Iraqi Warplanes Bomb Iranian Oil Installations

Marine Missing In Persian Gulf

By John Phillips
MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — Iraq said its warplanes bombed and set ablaze two offshore Iranian oil installations today as U.S. ships and aircraft searched for an American serviceman aboard a Marine helicopter that crashed in the Persian Gulf.

Haghdad radio said jets twice attacked Iran's Cyrus oil field and the field at Farsi Island, scoring "precise and effective hits" that set the targets on fire. The radio report said the strikes were in retaliation for Iranian artillery strikes on Iraq Sunday that left 19 dead and many wounded.

An Iranian commander, meanwhile, was quoted in a Tehran newspaper today as saying

Iranian forces would attack U.S. bases in gulf states "once the malicious intent of the United States is established."

Rear Adm. Harold Bernsen, commander of Gulf Naval Forces, said a U.S. Marine UH-1 helicopter crashed about 900 yards from the navy command ship La Salle at 8:08 p.m. local time Sunday with a crew of four aboard. Three crewmen managed to board a lifeboat and were rescued by seamen in a launch from the La Salle.

Bernsen said the helicopter was on a routine operation and that there was no hostile fire. The cause of the crash was under investigation.

Helicopters, fixed-wing aircraft and ships in the area searched for the missing crewman, assigned to the Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron 263 of Jacksonville, N.C.

"There's still a chance we may find this guy," Bernsen said.

The three other crewmen were reported in good condition.

It was the second such incident in the gulf since the U.S. military buildup began in the war-torn gulf this summer. On July 30, a navy SH-30 Sea King helicopter "Desert Duck" crashed while trying to land on the La Salle. Four crewmen were killed and five others rescued from the water.

A convoy of nine Japanese ships steamed out of the gulf at a speed of 20 knots today, the first movement of the vessels since they were halted

Seminole Lags In Voting Exceeds Average In Registered Voters

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer
 A U.S. Census Bureau household survey of U.S. voters show that 80 million voted in the Nov. 1986 election. There were 112 million registered to vote out of a total population, over the age of 18, of 174 million.

By percentage comparison, Seminole County citizens exceeded the national registered-to-vote average but lagged behind the nation in the number of registered voters who actually voted.

In Seminole County, 73 percent of the estimated population, 188,299 out of 254,837, were eligible to vote. Nationwide, 64 percent of the population, 174 million out of 240 million, is eligible to vote.

In Seminole County, 63 percent of the registered voters went to the polls in the last general election. Nationwide, 71 percent of the registered voters cast ballots in the last general election.

Since the last general election the number of registered voters in Seminole County has dropped because registered voters who have neither voted in the last two years nor contacted the voter registration office have

Aftershocks Shake Los Angeles Again

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Thousands of immigrants with memories of earthquakes that ravaged their homelands spent the night outdoors following a damaging aftershock that sent scores of people to hospitals and prompted predictions of more tremors.

Deaths directly and indirectly attributable to the earthquake activities now total 8 plus numerous injuries. Property damage estimates total hundreds of millions of dollars.

Another aftershock measuring 3.4 on the Richter scale was recorded at 12:05 a.m. (3:05 EDT) today, said Caltech spokesman Bob Finn.

Seismologists at the California Institute of Technology said the tremor that awoke an already jittery population at 3:59 a.m. Sunday in an area of 18 million residents measured 5.5 on the Richter scale — the strongest of the more than 100 aftershocks recorded since Thursday's 6.1

tremor. Thursday's earthquake killed three people, induced four fatal heart attacks and caused $108 million in damage according to early estimates, officials said. It was the most serious quake to strike Southern California since 1971, when a temblor measuring 6.5 claimed 64 lives and caused $1 billion in damage.

Although few serious injuries were reported Sunday, scores of people complaining of minor injuries poured into hospitals. Whittier Presbyterian Hospital and Beverly Hospital in Montebello reported 50 and 40 people hurt, respectively. Similar numbers were reported at other hospitals.

Only one fatality was reported Sunday. Mildred Robbins, 66, died at Arcadia Methodist Hospital from a heart attack brought on by the tremor, according to nursing supervisor Julie Herman.

County To Contest City's Action

Longwood Mulls Annexed Property Zoning

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer
 Public hearings are scheduled for tonight's meeting of the Longwood City Commission on ordinances to change the zoning on newly annexed property being contested by Seminole County.

The commission will hold a public hearing and take final action on amending the Comprehensive Plan Land Use Element to change the designated use to Residential Professional for Lots 1, 2 and 3 of Koontz

Villa Park, which is located north of Longwood Hills Road on the west side of County Road 427 during the 7:30 p.m. meeting at city hall.

A public hearing will also be held on amending the Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance to change the zoning classification for the same property from R-1 Single Family Residential and A-1 Agriculture to RP Residential Professional.

The applicant H&M Holding Co. had originally requested C-2 Office-Commercial Zoning, but the commission, on the recommendation of City Planner Chris Nagle, gave preliminary approval to Residential Professional in order to eliminate some types of businesses and professions that would generate more traffic.

The commission voted to annex the property on Sept. 14 in spite of a threat by assistant county attorney Lonnie Groot that the property annexation was not contiguous and the county would contest the action in court.

The Seminole County Commission later voted 3-2 to contest the annexation with commissioners Sandra Glenn and Barbara Christensen voting "no."

Also on tonight's agenda will be a site plan submitted by Friendly Ice Cream Corporation of Wilbraham, Mass., a subsidiary of the Hershey Co. for a 3,587 sq. ft. restaurant at Shoppes of Island Lake located at Slade Drive and State Road 434. The zoning is C-3 General Commercial and Nagle said the

'Teacher Of Year' Establishes Pilot Parenting Study

By Richard Whittaker
Herald Staff Writer

Marge Nelsen, Seminole County's 1987 "Teacher of the Year," is using the $25,000 she has earned as a recipient for one of two Christa McAuliffe Fellowship Program awards given in Florida this year to implement a pilot parenting program at Keeth Elementary School in Winter Springs.

The fellowship is named after the elementary school teacher who lost her life aboard the Space Shuttle Challenger in January of 1986, when it exploded on liftoff killing all seven crewmembers.

The U.S. Department of Education established the fellowship program to honor and reward outstanding fulltime public and private school teachers. The teachers named to the fellowship may use the rewards to improve their knowledge, skills or the education of their students.

Originally from Rochester New York, Nelsen has been with the Seminole County School District since 1970. Her first teaching assignment was at English Estates Elementary School, where she taught kindergarten and second grade. In 1982 Nelsen began teaching second grade at Keeth Elementary School. She has been there since that time. She has been teaching for 19 years altogether.

Nelsen's daughter, Janice, is fourth generation of Kindergarten teachers from Nelsen's side of the family. Her daughter also teaches at Keeth Elementary School.

Nelsen and her husband Lyle also have three sons, Stephen, David and Gregg.

Nelsen elected to use her award money by taking a year-long sabbatical during which time she will work on the parenting program that aims to help ensure the development of a child from birth to three-years-old. Nelsen said the learning potential of a child is really shaped at home by the parents during those early years.

POLICE IN BRIEF

Cut Hand, Trail Of Blood Lead Police To Suspects

Sanford police noticed that a man parked in the intersection of 24th Street at U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford, at about 4 a.m. Saturday had a cut hand. At the same time police heard a dispatch report saying that windows of a home at 2430 Laurel Avenue, Sanford, had been broken by a man.

The suspect and a woman with him in his car were detained and police found blood on a fence and on a closed gate at the home where the incident occurred. From there they followed footprints to the suspect's car and reported they appeared to match prints made by that man's shoes.

At first the man gave police several stories about how he was injured, but eventually he allegedly confirmed that he broke the window. Both he and his companion were arrested on a charge of burglary.

Karl Mitchell Norman, 20, of Ormond Beach, and Lana Jo Legacy, 18, of DeLand, were being held in lieu of $5,000 bond each.

Suspect Caught Upon Return

One of two women, leaving behind a false identification card and a stolen forged check when challenged over the check at a Winn-Dixie store on Sept. 1, reportedly returned to that store at 924 W. State Road 436, Altamonte Springs, Thursday and was recognized by a store manager.

Altamonte Springs police were called to the scene and Thomasina Walton, 38, of Orlando, was charged with uttering a forgery.

The check presented for cashing Sept. 1 was for $258 and drawn on the account of Alumakraft Awning, of Orlando, whose owner had reported to Orlando police that checks were stolen in a Aug. 21 burglary to that business.

Walton was arrested at the store at 1:19 p.m. Thursday and was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Drug Charges Follow Search

Sanford police, with a warrant, searched a home at 1803 W. 14th St., Sanford, at about 1:30 a.m. Friday and reported finding cocaine and marijuana and arresting three people at that home.

Charged with possession of cocaine were Tommy Albert Bush, 24, of Miami, and Wilma Lynett Jones, 34, of the Sanford address. Charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana and possession of a firearm by a convicted felon was Anthony Jerome Robinson, 31, of the Sanford address. Bush and Jones were being held in lieu of $2,000 bond each, and Robinson was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Driving Under Influence Arrests

The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—Willie Oslas, 23, of Orlando, was arrested at 11:55 p.m. Friday on Interstate 4, Lake Mary, after his car was in an accident. He allegedly hit a police officer and was also charged with battery to a policeman and driving with a suspended license. Bond was set at $1,000.

—Clifford Wayne Davis, 27, of 281 Mosswood Circle, Winter Springs, at 1 a.m. Saturday on Interstate 4, Altamonte Springs, after his car was in an accident. He was seen driving erratically and was also charged with leaving the scene of an accident, careless driving, having an unsafe vehicle, and having no vehicle registration or insurance. A passenger in the vehicle, Lenwood Jesse Joiner, 21, of Lady Lake, was allegedly determined to have a small quantity of marijuana and was charged with possession of less than 20 grams of pot. Bond for both was set at $500.

—Shawn Christopher Good, 18, of 1532 Trace Dec Way, Longwood, at 2 a.m. Saturday on Dog Track Road, Longwood, after his car was in an accident. He was also charged with careless driving.

—John Robert Engle, 41, of Orlando, at 3 a.m. Friday on Montgomery Road, Altamonte Springs, after being seen driving with highbeam headlights on and an light burned out. He allegedly fought police and was also charged with battery on a policeman and driving with a suspended license.

Burglaries And Thefts Reported

Tools, power tools and other items belonging to Enner Electric, Inc., 865 B. Sunshine Lane, Altamonte Springs, were reported to sheriff's deputies as stolen from 310 W. Highland Drive, Altamonte Springs, Thursday or Friday.

