Federal Allotment Made For Armory; Work Starts Monday

$24,515 Appropriated For Project Here; Sponsors Expected To Put Up $5,100

Local Labor Is To Be Employed

Building Materials Also To Be Bought From Local Firms

Schools Here Will Be Open Seven Months

Seminole Educational Fund Is In Better Condition Than In Other Communities

The federal government has allotted the sum of $24,515 for the construction in Sanford of an armory for dual purposes of the Florida National Guard.

Notification of the allotment of funds was received yesterday. Requestors for building materials were made out today, and construction work on the big project is to begin Monday morning.

This is the information given out by T. E. Appert, assistant engineer in Project No. 2 of the Works Progress Administration, office in the City Hall.

As yet there are no estimates received from the federal bureau, the bureau said the amount will be $24,515, and of this sum local sponsors are expected to contribute the sum of $5,100. The WPA office in Sanford was without information as to where the local money is to come from, or when the government is going to begin work on the project.

The new armory is to be built on West Street, about one block west of the Federal Building. The plans were prepared by E. J. Wroughton, Sanford architect. Requestors for building materials are being made from Wroughton's specifications. The structure will be of concrete.

It is known well enough that all local labor will be employed and that all materials going into the structure, lumber, steel, rock and cement will be bought from local sources. It was suggested that some of the equipment would be purchased at the first work on the foundation. Building will be the gratifying of the site preparatory to laying the foundation.

Italy Opposes Peace Forced By League And Great Britain's Guns

Answer Demanded By Mussolini To His Peace Proposals; Big Battle Rages

ROME, Oct. 24. (AP)—With his Fascist legions ready to strike at the interior of Ethiopia from the north and from the south, Mussolini pressed Paris and London today for action on his peace terms.

In Addis Ababa reports from the southern front said a heavy battle raged on the Weldi Shebbi River in Ogaden province between Italian and Ethiopian forces. Italian troops, numbering 400,000, were reported to be pushing on in the direction of the Ethiopian capital, Addis Ababa.

Benjamin Netanyahu, governor of Harar province to the north of Ogaden and one of the commanders on the southern front, told the Associated Press the heavy battle raged today in the south. Netanyahu, after an extended stay at the southern front, said today that the Italian military force had been confined to a narrow strip along the Weldi Shebbi River. Netanyahu said that his troops had fought a battle yesterday.

Massive peace terms, as published in London include the disarmament of Italian soldiers operating in Italy, protectorates over the eastern half of the empire and an international protocol over the western and central regions.

It came after making a gesture toward a better understanding with Great Britain in ordering the withdrawal of a division of its Prime Minister's army from those parts of the empire. Netanyahu expressed the hope that the Italian government would accept such terms.

It is believed that Italy is ready to accept such terms, but she is not ready to do so until she has secured the withdrawal of British troops from Ethiopia. Netanyahu said that he had received a message from the Italian government that it would accept such terms if the British government would withdraw its troops from Ethiopia.

Monkeys Fighting Italian Soldiers On African Front

ENJES, 10, Ethiopia, Oct. 24. (AP)—Monkey business is delaying work on telephone lines being strung by Italian soldiers into occupied territory.

In one instance a pitched battle occurred between signal corps Fascists and a gang of monkeys. Several soldiers suffered lumps on the head.

When the animals appeared, soldiers greeted them with stones. This was a tactical error, the monkey got the idea and threw the stones back. Soldiers report that death threats of angry monkeys were engaged in sabotage. The animals climb poles and try to catch wires after they are strung.

Solution Is Difficult While "Sanctionist Machine Works At Geneva." 'Tis Said

Roosevelt Works On League Reply

President Discusses War Situation With Secretary Of State

ROME, Oct. 24. (AP)—Italian officials objected openly today to negotiating peace with Ethiopia under pressure of the League of Nations' sanctions and British guns.

The stand was interpreted in informed quarters as a bid for delay in the sanctions drive. Direct negotiations between Italy, Great Britain and France for a peaceful conclusion of the war and the resulting European tension would be difficult, officials said, as long as the sanctionist machine works at Geneva.

Premier Mussolini was understood to have inspected the official statement as considering League sanctions almost a bar to any peace negotiations.

Lower Prices Seen As Best Cure For Great Depression

Economist Says That Mass Distribution Is Also Requisite

DELEBURGE, Oct. 24. (AP)—Brookings Institution reported today after a three-year study it has concluded America's depression can be prevented by effective distribution of a greater mass production through lower prices.

Dr. Harold G. Moulton, head of the institution which is devoted to social surveys, recently gave the report to the Falk Foundation, sponsor of the inquiry, and 300 executives from every field of industry.

Dr. Moulton declared a world without depression can be accomplished only at the expense of increased efficiency of both human and material resources. Along with the chief cause of lower commodity prices.

