Woman's Club Entertain

The Woman's Club, Sanford's latest social organization, was at home to their friends on last Tuesday night, and entertained in their new home on Third street. The house had been especially arranged for the comfort of the members and guests, and the decorations in club colors of green and red were beautiful and appropriate. This color scheme is especially adapted for decorating, as the natural plants and flowers of Florida lend their beauty and fragrance to the decorative idea, and large festoons of red berries and green leaves and roses galore vied with the green and red candles placed upon the tables and in many niches around the reception hall.

In the receiving line were Mesdames J. W. Dickens, Forrest Lake, R. S. Keeler and Miss Keeler, and the guests were made to feel at home upon their arrival within the portals of the club.

No details were overlooked providing for the comfort of the guests, and in one of the rooms several tables gave an opportunity for whist and bridge.

A fine musical program was rendered by some of Sanford's musicians, and with vocal solos and recitations beguiled the pleasant hours.

Chicken salad—reposing upon a bed of crisp lettuce, and flanked by a demitasse of coffee and rich cream, provided an epicurean lunch that sustained the reputation of Sanford's ladies and gained a new one for the members of the Woman's Club.

The first reception was a social success, and is only one of many that will be given by the club during the season.

Former Residents Return

Mrs. Cassels and son, A. R. Cassels, arrived in the city on Monday from Hawkinsville, Ga., and will make Sanford their home. They are former residents of Sanford, the late Rev. Harry Cassels being at one time the rector of Holy Cross Episcopal church. A. R. Cassels will be with The Herald during their stay in the city. Mrs. Cassels is residing with her daughter, Mrs. Frank Wood, on Oak avenue, and their many Sanford friends will be glad to greet them again.

Wekiva Tribe is Organized

On the 30th, sleep of Traveling Moon Wekiva Tribe No. 41, Improved Order of Red Men, was instituted in the city by J. M. Pound, Great Junior Sagamore, and L. Oliver, Grand Chief of Records. The following officers were installed: Sachem, L. F. Steffy; Senior Sagamore, W. B. Hammond; Junior Sagamore, J. A. Borum; Prophet, J. J. Anderson; Keeper of Wampum, G. B. Pope; Chief of Records, N. O. Garner. The new tribe starts off with some of the best people of Sanford, and the new order bids fair to have a large membership in a few months.

AN ORDINANCE

Granting to B. O. Chase, A. T. Reasiter, A. P. Connelly, F. P. Forster and J. N. Whittier, Their Associates and Assigns, Certain Rights and Privileges Pertaining to Street Railroads in the City of Sanford, Florida

BE IT ORDAINED by the City Council of the City of Sanford, Florida:

SECTION 1. That S. O. Chase, A. T. Reasiter, A. P. Connelly, F. P. Forster and J. N. Whittier (hereafter designated as GRANTEES), their associates and assigns, are hereby given and granted municipal franchises, rights, privileges and authority to have and operate street railroads, and the right of way therefor, upon, along, through, over and across the streets and avenues of the City of Sanford, as follows: Constructing first on Sanford avenue from north city limits to First street, and from Sanford avenue to Oak avenue on First street, according to E. R. Crawford's map of the town of Sanford, Orange County, Florida, and such other streets and avenues as the City Council shall from time to time direct by resolution or ordinance. Said rights and privileges are hereby granted to the said Grantees for the purpose of constructing, maintaining and operating by electricity, gasolene or such other motive power, except steam, as may be from time to time authorized by the City Council, a line of street railway for the transporting of passengers, and for freight, together with such tracks, overhead wires, and such aids tracks, switches, turnouts and connections as may be approved by the City Council or its street committee, as may be necessary to the proper operation of street railways in and about the city of Sanford, for the full term of thirty (30) years, from and after the date of the going into effect of this ordinance.

In the operation of their motors and cars upon said street railway, herein provided for, the said Grantees, their associates and assigns, shall conform to and be governed by such rules and regulations as have been heretofore and shall hereafter be adopted by ordinance of said city.

SECTION 2. That the City Council may lay with rails suitable for operating with motive power as herein provided, and in such manner as not to impair the usefulness of the street as a thoroughfare for the passage of other vehicles, and so laid as to conform to the grade of the street, or may be built, wherever the city has established or shall establish such grade. Where the streets are not graded, said Grantees, their associates and assigns, shall grade the space between the rails and two feet beyond such grade on each side of such streets or parts of streets, and shall remove and adjust their tracks to conform to said grade with as little inconvenience and hindrance to the use of such streets as possible, and in no event shall they be liable to said Grantees, their associates and assigns, for any damage on account of said change. When the said Grantees, their associates or assigns, shall lay or repair their tracks on said streets or portions of streets at the time provided, they shall at their own expense relay the paving taken up so as to conform to the established grade, making the needed repairs with like material used in such paving.

Whenever or wherever the city or owners of the abutting property on any street shall have paved or shall pave, or cause to be paved, any street or part of street on which said Grantees, their associates or assigns, now have or will have their said tracks or any part thereof, the said Grantees, their associates and assigns, shall at the same time, or upon notice in writing, given by the said city, and under its supervision and direction, pave the space between its rails and tracks, and at least two feet beyond the ends of the ties, in the same manner and with the same material as is used in paving the remainder of the street; and shall maintain the same in good order and condition.

At all crossings on unpaved streets, the said Grantees, their associates and assigns, shall, under the supervision and direction of said city, cover the space between their tracks and between the rails of their tracks, and even therewith for at least two feet wide, and the approaches thereto on each side, with rock or shell, or with such other material as may be permitted by said city, and shall maintain the same in good repair and condition.

SECTION 3. The laying of said tracks, crossings and approaches at crossings, and the location of wires within the said city limits, and maintaining the same, shall be under the supervision of the proper authorities of said city, and shall be done in accordance with their instructions.

SECTION 4. The fare charged by said Grantees, their associates and assigns, from any point on their line or branches, attainable by one continuous passage within the city limits upon said lines and branches, shall not exceed five (5) cents. No fare shall be charged for children under five years of age who are accompanied by a person paying fare. SECTION 5. The said City of Sanford shall in no case tear up or undermine said tracks of said Grantees, their associates and assigns, to lay down new pipes or ducts or sewers, or for any purpose, without re-laying said tracks.

SECTION 6. Said Grantees, their associates and assigns, and their officers and agents, shall be subject to all ordinances and resolutions which the City Council may from time to time enact.

SECTION 7. The care of said Grantees, their associates and assigns, shall have the right of way on and over their railway tracks, turnouts and switches, to the exclusion of all teams and vehicles (except the fire apparatus in case of fire), and any person who shall obstruct such tracks or parts thereof, or otherwise retard the progress of said cars, after due notice is given by the car bell or whistle or other proper signal, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five (5) dollars or imprisonment by a term not exceeding five (5) days. Provided, however, this section shall not operate as a release from liability for damages for accidents.

SECTION 8. This ordinance shall become operative, the said Grantees, their associates and assigns, shall enter into a written contract, to be filed with the City Clerk of the City, agreeing to be bound by all the terms, stipulations, and conditions of this ordinance. Such contract to be executed within sixty days after notification by the Mayor in writing, of the passage and approval of this ordinance. Failure on the part of said Grantees, their associates and assigns, to carry out and perform all or any of the conditions or undertakings expressed in this franchise, shall work a forfeiture of all rights on the streets of the City of Sanford.

The granting of the rights and privileges herein set forth in this ordinance, is upon the express condition that the said Grantees, their associates and assigns, shall be bound to build, construct, equip and operate their said railway on Sanford avenue from the south city limits to First street, and on First street from Sanford avenue to Oak avenue, as herein set forth, within eighteen months after the passage and approval of this ordinance. And shall begin to construct and prosecute the construction vigorously to the completion of said line of railway, as herein provided, and a failure to thus comply within the reasonable period specified shall constitute a forfeiture of this franchise and all rights and privileges herein granted.

Said Grantees, their associates and assigns, shall, within thirty days after being notified by the Mayor in writing of the approval of this ordinance, notify the City Council in writing of their acceptance of the provisions and conditions of this ordinance, and the failure on the part of said Grantees, their associates and assigns, to notify the City Council within sixty days after the receipt of notice of the approval of this ordinance as herein prescribed, shall operate as a forfeiture of all rights and privileges granted and comprised in this ordinance.

SECTION 9. The said Grantees, their associates and assigns, shall, before the expiration of the term of thirty (30) years hereinbefore mentioned, to purchase the street railroad and other property used under or in connection with the operation of said railway, or to purchase the same, or to purchase at a valuation of the property, real and personal, desired, which valuation shall be fixed by arbitration as provided by law, in accordance with and to the full extent of the provisions of the laws of the State of Florida in such cases made and provided.

SECTION 10. It is further provided that nothing in this franchise shall be construed so as to deprive any abutting owners along said railway from recovering any damages that may be lawfully claimed from said Grantees, their associates and assigns.

SECTION 11. The Grantees, their associates and assigns, shall at no time operate freight cars, except one train, within the city, without special permission being granted by a resolution of the City Council.

SECTION 12. BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, that whenever the City of Sanford shall have within its corporate limits a population of ten (10,000) thousand, the said company shall exhibit to the said city and permit the examination by the said city and its proper officers, all books of accounts to ascertain the amount of its gross earnings; and after ascertaining such amount, the said City of Sanford shall have the right to levy a tax of not exceeding two per cent. annually on the gross earnings of said company, which levy shall be collected as other taxes due the city, and shall become a lien upon the property of the said company.

To the Honorable Forrest Lake, Mayor of the City of Sanford, Florida: I do hereby certify that the above and foregoing Ordinance was duly passed at a regular meeting of the City Council of Sanford, Florida, in session October 19th, 1908.

MARK L. SCOTT, City Clerk.

Approved by me on this the 21st day of October, 1908. FORREST LAKE, Mayor.

ORGANIZE IN GEORGIA

Fruit Growers Get Together On This Vital Question

THE GREAT BENEFIT DERIVED

Such an Organization Would Prove of Great Value to Florida Fruit and Vegetable Growers

The fruit growers of Georgia have organized the Georgia Fruit Exchange and hereafter will market their crop through the office of this organization. The Herald has always contended that the only way for the Florida fruit and vegetable growers to get the best results of their labors and command the prices for their crops would be through the similar organization of a Florida union.

