Police Warn Treaters And Tricksters

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford and Lake Mary police are warning trick or treaters and their parents to be extremely careful of the candy they receive during Halloween while also warning would-be pranksters that uniformed and plainclothed police officers will be out in force to insure all goes well.

"We usually have eight men on in the evening shift," said Herb Shea, spokesman for Sanford Police Chief Ben Butler. "This year, because of the problems with food tampering and the usual mischief at this time of year, we're going to have 20 officers on duty, patrolling the streets in marked and unmarked cars. Some of the officers will be in plain clothes and we may even have some with trick or treaters."

"We want the pranksters to take this as a warning that the officers have been instructed to make arrests and see to it that those violators will go to the juvenile detention center or the county jail," Shea said. "We will not tolerate any vandalism, injury to the little ones or any foolishness whatsoever. I don't think I can be any more serious or direct about this than to say that.

"The food-scare is getting too close to home and we don't want it in Sanford," Shea added. "Parents go with your children if they go trick or treating. Remember to the best of your ability who gave them the candy and if something appears suspicious, call us immediately so we can check it out."

"I agree with Shea's statements and our department will have five officers on the road accompanied by five firefighters who will ride with them," said Lake Mary Police Chief Harry Benson.

"This year, because of the dangers with the food tampering, we plan to really be watching for any problems and we plan to come down hard on those we catch causing problems," he said. "God forbid that anything so tragic should happen here or anywhere."

There is considerable confusion this year over which day youngsters should trick or treat.

Sanford and Oviedo, as well as all of Orange County, youngsters are being urged by the respective local governments to enjoy trick or treating Saturday night, and to stay home Sunday.

Others, however, plan to go out Sunday night, the traditional Oct. 31 observance.

Those who are suggesting Saturday night for Halloween fun point to the fact that many churches have religious activities on Sunday nights and, thus, Halloween would be disruptive for some people.

One radio station in Orlando conducted an informal public opinion poll Saturday via telephone call-ins and reported

Orange County residents who responded said by a 5 to 1 margin they were observing Halloween on Saturday.

Some local school children were advised Friday by teachers to trick or treat only on Saturday night and to be accompanied by a parent.

Some teachers simply urged their young students to stay home this year and enjoy private Halloween parties with relatives, close friends or members of their church.

There have been many frightening notes already this Halloween.

With more tainted candy and fruit being found daily across the nation, the Guardian Angels said they will go trick-or-treating with children this Halloween and a Nashville, Tenn., company is sending toys to kids in a Massachusetts town where candy collecting was banned.

Officials in several cities again asked people not to let their

County Proceeds To Purchase 1,500 Acres

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County's plan for acquisition of 1,500 acres in Spring Hammock between Lake Mary and Longwood is proceeding according to schedule, said Joyce Sellen, administrator in charge of the project.

Surveyors currently are working at the site to determine the exact boundaries and will be done by February, Ms. Sellen said.

An appraiser's report is expected by May and the state Department of Environmental Regulation's review of the appraiser's report is expected by July.

The state is expected to make offers to the 37 property owners soon after the review is completed, Ms. Sellen said.

Spring Hammock, a poorly drained area dominated by mixed hardwood trees, is vital for the drainage of industrial and residential areas on all sides of it, she said.

"If this had been developed it would have created drainage problems," Ms. Sellen said.

"It's important that we acquire this for the drainage. It purifies the sheet flow before it gets into Soldier's Creek."

The hammock was the focus of a controversy between people who wanted to develop the area in the late 1970s and conservationists who argued the land was environmentally sensitive and would be damaged irreparably by development.

Spring Hammock borders Lake Jessup on the east and State Road 427 on the west. The Lake Mary-Sanford area is to the north of Longwood, Casselberry and Winter Springs are to the south.

Spring Hammock will be purchased using state funds and will be developed as a passive recreation area. The area will be used for hiking, boardwalks, nature trails and other activities that require no development.

The area to be purchased does not include two houses and a small factory, already in the Hammock.

The area was included on a state list for acquisition in December 1980 when funding for the projects was approved. At that time the project was ranked seventh on the state's list. Currently it is ranked sixth.

Sandra Tilley, a sales clerk in the camera and jewelry department of Sanford's K mart store on U.S. Highway 17-92, has her hands full. She received the assignment of resetting the store's many clocks this weekend to "lose" one hour because of the change, officially at 2 a.m. Sunday, back to standard time.

Fall Back An Hour

This weekend everybody will get back the hour they lost last spring.

At 2 a.m. Sunday, clocks will be set back one hour to 1 a.m. to officially end Daylight-Saving Time and begin standard time for the next six months.

For those who have trouble with the twice-yearly clock change, remember, "Spring forward, fall back."

In 1966, Congress passed the Uniform Time Act, setting Daylight-Saving Time from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October.

Many attempts have been made to change the law including legislation passed by the Senate and other measures awaiting action in the House.

The House version would extend daylight time by two months, starting the first Sunday in March.

Arizona, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, U.S. Samoa and most of Indiana are not affected by the time change because they voted to exempt themselves from the law.

For U.S. House

McCollum, Batchelor In Close Race Tuesday

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Incumbent U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum, R-Altamonte Springs, and state Rep. Dick Batchelor, D-Orlando, are continuing their campaigns down to the wire for Central Florida's 5th Congressional District seat in the U.S. House of Representatives in Tuesday's general election.

McCollum, 38, completing his first term in Congress, was unopposed in the Republican primaries. In 1980 he beat out then controversial Congressman Richard Kelly for his party's nomination and went on to defeat Democrat David Best. Prior to that campaign McCollum had been chairman of the Seminole County GOP.

Batchelor, 34, considered a bid for Congress in 1980, but instead strongly supported Best. Actively involved in the reapportionment in the Legislature earlier this year, he announced his candidacy for the 5th District immediately after the district boundaries were set.

A four-term state representative, is giving up his seat in the Florida Legislature to try for the congressional post. The 5th District, before reapportionment, had nearly 1 million residents and was the largest in population in the nation. It stretched from Orange, Seminole and Lake counties to the Gulf Coast, including McCollum's hometown of Brooksville. The old fifth district was carved into three districts during reapportionment. As far as is known, McCollum is the first resident of Seminole County to serve in the Congress.

McCollum after redistricting was reported to be considering moving into the Brooksville congressional district. He was born in Brooksville and has family there.

However, in mid July, McCollum said he would stay in Seminole and run from here.

Batchelor made his announcement for the office first, choosing as the site for that announcement the Vietnam

Elections King Wins By Draw At Lake Mary; Other City Races Shape Up

Lake Mary Councilman Kenneth King, 42, a natural science instructor at Seminole Community College, won re-election to a second term when he drew no opposition Friday as the candidate qualification period in that city came to a close.

City Clerk Connie Major said King's name in line with city election law will not appear on the Dec. 7 city election ballot. His re-election will be automatic.

Completing his first term on the council, King has shown particular interest in environmental issues and recently authored and pushed through to adoption an ordinance designed to protect the city's trees.

He and his wife, Christy, are the parents of three children.

Meanwhile, 13 other candidates qualified for the three council seats and the mayor's office on the Dec. 7 ballot.

Hunting for mayor are: four-term incumbent Walter Sorenson, 40, an associate realtor with an Orlando firm; Vic Olvera, 48, a plastics supervisor at WinTel Corp., Longwood, who resigned from his council seat to seek the mayor's office, and Dick Fess, 37, a vice president of ComBanks, who is completing his first term on the council.

Candidates for the one year remaining in the term of resigned Gene McDonald are: Burt Perinchief, 43, a music instructor at Seminole Community College, and Josef C. Stern, 54, who is employed by the Westinghouse Corp.

Candidates for the remaining year in resigned Olvera's term are: Charles Lytle, 33, an account executive for Gulf & Western and former city planning and zoning board member; Susan Stern, 29, a University of Central Florida student; George Duryea, 35, an accountant, and Barbara Ball, 37, executive secretary of Codisco at the Sanford Airport.

Candidates for Fess's seat are: Colin Keogh, 26, a third generation Lake Maryan; James D. Stern, 19, a Seminole Community College Student; E. Russell Megonegal, 61, resident of the Forest, and Bill Durrenberger, 39, an estimator and permit processor for an Orlando commercial construction firm.

Durrenberger resigned from the city planning and zoning board Thursday to run for the council. He was an unsuccessful candidate a year ago.

Meanwhile, in Sanford, Patricia "Pat" Baxley, co-owner of a Sanford restaurant, qualified Thursday to run against two-year city commission incumbent, Milton Smith, a retired railroad man. Incumbent City Commissioner David Farr has drawn no opposition so far.

In Casselberry, where three council seats and the mayor's office are on the ballot, two Council incumbents, Frank Schutte and Bill Grier qualified. Richard Russo and Bertha Hines have qualified to seek election to the council seat held by Jim Lavigne.

Lavigne, resigned earlier this year, effective Monday, to unsuccessfully seek a legislative seat. He decided this week not to run for re-election to the Council.

And no one had qualified Friday for the one year remaining in the term of Mayor Owen Sheppard.

Sheppard has resigned, effective Jan. 10.

William L. Mullins of 1016 Mahogany Drive in Casselberry delivers his absentee ballot to Seminole Elections Supervisor Camilla Bruce's office, and its accepted by deputy registrar Helen McGuire. Mullins, who lives in Precinct 52, will be a poll worker in Precinct 72 in Longwood on election day Tuesday and will be unable to vote at his regular polling place. Absentee ballots may be delivered to Mrs. Bruce's offices at the courthouse annex in Sanford or the branch office in the Interstate Mall on Tuesday. The branch office will be open until 5 p.m. Absentee ballots will be accepted at the courthouse office until 7 p.m.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: A "wall of fog" obliterated Virginia Highways, causing two auto accidents that killed two people. Four-inches of rain and heavy snow pounded the Pacific Northwest, swelling rivers to flood stage. More than 2 inches of rain doused Eureka, Calif., Friday. Heavy snow fell in the Rockies Friday and stiff 54-mph winds blasted Casper, Wyo., and howled through mountain passes. A gale warning was posted for Lake Superior as gusts peaked at 30 mph from the Dakotas to the Great Lakes. Elsewhere, thick fog covered Texas, Louisiana and Missouri and light rain was reported over New England. Skies were clear along the Atlantic Coast. Thunderstorms soaked Texas and Louisiana, dumping 2 inches of rain at Houston and more than an inch at Longview. A "wall of fog" near Chesapeake, Va., caused two traffic accidents on Interstate 64—one a 12-car pileup that injured one person. A mile away, a woman and her son were killed in "a wall of fog with zero visibility," a state trooper said. Late Thursday, winds gusting to 38 mph in Milwaukee toppled a temporary wooden walkway at the construction site of the new Federal Plaza. Four people received minor injuries.

For State Senate In 15th

Jennings And Hattaway Clash

State Sen. Toni Jennings, R-Orlando, is being challenged in her bid for a second term in the Florida Senate by State Rep. Robert Hattaway, D-Altamonte Springs.

Hattaway, a four-term state legislator, is a native of Seminole County, and has been chairman of the Seminole County Legislative delegation for the past six years.

Miss Jennings elected to the Florida Senate in 1980, served two two-year terms previously in the Florida House. She has been chairman of the Orange County delegation for the past two years.

Hattaway, 45, is married and the father of two daughters. Miss Jennings is single.

Miss Jennings is currently serving on the Senate committees on governmental operations, transportation, finance, taxation and claims, economic, community and consumer affairs.

Hattaway serves on the House agriculture, appropriations, finance and taxation and transportation committees.

He has been chairman of the citrus subcommittee, the election administration subcommittee, same day registration ad hoc committee, vice chairman of the agriculture committee and member of the elections, insurance, growth and energy committees and the select committees on farm labor relations and worker's compensation study.

When first elevated to the Florida House in 1976, Miss Jennings was 27 and the youngest woman ever elected to the Florida Legislature. She has been designated Republican leader pro-tem for the 1982-84 sessions of the State Senate.

They have both received numerous awards.

Born in Altamonte Springs, Hattaway is a graduate of Lyman High School. He is president of his own tropical foliage business, Hattaway's Inc., is a broker-realtor, owner of Altamonte Realty and is a director of Southeast National Bank of Orlando.

Miss Jennings received her bachelor's degree with honors in elementary education from Wesleyan College in Macon, Ga., and attended the graduate school of education as a reading specialist at Rollins College. She taught for two years at Killarney Elementary School in Winter Park.

She is an officer of Jack Jennings & Sons, Inc., general contractors, is an associate realtor and a mortgage broker. She holds a mortgage broker's license.

The single greatest issue facing Florida continues to be crime, in Miss Jennings' view.

"Though nationwide crime figures are dropping, Florida's rate continues to rise," she said. "It is my belief that the chief reason crime continues to rise in our state is the total lack of concern by the criminal or would-be criminal over the possibility of being caught, tried and punished. The lengthy appeal process makes a mockery of the concept of swift and sure punishment."

"With over 190 people on death row, many there in excess of eight years, the appeals process has practically done away with capital punishment in our state," Miss Jennings said.

"A punishment never carried out is no punishment at all and certainly does not act as any kind of deterrent," she said.

Hattaway said the most important issue facing the 1983 Legislature will be those issues related to growth such as transportation, education and law enforcement.

"We need to act today to solve the problems of future growth rather than waiting 'till the problems exist and appropriate revenues are not available," said Hattaway.

"Prudent management and wise use of available revenues should be the guidelines for developing appropriate legislation to deal with these problems," he said.

"Last year, I was able to obtain funding to keep the crime lab in Central Florida and to assist Seminole Community College and other areas of transportation and education. I plan to deal with those areas with the same attitude that I have successfully used during my eight years in the Florida House of Representatives," Hattaway said.

"While much has been accomplished, we still have a long way to go towards solving our growth problems," he said.

Miss Jennings said there are two particular areas where she intends to introduce legislation during the 1983 session. She said she will first follow up on the crime problem.

"Through research my office has found the appeals process continues to be delayed by what are called collateral issues that have nothing to do with guilt or innocence.

"I will be working on a legislative limitation on these kinds of issues that serve only to delay the carrying out of a sentence," said Miss Jennings.

The second area of legislation deals with funding transportation needs, she said.

"A large portion of the motor vehicle license tag money and the majority of the sales tax revenue on cars, trucks and buses do not go to funding transportation needs. I will work to redirect these funds through legislation," she said.

Hattaway said legislation which he will propose for the 1983 session will deal with growth-related issues. "Even though a complete legislative package has not been formed, subjects such as the mechanics lien law, crime, education and transportation will be included," he said.

Miss Jennings and Hattaway are running for the District 15 seat in the Florida Senate. The district encompasses roughly 20 percent of Seminole County in the area west of U.S. 17-92 and south of State Road 436 and parts of Orange County.

Voters in Seminole County precincts 11, 12, 16, 23, 25, 31, 36, 39, 44, 45, 48, 49, 59 and 69 may vote in this contest.

Jacksonville Cola Contaminated

New Tainted Food Product Wave Hits

United Press International
Authorities investigating the Chicago area Tylenol poisonings studied a jumble of leads and police nationwide were busy with "copycat" tamperings, including razor blades in hot dogs in Detroit and a powerful painkiller added to a brownie in New Hampshire.

Jewel Companies Inc. and the Walgreen Co., two of the Chicago area's largest drug retailers, restocked Tylenol products — except capsules — in suburban stores. A citywide ban on all Tylenol products continues.

Stores' Halloween candy was one of the primary targets of poisoners and fearful parents said they would not let their children trick-or-treat Sunday.

A boy found a pin in a caramel apple bought in a North Dakota supermarket, prompting a recall Friday of more than 1 million caramel apples by Carnival Products of Minneapolis.

Iygrade Food Products Corp. of Livonia, Mich., announced a voluntary five-state recall of its Ball Park franks after three Michigan families found razor blades in them. A fourth frank was sabotaged with a nail. Some of the families said the booby traps apparently were made during processing.

A company spokesman said all frank production at the Livonia plant would be halted while the investigation continues. The company offered a $10,000 reward for information leading to a conviction.

The New Hampshire Public Health Department issued a formal recall of brownies from the Peggy Lawton Bakery in Walpole, Mass., while state and federal investigators try to figure out how a 50-milligram Demerol tablet was inserted into one of the sweets.

"I threw away the Tylenol that I had in the house," said Doreen Valley of Franklin, N.H., who reported she was lightheaded and short of breath after eating part of the tainted brownie. "I would have expected it in another bottle of Tylenol, eyedrops, something like that. But not a brownie."

Police and a hospital spokesman said they thought the Demerol capsule was baked into the brownie. But the bakery and the FDA disagreed, saying it was likely the tablet would have disintegrated during the baking process if it had been put in at the bakery.

In other tampering incidents, a Chicago woman was injured Friday when she bit into a popcorn ball and a razor blade stuck in the roof of her mouth, police said.

Health officials in Jacksonville, Fla., confirmed at least two bottles of Pepsi-Cola were contaminated with acid and bleach and examined a dozen other products.

Illinois Attorney General Tyrone Fahner, head of the task force investigating the Chicago-area deaths of seven people who took cyanide-laced Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules Sept. 29-Oct. 1, said authorities are "narrowing our focus... because we have been able to discard various leads and individuals."

DeLorean Freed; Puts Up Cash, Property For Bond

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—John DeLorean, indicted on charges of arranging a $24 million cocaine deal to save his failing auto company, put up $250,000 cash and the deeds to two homes, allowing him to be freed on bail after 11 days in prison.

After being released from the Terminal Island federal prison Friday, DeLorean was whisked away in a black Jaguar—driven by a bodyguard—with his wife and mother-in-law. Reports said the car was in a minor freeway accident but authorities said DeLorean was not involved.

Earlier in the day, the automaker was charged in nine-count indictment with conspiracy to distribute cocaine, possession of narcotics, interstate travel in aid of racketeering and unlawful use of a telephone.

The charges carry a maximum prison term of 72 years and a $195,000 fine.

His bond had been set at $5 million but it was increased to $10 million Friday. To meet the figure, his attorneys posted $250,000 and turned over the deeds to his 48-acre estate north of San Diego and a Fifth Avenue apartment in New York. Assistant U.S. Attorney James Walsh said DeLorean also promised to turn over the deed to several hundred acres of farmland in New Jersey by next Friday.

DeLorean, who was scheduled for arraignment Nov. 8, did not speak with reporters as he left prison. His wife, model Christine Ferrare, told reporters at the courthouse earlier that she was uncertain about their plans.

Honesty Means Something

NEWBERRY, Mich. (UPI)—Honesty means a lot to Vernard "Ole" Olsen, who found $90,000 when he bulldozed an old house foundation and promptly turned the cash over to his employer, the state of Michigan.

Olsen, a Department of Natural Resources equipment operator, found the cash while bulldozing a house foundation in the Tahquamenon Area State Park on Oct. 21, the DNR said Friday.

DNR crews spent the following weekend collecting the money from under a concrete slab near Tahquamenon Falls. In a statement released in Lansing, the DNR praised Olsen, 50, as a hero.

Bill Cornish of the DNR park staff said the money was found in the basement of an old house the state bought in 1977 for $32,500. The house, built in the 1930s, was torn down "some time ago," he said.

The DNR has not yet contacted the former owners of the property, and doesn't know if those people are the true owners of the money.

Body Left In Altamonte Springs

Stano To Face Another Murder Charge

Altamonte Springs police say they plan to charge mass murderer Gerald Stano with the 1974 stabbing death of a woman whose body was found in a field behind a shopping mall in that city.

In a three-hour interview with Altamonte Springs police at the Daytona Beach Police Department Friday, Stano reportedly told investigators that he gave a woman a ride as she hitchhiked along Interstate 4 near Altamonte Springs.

Stano told police he argued with the woman, stabbed her and left her in an overgrown field behind the Interstate Mall.

The woman's body was discovered Nov. 24, 1974, by a boy who was riding his mini-bike in a field behind the mall, police said. Police added that the woman appeared to have been dead for about a month and that she bore no identification, except wedding and engagement rings.

The woman's purse and shoes were missing, her pants pulled down and a sweater was pulled around her neck, which police say is indicative of the condition of many of Stano's previously confessed victims.

Investigators say Stano, who is serving three consecutive life sentences at the state prison in Starke for the murders of three Daytona Beach-area women, has admitted to 40 killings between 1969 and 1980 spanning across Florida and into New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Detectives add the Altamonte Springs slaying is the first-known murder by Stano in Seminole County and the first killing he has admitted having committed in 1974.