It should be clearly understood that a mere cutting down of the existing amount of production will not accomplish the goal.

Dr. Moulton said he found three major types of business or governmental activities which have retarded the country's economic progress: (1) unproductive government expenditures, (2) unproductive government expenditures, and (3) unproductive government expenditures.

Balmes Opposes Raising Levy On Celery Shipments

Proposal Is Made To Boost The Rate To $2.53 Per Carload

Opposition to the proposed one cent levy on carloads of celery shipped for drying purposes of administrative levy on celery was voiced at yesterday's meeting of celery growers and shippers in Lakeland.

George Balmes of Sanford, president of the Sanford Celery Truck Growers' Association, was the speaker in opposition to the suggested increase, pointing out that the new levy would amount to $2.53 per carload instead of $1 per carload.

Balmes said he believed three-fourths of a cent would be sufficient to pay all expenses.

John Mosch, St. H. J. Lehman, W. A. Leffer and others from Sanford who attended yesterday's meeting left about 11 o'clock last night to return home. Some minor details of the levy were not mentioned at today's meeting.

Approximately 100 persons were in Lakeland for a public hearing on the proposed levy to be held at the plant at Lakeland tomorrow through Saturday night, starting at 7 o'clock.

H. H. Tidmore, local manager of the Florida Fruit & Light Co., explained today.

Building permits were issued yesterday for a new home for the City Commissioner. The new home will be located at the intersection of Nineteenth Street and Sanford Heights, to cost $100,000.

E. Swartz, a local contractor, is building a new home at Third Street, to cost $100,000.

Up To People To Initiate 'Recall' Of Slot Machines

Expressing the opinion that "every member" of the City Commission is opposed to slot machines on "moral" grounds but as being that under the state law the Commission could not refuse to license them, Mayor T. L. Duane said today that any move to recall the law must come from the people.

"Any move of that kind must be initiated by the people," he declared.

Commissioner W. A. Leffer expressed opposition to the slot machines when the new licensing ordinance was considered by the City Commission last Friday night and passed as an emergency measure the day following that, but had not read yesterday's dispatches disclosing the local option feature of the law and therefore was not in a position today to express an opinion.

The commissioner's time yesterday was taken up with consideration of celery market control proposals at the Lakeland meeting which he attended.

Orlando papers report that a "legendary war" was declared yesterday in the Orange county metropolitan by Mayor E. W. Estes who ordered the chief of police to that city to gather up slot machines being operated there illegally.

It was said to be the greatest win in the history of Florida land elections.

The notification election now a matter of history, the board of commissioners for the Florida Ship Canal Navigation District is setting into motion the machinery for the sale of that portion of the $1,000,000 in bonds needed at this time for the purchase of right-of-way for the Trans-Florida canal.

Ship Canal Area Reported Infringed by Slot Machines—headlines. Well, after all, the canal itself is a gamble.

Ethiopia accuses Italy of using dum dum bullets. Almost any kind of bullets in our opinion are dumb dum bullets.

Perhaps one reason we are having another big wind so late in the season this year is that a national political campaign is just getting under way.

Judging from the election returns, we gather that the people of north Florida are in favor of the canal. But then nobody ever said the people of north Florida weren't in favor of the canal.

We see where Halle Belasie has ordered some 500,000 of his warriors to resist the Italians. These Black Berets of Mussolini are going to keep on mauling around in Ethiopia until they have to fight a battle.

Isn't it funny every time we say something nice about someone, somebody jumps all over us about it. In times like these a fellow can make more friends giving everybody hell than he can by complimenting them.

Count Ciano says this is a lot of bunk about the Italians using poisonous gas and dum dum bullets. All they did, he says, was to drop a few ten pound bombs on Ethiopian heads and spray them with machine gun bullets.

Stephen Leacock says that the National Youth Administration instead of sending our young men to college should take a page from the A.A.A.'s cotton and wheat agreements, and pay them for what they do not learn.

Pictures from Ethiopia show Missouri mules carrying Italian ammunition from the ammunition depots up to the front lines. Although we have embargoed munition shipments to Italy in our effort to remain neutral, we still sell them the mules to carry their ammunition up to their guns.

Secretary Wallace says it is not fair to blame the A.A.A. for the price of bread. It may be that the production control policies of the agricultural department had nothing whatever to do with the rise in prices, but it cannot be denied that it was the intent, and still is the intent of the A.A.A. to raise prices, whether it succeeds or not, and whether it is to blame for the higher cost of living or not.

Comptroller Lee says his complaints to slot machines in vigorous fashion. Any machine that has a fixed system of taking something for nothing from a citizen is in my opinion a damnable machine and governmental support and maintenance based upon such sources of revenue is in my mind a dangerous practice with hollowed leadership.

