Sheriff Wants 13 More Staffers; He'll Settle For Five

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Sheriff John Polk would like 12 more deputies and three additional detectives. But if other county officials are tightening their belts, he'll settle for four deputies and a detective.

Polk said he will ask county commissioners for $8,863,749 for fiscal 1983-84, up 19.5 percent from this year's budget of more than $6.1 million.

In the preliminary figures prepared by the Sheriff's Department, funding for existing programs will increase by 9.6 percent with the remainder of the increase due to the additional deputies.

The sheriff's estimates are based on the assumption that county commissioners will choose to set up a special taxing district in the unincorporated areas of the county to fund road patrols there.

But Polk has a fallback position.

If county staff predictions of a deficit of up to $3 million in the $40 million portion of the 1983-84 budget funded by property taxes come true, the sheriff said he "can live with" five new officers.

Polk said a study conducted two years ago shows that the department needs 30 additional deputies because of the recent growth in the county.

The sheriff said he's trying to meet the goal of the recommendation a little bit at a time.

The department now has approximately 120 employees.

"It would be nice to have more but if the dollars are as tight as they say they are, everyone needs to tighten their belts," Polk said.

The sheriff said he has not yet met with county commissioners to discuss his budget proposal but "I think they're conscientious to law enforcement and public safety as well as other areas."

County Budget Director Eleanor Anderson said today that budget work sessions are planned with county commissioners and department heads on June 20.

Ms. Anderson said Polk's request for 13 new positions is based upon an agreement between the county and the cities that the county would work toward funding the sheriff's road patrols through a special taxing district.

The cities claimed last year that they were paying for a portion of the sheriff's road patrol budget and receiving no benefits.

But no decision has been reached yet by commissioners about establishing the special taxing district this fiscal year, she said.

Special taxing districts are currently used by the county to finance road repairs, lighting districts and firefighting and rescue services.

The $40 million being used by the county for planning purposes is about $1 million more than last year's portion of the budget funded through property taxes.

The sheriff's proposed budget is about 20 percent of the $40 million.

Last year's tax rate was $4.44 per $1,000 of assessed value for all county residents. An additional $2.30 per $1,000 was paid by unincorporated residents.

County officials have not used any tax increases in their budget planning so far.

Cities May Vote On County Gas Tax

County Commissioner Sandra Glenn, attempting to get a consensus of the county's seven cities on whether a gas tax should be levied by the county commission, will appear before the Council of Local Governments in Seminole County today.

The organization will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the Winter Springs City Hall, 400 N. Edgemon Ave.

The group is composed of delegates from each of the county's seven cities and the County Commission.

According to state law passed during a special session of the Florida Legislature early this year, the county has the option of levying up to 4 cents per gallon tax and splitting a portion of the revenues with the cities.

It is estimated that each cent of gas tax will bring in revenues of $850,000.

The state law provides that the county commission by a simple majority of three may levy 2 cents per gallon and with an extraordinary majority of four may levy 2 additional cents for a total of 4 cents.

Discussion by Mrs. Glenn with officials of all seven individual cities have revolved around the possibility of levying a 4-cent tax, with 3 of the 4 cents used to improve critical segments of county roads.

She has met individually with representatives of all seven Seminole County cities.

Glenn said she expects an official consensus from the city representatives at tonight's meeting.

The earliest a county gas tax could be levied at gas pumps is Sept. 1.

The roads discussed so far include Red Bug Road from State Road 436 to Eagle Circle, the entrance road to Deer Run; State Road 427 from Charlotte Street to State Road 434; and Airport Boulevard from U.S. Highway 17-92 to Sanford Avenue.

County Engineer Bill Bush has said that the Red Bug Road section is especially important since proposed federal funding for a clover leaf intersection at SR 436 and Red Bug will not be allocated unless the county has allocated funds for the short strip of Red Bug.

Bush noted at a Lake Mary meeting Friday that while officials of the various cities have been cordial, the officials generally have had a negative reaction to additional taxes. — Donna Estes.

Graduation Near For Seniors

Lake Mary High School is the only Seminole County high school without a graduating class. But that will all change next year when the school gets its own 12th grade. For now, though, the juniors have to feel they're the top. The Junior Class officers, from left, are Libbi McGarvey, secretary; Lisa Boltzner, vice president; Paige Jones, president; and Chris Harris, treasurer. Read about all the seniors who are graduating in Seminole County in a special section devoted to the graduating seniors inside today's Evening Herald.

Jobless Rate Here 5.4%

If you're looking for a job, there aren't many places better to look than in Central Florida.

The unemployment rate in the Orlando Metropolitan area was 6.7 percent in April, according to statistics from the Florida State Employment Service. That's a 1.7 percent lower than the state jobless rate of 8.4 percent.

And things are even brighter in Seminole County where the April unemployment rate dropped to 5.4 percent, the fifth lowest in the state. That's a fall of about 1 percent. Only Leon, Wakulla, Alachua and Union counties have lower unemployment rates.

"It looks like we're really on our way now," according to an analyst with the state employment service.

"It's odd; we're usually several months behind the national trends. This time we're in front of the rest of the nation," analyst Sterling Tuck said today.

Tuck credits the booming Central Florida tourism industry with leading Central Florida's economic recovery.

In Seminole County, primarily a suburban county, the housing construction industry has been booming throughout 1983 and the high technology industries which have located here are doing well, Tuck said.

Seminole County has rebounded from a 7.4 jobless rate in January, when the recession apparently bottomed out in the area. Since then, the unemployment rate in the area has seen a steady monthly climb.

Tuck said he expected the Orlando metro jobless rate to come in at about 7 percent. The lower rate reflects the beginnings of a boom in Central Florida, he said.

Tuck has been predicting a housing boom in Seminole County to begin in the final three months of 1983. That boom will last about five years, he said.

Orange County's jobless rate was 6.9 percent in April and Osceola's rate was 9.6 percent. Gulf County had the highest unemployment rate in the state during April at 18.9 percent. — Michael Beha.

For Second Time

Civil Service Case Hearing Is Approved

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Despite a warning from the city attorney, the Sanford Civil Service Board Tuesday night met for the second time behind closed doors before deciding 4 to 1 to grant the city of Sanford a June 15 rehearing in a case involving the firing of a city employee.

Meanwhile, the city employee whose firing led to the disagreement between the city and the Civil Service Board which might wind up in court announced that he has no job and no way to support his pregnant wife and six children.

"I took the board's word as final authority, quit my job and took another man to get that job," said Bernard Mitchell to the board Tuesday night.

"I'm being shoved around, gentlemen, and I don't have a job. Let your conscience be your guide," he said.

Mitchell was fired by the city April 6 and charged with "insubordination and disgraceful conduct" and various problems shown in his work performance record over a two year period. The Civil Service Board at a May 12 hearing, which also involved an executive session, overturned the firing.

On behalf of the city, City Attorney Bill Colbert filed a petition for rehearing on the issue, citing what he described as five errors made by the board in its decision including violation of its own rule calling for open public meetings and violation of the state's "Sunshine Law."

Last week, the Sanford City Commission authorized Colbert to take the issue to court if the Civil Service Board refused a rehearing.

Only board member Gordon Frederick voted Tuesday night against granting the city a rehearing.

Colbert warned the five-member board, prior to going into executive session, that their action could subject them to prosecution under the "Government in the Sunshine" law and if found guilty of the misdemeanor they could be fined. He added that they could escape prosecution if they were acting under the advice of their attorney.

But, he added, Frederick is only a fellow member of the board and not its legal counsel.

Frederick, a practicing lawyer and former legislator, advised board members during the public portion of the meeting that under a decision of the First District Court of Appeal in Tallahassee concerning a similar board, they could meet in private.

Three members of the board — Dr. Luis Perez, Don Jones and Bill McQuatters — voted with Frederick after the attorney gave his opinion to hold the executive session in the City Commission conference room on the first floor at city hall.

Dr. John Darby, chairman, announced he had not voted and did not intend to vote for the executive session. But, he said, his fellow members told him during the private meeting that under the board's procedure the lack of a vote meant a positive vote.

After the meeting, Dr. Perez said the board had requested an opinion from Frederick on whether it could legally meet behind closed doors.

After the 55-minute executive session, the members returned to the commission meeting room and Dr. Darby announced the board 4-1 vote to grant the city's request for a rehearing of its case concerning the firing April 6 of Mitchell from the city utility department. Darby said the rehearing will be held at 8 p.m. June 15.

Colbert advised the board that he would need about two hours to present testimony in the case again.

After the meeting, Dr. Darby and Dr. Perez declined to say which member voted against granting a rehearing. But Frederick confirmed it was he.

During a 40-minute public meeting, Colbert said he asked the commission to grant him authority a week ago to go to court if a rehearing were denied not to harass or embarrass the board, but because the 30 days in which to file the court action would expire before the commission's next meeting on June 13.

Reading from a transcript of the May 12 hearing, Colbert said the board made five errors in its decision. Referring to the special legislation which created the board and its own rules of procedure, Colbert said the city had the right to ask that charges not only of "insubordination and disgraceful conduct" (a term from the rules) be cited against the employee, but also his past record that included reprimands and suspensions.

When A.A. McClanahan, Sanford real estate broker, building contractor and former city commissioner, was hired as housing developer of Seminole Self-Reliant Housing Inc. in January 1982 for four months, he didn't know it would take 16 months to get the funding approved so that the project could get underway.

But with the announcement by U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum, R-Altamonte Springs, of the approval of a $140,000 technical assistance grant from the Farmers Home Administration for the project, McClanahan expects construction to start on the homes for low to moderate income families in 60 to 90 days.

"We were shot down on the state level a couple of times and I even made a trip to Washington at my own expense to try to get it through," said McClanahan.

He is now looking for qualified families with incomes between $10,000 and $15,000 who would like to apply for the program. Interested Seminole County residents may call 322-9983 or write to P.O. Box 2566, Sanford, 32771, for further information.

The first of the homes to be built under the program will be built in the Washington Heights subdivision on State Road 426 east of Oviedo.

McCollum, who has been working to assist self-reliant housing officials in obtaining the grant for nearly six months, said that the funds would provide "safe, sound" homes for 25 families in the Sanford area through the self-help method.

"It is a partnership of those who are in need of decent housing and are ready and willing to build themselves and of those who have the know-how to help make these homes a reality. The funds released May 31 will extend over a two-year period," McCollum said.

The non-profit corporation is designed to give low to moderate income families the opportunity to own their own home by contributing "sweat equity." Each family accepted in the program is required to contribute a minimum of 700 hours toward the construction of not only their home, but others in the group of six houses.

"This is not a give-away. When they contribute hundreds of hours they will appreciate the opportunity to have decent housing and are going to take

Overthrow Of Surinam Proposed, Then Scrapped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Strong congressional opposition prompted President Reagan to scuttle covert plans by the CIA to organize a band of rebels to topple the government of the tiny South American country of Surinam, it was reported.

Reagan initially supported the covert effort because of concerns — evidently not shared by many congressmen — that Surinam's military leader, Desai Bouterse, was building a close alliance with the communist government of Cuba, reporter Carl Bernstein said on the ABC News program "Nightline" late Tuesday.

Both the White House and the chairman of the House Intelligence Committee, Rep. Edward Boland, D-Mass., declined to comment on the report.

ABC said CIA Director William Casey — as required by law — informed the House and Senate Intelligence committees in December of the multimillion-dollar plan to create a paramilitary force of exiles from Surinam to overpower the country's army and overthrow Bouterse.

In the face of overwhelming, bipartisan opposition, the administration reconsidered and several weeks after Casey's appearance on Capitol Hill, he informed the committees the plan was being withdrawn, the report said.

Hijacker Arrested

BOSTON (UPI) — An Iraqi-born man traveling with his 13-year-old daughter, apparently distraught over being unable to find work in Saudi Arabia, used a dinner knife to try to divert a Saudi Airlines jetliner but then surrendered, authorities said.

Said Ali, 38, was arrested Tuesday in the incident in which he allegedly threatened the pilot's life and sought to make the New York-bound plane land in Lebanon or Europe. No injuries were reported.

Police said he apparently made the threats before the Boeing 747, with 145 passengers and 25 crew members aboard, crossed the Atlantic. Authorities said the Saudi Airlines flight SV021 landed in Boston due to weather problems and for fuel.

Sanford Employment Worker Selected For Legion Award

Don Abberton of the Florida State Employment Service Sanford office has been selected to receive the American Legion Local Veterans Employment Representative of the year award.

Abberton has worked in the Sanford office since July 1, 1977. He maintains active membership in several veteran organizations including the American Legion, Disabled American Veterans and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He is also a member of the Air Force Sergeants Association and an active member of the Central Florida Veterans Council, an organization dedicated to the needs of veterans. His knowledge of the problems faced by veterans makes him especially effective in his daily contacts with employers and community organizations.

The award will be presented during the American Legion Convention at the Holiday Inn International in Tampa, June 4.

Prisoner's Baby To Be Turned Over To HRS

The newborn son of Susan Barrett Assaid, who is awaiting sentencing in connection with the murder of her five-year-old daughter last year, will be in the custody of the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services for at least the next two weeks.

Seminole Circuit Court Judge C. Vernon Mize, Jr. Tuesday ordered the baby turned over to HRS until a plan is devised "in the child's best interest."

Assaid, who pleaded guilty in March to manslaughter in the death of her daughter, told the judge she wants a couple she knows to adopt the child. The couple was not identified in court.

Mize gave HRS custody for 14 days beginning with the baby's release from the hospital, expected today or Thursday. The baby was born at 3:30 a.m. Monday.

Assaid, who is being held in the Seminole County jail, is scheduled for sentencing June 18.

An attorney for the couple Assaid wants to adopt the child said his clients are ready to take custody at any time. Mize said they would first have to be investigated by HRS to see if they are suitable parents.

A spokesman for HRS said if Mize grants the agency permanent custody, which would permit it to put the baby up for adoption, Assaid's preferred couple would "have to get in line with everybody else."

Meanwhile, Donald Glenn McDougall, 26, who Assaid said is the father of the infant, is scheduled to go on trial for first-degree murder in July.

Assaid has told investigators McDougall punished and tortured her daughter, Sunshine Ursula Assaid, continually for 55 hours before her death September 25.

McDougall has not confirmed or denied paternity of the baby.

He noted as well that the board had ignored the fact that the only evidence presented was in support of the city action and that Mitchell had declined to testify.

Colbert said Mitchell's work record showed a disregard for city policy, adding specific incidents when Mitchell initiated confrontations with various supervisors.

The city attorney, reading from the transcript, quoted Mitchell as testifying at that time that "the truth had already been revealed at the hearing" and that he didn't wish to make any statement.

"The ruling was contrary to the evidence. There was no evidence other than that presented by the city," Colbert said.

Colbert insisted that the board could not legally meet outside the public view. "I would love sometimes to be able to meet with the City Commission in private, but I cannot. You don't have the privilege of going into executive session," the attorney insisted, saying the board is not a judicial body, "it is a creation of the Legislature."

Mitchell noted the board previously overturned his earlier firing by the city, and instead suspended him without pay for 30 days. "When you made that (May 12) decision that I was not guilty, I took that as final authority," he said.

$1 Million Not Enough For False Imprisonment

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 66-year-old man, saying he "lost so much" that can never be replaced, is unhappy with a $1 million court award for the 24 years he spent in prison for a murder he did not commit.

Isidore Zimmerman, who came within two hours of being executed during his prison stay, says he will end up with about $500,000 after he pays his lawyers.

"I feel I should have gotten much more," Zimmerman, a retired doorman, said Tuesday. "I lost so much that can never be replaced."

A judge made the damages award last week and it was announced Tuesday.

Zimmerman had sought $10 million in damages for a false conviction that imprisoned him from 1938 to 1962 but said he would not appeal the ruling.

Teller To Would-Be-Robber: Would You Repeat That?

When a man approached Mary R. Monville's teller window at Freedom Bank in Springs Plaza, Longwood, Tuesday, placed a black bag on the counter and announced, "This is a holdup, put all the money in the bag" she asked him to repeat himself.

So, he did.

But then, for some unexplained reason, the would-be robber turned around and walked out the front door.

Ms. Monville told police she saw no weapon. Several customers in the bank during the 10:30 a.m. incident said they had no idea anything unusual was going on.

Police said tellers described the would-be robber as a white male, approximately 25 years of age, unshaven, with dark sunken eyes and dirty brown hair.

TV STOLEN

A portable color television set valued at $300 was taken from the K-Mart store at 3101 Orlando Drive, Sanford, at 7:05 p.m. Saturday.

Police say the thief fled in a green pick-up truck with two other males and two females.

EXTORTION CALLS MADE

Two Sanford women reported receiving phone calls from a man who purported to be robbing them.

Betty Jo Raymond, 47, of 105 Fairlane Circle, Sanford, said she received a phone call at 4:30 p.m. Friday from a man who told her to put her valuables in a bag and place them outside the door.

Mrs. Raymond told police she hung up on the man.

Colleen Giles, 21, of Kansas City, Mo., visiting at 3410 Dawn Court Estates, Sanford, said she received a similar call. Miss Giles said she also hung up on the caller.

THIEVES NET CASE

In a combination burglary — strong arm robbery, a 70-year-old Sanford man lost $3,800 cash Sunday. Deputies reported that Roy Barrow, Rt. 2, Box 219, Beardsall Road, was attempting to help an animal control officer secure two cows when he observed a man open the door to his home and reach in.

Barrow confronted the subject who then threw him to the ground and removed his wallet containing the $3,800.

Police said the suspect then fled down Byrd Avenue. The victim said approximately 12-15 witnesses standing nearby saw the incident but would not help him. The witnesses are believed to be Seminole High School students, according to the deputies' report.

JEWELRY AND COINS GONE

Jewelry and a piggy bank containing $15 in assorted coins was taken from the residence of Benjamin Chisolm, 2480 Main Street, Midway, between 6:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Sunday, police report.

The burglars entered via a west side window and took a man's gold chain necklace valued at $175 and a woman's gold chain necklace valued at $150 in addition to the bank.

CHURCHES HIT

Three Seminole County churches suffered burglaries and thefts over the weekend.

At the neighborhood Alliance Church, 301 Markham Woods Road, Longwood, Pastor Neal C. Weber reported the theft of a $39 J.C. Penney's tape recorder. It was apparently taken from the hallway in front of his office between 11:30 a.m. and 2:12 p.m. Sunday. Also stolen was $18 from a purse left unattended in the choir room.

Weber said he feels the thefts were committed by a man who came in before 11:30 a.m., looking for aid to get back to Wyoming. He was given $3.50 for breakfast.

At the Mt. Sinai Missionary Baptist Church at 1800 Jerry Avenue, Sanford, a break-in was discovered Friday. Deacon Joe Wiggins said an amplifier valued at $150 and two speakers valued at $50 were taken. Police said entry was probably gained through a northwest door annex by means of a pry tool, possibly a screwdriver.

At the Morning Glory Church, 2800 State Road 48 in the Midway neighborhood, a burglar also stole sound equipment — two microphones valued at $80. Police said the theft occurred between 3:09 and 4:06 p.m. Saturday. A side window to the church had been broken.