Investigators said each of Stano's self-confessed murders have been similar to that he admits to meeting the victim, taking her for a ride in his car and if she argued with him or frustrated him he would become enraged and strangle, beat, stab or shoot her and dump the body in a desolate area. Stano would then clean his car, erasing any fingerprints or other identifying evidence which could link him to the woman, and return to his home near Daytona Beach.

MAN FREE ON BOND

A Casselberry man, who is charged with the second-degree arson of his own mattress company, is free from the county jail on $8,000 bond today following his arrest at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Leroy Carr Best, 53, of 3 Quail Pond Road, owner of Best Bedding Co. in Casselberry and the Mr. Mattress company at 160 N. U.S. 17-92 in Longwood, is charged with "conspiring and plotting" to burn down his Longwood store, Longwood police said.

Police said the fire, which occurred at about 1:08 a.m. April 2, caused about $250,000 worth of damage to the structure and resulted in minor injuries to Longwood firefighter Jim Kozan, who battled the blaze.

Police said Best paid Steven Dye $700 to set the fire, adding that Dye, of an undisclosed address, was arrested previously in connection with the fire and reportedly agreed to testify against Best.

ALTAMONTE HOME ROBBED

More than $3,000 worth of property was stolen from a home near Altamonte Springs between 11 a.m. and 4:40 p.m. Tuesday.

Michael R. Hutchinson, 25, of 348 E. Tangerine Ave., and William Masayko, 26, of the same address, told deputies someone broke into their home through a bedroom window.

Among those items stolen were $150 cash, a $20 gold piece, gold chains, rings, earrings and a gold anklet all valued at more than $1,442, deputies said.

The thieves also stole a diamond ring, stick pin, tie bars, wedding band, bracelets, pullover sweaters, boxing gloves and an Oriental weapon, with a total value of more than $1,630, deputies said.

MOTHER, SON FREE ON BOND

An Altamonte Springs woman and her son are free from the county jail today on $500 and $100 bond, respectively, following their arrests Thursday night.

Deputies said they responded to a disturbance in the parking lot of the Spanish Trace Apartments at 397 Wymore Road at about 10:20 p.m. Thursday. Upon their arrival, Austin Maunz and his father, Albert, both of the above address, said they had been arguing with their mother and wife, Betty Lou Maunz, 56, and brother and son, Alan William Maunz, 24, also of the above address, deputies said.

Deputies said Alan Maunz continued to argue and interfere with their investigation of the incident and was subsequently arrested and charged with disorderly conduct.

While attempting to handcuff Maunz, deputies said Mrs. Maunz began arguing with deputies and interfered with her son's arrest. After warning her several times not to interfere, deputies arrested Mrs. Maunz on a charge of obstructing justice.

TENT, STOVE STOLEN FROM CHURCH

Thieves broke into the nursery of a Sanford church between June 15 and 7 p.m. Oct. 15, stealing a gas stove and a six-man tent.

Police said the culprits broke into the First Assembly of God nursery building at 304 W. 27th St. and stole the equipment valued at about $245.

RESTAURANT RIPPED OFF

An undisclosed amount of beer, wine, cheese and meat was stolen from a Sanford restaurant between 10 p.m. Wednesday and 9:40 a.m. Thursday.

Carmela Baio told police the thieves entered his restaurant, Carlo's Restaurant at 1008 S. French Ave., after breaking a window. Once inside, the thieves took the beer, wine, cheese and meat and an AM-FM 8-track stereo set.

DUI ARREST

Jimmy Dan Moody, 53, of 960 N. U.S. 17-92, Longwood, was arrested at 1:41 a.m. Friday and charged with driving under the influence of alcoholic beverages and driving without a license tag, police said.

Moody was arrested by Longwood police along U.S. 17-92 near Lake Kathryn Circle, police said.

On November 2 you have the opportunity to Re-elect a Responsible and Effective County Commissioner to the Seminole County Commission.

- Dear Friends:
- Four years ago I promised, if elected, that I would do the following:
- Bring financial responsibility back to our County government.
 - Institute budget priorities based on public safety, public health and necessary or essential service needs.
 - Establish a realistic millage and help run the County on a business-like basis.
 - Initiate an active aggressive program to assist in bringing new light industry and business.

• To provide comprehensive management in a business-like manner. I believe that I have carried out my promises, and I am asking again for your vote to continue to give you responsible, decisive and common sense government.

Respectfully yours,

Bob

Troy Piland For District 34

So well qualified and informed about the issues and problems confronting state House District 34 is Troy Piland that we believe he would be a major benefit to his constituency.

Piland knows intimately the problems of transportation, growth and natural resources of this area. And he has common-sense solutions for improving conditions.

Piland has a strong business-education background as well as a great deal of experience as a public official, having served as mayor in Winter Springs since 1974 and as a councilman in that city from 1971 to 1974. But he didn't confine his public service to the duties of those positions. Piland has been a member of several important governmental bodies, including Council of Local Governments, Central Florida League of Cities, Tourist Development Commission, East Central Florida Regional Planning Council and the South Seminole-North Orange Wastewater Transmission Authority.

Piland is highly regarded by a multitude of public officials and civic leaders of both political persuasions as an effective and conscientious leader.

Piland is the kind of man who will answer a citizen's questions quickly and honestly, and if he doesn't know the answer, he'll say so, but proceed to research it and find the answer.

Seminole County and the small portion of Brevard and Orange counties included within the District 34 boundaries deserve the representation Mr. Piland can provide.

A Little Respect

Only yesterday, it seems, we were seeing news photos and television film of anti-war protesters burning the American flag on one campus or another or in a public square. As shocking as it was to most Americans, this was often tolerated as a form of political expression in spite of a federal law against "mutilating, defacing, defiling, burning or trampling" on the flag.

The law remains on the books, and we are pleased to see the U.S. Supreme Court give its assent to a lower court decision upholding its enforcement. Where respect for the flag is concerned, times have changed, and for the better.

The Supreme Court refused to review the conviction of a man and woman who burned a U.S. flag at a rally of the Revolutionary Communist Party outside a federal courthouse in North Carolina. The two have been sentenced to eight months in jail under the flag-desecration law.

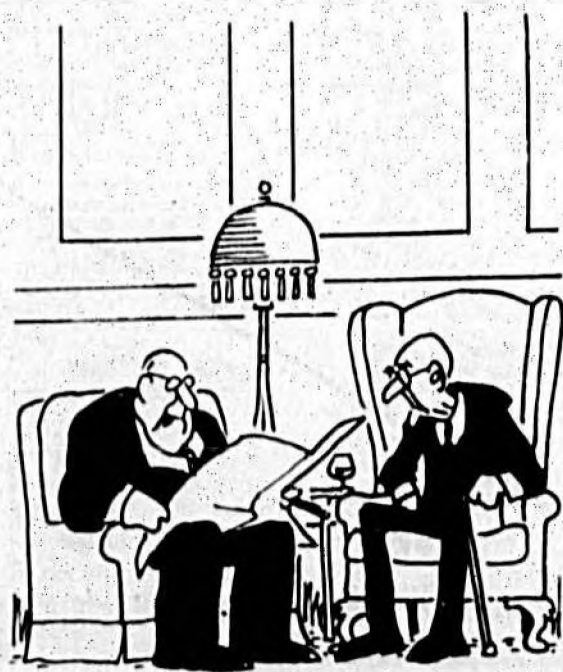

They were not prosecuted for holding unorthodox political views or for expressing them. They were arrested for a specific act of contempt for the flag of the United States.

Flag-burning is not only a repugnant act of protest but a stupid one. What the U.S. flag stands for, among other things, is the freedom of the most radical dissenters to say what they think about the American system. They can bad-mouth it all they want. Why should they burn the flag that protects their right to do so? Besides breaking the law, they're not very smart.

BERRY'S WORLD

"I tend to look at the BRIGHT side, like Ronnie. With companies failing at the rate of 500 a week, it's GOOD for BANKRUPTCY LAWYERS..."

Un-holidays.
Bah humbug!
How can we expect poor little young 'uns to ever trust adults.

The calendar tells them that Sunday is the day for the witches and goblins to debut. Yet, legislators tell these same little people to get their kicks, tricks, treats or whatever on Saturday.

But just because a celebration may come a little early, plenty of kids will feel crushed that they can't celebrate again on the actual day of mirth and merriment.

So far, nobody has tampered with Christmas. That, too, remains to be seen.

Kids seem to be cheated all around this year. With all the "sickos" on the loose, the joy has been taken out of greeting the little masked ones in all their splendor with a treat.

It's always a lot of fun opening the door on Halloween to see a mob standing there clutching onto their halloween treat containers for dear life.

But not this year. We simply will not be a part of dishing out treats. Kids are told just to go to the homes of friends and neighbors.

But I don't know about that.
Let me tell you a true story.

Many years ago when I was a bride in California, I was friendly with an "older couple" who had three small children in parochial school.

This was a darling, devout family who never missed a church service. The mother and father were more than kind, charitable and generous. And they were all physically beautiful.

Several days before Halloween I was visiting these neighbors while the mother was making chocolate fudge for the kids to take to school to serve during Halloween festivities.

Two bottles of chocolate-coated laxative pills were on the kitchen counter. When the fudge was beaten to nearly the proper consistency, the mother dumped the two bottles (one would have been disastrous) into the batch of fudge, kept right on beating the candy and finally poured the mixture into a large oblong pan to cool before cutting.

She laughed all the time she was preparing the candy. "My trick with somebody else's treat," she said.

I did not think this incident very funny. I became quite nauseous at just the thought of this maneuver.

All's well that ends well. The candy never made it to the school Halloween party. It was ditched by the school officials due to a young, nosy neighbor.

Tests For The Black Vote

Rep. Gene Johnston, R-N.C., is a first termee who got elected in the Reagan landslide with 51.0 percent of the vote in his Greensboro district.

South Carolina's Tommy Hartnett and John Napier did a bit better in 1980—they won their seats in the House by a whopping 51.7 percent.

Thomas Bliley marched into his first term as Richmond's Republican representative with 51.6 percent, and Alabama's Albert Smith got 50.5 percent from Birmingham to join the GOP's soldiers in the House.

These skinny winners have more than party affiliation and whistle-thin margins in common; each has a 20 percent or greater black constituency, and each scores below 20 on a 0-to-100 rating of roll call votes of interest to blacks. Alabama's Smith rated a 5; North Carolina's Johnston scored a zero; South Carolina's Hartnett and Napier got 15 and 20, respectively, and Virginia's Tribble had a 10.

These contests will decide more than the future political lives of obscure, right-wing Republicans. They provide a test of black voting strength in 1982 as important as the more highly publicized races elsewhere in the country.

National attention has focused on black against white races for Congress in North Carolina and Mississippi, and on the attempt by Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley to become the first black state governor in the 20th century.

The North Carolina contest ended in defeat for attorney M.H. "Mickey" Michaux in a primary run-off. Despite a massive registration effort that put 12,500 new black names on the rolls, and despite Michaux's first-round victory, a heavy turnout of rural white voters gave the Democratic nomination to white lawyer Tim Valentine.

In Mississippi, however, veteran state representative Robert Clark can become the first rural black in Congress this century if while Democrats remain faithful to their party. Clark enjoys the support of Mississippi's party leadership, as well as the endorsement of Gov. William Winter and one-time arch-segregationist Sen. John Stennis, but must pull 20 percent of the district's white votes to win. His opponent a retired circuit court judge, has an open checkbook from the Republican Party.

In California, the popular Bradley leads his Republican opponent and runs ahead of Democratic senatorial candidate Jerry Brown, who now sits in the governor's mansion Bradley hopes to occupy in January. Like Clark in Mississippi, Bradley must appeal to more white voters than black ones. His supporters warn that few voters like to admit prejudice to a pollster; most will prefer to wait until they are alone in a polling booth.

In South Carolina's 2nd Congressional District, black Ken Mosely has won the Democratic nomination and faces 12-year veteran Floyd Spence Nov. 2. Thirty-five percent of the 2nd's population is black, and Spence won in 1980 with only 55.7 percent of the vote. Spence received only a 15-point rating on minority issues, but Mosely will—like Clark and Bradley—have to attract white voters if he expects to win.

In Kansas City, state representative Alan Wheat, the Democratic nominee in a 23 percent black district, must hope that white Democrats do not defect to his GOP opponent.

At least five black Republicans are running for Congress in contests where they are given little chance of success.

Cost-Cutters Also Lop Off Jobs

WASHINGTON—Aside from myself, perhaps no one believes more strongly in the work ethic than Ronald Reagan. One of the rockets that boosted him into the White House was his expressed belief that welfare is not only wasteful of the taxpayers money, but demeaning to the recipients, who would rather work for a living than exist on government handouts.

Unfortunately, President Reagan is being ill served by his Office of Management and Budget. The false economizers at OMB are sabotaging two eminently cost-effective programs that have been putting welfare recipients back to work and taking them off the public dole.

The OMB penny-pinchers may even have violated the law by refusing to spend $70 million Congress voted to help food-stamp and welfare recipients become self-sufficient. Even if the programs weren't working, the administration's impoundment of ap-

Politics, The Economy

The principal political fact regarding President Reagan's approach to economic recovery stood out clearly in the wake of his televised address to the nation. The Democrats are not offering any alternative whatsoever.

Senator Donald Reigle of Michigan was one of the principal critics of the Reagan speech on national television. All Reigle did was appeal to the politics of envy, talking irrelevantly about a government of "millionaires." He offered no plan of his own, or of the Democratic Party.

The Democrats are certainly not proposing to rescind the three-year tax cuts which are a main element of Reagan's plan. Neither Senator Kennedy nor Speaker O'Neill are proposing anything in particular. Walter Mondale, insofar as he is saying anything about the economy beyond deploring unemployment seems to be on a protectionist binge, complaining about foreign products being sold in the United States.

But restraint of trade is hardly the road to economic health. The protectionist Hawley-Smoot Act was a major factor in deepening the Great Depression of the 1930s. Fritz Mondale is politically desperate — he currently trails Kennedy by a wide margin among Democrats — and he is talking nonsense.

Of course unemployment is a political issue, and of course there is hardship; but a few sober things ought to be said about it nevertheless.

Current unemployment does not resemble that of the 1930s, when the economy went into a kind of coma and people were out of work for months and years. The unemployment of the 1980s is very different:

1. The number of people now holding jobs is at an all-time high. One problem is that the national work-force has grown, both because of population growth and the increasing entry of women into the job market. Combined with a sluggish economy, those factors are bound to swell the unemployment figures.

2. It is perfectly true that some industries have been hard-hit, such as automobiles and housing. But a substantial part of the unemployment count consists of people who are between jobs.

3. Another factor contributing to the statistics is the existence of unemployment benefits. The individual who loses a job is not under pressure to find another position immediately. With the unemployment benefits, an idled worker can spend a lot of time looking around or can even take a vacation.

In an effort to avoid overt partisanship in his televised address, the president was deliberately vague in assigning the blame for our present circumstances, but everyone knows where the trouble began — and it wasn't with Reaganomics.

Under President Eisenhower, inflation averaged 1.5 percent, we had full employment and a federal budget that was balanced three times. His successor, John Kennedy, though his tenure in office was brief, had a sound economic record.

It was Lyndon Johnson who introduced the bloated programs and entitlements of the Great Society and debased the currency by paying for it all with printing-press money. Successive administrations have had to struggle with the poisonous legacy of Lyndon Johnson.

President Reagan knows that without cutting inflation, interest rates will never come down. He has cut inflation, and they are coming down.

With lowered interest rates, people will buy homes and cars and, in Kennedy's phrase, we will get America moving again.

As for unemployment, Reagan could also quote Kennedy: When the tide rises, all the boats rise.

In a recent note to me dealing with other matters, the president concluded with these two sentences: "Jeff, I hope you won't accept some of the press and media interpretations of my record as based on fact. I'm unchanged philosophically and with regard to my determination to accomplish what we set out to do."

Perhaps more slowly than he had hoped, but surely nevertheless, Mr. Reagan's approach is working — besides which, it's the only game in town.

Getting Blues Over Telephones

I read about the latest in phone service recently and it did not have a happy ring to it. Someday soon, the airlines are supposed to have telephones available to passengers while in flight.

Drat! I always thought one of the best things about being up in the air was that I could read, uninterrupted, and forget about the calls I should have made before we took off.

Can you imagine the chaos when the pilot announces the plane is going to arrive an hour late? Wow! A couple hundred people will be like frantic E.T.'s, all rushing to phone home and tell the folks not to start for the airport yet.

The only good news about this breakthrough, which will cost $10 a call, is that the phones only work on one way: down-to-earth. In coming (or upcoming?) calls are out of the question.

Well, for heaven's sake, I should think so! Can you imagine flight attendants trying to serve meals and leaping over dinner carts in the aisle to answer the phone?

Frankly, I find the phone frustrating enough without having to play ding-a-ling games in the sky.

It seems to me phone calls usually fall into one of these types: Dial-A-Kid; Dial-A-Secretary; Dial-A-Recording.

DIAL-A-KID: I phone a home and a 6-year-old answers.

"May I speak to your mother," I say. The child says, "Who is calling?" That really burns me. I don't see why 6-year-olds should screen adults. Whenever a child gives me that line, I usually answer Goldilocks or Rumpelstiltskin...somebody they can relate to. Besides, most 6-year-olds can't pronounce Rumpelstiltskin.

And here's another failure at reaching out: Me: Hello. Is your mother there?
Kid: No. She's gone to the store.

Me: Will you tell her Rusty Brown called?
Kid: OK. How do you spell Brown?
Me: (Very slowly) B-R-O-W-N. Got that?
Kid: Sure. (Long pause) How do you make a "B"?

DIAL-A-SECRETARY CALLS: These occur when phoning most business executives. It is preceded by dial-a-receptionist, which is the warm-up. When I finally get the secretary of the person I am calling, I ask, "Is Mr. Jones in?" She never gives it to me straight. She has to play her little game first. "Who is calling?" she asks.

When I tell her, she says, "Wait a minute," then comes back to say, "Mr. Jones isn't in right now." That always leaves me wondering if he's "in" to some and "out" to others.

The next bit of dialog confounds me even more. She says Mr. Jones will return my call, and when I give her the number, she asks, "May I tell him what this is about?" I figure if he knows, he may not call back.

I lose another Dial-A-Secretary game when I'm told "so-and-so" is in a meeting. There are some businessmen I know who are always in a meeting. I sure wish they'd take a five-minute break, now and then, to answer their phone messages. It would not only keep my blood pressure from rising it would keep the blood circulating in their legs, which would be good for them.

had put 78,000 people to work in one six-month period.

But Agriculture's job-search program is being turned over to the states. Even if the financially hard-pressed state governments elect to pick up the slack, there will be a lapse of at least nine months before their programs get under way.

Assistant Labor Secretary Albert Angrisani told my reporter James Crawford that WIN is "an ineffective program," and cited a recent report by the General Accounting Office as evidence. The GAO found that Labor "significantly overstated WIN's accomplishments." But the report acknowledged a high success rate—36 percent of the participants found jobs—and concluded that WIN would have placed many more jobs except for "funding constraints."

In other words, the administration was making its claim of WIN's ineffectiveness self-fulfilling by cutting off its funds.

Amendment 2 Exclusionary Rule Debated

PRO:

By KENNETH JENNE
State Senator, Ft. Lauderdale

Assume for the moment that on any given night an undercover narcotics agent learns from a reliable informer that heroin and other street drugs may be purchased at a residence in Broward County. The agent, working through a third party, makes arrangements to buy a quantity of heroin later in the evening at the dealer's residence. In the next few hours, the agent notifies his superior officer, who coordinates the plans for purchasing the drugs and making the arrest.

At the appointed time, the narcotics agent, equipped with an electronic body bug but without a warrant, meets the dealer and makes the buy. Several law enforcement officers in the vicinity of the residence monitor and record the conversation between the agent and the dealer and, when the sale is completed, arrest the dealer for unlawful sale of heroin.

If this case is tried in a state court, neither the tape recording nor the testimony of the officers monitoring the sale would be admissible. State v. Sarmiento, 397 So. 2d 643 (Fla. 1981). Yet if the case is tried in the United States District Court, the tape and the testimony of the monitoring officers could be admitted. United States v. White, 401 U.S. 745, 91 S. Ct. 1122, 28 L. Ed. 2d 453 (1970).

The distinction is significant. A tape recording is the most accurate and reliable evidence of the drug transaction. In addition, the tape or the testimony of the officers who monitored the interception could corroborate the undercover agent's testimony regarding the sale of the drugs. If the monitoring of this illegal activity is prohibited under these circumstances, the state loses the vital evidence. Furthermore, the agent may lose his life without the protection of a body bug.

In some quarters, Sarmiento has been lauded because the Florida Supreme Court has determined that citizens of this state are provided greater protection from governmental intrusion by the Florida Constitution than afforded under the United States Constitution. Actually, a select group of citizens has benefited from the additional rights conferred by the court—lawless individuals who traffic in drugs or commit other serious crimes.

