Chairman Says Railroad Strike 'Doggone' Close

ATLANTA (AP)—Mediators here and in Washington continued their efforts today to end railway and telephone strikes in the South, in the wake of a report that the rail dispute was "doggone close" to a settlement.

Chairman Francis A. O'Neill Jr. of the National Mediation Board scheduled a session for 10 a. m. on the heels of yesterday's negotiations to end the crippling Louisville and Nashville railway strike.

"It's pretty doggone close, I'd say that," O'Neill told reporters at the end of Tuesday's session.

He said the strike was "really a lulu" the first time in 33 years that non-unioning unions have struck a major rail line.

Adding cheer to O'Neill's announcement was a report that Secretary of Labor Mitchell was thinking about an active entry into the rail strike. The White House disclosed a week ago that he had been working behind the scenes for some time.

Mitchell conferred yesterday with two southern governors whose states have been hard-hit by the rail tieup: Frank C. Clement of Tennessee and Lawrence W. Wertheby of Kentucky. With them was Gerald Morgan, special assistant to President Eisenhower. However, there were no indications that Mitchell and his conferees had taken the problem to the President.

The stroller caught a glimpse this morning of something that probably has happened to many parents of active little boys. A youngster about the age of three stood in the doorway of a Sanford barber shop while his distraught father pleaded with his small son to have his hair cut. With a distressing cry of "No, no," the youth, showing potentialities of a future track star, started down First St. with Daddy fast in pursuit.

Jurors Try Again To Reach Verdict

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Jurors deciding the fate of Arch Ferrell, ousted Phenix City prosecuting attorney, try again today to reach a verdict after failing in their first attempt.

The 38 year old former community made notorious by racketeers has been on trial since April 15 for the killing of A. L. Patterson, the man who vowed to clean up vice in Phenix City.

The 12-man jury took the case late yesterday afternoon and deliberated 4 1/2 hours before retiring for the night, to resume this morning at whatever time the jurors chose.

Prosecutor Cecil Deason asked for the death penalty in his closing argument yesterday. He declared the evidence "demands" it. The jury is the sole judge of the punishment for murder in Alabama.

Deason and defense attorneys George Rogers and Drew Redden took 5 1/2 hours to review the testimony and argue the case.

The prosecutor insisted the state had "more than met the burden" of proving "beyond a reasonable doubt" that Ferrell and ex-Chief Deputy Sheriff Albert Fuller murdered the Democratic nominee for attorney general June 18.

Fugitive Is Tired Of Running

Cadillac Lover Meets Waterloo

"I was just tired of running," Elwood Dunn Taylor, 22 year old Winter Park fugitive whose love of Cadillac has been his downfall, said yesterday after being captured in Memphis, Tenn.

Taylor, who was convicted of holding up a Seminole County motel in 1954, and two companions were arrested by Memphis police as they attempted to escape in a stolen Cadillac.

"I am just tired of running," he said. "Police have chased me all over town."

He was armed with a .22-caliber pistol but offered no resistance.

Memphis authorities said Taylor and Jasper Shelton, 21, readily admitted they were fugitives from the Florida state road camp at Moore Haven. The third person was not identified by Memphis Detective Chief M. E. Hinds, who announced the arrest.

Taylor and Shelton escaped from the road camp April 24 and four days later paid a brief visit to the home of Taylor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood S. Taylor, Winter Park.

They left after Mrs. Taylor notified the office of Orange County Sheriff Dave Starr. Mrs. Taylor said last night she had recently received a postcard from her son mailed from Pennsylvania. He promised to telephone her, she added.

Strolling In Sanford

A business college once displayed a large sign outside its building saying: "A Short Course in Accounting For Women."

The sign was taken down when one morning the head of the school saw written across the sign in a bold masculine hand: "There is no accounting for women."

The stroller caught a glimpse this morning of something that probably has happened to many parents of active little boys. A youngster about the age of three stood in the doorway of a Sanford barber shop while his distraught father pleaded with his small son to have his hair cut. With a distressing cry of "No, no," the youth, showing potentialities of a future track star, started down First St. with Daddy fast in pursuit.

SYNOPSIS
Jim Andrus had blacked-out the night before he was to have wed lovely Regina Pelham in his suburban New York home. He had awakened to find himself accused of the sensational slaying of Regina's small son, Roger. And though he knew he'd been framed, evidence pointed to his guilt, so he'd been convicted of homicide, and had served a brief prison term. But free now in New York, and aided by police inspector McKee, Andrus is bent upon clearing his name. A clue as to his actual whereabouts on that fateful night, inside Andrus's suburban shack of one "Midnight Mike," here he is injured and, dazed, on his way to the police station.

CHAPTER TWELVE
"I'M GOING TO BRODsky's funeral," Susan Dwight addressed herself to Andrus through the inch-wide crack between door and jamb at the corner. Andrus, in case, her eyes alternately on what she could see of him and on the view beyond the open door. There was no one in sight. It was 11 o'clock on the following morning. Earlier, before anyone else came up, Susan had brought coffee, rolls and cigars to the window on the other side of the landing. Andrus had told her then about Edith's search for the body. And about the night before, and about the detective in the grounds. Susan was puzzled, and thoughtful. "I don't trust Edith an inch, on general principles," wonder what she was after? Perhaps it has nothing to do with all this, she's naturally a schemer—and yet Lulu Casper's been queer . . . I'd like to get a look at that suitcase myself . . . I'll try later on." At the police station, Dupasse had wanted to make sure Jim Andrus didn't turn up at the house last night. There was no one around now, Susan said. "The police don't know you're here in the house, you wouldn't be here, you'd be under arrest." Andrus didn't want her to go to Brodsky's funeral. He was violently opposed to it. He gave her the same advice the doctor had given her yesterday. "Keep out of it from now on, Susan. You've done enough." A black dachshund was charging up the driveway. The dog was followed by a woman in a broad coat and hat, carrying a stick. Susan said hurriedly, "Here comes Amy Redgate. I'll bring up more food later in the day. Don't stir until you hear from me," and went through the door.

Susan had known Amy all her life and although very fond of her, she heartily wished her and her dog elsewhere. Amy said, "Hi, Susan, how are you? It looks like snow." Susan said it might snow at that. "It's almost December."

The dachshund snuffed at her ankles and trotted off. Amy came about a clothing drive. "Drive this, drive that, they'll end up by driving us into the poorhouse." The dachshund had gone through the barn and on into the stable at the back and was barking furiously. "Beaver, come here," Amy shouted. "Beaver . . . Now I wonder what—" "Halt," Susan said, and as the dog appeared wigglingly, she pulled her yellow cardigan around her. "Come on into the house."

By the way, inside Amy spoke of Jim Andrus and what had happened. She said, "The truth is that man should never have come back here—not, mind you, that I think he's killed that man for sure—I don't think there is sure either—but Andrus did Regina enough harm and he should have stayed away." . . . Michael Brodsky was to be buried at 3 o'clock in a cemetery just north of the city, the local paper had said. After a lunch at 1, Susan wandered from window to window, watching the grounds for the approach of the law. A busman salesman and a man about the water meter put her heart in her mouth, but there was no sign of the police. A sister of Michael Brodsky's had been located. She was married to a man named Potter and lived in Hastings, where her husband was a contractor in a small way. At 1 that afternoon Mrs. Potter paid the sergeant a visit. Tudhunter, the detective inspector McKee, had sent up from New York, was with Dupasse when Brodsky's sister arrived. Mrs. Potter charged into the office with blood in her eye. She was a stout, athletic woman with sandy hair. "Where's Mike's money?" she demanded, leaping up at front of Dupasse's desk. "There isn't a penny in that sack up in the hills, not a penny—and no bank book. Mike made good money, and he didn't drink it all up." "Interesting that," the little detective from New York murmured, looking up at front of Dupasse's desk. "Interesting?" Dupasse said with disgust. He found nothing whatever interesting in Mrs. Potter. Tudhunter got up and wandered out. Susan Dwight left for the cemetery at a quarter to 3, not, as she had hoped, alone. Harry arrived at the house in a cab just as she was starting out. He wasn't busy that afternoon—when, Susan reflected drily, was Harry busy?—and he had come up to get his car from the garage where it was being fixed. He said, "I thought maybe you'd drive me down," and got into her car with her.

When Susan told him where she was going Harry shook his head tolerantly. "Why on earth do you want to go?" "Call it charity," Susan answered. "The poor old fellow was desolate—he has no friends, no family. I'm going to lay a wreath on his grave." She stopped at the florist's in the square and then proceeded north and east. The cemetery where Brodsky was to be buried was inside the city limits. If the woman Andrus was searching for had been a crony of Brodsky's she would probably turn up at the funeral—or would she, on a day like this? The wind was a gale and the sky rain was steady and implacable. Susan was almost too late. The ceremony was over and the mourners, a miserable huddle under aianted umbrellas and left the grave and were straggling toward the funeral cars when Susan pulled up a short distance from the main gate. She peered through the misted window. There were two parties, four men in a group and another man and woman, alone. A woman—Susan's hopes leaped at the sight of her. The woman was having an altercation with one of the undertaker's men. Susan rolled down the window and listened, and her hope faded. The woman was Michael Brodsky's sister. She didn't live in Yorkers, she lived in Hastings and she was insisting on being conveyed there. The cortege vanished. "Here's your wreath, dear," Harry said in on her lap with his ingratiating grin. Then he related, "I'll come with you." "No, don't. Why should you suffer? I'll only be a minute," Susan jumped out, went through the gate. The rain was coming down in buckets. In an instant she was deluged. She reached the murdered man's grave, stopped and laid the wreath on the narrow mound of wet earth with a shiver. Andrus hadn't killed Michael Brodsky. Who had? She stood erect—and found herself looking into the face of a woman a few feet away. The woman was cowering in the lee of a monument. She was small and round with very red full cheeks and dark eyes. A black scarf was tied over her head and her black coat was shabby. In a hand behind her back she held a bunch of carnations in effectually concealed. She looked frightened. "This is the one," Susan thought. "This is the woman Jim Andrus is looking for. I surprised her. She doesn't want to be seen. She waited until the others had gone."

Young Mother Gets Up To Walk After Four Years In Wheelchair

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (P. A. — "Then I picked up my baby for the first time and walked across the floor with him." Mrs. Williams called it "all God's doing. He saw fit for me to be healed, and when he is ready you will be healed." Her husband said, "It is a miracle. . . . God waited until we accepted the fact that he has healing powers." Mrs. Williams said she had been confined to a wheelchair since June 19, 1951. She suffered a broken leg when a car she was in collided with a train at Houston. Twenty months later, she said she got polo, and in 1953 was paralyzed from the waist down by myelitis—an inflammation of the spinal column which often follows polio. Her 2-year-old son Benjamin was born while she recovered from polio. Mrs. Williams had no personal physician here. Doctors at Sheppard AFB, where she has had consultations, declined comment.

