ickes Tells Presbyterians That New Deal Is Based On Primary Tenets Of Christ

CLEVELAND, May 24.—(AP)—National leaders of the Presbyterian Church in the United States were told last night the "New Deal" in the government is based on the fundamental tenets of Christ himself. The speaker was Secretary of the Interior Ickes.

Addressing a public meeting here, sponsored by the church's general council, Ickes pictured the social objectives of Christianity and the New Deal as being identical.

Christ wanted men and women to live upright lives, but he also wanted them to have for each other understanding and good will and mutual helpfulness," the secretary said. "He wished them to be good neighbors. He hated injustice with a righteous hatred. His whole life was a fight against oppression. This was the man who drove out the money changers from the temple."

Asserting the New Deal is an opportunity for the church to do as far as lies within the power then inquired, "Will the leaders in the church follow the banner which has been boldly raised by Roosevelt in his determination to do a Christian work, the secretary establish social and economic justice for man, wholeheartedly and only reluctantly?"

The answer to this question, he said, "is important because it is the moral aspirations of the church should be reinforced by the political efforts now being made to establish a new social order, the advance all along the line would be irresistible, and that new social and economic order."

BRITAIN WORRIED FARMERS' MART OVER ROOSEVELT TO BE ERECTED SILVER PROGRAM

LONDON, May 24.—(AP)—British financial leaders informed yesterday as being highly alarmed by the prospect that President Roosevelt's silver monetary program will blast their hopes for the return of Great Britain to the gold standard in the near future.

Despite the nonchalant attitude they assumed toward the American President's message, financial circles were pictured as being thrown into gloom.

"Financial leaders here have been hoping for some time that President Roosevelt would head off the silverites, so there would be no further steps in the direction of world-wide bimetalism," said a well-informed observer.

"Roosevelt's capitulation to the silverites will only give new impetus to the two-base currency movement, which the British do not want. If bimetalism becomes popular it may be 'good-bye forever' to the gold standard."

Madison said there were more than 100 victims in his parish alone.

APPROACH TO NAVAL CONFAB IS DISCLOSED

Congress Too Busy To Give Much Thought To Troublous Problem Of Sea Forces

WASHINGTON, May 24.—(AP)—Today brought a disclosure of a first faint approach to the 1935 Naval Conference, but Congress was too busy with tariff and deposit insurance legislation to pay immediate attention.

For a long time it has been plain that Japan's wish to get more than its present battle strength would make for difficulty.

So, special significance was attached to the news that the United States, Great Britain, and the Asiatic powers already are exchanging views.

The only present question however is whether the three countries might best proceed a formal conference with an informal discussion of pertinent questions.

Concerning more urgent matters, the House Democratic leadership managed to force through an Administration bill for the postponement for a year of permanent deposit insurance.

Senate Democrats also were prepared to require extra long working days to get a vote on the reciprocal tariff bill. Opposition speeches still made for delay.

Home passage, early next week, of both the communications and the billion dollar deficiency bill, preparations have been forecast by Representative Byrnes, Democratic leader.

Congress decided yesterday the federal government, through the reserve banks and the RFC, should be in a position to give at least a $100,000,000 financial lift to private industries.

The House, after shouting aside a score of amendments, let the new loan program pass. It was to be private schools and hospitals, finished two days of hard work by passing and sending back to the Senate the Administration's industry loan bill.

The Senate had approved a bill fixing the maximum total RFC five year loans at $250,000,000 and limiting the amount the federal reserve banks could advance to $200,000,000.

The Senate will send the bill to conference for a compromise of the differences.

Immediately after passing the industry loan measure, the House took up another Administration bill, that postponing the permanent deposit insurance plan until July 1, 1935. Leaders expect to pass that today.

The House made only six non-sequential changes in the industry loan bill. They were:

Allow the RFC to lend up a total of $75,000,000 to school districts which can offer good security.

