

Oviedo

By Marion Jones
OVIEDO—Mrs. Frank W. Talbot and daughter, Mrs. Floyd Wagner, have returned from Oviedo, Fla., where they were visiting their son and brother, respectively, and family. Mrs. Talbot and family, who had been visiting in Mississippi, returned with them.

Mrs. J. M. Thompson has had her guest her nephew, Bobby Talbot, of St. Augustine. Bobby will be working in Oviedo and his wife plan on making their home here soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Weisenberger have as their guests their daughter, Mrs. Richard G. Koerner and children, of Burlington, N. J. Bob Magdale is in Denver, Colo. on work or more.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hobbs and family have moved into the L. R. Moore home on Lake Charm. They will be a welcome addition to our town. Mrs. Hobbs has been working in the Oviedo Drug Store for quite some time now.

Mrs. Arthur T. Carlidge is in Augusta, Ga. for a few days. During her absence Robert A. Newberry is staying with A. T. Carlidge.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Daniell have returned from their vacation, spent three days in Ocala with their son, T. M. Daniell, Jr. and family, and with other friends and relatives at nearby places. They were accompanied home by their small granddaughter, Pam, who will be with them while her parents are in Ridgecrest, N. C. It is nice to see Pam, who formerly lived here, back in Oviedo.

The Junior G.A.'s of the First Baptist Church of Oviedo met Sunday afternoon. Mrs. George C. Means, who assists Mrs. Jack F. Bryant with this age group, was in charge due to the absence of Mrs. Bryant.

Pete Aulin, rural route carrier, is back on the job in the Post office. Pete, off on a week's vacation, spent three days in Ocala at his convention. The rest of the time he worked at the Pure Oil Station so his friend, Emmett Kelley, could get a few days off.

We told Pete that he is like the Postman on his day off. Emmett, who spent his vacation getting in some fishing, reports that he had a good time—not too many fish caught, he says.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Wilson have moved to Oviedo and are making their home for the present with Mrs. J. N. Thompson.

Mrs. A. T. Carlidge has returned from a business trip to Augusta, Ga. During her absence her husband, A. T. Carlidge, received word of the death of his nephew at Batesburg, S. C.

Mr. B. G. Smith is having a rapid turn of events these days. After entertaining her recent houseguests, Art Mooschieder, Dennis Cooper and C. R. Tyson, of Wichita, Kan. lavishly including a deep sea fishing trip in the Atlantic, the first trip for two of the boys, Dennis and C. R.; she entertained more houseguests—this time from Atlanta, Ga. Mrs. B. F. Smith, who is so well known here with Mrs. Smith for many years, was one of the guests.

"Miss Laura", as she is known to her friends here, was an active member of the Oviedo Woman's Club, First Methodist Church, and enjoyed participating in many activities when living here before the death of her husband and following it. With Miss Laura came her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Smith and young daughter, Minnie. They, too, are former Oviedoans and well known here.

Lola and A. M. Jones are looking forward to their vacation beginning Sunday, July 30. They plan on getting in some fishing, too. Lola tells us that they probably will rent a cottage at Port Orange for a few days. We know Lola needs the rest, for she works awfully hard in her beauty shop every day.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Beasley and daughter, Donna, will spend next week at New Smyrna Beach enjoying the relaxation, swimming and sunning.

Oviedoans are continuing to come and go on vacations. Among those "coming" are Mr. and Mrs. Leon Olliff and children, who spent a week at New Smyrna Beach. Penny is sporting a beautiful tan.

Ann Reynolds has been out of the Oviedo Drug Store since before July 4th. We thought, she, her husband, Theron, better known as "Bud", and son, Doug, were off somewhere enjoying their vacation. Ann told us yesterday she is just enjoying being at home with her family. She will return to work next Monday in the drug store.

Those planning to attend the Eastern Star banquet of Seminole Chapter No. 2, O.E.S. at the Shrine Temple in Sanford Thursday night from Oviedo include: Mrs. Helen Lehman, associate conductress of the chapter; Mrs. Nita Alfred and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Jones. Jones is a past patron of the chapter.

Pepper Tours Dade County; Holland Still At Capital

MIAMI (UPI)—Claude Pepper continued to work for political action in the greater Miami area today as he toured northwest Dade County with a campaign caravan.

Pepper hoped to get more pledges from volunteer campaign workers. He reported Wednesday that he already had pledges from 1,100 since his formal headquarters were opened Tuesday at the McAllister Hotel.

He goes to Broward County Friday where he announced that he will be in the greater Miami area today as he toured northwest Dade County with a campaign caravan.

Holland wants the Post Office Department to give a full report on why the post offices at Hialeah and Opa-Locka will be reduced to the status of branches of the Miami office.

He has asked the protesting Hialeah-Miami Springs Chamber of Commerce for a review of their position. Officials feared that Hialeah and Opa-Locka would lose their postmark and that post office service for the area might suffer.

Four Plane Crashes Reported In State Yesterday; 1 Killed

ORLANDO (UPI)—Four planes crashed in Florida yesterday within a short time of each other and all but one of the pilots escaped without serious injury.

The fourth pilot was killed when his F-100 Sabre jet crashed in a wooded area 10 miles southeast of Ocala. He was identified as Lt. L. Francis Johnson, Fort Huachuca, Mich.

Another F-100 crashed a few minutes later in the Gulf of Mexico, 10 miles south of Destin. The pilot, Lt. Alvin Everson, 26, Rt. 1, Littleton, Minn., ejected himself and parachuted to safety. He was rescued by a helicopter.

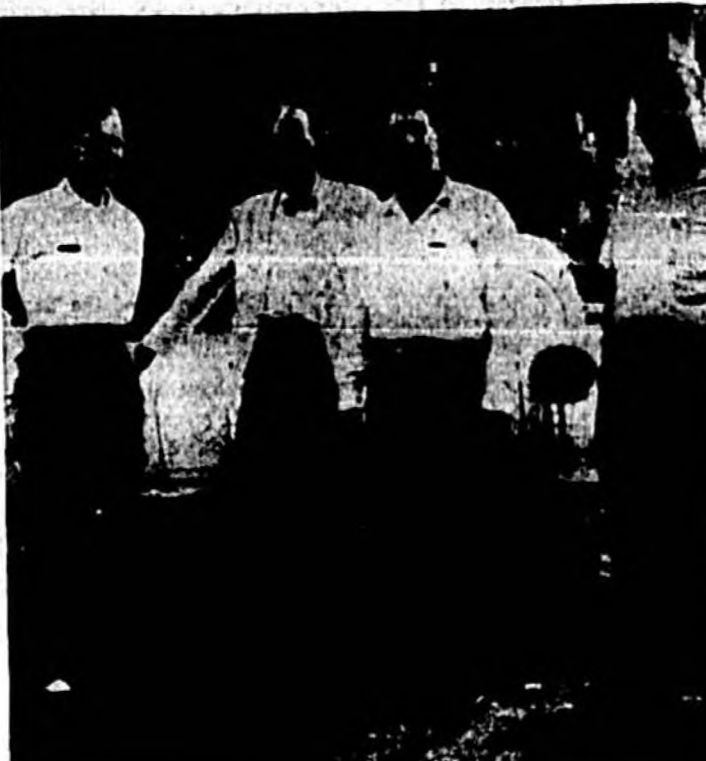

Both F-100's were attached to the 48th Fighter Squadron at Seymour Johnson Air Force Base, Goldsboro, N. C.

A Navy F-3U Crusader jet suffered a flame-out near Orlando but the pilot, Lt. John B. Barnes, was picked up five miles from McCoy Air Force Base by a Navy helicopter after bailing out.

Francis Valentine Robkin, Miami salesman, escaped injury after ditching his small Cessna 30 while enroute to Bimini, in the Bahamas. He radioed the control tower at Broward Airport soon after take-off to report engine trouble. He was picked up by a fishing boat.

SPEED LIMIT ON AUTOBahn

WIENBADEN, Germany (UPI)—West Germany will clamp a speed limit on a portion of the Autobahn superhighway for the first time, it was announced today. The "autobahn stretch" from Frankfurt to Darmstadt will have a 50 miles per hour limit imposed in an effort to reduce fatalities along the long straightaway.

Delegation Surveys Local Road Conditions

The Seminole County delegation, Senator Douglas Stenstrom and Representatives Mack N. Cleveland Jr. and Gordon V. Frederick, accompanied Commissioner Lawrence Swofford yesterday on a survey of street and road conditions in South Seminole County.

"We are receiving demands for road improvements from every section of District 3," Swofford told the delegation as they viewed both paved road and unpaved road conditions.

Going into every subdivision in the south portion of the county the legislators received a firsthand view of how developers are creating road problems.