In effect, the Sarmiento and post-Sarmiento rulings have been detrimental because they have thrown the criminal justice system in a turmoil on the issue of warrantless interceptions. With the advent of Sarmiento, the guidelines set forth by the United States Supreme Court in U.S. v. White are no longer controlling: when the law is in doubt, investigations are stymied and cases are lost. Even the Florida Supreme Court appears uncertain on this issue: recently in State v. Rickard, No. 54,877 (Fla., April 29, 1982), the court held that Florida's exclusionary rule is no broader than the federal exclusionary rule.

By amending article 1, section 12 of the Florida Constitution to conform our exclusionary rule to United States Supreme Court decisions constraining the fourth amendment, Florida's search and seizure law will be stabilized because the law will be in harmony with the decisions of the nation's highest Court. Also, the proposed amendment should introduce flexibility into the application of the exclusionary rule. Strictly construed, our present rule requires the exclusion of evidence obtained by any violation of article 1, section 12. Thus, our state courts are precluded from considering exceptions to the rule based on good faith or technical, nonsubstantial violations by the offending law enforcement agency. The amendment would properly transform the application of the exclusionary rule to case-by-case decisions that follow United States Supreme Court opinions.

The constitutional amendment should also override the Sarmiento line of cases. It is illogical that the undercover agent could disclose his conversation with Sarmiento, but the evidence of the monitoring and recording of that conversation is inadmissible. With the amendment, the tape and the testimony of the monitoring officers could be admitted into evidence.

The amendment should also enable law enforcement agencies to conduct warrantless interceptions in such cases. By requiring an intercept warrant, Sarmiento has unfairly burdened law enforcement agencies in their criminal investigations. As noted by Justice Alderman in his dissent in Sarmiento, a drug dealer who invites and unknown purchaser into his home has no reasonable expectation of privacy concerning his conversation with the purchaser or the monitoring and recording of such conversation. The agent's presence in the dealer's residence does not require a warrant; the court should not additionally require an intercept warrant to monitor and record the agent's communications.

Law enforcement agencies are seriously handicapped by this requirement of an intercept warrant. In many instances, there is neither the time nor the opportunity to obtain a warrant. Locating a prosecutor and a judge to issue a warrant within an hour at 2 a.m. on a Saturday morning, for example, is highly unlikely; a drug transaction at that hour is not improbable.

The proposed amendment to article 1, section 12 of the Florida Constitution is a reasonable measure to allow law enforcement agencies to fight crime without sacrificing our rights under the United States Constitution. The opponents of the amendment argue in the abstract about deprivation of liberties and speak to hypothetical conclusions. In contrast, the effects of the constitutional revision are substantial and readily apparent: the law concerning searches and seizures will be clarified at the expense of certain criminal defendants, law enforcement officers may be protected by wearing body bugs in hazardous encounters, and we will continue to be protected by the fourth amendment from unlawful governmental intrusion. The proposed amendment is critically needed in this state; I urge you to support it.

Constitutional Amendment Article 1, Section 12 To Be Voted On Tuesday

SEARCHES AND SEIZURES. Proposing an amendment to the State Constitution to provide that the right to be free from unreasonable searches and seizures shall be construed in conformity with the fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution and to provide that illegally seized articles or information are inadmissible if decisions of the United States Supreme Court make such evidence inadmissible.

What Exclusionary Amendment Does:

By LEONARD SCHULTE
Attorney for Secretary of the Senate

In a June 1982 special session, the Florida Legislature voted to give the people of the state the opportunity to limit the effects of Article 1, section 12 of the Florida Constitution, relating to search and seizure. The decision of the Legislature to propose the constitutional amendment was apparently the result of increasingly divergent interpretations of Article 1, section 12 and the parallel provision of the Federal Constitution, the fourth amendment.

Until the adoption of the 1968 State Constitution, there was virtually no difference between search and seizure provisions of the State and Federal Constitutions. However, the 1968 revision included two matters that do not specifically appear in the U.S. Constitution: an explicit exclusionary rule and the right to be secure from the unreasonable interception of private communications.

The exclusionary rule began as a judge-made rule applicable only to federal courts in Weeks v. United States, 232 U.S. 383 (1914), and was first applied to the states in Mapp v. Ohio, 387 U.S. 643 (1961).

Although the rationale for suppressing unlawfully seized evidence was originally the protection of individual rights by the mid-seventies the U.S. Supreme Court had rejected all rationales for the rule except the deterrence of unlawful police conduct.

The beginnings of the Florida exclusionary rule are similar. In Gildrie v. State, 113 So. 704 (Fla. 1927), the state Supreme Court relied on the rationale and holding of Weeks to create a parallel exclusionary rule for the state courts. In 1968, the rule was written into the State Constitution where it appears as the last sentence of Article 1, section 12.

The last few years have seen great uncertainty as to whether Article 1, section 12 imposes a different standard from the fourth amendment. Two recent Supreme Court cases illustrate the uncertainty. In Odom v. State, 403 So. 2d 936 (Fla. 1981), the court found that the exclusionary rule required suppression of the evidence regardless of whether the evidence was obtained in violation of the fourth amendment and regardless of the scope of the fourth amendment exclusionary rule, while in State v. Richard (No. 54,877), decided April 29, 1982, the court found that the exclusionary rule embodied in the Florida Constitution was no broader than the federal exclusionary rule. The amendment would eliminate this uncertainty by requiring Florida courts to follow the narrower interpretation of the exclusionary rule that has been adopted by the United States Supreme Court.

Dissatisfaction with the exclusionary rule appears to be increasing. The Fifth Circuit adopted a so-called good faith exception to the rule in United States v. Williams, 622 F. 2d 830 (5th Cir. 1980), cert. denied 449 U.S. 1127. Arizona recently adopted a similar exception by statute.

California recently amended its state constitution by initiative to prohibit the exclusion of any relevant evidence. The U.S. Senate recently held hearings on a bill to replace the exclusionary rule with a civil remedy. Should any such change eventually become controlling in the federal courts, it is to be presumed that, under the proposed amendment Florida would be required to follow suit.

Another aspect of the proposed amendment concerns the controversy created by the Florida Supreme Court decision in State v. Sarmiento, 397 So. 2d 643 (Fla. 1981). In that case, the court held that warrantless electronic monitoring of conversations by third parties, even with the consent of a party to the conversation, is unconstitutional if the conversation takes place in the home of the nonconsenting party. The court confirmed that its decision was strictly limited to in-home monitoring in Hill v. State (No. 60,144, decided July 15, 1982).

By contrast, third party consensual monitoring without a warrant has been approved by the U.S. Supreme Court in United States v. White, 401 U.S. 745 (1971) and United States v. Caceres, 440 U.S. 741 (1979). The proposed amendment would bring Florida law into line with federal law by allowing the fruits of consensual third party monitoring to be admitted into evidence.

The choice that the legislature has given the people is a simple one: shall the courts of this state be allowed to continue on what is perceived as a "liberal" course, or shall the courts be required to adopt the current "conservative" approach of the federal courts?

CON:

By JEFFREYS WEINER
Past President,
Florida Criminal Defense
Attorneys Association

We have once again been swept away by a tidal wave of "moral majority" reactionism. By hysterical response to a growing crime and drug problem, the Florida Legislature has abandoned our constitution and the rights of Florida citizens by drastically attempting to revise Art. 1, Sec. 12 of the Declaration of Rights of The Florida Constitution, which was historically designed to protect all Florida citizens from unreasonable government searches and seizures.

I recently had the pleasure of testifying before the Florida House of Representatives against a proposed constitutional amendment nearly identical to that which our constitution is now about to suffer. Ultimately, after hearing the arguments of numerous concerned citizens, the Florida Senate overwhelmingly rejected the proposed amendment, which would have acted to dilute the constitutional protections involved. For purely political reasons, all of those protections which were so sincerely defended at the first session, now stand to be forever eliminated.

What has happened is this—the Governor called a special legislative session to deal primarily with the issue of redistricting, which included the removal of various legislative candidates from demographic areas in which they were well settled, to those in which they depended for reelection upon a new electorate. At the same time, without debate and without adequate time for legislative reflection, the Governor offered as part of his "crime control package" the now existing constitutional amendment.

Swept away by political ultra-pseudo-conservatism and the desire to appear to take a law and order stand, the proposed amendment which had been rejected before was passed. This was unquestionably a catastrophe for the people of the State of Florida and a serious dilution of the protections of our Florida Constitution.

Art. 1, Sec. 12 of the Florida Constitution regarding an individual's rights to be free from unreasonable governmental searches and seizures, presently states:

The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures, and against the unreasonable interception of private communications by any means, shall not be violated. No warrant shall be issued except upon probable cause, supported by affidavit, particularly describing the place or places to be searched, the person or persons, thing or things to be seized, the communication to be intercepted, and the nature of evidence to be obtained. Articles or information obtained in violation of this right shall not be admissible as evidence.

The following amendment to Art. 1, Sec. 12 of the Florida Constitution will be submitted for the electors approval or rejection at the general election in November of 1982.

Article 1 Declaration of Rights Section 12

Searches and Seizures—The right of people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures, and against unreasonable interception of private communications by any means, shall not be violated. No warrant shall be issued except upon probable cause, supported by affidavit, particularly describing the place or places to be searched, the person or persons, thing or things to be seized, the communications to be intercepted and the nature of the evidence to be obtained. This right shall be construed in conformity with the Fourth Amendment to the United States Constitution as interpreted by the United States Supreme Court. Articles or information obtained in violation of this right shall not be admissible in evidence if such articles or information would be inadmissible under the decisions of the United States Supreme Court constraining the Fourth Amendment to the United States Constitution.

As the amendment states, if approved, it would limit the citizen's right to be free from unreasonable searches and seizures exclusively to what the U.S. Supreme Court deems that right to be. In other words, the Floridian's right to be free from unreasonable governmental intrusion would be confined to what the U.S. Supreme Court sees fit.

The impact of the proposed amendment, by narrowing the protection afforded to state citizens against unreasonable governmental interference, to only federal

"safeguards" is not only a mockery of the rights of the people of Florida but also clothes state law enforcement officials with more power to effectuate their "line of duty" which is too often overzealously carried out.

The proposed amendment to Art. 1, Sec. 12 does not acknowledge Florida's right, as a sovereign state, to afford its citizens additional protection against unreasonable governmental intrusion, i.e., over and above those prescribed by the fourth amendment to the U.S. Constitution. This basic principle was recognized by the U.S. Supreme Court in Oregon v. Hass, 420 U.S. 714, 719 (1975):

...A State is free as a matter of its own law to impose greater restrictions on police activities than those this Court hold to be necessary upon federal constitutional standards.

Additionally, by limiting Florida's Exclusionary Rule to exclusively U.S. Supreme Court constructions of the fourth amendment, the proposed amendments implementation to the Florida Constitution is a blow to acknowledged federal constitutional principles, i.e., separation of powers and federalism. As stated in Ker v. State of California, 374 U.S. 23, 34 (1963):

The States are not thereby precluded from developing working rules governing arrests, searches and seizures to meet the practical demand of effective criminal investigation and law enforcement in the States, provided that those rules do not violate the constitutional prescription of unreasonable searches and seizures and the concomitant command that evidence so seized is admissible against one who has standing to complain see Jones v. United States, 362 U.S. 257, 80 S.Ct. 725, 4 L.Ed. 2d 697 (1960). Such a standard implies no derogation of uniformity in applying federal constitutional guarantees but it is only a recognition that conditions and circumstances vary just as do investigative and enforcement techniques. (emphasis added)

Before long, the so-called "good faith exception" will probably become the law of the land (thereby placing a premium on ignorance by individual police officers) and thereby further diluting our precious constitutional rights even more.

A state's right "to develop its own law to meet the needs of local law enforcement" of arrest, search and seizure so long as said law would not conflict with federal fourth amendment rights, was recognized by the United States Supreme Court in Sibron v. State of New York, 292 U.S. 40, 60-61 (1968). In Sibron, the Court citing Ker, recognized New York's right to be a sovereign with regard to its search and seizure laws so long as said laws would not conflict with federal fourth amendment rights.

Strange as it may seem, the Florida Legislature had little knowledge of the topic of the proposed amendment either from a legal or practical viewpoint. It merely took the political issue of crime and rolled that issue into a proposed constitutional amendment, the implications of which, if known and fully understood, would clearly result in the proposed amendment's defeat. It is a shame and a disgrace that the Florida Legislature would use a hot political issue, such as crime, to destroy basic constitutional rights, and to render meaningless the effect of Florida's exclusionary rule.

I can summarize this proposed amendment to Art. 1, Sec. 12 as a disaster. The governor, the attorney general, various state attorneys and other prosecutors and other law enforcement officials who know, or should at least know, about the implications of this proposed amendment, are, unfortunately, pushing for this unwarranted change in our constitution. (Many of these same type people characterized the Miranda decision as a disaster for our nation.)

Responsible lawyers, judges and other thinking citizens must actively push for the voters' rejection of this amendment in November.

OUR READERS WRITE

Law Faculty Splits On Amendment

Recently I received correspondence inviting my signature and the signatures of all other faculty members of Florida law schools in support of a letter to be sent to the editors of all Florida newspapers. This suggested newspaper lobbying was to be for the purpose of urging Floridians to vote "No" on proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 2 which deals with the Fourth Amendment and the admissibility of evidence at criminal trials.

I am concerned about the effect of this proposed newspaper blitz right before the Nov. 2 ballot. My concern is not that some faculty members are mustering a concerted effort to defeat this long overdue amendment, but that their letter may be interpreted as speaking for most or even a large percentage of law school faculty members. It should be noted that there are over 170 full-time faculty members at Florida's law schools. Therefore, it should be clear that the "No" votes expressed in the letter represent only a small minority of law faculty members.

I ask that you publish this letter to let your readers know that such faculty members do not speak for any law school or any law school faculty. They represent only themselves, just as my letter represents only my view.

Your readers would be better advised to carefully read the proposed amendment and then decide for themselves. As for myself, I find no lessening of protection against unreasonable searches and seizures by this amendment. Rather, the amendment will be a small but important step in returning respect for the law and common sense to the criminal justice system by making it more difficult for criminals to escape just punishment through tenuous technicalities.

Finally, it should be noted that the Board of Governors of the Florida Bar, by a 20 to 10 majority vote, has given its support to this much needed constitutional amendment. I urge your readers to do likewise.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Gang Kills 1, Injures Several In Miami Spree

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — One man died and three others were wounded just after midnight Saturday in a wild shooting spree by attackers who shattered car windshields and sprayed two apartment buildings with gunfire, police said.

The unknown assailants escaped after the shooting, police said. They fired at least eight shots with an unknown weapon, officers said.

"You take your pick on a number," police spokesman Tom Hoolahan said of the shots fired. "Everybody has a different number."

The unidentified dead man was found by officers first called to the shooting in an alley between two white stucco apartment buildings in the poor, predominately Latin neighborhood of south Miami Beach, Hoolahan said. He was shot in the back and neck, possibly while trying to flee his attackers, police said.

Another critically wounded man was found nearby in the alley, and the two other wounded were discovered one-half block away lying in a street, Hoolahan said.

Two Satellites Launched

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Two Defense Satellite Communications System satellites were successfully launched into orbit Saturday atop a Titan 3D rocket in the first use of the newest space agency missile, officials said.

The new Titan series rocket blasted off at 12:06 a.m. and carried the satellites into a "parking orbit" from 95 to 120 miles above the earth, National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said.

Also used in the launch was a new device called an "Inertial Upper Stage," officials said. The IUS was to be fired sometime early today to place the satellites in stationary orbit 22,300 miles over the equator. The IUS also is to be used in space shuttle satellite launchings to put the artificial moons in stationary orbit.

Doctor Surrenders

MARIANNA (UPI) — Dr. Frederick Boedy, the physician who admitted he twice stabbed himself and set fire to his house in a hoax, has surrendered to authorities to face arson and fraud charges.

Boedy, 30, who first claimed he was attacked by unknown assailants because he called attention to pollution in the Chipola River, has been charged with first-degree arson and two counts of filing a false insurance claim, both felonies, and two misdemeanor counts of falsifying crime reports.

The maximum penalties on all counts total 37 years in prison and $17,000 in fines.

Boedy, who had undergone treatment at a psychiatric hospital in Dothan, Ala., following his confession Oct. 1, surrendered to authorities Friday evening. He later appeared before a Jackson County judge who released him on his own recognizance.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Draper Meets Lebanese On Withdrawal Issues

United Press International

U.S. Middle East envoy Norris Draper met with Lebanese leaders Saturday on the withdrawal of foreign forces from Lebanon amid disagreements over the presence of civilians in the tri-national committee to negotiate the pullout.

State-run Lebanese television said Draper would probably leave immediately for Damascus following his talks in Beirut in his efforts to bring about the withdrawal of more than 100,000 Israeli, Syrian and Palestinian troops.

Draper returned to Lebanon from talks with Prime Minister Menachem Begin in Jerusalem Friday. Immediately after arriving, he went into a meeting with President Amin Gemayel and Prime Minister Chefik Wazzan, Beirut radio said.

Drugs Found Baked Into Brownies, Woman Treated

TILTON, N.H. (UPI) — A 26-year-old woman was treated and released from Franklin Hospital on Friday after ingesting a 50-milligram Demerol tablet that had been baked into a brownie she bought.

Demerol is a prescription pain reliever and can be addictive.

Following the discovery, the Food and Drug Administration ordered all fudge brownies under the "Peggy Lawton" label off the shelves in New Hampshire and state police notified authorities in the other New England states.

Prescott said hospital officials believed the tablet was baked into the brownie, not added at a later time. But he said officials were not certain how the tablet got into the package.

A state police spokesman said there's no danger an implanted Demerol tablet would kill.

Medical Education Diagnosed As Ailing

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
UPI Education Editor

You lose if you bet that medical students study human sexuality, geriatrics and nutrition. Most don't, though they may want to. The reason they don't: specific courses centered on such subjects, key in contemporary society, aren't offered by the average medical school.

The absence of comprehensive offerings in the three-named fields is among ailments in medical education, experts on a panel examining the making of doctors said. They seconded what critics of medical education have been saying for years.

The panel, headed by Steven Muller, president of Johns Hopkins University and the Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, has just moved into the second year of a three-year study of medical education.

The study, funded by the Henry J. Kaiser Family

Foundation and sponsored by the Association of American Medical Colleges, has come up with some other ailments in medical education.

Schools drown students with facts, especially during the first year. This produces so much stress that some good students are driven out.

Rather than submerging students in facts, it was suggested that medical schools give future doctors scholarly skills. The doctors need to be lifetime learners to keep up with the continuing explosion of medical knowledge and many inventions in technology.

The panel also said student doctors must be taught to interview and listen to patients, and examine them with basic instruments. The alternative: learning heavily on high-tech inventions and myriad diagnostic tests at the expense of such listening and examination.

They should develop sensitivity for the unique qualities of each human being and learn that physicians are accorded trust and confidence that goes beyond technical ability," the panel said.

The future doctors also will need training in how to be cost-conscious, knowing the price of this procedure or that test. The reason: growing constraints from third party payers — government, insurance companies, industry. The third-party payers expect cost-conscious doctors to help them get control over the nation's health-care bill, now around a record $274 billion a year.

Future physicians, it was also noted, will be challenged also by the rising expectations of a better informed public for sophisticated medical care.

"Keeping abreast of advancing knowledge, practicing within externally imposed constraints and making ethical judgments that will be subjected to critical review will require that physicians acquire healthy methods of coping with stress," the panel said.

Muller said the panel is concerned about the enormous competition for entry into medical school, and the continuing competition for grades.

From a peak of 42,600 medical school applicants for 15,000 positions in 1974, the number has fallen to below 36,000 for almost 17,000 positions in 1982.

This decline is expected to continue and even speed up. The college age population will fall between now and 1990. But that's not the only reason for the drop.

The panel said talk of a future surplus of doctors, the costs and debts medical students shoulder, and uncertainties about the effect of changes in organization and payment for medical care are likely to dissuade students from the study of medicine.

In the future, it was suggested, medical school faculties may have to recruit capable students to enter medicine.

SHS Volleyball Players Do Well; Tribe Members Chosen

Finishing with a conference record of 10-6 and an overall record of 12-8, the varsity volleyball team has completed an outstanding season.

To conclude their play, they will compete in a district tournament on Nov. 3 against seven other teams in our area.