Stipulate that the federal export import banking corporation shall submit annual reports to Congress.

HONOR GUEST

Harry M. Papworth, president of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce who is to be honored guest at a testimonial dinner at the Valdes Hotel tonight at 8:00 o'clock commemorating the 50th anniversary of his arrival in this city.

H. M. PAPWORTH TO BE HONORED AT DINNER PARTY

Prominent Civic Leader Came To Sanford 50 Years Ago Today

Fully 50 friends and fellow civic leaders will gather at the Valdes Hotel tonight at 8:00 o'clock to pay tribute to Harry M. Papworth, president of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, who is today celebrating the 50th anniversary of his arrival in Sanford.

It will be an informal party over which city commissioner S. T. Shubert will preside as toast master, and men as well as women will be present to participate in what promises to be an evening of pleasant retrospection over the past.

Mrs. Papworth is also to be an honored guest, as is Mrs. J. N. Whittier, Sr., who came to Sanford 27 years ago, and as well as Sanford Frank P. Foster, former Sanford business man, who has known a half century of life in this city.

It was learned today that among the guests may be State Senator Jesse L. Parrish of Titusville, and that many prominent figures in Florida's civic, business and professional life will be represented by letters and telegrams of felicitation.

A feature of the evening will be a display of photographs and old newspaper clippings of the late '30's, and early '80's in Sanford.

Among the pictures will be several taken just after the log fire which destroyed a large portion of the city. Also of the turn of the century. Views of the fire show the old Sanford House, the city hall, the school, and the city square, all of which stood just a few hundred feet to the east.

The party is being staged by the Chamber of Commerce, and many of its directors and members are scheduled to attend. The public is invited to participate, and reservations may be made as late as 5:00 o'clock by calling at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Stahl Leaves For Inspection Tour Of Federal Plants

Dr. C. I. Stahl, associated with the United States Bureau of Entomology left this afternoon for New Orleans and other points in the South on an inspection trip which was made necessary following his recent promotion to a position of general supervisor of all federal investigations of insects which affect our vegetable crops, including strawberries.

He will visit federal plants at Baton Rouge, La., Robert, Miss., Fairfax, S. C., Charleston, N. C., and Charleston, S. C., and he also will visit the Bureau of Entomology in Washington before returning home.

Before he left, Dr. Stahl said that in spite of his promotion to duties which require him to spend considerable time in other sections of the South, he plans to make Sanford his headquarters for the future.

GUARD TROOPS LIFT SIEGE OF MOB IN TOLEDO

1500 Workers Held In Plant All Night By Strikers Freed Disorders Quieted

TOLEDO, May 24.—(A.P.)—A siege of rioting strikers which kept 1500 employees of the Electric Auto-Lite Company hemmed in the plant during all night disorders was lifted today by detachments of the Ohio National Guard.

Troops reported all quiet as the evacuation of the embattled plant was started.

Rain and the long awaited arrival of troops had thinned a crowd of 10,000 strikers, sympathizers, and spectators which thronged around the plant last night, to less than 100.

Bayonets and machine guns appeared, guardmen threw a cordon around an area six blocks long and one block wide, and the remaining strikers were forced to withdraw.

Spontaneous pistol shots had been heard only a few hours before 166 troops arrived.

Strikers seeking union recognition and a ten percent wage increase defied police tear gas, hurled bricks and insults at the besieged employees.

Property damage is estimated at $150,000, and nine were sent to hospitals.

Adj. Gen. Frank D. Henderson last night ordered 700 National Guardsmen into Toledo to patrol the area around the plant where 1,500 workers were held prisoners by 3,000 strikers and sympathizers.

Shortly before Gen. Henderson's order was given, company guards set up machine guns and trained them on a steel gate which the rioting strikers had torn from its hinges.

A new shipment of tear gas bombs was received at 9 o'clock tonight and police and deputies immediately began firing the bombs into the crowd of sympathizers. Several shots were heard.

