Altamonte Taxpayers Protest Assessments

By Donna Estes

The Altamonte Springs Town Council, sitting as a board of equalization, received 23 written complaints Wednesday evening from a standing-room-only audience of property owners.

Councilman Bert Chapman and Robert Newell were absent.

Complaints were heard from all sections of town but the majority came from Oakland Estates. Residents were advised that assessments in their area are being revised.

Mayor W. Lawrence Sworf stated that Altamonte Springs was complying with the ruling set by the attorney general and comptroller's office that property must be assessed at 100 per cent of full market value. He said that the last evaluation completed in the town was in 1952 at which time assessments were set at 75 per cent.

With costs to people of the town being set per parcel at $100,000, he said, the board of equalization will equalize the tax burden, Sworf pointed out.

He further announced that he will recommend a two-mill tax cut.

Robert Herrington, representing Humcut and Associates, town appraisers, in answer to questions, explained assessments are based on the cost of replacing comparable buildings on property, taking into consideration the size of the building, type of construction (such as foundation, walls, ceiling materials used, type of heating or cooling) and depth and size of the lot.

He continued to explain that trained field men examined all property, marking information on cards from which tabulations were made.

The meeting was temporarily recessed at 8:30 p. m. to conduct a public hearing on the petition of R&R Rogers Company to abandon a three-foot utility easement on the westerly lot line of lot 23, block D, Glen Arden.

At no one appeared either in support or opposition of the request, it was granted.

Chief recorded as a hearing on the sinking fund to pay with the $65,000 franchise payment for a total of $185,000 needed to retire the bonds.

Original issue was $400,000 in 1957, which was used to build the Civic Center, fire station No. 2, park storage building, masonry vapor street lights for downtown Sanford and French Avenue and two fire trucks.

"The city's sound financial position by paying off these 20-year bonds 12 years ahead of time. We also have about $20,000 in interest-free cash on hand."

Now we can proceed with the sale of the $1 million issue for the lakefront development following the clearing of valuation proceedings when beneficiaries will get a check for the new amount plus a seven-month retroactive increase.

Red Planet Is 'Dead' Mariner-4 Reveals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Space scientists today showed President Johnson and the nation fantastically clear photographs of Mars that revealed the presence of moon-like craters, some of which were estimated to be five billion years old.

The photographs failed to reveal the presence of the mysterious "canals" on Mars, but they did show that red planet is "dead," as is the moon.

This was the second set of photographs taken by Mariner 4 on its historic picture-taking flight past the red planet. Three photographs were released immediately after the flight, but they did not have the clarity or reveal the details of the new shots.

They were withheld from the public until now to enable scientists to bring out their details more clearly. They were shown to the President at the White House which was televised by all major networks.

Johnson described the Mars picture as "awe-inspiring."

He said "the flight of Mariner 4 will stand as one of the great advances of man's quest to extend the horizons of knowledge."

Dr. Robert Leighton, the scientist who described the photographs to the President, said:

One lady we know has complained to a power company that lightning seems to prefer her house to all others in the neighborhood. So far it has been hit twice.

Bandmaster Ernest Cowley has announced that summer rehearsals of the Seminole High School Band will be held during August in preparation for the coming football season.

Rehearsals will be held in the band hall at 1:30 p. m. each Tuesday night. All band members and a prospective band member are urged to attend.

But Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen, (Ill.) served notice there would be strings attached to consideration of the bill, which cleared the House Wednesday on a 221-208 vote.

Lakefront Bond Sale Cleared

FPL Assists With $65,000 To Pave Way

By Dottie Austin

Way was cleared today for sale of $1 million worth of revenue bonds to build the Sanford lakefront development project, when City Finance Officer Howard Wetzel paid off a $186,000 balance on capital improvement bonds, issued in 1957.

To help make the pay-off possible, Scott Burns, manager of Florida Power and Light Company, agreed to loan the city for $65,000, the city's annual share of FPL franchise money for fiscal 1964-1965.

City Manager W. E. Knowles explained that the bond issue has to be paid off on an anniversary date, which falls on Aug. 1.

