

KENYON PRESIDENT CITES VALUE OF ARTS COLLEGE

By DR. GORDON KEITH CHALMERS
President of Kenyon College

THE modern world needs trained men, but more, it needs men who are educated as well as trained. Training gives you skill in a job; education tells you what to do with the skill. In fact, it guides your off hours as well as your working hours. Its purpose is to fill your life with enduring satisfaction, with the ideas and memories and measurements of the world which are worth thinking about and using anywhere, in a crowded city or on a desert island.

Training comes second; your opportunity in a college of liberal arts and sciences is education. To be able to find in earth, air, fire, and water the laws describing their order; to be able to see accurately in a painting or a piece of music, in a play, a novel, or a biography what man has made of man; to be at home in some periods of history and perceive in them the motives of some telling decisions made by men or nations—this is to seize the fruits of the four rich college years.

Education deals with a single skill—skill in thinking. You may think with mathematics, colors, chemical symbols, or words; in college there is a chance to work out and enlarge your thoughts by all of these means. Collaborating with you in the laboratory, the classroom, the seminar, library, or studio are masters of these ways of thinking, instructors who themselves are busy with thought and values and know how to help the beginner exploit his abilities. And not only is college instruction intellectual, it is social, moral, and religious as well. College life in the dormitories and in the Commons, the services of the chapel, the numerous discussions formal and informal, the games, lectures, and concerts bring these important matters out of the printed book and into talk, activity, and experience.

Shoe Terms Can Be Very Confusing

Shoe terms can be confusing. This list should set you on par with the back-to-school shoe salesmen.

Vamp—the front part of a shoe.

Quarter—the back part of a shoe.

Throat—the top front part of the vamp.

Upper—the vamp and quarter put together with the lining complete and ready to put on the sole.

Lining—there are two sets of linings—one all leather and the second one, in between, of cotton—both sewed on to the vamp and quarter.

Tip—any of the extra pieces in different shapes stitched on the front part of the vamp.

Fox—any extra piece stitched on the back part of the quarter, for decoration.

Lacestay—the front part of an oxford in which the eyelets (for laces to pull through) are placed.

Last—a wooden form shaped in accordance with certain styles (that is, round toe, medium toe) and made to measurement for size and width. Constructed also to carry proper heel heights.

Heel—are measured according to eights of an inch—for example, 2 1/8-inch heel is known as 2 1/8; 2 1/4-inch heel is known as 2 1/4; 2 1/2-inch heel is known as 2 1/2. Different styles are: flat, Cuban boulevard, Spanish and Chinese.

Seamless shoe—all one piece with only a single seam at the back.

Side seam shoe—one which has the vamp and quarter put together, with a seam on each side only.

Regent pump—a two-piece shoe with the vamp and quarter stitched together at the vamp line.

Edges—the outside around the sole of the shoe.

Shank—a steel piece put between the inside and outside to support the arch of the foot.

Counter—a leather or fiber piece cut to pattern and measurement, and pasted (with a special paste) between the lining and outside of quarter. It keeps the quarter firm.

5 To 15 Are Dangerous Eye Years

Five to fifteen are dangerous years for your child's eyes, according to Dr. Lois B. Ring, chairman of the School Vision Committee of the American Optometric Association.

"You must teach a child safety consciousness," Dr. Ring said. "Each year there are 10,000 eye injuries to American school children. A child's most precious sense—good vision—may be permanently impaired or destroyed through an injury which could be prevented by safety education and adult supervision."

Three out of four eye injuries among children in the three age group (eight, nine and ten) result from unsupervised games or sports, Dr. Ring said.

She recommended that children be taught to obey safety rules while playing and to be aware of the dangers in instruments such as BB guns, sling shots, bows and arrows, and sharp sticks and stones.

In addition, she advised parents to choose safe toys for children and to avoid playthings with sharp points, or toys which are loosely constructed. "A child should play with things that are suited to his age," she said. "A four-year old, for example, does not know how to play safely with a pair of scissors."

Dr. Ring declared:

Fathers Must File Proof

WASHINGTON (AP)—Draft eligibles were reminded yesterday that if they expect to be deferred from military service for fatherhood, they must file evidence of it with their local draft boards by Aug. 25.

Under a change in draft rules ordered by President Eisenhower in July, fatherhood in itself will not be grounds for exemption after Aug. 25 unless there is "proven hardship and privation."

Selective service noted that under the law, fatherhood dates from conception, so a young man may be granted exemption if he files before Aug. 25 a doctor's certificate attesting that his wife is pregnant.