Two watches, a gold chain and two audio tapes with a total value of about $1,400 were stolen from the home of Karl Robertson, 39, of 130 Heather Hill Court, Longwood, Sept. 27, a sheriff's report said.

Inez Williams, 55, of 837 Lake St., Oviedo, reported to sheriff's deputies that a television, a microwave oven, two tables, stereo and other items with a combined value of about $3,400 were stolen from her home between Sept. 22 and Thursday.

A $300 tractor bucket is missing from the barn of George Rutherford, 1373 Lake Charm Drive, Oviedo. Rutherford told deputies he doesn't know when the bucket was stolen. He reported his loss Thursday.

Richard P. Hardwick, 30, of 277 Sandpiper Drive, Casselberry, reported to sheriff's deputies that a $280 hammer drill and a $195 saw-all were stolen from his garage Thursday.

A thief who broke a glass door to enter Cumberland Farms, 225 Oxford Road, Fern Park, Thursday stole 50 cartons of cigarettes valued at $725, a sheriff's report said.

Jury Selection Begins For Alleged Cocaine Lord

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Some 300 people have been called as potential jurors in the trial of Carlos Lehder Rivas, a reputed leader of the "Medellin Cartel" believed responsible for most of the cocaine brought into the United States.

Eight months after his arrest in a wild gunfight at his Colombian hideaway, Lehder, 38, was to go on trial today on charges of conspiring to smuggle tons of cocaine from Colombia to America.

Some 300 potential jurors were summoned to the federal courthouse, where security for past hearings has included armed marshals, bomb-sniffing dogs, metal detectors and police sharpshooters on rooftops.

U.S. Attorney Robert Merkle asked last month that the names of jurors be kept secret, citing the possibility of reprisals. U.S. District Judge Howell Melton ruled that jury members will be identified publicly only by number but that lawyers and defendants will be identified by name.

Lehder, who once lived in New York, faces an 11-count indictment from 1981 accusing him of conspiring to smuggle 3.3 tons of cocaine from Colombia to the Bahamas and then to Florida and Georgia in 1978-1980. If convicted, he faces up to 165 years in prison.

Jury selection could take several days, and the trial two months.

Besides earning billions of dollars in profits from cocaine, authorities say, Lehder has acquired a reputation for bizarre behavior.

Lehder reportedly has boasted he would have a judge killed every week until his release.

In 1982, he formed the political party Latino Nacional, whose convention was conducted against a backdrop featuring large pictures of Lehder, Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini.

In 1985, Lehder called cocaine Latin America's "atomic bomb" and urged leftist revolutionaries and army officers to join in the "cocaine bonanza" as an "arm of the struggle against America."

Defense lawyers Edward Shohat and Jose Quinon claim Lehder has accumulated his wealth from legal enterprises, including airplane sales and land deals.

A separate Miami indictment has charged Lehder with being one of four leaders of the Medellin Cartel, named for the city in which it is based. Authorities say the ring is responsible for bringing more than half the imported cocaine into this country and many drug-related assassinations in Colombia.

The cartel is reportedly so powerful it has a privately financed army and authorities have given Lehder intense security.

The trial, originally scheduled to begin in March, was delayed several times at the request of defense attorneys.

But their most recent request for a delay, saying they needed more time to analyze 4,000 pages of financial documents concerning Lehder's assets in the Bahamas and a Swiss bank, was denied Friday.

Lehder was flown to Tampa hours after his Feb. 4 capture at his jungle retreat, where his 14 bodyguards fought a gun battle with Colombian authorities.

Attorney General Edward Meese called Lehder's arrest and extradition "a major victory by the government of Colombia in the war on narcotics trafficking."

His co-defendant, Jack Carlton Reed, 57, is charged with conspiracy and faces a maximum 15 years in prison and $25,000 fine. An attempt by defense lawyers to separate Reed's trial was denied.

Second Burglary Proves Downfall

Two men caught at the scene of a second burglary within hours of the first at Cumberland Farms, Oxford Road, Fern Park, were arrested on charges of burglary and grand theft.

The store was first burglarized after 11 p.m. Thursday, with entry made through a broken glass door and about $700 worth of cigarettes were stolen.

At about 4:40 a.m. Friday when a Seminole County sheriff's deputy checked the store, he noted that the broken door, which had been repaired, was broken again and he saw a man run from the store to a car parked outside.

The man tried to flee, but the deputy stopped him. There was a second man in the car, who appeared to be asleep, sheriff's deputies reported.

Loose packs of cigarettes were found in the car, which belongs to the man who was waiting in the car, James Charles Graham, 38, of Orlando.

The man who ran from the store was allegedly carrying out 28 cartons of cigarettes.

A store manager arrived at the scene and through stamps on the packages identified the cigarettes as belonging to that store, a sheriff's report said.

Graham and Willie Spates, 35, of Orlando, were arrested in connection with the second burglary. They were being held in lieu of $1,000 bond each.

Girl Reports School Rape

A 12-year-old girl reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies that she was raped at about 1:45 p.m. Friday in a girl's restroom at Greenwood Lakes Middle School, Green Lake

Boulevard, Lake Mary.

The girl said she was raped by a 13-year-old fellow student. Sheriff's deputies have the name of a possible suspect. The investigation continued.

Canadian High Puts Temps Low

Officially its called a Canadian high pressure area resting above Seminole County. We call it a low thermometer area. It sent temperatures plummeting into the low, low 60s and in some areas of the county, the high 50s. Maybe that's what the term high means.

The "cold" snap will last only a couple of days, probably only a memory come Wednesday. This afternoon the temperature should be in the mid-80s but down into the 60s tonight.

There record lows are playing havoc with some souls but not all. Think about the cross-country ski coach who woke up in Vermont this morning and saw 20 inches of snow on the ground. We haven't had an inch of snow in Seminole in 20 centuries.

However, snow is the talk of the east coast today. Tens of thousands of people were left without power in the unseasonably cold Northeast today by a surprise snowstorm that killed six people, closed highways and brought some areas their heaviest snowfall ever so early in the season.

Hundreds of blacked out New Yorkers spent the night in state shelters after Sunday's storm, which dumped nearly 20 inches of snow in New York's Catskill Mountains and a foot in the Berkshire Mountains of western Massachusetts.

The 6 inches of snow in Albany, N.Y., gave the city its earliest snowfall of more than one-half inch since records have been kept, and Massachusetts had its earliest snowstorm since 3 inches dusted New Asford on Sept. 29, 1893.

"There has been nothing like this much snow this early in the season," Paul Knight, a meteorologist at Pennsylvania

State University, told The New York Times after poring over snowfall records in the Northeast.

Weather-related traffic accidents were blamed for three deaths in New York, two in Connecticut and one in Massachusetts.

Meanwhile, record cold stung the East today, with a record low 38 degrees in Meridian, Miss., and freeze warnings covering parts of New York, western Maryland, the Virginias and the mountains of South Carolina.

While the East shivered, the West simmered in record 100-degree heat that plagued firefighters battling Southern California wildfires.

At the height of Sunday's storm, the entire New York State Thruway and 50 miles of the Massachusetts Turnpike were closed. Power was cut to about 260,000 homes and businesses in New York, and 80,000 in western New England.

Northeast Utilities spokesman Jeff Kotkin said 43,000 Connecticut customers and 7,700 in western Massachusetts remained without power early today.

"We have hundreds of crews going out at the crack of dawn," he said, adding that crews being brought in from as far away as Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Les Radford, operations chief for the New York emergency management office, said power was restored today to most of Schenectady and Albany but outlying areas did not have power and it might take 24 hours to repair some lines.

"We're quite concerned about debris," he said. "There will be loose and dangling wires about and we are warning people not to pull limbs off power lines."

Reagan Resolves Supreme Court Or Bust For Bork, Says Senator

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With a key Democratic fence-sitter bemoaning a "no-win" situation, a leading Republican senator is nonetheless eager to help President Reagan get an up-or-down vote on the Supreme Court nomination of Robert Bork.

Sen. Orrin Hatch, speaking on the eve of the court's first day back to work without a replacement for retired Justice Lewis Powell, relayed what he said was Reagan's resolve not to withdraw his politically charged nomination.

"The president has authorized me to say on this program ... that he is going to press this through to conclusion to a vote on the Senate floor," Hatch declared on NBC's "Meet the Press" Sunday.

On the same program, Sen. Howell Heflin of Alabama, the former state chief justice whose vote is seen as influential with his fellow Southern Democrats, painted in vivid terms the vehemence of the battle that has raged over Bork — and the fiercely contested Senate vote that still lies ahead.

Gore's Exaggerations Surface

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., evoked echoes of the end of his colleague Joseph Biden's rival presidential campaign, which died amid controversy over an exaggerated academic record, by acknowledging he exaggerated his record as an investigative newspaper reporter.

In an interview published last weekend by the Des Moines Register, Gore was quoted as saying he "got a bunch of people indicted and sent to jail" through his journalistic work. The exaggeration in that remark was first reported in Saturday's editions of The Commercial Appeal, a Memphis newspaper.

Then in an interview printed Sunday by his former employer, The Tennessean, Gore acknowledged no one had gone to prison as a result of his reporting.

U.S., Soviets Cooperating in Gulf

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American and Soviet navies are exchanging tactical intelligence on Iranian mine-laying ships and the locations of new underwater explosives in the Persian Gulf region, U.S. intelligence sources say.

One administration official terms the cooperation "highly unusual" because there usually exists "an official quiet" between the two superpower forces.

Yet U.S. analysts told United Press International in recent interviews that the exchanges began in late July after the U.S.-flagged Kuwaiti oil tanker Bridgeton struck an Iranian mine during the first days of an American military escort operation to keep commercial oil flowing in the strategic gulf.

Teachers Return To Head Of Class

CHICAGO (UPI) — The head of the Chicago Teachers Union says a tentative contract ending the city's longest school strike is good both for students and teachers even if it calls for the layoff of nearly 500 educators.

Some teachers said the raise offered by the pact is too small and was an unfair tradeoff for the layoffs, but union President Jacqueline Vaughan said the pact is "the first step to restoring professionalism to our profession."

The teachers were to return to work today to prepare for the academic year after the union's House of Delegates voted 563-95 Sunday night to recommend the two-year contract to the rank and file, and classes for Chicago's 430,000 public school students were to begin Tuesday, four weeks late.

Poll: Long-Term Care Wanted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Most Americans want a federally funded long-term care program and would support increased taxes to pay for it, a nationwide poll showed today.

A coalition of 83 national organizations released the poll of 1,000 randomly selected registered voters as it launched "Long Term Care '88," a public education campaign to get presidential candidates to address the emotional and economic strains caused by the problems of long-term care.

Long-term care is a major "sleeping" issue in the 1988 election and could be a key to a successful presidential campaign, said the poll conducted by RL Associates of Princeton, N.J., on behalf of the Villers Foundation and the American Association of Retired Persons.

