

Rescuers Work To Save Tourists

CHAMONIX, France (UPI) — Rescuers toiling by moonlight and searchlight high in the Alps early today saved the last of 31 tourists held trapped in dangling cable cars when a low flying jet snapped a low cable.

Six persons—four Germans and two Italians—were killed when three cars fell 800 feet to an alpine snowfield after the French plane clipped the cable.

Officials said all 31 survivors were in good condition, although several were suffering from fatigue and shock as a result of their terrifying wait in the cold air. The last to be rescued had been trapped nearly 19 hours.

The tourists were stranded in an aerial cable railway about 11,000 feet above sea level in the Mont Blanc range Tuesday afternoon when the cable was slashed by a jet fighter. The lift stopped dead.

The last group was hauled to safety shortly after 8 a. m., nearly 19 hours after the accident occurred. The group included 11 women and one child.

Officials said two American women had been rescued earlier and were taken to Hellbronner and the end of the cable line suffering from shock. Their identities were not immediately known.

French air force Alouette helicopters were ferrying the rescued persons from the mountain sides to Chamonix, in eastern France, and Courmayeur, on the Italian side of the Alps.

The plane that clipped the cable during a training mission flew back to a base near Luxeuil where a judge ordered it seized and held pending an investigation of the accident.

Two American students came through the ordeal unharmed. They were Hugh Putnam, 20, a Harvard student from Milton, Mass., and Katherine Blodgett, a Radcliff College student from Grand Rapids, Mich.

"We spent 15 hours dangling in the cable car and we were a little cold and a little frightened but we really did not know what was happening," Miss Blodgett said. "There was a lot of jerking back and forth and that scared me."

SANFORD JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL was the location of this crowd scene as more than 1,100 seventh, eighth and ninth grade students gathered in the auditorium Tuesday morning to meet their teachers, receive their assignments and visit their classrooms in the pre-school registration and orientation. There are 41 members of the faculty with Principal Hugh Carlton and assistant principal Ted Barker. These students seem to be pretty happy about going back to school. Doors will open for the first session on Sept. 5. (Herald Photo)

Neutrals Gather For Conference; May Debate Berlin

BELGRADE (UPI) — Representatives of the uncommitted nations gathering here for a conference that opens Friday have recommended that the conferees debate the explosive Berlin conflict, diplomatic sources said today.

The recommendation stipulated that the conference should tackle the problem cautiously and steer clear of any involvement in the East-West conflict by taking sides.

Agreement in principle on a Berlin debate was reached in preparatory discussions which have been mapping the course of the conference.

The meeting was called to align uncommitted nations and give them a greater say in world affairs.

A final decision on how to tackle the Berlin problem is awaiting the arrival of chief delegates to the conference, which will be attended by 24 kings, presidents or premiers of uncommitted nations.

They include Indian Premier Jawaharlal Nehru, said to be among the chief advocates of making Berlin one of the major topics of the meeting.

First indications were that the conference would merely call on East and West to settle the Berlin problem peacefully to avert a nuclear war.

Adenauer Gussed Wrong On Berlin

BERLIN (UPI)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer gussed wrong on the Berlin crisis and the mistake may hurt his chances for victory in the Sept. 17 voting, diplomatic observers said today.

Adenauer's Christian Democrats hope to hold their absolute majority in the federal parliament, and the chances of doing that appear to be growing dimmer with each day of the Berlin crisis.

The Christian Democrats expect to be the largest party in parliament, as they have been since 1949, but observers feel they will have less than the majority necessary to form a government on their own.

Adenauer's supporters blame this situation primarily on what they regard as the chancellor's faulty reaction to the Communist sealing of the East-West Berlin border the morning of Aug. 13, and his bitter, personal attacks on West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt since then.

Two speeches Tuesday in which the chancellor contended that the Russians provoked the present Berlin crisis to help Brandt in next months' elections, were expected to exasperate the voters further.

Adenauer stubbornly refused to come to Berlin to reassure the population after the Communist made their big move. Only on Aug. 15 did he call a cabinet meeting to discuss the Berlin crisis. He preached calmness, saying there was no reason for panic.

Above all, Adenauer let Brandt become the hero of the hour by writing President Kennedy to suggest the immediate dispatch of additional American troops to West Berlin, an action that was ordered a few hours later.

Brandt leads the Socialist party, West Germany's principal opposition group.

Adenauer finally came to Berlin two days after U. S. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson had been here. Even then, the chancellor remained for only eight hours.

No Price Hike Seen For Steel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg, a veteran observer of the steel industry, believes it will refrain from a much rumored general price increase this autumn.

Goldberg's hunch, which became known today, is shared with great hesitation — by some other advisers of President Kennedy.

Yet, there is still a nagging fear within the administration that steel may mark up its prices and thereby give an inflationary push to prices of many other goods.

Kennedy has considered the wisdom of a presidential statement about the importance of holding the price line, in steel and elsewhere. Goldberg believes such a pronouncement would have great impact.

The administration finds itself in a somewhat ticklish situation with respect to steel prices. As Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges put it Tuesday, the government cannot legally keep the steel companies from raising their prices.