Nelson Eddy Has Lead In TV Show, 'Desert Song'

BY WAYNE OLIVER
NEW YORK — Casting of Nelson Eddy in the lead role of "Desert Song" for NBC's color spectacular next Saturday night sounds like a natural. It would seem to be right down his alley, in view of his starring performances in nearly 20 score light opera movies and his long career in opera and concerts. But the tall singer and actor, still handsome at 55, is as nervous as a novice. "I've never done a major show on stage or television, and motion pictures are entirely different in technique," he explains. "And on the concert stage I was out there all alone. But this is something for which my background hasn't prepared me." "They tell me I'm trying too hard," he said during a break in rehearsal. "I always wanted to start small in television, on some local station or with a 15-minute program, until I learned it," he said. But my agents balked, with fees in mind no doubt. They said it had to be in an important spot. Now here I am in the biggest spot of all." "I wish I had won my argument three years ago and started small, and worked my way up," he said. "I have a feeling now that it might open up a whole new field for me. But first I have to see whether I can do it, what the producer thinks, and whether the TV public likes me." Until now, Eddy's television has been confined to occasional guest appearances. Bill McKenna, captain of Brandeis University's football team, gained 40 pounds and grew six inches during his college years.

Girl Watchmakers Are Perfect Wives Says Top Executive

By DOROTHY ROE
AP WOMEN'S EDITOR
Any man seeking a perfect wife should go to a watch factory, says Stan Simon, executive of one of the world's largest watch companies. Girls who make watches are the world's best housekeepers," says he. "They are scrupulously clean, beautifully groomed and meticulous about everything they do." They have to be, it seems, because these girls must have fingers sensitive enough to fit 117 pieces into a watch smaller than a dime, to make the pieces absolutely precise, work with tiny wheels and jewels so small they are difficult to see without a magnifying glass.

A speck of dust or a puff of cigarette smoke is an air-conditioned watch factory is enough to gum up the works of one of the delicate watches while it is being put together. About 1,400 women work in the suburban New York branch of Simon's company, and each not only is carefully investigated before she is hired, but must go through a training period of from six months to two years. "These skilled watchmakers are Uncle Sam's most valuable labor force in case of war, for they are the ones trained sufficiently to make the delicate timing instruments used in bombers, fighter planes and many other essentials of combat," Simon says. The jewel bearings used in watches also are vital to war production, says Simon, and so a plant recently has been established for making these in Rolle, N. D., staffed principally by Indian girls. Simon says women who like to do needlepoint should be good at watchmaking. They have the infinite patience for minute detail.

No Democracy Here

Some state constitutions are so planned as virtually to prohibit change. Connecticut is a good example. Those who knew how many changes were needed, cheered when the State Senate approved a bill for a constitutional convention. They might have saved their breath. The remaining barriers are not likely to be hurdled.

First, the convention call must go to the House of Representatives. There every city and town has one representative and no more, whereas the Senate districts are in accordance with population. A hamlet of 50 people has one representative, the same as New Haven, whose population is 164,000. The abolition of this unfair arrangement is the chief purpose of a convention.

Even if the House passed the measure, it must go to a popular vote, not one but two. If it were to hurdle this requirement, a convention could be held, but presumably its membership would be chosen on the same basis as the House of Representatives, and so would perpetuate the present unfair arrangement.

Connecticut citizens might as well grin and bear it. They are not self-governing and have little prospect of ever becoming so. If it is any consolation, there are other states in the same boat.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

And Peter answered Thou art the Christ, son of the living God.—Matt. 16:16.—That confession is the rock on which Christianity was built. If Jesus was not the Christ, then all prophecy was idle chatter. History then would have no meaning and no promise.

Eisenhower Has Time Left To Tell

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — President Truman and Eisenhower both reached a point in their White House stay where things began to look a little better to them around the world.

Truman guessed wrong, and remained in office long enough to find it out. Eisenhower has 21 months of his term left. That should be long enough to tell whether his present careful optimism is justified.

When Truman faced reporters April 12, 1950, he had been in office five years and one day. In those five years, in which the wartime allies had split and the cold war had begun, this country had taken a number of steps to stop the spread of communism: It had armed Greece and Turkey; it had created the Marshall Plan to get Western Europe back on its feet and it was succeeding; and it helped set up the North Atlantic Alliance.

But communism had spread nevertheless: after taking over the satellites, the Communists got Czechoslovakia and the Chinese Communists, late in 1949, took over China.

Nevertheless, the Truman administration was cutting down its military spending and on April 12, 1950, the President told newsmen the prospects for peace looked better than at any time since the cold war started in 1946.

Modern Imperialism

In recent years the countries of Asia and Africa have been groping for new ways of life, independence and national dignity. They have grown more resentful of past injustices and of anything they believe to be attempts to perpetuate such injustices. The Communists have been eager to exploit this with slogans such as "Asia for the Asians" and catch phrases such as "Western Imperialism and colonialism." Some people have been deceived.

At the Bandung conference, however, there was evidence that more and more people know the score. Delegates from South Viet Nam and from Iraq lashed out at the "modern imperialism" of Communism, which they called more vicious than any in the past. These speeches received loud and sustained applause.

This does not mean that the peoples of these countries are entirely happy with the West, that they do not want to run their own affairs without dictation by us. It does mean, however, that they do not accept at face value the ridiculous claims made by the Reds about Communism being a liberating force.

By dealing with these countries as equals, by admitting past mistakes and showing evidence of a desire to rectify them, the West offers the best hope to these people who are today seeking only those things which we have long enjoyed and cherished. If we act intelligently, if we demonstrate that we believe that democracy can work abroad as well as at home, these developing countries will not fall into the Communist trap.

Day Dream

Rechester business man, missing since February, has turned up working as a clown in a circus. Police say that he is apparently a victim of amnesia.

Amnesia is not to be joked about and its victims are to be pitied. But the idea of tossing everything aside and going off to be a clown is something else. It is a thought to be cherished, to be savored in those moments when the cares and frustrations and responsibilities of everyday living weigh heavily on a man's shoulders.

Sane sensible people will point out that you can't dodge responsibility, or run away from cares, that being a clown in a circus is probably not the best possible existence. They may be right, but their logic does not dispel the dream. What do they know, these sane, sensible folk, about the world of noses that light up, and mottled suits and the admiration of children? They couldn't be clowns even if they tried.

It's Performance That Counts!

CAPTAIN I. R. OLSON tells why he uses PLT-FUEL

Then in June the United States was in war in Korea and remained in war for the rest of Truman's term.
The Eisenhower administration, explaining its increased reliance on new weapons, is cutting down the size of the armed forces although Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Army chief of staff, has taken a gloomy view of Army reductions.
On military spending Truman and Eisenhower faced the same problem: the country couldn't afford to stay fully mobilized indefinitely. Both men sought a middle ground.
Last week Eisenhower told a news conference, "I confess I have a feeling that things are on the upswing." But he said he could take every single favorable point and balance it by something that doesn't look too favorable.
Eisenhower had obtained a truce in Korea so there was no war now. And as hopeful signs of peace—perhaps—he noted Russia's expressed willingness to sign an Austrian peace treaty and the growing confidence around the world in this country's peaceful intentions.
In addition the Red Chinese have suggested talks to "relax tension." Turnin' this picture around, Eisenhower mentioned events which may mean serious trouble: the Red Chinese air power buildup opposite Formosa; the trouble in South Viet Nam.
Maybe Eisenhower's "feeling" about "things on the upswing" will turn out better than Truman's optimism about peace. Maybe.

Factors Leading To Nervousness

NEW YORK — Stock speculation that might get out of hand and undermine our good times worries the staff of the Fulbright stock market study committee.

But traders in Wall Street seem to fret more about the daily quota of cheer and gloom in the corporate news.

Both of these points to nervousness. In Washington it's fear that the better than expected good times may go to the nation's head and foster gambling. In Wall Street it's nervousness lest the surprising bull market may have carried stock prices near their peak.

This nervousness shows up every time an occasional sour earnings report wedges into the parade of glowing profit statements from most companies. Price of the stock of the less fortunate company swings widely, and this often spreads to the market as a whole.
Or a corporation doesn't come through with the stock split, raised dividend or merger which rumor had predicted. A sharp break in the market follows.

These sudden and severe swings, either up or down, in stock prices worry many in Washington. These observers interpret the market's nervousness and fluctuations in recent weeks as violence that speculators may be taking over from investors.
The report by the staff of the expressed willingness to sign an Austrian peace treaty and the growing confidence around the world in this country's peaceful intentions.

In addition the Red Chinese have suggested talks to "relax tension." Turnin' this picture around, Eisenhower mentioned events which may mean serious trouble: the Red Chinese air power buildup opposite Formosa; the trouble in South Viet Nam.

Maybe Eisenhower's "feeling" about "things on the upswing" will turn out better than Truman's optimism about peace. Maybe.

Senate Banking Committee, which Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) heads, puts the cause for worry this way:

"When more and more people turn to the stock market for a quick profit rather than investment income, with an increasing reliance on credit, speculative excesses are likely to develop."

Should these excesses "push prices up to unsustainable levels," the report stresses, there could be "sharp reversals which can shake business confidence."

Beyond this worry over possible excesses to come, and too great use of credit in playing the market, the Fulbright staff finds little in the present situation that can be compared with the 1929 market that preceded the big crash.

An Occupational Ill

By HERMAN M. RUBINSTEIN, M.D.

REMEMBER those penmanship lessons you had back in elementary school?

I hope all of you bookkeepers, clerks and anyone else who has to do a lot of writing benefited from them. If not, eventually you might develop writer's cramp.

Frequent Victims

Most often bothered by this condition are men between the ages of 30 and 60 who make their living with a pen or pencil. Secretaries, however, usually aren't troubled by this occupational hazard if they use shorthand.

The first sign of writer's cramp occurs when you lose control of your pen or pencil occasionally and notice minor distortions in your writing.

You grip the pen tighter than is necessary and consequently your hand becomes tired easily and begins to ache. In time you won't be able to move your thumb or index finger freely enough to move the pen. By this time your writing is jerky. Unless you quit now, your entire forearm will be bothered as the muscles are stricken with spasms.

The cause of these cramps is simple: You're not writing correctly. Remember, those penmanship classes stressed the importance of moving your whole arm when you write.

If you write only by moving

Laughter Not Big Cause Of Death

NEW YORK — If you are worried about your health, here is a reassuring thought—you probably won't die laughing.

Laughter never has been a leading cause of death in any civilized country, and the danger of it knocking you off in this country is diminishing every year.

"We're a sober lot—and getting soberer," said Charles Morton, a thoughtful humorist who never lets the foibles of a confused world disturb his own very good cheer.

"It is becoming more difficult for us to laugh at ourselves. Everybody's terribly cautious. They're afraid of offending someone. As the money stakes get higher and our enterprises larger, everything seems to become desperately serious."