The following is a brief outline of some of the reasons why the Georgia organization will prove of great benefit to the growers:

It was decided that an association, to be called The Georgia Fruit Exchange, be organized and to establish headquarters in Atlanta, and any such branch offices as might be necessary for the proper conduct of the business. The capital stock was fixed at $100,000 and subscriptions covering a minimum of $50,000, and pledges covering 60 per cent of the prospective crop of 1909, based on 1908 shipments, to be secured before the same become binding. These subscriptions were to be paid in monthly installments of ten per cent, commencing November 1, 1908, the stock to be subscribed for only by fruit growers. An organization committee was elected and Mr. Bagley, of Atlanta, made chairman. This committee has met with great success and it is the opinion of the well prepared to bear this between 85 and 90 per cent of the crop will be pledged before the shipping season of 1909. The eyes of the south will watch the progress of this organization, and if it continues to be as successful in its operations as it has been in its formation the indications are that a very large percentage of the orchard owners and truck farmers of the entire south will, in the next few years, be disposing of their products through this medium and deriving thereby the benefits which must necessarily accompany such concentrated effort.

The benefits to be derived by the peach growers are almost innumerable. They will be brought closer together, and by free discussion of improved methods for caring for orchards, packing and shipping only the best grades of fruit, the peach industry will be placed on the highest plane, and the growers encouraged to feel that they have an asset in their orchards instead of a liability. With the handling of from 80 to 90 per cent of the fruit of Georgia through one business office, recognition can be had, not only from the trade, but from transportation interests as well, which is such an immense factor in the successful marketing of any commodity. By having the control in one office of the quantities of fruit to be sent to each market each day, better prices by from 25 to 50 per cent are sure to follow, distribution being the keynote of the whole plan.

Economies in the prices of crate material, fertilizers, orchard implements, etc., purchased through the central office, will more than pay the expense of running the affairs of the company. For instance, last year the growers paid 16 cents for a crate, while next season they will be able to obtain the same crate through the organization for 12 cents apiece. This item alone means a saving to the peach growers of Georgia of $125,000.

As to the actual managing of this enterprise, the members of the committee and fruit growers alike were, with one accord, of the opinion that it was a "One-Man" affair. A man to assume such responsibility must, first of all, be a Past-Master of the art of organization. He must be a man in whom everyone had implicit confidence and whose integrity has such sterling character as to warrant the peach growers of Georgia in intrusting to his absolute direction the disposal of their ten million-dollar crop and the purchasing of all of their fertilizers, crates and implements. He must be a man of recognized ability to cope with the tremendous problems which must necessarily arise and varied in all the major and minor details of the transportation and refrigerating business. Generally, when this point in the forma-

Proclamation of the People of Sanford

To the World at Large:

WHEN it becomes necessary for the American people to throw off the yoke of temporary business depression, a wholesome respect for the welfare of mankind requires that a fitting expression be given the determination.

WHEREAS, The American people, by their suffrages, have elected a chief executive under whose policy it is believed that a long period of general prosperity will be inaugurated, and,

WHEREAS, It is believed that even those who may differ from him in theory will promote the general public interest by aiding him with their good will and co-operation, at least until events may disclose the wisdom or unwisdom thereof; and,

WHEREAS, Sanford is the metropolis of the Great Celery Belt and the gateway to the Vast St. Johns Delta, and is looked to by this splendid region as the leader to set the pace in industrial activity and breadth of spirit and enterprise; Therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the people of this favored Celery City, hereby urge the necessity of setting aside all rivalry between sections, and by combined effort seek to encourage industrial, mercantile and financial pursuits by awakening our people to a sense of their responsibility.

Let all, in this, the season of promise of bountiful crops and restored confidence in general financial conditions, unite in their efforts to promote a broad reciprocal spirit, and to bring back that degree of business activity which in past years has characterized the country in general and Orange County in particular. May every commercial interest tingle with activity.

While every cultivated acre is laden with plenty, every heart responds to the inspired hope of good times, every ripple of water in the St. Johns Delta breathes an invitation to our people to engage in the commerce of the world. As the happiness of one is the concern of all, we ask the co-operation of our neighbors here and all over South Florida, in all pursuits; and as this season marks the advent of a new era politically and industrially, we desire it to be known that Sanford throws open her gates, and that we invite the people of the world to enter, barter, trade, sell, buy and aid in inaugurating a prosperity that may extend throughout the land like a tidal wave, and to meet us in a spirit of broad, patriotic good-fellowship, intent only upon the common good of our common country.

Special Correspondence to The Herald, Sanford's the Best Still

It's a sad old world when the sun don't shine. But there ain't no use repinin'. There's still a spot where the roses twine And love when the sun ain't shinin': An' the winds may blow, and the frosts may kill— But Sanford's the best in the country still!

It's a cold, cold world when the silver's gone. But there ain't no use bewailin'. The seas run high, but the ships sail on, An' the sailors sing with the sailin': An' the winds may blow, and the lightning kill— But Sanford's the best in the country still!

☛ The campaign liar is entitled to a long rest.

☛ If the freak election bet continues to grow in the next hundred years as it has in the past hundred, the individual who does not chew horseshoe nails, stand on his ear for a week, or fails to kill his mother-in-law on a wager, will be the rarest freak the coming museum man can secure on the round globe.

☛ An idea that might be advantageously developed by our improvement association has been adopted with beneficial results by like organizations in other cities. It is to appoint a competent person, necessarily a good talker and of impressive address, to visit capitalists, manufacturers and others contemplating investment, and present and advocate the advantages of Sanford. This our city would be in personal communication with enterprises seeking location or investment.

☛ The men who have been claiming everything for some weeks will be lonesome for occupation.

☛ Just as everybody said, and as everybody says before election, there were a good many surprises Wednesday, the 4th inst.

☛ Now that the Salvation Army is going to throw aside the big drum, the fact that armies change base has a good illustration.

☛ The great American presidential distraction having subsided for a term of years, it should not be forgotten by the unmarried portion of the male sex that they are in the last quarter of Leap year, so that means of escape may be devised.

☛ A correspondent is trying to discover who was the first printer, Adam, of course, who printed a kiss on the cheek of Eve.

☛ The election is over. Let us return to first principles and make business hum, as of yore. There is no use of repining if the other side defeats. No doubt they are as honest as your chosen champions. They want to see the country prosperous as well as you do. Let business prosperity be maintained, no matter who wins the day. Sulk not in your tents, my hearties.

☛ A prominent Sanford man has a well-developed case of somnambulism, contracted while carrying the baby at night. He says that he will never carry any more babies, and he intimated to his wife that in future she will have to take a spin when "tootsy-wootsy" sings in the wee sma' hours of the dark.

☛ When it came to the ballot, every voter had a chance to make his mark.

☛ I want to repeat that it is greatly to the credit of the Sanford preachers that throughout the political campaign they have kept politics out of their pulpits. There were Bryan and Taft men among them, but they had the good sense to allow Bryan and Taft men to listen to their sermons without having to take a dose of politics. The people had politics enough this year, without having it fired at them from the pulpit.

☛ The dogfennel editors, curb-stone orators and other spellbinders are now explaining how it happened.

☛ Some people don't know when they are well off, and are constantly growling. But upon others fortune does not always seem to smile, and of one of these I read last week. An exchange tells of a man who mortgaged his farm to buy his wife a pair of diamond ear-rings. His wife took in washing to pay the interest on the mortgage, but the first job she lost one of the "sparks" in the suds, whereupon she tried to hang herself in the barn, but the rope broke and she fell on a Jersey cow worth $150 and broke its back. Her husband then undertook to shoot the cow to end its misery, but the gun burst and destroyed his eyes, and his wife ran away with a lightning-rod peddler. The mortgage and the man are still there.

☛ For a week after the election the wheelbarrow took the place of the automobile with voters who backed up bad judgment by worse bets.

☛ I do not wish to be regarded as a splitter of hairs, and, incidentally, a splitter of splits, but in the name of English she ought to be spoken, why do we continue to murder the language?

I constantly see annual reports purporting to be a "statement of business in the year ending, say, June 30, 1898." Instead of in the year ended June 30, 1898.

And then, we read of people going to Daytona for a sojourn of ten days, or that John Smith lived in Ocala for five years—bad English.

And I am always filled with a desire to murder or to commit some other horrible deed when I hear a man speak of the pretty girl who writes his letters as a "typewriter." In the first place, it is entirely wrong, and secondly it is grossly inelegant. We never speak of the man who runs an engine as an "engineer," it would be just as proper. The idea of calling a person who operates a typewriter "a typewriter." The proper word is "typewritist." The pretty girls who are such an important factor in the business correspondence of the country are "typewritists," not "typewriters."

When one has typhoid fever, we tell he is ill with typhoid fever—bad English.

☛ "Neah Thanksgibbin."

Mistah Moon a lookin' down From de clouds upon de town, Heah me pray! Fin' de darkest cloud yo' kin, sah! Fin' a cloud ez brack ez sin, sah! Hide away, Mistah Moon! Hide away!

Mistah Moon a shinin' bright, Makin' all de country bright— Light ez day— Doan yo' know hit's neah Thanksgibbin, An' de worl' owes me a libben? Hide away, Mistah Moon! Hide away!

☛ According to the vociferously pronounced verdict of a majority of the American people, this, the endorsement of "sound money" and "protection," is to usher in everybody's golden opportunity. Unless those who believed in a tariff panacea for the ills of government and of people, who were confined to no particular party, conducted a campaign of systematic, organized mendacity that was equivalent to four months persistent perjury, the restraint upon all efforts to improve present conditions will be removed at once, and a golden era will open upon the very heels of the election.

Unless the most colossal instance of humbuggery, the most astounding fake and incredible confidence scheme in all history has been worked off on this nation, the commercial and financial blight that had pressed heavily upon the people will be removed without formality or delay. The sun of prosperity must arise in the golden east, and ascending the firmament must throw its gilded darts through space and dissipate the mists of adversity that have hovered over this country.

Unless the pledge of a prompt return to prosperity be redeemed, the political crime of '08 will eclipse the crime of '73, and render those responsible for it execrated and outlawed by their fellow citizens. The faith is prevalent that performance will follow promise, and that the mysterious and potent power that the world believes resides in gold will release the wheels of progress and start all things forward on the highway of prosperity, and that will follow the brightest and most prosperous period that this republic has ever known.