"We don't usually get the franchise check until late in August, but through the cooperation of Burns, we were able to rush things so we could get the check before the deadline date," Knowles said.

The city received permission from the city board of bond trustees to take $186,000 from the sinking fund to pay off the $186,000 franchise payment for a total of $185,000 needed to retire the bonds.

Original issue was $400,000 in 1957, which was used to build the Civic Center, fire station No. 2, park storage building, masonry vapor street lights for downtown Sanford and French Avenue and two fire trucks.

Medicare Awaits Only 137

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate voted approval of the historic $5.5 billion Medicare measure Wednesday, to 84-16.

Draft, Recruitment To Add 325,000

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration's decision to double the monthly draft call and step up voluntary recruitment may add 325,000 men to the nation's armed forces by the fall of 1966.

This would bring the total strength of the armed forces to nearly three million men.

The combined strength of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps was 2,653,861 on July 1.

Manpower experts calculated that the new draft rate of 35,000 a month, to begin in October, would add between 300,000 and 350,000 men if continued a full year and if accompanied by accelerated enlistment drives.

President Johnson's plans for a U. S. combat buildup in Viet Nam fell short of what had been forecast, but he carefully left open the possibility of an unlimited future increase.

Even before Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's recent inspection trip to Saigon there were reports that a call-up of from 150,000 to 300,000 civilian reservists and National Guardsmen was in the offing.

Officials said today, however, that it was the "periodic" quality of such service which was one of the principal factors in the Chief Executive's decision to forego a broad call-up at this stage.

But draft headquarters expects that local boards will have to be more stringent with deferments. In the recent past, the boards have been very liberal in issuing deferments for students, and exempting others on the basis of their jobs.

President Johnson's decision to double the monthly draft call is going to mean fewer deferments and younger draftees.

But for the moment at least, married men appear to be safe.

Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, in confidence the draft call would be based on 17,000 to 35,000 a month without any basic change in policy.

Now should there be a need to put married men in uniform right away.

But draft headquarters expects that local boards will have to be more stringent with deferments. In the recent past, the boards have been very liberal in issuing deferments for students, and exempting others on the basis of their jobs.

Hickson reported that after showing around the revolver, which had two cartridges in the cylinder, Paukovits apparently set the gun so the firing pin would strike an empty cylinder when the trigger was pulled.

He then put the gun to his head and pulled the trigger. The gun went off, inflicting a wound six inches above the right temple.

Hickson surmised Paukovits misjudged the direction the cylinder would turn, revolving so the firing pin struck a live cartridge.

Paukovits was taken to Seminoles Memorial Hospital, then transferred to Orange Memorial Hospital where he died at approximately 12:30 a. m. The shooting occurred about 9 p. m.

Paukovits was plant manager for Florida Pallet Corporation, located on SR 419, near Oviedo.

Fun With Gun Ends Fatally For Sanfordite

A Sanford man fatally shot himself Wednesday night while playing with a pistol.

The dead man has been identified as John Francis Paukovits, 33, who lived at the Park Avenue Trailer Court.

According to Police Lt. Joe Hickson, Paukovits was entertaining two friends in his trailer when he removed a .22 caliber pistol from a drawer and began playing with it.

Hickson reported that after showing around the revolver, which had two cartridges in the cylinder, Paukovits apparently set the gun so the firing pin would strike an empty cylinder when the trigger was pulled.

700 Babies Were Adopted in Florida Last Year

By Doris Williams
The Children's Home Society of Florida is one of the nine participating agencies dependent upon allocations of financial assistance from the United Fund of Seminole County. The only other source of income is through adoption fees and contributions.

The divisions throughout the state comprising the 65-year-old state agency, Headquarters for the Central Florida Division in Orlando, which serves Orange, Seminole, Sumter, Lake and Osceola Counties.

The Children's Home Society serves as an adoption agency for the children of unwed mothers and other mothers who feel in need of the services. It is not a home for expectant mothers but a place where prenatal care, boarding home care and delivery fees.

It is estimated that last year over 700 babies were adopted throughout the state. Prospective parents apply for a child and usually within six months, after extensive checking, a child is available for qualified persons.