Local homesteads worried about the suggested imposition of a special "garbage collection tax" will be interested in the news that General Electric has just patented a new device, and plans to put it on the market in a few months, which is placed just under the sink, and which cleans up the mess, and washes it all away and sends it down the drain.

Grab And Scram

We remember well a peculiarly picturesque Irish cook who used to ladle out pork and beans or beef stew, the first one meal and the other the next, in camp one summer. He was not what you would call a good cook, but he was generous, and we were always hungry. When the time came for another orgy of gormandizing, he would stand in the door of the mess hall and bellow at the top of his voice, "Ooms and get it, you pot hounds!"

We have often thought of him during the past year or two as Secretary Ickes or Administrator Hopkins has appeared in the doorway of the federal treasury and shouted something pretty much of the same nature to the whole country. Even so conservative an economist and statistician as Roger Babson seems to have fallen under the spell of the "come and get it" mania. In one of his most recent articles he advises each community to get its full share of government handouts now and not to be too fussy.

"Every community should apply for twice as many projects as it needs or hopes to get ratified," Mr. Babson writes. "Approved projects do not all have to be started, but each city can pick and choose from those that have been sanctioned. The greater the number and the greater the variety of projects that have been approved, the greater your ability to take care of all your jobs at all times. Unimproved dirt roads are especially recommended as their cost is almost wholly labor. It is true that some one department of a community must sponsor each project before you get the money. This is not necessary, however, when the application is made, provided this statement is added: 'The city's contribution will be determined by the proper department head later.'"

"Of course, I do not approve of all this spending of money by the federal government. It seems a useless attempt to uphold our standard of living on the artificially high level that developed between the war and 1929. Only a change of character and a determination on the part of every man to be self-supporting and independent—that is a spiritual revival—can now prevent a decline in the standard of living. Just at the moment there is some official talk about tapering off this reckless spending program. The income and expense account of the treasury for the first quarter of the fiscal year, however, reveals that spending has reached the highest level in our peacetime history. Here are the figures for 1934 and 1935:

U. S. Treasury Report—July 1 Through October 7 1934 and 1935. Table with columns for Total receipts, Ordinary expenses, Emergency expenses, Total expenses, and Net deficit for both years.

NOTE in the above figures that the character of government spending is rapidly changing. The big increase since last year has come in the ordinary running expenses. Emergency outlays are not much larger than a year ago. This is extremely important for the permanent running costs will be far more difficult to reduce than the emergency or relief expenses. Surely this huge outgo of funds means higher taxes for everybody sooner or later. So invest some of your money now in good non-taxable securities.

B. P.—Before Pleistocene

Jim Gut, who discusses saber-tooth tigers, giant armadillos, Arcodus Floridaensis, glyptodonts, and canis riverensis of the Pleistocene period with the marked familiarity with which most of us call the dog or tell the cat to "scat!," will be interested to know that the Field Museum of Natural History at Chicago has just completed a life-size representation of the titanotheres, a gigantic beast which roamed this country some 45 million years ago.

The titanotheres are great extinct two-horned giants related in some degree to the ancestors of the horse, and in other respects to the rhinoceroses. They first appeared in the Eocene time (45,000,000 years ago) but reached their greatest size in the Bad Lands of Nebraska and the Dakotas about 35,000,000 years ago. For a period of about 20,000,000 years they roamed those regions until their sudden extermination by unknown natural causes.

Today, we read in one of our exchanges, Chicago possesses, in Field Museum of Natural History, a representation of these gigantic beasts. What they were like is shown in various ways in the museum. Of interest is a life-size restoration of the animals, in three dimensions, as they appeared in life, amid a reproduction of the natural surroundings they haunted—the first such restoration of these animals ever attempted by scientists. In this group are shown an enormous male in standing position, and a female and a young titanotheres lying down.

"The restorations," it is said, "appear as though they were living animals of the present time, except that they differ in appearance from any modern animals. This group is the work of Frederick Blauth, well known sculptor. Supplementing it are two skeletons, mounted in different attitudes, a large collection of skulls and miscellaneous bones of various species of titanotheres, and a large mural painting by the noted artist, Charles R. Knight, giving a different aspect of the animals in life."

The titanotheres are said to resemble somewhat rhinoceroses in appearance, but were as tall and bulky as elephants. The largest ones attained a length of about thirteen and one-half feet, a height of more than eight feet, and weighed fully as great as African elephants, according to Elmer S. Riggs, associate curator of paleontology. Their legs were massive, and their feet were padded like those of elephants. They lived in wet, marshy lands and fed upon plants.

They were so abundant as bison were when white men first explored America. Their two hind horns were placed side by side on the nose and served as offensive weapons. While related to both the horse and the rhinoceros families, they differed from both of these in many ways. Numerous fossil skeletons which have been covered up for millions of years by sand and clay have been found in recent years, washed out by rains and storms.