Swofford explained that in most instances, county officials are not given an opportunity to inspect roads before they are paved in subdivisions to see if they come up to the standards required by Seminole County's plat and zoning laws. "The roads are constructed and then the county is asked to take them over for maintenance," he said.

Drainage is another problem in the south portion of the county and heavy rains gave the delegation an opportunity to see where the problems exist and some of the causes of the problems.

The four officials made a three-hour survey of the one district and parts of another in the county before leaving for another district.

"My phone is ringing every hour of the day," said Commissioner Swofford, "and in most instances it is a request for road paving or road maintenance. They even come to my house at 6:15 in the morning," he said.

At the beginning of the tour of south Seminole County, Commissioner Swofford told the delegation, "I want you to see the problem we have."

Purpose of the tour and survey, Swofford told the delegation, is to "find out if local legislation is feasible where property owners can be assessed for road and other improvements."

The County Commissioner explained "most of the homes being constructed are in the tax-exempt

British Paratroops Land Today In Jordan

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—British paratroops landed today in Jordan to back King Hussein's campaign to crush the Iraqi rebel army and win back that Middle East nation for the West. French naval units arrived at Beirut, Lebanon. Twelve white-painted jet fighters were believed sent by the U.S. 8th Fleet patrolled the skies over Jordan while six big RAF transport planes landed the paratroopers.

The number of paratroopers landing today was not announced but Britain had 10,000 ready for action.

Big transport planes of the Royal Air Force sped from Cyprus in immediate answer to a plea for help from the 23-year-old Hussein, who appealed for military aid from "friendly states."

At the same time a cruiser flying a French tricolor entered Beirut harbor where U.S. Marines landed during the week after an appeal for help from President Camille Chamoun of Lebanon. Other fleet units were reported in the area.

The Big Three movements were carried out swiftly and smoothly despite sabre rattling by the Soviet Union which sent troops, planes and tanks to the borders of Iran and Turkey in preparation for what Moscow called large scale military exercises Friday.

Chinese on Alert The international tension also spread to the far east and Nationalist China alerted its 500,000 men army and sent jet patrols screaming in daylight over the Chinese Communist mainland to check on troop movements. The offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu went on special alert.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan told Parliament today that King Hussein of Jordan asked for military aid because he feared "an imminent attempt by the United Arab Republic" to overthrow him on the pattern of Iraq.

Macmillan said Britain's own intelligence reports showed Hussein's fears were "well founded and that an attempt was to have taken place today."

There was no word on whether American troops were joining the British troops in Jordan. Urgent talks were being held in London and Washington on the tense situation and the United States flew thousands of U.S. Army men to Turkey for help if needed.

Youth, 16, Charged With Armed Robbery

A 16-year-old youth is in the Seminole County Jail and a 27-year-old man is being held on charges of armed robbery and assault with a deadly weapon.

The two are involved in the armed robbery of Bartender Charles McLane, 44-year-old operator of the Deck Bar on 17th St.

Fred Joe Wall, a 18-year-old Apopka youth confessed last night to officers of the Seminole County Sheriff's office that he "pulled the trigger and took the money" from the bartender who thought that the whole affair was a joke.

McLane was shot through the right shoulder with a sawed-off shotgun when the youth gunned him down and then had his billfold ripped out of his pants pocket.

Wall told Sgt. L. J. Kris and Deputy Verne Brewster that Oliver Thompson, the 27-year-old man being held was the one who "planned, lead, and drove the car."

The break came in the case, said the Seminole County Deputies, when an investigation into an alleged rape was being made.

"Evidence lead to the arrest of the 16-year-old boy and the 27-year-old man," they said.

McLane, when he viewed three men lined up before him, positively identified Fred Joe Wall as "the man who held me up and shot me."

Investigation into the alleged rape case started at 1:30 a.m. yesterday morning when an 18-year-old girl accused five youths and men of picking her up at Adams Inn, in South Seminole County, and later raping her.

"One thing lead to another," deputies said, "until we took three of the youths by the Deck Bar for a possible identification by McLane."

Deputy Sheriff Brewster stated that Wall confessed to the participation in the holdup and the planning of the armed robbery by Thompson. "Thompson was the driver of the car in which we sped from the scene," he said.

It is expected that Judge Wilson Alexander will turn the juvenile over to Circuit Court for prosecution of felony charges.

The hold up and armed robbery took place on Saturday night, May 17, shortly after 9 o'clock.

Floodwaters Roll Through Kansas Town Early Today

By United Press International

Roof deep floodwaters rolled through Fort Scott, Kan., early today in the worst of a series of flash floods that also hit parts of Missouri, Illinois and Pennsylvania.

The Marmaton River, which boiled over its banks and forced about 700 persons to flee Wednesday, created early today at eight feet above bankfull.

A flurry of tornado clouds shipped through Fort Scott, Kan., early today near Cheyenne, Wyo.; Benoit and Denver, Colo.; Amarillo, Tex.; and Republic, Osark and Clever in southwest Missouri. No damage was reported in any of the twisters.

Streams and rivers swelled by days of recurring cloudbursts inundated thousands of acres of cropland in Kansas and Missouri and volunteers sandbagged dikes to prevent a breakthrough of the Wabash River at Mount Carmel.

In the East, authorities declared a state of emergency in Sharon, Pa., as the Shamango River spilled into the city's business district and a residential section.

No casualties were reported in the Fort Scott flood where National Guardsmen moved quickly to evacuate endangered residents in a pre-arranged emergency plan.

The floodwaters swept into 200 homes and businesses in the Belltown region of the city of 10,000 persons near the Missouri border, climbing to a depth of eight feet in some sections.

Uoff Coed Raped, Robbed; Officers Search For Youth

GAINESVILLE (UPI)—City police and University of Florida campus officers combed the area today for a "tall, slender youth" who raped and robbed a University coed and was believed to have robbed another coed a few hours later.

Police Chief W. B. Joiner said the 27-year-old graduate student was bound and gagged, then robbed and criminally assaulted in her bed early Wednesday.

The victim was attacked in her apartment about five blocks from the campus by a man who had forced open the door. Police said she was tied down by bed sheets and robbed of about seven dollars.

The second victim, a 25-year-old school teacher attending the summer session, told police she was also pulled from her bed, tied down with bed sheets and robbed. The bandit fled with $15 after the victim kicked him.

Joiner said both cases appeared to be the same person. He pointed out that both women were tied to their beds in the same manner and the descriptions of the attacker were similar.

He said the suspect being sought was a young, white, tall man with brown or light hair. Police questioned one suspect but released him. Another was being held for further investigation, the chief postmark.

Mrs. Burney Will Appear On Panel At Daytona Confab

Mrs. Jack Burney, Sanford Junior High School teacher, has been invited to appear on the program of the secondary principals conference which is meeting at the Princess Isabella Hotel in Daytona Beach, July 17, 18, 19.

Mrs. Burney will serve as the only teacher representative on the panel headed by Miss Elizabeth Reed, director of the division of health information on the State Board of Health in Jacksonville.

The panel will use as its topic teacher's health project which is a project sponsored jointly by the State Department of Education and the State Board of Health and worked through county boards of instruction and local county health units.

Mrs. Burney worked on the project along with 27 teachers from other counties in the state during the summer of 1957.

TEACHERS PLAY HOCKEY TOKYO (UPI)—Tokyo's board of education today punished 30,339 teachers who played hockey for a day nearly three months ago to protest an efficiency rating system. Most of the teachers—30,057—received only letters of admonition for staying away from their classes, but 76 drew six-month suspensions, 41 had their salaries cut and 165 were officially reprimanded.

Mesh Bag, Rosary Of Sentimental Value To Owner

"Everything that glitters is not gold," is one motto most of us go by in our day-to-day living.

And, it is certainly true in an instance recently when a small silver mesh bag containing a rosary to which was attached a silver crucifix and a scalloped-edged medal, was lost on June 29.

Shortly before 10 o'clock on this particular Sunday morning, the bag and rosary were accidentally dropped from an automobile near the corner of North St. and Oak Ave. It apparently fell from the car as the occupant parked the automobile to go to church.

The bag and beads are of no value to anyone but the owner—and as far as expensiveness might be attached to the silver mesh bag and rosary, others can be obtained.

But there is a very high sentimental value placed on this particular rosary and medal—a value that is important to only the owner.

Someone, no doubt, picked up the glittering bag which contained the rosary and medal.

Mrs. F. E. Roumillat, at 910 Palmetto Ave., would appreciate the return of the bag and rosary. "There is a sentiment attached to that particular rosary and medal which can never be replaced," she said.

One-Time Prisoner Of Sioux Indians Dies At Age Of 90

ST. PETERSBURG (UPI)—The body of Army Col. Frank S. Clark, 90, who was a prisoner of the Sioux Indians for 16 years, will be shipped to Indianapolis, Ind., Friday for burial.

