The pilot of the Piper was violating regulations by flying through airspace usually restricted to commercial jets when he ran into Aeromexico Flight 498, sending both planes hurtling into a residential neighborhood, a National Transportation Safety Board investigator said Tuesday night.

John Lauber of the NTSB said pilot William K. Kramer failed to contact air traffic controllers as required and request "a clearance to operate" in the restricted zone. He said the radar information available to air controllers would not have given them the Piper's altitude.

The official death toll from the disaster remained at 70 -64 on the DC-9, three in the Piper and three on the ground. but the number of victims on the ground could rise when the coroner's office finishes identifying the mangled bodies. LOS ANGELES (UPI) - Cathy Evelyn Smith, a former rock backup singer who confessed to injecting tormented comedian John Belushi with a fatal dose of cocaine and heroin in 1982, was sentenced Tuesday to three years in

Smith, 39, originally had been charged with murder, but on June 11 pleaded no contest to a reduced charge of involuntary manslaughter and three counts of furnishing and administering the heroin and cocaine "speedballs" that killed Belushi. Ten other drug administering charges

Belushi, 33, who rocketed to fame in the 1970s on NBC's "Saturday Night Live" and also starred in such movies as "Animal House" and "The Blues Brothers," was found dead March 5, 1982, of an overdose of heroin and cocaine in a $200-a-day bungalow at the Chateau Marmont Hotel on the Sunset Strip.

"It's clear to me that John Belushi was responsible for his own death." Superior Court Judge David Horowitz said in sentencing Smith, who prosecutors maintained was a heroin addict at the time of Belushi's death and still is.

Horowitz then sentenced Smith, who faced up to eight years and eight months in state prison, to a three-year term. Smith, who showed no emotion as the judge sentenced her, was immediately taken into custody. She will be eligible for parole in 18 months.

Soviet Dancers Tear-Gassed

NEW YORK (UPI) - A tear-gas attack inside the Metropolitan Opera House cut short a Soviet dance company's first U.S. appearance in 12 years, but the troupe's director vowed his dancers would return to the stage tonight because, "We are not afraid of bombs."

A live tear-gas grenade was rolled down the main aisle of the opera house Tuesday night, moments into the Moiseyev Dance Company performance, spewing fumes that forced 4.100 people to flee the sold-out theater, officials said.

Twenty-six people were treated for tear-gas irritation, but officials said no one appeared to be seriously injured.

A caller who identified himself as a leader of the Jewish Defense League claimed responsibility for the attack. Hours later, another man in Los Angeles claiming to represent the JDL denied the group was responsible.

The FBI's Harassment

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has been ordered to pay $264,000 in damages to the Socialist Workers Party for a lengthy harassment campaign that violated a number of First Amendment rights.

The FBI committed nearly 200 break-ins of the party's offices and stooped to a range of illegal activities that began in 1944 and stopped only 10 years ago. Considering the scope of its abuse of police power, the agency got off lightly. It should have been clear to the agency that its tactics were counterproductive and a waste of public money. But the 210-page decision by U.S. District Judge Thomas Griesa shows that common sense was not among the virtues of this FBI

And what does the FBI have to show for all that attention to this tiny organization? Not a single arrest, let alone a conviction. The FBI's informers never turned up any evidence that the party's members were engaged in espionage or were seeking to use violence to undermine the United States.

The agency deserves a strong rebuke for wasting some $1.5 million on a harasament campaign that was undertaken with no apparent justification and even less legal authority. The campaign was not unlike a number of others in the FBI's infamous counterintelligence program, which was set up to undermine the civil rights and peace groups during the 1960s and 1970s by harassing demonstrators and spreading lies about leaders.

The FBI's lame excuse for trampling on the party's right to free speech and assembly was that it had authority to "keep itself informed on the activities" of groups that advocated revolutionary change. That is true. But the judge's award ought to serve as a warning to the agency that it has no authority to break the law in pursuit of potential lawbreakers.