THE COMPASS

Governor Talmadge—Dilemma (In Two Installments—No 1) By Arthur Dunn

ATLANTA, Ga. Oct. 24.—The burning question in Georgia's mind does Governor Talmadge really plan a military dictatorship for 1936?

The Legislature adjourned without appropriating money for running the state after Jan. 1. It cannot be re-convened except by direct action of the Governor. Will he call it together or will he collect and disburse taxes at the point of a bayonet?

Journeying toward Atlanta I found many who did not believe the Chief Executive planned to carry on by martial law. Some thought he was just seeking publicity and did not himself yet know what he would do. But newspapers are expressing indignation and alarm; he is caricatured as a Mussolini, Slogans of Revolutionary days are appearing—"Taxation without representation is tyranny," etc.

On my arrival in Atlanta I talked over the situation with two of the Governor's official colleagues and was assured by one that he did not believe the Governor seriously contemplated spending money without legislative appropriation. The next day I discussed the matter with the Hon. Eugene Talmadge himself, and can state positively (1) that he does not intend to call a special session of the Legislature, (2) that he does plan to collect and disburse taxes in 1936 without legislative appropriation, (3) that he claims constitutional authority for so doing.

To forecast to what lengths he will go requires an estimate of his make-up and knowledge of his previous methods of dealing with opposition. Tom Linder, his secretary of agriculture who jumped into the limelight when he advocated secession, describes the Governor as a man who "picks two miles, has dirt in his shoes and sand in his gizzard." If you add the fact that he has practiced law—a graduate of the University of Georgia Law School, you have the combination of college-bred man, lawyer, farmer and fighter.

And if you do not overlook his stubborn determination, his soaring energy, his oratorical ability, his likable personality and an unquestioning faith in the infallibility of his own political philosophy and methods, you do not have to guess much about what the Governor will do.

He does not balk at direct action. When he fired the State Highway Commission, and they balked to depart, he declared martial law and sent the militia to oust them. When the Legislature adjourned without reducing the automobile license to $3, he dug up an old (and not once used) Act of 1821 giving the Governor the right to "suspend the collection of taxes or any part thereof until the next meeting of the General Assembly."

As the Attorney General told me, the Governor suspended the law down to $3. He issued an executive order to that effect and gave the Motor Vehicle Department twenty minutes to decide whether they would obey it. "I am proud to say, at the end of twenty minutes the employees of the Motor Vehicle Department accepted the order," the Governor said in his speech on July 4th, 1934. "We had a bargain counter in the basement at the Capitol, and Adjutant General Camp did not have the job of selling the tags with the National Guard."

Labor in the state is against the Governor by a large majority because of his free and vigorous use of the militia in strikes. I have been in other states when strikes were in progress and found picket lines effective in preventing the operation of the plants by their owners. Not so in Georgia. Her Governor suffers pickets as spectators only.

Governor Talmadge regards as a personal challenge the failure of the Legislature to enact appropriations. His parting shot to me was: "I don't believe, when I am through with them, another Legislature will ever adjourn without passing an appropriations bill."

There is no doubt in my mind that he will use every power at his command to make the state function during 1936 without a Legislature, and see whatever force is necessary to do so. Because of his opposition to Roosevelt and because he is a candidate himself for the presidential nomination, Georgia will continue to furnish a rich harvest of newspaper copy for many days to come.

Overdrive Is A Feature Of New Chrysler Autos

Ever since Walter P. Chrysler brought out the first car bearing his name back in 1924, and with it scrapped most of the engineering traditions of the industry, the public has looked to Chrysler for advanced engineering. The best things first" has become the company's watchword and it has been lived up to consistently.

For this reason, the public is awaiting the announcement of the Chrysler 1936 line in the belief that it will again contain some startling news. Full details of the Chrysler 1936 line in the belief that this company has again led up to its reputation as a pioneer and that the new car will include a number of exclusive features that insure improved performance, greater luxury and an added measure of safety.

The success of the Chrysler automatic overdrive in the Air-flow line made it inevitable that Chrysler would eventually extend this feature to the lower-priced cars in the line. It is understood that this has been achieved and that the overdrive is to be had in the Chrysler Six and DeLuxe Eight at a slight extra cost. The value of the overdrive has been so thoroughly demonstrated in the last two years that its application to smaller and lower-priced cars can hardly be over estimated.

Expect Thousands At University For Homecoming Day

Graduates Return To Their Alma Mater Last Of This Week

By FRANK S. WRIGHT GAINESVILLE, Oct. 24.—This University City will be the mecca for several thousand men and women next week-end as the University of Florida observes its annual Homecoming.