Clark, who accepted a commission in 1888 and spent 48 years in the Army died in a hospital here Tuesday. He was a native of Middletown, Ind., and had been a member of the Indiana State Bar.

Clark was just four years old when the Sioux attacked his family in 1872 and captured him. He enlisted in the Army immediately after he was freed.

Milwee Urges Club To Support Bond Issue

Milwee read excerpts from an "engineering evaluation of the existing Sanford Junior High School building" made by the Law Engineering Testing Company of Atlanta, Ga.

"In 1948 the State Survey Team requested that we get out of the old Junior High School building and we then placed it on a temporary basis," Milwee told the Kiwanis Club.

"Then in 1953 and again in 1956 we were told to get out and that the building was not even fit for temporary usage," he said.

"The federal government for the past four years has classed the Junior High School Building as 'no school at all' and the children attending school have been classed as 'unhoused children,'" Milwee explained.

Milwee pointed out especially to the final paragraph of the engineering firm's conclusion and quoted "In light of these findings it is the writer's opinion that the structure as it stands is not completely usable. Possibly under reasonable and stable load conditions it would prove serviceable. However, for occupancy as a public school building where the movement of loads are dynamic and often synchronized it has no factor of safety left sufficient to prove positively safe. One failure in a main structural element of the building could cause immediate shifting of stresses which could prove disastrous. Fire, even though contained, could cause the same action with terrifying results. Any stop gap measure calculated to place the building in safe condition would be very difficult to install and almost impossible to analyze for effectiveness."

Milwee pointed out the astounding growth in Seminole County Schools and told Kiwanians that a bond issue would come up for approval by the freeholders of the county on Sept. 8 in conjunction with the primary election.

"I encourage you to get out and vote for it is one of the objectives of Kiwanis International to support schools, and thereby achieve that objective for the local Kiwanis Club," said Milwee.

Due to lack of time at yesterday's Kiwanis Club luncheon, held in the Sanford Civic Center, an explanation of the financing procedure will be brought to Kiwanians on Aug. 24.

Dr. T. Bird Resigns As Health Officer

The Seminole County Health Officer, Terry Bird, has resigned effective Aug. 1, in a letter to the Chairman of the Board of Seminole County Commissioners, John Krider.

Dr. Bird told Krider in his letter that "a promotional transfer has been offered me."

The County Health Officer, who has served in the local office for five years said "because of personal problems and existing circumstances I feel I have no other choice than to accept."

Dr. Bird, in his letter, said "Therefore I hereby tender my resignation as County Health Officer to become effective Aug. 1, 1958."

"It has been a privilege and a pleasure to work with and for you, your board and the people of Seminole County for the past five years," Dr. Bird stated in his letter.

Only recently, Dr. Bird presented plans to the Board of Seminole County Commissioners requesting the cooperation of the board in building a $100,000 Health Center for Seminole County. He told local commissioners that 80 per cent of the funds would be provided by the Hill-Burton Act and other funds could be provided by crediting the cost of property on which the center is built.

However, the board of commissioners failed to extend its cooperation in providing the new health center or even considering the possibility of the proposal.

Dr. Bird's resignation stated "I shall miss all of you and my best wishes and prayers will be for the continued progress and welfare of Seminole County."

The letter of resignation will be presented to the Board of Seminole County Commissioners at its next meeting, Tuesday July 22.

Couple Found Dead Believed To Be Murder-Suicide

TAMPA (UPI)—Basilides Crus, 60, and his wife, Louise, died together Wednesday in what police described as an apparent murder-suicide following a violent argument.

Officers said Crus apparently shot his wife four times chasing her from their living room to the kitchen where both their bodies were found. The death weapon was found near Crus' body.

A neighbor told investigators she thought she heard Mrs. Crus scream in Spanish: "Please don't kill me," just before the fatal shots were fired.

A note found in the couple's car indicated they were having marital troubles. The contents of the note were not revealed.

Maureen Scott Wins Contest Names Lion 'Bo'

A lion at the Sanford Zoo, up until this time unnamed, will be called "Bo."

That was the decision of a board of judges selected to choose a name from those submitted in a contest conducted by the Florida State Bank.

Two names chosen by the judges had to be disqualified because they did not conform to the regulations.

The were several entries suggesting the name "Bo" and the judges chose the entry bearing the earliest postmark.

Winner of the "name the lion contest" is Maureen Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Scott, 627 Scott Ave.

Members of the board of judges were: R. T. Milwee, Mrs. Arnold Wood, and Warren H. Knowles.

Miss Scott will receive a $25 U. S. Savings Bond for submitting the winning entry.

Persons With July Birthdays Plan Get-Together

By Mrs. Marian Jones
OVIEDO—Since there are so many birthdays in July, some of us have decided to contact those we know, and would like to know others, and have a get-together the last of July for a picnic.
In addition to those previously mentioned, J. B. Jones, Leon Olliff, Penny Olliff, Marian Jones, Ben G. Wainright, Herley Mae Wainright, Pete Aulin, Novella Aulin, Jack King, Jr., Mae E. King, Maxine Dawson, Annie C. Thompson, George Morgan, Mrs. Charles Lee, Mrs. T. W. Lawton, B. F. Wheeler, Jr., we have learned of Katrina Brookshire, Mildred Urey, Jimmy Courier and Susan Slayton.
The significant fact concerning this is that so many husbands and wives appear on the July list; namely, J. B. and Marian Jones, Herley Mae and Ben Wainright, Pete and Novella Aulin and Pluto and Penny Olliff.
Another incident is that three members of one family have the same birthday—Frank Wheeler Jr., Mrs. T. W. Lawton and Mrs. Charles Lee—all the 24th of July.
In addition, Marian Jones, Susan Slayton and Jimmy Courier share the 25th of July.
Mrs. Annie C. Thompson and George Morgan's both come on July 29th. The same applies to Penny Olliff and Mae E. King—the 24th. Also Pete Aulin and Katrina Brookshire share the 18th of July.

Doctors Urge Drug Manufacturers Not To Color Pills

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—A new and different answer to the urgent question of how to prevent young children from poisoning themselves out of their parents' medicine cabinets is for drug manufacturers to stop coloring pills to make them brightly attractive.
That answer was given by Dr. Hugh Jolly and T. B. Forrest after tempting 612 children one to eight years old with pills of 10 hues. They found that most of the kids reached much more eagerly for a magenta pill or a blue pill than for a black or a wine-colored one.
In the past few years, there has been a decided increase in the number of young children helping themselves generously to their parent's pills, often with a fatal result. The innocent belief of the victims was that their parents were taking candy, not medicine, and were being selfish about it.
Optician Effler
This has resulted in manufacturers and doctors propagandizing parents to keep pills out of the reach of children. But the increase in child-poisoning has coincided with the fad of coloring pills into all the brilliant shades of a rainbow.
Pills used to be black, brown, white or pink. Now they are bright orange, yellow, reddish-purple; they even come in pastel shades. Indeed, there are two-toned pills which came into vogue at about the time the two-toned cars were coming into popularity. The coloring matter is artificial. It has nothing to do with the medicinal value of the pill. Some doctors have complained, saying they were plain M.P.s and wanted to prescribe only plain pills. But others have endorsed the color on the ground that a cheerfully colored pill is cheerfully swallowed.
Accident On Rise
Accidental poisonings of children have been increasing uniformly in the great pill-taking countries, the United States and Western Europe, where the multi-colored pills have swept the field. But it remained for Jolly and Forrest to put the parallel events to the test of scientific experiment, in Plymouth, England.
On one plate they put 10 pills of different hues. The plate was offered to the 612 children for a free choice. There was no advice and no urging. Children over eight were not tested. The doctors thought they were old enough to know better than take someone else's pill.
The overwhelming pill-color choice was magenta. Next came pink, then blue, orange, brown, yellow, white, green, black and wine.

INSURANCE COST RISES
LONDON (UPI)—British insurance underwriters have boosted the "war risk" premium for ships using Iraqi ports sevenfold—from 10 cent to 70 cents per 1000. Iraq, which is in the throes of a rebellion, has a short coastline along the Persian Gulf and is a major oil producer.