☛ Thanksgiving Day is almost here again. I will return "Thanks awfully" if anybody in the fullness of his heart sees fit to fire a gobble this way.

☛ Don't try to answer Bryan's arguments, was the order from Hitchcock to the splinters. Hit him with a club, wave the bloody shirt, call him the boogie man, frighten the voter, turn on the red fire and order up chills and fever music. They couldn't match him in argument—so hit him with an axe—and a golden axe at that.

☛ Nearly all the big daily papers of the east, and some prominent weeklies, like "Harpers," for instance, which is owned principally by J. Pierpont Morgan and other financial magnates, were opposed to having their gigantic financial graft interfered with by a strong man like Bryan, who stands for equality of opportunity. They hate him just as they hate Roosevelt, who has always stood for the square deal, and strong enough to whack the life out of them. Had Teddy been supported by a Republican congress, as he should have been, he would have accomplished much more than he did. He was the pioneer that blazed the trail for those who will come after him, and awakened the public conscience as no other man in the presidential chair ever did. He was fifty years old October 27, 1908. May he live as long as he cares to live. He has made mistakes—no live man, who does things, was ever free from mistakes. It proves his humanity, and also that he isn't afraid to tackle even a buzz-saw if he thinks it is not doing its full duty. Rah! rah! rah for Teddy!

But if the strong and resolute Roosevelt could not bring about tariff reform, and many other reforms he advocated and pushed in season and out of season, what do you think the amiable and mild-mannered Mr. Taft can do against the Aldriches and Cannon, Forakers, Plattes, Depews, Balleys, McLanrins, Elkinses, Paynes, Dalzells and all the other grafters and trust defacers in the National Congress. It takes a man with brains and the iron will, and courage of a Roosevelt, or a Bryan, to accomplish anything. No one feared Bryan save those whose graft was likely to be interfered with, and the criminal trusts and gangs of predatory wealth—who have indeed defeated him.

Yours for Progress, THE SAUNTERER.

IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

Items of Interest Concerning Society People.

POINTS PURELY PERSONAL

How Calvary City Vanity Fair While Away the Golden Hours—Social Gossip.

THE HERALD takes great pleasure in announcing that Mrs. Jennie Casill will edit the Social World department. Mrs. Casill is no stranger to the people of Sanford, having resided here several years ago when her late husband, Ven Casill, was rector of Holy Cross Episcopal church. Mrs. Casill has ample experience in newspaper work, having at various times been society editor of papers in Washington, Cincinnati and Indianapolis. The Social World department of The Herald will be made a feature of the paper, and any assistance rendered the society editor will be greatly appreciated. An editor is not ubiquitous and is unable to attend all social functions in one evening, and any matter of a social nature sent to the society editor of The Herald will greatly facilitate the labor of keeping this department up to the standard.

The Parents' Club.

The meeting of The Parents' Club was held in the auditorium of the High School on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The exercises of the afternoon were especially designed for fathers of children, but only a very few gentlemen were present. The first piece on the program was a song, "The Jolly Old Crow," by a quartette consisting of Messrs. E. T. Woodruff, F. B. Woodcock, E. C. Hamilton and G. S. Derry. They were so heartily encored as they passed to their seats—they compelled to come front again, they gave the audience another verse, and the four commenced to Caw-caw-caw until the whole people were convulsed with laughter. In fact this quartette of gentlemen were so good in their singing it would be well if they would organize into a permanent club and give amateur entertainments to the people of Sanford.

The next was a poem read by Rev. D. B. Sweat, "What is Home Without a Dad?" Home is not home without a mother, what would it be without a Dad? was the commencement, but wound up by concluding that "sort of think we both" must make home. Many good truths for fathers were in this poem. It was heartily encored.

Then followed an address by Prof. G. E. Maris. He commenced, "There are a good many women here, where are the men?" This set him retrospecting and he said: "I can remember when no women taught." He thinks his sister was among the first lady teachers, as he can now look back. The greatest achievement of the nineteenth century is the establishment of the public schools. I put it above everything else. The old order of teaching was very different from the modern method. Then it was chiefly medicine, law and the ministry. The difference consists of three main points; then it was arithmetic, Latin and Greek. The modern method teaches good English, science and manual training. It is the duty of parents to educate as far as possible. There should be no difference between the girls and the boys. I know no sex. I treat all just the same. Once I heard a speaker say, "Education never gave a man brains and often took away all that he had," and then sat down. Instances were then given where education has been the making of children. The public schools are noted for two main things; Efficiency and character building. Is the moral education of our people, keeping step with our teaching of science, etc. The teacher has the good of the child at heart at all times. No one is infallible; mistakes may be made; but they are of the head, not the heart. While in olden times English and literature were not taught, readers that had gems from the best authors were put into the hands of the children, and these were committed to memory. And literary gems committed to memory will do much toward forming character. Get a boy interested in good reading and that boy is safe. One terrible mistake has been made and is still being made, and that is the expression "Boys will be boys." This terrible, horrible expression has sent more boys to the bad than anything else I know of. Why not say, "Girls will be girls?" We must hold the boys up. We must not expect bad from them. Yet I have never known a boy as bad as some of this I know. I have never known a boy to walk the streets with a girl smoking a cigar. The real trouble lies with the fathers—who leave all responsibility with the mothers, because business occupies their minds so much, especially the getting of money, that there is no time left for their boys.

The above is only a very short extract of an address that every father in town ought to have heard, and every boy also. The next number: "The Man Who Puts His Arms Around Me," by Mr. D. G. Wagner, was instructive and heartily encored. "The Fathering of a Boy" was read by Prof. Perkins, because of the absence of Mr. D. L. Thrasher. It was short, but appropriate and showed what most boys needed—a father.

After the program Prof. Perkins announced that the meeting was open for general discussion. Several patrons of the school spoke for a few minutes each. Prof. Perkins announced that if there were no objection he would teach this week Saturday, to make up for Friday after Thanksgiving. By so doing he could give a three-day holiday to children and teachers, which would be more enjoyable than giving just the one day—Thanksgiving.

After singing "Home, Sweet Home" by the audience, the meeting closed, all feeling benefitted by being present at the exercises.

Woman's Social Club.

The Woman's Social Club held their regular meeting on Saturday afternoon at the club house and a most enjoyable afternoon was spent by the members and visitors. Light refreshments were served that reflected credit upon the committee in charge, and social games were indulged in even after the lamps were lighted, as louth were the ladies to leave the hospitable quarters of the club. One of the features of the Social Club this winter will be the invitation extended to visitors and strangers to the city will have the opportunity of passing a social hour and made to feel at home with the hospitable ladies of Sanford.

The Wednesday Club.

The Wednesday Club met Wednesday afternoon at 9 o'clock in their own room in the Pico block. The weather was threatening and did rain a few minutes, but inside this room the ladies were smiling and good-natured, and so drove all thoughts of clouds and gloomy weather from the mind. This was the first meeting of the year. After some business Mrs. Lucien R. Phillips, president, delivered a short address. There were many gems of thought among which were the following: "You know in any line of work almost, we get good out of it in proportion to the amount of work we put into it. I was reading an article expressing this same thought. It said: 'A large part of the value and blessing in any achievement or attainment lies in what it costs—we gain strength through struggle.' No literary club can do its best work that is content just simply to amuse or entertain its members. I think we want to aim to do real solid work with a serious purpose that means a broader education and higher cultivation for each of us." Her address closed with a verse from Mrs. Browning:

LETTER FROM HARRY PAPWORTH

Well Known Former Citizen Writes of Good Old Days

R. J. Holly, Esq., Managing Editor The Sanford Herald:

During the past summer I have been honored by visitors from many of your highly esteemed citizens and my old friends, and more than one has suggested that I write a letter to the old Fire Boys of Sanford through the columns of your valuable paper, suggesting that they get together and work like they used to do in the old days when the writer had the pleasure of commanding for so many years.

Your present chief would undoubtedly have considered this an impertinence on my part, and besides, if I had wished to write it would not have been to my old comrades, reminding them of a duty to Sanford, but to the Citizens of Sanford, reminding them of their duty to the Fire Department.

My action at this late day is prompted by reading in your issue of October 24th. The Sanford Gas & Fuel Co. will begin work at once upon the construction of an electric light plant.

Can this be possible, and if I am correctly informed, Sanford without a Fire Department. Has the City Engineer drawn the Board of Aldermen's attention to the extra danger from fire from IMPROPERLY INSULATED WIRES, particularly in towns with wooden buildings? Have fire insurance men informed your citizens as to the extra cost of insurance?

In the good old days before the freeze catastrophe, which caused the loss of your lovely city and climate to many old citizens, one of them the writer, the City Fathers used to pay the Fire Department $600 per year for maintenance; by which means we were enabled to support Firemen's Rooms, well-furnished for comfort, with an ICE-WATER COOLER (and only on high days and holidays were the trimmings allowed, the church on Park avenue notwithstanding), and the said rooms were generally used as a Public Library and all the members well taken care of, furnished with new clothes when same had been damaged at a fire, and ALL necessary medical attendance free of charge, no matter the cause or necessity. Can you wonder, therefore, that we had a membership always of from fifty to sixty and our department the envy of every other town in the State of Florida, except where they had paid fire departments. Further, look up the Chief's annual report for ten years prior to the freeze, and figure out what the property losses were, and you will conclude that with the number of fires we had in those days the money was well spent.

I need hardly proceed further; in these days of "Shall the people rule" and dollars you cannot expect something for nothing; therefore, my advice is, if you want an efficient fire department, give the boys an incentive: Rooms, where they can meet and talk it over; cuss the chief, Mayor Lake and the aldermen without being heard; and above all, have the ladies of Sanford take an interest in their organization, and knowing your boys as I do, you will find numbers of them ready to take the places vacated by Davis, Zapf, Beatty, Brotherson, Hockstein, Nichols, Mudgo, many others, and your old Chief, HARRY M. PAPWORTH.