Case workers leave no stone unturned in checking into the prospective parents. They are grounded. They offer counseling to the adoptive parents and also to the birth mothers who are referred to the Home through friends, doctors, lawyers and ministers.

Following the birth of an infant designated to the Home, a case worker is assigned to assist the baby, who is boarded at the home pending a thorough examination by a pediatrician before being released to the adoptive parents.

The Orlando Home is staffed by six employees—Mrs. Ruth Lantz, director; Mrs. Ann Powers, Orlando, Public Relations; Mrs. Mary Ann Latta, Orlando, office manager and receptionist; Miss Dorothy Pearson, Winter Park, secretary; Mrs. Dorothy Shields, Seminole County, secretary, and Mrs. Harriet Dixon, Orange County, senior case worker.

1964 was an extremely important year for the Central Florida Division, which was two years old last March. Increased service, increased income, and increased adoption fees have prompted expansion in every way.

The hearing home program for the Orlando Division, both for infants and expectant mothers, was launched in January 1964. Counseling was given to 111 expectant mothers at the Orlando Home. The per cent increase over the previous year. More than $6,000 was spent by the Division in helping expectant mothers with board, hospital and medical care.

Adoptive inquiries continue to be heavy and the number of approved homes doubled last year. The year of growth and development has been possible due to the generous response from our interested persons. The United Fund is of primary importance to the division of the agency and this financial assistance is urged for the continuation of the Central Florida Division.

Each agency submits a budget to the United Fund requesting a specified amount for annual expenses. The request is reviewed and allocations are granted. The Children's Home receives an annual allotment from the United Fund of Seminole County and a number of Seminole County residents have benefited from the services of the Children's Home.

Following is a heart warming case history of a delightful little girl and her struggle for a healthy happy life.

her within a few weeks except for a congenital condition which was corrected surgically until the child was at least 18 months old. Twice while Ann was in foster home care prospective adoptive parents indicated interest but neither of them could accept her. One decided they should wait for a younger child, a two infant after searching their consciences, realized they could not fully accept Ann's physical handicap.

The search for the right parents for this child is finally over. The surgery has been performed successfully and a young couple in their late twenties have met and opened their hearts to the orphan from an interested body in need of parents.

It is believed that the future happiness of the child is the major and only focus of the agency as it works to place each child entrusted to it in the right adoptive home. Mrs. Ruth Lantz, Central Florida division director, explained that, though Ann's case is rare, it partially clarifies why adoption work is so costly.

"By the time Ann is placed with her new parents," Mrs. Lantz said, "the cost to our agency for her boarding care alone will total $2,000. Of course the average, normal baby that comes into our care doesn't cost nearly this much but we have to do it."

An appointment was made immediately for Mrs. Smith to come to the office with her daughter. The day they arrived they were nervous, slightly, actually scared to death. After one hour with the case worker the tension, though rough, was at least calmed and they felt they could travel it.

to her baby had a physical defect.

"Will you accept my baby?" the young mother tearfully asked.

She was assured the agency could and that a good home would be found for Ann. A medical worker from CHS flew to the maternity home, which was out-of-state and picked Ann up when she was ready for discharge. Counseling with Mary and her mother continued until final surrenders were signed and even later as they both struggled to find their way back to a settled life. This they were able to do and Mary is back in school, a more mature girl who has gained in inner strength as she was helped to handle her problems.

Meanwhile, baby Ann had her problems. She was placed in one of the agency's foster homes and doctors were immediately consulted as to how her condition could be corrected. The agency was informed surgery would not be advisable until she was a year and a half. Then the search began for parents who could accept her as she was—a healthy child with good potential, but one who did need remedial surgery.

The weeks and months went by. Ann had to be moved twice and twice, when the caseworker thought the right parents had been found, was proved wrong. Meanwhile, the caseworker spent long hours getting to know the child, arranging medical consultations, worrying about Ann's emotional development as the child became more withdrawn with each move, with each wrench away from the life to which she was trying to adjust.

Then came the surgery, the tense hours in the hospital though the foster mother spent as much time with her as was possible, and the caseworker's constant presence. The child's mind struggled with all the changes, the inconsistency of life. She seldom smiled, she clung to her foster mother, she talked almost not at all.