Yet some officials feel impelled to do what they can to head off a possible increase. With steel workers wages due to go up about eight cents an hour Oct. 1, to an average of $3.20, industry leaders have said they need a price rise to keep profits from shrinking to an unhealthy level.

Reuther Returns To Bargaining Table

DETROIT (UPI)—United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther returned to the bargaining table at General Motors today under a truce inspired by the federal government that will delay any strike in the auto industry until at least Sept. 6.

Reuther personally resumed command of negotiations at GM after his union Tuesday night singled out the giant of the industry, with 310,000 UAW employees, as its strike target but at the same time agreed to delay any walkout until Sept. 6.

GM—and Ford and Chrysler—also agreed Tuesday night to go along with a request by the Federal Mediation Service to extend current contracts beyond the scheduled Thursday midnight expiration and continue negotiations "without interruption."

Federal mediation chief William E. Simkin sent telegrams to the Big Three companies and the union late Tuesday urging the contract extension, just before the union met to choose a strike target.

The UAW executive board went ahead with pinpointing GM for a strike, but also voted to accede to the Simkin request.

The Federal Mediation Service's intervention in the contract talks was viewed as possibly the first open indication of concern by the Kennedy administration that the industry might be tied up by a strike right at the start of a new model year. But Simkin denied he was acting at the request of President Kennedy or Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg.

The union, still flushed with enthusiasm for its precedent shattering profit-sharing agreement with American Motors, was trying obviously to use the American Motors settlement to pressure a new offer from the Big Three.

But Big Three negotiators insisted they planned no new offer and that their present offer was superior to that of American Motors.

The Big Three offer includes a pay raise of 21 cents an hour over the span of a three year contract, plus improved fringe benefits.

COUPON CLIPPING
NEW YORK (UPI) — Grocery manufacturers in the United States annually distribute an estimated 10 billion coupons worth nearly a billion dollars in "extra grocery dollars" for the products specified, say the Grocery Manufacturers of America.

Red Soldier Duty Extended
MOSCOW (UPI) — All Russian servicemen scheduled to be discharged this year will have their tours of duty extended until "the conclusion of a peace treaty with Germany," it was announced Tuesday night.

It was not clear whether this referred to the separate peace treaty which Russia has threatened to conclude with Communist East Germany or the general peace treaty, to be signed by the Western powers as well as the Russians, which the Kremlin has repeatedly demanded.

Tass said the delay in the planned demobilization would affect the "necessary number of soldiers, sailors, sergeants, sergeant-majors and petty officers whose term of service expires in 1961."

The news agency said Western estimates towards war forced the move.

A group of people who have a hard time keeping up with the Joneses are the bill collectors.

Atlanta Officials Hope For Orderly Mixing

GRAMMAR SCHOOL has six new teachers this year. Shown here are Mrs. Kay Buckner, fifth grade; Mrs. Marguerite Ginter, fourth grade; Mrs. Merle Haddaway, third grade and Paul Daren, fifth grade. Not in the picture are Mrs. Sue Torres, first grade teacher and Mrs. Frances Rivero, also a first grade teacher at Westside. (Herald Photo)

ATLANTA (UPI) — Nine young Negroes will attend public high schools here today and officials were determined to make the historic transition from segregation to integration a model of order and good will.

Supt. John W. Lawson said the Negroes, six girls and three boys between the ages of 15 and 17, were to arrive shortly after white pupils are in their seats.

That is the only variation from the normal routine. The Negroes will arrive in the cars of relatives or friends and enter through main doors. They will go directly to home rooms which they have been shown in "dry run" briefing sessions.

The Negro pupils were carefully picked under a court-supervised pupil placement screening process from 133 who originally applied for transfer from Negro to white schools.

They are Willie Jean Black, 13; Donita Gaines, 16; Martha Ann Holmes, 17; Lawrence Jefferson, 17; Mary James McStullen, 16; Madelyn Nix, 15; Arthur C. Simon, 16; Rosalyn Walton, 16, and Thomas E. Welch, 16.

A tenth Negro, Demaris Allen, 16, was accepted but decided this week to accept a college scholarship that allowed her to skip the 12th grade because of her exceptional scholastic record.

The nine youngsters are among 40,000 Negroes and 80,000 white attending Atlanta schools this fall. They were admitted to the 11th and 12th grades of four large high schools—three to Northside in the high income bracket north-west side of town; 520 to Murphy in a middle to low income area near a large Negro settlement; two to Brown in a similar situation, and two to Grady which is surrounded by middle class apartments and small businesses.

General Judge Frank A. Hooper who handed down the Atlanta school desegregation order was scheduled to hear today a city petition to make permanent a temporary injunction forbidding the transfer of a white girl from Northside High to another public school because of her objection to attending school with Negroes.

The girl, Sandra Melkild, 17, through her parents appealed to the State Board of Education when the city refused to permit her transfer. The state board reversed the city action, and the city asked Hooper to keep the state out of it.

Atlanta was outwardly calm for the final collapse of custom as old as the public school system itself.

The police department was organized like a highly-trained army to deal swiftly with the slightest infraction of an 1880 law that makes it illegal to "willfully interrupt or disturb any public school."

Mayor William B. Hartsfield predicted that this "gate city" of the South, which has rebuilt itself into a bustling metropolis from the ashes of the Civil War, would accept integration with dignity and in peace.