[Ed. Note—Sanford now has a good fire department, recently organized, and when Harry Papworth visits the old place again we will give him a fire drill and good time generally.]

tion of an organization is reached, there are presented for consideration a score or more of names. In this instance a most unique situation was evolved in that there was but one man alone mentioned, and without whose services it was admitted the organization could not be formed. Having been for the last ten years in a position to see all sides of this question, and appreciating how beneficial to the south successful action along the lines would be, Mr. I. M. Fleming has been induced to sever his connection with the Armour Car Lines and will accept the position of Manager of the Georgia Fruit Exchange.

Mr. Fleming is well known in Sanford, having been district manager of the Armour Car Lines, and is the owner of valuable property near Rand's siding.

SIDEWALK TALK

Do you realize the necessity for a substantial foundation as a part of that sidewalk which you intend building? A nicely finished top lends beauty, but not stability. This is to be attained only when the same care is exercised in selection of materials for the foundation as for the top coat.

With this fact in mind, I am importing clean hard crushed stone, which when mixed with standard engineering specifications, gives an absolutely dependable foundation. If you want a walk in which you can take pride in the years to come, be sure that that foundation is right. This is one of the characteristics of my work. Let me figure on such a walk for you.

THREE MONTHS OLD
 With this issue THE HERALD has completed the first quarter of a year of its existence.

Since its inception this paper has met with such generous and increased patronage from the public that it is stronger and better in every way than any newspaper ever published in this city. In fact, the friends of THE HERALD avow that it is by far the best paper that Orange county ever had, and express an earnest wish that its WEEKLY visits may become a DAILY occurrence.

During the three months of its existence THE HERALD has been beset by conflicting and contradictory interests, but it has battled in and out of season for the best interests of Sanford and Orange county. In this work we have been buoyed with the conviction that the most important factor in a city's and county's progress is a vigorous and live newspaper, and we have aimed in every issue to meet that requirement.

THE HERALD of today has its utterances more generally republished and commented on by the State press than any other paper published in this section. The reason for this is that THE HERALD is a reflex of the age in which we live; its columns are filled with the best news, and its editorials cause the people to think.

The success of THE HERALD is founded upon public opinion. Since its inception it has striven to be a real newspaper, giving space to every worthy object, building up instead of tearing down, and while giving the patrons all the news, never becoming "yellow" or sensational. Now that success is assured, we take this opportunity of thanking our patrons for their aid and co-operation and promise our faithful adherence to the same principles in the future that has governed the policy of the paper in the past.

The publishers deem no task too laborious or no expense too great if the tone of the paper is thereby elevated, or its usefulness increased by the employment of such additional methods.

THE HERALD entertains no misgivings as to the future of Sanford. Both the city and the State are in the midst of an era of great prosperity, and in the general distribution of good things THE HERALD will share.

The spellbinders will now retire for a spell.

The next landslide will be toward the pie-counter.

The Democrats saved a few governors from the wreck.

The tariff is still in the hands of its friends and will not suffer.

The "Tiger" didn't do a think to the "Elephant" in the jungles of Greater New York the other day.

The boats coming to Sanford are loaded with passengers. Our wharf presents a busy scene these days.

A government expert is engaged in trying to raise vegetables in Orlando without water. Better send for Burbank.

With lettuce bringing $4.50 per basket this week, the people can become reconciled over Bryan's defeat of last week.

Bro. Howard, of the Reporter-Star, dubs us "Sandfordites." We can look for Celeryites next, and then it will be electric lights, maybe.

There's some consolation in the reflection that New York state will retire two dead senators that they have neglected for a long time to bury. They smell to heaven.

So far as freedom from personal attacks upon the character of the presidential candidates was concerned, the last campaign was, the best held in the United States in many years.

The letter from Harry Papworth left out of last week's issue will be found in today's HERALD. It has lost none of its good points by delay and will interest Sanford readers.

The election is over and the next great events will be the Florida State Fair at Tampa, the Mid-Winter Exposition at Jacksonville, and the Fete Day at Sanford. They will occur in the early spring and should attract the tourists in great numbers.

THANKSGIVING
 Two hundred and eighty-seven years have passed since Thanksgiving Day was first celebrated. The little band of Pilgrims who met on that observation of the day, on the rocky shores of Massachusetts, probably had no thought of establishing a precedent, and there certainly entered into their thoughts no conception of such a day as a national institution. A few months before, when they landed on the strange and new land, they found no home of mild climate, with soil easily worked, but instead a land of ice and storms. The little colony was in imminent danger of death by starvation, but they set heroically to work, planted their crops and placed their faith in God. The first harvest may not have been prolific, but it was ample for their needs, and demonstrated that their new home was capable of supporting life by tillage. For this they were devoutly grateful to God, and it is not strange the impression was so strong that the observation of returning thanks grew into a custom and was perpetuated wherever their descendants were the dominant people.

A Thanksgiving proclamation was issued by George Washington in 1789, and one by Abraham Lincoln in 1863, but they were special rather than general. The real observance of the day as a national holiday dates from 1863.

Less than two weeks hence this day of gratitude will again be here. Another year is drawing to a close, and as we take a retrospective view of its events, it is singularly appropriate that sincere thanks be returned to overruling Omnipotence for the countless blessings we enjoyed. What we have to be thankful for each knows best for himself. As a nation, we should rejoice and give thanks consumedly and with great joy; as a city, we should be unqualifiedly thankful, and as individuals, in the way of each with reference to what he has to be thankful for is a matter which rests wholly with his own conscience.

FOR PROSPERITY.
 President Elect Taft, to the Cincinnati Commercial Club:

"Every business man who is obeying the laws may go ahead with all the energy in his possession. Every enterprise which is within the statutes may proceed without fear of interference from the administration when acting legally, but all interests within the jurisdiction of the federal government may expect a rigid enforcement of the laws against dishonest methods."

THE HERALD printing plant when installed August 16 was thought to be fully efficient to do the printing for this section for years to come. We had not correctly gauged the volume of Sanford business and in a few weeks were obliged to add more machinery and augment the force of workmen. This force has been working day and night to take care of the orders for job printing and advertising. This week more than $800.00 worth of type was added to the plant and THE HERALD office is now one of the most complete and best equipped in the State of Florida.

Sanford must prosper in the hands of its friends. It is, therefore, highly essential at the approaching municipal election to elect men who have proven their friendship. The voters at this election should place in the Council men who can be trusted to do the best they can for the people—men who are public-spirited and who will make all necessary and commendable improvements, but who will permit no extravagance or misappropriation of funds.

The Arcadia Champion is to be incorporated. When newspaper proprietors form a corporation it is an evidence of prosperity, and the object in this case is stated to be "to carry on the business and more heretofore done by the Champion folks." It is announced that a typesetting machine will be one of the first things to be added. The Champion has always been a model of good, clean printing, using the best of paper.—Times-Union.

Honest John Collins of the Tallahassee True Democrat has been forced to retire from active work on account of failing health. We regret to lose John from the ranks and hope a speedy recovery will bring him back into the fold. His successor to the tripod, Milton A. Smith, is a thorough newspaper man and THE HERALD extends greetings to Bro. Smith.

It is claimed that the phonograph will cure drunkenness. This is probably on the idea that a man would swear off if he could hear a phonograph repeat some of the things he said while he was drunk.

Thanksgiving is always an essential element in prevailing prayer. If petitions do not ascend freighted with grateful acknowledgements, we need not be surprised if they descend empty. God has scant favors for the unfaithful.

REMEMBER THE FAIR
 We note that Dade county will have a building at the Mid-Winter Exposition at Jacksonville. Would it not be well for Orange county to procure a similar building, not only at Jacksonville but at Tampa, and when these fairs are held, arrange our products in a manner that will clearly demonstrate the wonderful resources of Orange county in every line. THE HERALD will always advocate the advantages of state fairs, county fairs and expositions of all kinds, as no state in the union is so prolific in fruits and vegetables and yet is deficient in opportunities to display our great advantages to the strangers within our portals every winter.

Let us have the State Fair at Tampa, the Mid-Winter Exposition at Jacksonville and let Orange county be at both places by a large majority, and let no other county make any finer display at either place. All of our visitors may not hail from Missouri, but they will quote you that state when it comes to "showing," and unless our county is represented it is idle to attempt attracting the thousands by pamphlets and dry reading.

Especially is this true of Sanford, where nature has so richly endowed us with all that is necessary to make the best conditions for raising fruits and vegetables, and our reputation already made must at all times be sustained.

Sanford must be represented!
 The election is over and everything will now settle to the accustomed standard. It is a consummation devoutly to be thankful for. The half-year of suspense intervening between nomination and election is one of the longest periods in human life. How fast we live; how much we expect. When the people have spoken, the genius of our republican institutions requires acquiescence.

It strikes us that the persons in this county who are already cackling over the victory of their favored candidate at the recent election, and the many advantages to be derived therefrom by themselves, are enumerating their poultry at a period anterior to their incubation.

The ship canal across Florida that will be constructed in the near future, will no doubt intersect the St. Johns river at Sanford, as this point is the most accessible. With a traction line and a ship canal, who can foretell the future of the Celery City?

A Pleasant Affair
 A delightful session of the Woman's Home Missionary society was held Thursday afternoon at the Methodist parsonage. Despite the inclemency of the weather, a large number of ladies were present and all enjoyed the meeting. Mrs. Phillips read a letter from the superintendent of the Orphans' Home in Macon, acknowledging receipt of a box sent there recently, "one of the best boxes ever received from Florida." Its value was $43. The treasurer, Mrs. Elder, reported more than $150 raised for local work this year. This has been a very successful year for the societies of this church. The regular business being over, light refreshments were served by Misses Beth Mittinger and May Hamilton. Then the ladies were shown through the parsonage, which is one of the most convenient and comfortable in the Florida conference.

Lettuce Brings Good Prices
 On last Tuesday W. N. Culp, farming on Joe Cameron's place, shipped to John V. Denton of New York, thirty-two baskets of lettuce and in forty hours from the time the shipment left Sanford by express J. V. Denton received a wire from his house that Culp's lettuce sold at $4.50. Mr. Denton received the first lettuce from Sanford last year shipped by Mr. Culp and gave him satisfaction with almost his entire crop, and in fact has shipped to that house solid for three years, and says if there is a man in the commission business who will give a shipper a square deal it is John V. Denton. Mr. Denton is a native Floridian, and has had nine years actual experience in the fruit and commission business in the New York market, and has had experience both as receiver and shipper.