Finally, at a week ago, a ray of hope. An adoptive parent, a little girl like Ann, a two-year-old with built-in feelings of insecurity and loneliness. They felt they could give her enough love and understanding so that these feelings would disappear.

The couple came to Orlando to meet Ann, to see her face as she smiled and understood. Suddenly the ray of hope became a large smile on the child's face as she trotted into the office to meet her new parents, not understanding what was happening but somehow knowing that the beginning to place her baby for adoption. As hard as it would be for her to give up her baby, she knew it was the only way to plan for her child's future happiness and security.

The caseworker spent many hours with the mother and Mary moved in to wait out her confinement. Meanwhile, the caseworker had been in touch with the workers there, Mary's records were transferred and they took over the counseling.

Another point of anxiety set up in when Mary was adopted.

The Great Mail Snafu
Washington, D. C.

What's the matter with our Post Office Department? Why has it been in the red since Ben Franklin established it more than 150 years ago? Can anything be done?

Postmaster General John Gronouski has jumped into a hot seat in the red ink. He's the man who's in charge of the nation's mail service, exclusive of the story in this newspaper.

Lobbies Fight Postal Cost Cuts

By Tom Nolan
(First in a Series)

WASHINGTON (NEA) — You're the president of a large corporation. Though the firm has been in business more than 180 years, it has never shown a profit. Losses over the past 10 years have ranged from $234 million to $890 million.

Nearly every idea for cutting costs produced by you or your staff has been shelved by the board of directors.

Your 600,000 employees belong to a complicated mixture of no fewer than 15 different unions. Personnel replacement is a headache. The board is divided on the subject of both unions and the board is a lengthy, involved process at best.

Your nationwide transportation network—an archaic system adopted many years ago—is throwing up a roadblock in many areas. Your proposals for modernizing the network are not meeting with success. Yet your volume of business is increasing rapidly. In the next 15 years it will expand by nearly 50 per cent. A similar increase in costs—and losses—is probable.

The unions are unalterably opposed to production automation. And the board of directors is against a price hike.

What do you do? Declare bankruptcy?

John Gronouski—who, as your research and development staff has been shelved by the board of directors.

Record Figures

Scored By GM

NEW YORK (UPI) — General Motors, the world's largest industrial corporation, announced record shattering figures for the second quarter and first half of 1965.

The giant manufacturing firm said that new records had been set in net income, sales, net income, per share earnings, dividends, employment and payroll.

Chairman Frederic C. Dornier and President James M. Roche said that the new records were due to "the health of the economy and the public's recognition of the value built into GM products."

GM reported sales of $5,537 billion for the second quarter compared with $5,092 billion for the same period last year. This resulted in net income of $629 million of $2.23 a share, GM said. The company's profit for the second quarter was $602 million or $2.11 a share.

By Jane Casselberry

What could be more romantic than a "Golden Honeymoon" to Niagara Falls? (Tom and Pop) Krohn Sr. of Fair Lane have just returned from such a three-week trip, which they made in celebration of their 50th year of wedded bliss.

They had originally planned to make their trip in their 1915 Hupmobile but they were unable to get time for it at the time and had to drive a later model.

Niagara Falls lived up to their expectations and they spent several days there. Another highlight of the trip was attending the National Scoring Competitions at Adrian, Mich., where he assisted with the starting and timing.

Krohn, who celebrates his 76th birthday in September, is the oldest active sail plane pilot in the United States and is listed on the single in the Gliding and Soaring Hall of Fame at the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D. C.

They enjoyed a reunion with many of their old friends from the Old-Timers Banquet held during the most "Foggy" first became interested in glider flying in 1929.

While in Michigan they visited friends and enjoyed touring Ford Motor Company's River Rouge Plant and Greenfield Village at Dearborn.

They visited the New York State Fair and found the popular Florida exhibit the outstanding attraction this summer. They found that there is still a water shortage in the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Boardman, 110 Lombardy Road, enjoyed the Drama of the Cross and Sowing of St. Augustine, and Mrs. Boardman visited Marineland.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Stanley Crum, 420 Minnehaha, enjoyed a vacation at St. Lucie with their son, Gary, who is in the Air Force, and his wife and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Welton and children, from Palm Beach Gardens.

