Body Of Man Missing For More Than Year Results In Seizure Of Carolina Woman

Ms. Gadlin Said Have Confessed

Woman Told Preacher On Conversion, She Killed Her Father

MEMPHIS, N. C., Sept. 3.—(INS)—Investigation of disappearance of P. Smith, 50-year-old mill owner, reached a climax here today when Mrs. Al Penny Gadlin, 26, his daughter, was arrested and confessed with the gruesome murder.

The sudden arrest of the woman followed the finding this morning of the charred remains in the basement of the Gadlin home. It was believed that the body had been in the basement for months.

The woman's husband Eugene Gadlin, chief of the Raleigh Fire Department, was held for questioning by authorities. Neither Gadlin nor her husband had anything to say when the warrants were served upon them.

The arrest of the aged man's wife came as a complete surprise to investigators of the case, who announced that the investigation had not yet reached the stage of arrests would be made.

Developments, however, took a sharp turn this morning when city authorities struck a hot lead which led them to the Gadlin home and the gruesome find in basement. That authorities had been investigating the case for weeks, and that they believed the missing man had been foully murdered, was generally known late today.

In this place held its breath in abject excitement today waiting for developments which authorities believed probably would lead to discovery of one of the most diabolical murders in crime annals.

Investigation into the case was aided by Solicitor Allen Gwyn Rev. Thomas F. Purdie, Anglican minister, furnished authorities with the information that a young man confessed to murdering his father when she was converted at revival here recently.

According to the woman's confession, she crushed Petty over the head with an axe during an argument, hid the body in a closet in her home for a few days, and then, with assistance, buried it near her house, whose name was concealed by the revivalist's movement.

Man's Home Is His Castle In Virginia

DANVILLE, Va., Sept. 3.—(INS)—A man's home is still his castle in this part of Virginia. Charles W. Wilson, elderly tobacco planter, was acquitted of murder charges for the killing of J. C. Sparrow, one of a group who invaded Wilson's premises at midnight presumably to "discipline" him. The party was headed by constable T. C. Oakes, and state counsel endeavored to have the planter bound over to the grand jury on the ground that Wilson knew the identity of the men when he shot through the door. Three magistrates who heard the argument exonerated Wilson and a large crowd of spectators applauded the decision.

IRREGULAR RUN IN STOCK MARKET APPEARS LOGICAL

Almost Uninterrupted Advance In Speculative Leaders During 3 Preceding Weeks Provides "Technical Conditions"

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The irregular trend in the stock market this week followed logically the most uninterrupted advance in the speculative leaders in three preceding weeks and the forces behind the decline in many of the high-priced specialties were that might be called "technical conditions" rather than unfavorable developments in business and industry.

In strong contrast to this irregular tone was the confident advance of the better grade of industrial shares, generally termed the "investment stocks" because of their long and favorable dividend playing records. All price records for General Motors, U. S. Steel and General Electric were broken, after each of these stocks in turn had been subject to fairly heavy selling pressure, a part of which was doubtless the efforts of the professionals to force a general reaction in the market.

The so-called economic barometer of the week were not particularly favorable. The financial district is worrying considerably over the large falling off in automobile business as a whole, occasioned by the complete stoppage of the Ford output. Individual motor car manufacturers are doing well, but the business as a whole has suffered, while the intense competition in the low-priced-car field has been reflected by numerous price cuts in popular cars.

The steel trade authorities see signs of a revival of fall buying, but for the time being the influx of buying orders is anything but satisfactory. July net railroad earnings fell off 26 per cent as compared with the same month of last year, and western railroad heads have pointed out the reasons for the expectation of a falling off in traffic in a number of the important sections in the crop-moving period. The over production in the oil trade continues, and the past week has witnessed further price cutting in crude oil and gasoline.

McKay Will Assist Pupils Next Week In Enrollment Work

Preparations for the opening of the Seminole High School are well under way according to G. E. McKay, principal of the institution. McKay opens his first full session on Monday, September 12. The building was completed last year and was occupied for the first time at the beginning of the second half of the term.