Talked of Japan
 Mr. Sakatzmi, of Japan, talked at the Methodist church Sunday night, contrasting the religious and social customs of his people with the customs of this country. Speaking of the religions of the two countries, he said Americans live longer than the Japanese because they laugh more. They keep on the sunny side of life, while in Japan the people rarely ever smile. The results, he said of Christianity and heathenism. He urged that missionaries be sent to his country, and that native preachers be prepared for the work, declaring that it pays large dividends. He is a Methodist, and is attending the Boston University.

If store advertising merely brought people to your store it would pay—but the right kind of store advertising brings the woman to your store with her mind made up, nine times out of ten, to make certain purchases, with the result that she makes at least nine-tenths of the purchases she had planned when she read your ad.

The firm of Sned & Venable, contractors, has been dissolved, Mr. Sned retiring and Mr. Venable conducting the business as heretofore. Mr. Sned has leased the room in the Hynes building next to F. L. Jones, and will establish a first-class pool and billiard hall. He has already purchased three tables of the latest pattern.

C. M. Bradwater, the well known fertilizer salesman is in the city this week. Mr. Bradwater has been with the Armour Fertilizer Works for a number of years but is now selling the product of the E. O. Painter Co., and having a host of friends all over Florida will sell his goods wherever he goes. Florida people like a Florida product and Mr. Bradwater is the man to sell it.

New Florida syrup and hot pancake, mighty good; both can be had at Sanford Grocery Company's.

H. H. Deane is spending a few days with Sanford friends and relatives. He is a former citizen, and though residing in Jacksonville, retains his love for Sanford. Mr. Deane says that when he gets started talking about Sanford to people he never knows when to stop. As Mr. Deane remarks, the truth about Sanford's wonderful possibilities is stranger than fiction.

Genial Joe Leaves Sanford
 Joseph DeMont, or as he is better known to everybody in Sanford, "Joe," has packed his trunk to depart for Europe again, after a stay here of fourteen months. It is with much regret that Joe is leaving the town of his birth and where his parents lived and are buried, but important business is calling him back and he has arranged to his satisfaction all his extensive property interests here.

Since Joe's leaving Switzerland his uncle there died and he has become partner with his cousin in a large business in Geneva, where his presence now is most necessary.

During his stay here in his birthplace, after an absence of fifteen years, Joe has made innumerable friends and they all will miss the ever ready smile and hearty greeting of Joe's French-English salutation. All Sanford will wish him well on his trip and success in the old country, and will at any time welcome him back gladly to his Florida home.

All Mr. DeMont's interests here will be looked after by S. Runge, of the Coca Cola Bottling Co., who has been appointed his attorney here.

COUNTY HAPPENINGS

A Budget of Interesting Items From Correspondents

THE EVENTS OF ORANGE COUNTY

Efficient Staff of Reporters Weekly Covers the Territory for The Herald

LAKE MARY MELANGE

Special Correspondence to The Herald: Tom Fortier is home to see his mother, who is still seriously ill.

Martin Nelson is shipping his oranges. Mrs. Annie McDonald returned from Jacksonville last Sunday and reports having had a good time. While there she visited her brother, Ralph Webster, who is in the employ of the Pullman Co.

We are glad to see Mr. Hankins back in Lake Mary. He will accept a position with the Planters' Manufacturing Co.

Mr. J. W. Jernigan returned from Jacksonville last Sunday, where she has been attending the gala week festivities.

Rev. J. F. Sundell is putting in beans and lettuce this week, and expects to have a fine fall garden.

We didn't hear of any Hallowe'en pranks around here. Everything was peaceful and quiet.

Rev. J. F. Sundell was a visitor in Orlando this week.

Mr. T. B. Catherwood is quite ill again. Mr. Tom Morris from Forest City is working with Mr. W. Perdue, section master, as an apprentice. We are glad to see nice young men coming to our town.

We have two other new arrivals in Lake Mary, Mr. G. Stevens and Mr. Tillman Farr. They are in the employ of the Planters' Manufacturing Co. and are batching in the old King residence.

Mrs. Lizzie Fortier, who has been quite ill for some time, is rapidly improving.

Mrs. Hilma Nelson spent Saturday night and Sunday in Sanford visiting friends.

Rev. Mr. Brown will hold services at the Episcopal church next Sunday at 4 o'clock p. m.

The Planters' Manufacturers Co. are unusually busy. They are working up to 9 o'clock almost every night.

The gardeners are complaining of dry weather. A good shower would be very much appreciated.

Christmas will soon be here. The workers have got busy and are planning a Christmas tree and entertainment on Christmas Eve.

GENEVA GLEANINGS

Mr. H. H. Pattishall is getting the frame of his new house up this week. When completed it will add much to the looks of that part of our town.

Mrs. Walker returned last week from South Carolina, where she has been spending the summer.

Mr. Spencer, of the Naval Stores Steamboat Co., of Jacksonville, is expected to-day to confer with our citizens in regard to resuming the through steamer service to Jacksonville, which has been discontinued for some time past.

Mr. M. O. Overstreet, of Orlando, was in Geneva last Saturday, coming by auto.

Mr. W. P. Smith is getting the roof on his new house this week.

Mrs. B. V. Proctor has put a new roof on her store and also an addition for dwelling rooms. She will soon move into her new house, having rented her old one.

Shipping oranges is now the order of the day.

On Friday night of last week the steamer Alligator, Capt. Pagenhart, took a large party of our people on a trip down the river from Lake Harney. The bright moonlight night was an ideal one for the trip. A bountiful lunch with hot coffee was served aboard the steamer, and all declared on returning that they had had "the time of their lives."

Mrs. Bertha V. Proctor and children spent Sunday at Chuluota.

ENTERPRISE ECHOES

Mr. E. H. Y. Palmer and a friend from Winter Park were in town last week. Mr. Palmer was showing him some real estate.

Mr. John Sauls and wife are spending a couple of weeks in New Smyrna. He writes that his health is much better.

Judge O. Shiras and wife, of Dubuque, Iowa, are again at Epworth Inn. They expect to be here all winter.

Mrs. Thomas, of Georgia, came last week and is busy with her duties of housekeeper at Epworth Inn.

Complaints are being made every day about the sand spurs by the tracks of the F. Z. C. railroad at the depot, and since the tourists are beginning to appear it is an absolute nuisance for them, as well as the people of this town, to be annoyed by these sand spurs.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. White, of Braddock, Pa., are located at Epworth Inn.

Mrs. Ryland and daughter, Miss Alice, of Orange City, were in town last week.

Miss Ethel Quackenbos has gone to Daytona to spend a couple of weeks with her sister, Mrs. C. R. M. Sheppard.

Mrs. James Alexander, of DeLand, was over yesterday to meet Judge Jones, of Titusville, to take him to DeLand.

Miss Mabel Thayer is spending this week at Blue Springs with her sister, Mrs. J. R. Thursby.

Mr. R. Green, formerly of Oklahoma, has come to make his home with his daughter, Mrs. Hattie Brooks.

Mr. Roswell Bushnell, Jr., and cousin, Cedric Carlyle, of DeLand, spent Sunday with their aunt, Mrs. S. S. Davis.

Mrs. Pratt returned to Jacksonville last week. She left three of her children here.

Mr. J. L. Wright and bride, of Sanford, were over Sunday afternoon, calling on Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Quackenbos.

Last Sunday afternoon five launches from Sanford were at the dock, the Diavolo, Rust, Chiras, Mary C and Larine.

CROPS AT SANFORD

From a Local Correspondent to the Jacksonville Produce News

A trip to the vegetable districts in and around Sanford at this time is a most interesting study of crop conditions and gives a good insight into the prospects of the coming season. The celery growers are busy with their seed-beds and the recent rains have not prevented the planting to any great extent, as many of the beds are sprouting in good form and several growers have plants about ready to transplant.

Celery conditions were never better and this great crop should do more for the growers this season than ever before.

Lettuce and cauliflower plants are looking fine and promise a good crop.

This year a great acreage is planted with strawberries, a crop that promises much to the grower of moderate means. The plants that have been put out are growing rapidly, being greatly aided by the recent rains and already there are some twenty-five acres planted to this fruit. With the system of irrigation they have, the Sanford growers should put strawberries into the northern markets earlier than any other point in the state, and under the same conditions the vines will hold fruit longer.

The large cold storage plant recently erected at Rand's Siding, the Crystal Ice Company, will play an important part in the vegetable industry of Sanford and for the first time the growers can be granted the opportunity of keeping the vegetable upon cold storage until the markets are right. The capacity of cold storage is 80 carloads.

Since Sanford's future depends largely upon the many crops now in the process of being planted, the outlook is very favorable, and with the great number of new people coming in every day and buying property, our people can feel jubilant.

New Celery Bleacher

W. F. Raszi, of Daytona, was in Sanford a short time ago exhibiting to the celery growers of this section a new celery bleacher. It is made of lath closely woven together with wire, and he claims that among its special advantages is that it will let air and moisture through the apertures between the lath. Several hundred feet can be rolled up like a carpet, which facilitates the handling and is a great advantage over lumber. He claims that this new new bleacher can be made for about $10 a thousand feet. The growers hereabouts are much interested in this new patent and some will test its efficiency this winter. It is largely used in Volusia county.

MEETING OF THE PARENTS' CLUB

Most Interesting Session Held Last Monday at the High School.

If a stranger had dropped in to the meeting of The Parents' Club called for the benefit of the fathers of the community, on Monday evening last, he might well have wondered where the fathers were. The mothers were out in full force, but the fathers were conspicuous only by their absence. Had there been a foreign war in progress, calling upon every able bodied man to repel invasion, there could hardly have been fewer of them present. And yet the meeting was full of interest for every father who desires the welfare of his children, and ought to have been attended by all the fathers within the limits of the school district.

The meeting was opened by a song from the quartette, Messrs. Woodcock, Woodruff, Derry and Hamilton, which was well received and enjoyed.

A poem, "What is Home Without a Dad," was read by Rev. D. B. Sweat, who prefaced it with the wish that more of the Dads were present, a wish which was heartily seconded by the audience. It proved conclusively that the Dad is a pretty important factor in the make-up of the home.

A reading, "The Man Who Put His Arms Around Me," by Mr. D. G. Wagner, emphasized the importance of the father's gaining the affection and confidence of the boy; entering into his boyish sports; sharing his boyish troubles and sorrows, and becoming a boy with him if necessary.