The members of this hard working team, coached by Beth Corso, are: Teri Hardy, Lisa Morse, Trichelle Taack, Sara VonHerbuls, Tracy Gregory, Lisa Nelson, Penny Morris, Arlene Jones, Gene Stallworth, Julie Farr, and Beth Nelson.

The junior varsity volleyball team also had a terrific season with a record of 10-2, their season ending Oct. 18.

The JV team, coached by Nancy Vanwormer, consisted of Dee Goebelbecker, Kaylyn Witherow, Jill Witherow, Debbie Alderman, Jill Bedenbaugh, Keri Albright, Jill Janak, Keri Lake, Octavia Horn, Angela Galloway, and Cindy Hogan. Also on the team were Janet Hauck and Katy Barbour, who were moved up to varsity for district play.

All of these students showed Seminole spirit and pride and deserve to be recognized for their spectacular representation of our school.

This week's Tribe members are Kim Byrd and Julie Farr. Kim is the captain of varsity cheerleaders and a senior class representative. She is a member of Inter-club Council, and was selected to appear in the Senior Calendar. Julie is on the varsity volleyball team and is tennis team manager. She is involved with yearbook, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, and is a Junior Class representative in FCA.

The week's activities include:
Monday — FCA general meeting, 7 p.m.
Tuesday — nine-weeks tests in 3rd and 5th periods; swim meet, home, against Lake

Howell, 4 p.m.
Wednesday — nine-weeks tests, 2nd and 4th periods; Start of volleyball district tournament, Nov. 3, 4, 5.

Thursday — nine-weeks tests, 1st and 6th periods
Friday — no school varsity football at Lyman, 8 p.m.

Odyssey Comes To LMHS

Lake Mary High School is expanding its artistic horizons with the addition of "Odyssey," the school's show chorus.

This group of talented individuals is under the direction of Kim Moyer, Lake Mary's new choral advisor. Odyssey has performed five concerts so far this year with excellent results.

The singing and dancing members of this organization are: Juliet Fote, Robert Gellner, Kelly Hickson, David Krivan, Kara Provost, Tommy Bell, Noelle Sheffield, Craig Irwin, Caryn Kussner, David Drummond, Kun Hlinka, Tom Cardinal, Minda Everett, David Andreone, Fran Sutura, Chris Bonham, and Julie Jaruczyk.

These performers are aided by a band consisting of Joy Kipp, Beth Black, Mike Brock, Don Hearn, and Jay Rauchwark.

Contrary to popular belief, Lake Mary High School's beloved mascot, Rosco the Ram, is still alive and well. Last year, Rosco just had a case of the first-year jitters and was therefore leary of the mass confusion at LMHS.

Around LMHS
By Jolene Beckler

Though a little training and the addition of a halter and lead ropes, last year's scared little ram is now the proud, stately ram present at many football games and pep rallies.

Here are a few of next week's activities:
Wednesday — swim meet at Lyman, 3:30 p.m.

Thursday — final J.V. football game of the season at Lyman, 7:30 p.m.

Friday — no school, teacher-staff development day; varsity football game at Lake Brantley, 8 p.m.

Saturday — District AAA cross-country meet, 9 a.m., site to be announced.

Reading And Writing

A speed reading and study skills course will be offered next month by the John Young Science Center at Lake Mary High School.

The course is designed to increase reading speed—usually 500 to 700 words per minute—with improved comprehension.

There will be six classes meeting on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7 to 9:30 p.m. The first class is Nov. 4, the last, Nov. 23. While the course is directed towards students over age 12 special material will be used for parents who enroll.

The fee for the course is $40 which includes all material. For further details, call 629-0482.

Author Robert Newton Peck, noted for his prolific output of children's books, will conduct a class at Stetson University this fall entitled "Secrets of Successful Fiction."

The five-week course will meet Tuesday evenings from 7 to 9:30 p.m. beginning Nov. 3. The non-credit course is designed specifically for aspiring writers. The course will provide advice and instruction based upon the experiences of Peck who has had over 30 novels published.

Topics covered in class include characterization, plot, style, format, organization, inspiration for writing.

Vogt Challenged By Steele For State Senate In 17th

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Ten-year veteran State Sen. John Vogt, D-Cocoa Beach, is being challenged for his legislative seat by one-term state Rep. Jason Steele, R-Rockledge, in Tuesday's general election.

Vogt, 45, was born in Lake Wales and grew up in Lakeland. Vogt's great-great uncle was Dr. Daniel A. Vogt of Ocala who served in the Florida House of Representatives from 1856-1861 representing Marion County. His grandfather, Albertus Vogt, discovered phosphate near Dunnellon in the 1880s. The old family residence is still in existence at Vogt Springs near Dunnellon.

He and his wife, Toni, are parents of five daughters. He is a civil engineer.

Steele, 34, was born in Ft. Lauderdale. He was a campaign aide for former Florida Gov. Claude Kirk, the only Republican governor elected since Reconstruction. Steele is single.

Vogt received his bachelor's degree in civil engineering from the University of Florida at Gainesville and did graduate work in management at the University of South Florida and Rutgers University in New Jersey. He is a registered professional engineer in Florida, New York and Maryland.

Steele received his associates degree from Broward Community College where he was student government president and acted in over 50 plays. He made independent films and television commercials. He also attended Florida State University. He is a partner and co-founder of Steele Realty and Insurance Inc. of Indian Lake.

Steele, during his two years in the Florida House, has been on the Tourism and Economic Development Committee and the Transportation Committee.

Vogt was initially elected in 1972 and was re-elected in 1976 and 1980.

Vogt served as chairman of the Ways and Means Subcommittee, Sovereignty Lands Committee, Natural Resources and Conservation Committee, Senate Committee on Economic, Community and Consumer Affairs. He also served as vice chairman and member of numerous other committees. He was chairman of the Brevard County Legislative delegation for two years, chairman of the Osceola delegation for eight years and of the Seminole delegation for two years.

The 17th Senate district consists of about 40 percent of Seminole, a large part of Brevard and portions of Osceola and Orange counties.

Steele sees the single greatest problem facing the Florida Legislature in 1983 as the 10.1 percent national unemployment rate.

"I believe growing joblessness is the single greatest problem facing our nation and our state," Steele said. "Protecting Florida from massive layoffs in the future is essential."

"To that end, I have created my four-part 'Jobs Creation and Development Act' which I believe will provide economic stability and growth. This is the first piece of legislation I will introduce in 1983," he said.

Vogt said the greatest problem facing the Legislature will be to give budgetary attention to transportation, education, the fight against crime, and the environment.

"We are seeing our highway system deteriorate from lack of maintenance because no new money has been put into transportation for many years," Vogt said. "And we need to continue to improve our educational system so that we can improve our state's position as a destination for high-technology, high-paying industry. More money is also needed to fight crime, the number one problem mentioned by Floridians today," he said.

Vogt also pointed to the fact that federal funds to fight pollution "are drying up. We are going to have serious water pollution problems facing us and local government, with federal money no longer available, and will have to provide their own construction dollars."

"The most important issue will be whether we can make improvements in these programs within existing revenue sources," Vogt said.

"The national economy casts a long shadow on all state issues and depresses our Florida economy. Florida continues to grow and have growth problems but a depressed economy doesn't provide the revenues to meet the growth."

"The Legislature is not likely to consider any major tax increases which means we have the problem of meeting the needs of growth and staying within our means," Vogt said.

Steele said in line with his "Jobs Creation and Development Act," he plans to introduce the following pieces of legislation in 1983: an industrial employment expansion act tax credit of $500 against the Florida corporate tax for each new job created for a laid-off employee returned to work, for businesses hiring people receiving compensation, the credit would be increased to $1,000, if a job is given to a welfare recipient the credit would be increased to $2,500; a one-year new dwelling exemption to allow residential lots to be tax-free in the year of initial construction; waiving the documentary stamp tax on land transactions intended for new facilities for companies relocating in Florida.

Vogt said he plans to introduce legislation amending the speedy trial law to grant an automatic waiver when a defense attorney requests a continuance, that will delay the trial.

He is also planning legislation placing emphasis on punishment for juvenile crimes with less emphasis on rehabilitation.

Research shows, he said, that juveniles who have been exposed to the law and the court system have less fear after the exposure than before.

Vogt is also looking at safeguards against hazardous pollution of ground water. "I want the state to get more involved in knowing what types of pesticides are being used to be sure our water supply is protected," Vogt said.

Vogt said he also wants to see if a revolving loan fund can be started by the state to make low-interest loans available to local governments for waste water treatment plants.

The portion of Vogt's district in Seminole includes most of Sanford, and parts of Winter Springs and Casselberry.

Seminole voters in the following precincts can vote in this contest: 1, 3, 5, 6, 7, 8, 15, 18, 19, 21, 22, 24, 27, 28, 29, 37, 38, 40, 42, 43, 50, 52, 55, 56, 57, 62, 63, 67 and 68.

Brantley's 2-Point Conversion Stymies Tribe

By CHRIS FISTER
Herald Sports Writer

The way the fans poured on to the field you would think that Lake Brantley had just won the Five Star Conference championship. But those fans, the Patriots' players and coach Dave Tullis were celebrating something they had to hold back on for seven straight games of the 1982 season, Lake Brantley's first victory.

With 6:36 remaining in the game, Brantley's Ricky Phillips carried in a two-point conversion and the Patriots held on for a 15-14 victory over Seminole Friday night in the "Basement Bowl" at Lake Brantley High.

"This game goes to the kids," Tullis said after his team's first win in eight games. "They came from behind twice and won it and we're really happy to have this win."

The Tribe was livened by a big-play offense while Lake Brantley was thriving on Seminole mistakes. The Tribe's two touchdowns were scored by Clifton Campbell, one on an 81-yard run and another on a 64-yard pass.

But, offensive mistakes such as fumbles and penalties led to Seminole's demise as the Tribe's record fell to 0-8. Seminole lost three fumbles, one of which led to Lake Brantley's first touchdown and another that ended a Seminole scoring threat, and the 'Noles were slapped with 10 penalties for 100 yards.

"We played a lot better than our last two games but the fumbles and penalties hurt us," Seminole coach Jerry Posey said. "We rose to the occasion, but we let it get away from us."

Seminole jumped out to an early 7-0 lead at 7:59 in the first quarter when Campbell rambled 81 yards down the sideline for a touchdown on the Tribe's third play from scrimmage. Paul Griffin booted the extra point for what turned out to be the last scoring of the first half.

Seminole's first fumble came on its second possession. Mike Clayborne jumped on the loose ball to give the Patriots good field position at the Lake Brantley 42.

Behind the running of Allen Armstrong, Lake Brantley drove to a first down at the 'Noles 15. Then the Seminole defense rose to the occasion and stopped Armstrong on a fourth down at the Seminole 6.

The Tribe ran 13 plays on its next drive and would have been in scoring range had it not been for two 15-yard penalties.

With time running out in the first half, Seminole had yet another scoring opportunity. A Rob Cohen pass to Greg Hill went for 42 yards to the Lake Brantley 20 but before Hill was tackled he coughed up the ball and Lake Brantley recovered and went into the locker room down just 7-0.

Seminole made its first big mistake early in the second half. After receiving the kickoff the Tribe ran three plays and was forced to punt. But Cohen could not handle the snap on the punt and John Desmet recovered the fumble at the Seminole 21.

Seven plays after the fumble recovery, on a fourth-and-goal, Andy Hearidin plunged in from one yard out and Chuck Stallings added the extra point to tie the score at 7-7 with 6:28 left in the third quarter.

The two teams then traded possessions and Seminole regained the ball as the third quarter drew to an end. The Tribe's drive was interrupted by a 15-yard unsportsmanlike conduct penalty, but two plays later Campbell took a screen pass from Mike Futrell and scampered 64 yards for his second touchdown of the night. Campbell was the game's leading rusher with 153 yards on 11 carries. Griffin's conversion put the Tribe on top, 14-7 with 10:25 left to play.

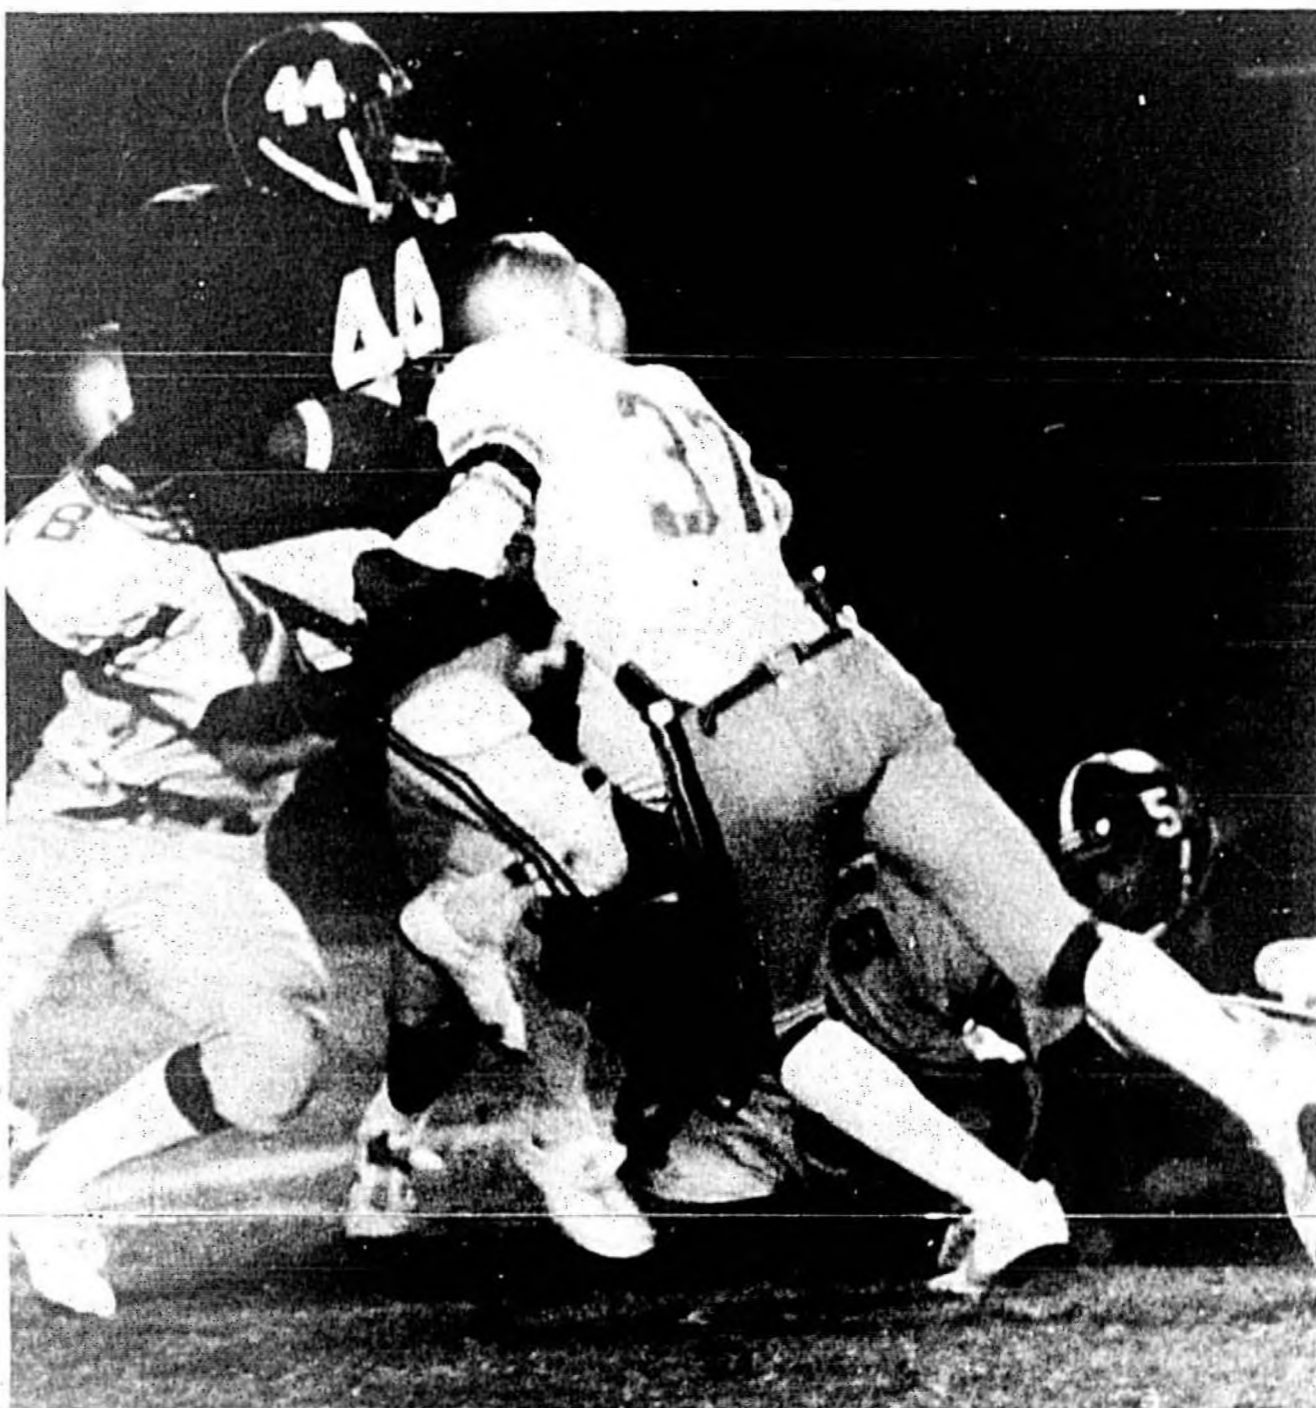

Lake Brantley took the ensuing kickoff and did something it hasn't done much of during the '82 season, had a sustained scoring drive. The drive covered 73 yards on 10 plays and consumed almost four minutes of play.

The drive was kept alive by two 15-yard facemask penalties against Seminole. Reardin, who owns all four of the Patriots' touchdowns this season, darted six yards for Brantley's second touchdown. The Patriots then lined up as if they would kick the extra point and try for a tie but, Phillips, who was holding for Stallings, faked the kick and ran toward the end zone. At first it appeared the Seminole's had read the play, but a few key blocks paved the way for Phillips who lunged in for the two-point conversion and a 15-14 Lake Brantley lead.

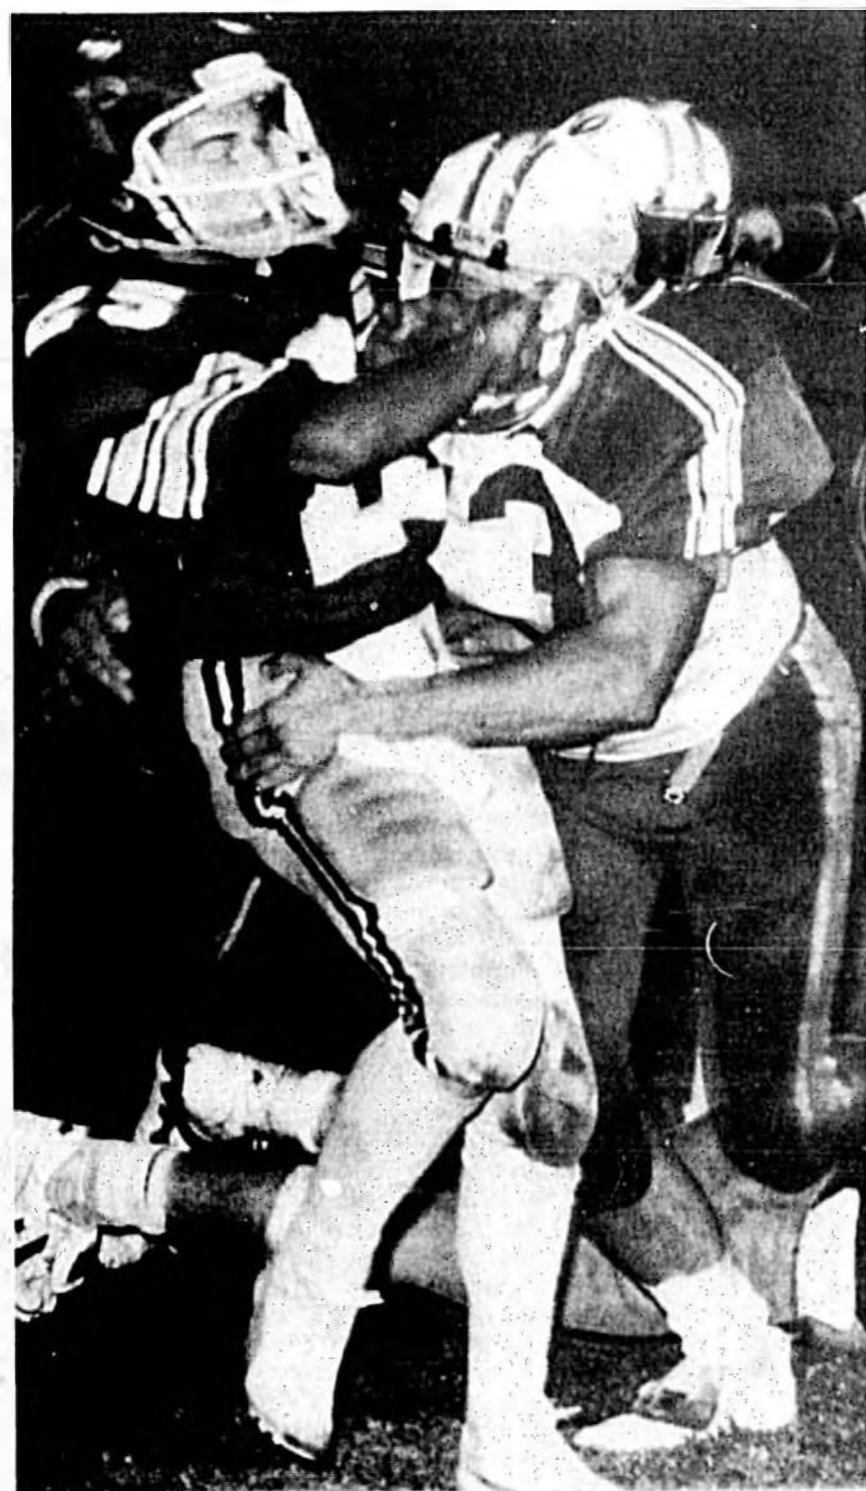

"We've had that play the last two years but never had a chance to use it until tonight," Tullis said. "Ricky (Phillips) has quick feet, got some key blocks and made a heck of a run."