Medical - Hospital Confab Set For Fall

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—Medical science is so worried over outbreaks of disease-causing bacteria getting wise to its most effective way of killing them that it has needed the government into action.
U. S. Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney is sponsoring a medical-hospital conference in September to go into this deepening problem. Simply stated, the problem is this: disease-causing bacteria are being educated in how to live and flourish in the presence of the antibiotic drugs.
This education is being administered by physicians and often in hospitals—unwillingly and usually unwillingly, of course. It is a pity because the antibiotics (penicillin is the best known) are the most miraculous of the "miracle drugs."
Adapt Nerves to Drug
Medical science has never had other bacteria-killers nearly as effective as these. But where will we be if and when the day comes when all bacteria are able to resist all the antibiotics without the slightest harm either to themselves or their prodigious reproductive capacity?
Say you have a human body in which there are x-billion bacteria making it very sick. You inject an antibiotic. It kills all the billions, presto, and the body rebuilds into health. But if you repeat it often enough in enough bodies you're going to run into a relatively few bacteria which adapt themselves to the drug.
These few become parents of a new sub-tribe of their kind, all of whose members are resistant to that particular antibiotic. This is going on right now. More and more of these bacterial strains are appearing around the country; indeed, around the world.
Not the Answer
They still are a very small minority of disease-causing bacteria, and the common way of dealing with them is to inject a different antibiotic—one which they are not resistant. But that permits them to acquire even more education. Strains now are in existence that resist as many as five antibiotics which formerly killed them.
Medical science feels the answer can't be a new antibiotic indefinitely. Antibiotics come from chemical stews produced by earth molds. Many kill people as well as bacteria; only a very few are potentially usable as drugs. Thus the day can come when most disease-causing bacteria are "resistant" to all antibiotics and there is no new antibiotic to save the day.
Physicians use antibiotics in copious quantities. Hospitals team with them. If you have an effective weapon, you're going to use it fully and often, naturally. But the more the antibiotic weapon is used, the greater is the chance of it becoming progressively less effective.
Thrives In Hospitals
Small epidemics of illnesses caused by resistant bacteria now appear occasionally in hospitals. They're quickly put down with a newer antibiotic, but they show what's going on. Bacteria are everywhere, even in hospitals, and so hospitals are places where bacteria get educated, since all the antibiotics are always around. Leaders of medical science believe the antibiotics should be used against offending bacteria only when the need is great and nothing else will do. Hospitals should rely more on older drugs and older methods for holding down the bacterial population to the barest minimum and less on antibiotics, they say.

Jet Pilots Have Itchy Nose Trials

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The simple process of scratching one's nose when it itches can be a major problem to a jet pilot flying at high altitudes when his head must be sealed in a pressure helmet.
To open the face plate of the helmet at high altitudes could be extremely dangerous. The pilot knows that he must keep the helmet in place as a safeguard against explosive decompression in the plane's cockpit.
A survey conducted by New Frontiers, official publication of the Garrett Corp., reports what some pilots do to overcome this handicap.
Some just grin and bear the annoyance. Others have found ways to relieve through their own crude improvisations—without the aid of science.
Lockheed test pilot Tony LeVier, the first to fly the F-104 Starfighter, recalled that his nose tickled once while flying at a very high altitude, and he found relief by pushing the helmet against his nose and rubbing it hard against the inner side of the transparent face plate. He could scratch his head by holding the helmet and jiggling his head inside.
One Real Solution
LeVier said the nose also came in handy as a fog wiper inside the helmet.
Another pilot might find life inside a pressure helmet more difficult, depending on the shape and size of his head, the length of his nose and the type and fit of the helmet.
Douglas test pilot Bill Bridgman, who has flown the Douglas Skyrocket and F4D, said his nose always begins to itch when he knows he can't get to his face. He usually squashes his head around inside the helmet but is unable to get to the side of his nose.
If a pilot has to blow his nose, it's even worse. Al White, test pilot for North American's F-100, said he feels like blowing his nose "at least five times" during a flight to clear a clogged sinus. But there is nothing he can do about it inside the contraption.
The only real solution to the problem appears to be to return to the ground and take the darned thing off.

Beverage Dept. Reports $4 Million Receipt Increase

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—The State Beverage Department reports a more than four million dollar increase in total receipts for the last fiscal year and said it will turn $26,521 back to the general state fund as an unexpended balance.
Director H. G. Cochran said the increase was some $2,043,957 more than was estimated would be collected during the period.
Cochran said he could not pinpoint the reason for the increase, which amounted to a little more than six per cent, but said possibly the department's hard hitting law enforcement program played a large part.
In a report of department activities for the past fiscal year, Cochran said 971 administrative cases were prepared, heard and disposed of during the period, only 10 of which were appealed to the higher courts.
He pointed out that hundreds of warrants and written citations were given for minor rule infractions where an administrative hearing was not necessary.
He pointed out that moonshine activities were not confined to any one section of the state. Dale County, for example, was recorded as having 43 stills captured and destroyed, along with north Florida counties such as Holmes where 62 stills were destroyed.
In all there were 708 stills broken up during the year, 600,718 gallons of mash and 26,492 gallons of moonshine whiskey destroyed. Also there were 2,513 arrests, 350 automobiles confiscated and $136,780 in fines levied.
Among other money handled by the department last year, $402,303 in special tax funds was deposited to the alcoholic rehabilitation program, and $132,221 went to the state and various municipalities from cigarette tax collection.
Cochran said the department operated on two per cent of its income during the period.
He said total receipts for the department showed an increase during the entire fiscal year, even during the winter months when an unexpected freeze ruined the tourist business and set the state finance back a notch.

Doctors Urge Drug Manufacturers Not To Color Pills

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—A new and different answer to the urgent question of how to prevent young children from poisoning themselves out of their parents' medicine cabinets is for drug manufacturers to stop coloring pills to make them brightly attractive.
That answer was given by Dr. Hugh Jolly and T. B. Forrest after tempting 612 children one to eight years old with pills of 10 hues. They found that most of the kids reached much more eagerly for a magenta pill or a blue pill than for a black or a wine-colored one.
In the past few years, there has been a decided increase in the number of young children helping themselves generously to their parent's pills, often with a fatal result. The innocent belief of the victims was that their parents were taking candy, not medicine, and were being selfish about it.
Optician Effler
This has resulted in manufacturers and doctors propagandizing parents to keep pills out of the reach of children. But the increase in child-poisoning has coincided with the fad of coloring pills into all the brilliant shades of a rainbow.
Pills used to be black, brown, white or pink. Now they are bright orange, yellow, reddish-purple; they even come in pastel shades. Indeed, there are two-toned pills which came into vogue at about the time the two-toned cars were coming into popularity. The coloring matter is artificial. It has nothing to do with the medicinal value of the pill. Some doctors have complained, saying they were plain M.P.s and wanted to prescribe only plain pills. But others have endorsed the color on the ground that a cheerfully colored pill is cheerfully swallowed.
Accident On Rise
Accidental poisonings of children have been increasing uniformly in the great pill-taking countries, the United States and Western Europe, where the multi-colored pills have swept the field. But it remained for Jolly and Forrest to put the parallel events to the test of scientific experiment, in Plymouth, England.
On one plate they put 10 pills of different hues. The plate was offered to the 612 children for a free choice. There was no advice and no urging. Children over eight were not tested. The doctors thought they were old enough to know better than take someone else's pill.
The overwhelming pill-color choice was magenta. Next came pink, then blue, orange, brown, yellow, white, green, black and wine.

Persons With July Birthdays Plan Get-Together

By Mrs. Marian Jones
OVIEDO—Since there are so many birthdays in July, some of us have decided to contact those we know, and would like to know others, and have a get-together the last of July for a picnic.
In addition to those previously mentioned, J. B. Jones, Leon Olliff, Penny Olliff, Marian Jones, Ben G. Wainright, Herley Mae Wainright, Pete Aulin, Novella Aulin, Jack King, Jr., Mae E. King, Maxine Dawson, Annie C. Thompson, George Morgan, Mrs. Charles Lee, Mrs. T. W. Lawton, B. F. Wheeler, Jr., we have learned of Katrina Brookshire, Mildred Urey, Jimmy Courier and Susan Slayton.
The significant fact concerning this is that so many husbands and wives appear on the July list; namely, J. B. and Marian Jones, Herley Mae and Ben Wainright, Pete and Novella Aulin and Pluto and Penny Olliff.
Another incident is that three members of one family have the same birthday—Frank Wheeler Jr., Mrs. T. W. Lawton and Mrs. Charles Lee—all the 24th of July.
In addition, Marian Jones, Susan Slayton and Jimmy Courier share the 25th of July.
Mrs. Annie C. Thompson and George Morgan's both come on July 29th. The same applies to Penny Olliff and Mae E. King—the 24th. Also Pete Aulin and Katrina Brookshire share the 18th of July.

The Upturn in Business Will Result in Full-Fledged Boom

A business upturn has begun in certain important areas, and the prospects are that it will keep on gathering steam. That forecast is made by U.S. News and World Report in one of its recent issues, and is based on specific existing signs.

It should be added that the magazine does not expect a sudden upsurge in activity. Improvement will be gradual over the months ahead, and it will be much more marked in some fields of enterprise than in others. But strong forces in favor of recovery are now at work and "they could lift the entire volume of spending to a record level by the end of 1958."