A most successful school year is in prospect, said Mr. McKay who pointed out that increased facilities as provided in the new building will add to the efficiency of the instruction this year. Professor McKay described the faculty as one of the strongest in the history of the institution, and expressed praise of the school board in its selection of teachers.

To assist pupils in enrolling for the coming term, Mr. McKay will be in his office at the high school building every morning next week between the hours of 10 and 12. All pupils who have not registered or who wish to make changes in their courses of study are urged to see Mr. McKay next week. Pupils coming from other schools are asked to bring in their credits in order to facilitate the enrollment work.

AIR MAIL FLIER DISAPPEARS IN NEW YORK RUN

Latest Air Mystery Caused By Failure Of Pilot Cline To Reach Hartford Where He Is, Now Overdue 18 Hours

Flier Forced Down Near Dudley, Conn.

Boston Business Man, Companion Of Cline, Takes Train After Mishap At Dudley

BOSTON, Sept. 3.—(INS)—The disappearance of Pilot E. G. Cline, inaugurating a Boston-New York air mail and express service this afternoon furnished the latest air mystery.

The plane was forced down at Dudley but took the air again early this morning for Hartford, Conn., and then vanished completely. W. T. Lyman, a Boston business man, the lone passenger, left the plane at Dudley proceeding to New York by train, it was stated at the local airport.

Shortly before 2 P. M., when Cline had been overdue at Hartford, Conn., eighteen hours, and while a search of the woods of northeastern Connecticut was underway, a rescue plane left the Boston airport. Pilot B. F. Billings and a newspaper reporter proceeded south over the Massachusetts-Connecticut line in the latter state. They were flying low in an effort to see a trace of the missing mail and express lane. They planned to land either at Hartford or Bethany, Conn.

Local airport officials thought it possible that Cline, a veteran of the air service, proceeded to New Jersey from Dudley but a check at both Haverbrough Heights, N. J., and Hadley Field, New Brunswick, N. J., revealed no trace of the pilot who vanished while flying over land.

Orlando Negro Is Given Heavy Fine For Driving Drunk

Bennie Hazel, Orlando negro, was assessed a fine of $250 and costs by County Judge James G. Sharon yesterday in a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. It was one of the heaviest penalties meted out upon drunken drivers in some time. Relatives of the negro furnished the lines and he was given his freedom.

Hazel's arrest, made by Deputy Sheriff George Gray, was in connection with two automobile accidents in which the negro is said to have smashed up two cars and injured one motorist. The accidents occurred last Saturday night on the Orlando road near Glimerville.

The first report of Hazel's reckless driving came in connection with an accident in which he is said to have struck a car, causing slight damage. It was while authorities were investigating this accident that the negro went on another rampage and drove his Ford car into an automobile driven by a white man by the name of Cord.

Memphis Battle Of Snakes Fails To Materialize When Bull And Rattler Arbitrate

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 3.—(INS)—Memphis today swore off "snake fights" forever. Last night's performance, at which Memphians paid $1,001 to get into the boxing stadium, was a rank fiasco. There was only one objection of those who paid their snailmalls—the snakes absolutely refused to fight.

Three pairs of bullsnakes and rattlesnakes, supposed to be born enemies, crawled around over each other there seemed to be a touching affection between them instead of a lethal hatred.

The space conference between the snakes lasted for more than two hours while the referee poked them with a stick, threw them on top of one another in effort to make them fight—but without the slightest result in a way of action.

HEFLIN RESENTS KEITH'S REMARK ON "APE" THEORY

Alabama Senator Takes Stand Against Science Fethering Cause Of Fundamentalism; Quotes Negro's Resolution

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—(INS)—Senator Thomas J. Heflin of Alabama today championed the cause of fundamentalism against science. In a letter, he challenged Sir Arthur Keith's statement to the British Association for the Advancement of Science that "the evidence of race evolution from an ape-like being is definite and irrefutable."

If that is the case, Heflin asked Keith "Why is it that nowhere on the face of the earth can you find a single instance where apes and their mankind have produced among their offspring a single being able to develop or evolve into a human being?"