The Lite Age

Shopping not long ago, we came across a display of "Lite Rolaids," salt-free tablets for indigestion. Now, everyone's aware that many Americans are determinedly eating themselves toward the good health promised by low-calorie "light" food. But does anyone really want "lite" relief?

"Lite" began as a marketing term for dietetic products. But it is also a useful tag for an age in which some Americans have taken a casual, self-interested approach to life and

It's plain the institution of marriage is taken lightly; one in every two ends in divorce. Promiscuity is rampant. And relationship is a term that has been drained of meaning through ceaseless use and more often than not describes something either tenuous or in

Certainly political responsibility is taken lightly. Elections at every level of government feature low voter turnouts and handwringing over non-issue campaigns. The nation's next generation of decision makers, the indefatigable yuppies, are not often criticized for their light version of life, which includes a lack of idealism, minimal sense of institutional loyalty, and self-absorption.

But ruminations on the lite age needn't all be heavy. The colossal classic Moby Dick is now a one-minute cassette recording, minus those maddeningly long soliloquies. There are disposable watches, clothes, appliances even if it ain't broke, you can throw it away.

"Lite" jazz and symphonic Pops, lightened hybrids of the heavier, real things can be heard on personal-use FM stereo the size of a credit card. The U.S. Army has unveiled a light-infantry division, composed not of dieting recruits but built for mobility. Even psychoanalysis has been unburdened: A session with the id no longer involves time-consuming introspection.

is a lite life a better life? Is less more? Probably not. The social contract depends on a certain degree of attachment, depth, selflessness; if you're hapy all the time, you're not paying attention.

Although lite appears to be in the ascendancy now, the pendulum is bound to swing back toward the weighty - enriched chocolate, unbridled idealism, Beethoven. In the meantime, pass the Rolaids ...

Combating Illiteracy: A Threefold Futility

The problem with writing about illiteracy is its threefold futility.

Those who need to read about it can't.

Those who should be doing something about it won't. Those successful programs that could be incorporated as models into our school systems

Before the month ends, you will have been bathed in a Niagara of articles, columns (including this one), television programs and public ceremonies deploring a national scandal—a 10 percent functionally illiterate adult population.

Illiteracy flourishes in America for only one reason. The average American doesn't regard it as a crisis to get excited about, compared to, say, what happens weekly on "The Cosby Show," "General Hospital" or "Miami Vice."

More paradox: Actors on those shows had to read to memorize their lines so they could entertain millions who would be unable to read what they're listening to.

Experts disagree on the extent of illiteracy. But the 1983 White House report "A Nation at Risk" is a reasonably accurate projection: Twenty-three million adults are functionally illiterate by the simplest tests of everyday reading, writing and comprehension."

For minorities, the illiteracy rate is 2.5 times

During the civil rights movement, we used to say. "You're either part of the problem or part of the solution."

Television is unequivocally part of the pro-

The same criticism applies to the public school systems that generate an annual increase of 2 million adult functional illiterates.

But two of the most encouraging developments in combating illiteracy involve these same school systems.

Innovative programs developed by Yale University psychiatrist Dr. James Comer in New Haven, the late Ronald Edmonds in Detroit, school superintendent Richard Wallace in Pittaburgh and school superintendent Constance E. Clayton in Philadelphia are slowly reducing illiteracy, raising reading levels, increasing test scores and improving comprehension.

The other encouraging development, in the war on illiteracy is a national commitment by a new ally — the American Bar Association.

When Boiss, idaho's Eugens Clifford Thomas was elected ABA president a few weeks ago, he announced as one of his first priorities a program to combat illiteracy.

I was intrigued. (You've got to admit lawyers have not been in the forefront of this struggle.) I called Thomas.

He recalled one lesson indelibly imprinted on his mind in his years as a prosecutor — the high correlation between illiteracy and crime.