SPOUSE ABUSE

Two Seminole County men have been arrested for spouse abuse.

Jail records show Charles Ernest Newman Jr., 42, was arrested at Kaitia Wekiva Landing Campground, Paula, at 7:28 p.m. Monday after allegedly beating his wife to the extent she required hospitalization.

Mrs. Fannie Newman told Seminole County deputies she was slapped, knocked down and kicked in the back several times. Deputies reported paramedics called to the scene said it appeared Mrs. Newman had possible kidney injuries. She was transported to Central Florida Regional Hospital by ambulance.

Newman was released on $500 bond.

In an incident in Winter Springs, Billie Joe Downing, 42, was arrested at 6:39 p.m. at the Handyway Store at U.S. Highway 17-92 and State Road 419 after he allegedly beat his wife at their residence, 110 N. Cortez Ave.

Deputies said the victim had bruises and cuts about the mouth and a large swollen bruise on the right cheek.

care of it," said McClanahan.

The funding will provide qualified construction supervisors to teach, train, guide and assist the families in constructing their own homes, McClanahan said. An office is being readied in downtown Sanford for the five-employee staff in space formerly occupied by the Merle Norman shop.

The houses, expected to cost around $28,000, will be financed by FmHA loans and would probably cost between $38,000 and $44,000 on the open market, according to McClanahan.

"There are a lot of folks out there who want and need decent housing and there just isn't any way on the conventional market to do it," he said.

"Some families may have one skill and another family another skill. Some work — like plumbing or electrical work — may have to be subcontracted to professionals."

The construction will not only have to pass city or county inspection, but Farmers Home Administration inspection as well.

The idea behind the Self-Reliant Housing program is that the house will cost the individual less because of the hours he invests. Homes are expected to cost in the $25,000 range including the land, according to McClanahan.

The construction sites had to meet the FmHA criteria that requires them to be in unincorporated areas or small towns.

Similar programs in Orange and Seminole counties have been quite successful, McClanahan said. He said that when these funds run out, Self-Reliant Housing plans to apply for another grant to build an additional 30 to 40 homes. The non-profit corporation was formed two years ago.

Who'll Pay For Plan To Clean Up Drinking Water?

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Money remains the major roadblock to a House-Senate agreement on groundwater pollution issues, with environmentalists favoring the more expensive House plan for cleaning up drinking water.

Conferees from the chambers have moved closer on how to regulate septic tanks and pesticides. Under a plan used by 15 of 21 states that regulate generation of hazardous wastes, large producers of dangerous chemicals would pay $10 a ton for each ton of waste they generate. The money would pay for water quality programs.

Another provision would allow waste producers to be exempted from the surcharge if they neutralized wastes and disposed of them where they are produced. That would provide an incentive for companies to develop waste-disposal programs without using state money.

The House wants to tax hazardous chemicals 1.5 percent at the wholesale level.

Under compromises worked out by staff workers, a seven-member pesticide regulatory review board would be appointed by Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner to make recommendations on which pesticides can be used. The Department of Environmental Regulation, which was the House's choice for the regulatory body, would have a voice in pesticide issues. Conner would ultimately retain his control over pesticide use.

The compromise on septic tanks would require them to be built at least 75 feet from private wells, except for lots platted for development before 1972. Because of developers would lose money on the pre-1972 lots if they had to observe the 75-foot setback, those septic tanks could be built as close as 50 feet to private wells.

Growth Controls Proposed

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The state would have to practice what it preaches and develop its own plan for controlling growth under a House bill now pending in the Senate.

The House approved the measure (HB 1331) Tuesday that would mandate the development of a statewide growth management plan and require regional plans to conform to it.

The state has mandated cities and counties to develop local plans but has never imposed the same requirement on itself and its agencies.

The bill would require the governor's office to develop statewide planning goals and a blueprint for implementing them. The plan would have to be approved by the governor and Cabinet and would be subject to change by the Legislature on a three-fifths vote in each house.

The governor and Cabinet also would be empowered to settle conflicts between the state plan and regional development councils.

State agencies would have to conform to the state plan in developing their budgets.

Fla. Chamber Backs Corporate Tax Increase For Education

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham has managed an end run around the powerful business group Associated Industries of Florida that could break a legislative deadlock and produce tax increases.

Graham won critical support from the Florida Chamber of Commerce late Tuesday for a corporate profits tax increase from 5 percent to 6 percent.

He convinced the chamber to withdraw from the coalition it formed last week with Associated Industries and the Florida Council of 100 to fight tax increases this year.

"There is movement," House Speaker Lee Moffitt said of the chamber's defection from the coalition organized by Associated Industries' Jon Shebel.

Senate President Curtis Peterson refused to commit himself to backing a corporate profits tax hike, but said the Senate is ready now to look seriously at pumping more money in education than appropriated in the no-new-taxes budget passed by senators earlier this session.

Moffitt proposed a corporate profits tax increase to pay for school improvements a few weeks ago, only to find the plan rejected by the three business groups. The tax hike has been considered dead in the Senate as long as business opposed it.

Chamber executive director George Becker huddled with Graham, Peterson and Moffitt Tuesday, then issued a statement saying his group supports $300 million in tax increases, with most of the money going for education.

Becker said the chamber will accept an increase in the corporate profits tax from 5 percent to 6 percent, offset partly by further "piggybacking," or putting into Florida law business tax breaks President Reagan managed to get through Congress. Moffitt had proposed raising the tax to 7 percent.

It was not immediately clear how much money would be generated by a 6 percent corporate tax, plus the further piggybacking.

Becker said the rest of the $300 million should come from taxes other than the corporate profits tax. He proposed some possibilities, but didn't recommend anything specific.

His list included repeal of sales tax exemptions on newspapers, beauty and barber shops, laundries and dry cleaners.

Kissimmee River Canal Construction A Mistake

By United Press International

The Kissimmee River's 52-mile flood-control canal provides little protection to the urban areas of central Florida that it was designed to protect and was constructed 20 years ago in a haze of false figures, officials said.

A state report, prepared nearly a decade ago but never released, indicates construction of the canal was a mistake.

The report, prepared in 1975 by state planner Steve Leitman and two economics professors from Wisconsin, charged the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers with manipulating cost-benefit figures to make the canal project appear more profitable than it was in reality.

Leitman said the canal "never would have been dug" if the corps had researched its economic analysis "legitimately."

Officially, corps officials deny the charges but corps hydrologist Noble Engle admits some of the report "may be right."

The canal's effectiveness as a flood-control instrument also is in doubt.

Corps planner John Cruce said the canal does nothing to protect Walt Disney World, Orlando and St. Cloud, and only offers "minimal" protection to a section of Kissimmee around Lake Tohopekaliga.

In addition, the canal has become the target of environmentalists, who claim the channel is lending to the decline of the Kissimmee River.

Crib Death Linked To Brain Cell Development

CHICAGO (UPI) — Sudden Infant Death Syndrome — the leading cause of death in babies two weeks to a year old — may be caused by immature brain stems that cannot properly control sleep and breathing, scientists say.

Clinical observations of SIDS, also known as crib death, show a connection with impaired breathing control during sleep. Dr. Nobushisa Baba and Ohio State University colleagues said in a Journal of the American Medical Association commentary.

"It is believed that the maturational state of the neurons in the brain stem may be of major importance" in the development of SIDS, the researchers said.

"Sudden Infant Death Syndrome is the single largest cause of death between the ages of two weeks and 1 year, with the peak incidence between two and four months of age," Baba said.

SIDS occurs in about one to three per 1,000 live births and accounts for almost 50 percent of the total infant mortality, he said. It kills 6,500 to 8,000 babies a year.

All infants exhibit some form of breathing cessation — apnea — during sleep, the researchers said.

However, near-miss SIDS patients — infants who are revived before they suffocate — exhibit much longer breathing pauses that may indicate slower brain development, they said.

The maturity lag may induce abnormal sleep patterns that cause failure to arouse from sleep during a critical respiration pause, Baba said.

"It also has been suggested that infants may be at risk for prolonged apnea if their arousal response is impaired during sleep," the researchers said.

"An upper respiratory tract infection, which is associated with sleep deprivation, restlessness and irritability, may play a role in depressing the arousal mechanism in the brain stem."

"Thus the maturational state of the brain-stem structure, which triggers arousal and controls respiration, may correlate with such a critical period of functional organization."

Nerve network abnormalities, observed in the brain stems of SIDS victims, could be responsible for imbalances in electrical messages to the lungs and related structures, they said.

Race Fixing A Modern Absurdity

What a trap governments fall into when they officially involve themselves in matters of race. An example of this comes with the decision of a New Orleans judge upholding a repugnant Louisiana law that designates anyone with "one thirty-second Negro blood" as black.

We trust the troubling ruling of Orleans Parish Civil District Judge Frederick Ellis will be overturned on appeal. The archaic statute, a vestige of other times when segregation was official policy in the South, was written to determine what racial designation should be recorded to birth certificates. Predictably, the law's effects have not been confined to its original intent. Louisiana officials have used the information to stop blacks from passing as white.

Whatever the purpose, government collection of racial information is inimical to the American ideal of a color-blind society. Government records no longer are used for segregation. But the government now utilizes information about race and ethnic background to enforce affirmative-action programs that all too often amount to offensive quota systems.

Problems also arise from the keeping of racial records by schools to obtain federal financial assistance. Visual inspections used by some school districts to determine attendance by race have an element of the absurd akin to the Louisiana fixation on ancestry. We wonder how often a visual inspection results in error simply because a student does or doesn't fit a racial or ethnic stereotype.

It may come as a surprise to some that even California in this supposedly enlightened day reserves a supposedly confidential portion of its birth certificate for racial and ethnic information. In filling out the certificates, many Californians refuse to provide such information about their children. We don't blame them. Can they be telling the government that race is none of its business?

Timeless Quality

Many Americans will treasure the epigrams and other writings of Eric Hoffer, who died recently at 80. His observations about people and society have a quality that renders them timeless. We do not doubt that a generation from now many of Hoffer's observations will ring as true as they do today.

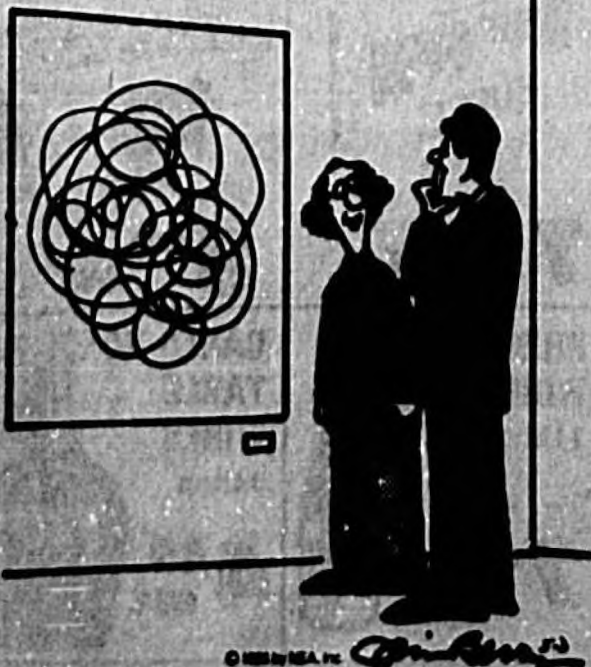

That is what made Hoffer a philosopher. He saw past the pretensions and preoccupations of the contemporary world and into the immutable nature of human beings. The fact that Hoffer also was a longshoreman gave his philosophizing a certain novelty as to its source but our guess is that what he had to say will be remembered longer than the background against which he said it.

Still, the career of Hoffer is reassuring because it proves once again that Americans find some of their best talent in the oddest places and are not snobbish about granting it recognition. This self-educated man became an adviser to a president and a university lecturer without having gone to college or even to grammar school.

In this country we have never insisted that our leaders come from one class or another or that the ideas we entertain conform to a handed-down doctrine or dogma. We practice a sort of free enterprise of the spirit. This is surely one of the main reasons Americans have been more successful at self-government than people whose society tends to be compartmentalized.

Hoffer had a way of cutting pretentious people and their ideas down to size. In particular the academic elites who have presumed to hold a monopoly on intellectual dialogue. His crusty voice from the waterfront forced one generation of Americans to ask hard questions about some of the popular political and social assumptions of its day. We can hope the independence of his point of view continues to generate questions in the future.

BERRY'S WORLD

"This one is called a military solution in Central America."

By Diane Petryk

Do you have an elderly parent or grandparent or friend who lives alone?

If so, you could be of service to them with some advice on how to protect their savings and pensions from swindlers.

There have been cases in Seminole County of retired persons tricked out of their entire life savings by fast talking con men. And there's no evidence the swindlers have all packed up and moved elsewhere.

The American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) warns that the con-artist will go after any of his victim's assets, including life insurance benefits, household valuables and any kind of retirement income.

Anyone can fall victim to these traps, but elderly persons are sometimes easier prey for smooth talking con men, says the AARP.

You don't think your relative or friend could be that gullible? Think again.

It may not always be a matter of an entire life savings, but what about that unwanted magazine subscription, futile money-making scheme or contribution to non-existent charity?

The association is warning that elderly men and women living alone are the prime targets of such swindles because they may be lonely and more easily disarmed by a "nice guy" approach. And while some people become more skeptical with age, others may lose some of their analytical powers. So a reminder can't hurt.

Here's what the AARP says to look out for:

Word clues. You can often spot a con man by the words and expressions he uses. Here are some common examples:

"Cash only." Ask why cash is necessary for the proposed transaction. Why not a check?

"Secret plans." Ask why you are being told not to tell anyone about what you're doing and why it has to be a secret.

"Get rich quick." Since this almost never happens, the phrase alone should immediately arouse suspicion.

"Something for nothing." When you are promised something for nothing you usually get nothing.

"Contest." Make sure it isn't just a come on.

"Hurry." Any pressure to act immediately should be suspect.

"Too good to be true." Such an opportunity is probably neither good nor true.

Schemes. Some of the more common con games involve home improvement offers, investments in land, work-at-home jobs which require cash deposits or payments, postal frauds and magazine subscriptions.

Rules. Always investigate before investing any money or signing a contract. Be suspicious of extraordinary promises of high returns. Don't discuss your personal finances with strangers and never give them any cash.

ROBERT WALTERS U.S. Blinks At SALT Violations

The Reagan administration has obtained persuasive evidence that the Soviet Union has violated the 1979 strategic arms limitation agreement on three occasions within the last seven months. The administration's response has been to give ground on its stand in new strategic arms talks, in hope of getting the Russians to sign a new treaty.

Earlier this month, on February 8, and last October, U.S. radar detected test flights of a Soviet missile known as the Plesetsk-5, which according to U.S. analysts, exceeded the modifications of an "old" missile permitted under the 1979 agreement. Furthermore, the electronic telemetry which would reveal the testing results was totally encrypted, also a violation of the treaty.

The administration, in downplaying the revelations about the tests, said that it had complained to the Soviets through the joint Special Consultative Committee in Vienna, the body set up to monitor compliance with the treaty.

The Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty (SALT II), signed in June 1979 by President Carter, was never ratified by the U.S. Senate. But the Reagan administration has observed the treaty in practice. The agreement stipulates that modifications of older missiles may not exceed a 5 percent change in length, diameter, launch and throwweight. According to U.S. data, the Plesetsk-5 featured such modifications.

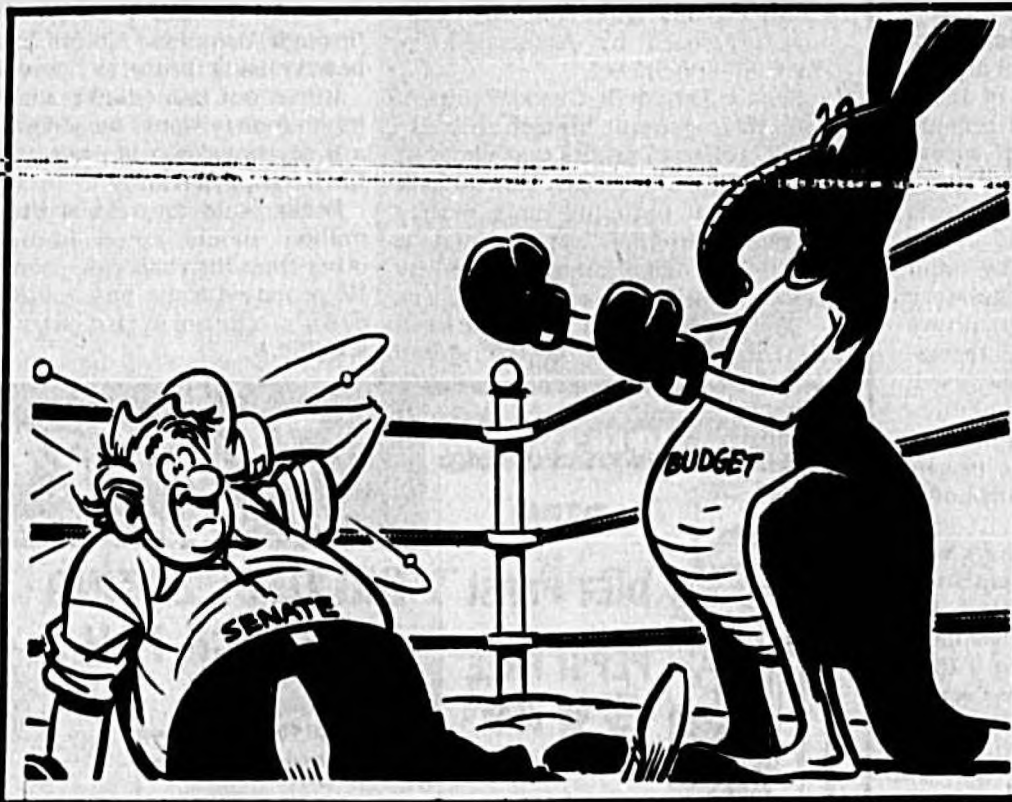

But there is not enough proof. One American radar tracking ship was not on station for the latest Soviet test. Some evidence, gathered by radar and analyzed by sophisticated computers, is contradictory. The upshot: The Soviets defend themselves vociferously, and the U.S. backs off.

The difficulty, no, the impossibility of verification is the central flaw in the presumption that the U.S. and the Soviets can ever achieve a credible arms reduction treaty. As history shows, the Russians ignore the fine details of such treaties and we allow them to — because we crave the treaty more than compliance with it.

Thus on May 15, the New York Times reported that President Reagan has "ceased" his stand on strategic arms. The shift was said to show "greater flexibility" in strategic arms talks which resume June 8.

So it goes. In March, Mr. Reagan abandoned his remarkable "zero option" proposal on intermediate range missiles in Europe, in order to move those talks along, but giving Soviet premier Yuri Andropov an opportunity to offer to withdraw his missiles from Eastern Europe, keeping only enough to match the French and British totals, which are not under U.S. control. Naturally, the European anti-nuclear groups lined up behind him.

It seems a replay of history. Like the Carter, Ford and Nixon administrations, Mr. Reagan is shifting and modifying his positions, hoping for a treaty that will please the liberals, the peace groups, and the Soviets. For that, a treaty that will be observed by only one side is a high price to pay.