When asked to choose between leaving long-term care entirely to the individual or family, or considering some kind of government action or program, an overwhelming 86 percent opted to involve the government. Support for a government program was overwhelming across age groups, income levels and political ties.

But state administration was favored over federal, with private insurance companies running third. Respondents favored a federal program over private insurance companies by a three-to-two margin. But they favored a federally funded program run by the state by a five-to-three margin.

Even with government funding of a long-term care program, 61 percent was opposed to letting private insurance companies administer the program.

Ninety percent of the registered voters favor government action "like Social Security or Medicare" to protect them from long-term care costs.

According to the poll, 68 percent of those surveyed were willing to tax themselves at rates that correspond to their income to pay for long-term care for everyone over 65. The taxes could be anywhere from $10 to $60 more per month. Twenty-two percent were against the idea, and 10 percent said they did not know.

To get the presidential candidates to address the issue, leaders of the organizations announced numerous campaign activities, including presidential forums already scheduled in New Hampshire and Iowa, rallies, paid media advertising and an array of grass-roots events.

Besides the AARP and the Villers Foundation, other participating groups include Child Welfare League, Displaced Homemakers Network, National Association of Area Agencies on Aging, National Consumers League, Paralyzed Veterans of America, Rural Coalition and Organization of Chinese Americans Inc.

Georgia's Rocket City

By Bill Lehmann
UPI Features Writer

CORDELE, Ga. (UPI) — Brake lights brighten and heads turn as motorists slow to stare at the rusting rocket that rises unexpectedly beside Interstate 75 in middle Georgia.

Perched in the parking lot of McBryant's Chevron gas station and next-door to a Krystal hamburger restaurant — and just down the street from a Waffle House and a miniature golf course — the Titan-2 rocket cuts a most peculiar figure on the modest skyline at the highway exit just outside Cordele.

A Stuckey's on the side of the road in the heart of cotton and peanut country would surprise no traveler motoring down the main highway from Canada to Florida. But a nuclear missile is a different story.

Of course, the folks in Cordele, a town of 12,500, are quite accustomed to this tribute to military might, which they affectionally dubbed "Confederate Air Force Pad No. 1."

"It's become quite a landmark for us," said Don Sims, executive vice president of the Cordele Chamber of Commerce. "I was courting my wife years ago — she was from Cordele and I was from Lookout Mountain (Tenn.) on I-75 — and I came down here to meet her folks. Her directions to me were, 'Go to the rocket and turn right.'"

Next summer marks the 20th anniversary of the Cordele arrival of the 100-foot tall Titan-2, a rocket originally developed by the Air Force as an ICBM to carry a 9-megaton nuclear warhead a distance of 10,000 miles and later used by NASA to launch two-man Gemini space capsules in the mid-1960s. The rockets have been retired from active service, but the Air Force is in the process of converting some Titan-2 ICBMs to launcher status to carry military satellites into orbit.

The Cordele rocket came to town as part of a project undertaken by the local Rotary Club and its president, John Pate, who served in the Air Force for 10 years and used his military contacts to secure the rocket.

"I checked with some people I knew and found out I could get one," said Pate, who now lives in the north Georgia town of Gainesville. "We just did it to get a community landmark. Our slogan was 'Meet me under the missile.'"

The missile itself was free — straight out of Air Force surplus. The Rotary Club and other civic groups raised the $5,000 for the extensive support system to hold the rocket and businessman Anthony LaPorte Sr., owner of the Holiday Inn down the street, provided the patch of land.

There was a fleeting moment back in 1968 when the rocket arrived that a few folks in middle Georgia wondered if the enemy had politely air-mailed a missile attack to Cordele.

"We got it flown here from California through some special arrangements ... and it arrived at Warner Robins (nearby Air Force base)," Pate recalled. "The problem was only me and the base commander knew it was coming. When it landed there, nobody knew whose it was. The newspaper ran a story, and it was just a big mess. We finally got it on trailers and hauled it to Cordele, and I put it up myself with a crane."

Gordie McGinnis, 62, remembers when the missile arrived. He helped build the frame that still supports the rocket. Now retired, McGinnis still works part-time pumping gas

Gorbachev's Running Risks

If only Leonid Brezhnev had lived longer. The final years of Brezhnev's rule brought the Soviet Union to what Mikhail Gorbachev called "a semi-crisis." If Brezhnev had lived perhaps four years longer, the economy and the Communist Party would have been in such shambles that everyone in the U.S.S.R. would have been eager for reform.

Such is the stuff of Gorbachev's dreams. As it is, the party and its legions of hide-bound bureaucrats are still there to oppose change and, after all, the Soviet economy is not now about to collapse. So why take such risks with glasnost (openness) and perestroika (restructuring)?

That was the question put to Gorbachev recently by Yegor Ligachev, the No. 2 man in the Soviet power elite. As chief ideologist, Ligachev sees that nothing of consequence happens in Soviet arts, politics, broadcasting, publishing or society without his imprimatur.

Ligachev rebuked a conference of Soviet journalists for recent criticisms of previous Soviet leaders, particularly Stalin, and for the praise two influential journals heaped on a Russian emigre writer.

It was not the first time Ligachev has publicly parted company with Gorbachev over glasnost. The aggressiveness of his remarks raises serious questions about his loyalty to Gorbachev and the general secretary's controversial reforms.

Not since Stalin's reign of terror in the 1930s has the Soviet Union embarked on a series of such radical reforms. Gorbachev seeks to reshape the legendarily inefficient central planning system, eliminate the government-dictated pricing system that eschews reality and introduce a measure of competition in agriculture, manufacturing and the service industry.

For his audacity, Gorbachev has encountered fierce resistance. At the June meeting of the party's Central Committee, which has the power to appoint and remove the general secretary, he was unable to push through 12 laws that would have circumscribed the central planners. Reflecting the power of the bureaucrats to protect their jobs and their perquisites, Gorbachev was forced to wait until 1991 to implement the bulk of his program.

Meanwhile, his opponents have tightened their grip on the levers of power. Since coming to office in March 1985, Gorbachev has managed to establish personal control in only one of the three key organs of the Soviet state: The secretariat. He has the firm support of only three members of the 11-member Politburo, and the majority of the Central Committee's 300 members were appointed before Gorbachev took power and thus are not beholden to him.

It is worth recalling that the last audacious reformer to rule the Kremlin, Nikita Khrushchev, was ousted in 1964 when the Central Committee suddenly turned against him.

The opposition to Gorbachev's policies is large but splintered. The veiled message Ligachev seemed to be sending is that if the Neanderthals in the party find the general secretary too radical, Ligachev, 66, is available to fill the bill.

Skeptics in the Soviet Union see striking comparisons with Gorbachev's programs and the reform process in Czechoslovakia in 1968. What, they ask, is the difference between the ill-fated Alexander Dubcek, the Czech reformer, and Gorbachev? "None!" they answer, "only Gorbachev doesn't know it yet."

Goodbye To A Mencken-Type Curmudgeon

By Arnold Sewslah
UPI Senior Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Offer the word "curmudgeon" in a free association test and many people might reply, "H.L. Mencken." My answer would be "H.R. Gross."

Harold Royce Gross, former Republican representative from Iowa, died last month at the age of 88. He served 26 years in the House, retiring voluntarily in 1975.

During that time, Gross introduced no landmark legislation nor achieved any exalted position or congressional leadership. What he did, perhaps more effectively than anyone before or since, was raise unhurried hell over everyone else's efforts to spend the taxpayers' money.

Make no mistake, Gross wasn't simply stingy. Ideologically, he was about as tightly wrapped a conservative as ever discerned a communist conspiracy in a federal aid program to buy school lunches for crippled kids. He was a man who believed the country started downhill with the arrival of the New Deal and, Eisenhower and Nixon notwithstanding, never reversed its slide into fiscal inequity.

He drove congressional leaders crazy. His natural bent was to torment Democrats, but he never hesitated to harpoon a Republican he suspected of doing business with the devil — for which read anyone who wanted to raid the U.S. Treasury.

He knew the most obscure rules of the House, and used them to slow down the rush to spend the people's money. To do that, he spent uncounted hours in the House chamber, slumped in a seat near one of the microphones, listening to the drone of routine business.

Hearing the words, "I ask unanimous consent," Gross would leap to the microphone and growl, "Reserving the right to object." Then he would demand a full explanation from the member who made the request with emphasis on "how much is this going to cost?"

Gross was not noted for a sense of humor, but he once managed to get the House to laugh to death a bill he decided was another boondoggle.

Late one afternoon, when the House chamber was nearly empty, Rep. Sam Friedel, D-Md., rose to ask unanimous consent for passage of a measure to authorize design of a congressional flag suitable for flying on the mast of a boat.

Gross pressed for an explanation.

Hemming and hawing, Friedel replied that such a pennant would identify the boats of members of Congress who might be sailing on the Potomac or Chesapeake Bay. Further questioning brought out that Friedel himself had been denied the right to dock his cabin cruiser at a Navy base on the bay.

Gross ended his inquisition with the question, "Now just where would you fly this flag, above or below the raucous tail?" Amid raucous laughter, Friedel withdrew the bill.

As practicing politicians, House members do a lot of backslapping and handshaking when they meet to do business, but Gross never gave any indication that he was friendly with anyone.

But when another curmudgeon of the time, Rep. Clare Hoffman, R-Mich., suffered a stroke, Gross stopped at his apartment every morning to bathe and make breakfast for his paralyzed colleague. No one knew about it until after Hoffman died and Gross retired.

Players' Support Eroding

By Will Dunham

WASHINGTON (UPI) — League management has gained a decided advantage in the increasingly bitter NFL players' strike because the risky gamble of fielding non-union teams has turned into a masterly strategic move.

The decision by the owners of the league's 28 clubs to field teams and play games during the work stoppage — a move widely ridiculed when it was announced Sept. 10 — has given management new leverage in luring dissident strikers back to work. The NFL Players Association, however, says the games are part of a calculated effort to bust the union.

An avalanche of striking players, including stars such as Dallas running back Tony Dorsett and quarterback Danny White, Pittsburgh center Mike Webster, New England running back Tony Collins and St. Louis wide receiver Roy Green, reported back to teams before Friday's deadline to compete in Sunday's games.

"All I can say is that every week that goes by puts more pressure on the players who aren't drawing a paycheck," said the league's chief negotiator, Jack Donlan.

The nearly 1,600 NFL players walked off the job Sept. 22, leading to the cancellation of games on Sept. 27 and 28, after five months of contract talks failed to yield a new collective bargaining agreement to replace the contract that expired Aug. 31.