Seminole took the ensuing kickoff and drove 55 yards to the Lake Brantley 20. A

Hill, Germano Hurdle 'Hounds Past Howell

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Any doubts about the all-state football credentials of Lyman's Mike Hill were completely erased in the closing minutes Friday night against Lake Howell.

The fierce 205-pound linebacker turned in two superlative defensive gems — snaring Silver Hawk quarterback Troy Quackenbush behind the line of scrimmage — to preserve the Greyhounds' 13-10 Five Star Conference victory at Lake Howell.

"He's a horse," said Lyman coach Bill Scott about his senior standout. "He's a class player and he played one heck of a game."

So did running back Phil Germano. The 155-pound junior powered one yard for the Greyhounds first touchdown in the first quarter and then broke loose on a dazzling 16-yard scamper for the winning score in the third quarter.

The victory puts the Greyhounds in the Five Star driver's seat with a 3-1 conference record and Seminole (Friday at home), Spruce Creek and Lake Brantley remaining on the schedule. Lake Howell is 3-2 with DeLand (Friday at home), Apopka and Boone (nonconference) left to play. Lyman and Howell are 4-3 overall.

Two fumbles figured prominently in the scoring as the defenses dominated play.

On the second play of the game, Lyman's Vince Presley coughed up the ball at his 30 and Howell linebacker Steve Cina covered it at the 32.

Jeff Solomon scooted 12 yards on an inside trap to the 20 for a first down. Three more plays, though, gained just four yards, so Robert Kerr came on and drilled a 34-yard field goal for a 3-0 lead with 9:28 to go in the quarter.

Lyman bounced right back with a brilliant scoring drive on the next series. Quarterback Jerry Axley put on a dazzling aerial show, hitting his first six passes to move the 'Hounds.

The big play was a 16-yarder which moved Lyman near midfield. Two plays later, Presley raced 11 yards to the Howell 37. After Germano popped for three, the "Axe" cut loose for 10 yards to Robert Quisenberry and 13 yards to Theo Jones for a first down at the 11.

Two plays later, a pass interference call moved the ball to the 5 before Presley and Jones powered it to the one after an Axley misfire.

Facing a fourth and one, Scott went to Germano who bulldozed in behind blocks from Graham Mays, Chris Tschieder and fullback Gene Allen.

"We knew the hole was there, we just had to settle them down some," said Scott about the call. "If we didn't score we had them in a hole."

As it was, the hole lasted about eight minutes. Robert Abernethy's point after attempt sailed wide to the right, giving Lyman a 6-3 lead with 1:22 left in the quarter.

The Silver Hawks immediately put together a 14-play, 72-yard march which resulted in a one-yard plunge by Jay Robery for the go-ahead score.

Robery accounted for exactly half of the yardage on the drive, mostly on power thrusts behind linemen Jim Royal, Bill Norton and Dan Rae. Kerr's kick put Howell back into control, 10-6, with 6:47 left in the half.

Neither team seriously threatened the rest of the half, although a personal foul hampered a Lyman drive after Axley hit Jones for an apparent first down at the Howell 26.

Lake Howell's costly fumble came on the third play of the second half when Solomon couldn't control a pitch from Quackenbush and Lyman sophomore Pete Crespo fell on the pigskin at the Howell 27.

"I should have never called that pitch play," said Bisceglia about the play. "That was a critical fumble and probably the turning point of the game."

Lyman quickly turned it into six points and possibly a Five Star championship. Presley went for one, Germano for seven and Presley for three for a first down at the 16.

It was Germano's turn next. He took a quick handoff from Axley over guard, ripped out of a tackle at the 14, did a reverse pivot at the five and sailed into the end zone. Abernethy's kick made it 13-10 Lyman with 9:16 left in the third quarter.

At the beginning of the fourth quarter, Lyman moved the ball to midfield before it stalled. John Poor, who had an incredible, diving catch on the drive, pinned Lake Howell on its eight-yard line

Wildwood Flattens Lake Mary, 34-0

Prep Football

"If a 1-6 team can be flat, we were flat."

That's the way Lake Mary coach Roger Beathard summed up the Rams' 34-0 setback at the hands of the Wildwood

Wildcats Friday night at Wildwood.

The Rams were hit with a few costly turnovers deep in its own territory and could not get its sluggish offense on track. "We need to find the key that will turn us on offensively," Beathard said. "We're not a bad defensive team we just need to score some points."

The Rams' offense was nonexistent as all-state defensive end candidate John Brantley and linebacker Frank Dalton continually penetrated the Lake Mary backfield to hold the Rams to minus 15 yards on the ground. The Rams total offense was zero.

Dalton also had a hand in the offense, scoring two touchdowns. Quarterback John Larris tossed for two scores while Patrick Dixon ran for 105 yards on 14 carries.

After a scoreless first quarter, a blocked punt set up Wildwood's first touchdown and the Wildcats led 12-0 after a controversial interference call against the Rams. Wildwood tried a pass on a fourth down and it was incomplete but an official called interference to prolong the drive and eventually enable Wildwood to score.

Wildwood had a chance to increase its lead in the first half but three goal-line stands by the Lake Mary defense thwarted Wildwood's other scoring threats as the score was 12-0 at the half.

Lake Mary enabled Wildwood to increase its lead in the third quarter when it fumbled three plays after taking the second half kickoff. Wildwood took over from the Rams' 30-yard line and pushed the ball across for an 18-0 lead.

A short time later, after a punt of about 15-20 yards by Lake Mary, Wildwood took a 20-0 lead on a touchdown and two-point conversion.

Wildwood scored its last touchdown on an interception return and the two-point conversion made the final 34-0. Don Meyer, Bill Caughell and Jeff

Hopkins all had good defensive games for the Rams. "The defense had some good gang tackling," Beathard said. "It was a swarming defense at times."

It was the third week in a row the Rams were shutout after a 27-0 victory over Wymore Tech.

Lions Come From Behind To Topple Eustis

By BRENT SMARTT
Herald Sports Writer

Regrouping from a lackluster first-half performance, coach Jack Blanton's Oviedo Lions fought back to nudge the visiting Eustis Panthers, 14-7, and provide a happy outcome for the homecoming crowd.

The victory pushes the Lions over the 500 mark to 4-3 and second (2-2) in the Orange Belt Conference race behind league-leading St. Cloud and Osceola, tied atop the standings.

The first quarter got the non-spectacular affair off to a fitting beginning as fumbles and lack of offense kept the scoreboard blank.

This stalemate continued to the 7:26 mark of the second quarter, when Oviedo tailback Barry Williams coughed up the ball at his own 10-yard line.

Williams and a host of Lions and Panthers alike kicked the ball into the Oviedo end zone only to have Kevin Boners pounce on the loose pigskin for a Eustis tally and a 6-0 lead. Wayne McLeod's extra point made it 7-0.

Oviedo would threaten late in the half, only to have a Jody Huggins pass kicked off at the Panther 25 with 1:25 left.

When the game finally resumed, a fired-up Lion squad took its second possession at its own 30-yard line and promptly marched 70 yards on the heels of seven Williams rushes and a key Tom Johnson fake-punt first-down plunge. Williams finally scampered in from three. David Moody's kick knotted the score at 7-7 with 33 ticks left on the third quarter clock.

The Lions didn't waste their momentum or time as David Butterfield recovered a fumble at the Oviedo 42 which ignited an eight-play drive ending again with Williams dashing over from eight yards out with 7:08 left in the final stanza. Moody's kick made it 14-7 Lions.

No real threats were made by either team as sloppy play and defense took over again.

First-year skipper Blanton was satisfied with the victory.

"We just came out in the second half and stopped beating ourselves and started executing," he said. "We gave them their TD on mistakes. Our defense is always very good and we also came out in the power-I in the second half."

Linebacker Johnson collected 12 tackles and 5 assists along with his fake punt effort.

Miss Debbie Best also collected the Oviedo Homecoming Queen crown.

with a nice punt with just 7:14 to go. Quackenbush, however, marched the Hawks into Lyman territory with 4:27 to play. The key play was a 23-yard toss to John McKay. On the next play, "Quack" hit Robey with a swing pass for only two yards, but Greg Pilot was flagged for roughing, moving the ball to the Lyman 26.

Solomon knifed for three more and Robey bolted for five to set up the Hawks with a third and two at the Howell 18.

Then Hill went to work. Quackenbush shoved the ball into Solomon's belly, but Hill was on top of him, so he pulled it out and continued down the line. Hill, incredibly, tossed Solomon away and yanked Quackenbush down with one hand by his jersey.

Just two minutes remained as Quackenbush lined up the Hawks for the fourth and three. He started down the line to his right, but Hill blitzed and sacked him for a two-yard loss, turning the ball over to the jubilant Greyhounds.

"I thought Quackenbush would carry the ball," said Hill after the game. "I just shot the guard gap and Quackenbush was there."

Which probably shot the Silver Hawks chances at a conference title, too. "It was an option," said Bisceglia. "But Troy never had a chance to get it off because he penetrated."

Bisceglia said he didn't consider a field goal (36 yards) because "it was out of his (Kerr's) range."

In retrospect, Lyman's defense came up with the big plays in the second half while holding the Silver Hawks scoreless.

"The defense played a helluva game," shouted Hill as he pranced off the field. Are you going to argue with him?

James Pilot, Lyman defensive end (no. 88), takes a look at a tangled up Lake Howell quarterback Troy Quackenbush (with ball) during prep action Friday at Lake Howell. Lyman held off a closing drive by the Hawks to win, 13-10. Lyman's Mike Hill (right, no. 53) made two clutch plays to key the victory. The Hawks try to move closer to a Five Star Conference title Friday when they host Seminole.

Apopka Escapes To Take Lead

DELAND — Apopka moved into first place in the Five Star Conference here Friday with a pulsating 35-32 double-overtime victory over the Bulldogs.

The Blue Darters' victory, coupled with Lake Howell's 13-10 loss to Lyman, gives coach Chip Gierke's squad a one-half game edge over Lyman and Mainland, which dropped Spruce Creek, 21-14. Apopka is 4-1 in the Five Star

Apopka's Kent Elnore booted a 25-yard field goal with 12 seconds left in regulation to tie the game at 25-25 and then kicked a clutch 25-yarder to give the Blue Darters a three-point victory.

Elnore was subbing for regular kicker

Mickey Ferguson who sprained an ankle. Both teams scored the first overtime with Apopka's coming on quarterback Rod Brewer's one-yard sneak.

DeLand scored on a five-yard burst by Terry Nettles for a 25-22 lead with just 9:48 remaining, but the Dogs couldn't convert the point-after kick, keeping the lead at three. It was the second time the Bulldogs failed on a conversion which eventually led to their demise.

In the Mainland victory, Issac Bell romped for three touchdowns and 175 yards as the Buccaneers improved to 4-2 in conference and district play. The Bucs are idle Friday.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Players, Management Barter As Strike Lingers

NEW YORK (UPI) — With both sides still waiting for the other to make the first move, the NFL's Management Council and the Players Association shake hands and come out talking today.

Negotiations will resume Saturday at noon EDT in a midtown hotel as the first regular-season strike in the league's 63-year history enters its 40th day with little indication that either side has budged from positions which have been unchanged for eight months and polarized by a $30-million a week strike that has already forced 84 games to be called off.

Once again, 73-year-old San Francisco attorney Sam Kagel will attempt to find common ground between the union and league owners on the key issue of how the NFL's $1.6 billion proposal should be distributed to players.

The NFLPA, headed by executive director Ed Garvey, is calling for a wage scale based on seniority tied to a central fund while the Management Council, led by executive director Jack Donlan, has been adamant about maintaining the policy of individual salary negotiations.

Kagel presided over 12 days of fruitless bargaining sessions in Hunt Valley, Md., and recessed the talks last Saturday.

On Friday, the NFLPA filed additional unfair labor practice charges against Donlan, Los Angeles Raiders' owner Al Davis and Marvin Demoff, a player agent. The union said the three have been polling player reps directly about the "Davis plan," an alternative proposal for wage increases developed by the maverick Raiders' owner.

Breeze — Squeeze

Brantley Girls Run Away From Field; Lyman Boys Outstep Mainland, 37-39

The Five Star Conference Cross Country Championships were a breeze and a squeeze at Seminole Community College Friday.

Lake Brantley's girls, placing five runners in the top 15, breezed to the championship with 59 points.

Lyman's boys, meanwhile, needed a five-tenths of a second victory by Marc Overbay in 13th place to squeeze past Daytona Beach Mainland, 37-39, for the boys' title.

"Coach (David) Huggins told me 'The fifth man would be the key,'" said Overbay after the race. "He (Mainland's Ken Daigle) was ahead of me until the two-mile mark."

"We ran together for a while, then I threw in a surge and passed him. I kept on looking around to make sure he didn't catch me," he added.

He didn't but Huggins had to catch his breath. "I thought I was having a heart attack," he gasped. "They (Mainland) came to run...I'm glad we did too."

Lake Howell's Ken Cheeseman took individual honors with a 15:26.5 three mile. Lyman's Doug McBroom was second and teammate Brian Hunter was fifth. Carl Schmalmaack (ninth), Overbay (13th) and Wayne Straw (16th) completed the 'Hounds first five. Freshman Steve Howe was 18th.

Mainland, who Lyman has now beaten five times this year, had strong performances from Harvey Brown (third), Claude Westbrook (fourth), Todd Gordon (seventh), Chris

Cross Country

Maurer (11th) and Daigle (14th).

Howell's Brad Dykes finished 10th and Bobby Jones 22nd to help the Silver Hawks to third place. DeLand (113) was fourth and Seminole (136) was fifth.

"We could have finished third," sighed Seminole coach Ted Tombros after the race. "But we just didn't run very well. Not like we did at Lake Mary (Invitational which Seminole won)."

Mike Wooten was 12th for the Tribe while Kent Troutman was 24th and Scott Meek was 25th. Wooten's place earned him second-team all-conference honors. The first eight finishers made the first team and the second eight were the second team.

Lake Brantley finished sixth, paced by Mike Garrigues' seventh place finish. The Patriots' chances were hurt when Robert Jones fell down and didn't finish the race. He was Brantley's second-best runner.

In the junior varsity boys, Lyman blew away the field, placing the first five runners for a perfect score of 15 points. Jon Golnik led the Greyhound rout. Kelly Faint was ninth for Seminole and Billy Penick was 11th. Both are Crooms' freshmen.

While the boys' race was nip-and-tuck, coach Jim Marshall's Brantley girls made sure the same thing wouldn't happen to them. Spruce Creek's Carmen Gardner ran by herself, as usual, winning by nearly a minute in 11:18 over the Patriots' Kathryn Hayward. K. Hayward finished in 12:16.8 and was joined by Ellen Stern (fifth), sister Joanne Hayward (sixth), Barbara Holmes (11th) and Laura Barnhill (15th). Kim Lubenow was 19th.

"They knew what they wanted and they went after it," said Marshall. The victory stamps the Patriots as one of the favorites in next week's district run at DeLand. The meet begins at 11 a.m.

Lyman used a strong third-place finish by Schowonda Williams to nip Lake Howell for second. Senior Kerry Ryter and freshman Angie Smith were seventh and eighth respectively for the Silver Hawks.

Lake Howell gained a measure of revenge in the junior varsity run, tipping the Patriots, 35-40.

Lyman's Diane Steiner won the meet in 14:06.5 and Lake Brantley's Kim Pacetelli ran second, but Howell received solid showings from Angie Rector (third), Nancy Nystrom (fourth), Kim McCullom (eighth), Heather Biscoe (ninth) and Tracey Mashore (11th) to pull out the victory.

"Considering they haven't won all year, it was a nice way for the JV's to end the season," said Lake Howell coach Tom Hanunontree.

third down pass was broken up by Brantley's Donnie O'Brian and Griffin came on to try a 37-yard field goal with 1:49 remaining in the game. Griffin's kick was accurate, but fell short by about two yards and the Lake Brantley faithful went wild.

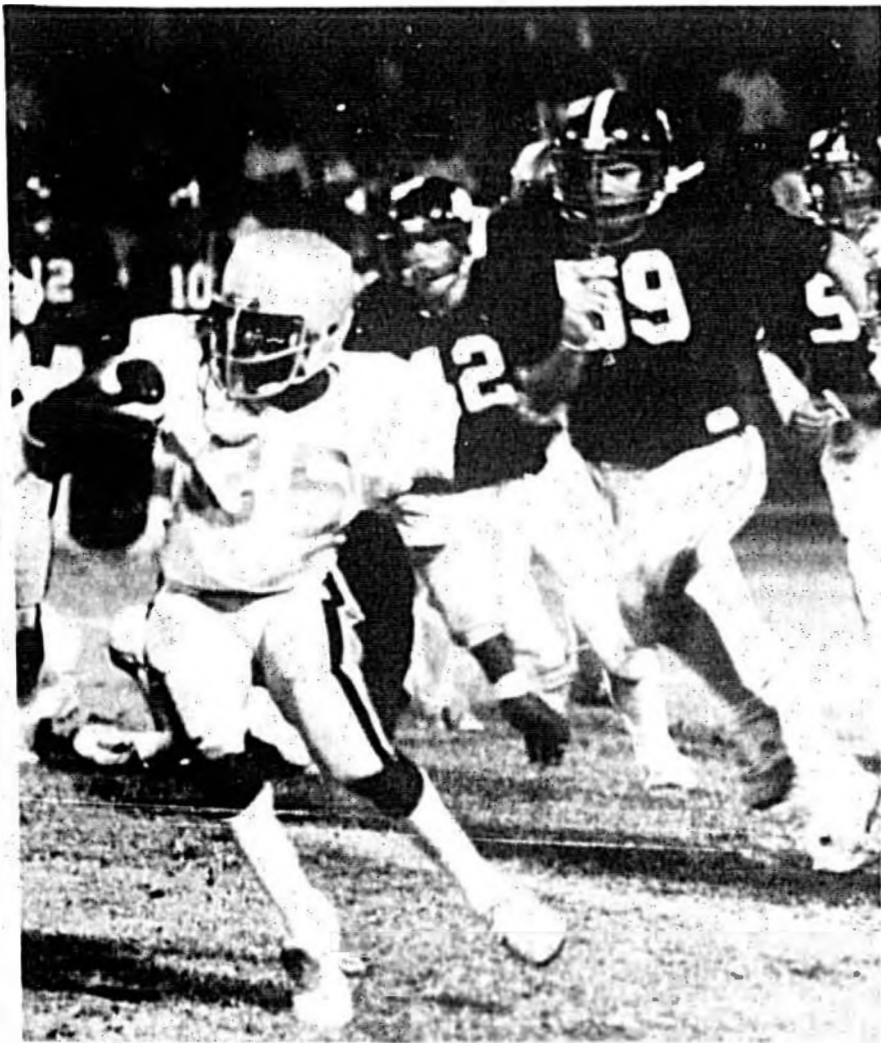

But it wasn't over. With just six seconds left Lake Brantley was forced to punt from its own end zone. A bad snap or bad handling of the snap could have cost the Patriots the game. Seminole sent all 11 players after the punt. The snap was a good one, Stallings handled it well and booted the ball into Seminole territory as time ran out on the Tribe.