Dress Up Wardrobe

Here's an easy way to brighten and stretch your wardrobe. Make a colorful print dirndl to wear over your favorite solid color sheath. Make this unusual "over skirt" yourself from a cool, lightweight printed fabric. Choose a print of silk or rayon whose predominant color accents the shade of your straight-cut sheath.

Get two yards (or less, depending on the fullness preferred.) Put a half-inch hem on each selvage. Figure at least an inch-wide waistband, with the same width band extending into a 24-inch long tie-sash. Double the waistband fabric, then tack and crease the print into a softly full skirt. Hem the bottom according to your regular dress length. Tie the colorful print dirndl around you, as you would an apron. The hemmed selvage edges should barely meet down the back.

Stamp Portrait

SYDNEY (AP)—One Pound Johnny, the Australian aboriginal whose bearded face appears on the 2 shilling 6 pence Australian postage stamp, has shaved off his beard.

One Pound Johnny lives on a central Australian cattle station 100 miles west of Alice Springs. People say he is shaving as a disguise to avoid autograph hunters next time he visits town. Since his face first appeared on the stamp two years ago Johnny has received hundreds of letters, some from the United States.

His boss Bill Waddy at the Mount Wedge cattle station bought Johnny an ink stamp pad to meet requests for his signature—his stamp print.

Want a delicious, full-flavored sandwich? Then buy one whose crust is made out of bold, rich, golden-brown crust—rich in taste. A golden, smooth, well-seasoned crust at the stem will mean that the meat and cheese are really good and the sandwich is really delicious.

From California To New York, Sportswear Fashions Are New

California's pace-setting, new sportswear and casual collections, and all the leisure-wear showings from coast to coast, express a new, more versatile mood that best reflects the "urban-suburban trend" of modern living!

The Fall '53 Sportswear story sparkles with a gay, new dash of color—a glowing in surface-interest fabrics that almost project into third dimension.

Fabric interest is the theme, carried ably by such favorite performers as separates and coordinates, "jazzed up" by crazy pants and harmonized with by a new stellar attraction—weskits.

Weskits steal the show in furry knit mixtures—in velvet, corduroy, tweed, plaids, and brilliant tones with each other!

They are at times splashed brightly with pastel kid, or mirror buttons. They do imitations of pony and leopard in fake fur.

Trouser fashions also take to the seas in flannel-lined denim or gabardine. They can wear a belt or cummerbund—or do without one. They fall in step easily—with a jacket, a sweater, or a blouse.

BLouses—by their very versatility—as usual, bring cheers! Cotton tweeds and wool jerseys vie for the spotlight against classic nylon, nylon, silk and rayon tissue faille—for dramatic emphasis to new blouse shaping. Watch for barrel sleeves on a dropped shoulders—elbow length sleeves—cuffed with knit.

Draping at the neckline, tucked collars, bib-interest and fur trims —are marks of the new season's blouse performance.

JACKETS co-star in the sports wear story, and team smartly with dress, skirt, or fancy pants. Every taste and preference is pleased by the diversity of jacket shapes for Fall:—boxy, fancy, fitted, or drawingstring.

They carry fabric themes in felt, printed velveteens, damask, velvet, corduroy, tweed, flannel, jersey, suede, cashmere, and camel hair; fabrics that project themselves with hairy surfaces, and nubby effects or sparkle with metallics and embroideries.

New and worth watching are pullover ending just below the waist, and the Portuguese jacket, which tucks a front panel into a cummerbund.

Drawingstring jackets accompany everything from pants to dresses, and with every fabric note from velvet to tweedy plaids, and felt.

Hip-hugging jackets become a shirt at the drop of a belt. Again this season, jackets and skirts in mix-or-match combinations draw applause as wardrobe stretchers.

SKIRTS, too, get top billing with new shapes, and treatments of the fabric theme. Colors dominate those of the accompanying shirt or blouse. Slim skirts are eased with side pleats and a new double front treatment or soft shirring at the front, and back flares.

Full skirts are not quite so full as last season, but hiplines are rounded, sometimes with padding. Accent on the hips is spotlighted with the use of seamed diagonal deep rich purples hold their place. Hand-drawn-bright cotton flannels and cone-shaped felt skirts vie with fancy pants in sparkle and glitter.

STILES go with new skirts like shadows in matching fabrics—frequently lined with a contrasting color.

Color strikes an imaginative key in solid shades, prints and plaids, bright hues and muted tones.