Heading the parade to Gatortland from every section of the state will be old grads and recent winners of the coveted sheepskin. For Homecoming is the special occasion when the University calls for its sons to return to the campus.

Beginning early Friday and not concluding until late Saturday, the two-day Homecoming program bids fair to eclipse any in the long history of such celebrations. Governor Dave Sholtz will head the cortege of distinguished officials of the state who will join their fellow citizens here for the occasion. Governor Noy of Maryland, President Curley Byrd of the University of Maryland, and Edgar Allen Poe, now living in Baltimore, are included in the list of distinguished out-of-state personages.

The Homecoming program will receive its primary impetus with the gala swimming and diving exhibition in the University pool at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon when a contingent of 11 national and Olympic champions, such a sensational figure in the sports world, will bid for national records under official A. A. U. supervision. At 8 o'clock on Friday evening

Two Die In Plane Crash At Pensacola

PENSACOLA, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Hemmed in their battered cockpit, two young lieutenants rode to their deaths yesterday as a crash 1000 feet in the air broke a nine-ship student formation, sending one of the planes into a tall spin. They were Lieut. R. F. Coates of the Marine Corps, both Naval Academy graduates in the class of 1930.

Their plane and one piloted by Lieut. C. S. Willard, flying a close range on the extreme right of the formation, crashed. The fuselage smashed in around them and they were unable to bail out as the ship went into a tail spin.

SCHOOLS HERE WILL BE OPEN SEVEN MONTHS

Williams said he did not know what appropriation would be made Seminoles County in the event the Governor is able to dig up more money, neither was he able to state whether additional moneys would be granted upon the basis of school attendance or upon needs.

Mr. Williams said that Jacksonville schools had to borrow $134 for the first month this term. In former years the local high schools have had a nine month term while the elementary schools were open for only seven months as the Southern Association of Accredited Schools required a term of nine months in high schools. Mr. Lawton explained that when this rule was changed to include elementary schools in the nine month category, some 17 counties in Florida failed to make up the difference in the length of terms of school in the high and the elementary grades.

Mr. Lawton, as chairman of the Association's committee, took a quiet note of the fact that the present intention of the state to hope for by the school year, but the school year, but the school year, but the school year.

The strange Water Turkey, also known as Snake-bird and Anhinga, is more at home in the water than out of it. It dives for its prey, usually small fish, with such amazing ease and incredible swiftness that escape is quite impossible.

Resolutions of the joint meeting of the Deland and Orlando zones of the Florida Missionary Society were presented by Mr. Lawton.

Improved Passing Attack Is Counted On For Victory In Friday's Game With DeLand

Three Men Disabled, But Coach McClucas Hopes For Victory

The Celery Feds have shown up remarkably well in scrimmages this week, Coach McClucas of the Sanford squad said today, and with an improved passing attack he is sanguine of success when Seminole High meets DeLand in Sanford tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

"The team has been better in scrimmages this week than ever before," the coach declared. "Three men will be out of tomorrow's game, two of them because of injuries sustained in scrimmages this week. They are Stoloff, left halfback, and Merchant, right halfback. Glovock is still out of the game with two broken ribs.

The team will leave at 6 o'clock for the game, but loyal fans are endeavoring to arrange a big motorcade to leave at a later hour for DeLand. Some 60 cars went to Daytona Beach last Friday night, but as DeLand is only 18 miles from Sanford it is hoped that more than 100 carloads of rooters will go to the game and cheer the Celery Feds on to their first victory this year.

Rollins Tars Meet A Louisiana Squad Next Friday Night

Tackles On Visiting Team The Heaviest On A Dixie Eleven

WINTER PARK, Oct. 24.—If the Rollins Tars think they ran up against some big linemen when they played Newberry last week, they are mistaken. Southeastern Louisiana, the Tars' next opponent will put 445 pounds of linemen in two parcels on Tinker Field Friday night of this week when they tangle with Rollins.

Costanza, left tackle for Southeastern Louisiana, kicks the seals around to exactly 230, while his running mate at the other tackle, Thomas, is a mere strapping at 216 pounds. This combination probably outweighs any pair of tackles in the South.

With the Rollins offense relying on its slashes inside and outside tackles for its ground gaining, Costanza and Thomas provide a real problem for the Tars to chew on. How the Rollins blockers can move these two behemoths is a rather difficult question for any expert.

Built around these hulks are a pair of guards, Indroguello and Wilson, weighing 170 and 180 respectively. Penharris, the center, is the lightest man in the Crook States forward wall. He weighs 160 pounds. The two wingmen, King and Gramkur, are ordinary sized men. King tips the beam at 170, while Gramkur is five pounds lighter at 165.