ROAD FINISHED

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Sept. 3.—(INS)—Governor John W. Martin, Commissioner of Agriculture Nathan Mayo, State Marketing Commissioner L. M. Rhodes, and Harry Ayres, director of the Spanish Trail Association, will leave Monday for Live Oak to participate in the completion of the St. Augustine-Tallahassee highway.

NEGRO CAPTURED

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Sept. 3.—(INS)—Moses Watson, negro, sentenced for two years from Brewster county on charges of forgery and a year ago was captured here and is being held for Florida authorities.

WOMAN WANTS TO FLY

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—(INS)—Undaunted by the fact that two other women who braved the perils of trans-oceanic flying met with apparent disaster, a new overseas expedition by airplane was being planned today by Miss Frances Wilson Grayson, real estate broker of Forest Hills, Long Island, and Mrs. Apekar, wealthy sportswoman of Aiken, S. C.

STRANGE PLANE SIGHTED NEAR HARBOR GRACE

Considerable Speculation Is Aroused As Inquiry Shows That No Official Or Private Machine Was In That Vicinity

Plane Appeared To Be Going Southeast

Navy Department Issues Messages Asking All Ships To Be On Lookout For "St. Raphael"

ST. JOHN'S N. F., Sept. 3.—(INS)—A "mystery plane" sighted near Harbor Grace this morning, was the basis of considerable speculation later today as inquiries revealed that no official or private plane was known to be in that vicinity.

Residents of Carbonear, a short distance from Harbor Grace reported seeing the plane at 7:50 o'clock. The head constable of Carbonear confirmed the report, adding that the plane appeared to be heading southeast.

BOSTON, Sept. 3.—(INS)—All ships within a 1,000-mile radius of the New England Coast were asked by the navy department today to be on the lookout for the missing British airplane "St. Raphael."

Messages of instruction went out from the high-powered federal radio stations at Boston Navy Yard, Newport, R. I., torpedo station and the big naval radio plant at Bar Harbor, Maine.

"British air ministry calculation tends to believe that 'St. Raphael' was blown south of intended course with possible landing in ocean south or east of Maine coast," said the department in a letter to the Townsend Willis trial.

INQUIRY MADE IN CASE OF NEGRO, J. B. WILLIS' CHEF

Jury In Sensational Carolina Trial Of Late Sheriff's Widow Adjoins Over Weekend To Go To Baseball Game

GREENVILLE, S. C., Sept. 3.—(INS)—While the sensational trial of Mrs. Ethel D. Willis, 31-year-old widow, and Deputy Henry Townsend for the slaying of the former's husband, Sheriff Sam D. Willis, was held up over the weekend, Solicitor J. G. Leatherwood today launched a thorough investigation into the case of J. B. Willis' negro chef, who was arrested and charged with the Sheriff's murder since the Townsend Willis trial was started.

The jury in the case, which has been held together since the trial began here two weeks ago, was prepared to begin the daily League baseball game here this afternoon. However, special effort will be taken to prevent them from seeing newspapers announcing the new turn in the investigation.

WHITE INDIAN TO AID SCIENTISTS IN REDFERN SEARCH

Party Of Seven Is To Leave New York Monday For South America To Explore Orinoco Jungles For Missing Flier

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 3.—(INS)—A "White Indian" boy, to whom the jungles of South America are home, and five men will leave for New York Monday, after noon with Richard O. Marsh of Brockport, scientist and tropical explorer to complete arrangements for their search of the Orinoco jungles for Paul Redfern, missing Georgia flier.

Chapin, the 14-year-old "white Indian" who has been studying in this country, together with Merrill Riddick, Rochester, aviator and Elmer Ace, mechanic, are the latest additions to the Marsh searching party. Richard Redfern, uncle of the lost flier, may also join the Marsh expedition.

The party will be joined in New York by Dr. Charles Brewer of the American museum of natural history. A scouting plane will also be acquired before the expedition sails for Caracas, Venezuela.

The base for operations will be established 120 miles from the island of Trinidad and 200 miles from British Guiana, Marsh said, where radio equipment will be installed. Chapin, the Indian youth, is expected to prove invaluable in tracking the vast jungles south of the Orinoco river, where Redfern is believed to have come down.