GREENS range from lime to a gray-blue-green reminiscent of teal. REDS are pink to wine, from magenta to primary red. BROWNS extend from the palest beige to all most black, highlighted by orange, beige-orange and lots of gold.

BLACK, perennially popular, keeps its favored spot. Mauve and pockets, pleats and embroideries, and grays are pale to charcoal.

The Fall '53 Sportswear story is "la ronde" of verve, color, wash and inspiration! It's a modern rhapsody that invites a harmonious theme of wonderful enthusiasm for lively color and fabric combinations, with a counterpoint of imagination.

If you arrange your kitchen equipment efficiently, you shouldn't have to do much standing, much reaching or much walking! Try to place your range, refrigerator and sink so there is not more than six or seven feet between any two of them. Keep dishes, pots, pans and staple foods on shelves to which you have easy access.

Governing Body Splits On Sewer Issue

A rift in a wide developed last night in the city commission in a discussion concerning the immediate needs in the proposed extensive water and sewer improvement program.

Mayor John Kader definitely held out a primary treatment plant in initial improvement construction in the sewerage portion of the program. Mayor William Kader, however, favored the dual-chase system in financing the program and should cut the sewerage needs to rock bottom for initial construction.

On the other side of the fence, Mayor John Kader stipulated the city should operate on a "pay-as-you-go" system in financing the program and should cut the sewerage needs to rock bottom for initial construction.

The commission named the reason why it disagreed with you and why I want to discharge Mr. Angus is "He's gone ahead with these plans without consulting the city commission."

Mayor Chase again answered, "You have the whole picture, so you read that statement and cover the figures in front of you."

Mayor Chase brought out that the improvements most needed, including repairing present sewers and making extensions which would provide sewers to all houses in Sanford, would cost $725,000 roughly.

Dulles Declares 'Pre-Atomic Age' UN Charter Inadequate

BOSTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the "pre-atomic age charter" of the United Nations contains "serious and important omissions" and need to undergo important alterations.

In a speech prepared for the American Bar Association, Dulles said he believed the administration can achieve a better world in the face of the fact that man now has the power "to destroy himself."

Dulles said the second inadequacy arose from the placing of reliance on a peacetime continuation of the wartime partnership of the United States, Britain and Russia with the result that power for action was concentrated in the Security Council with its veto.

Dulles devoted much of his speech to a review of efforts in the recent session of Congress to amend the charter.

program as proposed last night would cost approximately $2,140,000, and would include repair of the present system, construction of extensions, separation of the present system into storm water and sanitary sewer systems, and interceptor pipe and pumping station, water and a disposal plant. Water improvements were slated to cost $1,000,000.

Mr. Angas estimated that $901,000 was necessary for immediate needs, excluding work at Pump Branch, Mill Creek and Cloud Branch. Branches have occurred in sewer pipes at Mill Creek and Pump Branch allowing sanitary sewage to go into the water, he said.

Mr. Angas said his idea was "excellent". He asked Mr. Angas if the City could "buy" for three or four years for $200,000 to $300,000. Mr. Angas answered to the affirmative but said "you can't fuss about odors from the lake" and that the lake front might present an unpleasant appearance.

Mr. Angas last night leaned toward the installation of outfall pipes, to cost $4,000 each. Instead of a treatment plant in initial construction. He said a treatment plant should be located near Mill Creek in the future, but that the City should purchase a site at once before a favorable site is crowded out by housing.

Communism Rough Deal For Poor

The simple fact of the matter is that no system yet devised, including that in effect during feudal times, has dealt more harshly with the poor people than does Communism.

murdered thousands of them and burned their crops. Now Rumanian farmers face the same kind of treatment.

Civil Defense Spur

Air Force Secretary Harold G. Talbot has said that the Russian air force is powerful enough to launch an atomic attack on any point in Europe and any point in the United States.

How much more of a warning do we need before we accelerate our civil defense program to the point where it is prepared to meet any emergency? It is past time for us to recognize the danger and do something about it.

The Rumanian farmer is told what to plant and when to sell it. Failure to obey orders or fill the quota, for whatever reason, can result in fines or to double the cash value of the particular quota, or imprisonment. The state has granted special aid to some farmers but the effect of this aid has been to place farmers more than ever at the mercy of the government.

It is hard to tell how long the Communist tyranny will survive. But one thing is certain. An intense hatred of the Reds is being built up among the poor and desperate people. This hatred has broken out in several places; it will not be surprising if such outbreaks continue or intensify.