Mondale's Woes Begin

During the past 10 days, the smooth-running Mondale campaign experienced a slight tremor, just a tinge of doubt, and there are those who think that the tremor resembled the one felt by passengers on the Titanic when the great ship grazed the fatal iceberg.

Walter Mondale's strength politically has been his sense of momentum, which made persuasive the demand of his organizers that politicians "get on board" before the train leaves the station. And Mondale has played his cards in an utterly orthodox way, trying to put together a coalition of traditional Democratic interest groups: big labor, the National Education Association, blacks, Jews, militant women, Hispanics and even homosexuals. He has viewed these as the building blocks that would provide the foundation for a successful bid for the White House.

But, from the start, there has been a flaw in this approach and the flaw is beginning to rise to general awareness. The flaw is arithmetic. The interest groups may add up to the Democratic nomination, but they do not add up to a national majority in the general election. A close identification with these interest groups even seems likely to be a highly negative factor with the broader electorate. Thus the chill of doubt now being felt around Mondale. And that, in turn, undercuts the sense of momentum that has been his most powerful asset so far.

Former Carter aide Hamilton Jordan, whatever else you may think about him, is a shrewd political strategist. He wrote the detailed memorandum that outlined the strategy for Jimmy Carter's successful 1976-78 run for the presidency.

Writing in a recent New Republic, Jordan urges Mondale to do something dramatic to dissociate himself from the select interest groups. Mondale, thinks Jordan, should refuse the endorsement of organized labor, telling AFL-CIO leader Lane Kirkland, "I want labor's help, but not the endorsement."

Jordan also thinks that Mondale should do something not altogether predictable from a liberal ideological standpoint, such as coming out positively for some approach to national defense. Otherwise, thinks Jordan, Mondale remains something of a plastic man in the public's perception, not much more than the sum of his various political parts.

There was bad political news for Mondale on at least two other fronts. A Los Angeles Times poll showed John Glenn moving ahead of him for the first time, and running better against Reagan.

In addition, the Rev. Jesse Jackson moved closer toward open candidacy, and polls indicated that the charismatic Chicago preacher would pull heavily among blacks in any Democratic primary. That would damage Mondale in one of his most important "interest groups," and Mondale's people have been making the argument to black leaders that a Jackson candidacy would end up by helping the more conservative candidacy of John Glenn, an argument that so far has had little impact.

Bad news has also been coming in from the pundits. The Washington Post's David Broder thinks Mondale's chief source of strength is the Democratic political establishment, but that these politicians are so eager for a victory that they will dump him the minute it appears that he cannot win.

And Robert Kaiser of the same paper has been writing that Mondale "just doesn't have what it takes to win the presidency."

But, if Mondale goes down, then who? Though John Glenn is showing well in the polls, he has yet to put together an effective campaign staff or any set of distinctive stands on the major issues. As in the case of Edmund Muskie in 1972, the idea of John Glenn may be impressive, the actual candidate much less so. One Democratic politician in Washington remarked recently, reaching for another political analogy, that Glenn would be the George Romney of this campaign.

The campaigns of Hart, Cranston, Askew and the others have yet to acquire serious political specific gravity.

Which may be why Richard Nixon, a shrewd observer, has been talking among friends about Gov. Mario Cuomo of New York. Cuomo has been vehement about staying in Albany, but he is also putting together a high-grade political staff under former Pat Moynihan aide Tim Rupperty, and he has established a close relationship with pollster Patrick Caddell.

Mondale's serious problems may be just beginning.

EDWARD WALSH Budget System Is Trivial

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Constructing an annual operating budget for the U.S. Forest Service ought to be a relatively simple task because the agency has one basic mission — operating the National Forest system.

But the House and Senate appropriations committees have managed to devise an elaborate procedure which virtually guarantees that the yearly funding process will be unnecessarily complex and cumbersome for everyone involved.

Not satisfied to exercise their right to approve the Forest Service's overall budget and to establish general policy priorities indicating how those funds should be spent, the congressional committees also insist upon itemizing precisely how much money should be appropriated for no fewer than 50 separate categories of agency activity.

The trivial nature of that process is best illustrated by the fact that the yearly expenditures in almost half (22) of those 50 categories amount to less than 1 percent of the Forest Service's total annual budget.

Another example of Congress' fixation with the minutiae of the budget process: When the Federal Aviation Administration went to Capitol Hill last year to seek its annual appropriation, it was required to submit detailed answers to 519 written questions posed by the House committee and an additional 350 queries from the Senate committee.

Congress insists upon perpetuating those practices because its members long ago discovered that there is no form of political leverage more powerful than budget control.

By granting themselves virtually absolute authority to allocate — or withhold — funds needed by all government departments and agencies, the legislators maintain considerable influence over all of the recipients' policies and programs.

But the members of Congress pay a high price for the privilege of insulating themselves into the bureaucratic realm: They must devote inordinate amounts of their own time, energy and other resources to the yearly budget process.

If the lawmakers were willing to relinquish a modest measure of their intimate involvement in that process, they almost certainly would have more time to perform their principal task of providing the country with broad policy guidance.

One generally successful budget technique long utilized by state legislatures is the practice of biennial rather than annual budgeting — appropriating government funds for two years rather than only one year.

Adoption of that system would provide Congress with an opportunity to expand its oversight function and thus secure a better perspective on how well (or poorly) existing programs are functioning. At the same time, Congress presumably would be able to improve its currently disgraceful record of delinquency in enacting appropriation bills.

Afghans Evade Soviet 'Press Gangs'

WASHINGTON — Like the brutal press gangs of King George III, Soviet "recruiters" in Afghanistan are having their problems trying to enlist natives to fight against their countrymen. Afghans are understandably reluctant to sign up as cannon fodder — or, more likely, sniper targets — in the army of the Soviet-backed Kabul regime.

Confidential State Department intelligence reports describe some of the difficulties the Soviets have encountered in their heavy-handed attempts to draft Afghan males into the so-called "people's army." Here are some of the details, contained in documents seen by my associate Lucette Lagnado:

— The press gangs' activities "reached unprecedented proportions" last winter, when massive desertions had decimated the Afghan army. "Men in their fifties and boys in their early teens were often seized from the street and sent out of Kabul before their families could attempt to intervene."

— There are reports that the communist puppet regime is preparing to raise the draft age to 45. Meanwhile, to make more males available for recruiting, the government has reportedly decided to allow only women and former soldiers to enter Kabul University this year.

— Dragnet operations in sealed-off sections of Afghan cities are used in addition to the roving press gangs. "There have been periods of more intensive search-and-seizure efforts in Kabul and provincial cities. Last week, the search for conscripts in Kabul intensified; areas of the city are once again being surrounded and searched, often using cadets from the military academies."

— Bazaars and secondary schools are frequent targets of the mobile recruiting gangs, as they seek out any male deemed physically capable of carrying a gun.

— One incident described in a confidential report involved a youth "who could not have been more than 15 years old." Stopped by a press gang, the lad punched the officer in charge. He was "quickly beaten to the ground and thrown into the back of the gang's truck."

— Two boys, aged 14 and 15, found in their home during their father's absence, were forcibly dragged away "and are now in uniform."

— Veterans who have already completed their military service since the Soviet invasion more than three years ago are reportedly being called up again.

— "The regime has gone so far as to draft baggage handlers at Kabul airport," according to one cable.

The Afghans have devised certain expedients to "cope with the regime's hunger for cannon fodder," according to one intelligence report. Families with draft-age sons hide them in their homes, send them to live with relatives in rural areas or — shades of the Vietnam era — send them out of the country.

Occasionally, families have succeeded in bribing the press gangs to "come back tomorrow" for a house search, then spirited their sons out of harm's way that night.

In the bazaars, gangs of under-age street urchins keep watch for the roving recruiters, and give enough warning to let draftable shopkeepers close up or at least duck behind their wares.

U.S. intelligence analysts believe the Soviets' increasingly desperate conscription efforts are giving them an Afghan army of dubious value, and driving those who elude the press gangs out of the country. But the Kremlin obviously doesn't care how many Afghans are killed by the guerrillas or become refugees. The Soviets want the country, not its unquenchably independent people.

Outstanding Volunteer

Willard Chastain, right, receives an award from U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum during a recent D-V-Dend recognition program for Seminole County school volunteers. Chastain was honored with the Volunteer of the Year Award, having donated more than 200 hours of volunteer work at the English Estates School.

Special Tools Needed For Summer Repairs

By Peter Costa
NEW YORK (UPI) — Nothing is more frustrating than working on your lawnmower or car and discovering the bolt you need to remove requires an odd-size socket wrench you don't have.

And, while you certainly do not need to have a tool kit varied enough to repair the Space Shuttle, a few specialty items for those hard to reach, way-behind-the-starter-motor repairs are necessary.

First, the basic tool kit. For most jobs around the house and under the hood, you need open-end and box-end wrenches from about three-eighths inches to 1-inch openings. (Foreign cars and some U.S. cars such as the Chevrolet Citation require metric wrenches.)

For odd jobs like tightening wheel bearings, a good quality 12-inch-long adjustable wrench should take care of any nut larger than 1 inch.

Locking pliers to grasp stripped fasteners are also a handy item. Regular, slip-joint pliers are a must.

Ratcheting wrenches in popular sizes of 1/2-inch and nine-sixteenths inch save tired forearms when trying to remove a nut from a long shock absorber stud.

If you face television antenna repairs, a ratcheting seven-sixteenths-inch wrench makes taking down antenna masts and elements much easier because you need not reposition the wrench each time you want to take a turn on a fastener.

Your tool arsenal should include a good quality socket wrench set with extension arms. Sockets should be thin-walled and 12-point so they fit easily over nuts and fasteners. A swivel arm extension as well as 3-, 6-, and 12-inch extension arms are good to have for hard to reach areas.

A three-eighths-inch drive set of sockets should be rugged enough for most engine work like removing sparkplugs. Installing a water pump or an alternator.

For big-bicep jobs like manhandling a muffler or a tie-rod end, the heavier 1/2-inch drive set will be necessary.

Deep sockets in 1/2-inch and nine-sixteenths-inch sizes are also recommended, as well as a deep socket spark plug wrench.

For hard-to-remove, rusty fasteners a six-point socket wrench is preferred. The six-point socket has a greater surface area and will not "round out" a nut the way a 12-point does.

Screwdrivers, both regular and Phillips head, are also necessary for most jobs. Now for a few specialty items.

If you are really particular — a Felix-Unger-Odd-Couple fanatic mechanic — then a digital release torque wrench will be great fun. The torque wrench allows you to tighten oil pan bolts, wheel bearings, spark plugs, head gaskets, virtually everything on a car, to exact specifications without overtightening, warping heads or what have you.

The torque wrench releases automatically when the set torque is reached. A twin-bladed, wedge "starting" screwdriver is a neat thing to have when you must insert a small screw in a hard to reach place like the distributor on a slant-6 engine. By pushing down on a sliding ring on the screwdriver the blades expand slightly, firmly gripping the screw.

If you have ever dropped a fine-threaded condenser screw down a distributor shaft, you will rejoice at having a starting screwdriver to prevent such a disaster from happening again.

Nobel Peace Prize Winner Protests Argentine 'Genocide'

By Carl Smith
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI) — When little-known sculptor and pacifist Adolfo Perez Esquivel won the 1980 Nobel peace prize, Argentina's military regime was furious that one of its citizens was being honored as a human rights activist.

Many Argentines, whose only source of information was the government-censored press, were unaware that thousands of people had been kidnapped, imprisoned, tortured and killed for political reasons.

They criticized Perez Esquivel for blackening the reputation of their country by focusing world attention on the plight of the "disappeared."

Three years later, the outspoken Perez Esquivel has become a hero of sorts, as relatives demand an official explanation of what happened to loved ones who were spirited away as political prisoners during 7 1/2 years of tough military rule.

The 50-year-old founder of Latin America's Service for Peace and Justice, a Catholic humanitarian group, recently staged a 13-day hunger strike to protest political repression in Argentina, now only months away from a promised return to democracy.

Just after ending his hunger strike, Perez Esquivel made a personal appearance at the largest human rights protest ever held in Buenos Aires and was cheered by more than 20,000 demonstrators.

Wrapped in a wool Indian poncho against the Southern Hemisphere winter chill, Perez Esquivel told the crowd that "every one of those responsible for state terrorism will be brought to justice" by the civilian government to be elected Oct. 30 in a nationwide vote — the first democratic elections in 10 years.

Six months ago, the mere mention of prosecuting military officers for human rights violations would have sparked rumors of a coup to block the long-awaited elections.

On April 28, the military junta aired a documentary film — a "final explanation" of why it used guerrilla tactics and violated constitutional guarantees to wipe out leftist opponents, intellectuals and journalists from 1975 to 1979.

Claiming the armed forces were only trying to defend the country against Communism, the junta said that most of the 8,000 people reported kidnapped and missing for political reasons had to be "considered dead."

Political opponents, however, protested what they called a "whitewash," and Perez Esquivel began the hunger strike to pray for the "dismantling of the still-intact repressive apparatus" and the prompt reappearance — alive — of the missing people.

The turning point in the human rights struggle in Argentina came when the ban on political activity was lifted after Britain's overwhelming victory in the Falklands war last June.

For the first time in seven years, newspapers dared to reveal that 112 children who were kidnapped with their parents during the 1970's repression are still missing and were probably given up for illegal adoption.

"Slowly and painfully, the Argentine people are beginning to find out what happened in our country under military rule — and just now are they shedding the fear that kept them from speaking out and risking their own lives before," Perez Esquivel said in an interview before he ended his hunger strike May 22.

Perez Esquivel said the entire country hoped the junta's report on the anti-leftist repression would be thoughtful and would reveal exactly what happened to each missing person.

"If they think they can close the case by saying all the missing people are dead, then we are up against nothing less than a genocide in Argentina — and that is a crime against humanity," he said.

With just five months to go before elections, the military government is growing increasingly sensitive to criticism of its human rights record.

Officers who were directly associated with the fight to wipe out terrorists and leftists are nervous that the new democratic government will conduct a Nuremberg-style trial, diplomatic sources said.

WHAT SHOULD I KNOW BEFORE I BUY SUNTAN LOTIONS OR OILS?

ECKERD HEALTHLINE
BY BENJAMIN ECKERT PHARMACIST

It is the time of year when many are trying for a good, "healthy" tan. Research has shown that excessive exposure to sunlight can lead to premature aging and skin cancer, which may not show up for years.

In light of these findings, it is wise to use a good sunscreen before you spend long periods of time in the sun. Sunscreens are rated by SPF — sun protection factor — numbers. The higher the SPF number, the greater the level of protection.

These products enable you to spend hours in the sunshine without the worry of sunburn. They are particularly good for children and those with fair skin.

Just ask your Eckerd Pharmacist or Cosmetics for assistance with your skin's sun-care needs.

HURRICANE SEASON NEAR
MIAMI (UPI) — The six-month hurricane season begins Wednesday and a new plan for warning residents on the odds of being in a storm's path is under consideration, but detractors say the system "could result in disaster."

The new prediction plan, which is expected to be approved by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration next month, would allow forecasters to enumerate the odds that a hurricane will strike a particular area.

For example, south Florida residents might be told that a hurricane three days away has a 10 percent to 15 percent chance of coming ashore. As the storm moves, the odds would be increased or decreased.

Some officials say the probability figures could do more to confuse coastal residents than educate them.

WORLD IN BRIEF

PLO Official To Seek Guidance From Soviets

By United Press International

With Syria warning "American blood" could be spilled in new Middle East hostilities, a top Palestinian guerrilla leader headed for Moscow today to seek the Kremlin's guidance on resolving tensions in the region.

Abu Iyad, the nom de guerre of Salah Khalaf, left Kuwait for Moscow Tuesday for a visit officially aimed at "refreshing relations and securing more assistance for the coming battle" with Israel, the Kuwait News Agency said.

Abu Iyad is Arafat's No. 2 man in Fatah, the largest guerrilla group within the Palestine Liberation Organization. PLO chief Yasser Arafat stayed in the Middle East to battle a revolt inside Fatah, PLO officials said.

About 155 rebels seized six Fatah offices and supply depots in a suburb of Damascus Saturday, wounding two guards, and have refused to obey the orders of two unpopular commanders Arafat appointed in Lebanon's eastern Bekaa Valley.

The dissidents have criticized Arafat for being too moderate in his position toward Israel.

NATO To OK Missiles

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UPI) — NATO defense ministers gathered for a two-day meeting likely to put a final seal on the deployment of 572 cruise and Pershing-2 nuclear missiles in Europe later this year.

The meeting beginning today was clouded by an unusually blunt outburst by European ministers about American influence over NATO's estimated $50 billion arms procurement market and protectionist tendencies in Congress.

Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger said there would be no going back on a 1979 decision to deploy the new missiles to offset an estimated 500 medium-range Soviet nuclear missiles targeted on western Europe and 100 similar weapons aimed at Asia.

Loading of the new missiles into their silos is set to begin in December unless the Soviet Union agrees to dismantle medium-range missiles in disarmament talks with the Americans at Geneva.

Weinberger said he had seen no evidence of a breakthrough in the talks.

Mexico Unveils Six-Year Economic Development Plan

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Mexican President Miguel de la Madrid and his top Cabinet ministers unveiled his government's six-year development plan with few concrete proposals and the promise to combat inflation and unemployment.

De la Madrid, speaking to the nation over television and radio broadcasts, promised little hope for improvement of the country's devastated economy in the short term.

Mexico suffers an inflation rate of 5 percent monthly and unemployment pegged conservatively at 10 percent.

On Monday, each of the Cabinet ministers and the mayor of Mexico City presented a portion of the six-year, 412-page national development plan, which forecast a pickup in economic trends starting in 1984.

Among its few concrete points, the plan said the economy would contract 2 percent to 4 percent in 1983, but would grow by 2.5 percent the next year and 5 percent to 6 percent yearly until 1988.

The plan also predicted public and private investment would grow at rates of 8 percent or more starting in 1985.

De la Madrid said the plan would strengthen democracy, overcome economic problems, trigger new growth and make "qualitative changes" in Mexico's economic, political and social structure.

De la Madrid promised to "simultaneously combat" both inflation and unemployment, which he termed "the greatest difficulties" facing the nation.

In the long term, the plan promised a 3.5 percent increase in employment yearly.

The new plan "avoids the rigidity of immovable economic figures," instead stressing "flexibility."

De la Madrid also promised to protect lower classes and social programs, saying "the national interest and vested interests are not always the same."

At the same time, he defended the government's role in the economy and stressed that private sector growth would come from internal savings instead of increased foreign investment in Mexico.

Pursuing ambitious development plans, the previous administration of President Jose Lopez Portillo ran up an $82 billion foreign debt. Mexico has not made any principle payments on its debt since last August.