"Fifty-four percent of the prison inmates today are illiterate." he said over the phone. "I don't think anything exasperates the American people more than our inability to cope with crime. The real crime would be if we didn't do anything."

Thomas has proposed a massive national program for local and state bar associations that employs ABA-created materials for use by volunteers who work hand in hand with the

Peace -Again

Ruben Zamora did not feel up to the party at his brother Mario's house that night.

It was no big deal, just a few friends in for drinks. But Ruben Zamora opted to stay home, right next door.

The party turned out to be one of the seminal events of the Salvadoran civil war. Armed men broke into the house and killed Mario Zamora by firing a dozen bullets into his face.

That was in February 1980. A few months earlier, a coup had toppled a repressive military government. Mario Zamora, a leader of the Christian Democratic Party, was a member of the new government.

Ruben Zamora, also a party member and in the government, got the message. He cleared out and for the past six years has been a leader of the rebel opposition to El Salvador's U.S.-supported government and rebels are again preparing to talk about a negotiated resolution of the war, and Ruben Zamora again will be one of the talkers.

After a summer of rhetorical sparring, representatives of the two sides met in Mexico in late August to set the date and place for a full-fledged parlay. They agreed to meet on Sept. 19 in Sesori, a town in eastern El Salvador that has been alternately in rebel and army hands and is now held by the army.

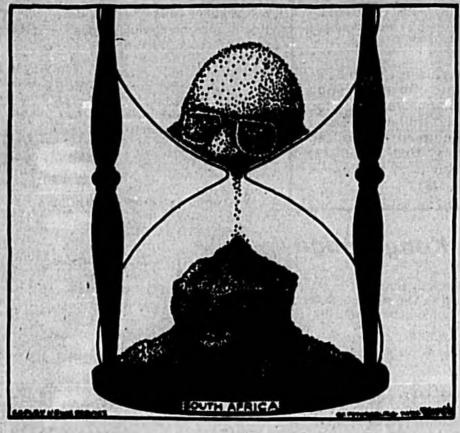

This will resume a peace process that began in October 1964 in the mountain town of La Palma. In a dramatic initiative that raised Salvadoran hopes, President Jose Napoleon Duarte invited rebel leaders to meet. But hope quickly faded. A follow-up session in November ended in deadlock.

There have been a number of changes in the Salvadoran situation since then — some for the better, some for the worse, some a bit of Duarte has not measured up to expectations as president. He had long been considered the man most capable of reforming El Salvador's feudal society. Not much has happened, though, and much of his popular support has eroded.

The one notable plus for his government is the decline in killings by military-connected death squads. The toll has dropped from some 800 a month when Mario Zamora was killed to around 30 currently.

The military, however, has never been made to answer for its role in the epidemic of murder that has claimed more than 60,000 lives, even where officers who gave the orders have been identified.

what they are saying. This nation today is probably more polarized than ever, despite the relative absence of street demonstrations and weirdo garb. The drastic polarization is documented in one survey after another. On the one hand we have an immensely popular president who celebrates traditional American values, unblinkingly opposing communism, believes in capitalism and is willing to use American power abroad. He carried 49 states and would certainly win in 1988 if he were able to run.

On the other hand we have. numbering in the millions, people who utterly reject all of this in every particular. Reagan did not carry the college professors, and probably not the school teachers. He did not carry the TV and movie people, the health-care proissionals, the public interest lawyers, the mainline Christian clergy or the Catholic bishops. Or the blacks.

Social scientists Lichter and Rothman have found that the following groups voted for McGovern in 1972: academics at elite universities (80 percent); media elites (81 percent): public interest lawyers (96 percent); successful motion picture people, actors and producers (82 percent). Now what do these people want? From listening carefully to them. I think the

3. A kind of religious passion directed at certain minorities. Blacks are the central icon, but Hispanics, Indians and even Eskimos possess religious charisma. They are to receive all manner of preferential treatment. One's individual moral worth depends heavily upon one's willingness to worship in this particular temple. (Other minorities are not icons - Chinese. Japanese, Italians, Vietnamese, Jews, etc.)