The 1,500 workers in the plant prepared to sleep in the factory building as the strikers showed no signs of moving away or letting up on the rock barrage which they have laid down for more than seven hours.

At 9:30 o'clock E. H. Donagan, labor board conciliator, was taken into the plant in a police car, tears streaming down his face from the effects of the tear gas bombs. He said he had discussed a truce with labor leaders and wanted to talk with company officials.

Company officials refused to permit employees to leave the plant until adequate protection was furnished and food was taken in to the workers. The strikers, milling around in a narrow street in front of the plant, continued to bombard windows with rocks and bricks and employes, from behind a pocket fence, threw the missiles back into the crowd.

Doors leading into the building were barricaded and heavily guarded. Telephone operators and office workers, also held in the building, took cover as rocks came crashing through windows. All lights were turned out in the main building.

MILL MAN MISSING

JACKSONVILLE, May 24.—(AP)—Authorities last night were without clues in the whereabouts of C. P. McDaniels, 60 year old wealthy sawmill operator of Lake City who disappeared here Saturday after attending a theater matinee.

THURSDAY, MAY 24, 1934

There will be no free barbecue here on Cracker Day, but we understand the visitors will be served plenty of boloney.

Many a man would keep his chin up better during these troublous times if he didn't have such a large Adam's Apple.

Now we know that things are picking up. Fellow came in and paid a bill he had been owing us for five years.

The Daytona Beach Sun Herald proposes a "No Kind to Landladies" week. About the kindest thing we could do for most of them would be to vote against them.

During the past few months, the Titusville Star Advocate opines, there has been growing criticism of the New Deal from many quarters. Not so much from the quarters, as from the half dollars, and the dollars.

Now they say that Lumber's success in being the first man to fly alone across the Atlantic was due entirely to luck. He just landed in the middle of cyclone and was simply blown clear across the Atlantic. Well, maybe so, but when luck is as consistent as that fellow's is, it's just about as good as brains.

Well, the silver block didn't get what it wanted, but it got plenty—a two billion dollar subsidy for the silver interests. And ultimately $1.29 an ounce for silver actually worth about 40 cents an ounce. Well, but Roosevelt got an awful headache when he asked Congress for that.

People who say that the home financing law is unnecessary because we already have too many houses in this country should be required to live in some of them. It is said that one-third of the people of this country live in houses too dilapidated for human habitation.

The NRA may not be hurting the little fellow but it certainly isn't hurting the big business either. Standard Oil of New Jersey, largest of the Standard Oil system, reported net profits in 1933 of over $600,000,000 more than net profits of 1932. The oil code may not have done all of this, but it helped.

Sweeping Reforms in the U. S. Educational System are strongly advocated by the American Historical Association. "A Bronze in Every Hand" might well be the slogan of the campaign. No days are growing up with negro wrinkles on their brains than calouses on the hands. It's unbalanced development, that's what it is. What this country needs is more women who know how to sweep.

If the FERA wants us to beautify, let's beautify. There is a wonderful opportunity in Sanford for some good beautification work. Let's not be too conservative in preparing elaborate plans. The more beautification, the better chance for official approval.

The controversy over the NRA seems to be something like that General Johnson thinks the worst of his creation is perfect and therefore should remain as it is. Darrow thinks the Blue Eagle is increasing unemployment and hurting the little fellow and should therefore be abolished. It is W. J. Don't's theory that we have the Administration will be able to find.

The Blue Eagle Flutters

The controversy which has been raging this week between those two outstanding exponents of spat, General Johnson, and Clarence Darrow, reminds one strangely of the two darkeys who were discussing at some length the theory of evolution. "You is de doggondest son of a ring tall baboon ever I see," concluded one of them. "If I is," said the other, "You is a doggonder one than I is."