Atlanta is a city too busy to hate anybody, said Hartsfield, who retires this year after more than two decades in office.

"If all goes right, it will be a dividend for the entire United States," he predicted.

During the summer, scores of organizations held hundreds of meetings, briefings and seminars to prepare for the new system. Students—Negro and white—teachers, principals and school administrators have done the same.

The atmosphere has reached the point that if anyone goes to school and causes any trouble it will be considered sacrilegious," Police Chief Herbert Jenkins told reporters.

Numerous minor incidents were reported prior to school opening. They included distribution of "hate literature" to pupils and parents, efforts to organize buycotts of the integrated schools, picketing near the schools and harassment calls to the homes of the Negroes.

Furniture is the one commodity of daily living which shows the least price step-up since 1910.

Assemblyman Hit By Beer Can

NEW YORK (UPI) — A car hurled by an unseen assailant cut open the head of a campaigning state assemblyman riding in a car with Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt Tuesday night in upper Manhattan.

Mrs. Roosevelt was not injured, but four stitches were required to close a wound in the head of Assemblyman Mark Lane, 33.

Sniper Kills

Nine-Year-Old

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — A gunman in a car shot and killed a radio newsman's 9-year-old daughter on her front porch Tuesday night with no apparent motive.

A car carrying the slaying suspect overturned and burned moments later near the home. Police said Richard Lee Lawler, 26, alone in the car and injured in the wreck, "refused to talk about the shooting."

Police said they had no motive and it appeared that none of the neighbors or the family knew the man.

The victim was Beverly Peterson, daughter of Arnold Peterson, farm director of radio and TV stations WOW. She died at a hospital shortly after the shooting.

The little girl was sitting on the porch railing between her sisters, Connie, 16, and Charolette, 14, when the car stopped, the killer fired a single shotgun blast, and fled.

WELCOME BACK to Jeanne and Gerald Warnke and daughters, Geri Ann and Melinda. It was like old times seeing Jeanne behind a typewriter at the Herald office this week. However, it is a case of pinching for county editor, Julia Wells, who is on her vacation. Jeanne is still busy getting resettled at her Mellonville Ave. home and has no "career" plans at the moment.

The Warnkes left Sanford several months ago and have been living in Jacksonville, but a business consolidation brought Jerry back to the Sanford area.

"When we left here, people kept saying we'd be back. But they hardly expected to see us back in six months, I know!" laughed Jeanne.

YOU CAN MAKE a lot of friends in 16 and a half years if you are Mrs. Mabel Brown, who is retiring from the Seminole County Health Department today, after her many years of service as a public health nurse.

"I just don't know what in the world we are going to do without her," sigh the other employees of the health department as they contemplate the loss of their trusted go-worker and dear friend.

Mrs. Brown's warm and friendly personality and her cheerful outlook on life make her a joy to work and be with, her friends say and are high in their praise of her devotion to duty and her ever-loving spirit.

"She epitomizes the highest ideal of the profession of nursing," they say, "and is an inspiration to all who know her."

Mrs. Brown herself says, "I never wanted to be anything but a nurse. When I was a little girl, I thought that to be a nurse would be the most wonderful thing in the world, so when I was old enough, I went right away to begin my chosen work."

"It has been a wonderful 35 years, filled with many rich experiences and many good memories. I wouldn't trade with anybody else for anything in the world."

Personals

Friends of Mrs. R. E. Tolar will regret to learn that she is confined to Seminole Memorial Hospital. She is recuperating from a broken hip and is able to have visitors.

Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. McCall, on Mellonville Ave. were their son, H. B. McCall 3rd, his wife and two children, Howell and Pam of Belle Glade. They were enroute home from a North Carolina vacation and visit with relatives.

Denise Tyre has returned to her home in Gainesville, after a visit with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Tyre.

Mrs. R. W. Stewart and three children, Bob, Monnie and Martha, spent the past weekend with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stewart, at their home 714 Oak Ave.

Bill Tyre, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Tyre, left this week for early football practice at FSU. This will be his senior year and he plays tackle on the football team. The first game is scheduled for Sept. 16 with George Washington University at FSU.

Mrs. Larry Burney and daughter, Christie, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Williams and Larry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Burney. Larry will arrive this weekend for a short visit and accompany his wife and daughter to their home in Marietta.

Recent houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Trim, were Mrs. Trim's mother Mrs. J. A. Hill and her sister, Mrs. Ruth Robinson, of Greensville, S. C. Mrs. Trim and son, Alan, accompanied them home for a visit.

Mrs. Brown came to Sanford when the health department was over on the corner of Railroad and Commercial Avenues, and at that time there was just Mrs. Hulda Kibbee and Mrs. Brown.

She began work there on Jan. 1, 1945, coming from the Bibb County Health Dept. in Macon, Ga., where she had worked for 19 years previously.

She took her nurse's training at what is now the Middle Georgia Hospital many years ago and has since been working from her work.

Mrs. Brown is a widow and has one son, David, who lives in Dublin, Georgia, with her five "lovely grandchildren."

After she just rests awhile and visits with friends and family she plans to make her home in Dublin, taking an apartment, "not too far" from the beloved grandchildren and children.