"This is too bad. There is enough that is upside down in this world to warrant anybody having a good big belly laugh."

Morton, associate editor of the Atlantic Monthly, is one of the few remaining masters of the light article, a deft humor form brightened by such predecessors as Stephen Leacock and Robert Benchley.

After surviving the feminine indignation aroused by his book on "How to Protect Yourself Against Women and Other Vicissitudes," Morton has come out with a new and equally funny guidebook to current "stuffed-shirtisms" called "A Slight Sense of Outrage."

Among other things Morton is outraged by are V-necked men's pajamas "men with their collars off look like picked chickens" and writers who describe bananas as "the elongated yellow fruit" and billiard balls as "the numbered spheroids."

He has a theory on how a sense of humor develops and how a humorist differs from normal people.

"Assuming a child is ordinarily intelligent and has a sense of proportion," he said, "he tends to believe what grownups tell him. He realizes they are older and have lived longer."

"But at some point he discovers that an enormous amount of what they have told him is baloney—pure moonshine—and that they don't know what they are talking about."

"This seems amusing to him and excites his sense of comedy because it is funny to see people actually believing the ridiculous things they say. It also seems funny for him to reflect they had him believing this guff, too."

"Thus humor is an awakening, a discovery. But, unfortunately, if he is normal, in time this sense of comedy evaporates. He no longer is excited or amused by the crazy things people do or say. He himself becomes one of the older people who say and do things that are manifestly absurd."

"The wheel has turned full circle."

"But there are a few people who never get over it, who never grow up. Thus it could be interpreted that a light writer is a case of arrested development."

Morton lit up a cigar and cheerfully admitted that he was in no hurry to grow up himself.

In an age of speed everything comes and goes faster. The lightning wisecrack and the one-liner cartoon gag now characterize the nation's comedy. The leisurely light humorous essay is slowly dwindling.

"There are few markets left for it," said Morton, who says he wouldn't advise any mother to try to raise her boy to be a light writer.

"She couldn't do it anyway," he added. "No one who writes a good piece knows exactly how or why he was able to. All he knows is that it warms him in a strange way."

Carol Greenberg, Heiress To Fortune Is Seeking Divorce

CLEVELAND (AP)—Carol Greenberg, heiress to a department store fortune, has tied an end to her nine-year marriage to Hans Greenberg, home run hitter who became general manager of the Cleveland Indians baseball team.

Mrs. Greenberg, 40, a noted horsewoman, Monday claimed "gross neglect and extreme cruelty" and asked custody of their three children, Glenn, 6, Stephen, 4, Alvin, 2. She also demanded alimony.

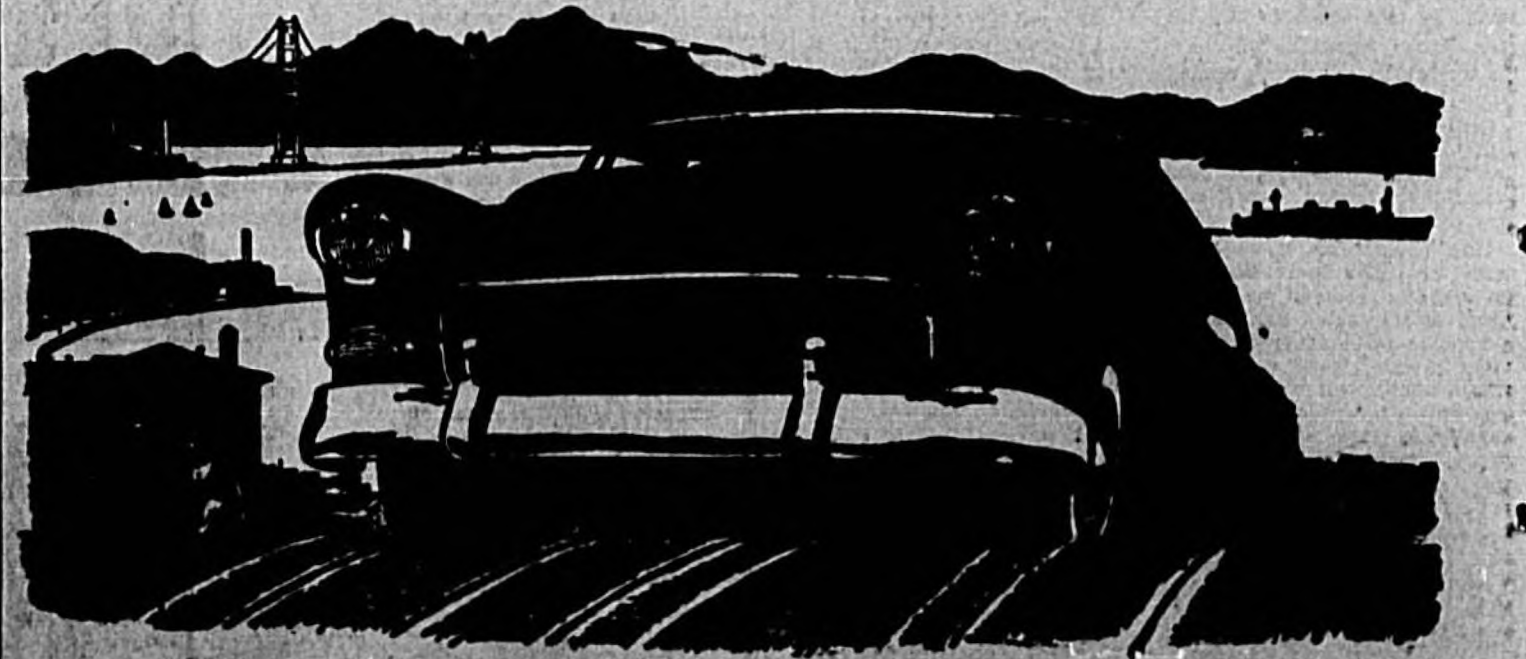

Greenberg, 44, said he was "terribly distressed."

"I hoped and tried to avoid it," he said. "My primary and only concern now is what's best for the children. I'm not thinking about myself."

Punch-line to the year's hottest power story—

Chevrolet "Turbo-Fire V8"!

This is the engine that's writing a whole new chapter in the book of automobile performance records. This is the engine that has stock car times doing a "double take" at their stopwatch whenever experts gather to compare the abilities of the 1955 cars.

For example, in the recent NASCAR stock car competition at Daytona Beach, Florida, Chevrolet literally ran away from every other car in its class—and a host of others besides. In the one-mile sprint race, the first two places—and six of the first ten—went to Chevrolet.

And in acceleration runs from a standing start against all comers, the Meteoric Chevrolet beat all other low-priced cars—and every high-priced car except one!

What's behind this blazing performance? A compact honey of a V8 that only the world's leading producers of valve-in-head engines can build. Chevrolet's new "Turbo-Fire V8".

It puts a new kind of fun in your driving life. You're in charge of 160 high-speed horsepower—or if you're looking for even more excitement, the new "Super Turbo-Fire V8" (optional at extra cost) puts 180 h.p. under your feet. Pick the one you'd rather have fun with, then come in and get behind the wheel. You'll see why the Meteoric Chevrolet is showing its heels to everyone else on the road!

Year's Last Party Held By Students Of Junior High

Parents Advised To Like In-Laws Of Their Children

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M. D.

When one of your children marries there is another family some-where just as interested in your child and his or her spouse as you are.

Get to know this family. And make up your mind ahead of time that you're going to like them. You have one tremendous bond with them — your mutual interest in your children.

Maybe you'll find it easy to like them, but maybe you won't.

If they are very different from you — different interests, different attitudes toward life, maybe a different religion, or a different racial background, or a different political philosophy — it's going to take all the tact and subtlety of which you're capable to build up a warm and friendly relationship with them.

But it's well worth the effort. A great difference in background poses a problem for the young people too. Both of the older families see that their lives are enriched by their differences and not pulled apart by them. This is the bond on which you can build a genuine relationship with your co-in-laws.

It gives a young couple a great deal of pleasure to think that their respective families are on friendly terms.

Your married child is out on his own. You want the young couple to be independent and to lead their own lives. However, you do hope that they will want to come home and visit you occasionally. But don't forget that these visits will have to be shared. The other in-laws will want them too. Don't let your child ever feel guilty when, as a couple, they decide to go to the other parents.

You may be disappointed, but keep your disappointment to yourself. You'll be delighted to see them, you say, whenever they feel they can come, and of course you understand that they want to see Jim (or Mary's) parents too.

The better you know these other parents, the more sympathy you are apt to have for their interest in the young people. If you live nearby, by all means invite them to your house frequently. If you live too far away for easy visits, write them. Call them by their first names.

Remember them at Christmas time, find out when their birthdays are and send them a "little something." The anniversary of the children's wedding is a delightful time to build into a traditional

Home Demo Work Helps Homemakers Help Themselves

Mrs. Myrtle Wilson stated that home demonstration work helps 4-H girls, homemakers and families to help themselves. Its major focuses are on better living and improved human relations. It helps families in all phases of family living:

1. To improve their health. Home Demonstration agents help homemakers to plan home food production, to preserve food, prepare it, and to select the proper balanced diet for health.

2. To learn to make their own money—to buy wisely and to plan better their spending and saving.

3. To plan their work so as to use their time and energy with the utmost efficiency.

4. To learn to make their own clothing or to get their money's worth when they buy it.

5. To improve and repair their homes and their house furnishings.

6. To develop creative ability through handicraft.

7. To rear their children intelligently and to have healthy, happy families.

8. To promote satisfying communities in which to rear their families.

Farm families, rural nonfarm families, or families in the open country, and urban families all request help and are benefited through home demonstration work.

In 1954, Florida's 81 home demonstration agents assisted 31,681 people in organized groups; 65,821 people not in organized groups. A total number of 97,502 people were reported as served by Home Demonstration and Girls' 4-H Club work.

May 1-7 is National Home Demonstration Achievement Week. Miss Wilson, Home Demonstration Agent, and the club members are inviting the public to their open exhibit at the County Home Demonstration Center, 401 E. 25th St.

celebration of the bond between you.

Your children will be happier and feel warmer towards both homes when they know that together all the parents are unselfishly interested in their welfare.

British Ballerina Believes In Play Along With Work

LONDON — Svetlana Beriosova, the British ballerina who has caused a sensation in London, believes that all work and no play makes a dull dancer.

"I love baseball," says the 22-year-old Svetlana, who was born in Lithuania, educated in New York and is a British subject.

She confides that she was a "poor field, good hit" on the girl's baseball team at P. S. 30 in New York. She also enjoys movies, the theater and talking politics.

British critics are forecasting for Svetlana a role as successor to Margot Fonteyn, prima ballerina assoluta of the noted Sadler's Well Ballet, who has been acclaimed as the foremost dancer in the western world. Here are some recent comments:

"Fonteyn is a hard act to follow, but Beriosova is her obvious successor." — Punch.