But underneath all this smoke which has the whole country gasping for breath and wondering which way to run, there is pretty apt to be some fire. Clarence Darrow says that as a matter of fact, the NRA is fostering monopolies and oppressing the little fellow in the business world. He concludes that the thing to do is to go all the way to socialism, to governmental ownership, as well as control, of all business.

In a way this seems to be the logical conclusion to the government's policy of dictating hours, wages, and prices. If the government is going to presume to tell business men how to run their businesses, we do not see how ultimately it can escape the financial responsibilities of such supervision. If the management of business by the government does not prove to be sufficiently successful to match expenditures with receipts, there would seem to be no alternative but for the government to assume the ownership of business and subsidize the deficits.

But it does not seem to us desirable that the government continue its efforts to control the policies of all the thousands of little business men scattered all over the country. If General Johnson, or whoever his successor might be, were the wisest man in the world, he could not possibly manage successfully all of the businesses in the United States. If he succeeds in supervising satisfactorily only the larger industries, we believe he will have done exceedingly well.

This, it seems to us, is where the NRA made its fundamental mistake. When it began its orgy of code making, if it had confined itself to the basic industries, to steel, iron, coal, oil, textiles, automobiles, and perhaps a few others, it would have cut out for itself a far simpler task with some prospects of a successful conclusion.

In this way it would have had to deal only with a few score of employers having millions of employees. Because it attempted to codify at once every business in the United States, it has had to deal with hundreds of thousands of employers, many of whom have only two or three employees. It was an impossible task which even if successful, could not have produced many more beneficial results than if confined in the first place to the basic industries.

As it is now, we find countless injustices and unnecessary burdens heaped upon the already sorely depressed little business man. We find him having to comply with the same price regulations, for instance, in Sanford as in New York City, though having entirely different costs and market conditions. We find the little cash-and-carry pressing shop having to charge the same price for pressing a pair of pants as his big credit-and-delivery competitor.

There are countless other inconsistencies and injustices in these codes which bear down unfairly and cause hardships unevenly distributed. Such mistakes have not been made intentionally or with any desire to favor big business or encourage monopolies. They are the inevitable consequences of undertaking too much at one time. When Alexander sought more worlds to conquer he lost the world he had conquered.

We do not feel that because the NRA has failed we should conclude that competition is too wolfish to be regulated and adopt the even more wolfish system of socialism. Nor do we believe that because the undertaking has obviously been too great for General Johnson and his cohorts we should continue to butt our heads against a stone wall until we fall dead on the other side.

There must be some half way point between these two extremes which a man of President Roosevelt's fairness and understanding can find. If it is not possible for this government to manage the business of the whole country, why not manage well that part which it can?

Nourishing Menus

How to feed a family of five and give them all the nourishment which strong and healthy bodies demand on $3.48 a week is the result of a series of experiments conducted by the Teachers College of Columbia University under the auspices of Dr. Grace MacLeod, head of the nutrition department. The following series of menus provides 12,800 calories a day for a family consisting of mother, father, and three children of the ages of fifteen, nine and five at a cost of 27 cents a day per person.

- Breakfast: Cereal with bananas and milk and sugar. Toast and butter. Glass of milk a child. Coffee for adults with top milk and sugar. Luncheon: Macaroni and cheese. Fried tomatoes. Bread and butter. Glass of milk for children and adults. Dinner: Liver loaf and potatoes, baked or creamed. Cabbage and carrot salad, dressing of top milk, sugar and vinegar. Glass of milk for each child. Coffee for adults, with top milk and sugar.

Such a menu, Dr. MacLeod explains, provides protein, calcium, phosphorus, iron and vitamins in adequate amounts—all the needs of a full-rounded diet. "We all know that this menu would satisfy the food requirements of an average family of five," Dr. MacLeod said. "Of course, it does not contain a great deal of so-called fancy foods, but it is wholesome and adequate. It would cost the housewife $1.98 a day at ordinary market prices. In computing the cost we deliberately chose foods that were of average price rather than shopping for the lowest prices we could find. With a little care the cost per day could be reduced."