Castle Farms Announces A New Milk Price Schedule

Mr. Donald R. Stoffel, general manager of Castle Farms, Inc., today announced a new price schedule for milk effective immediately in all 56 of the company's retail dairy stores. Speaking from his headquarters in Ocala, Fla., Stoffel had this to say: "We sincerely hope this general price reduction on our milk will not be misinterpreted by anyone. We fully realize that other producers are faced with many costs we do not have, and so must price their product accordingly. Operating as we do, with our own farms, processing plant and retail outlets, we do not have to consider wholesale routes, home delivery costs or the additional expenses of shrewd type containers for our milk. All of these phases of the milk business are cost factors which we do not have to consider in our Castle Farms 'cow to consumer' operation. We have now built the

Party Fetes Michael Cosby

Michael George Cosby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael G. Cosby, 25 South Cortez Avenue, North Orlando, recently celebrated his fourth birthday with a kiddie show-luncheon party.

Bright and early in the morning Michael gathered up his friends and their mothers and drove to Sanford for the morning fun show at the local movie house.

After munching on popcorn, candy and throat-soothing drinks and enjoying the contests and cartoons, everyone returned to the Cosby home for hot dogs, birthday cake, ice cream and beverages but not before a game or two of pin-the-tail-on-the-donkey, just to stretch their legs.

There were lollipops for all and marshmallow people to designate a boy or girl's seat, with hats and horns and streamers in a kaleidoscope of pastel colors to match the place settings.

Everyone sang a "Happy Birthday" vigorously and a helped blow out the cake candles, but the 21-year-old glauk candle dominated the scene and stardustly burned out.

Staying part in the celebration were Donna and David Carrigan and Mrs. Donald Carrigan; Alan and Deanna Carby and Mrs. Stephen Carby; Eddie and Debra Swede and Mrs. Edwin Swede, and Mr. and Mrs. George E. Zeller, Michael's grandparents from DeBary.

Winn-Dixie Buys $8 Million In Area Products

Winn-Dixie Stores, Inc., operating a number of supermarkets in the local area, bought direct from Florida farmers $8,000,000 worth of fresh fruits and vegetables during the fiscal year just ended, a substantial increase over last year.

This figure represents only the purchases made through the company's field buying offices in Tallahassee, Tallahassee and Panama.

Joe A. Adams, in charge of purchasing, said that the company's primary consideration in buying Florida products first, is to support the state's agriculture and to provide superior quality products to its customers.

London Cabbies Are Wonderful, Yank Learns

LONDON (UPI)—"London taxi drivers are wonderful." This was the grateful comment from American businessman Budd Irving who discovered the reputed honesty of British cab drivers was more than just a myth.

Irving, hunting high and low in London Airport for his pocketbook containing $2,000 in cash and another $2,000 in traveler's checks.

He had just about given up hope of finding it when the taxi driver who drove him to the airport rushed up to him with the missing wallet.

The honest cabbie had found it on the back seat of his taxi when he stopped to get gasoline just outside the airport on the way back to town.

"The driver refused to accept anything," said Irving. "He said I'd already tipped him for the journey. Darn, he'd even apologized for not getting the money give them."

"He said, 'Minsky, I may have that sort of money myself one day.' That's all it took," Irving said.

Jax Publisher William Kenan Expires At 93

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (UPI)—William Kenan Jr., 93, scientist, philanthropist and one of the owners of the Florida Times-Union died in his sleep here.

Kenan was an executive in more than a dozen Florida companies and was the board chairman of Flagler Systems Company, which operates hotels, resorts, companies and a steamship line.

He had been a director of the Florida Publishing Company, publishers of the Times-Union in Jacksonville until early this year.

Kenan was the principal owner of the Western Block Union in Jacksonville until early this year.

One Parachute Fails, 2 Divers Plunge To Death

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—A man and a woman plunged to their deaths in a freak skydiving accident.

The victims were identified as Jesse E. McDonald, 39, of Nashville, and Mrs. Linda Busby, 24, of Beaufort, N.C.