"They (Lake Brantley's players) may have gotten beat seven straight times but they never got down on themselves," Tullis said. "We keep trying to improve on every game and we take them one at a time."

Seminole outgained Lake Brantley with 333 total yards to 195 for the Patriots. "We did a good job throwing and rushing," Posey said. "The mistakes just killed us."

"If you've got something in you," Posey told his team after the game, "You'll rise to the occasion again."

Seminole plays at Lyman next Friday while Lake Brantley entertains Lake Mary at Lake Brantley.

Haas Has Fun, Shoots 66 For Disney Lead

LAKE BUENA VISTA (UPI)—Jay Haas, who has won two back-to-back tournaments on the PGA Tour this fall, says he's having fun playing golf these days.

The 28-year-old golfer fired a 6-under-par 66 Friday to take a one-stroke lead into Saturday's third-round of the $400,000 Walt Disney World Golf Classic, the final stop on the 1982 tour.

Haas, who entered the second-round in a three-way tie for the lead, birdied five holes on the front side of the 6,917-yard

Pro Golf
Palm course and then picked up two more birdies on the 13th and 17th holes for a two-day total of 12-under-par 132.

Haas' only bogey was on the par-4 15th hole.

"I'm having fun out there," said Haas, winner of the Hall of Fame Tournament and Texas Open. "I got off to a great start and it was a good day for scoring."

On the back nine, however, "I got a little tired and missed three of the last five greens," said Haas, who was the last golfer to tee off. "I was hoping that I could have picked up another shot on the last hole for a birdie but it didn't come through."

Howard Twitty, who hasn't won a tournament in two years, is one shot behind Haas at 11-under 133. Playing the 6,652-yard Lake Buena Vista course, Twitty had seven birdies and one bogey for a second-round, 6-under 66.

Office To Expand

Seminole Legal Aid Gets $5,700 Grant

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County Bar Association's Legal Aid Society, Inc., has received a $5,700 grant from the Florida Bar Association and is expanding its office in Regency Square in Casselberry.

Earlier this year the Florida Bar put into action the Interest on Trust Accounts Program (IOTA) so the Bar could meet the challenge of providing legal services to the indigent now that the federal government has cut funding in such services.

The Seminole County Legal Aid Society, under the leadership of Bill Stern, applied for some of the IOTA funds to expand its program. The grant, combined with the funds received from the county for filing fees, will allow the society to hire a Legal Aid staff attorney and a secretary, according to Lin Neuhart, executive director for Legal Aid. She said the society now receives $5 for every civil case filed instead of the $2 per case formerly received from the county.

The Legal Aid Society is now looking for an attorney to fill the position and will be accepting resumes until Nov. 12, Ms. Neuhart said.

"We hope to have an attorney on staff by the first of the year," she added.

Legal Aid needs furniture, books and office equipment for the new office to open Dec. 1. Persons wishing to donate an item or interested in applying for the attorney job may contact Stern or Ms. Neuhart. Donations are tax deductible.

The Legal Aid Society does not handle criminal cases, only civil cases. "We basically work on an urgency basis for financially indigent persons being sued in such cases as eviction or divorce," said Ms. Neuhart.

"If we can't handle their problem, we try to direct them to the appropriate agency," she said. "For instance, if they have a consumer problem we refer them to the Consumer Protection Agency where they don't need an attorney to file a complaint or if someone has ripped them off we explain how they can sue in the Small Claims Court without a lawyer."

Basically, financial eligibility for aid is determined by income, assets, the number of persons in the family and any unusual expenses, she said.

"We also have a lawyer referral service in our office," said Ms. Neuhart. "If they don't qualify for legal aid, we can get them a half-hour appointment with a lawyer."

Dr. Morris Herman, professor emeritus of psychiatry at the New York University Medical Center, characterized those who tamper with candy as "the pranksters who don't think of consequences, those who are misanthropic and bitter, those who have a grudge against society and use this to ventilate their spleen, or those looking for a vicarious thrill."

His associate, Dr. Robert London, said, "A certain part of this may not be mental illness, but just plain ordinary meanness."

Police in Springfield, Ore., are warning parents that a bottle of a euthanasia solution stolen from a veterinary clinic hospital last weekend could be injected into Halloween candy.

Among the discoveries of tainted Halloween candy made Friday were needles in miniature Butterfinger bars in Beachwood, N.J.; pins in Snickers bars and a Nestle's Crunch in East Brunswick, N.J.; and a double-edged razor blade in an oatmeal cookie brought home by a child from a Halloween party at a Philadelphia school.

The Beachwood incident caused city officials there to ban trick-or-treating and the nearby towns of Manchester, Lakehurst and South Toms River followed suit.

Fitchburg, Mass., was one of the first towns in the nation to cancel candy collecting after seven people were killed by cyanide-laced Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules in the Chicago area.

Peacock: 'It's Good For A Woman To Be Out In The World'

By LINDA HOLT
Special To The Herald

"If anything happens, I can survive. I can make it on my own," says Ann Peacock, order entry specialist in the contracts department of Stromberg-Carlson, Lake Mary. Ann feels confident about her career now. She processes orders for DBX contracts, earning a salary better than an executive secretary's.

Her job includes frequent customer contact which she enjoys. "I love to be with people—I'm a people-person," she adds.

Ann remembers a time when she couldn't talk to people in the business world. Her conversations were limited to topics of housework, childcare and grocery prices. For 16 years, she concentrated on being wife, mother and homemaker only. She still firmly believes mothers should be at home until their children are of school age at least.

Ann took four years of typing and bookkeeping in high school in New Jersey, preparing for the job market upon her graduation in 1947. "I have always been very independent and adventurous and knew I'd want to work outside the home."

Her first job with Montgomery Ward was a secretarial position and a little modeling besides. She recalls her first salary as $65 per week.

After three years with Montgomery Ward, she entered civil service with the U.S. Navy again performing office duties.

On a trip to Florida in the 1950s her family made the decision to move to Sanford near friends because of her father's health problems. A few months later, she met and married her husband, Don, now an associate manager for Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Ann and Don moved to North Florida, and she continued to work for four years until their first child was born.

Ann's husband wanted her to be at home with the children. She enjoyed the time at home when their three children were small. She liked keeping house and found satisfaction in doing her own painting, wallpapering and yard work.

The years passed quickly and she realized that she was bored. Donald Jr. was in school and he was the youngest child at 7½. "My house was immaculate. There was only so much housework to do."

Job-hunting on the first day, Ann was hired as the secretary to the director of nurses at Seminole Memorial Hospital.

In the work field again, she arrived home at the end of the first day, ready to quit. With a headache, a backache and thoroughly frustrated, she announced to her family, "I quit! The job's too much for me." She had never used an electric typewriter and she didn't know proper telephone etiquette. The family refused to accept her defeatist attitude and reminded her that she had never been a quitter.

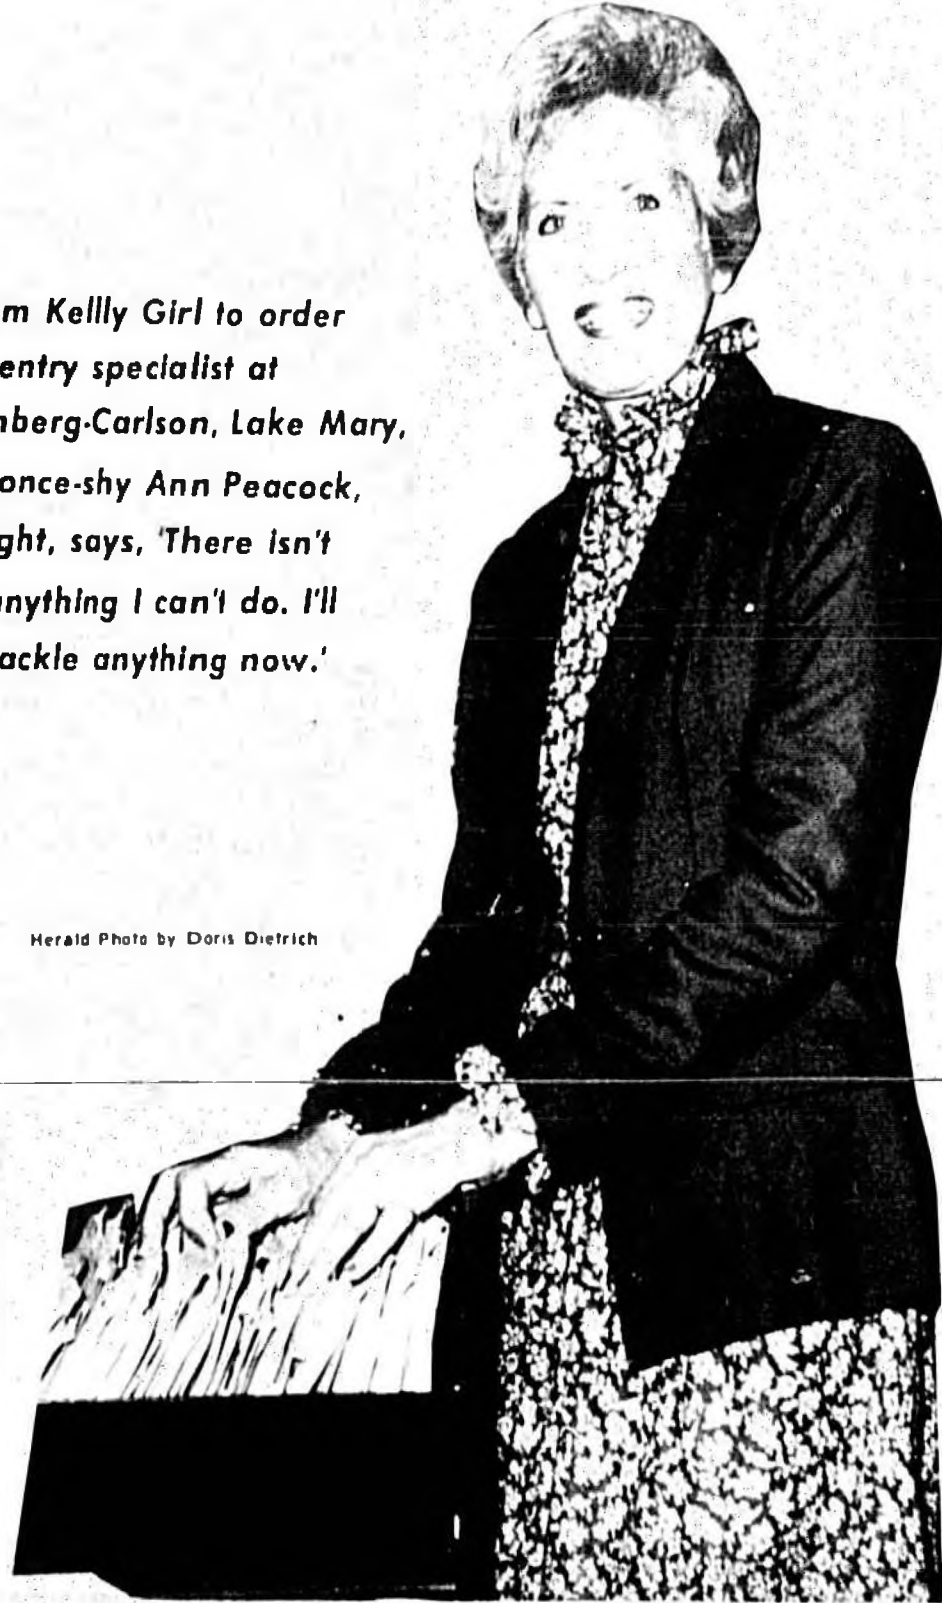

Ann was back on the job the next day and by the end of the week, she was comfortable with her duties. She was 43.

Six years later, Ann found herself in the hospital nursery more and more often. She liked the nursery because it cheered her when she found her job depressing. She was saddened by the elderly people that she saw daily and their hopelessness. When her boss retired Ann decided to quit the job.

She wanted some time of her own so she signed on as a Kelly girl with the Norrell Agency. She could work when she felt like it.

From Kelly Girl to order entry specialist at Stromberg-Carlson, Lake Mary, a once-shy Ann Peacock, right, says, 'There isn't anything I can't do. I'll tackle anything now.'

A temporary position of one week at Stromberg-Carlson in Lake Mary stretched to months and eventually became a permanent position.

On the job for three years now, she saves most of her money for vacations. She has made numerous cruises and has traveled to Europe twice. A third trip to Europe is planned for next year.

Ann sees her retirement five or six years down the road when her husband retires also. Their plans are to travel even more, but mostly in the U.S. They will always live in Sanford as it is home.

Ann knows women can handle a job and manage a household since she's still doing all of her housework, some of the yardwork and still finds time to golf. "It's good for women to get out in the world—they're better to themselves, take more pride in their appearance generally and feel more confident. At least, that's my experience."

A very attractive and efficient Ann Peacock is hard to imagine any other way. She says with assurance, "There isn't anything I can't do. I'll tackle anything now."

Samantha Baker, left, and Doug Gatrell pass a ball to build foundational skills in motor movement class.

UCF Offers Motor Movement Program

By DEE GATRELL
Herald Correspondent

"It's very important for a child to move like other kids—to run, jump, kick, throw. These things are probably more important than academic learning to the child as far as relationships to peers go," says Dr. John W. Powell, Director of the Motor Movement Program at UCF.

If your child is between the ages of 4 and 12, he could possibly be eligible for this program.

What is a motor movement program?

"First of all we're a motor program, we're not an academic program," says Dr. Powell.

The goal of the program is to teach children to move more effectively and more efficiently. Many children cannot keep up with their peers when playing sports. Joey may find he can't seem to catch a ball when playing baseball, can't seem to kick a soccer ball in P.E., and in general is just downright uncoordinated, Dr. Powell says. He finally gets discouraged and wants to sit glued to the boob tube. At least there his peers aren't making fun of him, he adds.

"Who cares about dumb old baseball anyhow," he says. Yet at times you catch him watching the other children playing sports and note a look of melancholy across his face.

"There are certain foundational skills which need to be developed at an early age which can be compared to building blocks in a building," says Dr. Powell.

Dr. Powell says if a child doesn't get these skills, he can have all kinds of problems later on. If they don't build these foundational skills, it's hard to build anything else onto the foundational skills at a later date, he says.

Before being accepted into the program a child will be tested to make sure he needs to be in it. If he is accepted, the fee is $75 per college term which includes all pre-testing and post testing. The class meets on Monday, from 5:30-6:30 p.m. There is only enough room for as many children as there are graduate and volunteer tutors to assist in the program. Therefore there is a waiting list to get into the program.

"Our basic goal is to try to identify children who are having trouble coming through these developmental skills and to try to catch them up," says Dr. Powell.

If a child is having a balancing problem he may have a problem doing anything physical all his life because almost anything a person does takes balance.

Another example is a child who has a problem in directionality. This problem can carry over academically. It seems to be an attribute of poor readers, especially dyslexia children.

If a child can learn movements he can then learn to feel better about himself and this will have some effect academically, socially and psychologically.

"If they feel better about themselves, they'll do better in everything they do," says Dr. Powell.

Dr. Powell says the motor movement program is a fun orientated program and the kids love it.

"It's disguised learning through fun and games. We want these children to experience success and we work very hard to see that they do experience success," says Dr. Powell.

At the present time there are 17 children enrolled in the program. If you are interested in learning more about the program, you can call Dr. Powell at UCF.

Open House Honors Katherine Ward On 80th Birthday

Her Calling Is Ministering Music

By DORIS DIETRICH
PEOPLE Editor

Reaching 80 is a significant milestone for Katherine Elizabeth Ward of Sanford.

But vivacious Katherine doesn't look 80, nor does she feel it. In celebration of her 80th birthday on Oct. 25, Katherine was the guest of honor at open house Sunday at her Mellonville Avenue home.

Hostesses Barbara Bair, Martha Boone and Imogene Yarborough arranged a lovely afternoon for about 95 guests who called during the appointed hours.

Punch, coffee, a huge birthday cake and party tidbits were served from a beautifully appointed table. During the afternoon festivity, Katherine played the piano and organ and several joined in singing.

Adding to the celebration was the arrival of Katherine's son,

Frederick, who lives near Cincinnati, Ohio. He spent the weekend with his mother in Sanford. His three children are: Mark, Paul and Tamy who were unable to attend their grandmother's birthday celebration.

Monday night, Katherine was honored again at the Geneva Methodist Church. The occasion was the annual church meeting when a new barbecue grill was dedicated. Barbecued pig was served to about 125 church members and friends. There was another cake and another "Happy Birthday" celebration.

Mrs. Ward was truly a queen on her day.

Katherine Elizabeth Post, a descendant of the Post Cereal family was born on Oct. 25, 1902, at St. Johns, Mich., about 20 miles north of Lansing.

Music was her field after she graduated from high school. She married Lawrence Ward on Jan. 30, 1925.

"We were in the ministry for 42 years," Mrs. Ward says, "serving in the Grand Rapids area and Florida after retirement. Along with serving churches, my husband was treasurer of the Michigan Methodist Conference and had this work for 36 years. He was a treasurer of a conference longer than anyone in the history of Methodism."

During the time the Rev. Ward was in the ministry, Mrs. Ward served wherever she was needed—from secretarial duties to playing the piano and organ and organizing church choirs, orchestras and community choirs.

The Rev. Ward was an accomplished pianist at age 12 and Mrs. Ward said, "One of our greatest joys in life was playing our piano and organ together in the evening. Now I play the piano and organ at the same time."

The Wards retired in June 1965 and moved to Sanford the next week where they were to discover that they had been appointed to serve the Geneva Methodist Church.

"The first Sunday there, we began calling on every home in the area at once," Mrs. Ward said. "We organized a youth fellowship and a youth choir. After just three years, Mr. Ward had massive cancer surgery but continued to serve the church until nearly the time he passed away on April 14, 1970."

After the death of her husband, Mrs. Ward continued to attend and serve the Geneva Methodist Church. She played the organ and directed the choir for another 15 years.

Mrs. Ward said she and her late husband had 20 hobbies and gave more than 700 lectures on hobbies to various groups including youths. One of Mrs. Ward's hobbies is buttons.

"But our greatest hobby," she says, "was the collecting of butterflies and moths from all over the world. I still give talks on that subject."

PEOPLE IN BRIEF

Drawing For Tree Set At Homemakers Showcase

The Seminole County Extension Homemakers will hold their annual Holiday Showcase Thursday from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. at the Sanford Civic Center. With the theme, "Old Fashioned Christmas," members will be raffling off a 6 1/2 foot artificial Christmas Tree with over 200 homemade ornaments during the Holiday Showcase.

The 50 cents admission donation, open to the public, includes coffee and cookies with 40 homemade door-prizes to be given away. The Extension clubs in Seminole County will be selling homemade Christmas items at reasonable rates. All proceeds from this event will go back into the community. In the past, Homemakers have bought a demonstration table with mirror and a flagpole both for the Agricultural Center.

They have also used the proceeds to help sponsor educational programs free to the public, and have given money in the past to Kradle Kare, Good Samaritan Home, Golden Age Games, Humane Society, Central Florida Zoo, 4-H clubs and many other worthwhile programs.

Green To Teach Gymnastics

The Seminole YMCA will begin a new gymnastics program at Rock Lake Middle School starting Monday. This will be held in the late afternoons Monday through Thursday depending on the age group. Classes will be held Monday through Thursday for 3 and 4 year olds, 5 and 6 year olds, beginners age 7 and up and for advanced students.

Instructor will be Tennis Green gymnastics instructor and a physical education instructor at Rock Lake Middle School.

For information on times and registration, call the Seminole YMCA at 862-0444.

SCC Parent-Child Co-Op

The Fall-Winter session of the Seminole Community College Parent-Child Co-Op program will begin Nov. 1, at Christ Episcopal Church in Longwood. This parenting education program, entitled Development of the Pre-school Child, is designed to instruct the parents in areas such as discipline, sibling rivalry, creative activities and readiness skills. The parent actually participates in his/her child's laboratory school located at the church. The laboratory school operates from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Monday through Friday for seven weeks. Cost of the course is $30 plus a small materials fee.

For information, call Edie Herota at 830-1115, or Suzanne Tesinsky at 323-1450, Ext. 227.

Area Students At Penn State

Joanne L. Diamond and Lisa J. Shelton, both of Longwood, are among the 10,730 freshman enrolled at Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Pa., for the fall semester.