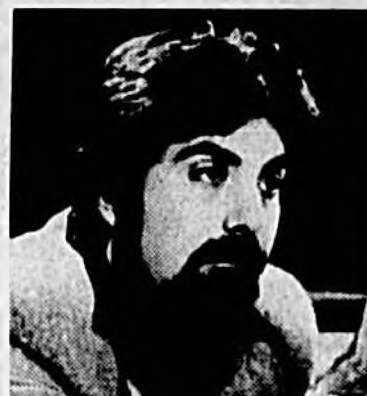

The Mexican government, under the conditions of its $3.9 billion International Monetary Fund loan, must slash the federal deficit from 17.9 percent of the Gross Domestic Product to 8.5 percent.

Q: "I'm conserving on my electric use, but my bill still seems to keep going up. Why is this?"

A: "Because our operating costs, like the costs of the other goods and services you buy, have gone up dramatically in recent years. And will probably continue to go up at about the same rate as the general inflation level. You may also be noticing the seasonal increase in your bill primarily caused by increased use of your air conditioner."

"However, you can still have some control, through conservation, over the amount of your monthly electric bill. In fact, the energy usage information in the lower left hand corner of your bill shows you the kilowatt-hours you've bought both the current month and the same month last year. Use that information to help guide your conservation efforts."

Q: "What is FPL doing to make it worth my while to conserve?"

A: "Many things. Our cash incentives help residential customers pay for ceiling insulation, solar film, or the replacement of inefficient air conditioning and water heating systems with new energy-efficient systems. We offer Energy Audits for homes and businesses. Our Watt-Wise™ Line gives customers information on how to conserve electricity. We have a comprehensive program encouraging builders to build energy-efficient Watt-Wise Homes. We have a program that helps residential pool owners by adjusting their pool pump timers. And we distribute information and brochures telling customers how to conserve electricity to hold down their energy costs."

Q: "Are conservation programs really working?"

A: "Yes. Their success and lower fuel prices are the primary reasons bills for the average customer will be lower this summer than they were two years ago. Conservation, together with the full range of FPL's oil-savings programs, reduced our total use of oil by 27 percent last year. That's 12 million barrels of oil that no one had to pay for. Conservation benefits everyone through reduced oil use and deferred power plant construction. However, customers who conserve actively get the biggest immediate benefit."

Study Says Embargoes On Soviets Don't Work

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Western trade embargoes imposed in an effort to influence the Kremlin's behavior are not likely to succeed, according to a new congressional study on the Soviet economy.

Such embargoes do not work "in part because of damage to economic interests in the countries that apply pressure," the paper said.

The study, a compilation of papers by more than 50 private and government experts prepared by the Joint Economic Committee of Congress, recites a litany of economic woes confronting economic planners in Moscow.

Some of the problems are well known in the West, such as sagging productivity and the need to develop energy resources.

The papers include several on U.S. trade strategy toward the Soviet Union, including one on the effects of the U.S. grain embargo imposed by President Carter in 1980 in an unsuccessful effort to force the Soviets to withdraw from Afghanistan.

Other major points made in the 1,000-page-plus study include:

—Soviet economic planning is now "more centralized, rigid and detailed than ever before" despite recent reforms.

—The official Soviet view that economic performance can be improved without increased investments has been challenged by "prominent Soviet experts."

—Public disillusionment with the Soviet system may be contributing to increased alcoholism and higher mortality among working-age males and to decreased labor discipline and productivity.

—Sluggish growth of the Soviet steel industry has become a "major drag" on the economy.

—The Soviets have been "unable to successfully assimilate Western technology" and have "a poor record" in using such technology to generate hard currency earnings.

Lyman's Lori Carroll (above) won the high jump, teammate Schowonda Williams (far right) took the 330 intermediate hurdles while Lake Howell's Ken Cheeseman upset the nation's best, Brian Jaeger of Winter Park, to win the mile in a state-record time.

County Track Stars Run, Jump, Throw With Elite

When it comes to track and field, the Five-Star Conference — and Seminole County in particular — can run, jump and throw with the best. Whether it is the coaching or the athletes or a combination of the two, the county's track performers — more than any other sport — take a backseat to no one.

As the late Casey Stengel would say, you can look it up. The Five Star and the county combined for eight individual champions. Seventeen region meet champions. Eighty-five state qualifiers. Thirty-eight state meet placers (top six) and seven to 10 tentative All-Americans, according to Lyman girls track coach Joe Laughlin.

Six prime ingredients are Ken Cheeseman, Schowonda Williams, Lori Carroll, Adrienne Pollitowicz, Katie Sams and Pat Archibald — all state champions from Seminole County. Spruce Creek's Carmen Gardner and Mainland's Emerson Williams were the other state champs in the two mile and 100 dash respectively.

Lake Howell's Cheeseman had an incredible year. The hard-working junior has watched the heels of Brian Jaeger for the past two years. At the 4A State Meet two weeks ago, he decided to trade his Avis for a Hertz. He did what a lot of the experts figured could't be done. He beat Jaeger, the nation's top miler, on his own course, and he did it convincingly. His 4:08.5 mile was a new state record, and the third best nationwide. Expect even greater things from Cheeseman and his coach Doug Blackwell next year.

Williams and Carroll withstood the pressure all year. The Lyman juniors helped the Lady Greyhounds to their best finish ever — second — in the 4A State Meet. They withstood the pressure because you could find their names on the top 10 lists in events every week when the State Honor Roll came out. Which meant they were the target every time they stepped on the track. A lot of girls took a shot at that target, but nobody even grazed it.

Williams, who didn't take up hurdling until two years ago at the urging of, won her state championship in the 330 hurdles where her time of 43.2 in third nationwide. This past weekend, she added the 110 low hurdles to her titles in the prestigious Golden South Classic. Running the 440 intermediates for the first time, she also won that race in a breeze.

Carroll has been coach Larry Baker's prize high jumper in this area for two years. This year, the tall blonde put it all together with state championship. She, like Williams, was on top of the heap all year and constantly had girls attention. Carroll's 5-9 1/2 at the Trojan Invitational is among the top five jumps nationally.

Sam Cook
Sports Editor

Coach George Austin's Trinity Prep girls have become very familiar with the 1A state championship for the past six years. The string was interrupted, however, in 1982 when the Lady Saints finished second. They reclaimed their rightful position this past year with their usual strong showing from the younger girls. Austin has the knack of nurturing his girls to peak at the big meet. Year after year, he takes eighth and ninth graders and wins championships.

This year was no different. Pollitowicz, a ninth grader, won the mile run. Sams, an eighth grader, won the 880 run. Archibald, the grandma of the group (she's a junior), took the 110 low hurdles. Three more state champs of the Saints, and another big trophy for Florida's No. 1 1A track school.

In any other year, several place winners at the state meet would have been considered great, but with the six county champs, the place winners were relegated to the lower paragraphs.

On the 3A level, coach Mark Magee had the state's fourth best high jumper in Mike Rouse. The springy junior leaped 6-4. Oviedo senior Leonard Hadden raced to a sixth-place finish in the 22.0. Behind the astute leadership of Magee and coach Mike Gibson, the Rams have won the district with both the boys and the girls.

Back in the 4A, Lyman junior Doug McBroom ran to fifth to Cheeseman in the mile. Seminole senior Dion Jackson placed fourth in the triple jump with a leap of 48-6 1/4. Lake Brantley senior Mike Patterson went 6-4 for sixth in the high jump. Lyman senior John Fisher leaped 13-6 to tie for third in the pole vault. Cheeseman added a second place in the two mile in 9:16.2. Seminole's mile medley team of Joe Whack, Willie Baas, Torin Williams and Mike Wooten placed fourth in 3:33.4.

For the girls, Lyman senior Anjeanette Cleveland was second in the long jump with a leap of 18-3/4. Sophomore teammate Angie French was third in the discus with a throw of 131-7. Lyman's mile relay team of Pat Newman, Carroll, Williams and Cleveland finished sixth in 4:01.2.

Coaches Emory Blake and Nate Perkins directed the Lady Seminole to one of their best years ever. The Tribe grabbed the district title and won its first region championship in the school's history. At the state meet, junior Crystal Caldwell ran a 58.8 in the 440 dash for third place. The mile relay team of Charita Medlock, Sharon Jenkins, Caldwell and Trina Walker took fourth in 4:00.4. Medlock, who won the region long jump, had an off night at state but came back with a school record jump of 19-6 in the heptathlon the following weekend.

Lake Howell senior Cindy Blocker rolled a pair of sixes at the state meet. She finished sixth in the shot put with a heave of 37-6 1/4 and claimed a similar position in the discus with a throw of 122-4.

Lake Brantley junior Kathryn Hayward, running in an excellent mile field, placed fourth with a clocking of 5:08.9. Hayward won the district and region miles.

And with most of these runners being non-seniors, look for bigger and better performances next year for Seminole County, definitely a county to keep "track" of.

Moses: Fo' The Fans, Fo' Us, And Fo' The Doctor

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — They were named Dale Schlueter, Fred Boyd, Leroy Ellis, Manny Leaks, and so on. They were the 1972-73 Philadelphia 76ers, and they were awful.

Awful as in 9-73, the worst record in the long history of the NBA. Yet, oh, what a difference a decade can make.

The 1982-83 version of the 76ers culminated a magnificent season Tuesday night with a 115-108 drubbing of the defending NBA champion Los Angeles Lakers, completing just the fourth championship series sweep in league history and stamping itself as one of the NBA's all-time great teams.

When the regular season ended with 76ers holding a sparkling 67-15 record, Philadelphia's Moses Malone was asked what he expected from his team.

"Fo', fo', fo'," he replied. It meant four-game sweeps of each of the three playoff series.

Moses almost proved a prophet. Only a single loss to the Milwaukee Bucks blemished the 76ers' incredible playoff streak and their 12-1 post-season record goes into the book as the best in NBA history.

Moses, whose huge shoulders carried the 76ers to their first NBA crown in 16 years, was named the series MVP after scoring 24 points and grabbing an incredible 23 rebounds in the final game.

But he would not allow those shoulders to carry much of the credit.

"This is the greatest moment of Moses' life," the burly center gurgled through a mouthful of champagne in a raucous locker room. "But this isn't Moses' championship. We did it for our fans, and we did it for us, but mostly we did it for the Doctor."

Philadelphia became one of the league's premier teams in 1977, moving into the championship series against Portland. But it was also to be one of its most disappointing seasons as the 76ers became one of only four teams in league history to lose the series after winning the first two games.

That humiliating collapse prompted the now-famous slogan issued by the team to its fans: "We Owe You One." Instead of being paid off quickly, the debt began to multiply.

The 76ers again went to the finals in 1980, only to be ousted by the Lakers in six games. Again in 1982 the 76ers surged into the championship series, and again the Lakers were there to shatter their dream.

Julius Erving, the "Doctor," was there for all of it. Tuesday night he finally silenced the critics who had said that despite his enormous talent he would never play on a championship team. He remained passive amid the wild celebration.

"I'm not out of control now because of all the things I've been through, things that go beyond basketball," Erving said. "My family is still the most important thing to me. They stuck with me through six years of frustration."

Philadelphia coach Billy Cunningham, who played on the 76ers' first championship team in 1967, remembered the last six seasons when the team made it to the playoffs but never got the ring.

"This game is like life," he said. "You get knocked down a lot, but true champions get off the floor, and that's what we did."

"After years of frustration, we refused to give up."

The dethroned Lakers, seeking to become the first NBA team to repeat as champion since the 1969 Boston Celtics, had offered as excuses fatigue, injuries and the officiating — some with merit — for previous losses. But they finally admitted they lost to the better team.

"They deserve it," said Laker coach Pat Riley. "It just wasn't meant to be. It was the year of the 76er. We carried the championship as far as we could bring it, and Philadelphia just took it away from us. Now they've taken our place."

Erving finished the game with 19 points, seven coming in the last two minutes when the 76ers, who had not led since the opening period, bolted back into the game. An Erving steal and dunk with two minutes left tied the score 106-106. With 59 seconds left, Erving slammed another one home and was fouled. He made the free throw and the 76ers led 109-107.

After a free throw by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar pulled the desperate Lakers within 109-108, Erving dethroned the champions by drilling a 10-foot jumper with 24 seconds left.

Abdul-Jabbar, playing in what might be his final game as a Laker, scored 28 points, while Magic Johnson had 27 and also added 13 assists and Jamaal Wilkes finished with 21 points.

Abdul-Jabbar, whose contract expired this season, is asking $2 million per season — the same salary as Malone.

"I'm very disappointed, but we did the best we could," Abdul-Jabbar said. "We couldn't have done any better. We lost to the better team."

Sixer Sweep Knocks Fans Off Their Feet

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The brooms said it all Tuesday night ... and well into this morning.

The Philadelphia 76ers had swept the NBA championship series in four straight games and dethroned the Los Angeles Lakers to get their first crown in 16 years.

With the final basket sunk in the 115-108 victory, Philadelphia got to its feet in a collective shout of joy that lasted for over four hours, tied up traffic and left a few storefronts mangled.

Fireworks popped and cars raced through the streets, horns shrilling and fans yelling and waving banners, oblivious to the cool night air. Garbage trucks starting their nightly rounds added a deeper bass note with their air horns.

The celebrations erupted in bars throughout Philadelphia where many had spent the evening watching the Sixers take an early lead, fall behind, and then fight back to a 115-108 victory.

Charles Perry, who watched the series at Andrea's Lounge in south Philadelphia, said, "We're all partying here, everybody. It was outstanding. Just outstanding."

Perry said he and his friends were waiting for Thursday's parade, which will carry the champs from 20th and Market in center city, to the stadium complex in south Philadelphia.

Mayor William Green called the Sixers, with their regular season record and record-setting 12-1 playoff mark, "one of the finest ever to set foot on a court."

"The Philadelphia 76ers never owed us anything," said Green. "Throughout previous years, and especially tonight, they have made us proud of them, and added to our record as a city of champions."

One of the Sixers' biggest fans, comedian Bill Cosby, watched the finals at his Connecticut home with his wife, Camille.

Rocky's Breezes, 18-5

Nine different players got hits Monday as Rocky's Texaco breezed to a 18-5 victory over Kiwanis in Sanford Junior League softball action at the Fort Mellon Park softball facility.

Latesa Deasley led the way with two singles, Blondie McKinney added a home run and Latra Hampton roped a triple. Mary Hicks, Valerie Gordon, Regina McKinney, Vinnice Chapman, Coretha Moore and Liz Chesser all had singles for Rocky's Texaco. Cynthia Peterson drilled a triple for Kiwanis while the only other hits were singles by Latonya Roundtree and Tonya Bell.

Gordon picked up the pitching victory for Rocky's Texaco while Revonda Wallace was tagged with the loss. In the other Junior League softball game on Monday, Sanford Housing Authority won by forfeit over Medco Pharmacy.

Hamstring Pulls Out Niekro During Best Showing Of Year

United Press International
Phil Niekro only allowed one hit Tuesday night in leading the Atlanta Braves to a 10-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates, but he had a conflict of interest — with both his hamstring muscles — and was forced to cut short his best showing of the season.

Niekro fashioned a strong five-inning, three-hit performance, striking out two and walking one. The only run scored off the veteran knuckleballer came on a solo home run by Bill Madlock.

But after he singled in a run during the Braves' three-run fourth, Niekro injured himself sliding into home on the first of Brett Butler's two triples.

Niekro, 2-4, passed Cy Young for 11th place on the all-time strikeout list with 2,813. But when his Atlanta teammates gave him the ball he used for his first strikeout, against Pittsburgh's Jason Thompson, his curiosity was piqued.

"They threw the ball out of the game, and I wanted it back to pitch with," Niekro said. "I didn't know why they did it. Somebody back in Atlanta had said something about strikeouts, but I didn't know what he was talking about."

Niekro added he might have done better early in the game.

"I didn't have a good knuckleball," he said. "I had to go more with fastballs and sliders. In the first couple innings, they were hitting some balls pretty good. But when you get runs by the fourth inning and end up with 10 or 11, the pressure is off the pitcher and the defense."

Claudell Washington keyed the Braves' attack, going 4-for-4 with a two-run triple and added two singles, a double and a walk. Butler's pair of triples resulted in two RBIs.

Madlock, who was 3-for-4, singled in the Pirates' second run in the eighth off Atlanta reliever Steve Bedrosian.

Astros 12, Cubs 10

At Chicago, Phil Garner's three-run double capped a four-run Houston rally in the seventh inning. He was joined by Ray Knight, who collected four hits, in a 19-hit onslaught against five Chicago pitchers. Alan Ashby added a two-run homer in the second. Frank LaCorte, 3-2, was the winner and the loser was Craig Lafferty, 0-3.

Reds 3, Cardinals 1

At St. Louis, Charlie Puleo and Bill Scherrer combined on a six-hitter and Paul Householder and

Baseball

Alan Knicely singled in runs to power the Cincinnati win. Puleo, 1-2, allowed two singles in the fourth. Loser Joaquin Andujar, 3-7, who hasn't beaten the Reds since 1979, tossed a five-hitter.

Dodgers 4, Phillies 1

At Los Angeles, Greg Brock and Steve Yeager clubbed home runs and Jerry Reuss tossed a seven-hitter to lead the win. Brock's 10th homer of the season came in the fifth inning to snap a 1-1 tie. Philadelphia's Charlie Hudson made his major league debut, retiring 10 straight.

Giants 2, Mets 1

At San Francisco, Darrell Evans hit his 12th homer of the year and Bill Laskey and Gary Lavelle combined on a four-hitter to lead the Giants' seventh win of their last eight and 19th of 25. Laskey went 7-23 in innings and won his seventh straight after four losses.

Padres 5, Expos 3

At San Diego, Steve Garvey hit his ninth homer of the year with one out in the eighth inning to break a 3-3 tie and send the Expos to their fourth straight loss. John Montefusco, 2-2, making his second appearance of the year in relief, pitched the final two innings for the triumph. Tim Lincecum, who raised his average to .286 with five hits in his last six at bats the past two days, did not play for Montreal.

Red Sox 2, White Sox 1

This time Floyd Bannister thought things would be different.

After all, Chicago was on a four-game winning streak, had slugged 23 homers in its last 11 games and was batting .299 before Tuesday night's game. So it was only natural for the left-hander to expect some hitting support for a change, right?

Wrong. The White Sox, who scored only nine runs in Bannister's six losses before Tuesday night, were punchless again. Chicago handed only seven hits to their multi-million dollar hurler and shackled him with a tough 2-1 loss to the Boston Red Sox.

Bannister, however, appeared unfazed about the lack of support. "I just have to go out and do the best I can," he said. "Some things you can't control."

Catcher Marc Hill and pitching coach Dave Duncan agree Bannister, 2-7, is past the early-season jitters when he felt he had to prove his worth to the team. He has looked strong his last four or five outings.

Brewers 5, A's 2

At Milwaukee, Robin Yount's two-run double keyed a four-run third inning and Moose Haas scattered eight hits to help deal the A's their sixth straight defeat. Yount, however, was forced to leave later in the inning when he collided with A's catcher Mike Heath.

"It's not too serious," said Yount, who took nine stitches in his left shin. "We'll have to wait and see how it feels tomorrow before we decide whether or not I'll play."

Indians 5, Mariners 2

At Cleveland, Andre Thornton belted his sixth homer of the season to end the Indians' home run drought at Municipal Stadium. Thornton's blast was the first for a Cleveland batter at home since Opening Day. Six hundred and fifty two Indians had stepped to the plate without reaching the fences.