The non-union games, derisively dubbed "scab games" by striking players, mark the first time management has fielded teams during any of the five players' strikes in the league since 1968. The games count in the standings and players who cross the picket lines will receive game checks.

Donlan, the executive director of the NFL Management Council, said the decision to field teams stemmed from dissatisfaction with the $200 million in losses incurred by owners during the 57-day 1982 strike. He said owners also wanted to give players an opportunity to return to teams and draw a paycheck despite the union.

Woodward Had Casey Dead To Rights

By Jack Anderson
And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — During the late William Casey's six controversial years as director of the Central Intelligence Agency, no one who was at all knowledgeable about intelligence matters ever confused the institution with the man who was its titular boss. Casey and the CIA worked together only when they had the same goal in mind — and agreed on the best method to achieve it.

The Washington Post's Bob Woodward has come under fire for saying approximately the same thing in "Veil," his book on the CIA to be published this week. Casey's widow, Sophia, has contradicted quotations and events ascribed to her husband, which Woodward says were based on "more than four dozen interviews or substantive discussions" with the then-director of the CIA.

We don't wish to offend Mrs. Casey; she has acknowledged that her husband didn't tell her everything. We have reason to believe Woodward.

Why? For one thing, we came to the same conclusion that Woodward did. Furthermore, we also had private conversations with Casey in which he revealed himself to be generally the kind of man

JEFFREY HART

Is There Truth?

What do you really, I mean really, know? This is a question that ought to occur frequently to anyone who attempts to analyze events.

A famous essay by the philosopher Francis Bacon began, "What is truth, asked jesting Pilate." Well, what is truth?

This question arose for me with special force while trying to write a chapter on Adolf Hitler for my new book about the year 1940. Well, what about Hitler? First of all, you do the scholarship.

An important line of argument among the scholars goes as follows. Hitler's mother, when he was a boy, died agonizingly of breast cancer. Her physician was Jewish, and his ministrations, far from ameliorating her condition, made it more painful. Yes, Jewish, and then there is the remarkable fact that while all German-speakers refer to Germany as "the Fatherland"... Hitler always called it "the Motherland."

Wow. There's a theory of Hitler's behavior.

But there's another theory. During World War II, the predecessor of the CIA, called the Office of Strategic Services, commissioned a "scientific" study of Hitler's personality, with a view toward predicting his likely behavior. This study was published after the war.

It concludes that Hitler was sexually deformed, and that this explains him. The Soviets claim to have recovered his charred remains in his Berlin bunker, and the Soviets say that yes, he was deformed. The British army, during the war had a marching song the chorus of which referred to Hitler's supposed deformity.

Yeah. But millions of Germans adored Hitler, and they were not sexually deformed, and had not had mothers treated by a Jewish physician, and did not seem to think it odd that while they said "Vaterland" he said "Mutterland."

My own chapter about Hitler, and, again, it's just theory, is called "The Man of 1918."

So far as my own research could find out, Hitler was the only German enlisted man in the 1914-1918 war to win not one but two Iron Crosses, the second one "first class." Like our own Medal of Honor, the Iron Cross is usually awarded to a corpse, but Hitler fought through all four years on the Western Front, and got two of them. He was wounded and gassed.

When Germany surrendered in 1918, Hitler was lying in bed in a military hospital. A protestant chaplain told the men that Germany had lost the war. Hitler was so traumatized that he experienced psychosomatic blindness.

My own theory, and it's only a theory, is that he then approached the brink of suicide, but decided instead to prevail. The movie produced at his direction by Leni Riefenstahl is called "The Triumph of the Will."

SCIENCE WORLD

Yes, Bees Teach Scientists

By Rob Stein
UPI Science Writer

WOODS HOLE, Mass. (UPI) — Even though bees have relatively simple brains, they somehow are able to repeatedly find their way from their hives to food sources and back again.

Randolf Menzel of the Free University in Berlin, West Germany, is trying to determine how they handle this complex navigation, not only to learn more about the workings of bees' brains but to gain some insights into brains in general.

"In the long run, we might be interested in how such a neural computer does such a thing. There is nothing known how we orient ourselves," said Menzel, a professor of zoology. "The ultimate goal is to get a hint of the underlying mechanisms of this type of behavior."

Other researchers have suggested bees navigate by using mental maps of the landscape, determining their position by the location of trees, buildings and other landmarks.

But Menzel believes bees primarily navigate using the sun, determining the direction they should fly based on their position relative to the sun and the relative position of their target.

To test this, Menzel designed an experiment at the Woods Hole Marine Biological Laboratory in which graduate students trained bees to find a container filled with sugar water located about 500 feet from their hive.

The bees were trained by moving the container from their hive in increments. After they were trained, bees were marked and released from the hive so they could fly to the sugar water and then return to the hive to notify other bees.

When the bees would buzz into view and landed at the sugar water, the students would lean forward with tweezers, gently snag the bees by a wing and drop them into a cardboard box.

The captured bees were then taken to another location about the same distance from the sugar water and released. Presumably, the bees would fly from that location in search of the sugar water.

explaining that he didn't always know what his own agency was up to. Nor, he added with a smile, did they always know what he was up to.

Casey complained that "(you) and Jack Anderson get such sensitive stuff regularly" from the CIA. He said the reason he was meeting Van Atta at the secret location was that he had a "bad odor" at Langley.

Casey said that it scared him to realize that the CIA might be doing things without his knowledge. Just as years earlier the agency had tried to assassinate Fidel Castro without informing then-director John McCone. So, Casey said, he hoped that reporters like us would give him "early warning" of any CIA rogue operations we learned about. In exchange, he hinted, he might confirm or deny other leads we got on CIA activities.

Casey told Van Atta he expected to serve as CIA chief as long as Ronald Reagan was in the White House. Even though there had been recurring controversies, he said he foresaw no possibility that Reagan would ever ask him to leave.

In sum, the Casey on display that day and in other private meetings was exactly the same as the man portrayed in Woodward's new book, despite well-meaning revisionist views put forward by his widow and others.

Sandinistas Pull Out Of Zones, Recognizing Government Truce

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Nicaraguan troops fighting U.S.-backed Contra rebels have begun withdrawing from cease-fire zones in three provinces covered by a unilateral government truce that takes effect at midnight Tuesday.

Regional military sources said troops began pulling out Sunday from a 300-square-mile area in north Jinotega province in preparation for a monthlong cease-fire announced Wednesday night by President Daniel Ortega.

The military sources said forces in the other two provinces — Nueva Segovia and Zelaya — would begin to pull back today.

The withdrawal was ordered as Nicaragua moved to comply with a regional peace accord, scheduled to take effect Nov. 5, which calls for a cease-fire in Central America's guerrilla wars, amnesty for anti-government rebels and a series of democratic reforms.

Sputnik Day Prompts Space Plea

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet press honored the 30th anniversary of Sputnik I's launching with praise for the country's space program as 600 scientists ended a three-day conference with an appeal for international cooperation to defray the mounting costs of space exploration.

The scientists, including 400 experts from the United States, France, Britain, West Germany and East Bloc and Third World countries, appealed to all governments to recognize 1992 as the International Year of Space dedicated to cooperation in the peaceful exploration of the final frontier.

Sputnik I, an 184-pound basketball-sized marvel, was rocketed into space just before midnight on Oct. 4, 1957, giving Moscow an early victory in the space race.

President's Re-election Expected

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — President Hosni Mubarak was virtually assured of being given a second six-year term as Egyptians went to the polls today in a "yes-no" presidential referendum.

Mubarak was the only candidate on the ballot and voters were asked if they approved or disapproved of a second term. He was nominated in April by Parliament, which is dominated by his ruling National Democratic Party.

Polling stations around the nation of 52 million people opened at 8 a.m. and were to close at 10 p.m. Results of the election are not expected until Tuesday morning.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Seminole Chief Faces Second Trial On Panther-Killing Charge

LABELLE (UPI) — Seminole Indian Chairman James Billie begins his second trial today on charges he shot a rare Florida panther, ate it and used the animal's body parts in sacred tribal rituals.

"Chairman Billie is a man of principle. He's not about to plead guilty," said defense attorney Bruce Rogow, who said the government is involved in a costly, senseless moral crusade against Billie.

Assistant State Attorney Lee Hollander the case would have been pursued regardless of the identity of the suspect. "I'm out to prosecute him because he killed an endangered species," he said. "I'm not out to get him because he's an Indian."

The jury in his federal trial six weeks ago returned "hopelessly deadlocked," and a mistrial was declared.

Utilities Want Excess Revenues

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Three of Florida's largest electric companies will ask the state Public Service Commission Tuesday to allow them to keep all or part of $145 million they will earn because of outdated tax laws.

The companies will ask for a ruling that would let them keep at least a portion of the money they will earn next year by billing customers for taxes that no longer exist.

Federal income taxes dropped sharply this year for the companies. However, rates set in 1984 and 1985 do not reflect that drop, and the state's four biggest electric companies will bill their customers for over $200 million based on the old tax laws.

U.S.-Canada Pact First Needs OKs

OTTAWA (UPI) — A historic free trade agreement between Canada and the United States faces an uphill battle on both sides of the border before any of its features can be implemented, Canadian officials say.

International Trade Minister Pat Carney warned Sunday that getting approval from Congress in Washington and from Canada's Parliament could "easily unravel" the agreement, which provides for elimination of tariffs and other trade restrictions between the world's two largest trading partners over a 10-year period.

Carney said necessary legislation probably would be presented before next July, and the treaty would take effect on Jan. 1, 1989, if approved by both nations.

But in an interview with the Canadian Television network, she said the pact could fall apart during the approval process in Congress, where protectionist sentiment is mounting because of a huge U.S. trade deficit.

"We have the whole process of consultation with the Congress to go through," Carney said. "That's when the pact could easily unravel."

Carney said the accord, which took 18 months to negotiate, nearly collapsed during the final two hours before the midnight deadline over the key issue of a mechanism to settle trade disputes.

Carney said Prime Minister Brian Mulroney ordered negotiators to return home unless demands were met for a binding mechanism for resolving such disputes that would protect the country against U.S. trade law harassment and border access uncertainty.

Ottawa wanted exemption from current U.S. trade laws that have resulted in the past 18 months in a number of duties being levied against Canadian exports of hogs, cedar shakes and shingles, and potash.

Under the pact, Carney said, both countries would still be free to use trade law remedies, but the duties imposed against each other's products could be appealed to a "bi-national, impartial dispute settlement mechanism" composed of Canadians and Americans to determine whether the penalties were fair.

"If we think (penalties) are unfair, wrong, stacked against us, we now have a referee to take it too," she said.

Until the agreement takes effect, Carney said, both countries have agreed to abide by a "best-effort standstill clause" under which neither government will initiate trade-related actions against the other.