FACT-FINDING studies show that a great deal of the basis for the current and ever-present unemployment in the nation, is due to lack of skills, training or education of the part of many job-seekers.

Many people are willing and able to work hard, but are unable to offer an employer much in the way of skilled work, without further training.

Right here in Sanford, men and women have a wonderful opportunity for free training and instruction in business skills, all taught by thorough-going teachers, who know their work well.

There are day and night classes in typing, shorthand, business English, bookkeeping, office procedure, commercial law, consumer economics, filing, office machines and others at the vocational school.

Training along these lines can be of immense benefit to persons seeking a job, or wishing for a better and a higher salary.

The vocational school is opening new classrooms at the site of the old Junior high school on the corner of 9th and Palmetto, all air-conditioned and well-lighted and equipped.

Also, at Seminole High and at Crooms Academy, there are complete courses in adult education, to enable those who dropped out of school to complete their education or improve themselves in any subject.

All schools start on Sept. 3 and students may enroll then, or contact E. S. Douglass, at the school administration building.

Members of the Women's Society of Christian Services of the First Methodist Church are making plans for their annual fall bazaar.

The first meeting of the planning committee met Tuesday morning at the church. The date has been set for Nov. 17 at McKinley Hall.

Mrs. R. T. Warren will be general chairman of the bazaar and Mrs. Roy Tillis will be in charge of the supper, which will be served following the sale.

Those attending the first planning session in addition to the above chairmen were Mrs. L. D. Hastings, WSCS president, and all Circle chairmen.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a Navy guy. He has been stationed in California, and will be for some time. He wants me to make a trip there to visit him. I haven't seen him in over two years. He is willing to pay for my fare both ways, but my father won't permit it. Isn't it proper for a fiancée to pay for his girl's transportation? I am 19 and he is 21.

"CALIFORNIA OR BUST" DEAR CALIFORNIA: Your "Navy guy" has had enough leave in two years to have visited you. And if he can pay your way to see him, he can pay his way to see you. I'm with your father. Bust!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are at odds about my attitude toward the telephone. I say our telephone is for OUR convenience, not the convenience of others and therefore, I will answer it WHEN and IF I feel like it. He says I should answer it every time it rings because it might be an emergency. I say it is their emergency they will call again.

I have been up to my neck in housework when a friend has phoned to "chat." I have even gotten out of the tub, rushed to answer the phone, bumped my shin and cracked my toe, only to find that it was a wrong number. Or some dance studio is calling to inform me that I have just "won" a free lesson. I have trained my husband to call at 12:15. I will answer the phone at that time no matter what I am doing. I'd like your opinion, and the opinion of others on this subject.

MIND OF MY OWN

DEAR MIND: Although the telephone is unquestionably the number one time-saving miracle of the age, it can also be an annoying intrusion. If you are one of the few who can hear the bell toll, and care not a whit by whom it is tolled, then let it ring. It's your privilege.

DEAR ABBY: I have heard that a red-headed woman is much harder to get along with than a blonde. Is this true?

SHOPPING AROUND

DEAR SHOPPING: No! I know a woman who has been both, and the color of her hair didn't affect her disposition in the slightest.

We The Women: By Ruth Millet

It was no snap for the average young person to get a job this summer.

For most, it took a lot of looking. Even when a job was found, it often wasn't an easy job at good pay, the kind young people have been used to finding without too much trouble.

But most of the young people who really wanted to work, didn't give up when they found jobs were hard to come by. Most who were willing to take anything found some kind of work to do.

The resourceful ones who couldn't get anyone to hire them got busy hiring themselves out for such neighborhood jobs as lawn mowing, window washing, baby sitting and so on.

Maybe this summer's experience has been better for the young people than the experience of past summers, when jobs have been easy to get.

There's real pride for any young person in landing a job when jobs are scarce. When a job isn't easy to get, there's not so much temptation for a young person to loaf, "goof off," or figure, "Oh well, if I get fired I'll just get another job."

Also when jobs become scarce young people tend to think of the future and begin to see the importance of education and job training.

Nothing their parents and teachers can tell them about the value of education makes the impression that finding unskilled jobs "anyone can do" less than plentiful.

So while it is good for young people to have summer jobs — it isn't too bad for them to have to compete to get them and work hard to hold them.

Anything else gives them a false idea of their equipment for earning a living.

Write for "How to Have a Happy Husband." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millet Reader Service, c/o The Sanford Herald, P. O. Box 480, Dept. 3, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

Jacoby On Bridge

By Oswald Jacoby

One of the things that make the game of contract bridge so baffling to the student is that the teachers give him any number of nice rules to follow and then throw exception after exception at him.

The student won't be so confused if he can learn that most exceptions are made for common sense reasons.

Two of these rules are: "Third hand high" and "Cover an honor with an honor."

Now take a look at the North and East hands only. Your partner opens the eight of spades and the queen is played from dummy. If you follow rules blindly you will put on the king, South will win the trick with the ace, cash the jack and 10 at his convenience and eventually make a fourth spade trick with dummy's nine spot.

Bridge hand diagram showing North, West, East, and South (D) cards.

Suppose you use some common sense and figure out what your partner's lead shows. It can't be fourth best. He would open jack from ace, jack, 10, eight. It might be the top of nothing, so declarer is marked with all the high spades. Hence, you play low and hold declarer to three spade tricks.