"Beriosova is destined for the highest honors as a classical dancer." — The London Sunday Observer.

"There is nothing now to stop her from reaching the topmost peaks." — Baron, ballet critic and photographer who last year included Svetlana in his list of the 10 most beautiful women in Britain.

When Svetlana was but 17, the London Telegraph critic already was talking of her "queerly bearing." Two years before, she had been hailed as a "Baby Ballerina" and the "greatest hope since Baranova."

Svetlana accepts it all with a charming, girlish manner off stage that is in strange contrast to the legal bearing with which she glides in front of the footlights.

The ballet and art magazines are filled with stories of how she thinks only of the ballet. But when

Beta Sigma Phi Gives Reports At Regular Meet

Beta Sigma Phi met recently at the home of Mrs. Rudy Sloan with Mrs. David Bach as co-hostess.

Mrs. Donald Bales reported the current Cancer Fund total as $1,600 which indicated that the entire county cooperated in the drive. Collections in all the distant county areas have not been received to date.

Mrs. George Speer announced plans for the Mothers Day tea have been completed. The tea will be held at the home of Mrs. William White, 1600 Park Ave., from 4 to 5 p. m. Sunday. Members and their guest mothers are invited.

The cancer benefit card party will be held May 10 at the Episcopal Parish House. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the sorority or by calling Mrs. Harold Chapman. Local merchants have assisted in sponsoring the fund raising party by donations of merchandise for the prizes.

Miss Cherry Singletary was elected recording secretary after the resignation of Miss Jeanette Wolfers was respectfully accepted. Miss Wolfers had held this office during the past year and was recently installed for the coming year.

Mrs. Harold Chapman presented the traditional Gavel Guard to Mrs. J. L. Horton Jr., past president. Mrs. Speer conducted the program by presenting an inspiring summary of this year's cultural study.

one talks to her. Svetlana displays a remarkable insight in things outside the closed ballet world.

Her father, Nicholas Beriosoff, once a noted dancer, is now a ballet master of the London Festival Ballet. From childhood, Svetlana knew the ballet world. When her father toured Europe and America with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, the little girl was taken along.

In 1939, Svetlana and her mother joined her father in America. She began her study of dancing then.

In the summer of 1932 she joined the Sadler's Wells Ballet and made her debut as the Lilac Fairy in the "Sleeping Beauty."

Her rise was steady. Soon she was given the lead in full length ballets with the noted Covent Garden company.

At last, with the leading role in "Swan Lake," Svetlana had arrived as a dancer who performed every major role in the Western world's premier ballet company.

The critics say the title of prima ballerina is now but a formality. And when they speak of her stepping into Fonteyn's shoes, they have the highest ballet honor possible in their thoughts for her — prima ballerina assoluta.

Kindergarten Has May Day Program

The Mother Goose Kindergarten, run by Mrs. Emmett Hunt, held its annual May Day program yesterday with 25 children participating.

Folk dances were enjoyed, several dramatizations of mother goose stories were presented along with the playing of the rhythm instruments and a Maypole Dance. Little Brenda Phillips sang a "Clock Song" assisted by a chorus of girls and a skit "Davy Crockett" was given with Mrs. Crockett being played by Herbert Anne Collier, Davy, Steve Bows, and Davy's partner, Russell, Butch Harris.

After the program ice cream and cake was served by Mrs. Clarence Welsh.

Thriftily young women have discovered that it's simple to make a whole wardrobe of separate blouses and skirts, adaptable to any occasion.

For school or office, the tailored skirt and flannel shirt is always in good taste. For sports wear, the shirt may be in high colors or splashy patterns, the skirt may give way to Bermuda shorts, polo pushers or slacks.

The crowd coming over for supper? Serve a big hot potato salad with broiled frankfurters, buttered rolls and lots of fresh vegetables to eat out of hand. Choose radishes, carrot and celery strips, cauliflowerets and strips of fennel for the fresh vegetable tray.

Pirates' Pace Not Surprising To Manager Haney

PITTSBURGH (U)—Fred Haney, the long suffering manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, isn't particularly surprised that his youthful Pirates have won three consecutive games.

"It's just a matter of getting the breaks," Haney said today. "We're getting great pitching lately, of course, but we're getting some of the breaks we didn't get when we lost our first eight games. We had some good pitching then, too, but it wasn't so much better than in our last few games."

In the last three games the Pirates have given up just one run and that was unearned. They now have a 6-11 record.

Dick Littlefield, castoff American League southpaw, pitched the Pirates to their fourth win in their last five starts last night as he gave up just seven hits, hurling a 4-0 shutout over the Milwaukee Braves.

Seven is a lucky number for other Pirate hurlers. Young Ron Kline, hurling his first complete major league game, started the Pirate victory skunk with a 7-0 shutout over the Cards in the second game of a doubleheader Sunday. He gave up only seven hits, too. Bob Purkey also allowed seven hits Monday as he beat the St. Louis Cardinals 5-1. The lone run resulted from an error.

"Besides our pitching we're starting to get some hits when we need them," said Haney. "George Fosse, our rookie third baseman, is coming through with the long ball and so are some of the other fellows."

Athletics Option Trice And Bevan

KANSAS CITY (U)—The Kansas City Athletics optioned pitcher Bob Trice and infielder Harold Bevan to Columbus of the International League and sent pitcher Bob Spicer to Savannah of the South Atlantic League yesterday.

Trice had pitched 10 innings, given up 14 hits and 13 runs, and had no record. Spicer had pitched only 2 2-3 innings, and also had no record.

Bevan had made only three fruitless pinch hit appearances for the A's.

The Athletics still have 14 pitchers and must dispose of at least three more to get down to the 25-player limit by May 10.

W. Palm Defeats Sanford, 12-2

West Palm Beach continued its drive for first place in the Florida State League by trouncing the Sanford Cardinals, 12-2, last night.

The Seminoles and Cardinals play again tonight at Memorial Stadium. Game time is 8 o'clock.

Three unearned runs in the second inning last night were all the Seminoles needed as pitchers Stewart Closs and Bill Royette combined to limit Sanford to seven scattered hits.

Jack Cross and Dave Cortright paced the West Palm Beach attack, each with four for five off lefty Pete Peterson who went the route. A crowd of 532 watched the encounter.

Meanwhile Johnny Vander Meer, the double no-hit baseball great, took his 41-year-old frame off the bench and won a game for Daytona Beach as a pinchhitter.

The inland manager doubled in the winning run, then stole home himself as Daytona Beach defeated Cocoa 13-13. His blow, before 434 fans, was the high point of an eight-run eighth inning rally.

Cocoa's defeat enabled the surging West Palm Beach Seminoles to take over undisputed possession of second place in the Florida State League.

Other action saw St. Petersburg whip leading Orlando 5-4 and Lakeland take Gainesville 4-1.

Les Richards, 19-year-old southpaw, held Orlando to six hits and one earned run before 338 at St. Petersburg. The Saints combed the performers. He ordered Jim Turner, Lakeland manager, to pay $15 for "profane language" in a game at Lakeland April 30 and $25 for a "fist fight at home plate" in a game at Orlando May 1. C. Barrios, Orlando catcher, was fined $15 for taking part in the fight with Turner. Joe Fazzino, Lakeland outfielder, was fined $10 for "throwing a bat" in the April 30 game.

W. Palm Beach 261 2nd 10th—12
Sanford 100 6th 9th—2

lowed only four Lakeland hits but four runs in the first inning was his downfall.

Meantime, President John Krieger assessed some fines against the performers. He ordered Jim Turner, Lakeland manager, to pay $15 for "profane language" in a game at Lakeland April 30 and $25 for a "fist fight at home plate"

Pirates Now 'Nuisance Kids' Of League

By WILL GRIMBLEY
The Associated Press

Branch Rickey's Pittsburgh "Fuzz Kids" are now the "Nuisance Kids" of the National League.

While the haughty New York Giants and Milwaukee Braves are trying to maintain complete calm in the face of continuing reverses, the beardless Pirates are kicking up sawdust all over the place.

They have won three games in a row, and four of the last five. They're playing as if they really believe in Rickey's "five-year plan," which had 1933 fixed as the date for the pennant.

Of course, nobody seriously expects a pennant from Pittsburgh this soon. But they can expect surprises. The Pirates are young and brash—and winning.

Last night, a 20-year-old Baltimore castoff, Dick Littlefield, shut out the Milwaukee Braves on seven hits 4-0, stretching the Braves' string of scoreless innings to 22.

The Braves dropped seven full games back of the idle Brooklyn Dodgers and their only comfort was that the champion New York Giants were still another full game farther back.

The Giants were whitewashed by the Chicago Cubs' Bob Rush, who fashioned a tidy four-hitter.

Bob Speake and Dee Fondy, with three triples between them, battered the Giants' ace Jim Hearn. The score was 6-0.

In the only other National League game, big Ted Kluszewski hit two of Cincinnati's home runs to down the Philadelphia Phillies 7-5.

In the American League, the Cleveland Indians whipped the New York Yankees 7-4 in their first head-to-head clash of the season. The Indians thus managed to hold their slender lead in the league lead over the pressing Boston Red Sox 4-2 on a two-run home by the 30-year-old rookie sensation Al Kaline.

Billy Hoft won his third straight for the Tigers.

The Kansas City Athletics beat the Baltimore Orioles 4-3 on a three-run homer by Bill Wilson in the eighth inning. The Chicago White Sox trimmed the Washington Senators 5-1.

Littlefield gave the Pirates their third straight top-flight pitching performance in beating the Braves. Roomie Kline and young Bob Purkey did a similar workmanlike job on the St. Louis Cardinals earlier this week. There's not a player in the regular Pittsburgh lineup who has reached 30 years old.

Bob Rush kept the Cubs on Brooklyn's neck, but 3 1/2 games back in second place, with a masterful pitching performance. Don Mueller, with a double and a single, and Monte Irvin, with two singles, were the only Giants to hit him and Mueller was the only one to get as far as second—with his double in the ninth.

Catcher Yogi Berra proved the "goat" of the Yankees loss to Cleveland. With the score tied 4-4 as the result of homers by Cleveland's Al Smith and Ralph Kiner and the Yanks' Mickey Vernon, Yogi muffed a throw-in which led to three unearned runs. Mike Garcia was the winning pitcher, Ed Lopat the loser.

At Kansas City, Wilson's three-run homer in the eighth scalded the Baltimore right-hander, with his third defeat.

Eight Starters, Two Probables Set For Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The field for Saturday's running of the $125,000 added Kentucky Derby today stood at eight definite and two probable starters after Flying Fury's thrilling but unimpressive victory in the Derby Trial.

On the definite list, as they have been all week, are Nashua, Summer Tan, Swamps, Racing Fool, Flying Fury, Jean's Joe, Blue Lem and Honey Alibi.

The two probables are Nabesna and Trim Destiny.

Should all 10 start, the race will gross $133,500 with the winner taking down a net of $108,400. Thanks to an increase of $23,000 in added money by Churchill Downs, the race is the richest in its 81 years.