No Police Censorship

A federal judge has handed down a decision which for years will be cited in the law books. Judge Charles J. McNamee of the Northern Ohio District Court rules that the Youngstown, O. chief of police has no right to threaten to arrest bookdealers who sell books which he thinks immoral.

No police chief and no official outside of the courts has any such right, Judge McNamee rules. If the chief thought that the ordinance against obscenity was being violated, he could make an arrest, and then the case could be brought up in an orderly manner in court.

Our government continues to work to find a way to avoid war. But at the same time it is the duty of every citizen to take part in the civilian defense effort to make certain that if a war does come and our cities are bombed we will know what to do to avoid the panic and helplessness that could result.

Too Much Party

A scathing criticism of the brilliant Benjamin Disraeli, the 19th century English Premier who secured the Suez Canal for Great Britain, was once passed by his successor as Premier and Conservative party leader, Lord Salisbury.

Both before and after Disraeli there have been public men who went on this principle. History's verdict has been that ultimately their reputation was far below that of statesmen who put the public good first.

One-third of the world is ruled by men who habitually suppress the truth. But truth is mighty and will prevail. Then humanity will see no more slave labor camps and you shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free.—John 8:32.

Nation Alert For Business Slump

NEW YORK — A business slump may be no more than a gleam in a statistician's eye. But rarely, if ever, have such elaborate plans been made to pounce upon one—if and when it tries to sneak in.

So if you drive up to the Yalu River again, then what? It would still be necessary to keep the whole army more or less intact, guarding the long border, even though the fighting had stopped.

These inventories, well supported so far by sales volume, would look over a year's work, however, if new orders don't keep flowing into the factories.

It is to spot the first signs of such things that the Eisenhower administration is setting up its network of businessmen, bankers, politicians and organized labor leaders in the leading cities to report on every day changes.

Released tell of good times—of record highs being set in employment, in sales, in personal income, in total production of goods and services.

But these governmental reports tell us where we've been. They show how things were in the first half of the year. In the next cases, in some cases they reveal the state of business in July. But it will be some weeks yet before the data shows how things are now—and, of course, they give only the faintest indication of how business will be later on.

The stock market has been trying to guess. The traditional summer bull market never got off its knees this time. In the midst of all the glowing reports of earnings, dividends, sales and production by the nation's business firms, stock traders have taken a cautious, and often dreary, view of the future course of stock prices.

Instead of cheering that steel production hit new highs the first half of the year, bullish stock traders have been looking at reports that before long steel sup-

Marines Wanted Korean Decision

BY REILMAN MORIN For Hal Boyle: NEW YORK — Capt. Ben Price of the U. S. Marines, walked in to the office the other day, fresh from Korea.

Others watch license tag numbers and try to make poker hands or try to see how many different state license tags they can record. Some folks make a note of the number of vehicles they pass over a given distance or during a period of time.

Over the years there has been a lot of argument over the question of who are the safest drivers, men or women, and what about teen agers. By using the Hudson chart and playing it like a game, you will get a definite answer to these questions and also be instructed by the Hudson chart.

These ideas are not confined to the Marine Corps. A good many Regular Army officers feel the same way.

History, alone, will show whether signing the armistice at this time was the right course to take.

Too Late To Classify

By RUSSELL KAY For years motorists have amused themselves by playing games while on their way to work.

Proving that speed isn't too important, they made the trip in three days, eight hours and 15 minutes, never driving over 60 miles an hour in daylight or more than 30 miles an hour at night.

Then why didn't we open a real offensive? I asked Ben. "Don't know," he said. "Nobody could make sense out of it. We would take one of their positions, and then pull back—on order."

He said the Marine officers reasoned that they were losing more than the primary war that finally developed than would have been lost in an all-out push.

JAMES MARLOW Bomb Boosts Expenses

WASHINGTON — Before the Russians announced their hydrogen explosion, President Eisenhower had money troubles enough. The explosion complicated them.

It was searching for new places to cut government spending. Defense and foreign aid spending looked like good targets. But the fact the Russians are working on the hydrogen bomb may make Congress cautious about cuts in those two places.

Work on the national budget—the estimate of what it will cost to run the government for the fiscal year starting the following July 1—starts every year around this time. It takes from August to January, when Congress opens again, for the departments to put their estimates together, for the Budget Bureau to review them and try to reduce them, and for the final figures to be printed.

Just about this time last year the Truman administration began work on the budget for the fiscal year which started July 1. No matter how the election turned out, Truman was going to give his estimates to Congress, and he did.