In conjunction with the Marsh Expedition, extensive searches of the regions along the path are being made by the government of British Guiana, Venezuela, and Brazil, in hopes of picking up definite news of the daring aviator.

Reports from various points from ships and natives that the plane, "The Port Of Brunswick," was sighted last Saturday in the vicinity of Venezuela and later over the Orinoco river delta, while not confirmed, lend a ray of hope to friends and relatives.

Still clinging to these reports the promoters of the project at Brunswick expressed confidence today that Redfern will soon make his way to some settlement and to civilization. Many of the villages in those regions are without telephones and it may be days before graph communication and if he was found his whereabouts are known.

Emergency equipment carried by the young flier would enable him to live indefinitely, it was pointed out. "The Port Of Brunswick" was equipped with parachute emergency rations, rubber boat, ammunition. If forced to land in the water he could empty the large gas tank, rendering the plane buoyant. The young aviator's wife is visiting at the home of his father in Columbia, S. C., remains hopeful.

"OLD GLORY" AWAITS

GARDEN CITY, N. Y., Sept. 3.—(INS)—Unfavorable weather today again deferred the hop-off of the Fokker monoplane "Old Glory" on its projected flight to Rome. A heavy rain yesterday which drenched Roosevelt Field, coupled with the lack of an unfavorable wind, caused the flight to be deferred.

WINDS COMPEL COURTNEY TO LAND IN SPAIN

Radio Message Picked Up By British Ship Says Headwind Too Strong For Machine

Plane Hops Off From Plymouth

Flier Accompanied By Engineer-Radio Man And Rich Passenger

LONDON, Sept. 3.—(INS)—Capt. Frank T. Courtney, British aviator who hopped off from Plymouth at 6:26 o'clock this morning to fly to Azores, has landed at Coruna, Spain, said a radiogram received here this afternoon.

Information that Courtney was returning to the mainland was contained in a wireless message from the British steamship Duchess. The Duchess while 225 miles north of Cape Finisterre relayed the following radiogram from Courtney's hydroplane:

"Making for Coruna, too much headwind to reach Azores." (Signed) Redfern.

F. W. Downer in the radio operator upon the Courtney plane.

PLYMOUTH, England, Sept. 3.—(INS)—With a mysterious miller Canadian as a passenger, Captain Frank Courtney hopped off from here at 6:26 o'clock this morning in his Dornier-Napier biplane "Whale" in a new attempt to conquer the Atlantic ocean by air.

Besides the mysterious passenger, whose identity was not disclosed and who was reported to have paid $7,500 for the privilege of making the flight, Courtney was accompanied by J. R. Little, engineer, and F. W. Downer, navigator. It was reported that Courtney's mysterious passenger is E. R. Hooper, of the Bank of Montreal, Canada.

The amphibian plane, heavily loaded with 750 gallons of gasoline, made a perfect take-off in less than two minutes after the motors of the giant land and water plane had begun to roar, the three intrepid aviators and their wealthy passenger were out of sight.

Before starting, Courtney was somewhat undecided as to his exact route. He anticipated, however, that after passing Ireland he possibly stopping at the Azores preceding to St. John's Newfoundland for another stop before starting the final lap to New York.

THE CHATEAU GARDEN: By Alfred Treasider Sheppard. In The Spectator. I lie in my bed at ease, And the black tops of the trees And the black boughs of the trees Sway in the grey night's breeze.

At touch of pale and even-tide The gardens colors have died, The roses and cloves have died, Slipped by a wind that sighed.

Whin lovers, long-ago dead, Brought rosemary to my bed, And pale evening to my bed Brought cypresses instead.

O "Ghosts" long out of mind, What whispered you to the wind? What secrets stored in the wind— Was those unborn to find?

Why don't they call it the Whin Club? Pretty town; ugly politics—headline. That's often the way it goes.

The trouble about this ocean flying is that when you want to land you have to see instead.

"Time Flies," says an editorial caption in the Miami News. Seems about the only thing that does.

"Palm Beach is progressive," says the Independent. Better be careful. That's what got us in trouble.