Post time is 4:30 p. m., Eastern Standard Time. From 4:15 to 4:41 the race will be carried on 212 radio and 163 television stations by CBS.

There was nothing in the result of the trial yesterday to jar any of the followers of Nashua and Summer Tan.

Parimutuel officials predicted the big bay from William Woodward's Belair stud will open at 4-1 and possibly go off at even shorter odds. Nashua picked up additional supporters, both among horsemen and laymen, yesterday when he stepped a mile in 1 minute 37.8 seconds and worked out the full Derby distance of a mile and a quarter in 2 minutes 5.8 seconds. The Derby record of 2:01.4 is held by Whirlaway. It was set in 1931.

Summer Tan, carrying the hopes of Mrs. John W. Garbreath, of Galway, Ohio, was quoted at 8 to 1 with Rex Ellsworth's Swaps, choice of the West, third in line at 6 to 1.

One needs only to look at Flying Fury's time in the trial to see that neither he or any of those in back of him figure to menace the favorites. Flying Fury was clocked in 1:38 as he bested the Mureaux Stable's Jean's Joe by a nose. That time was two-fifths of a second slower than Nashua worked.

Joe Pignatone caught for Tommy Holmes at Elmhurst, N. Y., last season and this year, is with Holmes at Fort Worth in the Texas League.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (U)—American League club owners must be snickering these spring days as they see seven teams in the rival circuit writhing under the lash of the Brooklyn Dodgers. They hope, no doubt, that there is nothing temporary about the lack of balance among the Nationals.

For too many years to suit the American Leaguers, their own runaway races have played to steadily dwindling attendances while the senior divan pulled in the fans with one thriller right after the other, specializing in last-day finishes. This time they see a chance that the leagues' roles will be reversed, with the Dodgers pulling far away from all pursuit while several American League clubs take turns making runs at the Cleveland Indians.

And never think that the National Leaguers are not beginning to worry about it, especially since the Brooks have proved that they can manhandle the Western clubs, including Milwaukee, in stretching their phenomenal record to 18-3 in recent days. About the only hope left is that Walt Alston's streaking team will come down to earth when it opens its first extended road trip Friday, or, long range, that hot weather, if it ever comes, will take some of the sap out of such veterans as Roy Campanella, Jackie Robinson and Pee Wee Reese.

There is no sound basis for supposing that the club will go into a decline once it leaves Ebbets Field. It is true that the Dodgers' home park is ideally tailored to their right-hand power, but it is equally true that their only two defeats up to now, both inflicted by the Giants by one-run margins, came in Brooklyn.

As for the brilliant weather to come, that has been taken care of to some extent by night ball. It isn't the killer for the oldsters that it once was.

Joe Pignatone caught for Tommy Holmes at Elmhurst, N. Y., last season and this year, is with Holmes at Fort Worth in the Texas League.

Tigers Win, 6-0, In Rotary Game

A keen pitcher's duel between the Giant's Russel and Tiger twirler Smith in the Rotary league game at Municipal ball park last evening went to Smith—who chunked a no-hitter—and the Tigers, 6-0.

Both moundmen had a no hit game as they went into the fourth inning, but here the capable Russel gave way and the Tigers swept five runs across the plate on as many safeties.

Scott, who led off for the Tigers, was winged by Russel and later scored when the Giant pitcher's wildness pushed him in as LeGrone walked with the bases loaded. The session ended as Brooks sucked in a fly that looked like a hit and doubled Bramlett off second.

The Tigers also racked up two double plays, Brown appearing a fly to center and catching Danbridge off second. The other double killing was done by Brooks who hauled in Robinson's fly to second and stepped on the bag to catch Russel.

The big inning got under way with one out as Brooks slipped the first Tiger single of the day into centerfield. Getman took four balls and McCarty golfed one into right to put three men on the bases. Russel walked Brown to crowd Brooks home. Scott's single to left brought Getman and McCarty in with runs. Cordell punched a roller through second to choke the bases. Bramlett dribbled a slow knock which Russel gobbled up for a force out at home as Brown raced in. Smith singled but Bramlett was caught off second to close out the rally.

The lineup:
GIANTS: Wilderhold, 3b; Barlett, 1b; Stouthoff, 1b; Russel, p; Danbridge, c; Robinson, 2b; Farley, rf; Halligan, ss; Carter, cf; Colvin, lf.

Man Says Nature Should Do Work

WASHINGTON Hugh McRae who runs the showiest private garden in Washington—the 20-acre estate of former U. S. Ambassador to Russia and Mrs. Joseph E. Davies—thinks most people work too hard in their gardens.

"They should let nature do most of the job," he told me. "They overdo the digging. They don't take advice when they ask for it. If they took time to learn some of the easier ways they'd have better gardens. Fertilizer, water and good seed are the most important ingredients."

McRae, a Scottish-born horticulturist who says "richy feet" led him to come to the United States 22 years ago, has been head of a gardening staff of seven at spectacularly beautiful Tregaron, the Davies estate, the "Main Line" Philadelphia suburb.

His first job was with a "Main Line" Philadelphia suburb before coming in Tregaron he worked 11 years at famous Dumbarton Oaks here. Right now McRae is awaiting the blooming of the 10,000 hardy primulas, or polyanthus plants.

"They ought to be along about the third week in March," he said. "They range from the whites through the blues and we even get some blues."

Next come the barcadas—some 30,000; the tulips—about 20,000. The first week in May, Tregaron is ablaze with 4,000 azalea plants of more than 30 varieties. There are 300 dogwood trees and scores of other blooming trees and shrubs. From September until February 5,000 mums in 100 varieties are in bloom.

White and pink are favorite flower colors of Mrs. Davies, a noted hostess whose drawing room and dinner table arrangements are always conversation pieces. In a greenhouse on the estate she raises rare orchid species and carnations.

ALTHOUGH THE REBEL Binh Xuyen troops are reportedly routed and Premier Ngo Dinh Diem was in complete control of the South Vietnamese army, fighting was still continuing on the outskirts of Saigon. The above photos were taken at the height of the clash with the insurgents. At top, French officers stand on the roof of the Hotel Gallieni in Saigon as smoke and flame rise from blazing villages. ## Mt. Vernon Ladies Serve Without Pay

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON—The Mount Vernon Ladies Assn. of the United States, which purchased George Washington's home in nearby Virginia in 1858, announces a "visitation" of 1,065,000 to its gates during the past year, with a "Noticeable improvement in interest, attention and respect," among the touring high school groups.

The association, made up of 30 women who are chosen from the various states and serve without salary, says its object is to "perpetuate the sacred memory of the 'Father of his Country' and with loving hands to guard and protect the hallowed spot where rest his mortal remains."

In carrying out its mission the association had to deal this last year with "Hurricane Hazel." On Oct. 14 Hazel blew down quite a number of trees in the park below

Crosby, O'Connor By Movie Studio Reunion Saluted

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Last week Paramount saluted the reunion of Donald O'Connor and Bing Crosby after 18 years of going their separate ways.

The studio ran off the "Small Fry" number from their 1938 musical, "Sing You Sinners," plus "You Gotta Give the People 'Hokey'" from the 1935 "Anything Goes."

In the earlier film, Donald was 12, with an Irish face and a soprano singing voice. In "Anything Goes," he is nearing 30, handsomer and a baritone. In both numbers, he seems to be an accomplished, highly talented performer with complete sureness.

Donald doesn't give that impression in person. His conversation is tentative, his manner offhanded. He hasn't adopted the false modesty of some stars. Although he has been a performer for most of his years, he is still amazed and modest about the honors that fall his way.

Seeing the old movie caused him to reminisce about his days as a child actor. He recalled playing with his family at the Irish Village of the Chicago World's Fair in 1933. He was 8.

"I can remember there was a midjet show next door," he said. "I used to go over and play with the midjets between shows."

He remembers "Sing You Sinners" vividly. He also remembers his salary: $350 a week. He's now earning $200,000 for "Anything Goes."

"I did a lot of pictures at Paramount," he said. "I was 'Cary Cooper' as a boy in 'Beau Geste' and 'Fred Macmurray' as a boy in 'Men With Wings.' But 'Sing You Sinners' was the only musical I ever did in those days."

"I think that was probably good for my career. People don't remember me as a child star. That's pretty hard for some kids to overcome when they grow up."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF
THERE'S a famous restaurant chain that boasts of twenty-eight different flavors of ice cream on its menu—but the waitresses often take a dim view of this feature. Harvey Camp, of Detroit, for instance, once demanded, "Before I order dessert, I'd just like for you to rattle off those twenty-eight flavors for me."

"Nothing doing," retorted the waitress sharply. "I know gents like you. After I recited all of 'em you'd decide on chocolate or vanilla. Now which do you want?"

Alphabet Group Gains Prominence

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON—A new alphabet group has gained special prominence in Washington. It even has its own elegant headquarters within a stone's throw of the White House, and for its first big shining, appropriately enough, had Mrs. John Foster Dulles, wife of the secretary of state, as honor guest.

DACOR, the group's name stands for Diplomatic and Consular Officers Retired. Members are State Department officials and officers of the armed forces who are carrying on for "The Family" a small group originally banded together to share an historic old mansion on H Street as headquarters when they returned home on leave from assignments abroad.

The house, which was originally purchased back in 1907 by a group of young foreign service officers, was bought by DACOR last fall. Of its five upstairs bedrooms one is permanently occupied by Brig. Gen. Robert Cutler, special assistant to President Eisenhower.

Treasures brought back from far-away countries, add charm and distinction to the headquarters. President of DACOR is former Ambassador Arthur Bliss Lane. Other members include Jefferson Caffery, former ambassador to Egypt, recently retired after 44 years in the foreign service; former ambassador in France, David E. K. Bruce; Joseph Greer, former ambassador to Japan, and Stanley Woodward, former ambassador to Canada.

Rep. Kilgore (D-Tex.) told friends at a party that people in his district were all for the salary increase

Burglars Greeted By Pleasant Voice; Then Havoc Reigns

CHICAGO (AP)—The burglars who broke into the Michigan Electronics, Inc., plant were greeted by a pleasant male voice: "Good evening, gentlemen. We remind you that this place is electronically guarded. We suggest that you turn around and disappear."

There was a brief pause and the male voice, not pleasant, shouted: "Help, police, police! Thieves, burglars! Help, police!" Next came a woman's shriek: "Call the police, help, help! Call the police!" Then a siren wailed and alarm bells set up a loud racket.

Nearby residents summoned police but the burglars had fled. Paul Gross, engineer for the company which manufactures pocket-size tape recorders, said yesterday he and another engineer rigged up the device "largely as a gag." The burglary attempt was its first test.

FISH NEED GLASSES
ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Can fish really tell the color of a lure, or are they color blind? Karl E. Lagler, chairman of the University of Michigan Department of Fisheries, says no fish is known not to have color vision.