Yankees 5, Angels 3

At New York, Ken Griffey's two-out, two-run single capped a four-run eighth inning that gave the Yankees their fifth straight victory. Dale Murray, 1-1, was credited with the triumph and Mike Witt, 3-5, took the loss. California's Rod Carew, the AL's top hitter, went 0-for-3.

Twins 10, Orioles 3

At Minneapolis, Randy Bush and Gary Gaetti each drove in three runs and rookie Ken Schrom posted his fourth victory without a loss to help snap the Twins' five-game losing streak. Schrom, recalled May 5, allowed seven hits in his first major-league complete game.

Royals 6, Rangers 5

At Arlington, Texas, Hal McRae's two-run double highlighted a four-run fourth inning and rookie southpaw Bud Black recorded his second straight victory to hand the Rangers their fourth straight loss and ninth in their last 11 games.

NEW YORK (UPI) — George Steinbrenner has been given the thumbs up for one week by American League president Lee MacPhail for "public tirades and attack against the umpires integrity and professionalism."

But don't expect that to put a muzzle on the outspoken New York Yankees' owner.

MacPhail levied a one-week suspension, beginning Friday, against Steinbrenner Tuesday and it bars the Yankee owner from attending games or being in his Yankee Stadium office until June 10.

Famous Recipe exploded for 14 runs in the first inning Monday night in the "Chicken Chain's" 23-8 rout of Seminole Ford in Sanford Little American League action at Bay Avenue Field. A two-run homer by Troy Rollins and doubles by Anton Reid and Tim Hampton were the key hits in the first inning for Famous Recipe.

Seminole Ford scored five times in the bottom of the first on only one hit, that a two-run triple by Doug Spahn. Seminole Ford, who only had two hits in the game, also took advantage of seven walks in the inning.

With Famous Recipe ahead, 16-6, after three innings, the Recipe cooked up seven runs on four hits. The big hits were doubles by George Fryson, Reid and Hampton and a single by Gerald Morris. Famous Recipe had 17 hits in the game as Reid led the way with a perfect 4 for 4 performance. Troy Rollins and Hampton added three hits each while Leonard Richardson and Morris had two hits each.

In other action, Sam Black scored on a single by Maurice Howard in the bottom of the eighth inning as Adcock Roofing squeezed by Butch's Chevron, 14-13, in the first extra-inning game of the year in the Little American League.

Going into the sixth inning, Adcock Roofing held a 12-8 lead. But, Butch's Chevron rallied for five runs to take a 13-12 lead into the bottom of the sixth. Key hits in the rally included a double by Jeff Derr and singles by Tony Hayes and Anthony Harris.

Black smashed a solo home run to lead off the sixth for Adcock Roofing as the game went into the seventh deadlocked at 13-13.

Butch's Chevron had a reach third base in the top of the seventh, but relief pitcher "Steady Eddie" Charles struck out Robert Whitaker to end the inning.

Adcock Roofing had men on second and third with only one out in the bottom of the seventh, but drew a blank.

Butch's Chevron had two baserunners on in the top of the eighth, but Charles did his "Al The Mad Hungarian Hrabosky" routine and got Paul Harkness to ground out to end the inning.

In the bottom of the eighth, Black reached on an error to lead off. David Rusher then singled to put runners on the corners. Howard then drilled a single to chase home Black with the winning run.

Atlantic Bank rolled up 11 runs over the first three innings and added 11 more in the fifth en route to a 23-9 triumph over Seminole Petroleum.

Andrus Redding clubbed three hits to lead Atlantic Bank at the plate while Julius Bennett, Larry Allen and Elbert Williams added two hits each. Bennett clouted a home run and knocked in three runs.

Williams picked up the pitching victory in relief of Bennett while Kenneth Crotty took the loss for Seminole Petroleum. Daniel Skipper had a pair of hits for Seminole Petroleum while Chris Lassiter and Scooter Leonard each had a triple.

In Pee Wee League action, Tony Lattimore fired a no-hitter and Anthony Roberts slugged two hits to lead Clem Leonard Shell to a 7-1 victory over Kokomo Tools.

Clem Leonard Shell got all the runs it needed in second inning, taking a 3-0 lead. Diablo Washington led off with a double and both Eric Lambert and Tony Taylor walked to load the bases. Herman Eason then singled in one run and Adaryl Jones doubled in two more runs.

In going the distance on the mound, Lattimore struck out 10 and walked six.

Adcock Roofing scored seven runs in both the first and second innings and cruised to a 18-6 victory over McRoberts Tire. Demetri Beamon hurled a one-hitter for the pitching victory and also ripped a pair of hits including a double. Rick Barnes had a triple and a double and knocked in four runs for Adcock Roofing. Demetri Miller's single in the third inning was the only hit for McRoberts Tire.

Stress Affects Child's Intelligence

DETROIT (UPI) — Children who are under emotional or physical stress score 13 percent lower on intelligence tests than youngsters who are functioning virtually worry free, two researchers say.

Bernard Brown and Lillian Rosenbaum of Georgetown University created a stress index using a sample of 4,000 7-year-old children.

"What we found was that stress index showed the IQ of the children decreased 13 percent from low stress to high stress," Brown said.

The youngsters' IQ scores dropped from 104 with no stress to 91 with high stress, he said.

The researchers did not test children before and after they were under stress but compared children who were under stress to those who were not.

"IQs decreased much more for children who were held back a grade or assigned to special education and there was a particularly dramatic change for children who had eye problems, the ones who had less than 20-60 vision in their eyes."

The stress factors included poor vision; hearing, muscle tone or reflex problems; behavioral trouble such as crying, nail-biting and hyperactivity; and whether the child was assigned to a special education class.

"But we also looked at the parents in the family — the health of the family," Ms. Rosenbaum said.

Examples were the number of times the family moved, death in the family, divorce, number of children in the family, pregnancy since birth of the child, parents' employment or number of years they had been out of work, and income.

"A child or adult who is functioning at normal to bright might be that much brighter — 10 percent more intelligent or more able to function more intelligently — were that person not under X number of stresses," Ms. Rosenbaum said.

Run For Your Life From Abusive Mate

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my husband. He has become obsessed with sex. He's started to bring home every girlie magazine he can find. He also buys books that show pictures of all the different positions to make love.

When we were married 10 years ago, he was a normal, decent man. Then about a year ago he started to get sex crazy. Thank God I can't have any children.

Last Sunday he insisted on making love to me four times. By nightfall I was physically and mentally abused. The next morning he woke me up at 4 a.m. wanting sex again. I told him I just couldn't—I was still exhausted from Sunday. He got rough and tried to force me against my will, so I jumped out of bed and ran to the guest room and locked the door. He screamed at me, pounded on the door and called me a "frigid b---". I thought he was going to break the door down. He finally gave up, and I stayed in that room until after he left for work.

Abby, I want out of this marriage. I am afraid to stay with this sex maniac. We just moved here and I don't know anybody. Please help me.

DESPERATE IN DENVER

Dear Abby

DEAR DESPERATE: Call "Gateway" or "Safehouse." Each provides temporary shelter for battered women. In the meantime you should absolutely not live with him. His sudden preoccupation with sex and his abusive behavior could be symptoms of a mental disorder. Run for your life! But first leave a note telling him that you refuse to live with him unless he is examined by a psychiatrist and treated for whatever caused the sudden change in his behavior.

Women in other areas with similar problems should call their rape crisis hotline for emergency help.

DEAR ABBY: This is probably the stupidest hang-up you've ever heard about. We have a son, 13 months old. When he was born, we debated between two names, Daniel and Patrick. We decided on Daniel because my brother, whom I love dearly, is named Patrick and I didn't like "Big Pat" and "Little Pat."

So the problem? As Daniel grew older, he became the image of my brother Patrick, and now I regret not naming him Patrick. It is driving me crazy.

My husband says at this stage of the game we can't change the kid's name. Why can't we?

KICKING MYSELF IN BOSTON

DEAR KICKING: You can if you want to. If you want to change his name legally, you should consult a lawyer. Otherwise, you can just start calling "the kid" Patrick.

DEAR ABBY: I need a lawyer and I need one fast. How do I find one who won't charge me an arm and a leg?

TEMPUS FUGIT

DEAR TEMPUS: First ask your friends and associates for their recommendations.

For helpful, detailed information about a lawyer's credentials, consult the Martindale-Hubbell Law Directory. It's the "Who's Who" of lawyers and can be found at your public library.

Don't be shy about "shopping" for a lawyer. For routine legal work such as drawing up a will, closing a real estate deal or checking a lease or contract, a low-cost legal clinic may suit your needs, but for trusts, tax work, divorce or trial cases, consult a lawyer who specializes in that field.

Find out in advance how much you will be charged. The local bar association referral service may be able to help you, but it only lists lawyers—it doesn't evaluate them.

Cook Of The Week

Chocolate Lovers In For Treat

By Lou Childers
Herald Correspondent

Calling all chocolate lovers. This week's cook, Betty Lansford of Lake Catherine in Chuluota, has some recipes that will captivate your chocolate-loving heart.

Betty says her fascination for chocolate began when she was carrying her first child. "I craved the BIG Hershey bars the entire nine months and ended up weighing 10 pounds shy of 200 by the end of my term," she adds. "My doctor was having a fit."

That was a few years back, though, for now Betty's three daughters, Linda Green, Shirley Kinkade and Rita Oneal, all have families of their own. But Betty's love affair with chocolate didn't end when she became a grandmother. It is still going strong.

"Everyone is wild about my 22-minute chocolate cake," she says. You do not use a mixer for this cake, and the icing is poured over the cake while it is still hot, just after being removed from the oven. "This cake will stay moist for days," says Betty, "providing you don't eat it all the first day, that is!"

Betty was born in Sulphur, Okla., and has fond memories of learning to cook at the side of her mother, Minnie Hearrell. Mrs. Hearrell has been visiting Betty and her other daughter, Jan Foer, for the past two weeks. Naturally, when there is a family reunion in progress, "the girls" end up trading recipes. Mrs. Hearrell's contribution is a no-bake Banana Split Cake that is made in six layers and refrigerated several hours, or overnight.

Another recipe that Betty's family says she is famous for is aptly named "Betty's Favorite Chocolate Pie." From pie crust and filling to meringue, they all agree, Betty's chocolate pie can't be beat (it's a real favorite with the menfolk). Betty comments, "I don't understand why anyone would use frozen crusts and instant pudding mixes when this recipe is so easy."

When it comes to hobbies, Betty loves yachting, and bowling. "The league that I've been on, Tuscaulilla Ladies Bowling League, had their awards banquet last week. My team received the last place trophy—but nobody had more fun all year long than we did."

Life hasn't always been "fun" for Betty. When her brother, Lewis Hearrell, went into the service, Betty was only 14 years old. Since work must continue on an Oklahoma farm, Betty's Dad recruited her to run the tractor, breaking up the land and laying the rows for planting.

"We even had a cane patch. When the cane got ripe, the leaves were stripped. Then we would haul the cane to the mill where it was pressed into juice and boiled in large vats." The fresh syrup would be stored in 50 gallon wooden barrels or tin syrup buckets.

Betty doesn't seem to mind being able to purchase syrup at the store, but she still insists on chocolate pie the old fashioned way—from scratch.

22-MINUTE CHOCOLATE CAKE

2 cups flour
2 cups sugar
1 stick margarine
1 cup water
1/2 cup shortening
3/4 tablespoons cocoa
1/2 cup buttermilk
2 eggs
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon vanilla

Do not use mixer. Combine flour and sugar in a large bowl. In a saucepan, bring to a boil the margarine, water, shortening and cocoa. Pour over flour and sugar mixture, stirring well.

Combine buttermilk, eggs, soda and vanilla and combine with chocolate mixture, mixing well. Pour into a 12x18 greased pan and bake in a 400 degree oven for 20 minutes. When cake has been baking 18 minutes, combine in a saucepan 1 stick margarine, 3/4 tablespoons cocoa, 1/2 cup milk. Bring to boil.

Add 1 pound box of powdered sugar and 1 cup chopped pecans. Pour over hot cake when it is removed from oven. Cool and cut.

PIE CRUST

4 cups flour
1 1/4 cups shortening
1 tablespoon sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 egg
1/2 cup water

With fork, mix flour, shortening, sugar and salt. In separate dish, beat water, egg and vinegar. Add to flour mixture, stirring with a fork until all ingredients are moistened. Mold into 4 balls and wrap in wax paper. Chill 30 minutes before rolling pie crust. Bake 15 minutes in a 400 degree oven.

BETTY'S FAVORITE CHOCOLATE PIE

1 cup sugar
1/2 cup flour
pinch salt
2 cups milk
4 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 beaten egg yolks

Place sugar, flour, cocoa and salt in a saucepan. In another pan, heat milk to boiling point and pour slowly into dry ingredients stirring until mixture thickens. When pudding is rich and thick, add 3 or 4 tablespoons of the hot chocolate mixture to the beaten egg yolks and stir. Continue to add the hot chocolate mixture while stirring. Cool 3 minutes. Stir in butter and vanilla. Pour into a baked 9-inch pie shell. Top with meringue, following instructions.

MERINGUE

2 egg whites
4 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Beat egg whites until stiff peaks form. Continue beating while adding sugar and vanilla. Mound meringue on pie filling by heaping tablespoons and bake in a 350 degree oven 3 to 4 minutes or longer, until golden brown. Watch carefully.

For Something Novel, Throw A Dumpling Party

By Gaynor Maddox
Special To The Herald

With the growing popularity of Chinese restaurants in the United States, many Americans have been introduced to one of the tastiest and homeliest staples of that country's fare — the dumpling.

With a little bit of ingenuity and lots of good humor, the American cook also can produce perfectly acceptable dumplings. The best occasion for such a production is a dumpling party in which guests are willing to participate. Dress for such an event is decidedly casual and the participants are expected to bring their own rolling pins.

Served traditionally by Chinese peasants at the celebration of the lunar new year and to special friends as a measure of hospitality, the dumplings may be boiled, fried or steamed. They usually consist of ground pork mixed with a variety of finely chopped vegetables, enclosed in a simple flour and water dough. The dumplings are served with soy sauce and vinegar into which have been mixed a few drops of hot, spicy oil.

Hardly haute cuisine, the great appeal of the dumpling is its simple good taste, the great variety of ingredients that can be used for its stuffing and the labor that goes into assembling it. Dumpling making in Chinese homes is an occasion of great camaraderie, since everyone who will partake of them — parents, children and guests alike — is expected to participate in their making.

The same spirit of camaraderie prevailed at a recent Sunday afternoon Chinese dumpling party I attended. There were 32 adults and sundry children. The participation of many Chinese, from the mainland, Taiwan and Hong Kong, assured that the final product would be genuine, but so variable are the ingredients that it is possible to stray quite far from available recipes and still remain within the limits of authenticity.

When the guests arrived, rolling pins in hand, an assembly line was set up, with some people rolling the dough into round circles, others wrapping the dough around the pork filling, one person in charge of boiling the dumplings and another in charge of the frying. Once the dumplings started coming out of the pot or off the frying pan, the process was continual, with guests taking only three or four at a time and eating more than 40 each over a period of three or so hours.

Served with the dumplings were a Chinese salad consisting of cucumbers, jellyfish and beanthread noodles with a soy sauce, vinegar and sugar dressing and cold, spicy noodles. Dessert consisted of homemade Chinese cookies, lots of fresh fruit and plenty of beer and wine.

While it helps in giving such a party to have Chinese friends for whom dumpling making has been raised to the level of art, almost any dumpling making party will be a success so long as one person there has mastered the technique of rolling the dough and wrapping the dumplings — and is willing to teach others.

Many readily available Chinese cookbooks have recipes for dumplings. For example, the basic Time-Life Chinese cookbook has pictures showing how to wrap them.

King Neptune Salad

A refreshing, yet easy, salad to make for a warm day stars iceberg lettuce, shunks, cucumber slices and radishes.

Enhancing its flavor is a creamy clam dressing that is prepared ahead and chilled until ready to use.

1 can (6 1/2 ounce)

minced clams

1 1/2 teaspoons cornstarch

1 tablespoon soy sauce

1/2 teaspoon pepper

2 drops Tabasco sauce

1/2 cup dairy sour cream

1/2 medium cucumber,

Core, rinse and constantly, over moderate heat until mixture comes to full boil. Remove from heat. Stir in soy sauce, lemon juice, salt, garlic powder, pepper and cream. Chill dressing.

Shortly before serving,

shred enough lettuce to ing and toss lightly. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings (about 1

1/2 quarts).

Keep Summer Desserts Cool With Refreshing Fresh Fruits

When summer is at its hottest, desserts ought to be at their coolest. So isn't it nice to know that there are almost an endless number of cool desserts that can be made using summer's array of colorful, delicious fruit?

Among the most noteworthy of all summer's cool desserts are the easy-to-make no bake pies that combine fresh fruit with cream, sour cream, sherbet, cream cheese or yogurt.

Fortunately, fresh fruit is available all summer long. All the other ingredients needed to create a fruit pie masterpiece can be found on any grocer's shelves. Start with a prepared graham cracker or butter-flavored pie crust. Delicately flavored, they're versatile, easy-to-use and complement fresh fruit fillings.

Corn syrup is another easy-to-use ingredient, and a favorite companion to summer fruits. It enhances natural fruit flavors, adds smoothness to the pies and, for many, gives a special sheen. All of the following fruit pie fillings were developed for spooning directly into these handy crumb crusts.

Another advantage is that all of these pies can, and should be, made in advance of mealtime. They are meant to be served after chilling for several hours — when the hostess is at her cool, calm and most collected best.

FROSTY FRUIT PIE
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
½ cup milk
2½ cups cubed cantaloupe or honeydew melon or peeled peaches or whole strawberries
¾ cup light corn syrup
1 ready-crust butter-flavored pie crust
In small saucepan sprinkle gelatin over milk. Stir over low heat until dissolved. Place in blender container with melon and corn syrup; cover. Blend on high speed 30 seconds or until smooth. Pour into 9x9x2-inch pan. Cover; freeze overnight. Soften slightly at room temperature, about 15 minutes. Spoon into large bowl. With mixer at low speed, beat until smooth, but not melted. Spoon into crust. Cover; freeze about 4 hours or until firm. If desired, garnish with fresh fruit. Makes 8 servings.

PEACH CHEESE PIE
1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened

½ cup light corn syrup
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 ready-crust graham cracker pie crust
2½ cups thinly sliced peeled peaches
Pineapple Glaze (recipe follows)
In small bowl with mixer at medium speed beat cream cheese, corn syrup and vanilla until smooth. Spread ¾ cup of the cheese mixture on bottom and up sides of crust. Refrigerate at least 2 hours. Toss peach slices with Pineapple Glaze. Spoon into crust. Garnish with remaining cheese mixture. Refrigerate several hours or overnight until set. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Pineapple Glaze
In small saucepan stir together 2 teaspoons corn starch, ¼ cup pineapple juice and 3 tablespoons light corn syrup until smooth. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 1 minute. Pour into bowl; cover surface with waxed paper. Cool completely. Makes about ½ cup.