But in doing so Truman was only fulfilling his own responsibility. Neither the Eisenhower administration nor the new Republican-controlled Congress accepted Truman's figures.

The Eisenhower administration found a way to cheat about nine billion dollars off the total Truman asked Congress to approve. Then Congress chopped about another 3½ billions off what Eisenhower asked.

But it isn't in final years Congress had appropriated many billions which wouldn't be spent until this present fiscal year. Mainly to pay for war supplies ordered last year or the year before but to be delivered this year.

As a result of this backlog of spending coming due, plus the new spending approved by Congress in 1953, the Eisenhower administration began to get gloomy about the national debt.

That debt is the amount of money borrowed by the government to pay its expenses when those expenses exceed the revenue taken in by the government in taxes. By far the major part of the debt was due to spending on World War II.

Congress has set a limit by law of 62½ billion dollars on the national debt, which is another way of saying no administration can do any spending coming due, plus the new spending approved by Congress in 1953.

But — in 1954 the government would lose about eight billions in revenue if Congress let certain taxes end or be reduced. The excess profits tax on corporations is due to end Dec. 31. At the same time individual income taxes are to drop about 10 per cent. And in 1955 the first time in its history, the department is compiling a nickname file of criminals and criminal suspects. About 300 nicknames already are known. The files and completed is expected to exceed 1,500 names.

Bobo Sullivan To Hurl Here Tonight; Twin Bill With DeLand Is Rained Out

County All-Stars Will Play "Whiz Kids"

Major Jack Bolt To Be Feded Before Legion Benefit Tilt Here On Sept. 1.

Jupiter Phivius willing, the Sanford Cardinals will engage the Lakeland Pilots here tonight on that biggie Yowell-Touchton free night game in the Memorial Stadium. Over 6,000 tickets have been distributed free to fans over the counters at Yowell Department Store and Touchton Drug Store.

Tickets will be still available and evening at either Yowell's or Touchton's. W. V. "Duce" Hitting and Jack Hill stated today.

"We want as many people, who can make it, in at the park tonight," Hill declared.

"We are gunning for a new attendance record in the Florida State League," Hitting asserted.

The two merchants combined to purchase all the seats for tonight's game in a package deal with the Sanford Cardinals in order to keep the Redbirds from going too deep in the hole this year.

"With a good break in the weather we might draw more than the 3,000 odd who turned out for Merchants Night," Hitting said.

The season's top gate for the Cardinals this year was recorded on Merchants Night when 2,150 fans jammed their way into the Memorial Stadium last month. In order to break a Florida State League attendance record, Sanford must lure 3,225 fans or more tonight. The 3,327 baseball partisans who attended the June 7th game in Gainesville in 1940 set the current FSL attendance standard.

Meanwhile, Manager J. C. Dunn has designated John "Bobo" Sullivan as the shifty southpaw from Waterbury, Conn., as his hurling choice for tonight's game with Lakeland. Sully will be trying for his fourth straight win without a defeat since joining the Redbirds earlier this month from Hamilton, Ont.

The chunky little southpaw, who romped in Lakeland last year with the Chicago White Sox during the Second World War, racked up an County Judge Douglas Stratton believes as does W. W. Dawson that if Sanford had Price Westbrook at first base all season, the Cardinals would have been right up in the top three this year. This scribble and many Sanford fans are classified in the same category. . . Westbrook, who was hitting a cool .346 at the time he broke his ankle in May, was the sparkplug of the team. . . Our colleague Charlie "SomerTime" has come up with a good idea, a benefit ball game between the Rotary and Kiwanis Club for the benefit of the local club could use the money and the civic club "old pros" certainly would provide a lot of laughs.

After last year's successful bowling season, the Sanford Bowling Alley's impresario Bill Hartwick believes that howling in Sanford is on the threshold of a golden era. . . So convinced of the bowling future here, Hartwick is ploughing back his profits into the bowling plant, which will be as good as any in this section of the State.

Porter Lansing points to the dire need of recruiting new members, especially the younger men of Junior Chamber of Commerce age, in the Seminole County Sportsman's Association. . . The Wekiva River Park, being built by the county sportsmen at their own expense, is lagging. . . A request for funds to help two doublet hollows on the grounds from the county Commission fell through when the Commission stated it had no jurisdiction to help the Wekiva project.