If we were a stunt flier and wanted to make a trans-ocean hop, we'd stick to stunt flying or else take a boat.

Flying around the world sounds easy, but when you have to get your passport signed, it is hard to break any records.

According to one eye-opener, the purpose of the Executive Committee is to see that the City Commissioners co-operate.

It is reported from Detroit that Henry Ford intends to put the apologetic industry on a quantity production basis.—Ney York Sun.

Senator Couzens of Michigan says senators are overpaid. Then why not fire them and hire men who can earn what they get.

Just as soon as these aviators go back to stunt flying, we will be flooded with news of something new.

A ninety-nine year old man and a hundred and one year old woman are planning a flight together. That's the spirit get as close to Heaven as you can before you take off.

The Albs, at Palm Beach, one of Florida's most beautiful and extravagant hotels, was sold the other day for two thousand dollars, plus liabilities. There's always some drawback.

Our heart goes out in sympathy to that poor misguided old fellow who returned the other day to the editor of The Herald as a "foreigner" being born in Palm Beach, Florida, Miami, and living four years in Sanford still leaves a man who's a whole lot more than being naturalized.

Intelligent Snakes

Our heartiest felicitations are extended to those Memphis snakes—not parlor, but bull and rattle—which, thrown into a ring surrounded by a thousand, yelling, degenerate morons, and goaded by the referees with sticks into the center of the ring and sicked on to each other, refused to fight.

These snakes—the bullsnake and the rattlesnake—had been lauded as the greatest fighters in snakedom by a regular "Barnum barker" who propounded to the crowd the deadly fighting qualities of these reptiles which he insisted were the bitterest enemies of the jungles. The blood-thirsty crowd were expecting more action than Nero and his followers at a Christian massacre in Rome's balmy days.

But the lion and the lamb lay down together. When the snakes were turned into the ring, they simply wouldn't fight. They crawled over to each other and lay down like born pacifists side by side. They crawled over each other and around and actually seemed to be inspired with a marked degree of affection.

The referee poked and prodded, threw them on top of one another, and in fact, made all the best known gestures which might have been contemplated to incite action, but the peace conference was binding, the treaty had been signed and there was no breaking it. This was no scrap of paper. This was an armistice bristling with bayonets. This was a couple of snakes who could see no, immediate profit for themselves in any war.

Perhaps those snakes had heard about the battle of Missouri last week between the Bull and Rattler. In this display of artillery which lasted for over an hour, the Bull won the field by choking the Rattler to death, but a day or two later died himself from the poisonous bites sustained.

Or perhaps they realized that the morbid howling mob was a common enemy whom they were not bound to entertain, whom they had better unite against for their own defense. At any rate the snakes showed far more intelligence by not fighting than those idiots who paid a dollar and ten cents a ticket to see them fight, and got hooked.

The Whole Hog

It is curious to note how the operating of one's life on the whole hog or noné theory appears in some children at an early age and sticks with them through maturity unless they happen to be intelligent enough to realize how much they miss by the indulgence of this philosophy, and make a flight to stamp it out. We happen to know a whole family, all the members of which are afflicted with this unfortunate outlook, and they have been "whole-hogging" it along for years quite blind to all the delightful things they are willfully missing.

The youngster of this family was with a gang of boys who were collecting to "play out" for a precious hour, just after dark and just before bedtime. He hung back and finally issued this ultimatum, "If you don't play in my yard tonight, I'm not going to play at all."

"Well, don't then, who cares?" shouted the gang carelessly as they dashed off joyously to the corner to play under the light, while the boy who wouldn't play walked back gloomily to his own empty lawn.

The mother of this boy planned a party for her daughter who had just come home from a boarding school. When the daughter saw that the prospective guest list included a few of her mother's friends, she said potently, "If we have to have all these old frumps, I'd rather not have a party." The mother insisted on the "old frumps" and they didn't have the party.

Recently, we saw the older son, who is married and in business. He and his wife are eager to go to Europe and while they cannot afford to go first class, they could go in a more inexpensive fashion. The characteristic family arrogance was obvious in his remark, "If I can't go on the Mauritania, stop at the Savoy in London, and all that sort of thing, then I'm not going at all."