National Lunch Room Week was observed at Midway Elementary School this month. Guests of principal Hampton were Sadie Hunter, Ken Brown, Royce Graham, Walter Meriwether of the Seminole County School Board, and retired custodian of Midway Elementary Samuel Thompson. Mrs. Annie Murray is manager of the lunch room — MARVA HAWKINS

New SCC Leisure Time Classes Start

According to Fay Brake, coordinator of the Leisure Time Program at Seminole Community College, new classes will be starting the week of Nov. 1.

Mrs. Brake says, "These classes are self-supported by student fees at no expense to the taxpayer."

Classes beginning next week are:
PHOTO-CAMERA & IMAGE (evening class) — A basic study of photography. Camera and Image teaches exposure, composition, lighting, camera types and equipment. The course provides help for new photographers and answers questions that may have come up for the veteran photographer. Camera and Images teaches you to control your camera effectively.

BEGINNING BALLROOM DANCING (evening class) — Instruction in social level dancing. Foxtrot, Waltz, Rumba, Cha-Cha, and choices of the class will be taught.

INTERMEDIATE BALLROOM DANCING (evening class) — Instruction in social level dancing. More extensive work in Foxtrot, Waltz, Rumba, Cha-Cha, Swing, and if desired by class, Tango.

SLIM 'N TRIM (morning, afternoon and evening classes) — An exercise program involving all types of exercise such as callisthenics, slow stretches, barre exercises and others. It is designed to increase flexibility, endurance, energy, to become aware of proper diet, to lose inches and improve posture.

AEROBIC DANCE-EXERCISE (morning and evening classes) — A physical fitness course involving vigorous exercise to music. Different routines are taught with the emphasis on dancing for movement and exercise.

JAZZ DANCE-EXERCISE (morning, afternoon and evening classes) — A total form of dance and exercise in which you are taught proper body alignment, coordination, discipline, flexibility and rhythm. You accomplish muscle toning, stamina, poise and confidence in yourself along with appreciation for music and total enjoyment.

CONDITIONING (morning class) — Modern day conditioning using the Nautilus equipment. Jogging and callisthenics are also a part of the program.

DRAWING & SKETCHING (evening class) — Emphasis on fundamentals of charcoal sketching in preparation for painting and working in color. Students will work from still life, landscapes, and live models. Students will furnish their own supplies.

BEGINNING STAINED GLASS (evening class) — A beginner's course in the copper foil technique of stained glass. Students will be instructed in the tools and methods necessary to cut glass and fashion small objects. Minimum investments will be stressed. Students must furnish their own supplies.

ADVANCED WU SHU KUNG FU (evening class) — Before a student joins this class, he/she must have taken beginning Wu Shu Kung Fu. Advanced techniques will be taught.

BASIC DOG OBEDIENCE TRAINING (evening class) — A basic class which will teach the dog owner to teach his animal to heel, heel and sit, sit and stay, down and stay, recall, respect for the word "NO," problem solving and other basic skills. SISTER Sundae-Fundae In The Park

SISTER's Fourth Annual "Sundae in the Park" will be a real "Fundae." Centennial Park at Fourth Street and Park Avenue in Sanford will be the place of entertainment and "make your own sundaes" of vanilla ice cream and sauces of strawberry, chocolate, pineapple, one surprise topping, whipped cream and nuts—all for the uninflated price of $2.00 each.

Lemonade will be available and serving time will be from 1 to 6 p.m. on Nov. 7.

Music will be provided by Ed Holden at the organ and a German Band. In addition there will be a puppet show, cloggers and clowns. A new feature this year will be the display of classic cars for enthusiastic car buffs.

Bring your own lawn chairs or blankets and plan to spend an afternoon of old-fashioned fun on that day with SISTER (Sanford's Interested Sarahs To Encourage Rejuvenation) whose current project is the beautification of Sanford's outstanding lakefront park.

Daughter's Problem Best Treated As Family Matter

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my daughter. She is 15 and pregnant. How do I cope with this, Abby? I haven't told my husband yet for fear of his reaction. This cannot be hidden from him much longer.

I have read and heard about similar cases, but never dreamed this could happen to my daughter. She is considering abortion.

There are so many questions. I am terribly confused. I want to be able to give her the proper advice, but I honestly don't know how to advise or help her. Are there any agencies that could give me some helpful information?

LOST ON LONG ISLAND

DEAR LOST: If your church has a service organization that offers family counseling, get in touch with it. If you are not affiliated with a church, call one of the many social service agencies in your community.

Your local Planned Parenthood chapter offers excellent professional counseling. (Contrary to what many believe, it does NOT talk people into abortions; it helps them make wise and appropriate decisions.) There is also "Birthright" listed in your phone book.

Please tell your husband at once. It's as much his responsibility as yours. It is not the end of the world. Your first consideration should be the health and welfare of your daughter. Good luck and God Bless you.

DEAR ABBY: Not long ago you advertised the fact that there is a club for redheads called Redheads International. Well, would be believe there is also a club for baldheads? It's called "The Baldheaded Men of America." It was founded by John T. Capps III in 1973, and claims 9,500 members in 50 states and 20 foreign countries.

The organization just had its national convention in Morehead, N.C. (The slogan was: "Morehead — less hair.")

President Capps, who is 42, said, "Skin is in." Members include former President Gerald Ford, Telly Savalas, Joe Garagiola, Phil Silvers and Utah's Sen. Jake Garn.

NOT BALD YET

DEAR NOT BALD: Thanks for the scoop. My readers might be heartened to learn that the Baldheaded Men of America does not discriminate against women. The organization welcomed as a member a baldheaded woman from Danville, Va.!

DEAR ABBY: You once printed something in your column that explained a situation that had been tormenting me for years. It was the reason a man will pick up some tramp and treat her like a lady, then turn around and treat his wife like a tramp. My daughter is now having the same problem. Will you please run it again?

FAITHFUL READER

DEAR READER: Here it is: "A man picks up a tramp because he wants a female companion who is no better than he is. In her company, he doesn't feel inferior. He rewards her by treating her like a lady.

"He treats his wife (who is a lady) like a tramp because he feels that by degrading her he will bring her down to his level. This makes him feel guilty. So in order to get even with his wife for making him feel guilty, he keeps right on punishing her."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LIVE-IN FOOL": Move.

Every teen-ager should know the truth about drugs, sex and how to be happy. For Abby's booklet, send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), addressed envelope to: Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 38922, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

Debra Norquist, the "plant lady" of Deltona, and her assistant, Steven, were guest speakers at the general business meeting of the Sanford Garden Club's October meeting.

Ms. Norquist is owner of Plant Lady. Her services include spraying, feeding, watering and replacing plants in hotels, motels and restaurants in this area.

Her talk included a history of ferns. The so-called Boston Fern is native to Florida. The plant was discovered by a botanist from Boston who was tramping through the wild Florida woodland.

Specimens of the fern were transported to Boston where they were cultivated and marketed under the title, "Boston Fern."

Steven, who works with Ms. Norquist, spoke to the group on insecticides, spraying and fertilizing. He urged members to protect the entire body when spraying trees, plants and lawn.

The head and face should be covered to prevent dangerous chemicals from touching the skin, thus entering the blood stream, he said. He stressed the wearing of rubber boots, gloves and a face mask. Fertilizers should not be used as there with bare hands, he said. Powders should not be used as there is danger of inhalation of the dust.

At the conclusion of the talks, a question and answer period was held, after which members and guests were served a covered dish luncheon.

Gala Reception Launches 1982-'83 Concert Season

Last Saturday night was not exactly an ideal time for a gala gathering as heavy rains and high winds swept through the community.

But the bad weather didn't keep over 100 Seminole Mutual Concert Association supporters from attending a membership reception at the fashionable home of Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth (Annette) Wing.

The reception setting was an immense addition to the Wing home overlooking the pool and patio — perfect for a party. Membership chairman Ruth Gaines signed in members while Boyd Coleman and Ned Yancey presided at the name tag table.

Martha McIntosh invited the guests into the refreshment area where a snooker table was transformed into an elegant, bountiful buffet of delightful party fare prepared by the SMCA Board of Directors.

Chairman Martha Yancey and co-chairmen Rubye King and Nellie Coleman poured the party punch with the assistance of Carrie Green.

Also assisting were the hosts' daughter and her husband, Susan and Darren Tillinghast.

The first concert of the 1982-83 season, violinist Robert Rudie as Signor Paganini, is scheduled Nov. 18, at 8 p.m., at Lake Mary High School.

Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole is celebrating its 15th season with "Fall Frolics" on Nov. 13, from 8 p.m. to midnight, at the Sanford Civic Center.

The fun-event will feature party food, the band Passenger, door prizes, a cash bar and other surprises, according to chairman Joe Monserrat.

Donation admission is $15 a couple and attire is casual.

The United Methodist Women of the First United Methodist Church, Sanford, will sponsor the Annual Bazaar and Luncheon Friday.

The bazaar will be held in McKinley Hall, from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Featured will be a Gift Boutique, Trash and Treasures, Country Store, Christmas table, terrariums and many other items.

Nancy Terwilliger, president of the UMW, has named Jean Musgrove as bazaar chairman and Lou Baker as luncheon chairman.

A salad bar type luncheon will be served in Fellowship Hall, 5th Street, from noon to 1:30 p.m. Donation is $3, adults, and $1.50 children under 12.

Proceeds will go to the UMW missionary fund.

Laura Lynn Layer has had a rough time of it resulting from an injury she received.

But the Duke University senior shed her crutches and is all smiles now for more than one reason. Laura Lynn has been accepted into the prestigious Phi Beta Kappa.

Laura Lynn's parents Mr. and Mrs. William (Bud and Lucy Layer) have returned from Durham where they shared the exciting news with her.

While in North Carolina, Lucy and Bud visited their former Sanford neighbors, Vi and Woody Clark at Mountain Home. The Clarks are "just fine," according to Bud.

Something was missing on the United Way scene in Seminole this year. It was the presence of Margaret Ganas who was the executive secretary for many years. But Margaret is enjoying retirement, "doing nothing," she says.

Seminole Court No. 59 Order of the Amaranth will sponsor a Fashion Show on Nov. 15, at 8 p.m., at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, 400 E. 1st Street.

Fashions will be from RoJay in Sanford. Donation is $3 and advance tickets are available at RoJay. No tickets will be sold at the door.

There will also be entertainment and door prizes. Proceeds will benefit crippled children.

Clarence L. Boutwell is celebrating his 80th birthday on Halloween. According to his daughter, Loris, friends have been calling all week and Belle Rossman is bringing in a birthday dinner. Mr. Boutwell has been confined to a wheel chair for more than six years.

In celebration of the occasion, Mr. Boutwell received a congratulatory card from President and Mrs. Reagan.

He also received a certification of appreciation from the Grand Lodge Independent Order of Odd Fellows State of Massachusetts at West Boylston, Worcester County, for 58 years of service to the lodge he joined on Jan. 2, 1924.

"He was very surprised and pleased," Loris said.

The W.L. Dunwoodys Renew Vows

Forty years ago on Oct. 7, the Rev. C. Maxwell performed the wedding ceremony of Willie Lee and Estella Elkie Dunwoody at the First Shiloh Missionary Baptist Church, Sanford.

To commemorate their 40th anniversary, the couple renewed their vows on Oct. 18, at the same church, at 4 p.m., with the Rev. H.E. White officiating.

A tribute to the Dunwoodys was made by their children and grandchildren. After the ceremony Emanuel Luster, dedicated the song "Endless Love" to the couple.

Given in marriage by her nephew Irving Frazier, the bride chose for her vows a beige floral print over taffeta gown. She carried a fan arranged with red silk roses and streamers.

Malverse Dunwoody served her mother as maid of honor. Bobbie Jean Maynard and Pamela Lowery, daughters of the bride, and Anderea Maynard, granddaughter, served as bridesmaids. Flower girl was Shantavia Hunt and ring bearer was Terry Johnson.

Serving his grandfather as best man was Stanley C. Hogan. Groomsmen were Carlisle Maynard, Herbert Lowery, son-in-law of the groom, and Wayne L. Pace, grandson of the groom. Soloist was Glorinda Williams.

Engagement

Mebane-Pizzoferrato

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Noell Mebane Jr., 207 S. Crystal Drive, Sanford, announce the engagement of their daughter, Gaye Elizabeth, to Michael Anthony Pizzoferrato, son of Mrs. Constantino Pizzoferrato, 108 South Coopers Place, Tampa, and the late Mr. Pizzoferrato.

Born in Sanford, the bride-elect is the maternal granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Augustus Dyson, Sanford, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Noell Mebane Sr. of Orlando.

Miss Mebane is a 1979 graduate of Seminole High School where she was named as the most valuable swimmer and was a member of Anchor Club. She attended Seminole Community College and Florida Southern College, Lakeland. She is employed at Altamonte Ticket Agency, Altamonte Springs.

Her fiance, born in Tampa, is the maternal grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. D.R. McClamma, Clearwater, and the paternal grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nichol Pizzoferrato, Elkins, W. Va.

Mr. Pizzoferrato is a 1976 graduate of Thomas Jefferson High School, Tampa, where he was a member of Stage Band. He is a drummer with Argus Band.

The wedding will be an event of Nov. 27, at 8 p.m., at Holy Cross Episcopal Church, Sanford.

Sanford Artist In Festival This Weekend

The DeLand Museum will host over sixty artists and craftsmen at the annual fall Art Festival. This event, sponsored by the Friends of the DeLand Museum, is free to the public and will be open from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. both days on the grounds of the DeLand Museum. The Museum is located at 449 East New York Avenue (also Florida Rt. 446 in DeLand.

Jean Zrumerman, Sanford, will be making hand-made paper and collages.

Besides the wide variety of creative art that will be displayed, most will be for sale and eight artists will be demonstrating the how-to of their creative media throughout the two days.

Over 10 prizes will be awarded by the two Central-Florida Artist-Judges, Gloria Rigling of Maitland, and Richard Weinstein of New Smyrna Beach. The awards ceremony will be held on the Museum steps on Saturday at 1 p.m. A painting by local artist, Virginia Singer, will also be awarded to a lucky visitor.

In addition to Art, the friends of the DeLand Museum will be painting creative clown faces on anyone. Food will be available on the grounds and free parking will be open to visitors across the street in the Pantry Pride parking lot.

BUSINESS IN BRIEF

Rush-Hampton Names Firm As Representative

Jo Griffin & Associates has been hired to represent Rush-Hampton Industries, Inc.

The group started carrying Rush-Hampton's air treatment appliances and water treatment system in October and is representing the company in Arizona, New Mexico, and El Paso, Texas.

President of the firm, Jo Griffin, has been in major electric sales in the Arizona area for six years prior to joining Rush-Hampton. Judy Armack and Donna Hendley are also sales representatives with the sales group.

Jo Griffin and Associates, of Arizona specializes in housewares, gifts and electrics.

Rush-Hampton Industries is based in Longwood, and manufactures a successful line of the popular Ecologizer air and water treatment systems as well as other environmental related products.

Sears Promotes Darus

Allstate Insurance Co. recently announced the appointment of agent Joyce Darus to the Allstate sales location in the Sears store in the Altamonte Mall in Altamonte Springs.

Darus is a graduate of Hawthorne High School in Hawthorne and attended Valencia Community College.

She is a member of the Business Women's Association of Orlando and resides in Orlando.

Allstate is a wholly owned subsidiary of Sears, Roebuck and Company.

JOYCE DARUS

Banker Moves Office

Janice R. Springfield, executive vice president and cashier of Flagship Bank of Seminole, has moved her office to Flagship's Central Office at 3000 Orlando Dr. in Sanford.

Springfield said "The centralized operation center houses all the major functions of the bank and it is appropriate that my office be included. My responsibilities include the day to day operation of eight locations and this move will permit me to interface with other departments more conveniently."

Sun Bank Dividend Up

Sun Banks of Florida, Inc., has announced it increased the dividend on its common stock to 27 cents per share for the fourth quarter, 1982, dividend. The new amount represents an increase of 8 percent or 2 cents per share, over the previous regular quarterly dividend rate of 25 cents per common share.

The increased dividend of 27 cents per share is payable Dec. 15 to common stock shareholders of record Dec. 1, 1982.

Sun Banks of Florida, Inc., also announced it has declared the regular quarterly dividend on its $4.37 Cumulative Convertible Preferred Stock. Amounting to $1.09 per share, the preferred stock dividend will be payable Nov. 15, to preferred stock shareholders of record Nov. 2.

Sun Banks reported total consolidated assets of $4.78 billion and total consolidated deposits of $3.82 billion as of Sept. 30, making it Florida's third largest bank holding company. The company's 21 subsidiary banks operate 157 offices and 161 automated teller machines throughout the state. Sun Banks common stock is traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Atlantic Profit Up

Atlantic Bancorporation has announced income before securities transactions of $6,415,000, or $1.22 per share, for the quarter ended Sept. 30. This represents a 17 percent improvement over third-quarter 1981 results of $5,487,000, or $1.05 per share.

Income securities transactions for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1982 was $18,173,000, ($3.46 per share), up 16 percent from the $15,678,000 ($2.99 per share) reported for the first nine months of 1981.

Walker, president and chief executive officer, cited a 25 percent increase in net interest income as the primary factor leading to the improvement in third-quarter 1982 earnings. This rise in net interest income was attributed to a 20 percent growth in the level of average earning assets, as well as an improvement in the net interest margin to 5.83 percent from 5.64 percent for the third quarter of 1981.

There has been "a fundamental shift" in the Florida economy during the last two years and that shift will be felt well into the 1990s, according to Richard M. Lilly, research analyst for Raymond, James & Associates, Inc.

At a recent seminar conducted for Florida business editors, Lilly reviewed Florida's growth trends over the last few years and predicted a continuing increase in working-age immigrants to the developing Tampa Bay-Orlando-Melbourne high technology area, where firms such as ABA Industries, Concept, Inc. and Reflectone are growing.

He estimates 70 new jobs will be created for every 100 new residents to the state.

The construction industry, which has been hurt due to the recession, is not dead, he noted. Unlike the mid-1970s recession, Lilly added, there is now "no stock of completed homes overhanging the market." Now there are 60,000 units, less than a five month supply, in contrast to over 200,000 units in 1978.

Overall, Lilly predicted the population will continue to grow at three times the national average and despite the surge of manufacturing, tourism will continue to be the state's most significant business enterprise.

Disney Wardrobe Is A Big Job

LAKE BUENA VISTA (UPI)—Dior, Gucci, Givenchy stand back—look what Bob Phelps has wrought.

Phelps, 60, is not a fashion designer per se, but he has helped create more than 100,000 individual costumes made from 800 original designs for Walt Disney's new billion-dollar Epcot Center. The new Disney wardrobe represents some two years of work by Phelps and his four designers.

"We have designed clothes spanning 40,000 years of history from the caveman to spaceman, plus authentic garb from nations around the globe and clothes for the 21st century," said Phelps, director of costuming for Epcot, Disney World, California's Disneyland and the yet-to-be-opened Tokyo Disneyland.

"President Reagan may spend $1,200 for a suit, but our suits are as good as his and cheaper because we have great master tailors. I'd put our clothes up against anyone else's."

Phelps, an Air Force pilot during World War II, began his costuming career in 1945 when he went to work for a motion picture company.

"When the war was over, all my friends worked in motion pictures and costumes and a guy made me an offer of 75 cents an hour to come work for his studio," said Phelps. "I tried it and got hooked. I worked with tailors, hat makers, shoemakers, everyone and learned the whole business."

Phelps also worked in vaudeville and "did a little work in television" before joining Disney 14 years ago.

Phelps said Disney employees wear costumes because they add atmosphere to the park and help set the mood.

SNAX-SNAX

The snacks are great at "Snax-Snax" at 1901 Country Club Road in Sanford, according to Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce members. A chamber delegation recently welcomed the new business. Enjoying a few snacks, from left, are Jerry Poppell of the chamber, John Baxley, owner; Bob Douglas of the chamber and Patricia Baxley, owner.

New Projects Are Opened By Cardinal

Cardinal Industries, Inc., of Sanford has announced the completion of several developments.

The 72-unit Crystal Court Apartments on a four-acre site at 1969 Crystal Grove Drive in Lakeland is one just opened.

Crystal Court is a 10 building complex consisting of 64 one bedroom and eight two bedroom units. The $1.2 million development was financed by Equibank of Pittsburgh, Pa., and was constructed from start to finish in approximately 90 days.

Crystal Court is the first apartment complex to be developed by Cardinal in Lakeland, the ninth in Polk County and 126th in Florida since the company put its Sanford plant into operation six years ago. These developments plus approximately 400 in Ohio and the Midwest makes Cardinal the largest factory built code conforming modular housing builder in the United States and the 14th largest housing construction company of any kind in the nation.