The good signs range a fairly wide gamut. Steel production has at last risen. There are more new housing starts. Oil output is up slightly. Farm machinery sales have improved. Road building moves into high gear. A strong revival has brought smiles to the already makers. A short time ago the stock market touched its highest 1958 level.

The big question, of course, is whether such gains as these will develop into a generalized upward trend. U. S. News thinks they will for a number of reasons. For one thing, business is no longer carrying on major cuts in inventories and in some lines purchases are being stepped up. Governmental spending at all levels continues to increase. Money is cheaper and easier to borrow, both for individuals and for business. The gross national product (which is the value of all the goods and services we produce) ran at an annual rate of $422 billion in the first quarter of this year, while the second quarter rate has been about $426 billion. The rate for the last half of the year is expected to be $439 billion.

Actually, contrary to a widely held belief, the income available for spending has not materially declined during the so-called recession. According to U. S. News, wages and salaries have gone down by $7.5 billion a year. But there has been an increase of some $5 billion in other types of individual income — unemployment benefits, retirement pay, old age pensions. Farm prices recently reached the highest level in more than five years. As a consequence, what the economists call "disposable" income (the money consumers have left after taxes) has been down by only a slight percentage.

However, changes have appeared in the pattern of consumer spending. More of the money has gone for basic necessities, such as food and drugs, and for other non-durable goods—namely, automobiles. U. S. News attributes this change to "the pressure of high living costs, the attitude of caution in taking on large debts, the lack of interest in present models of cars and appliances at present prices." The hope is that an increase in public confidence as business in general improves, along with the offering of new models of cars and appliances, will gradually correct the imbalance in spending.

All in all, as U. S. News sees it "the upturn is likely to become a full-fledged recovery before many months have passed." Of course, here in Sanford and Seminole County, the upturn in business around us — in view of the fact that business and economy has continually stayed in an upswing — will mean that there will be a boom on.

Everything, from sales to service, from homes to home property, has been increasing by tremendous leaps and bounds.

To a community which in the past has experienced only normal building and repairs for so many years, the boom in housing developments and the more than $6 million in homes constructed during the first six months of the year, there must be good business!

We welcome the trend upward among our neighbors and neighboring states. Their improving economies mean even better economies for us — and we're enjoying the happiness that exists.

Veterans Corner

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to questions of interest from former servicemen and their families:

Q. I named my mother as the beneficiary of my GI insurance for lump payment. Could she change to some other method of payment if she desired?

A. Yes. She could choose payments under any of several installment plans available.

Q. Does VA compensation payment for a disability incurred in Korea automatically entitle me to vocational rehabilitation training?

A. No. The law requires that you be in need of training to overcome the disability handicap.

Q. If the buyer takes over my GI home loan and the VA grants me relief from liability, does that restore my entitlement?

A. No. The VA restores entitlement only under certain conditions, and then only when the loan is paid off so that the VA is no longer liable on the guarantee.

Q. If I take on-the-job training under the Korean GI Bill, will I receive the same rate of allowance throughout my course?

A. No. Under the law, GI allowances for on-the-job training must be reduced at four-month intervals, as the training progresses.

Washington See-Saw

OPEN FOR BUSINESS — Don't get the idea that Senator Holland is not taking his upcoming race seriously. Already he has opened his state campaign office in Barlow. Paul Shelley, a Tallahassee attorney and Holland's former administrative assistant, is his campaign manager. Merrill Wainlett, Holland's present assistant, has quietly left Washington for Barlow where he will work shoulder to shoulder with Shelley. Other members of his Washington staff in Barlow are: Clara Whitelaw, Ruth Knight and Earl Kunkle.

Most widely expressed opinion here following Pepper's initial blast at Holland was one of surprise. The Florida experts say Pepper is trying to talk and act like Holland. They figure he is making a big mistake. Holland has the conservative vote. Pepper can't steal that, no matter how hard he tries. And if he tries too hard, he'll lose his old friends, the extreme left wing liberals. Best guess this week is: he won't do any better in this race than Fuller Warren did in his try for a second term as Governor.

MOUTH FULL — "He-coon" Bob Sikes doesn't make many speeches in Congress, but when he does say something, it carries a bit of weight. Last week he gave one of his famous one-minute orations. Speaking of Russia's threat to leave the United Nations, Sikes said: "Russia threatens to leave the United Nations. So what? I am not sure that Russia should have a choice. Perhaps the best course will be summarily to drop Russia from membership in that body."

"Russia has done nothing to justify membership in a constructive deliberative body of responsible nations. Her tactics throughout have been obstructionist in character; her aims destructive. She has used the United Nations as a sounding board to injure and undermine the free world. Not once has Russia appeared in a role of leadership for the good of humanity."

"Without Russia, the United Nations could achieve many worthwhile objectives which that nation has blocked in the last decade."

"Without Russia, the United Nations could become the force for good which its founders envisioned."

"Without Russia, its members could achieve unity, create respect for its efforts, and recognition for its strength."

"And what would Russia do outside the United Nations? Just exactly what she does in the United Nations, but without a sounding board and with more closely knit opposition. Her efforts would lose much of their present effectiveness."

THE FLAVOR LINGERS — Congressman Billy M. Stewart should publish a cook book. A few weeks ago he told the House of Representatives how to cook corn on the cob. Last week, Bernard Brenner, a writer for the United Press International, asked him to dig up the recipe for barbecued chicken. Two years ago, when the Agriculture Committee visited Florida, they were entertained at a barbecue in Lake City. Newsman Brenner went along. Now, at this late date, he is still trying to find how to cook chicken the way it was served in Lake City. But, the recipe must be on the "top secret" list, because all Brenner received was a two-gallon jug of the sauce and a polite letter from A. B. Clark, Chairman of the Santa Fe Soil Conservation District in Lake City telling him that the recipe can't be written down. "It is very difficult to make up," he said, "so if you want more, let us know and we'll send it to you."

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES H. MCCANN
UPI Foreign Analyst
The Middle Eastern crisis seems sure to start a serious wave of "anti-imperialist" feeling in the newly freed countries of Asia and Africa.

In "neutralist" India and Indonesia, in Tunisia and Morocco, and in many other countries denunciation of the American troop landings in Lebanon is likely to be bitter.

Correspondingly, President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic is likely to be hailed as a hero who is a leader in the great surge of nationalism in one-time colonial countries.

Soviet Russia, which is loud in support of nationalist movements — except, of course, in the Soviet Union — is likely to profit considerably.

And ironically, the United States, which for years has supported the nationalist movement even against its own allies, will be the chief target of criticism. President Eisenhower acted in an emergency of the specific and urgent request of the government of Lebanon, the most loyal ally of the West in the Arab countries. But this fact is most unlikely to be taken into account by critics.

Nationalist spirit has become one of the great forces of the world. This spirit has swept Asia and Africa and is spreading to British and Netherlands possessions in the Western Hemisphere.

Nationalism was strong in a few of the countries before World War II—Spain, then a possession of Japan, and in India, for example.

It was nationalist spirit that started the rebellions in Indonesia and Indochina and Algeria.

Nationalist spirit compelled France to give up Syria and Lebanon. Nationalist spirit led to the overthrow of King Farouk of Egypt and to the emergence of Nasser as the biggest Arab leader.

It is nationalism that has caused the formation of the so-called Arab-African bloc of countries in which "neutralism" and "anti-imperialism" are so often mentioned.

From Washington

It is interesting to note that while Russia leads no opportunity to promote nationalist spirit all over the world, it is the world's leading anti-nationalist country within its own confines.

The nationalism of President Tito of Yugoslavia has made him a bitter enemy of the Kremlin.

A good part of the present Russian trend back to the harsh rule of the Josef Stalin era is due to fear of nationalism in the Communist satellite countries and in the Soviet Union itself.

It was because of nationalist spirit in Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia that Russia has deported hundreds of thousands of the people of those Baltic republics which it absorbed.

It is because of nationalist spirit in some Soviet republics that vast numbers of their people have been deported to other areas.

But the newly freed countries will not take things like this into account.

Here's a New Method Of Getting a Good Tan

By HERMAN M. DUBROWITZ, M. D.
WANT to get an attractive tan without getting sunburned? Simply a simple little tablet can help you do just that.

Experiments indicate that certain derivatives, benzothiazolone (methoxymethyl) and benzothiazolone (2-DCP), help stimulate sun tanning.

Maximum Damage
If this is proven conclusively, it probably will mean that you will be able to get a nice tan without inflicting much permanent damage on the underlying connective tissue.

Moreover, it may mean that those of you who have been unable to acquire a tan in the past may be able to do so with relative ease. And those subject to skin cancer may be greatly protected from the offending rays of the sun.

According to experiments conducted in Hawaii, the tan acquired under the influence of the peroxalans may be of a slightly different color and quality than that which generally results from exposure to the sun.