"But," said his wife looking at the reasonable rate student tour pamphlet hungry-eyed and ardent. "We could see Westminster Abbey, and Oxford, and the Lake District, whether we went over first class on the Cunard line or not. And beside, we haven't enough money to go de luxe, so if we don't go a cheaper way, we can't go at all."

"Then we won't go at all," he answered. It seems to us if the whole hog is unobtainable, that a nice juicy ham should not be scorned, and that even a lean spare rib is better than nothing at all.

WE ARE NOT a puritan and not a "reformer." We have no religion and have never been any more moral than our health and finances demanded. We have warred on vice from a strictly economic standpoint. Vice is a bad thing for the people, any way you look at it. A man can't gamble and a man can't get drunk without hurting himself and in our complex civilization he can't hurt himself without hurting other people. And when he hurts other people he hurts the state. It is our opinion that the world grows slowly better and better as the years go on. Every once in a while it has a slump—it retrogresses. We believe it is in a slump now. But the slump won't last long; the world will move forward again; and we want to push while we are here.—Palm Beach Independent.

THAT "KEY CLUB" PALM BEACH INDEPENDENT

In Tampa, there was until recently an organization which was called the "Key Club," the purpose of which was to furnish liquor to its members. There is evidence that many prominent men in Tampa, including the mayor, belonged to it. In fact, the mayor never denied it. This club broke the laws of three governments—the city of Tampa, the state of Florida and the United States. It is certain the Tampa dailies knew of this club. Did they expose it? Nay, nay, some of their men drank booze there, and they are making every effort to discredit the municipal judge, who had it broken up. The municipal judge was doing his sworn duty. He was trying to enforce the law. He has the backing of the law-abiding element of Tampa, and of the state. The mayor of Tampa is trying to have him removed.

We are not casting the first or even the thousandth stone at Tampa, for she only did open and above board what other towns did and are doing under cover. The motto of many Florida cities, if truthfully written, would read "Attract tourists; gather in money; even if we have to open the doors to hell for our own children." There are gambling dens in almost every town in Florida and

THERE ARE WEAK and ugly spots among the sixteen hundred millions of immortal souls that inhabit this earth. How long the average is, is hard to say. Near Canton, in China, the well known bandit, Chief Leong She, invited other bandit leaders to a dinner for the discussion of important business.

To show that he was a business bandit, Chief Leong She had the table decorated with the heads of kidnaped captives whose families had refused to pay ransom. It isn't so much cutting off the head that impresses you as the fact that a Chinese, in power after 5000 years of Chinese civilization, should with his friends, really enjoy his dinner with those sightless eyes staring at him.

THE "FATAL CAR OF Sarajevo," in which Archduke Francis of Austria and his wife were murdered, thus starting the war, has been offered for sale for the twenty-fifth time. Nobody will buy it. Four owners have been killed in the car since the original international killing. Several others have been killed by the car.

It is now called the "property of the devil." The chauffeurs say it has "an evil eye." However, they don't say which eye.

THE SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION will have a weather station in Southwest Africa. There, high up in the air, in the dry, clear atmosphere, science will study the sun, calculate solar radiation, and, if hopes are realized, predict weather as much as a week or a month, and even one year, in advance.

It has taken men a long while to find out that what they have and what happens to them depends largely on the big start that lights their short lives.

GERMANY'S "LUFTHANSA," THE game of the great air traffic company which is practically a monopoly, plans a regular airplane service from Berlin to Peking, each plane to carry 20 passengers. Europeans really produce and use flying machines. But they cannot beat this country when it comes to talking about flying machines.

IN CANADA THE Canadian government will run a peat bog or one year to show that peat can be used economically. Perhaps somebody in the Dakotas will find a way to use the "lignite" coal, which is far better than peat, stored away in the Dakotas and elsewhere, hundreds of millions of tons of it. "Time is of the essence," as lawyers say. A Frenchman is going to harness the hot water of the tropical ocean.

Americans are already harnessing the British are planning to harness, the power of the tides. Soon somebody will harness the sun, and then the power problem will be settled for the next hundred million years, anyhow.