Canada also would have no protection against the omnibus trade bill being considered by Congress that would make it easier for U.S. companies to initiate trade actions against Canadian and other foreign goods.

Carney said Canada rejected "ridiculous proposals" by the United States to change its cultural policies and regional development programs, but said it agreed to drop tariffs contained in a 1985 automotive services agreement between the two countries, which would allow duty-free passage of cars.

Mulroney said the pact fulfills Canada's main objective "to gain secure access and security of access to the largest, richest and most dynamic market in the world."

Timacuan Sets Grand Opening For Wednesday

Timacuan Golf and Country Club, billed as the second most famous launching pad in Central Florida, will have its official grand opening on Wednesday beginning at 1:30 p.m.

Word of mouth has it that Timacuan, located on Timacuan Blvd. off Rinehard Road in Lake Mary, is comparable to the best courses in the Central Florida area.

For Wednesday's official opening, six of the longest hitters in the game will be on hand and they will try to add new meaning to the term 364 (either by hitting the ball that far or knocking the 364 dimples off the ball). The six golfing gorillas include Mike Dunaway, Andy Franks, Art Selinger, John McComish, Bobby Wilson and Tim Winrow.

The event will open at 1:30 with a power clinic with driving and power iron comparisons. A special 18-hole exhibition scramble will begin at 2:30 with the team of Dunaway-Franks-Selinger taking on the threesome of McComish-Wilson-Winrow.

The scramble includes closest-to-the-pin contests on each hole plus the most outrageous drive of the round.

For reservations for the opening and directions to Timacuan, call 682-7798.

MAYFAIR WOMEN — The Mayfair Women's Golf Association completed nine holes before getting rained on this past Wednesday at the Mayfair Country Club. First place in low net for the nine holes was Gerrie Whiteside at 33½ followed by Gloria Prosser at 34, Annette Hodges at 35 and Verne Smith, Jonnie Elam and Donna Donaville at 35½. Low gross winner was Stella Brooks at 43. Also competing were Miriam Andrews, Helen Killebrew, Grace Sauers, Maude Butler, Jane McKibbin, Margaret Botts, Peggy Billups, Genevieve Woodruff and Alice Potter.

The MWGA Kadar Tournament will begin this Wednesday and will be continued on the following two Wednesdays. Tournament director is Stella Brooks.

Since the summer golf passports and cancer cards have or are about to run out, prices will begin to rise at most courses. For the golfer who wants to keep in practice but doesn't want to dish out piles of cash, Downtown Winter Park is the course for you.

Any day after 3 p.m., you can walk (pull carts available) the 9-hole Winter Park course and play as much as you like for $4.50 (cart $1 extra). The Winter Park course may not be the longest or most challenging around, but it is in as good or better shape as some courses that charge in the $20 and above neighborhood.

For most of the par-4 holes, you only need about a 3-wood or driving iron and short iron to the green (5-wood and sand wedge in my case) while the trio of par-3 holes are not gimmees by any means. The first of two consecutive par-5 holes in the second birdieable while the very par-5, the infamous graveyard hole, is a legitimate and challenging par-5.

So, if you just want to keep tuned up and don't want to pay and arm and a leg, check out Downtown Winter Park.

Raines Tops In Runs

Sanford's Tim Raines scored twice in Montreal's loss to Chicago Sunday to lead the National League in runs with 123. He had two more than St. Louis' Vince Coleman.

Raines, who had four hits in seven trips over the weekend, finished his seventh major league season with a .330 average.

Seminole County's other major leaguer — Casselberry's Dave Martinez — collected the game-winning RBI with a two-run triple for the Cubs. Martinez had two hits in five at-bats to finish his first full season in the majors with a .293 average.

Martinez was not considered a rookie due to the fact he played in three too many games last year.

Just 4,919 Watch Bucs Trim Lions

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI) — The new players for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers and Detroit Lions played an NFL game, even if it wasn't before an NFL-sized crowd.

Only 4,919 fans came to the Silverdome to watch the Buccaneers' 31-27 victory over the Lions Sunday as the NFL season resumed with non-striking players.

The crowd was the smallest ever to watch a Lions' home game. There were 13,941 no-shows. The previous record low was 6,000 on Nov. 4, 1934 against Pittsburgh at the University of Detroit stadium.

Some of the union players picketed the stadium while others, with United Auto Workers President Owen Bieber among the spectators, played a pick-up baseball game near the Silverdome.

Seven picketers were arrested and released after Pontiac police charged them with disobeying an order not to obstruct traffic on roadways.

Tampa Bay Coach Ray Perkins had expected to play before a near-empty house.

"The excitement was missing in the stands and I'd warned the players Saturday night about that," Perkins said. "I told them they would have to create their own excitement."

The size of the crowd wasn't the foremost thing on the mind of Lions Coach Darryl Rogers, whose team fell to 0-3.

"We lost the game," Rogers said. "Listen, I've played before a lot smaller crowds before, just not in the NFL. The guys who play the game don't play for the crowd."

The Lions bolted to a 17-0 lead in the first quarter on Todd Hons' 36-yard scoring strike to Darrell Grymes. Mike Prindle's 23-yard field goal and Angelo King's nine-yard fumble return.

But the Buccaneers chipped away until they took the lead for good on Harold Kicks' 1-yard run with 2:17 left in the third quarter.

"I'm happy for these guys," Perkins said. "They came up as winners today. For most of them, this is like a dream-type game. Who knows whether or not they'll get another opportunity to play again."

Paul Tripoli is one player who may still be around if rosters expand when the regular players end their strike. The free safety from Alabama had two interceptions, running one back for a touchdown and setting up the tying field goal in the third quarter with the other one.

"Overall I'm happy with the way I played," Tripoli said. "I'll just have to wait and see what happens from here."

The Buccaneers scored three touchdowns in the second quarter to the Lions' one to cut the deficit to 24-21 at halftime.

No Ali For Bundini Rites

Above, several members of Muhammad Ali's entourage (from left) — Abdul Rachman, Alan Richardson, Pat Patterson and Gene Killroy — attended Drew Bundini Brown's funeral Saturday, but Ali did not attend. A spokesman said Ali was on a goodwill tour to Pakistan. Bundini's son, Drew T. Brown III, right, reflected on his father's life, said "Those people that really loved my dad are here." Bundini, who was eulogized as Ali's "spirit coach," by Sanford New Bethel Missionary Baptist Church Rev. Robert Doctor. Bundini was born in West Palm Beach in 1928 but moved to Sanford when he was 5 years old and spent his early years here. Bundini is survived by son Drew, a naval officer in Virginia Beach, Va. and wife, Rhoda Palestine Brown, of New York City.

Martin, Mitchell Devastate Competition At Beach Run

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Life was indeed a beach for a pair of Seminole County runners Saturday morning.

Seminole High senior Shownda Martin and Lyman High sophomore Teddy Mitchell were the individual champions at the 24th annual Daytona Beach Run on the shores of the Atlantic Ocean.

Martin won her second consecutive two-mile race with an impressive time of 11:33. Martin zipped to a 5:33 first mile and opened up a big lead, then cruised the second mile six minutes. Stacy Bowrosen of Daytona Beach Father Lopez was a distant second at 11:51. Seminole High senior Dorchelle Webster took third place at 11:53.

As Martin did in the girls race, Mitchell completely devastated the field in the boys' three-mile run. Mitchell, who has won the last three races Lyman has entered, blazed the beach with a time of 14:42, more than 20 seconds ahead of the second-place finisher, Orlando Boone's Dan Carroll (15:05). Lake Mary's Brad Smith was third with a school-record time 15:12.8.

While Martin and Mitchell were the individual winners, Melbourne Palm Bay swept the team titles. The Palm Bay boys recorded a score of 63 compared to 71 for Orlando Oak Ridge, 118 for Winter Park and 125 for Lake Mary. The Palm Bay girls finished with a score of 69 with Zephyrhills second at 94 and Lake Mary third at 122.

Cross Country

Seminole County teams will get to run on the state meet course this weekend as they go to Dunne Airport in Titusville for the Astronaut Invitational.

Lake Mary's boys turned in the top team finish in the county Saturday, but were without one of their top five in injured Phil Reuff. Smith, who broke Derek Tangeman's school record, was followed in the top five for the Rams by Matt Sutliff (sixth with sophomore record 15:30.9), Eric Petersen (13th at 15:59.8), Scott Plyler (33rd at 16:52.6) and Chad Driscoll (70th at 17:59.5).

"We would have been closer to Oak Ridge if we had our full team," Lake Mary coach Mark McGee said. "Right now, it looks like Phil (Reuff) is going to be a very important runner for us. If he stays healthy, we can be as good as we're ranked (fifth)."

In the junior varsity race, Lake Mary's Bob Robertson, who just became eligible last week, took sixth place with a time of 18:01.7.

Behind Mitchell, Lyman's top finisher was Kevin Padgett who finished 28th at 16:44.

Lake Mary's girls rode the strong 1-2 punch of Allison Snell and Tara Braheny to third place. Snell, a sophomore, turned in the fourth-fastest time ever for a Lady Ram runner as she finished ninth at 12:31. Braheny, a senior, recorded the seventh-fastest time as she finished 12th at 12:39. Completing the top five were Heather Heikkila (24th at 13:01), Christine Adamson (38th at 13:28) and Tabatha Gano (39th at 13:28). Also running for the Rams was Kim Blackadar (60th at 14:15).

"Allison (Snell) and Tara (Braheny) are starting to run closer to the front which is good to see," Lake Mary coach Mike Gibson said. "Tabatha (Gano) and Christine (Adamson) did not run their best races even though it was their best times."

Lyman's girls finished seventh in the 22-team meet with a team score of 210. Once again, Stacy Forbes led the Lady Greyhounds as she finished 11th at 12:38 and Tracy Fisher was 15th at 12:48.

Seminole High's girls had the best 1-2 punch in the race with Martin first and Webster third. But the Lady Tribe wound up in 11th with a team score of 276. Behind the top two, the average finish of the next three Seminole runners was 91st.

Lake Howell High made a clean sweep of the Bishop Moore Invitational Saturday at the University of Central Florida as both its boys and girls teams took top honors. See Tuesday's Herald for the details.

Bowden's Memory Loses To Instinct — Gators Tumble

United Press International

Bobby Bowden trusted his memory rather than his instinct.

With the vision of Derek Schmidt's erratic leg causing Bowden to second-guess himself, the Florida State coach decided to attempt a 2-point conversion Saturday trailing Miami (Fla.) 26-25 with 42 seconds remaining.

"Somebody told me the players wanted to go for two, but that wasn't it," said Bowden of a decision that refocused the national championship picture. "I said to myself, 'Bobby, what if he misses the extra point and we lose that way?' He'd already missed one extra point and two field goals with the ball just in the right place (29 and 31 yards). I had to do it over. I'd kick it."