4. A renovation of sexual norms to make all sorts of behavior heretofore considered deviant acceptable, most especially homosexuality, but also. for example, group sex, which now appears in the popular sex manuals.

5. The political agenda of militant feminism: ERA. tax-supported daycare, pregnancy leave, approval of lesbianism, the purging of languages and literature of sexism.

SCIENCE WORLD Marrow Registry

Launched WASHINGTON (UPI) - They could have called it the National Honor Roll of Unselfish Heros. But instead, the American Red Cross decided to call their list of potential volunteers simply the Bone Marrow Donors Registry. The newly-established national registry will list the blood types and types of HLA antigens (certain proteins that serve as cellular fingerprints) of people who are willing to donate bone marrow to strangers needing the life-saving transplants.

The registry will find the bestmatched donors for patients likely to die of aplastic anemia and some types of leukemia.

Experts at the American Red Cross said the HLA antigen matching is a complex procedure that must be done to guarantee that a recipient will not reject a marrow transplant. The odds of finding a match can be vanishingly small one in 10,000 on average, but worse for rare HLA types.

Having a large national registry and many potential volunteer donors will increase the chances of finding a marrow match.

But donating bone marrow is no picnic and there is no guarantee that the donation will save a recipient's life.

Donation itself involves a painful surgical procedure, usually performed under general anesthesia. During the operation, a small percentage of the donor's marrow cells is removed. The donor's body replaces the cells in a few weeks.

"The program will make transplantation a viable option for thousands of patients with leukemia and bone marrow failure that has been impossible up to now," said Dr. Alfred Katz, vice president for research and development at the

White House Plots Senate Win

And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON - President Reagan's people have a bad case of the political jitters. They fear the Republicans could lose the Senate, which raises grave implications for the president's program.

In sudden alarm, they have started writing urgent memor to one another. "Nothing is more important to the Reagan presidency today than retaining the GOP major-ity in the Senate." warns Joe Rodota, one of the president's nuts-and-bolts operators.

A Democratic takeover, he predicts, would produce these "dire consequences': Reagan's "achievements" would come "un-der siege"; his second-term agenda 'would be aborted''; the bipartisanship he has nourished "would evaporate overnight"; and America's economic recovery and bolstered defenses "would be placed at risk."

The political arithmetic is against the Republicans. They must defend 22 Senate seats, the Democrats only 12. If the polls are right, the Republicans should lose at least six seats. But only three Democratic seats are in danger. Another six scats are considered to be vulnerable; of these, five are occupied by Republicans, only one by a Demo-

President Reagan has agreed to lead the battle for the Senate. He'll hit the campaign trail one day a week in September, two days a week in October. He will try to hold in the GOP grip one of the great blocs from the old Democratic coalition: the Southern conservatives and blue-collar voters who abandoned the Democrats to support Reagan.

In some states, particularly in the South, Democratic candidates are shedding their liberal skins with excessive delicacy. This resurgence of conservatives in the Democratic Party could erode Reagan's gains, not only in November but in the Novembers to come.

White House communications director Pat Buchanan = political hardhead, has sent a confidential campaign packet to senior aides, urging them to help preserve the Republican majority in the Senate.

"The president's campaign for GOP senatorial candidates," he wrote, "will require a number of themes and arguments to persuade Americans that Republican control of the Senate is the key to continued improvements."

According to the polls, Republican candidates are in serious trouble in Florida, Idaho, Maryland, Nevada, North Carolina and South Dakota. GOP incumbents are also vulnerable in Alabama, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Washington and Wisconsin.

The Democrats could lose seats in Colorado, Louisiana and Missouri. The only other Democrat in a close race is Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif... who is, nevertheless, ahead of his GOP opponent.