STRAWBERRY-BLUESBERRY TARTS
2 pints (about) strawberries, divided
1 tablespoon corn starch
¼ cup light corn syrup
1 cup blueberries
6 ready-crust graham cracker tart crusts
¼ cup heavy cream, whipped

Mash 1½ cups strawberries. Measure ¼ cup. In small saucepan stir together corn starch and corn syrup until smooth. Stir in mashed strawberries. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 1 minute. Remove from heat. Strain. Cover; cool to lukewarm. In small bowl toss together blueberries and 2 tablespoons glaze. Spoon some of the blueberry mixture into tart crusts just to cover bottoms of tart crusts. Arrange whole strawberries on top of blueberries. Spoon remaining glaze over berries. Fill in with remaining blueberry mixture. Refrigerate at least 3 hours or until set. Garnish with whipped cream. Makes 6.

GLAZED FRESH FRUIT TARTS
1½ tablespoons corn starch
¼ cup orange juice
¼ cup light corn syrup
¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons lemon juice
3 cups assorted cut-up fruit, such as blueberries, grape halves, diced apples, peach or strawberry slices, diced pears, or orange sections
6 ready-crust graham cracker tart crusts
In 2-quart saucepan stir together corn starch, orange juice and corn syrup until smooth. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 1 minute. Remove from heat; stir in lemon rind and juice. Turn into bowl; cover surface with waxed paper. Cool completely. Fold in fruit until well coated. Mound fruit mixture in crants. Refrigerate several hours or until set. Makes 6.

LEMON CHEFON YOGURT PIE
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water
2 eggs, separated
¼ cup light corn syrup
1½ teaspoons grated lemon rind
¼ cup lemon juice
1 container (8 oz) plain yogurt
2 tablespoons sugar
1 ready-crust graham cracker pie crust
In 2-quart saucepan sprinkle gelatin over water. Stir in egg yolks, corn syrup, lemon rind and juice. Stirring constantly, cook over low heat until gelatin is completely dissolved, about 5 minutes. In large bowl stir yogurt until smooth. Stirring constantly, pour corn syrup mixture into yogurt until well blended and smooth. Refrigerate, stirring occasionally, about 1 hour or until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. In small bowl with mixer at high speed beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Gradually beat in sugar until stiff peaks form. Fold into yogurt mixture. Pour into crust. Refrigerate several hours or overnight until set. If desired, garnish with whipped cream, lemon slices and fresh mint leaves. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

SOFT CREAM AND FRUIT PIE
3 tablespoons corn starch
1 cup milk
¼ cup light corn syrup
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup dairy sour cream
1½ cups fresh blueberries or chopped peeled peaches
1 ready-crust graham cracker pie crust
In 2-quart saucepan stir together corn starch and milk until smooth. Stir in corn syrup. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 1 minute. Remove from heat. Stir in vanilla. With wire whisk gently stir in sour cream until well blended. Fold in fruit. Spoon into crust. If desired, garnish with additional fruit. Refrigerate several hours or overnight until set. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY JUNE 2, 1983

If you handle developments wisely, this coming year should be a fun one for you socially and a rewarding one for you materially. Think your moves through carefully.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

You'll be well-received by friends today, but guard against foolish behavior. Thoughtless actions could create unnecessary shock waves. Mail $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Send an additional $1 for your Gemini Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead. Be sure to give your zodiac sign.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

Much of your success today will be dependent upon how well you adapt to changing conditions. Be prepared to make adjustments where they are needed.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

In matters where you abide by your logical judgment you'll be able to keep things under control today. Don't let emotional concerns distort the picture.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

Feelings will be running strong today and harsh words could ensue if you and your mate take opposing positions.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)

You'll do well today as long as what needs doing can be delegated to others. When you have to fend for yourself you may find reasons for postponement.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)

Show a willingness to share today, but keep your generosity within reasonable bounds. Being excess could lead to giver's remorse.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)

A desire to put your personal imprint on all that you touch today is OK, provided you have something to contribute. Back off where you don't.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

Beware of tendencies today to make changes merely for the sake of change, especially in career or financial situations which are presently running well.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)

Conditions are rather unique today in that you could be a winner, yet lose in the process. Hang on to opportunities with both hands.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)

Key contacts might back off today if they think you are too concerned with your personal interests while ignoring theirs. Practice the golden rule.

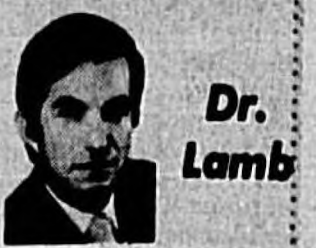

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

Let your noble and compassionate instincts prevail today in your involvements and all will run smoothly. Don't be petty.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

Let bygones be bygones and don't attempt to even old scores today, especially in a situation where another got the better of you in a business deal.

Getting To Sleep A Matter Of Habit

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have a real problem sleeping. I fear I am becoming addicted to Anacin for relief of stress and nervous strain. What about Benadryl or Dramamine?

Would you think that if I took long, daily very brisk walks and didn't drink any coffee later than 5 p.m. I would be able to sleep? Would lots of fresh air coming into my room help? Are there any special exercises you would recommend?

DEAR READER — Part of developing good sleeping habits is just like developing any other habit. You repeat the pattern. Only in this case you need to repeat the good patterns and stop the bad patterns.

You need to realize that taking sleeping pills is not the best solution. It is all right for an occasional sleepless night under unusual stress but no sleeping pill should be a regular "habit."

In fact, many of the sleeping pills people use become ineffective in a few weeks. Then the dosage is increased and increased again. Soon the person has a real problem.

Incidentally, Benadryl and other antihistamines are good medicines to induce sleep but I don't think even they should be used habitually.

The question is, why are you nervous and why are you under stress? Relieve these and you might not have a problem sleeping.

Try to develop good habits by going to bed at the same time each night. Have your room dark and free of sound. That may not be compatible with an open window. You need to eliminate all the sensory input you can.

Exercise is great during the day but do not exercise in the evening or night before going to bed. It will only stimulate your body and may prevent sleeping. You should eliminate ALL coffee and other sources of caffeine which are stimulants and may add to your feeling of stress.

I have outlined the best general approaches to developing a good sleep habit in The Health Letter 10-6, Sleep and Insomnia, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have been taking an antibiotic, Septra, to prevent bladder infections for over four years. Should I continue it? My problem began when I was on my honeymoon. It got so bad I had to go to the hospital and the doctor said I had honeymoon cystitis. When I got home my doctor said I had cystitis. Despite treatment, each time I discontinued the prescribed medicines I had another attack. I must have had at least a dozen attacks of cystitis. So the doctor put me on Septra, a half tablet each night. I have had no more attacks.

Recently when I asked my gynecologist about it he said to continue the medicine. That seems like a long time to take an antibiotic. What do you think?

DEAR READER — I think it was good advice. Many women who have such bladder infections can be treated quickly and the infection is over. In those who have recurrent attacks such as you describe, regular treatment each night is often recommended. Antibiotics are used on a long-term basis in some conditions, and you happen to have one of them.

By Gerald Jacoby

South let that lead run around to his eight. Then he played three rounds of spades, ruffing the third round in dummy.

Then he took his ace and king of clubs. West showed out on the second club and there were now two very probable losers. The diamond loser looked like a certain one, so it was up to South to find a way to avoid that trump loser.

He did it with aplomb. He simply led a heart to dummy's ace and ruffed a heart. It wouldn't do East any good to ruff. That would be a give-up play, so East discarded.

Back to dummy with a diamond and a ruff of dummy's last heart. Now South led his losing diamond and claimed since he was sure of the last two tricks with his queen-nine of trumps.

The slam wasn't as bad as it looks. With a 3-2 break in clubs declarer would have a number of ways to get away from two red-suit losers, and five cards missing from a suit break 3-2 about 68 percent of the time.

Housing Sales Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sales of new houses fell 4 percent in April, raising fears among builders that their construction may already be running ahead of demand.

The Commerce Department said Tuesday the annual rate of sales slipped to 573,000 units a year, the third decline in six months.

But while supply began to outrun demand the price kept going up. The average cost of a new house hit a record $89,200, department said.

Since housing has been the pace car of the recovery, any slowdown can raise fears that interest rates are still too high to allow economic improvements to continue.

Earlier, the government issued a somewhat reassuring report that the sensitive leading indicators continued to deliver a strong recovery signal, a 1.1 percent gain in April.

Although the weakest reading of the year for the composite index, the April report still seemed to suggest that there would be no relapse any time soon like that which aborted an early 1982 recovery.

"Unless interest rates decline further, this housing recovery faces the possibility of reaching a plateau and leveling off," developer Harry Pryde said, speaking as president of the National Association of Home Builders.

"The marketplace has already absorbed a good portion of the pent-up demand left over from the recession."

Dempsey Down For The Count At 87

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey, who reigned with Babe Ruth as America's leading sports hero during the Roaring '20s, died of natural causes a few hours after assuring his wife: "I'm too mean to die." He was 87.

Dempsey's savagery in the ring earned him the nickname "Manassa Mauler" but his friends remembered him for his kindness and gentility.

Dempsey, who held the title from 1919-1926, was found by his wife, Deanna, about 4 p.m. Tuesday in the bedroom of their apartment.

"He had a congestion in his chest since last night and I was feeding him soup for that congestion just three hours before he passed away," Mrs. Dempsey told the New York Daily News. "He told me he liked the soup and when he saw I was worried he said, 'Don't worry, honey, I'm too mean to die.'"

Police said the medical examiner ruled Dempsey, who would have been 88 on June 24, died of natural causes. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Dempsey had been in failing health for the past two years and was hospitalized April 11, 1982, to have a pacemaker implanted.

Dempsey became one of the more popular champions and, after Babe Ruth, perhaps the greatest worldwide sports figure in the era before World War II.

"Jack Dempsey was perhaps the man who sculpted the golden age of sports," said Bert Sugar, editor and publisher of Ring Magazine. "Before Babe Ruth hit his height, before there even was a Bobby Jones. Sixty years later, he was still the greatest, regardless of what Muhammad Ali says."

"Jack Dempsey fertilized the field. He cared for the sport of boxing, he cared for sports and sports cared for him."

Dempsey's last public appearances came in 1980 at the Boxing Writers Association dinner and the National Cartoonists' Society dinner in April at the Plaza Hotel in New York.

The former champ lived quietly with his wife, and was often seen walking with a cane around his East Side neighborhood and inside his apartment building.

"He was always stopped on the street and was extremely recognizable with his cane," said neighbor Rubin Adler.

"One day someone was helping him down the stairs and I waited. The other person said I'd better go on ahead, but I said, 'No, I think I'd better duck when he's around.' He smiled at that," Adler said.

Another neighbor said Dempsey and his wife were "quite active," and tenants on his floor often caught glimpses of him "doing his exercises in the hall with his therapist."

The ex-champion was born in Manassa, Colo., on June 24, 1895, the son of a Mormon schoolteacher. Named William Harrison Dempsey, he adopted the nickname of his idol, Jack Dempsey, another boxer, when he decided to fight.

Dempsey beat Jess Willard for the title in Toledo, Ohio, on July 4, 1919, and went on to earn additional titles as the "Killer" and the "Jungle Beast."

He fought boxing's first million-dollar gate against Georges Carpentier, a French fighter, in a fight billed as the "Battle of the Century" in Jersey City, N.J. He lost the crown in an equally famed bout with Gene Tunney in Philadelphia.

The Tunney-Dempsey rematch at Soldier Field in Chicago before another million-dollar gate known as the "Long Count Fight," and generated one of sports most hotly debated issues.

Dempsey knocked Tunney down in the seventh round of that fight, but did not go to the neutral corner as required, causing speculation on whether Tunney could have gotten up by the nine count had Dempsey gone to the corner immediately.

Except for a brief bit of ballyhoo about a comeback, Dempsey confined himself to promoting and officiating at fights and running his Broadway restaurant — across from the old Madison Square Garden — which closed several years ago.

"He was one of the giants of sports, a larger-than-life figure," said fight publicist Irving Rudd.

BEAVER, Pa. (UPI) — An unemployed woman who skipped jury duty to wait at home for word if she had been hired for a job wound up without the job — and $30 poorer when a judge found her in contempt of court.

Teresa Householder, 26, of Economy, Pa., was fined $30 for her failure to appear for jury duty in Beaver County. Common Pleas Judge Robert Kunzeleman also sentenced her to a 24-hour jail term but suspended the penalty provided she serve on a jury Aug. 8.

Ms. Householder, a former steelworker unemployed for four years, stayed home to receive a call about a job interview with Marshall Elevator Co. in Pittsburgh — but another woman got the keypunch-operator position.

"I'm glad that the judge didn't impose a strict sentence or fine on her," said Robert Jamison, vice president of the elevator firm.

New Twist To French Toast

The perfect end to a dinner for family or friends featuring Spaghetti Squash With Sauce Au Provence is Fresh Pineapple Sundae With Blueberry Sauce.

Spaghetti Squash Dish Impressive

A dinner, to impress family or friends, revolves around the fresh taste and nutrition of fresh seasonal vegetables. Start with Spaghetti Squash Au Provence, an outstanding dish that is easy to make, featuring the once exotic and now easily attainable spaghetti squash.

The United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association advises that when purchasing spaghetti squash, the outer shell should be yellow, hard and free from decay. Remember, too, the flesh will assume the appearance of spaghetti only after the squash has been cooked.

The delightful sauce is in style of the Provence region of France. Flavored with fresh garlic, which is known as the "truffle" of that area, fresh tomatoes, mushrooms and parsley, as well as economical ground beef. The dish will certainly delight guests and family alike.

A sprightly end for a special dinner features fresh pineapple, topped with ice cream and then covered with a spectacular blueberry sauce. Selecting a pineapple need not be a guessing game, according to the United. Make sure crown leaves are dark and fresh-looking, and sniff the fruit for a pineapple fragrance which is generally a sign of ripeness. Choose a fruit that is heavy in relation to its size. Pulling a frond leaf will not indicate ripeness, nor will the color of the shell.

Pineapples, now in peak supply, are a good source of vitamins. For instance, just one cup provides more than one-third of the vitamin C, with almost no sodium and 81 calories present. The fruit is versatile, too, adding a tropical flavor to dress up a fruit salad or to enhance a baked ham.

With a green salad, Spaghetti Squash, Au Provence and this dessert will make a summer dinner to be remembered.

SPAGHETTI SQUASH WITH SAUCE AU PROVENCE

- 1 spaghetti squash (2 to 3 pounds)
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 1 large onion, chopped (1 cup)
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 pound ground beef
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon dried leaf thyme
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 3 large ripe tomatoes, diced (2 1/2 cups)
- 1/2 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced (2 cups)
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley

Place unpeeled, whole squash in kettle of boiling water. Cover, boil 30 to 35 minutes or until fork pierces skin easily and squash is tender. In large skillet heat oil; saute onion and garlic until tender. Add beef, salt, thyme and pepper; brown meat breaking up with a fork as cooks. Stir in tomatoes and mushrooms. Cook 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cut squash in half crosswise; remove seeds. Using a fork, pull squash out of shell onto heated platter. Spoon meat sauce over squash. Sprinkle with parsley. Makes: 4 servings.

FRESH PINEAPPLE SUNDAE WITH BLUEBERRY SAUCE

- 1 pint fresh blueberries, divided
- 1/2 cup freshly squeezed orange juice
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon ground allspice
- 1 fresh pineapple
- 1 quart vanilla ice cream

In medium saucepan combine 1 cup blueberries, orange juice, sugar and allspice; bring to boiling. Simmer, stirring occasionally, 4 to 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Add remaining blueberries. Chill. Remove top of pineapple. Peel and core. Cut into 8 thick slices. Place one pineapple slice on a dessert plate. Top with scoop of ice cream and blueberry sauce. Repeat with remaining ingredients. Makes: 8 servings.

French toast was never like this. This elegant brunch concoction is flavored with orange, vanilla and nutmeg and topped with sprinklings of chopped macadamia nuts from Hawaii. It's incredibly easy to make: after soaking up the orange mixture overnight in the refrigerator the bread slices are baked the next morning on a buttered pan...no watching or turning is necessary.

MACADAMIA FRENCH TOAST

4 eggs

1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup milk
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
1 loaf (8 oz.) Italian bread cut in 1-inch slices
1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
1/2 cup diced macadamia nuts
With a wire whisk beat together eggs, orange juice, milk, sugar, nutmeg and vanilla. Place bread in a single layer in a light-fitting casserole. Pour milk mixture over bread. Cover and refrigerate over night, turning once. Preheat oven to 400 F. Pour melted butter on a jelly roll pan, spreading evenly. Arrange soaked bread slices in a single layer on pan. Sprinkle with macadamia nuts. Bake until golden, 20 to 25 minutes. Serve with maple syrup and butter, if desired. Makes 4 portions.

Make Dad Real King On His Day

All Dads may not agree on how they want to spend Father's Day or on what gifts they would like to receive. But many agree on one thing — their special day wouldn't be complete without a hearty and satisfying beef dinner.

Sure to make Dad feel like "king for a day" is the king of steaks — the T-Bone. These man-sized steaks, cut from the prestigious short loin section of beef, are always tender, juicy and oh, so delicious. When the steaks are cooked on the grill over glowing coals, they make a flavor treat that Dad and the whole family will savor with enthusiasm.

To satisfy Dad's sweet tooth, present him with Golden Apple Cake. This moist, spicy cake is wonderfully flavored with shredded Golden Delicious apples, crushed pineapple and chopped walnuts. It's topped off with a maple-flavored cream cheese frosting and an eye-catching pinwheel of fresh apple slices. Golden's are the preferred apple here because they resist darkening after being cut.

The perfect beverage to serve with this special meal? Iced tea, of course! Whether you choose to make this thirst-quenching favorite with loose tea, tea bags, instant tea or iced tea mix, you'll have delicious success every time when you follow the easy directions given here.

If it's roast beef that makes Dad all smiles, he'll be the happiest man in town when you honor him with Father's Day Beef Roast. He'll find the lean, flavorful beef eye round roast especially tantalizing for it is marinated in red wine flavored with onion, parsley and thyme. As a bonus, the marinade also acts as a tenderizer for the beef. Other tips for tenderness: slowly roast the beef only to rare and carve into thin slices.

For interesting color, texture and flavor contrasts, brighten the Father's Day menu with Delicious Apple Layered Salad, a fresh fruit version of the popular layered salad. Diced Red and/or Golden Delicious apples are layered with diced celery, orange pieces, grape halves and chopped pecans. All is crowned with a creamy blue cheese dressing and decorative apple wedges. It's a salad you can serve with confidence for Washington State Delicious apples are juicy, crisp and flavorful.

No matter what the weather this Father's Day, Dad will be cool and refreshed as he slips on Teaberry Punch. Iced tea, easily made with instant tea, is delightful flavored with cranberry juice cocktail and lemon juice. For an even easier version of the punch, lemon-flavored iced tea mix can be used.