Instead, Danny McManus underthrew Pat Carter in the right corner and Bubba McDowell knocked the ball down to preserve a remarkable victory for the third-ranked Hurricanes. En route to their 24th consecutive regular-season triumph, including 17 straight on the road, the 3-0 Hurricanes overcame a 19-3 deficit in the final 18 minutes before a hostile crowd of 62,561 in Tallahassee.

"When we play as a team," Miami Coach Jimmy Johnson said, "nobody can beat us. Florida State wore us down with their numbers, but we were determined to win this game."

Led by Sammie Smith's 189 yards rushing, No. 4 Florida State, 4-1, ran off 84 plays to Miami's 53. Hurricane quarterback Steve Walsh was struggling until he found fullback Melvin Bratton for a 49-yard touchdown pass late in the third period.

Michael Irvin caught two TD passes from Walsh in the final quarter, including a 73-yarder, to give Miami a 26-19 advantage before McManus and Ronnie Lewis connected on an 18-yard scoring pass to create the scenario for Bowden's call.

"Now I know how Penn State felt when they stole it from us last year in the Fiesta Bowl," Miami defensive end Dan Stubbs said. "FSU had it, and we took it away."

While the Hurricanes added to the nation's longest regular-season winning streak, the Columbia Lions matched a record for futility. Penn beat Columbia 23-0 to hand the Lions their 34th consecutive loss, tying the major college mark set by Northwestern (1979-82). Columbia can break the record Saturday in an Ivy League game at Princeton.

The Seminoles were done in against the Hurricanes by errors in their kicking game, and it was a missed 37-yard field by Robert McGinty with 15 seconds left in the game that forced Florida into a 13-10 defeat at Louisiana State. In other games involving Florida schools, Delaware State beat Bethune-Cookman 45-0, Georgia Southern topped Central Florida 34-32, and Alabama State edged Florida A&M 14-12.

In Baton Rouge, La., McGinty's kick sailed wide as LSU improved to 4-0-1 on the year and 1-0 in the Southeastern Conference, while Florida is 3-2 and 2-1. The loss spoiled another outstanding performance from Gator freshman tailback Emmitt Smith, who gained 184 yards on 32 carries. Smith scored on a 7-yard run in the second quarter, but the Gators failed to score after that, and LSU came up with 10 fourth-quarter points. McGinty converted on a 50-yard field goal in the first quarter.

David Brownlycke kicked a 24-yard field goal to win the game for LSU in the fourth quarter. "We could take this loss two ways," Smith said. "We can look at it and improve from it and get ready to play our next opponent, or we can get down."

"Really, this game (could be) the turning point of our season," said Florida quarterback Kerwin Bell, who completed 12 of 23 passes for 104 yards. "This was one of those losses that will make you fall apart or fight back."

The Gators had driven to the LSU 11 with 29 seconds left, but Bell was sacked to push the ball back to the 20.

"The defense gave us field position and the running game was working," Bell said. "The passing game didn't do the job and I take a lot of the blame for that."

Several Top 10 teams struggled to narrow victories while No. 1 Oklahoma continued to frust. The Sooners beat Iowa State 56-3, but second-ranked Nebraska had to rally past South Carolina 30-21. No. 6 Auburn defeated North Carolina 20-10, eighth-ranked Louisiana State edged No. 18 Florida 13-10. No. 9 Ohio State beat Illinois 10-6 and 10th-ranked Tennessee topped California 38-12.

Eisewhere, 11th-ranked UCLA blanked Stanford 49-0. No. 12 Penn State beat Temple 27-13. No. 13 Arizona State defeated Texas-El Paso 35-16. 14th-rated Michigan trounced Wisconsin 49-0. No. 15 Georgia beat Mississippi 31-14. Oregon defeated 16th-ranked Washington 29-22 and No. 17 Syracuse beat Missouri 24-13. No. 19 Alabama beat Southwestern Louisiana 38-10 while Texas A&M, co-ranked at 19th, lost 27-21 to Texas Tech.

Fans Reject Second Rate

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American football fan, often depicted as a gullible chump who will buy anything labeled NFL, rejected the concept of a second-rate league in stunning numbers Sunday.

The chip-munching, beer-drinking football lover, a mythic fixture of television commercials, set the NFL turnstile back about 45 years.

The league carried through its threat to play a full 13-game schedule with teams composed primarily of previously rejected players, but fans refused to pick up the tab and left owners with 686,227 empty seats, two-thirds of capacity.

If the tide of silence holds, owners may just edge the standard set in 1942 when 10 teams averaged 16,144 fans per game and — much like Sunday — few people cared.

Based on the NFL's own, questionable figures, only 220,828 spectators attended the replacement games for an average of only 16,987 fans per contest. The league averaged 58,000 per game the first two weeks of the season.

For fans who did attend games or watched on television, the football itself was sometimes difficult to endure. Games were marked by poor execution of such basics as punts and extra points as obscure and unknown players fulfilled football fantasies.

Tigers Scratch Past Blue Jays Behind Tanana

United Press International

The Detroit Tigers, who coasted to the World Series in 1984, had to scratch and claw through the regular season to claim the American League East title this year.

The Tigers completed a dramatic week-long comeback to capture the AL East Sunday by defeating the Toronto Blue Jays 1-0 and advancing to the playoffs against the Minnesota Twins.

"A lot of teams would have given up," Tigers shortstop Alan Trammell said. "We didn't. We had our backs against the wall several times. We always came through. If we can pull the rest of this off, it'll be a great story."

Larry Herndon homered in the second inning and Frank Tanana pitched a six-hitter to give the Tigers a sweep of the three-game series. Toronto's collapse was as remarkable as the Tigers' comeback. The Blue Jays, who led Detroit by 3 1/2 games entering the final week of the season, lost their last seven games. All the losses were to Detroit and third-place Milwaukee.

"To put it in perspective, it's very tough," Toronto third baseman Rance Mulliniks said. "All I can say is the Tigers are a great ballclub. They showed a lot of class."

"They outplayed us. When they needed a hit they got it," he said. "When they needed an out they got it. They're the better ball club this year. They deserve to be in the playoffs."

Detroit, which won the World Series in 1984 under Manager Sparky Anderson, will begin the AL playoffs Wednesday at Minnesota against the Twins, who lost eight of 12 regular-season games against the Tigers.

Herndon lined a 2-1 pitch from Jimmy Key, 17-8, over the left-field fence. A strong wind blowing across left field kept drifting the ball to left center and Blue Jays left fielder George Bell never had a chance to set himself against the wall to make a leap. The ball made it over the eight-foot fence by about a foot.

Only two runners reached third against Tanana, 15-10, who made four starts against Toronto this season and was 3-0 with a 0.55 earned run average for 32 3/2 innings. He walked three and struck out nine.

Elsewhere, Boston shut down Milwaukee 4-0, Baltimore defeated New York 4-2, Kansas City routed Minnesota 10-1, Chicago stopped Oakland 5-2, Cleveland powered past California 10-6, and Seattle outlasted Texas 7-4.

In the National League, it was: New York 11, St. Louis 6; Chicago 7, Montreal 5; San Francisco 5, Atlanta 4 in 10 innings; Pittsburgh 4, Philadelphia 2; Cincinnati 2, Houston 1; and Los Angeles 5, San Diego 3.

Johnson Finds Little Solace in Runner-Up

United Press International

New York Manager Davey Johnson found little solace in the Mets' season-ending victory over the National League East champion St. Louis Cardinals.

The second-place Mets beat the Cardinals 11-6 Sunday, but Johnson would rather it meant more than the end of a frustrating year for New York.

"It's not quite the same," Johnson said. "When you lose (the division) you're disappointed."

St. Louis finished the season with a 95-67 record, three games ahead of the Mets.

The Cardinals host the San Francisco Giants Tuesday night in the opener of the league Championship Series.

"I think the Cardinals will win in six," Johnson added. "They won what, 95 games, in a tough division. I'd like for the Cardinals to win because they're from our division."

700,000 Stay Away As Scabs Have Day

Football

United Press International

The men who played in the NFL Sunday could be divided into two categories: those who believed they played pro football and those who knew better.

The league's plan to play without the striking players made stars of marginal players, has-beens and dreamers. Many of the players were more interested in their individual performances than winning.

It felt like a regular NFL game to me," said Atlanta running back Mike Williams, who was in the league in 1983-84. "This scab thing doesn't mean a thing to me. I look at this as another opportunity to make it in the NFL."

Dallas Cowboys running back Tony Dorsett, an 11-year NFL veteran, had a different interpretation. "It's embarrassing for a guy whose been in this league all these years to come into a stadium that's scarcely populated," said Dorsett, who suited up but did not play.

Dorsett, regular Cowboys quarterback Danny White and wide receiver Mike Renfro did not play in Dallas' 38-24 victory over the New York Jets at East Rutherford, N.J. Dallas defensive linemen Ed "Too Tall" Jones, Linebacker Chris Dullman played, as did defensive linemen Mark Gastineau and Marty Lyons of the Jets.

Blocked kicks, botched extra-point attempts and fumbles punctuated most games. Few fans endured the contests. The 13 games had a combined 700,000 empty seats — more than two-thirds of capacity.

GSU Intercepts UCF's Rally

By Scott Sander Herald Sports Writer

Football

As has been the case in the first three games, the UCF ground game was invisible. UCF carried the ball 22 times for only 52 yards. UCF has a total of 194 rushing yards this season. Slack was the leading rusher with 39 yards.

But it was the defense, which has played very well up to this point, that got the Knights in a big hole early. GSU got on the board first when quarterback Ken Burnette, who ran for 97 yards on 15 carries, capped an 11-play, 67-yard drive with a 10-yard touchdown run to give the Eagles a 7-0 lead.

After Bernard Ford bobbed GSU's ensuing kickoff, and let the ball go out of bounds at the UCF three-yard line, Slack was sacked in the end zone for a safety by James Carter. The sack gave GSU a 9-0 lead and the ball back.

The Eagles made the score 12-0 when Tim Foley booted a 54-yard field goal with 1:32 left in the first quarter. "That guy [Foley] can really kick," McDowell said. "The ball just seems to explode off his foot."

UCF came back when Ford, who caught four passes for 85 yards, put the lid on a four-play, 80-yard drive with a 14-yard touchdown pass from Slack. Eddie O'Brien's PAT made the score 12-7. Burnette then threw a pair of edged Detroit 31-27. San Diego shaded Cincinnati 10-9. Green Bay trimmed Minnesota 23-16. Houston blasted Denver 40-10. Seattle nipped Miami 24-20. Tonight, it's San Francisco at the New York Giants.