The strategists foresee Democratic gains unless the president can reverse the political momentum. They have produced various scenarios projecting what this will mean. Summarizes White House aide Rodota:

"At best, we could expect paralysis. The president would not have the votes to get many of his key programs and appointments through the Congress, yet Congress would not have the votes to override a presidential veto.

'At worst, a Democrat Senate would attempt to unravel virtually all of the Reagan administration's hard-won achievements in economic, domestic and foreign policy."

A sheriff's deputy charged with burglary and grand theft in connection with the theft of liquor pleaded no contest today to burglary.

Wallace Jackson "Jack" Starr,

46, entered the plea before Circuit Judge Robert B. McGregor who set sentencing for Nov. 6. Starr could receive up to a year in the county jail.

Starr was accused of stealing 17 bottles of liquor worth $181.02 wholesale from the closed Chappy's Studio Club, 1900 U.S., Highway 17-92 in Fèrn Park.

The incident occurred May 19. Siarr was suspended without ply following his arrest.

The arrest came after a woman witness, who lives near Chappy's, reported to the sheriff's department that at 7:30 plm., May 13, she saw a uniformed sheriff's deputy enter and exit Chappy's twice.

The woman said she heard bottles rattling and she saw the suspect put a white box and a garbage bag containing the rattling items into the trunk of the sheriff's patrol car.

The bottles had been taken from the second floor office area of the club, a sheriff's report

Phone Calls Not On Behalf Of Local Firefighters

By Karen Talley Torald Staff Write

Although certain individuals may have led residents to believe otherwise, the Seminole County and Sanford fire departments are not seeking financial support by phone or going door-to-door offering fire safety inspections, according to fire department officials.

A spate of phone calls seeking funds and a uniformed man who offered a fire safety inspection at a local home have been confirmed by Sanford Fire Chief Ron Neel, but "are not any of our doing," he said.

Nor are they efforts on the part of Seminole County's fire department, according to Gary Brown, administrative assistant to the county's public safety director.

The organization seeking support through phone solicitations is the Firefighters Council of Central Florida, which is based in Orlando and acts as sub-council to the Professional Firefighters of Florida, a group spokesman said.

Seminole fire departments are not questioning the group's legitimacy, but are stressing they are in no way affiliated with it, nor will they benefit from the last five months of local phone solicitations it has made to raise funds.

The callers are raising money for the council's benefit fund by selling tickets to a "1950's" concert the council is sponsoring on Sept. 21, said council spokesman Ron Carroll.

A survey of local fire departments determined Sanford and Longwood oppose the solicitations and have expressed these sentiments to the council.

Carroll acknowledged the contacts and said due to the departments' "complaints," solicitations in Sanford and part, been halted.

"They're correct." Carroll of calls. "This has nothing to do with them directly. They've contacted us and we've stopped calling those areas."

Oviedo Hopes Growth Sprouts Athletic Success

By Chris Pieter Herald Sports Writer

There's a great transformation going on at Oviedo High School. The school has taken on some 500 new students, construction to enlarge and upgrade the school continues and this will most likely be the last year the Lions' athletic program will be in Class 3A.

And the Oviedo High coaches would like to go out of 3A competition with a Antta Carlson always has the Lady Lions in contention. Oviedo has won the district title the past few years and is odds on favorite to to again in 1986 with six returning players who saw a lot of action a year ago.

In cross country, coach Ed Bolton said he has about 25 runners on his boys team and expects a much better season than a year ago. Bolton does not have near as much depth on the girls' squad.

Oviedo has not seen the likes of a swimmer like Andy Gill since his graduation but coach Jeanne Michaud hopes to build a competitive program and figures to get more athletes as the

In the winter sports. Oviedo had its troubles a year ago playing the bigger Preps

4A schools but was pretty competitive

In boys basketball, coach Dale Phillips lost one of his big guns in Al Unroe but returns some top talent, led by Robb Hughes, and could be in the running in the district. The girls basketball team of John Thomas also lost its top player in Stephanic Nelson but returns one of the up and coming players in Sentinole County in sophomore Suzanne Hughes.