But even if they do, he adds, there is no proof that fish can see color as the angler sees it.

Members of Congress voted for themselves. Everyone in his district knew he was in debt to everyone, he laughingly explained. They were glad he was going to get some more money so he could get it up.

Date-Time Beret Reminds Lassies

Any belle of the Junior high crowd will love a date-time beret, which keeps a reminder of the hour of her date on top of her head.

It's simple to make at home. If you follow these suggestions from local sewing center experts.

You can start with a ready-made beret or make your own from white felt. To make the beret, cut two circles of white felt of the size you prefer for your beret. In one circle cut a round hole in the middle slightly smaller than your head-size, so it will fit after hemming. You now have one doughnut-shaped piece of felt and one solid circle.

Mark off a clock face, with Roman numerals, on the solid circle of felt, tracing lightly with pencil. Then you can embroider them by machine, using either an automatic sewing-machine or the automatic zig-zagger attachment. In either case, use the widest light red thread. If you use Roman numerals, you have no curves to worry about.

Attach a button or a small stem of the white felt to the center of the beret. Then cut out clock hands of red felt and cut a slit in the ends to slip over the stem or button.

Next stitch your two circles of felt together. Turn under and hem the inner headsize circle, checking carefully for fit. For final trim, use a blanket stitch around the edge of the beret.

Since the red felt clock hands are movable, you can set your beret clock to the time of your date—and then you'll have no excuse for being late.

Welfare Chairman Offers Resignation

ORLANDO (AP)—Chairman Charles O. Andrews of the State Welfare Board yesterday offered to resign after a legislative criticism of him for proposing lien-recovery and relative responsibility amendments to Florida's old age benefits act.

He said he had made the offer verbally to Gov. Collins. Noting that the job of chairman is non-salaried, he added he would be glad to give Collins his resignation "in writing at any time."

Rep. Gleason of Citrus County said Monday that Andrews withdrew the bills because he "has at last realized the fact that the people do not want their aged and needy welfare recipients discriminated against." He also suggested that Andrews resign.

Lt. J. H. Roche Transferred To California Line School

Lt. Joseph H. Roche, USN, Photographic Squadron 62's Assistant Operations Officer, departed from the squadron and Sanford on May 3 to report to the Navy's General Line School in Monterey, Calif.

The school is from 10 to 12 months in duration, instructing commissioned officers in shipboard procedure and operations. This training prepares officers who received their commissions under programs other than graduation from the U. S. Naval Academy for higher rank and position in the organization of a Naval unit.

Lt. Roche entered the Navy in July of 1943 following his graduation from St. Thomas College in Minnesota. He attended the Midshipmen's School at Chicago and was commissioned Ensign upon his graduation from the three month course in October of 1943.

The departing Lt. Roche saw action during World War II in both the Philippine and Okinawa campaigns while serving aboard the USS LCI (G), a rocket firing gunboat. For his service in these conflicts he received the Pacific Theatre ribbon with three battle stars and the Philippine Theatre ribbon with two battle stars.

After World War II, Lt. Roche attended flight training and was designated a Naval aviator upon his successful completion of the course in September of 1946.

He reported for duty with VJ-62 in September of 1952, a month prior to the squadron's move to Sanford, and was attached to the Operations Department in a flying status, piloting the Phoenix 62 AJ-2P aircraft. He was one of the group of pilots that operated from the USS Intrepid in February of this year marking the first time that the AJ-2P aircraft participated in aerial photographic operations while based aboard an aircraft carrier.

Lt. Roche was also a member of VJ-62's Detachment "FOX" for a six month period between April and October of 1954. The Detachment was deployed overseas on a photographic mission to the Mediterranean area.

The Lieutenant is a native of Anoka, Minn., and is married to the former Miss Madeleine Courtemanche of Duhamel in Papi-neau County of Quebec, Canada. While in Sanford they resided at 1802 Forest Drive.

The Roche's have three children, Michale, 4, Barbara, 3 and Phillip, 1.

Demo Governors Stay After Meet

WASHINGTON (AP)—More than a dozen Democratic governors stayed over after an administration-sponsored governors' conference today to talk over party organization and federal-state problems.

Highway and mental health legislation were high on the agenda for the first public session arranged by Democratic leaders. Discussion of 1956 campaign plans and intraparty affairs was listed for a later closed session with national committee officials. The party sessions will wind up tomorrow.

Republicans and Democrats rowed over the purpose of the Democratic meeting, coming on the heels of the two-day all governors' briefing conference concluded yesterday.

Two Democratic governors—Avell Harriman of New York and Frank Lausche of Ohio—differed sharply over the propriety of the Democratic conference.

LINKED TO CHARLOTTE CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP)—Three members of the University of North Carolina varsity golf team left from Charlotte, N. C. They are Larry Parker, Bobby Sisk and Cal Mitchell.

Also from Charlotte are three freshman team performers—Walter Summerville, Gene Lookabill and Donald MacMillan.

Japanese Girls Pray For Doctors Making Selections

HIROSHIMA, Japan (AP)—The night before the choice was announced the girls prayed, the New York physician said.

"We were told they prayed not that they would be the ones picked but that we doctors would not feel anguish at having to leave some of them home."

That is the little story behind the story of 25 Japanese girls, disfigured by the atomic bomb 10 years ago, who were selected for free plastic surgery treatment in the United States.

Dr. William M. Hitzig, who helped to make the selections, told the story as the 25 excited girls prepared for the first and most important airplane trip of their lives. The girls, all in their 20s, leave tomorrow.

They may face up to a dozen operations, and be gone a year. Yet all are filled with hope and are in unbelievably good spirits, said Hitzig.

SHIRLEY YAMAGUCHI, Japanese film star now visiting New York City, finds herself quite at home in the gardens of the United Nations building where the cherry blossoms are in full bloom. She is showing the flowering trees to Barbara Mangold.

Grandma's Idea Brings Prospects Of $1 Million Deal

FARMINGTON, N.M. (AP)—A grandmother who started two years ago with a Geiger counter and a notion to give her ill husband some air is contemplating an offer of more than one million dollars for one block of uranium claims.

Mrs. Jeanette V. Martin, said her claim is in the Sabinosa area in northeast New Mexico, about 40 miles west of Las Vegas.

"Yes, we've had several offers for our claim and we've really only dug into one-third of them," she said.

Mrs. Martin and an Army colonel who is a "weekend prospector" are partners in the venture. The colonel, Benjamin E. Thurston, a career soldier, is at Camp Chaffee, Ark., as a training inspector. He has been in the Army 29 years.

Move Is Rejected By Subcommittee

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House Appropriations subcommittee has rejected a move aimed at avoiding a planned cut of 75,000 in Army strength during the coming fiscal year.

Rep. Flood (D-Pa.) disclosed today he had failed in an effort to get the subcommittee to add about 750 million dollars to funds for the Army during the year starting July 1. He told newsmen he would try again tomorrow when the full Appropriations Committee meets to consider a multibillion-dollar bill to finance the armed services.

MAN ELECTED MAYOR WHILE 'STANDIN' AROUND' BOONEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Carl Boverder wasn't running for anything. He just kinda was standin' around and the first thing he knew he was elected mayor of Booneville.

It seems that no one filed for the office. What with Carl being a familiar figure around Booneville, the voters took things in their own hands. Boverder got 73 write-in votes. He had served as mayor three years ago and he's going into office again—whether he really wants to or not.

JOHN H. DAVIS, Stewards Mate 3rd Class, of Photographic Squadron 62, shakes hands with Cdr. J. F. Plumer, Acting Commanding Officer of VJ-62, following a brief ceremony in Cdr. Plumer's office at NAAS Sanford, in which Davis reenlisted in the Navy for a six year period. Davis received $1,017.60 as reenlistment bonus and earned leave payments. This was Davis' second reenlistment, he has nine years of previous Naval service.

Mayor D'Alesandro Election Victor

BALTIMORE (AP)—Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro Jr. capped a long comeback from a sickbed by leading Democrats to another sweep of city offices in Baltimore's municipal election yesterday.

The 51-year-old mayor, extending his victory string to 22 races ranging from the State Legislature to Congress, defeated Republican Samuel Hopkins.

A record 214,335 voters turned out. The previous high was 202,000 in 1931.

Among the 21 Democrats elected to the City Council was Walter T. Dixon, 61-year-old head of a business school and the first Negro to gain that office since 1931. Unofficial returns gave D'Alesandro 119,450 votes to 94,883 for Hopkins, 41-year-old bank official and former member of the Legislature.

Taylor

When they stopped to investigate, the Cadillac roared away. The officers gave chase and curbed the car after about a half mile. Taylor fled under police fire and was found sitting on the steps of a church across the street from the Memphis police station.

The officers said they found a sawed-off shotgun in the rear seat of the Cadillac. Shelton told police bullet holes in the car were caused when the shotgun was accidentally fired.

No charges had been filed by Memphis police and Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff L. J. Swann of Orange County said he had received no word of the arrest.

Taylor was serving a 21-year sentence for armed robbery after conviction of holding up the Gator Motor Court on U. S. Highway 17-93 in Seminole County and the Mount Vernon Motel Titusville. He also was convicted of stealing three Cadillacs in 1954.

Taylor's escape last month was his second in a little more than a year. On Feb. 10, 1954, he kicked out an unbarred window in the Broward County Jail in Titusville and slipped down a rope of blankets.

He was captured the same day by a stolen Cadillac in Orlando while trying to reach the home of a girl friend.

Informed of the capture, Taylor's parents last night reiterated previous statements that their son is a psychopathic case resulting from 14 months of continuous combat in the Korean war.

City Demos Appear To Hold Balance

WASHINGTON (AP)—Northern big game hunters with large numbers of deer and antelope appeared to hold the balance of power today as House passed a showdown vote on price supports. The House passed a bill to increase the price of deer and antelope, which would have a major impact on the deer and antelope industry.

The bill would increase the price of deer and antelope from $1.50 to $2.50 per head. This would result in a total of $1.50 per head for the deer and antelope industry.

The bill would also increase the price of deer and antelope from $1.50 to $2.50 per head. This would result in a total of $1.50 per head for the deer and antelope industry.

The bill would also increase the price of deer and antelope from $1.50 to $2.50 per head. This would result in a total of $1.50 per head for the deer and antelope industry.

Brazil Has Offered Promising Cure With Vitamins

NEW YORK (AP)—Some vitamin-booby-traps made in Brazil look promising as new drugs against tuberculosis.

They are chemical relatives of Vitamin K. TB germs need vitamin K in order to live and grow. The new drugs resemble vitamin K in structure but do not have any vitamin activity.

If the TB germs accept and start using these relatives or analogues instead of the real vitamin, their growth can be stopped.

The new drugs were made from vitamin K, and sold by Dr. Paulo da Silva Lacerda, professor of biochemistry, University of Brazil Medical School. In test-tube experiments, some of the drugs show strong ability to stop the growth of TB germs, he says. Some were as potent this way as streptomycin, PAS and the new isonicotinic acid drugs.