It doesn't make much difference this time. Declarer has nine tricks in any event, but if you get in the habit of saving tricks you will win at bridge.

Highlights

TV Key Previews

Wednesday's top television shows as previewed and selected by TV Key's staff of experts who attend rehearsals, watch screenings, and analyze scripts in New York and Hollywood:

Ozzie and Harriet — "Kelley's Important Papers." (Repeat) A simple little story line with enough twists in it to keep things moving. It all begins with a few letters from Harriet about going to a ski resort, and soon David is asked to fly up and deliver some papers to his lawyer boss. The whole family underplays, but Ozzie and Harriet are the stars tonight. 8:30 p. m. (ABC).

Angel—"Little White Lie." (A repeat) The pace steps up a bit as Angel's friend, Mrs. Spiegelman, pinches her as her mother, Mrs. Spiegelman's French accent gets a number of laughs and the character, played by Bella Bruck, steals the show. 9 p. m. (CBS).

Mystery Theatre—"The House on Rue Riviera." An entertaining enough mystery loaded with contrivances, but boasting a shot of Jayne Mansfield in a bathing suit, good Riviera backgrounds, an intriguing storyline and—it's not a return. Richard Anderson stars. In this unsold pilot, as an American working for the French police. Plot has tourist John Ericson conveniently set up as the murderer of singer Diana Tras, but cop Anderson helps him clear his name. 9 p. m. (NBC).

Circle Theatre — "Moment of Panic." (Repeat) Documentary about a "hit and run" driver sustains interest because it deals with a man who might be someone you know. Although the development of his character is not as believable as it should be, the picture it poses of a responsible family man, overtaxed and insecure in his business, who actually falls himself at a crucial moment, is definitely worth your attention. 10 p. m. (CBS).

Orphans Of Neglect

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare estimates there are about six million handicapped children of school age who need special training. They include the blind, or nearly blind; the deaf, or hard of hearing; those with speech defects; the emotionally maladjusted; the mentally retarded; those severely crippled and others with special problems.

Secretary Abraham Ribicoff notes that every state now offers some special educational opportunity for handicapped children, yet four and a half million of them are not receiving this benefit. In many instances it is because their parents are not aware that it is available.

Says Mr. Ribicoff: "It seems to me that these parents might well spend (time) finding out what special help their school systems and state departments of education are prepared to give."

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

CASE J-481: Andrea M. aged 41, is a jittery housewife for whom I suggested "Prize Contesting" as a hobby.

"Dr. Crane," she began about 9 months later, "I can't thank you enough for steering us into prize contesting."

"My husband was reluctant at first, so I decided to try it alone. One night I had our dining room table covered with contest material."

"He came along and looked over my shoulder for several minutes at some of my 25-word letters. Then he made a couple of corrections, for which I thanked him."

"Soon he was helping me write new letters. And we entered 3 in that first contest."

"Well, we just naturally kept on, for once you get well launched, it is like a contagious disease, for you can't quit."

"We also began to write lime-riks and submit names for a 'New Home' contest."

"Since our contests didn't have the winners announced for 3 or 4 months, our early enthusiasm had to subsist on hope."

"But it was great fun and we began to share this common hobby with such zest that we felt like newlyweds. It welded us back together again in a very instructive hobby."

"After 4 months, one day we received a strange letter in the mail. Apparently, we had begunners' luck, for the letter contained a check for $100 that we had won in the 3rd contest we had entered."

"The thrill of actually getting a prize was so intoxicating, we celebrated that night by going to a drive-in movie."

"Since then we have won 17 more prizes. Some were $3 and $10 checks, but others included an electric refrigerator, a set of encyclopedias, plus an all-expense trip to Mexico City."

"Dr. Crane, it wasn't just the cash value of our prizes that we liked the best, but the renewed zest in living, plus our being brought closer together in this fascinating hobby."

"If every married couple could become so content minded, it would snap them out of their stodgy living and give them a new outlook on life. Thank you for getting us infected with the contest bug."

...of Americans waste time and money gambling on the policy games or the horses and dice. But prize contesting is a far superior outlet for mental energy and can bring you much greater returns in cash as well as happiness.

Instead of pouring over racing dope sheets and hooking your furniture to raise dough for a few more $2 pari-mutual bets, get wise to facts.

You can improve your English, plus your advertising skill, and restore your marriage to a far happier, more restful arrangement by entering prize contests.

Your children can also join your parents at this new game. And invalids or patients at the Vet Hospitals will likewise get a double thrill.

For when anybody at the hospital wins a prize, the news travels through all the wards almost instantly and perks up the morale of the entire hospital population.

Several monthly magazines are now being published to help contest fans and aspiring writers.

But if you wish a quick outline of the salient points, send for my booklet "How to Write Salable Copy," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20c.

Mrs. Crane and I used to be contest addicts and won many prizes, including two of $1,000 in national contests, so we speak from experience.

6 Negroes Apply At Tenn. School

MEMPHIS (UPI) — Six Negroes applied for admission to all-white schools here Monday, as 103,000 Memphis youngsters signed up to go back to school.

The applications of the Negroes began the strongest attempt so far to desegregate the city's school system.