The event of the meeting, however, was the address of Prof. G. L. Maris. It was a plain, homely, or perhaps "homey" would be the better word, talk on our educational system, enforced and illustrated by numerous examples drawn from the Professor's wide experience as an educator and teacher. We regret that we are unable to do it full justice in our necessarily abbreviated report. He said in the nineteenth century was notable for its progress in very many endeavors, but its greatest achievement was the establishment of the public school system. The object of the school system is to cultivate efficiency. Some individuals of an individualistic aim are inducted into the study of Greek and Latin. Much stress was laid upon the disciplinary value of a study of the dead languages, and a knowledge of them was considered essentially a part of the equipment of any man before he could lay claim to be well educated. The course was laid out, more with regard to the requirements of the lawyer, the doctor or the minister, than the necessities of the common, ordinary man.

The three main points of the modern system are: 1st, The study of English. 2nd, The prominence of Science, and 3rd, Manual Training. Of this latter, the Professor quoted the remark of Professor James of Harvard University, that "It is the greatest step yet made in educational methods." To parents he said; "If your children want more education than they can get in the public school it is your business to give them all they want or will take. What are fathers for, if not to furnish the money for the education of the boy or girl? There are men who think that education will add nothing to the brains of a boy, and may even destroy those that nature has furnished him, but they are wrong. There is no better aid to the discipline of the school than a course of Manual Training. Many a bad, unruly boy has developed into a studious, eager pupil, when put to work in a training department. But do not force the child. Do not compel him to take up studies that are distasteful to him. Study carefully his bent and inclinations, and rather guide him along the lines of least resistance than force him into those that are repugnant to him. Every normal boy has his likes and dislikes, and if you put him at something that is pleasing to him progress will be rapid; otherwise his education will drag.

He compared the modern methods of teaching literature with the older ones, rather to the disadvantage of the former, instancing the old Parker and Watson's Fifth Reader, which contained all the gems of literature, the best of Shakespeare, the best of Milton, and other English writers. Now-a-days the pupil takes up the study of literature as a whole and misuses some of these gems. Get your boy or girl interested in good reading, and they are sure to come out right. No saying has ever been more productive of harm than the old one that, "Boys will be boys." No one ever says, "Girls will be girls," by way of palliation or excuse for errors or wrongdoing. Adopt the same standard for both. But girls always come out right. In some respects, however, girls will stoop lower than boys, for no boy would go on the street with a girl who was smoking a cigar. Some girls will do that.

A part of the trouble with boys is that the responsibility of their bringing up is placed upon the mother. The father is too busy to attend to the welfare of his children; but what will it profit a man if he gain millions and his boys go to the bad. We see numerous examples of this in the children of the rich. The children of the land are the greatest of its assets. No man can afford to neglect his children. He told of a friend who was offered a nomination to congress in a district where a nomination meant election, but he said: "I have two boys, I must be with them; I cannot take it."

The whole address was complete with good things and deserving of publication in its entirety. We regret that we cannot give it in that form. It was followed by a reading by Prof. Perkins entitled, "Fathering a Boy," which was to have been given by Mr. D. L. Thrasher, but he was unable to be present.

The discussion was somewhat limited by the lateness of the hour, but evoked a great deal of satisfaction with the system and methods of the Sanford High School.

Thrice-a-Week World

More alert, more thorough and more fearless than ever. A President of the United States will be elected this year. Who is he and who is the man whom he will beat? Nobody yet knows, but the Thrice-a-Week edition of the New York World will tell you every step and every detail of what promises to be a campaign of the most absorbing interest. It may not tell you what you hope, but it will tell you what is. The Thrice-a-Week World long ago established a character for impartiality and fearlessness in the publication of news, and this it will maintain. If you want the news as it really is, subscribe to the Thrice-a-Week edition of the New York World, which comes to you every other day except Sunday, and is thus practically a daily at the price of a weekly.

The Thrice-a-Week World's regular subscription price is only $1 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and The Sanford Herald together for one year for $1.50. The regular subscription price of the two papers is $2.

Extra copies of this week's Herald can be obtained at this office. Send a copy to your friends and keep them in touch with the Celery City and its wonderful resources.

Several deer have been purchased from the Bronx Park in New York and turned loose on St. Vincent island south of the Florida coast, in the Gulf of Mexico. This is done as an experiment for restocking the Florida forests and islands. The variety brought to this section of the country are the Indian Sambar which thrive in Hindustan, and are said to be hardy and prolific. If the experiment proves successful, it will be but a few years before deer will be again plentiful in Florida. Dr. Roy V. A FLORIDA ORANGE ESTIMATE

Commissioner of Agriculture Places Crop at 3,256,000 Boxes

The Florida citrus crop estimate of Commissioner of Agriculture McLin of that state has been received by the New York Packer. It is as follows:

"A comparison of the condition of the present orange and grapefruit crops with condition at same date last year, indicate only a very slight increase in either crop.

The orange crop of 1906-7 amounted to 3,006,534 boxes, and the comparative conditions go to show that the crop of 1907-8 will be very little larger—hardly a greater increase than 250,000 boxes, so that it is very probable that the crop now on will not exceed 3,256,000 boxes. The grapefruit shows a little better condition, and by the same sources of comparison there is a slight increase also. The grapefruit of 1906-7 amounted to 450,304 crates, and the present indications are that it will not exceed 472,819 crates for 1907-8. An error that is harmful to both crops is that of estimating both oranges and grapefruit as one; they should be kept entirely separate, and then both buyers and sellers of fruit have a fairer field of operation. We therefore estimate the orange crop of 1907-8 at approximately 3,256,000 boxes, and the grapefruit crop of 1907-8 at 472,819 crates, or a total of citrus fruit products of 3,728,819 boxes or crates.

A Story With a Moral

A short time ago the writer of the Lakeland Sun passed through a town in another state, stopping over for only two or three hours in order to make connection with an outgoing train. It was midnight when the train which bore us to the city arrived, two or three hours late, and everybody was tired, cross and dispirited. Schedules were disarranged on account of high water, and people were anxious and uncertain about reaching their destination. So like all people do in such cases, they began to ply the station agent with questions.

They lined up before his window, some timid, some arrogant, some merely idly inquisitive, some malevolent. All expected short, snappy answers usual under such circumstances. One by one they came away to make room for an impatient successor, and every face, as it was turned from the window, wore an expression more cheerful, more kindly, less tired and anxious.

For this railroad man was one among a thousand of his kind.

Quietly, distinctly, pleasantly and explicitly, he gave the information asked for, or politely expressed regret at his inability to do so. His unvarying good humor and even tempered manner was restful to the wearied travelers and soothed the tense nerves like music.

Then there was the lunch counter man. A man with a cross and sleepy baby, found there was nothing to drink from at the water cooler, so he asked the loan of a glass. It was forthcoming, with a kindly and sympathetic word. But then there was no water, and the man brought back the glass. The lunch counter keeper apologized as if he were responsible for the sins of the railroad company, and leaving his customers, waited on these unremunerative patrons as pleasantly as if he had no other concern in life.

"These were little things. But as the tired travelers boarded the south-bound express, which thundered in about dawn, one of them was heard to say:

"I don't know anything about this town, but I believe I'd like to live here."

"Why?" he was asked.

"Well, the people seem so nice. Notice that ticket agent and lunch counter man!"

Which goes to show that often a whole community is judged by the manners of one or two persons—and that we never know how far-reaching may be the effects of the simplest kindly deed.

Florida Products in New York

[New York Packer]
New York, Nov. 7.—Florida oranges, on the street, brought $2.75 to $3 this week. Fine fruit sold up to $3.50. Grapefruit was small as a rule and made $1.75 to $3.50, with nice large sizes bringing more. Fancy Indian River pines sold at $5 for 24s, $2.75 for 30s and $2.50 for 30s.

The Florida small vegetable has now become a factor in the market, but as yet very few shipments have arrived and the demand is good. The Packer would advise Florida shippers to send in their shipments of eggplant, okra and beans by express for several weeks, not only that they may arrive in fresh condition, but that they may receive the benefit of the strong prices.

Although the market on Florida vegetables is about two weeks early, the quality of the stock is as good if not better than last year.

Eggplant is freely taken at from $3 to $3.50 and okra brings $2 to $3 a carrier. Beans are in demand at 75c to $1, but the free supply of Charleston stock keeps the prices down. Charleston beans bring the same money.

AN ORDINANCE

Granting to S. O. Chase, A. T. Rossiter, A. P. Connelly, F. P. Forster and J. N. Whittier, Their Associates and Assigns, Certain Rights and Privileges Pertaining to Street Railroads in the City of Sanford, Florida

BE IT ORDAINED by the City Council of the City of Sanford, Florida:

SECTION 1. That S. O. Chase, A. T. Rossiter, A. P. Connelly, F. P. Forster and J. N. Whittier, hereafter designated as GRANTEES, their associates and assigns, are hereby given and granted municipal franchises, rights, privileges and authority to have and operate street railroads, and the right of way therefor, upon, along, through, over and across the streets and avenues of the City of Sanford, as follows:...

SECTION 2. The tracks shall be laid with rails suitable for operating with motive power as herein provided, and in such manner as not to impair the usefulness of the street as a thoroughfare for the passage of other vehicles, and so laid as to conform to the established grade on which the said streets or ways to or may be built, wherever the city has established or shall establish such grade. Where the streets are not graded, said grants, their associates and assigns, shall grade the same between the rails and two feet beyond the ends of the ties on such streets or parts of streets, and shall remove and maintain the same in conformity with said grade with as little inconvenience and expense to the use of such street as possible, and in no event shall the city be liable to said Grantees, their associates and assigns, for any damage on account of said change. When the said Grantees, their associates or assigns, shall lay or repair their tracks on said streets or portions of streets at the time paved, they shall at their own expense lay the paving taken up so as to conform to the established grade, making the needed repairs with like material used in such paving.

SECTION 3. The laying of said tracks, crossings and approaches at crossings, and the locations of wires within the said city limits, and maintaining the same, shall be under the supervision of the proper authorities of said city, and shall be done in accordance with their instructions.

SECTION 4. The fare charged by said Grantees, their associates and assigns, from any point on their line or branches, maintainable by one continuous passage within the city limits along said lines and branches, shall not exceed five cents. No fare shall be charged for children under five years of age when accompanied by a person paying full fare.