FATHER'S DAY BEEF ROAST

3 1/2 to 4-pound beef eye round roast
1 cup red wine
2 tablespoons oil
1 medium onion, chopped
2 tablespoons snipped parsley
1/2 teaspoon thyme leaves
Dash freshly ground black pepper
Combine wine, oil, onion, parsley, thyme and pepper. Place roast in plastic bag; add marinade, turn to coat. Tie bag securely and marinate in refrigerator 24 hours, turning occasionally. Pour off marinade. Pat roast dry with absorbent paper; place on rack in open roasting pan. Insert roast meat thermometer so bulb is centered in the thickest part. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325°F.) until thermometer registers 135°F. Allow 20 to 22 minutes per pound. Let roast "stand" 15 minutes. (Roasts will usually rise 5°F. in temperature to reach 140°F. for rare). Carve into thin slices.

GOLDEN APPLE CAKE

1 can (8 ounces) crushed pineapple
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 1/4 cups oil
3 eggs
2 cups oil
3 eggs
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons each baking soda, ground cinnamon and vanilla
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups shredded apples
1/4 cup chopped walnuts
Maple-Flavored Frosting
1 Golden Delicious apple, cored and sliced
Drain pineapple thoroughly; reserve 2 tablespoons syrup for frosting. Combine all ingredients except Maple-Flavored Frosting and sliced apples in mixer bowl; mix well. Pour into two greased and floured 9-inch round cake pans. Bake in preheated 350°F. oven 35 minutes or until cake tests done when wooden pick inserted near center comes out clean. Cool in pan 5 minutes; turn out onto rack and cool completely. Frost between layers and on top with Maple-Flavored Frosting. Decorate top with apple slices before serving. Yield: one 9-inch round cake.

MAPLE-FLAVORED FROSTING

Blend 1 package (3 ounces) softened cream cheese, 2 tablespoons softened butter or margarine and 1 1/4 cups confectioners sugar until fluffy. Add 2 tablespoons reserved pineapple syrup, 1/4 cup chopped walnuts, 1/4 teaspoon maple flavoring and dash salt; mix well. If necessary, add 1/4 to 1/2 cup additional powdered sugar to make frosting easy to spread. Yield: 1-1/4 cups.

DELICIOUS APPLE LAYERED SALAD

3 cups cored, diced apples
1 tablespoon lime juice
1 cup diced celery
1 orange, pared, sliced and halved
1 cup green grapes, halved and seeded if necessary
1/2 cup chopped pecans
Creamy Dressing
1 tablespoon crumbled blue cheese
1 Golden Delicious apple, cored and sliced
Toon diced apples with lime juice; place half in bottom of 3-inch deep, 2-quart glass bowl. Layer celery, orange, grapes, pecans and remaining diced apples in bowl. Spread Creamy Dressing over top. Garnish with blue cheese and apple slices. 6 servings.

TEABERRY PUNCH
2 rounded tablespoons instant tea
1 quart cold water
3 cups cranberry juice cocktail
1/4 cup lemon juice
Sugar to taste
Combine instant tea and cold water in large pitcher. Add cranberry and lemon juice; stir well. Sweeten to taste. Pour into ice-filled glasses. Yield: 6 cups.
Note: Punch may be made using lemon-flavored iced tea mix. Follow directions on jar for making one quart; then add 2 cups cranberry juice.

Dad is sure to be all smiles on Father's Day when he is served a tender, rare, special beef roast prepared especially for him. For raves, toss in a layered apple salad and serve a teaberry punch.

Veal cutlets for picata is quickly defrosted

Meat for French Veal Stew is uniformly hand-cut

Gourmet Frozen Veal Available

Purchasing veal has always been difficult for Florida consumers. Supermarket buyers have been reluctant to take a chance on stocking the product, because the transportation of veal from northern processors takes considerable time, and since the high priced product perishes easily, retailers have always considered selling fresh veal risky business.

Now, for the first time, Atlantic Veal Company will be making available gourmet quality, milk fed frozen veal leg cutlets and veal for stew directly to the consumer. Both items will be sold at Albertson's Supermarkets throughout the state.

The veal leg cutlets and veal for stew are made from domestic, milk-fed calves. According to literature published by the Beef Industry Council, veal is "high on nutrient density but not on calories — veal is an...outstanding nutritional value. A three and one-half ounce serving of cooked lean veal provides not only thirty-three grams of protein but impressive amounts of the B vitamins and minerals all for only 213 calories."

Each leg cutlet is sliced, trimmed, and packed by hand in an effort to guarantee quality and portion control. There are four three-ounce leg cutlets per package. The cutlets are individually vacuum-packed so the whole package need not be used at one time.

The veal for stew is uniformly hand-cut into cubes for easy preparation. The stew is available in two eight-ounce individually vacuum-packed portions per package.

Both the veal leg cutlets and veal for stew are vacuum-packed and quick frozen for freshness. The veal can be defrosted within ten minutes by placing the package under cold, running tap water.

SAUTEED VEAL PICATA

- 4 veal cutlets
- salt and pepper
- flour
- 1 tbsp. oil
- 5 tbsp. butter
- 1-2 1/4 tbsp. fresh lemon juice
- 1 tbsp. chopped fresh parsley

Flavor the cutlets with salt and pepper, and dust them lightly with flour. Melt 1 tablespoon of oil and 1 tablespoon of butter in a large skillet. Brown the meat over high heat for 3 minutes on each side. Put the meat on a warmed serving plate.

Mix the remaining butter with the meat juice in the pan, cook over moderate heat until brown. Finish the sauce by adding lemon juice. Pour the sauce over the veal, sprinkle with chopped parsley, and serve immediately. Can be served over rice. Yield: 2 servings.

FRENCH VEAL STEW

- Serves 3 to 4
- 1 lb. stew veal
- 8 small white onions (peeled)
- 5 tbsp. butter
- 3 level tbsp. flour
- 2 1/2 cups chicken broth
- 4 oz. mushroom caps
- 3 carrots (cut into 1 1/2" pieces)
- 2 tsp. lemon juice
- 1/2 cup light cream
- salt and pepper

Heat 3 tbsp. butter in saucepan and fry meat (do not brown). Remove meat. Fry onions for 5 minutes (do not brown). Remove onions. Melt remaining butter with meat juices. Add flour. Cook gently for about 3 minutes stirring constantly until honeycombed (do not brown).

Add broth and Bouquet Garni. Bring to boil while stirring. Simmer for 20 minutes. Remove Bouquet Garni. Add veal, carrots, and onions. Cover and cook over low heat for 45 minutes. Add mushrooms and cook for 15 minutes. Remove from heat, stir in cream, lemon juice, salt, pepper, and reheat without boiling. Yield: 3 to 4 servings.

PERFECT ICE TEA

For perfect iced tea, follow one of these easy methods:
Using boiling water and loose tea or teabags: Bring 1 quart of freshly drawn cold water to a full rolling boil in a saucepan. Remove from heat and immediately add 1/4 measuring cup of loose tea or 15 teabags. Stir, cover and let stand 5 minutes. Strain again and strain into a pitcher holding another quart of cold water. Serve over ice. Makes 2 quarts.

Using cold water and teabags: Fill a quart pitcher or container with cold tap water. Add 8 to 10 teabags (remove tags). Cover. Let stand at room temperature or in the refrigerator at least 6 hours or overnight. Remove teabags, squeezing against side of container. Pour into ice-filled glasses. Makes 1 quart. Recipe may be doubled.

Using instant tea or iced tea mix: Follow directions on jar or envelope. In general, allow 2 rounded tablespoons of instant tea powder to each quart of cold water. Stir. Add ice. If using lemon-flavored iced tea mix, use 2 small envelopes of 1/4 cup mix to each quart of cold water.

Microwave Magic

Prepare Casseroles With Ease

One of the selling points of a microwave oven is its convenience and when you use the microwave with convenience foods, the convenience is maximized. Canned soups, cake mixes, complete frozen entrees and pudding mixes are just a few of the convenience foods that we accept as part of our everyday food preparation. Almost all convenience foods can be prepared by microwaving. Many of the packages have complete microwave instructions.

Try using several convenience foods when preparing casseroles and other main dishes. Preparation time will be almost as quick as the actual microwaving. Cooked corn and a bread mix make this easy casserole:

MEXICALI CORN CASSEROLE

1/4 cup butter
1 package (8 1/2 oz.) corn bread mix
1 can (8 oz.) cream-style corn
1 can (8 oz.) whole kernel corn, drained
1 cup sour cream
1/4 cup grated Cheddar cheese
3 eggs beaten
2 Tablespoons chopped green chilies
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon paprika
Place butter in 3 quart casserole. Microwave at 100% power 30-60 seconds. Blend in remaining ingredients except paprika. Microwave 100% power

Midge Mycoff

2-4 minutes or until cheese melts and mixture begins to set, stirring 2 or 3 times during cooking. Pour into 8x8 inch bake-in dish. Cover with wax paper. Reduce power to 50% and microwave 12-18 minutes or until set. Sprinkle with paprika.

This quickie uses a pound of ground beef and several convenience foods:

HAMBURGER STROGANOFF

1 lb. ground beef
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1/4 cup milk
1 can (4 oz.) mushroom stems & pieces, drained
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup dairy sour cream

Crumble beef in a 2 quart casserole. Add minced onion. Microwave 100% power for 4-5 minutes or until meat is no longer pink. Stir to break apart. Drain. Stir in milk, soup, mushrooms, Worcestershire sauce, garlic salt and pepper. Cover and microwave 100% power for 5-8 minutes or until hot and bubbly. Stir after half the time. Blend in sour cream and cover. Microwave 100% power for 1 minute. Serve over noodles or rice.

EASY RICE PUDDING

1 cup instant rice
1 cup hot water
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 package (3 1/2 oz.) vanilla pudding mix
2 cups milk
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 cup raisins

Combine rice, water and salt. Cover and microwave 100% power for 5-6 minutes or until rice is tender and the water is absorbed. Stir after half the cooking time. Let stand, covered, 5 minutes. Mix pudding mix with a small amount of the milk. Stir into rice. Stir in remaining milk. Mix in cinnamon and raisins. Microwave 100% power 5-7 minutes or until boiling. Stir frequently. Let stand 5 minutes. Pour into serving dishes. Chill.

Dessert At Summit Pure Americana

By JEANNE LEBEM
UPI Family Editor

Maida Heatter, a guest chef at the economic summit conference in Williamsburg, Va., describes one of her contributions as a radically new version of a dessert that is pure Americana.

Her Regal Brownies consist of one layer of candy-type brownie batter and another of chocolate, butter, heavy cream and eggs — "almost like pot de creme baked on top," Miss Heatter said by telephone from her home in Miami Beach, Fla.

She baked and froze the brownies, ginger cookies and crusts for Key lime pies well ahead of time, she said, and planned to drive north with them May 24, allowing time to make the pie fillings after arrival.

Miss Heatter, author of four critically acclaimed dessert cookbooks, is among seven leading American chefs and food experts invited to prepare some of their specialties for the occasion.

She planned to pack the cookies and crusts in a big styrofoam cooler with blue gel coolant, then seal it with wide tape and wrap it in a blanket, a method she said, worked fine last year when she and her husband, Ralph Daniels, drove from Florida to a birthday party on the eastern tip of Long Island, N.Y.

The recipe:

Brownie layer:
1 teaspoon unsalted butter for the pan
2 1/4 ounces unsweetened chocolate
4 ounces (1 stick) unsalted butter
Pinch of salt (optional)
1 teaspoon instant coffee, granular or powdered (optional)

1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup granulated sugar
2 large eggs
1/4 cup unsifted all purpose flour
1 1/2 cups (6 ounces) walnuts in medium size pieces
Adjust a rack one third up from the bottom of the oven and preheat it to 350 degrees F.

Turn a 9-by-13-by-2-inch pan upside down and mold a 17- or 18-inch length of standard weight aluminum foil over it, shiny side down. Remove the foil and gently press it into place in the pan.

Melt the teaspoon of butter in the pan in the oven but don't let it brown. Spread the bottom and sides of the foil with the butter.

Place the unsweetened chocolate and stick of butter, cut into pieces, in a 2- to 3-quart heavy saucepan over very low heat. Stir occasionally until melted. Stir in salt and instant coffee, if using. Remove from heat. Mix in sugar. Beat eggs together lightly, quickly stir a few spoonfuls of the chocolate mixture into them, then stir them into the remaining chocolate mixture. Add flour, stir until smooth, then stir in nuts. Scrape into the prepared pan and smooth into an even layer. Set aside.

Regal layer:
8 ounces semisweet chocolate (Miss Heatter uses Maillard's Eagle Sweet but any other brand will work)
4 ounces (1 stick) unsalted butter
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
1/4 cup heavy cream
Pinch of salt (optional)
1 teaspoon instant coffee, granular or powdered (optional)

1 teaspoon vanilla extract
4 large whole egg yolks, plus 1 whole egg
Break up the semisweet chocolate and place it and the butter in a 1 1/2- to 2-quart heavy saucepan over very low heat. Stir occasionally until melted. Add sugar, cream, salt and instant coffee, if using, and vanilla, and stir to mix. Remove from heat. Beat the eggs and yolk together just until blended. Quickly stir in a few spoonfuls of the chocolate mixture, then stir this blend into remaining chocolate mixture. Pour on top of brownie layer and smooth into an even layer with a rubber scraper or metal spatula.

Bake 28 to 30 minutes, until a wooden food pick inserted in the middle comes out clean. Cool in the pan on a rack. Chill in refrigerator or freezer about 1 hour to firm up.

Cover baking pan with a cookie sheet, turn the two upside down, remove the pan, peel off the foil, cover with another cookie sheet or cutting board and turn right side up. For serving, cut into 32 bars or 64 bite-size pieces. Wrap bars individually in plastic for refrigerator storage. If you plan to serve in bite-size pieces or to refrigerate or store them for later serving, wrap large pieces in plastic and cut smaller just before serving. May be served at room temperature but Miss Heatter prefers them frozen. They do not become rock hard.

Ready To Graduate

Seminole High School's Senior Class officers are prepared for commencement exercises June 11. They tried on caps and gowns with Principal Wayne Epps recently in preparation for the big event. The

For about 2,600 Seminole County students, it is a special time.

At five public and two private schools in the county, ceremonies are taking place marking the end of the graduating seniors' high school careers.

Many of them have performed admirably, recording remarkable achievements in academics, athletics or both.

One student, Joseph DiFonzo of Lake Howell High School, has made it to the top. He won the state PRIDE award and a $1,000 scholarship for his knowledge of social studies.

Another senior, Charles Jones, from Lyman High School, came in second in the mathematics competition.

DiFonzo, Jones and other PRIDE winners from the county also attended President Reagan's address at EPCOT center.

Ronnie Murphy, from Oviedo High School, was one of the most highly acclaimed basketball players in the state. Murphy won a scholarship to the University of Jacksonville for his basketball prowess.

The success stories are many in Seminole County schools and at Forest Lake Academy and Trinity Prep. But the high school education the 2,600 students have obtained is only the beginning of their education, either in college or in the work force.

Many will go on to college, where they will receive classroom training to prepare them for the high technology jobs prevalent in Central Florida.

Others will choose to enter the work force now, preferring to get on-the-job training.

For them, Sterling Tuck of the state Department of Employment Security offers a warning.

The unemployment rate among the 18-23 age bracket is more than 20 percent, about three times the area's jobless rate. For college educated workers, the jobless rate is closer to 5 percent.

"It was proven years ago that a college degree is worth many times more than a high school diploma," Tuck said.

Lady 'Noles Cop Track Crowns

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Seminole High School had to wait a long time during the 1982-83 athletic year for its first district championship — but when it arrived in the form of coach Emory Blake's Lady Seminole track team — the school only had to wait one more week for something better.

Blake's youthful Seminoles were denied the Seminole County Track Championships for the first time in a long time by Lyman, but the 'Noles bounced back by trimming the Greyhounds for the District 4A-9 title and the Region 4A-3 crown on successive weekends.

The regional championship was the first in the school's history. Sophomore Trina Walker held off Lyman sprinter Schowonda Williams in the last leg of the mile relay to provide the margin of victory.

"This is just a super feeling," said Blake about the championship. "Especially since we've been so close the last two years." Seminole lost by a half of a point to Fort Lauderdale Dillard in 1981 and by two points to Dillard last year.

Sophomore Charita Medlock won the long with a personal best of 18-7 to highlight the meet while relay members Crystal Caldwell, Traci Brown, Jackie Fort, Sharon Jenkins, Medlock and Walker all turned in strong efforts. Caldwell also blazed to a win in the 440 dash.

The Tribe girls weren't the only ones running circles around the competition in '82-83. Sophomore Clifton Campbell finished first in the district 440 and was a just six inches back in the region. Joe Whack, Willie Bass, Torin Williams and Mike Wooten formed an excellent medley relay team which qualified for the state meet. Senior Dion Jackson was the best long jumper and triple jumper in Seminole County and he placed third in the state meet in the triple.

Just a notch below the Lady Seminoles' track team was the boys' basketball team. Coach Chris Marlette realized every coach's dream by winning 21 games in his first year as a varsity coach.

Marlette's squad finished second in the Five-Star Conference to DeLand and played in two prestigious tournaments, the Kingdom of the Sun Holiday Classic in Ocala and the Burger King-Metro Tournament in Orlando.

Calvin "Kiki" Bryant finished his prep career in a blaze of glory, making the honorable mention all-state team along with the all-county and all-conference first teams. He was joined by junior Willie Mitchell, William Wynn, Vernon Law and Bruce Franklin completed the starting five.

Coach Ron Merthie's girls, meanwhile, started all juniors and sophomores and had another good year. They placed second to Evans in the Lady Hawk Christmas Tournament, the best showing ever by a Seminole team. Sophomore scoring machine Mona Benton was an all-conference and all-county choice along with being named Player of the Year in Seminole County.

Juniors Diedre Hillery, Maxine Campbell and Arlene Jones give the 'Noles a nice nucleus for next year.

Coach Scott Sherman's wrestlers also enjoyed a good season as Vince Clark, Tony Brown and Ronnie Watson had excellent seasons. Seminole sent the most wrestlers to the region in the history of the school.

Coach Howard Hawkins' soccer team got off to a miserable start, but then turned things around and upset two state-ranked teams. Lyman and Trinity Prep. Ricky Nooney was a standout scorer while Paul Griffin was a top assist man and all-around player as was Juan Falcon.

In swimming, Chuck Burgess qualified for the state meet while Lisa Polgar had a banner year for the girls. In cross country, Billy Penick was the top boys' runner and Lisa Grant paced the girls. The girls' tennis team improved after a dismal start and

Lake Mary Completes Second Year

By Don Reynolds Principal

Congratulations to the students of Lake Mary High School for successfully completing the second year of our school's existence.

This year we added the junior class and established the theme, "The Best Is Yet To Be." Next year will be our first graduating class and we hope that our dream of the best will be realized at that time.

We have had many successes this year and many heartaches in our extracurricular program. Competing without a senior class handicapped our students, but our students reacted with pride and we had a successful year.

We will be looking forward to next year and our first senior class.

The LMHS girls basketball team won the District championship this year and the LMHS Marching &

Cheeseman Sets Pace In Seminole

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

When Lake Howell distance ace Ken Cheeseman runs on the beach he usually kicks sand in the faces of those who try to pursue him. The Silver Hawk junior is one of the top millers in the nation, ranking third in the USA Today Prep Poll.