The day proceeded without incident, as whites and Negroes lined up together or sat in the same classrooms while school administrators went about the normal business of registering pupils.

Quebec is famous for its "Citadel."

From Rome

Henry McLemore

VERONA, Italy — "Wanted: 80 yards of girls."

This was the tall order sent to all casting directors in Europe and the United States when shooting began on the Dino De Laurentis production of "Barabba," based on Nobel Prize winner Par Lagerkvist's famed novel.

They did not want all 80 yards in one girl, for that would have been too large a request, even for a movie company with $10,000,000 to spend. Forty of them were wanted, none less than six feet tall.

Their job: to do battle with 40 midgits as part of the re-creation of a Roman circus in Verona's 2,000-year-old Arena—an amphitheatre which was dedicated to blood sports years before Rome's Colosseum rang to the anguished cries of sacrificed slaves and Christians, and the roar of beasts.

The girls weren't easy to spot, despite their height. It took weeks to find them, and when finally assembled they represented the U. S., Germany, Sweden, Denmark, France, England, and Italy.

For some reason, it surprised everyone on the set, from De Laurentis down, that the Amazons would be so difficult to find. It seemed to be the general opinion that oversized girls, who were eager, as well as able, to fight midgits before a howling crowd of 35,000, would be in plentiful supply.

Everyone seemed to have forgotten that Amazon versus midgit fights rank well below golf, tennis, and bowling as a spectator sport.

and hasn't been in vogue since the toga, laurel wreath hats, and two-tone chariots.

Plenty of tall girls arrived in Verona looking for the opportunity to share the camera with Anthony Quinn, Silvana Mangano, Ernest Borgnine, Jack Palance, and Vittorio Gassman. Hundreds of them.

But the Amazons of Rome of 2,000 years ago were, it seems, not only tall, but beautiful and graceful, and yet mightily muscled enough to toss midgits about as if they were Ping-pong balls in shields.

Director Richard Fleischer finally found forty that met all qualifications, and they were put into training under the guidance of expert stuntmen and gymnasts. Tossing a midgit about is not easy work, especially when the midgit is clad in full gladiatorial combat armor, carries a knife and spear, and has a laudable desire to win the fight himself.

The battling Amazons provide only a small segment of the mighty combat scene in the historic Arena, which, by the way, is one of the best preserved of all the Roman monuments. While the Amazons and the midgits are battling to the finish, gladiators fight on an open bridge over a lake of fire, slaves are thrown to bears, lions, and elephants, animal fights animal, and man fights man to the savage taunts of the blood-thirsty crowd.

The circus sequence, an authentic reproduction of a day's "entertainment" of centuries ago, took 21 days to put on film, and cost the good, round Roman sum of half a million dollars.

If it is any more chilling to watch it on film than it was in the actual shooting, then viewers had better carry a net and trident, as well as a shield and a spear, to protect themselves.

Peter Edson's Political Notebook

WASHINGTON—(NEA) — The United States has no present intentions of monopolizing or dictating to the organization which manages the new Latin-American Alliance for Progress.

This explains in part why the draft form of organization which Treasury Secretary C. Douglas Dillon and his 40 negotiators took with them to Montevideo, Uruguay, was changed by the conference of finance ministers just concluded.

Instead of a seven-man top organization appointed by the head of the Organization of American States to review development plans submitted by the various Latin-American countries and approve them, what emerged was a nine-member group.

It will be chosen from panel members submitted by the various countries to OAS Secretary General Jose A. Mora. Executive Secretary Raul Prebisch of the UN Economic Commission for Latin America, and President Felipe Herrera of the Inter-American Development Bank. The nine will choose their own chairman and set up their own rules and methods of operation.

This will follow the Marshall Plan operation in which the United States furnished the money but was not a member of the Organization for European Economic Cooperation — OEEC. That was run by the European recipients of Marshall Plan aid. They co-ordinated their own plans and determined how they wanted their economics to develop.

It is only within the past year that the U. S. and Canada have become active members of OEEC's successor—OECD—the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development.

The U. S. may take a place in the nine-member group to run the Alliance. But the main purpose is to have the Alliance succeed by controlling the U. S. outgo of money. This is just what some Latin-American countries don't want. They want a blank check to spend as they please. But they have no idea of planned development.

Planning is therefore to be controlled by a panel of three members from the nine-member group, plus three outside experts designated by OAS Secretary General Mora to review each government's economic program.

This panel of six will report to the Inter-American Development Bank or other source of financial assistance, with the consent of the government concerned.

The 21-nation Inter-American Economic and Social Council, as OAS subsidiary, will make annual reviews of progress. These are for the long-term programs, for which low interest loans will be made for as long as 40 years.

For short term emergency loans of one to three years required by some of the smaller countries, the United States will make $1 billion available from now to March, 1962. By this time it is hoped that the Alliance will be in business. But it will take a full year to really get going.

A Montevideo conference committee on economic integration came up with some recommendations which provide real stumbling blocks for the United States. Some are so impractical they may never be put into operation.

Over U. S. objections, a trust fund was proposed to provide technical assistance, markets and free trade areas.

A proposal that colonial territories in the Americas be economically integrated with the Organization of American States was aimed at the British Federation of the West Indies, which will soon become independent. It was not aimed at British Honduras or the Guianas.