SECTION 5. The said City of Sanford shall in no case tear up or undermine said tracks of said Grantees, their associates and assigns, to lay down new pipes or ducts or sewers, or for any purpose, without re-laying said tracks.

SECTION 6. Said Grantees, their associates and assigns, and their officers and agents, shall be subject to all ordinances and regulations which the City Council may from time to time enact.

SECTION 7. The cars of said Grantees, their associates and assigns, shall have the right of way on and over their railway tracks, turnouts and switches, to the exclusion of all teams and vehicles (except the fire apparatus in case of fire), and any person who shall obstruct such tracks or switches thereof, or otherwise retard the progress of said cars, after due notice is given by the car bell or whistle, or other proper signal, shall be punished by a fine of not exceeding five dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding five days. Provided, however, this section shall not operate as a release from legal damages for accident.

SECTION 8. The said Grantees, their associates and assigns, shall enter into a written contract, to be filed by the City Clerk of the City, agreeing to be bound by all the terms, stipulations, and conditions of this ordinance. Such contract to be executed within sixty days after notification by the Mayor in writing of the passage and approval of this ordinance. Failure on the part of the said Grantees, their associates and assigns, to carry out and perform all or any of the conditions or undertakings expressed in this franchise, shall work a forfeiture of all rights on the streets of the City of Sanford.

SECTION 9. The granting of the rights and privileges set forth in this ordinance, is upon the express condition that the said Grantees, their associates and assigns, obligate themselves to build, construct, equip and operate their said railway on Sanford avenue from the south city limits to First street, and on First street from Sanford avenue to Oak avenue, as herein set forth, within eighteen months from the passage and approval of this ordinance. And shall begin to construct and complete the construction vigorously to completion of their said line of railway, as herein provided, and a failure to thus construct within the reasonable period specified, shall work a forfeiture of the franchise and all rights and privileges herein granted.

Said Grantees, their associates and assigns, shall, within thirty days after being notified by the Mayor in writing of the approval of this ordinance, notify the City Council in writing of their acceptance of the provisions and conditions of this ordinance, and the failure on the part of said Grantees, their associates and assigns, to notify the City Council within sixty days after the receipt of notice of the approval of this ordinance as herein prescribed, of their acceptance thereof, shall operate as a forfeiture of all rights and privileges granted and completed in this ordinance.

SECTION 10. It is further provided that if the Grantees, their associates and assigns, shall abandon said railroad, or shall fail to operate the same for public use for a term of sixty days at one time (except in cases of war, strikes, earthquakes, floods or epidemics), it shall work a forfeiture of this franchise and all rights and privileges herein granted.

SECTION 11. The Grantees, their associates and assigns, shall at no time operate freight cars, except one trailer, within the city, without special permission be granted by a resolution of the City Council.

reached such number, the said City of Sanford shall have the right to levy a tax of not exceeding two per cent. annually on the gross earnings of said company, which levy shall be collected as other taxes due the city, and shall become a lien upon the property of the said company.

To the Honorable Forest Lake, Mayor of the City of Sanford, Florida: I do hereby certify that the above and foregoing Ordinance was duly passed at a regular meeting of the City Council of Sanford, Florida, in session October 19th, 1906.

Approved by me on this the 21st day of October, 1906. FOREST LAKE, Mayor.

Suggestions For Our Fete Day

To the Editor of The Herald:

As a former resident of your city, the "Queen of the St. Johns," I wish to add a word of approval to the suggestion made in your last week's issue as to a carnival, or festival occasion—a short season of joyous celebration and hearty thanksgiving. If ever a people in all the wide world had cause for such a celebration, surely it is the people of the Celery City.

St. Patrick's day is an appropriate time; let the carnival color be green, and let every manly breast and queenly bosom be adorned with a sprig or bouquet of dainty clippings from the choicest of garden foliage. Have the different kinds of sports, tests of strength, boat races, etc. In lieu of the usual flower parade, have a vegetable parade, with money prizes for the best decorated vehicles, using for decorations celery, lettuce, cauliflower, etc. Have a large float, with the "Celery Queen" riding in state, surrounded by a dozen other fair maidens, all dressed in flimsy robes of white and green, each bearing a bouquet of strawberry foliage, blossoms and fruit, and surround the float with stately stalks of early corn.

I will not take time and space to enumerate the many other attractive features that crowd the mind. Such a parade and celebration will be unique, attractive, appropriate and, as an advertising feature, its good effects will be far-reaching.

The Clyde Line and railroad systems will, with their usual liberality, give special rates. Make it a great "home-coming" for every Sanfordite, far and near—in Jacksonville alone there are two hundred or more.

Words fail me to express the feelings that come of admiration and gratification as I look upon the gardens of living green so admirably planted, so cleanly kept; surely it must appeal to every artistic eye and intelligent mind. If he be a public benefactor who causes two blades of grass to grow in place of one, what shall we say of the ones in your community who have through years of discouraging experiments wrought out a system whereby the tiller of the soil in the celery delta may in a few years become a clipper of coupons; for the former Florida desert has been made to "blossom as the rose."

I know of no place in all the world where can be found the combination of climate, soil, irrigation and drainage that prevails at the Celery City.

Have a jollification—a great time of rejoicing and thanksgiving.

—HENRY H. DEANE.

Accidental Death of C. S. Connell.

C. S. Connell, one of the most prominent citizens of the Apopka section was killed last Monday morning by the accidental discharge of his shot gun. It seems that Mr. Connell had started for the field and in coming through the fence caught the hammers of his gun, the contents striking him near the heart and death resulting immediately. His absence from home occasioned alarm and a search being made for him the body was discovered with the gun lying near-by. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of death by accidental shooting. The funeral was held at the residence near Oakland on Thursday morning, the services being delayed in order that his daughter who is attending college at Lexington, Ky., could arrive in time.

Mr. Connell was a man who enjoyed the respect and esteem of a large circle of friends and acquaintances. Being of unflagging zeal and devotion to business interests he had built up large property holdings near Oakland and owned one of the finest tracts of vegetable land in that thriving section. He leaves a wife and children to mourn the loss of a devoted husband and loving father.

"THE FLOWER OF THE SOUTH"

The Majestic Musical Comedy Company At Opera House Next Wednesday

By far the best musical comedy company which is now touring will be seen at the opera house Wednesday evening, Nov. 18.

Among the supporting company may be found such well-known comedians as Lee Barth, a German character delineator, a yodler such as Emmett Olcott and Scanlon were in their prime. Lou Powers who plays the part of Izzy Cohen is conceded to be one of the funniest low comedians on the American stage today, and his songs and parodies are a scream. Miss Edith Powers, who plays the daughter, Minerva, is, to quote from an Atlanta paper, "The sweetest bunch of young girlhood seen here in a long time, and is the possessor of a sweetly cultivated voice."

Others in the company are Miss Marie McCollum, who plays Mrs. Hargraves. Miss Lettie West, an eccentric comedienne. Sidney Williams, James R. Mitchell, Jack Asher, Bessie Overton, Daisy Sunion, Paul Arthur. And the orchestra is composed of Frank G. Woodruff, a violinist of repute, and Prof. Clarence J. Grogan, a blind pianist. This gentleman is the marvel of the age, playing four different tunes at the same time. He is absolutely sightless, and has never known what a piano looks like. In short, the people of Sanford are assured of a rare musical treat in "The Flower of the South."

There are nearly twenty song hits. Among some of the most prominent are: "When the Circus Comes to Town," "Wont You be my Honey," "Sleep, Baby, Sleep," "When Eyes Like Yours Look into Eyes Like Mine," "Mariutcha," "Poor Old Girl," "Bohemia," "Back to America," "The Flower of the South," "The Mountains and Valleys I Love," etc.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Passed By Tampa Citizens On Death Of W. E. Williams.

At the conclusion of the municipal court session yesterday morning, a committee composed of Judge Peoples, Rev. W. J. Carpenter, Chief Woodward, Chief Bell, Clerk Johnson, Geo. Blardone of the Times, and E. D. Lambright of the Tribune, met to draft resolutions of respect for the police department. Rev. Mr. Carpenter drew the resolutions as follows:

"Whereas, Patrolman W. E. Williams, a member of the police force of the city of Tampa for eleven years, has met a most unfortunate and tragic death; therefore be it

"Resolved, That we tender to the bereaved family our sincere sympathy and heartfelt condolence in this hour of affliction. Also, be it

"Resolved, That we commend the noble traits of character which were exhibited by our brother officer, his efficiency as a member of the force, and his faithfulness to duty as a servant of the city, and, furthermore, that a copy of these resolutions be sent the family of the deceased, and copies furnished the press of the city of Tampa as well.

Albert G. Holland a member of the first company organized in Washington to fight for the Confederacy, died suddenly in Washington on the 15th inst. Mr. Holland took part in the first battle of Manassas, was captured and sent to Camp Chase where he remained until the close of the war.

The Duchess of Chaulnes, formerly Miss Theodora Shonta, gave birth to a son in Paris Nov. 18. By this birth the Duchess retains her title. Her husband died last spring.

The Emperor and Empress Dowager of China both died during the past week. Prince Chun became Regent of the Empire and has assembled an army at the palace, all approaches to which are heavily guarded, as are legation approaches. The new ruler fears an uprising among his people. The city of Peking is transformed, a brilliant blue taking the place of red which formerly predominated. Both the Emperor and Empress Dowager died unattended, as has been the custom for over three thousand years when a ruler died. They died alone although surrounded by circles of abject spectators who remained a rod distant on account of the sacred persons of their majesties they could not be approached.

The Park theater, one of the landmarks of Brooklyn, N. Y., was destroyed by fire last week, only fifteen minutes after a large audience had left the building. Had the fire occurred a little earlier there is no doubt that the loss of life would have been appalling. As it was only one person, a fireman, was injured.

Prof. Harrington, a noted scientist and ex-chief of the weather bureau, who has been missing for some ten years, and was supposed to be dead, has been found in the asylum at Morris Plains, N. Y., entered as John Doe. He was identified by his wife, but did not recognize her. He does not know who he is or where he came from.