To go with this well balanced line, Southeastern has a brace of fast stepping backs in Galloway and Gastmeyer. In the Miami battle, Galloway was the running sensation and Rollins scouts marked him down as the best threat since then, however, Gastmeyer has developed into a threat and is regarded almost as dangerous as Galloway. Between the two giant tackles and the pair of hard running backs there should be plenty of grief for Rollins.

But, as usual, the Rollins coaches go ahead with their business. They don't appear concerned with what the other team has to offer in size. Their only concern is to polish up the offense of the Blue and Gold grid machine. And then, they opine "Those other teams can start worrying about us."

Football Gossip

Louis Ennis, University of Maryland end, the team that plays the Florida Gators at Gainesville on "Homecoming Day," has been appointed a student colonel of R. O. T. C. He is the first Maryland student so honored. He also is president of the student government body and ranks at the top scholastically.

In the larger cities in which Big Ten Conference games are played the practice of celebrating the night before, as they do on Derby eve in Louisville, is growing. The reason, possibly, is that both sides may enjoy the festivities on Friday night.

Cautioning his athletes, following their 19-0 defeat of Southern California last week, Bob Zuppke, Illinois coach, said: "I'm trying to control my enthusiasm because I know the neck inherit the earth."

Marty Brill, former Notre Dame star now coaching at La Salle College, had to huddle about the field on crutches last week while preparing his charges for the Villa Nova game.

Returning home to Minneapolis with his hand of Minnesota players, who pounded out a victory over Nebraska at Lincoln, Bernie Bierman called his Gophers "absolutely the hardest fighting team I've ever seen play football. The last quarter seemed four hours long to me!" One wonders how long it seemed to the boys out there on the fields.

Another berries seems to be on the way to football fame. Young Bill, brother of Navy's famous Buzz, is attracting attention as an end on the Washington and Lee freshman team, but he modestly says he wants to be known as "just one of the Jones boys" until he earns a reputation on his own.

Big Ten commentators are being a bit snooty about Eastern football these days, what with teams from the Mid-West successful nearly everywhere. Iowa's victory over Colgate, for instance, demonstrated the greater vigor of Midwestern football and showed that teams that go in too far for "this flipping game" often pay the penalty of being too soft to survive tough punishment.

It should be news that Gil Dolbe expressed satisfaction over the performance of his Cornell team against Syracuse. He is even "hooking forward" to the Princeton game week and thinks he might turn out a football team yet.

Vince Reno, star halfback at Temple University, is a professional tap dancer.

Pepper Conatable, Princeton captain, is said to be so superstitious he bets half a dollar on Tiger opponents each week. Think it brings luck. He's had a couple of close calls for his half a buck so far.

Reports were received by the City fire department last night that a truck loaded with crude oil for the resurfacing work on State Road No. 2 between Sanford and Orlando burned a short distance the other side of the Osceola bridge.

West Palm Beach Lawyer Wants To Govern Florida

WEST PALM BEACH, Oct. 24.—R. F. Patten, a practicing attorney here for the last 11 years, today announced his candidacy for Governor of Florida. In his announcement he stated: "If elected, no member of either House of the Legislature nor any close relative, will ever be on any pay roll, directly or indirectly, of any department over which I may have control."

Patten is a past president of the Palm Beach County Bar Association, former chairman of the Florida State Racing Commission, and a World War veteran. He was born in Bell Buckle, Tenn., in 1893 and attended North Carolina, Vanderbilt and Cumberland Universities.

The Army project will provide a large number of men with employment for a period of eight months, the WPA official estimated. Forty-five men will start the work Monday, but this number will be greatly augmented later. Under government supervision, $13,750 of the federal appropriation of nearly $25,000 must be paid out for labor in the Seminole County Board of County Commissioners, the Sanford City Commission and the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce agreed many months ago to furnish several thousand dollars worth of building materials for the Army. ## Florida-Maryland Meet For The 4th Time On Saturday

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 24.—Maryland and Florida will meet for the fourth time on the gridiron in their game at Gainesville Saturday. The Gators have won two of the games but the Terps have scored one more point, 27 to 26.

Back in 1927, the Terps visited Jacksonville and lost a 7-0 tilt through failure to add the extra point. In 1933, Florida gave Maryland a 19 to 0 beating at Tampa and last year the Terps walloped the Gators in Baltimore 20 to 0.

Maryland is hopeful of making the series 2-2 Saturday.

been clearly manifested in the decade of the twenties. This was a period of remarkable technological advancement and both the amount of capital and the efficiency of its use increased in nearly all lines.

"But the benefits were not automatically passed on to the masses of consumers either through proportional wage increases or price reductions. Wholesale prices of manufactured commodities declined a scant 5 percent and retail prices not at all."

As a first requirement to stepping up business activity, Dr. Moulton urged that it reach a basic change of attitude toward prices and then systematically study ways and means to decrease them "all along the line." He added:

"This is the great challenge which is presented to American business men in the years that lie ahead."