Included in another series of menus are a 49-cent menu for men and a 44-cent menu for women living alone without cooking facilities. It is particularly applicable, Dr. MacLeod explained, for students living on a budget who cannot afford more than 50 cents a day for food. The 49-cent menu for a man, which contains 3,000 calories, follows:

- BREAKFAST: One pint of milk. One-fourth loaf of whole wheat bread. Two bananas. LUNCHEONETTE: Glass of milk. Whole wheat, toast, butter and butter.

THE NEW SILVER LAW

BY EDWARD H. COLLINS

Of this country's output of 224,800,000 ounces of silver in 1933, 21,700,000 ounces were produced in seven Western states, and, as has been frequently pointed out, the fourteen Senators representing those seven states constitute the spearhead of the drive for silver legislation.

But if these fourteen Senators furnish the leadership of the silver movement, it is obvious that they represent only a small part of the Congressional majority which admittedly could be marshaled behind such legislation as the present times. Where, then, does the movement recruit the rest of its strength? Precisely, of course, where silver movements for two generations in this country have derived their strength: namely, from representatives of the agrarian-debtor group, which believes that a silver currency inflation would raise the prices of farm products and at the same time lighten the mortgage burden.

Since the real backbone of the silver movement is the agrarian-debtor, that legislation of the sort outlined by the President last week would be inflationary, it would seem to be worthwhile to examine this thesis and to see if there is anything to it.

The heart of the President's plan, apparently, is the purchase of silver in the world market, over and above the output of the domestic mines, which has already been provided for in the first place, he will "buy out" the holders of approximately 150,000,000 ounces of the metal who have bought it during the last year or two in the expectation of just such legislation as that now contemplated. These stocks will be taken over (nationalized) at not to exceed 60 cents an ounce. In the second place, he will be empowered, if not compelled, under the law to buy additional silver until the price of the metal is driven up to $1.29 an ounce, or until silver constitutes 25 percent of total currency "reserves." Silver certificates would be issued against the metal thus taken into the Treasury.

It is estimated at Washington that the amount of silver required to bring the silver-gold reserve ratio up to 25-75 would be about 1,000,000,000 ounces, and that, on the basis of the proposed statutory price of $1.29 an ounce, this would permit a theoretical currency expansion of $2,200,000,000.

Whether it would be possible, except over a considerable period of years, to accumulate this much silver without driving the price above $1.29 an ounce is, to say the least, an open question. But assuming that the thing could be done, what would be its effect on prices?

In only one quarter of the globe, it is true, the price of silver could have any important price effect. That would be in all or standard China, where the appreciation in the price of the metal would obviously be deflationary on the prices of everything else. So far as our own price level is concerned, there is not the slightest reason for supposing the plan would have any effect whatsoever.

The pumping of $2,200,000,000 in currency into the banking system would unquestionably increase inflationary in the days of William Jennings Bryan. But two vital changes have taken place in our monetary system since that time. One has been the rise in the "value of debts currency" (the bank check), with a corresponding decline in the importance of hand-currency. The other has been the provision in the Federal Reserve act for a flexible type of currency, the Federal Reserve note.

So long as there is a large cushion of Federal Reserve notes in the system we shall continue to have an automatic buffer against an inflationary "controlled currency" inflation. What would happen would simply be that the new silver certificates were put into circulation a corresponding number of Federal Reserve notes would come back to the banks. And since there are at present slightly more than $2,000,000,000 of these notes outstanding it is clear that the whole

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

The graduating exercises of the High School were held in the auditorium on Friday evening when Randall Chase of the Junior Class, having completed the course

High School Grad Thanks Friends For Courtesies Shown

(Continued From Page 1) into the field of education, the thing I have always hoped for but felt it was useless to consider. "To express my appreciation to the good friends to whom I feel very grateful is not enough. I hope to repay them in some way in the future."