Bob Neely, of Nashville, who jumped with the pair, reached the ground safely.

Authorities said Mrs. Busby jumped from the plane first, McDonald's parachute apparently failed to open and he struck the woman's chute causing both to fall to their death.

Mrs. Busby, a summer school student at Peabody College here, had only begun to skydive a short time ago.

Neely gave this account of the ill-fated jumping session. "I saw them come by. I didn't know what was happening at first because Gene (McDonald) was in a loop."

"Then I could believe my eyes. I saw yelling for Linda. I saw her hands out and was in a panic position apparently making an effort to stabilize. Her chute was just streaming behind her."

"I watched her all the way down. She was spinning in a clockwise motion. I watched until she got to the top of the tree tops."

"Then I shut my eyes."

A 186 per cent increase in membership has been reported by the South Seminole Jaycees with the signing of 65 active and five sustaining members to the current membership drive.

Dinner of barbecue beef and pork, baked beans, colelaw, chips, and beverages, were served.

Redwine was appointed a new director at the last board meeting in the club's headquarters building on Highway 1742 in Cassaberry.

At the last general meeting at Blow's Restaurant in Cassaberry, Orange County Sheriff F. Kennedy spoke to the 136 members present on law enforcement, politics, and good citizenship.

The sale of front end auto tags still is in progress and plans to auction off a canoe with proceeds to go into the fund for community development.

Stamp Honors Italian Author

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A commemorative stamp in tribute to Dante on the 700th anniversary of his birth went on general sale today.

At the time of the century he came to update New York to install the calcium carbide plant at Niagara Falls.

Kenan also was the builder of the first electric power plant in Miami, which later became the Florida Power and Light Company.

Thought For Today

Beloved, I pray that all may go well with you and that you may be in health; I know that it is well with your soul.—III John 2:2.

Health is the second blessing that we mortals are capable of; a blessing that money cannot buy.—Frank Walton—"The Complete Angler."

It's Not Flat

There's more truth than poetry in the phrase, "the four corners of the earth."

There really are four corners, scientists now say. Four high areas covering several thousand square miles. The highest point of each area is about 200 feet higher than the rest of the earth were perfectly spherical.

One area centers over Ireland and extends toward the North Pole. Another area covers New Guinea toward Japan. A third lies between Africa and Antarctica, and a fourth is west of Peru.

The areas were discovered by studying the minute changes in the orbits of satellites.

Over the high points, they are pulled downward a few hundred feet by the slightly higher gravity.

Previously, it was revealed that the earth is slightly pear-shaped, with the small end at the North Pole.

The more we learn, the more we realize just how out of shape the old ball really is—a fact that a lot of us have only guessed at before.

A Little Acorn

We have lived so long with what we fondly call "American free enterprise" and have benefited so spectacularly from it that we often take it for granted that all that the rest of the world needs to cure its ills is simply a good dose of capitalism.

The fact is, however, that many "capitalists" in economically backward countries don't know the first thing about business as it is practiced today.

A case in point is the experience of one American businessman, Otto G. Berwin, back from a four-month stint in Panama under the auspices of the International Executive Service Corps.

"A surprising thing," he reports, "is that many of the companies in Panama do not know how to profit. They have no experts in cost accounting, marketing or meeting competition."

Another common phenomenon, says Berwin, who managed a Sears, Roebuck store in Pittsburgh for 20 years, is family management of corporations. Wives and husbands completely out of touch with day-to-day operations and innocent of modern management practices, often sit on the boards of directors of companies.

When, with gentle persuasion, he was able to convince family members to resign and be replaced by professional managers, the result was increased efficiency and profit.

At present there are 15 other American executives in the field for the IESC, which has been dubbed the businessmen's Peace Corps, although it is a private organization with no direct connection with the government.

Thirty-five more executives are being prepared and applications from others are being considered. Hopes are to expand the service to a dozen or so countries in both hemispheres.

A little acorn, it seems, is just as full of potential.

The Lighter Side

Officially, at least, the French appear to be reacting rather calmly to charges that a U.S. plane had shot down the secret atomic installation.

But my experience here convinced me that there is a retaliation movement underway.