Growers Favor Tax Per Crate; Was $1 A Car

Advisable Quota For Celery Season Is Reported As Being Agreeable To Most

Control Benefits Shown By Figures

Compilation Made By Economist Read At Lakeland Meeting

Increasing of the administration tax from $1 per car to one cent per crate on celery and adoption of a season advisable quota for celery production "seems from the weight of evidence" given at the Lakeland control conference to be favored by a majority of the growers. C. E. Dawson, county farm agent, reported today upon his return from the conference between growers and shippers with AAA officials from Washington.

The levy for paying administrative costs of control last year was $1 per car. Under the proposed new setup that cost would be about three and one-half times greater, as 252 crates can be packed in the average car.

Article 3, which Mr. Dawson said the "weight of evidence" showed was acceptable to the majority, would put a season advisable quota on the total number of crates of celery to be shipped out during the season. This, in effect, he said, would control acreage.

Foreclosure Sale Of Old Tax Deeds Will Be Allowed

Despite the law passed by the last State Legislature, foreclosure sale of tax sale certificates issued prior to the legislative enactment will be permitted, County Clerk O. F. Herndon has been advised by State Comptroller J. M. Lee.

The comptroller wrote Attorney General Cary D. Landis for a ruling, and the attorney general's answer was forwarded to Mr. Herndon. This reads as follows: "Replying to your request for an opinion on this subject, it is my opinion that the right of persons to foreclose tax sale certificates lawfully acquired between the effective dates of Chapter 14572 and Chapter 17443 is not affected by the repeal of Section 13 of Chapter 14572, Act of 1929."

Register Is Kept At County Chamber Of Commerce Office

The request was made today by E. H. Lane, chairman of the tourist committee of the trade body, and is addressed to new residents and winter visitors, and to hotels and home owners where visitors are stopping.

"It would certainly be helpful if we could get their co-operation in doing this," Mr. Lane said, "for a great many folks passing through the City call at the Chamber of Commerce office to ask the addresses of friends or of business acquaintances who have stopping in the City, or who have recently moved to Sanford."

Better Citizens Make Better Country

"Better citizens make a better country," Joe D. Jinks, County tax collector, told members of the Sanford lodge of the Woodmen of the World in an address before that body last night on "Citizenship."

The speaker closed his address by quoting the American's creed as written by William Tyler Page: "I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of free men; united in affection and sympathy; enjoying equal rights and equal opportunity."

Five Millions At Work Again, President Says

$12,000,000 Increase Of Weekly Payroll Is Also Reported; Support Charities

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—President Roosevelt last night reported that 5,000,000 persons have been re-employed since his inauguration, and urged the public to continue contributions to private charities to remove the relief burden from federal, state and local governments.

In a brief talk in behalf of the 1935 Mobilization for Human Needs, Mr. Roosevelt, just 12 hours returned to the capital from his re-going vacation, asserted he has greater confidence that private industry is beginning to take up unemployment slack.

"I can, however, bring you some good news this evening," he said. "The results of the September employment survey have just come to me from the Secretary of Labor. During the month of September 350,000 men and women were returned to employment in the reporting private industries of the nation, and the money in weekly pay envelopes of these industries was $12,000,000 greater than their weekly pay envelopes in the previous month of August."

This, he explained, has brought total re-employment since the March 1933 low-point to nearly 5,000,000 persons in private industry with a weekly payroll increase of $104,000,000.

Referring to the New Deal's $4,000,000,000 program to employ 3,500,000 persons and end direct relief, the President said it was creating "boom side" jobs. He predicted that the "great majority of these people" will be at work within a month.

He thanked the nation for its "spiritual response" to appeals to aid the destitute during the "years of deep depression from which we are happily and rapidly emerging."

"Even those industries which were long backward in showing signs of recovery are putting their best foot forward," he added. "The so-called heavy industries for example show an encouraging sign of improvement."

"Employment in the so-called durable goods group is now 62 percent higher than in the spring of 1933; their weekly payrolls are 139 percent higher; and this represents a net increase in employment of 1,185,000 men and women."

Depression Is First Felt By Schools, Teachers Are Told

Addressing the Seminole County Teachers Club last night, Prof. Harry C. Garwood, head of the department of philosophy of Stetson University, left with the more than 100 pedagogues present these questions for their consideration and possible solution: "Why is it that in every financial depression the schools must bear the brunt of the misfortune? Why is it that the government, state or national, always expects the schools to suffer the first and greatest curtailment, and at the same time be the last to enjoy restoration to a normal state?"

Reporting that the National Educational Association estimated that two million children had been affected by the shortening of school terms, he summed up the situation as follows: "Teacher's salaries were reduced as much as 40 percent."