"I wish to express particular thanks to Coach Leonard McLucas, Sanford will never find another man his equal. He knows his game, he knows boys, and he understands how to make them respond in a manner which produces results. "When he takes over some other position one of these days, Sanford will then realize just what type of man, teacher, and coach he is. I owe him more gratitude than I can ever express. "Sanford will always be close to me, and I hope some day to be of some benefit to her."

New Deal Is Said Based On Tenets Of Christ, Ickes

(Continued From Page One) order, certain as it is to be realized in the end in any event, would be accomplished much more quickly and with infinitely less disturbance.

Between the close of the World War and the beginning of President Roosevelt's Administration, "rugged individualism" ran riot, Ickes asserted. "Social injustices were taken for granted. "The New Deal," he said, "is grounded on the theory that one should do unto others what he would that others should do unto him."

He listed among the Administration's objectives the adoption of the constitutional amendment abolishing child labor, fair wages, an end of sweatshops and unhealthy working conditions, a clean-up of slum areas, the adoption of old age, unemployment, maternity and disability insurance, and the assessment of taxes in proportion to the ability to pay.

John G. Aldrich, Librarian, Professor J. J. Jenkins, the Misses Gibson, Charlotte Katz, and Professor J. Rowland Perkins. Next came the school board, Messrs. Walker, Whitner, Phillips, Foster, Dickson, and Superintendent of Public Instruction, of the County, J. A. Thacker. Members of the graduating class were Helen Adams Rowland, Earle E. Freedom Of Nation Has Ever Been

(Continued From Page One) freedom of expression both in news columns and editorial columns in papers in every part of the country, this freedom is freer than it ever has been in our history.

"On the basis of years of personal experience, with newspaper publishers and newspaper workers—and they have been many—I believe the publishers, with few exceptions, agree with me in all that I have said on the subject of freedom of the press and that they, in the great majority, have the interests of their employes close to their hearts."

Farmers' Mart To Be Erected Here This Year

(Continued From Page One) Dorrer said, and it will be the most ambitious undertaking of its kind ever attempted in Sanford. Sponsors of the market already picture it as providing steady work for scores of persons over a many month's period, while the revenue which business men may derive from the truck operators and handlers who will flock into the area will represent a sizable sum each year.

Mr. Dorrer, George E. Balmer, Frank Melch, and Wm. Ludwig recently inspected public markets at Tampa, Ybor City, and Plant City. They returned home armed with data which they expect to lay before the meeting tomorrow night.

This data is to be augmented by that furnished by Mr. Mayo and Mr. Rhodes, both of whom having already indicated that the facilities of the state's marketing bureau are available at all times for all growers in this or any other area.

New Plan Of Services Begun In Lake Mary

A new plan of conducting services will be sponsored by the Lake Mary Community Church on Sunday, May 27, it was announced today by the Rev. James M. Thompson, pastor of the church. It is being sponsored in order to solve the problem in many Protestant churches of persons attending church school services and not being present at the formal church service afterwards.

In order to meet this problem the Lake Mary Church has divided its church school membership into two groups, children and adults. The children group will meet from 10:00 A. M. to 10:30 A. M. for a Bible study period in class rooms while the former group meets in the auditorium for a worship service. At 10:30 A. M. the two groups will exchange places. The children's group will meet in class rooms for work and study while the adult group meets in the auditorium for a worship service. Adults not caring for class work may come at 10:30 A. M. for the worship service only.

Mr. Thompson said that the new arrangement has the following advantages: the entire period of worship and study is reduced from two hours to one and one-half hours or less; a longer period is available for class work in the children's group; instead of two dismissals one hour apart both groups leave the building together; and the children are in class rooms under the care of a teacher while the parents worship.

NO MORE fast tread-wear!