The boys soccer team went to the district finals before being eliminated by powerful Bishop Moore. The team has a new coach this season in David Jekanoski who takes over for Paul Katauskas. The girls soccer team has been competitive in the area and returns a number of its top players from a year ago.

In wrestling, coach John Horn continues to rebuild what was once a strong program and hopes to have the Lions back in the running soon.

The highlight of the Oviedo High sports season a year ago came in the spring when the baseball team of coach Howard Mabie advanced to the 3A State Tournament for the first time in the school's history. Mable has his top player returning in pro prospect Mark Merchant but also lost a number of starters to graduation.

The Oviedo High softball team had another successful year in 1986 as it won the district title. The Lady Lions return almost all of their players from a year ago and also has some excellent freshman talent and coach Jackle Miller's team figures to be the strength of the district again.

In track, coach Ken Kroog has talent returning on the boys and girls team which could be contenders in the district with added depth this season. On the boys side. Karl Wright returns after qualifying for the state meet as a sophomore and, for the girls, Kelly Price comes back after taking second in the state in the 330 hurdles and sixth in the 110 hurdles.

The newest sport at Oviedo High is gymnastics and the head coach for the program will be Marie Causey.

Czechs Reign At Open

NEW YORK (UPI) - The U.S. Open, after a week of upsets and surprising performances, has been turned into the Czechoslovakian Open.

Cone are familiar names Jimmy Connors, John McEnroe and Mats Wilander. In their place are difficult-to-pronounce names Milan Srejber and Miloslav Mecir.

In all, three men and two women from Czechoslovakia -Ivan Lendl. Srjeber and Mecir: Martina Navratilova and Helena Sukova — still are competing for singles titles at the Open.

Mecir. who shocked No. 2 seed Wilander of Sweden Tuesday to advance to the quarterfinals, had a simple explanation for the strong showing by the Czechoslovakians.

'We have good players." How did you get to be good

'We practice hard, we play icnes and we try to do our best."

Mecir's best Tuesday was enough to oust Wilander. The 6-foot-3 Mecir used consistent groundstrokes and well-timed approaches to the net to carve out a 6-7 (3-7), 6-3, 6-3, 6-4 victory. It marked the third time in five career meetings Meetr had beaten Wilander and the 17th time in 20 matches since 1983 that Mecir had defeated a Swedish opponent.

'When he's playing very good, he's too good for me," said Wilander. "I felt like I was playing and there was nothing I could do."

While Mecir's match was the most surprising of the fourth round, Srejber's was the longest. The 6-8 Srejber outlasted Amer-Ican Todd Witsken 6-7 (4-7), 7-6 (7-3), 6-1, 6-4 in a 3-hour, 13-minute marathon.

The defeat of Witsken, who ousted Jimmy Connors in a third-round match, left Tim Wilkison as the only American men among the quartersnalists. In seven of the last eight years. an American has won the Open.

In other action Tuesday. third-seeded Boris Becker of West Germany prevailed in a hard-fought match against American qualifier Gary Donnelly 6-4, 6-3, 6-7 (4-7), 6-4; and No. 7 Joakim Nystrom of Sweden, committing only three unforced errors, topped American Matt Anger 7-6 (7-5). 6-2.

In men's action today, topseeded Lendl, the reigning Open champion who has yet to lose a set in four matches, faces nemesis Henri Leconte of France. The No. 8 seed, Leconte has beaten the world's top-ranked player in five of their 10 meetings including a fourth-round match at Wimbledon in 1985.

No 4. seed Stefan Edberg of Sweden will meet Wilkison in another quarterfinal match. Wilkison, ranked 31st in the world, has never beaten Edberg in six career meetings.

In women's play Tuesday, Navratilova and No. 3 Steffi Graf of West Germany each won handily to set up a semifinal showdown. Navratilova dispatched doubles partner Pam Shriver, the fifth seed, 6-2, 6-4 while Graf embarrassed Bonnie Gadusek 6-3, 6-1 in 47 minutes.