Rain Saves NAAS Ads In Sanfly League Play

By RALPH GASMAN

Yesterday's Sanfly loop game was a heartbreaker for the V-C's Electronics nine and lifesaver for NAAS Administration. A win for the Sparks would have placed them in the first spot tied with FASION-SI Optronics and an Administration loss would have dropped them into the cellar with the NAAS Operations team. But rain was victorious over both of the teams.

It had been raining off and on during the entire game. But finally in the top of the fifth inning, with the Sparks leading the Ads 12 to 5, the rain became so heavy that Head Umpire R. L. Heavly was forced to call the game.

The umpire's decision brought happiness to the Ads and downcast the near victors, V-C's Electronics. Brock told the team manager, "I hate to call the game now when only two more outs are needed for a complete game. But it is just raining too hard."

The game has been rescheduled for tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 on the Naval Auxiliary Air Station's softball diamond behind the Hobby Shop.

DeLand Red Hats Drawing Nearer F-S-L Pennant

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain washed out most of the Florida State League program again last night but a curious effect was to better the position of DeLand. Leading DeLand in the stretch drive for the second-half championship.

Doubleheaders involving DeLand and Daytona Beach, 2 1/2 games behind the leader, were canceled, leaving the Hatters' magic number to take the title "7." It had been "9."

Now, any combination of DeLand victories and Daytona Beach defeats, totaling seven, gives the title to the Hatters who have 10 games left to play compared to their rivals.

The season ends Monday. If DeLand takes the second-half title, the Hatters will meet Daytona Beach, the first-half winner, in a best-of-five playoff for the pennant and a $1,120 purse if the Daytona-Bakers squeeze in and grab the other half of the championship, however, they'll pocket the $1,120 themselves and the pennant without a playoff.

Last night, DeLand had been scheduled to play Sanford; and Daytona Beach, Orlando. Since the teams do not meet again the games were canceled along with a doubleheader between Jacksonville Beach and Leesburg.

The only action saw Cocoa defeat Lakeland 8-7. Andy Frazier went the distance but had to tread a Lakeland ninth-inning rally which produced three runs.

Cocoa lost a slim mathematical chance it had to win the second-half title when DeLand's games were canceled.

Sometime
It's always interesting to hear of other people's troubles. In the weekly Herald column, the residents are experiencing the most serious infestation of mosquitoes since 1949. It all came about, as Alvin Higginbotham, director of the Mosquito Control Unit of Howard explained, because the mean little creatures are leaving their lives in the water and changing into flying creatures. Mr. Higginbotham said at the time mosquitoes make the shift from waterborne to airborne insects, they actually "stand" on the surface of the water where they hatched. There is a "stand" there in indefinite, but if a heavy rain were to hit the body of water at that time it would "drown" them by the millions. Well, Mr. Higginbotham, you don't know if you had the rain in Howard we had here last night, but if you did your worries would be over. Bud Moughton told us that 1.53 inches of rain fell overnight bringing the month's total to 10.85—well over the average.

Mrs. Nina Dean, Hollins College English professor, is speaking in St. Petersburg today on "Folklore Found in Shakespeare's Plays Still Found in Southern Rural Areas." The event is the pre-convocation meeting of the Pinellas County Council of Teachers of English. Mrs. Dean is nationally known for her Southern folklore study and has spoken to state and national educational groups on the subject. Each year she directs "Shakespeareana," a dramatic celebration of Shakespeare's production given at Hollins. She is the wife of Roland L. Dean, publisher for many years of the Herald.

And while chatting about Hollins, we note that seven Korean War veterans have been admitted to that college under a program launched in April. The program is directed by John G. Rich, who said today that response to the program, which offers scholarships to qualified veterans, has been "very satisfactory." Without doubt, the influx of veterans into colleges throughout the nation during the past year will nearly equal the total to institutions of higher education, which in the past has been the close of the World War. Many settlements, like the writer, took advantage of the GI Bill of Rights to return to college. The program is a boon to the nation, through the program and heartily endorses the plan.

Charlie Morrison, the Herald's sore-fisted advertising man, has a problem. And when Charlie has a problem—big or small—they all amount to the same thing: major catastrophe. When Charlie went to Groveland several weeks ago with a group of Kiwanians to present a program at the Groveland club he resolved to give the club a presentation of their appreciation, a pencil inscribed "Groveland Kiwanis Club." Somewhere, while making his rounds recently, Charlie left his pencil. If the one who found it will give the office a ring with the good news, C. will be his own smiling self again. Incidentally, Mr. Morrison was formerly an honorary member of Kiwanis, and is currently a member in good standing in Rotary.