Also opened was the 75-unit Curiosity Creek Apartments located on a 4.5-acre site on the west side of Florida Avenue between Fowler and Fletcher in Hillsborough County.

Curiosity Creek is a 10-building complex consisting of 10 studios, 59 one bedroom and six two bedroom units. The $1.8 million development was financed by the Buffalo Savings Bank, Buffalo, N.Y.

Curiosity Creek is the 17th apartment complex to be developed in Hillsborough County.

Another project just opened was the 52-unit Candlelight Apartments located on a six-acre site west of the South Plaza Shopping Center on Candlelight Boulevard.

Candlelight is an eight building complex consisting of four studios, 43 one bedroom and five two bedroom units. The $1.17 million development was financed by First Federal of Russell County in Phenix City, Ala. Construction financing was provided by Equibank.

Candlelight is the first Cardinal apartment complex to be developed in Hernando County.

Cardinal just opened the 66-unit second phase of the Sandpiper Apartments at the southwest corner of Virginia Avenue and 25th Street in Fort Pierce. Sandpiper now has a total of 136 units.

The second phase is an eight building complex consisting of 10 studios, 38 one bedroom and 18 two bedroom units. The $1.5 million development was financed by First Federal of Phenix City.

The new addition is the second apartment complex to be developed by Cardinal in Fort Pierce and St. Lucie County.

Cardinal has obtained permits and broken ground for the construction of additions to both the Ridgewood Apartments on Apalachee Parkway and the Indian Ridge Apartments on Miccosukee Road near Capital Circle in Tallahassee.

The initial phases of both developments were opened earlier this year and almost immediate rental of 100 percent of the units brought about the second phases a year ahead of schedule.

The addition to Ridgewood will be a complex of seven buildings and will consist of seven studio, 42 one bedroom and four two bedroom apartments plus a laundry unit and parking for 62 vehicles.

The addition to Indian Ridge will be a complex of five buildings and will consist of seven studio, 28 one-bedroom and four two bedroom apartments plus a laundry unit and parking for 61 vehicles.

The projects will be Cardinal's third and fourth in Tallahassee and Leon County and the 134th and 135th in Florida since Cardinal put its 26-acre Sanford manufacturing complex into production.

The unique 12 by 24 foot code conforming wood frame modules are being built on a 490-foot long assembly line in Cardinal's 125,000 square-foot Sanford plant. Weighing nearly six tons, the six-sided modules are moved aboard special transporters to the job site where huge cranes lift them by the roof and place them on crawl-space foundations. At the present time Cardinal can remove a one bedroom apartment, 97 percent complete with drapes hung and light bulbs installed, every 46 minutes.

Cardinal has now developed various types of complexes within the corporate limits of 47 Florida cities and in the unincorporated areas of 26 Florida counties.

"Every Cardinal apartment is a ground floor garden type unit," according to Marilyn Wrobel, the company's director of community affairs. "Each unit has a full circle of insulation, including the floor," Wrobel explained, "and this is why the double wall construction of fire rated gypsum board and insulation provide tenants with maximum sound, fire and energy control."

Cardinal has been presented energy efficiency awards by every electric utility company in Florida which has a recognition program.

Cardinal, a 28-year-old company, has two plants in Columbus, Ohio, and a plant in Atlanta plus the Sanford factory. The firm also produces and develops duplexes, triplexes, quadruplexes, condominiums, offices, institutional type buildings, motels, single family housing and motels.

Langley's comments on these important issues...

PROPERTY TAX RELIEF - Through modification of exemptions or limiting tax millage we must stop the ever increasing property tax.

Cap On Government Growth - Government should not grow out of proportion to the natural population and economic growth. Caps on millage taxes and state employment will help control this.

Crime and Punishment - To protect society from the criminal, I believe in swift and sure punishment for convicted criminals.

We should reinstate our road camps, making prisoners work instead of coddling them. I support capital punishment.

Education - Our schools are falling us today. I believe this is due in a large measure to the lack of discipline in the classroom and at home.

The Equal Rights Amendment - I have a record of supporting equal pay, promotion, salaries, credit, etc., for women. However I do not and will not support the ERA which puts this matter in the hands of our Federal Courts.

Drunk Driving - I was a prime sponsor of the DWI Bill passed this year by the Florida Legislature. I will continue to reinforce and strengthen our DWI legislation.

The Environment - God is not going to make any more lakes, rivers and beaches. We must do everything within reason to that which we have.

Graham: Bafalis Knows Not From Whence He Speaks

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Incumbents with a comfortable lead in the polls don't usually criticize their opponents, but Gov. Bob Graham says L.S. "Skip" Bafalis might not know enough to be governor.

Democrat Graham, seeking a second term in the Nov. 2 general election against Congressman Bafalis, the Republican nominee, says Bafalis has made several slip-ups in recent weeks that indicate "he has been in Washington for a long time" and has not been keeping up with current Florida affairs.

Much of the crime-fighting program unveiled by Bafalis several weeks ago became law during his first four years as governor, Graham said.

And he says Bafalis has made some embarrassing flubs, including blaming him for converting the Public Service Commission from elected to appointed status when that job was done by his predecessor, Reubin Askew.

"When I read over the congressman's proposals, the impression I got was that this was someone who had been in Washington for a long time," Graham said in an interview late last week.

"It's really out of date with what's happening in Florida and would have been a better crime program for him to have announced when he ran for governor in 1970."

Much of Bafalis' crime-fighting program is aimed at juvenile criminals. He recommends that 16- and 17-year-olds accused of major crimes be tried as adults and that their previous criminal records be a factor in sentencing.

These changes, plus others suggested by Bafalis, would allow a juvenile to be sentenced to life in prison for a crime like breaking and entering of an occupied home.

The Legislature already was authorized state's attorneys to try juveniles as adults in certain situations, Graham said. "That approach, which does it on a case-by-case basis... is the appropriate way to proceed."

Bafalis proposed tough mandatory sentences for various crimes. The uniform sentencing guidelines to be implemented by the Florida Supreme Court next year would accomplish the same thing by guaranteeing that criminals will serve a specific time for major offenses and not get off through judges' leniency or through early parole, Graham said.

Graham said his biggest criticism of the Bafalis program, however, is that it probably would cost $1 billion to implement and Bafalis "doesn't deal with the dollar implications."

Bafalis has refused to admit that the proposals would be that expensive, although the $1 billion estimate came from Clermont Sen. Dick Langley, a member of the special commission that developed the plan for the Republican nominee, according to Graham.

Bafalis has had some trouble getting his facts straight, Graham said of some attacks on his administration by the Fort Myers congressman.

"He issued a stinging attack on us for having passed the shift from the elected to the appointed Public Service Commission and it was pointed out a day or two later that it was actually during Gov. Askew's term that this had happened."

"He made a statement within the last week chastising me for the people I have appointed to the Probation and Parole Commission. They're appointed by the Cabinet and myself together."

"He also has made some comments relative to the standards of appointment of county and circuit judges and it was pointed out that county and circuit judges were elected."

"So there just seems to be some important areas of basic understanding of what's happened in Florida that he has not been able to keep up with."

Is Bafalis too uninformed to be governor?
"You've put me in the box between being charitable and being candid. But it is obvious that whoever is elected will be governor of Florida in less than 90 days."

"So we're talking about a decision that is going to have immediate impact. The people will make a judgement on Nov. 2 as to...which candidate they believe is better prepared to be governor of Florida beginning on Jan. 4, 1963."

Is Graham betting that he will be reelected?
"I'm very pleased at the way in which the people of Florida have treated and responded to Wayne Mixson and myself and we are very willing to let the people's decision speak on Nov. 2."

BOB GRAHAM

SKIP BAFALIS

Phones Are Plenty

For the second year in a row, Washington D.C. ranked first in the world as the city with the most telephones (more than 172) for every 100 residents as of Jan. 1, 1961. Southfield, Mich. came in a close second with almost 166 phones per 100 residents.

"In Florida, Sarasota was the leading city in terms of telephones per 100 residents with a ratio of 109.6," says Southern Bell Manager Larry Strickler. "If you count the actual number of telephones in a city, though, Miami leads the way with more than 1.2 million phones. The next three cities are Fort Lauderdale (463,000), Tampa (459,000) and Jacksonville (448,000)."

In the United States, California was the state with the most telephones—20.9 million, according to Strickler. In comparison, Florida's telephones number 8.3 million.

U.S. Congressman Bill McCollum, Fifth District

STRAIGHT TALK NOT DOUBLE TALK

Bill McCollum is respected at home and in Washington because when he talks you know where he stands. He acts decisively and is the kind of leader who makes things happen. Look at his record on these important issues.

THE ECONOMY

"I've supported President Reagan's efforts to cut federal spending and taxes, to bring down inflation and to reduce interest rates. The results speak for themselves."

	1980	NOW
Interest	21.5%	12.0%
Inflation	12.4%	5.1%
Rate of growth of Federal Spending	17.5%	4.9%

...And most American families will pay $788 less in taxes next year.

"We are working overtime to reduce unemployment. The only way to reduce unemployment is to put the economy on a solid financial footing. The dramatic reductions in interest, inflation and federal spending growth rate are positive evidence that substantial progress is being made."

SOCIAL SECURITY — SENIOR CITIZENS

"The benefits of those retired or about to retire should not be reduced. The trust funds must be restored to solvency. Social Security has its own tax base and should be removed from the general budget." Bill McCollum introduced legislation to exempt those 62 and older from paying federal income taxes on dividends or on interest earned on savings and has co-sponsored a bill to eliminate mandatory retirement.

"Bill McCollum's calibre of leadership is needed in Congress. I urge you to vote for Bill." Signed, Ronald Reagan

CRIME

"As ranking Republican member of the Subcommittee on Criminal Justice I am convinced that the greatest single deterrent to crime is just, swift and sure punishment for guilty offenders." Bill McCollum has introduced and co-sponsored bills which would restore the death sentence for certain federal crimes such as murder and treason and abolish the insanity defense so that people like John Hinkley don't walk out free.

ILLEGAL ALIENS

"Illegal aliens threaten our quality of life." As a member of the Immigration Subcommittee, Bill McCollum introduced legislation to create an Immigration Court so that illegal aliens will be sent back home.

PRAYER IN SCHOOLS

"Traditional family values must be preserved. Voluntary silent prayer should be returned to our schools."

OUR ENVIRONMENT

"The pollution of our air and water and the ravaging of our earth effects the well being of every American. I am deeply concerned about maintaining a healthy environment and appropriate regulations to assure we have clean air and water. We cannot jeopardize the future quality of our national resources and endanger the health of our children."

VETERANS

"I am a veteran myself. I have fought and will continue to fight proposed cuts in benefits for all veterans. I have asked the President to elevate the VA Administrator to a Cabinet level position." Bill McCollum supported legislation to increase disability benefits for veterans; to extend readjustment counseling for Vietnam vets; to provide priority medical care to those exposed to Agent Orange and to increase medical care in central Florida.

Dealing With Stress By Praying

Prayer is one of the best ways to deal with stress — but it is important to know how to pray.

When I was a small boy, I hit upon an idea of how to get my prayers said without having it cut into my playing time. I would say my prayers while pushing my toy automobiles around the bed. It worked — until one night when my mother caught me!

My defense was that, since I was saying my prayers out loud, God could hear them. What difference did it make that I wasn't paying attention to what I was saying?

My mother didn't buy that and I now know she was right. It is not the words we say that matter in prayer, it is the thoughts we think.

And there is something else I have learned. You must believe your prayers will be answered. Jesus couldn't have been more clear on that point when he said, "What things soever ye desire, believe that ye receive them and ye shall have them."

When I was a parish minister, people frequently would ask me, "How long should a prayer be?" I would reply: "Pray till you feel like smiling."

That is, pray until your prayer is completely believable to you and there is no doubt in your mind that it will be answered.

There is one way to help your prayers become more believable. Instead of saying "Amen," end your prayers by saying, "It's really true." That is what Amen means anyway: "It shall be so."

Say it with feeling — like people on the TV commercials who are extolling the wonder of some headache remedy or floor cleaner. "It really works!" they say.

Unless you believe your prayers will really work, they won't. A change in lifestyle can also reduce stress. Sachel Paige, the legendary black baseball pitcher, was also something of a philosopher. One of his rules for happy living was, "Go on very lightly on the vices, such as carrying on in society. The social ramble ain't restful."

Bernarr Macfadden may have been the first of the "health

Saints And Sinners

nuts" but much of his advice made good sense — and still does. Macfadden, who became a millionaire as head of a publishing empire whose biggest money maker was True Story magazine, also published a magazine called Physical Culture.

As a bonus, subscribers got an enormous timepiece called a Physical Culture watch whose dial gave such instructions as: "NOON to 5 P.M. — Refuse to be rushed. Maintain cheerful mind."

8 to 10 P.M. — Don't work evenings. Have a harmless time. Eat a few nuts or grapes.

It is true that much of our stress is caused by changes and events in our life. But as much stress is caused by our fast-paced lifestyle.

The Mormons are said to be at least 25 percent less susceptible than other Americans to cancer, heart attack and high blood pressure. Some attribute this, in part, to their lifestyle. The strong Mormon family unit is said to be a factor.

Mormons spend every Monday night in joint activities with members of their immediate family. Such togetherness is said to indoctrinate every Mormon with the idea that when trouble or stress comes, there will be others around who will care and who will help.

"It is known," says a physician, "that possibly dangerous hormonal discharges occur in the body as a result of emotional deprivation, breakup of the family, marital problems and drug dependency."

Real Friendship Is Rare

Try this exercise! Write down on a sheet of paper six friends that you could call on in case of a real emergency. Did you have problems coming up with six names?

Today's world is much different in important ways from the world of previous generations. Sociologists call our world today "mass society." By this is meant that millions of people may each be doing the same thing at the same time, but each engages in the activity in virtual isolation from all the others.

A good example is TV viewing. This mass means of communication, rapid transportation, leisure time, and unprecedented affluence have given multitudes a degree of mobility and knowledge unknown before, except to the elite.

Unfortunately, it has not been an improvement in the spiritual, moral, and social life of our society. In fact, a common word used to describe modern man in a technological society is "alienation." Man is alienated from God, from his neighbor, and even internally, from himself. Loneliness and friendlessness are common afflictions of our age.

The Church needs to respond to the cry of these alienated persons by displaying the warmth of genuine friendliness. This will minister to people in today's world at a level of felt-need which will bear a bountiful harvest for the kingdom of God!

True friendship is built on common values. Let me draw from the lifestyles of David and Jonathan in scripture to illustrate my point. Each of these men were: noble, courageous, holy, generous, and devout in character. As a result, they were drawn to each other in a most beautiful friendship. (1 Sam. 18-20) Virtues such as loyalty, dependability and faithfulness to one another can be clearly seen.

On the surface you would never expect these two men to establish such a relationship. Jonathan was the king's son, yet it was David who rose to prominence because of his God-given anointing and leadership ability. People began to recognize it and this meant more to them than the crown on King Saul's head.

What a valuable lesson can be learned from Jonathan and David. In a society that encourages us to "look out for number one", we can break from this mold and begin to "consider one another as more important than himself." (Ph. 2:3).

Ask yourself these questions.
—Do I ever feel secretly pleased when I hear another person criticized?

—Do I ever feel secret satisfaction when I see another person fall or fail?

—Do I ever feel secret resentment when I see another person enjoying prosperity, advancement, popularity, or success beyond my own?

—Do I ever hear another person criticized without feeling pain or without desiring to rise in his defense?

—Do I ever refrain from helping another person when he is in need because it would secure for him blessings I cannot have?

—Do I ever fail to be friendly to another person when I know my friendship will advance his interests but not mine?

—Do I think of friendship as a matter of being loved rather than loving, of getting rather than giving, of concern for self, rather than concern for others?

Jonathan accepted the fact that it was the Lord's will for David to have the throne. On one occasion he came to David's rescue and gave him his own royal garments and arms. This is self-sacrificing friendship. Are there any Jonathan's in Seminole County? Great! Then shine forth!

THOUGHTS

Jeremiah used the figure of speech "hath settled on his lees" as if a people were a liquid that is poured from vessel to vessel to keep the contents stirred. "Moab hath at ease from his youth, and he hath settled on his lees, and hath not been emptied from vessel to vessel, neither hath he gone into captivity..." — Jer. 48:11

Cavendish invitational and helped Alan and partner Peter Weischel win this fine event.

Alan's jump to four hearts was a gambling overbid dictated by the vulnerability.

West started proceedings for the defense by leading king and another diamond. Alan ruffed and studied the whole hand. He was looking at three sure losers plus problems in both black suits.

He studied spades first. It seemed evident that West would hold four spades and East three. With four spades East would probably have bid a spade. Further study showed that unless East held both the king of spades and queen of clubs the contract would be unmakeable.

Then Alan made one of the brilliant plays of all-time. He led a low spade and played dummy's six.

East won and returned a trump. Alan won, led a spade to dummy's ace, led the jack of clubs and let it ride to West's ace.

West led another diamond for Alan to ruff. Now Alan led and ruffed his last low spade and saw the king drop. Now he pulled trumps to make a contract that had required both luck and skill.

You're likely to do better this coming year in ventures or projects which you can direct independently. Be very selective if you feel partners are required.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Associates could be a trifle difficult to get along with today and you might find it necessary to appease them, even though you feel your position is right. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the seasons following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph. Send $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date. Send an additional $2 for the NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet. Reveals romantic combinations and compatibilities for all signs.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be sensible about health matters today. Make moderation your byword. If there are things which you shouldn't eat or drink, pass them up.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't be caught in political situations with friends today where you might find yourself forced to side with one pal against another.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be extremely diplomatic and tactful today if you have to deal with persons in authority, especially those who could hurt your career.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) This is not a good day to bring up any subjects where another could hold strong opposing views from yours. It might cause sparks.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be very careful today and tomorrow in business or financial matters. Do not become involved in things which you don't fully comprehend.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Steer clear today of those whom you know, from experience, always try to dictate your course of action. You won't appreciate bossy types.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) This is not a good time to let your duties and responsibilities start to pile up. Take care of things as they occur, or they may be worse later.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be careful today that you don't yield to peer pressure and do things which are against your better judgment. Be your own person and do your own thing.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) There's a possibility today that you may attempt to reach your objectives the hard way and thereby deprive yourself of a success which could be yours.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Even though you believe your way to be right today, don't try to impose it on others. Serious misunderstandings could result.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Take extra measures today to protect your valued resources or possessions. Carelessness might lead to losses which could be avoided.

Election '82: Tuesday's Only Prime Time Show

NEW YORK (UPI) — To paraphrase Will Rogers' observation about the weather, everybody talks about politics but few will turn out at the polls Tuesday to do anything about it. If political pundits and pollsters are right, only 33 to 37 percent of all registered voters will exercise their franchise in this year's election, but thanks to television, the apathetic majority will not escape its results.

"Laverne and Shirley" will not be there Tuesday night to take minds off unemployment, Reaganomics or gun control. "Three's Company" and "St. Elsewhere" will provide no antidote.

Television will be wall-to-wall with demographics, exit polls and election results virtually wherever the dial is set from early evening until the wee hours of Wednesday morning.

Given the volatility of issues this year — unemployment, a nuclear freeze referendum in nine states and a still militant Moral Majority — analysis of the emerging political profile will center more upon the ideological make-up of the House and Senate than upon strict party lines.

"Looking at the House strictly as Democratic and Republican clearly doesn't tell you the clear story," said CBS coverage producer Joan Richman. "You've got Boll Weevils and Gypsy Moths — none of this is a simple party line breakdown. Who will control policy making is what counts."

NBC research indicates if liberal lawmakers win 25 or more races, house control will shift to their ideology. ABC research shows roughly a 60-40 edge for the Democrats.

CBS will interview blue collar workers in Detroit, senior citizens in Sun City, Ariz., blacks in Washington D.C. and Wall Street brokers in New York in an effort to put it all in perspective and CNN will do the same thing with 20 party bosses, analysts and special interest lobbyists.

"It's going to be hard to analyze, as it always is in an off-year election," said Walter Cronkite who, having surrendered his CBS anchor to Dan Rather, will spend election night interviewing the political superstars of Washington.

"I think using exit polls to call elections is a little shaky," he said. "You've got people asking other people, in a moment of drama as they leave the polls, how they voted, and they may not tell you the truth... It's very hard to do."

Still, the networks are trying — expensively — with advance surveys, man-in-the-street interviews and computer computations.

NBC has hired political analyst Sheldon Gawiser to preside over exit polls representing 36,000 voters in 13 key states. ABC's Jeff Alderman has been busy for weeks probing for demographics and voter trends.