In women's quarterlinal action today, No. 2 Chris Evert Lloyd faces ninth-seeded Manuela Malceva of Bulgaria, and Australian Wendy Turnbull, the oldest player left in the tournament at 33, meets Sukova, the seventh seed.

Graf's impressive victory against Gadusek firmly stamped her as the biggest threat to the Navratilova-Evert Lloyd domi-

Copeland's Tennis Success Has Tars Reaching For Stars

There are several sure bets in Central Florida. You can bet the house that summers will be hot and muggy; that population in the area will continue to swell: and that coach Norm Copeland and his Rollins College tennis team will win over 20 matches and rank in the top 10 in the nation.

It's in the bank. This tennis program is without a doubt one of the real success stories in the history of college athletic teams.

Norm Copeland is starting his 32nd year as the men's tennis coach at Rollins. That in itself is amazing, but the record that top 10 in NCAA Division II since Norm has produced at Rollins is 1966. That was the first year even more amazing.

Rollins, Copeland and his Tars NCAA championship for have forged an astonishing Division II schools that year and 340-55 record. This record is again in 1972. Lombardi: The Dominant Influence

By Murray Olderman NEA Sports Editor

It has been 16 years since the death of Vince Lombardi but the legend of the man remains as strong as ever.

This may be a good time - when drugs have tragically infested sports. and resulted in the untimely deaths of such young talents as Len Bias and Don-Rogers - to recall the example of Lombardi as an influence on athletes.

For all his sternness, the coach who led the Green Bay Packers to NFL glory in the 1960s also used an intelligent flexibility with young players. That would have enabled him to cope with the stresses imposed on today's athlete. Not long ago, the 16th annual Vince Lombardi Golf Classic was held at the North Hills Country Club in suburban Menomonee Falls, Wisc., outside Milwaukee. Raising a record $100,000 to benefit cancer research, it attracted such Lombardi alumni as Jerry Kramer, Max McGee, Ray Nitschke and Bart Starr.

Also present to honor Lombardi's

memory and the charity were such great quarterbacks of the past as Otto Graham, Johnny Lujack and Charlie Conerly, (Plus: Alan Shepard, Bob Hope, Foster Brooks and Tom Poston.)

It is amazing how vivid the lessons of Lombardi remain with the men who were exposed to him. He could be moody, irascible and curt: he was also gregarious, warm and thoughtful.

But always he was a dominating presence.

"I thought he was a mean, miscrable, rotten SOB my first three or four years with the Packers," says Kramer, "I detested him. But when I got converted, I became the most fervent.

"One time, he was on my butt, unmercifully, calling me an old cow. I'm sitting in the locker room afterward. thinking, 'Maybe I'm in the wrong profession. I'm getting the hell out of

"He had that ability to read you. He came by and patted me on the back and said, 'Son, one of these days you're going to be the best guard in football.' Wow! He got me right back up.'

Another Lombardi graduate, tight end Gary Knafele, recalls, "With me. Lombardi used child psychology, and it worked. I was deathly afraid of him. I never called him Vince in my life. It was always Coach Lombardi."

Says Knafele: "My highlight was when I was walking out of the chow hall at training camp my last year. He passed me and said, 'That was the best blocking I've ever seen by a tight end.' And walked right on by. He had never said one thing in all the five years I'd played for him. I wasn't a great blocker."

Bart Starr, who was the architect-on-the-field of the Lombardi period, was sensitive to the coach's whipping tactics. In a pre-season drill, Starr threw a pass that was deflected and intercepted. Lombardi blistered him right there on the field, screaming, "Don't you understand we're working to cut down mistakes? Throw the ball away, eat it, anything."

The minute practice was over, Starr asked to see him in his office.

The quarterback, known as a quiet, obedient disciple, told his coach: "You stress the kind of leader you want me to be: I'm really working to be that type of leader. If you chew me out on the field and discover later you've made a mistake, you apologize to me here in the privacy of your office.