Here's what you get in Goodyear's new "G-3"! You get the broader road contact of a flatter, wider All-Weather Tread. You get quicker-stopping and the greater road grip of more non-skid blocks in the center. You get the easy steering and smooth travel of wider riding-ribs. You get the slow, even wear of closer-nested non-skid blocks and ribs. You get more rubber in the tread—an average of two pounds more per tire.

Goodyear has licked problem that baffled the tire industry—with the new "G-3". See it here!

IT TAKES a better tread to keep its grip on modern high-speed highways—with faster cars, quicker get-aways—more powerful brakes. All these strains grind away ordinary treads too fast. But now we've got the answer! A tread that keeps its grip 43% longer—gives 43% more non-skid mileage. Grueling, grinding road tests show that it keeps its grip twice as long as competitive tires!

Read that list of extras in this new "G-3" All-Weather tire—and remember, you have to have "NON-SKID" before you can have "NON-SKID MILEAGE"—you have to have GRIP where you see it on this tire—in the center of the tread—if you want the extra miles of safety which you get in the "G-3". It costs no more!

DILLINGER IS SUSPECTED IN NEW KILLINGS

2 Indiana Police Are Machine-Gunned To Death During Look-Out For Desperado

EAST CHICAGO, Ind., May 25.—(A.P.)—Two more police officers are dead today in the bloody game of "Got Dillinger".

In this city where policeman William O'Malley was slain Jan. 4 by John Dillinger, two officers, Martin O'Brien, 44, an Lloyd Mulvihill, 28, were machine-gunned to death last night. There was no clue today to the identity of the killers.

Dillinger, a fugitive from the Crown Point jail where he was held for trial for the murder of O'Malley, was suspected but it was only suspicion.

The only two men who might have been able to identify the killers were the policemen, and they died instantly.

Mulvihill and O'Brien, veteran officers who knew Dillinger by sight, had been assigned to guard the road along which it was believed Dillinger might travel last night.

The road patrol was established following word from Indianapolis that a man believed to be Dillinger had been seen there yesterday.

An automobile, believed to have carried four or five men, approached them at high speed. The two officers, traveling in a police squad car, apparently decided to halt the car and investigate.

Just what happened is unclear. The officers' bodies, pistols and necks riddled with machine gun slugs, were found slumped in the car later.

Presbyterian Meet Opens At Montreal In Carolina Hills

MONTREAL, N. C., May 25.—(A.P.)—In a ringing appeal to the 400 commissioners to the annual General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, the Reverend Ernest Thompson, D. D., retiring moderator, last night urged that no time be spent "in competing with other Christian forces and denominations," and that clergyman and laymen "devote themselves to service."

Dr. Thompson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Charleston, W. Va., delivered his message on "Christ's Mission, the Measure of Ours," as a prelude to the organization meeting.

Sessions will extend through next Thursday.

"It doesn't matter what chains we make today," he told the 74th annual assembly. "The world is no longer interested in such things."

He deplored debates as to which is the true church, and pointed out that Christ never spent his time discussing the mode of baptism, or the form of church organization, but trained his apostles in truth and inspired them with a passion for service.

"This," he continued, "is my dream of what a church should be. A church with a warm heart, the open mind, the adventurous spirit, a church that cares, that heals, that lives, that comforts the aged and that challenges youth."

Arcadia Minister Is Burned Out Of Home

ARCADIA, May 25.—The Rev. R. J. Rogers' effort to waterproof a large tent he was planning to use for a gospel meeting at Fort Oden, resulted not only in the destruction by fire of the house in which he and Mrs. Rogers resided, but of most of their household goods, as well.

The minister melted a quantity of paraffin and heated nine quarts of gasoline in a bucket on the stove in the kitchen of his house. As he started to the porch to combine the two materials, the gasoline caught up. Within a short time the entire interior of the big room house was ablaze.

Roosevelt Proposes More New Battering Rams Aimed At Laying Depression Low

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(A.P.)—Three more alphabetical engines to batter at the citadel of unemployment and frozen credit were proposed by President Roosevelt in his home construction and financing program sent to Congress.