At Cincinnati, the Chargers scored 10 fourth-quarter points on a 1-yard run by Frank Middleton and a 24-yard Jeff Gaffney field goal.

At Minneapolis, Alan Risher threw for one touchdown and ran for another and Max Zendejas kicked three field goals to lift his Packers.

At Denver, Brent Pease passed for 280 yards and a touchdown and John Diettrich kicked four field goals to lead the Oilers.

The 13 games drew an average of 16,987 fans, ranging from 4,074 in Philadelphia to 38,494 in Denver. The Bills' drew 9,860 for the second fewest in club history. The Redskins had a league record of 159 straight sellouts at RFK Stadium broken and the Broncos' streak of 126 consecutive sellouts at Mile High Stadium ended. Over 30,000 tickets have been returned for tonight's game at Giants Stadium.

Other heroes were John Fourcade, an Arena Football backup who threw three touchdowns for the Saints; Anthony Allen, who set a Redskins' record with 255 receiving yards and caught three touchdowns; Joey Clinkscales, who caught six passes for 150 yards and a touchdown to lift Pittsburgh to a 28-12 victory at Atlanta; Vince Evans, who threw two TDs in the Los Angeles Raiders' 35-17 victory over Kansas City; Mike Hohensee, who threw three TDs to lift Chicago to a 35-3 rout at Philadelphia; and Kevin Sweeney, who threw three TDs for the Cowboys.

"I didn't sleep at all last night," said Fourcade, who completed 16 of 21 passes for 222 yards. "I got up at 3 a.m. and wrote the plays down so I wouldn't forget them."

In other games, Tampa Bay touched down passes, one a 45-yarder to Ross Worsham and a 26-yarder to Tony Helsler, to give GSU a 25-7 first-quarter cushion.

UCF got back in the game when Ford blocked a GSU punt and Keenan Wimbly returned it 18 yards for a touchdown. Slack's two-point conversion attempt failed.

O'Brien made the halftime score 25-16 when he kicked a 36-yard field goal. He made the score 25-19 when he kicked a 21-yarder early in the third quarter.

UCF then took the lead when Grayson made a diving catch for a two-yard touchdown. O'Brien's PAT gave UCF a brief 26-25 lead.

GSU retaliated, however, when Raymond Gross gave the Eagles a 31-26 lead on a 29-yard touchdown run. The two-point conversion failed.

Southern extended its lead to 34-26 when Foley kicked a 35-yard field goal. UCF came back when tailback Robert Ector scored on a two-yard touchdown plunge to make the score 34-32. Slack was sacked on the two-point conversion.

UCF still had a chance to win in the final two minutes. UCF had the ball at the Southern 39-yard line, the wind at their back, and a strong kicker ready for a chance to make the winning kick. But Slack dropped back and was picked off by Calvin Robinson to extinguish the Knights rally.

Lady Pats Upset Plantation

Fueled by a stunning upset of state power Plantation, Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots came home from the Fort Myers Invitational with a 4-2 record, a third place trophy, and a lot of confidence going into the second half of the season.

"We feel very good about the rest of the season after the way we played in the tournament," Lake Brantley coach Stephanie Glance said. "The skill is definitely there, our intensity level will be the key from here on out."

The Lady Patriots, who improved to 11-6 overall, opened the Fort Myers Invitational Friday night with a 15-3, 15-13 victory over Naples Lely.

On Saturday morning, little known but very skilled Estero High gave Brantley its first loss in the tourney, 15-11, 15-4. "The game against Estero was our worst of the tournament," Glance said. "They have a very solid team, but I felt we could have beat them if we were at our best."

IN BRIEF

Gieberger Picks Fine Time To Turn 50, Takes Vantage

CLEMMONS, N.C. (UPI) — Al Gieberger picked a fine time to turn 50. Gieberger, who only a month ago became eligible for the PGA seniors tour, won the $1 million Vantage Classic Sunday with a 3-under-par 67, claiming the tour's richest tournament by two shots over Dave Hill.

Gieberger's share of the purse came to $135,000, the largest payoff in the tour's eight-year history. It also outdistanced his largest paycheck on the regular PGA Tour, which was $54,000 for winning the 1979 Colonial Invitational.

Hill, whose closing 5-under 65 was the lowest round of the tournament, won $81,000, more than three times his best PGA payday. He bogeyed the 18th but finished at 2-under, a shot ahead of Gene Littler, who led by a shot over Gay Brewer after Saturday's second round on the par-70, 6,606-yard Tanglewood Park west course.

Orville Moody shot 70 and was fourth at even par, winning $39,175. Don January (72) and Gay Brewer (73) were in fifth at 1-over, followed by Butch Baird (68) and Miller Barber (70) at 2-over.

Brown's Birdie Wins Southern

COLUMBUS, Ga. (UPI) — Ken Brown realized he had secured victory in the Southern Open the first time he looked at the leaderboard.

Brown, an Englishman, looked at the board after sinking a putt for birdie on No. 15 to drop to 15-under-par for the $400,000 tournament.

"I really wasn't looking at the scoreboard until the 15th," Brown said Sunday. "I saw that I was 15-under and that Larry (Mize) was 8-under. I thought I had it covered then."

"Today I felt if I could just play as well as I had been playing, someone was going to have to play awfully well to catch me. I just wanted to not let someone get a glimmer of hope," he said.

Carrying a five-stroke lead into the final round, Brown secured his first tour victory and a $72,000 paycheck by posting a 2-under-par 68 that easily held off the rest of the field. Brown finished at 14-under 266 for the tournament to beat Mize by seven strokes.

Evert Avenges Loss To McNeil

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Top seed Chris Evert avenged a loss in the U.S. Open to Lori McNeil, edging the young right-hander 6-3, 7-5 in the $150,000 Virginia Slims of New Orleans.

Evert, ranked No. 3 in the world, earned $30,500 and her 153rd tournament title with her triumph Sunday.

"She's one of the quickest, if not the quickest player, in the world," said the 32-year-old Evert, of McNeil.

In the doubles championship, top seeds Zina Garrison and McNeil whipped Californians Peanut Louie Harper and San Francisco and Heather Ludloff 6-3, 6-4.

Lundgren Nets Transamerica

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — After battling Ivan Lendl for over three hours in the semifinals, Peter Lundgren needed just 86 minutes Sunday to claim the championship of the $293,000 Transamerica Tennis Open.

Lundgren, ranked 49th in the world, defeated Jim Pugh, 6-1, 7-5, at the Cow Palace to earn $44,400. Lundgren had reached the final of the upset-filled tournament by downing Lendl, the world's No. 1 player and top seed, 6-3, 4-6, 7-6 (10-8) Saturday night.

None of the other top eight seeds even reached the quarterfinals of the competition.

Gwynn Sets Quarter-Mile Mark

ENNIS, Texas (UPI) — Drag racer Darrell Gwynn set a record for the quarter-mile Sunday to win the $30,000 first prize at a National Hot Rod Association meet held at the Texas Motorplex.

Gwynn, from Miami, was timed in 5.064 seconds, 280.37 mph, to win the $682,000 Chief Auto Parts Nationals over Eddie Hill of Wichita Falls.

An estimated 47,200 attended Sunday's finals at the track south of Dallas, climaxing a four-day meet in which NHRA records were set on 14 occasions.

SPORTS HAPPENINGS

SOFTBALL: Practice teams for the Seminole High-Lake Brantley game, which is Oct. 17 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Lake Brantley and Lake Brantley high schools. SSA spokesman Tom Stori said.

The registration fee is $50 for middle schoolers and $60 for elementary schoolers. Players need to bring a birth certificate and a photo.

Stori said the SSA offers preseason clinics, preseason scrimmages, a 10-game schedule, season-ending AAU events, game jerseys and insurance.

For information, call SSA (386-7197), Stori (386-4897), John Smith (386-8282) or Nancy Coeffer (774-8987).

BASEBALL

BASEBALL: The Inter-County Baseball Association will hold its registration Sunday, Oct. 11 at Oviedo High School from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. ICBA President Mickey Harlan said. The league is open to all players in Seminole County.

Third, fourth and fifth grade boys and girls sign up at 1 p.m.; sixth and seventh grade boys of 2 p.m.; eighth grade boys of 3:30 p.m.; and sixth, seventh and eighth grade girls of 5 p.m.

The registration fee is $50 for middle schoolers ($60 for second child and $6 for third or more) and $60 for elementary (190 for second child and $6 for third or more).

An hour of drills and batting session will also be offered Oct. 11. For information, call Harlan (386-4848).

LABONTE STOPS 50-LOSS SKIIN AT HOLLY FARMS

NORTH WILKESBORO, N.C. (UPI) — Terry Labonte survived a brush with the wall Sunday and snaked through the pack to win the Holly Farms 400 at North Wilkesboro Speedway.

Labonte's first triumph this year came under caution because of a spin by Alan Kulwicki with two laps remaining. The native of Corpus Christi, Texas, received the white and yellow flags simultaneously.

The victory was Labonte's first since joining Junior Johnson's team after the 1986 season, and his first at the five-eighths-mile speedway. The race ended Johnson's 50-race winless streak.

Labonte now has won at least one NASCAR Winston Cup race every year since 1983 and Johnson can boast of the same honor as a car owner since 1986.

"It is special to win here, especially since it is in Junior's and Flossie's (Johnson's wife) backyard," Labonte said. "It seems like it's been little things that have kept us from winning."

Dale Earnhardt finished second in a Chevrolet. Third went to Bill Elliott in a Ford, one lap off the pace, while Morgan Shepherd took fourth in a Buick. Geoff Bodine finished fifth in a Chevrolet, two laps down.

Labonte received $45,075 for his seventh career victory. He averaged 96.072 mph in the race slowed by four caution flags for 26 laps.

Five lead changes among five drivers took place. A cut tire early in the race nearly cost Labonte a chance at the victory. On lap 38, Labonte was in third when his right front tire blew and he brushed the fourth-turn wall.

Arnold Captures 25-Lap Late Model Racing

ORLANDO — Young Rick Arnold drove the Ron's Forklift Service Firebird to victory in the 25-lap Late Model feature on Friday night at Orlando Speed World.

Early in the race, during a tough duel for the runner-up spot, Ernie Bass dove under David Russell in turn two. The battling pair then made contact and Russell spun. Both had to restart at the tail end of the field and ended up fourth and fifth at the checkers, with the second and third finishing spots going to Don L. Burkhalter, Jr. and Ed Meridith.

During late afternoon's warm-ups, the brakes failed on Billy Hooven's Pinto and he smashed into a "Monster Bomber" machine stalled on the speedway.