F. J. Heney, prominent in the prosecution of the hoodlums in San Francisco, was shot and seriously wounded while in attendance at court in that city last Friday. His assailant, Morris Haas, gave as his reason for the act the statement that Heney had ruined him in business and disgraced his family by bringing to light the fact that he was an ex-convict.

The inhabitants of St. Pierre, a French possession, are disgusted at their treatment by the home government, and a recent gathering marched to the American consulate and cheered the United States flag.

The Emperor of Germany has notified the German people that he will not meddle with foreign affairs that do not concern the welfare of the empire, and will conform to the constitutional methods.

The old Lookout Inn on Lookout Mountain was destroyed by fire Nov. 17. The loss was over $100,000, with an insurance of $25,000. It will be rebuilt on a larger and magnificent plan.

TO GET DEEPER WATER

Liberal Appropriations Made—$647,000 For St. Johns

Washington, Nov. 18.—Gen. W. L. Marshall, chief of engineers of the United States army, today furnished his estimates for the work necessary on rivers and harbors in the Southern States. The following covers the recommendations for Florida:

Biscayne bay, $27,000; Withlacoochee river, $50,000; Apalachicola bay, $80,000; Carrabelle bar, $75,000; Hillsborough bay, $10,000; Key West, $50,000; Tampa bay, $25,000; Pensacola, $150,000; Sarasota bay, $20,000; Apalachicola river, including lower Chipola river, $20,000; Blackwater river, $25,000; Crystal, Manottu, Aclote, Suwannee and Withlacoochee river, $24,500; Indian river, $9,000; Kissimmee, $5,000; Ocklawaha, $8,000; Orange, $5,000; St. Johns river, $847,000; Volusia bar, $5,000; Choctawhatchee, $10,000; Escambia and Conecuh, $10,000.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1910: Under the continuing contract, Jacksonville is given $215,000 and Pensacola $150,000. Savannah is given $400,000; Chattahoochee river, $230,000.

In Sanford—Life is Worth Living

[Southern Printer, Washington, D. C.] With this motto at the masthead, the Sanford (Fla.) Herald reaches us. It is a ten-page, five column paper, one of the neatest published, and the composition and presswork could not be improved. Mr. R. J. In connection with the publishing of The Herald, a general printing business will be conducted.

The complete plant—composing room equipment and pressroom—was installed by Southern Printers Supply Company, Washington, D. C.

What Everybody is Talking About

The day of feast and draweth nigh
And scores of turkeys soon must die.
Get one that's young and sweet and fat,
And stuff it full of this and that.
With fruit and beets, pies, sauces make,
And add some greens, pies and cake.
Ask friends and kindred all to come,
And spread Thanksgiving at your home.
Let not the car of life distress
But fill each gut with happiness.
Receive the joy of youthful days,
And for the blessing offer praise.

SANFORD DEEP WATER

Telegram From Frank Clark Assures Project

A GOOD CHANNEL TO THIS CITY

Announcement Means That Sanford Will Again Become Queen of the St. Johns River

Sanford people are jubilant over the announcement that deep water is assured the city. This came Saturday in the form of a telegram to Hon. J. N. Whitner from Congressman Frank Clark, and was as follows:

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14, '08.
To J. N. Whitner, Sanford:
"The Board of Engineers and Chief of Engineers approve a channel one hundred feet wide and eight feet deep, Palatka to Sanford, and one hundred feet wide and five feet deep Sanford to Lake Harney; mean low water. This action guarantees both projects."
FRANK CLARK.

This intelligence seems too good to be true, and many and varied inquiries were made at The Herald office regarding the possibilities offered by this great project.

To those who have been urging this movement this telegram means that their labors have not been in vain, and when the stately vessels come steaming up the river and land their cargoes from many lands, the Sanford people will begin to realize that the city has at last reached the proportions of a real city and center of trade. The Clyde Line and other lines can then operate larger boats with less difficulty and river transportation will be one of the strongest points in this city's list of attractions.

Aside from the great tourist travel by boat, which will then be increased on account of the fast daily schedule, the freight to Sanford will place this city in the list of wholesale points, as the boats can come from New York, Baltimore and other points directly to Sanford.

This city now enjoys a very low rate for freights, the difference between Sanford and interior points twenty-five miles apart being twenty cents per hundred. The lake trade between Sanford and Lake

Harney is becoming an item and two steamboat lines recently inaugurated are required to properly handle this trade. The orange and vegetable district adjacent to Lake Harney can thus transport their products by fast boats to Sanford and make connection with the Atlantic Coast Line for northern points.

The many advantages offered by this deep water project can scarcely be enumerated at the present time and Sanford, with all the prospects in view, will enter upon the year 1909 with a clear field and leading all competition for the most bustling and fastest growing city in the entire South; a city that offers more in every way to the prospector, investor, farmer and to the poor man than any other city in the world.

Our Jacksonville Office

Sanford's public spirited citizens, recognizing the fact that Jacksonville offers a valuable location for an information bureau regarding the advantages of the Celery City, have been casting about for suitable quarters. Thursday, W. D. Holden, who has been very active in this matter, received a letter from F. M. Ironmonger, Florida passenger agent of the Clyde Line, stating that a space for the Sanford office had been reserved in the office of the Clyde Line; and that the officials would do all in their power to advance the interests of Sanford. This means that our city will establish an office in one of the best locations in Jacksonville, and under the direction of Mr. Lefler the Celery City will make a good display and properly demonstrate our advantages to the tourists who throng Jacksonville during the season looking for locations. This office will be a distributing depot for printed matter of all kinds and vegetables and fruits will be on display during the season.

First Car for New Railway

The first car for the new Sanford & Everglades Railway has been built by the Sanford Machine & Foundry Works. It is not of the luxurious Pullman type, being just a plain hand car painted red and lettered in white. It is not much to gaze upon but the significance dwains upon the beholder that this new hand car means a movement on the new railroad and in a few weeks the ties will be down and rails laid, in order that the construction gang can operate hand cars and carry supplies to the far end of the road.

Thus the little red car while not in the Pullman class, makes it possible for the Pullman to follow.

CLYDE LINE IMPROVES

Extensive Improvements To Be Made In Property

LARGER DOCK AND WAREHOUSES

Present Facilities Entirely Inadequate to Handle Rapidly Increasing Trade of Sanford

The Herald has upon numerous occasions in the past few months called attention to the remarkable growth of Sanford along every line and pointed out many features which tended to prove the truth of these assertions. One of the best indications is the visit this week of several Clyde Line officials, who came with the avowed purpose of enlarging and greatly improving their dockage and warehouses in order to facilitate the handling of the immense freight business that is now being transacted at this point.

W. M. Tupper, general agent; B. J. Ford, traveling agent, and Contractor Brown spent several days this week in Sanford, and after a careful survey and general inspection of the property, the City Engineer was instructed to get up a working design of the old building and Contractor Brown will at once prepare plans for the extensive improvements.

Hearing of this movement, which means so much to Sanford, The Herald scribe interviewed Agent M. F. Lovell yesterday and elicited the following information:

The Clyde Line officials are very desirous of doing all in their power to further the interests of Sanford and recognize the fact that in a few years Sanford, as the head of navigation, will be one of the most important cities on the St. Johns. The dock and warehouses being entirely inadequate to handle the trade, will be improved by tearing down one of the buildings near the present warehouse. The present warehouse will be enlarged and converted into a fine waiting station, separate rooms made for white and colored passengers, and a wide driveway will be built to the end of the pier, upon which teams can be driven the entire length. At the end of the pier a large warehouse, 40x40 feet, will be erected. The agent's office will be placed at that point and all the freight business will be handled from the boat there also. The pier will be rebuilt to conform with this new plan and all the buildings will be painted and placed in fine condition.

The improvements, when finished, will amount to between $6,000 and $7,000 and when completed will not only greatly enhance the river front, but will give Sanford the best of facilities for handling freight and passengers.

The building on the corner of Palmetto and Commercial streets that has been vacant so long, will be repaired and if not used by the company will be rented for a store room.

The citizens of Sanford are grateful to the Clyde Line officials for their interest in the city and will join them in the improvement of the river front. Thus the most valuable asset of Sanford, the river transportation, will forge to the front, and with the assurance of deep water the river front in a few years will bustle with factories and wharves and the stately steamers of the coast traffic will tie up at Sanford's wharves.

"In Sanford—life is worth living."

Business Better This Week

There was a noticeable improvement in business all over the city this week, and our merchants are looking happy. It is evident that a new era in business is taking place in the Celery City and the movement in lettuce and good returns is giving an impetus to trade along every line. This week's trade is only a forerunner of what is to come. The entire force of clerks at all the stores has been busy, and the many inducements offered by our merchants this week is bringing the trade.

Purchasers find that they can buy goods as cheap in Sanford as they can from the mail order houses, and after looking up the advertisements in The Herald they proceed to do all their buying from the Sanford merchants.

Selling Celery Land

The Howard-Packard Land Co. is placing families every week upon their property in the Celery Delta. This week a fine ten-acre tract was purchased by J. G. Ellsworth, of Wichita, Kansas, who will come down later and bring several families with him.

FOR SANFORDS GREATER PROSPERITY

THE PLATFORM OF E. E. BRADY

Candidate for Mayor of City of Sanford

To the People of Sanford:

I NTERESTED as I am in the welfare and prosperity of the City of Sanford and its citizens, and desiring to see our city advance and take its place as the foremost inland city of our State, which distinction properly belongs to us, and having no other motive than the up-building of Sanford and its greater prosperity, I have announced my candidacy for the office of Mayor and take pleasure in presenting to you my Platform, in which I have embodied the issues which I believe are foremost in the minds of our citizens and best adapted to bring about the desired result:

- I am in favor of reduction of taxes.
- I am in favor of better fire protection.
- I am in favor of paving and keeping in proper condition our streets and avenues.
- I am in favor of city extension, provided the city can guarantee to the inhabitants of the contiguous territory all the benefits to which they would be entitled as tax-paying citizens; but I vigorously oppose the plan of extension as presented by the present administration, which I believe to be unfair and unjust.
- I am in favor of municipal ownership of a Lighting Plant and Water Works as a means whereby to obtain revenue with which to meet the necessary expenses of City Government.
- If elected I will enforce strictly and impartially all the Ordinances of our city.

Very respectfully,
E. E. BRADY

Candidate for Mayor.

Sanford, Florida, November 21st.