GREAT BRITAIN INTENDS to protect ignorant investors against get-rich quick stock salesmen and other schemers. Peddling stocks from door to door is to be stopped, selling stocks through the mail restricted and watched. The oil, real estate, and mining schemes that rob investors in this country would not be possible in Great Britain.

A STOCK BROKER whose wife wanted $60,000 a year alimony while waiting for a divorce, complained that the lady bought 28 pairs of shoes in three days, averaging more than $15 a pair. He made over $50,000 in stocks one year and $500,000 the next. His wife, aged 43, paid $250 for a handbag. All this shows that we are living in prosperous times.

A PROMINENT CITIZEN of New York wants the citizens and he city combined to wipe out the slums by tearing down, dark, cold, unless tenements. He would raise a fund of $500,000,000, half to be contributed by 500 rich men and half by the city. The idea is good and the fact that an old man with millions and every possible comfort for himself should concentrate in bettering conditions for the poor is encouraging, although the city will not spend the money as suggested.

The way to wipe out slums is to complete with them and give better dwellings for tents lower than those in the filthy tenements.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company set the example, and Mr. Stabler, financial manager of that company has shown that it is possible to provide comfortable rooms for $9 a month each while making your money earn eight percent interest. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is also building houses admirably planned, with all conveniences on a magnificent scale, for low rents. If that idea spreads the slums will disappear as the old fashioned cabs disappeared when the taxis came in.

Else it could not exist. Mr. Bradley doesn't want people who are unable to lose money to play. He prevents it as far as possible. We have been told that he gave back part or all of their losses to foolish people who tried to buck his tables on inadequate bank rolls. People in Bradley's must behave like ladies and gentlemen while in there.

Mr. Bradley, we are told, has an informal treaty with Palm Beach alone and he doesn't allow Palm Beach county people in his place. So far as we know, he has kept his side of the treaty intact.

Cowboys In Movies Stampede Cattle In Picture At Milane

Over 50,000 head of cattle in a wild stampede is one of the thrilling action sequences in "The Land Beyond the Law," starring Ken Maynard at the Milane Theatre today. When Charles R. Rogers, producer of the Maynard pictures for First National, wanted to make sure of getting a real Western ranch for "The Land Beyond the Law," he arranged with Miller and Lux, among the best known ranches of California, for the use of their acreage and cattle.

Getting a stampede into a picture was a problem. While cattle are easily stampeded, it is not such an easy thing to do intentionally. Ken Maynard, Tom Santschi, Gibson Gowland and Noah Young, who appear in principal roles of "The Land Beyond the Law," were all ranchers prior to entering motion pictures. Since the most of the cowboys who were extras, and legitimate claims to the title "cowboy," the company simply forgot about being extras and joined in taking care of the cattle for the stampede.

One can picture, if it is difficult to make cattle stampede, how much more difficult it is to round them up. When the cattle finally quiet down they separate into little groups, spread over thousands of acres. The round-up was work for many days, during which a great many unplanned thrills for the picture were caught by the camera. This was due to the vigilance of Sol Pulito, the cameraman, and H. J. Brown, the director.

Message To Members Of Garden Club Made Public By Mrs. Wight

A statement containing suggestions on planting was issued today by Mrs. Henry Wight, president of the Sanford Garden Club to members of the organization. Mrs. Wight's message is as follows:

"This is in many ways an unusual season, and because of its unusualness, and comparative coolness, many delicate seeds may probably be planted successfully at least two weeks earlier than is usually recommended for the average gardener."

"Very often the seeds that are planted in August and September are a total loss, because of weather conditions, and lack of special care, so October is being accepted as the beginning of the garden year and it was with this in mind that at the last meeting of the club, the first meeting of October was selected as the date for the sale of seeds."

The committee in charge, consisting of C. R. Mason, E. B. Stowe, and Ernest Londonberg, have some earnest work and all the varieties requested by club members are included in the order which has just been sent to Bureau. A special price has been obtained, and by buying in quantity and redistributing, any amount may be had, at a decided advantage. There will be a sale of these seeds on the 15th September, lasting all day, and the place will be announced at a later date.