Parts had to be begged, bought and borrowed in order for the car to be fixed on time for the heat. In that event, a spark plug wire fell off but it all came together in the main, and Hooven took the win over Guy Lingo and Quarter Midget graduate Matt Hruby.

Driving the Quarno Auto Salvage Camaro, Sid Stites led all the way to win the Finnie's Wrecker Sales 50-lap Sportsman Championship.

During the second half of the race, crowd-pleasing side by side racing took place between previous week's winner Buford Clonts and Lee Faulk. Clonts, in the Run-A-Bout Auto Sales Chevy, just barely managed to hold Faulk off for second place. Fourth and fifth were the Todd brothers, Mike and Timmy.

Again this week, Wayne Mardhal finished last in the Bomber "A" heat. That spot puts him on the pole for the main which he led all the way. That might be Wayne's way to beat the system, but it sure does not make for a very exciting race.

The popular local slogan "Let's go racing Bomber Style" really applies to the "B" Bomber division. Extra large fields of cars, much contact, fender benders and four-car wide racing through the turns hold the fans interest from green to checkered. Friday night was no exception, as Mike Fritts took another last lap win over Rick Johns after the duo raced side by side for several laps.

The 27 entries registered for the Powder Puff Derby prompted announcer Dave Westerman to say that the Powder Puff might turn into a "Powder Keg." However, because of several crashes which took place during the regular program, only 19 cars took the green and the event, won by Susan Stites, was accident-free and quite competitive.

This coming Friday, the Skip's Shoes and Boots 50-lap Late Model Championship will be the feature attraction.

Stocks Open Higher

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened higher today in moderately active trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which soared nearly 7 1/2 points last week, was up 4.40 to 2645.39 shortly after the market opened.

Advances led declines 404-315 among the 1,097 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 8,150,000 shares.

Stocks advanced in active trading last week, helped by hopes that the dollar and interest rates will be able to stabilize and by optimism about the sustainability of the nation's economic growth.

Traders in New York said they were anxiously awaiting testimony later in the day by Federal Reserve Board Chairman Alan Greenspan before a House subcommittee on the role of financial institutions in the U.S. economy.

Analysts generally expect the stock market to maintain its firming trend of the past two weeks, buoyed by an outlook for strong corporate earnings and the potential for a rebound in the bond market.

Early bond market weakness curbed the buying momentum last Friday.

Dollar, Gold Together Ascend; Trading Light

By United Press International

The dollar opened higher in light trading on major world money markets today after closing at a 40-day high in Tokyo. The price of gold pushed higher.

In earlier trading in the Far East, the dollar closed at its highest level since Aug. 18 against the Japanese yen, closing at 147.20 yen, up 0.90 from Friday's close of 146.30 yen.

Traders in Japan said the dollar's strength was attributed to foreign currency traders' belief that the U.S. trade balance is certain to improve in August. Most market players purchased dollars to increase their holdings.

In European trading, the dollar opened in Frankfurt at 1.8475 German marks, up from Friday's close of 1.8408.

In Zurich, the dollar began the week at 1.5405 Swiss francs, up from 1.5355, in Paris at 6.1495 French francs, up from 6.128, and in Amsterdam at 2.0775 Dutch guilders, up from 2.071.

In London, the pound opened at 91.818, down slightly from 91.8215 on Friday.

In Brussels, the dollar opened at 36.51 Belgian francs, up from 36.40 and in Milan at 1,333.50 lire, up from 1,327.70.

In early New York trading, the dollar was slightly lower against key foreign currencies in light trading.

Traders in New York said they were anxiously awaiting testimony later in the day by Federal Reserve Board Chairman Alan Greenspan before a house subcommittee on the role of financial institutions in the U.S. economy.

Gold opened 81 an ounce higher in Zurich at 845.5 an ounce and gained 82 in London to 845.75 an ounce.

Economists: Bullish In '88

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some 4,000 economists believe the economy will be more active this year and next than they once thought, but there also will be more inflation, the National Association of Business Economists said today.

The survey results, announced in New Orleans at the start of NABE's annual convention, showed the economists forecasting a 3 percent rise in America's gross national product after inflation this year. That is slightly above the 2.9 percent forecast for 1987 made a year ago.

The forecast for 1988 is for another year of expansion, with real GNP advancing 2.7 percent." NABE President Jerry Jordan said in a statement. "Both 1987 and 1988 will be stronger than 1986, a year in which real GNP increased by only 2.2 percent."

But while economists are bullish on the economy they are more pessimistic about inflation, said Jordan, who also is senior vice president and chief economist of First Interstate Bancorp of Los Angeles.

"A year ago, economists thought consumer prices would increase 3.7 percent in 1987," he said, basing the increase on the change in consumer prices between the final three months of 1986 and the same period a year later.

Busing Not Necessity To Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court rejected a claim today that students in Kansas City, Mo., must be bused across district lines to reverse a deep racial split between inner-city and suburban schools.

The justices, dismissing an appeal brought by the Kansas City school district and 36,000 of its students, let stand a ruling by the full 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The case involves the vestiges of a dual educational system in Kansas City and the attempts by officials to involve 11 surrounding school districts in a busing plan to correct the problem.

A federal court and a divided 8th Circuit rejected a bid by the Kansas City school district to force suburban schools to bus students across district lines, saying it failed to prove the suburban schools caused the segregation.

The appeals court also disputed the school district's claim the state's discriminatory housing and educational practices before 1954 significantly contributed to the current pattern of segregation.

It noted the suburbs opened their communities to blacks shortly after the landmark Brown vs. Board of Education decision, which declared segregated schools unconstitutional, and removed the remnants of a dual school system.

The only intentional segregation the district court did find was within the Kansas City school district itself and ordered the district and the state to correct the problem.

In its appeal to the high court, officials argued they could not integrate a school district attended by 87 percent of the city's black children without the help of suburban schools, which attract 89 percent of the town's white students.

"The plurality opinion, if it stands, would ensure that the vast majority of blacks students in the Kansas City area would remain locked in a predominantly black inner-city school district comprising only one-fourth of a city that is 73 percent white," lawyers for the school district argued.

But the state of Missouri and the suburban school districts denied any liability for the segregation of Kansas City, saying the "white flight" resulted from demographic shifts.

"This is a case that deals with demographic trends unrelated to acts of wrongdoing by governmental entities," the state told the high court.

'Gunshine State' May Be Renamed

Lawmakers Tackle Weapons, Sales Tax Bills

By Deane Jordan
And Maryann Cross

Political hay may cure in Florida's sunshine this week as lawmakers return to Tallahassee today to hash out a service tax solution and possibly consider an amendment to Florida's new gun law which repealed a statute against carrying guns openly in public, a repeal that prompted wags to dub Florida the "Gunshine" state and saw local incidents of guns showing up in public.

Legislative conferees undeterred by threat of veto by Gov. Bob Martinez are gathering in the Capitol to work out a compromise between House and Senate bills. The House prefers to revise the tax rather than ditching it. The Senate prefers to repeal the tax and replace with an increase in the general sales tax. Martinez has threatened to veto any bill that contains any resemblance to the service sales tax.

Meanwhile Florida's police chiefs hope an amendment to the new gun law will be introduced today that would postpone implementation of the "open carry" portion of the gun law that gives citizens the right to carry a gun on them as long as it can be seen.

The tax issue has bounced through the Capitol in various forms since September as the two chambers of the Legislature and the governor try to hold sway.

The governor called the special session to repeal the controversial service tax via constitutional referendum, a repeal Martinez was going to fight against as part of a strategy to convince the public the tax is necessary.

The unpopular measure, which had Martinez' support when it was enacted in April, taxes services such as advertising, legal services, real estate transactions, accounting and other professional services and construction.

Martinez change his position when legislative leaders chose not to lend their muscle to his cause, and Martinez then said he would consider a revised service tax.

But, just before the Sept. 21 session began, Martinez again opted for straight repeal and said he would not consider a fund-generating replacement until the legislature adopted some budgetary reform measures.

Martinez wants the authority to cut line items from the budget rather than having to approve blocks of appropriations that sometimes include pet of pork barrel projects.

Thursday the Senate passed a bill repealing the service tax and increasing the general sales tax from 5 cents per dollar to 6 cents per dollar. They also included weakened budgetary reform measures.

Two incidents over the weekend in Sanford, may have been related to the law.

A man who identified himself only as John Rollins (no age or address given) was reportedly shot by an unidentified man at 6:15 p.m. Friday at 1506 W. 13th St. Although Rollins apparently had a gunshot wound on his left thigh, he refused treatment and walked away from the scene.

In the second incident, Deborah Oliver, 34, 17 Azalea Drive, DeBary, and Aaron Sanders, 28, 1530 Courtland Blvd., DeBary, reported to police a man driving south on State Road 800, in front of the Central Florida Regional Hospital, in Sanford, at 4:30 p.m. Sunday pointed a gun at them as drove by.

There were four weapon-related reports in Seminole County Thursday.

At least two-thirds of the legislature would have to approve the gun bill amendment to enact it, said Rep. Ron Johnson of Panama City, who authored the original gun bill.

According to Nielsen, the program will consist of three different components. The first will provide optional home visits for Nielsen to discuss the child's progress with the parents. The second component of the program will be monthly meetings of the parents to discuss children of the same age group.

"This will be a real support group for the parents," Nielsen said.

The last component of the program will be periodic developmental screening of children to find any learning deficiencies that may need to be corrected before the child reaches school.

Nielsen said she's dedicated to the program and would like to implement it in other schools after the yearlong pilot program is through its first year.

"I'd like to stay with it (the program), but it's probably to early to tell," Nielsen said.

According to Nielsen, the Seminole County School System is supporting the program in concept, but not supporting it financially. "I understand that," Nielsen said, adding, "So, I'm really into fund raising right now."

U.S. Military personnel were not counted nationwide nor were institutionalized persons.

The national report shows that men and women voted in equal numbers, with 48 percent of those populations voting. In 1984, 50 percent of women voted, but in 1986 their vote rate dropped back to that maintained by men. There is no county breakdown of voting percentages based on sex.

Compared to 1982, an overall nationwide voting rate of 49 percent was recorded, so, 3 percent fewer voted in the 1986 election.

There was no change, between 1982 and 1986, in the national voter turnout for blacks, 43 percent; Hispanics, 24 percent; and voters over age 65, 61 percent.

The number of whites voting across the county fell from 50 percent to 47 percent.

Blacks in the South voted in greater numbers in 1986, up from 38 percent to 43 percent. The young black voter, 18 to 24 years old, turn out and registration caught up to the count for whites in 1984 and moved ahead of young whites in 1986, with 25 percent of young blacks and 22 percent of young whites voting in 1986. In that group 46 percent of the young blacks were registered to vote, compared to 42 percent of the young whites.