A next and crucial step is to learn if the new drugs can halt TB germs growing in infected animals.

Any new class of drugs to combat TB is important because TB germs usually become resistant to any drug used in treatment. But germs which are resistant to one drug can usually be hit hard by another. Combinations of drugs or use of drugs one after another offer a better chance of halting and controlling the infection.

Oldest City Has Growing Pains

CHICAGO (AP)—A long smoldering squabble between hospitals and some medical specialists over the method of charging patients has reached a showdown in several states.

Essentially, the question is: Who should bill the patient for such services as anesthesia, X-rays and laboratory tests performed in the hospital? Should it be the hospital or the specialist in charge of the service?

Although it directly involves only a relatively small number of doctors and hospitals, the question has become a major headache to organized medicine.

The manner in which it is resolved could affect the cost and quality of care in many hospitals. Principal target of the doctors' ire is an arrangement whereby hospitals hire specialists at a set salary to perform these services. The hospital itself then bills the individual patient.

Some doctors maintain that this method of doing business puts a corporation—the hospital—into the practice of medicine. It is also charged that some hospitals underpay their specialists, reap handsome profits and spend the money on other phases of their operations.

The American Hospital Assn. (AHA) is backing what it calls freedom of contract. It says it will approve any type of plan that is satisfactory to the patient, the doctor and the hospital.

Some alternative plans give specialists a percentage of their department's gross or net earnings or permits them to lease or rent the space and equipment and hire either the hospital's technicians or their own.

The whole matter has come into open controversy in at least seven states, three within the last few months.

Several state attorneys general have issued opinions on whether hospitals which hire specialists are guilty of corporate practice of medicine—in violation of state medical practice acts. These opinions, which are not binding by law, generally favored the doctors in Iowa, California, Colorado, Ohio and Idaho.

In Connecticut, however, the attorney general upheld the right of nonprofit hospitals to employ licensed specialists. And in Virginia hospitals were given approval to employ X-ray specialists to furnish diagnostic assistance.

The American College of Radiology, representing X-ray specialists; and the College of American Pathologists, representing laboratory heads, have generally opposed any set salary arrangement in regular hospitals.

The dispute goes back at least to 1935 when a committee of the American Medical Assn. noted "the present unsatisfactory method of compensating radiologists for their services in hospitals."

General practice then was to hire at a salary the hospital X-ray specialists and pathologists who supervised hospital laboratories. Anesthetics usually were administered by nurses.

Some observers say the differences might have been settled by evolution had not group hospital insurance plans entered the picture at that time.

Blue Cross, the voluntary, nonprofit hospital insurance plan, listed anesthesia and certain X-ray and laboratory tests as services covered under its policies. The plan was approved by many hospitals. After World War II, when the supply of physician anesthesiologists had grown, these young doctors found they either had to accept a salary arrangement or forego private practice at many hospitals.

The conflict was heightened in 1950 and 1951 when the American Medical Assn. (AMA) house of delegates differed with trustees of the hospital association over whether such services should be classed as hospital care. The AHA took the affirmative view.

In 1953 a new combined effort was made to find a solution. The AMA and AHA both adopted a report of a joint conference committee which said:

"The trend toward a situation where hospitals with a complete full-time staff are engaged in the practice of medicine for a fee is a matter of concern to many physicians. Their profession justly feels that it may lose its independence and become merely a group of high-grade technicians, however respected or highly paid."

"There are many who believe that a group of physicians, working full time under a lay board, will not produce the best of medical care. There are, however, those in the profession who support the principle of full time as a means of providing good medical care in a hospital."

Officers Intensify Search For Couple

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Law enforcement officers intensified their search yesterday for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ferri but they said there was little hope that the well-to-do couple would be found alive.

The couple were classified as "missing persons." Although the condition of the seven-room home from which they disappeared Friday night pointed to murder. Blood spots led from the front room to a bedroom and then to a carport. Human blood was on a pair of Ferri's slippers near the driveway.

FRANCES GAIL FRIEDMAN shovels soil in front of her home in Miami Beach, after a sudden and destructive thunderstorm raged down Florida's east coast. The storm, reaching peak winds of 130 miles an hour, pelted cities along the way with hail the size of eggs. Trees were uprooted, windows smashed and water seeped into homes and hotels at Miami Beach, Fort Pierce and Fort Lauderdale. There were no reports of any deaths. (International)

New Dodge Custom Royal Lancer... glamorous "hardtop."

What's all this talk about "Price Class!"

It gets to be a little confusing—this talk about what "price class" a car is in. This new Dodge is making a clean sweep in every price field!

Owners who are used to paying a thousand dollars more for a car find that money can't buy more luxury, more exciting features and beauty than in the dashing Custom Royal Lancer shown above. It's up to 9 inches longer than competitive models costing more!

And owners of so-called "low-priced cars" are finding that a new Dodge, with all its dashing length and flashing style, can be theirs for only a few dollars a month—than any of the small cars—up to 19 inches shorter—far less exciting!

Polio Vaccination Probably Won't Cost Over $15

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Getting your youngster vaccinated to protect him from infantile paralysis isn't likely to cost you more than $15.

That will pay for the two basic injections of Salk polio vaccine, and also for a booster shot seven months or more later.

A nationwide survey by the Associated Press indicated today that $15 is about the maximum doctors expect to charge for the full series, including their fees and cost of vaccine.

In many cases, the charge will be less.

Many local medical societies across the country have recommended that the entire series be administered for $12 or $4 for each injection.

The vaccine is expected to cost doctors close to $1.50 a shot.

The recommended doctor's fee for each office call then would be about $2.50.

If you have a large family, and bring all of the youngsters in for vaccination at once, the office call fees may be scaled down.

A few localities reported doctors will charge no fees at all.

Doctors in Canadian County, Okla., have agreed to such a plan with patients paying only the cost of the vaccine.

The Marion, Ohio, Academy of Medicine, also decided doctors will give inoculations free to children 5 and 6 years old, with their parents paying only for the vaccine.

Most of the children in this category, however, are expected to be vaccinated, without charge, through the program of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis for all first and second graders.

Many doctors already have long waiting lists of those seeking shots. Reports from various areas indicate cost of the vaccine at drug stores may vary from $4.25 to $6 for a supply for a three-shot series.

A big proportion of reports, however, indicate doctors plan to charge either $5 or $4 per shot—$15 or $12 for the series, covering both vaccine costs and their own fees.

Checks with doctors, and action by various medical groups, indicate the $15 figure for the series will apply generally in these areas:

Michigan: Most of Iowa, several major North Carolina cities; Jacksonville, Fla.; Memphis, Knoxville and Chattanooga, Tenn.; Utah, Louisville, Ky., and probably the rest of Kentucky; Albany, N. Y.; Mobile, Ala.; Maricopa County, Ariz., and at least part of Wisconsin.

Connecticut's state medical society recommended only that fees for giving the shots "not exceed" fees usually charged for giving other type vaccines.

In Tampa, Fla., the medical society urged a similar policy, with such fees usually ranging from $5 to $3 a shot, depending on a patient's financial status.

The first horse race ever run at Monmouth Park was July 30, 1870. It was a hurdle race with a purse of $700. The distance was two miles over eight hurdles.

Report To People

By Sen. Douglas Stenstrom
This is my fourth weekly report to the people of the 37th district on the activities of the Florida Senate. Without question the big news of the week occurred last Friday morning in the Senate with the Senate overwhelmingly passing the proposed turnpike bill by vote of 20 to 8. The vote came as a distinct surprise to many of us who felt that it would be much closer.

I voted against the toll road, along with the four representatives in the House, from my district. I did so because I had not yet been convinced that the revenues from the toll road would be sufficient to retire the bonds necessary to be sold to build the 'pike. There is a serious question in my mind as to how the bonds will be retired in the event the revenues are insufficient. I would certainly be opposed to taking any primary road money of this state to pay for the bonds. In addition, I was not convinced that the proposed route was the most feasible and economical and practical route for the road. However, the matter is now closed and my sole desire is to continue working for the four-laning of U. S. No. 1 through Brevard County and the four-laning of 17-92 in Seminole County, together with the other needed roads in our district.

The other big news of the week was the passage by the Senate of a $200 teacher pay raise and a $25 increase in the allotment per instructional unit to the schools of Florida. It had been my sincere hope since I became a member of the Senate to be able to vote for a bill of this type and it is certainly pleasing to me to be able to do so without the prospect of having to increase taxes to pay the bill. The chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, Senator Pope of St. Augustine, stated that no new taxes would be necessary should the Senate see fit to pass the pay raise. The bill passed the Senate by a unanimous vote and now goes to the House of Representatives.

I am told that a move is underway to revive the bill to increase the residence requirement for divorces in Florida. You will remember that the bill passed by the Senate extending the time limit from ninety days to one year failed to pass the House. It is now proposed that the Senate pass a bill making the residence requirement six months. If the Senate passes this, as I believe it will do, the House will have an opportunity to vote on a six months requirement. It is my hope that this bill will get through this session.

Thus far in the session six local bills affecting my district have passed the Senate. I have been in close contact with Representatives Cleveland and Williams of Seminole and Representatives Burton and Brewer of Brevard, who kept me posted on all the matters affecting my district in the House of Representatives.

May I thank you for the many letters and telegrams which enable me to know your thinking and to do a better job for you in the Senate.

Sheep Orchid Diet Is Recommended For Cold Animals

WOODLAND HILLS, Calif. (AP)—O. H. Wilkins recommends an orchid diet for shivering sheep. But not HIS orchids.

Eight hundred newly sheared sheep began keeling over Monday after a rainy and windy weekend caught them in an unseasonal state of undress. Their pasture is near Wilkins' five-acre estate.

Wilkins, a lightning director for the National Broadcasting Co., said he couldn't get help for them on the telephone, so he began hauling the nearly dead sheep by wheelbarrow to his only convenient shelter—his orchid hothouse.

"I never cared much for sheep," he said, "but I just couldn't stand around and watch those poor things die off like that."

About half the sheared sheep died. "They got a chill," said their owner Nick Costa. "It turned into pneumonia, and they died."

Wilkins sheltered 100 of them in his snug and warm hothouse. On the advice of a veterinarian, he administered penicillin with his orchid feeder syringe.

The still-wobbly 100 perked up, looked around and began to munch—on Wilkins' rare orchids. He said some of the plants were worth more apiece than the sheep. Between the drugs and diet, however, they were soon revived.

Costa said the 400 who died were trucked away to a rendering plant.

AN INDEPENDENT DAILY NEWSPAPER

SANFORD, FLORIDA, THURSDAY MAY 5, 1955

Associated Press Leased Wire

No. 181

Weather

Fair through Friday except isolated showers or thunderstorms extreme south portion this afternoon. Little change in temperature.