Striking Color
Indications are that it would be a striking shade of brown color. What's more, it probably will last a good deal longer than an ordinary tan.

Four persons who had never been able to acquire a good tan were given tablets by their doctors containing 10 mg. of benzothiazolone and 5 mg. of 2-DCP to take an hour or so before going into the sun.

Beautiful Tans
They were advised to expose themselves outdoors for the first few days and then to double or triple the exposure as they noted a decreasing tendency to burn. Three of the four reported that they developed beautiful tans. And one could be noted no noticeable decrease of his tan after spending almost a month on the mainland during the winter.

Other volunteers who sunbathed very easily, reported no more than mild soreness and subsequent peeling. In most cases, there was not even this much reaction to the sun's rays after the tablets had been taken.

So it may not be long before you can discard those suntan creams and lotions and get all the protection you need from a pill.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
J. P.: What is the cause of brain cells wasting away?
Answer: Brain cells deteriorate because of lack of circulation, as may occur with hardening of the arteries or extreme old age. Certain chemicals and drugs can be harmful to brain cells, and certain diseases, such as syphilis, also can harm them.

Six New Means You've Had Two Years In School

By LARRY SPEARER
United Press International
OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — The idea that the age of six means "school" for children is fast going out of style. Youngsters are now starting formal education at three—in kindergartens and nursery schools over the nation. The process of teaching Junior to spell his name and those months of buying school clothes are now beginning three years earlier for many parents. Mrs. Mickey Ratcliff of the University of Mississippi concludes this in her study of "Trends in Nursery Schools and Kindergartens."

Most significant of Mrs. Ratcliff's findings was that the South is lagging far behind in this trend to get the child in school earlier. Only five per cent of the vast kindergarten enrollment of the nation is below the Mason-Dixon line. Interest At Three She believes the "years before six" are most important in "shaping a youngster's life habits."

"The chances for good adjustment are much greater if the child has advantage of the most favorable learning conditions," Mrs. Ratcliff added. About the age of three, children take an interest in people, especially their playmates. Parents should capitalize on the natural interest.

"The youngster needs an unlimited chance to run, swing, laugh, and romp with children," she said. "He needs to learn to make adjustments to his playmates constantly." State governments are recognizing the need for kindergartens. All but two states now have laws providing for kindergartens, and six make them mandatory. Legislation These schools are often financed by local communities through special funds. Almost two-thirds of the states have regulations regarding the qualifications of teachers in kindergartens.

More and more, said Mrs. Ratcliff, legislation is going into effect to give state education departments greater freedom in kindergarten school policies. They are now able to have a part in providing curriculum guides and establishing more uniform standards. "The time has already passed," Mrs. Ratcliff said, "when 'six' and 'school' were synonymous in the minds of American children."

And the rapidly increasing enrollment of children under six in public schools emphatically points up that fact.

Fall Fashions Are Barely Modest

By GAY FAULKY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—Plenty of the new fall clothes for dress-up show plenty of a girl's topdile. Lulu Estevez and Ceil Chapman, a couple of designers who believe shape is for showing, cut necklines to new depths both fore and aft in their collections displayed this week for 300 visiting fashion reporters. "Modest? Well, just barely," quipped a spokesman for Miss Chapman, who scoops some necks right down to where that high-rising empire waistline comes to. The Cuban-born Estevez adds that new treatments to the roster of devastating necklines for which she is famous. One is the U-neck, which bares almost the whole spine, in a deep U-shape. She also introduces the Cleopatra neckline, which consists of a separate wide flat collar encircling the throat, with a strapless very low cut dress below.

Some Sewing Tips For Newer Fabrics

CHICAGO (UPI) — In the fashion spotlight this summer, mildy probably could use some hints on how to sew with the new light and airy garments. Here are some helpful suggestions from the National Cotton Council: Use a new machine needle. Adjust the machine stitch and try it out on a sample before doing the final sewing on your dress. Stitch through tissue paper strips and tear them away later. A narrow, hand-cuffed hem is best for sheers or chiffons. Stitch near the edge of the fabric as a stay, then roll edge between fingers and hand stitch. If you use a wide hem, turn under the raw edge about one-fourth inch and edge stitch. Then hem edge to the dress.

Soft, sheer cottons gather prettily, and here's an easy way to gather a full skirt: divide the top of its skirt in quarters for gathering, pin at the side seams, center front and center back. Baste and stitch in sections. This method will help you space the gathers evenly, and your threads won't break.

If the current goes off in the home freezer, keep the door closed. The Ohio State University extension service says frozen foods will keep up to two days without great loss of quality.

FASHION: U.S.A.

EVERYBODY LOOKS SO DIFFERENT THIS SUMMER! Haven't you noticed? They can't possibly be wearing last Summer's clothes for this year's "look" bears almost no resemblance to last year's. There's been a real Fashion Revolution, and most of the feminine population is finding a big stimulus in the change. With the advent of warm weather coats have gone into hiding and the 1936 Lady of Fashion has emerged. She looks different, all right. Here are the things about her that will capture your attention and approval—1. She looks so much Yourown. That's what SUMMER SUITS and the CAMERON AIR of the new clothes are doing for her. 2. She looks so COOL AND COMFORTABLE. That's because the new clothes emphasize EASE. Her waistline is no longer restrictive. 3. You notice what PERRY LANE she has. Short skirts are getting them on view again, and now sheers, now hems in history, are glamorizing them. Usually, this time of year, she chooses colors—perhaps checked or flowered, as in our picture. Always she looks and feels like "a new woman!"

Race Horse Stolen; One Misplaced

Loosing a horse seems almost as innocuous as losing an elephant when you lose a horse at a race track. It becomes downright silly. In fact, not one, but two horses, recently were reported lost, stolen, or stolen, one at Waterford Park in West Virginia and the other at Suffolk Downs in Massachusetts, and it required the help of the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau to clear up the mystery.

The Waterford Park case came to light when Harold White, a trainer, reported to General Manager Horace Wade, that he had been feeding a horse which didn't belong to him. He assumed that someone had left the animal there temporarily but, after three days, he thought something should be done about it.

Wade called in Agent John Hanley of the T. R. P. B. and the lip tattoo number, L-3279, was immediately teletyped to New York headquarters. Within minutes, it was found that the animal in question was a two-year-old colt named More Jack, belonging to Cecil R. Fischback.

On Grande Three Days Race track, Fischback had several other horses stabled at the track, Hanley contacted the trainer, Charlie Totty, who informed him that he had been expecting More Jack for several days but hadn't seen him yet. He was flabbergasted when Hanley told him More Jack had been on the grounds for three days.

A check of horse-van records showed that More Jack had been delivered during the night and the driver had mistaken Barn N for Barn R and left him in the wrong stable.

The only unsolved matter is — who says Harold White for the hay had oats consumed by More Jack during the three-day stay in his barn?

The Suffolk Downs incident sounds like one that came out of an "adult Western". One Sunday morning, a report came into the T. R. P. B. office that Will See Ya, a five-year-old gelding, had disappeared from his stall.

Agent Vincent Murphy alerted his crew and a search was made of the grounds with no results. After intensive questioning, a groom was found who said he had seen a horse being led out the front gate but didn't think anything was wrong so did not report it.

The owner, Al Timpani, was notified and he rounded up a "posse" of friends to comb the surrounding area. Murphy alerted the police in the vicinity to be on the lookout for a race horse and then checked with T. R. P. B. headquarters in New York for Will See Ya's lip tattoo number.

The following day a call from Saugus, a town six miles from the race track, reported that a man leading a horse was seen there and was looking around for a place to board the animal, offering to pay $100 a month. Murphy's crew rushed to Saugus and examined the horse and found that the tattoo number, L-4441, positively identified him as Will See Ya.

In checking back it was found that the suspect and a friend, a groom in the stable area, had spent Saturday night together and during the course of the evening the suspect had lost his hat.

He went to the track early Sunday to see if he could find his hat and falling to do so took the horse instead. He was seen by a taxi driver, staggering up the road, leading the horse.

Get a Two Years Two days later he was apprehended and tried and convicted for horse stealing. He was sentenced to two years.

The least the T. R. P. B. can do for him now is to provide him with a television set so he can catch up with the latest techniques in horse stealing as portrayed in the "adult Westerns".

The lip-tattoo was developed originally as a safeguard against the running of a ringer but as a positive means of quick and certain identification, it has had added value among horsemen. Spencer J. Drayton, head of the T. R. P. B., points out: "On the breeding farm it has facilitated the quick and certain identification of mares. Even on the race track there has been innocent confusion of look-alike two-year-olds with the wrong horse brought to the paddock for the race. On another occasion, a few years ago, hundreds of horses were turned out in the infield at Waterford Park during a stable fire. Later it was a simple matter to identify each horse and return him to his rightful owner."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Baseball Commissioner Fred C. Frick declares that expansion of the major leagues is "inevitable" but predicted it will come through larger leagues rather than franchise shifts. Frick made the statement in testimony supporting the Senate sports bill which would grant broad anti-trust immunity to professional team sports. To apply the anti-trust laws to baseball, he said, would be "inappropriate and disastrous."