As reconnoitered by the National Emergency Council, the new engines are: (1) a $200,000,000 home credit insurance program to guarantee up to 20 percent of the loans made by private agencies for home building and repairing. The size of a loan would be limited to $2,000, so that the use would be largely for homes.

To loosen credit, the government proposes a system of mortgage insurance, similar to present bank deposit insurance.

This feature is partly aimed at the second mortgage market, in that single mortgages on new homes will be insured up to 80 percent of the assessed valuation, and on renovated homes up to 90 percent.

In the past, officials say, the mortgages rarely exceeded 50 to 60 percent of the valuation, making second mortgages necessary. The second mortgage market dried up during the depression because of the risk, with a death of capital for construction to selling.

The National Emergency Council says that much of the second mortgage financing was seasonal because it was an "excitement" was in reality of a long-term nature although written on a short-term basis of three or five years without provision for amortization of repayment, and when written was the fact of "cash on hand" charged for the season.

To avoid a reputation of spreading effects, the mortgage insurance would not be available to new construction of a speculative type, nor to communities where there is a surplus of modern homes.

KILLING OF 2 TOLEDO MEN BEING PROBED

TOLEDO, May 25.—(A.P.)—A thousand Ohio National Guardsmen behind fixed bayonets and machine guns held back a crowd of the strike-torn Electric Auto-Lite Company plant today as federal and state authorities sought to ease the tense situation with mediation.

A crowd of 1,500 strikers and sympathizers, bringing more bricks and assorted missiles, gathered at the plant of the Electric Auto-Lite Company at noon and reopened a bombardment of building and troops which had already cost the lives of two men.

The crowd gathered at a street intersection still strewn with the wreckage and debris of three days of rioting.

Guardsmen laying a communication line made no attempt to disperse the crowd as bricks and chunks of paving plaster came hurtling up toward the building.

The attack was aimless and less spirited than the fighting yesterday which led to hand-to-hand slugging, and bullets. Militiamen had fixed bayonets but didn't use them.

Charles Tall, son of the late president of the United States, headed a group of mediators trying to bring the strikers and company officials to a common ground.

Progress was slow and hampered by the ill feeling of rioters who hunted the area in disorganized groups.

Kraft announced that preliminary examination of the body of one of the dead led him to believe the wounds were inflicted by shotgun slugs, and not by rifle bullets.

Two men were shot and three others injured last night as a crowd of more than 6,000, hurling bricks and bottles, returned to battle National Guardsmen who killed two men in a strike and a few hours earlier at the Electric Auto-Lite plant here.

Clustering and taunting and throwing missiles, the crowd closed in on 25 militiamen at the edge of the six-block strike zone. The guardsmen buried gas bombs and the angry crowd fell back only to push forward again. The soldiers fired a volley over the heads of the throng, which included many women. The response was more bricks and bottles.

Among their rifles at the center, the troops and the crowd broke, leaving the wounded on the streets. The crowd surged back several times but at 11:30 p. m. a heavy gas attack had driven it back two blocks.

The battle was continuous after a lull of an hour or more late yesterday, preceding which two men were slain by Guardsmen's rifles.

Some 8,000 persons, mostly men, were in the crowd which was fired upon by the troops during the day. It melted in some 1,000 around the dinner hour. As darkness fell the crowd began to swell again, and by 8:30 it had mounted to perhaps more than 8,000 persons.

Missiles interspersed with taunts and curses constantly flew from the ranks of the rioters toward National Guardsmen especially at the Elm and Champlain Street intersection, where most of the crowd was gathered.

Ambulances plowed through the crowd after the firing subsided, and picked up the injured. The men who were shot were John Sullivan, 30, arm wound, and Edmond Reeds, shoulder wound. Edward West, 40, was struck by a rock. George Heinger was the soldier injured, apparently struck by a brick.