LEAVING SANFORD—Capt. James E. Vose Jr., USN, left, has been transferred to the staff of Commander-in-Chief of the Alaska Air Command. He will be replaced by Commander Frank R. More, USN, right, who is to assume his duties of acting Commanding Officer of the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station. (Official Photos, U. S. Navy)

Treaty Outlook Better

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Chances for quick signing of the Austrian independence treaty looked still better today as the Russians dropped their controversial demands on refugees and eased insistence on armament restrictions.

But the Soviets and the West must still agree on the touchy issues of prewar foreign investments and of a declaration guaranteeing Austrian neutrality before the pact will be ready for signing by the Big Four foreign ministers.

Diplomats attending yesterday's meeting of the four powers' ambassadors and Austria's foreign minister said the picture brightened considerably when Soviet envoy Ivan I. Ilyichev accepted a Western-backed, Austrian proposal to drop the treaty article on repatriation and to raise limits on Austrian rearmament.

The disputed Article 16 would have allowed Soviet repatriation teams to enter Austria—once it had won independence—to quiz refugees from communism. Western diplomats had feared this would enable the Reds to spread propaganda inside Austria while the nation was supposed to be neutral.

His Executive Officer, Commander Frank R. More, USN, will assume the duties of Acting Commanding Officer until relieved by Captain Robert W. Jackson, USN, sometime in the latter part of June. Capt. Jackson, a former flight school classmate of Capt. Vose's, is now Commanding Officer of Composite Squadron Eleven at San Diego, Calif.

A veteran of more than 20 years naval service, Capt. Vose took command of the NAAS here on August 30, 1953 following a two year assignment on the staff of Commander, Air Force, Pacific Fleet. The 43-year-old Naval Academy graduate has a husband, the Navy Cross, three Distinguished Flying Crosses and two Air Medals.

Mrs. Lydia Watt, vocational teacher at the Seminole County Vocational School, has entered the nationwide contest for teachers sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary. Teachers were asked to write an article on the topic, "Why I Teach". This contest was open to teachers with at least 5 years' teaching experience and holding a valid teaching certificate. The American Legion Auxiliary is offering 5 divisional prizes and one grand prize. Winners will be announced July 1.

Mrs. Watt teaches, shorthand, and office practices courses both in the day and evening classes. She will have completed five years of teaching at the Vocational School at the conclusion of this school year.

In a letter received from the national headquarters, Mrs. Watt has been asked to sign a publication release for her article.

HONG KONG (AP)—Owners of the 2,357-ton cargo ship Incharran said today they feared she has been seized in the Formosa Strait. She was en route from Foochow to Shanghai with a cargo of timber for the Chinese Reds.

The owners, Williamson and Co., said the ship radioed yesterday that she was "being boarded" about 10 miles south of Nationalist-held White Dog Island near Foochow.

Her captain is a British, G. A. Angus, and she has three other British officers and a crew of 33 Asians.

Six bomb threats keep cops alert in New York City. NEW YORK (AP)—Six bomb threats in rapid succession kept Manhattan police hopping yesterday afternoon and last night. Exhaustive searches were made. No bomb was found.

The threats were reported in this chronology: Macy's department store; the Ritz Theater; Webster Hall, on East 11th Street; the Academy of Music movie theater on East 14th Street; a First National City Bank branch at Canal Street and Broadway; and the Radio City Music Hall.

At Macy's, a woman shopper found a note warning that a bomb had been planted. The rest of the bomb scares were telephoned.

A homemade bomb, with death-dealing potash and a faulty timing device, was found in the Radio City Music Hall Monday morning. A warning had been telephoned the day before, but searchers failed to discover the contrivance then.

LOG CABIN BABIES CLUB IS FORMED. BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP)—Lena Pier, who was born 78 years ago in a log cabin, decided to form an exclusive club for log cabin "babies" this weekend. She doubted that more than a dozen Battle Creek residents could meet the membership requirements, but at the first meeting 18 men and women showed up.

Twenty Convictions End 3-Day Session

A three-day marathon session of City Police Court, at which 30 lottery and moonshine cases were taken up, ended last night with a score of 20 convictions, five dismissals, three bonds forfeited, and two cases continued.

Yesterday's session was highlighted by the temporary "disappearance" of the prosecution's star witness while two Seminole County deputy sheriffs tried to serve an arrest warrant on him.

The Negro informant, Ollie Anderson, was charged in the warrant with perjury.

His accuser was Annie Ruth Vickers who successfully proved in city court Tuesday that she was in Orange Memorial Hospital April 13, the day she was charged with selling moonshine.

Anderson testified that he made a "bug" from her on that day. Atty. George Andrew Speer produced five witnesses who swore she was in the hospital and Judge John G. Leonard dismissed the case.

The elusive police informant reappeared at noon yesterday after City Atty. A. Edwin Shindler, Special City Prosecutor Gordon Frederick and Atty. Speer conferred with County Judge Ernest Housholder on the size of Anderson's bond.

In the first case of the day Atty. W. C. Hutchison Jr. protested loudly against the door to the chief's room being open and the police standing in it. After a hassle between him and Joe Hickson, Judge Leonard decided the door should be closed.

Anderson, the witness, Anderson, failed to testify in the case against Jesse Abrams for alleged sale of illegal liquor and on recommendation of Prosecutor Frederick the case was dropped.

Anderson attempted to read notes from a paper he had in his pocket and when he admitted he had not written the notes was not allowed to use them.

Judge Leonard dismissed a second count against Jesse Abrams when he ruled the arrest warrant defective.

Atty. Kelly yesterday appealed five cases he lost in city court Tuesday to Seminole circuit court. The cases against Tommy Lee Herring, Marion Herring, Fanny Mae Forman and two against Gertrude Keith all were lottery charges.

Another Orlando Attorney, Sam Murrell Jr., also appealed to the higher court in the case of Helela Smith convicted of illegal liquor sale.

Yesterday's convictions: Gertrude Keith, separate charges of sale and possession of lottery; Mary Gibson, sale and possession of lottery; Eddie Lee Smith, sale of shine; Inez Black, sale and possession of lottery; Lennie Cherry, sale and possession of lottery; Lennie Matthews, possession of lottery; and Willie G. Thomas, sale of lottery.

Rosa Lee Sheffield failed to appear and forfeited her $200 bond. Cases against Inez Black for operating a gambling house and against Patsy Allen for sale of shine were continued.

Judge Leonard dismissed the possession of lottery charge against Maggie Williams and a resisting arrest charge against Willie G. Thomas.

Bao Dai Ouster Sought

Rebellion Flores Over Power Plan

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A 4,000-man National Congress gave a thunderous approval today to a demand for removal of Bao Dai as Viet Nam's Chief of State.

In another political assembly, however, rebellion flared over a move to give Premier Ngo Dinh Diem sole power to arrange for national elections.

Two Vietnamese groups were meeting in Saigon and there was no indication of just how their legal responsibilities were distributed. One thing did appear certain—Bao Dai is finished. He did not appear acceptable even in the role of a constitutional monarch, as reported envisaged by the United States.

Ouster of Bao Dai was approved at a "National Political Congress" summoned by the National Revolutionary Committee, which originated the demand for his removal last week.

This colorful group of 4,000 political leaders, revolutionaries, representatives of religious sects, local and provincial officials joined a Vietnamese theater for the meeting.

The second meeting was a 700-member congress, a "States General" of elected local and provincial councilors and tribal chiefs. This body convened in the Presidential palace yesterday.

This morning 22 southern members of the Congress' Executive Committee protesting a proposal to give the Premier sole power to arrange elections for a National Assembly. They wanted the arrangements placed in the hands of a Provincial Assembly of municipal and provincial councilors.

Senate Victory Gives Assurance Of Cutting Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 73-13 Senate victory for President Eisenhower's foreign trade bill today assured him of the first new tariff executive in 10 years.

The bill, passed by the Senate last night, now goes to conference with the House to resolve differences. But the two versions both contain the key provisions sought by the President.

Thus he is assured of a three-year extension of the Reciprocity Trade Act to June 30, 1958, plus new authority to reduce tariffs in 5 per cent stages in a one-year extension. These reductions are to be in return for trade concessions from other free world nations.

The Senate ran for 12 hours yesterday and last night to push the bill through after three days' debate. Eight amendments were beaten down. The measure passed almost exactly in the form recommended by the Finance Committee.

Afghanistan Heads Last Night Call Emergency State. KABUL, Afghanistan (AP)—Afghanistan's government at proclaimed a state of emergency last night and called its minister to neighboring Pakistan home.

Radio Kabul also announced mobilization of the army. It said the country was preparing to face aggression from outside, an obvious reference to Pakistan.

The Afghans and Pakistanis have been disputing for years over the rights of Pathan tribesmen living in frontier areas of Pakistan along the border between the two nations. Afghanistan backs the warrior hill tribesmen's demands for independence in a new state.

Anti-Pakistan rioting in which 47 persons were hurt broke out in Kabul in March after the Karzai government consolidated West Pakistan's half-divided states—including the northwest frontier—into a single province of West Pakistan.

West German Republic Is Sovereign Nation

Ten-Year Allied Occupation Ends At Noon Today In Short Ceremonies

BONN, Germany (AP)—The West German Republic became a sovereign nation in alliance with the free world today. The 10-year Allied occupation ended at noon.

Two short ceremonies wiped out the supreme powers wielded by the United States, Britain and France over the 50 million West Germans since 1945.

In the first, the Allied High Commission repealed all its laws and abolished itself by proclamation.

Then the British and French high commissioners completed the formality of depositing the sovereignty treaty at Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's office. The United States and West Germany did this April 24.

The French and West German governments simultaneously put into effect their agreement to Europeanize the Saar.

"The occupation statute is repealed and the Allied High Commission and the offices of land (state) commissioners in the Federal Republic are abolished," the high commissioners' proclamation said.

Sixty Allied laws and 130 ordinances were repealed by the declaration, which was signed by Dr. James B. Conant of the United States, Sir Frederick Hoyer Millar of Britain and Andre Francois-Poncet of France. They now become their nation's ambassadors to the Bonn Republic.

The Rev. Newton Wise will show colored films of his recent trip to the Holy Land tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at Ebenezer Methodist Church on the Old Sanford-Orlando Highway. The Rev. Wise will also begin a one week revival at the church Sunday.

Ike's Promise Stills Demands For Short While

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's promise that Salk polio vaccine "is going to be distributed equitably" stilled for a time today congressional demands that the government take on full supervision.

But Congress members, like the President, appeared ready to step in with mandatory controls if the voluntary system Eisenhower advocated should fail.

The President told his news conference yesterday that no child would be deprived of the vaccine "for want of ability to pay." A later White House statement went further, saying:

"If a situation ever develops in this country where children are deprived of the vaccine because of inability to pay or maldistribution of the supply available, the President would immediately ask . . . authority . . . to buy the entire output of the vaccine . . ."