Little did the modest Cheeseman know, though, that the "Sandman" would be dropping a few upset specks into his eyes before the mile run at the State 4A Track & Field Championships at Winter Park.

"I'd always dreamed of beating Brian Jaeger," Cheeseman had said on many occasions about the nation's best miller who attends Winter Park. "I considered it my ultimate goal."

Well, those goals and dreams became a reality on May 14 when Cheeseman pulled the stunner of the year by outkicking Jaeger down the stretch to win the mile in a record time of 4:08.5.

For Cheeseman, it capped an incredible year. The most familiar thing the transplanted Tennessean had seen for the past two years had been Jaeger's heels. But to beat his senior nemesis at the biggest meet of the year, and on Jaeger's home track, was almost beyond comprehension.

Especially, if one was familiar with Cheeseman's past. "I was always kind of fast as a kid, but I didn't take up distance running until my freshman year when I heard an announcement which said the track team needed runners," Cheeseman remembers.

It didn't take him long to become a star. He finished second in the Tennessee State Cross Country Championships as a sophomore. After moving to Casselberry later that year, he ran a 4:38.0 mile and once he became adjusted to Florida's humid conditions, the seconds began falling like flies.

Along with his excellent performance on the asphalt, the intelligent junior also has a superior track record in the classroom where he is an A-minus student. He plans on a career with computers at either a college in the Southeastern Conference or the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Cheeseman set the pace for what was an extraordinary year for county track athletes.

Lyman's dynamic duo of 330 hurdler Schowonda Williams and high jumper Lori Carroll each won state championships in their specialties — and both are juniors. Lyman senior Anjeanette Cleveland placed second in the long jump while sophomore teammate Angie French was third in the discus. All helped Lyman to a second place finish, best in the school's history.

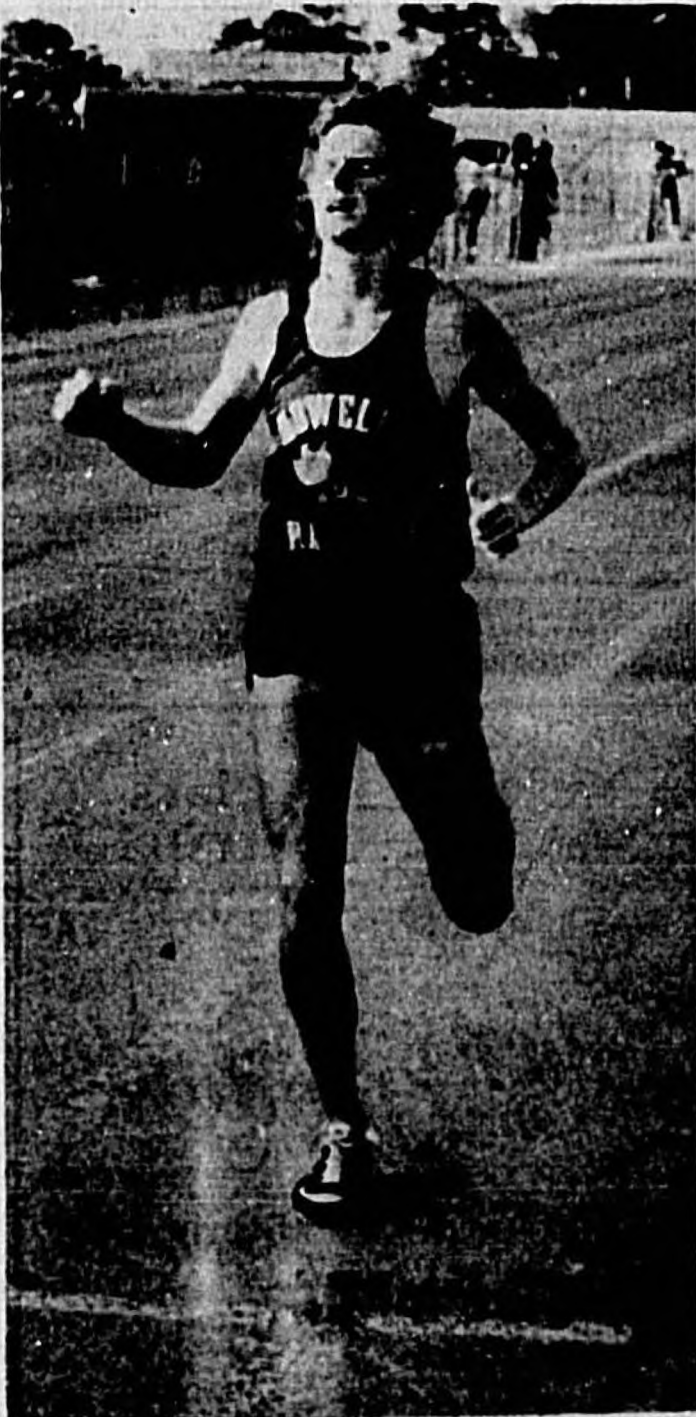

Lake Brantley had its distance ace, too. Junior Kathryn Hayward placed fifth in the mile run after winning the county, conference, district and regional previously.

Coach George Austin's Trinity Prep girls won another State 2A Track & Field Championship behind the excellent performances of Katie Sama, Pat Archibald and Adrienne Poltowicz. It marked the fourth title in the past five years for Austin.

Other sports thrived, too, in the county. Oviedo's Ronnie Murphy concluded a tremendous four-year basketball career by being named to the All-South and All-State teams. Murphy finished as the most prolific scorer and rebounder in the school's history. Another Lion, golfer Cheryl Morley, qualified for the state meet. She's just a sophomore.

Lake Mary's Rams continued their success in girls' basketball, winning 20 games for the second straight year and copping the district title again. High jumper Mike Rouse was fourth in the state. In wrestling, Jack Likens did even better, winning a 3A State Championship at 109 pounds. Teammate Robert Rawls made it to the semifinals before losing.

Keep Up the Good Work, Grads

By Carlton Henley
 Lyman High Principal

The faculty and staff of Lyman High School are proud of the class of 1983. You are to be congratulated for your individual and collective accomplishments. This class has produced five National Merit Scholarship Finalists and thirty-seven academic scholarship winners. Certificates of excellence for the Pride Awards were earned in the areas of math, science, social studies and writing with a regional winner in math.

The Band and Choral groups received superior ratings in State competition as did the Thespian Troupe. There were Gold Key winners in the National Scholastic Art Regional Competition.

In the vocational area, there were many awards won in the State Skills Olympics and Leadership Conference. First place was earned in Air Conditioning, Auto Mechanics and Drafting. This was the fifth straight year that our athletic program won the Five Star Conference All Sports Trophy, signifying the best overall sports program in the conference.

But let me admonish each of you to not waste time contemplating the medals won because you all are now facing even greater challenges in the future as you come to grips with the reality that each of you must be prepared to compete continually in the business world. You share with each of us the responsibilities for solving the problems of an ailing society by helping to kindle a new appreciation and pride in accomplishment, and to become a working member of society, able to meet your own needs rather than looking to government to supply them.

I urge each of you to apply the same hard work, dedication and pride which brought you success in high school, to your future endeavors.

Good luck and God Bless You.

Lyman Again Tops In Prep Sports

For the fifth straight year, there was no doubt which school had the most dominant sports program in Seminole County.

Lyman's Greyhounds, boasting six conference champions, captured their fifth straight Five-Star Conference All-Sports Trophy. Lyman won titles in football, boys cross country, boys tennis, girls track, volleyball and wrestling.

Coach Bill Scott's gridiron Greyhounds whipped Lake Howell and Apopka in two thrilling games down the stretch to take their first championship. Mike Hill, Willis Perry, Jerry Axley, Gene Allen, Todd Marriott, Greg and James Pilot and Dirk Smith were just some of the standouts.

In boys cross country, coach David Huggins' harriers continued to dominate the area as juniors Doug McBroom and Brian Hunter led the way. Carl Schmalmaack and Marc Overbay also had superb seasons.

The boys tennis team won its third straight conference championship for coach Mike Cahill as Stuart and David Kasdin mowed down opponent after opponent. Todd Rudland, Eric Shapiro and Bob Sullivan were also instrumental as Lyman won the district for the second year in a row.

The girls track team had an incredible two state champs in high jumper Lori Carroll and 330 hurdler Schowonda Williams. In addition, long jumper Anjeanette Cleveland finished second in the state while discus thrower Angie French was third. The Lady Greyhounds finished second overall as a team for coaches Larry Baker and Joe Laughlin.

Record-wise, it would be tough to top coach Karren Newman's volleyballers. Lynn Lugerling, Wynne Wycoff, Pam Stambaugh, Carol Rogers, Ronda Tempesta and Amy Babcock formed a super six which led the Greyhounds to an undefeated conference season and the district title. Vikki McMurrer turned in several top games coming off the bench.

In wrestling, coach Skip Pletzer's grapplers were haunted by injuries early, but gathered steam and finished on a roll, winning the conference and the district along with a sixth place in the region. It was the fifth district crown in the past six years for the 'Hounds. Dirk Smith went through the regular season unbeaten and was considered one of the top 189 pounders in the state.

The six champions were bolstered by strong showing for the other sports. Included were baseball (second), girls basketball (third), girls cross country (second), girls golf (second), boys soccer (third), girls swimming (third), boys swimming (second), girls tennis (third) and boys track (fourth).

Hughes Challenges Graduating Seniors

By Robert W. Hughes
Seminole School Superintendent

Dear Graduating Seniors:

Speaking for the School Board of Seminole County and for myself, I want to extend to each of you my heartiest congratulations as you reach one of life's great milestones on June 11, 1983. Graduation is a time for congratulations, reflections and challenges.

As I reflect on this outstanding school year, I am reminded of your countless accomplishments. Through your efforts, you have brought honor and recognition to yourselves, your families and the entire Seminole County School System. In the 1983 Senior Class, we have numerous Pride Award winners including our first State Pride Award recipient, many National Merit Scholarship finalists, participants in the Florida Academic Scholars Program and many students for whom college will be paid because of major academic scholarships. In the areas of vocational education, music, art, drama and athletics, your outstanding accomplishments continue to leave a legacy of excellence for Seminole County's 37,000 students.

Graduation is more than a time for reflections. It is a time for challenges and for dreams. I challenge each of you to expect the very best from life. You are a remarkable group of young adults. I challenge you to work a little harder, strive a little longer and reach a little higher for the best life has to offer. The quality of your own life and the quality of life in our great country will depend upon your dedication to this commitment to excellence for yourself and for others.

I encourage you to dream impossible dreams and then work to make them a reality. Dream of a society which appreciates the beauty in all things. Dream of cures for the incurable diseases. Dream of the exploration of our greatest frontiers — the sea, space and the human mind. Dream of a world where nations are at peace with each other. Dream of a world marching proudly, safely and securely into the next century. After you have dreamed, I challenge you to do all that you can to make those dreams come true for all of us.

I congratulate each of you on your past success. I extend to you my very best wishes as you leave our school system and begin your trip to your tomorrow.

Top Seniors

Jerry Axley, left, made the all-conference and all-district football teams while Mike Hill, right, was an all-state player for Lyman High's Greyhound football team.

Seniors Should Set Sail

By Charles C. Webb
Oviedo High Principal

Seniors, you have chosen "Today we weigh anchor: Tomorrow we set sail" for your class motto.

Soon you will leave the safe harbor of home. You may not realize, however, school too has been a harbor in your lives. Moreover, you have not been in dry dock four years; you have been attending a "naval" academy.

On your voyage through adulthood and maturity I wish you safe passage. Occasionally a beacon shining from your memory of high school experiences may guide you through hazardous waters. You have learned more than you may now realize. Courses have been chartered; unknown territories have been explored; sails have been hoisted. All your experiences have taught you to navigate.

Your knowledge, your awareness, your skills will be lighthouses along your journey. Rough weather, stormy seas, ill winds all lie ahead; but you have trained for years, preparing to meet these adversities. Without friction there would be no movement. Your sails would be limp, and you would merely drift along the waterways of life. Fair weather, calm waters, favorable winds all lie ahead, also. You have trained for years, preparing to relish these delights. Without moments of serenity there would be no joy for the sailor. In the poem "Invictus" by W.E. Henley, we are reminded that we are the captains of our souls.

Finally, please drop anchor at OHS in the future. Homecoming is for sailors home from the sea.

Congratulations

Trinity Prep Head Proud Of Year's Achievements

By Diane Petryk
Herald Staff Writer

Reflecting on the past academic year at Trinity Preparatory School, the Rev. H. Benton Ellis, headmaster, said "This past year has been one of almost unparalleled success for Trinity in every direction.

"We have led the state in our percentage of National Merit Scholars; we have dedicated a handsome new gymnasium; we are in the process of completely redoing the science building and adding two new labs as well as administrative offices; we are ready to begin on a new computer center; drama is already planning how to convert the old boys' locker room into a little theater," he said.

Ellis said in just one week newspapers reported that four out of the seven Merit Scholarships given in Orange and Seminole counties went to Trinity students. Trinity won the state Latin contest, the girls' tennis team is playing at the state level and the boys' basketball team is sweeping the district.

In addition to a new computer center, Ellis said the school now has $25,000 set aside for the purchase of computers, disk drives and monitors. An equal amount is being sought for remodeling, necessary wiring and air conditioning and the purchase of the needed software.

"Many things in education will be drastically changed in the future by the computer," Ellis said. "Indeed computer literacy will probably take its place alongside the 3R's as an essential skill in the not too distant future...It is necessary we prepare (students) for this important skill now."

In another glance back at the 1982-83 year at Trinity, Dean of Students Jay St. John said student involvement in clubs and activity groups reaped great results. For example:

—The student government contribution through a variety of fund raising methods was $700 for the United Cerebral Palsy campaign.

—The Key Club assisted Channel 24 and FM 90 in their phone-a-thons and also contributed to Crime Watch in the community.

—Mu Alpha Theta, the National Math Honor Society, was established to recognize and promote math scholarships.

—The Computer Club raised $300 to develop programs for the computer and a programming course has been offered once a week.

—Eight French Club members visited Paris and the Chateau country over Spring break.

—All the language clubs assisted in sponsoring the American Field Service luncheon.

—The Drama Club sent two members to a state competition in Gainesville.

—Trinity's Chorus and Ensemble sang for the Winter Park Presbyterian Church and the Episcopal Diocesan Convention in Orlando.

—Art students painted five murals for the music room and around the school.

—Thirteen first and second students spent a weekend snowmobiling, skiing and swimming at a ski resort near Denver.

—The Newspaper Club produced five informative and interesting issues throughout the school year.

"I would like to give special thanks and recognition to this year's senior class," St. John said. "They have brought distinction to themselves and Trinity in a variety of ways.

"Not simply islands of excellence, but excellence in a wide range of areas..."

Forest Lake Graduates 102

By Diane Petryk
Herald Staff Writer

"Only as far as we seek can we go..."
"Only as much as we dream can we become."

With these words in mind as their aim and motto, 102 students went through commencement at Forest Lake Academy May 15.

Special services leading up to the graduation ceremonies began May 13 with an 8 p.m. service of consecration in the gymnasium of the school in south Seminole County.

The traditional "challenge" was given to the class by Pastor John Appel. The response was made by Elizabeth Cruz.

The following morning, Sabbath school services were followed at 11 a.m. by the baccalaureate in the gymnasium.

The sermon was given by Principal H. D. Kinsey. Vespers were held at 5:30 p.m. in the music building featuring the New Generation Singers led by Dr. Franklin L. Lusk.

The theme of the evening was "A Tribute to Parents." Class members gave a rose and a message of thanks to their parents. The address by Mr. Kinsey was in part a farewell address. He is leaving the school this year.

The Forest Lake commencement began at 8:30 p.m. May 14. An invocation was provided by Elder Larry Stephens and class sponsor Steve Patrick introduced the speaker, Rep. Art Grindle.

Special remarks followed by Board Chairman Elder Henry J. Carruba. Awards and diplomas were presented by Principal Kinsey, Jack Jansen and Libby Stephens.

Students who graduated with high honors (3.75 or above) include: Donald Joe Chaffin, Elizabeth Cruz, Laura Joan Heineman, Robert Ivan Jimenez, Terry William Miller, Susan Joy Montgomery, Eric Randall Strickland and Vickie Lynn Swanson.

Graduating with honors (3.25 or above) were: Lisa Renee Burns, Chang Sun Chon, Darwin Keith Clark, Sherry Lynn Dike, Nancy Caroline Foster, Pauline Claudette James, Janet Sue Loudin, Angela Marie Loukota, Gregory Robert Mesa, Eric Neil Olsen, Floyd Jay Pratt and Pamela Lynn Sadler.

Honorable mention (at least a 3.0 average) graduates include: Sherry Ann Beardsly, James Nathan Black, Jr., Douglas Paul Cox, Sherry Ann Dufresne, Walter F. Fennell III, Julius Anthony Fowler, Stephanie Lynn Gambrell, Vilma Mercedes Jimenez, Leslie Christine Johnson, Shellie Renee Noble, Stephen Daniel Nordman, Heather Lynn West, Paula Michelle West, Kristen Suzan Williams, Patricia Kay Winfield and Sharon Marie Young.

Forest Lake Academy was established as a Seventh-Day Adventist school in 1918 on the grounds of Florida Hospital in Orlando and moved to its present location in Forest City in 1925. Since its early days the school has experienced steady growth.

Administrators state that the school's balanced academic program, including a number of vocational classes, gives students a choice of directions. An outstanding music program, they say, gives students an opportunity to develop their musical talents.

The Forest Lake campus currently serves 375 students. It includes an administrative complex, boys' and girls' dormitories, a gymnasium and swimming pool, a home economics building with cafeteria, a music building with chapel and several industrial buildings.

Senior class officers in 1982-83 were Leslie Johnson, president; Toney Fowler, vice-president; Lori Haynes, secretary; John Crissey, treasurer; Lizzy Cruz, pastor; and Sherry Dufresne and Richard Elliot, sergeants-at-arms. Class colors were burgundy and white and the class flower was the red rose.

Highlights of the year included a senior class trip April 9-17 which took the students to Southern College of Seventh-Day Adventists in Collegedale, Tenn., and on for three nights in Washington, D.C., and two nights in New York City.

Another big event was the senior survival camping trip, Senior Adviser Steve Patrick said, which pitted students against the environment for four nights in an isolated cow pasture. The trip had a dual purpose, to provide training in camping and survival techniques and to serve as a spiritual retreat.

Although Forest Lake Academy has no varsity athletic program, physical fitness plays an important role at the school. More than 70 percent of the students take part in the intramural sports program, according to physical education administrators. The competition is not as keen as with intercollegiate schools, they say, but it's not a "win-or-lose" attitude either. Good sportsmanship supercedes rivalry.

Included in the intramural sports program are flag football, soccer, coed volleyball, basketball, track and field, tennis, coed water polo, weightlifting, cross-country, and, depending on the level of the lake, water skiing.

Soccer, however, seems to be the Forest Lake students' favorite sport.

Outside intramurals, Forest Lake also has competition between classes in special events which take place on certain days throughout the school year.