The baseball commissioner urged Congress to extend baseball's court-endowed anti-trust exemptions to apply to other team sports.

"Baseball firmly believes that the anti-trust laws are not appropriate for regulation of any organized team sports and that basketball, football and hockey as well as baseball should have exemption for their sports practices," he said.

The Justice Department came out Tuesday against a provision of the House-passed sports bill—roughly paralleling the Senate bill now under study—which would grant anti-trust immunity to rights to broadcast and telecast sports games.

Chairman John C. Doerster of the Federal Communications Commission also made it clear he considers that provision inimical to the public interest. The Federal Trade Commission took no direct stand on the bill but a spokesman said it always has "tended to oppose any exemption to the anti-trust laws."

Frick said orderly expansion of the major leagues would be "impossible" if anti-trust suits could be filed against the territorial rights of baseball clubs.

He described the territorial rules imposed on baseball clubs and the reserve clause binding players forever to the teams which held their contracts as "the keystones of organized baseball."

Baseball League Confab Will Be In St. Petersburg

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The annual mid-winter convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues will be held in St. Petersburg in 1950 for the first time since 1930.

President George Trautman of the minor leagues made the announcement from his office here. It earlier had been reported by the St. Petersburg Times that the convention also had been agreed upon at a meeting of minor league officials at the All-Star game in Baltimore a week ago.

Trautman said the seven day session will begin the first week of November. It will be highlighted, as usual, by the annual player drafts which begin at the major league level and run the gamut of minor league classifications.

The St. Petersburg meeting will be Florida's fifth time to host the minor league session. Jacksonville last had the group in 1936.

The 1950 St. Petersburg session was made historic by the decision of major league club owners to oust Baseball Commissioner A. B. Happy Chandler, now governor of Kentucky.

Marciano Now Potato Promoter

GREENSBORO, N. C. (UPI) — Retired heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano has set out as a potato promoter.

He began a tour of supermarkets in North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia autographing 10-pound bags of "carefully selected" potatoes that carry a picture of Rocky in fighting pose, a picture of his championship belt and a list of his fights over a nine-year span.

"We're just in the preliminary stages now. . . just fighting the four-rounders," he said in telling newsmen of plans for his Salem, Va., packing partnership, "Rocky Marciano Enterprises, Inc."

From potatoes, he and partner Jim Cerniglio plan to branch out into packing onions, tomatoes and citrus fruit, some of it from farms they own in South Carolina, Virginia, Florida and New York.

Player Of The Day

By United Press International FRANK LARY

Frank Lary of Detroit could be called a rich man overnight if he cared to sell his patent on how to stop the Yankees.

No American League pitcher does the job more effectively than the hard-throwing Tiger right-hander who has a lifetime record of 14-4 over Casey Stengel's crew. Although he wilted in the 90-degree heat and needed relief in the eighth inning Tuesday, Lary was credited with his fifth straight victory over the Yankees this season in a 12-5 triumph by the Tigers. It was also his ninth win of the campaign.

Lary insists he tries no harder against the Bronx Bombers than he does against the other clubs in the circuit. "Maybe I'm a little more careful pitching to them," he says, "because they have more good hitters than the other clubs do. I know I always like to pitch against them."

THE CARD OF THANKS
 Very often a Card of Thanks to the donor would mean a need which is difficult to fill in any other way. Not only is it a sincere expression of gratitude to those who have given, but it also conveys a sympathetic understanding of the needs and wishes of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot be mailed.

Newspaper Cards of Thanks are accepted as readily as any other form of expression of gratitude. When the occasion comes you will find a sympathetically understanding member of our staff to assist you.

There is no prescribed form for a Card of Thanks. It can be as brief or as detailed as you desire. When the occasion comes you will find a sympathetically understanding member of our staff to assist you.

THE "IN MEMORIUM" NOTICE
 It is the custom of many families in this country to commemorate a bereavement by an "In Memoriam" notice in newspaper classified columns. They find a real comfort in the knowledge of a suitable verse being placed in their papers, through recollections. As Eliza Cook, the English poet has so beautifully expressed it:

"How cruelly sweet are the echoes
 That start
 What memory plays an old tune
 On the heart."

Most frequently an In Memoriam is inserted on the anniversary of death. However, other dates, which in fact are appropriate or meaningful are also selected. The birthday of the departed, the wedding anniversary, Memorial Day, even Christmas are among other significant occasions for such notices.

If you are hesitant to express your love through such a form, you may avail yourself of the Herald's columns of "In Memoriam" notices. These express in words beauty the emotions of the bereaved. Among them are verses of condolence to any bereaved.

THE RATE
 Cards of Thanks and In Memoriam notices, due to the fact they may run to considerable length, are billed at $1.00 per column inch.

U. S. Doubles Marine Forces In Lebanon

A CONTRACT FOR CONSTRUCTION of the Altamonte Elementary School was awarded to the J. C. Harper Construction Company of Orlando. Cost of the construction will be $337,115. The Seminole County Board of Public Instruction reviewed 11 bids opened Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock before making the award.

SECRET (CPS) — The United States doubled its force of Marines in Lebanon today with the arrivals of a battalion airlifted from Camp Lejeune, N.C., and another which had been waiting offshore with the U.S. 6th Fleet. More than 6,000 Marines now were ashore.

Combat troops of the U.S. Army's first airborne battle group will fly in at dawn Saturday from the forward strike base at Adana, Turkey, it was announced. An advanced party arrived today.

Arrival of the reinforcements constituted a massive U. S. reply to Russia's demand that America get out of Lebanon.

The Marines were the first major units landed since Wednesday when the Soviet government declared that America must "withdraw at once" from Lebanon or risk Soviet "measures."

This morning one battalion of Marines poured across the beaches at Antillas five miles north of Beirut, completing a flank movement, guarding both sides of the capital.

At 1 p.m. a second battalion began arriving by C-119 Flying Boxcars from Camp Lejeune. The giant troop carriers touched down minutes apart, one after another.

This was the 2nd Battalion of the 8th Marine Regiment. It brought the total Marine force to four battalions—"more than 6,000 men," a spokesman said.

The spokesman said this "completed the planned movement to this area."

He said the plans "originally did not include" the latest airborne battalion, and "there is a good possibility they will be re-embarked." There was no clue to what the new force's ultimate destination might be.

Two Boys On Motor Scooter Smash Into Rear Of Car

Two 15-year-old boys were thrown from a motor scooter yesterday when it smashed into the rear of a car attempting a left turn at Seventh St.

Clifford Able, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Able of 420 Scott Ave., and Doug Gordon, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Gordon, 128 Mellonville Ave., both 15 years old, ran into the rear of an automobile driven by Robert Lewis of 408 Elliott Ave.

Witnesses said that the two boys glanced to the side and did not notice the automobile ahead of them which had slowed down to make the left turn.

Clifford Able received a possible fracture of the right wrist and lacerations over an eye; Doug Gordon received lacerations over an eye and abrasions of the right leg and knee.

They were taken to a local physician's office for treatment.

Investigating officers were Sgt. Ben Butler and Sgt. Leo Rock of the Sanford Police Department. The accident occurred shortly after 4 o'clock.

Pepper Off On New Campaign Swing

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Former Sen. Claude Pepper was off and hand shaking early today on a new campaign swing.

Pepper said he would spend today and Saturday touring Broward County to meet as many voters as possible in Hollywood, Beach, Dania, Deerfield, Pompano and Fort Lauderdale.

On Saturday he goes into Volusia County, hitting DeLand, New Smyrna Beach and Daytona Beach.

Pepper did not schedule any formal speeches for his Broward County tour. He said he would spend most of his time walking the streets and asking for votes.

Accompanying Pepper through Broward will be Clarence W. Meadows, a former governor of West Virginia now living in Florida who is Pepper's campaign manager for the area.

Red Demonstrators March On U. S., British Embassies

MOSCOW (UPI) — Russian demonstrators marched on the United States and British embassies today to protest the Anglo-American troop landings in the Middle East.

The demonstrators demanded to see the ambassadors to present resolutions passed by mass meetings denouncing the American landings in Lebanon and the British withdrawal of paratroopers to Jordan.

U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson saw a 300-man demonstration, but British Ambassador Sir Patrick Reilly has having his house and flatly refused to meet the Russians clamoring for a personal hearing outside his building.

Sir Patrick sent a message telling the marchers to leave their demonstrations with an embassy secretary. They refused and stood in hundreds outside the building.