Full participation of private enterprise in economic integration is to be favored in those countries having private enterprise economy. It will not apply to Cuba, which did not sign the Montevideo Charter or Accord.

But it leaves the door open for other countries that might nationalize or socialize or even communize in the future.

The conference committee on commodities recommended establishment of a group of experts to draft a plan for "compensatory financing." What this fancy language means is that they want the prices of coffee, sugar, cocoa and maybe tin, copper and other principal Latin-American exports subsidized at the expense of U. S. consumers. Which is nonsense.

Compromise School Bill Cleared

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Education and Labor Committee cleared a compromise version of President Kennedy's school aid package today. House leaders tentatively scheduled a showdown in the House Wednesday.

The controversial portion that would provide a new federal aid program for public elementary and secondary school construction was approved 16 to 12 with three abstentions.

Another bill, providing construction assistance to colleges, was approved by a voice vote.

The college bill was given a good chance for passage. The new construction program was believed to be in extreme peril, but extension of two existing school aid programs tied onto it probably will be salvaged.

Speaker Sam Rayburn said the construction bill would be called up under a special procedure to bypass the Rules Committee, which previous school bills have foundered.

Massive Arms Race Expected

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union's announcement that it will resume nuclear tests on its own set the stage today for a massive armaments race aimed at producing weapons of millions of TNT-tons of explosive force.

The decision announced in Moscow Wednesday night appeared certain to boost international tensions to a new high. The manner in which the Soviets made their move startled diplomatic observers with its boldness.

Soviet Decision Called 'Brutal Slap In Face'

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI)—The impact of the Soviet Union's decision to resume nuclear testing hit the unaligned nations today like "a brutal slap in the face" on the eve of their conference here.

Reaction among the delegates to the meeting of 24 non-aligned nations ranged from bewilderment to anger at Moscow's unilateral move. They were baffled because Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev had chosen the day before their conference to make his announcement.

"It's like a brutal slap in the face," said one delegate.

"Fanatic, incomprehensible and dangerous," said another.

The blunt Soviet action contrasted sharply with the diplomatic appeal made by President Kennedy in a message to the conference Wednesday night.

The President's message was welcomed by neutral diplomats as the first positive Western reaction to their conference of uncommitted nations.

MIAMI (UPI)—An easterly wave in the eastern Gulf of Mexico "weakened considerably" overnight, hurricane forecaster Arnold Sugg said today.

fishes, and was just about the happiest boy there.

Martin Noyes, in the youngest age group proved to be quite a fisherman and caught 10.

The smallest fish were caught by Dale Sipes, Jane Hale and Brian Woods. Hale's and Jane's weighed half an ounce and Brian's weighed three quarters of an ounce.

"Not quite as many fish were caught this year," said Arch Hosick, chairman of the Fishing Rodeo, "but little Debra Turner caught the biggest fish in years."

Those who caught the biggest fish also caught the biggest prizes. $25 savings bonds, donated by Sanford Atlantic Bank, Florida State Bank, and J. Bralley Odham.

Fishermen who caught the most got $5 gift certificates from Toy Corral and Keil's 5 and 10 and Florida Power and Light gave $5 cash.

McCrory's and Touchton's gave $2.50 gift certificates for the smallest fish and GAC Finance gave $2.50 cash.

850 Youngsters 'Enjoy' Annual Jaycee Fishing Rodeo Here

"Did you ever go a-fishin' on a bright summer day?"

Ask this question of 850 Sanford children today and you would get a big "Yes!"

For there were that many boys and girls between the ages of one and 14 years of age who trooped down to the Jaycee's Annual Fishing Rodeo at Lake Carolina in Fort Mellon Park Wednesday afternoon to get themselves a cane pole, with hook, line and sinker already attached and a nice can of bait.

Then the little fishers set in earnestly to catch the 250 fishes (who could hardly avoid all that many hooks.)

Patrolman Earl Bourquard fired the pistol shot that started off the fishing and ended it and when all the catches were counted it was found that:

The biggest fish was caught by a girl, Debra Turner, who had a nice 15 ounce one. She was in the six to ten year old group.

Next was James Headley with an eight and a half ounce fish in the 11 to 14 age group.

Patrick Howard has a nice little five ounce bream for the largest fish in the one to five year old class.

The most fish, 26, were caught by Emmett Davidson, in the 11 to 14 age group.

Dale Rowell, in the six to ten year old group, caught 13 little

Is it true that three major television companies are dickering for the rights to film a twice monthly western TV series in the courthouse?

City Manager W. E. Knowles has received plans, specifications and prices of a manufactured family fallout shelter that has been reviewed and accepted by Civil Defense. Anyone wishing information on the shelter is asked to contact Knowles, or the building official's office at City Hall.

One thing you can't take away from the County Commission. . . . In the past eight months there has never been one mention of any commissioner saying "This is off the record." . . . I wonder how many other governing bodies can say that.

Does the County Commission know that the week of Sept. 14 has been designated as Civil Defense week throughout the county. . . . I wonder how the boys are going to celebrate it.

City Manager W. E. Knowles still isn't talking about those drapes except to tease us about the colors. Should be put up this week. . . . The rods are up now.