Remember, I believe, the Deuteron Bureau, which is the French equivalent of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, received word that I was headed for Paris and seized the opportunity to vent their animosity.

"Olay, gang," they probably said to each other, "here's a visiting Yankee journalist. Let's get him."

My suspicions were first aroused when I landed at the airport and found that my baggage had been mysteriously mislaid. Took about 30 minutes to track it down.

When I went to the airport to check my administrative budget, the other relates to the cash budget.

When a President sends to Congress each January his budget proposal for the coming fiscal year, he also sends his administrative budget. The latter is a list of the various departments and agencies and their respective budgets.

What is more, the reservation I had requested in Italy had apparently been sabotaged before they reached France. The Paris ticket agent reported that he had never heard of it and that the flight I wanted already was overbooked.

The same thing happened when I went to check in at the airport hotel. The desk clerk swore my reservation had never been received and that no rooms were available.

In trying to line up a room at another hotel, I had great difficulty in getting the Paris telephone system, leading me to conclude that the Deuteron Bureau had sabotaged my flight before they reached France.

The taxi driver that I engaged to take me to the hotel obviously was planted by the Deuteron Bureau as well.

The bill that I paid for that ride will keep the U.S. gold funds in a precarious situation for the next 10 years.

At this point, the chain of "sabotage" incidents turned truly sinister. Not two minutes after I had checked into my hotel room, the lights went out.

The bellman who answered my summons said a fuse was faulty, but I knew "sabotage" when I hear one.

As I write this, I am scheduled to fly home on Washington the day after tomorrow, but I don't know what happened.

TEMPERATURE GOING UP

Lyle C. Wilson Says:

Public Dept Up

United Press International

Of all aspects of money, it is the misperceptions of the average man that best understand debt because he's always in it. It follows that the best way to explain the complexities of the federal budget to the average Joe is to begin with the public debt.

The public debt increased by nearly $5.5 billion in the fiscal year just ended on June 30, 1968. The public debt increased from $121.1 billion as of June 30, 1967, to $126.6 billion as of June 30, 1968.

This is a fact despite the recent headlines about government economy, increased federal revenue and a calculation that the deficit for fiscal year just ended was $900 million, or less than four years ago.

These headlines were accurate but misleading. The headlines and the news stories on the deficit are calculated on a perfectly valid deficit-surplus calculation in use by the U. S. Treasury. One important factor in the calculation is what is called the administrative budget. The other relates to the cash budget.

When a President sends to Congress each January his budget proposal for the coming fiscal year, he also sends his administrative budget. The latter is a list of the various departments and agencies and their respective budgets.

What is more, the reservation I had requested in Italy had apparently been sabotaged before they reached France. The Paris ticket agent reported that he had never heard of it and that the flight I wanted already was overbooked.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Eunice is facing a crisis that confronts millions of wives. Her husband shows the typical peevish behavior of the human male who is worried lest his erotic power is waning. Such men go around all day long, develop a monomaniacal obsession with the sex booklet before.

Dr. Crane, who has been a doctor for 40 years, offers a widespread problem.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "my husband and I go out for dinner about once per week with another couple our age."

"Afterwards we generally spend the evening bowling. We have a 12-year-old daughter and they have a son of the same age who accompanies us."

"But our husbands, who are by no means stupid, are the waitress and remarking about their figures and their 'wigs'."

"Then, when we reach the bowling alley, they keep remarking about the light bulbs that many of the lights are and wondering if they may burst open when the girls are away from home."

"At home my husband reads or sits before the TV with his eyes closed till the ball is thrown."

"Then he dreads the TV. Dr. Crane, is this type of talk appropriate when our children are with us? All men like this when they are away from home?"

The usual male fond of showing off before females, much like the peacock. There is another budget figure that the average Joe is slow to understand. It is the cost of borrowed money. The annual interest charge on the public debt is running at $1.5 billion in the fiscal year just ended. That will suggest to the uneasy taxpayer that many of the bills more than it acts about economy.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA)—not. He was bothered by political general and erratic flamboyant types.