Governor Asked To Try To Obtain Geologists' Data

Continuing in its efforts to obtain publication of the Malheur Piping, the Central and South Florida, and Hurwell geologists, Florida Water Conservation Committee, by Ralph B. Chapman, director, last night urged Governor Davis Sholtz, who is now in Washington, in the hope of enlisting his aid. The Governor was asked to "urge" Gen. E. M. Hays, chief of U. S. Army engineers, to release the reports for publication.

"Our information," the conservationists wired the Governor, "is that complete publication of these reports must at once stop as a condition to the canal, and add that, in respect of whether such publication would result in a cessation of canal construction, 'the people of Florida and the nation are entitled to know the contents of the reports.'"

No reply had been received up to noon today from Governor Sholtz. Also, no reply has been received to the letter signed by E. F. Dorner, chairman of the conservation committee, and mailed last Saturday to General A. W. Somervell, Army engineer in charge of canal construction.

The telegram was sent to Governor Sholtz in care of U. S. Senator D. U. Fletcher and reads as follows: "Will you not urge General E. M. Markham to release for publication in full the Malcolm Pirnie and Burwell geological reports, earlier rendered to engineers, concerning possible effects of a canal on the underground water supplies of Florida, which reports are held in files at Washington and access denied to the public. Our information is that complete publication of these reports must at once stop work upon the canal. Whether or not this is true, the people of Florida and the nation are entitled to know their contents."

Firemen Fight To Save Homes Of Movie Stars

Worst Blaze Brought Under Control 100 Feet From Resort On Pacific Coast

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Famed Malibu Beach film colony was saved from destruction today as the worst blaze in Southern California's protracted battle against raging brush fires was brought under control. Firemen fought for hours to halt advance of the flames barely 100 feet away from the north end of the beach resort.

Five hundred heavily exhausted firefighters started the back fire and herded it back to meet the on-rolling wall of flames, and with a spectacular clash of fire that leaped high in the air against a billowing background of smoke the menace to Malibu colony was ended, at least temporarily.

Damage entailed by the disastrous fire was estimated last night to have already reached the $8,000,000 mark. Roughly divided, the loss was estimated at $3,500,000 in Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties to citrus, walnut and other agricultural crops; $3,000,000 to forest acreage; $1,000,000 to residences and mountain cabins destroyed in the path of the flames, and at least $600,000 incidental damage to oil wells, shipping and private boats, automobiles, signboards, windows and awnings, street trees, automobiles and highways.

Thanks Of Health Group In Plea For Help Is Extended

Thanks of the Seminole County Tuberculosis and Health Association were today extended to two individuals and one organization for their work in Washington in support of an application for federal funds to build sanatoria for the tubercular. The application was filed with the Public Works Administration, but there has as yet been no allocation of funds for the desired projects.

The Association reports that in the last nine months there have been nine deaths from tuberculosis in this county. Seminole County should be particularly interested in this report, a statement issued by the group. "The only way to lower this high death rate is to provide proper treatment and proper hospitalization."

The Tuberculosis and Health Association has been exerting every effort to expedite approval of an application for government funds, and has received the support of the following to whom the Association extends its thanks: Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, Seminole County Medical Association, Seminole County Board of the American Red Cross, Seminole County Boy Scout District, the County Commission, the County Federation of Women's Clubs, the Miners' Association, the Parents and Teachers Association, The Sanford Kiwanis Club, Mayor T. L. Thomas of Sanford, and Vice President J. L. Treble of the Sanford Atlantic National Bank.

Warriors Mass To Battle For Haile Selassie

Ethiopians Expected To Engage Italian Force Near Center Of Desert Empire

Report II Duce In Peace Move

Notable Concessions Said To Have Been Made By Dictator

Unaccounted thousands of Ethiopian warriors converged on two fronts today to reply further advances by Italy's Fascist legions. Four armies seemed about to come to grips in two big battles which may decide the fate of Emperor Haile Selassie's desert arid mountain empire.

The fortress towns of Makkale, on the northern front, and Gorbati, on the south, were the rallying points for major bodies of the Ethiopians, Italian air scouts reported.

In the north, General Emilio De Bono had thrown his lines somewhat forward of Adigrat, Abaya and As-sun, his three big columns totaling more than 107,000 men in the last advance.

In the south, General Rudolf Graziani straightened his front along a line from Walwal, site of the famous border incident, to Dolo, the first major point to fall on the Italian Somaliland front.

Ethiopian government officials expressed lack of interest in individual diplomatic negotiations for peace, and in London King George's speech from the throne, in pronouncing Parliament, expressed "my gravest concern" over the Italo-Ethiopian crisis.

The king cited that his government had exerted every effort to obtain peace.

Rome, like Addis Ababa, appeared only faintly interested in peace moves.