"It is not a bit too early to prepare flats and seed beds, as fertilizers should be thoroughly incorporated before the seeds are planted. Local growers advise that narcissus, callas, gladioli and Easter Lilies may all be planted within the next fortnight, as may freesias and Watsonias. All of these bulbs will be on sale along with the flower seeds."

"The generous offer of the Stokes Seed Company to give free vegetable seeds to garden club members is still open to those who did not avail themselves of it last spring."

RUSSIAN WOMEN PAY DEARLY FOR PARIS COSMETICS

Perfume Costs $100 Per Bottle While Lipstick Retails At $10 Each; Face Powder Is Bringing $25 For Small Box

MOSCOW, Sept. 3.—(INS)—Eau de Cologne at $100 a bottle retail, $50 for five ounces of ordinary perfume, lipstick at $10 each, and $25 for a box of face powder—like precious relics buried for centuries in the tomb of an Egyptian princess, but it's simply the price which a Russian beauty has to pay if she prefers to powder and paint a la Parisienne.

That doesn't mean that perfume and lipstick are unknown in Moscow. On the contrary, beauty aids of Russian manufacture are sold everywhere, and it might be added liberally and effectively used, though Communists frown upon personal adornment as "bourgeois" only factories manufacturing necessities of life.

Every once in a while some enterprising foreign manufacturer attempts to develop the Russian market. Two perfume salesmen from Milan blew into Moscow recently with a beautifully arranged, tan tray, simple trunk containing all the luxurious toilet preparations which grace the dressing tables of modern American women, and for which many Russian women still long.

The customs official selected first a half-liter bottle of Eau de Cologne and weighed it—185 rubles ($87.50) import duty. The salesmen gasped and sputtered in Italian, French and Russian. They explained that the bottle usually retailed for around $2. That didn't mean anything to the customs officials, who next took a small bottle of perfume—duty according to weight 85 rubles. Before he was half-way through the first tray the Italian abandoned hope, packed up their samples and sent them back home.

The Soviet government stands firm against the importation of luxuries and the consequent expenditure of money outside the country. Nevertheless, French perfumes and powders actually are on sale in the shops, but the Russian women gaze longingly at the famous products they love so well, and then content themselves with the home manufactured.

Interesting Cave Is Found By Explorer In DeFuniak Spring

DEFUNIACK SPRINGS, FLA., Sept. 3.—(INS)—Discovery of a cave with numerous stalactites, stalagmites about 10 miles west of Florida, in the hills just within the Florida county line, has been reported by Judd Silliman, of Valparaiso, who declared that he had explored it for a distance of three miles and that indications were that the cavern extended many miles further.

Silliman says that he had explored the cave in the Sanford Park, explored the famous Mammoth Cave and played the staccato organ of Loury.

Heretofore people of the neighborhood have regarded the opening of the cave as a mere "hole in the ground," a place where foxes and rabbits disappeared when chased. No one had previously made any effort to explore the hole until Silliman went down and reported his wonderful find.

If the cavern is as picturesque as West Florida, local business men Mr. Silliman says, it will prove a great attraction to tourists visit-declare.

BOY WAS SICK

Texas Tells How He Got Acquainted With the Good Work of Black-Draught as a Laxative.

Glennora, Texas.—"I had a sick spell when just fifteen years old," says Mr. George W. Maness, R.F.D. 2, this place. "Anyone who has had chills, like I had, is apt to remember them. I was a sick boy—just lay around the home, weak. My skin was yellow and I could hardly stand up. I had hard chills.

"My father gave me quinine. Someone told him to give me Black-Draught with it. He brought some home and they fixed it up like a tea. It wasn't very good, but I was so sick I would take anything.

"After a few days, I began to feel better. I was hungry and could eat. I kept on taking the tea for awhile, and I got well. I haven't had chills since then, but I have taken a lot of Black-Draught since that time. It is a family medicine with me."

Where assistance is needed in the way of a laxative or cathartic, Theodor's Black-Draught should be taken, as often as necessary, to open the bowels and put them in a healthy and normal state of activity. Try it; it does.