Lodge is a born Massachusetts politician. He was once assigned the job of squaring Khrushchev on a U. S. tour. Just a few weeks ago he took former Saigon strongman Khanh on a tour of Lexington.

Lodge is disorganized. He is a military man. The Vietnamese think of Lodge as a tough "gunnery" type who will take any chance. A chunk of the Vietnamese generals love him for it.

Taylor thinks of major over-all solutions. Regardless of the lip service he gives to developing sound government in the hamlets, improving village economies and in winning the loyalty of the Vietnamese farmer, he thinks basically in terms of military solutions.

Lodge, the New England Brahmin, is friendly, gregarious. Sit in a room with Lodge for a few minutes and you find yourself swapping confidences.

This genial, disorganized, politically adept man may be what's needed in Viet Nam right now.

Red Ho Chi Minh's effort now is to get the United States

Nation Food Basket In Generous Supply

The following shopping guide to the nation's food bins for the weekend was prepared by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

Washington (UPI) — Food stores across the nation generally will offer generous supplies of a variety of meats and poultry as well as good selections of seasonal fruits and vegetables, this weekend.

Meat counters will display plenty of beef, with roasts and steaks featured in many areas. Selections will also include good supplies of pork, particularly roasts and chops. Leading the list of poultry buys are broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys, both excellent choices for summer cooking.

Vegetable bins will be brimming with cabbage, carrots, celery, onions, potatoes, squash, tomatoes, corn and lettuce. Fruit selections include apples, grapes, peaches, plums and watermelon.

Also, look for plenty of fish sticks and portions, and canned pink and chum salmon.

LB Signs Medicare Into Law Today

The Sanford Herald

Seminole County . . . on the St. Johns River . . . "The Nile of America"

WEATHER: Thursday 89-72, rain .77 inch; weekend: Normal temperatures, two inches of rain forecast.

VOL. 57 United Press Leased Wire Established 1908 FRIDAY, JULY 30, 1965 SANFORD, FLORIDA, NO. 245

AROUND THE CLOCK

Lake Mary Firemen's Auxiliary will have a (home-made) pie sale Saturday starting at 8 a.m. in front of the Lake Mary post office.

Now that Casselberry is our No. 2 city several people have been asking what is the population of this new metropolis. The last census gave the figure as 2,463 but we feel sure there are many more than that now.

Will the proposed park at the south extension of Sanford Avenue help or hurt the possibilities of the causeway across Lake Jessup—and pointed toward the new University of Central Florida?

The Sportsman's Association feels that this to be a beautiful spot. Some believe that there is no sense in putting something that is supposed to be of value right in the way of an imminent traffic artery. And it is pointed out that "expansive rights of way" often hold up construction of much-needed roads. The County Commissioners are caught in the middle as they try to decide between the aesthetic and the utilitarian.

Tax Hike Pictured In County Budget

A $2 million plus county budget is expected to be ready for tentative approval next week. County Commission Chairman John R. Alexander said today. It may call for a tax increase.

Budget hearings have been under way for the past three weeks and more are scheduled for Monday and Tuesday, Alexander said.

The estimated value of taxable property in Seminole County is up $83 million over last year but this is not expected to bring in but $125,495 in additional revenue.

The value of taxable property in the county now is $215,400,000.

Most department requests this year are running higher with salary increases for many employees a major item.

HST Honored In Signing Ceremony

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson flew to Independence, Mo., today to sign into law the $8 billion Medicare bill in the presence of the man who pioneered the concept of health care for the elderly — former President Harry S. Truman.

The Chief Executive and his party members gathered with others closely connected with the legislation—flew to Kansas for the signing to take place in the auditorium of the Truman Library at Independence.

A White House spokesman said the President, who has talked with Truman frequently in recent weeks about the Viet Nam situation, also wanted to sit down with the former President to discuss a number of foreign and domestic matters.

Democrats regard Truman as the pioneer of the U.S. health programs, which he proposed to Congress on Dec. 9, 1945.

One suggestion — prepayment of health care costs through Social Security taxes — was not embraced by Congress until this year.

Truman's extensive health proposals have since become law — the Hill-Burton Hospital construction act, maternal and child health services, federal assistance for medical education, and research and disability insurance.