No disorder was reported but it was believed a larger mass demonstration was scheduled for later today outside the British embassy.

While Thompson was seeing the three-man delegation in his ninth-floor office, another 300 demonstrators managed to squeeze into the embassy.

"It's the first time we've seen so many Russians in this job," cracked a Marine.

Property Owners Meet Monday Night

A mass meeting of property owners in a 1.28 square mile area proposed for annexation to the City of Sanford will be held Monday night at 8 o'clock at the Pine Crest School auditorium.

The meeting was prompted by the desire of a number of property holders in the area to secure adequate fire protection and other benefits, including a reduction in fire insurance rates.

Three possibilities will be discussed at the meeting. County fire districts for the areas involved; annexation to the City of Sanford; and doing nothing to protest lives and property.

A number of subdivision areas are included in the proposed area for annexation to the City of Sanford and property owners in them are urged to attend the Monday night meeting to learn facts and figures leading to either fire districts or annexation. The subdivisions in the area include: Pinecrest Heights; South Pinecrest, 1st, 2nd, and 3rd additions; Woodruff Subdivision; Parkview; Rosalind Heights; the Dreamworld Section outside the Sanford city limits; Country Club Manor; and SunLand Estates.

City officials point out that the growth of Sanford has made it necessary to expand. The last legislature provided a means of annexation whereby a simple majority of the landowners in a designated area could petition the City of Sanford to be included within the city limits.

The City could take this action by simply passing an ordinance after the Seminole County Tax Assessor certified the list of landowners making the petition.

In order to accomplish this, the Board of Sanford City Commissioners has designated an area bounded by Sanford Ave. on the east; the section line some 1320 feet south of Oona Rd. on the south; Georgia Ave. on the west to 25th St. for one-fourth of a mile, and then due north to the city limits. This 1.28 square miles is entirely on the south and southwest part of the city.

City officials point out that most of the homes in the area are taxless. Realizing that the City of Sanford has a tax base which has gone on for years, they would like to see the area included in the city.

Throughout the three to five year plan, it was emphasized, the outstanding capital improvements would be the installation of street lights, water mains, and fire hydrants. The cost of these improvements is estimated at $115,300, plus the annual costs of extending normal services to $29,536.

While most of the property would be paying taxes in order to receive these services and others, the same property would be saving money on other expenses such as reduced rates on fire insurance, elimination of the 30 per cent higher water rates, and lower refuse collection fees.

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners at its last meeting, agreed to extend fire protection services to the proposed area for

SunLand Estates Residents, Workers 'Get Acquainted'

More than 400 SunLand Estates residents and employees of Odham and Tudor got together last night for a "get acquainted party."

In a recreation area at the front of the huge development, ranch-burgers, baked beans, pickles, potato chips, and cold drinks were served to what Bradley Odham called "one of the finest groups of folk I have ever seen."

It was the first one of these events staged by Odham and Tudor so that neighbors might become acquainted with one another "and learn about one another's problems."

Huge tables and benches were provided for the crowd of early evening "get acquainted party" members who gathered to eat together.

The entire Odham and Tudor staff was on hand to greet each SunLand Estate resident as they arrived. Each one wore a tag bearing the name.

Children were entertained with games and many of the residents joined in a baseball game or played tennis while the biggest part of the huge crowd milled about meeting neighbors and introducing themselves to newcomers.

A contest was held to determine which one of the group could serve the largest number of people attending the event.

Linda Morris won the top prize of $15 for having 70 people attending the "get acquainted party." A Mrs. Keith won the second prize of $10 for demonstrating her ability to serve 55 of the people attending. Norman Reilly served 45 guests to the group.

THE AREA PROPOSED for annexation is designated by lines shown at the five arrows in lower left-hand portion of map. The 1.28 square miles is entirely on the south and southwest part of the city.

Navy People To Have Two-Day Reunion Here

Saturday and Sunday will be busy days for a huge group of former Navy people who haven't seen each other for 13, 14 or 15 years.

More than 40 former Navy people who were stationed at the Sanford Naval Air Station during the Second World War will be in Sanford for the two-day reunion.

Most of the group were attached to VFA, a squadron that saw service here for several years.

The Navy veterans will be coming to Sanford during the two-day period from every section of the country: California, Tennessee, Texas, Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Hampshire, South Carolina and Louisiana to name just a few of the states that will be represented here.

Already an advanced contingent, headed by newspaperman "Preacher" Allen, have arrived here to direct the last minute details of the reunion that will be sure to produce the "tall stories" and "fond remembrances" that Navy life creates.

One of the big events of the reunion will be an all-day barbecue at the Lake Monroe home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holly, who, along with "Preacher" Allen and other Sanford-based veterans, originated the idea for the event.

"We're limited right now to the number of Navy and civilian people who were attached to the Sanford Naval Air Station during WW II," one of the members of the party said today. "We're just feeling our way right now and maybe next year and in future years the reunion will expand and bring together many more of those who enjoyed being here."

At any rate, this is the first reunion of its type in Sanford, and as "Preacher" Allen put it "We're looking forward to every minute of this get-together of folks who haven't seen each other for 13 or 14 years."

There will be a cocktail party tomorrow night at the Mayfair Inn Motel, Allen said. "There are so many of the Navy people and civilians, too, who were stationed at the Sanford Naval Air Station, living in Florida now and we expect them to be coming and going during the two-day reunion," he said.

Bond Issue Details To Be Heard July 29 At Public Meeting

A public meeting has been set to discuss the school bond issue. M. L. Raborn Jr., chairman of the Jaycee School Bond Issue Committee, said yesterday.

Raborn told the Jaycees that the meeting will be held on July 29 at 8 p.m. in the Sanford Civic Center so that everyone who might want to hear the details of the school bond issue discussed can be accommodated.

School officials, Raborn said, have been invited to attend the meeting to explain the details concerning the effort to get the five-year school construction program underway with a $2.5 million bond issue.

The committee chairman also said that the school officials have been invited to attend the meeting in order to answer questions from those attending the first mass meeting on the question that will be put before the people on Sept. 9 in conjunction with the Primary election.

Interest in the school bond issue is gaining momentum with organizations and groups throughout the county supporting the forthcoming special election.

Raborn said that a similar meeting is also planned for Crooms Academy at a date yet to be announced. Details of this meeting have not been completed, he said.

It is expected that the Sanford Civic Center will experience its first capacity audience on July 29 when the issue is discussed and questions answered.

Simultaneously, Bill Grambow, the Jaycee Get-Out-The-Vote committee chairman said yesterday that his group will begin its activities immediately but will not "work in conjunction with the school bond issue."

Grambow pointed out that his committee is primarily interested in getting every prospective voter registered and every voter to the polls.

Tom McDonald, Jaycee president, said yesterday "We've got a heavy schedule ahead of us for the summer" and we need every Jaycee to join in on the various campaigns.

Hospital, Functions Are Explained By Weir

"The hospital and its functions" was the topic on which Harry Weir, administrator of the Seminole Memorial Hospital, spoke yesterday before the Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The hospital is divided into nine departments," said Weir, "and when problems arise they are dumped on the desk of the administrator."

He explained that the nature of hospital services naturally draws the entire attention of a community on it.

"Creating a major problem," said Weir, "are the good and bad rumors which follow, and that of a public relations program."

Some people believe not only all that they hear, said the hospital administrator, but they repeat it.

"To work in a hospital, it is necessary that the employee have a basic desire to work there and to serve humanity's needs," he said, and added "80 per cent of the hospital services are rendered by human hands—not by automation."

And he explained that, even this, creates another problem "a science of human understanding."

The hospitals are not getting their story across to the people—even to the people working within the hospital, said Weir. "But we are constantly trying to improve our channels of communication."

Weir told the Jaycees that "Hospital services are services nobody wants but we have to see them—for life is the most precious thing we have."

Emphatically, Weir explained to the Jaycees that "I don't think we are a do-nothing hospital for we have accomplished many things in the 2½ years we have been open. We are fully accredited," he said, and that means "everything we are doing we are doing well."

In a question and answer period, with questions piled from many of the Jaycees, Weir explained that injured patients are transferred to other hospitals to receive specialized treatment; that bills must be paid in full at time of discharge; that Seminole Memorial Hospital has 75 beds and 16 bassinets; that plans for a teaching hospital are "far in the future"; no plans of a resident physician; that 10 per cent of the hospital's service is for charity and that 25 per cent of the bills are charged; and that he had been in the hospital for 25 years, he explained the operation of the emergency room. Weir told the Jaycees that the emergency room is just what it says "to take care of traumatic injuries."

"We have a physician on call 24 hours a day to take care of patients who have no doctor," he said, but we don't have enough cases coming into our emergency room to have it staffed 24 hours a day."

Concluding his talk before the Jaycees, Weir explained "I have never heard of a patient being turned away because of money."