By the way the landscaping at the county jail will be around $400 and not $5,000 as was reported Wednesday.

There will be a Republican candidate opposing Vernon Dunn in the District 4 County Commission race next year. . . . That is if Mr. Dunn chooses to run.

Brazil Military Action Reported

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—Brazil's 2nd Army, Navy and Air Force were reported today to have started operations against the southernmost state of Rio Grande do Sul, stronghold of supporters of Vice President Joao Goulart.

The daily newspaper Journal of Brazil said the action had started early this morning.

According to the newspaper an announcement issued by the national telecommunications council said that "military operations against forces in Rio Grande do Sul have started and combined operations of the 2nd Army, the Navy, and the Air Force are being carried out."

The military action was reported as Goulart flew to South America to take over the Brazilian presidency vacated last Friday by Janio Quadros.

County Sends GSA First Payment Of $7,525 On Osceola Air Base

A check for $7,525 was sent to the General Services Administration in Atlanta today as a binder on the purchase of the Osceola Air Base by Seminole County, according to Mack Cleveland Jr., County attorney.

The total price offered for the tract on the St. Johns River was $75,250. Formal decision to buy the base was made last Tuesday at the board meeting when a resolution was adopted to this effect.

This project will probably be important to the Nova project providing the Sanford-Canaveral

Canal can be completed in the immediate future.

Chamber of Commerce manager John Krider had earlier reported that the county was in the running for the solid fuel plant for this massive project.

Upon acceptance of the offer by the federal government the County will make another payment of $7,525, or 10 per cent of the purchase price, Cleveland said. After that the base will be paid for over a period of 10 years.

Negotiations for the purchase of the tract were started two years ago, said Krider, a former county commissioner.

At that time the House and Senate subcommittees on Armed Services were asked to declare the land surplus and turn it over to the GSA for disposal.

The 1,000 acre tract originally cost the U. S. Government $1.5 million and the county is buying it for a fraction of this cost.

STATE REP. Mack Cleveland Jr. Wednesday was named to one of 12 committees which will make special studies for the legislature's standing research group. Cleveland will serve on the education committee.

Legislative Council Committees Named

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Legislative council committees will meet soon to tackle problems ranging from nuclear legislation to agriculture.

Rep. Harry Westberry of Jacksonville, council chairman, named members to 12 committees Wednesday to study state problems during the coming two years.

Each of the committees will conduct hearings and make studies of their subjects, reporting to the 1963 session of the Legislature. In addition to members of the council, each committee will have at least two senators and two representatives not members of the council.

$100,000 Park To Be Constructed In North Orlando

By MONA GRINSTEAD

Plans for North Orlando's Recreation Park, representing more than $100,000 in capital improvements, were announced at a special meeting of the North Orlando Civic Assn. Monday night.

Playground facilities will include two tennis courts, a volleyball court, four shuffleboard courts, a picnic area with barbecue pits, an archery area, a children's playground, a miniature golf course and a baseball diamond.

Also in the 20-acre park will be a three-acre fresh water lake for boating, fishing and skiing plus a $40,000 40-foot by 70-foot swimming pool with a 10-foot by 20-foot children's wading pool.

A large clubhouse with locker rooms will provide civic and social organizations of the community with ample meeting quarters and free parking for more than 100 automobiles will be included.

Bids are out on the clubhouse building specifications and actual construction is expected to get underway in the very near future.

Although the North Orlando Co. will prepare property and donate materials, Civic Assn. officials have issued an appeal for volunteer workers to meet at the site on Sept. 9 to help with shelters over the shuffleboard courts and other general construction of the recreational facilities. All persons who can in any way assist with the work are urged to join their neighbors to speed the playground to its completion.

Governor Orders Speedup of CD

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Gov. Farris Bryant, citing the "sense of urgency which grips our nation," ordered Florida counties and municipalities Wednesday to speed their plans for Civil Defense.

Bryant, who graduated this week from a two-week Civil Defense survival course, issued an executive order that counties and cities make "appropriate plans" for keeping government functions in operation "in the event of threatened or actual enemy attack." The order will be implemented by local action.

It directs the counties and cities to make plans for protection of public property and records, mutual assistance to neighboring counties, protection of citizens and a public information program.

The Seminole County Commission earlier had cut the Civil Defense budget and refused to go along with plans from CD director A. B. Peterson Sr. on the need for a county-wide warning system.

Speedy Foreign Aid OK Nears

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Both houses of Congress were set today to give speedy approval to their compromise $4.3 billion foreign aid authorization bill.

Senate leaders planned to call up the administration - accepted measure which provides a five-year development loan program early in the day. The Senate was meeting at 9 a. m. partly for that purpose. House action was expected to follow this afternoon.

House-Senate conferees gave the modified bill their final approval Wednesday. Although many senators were disappointed that the compromise eliminated President Kennedy's plan to finance the loan program through treasury borrowing, rather than annual appropriations, the new measure goes beyond existing law.

Senate Foreign Relations Chairman J. William Fulbright, (D-Ark.), called it "vastly better" than any previous aid measure. He made it clear he felt the Senate bill was "stronger" and that he saw little hope of getting the borrowing approach next year.

New Tax Law Heads To Court