"At least be man enough to apologize out there in front of the team, not back here so they'll think I'm always wrong. I want them to know I have your respect. That ball was tipped. It wasn't a clean interception. Those things can happen."

"You're right," said Lombardi, now calmed down. "You're right." "After that," recalls Starr, "he never Jumped me on the practice field again."

Start For 'Canes Against Gators

MIAMI (UPI) — Miami outside linebacker Winston Moss, who was suspended for the seventh-ranked Hurricanes 34-14 win over South Carolina, will be back in the starting lineup against Florida, Coach Jimmy Johnson said Tuesday.

Moss was suspended by the NCAA because he kept a car belonging to a licensed sports agent for several days at a time, an extra benefit under NCAA rules.

"Winston provides the experience of playing for four years," Johnson said. "He is a very talented player, he's a very physical player."

Sophomore Randy Shannon started for Moss against the Gamecocks and did a fine job, Johnson said.

Johnson is 1-1 against Florids, winning 32-20 in Tampa in 1984, and losing 35-23 in the Orange Bowl last year. He said the Miami players are familiar with the Gators.

"One of our defensive coaches, Dave Wannstedt, pointed out a play run by Florida, and (linebacker) George Mira spoke out and said which situations the play was run in," Johnson said. "Our players our familiar with Florida as far as their scheme of things and their plays. "It's quite a rivalry. From my understanding, it has been a little on the tainted side at times, but right now it's a heated rivalry."

Johnson was referring to the time Florida defensive players flopped down on the field, conceding Miami a meaningless touchdown in order to get the ball back, and the time the Hurricanes kicked a field goal in the waning seconds when the game was already decided.

"I don't see it as being a bitter rivalry now." he

"I don't see it as being a bitter rivalry now." he said. "I see it as a very competitive rivalry. It's a very healthy rivalry.

Mira, whose father George Sr. was a recordsetting quarterback for the Hurricanes in the 1960s, had a different outlook.

"Since I was a little kid, it was 'hate the Gator, hate the Gator," he said. ""Whatever you do, you hate the Gator. That's the way it's going to be." In the South Carolina game, the Hurricanes ran the ball extremely well, with Melvin Bratton rushing for 100 yards and three touchdowns. "Offensively, I was happy with our running game," Johnson said. "We ran the ball very well against a very aggressive defense."

He also defended leaving his starters in with the score 34-0 in the fourth quarter.

"I will do everything possible to prepare our football team for a very difficult schedule," Johnson said. "If it means leaving our first team in for four quarters, that's what I'll do. I never take into consideration what's across the field." he said when asked if he would do something similar against a rival like Florida.

"I'll do whatever it takes to get them ready. regardless of the score." něbraska vs. fsu

Banderas, a letterman from Oak Grove, Mo., returned to practice Monday after being sidelined two weeks with a pulled hamstring.

"Banderas will be available to play but probably won't unless we get into a pinch or unless he makes dramatic recovery in the next

Big Clash: UCLA Vs. Oklahoma

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — UCLA Coach Terry Donahue said Tuesday he is as curious as anyone to see how his No. 4 Bruins will fare against No. 1 Oklahoma this weekend.

"I expect us to make a nice showing," Donahue said of Sat-urday's game at Norman, Okla. "What that means, I don't know.

I've never played Oklahoma." The defending national champion Sooners scare many with their wishbone offense and Brian Bosworth-led defense. Donahue refused to put himself in that

"This will be a good barometer for us to be judged against the national champion and a team people think might be the best this year," he said. "I don't know if they'll win the national championship, but they'll be among the top few teams. I would feel better if we went back there at 100 percent, but that's not the way it happens in football."

Donahue's chief worry is the health of Eric Ball. The tailback who rushed for 227 yards and four touchdowns in the Bruins' romp over Iowa in the Rose Bowl has an injured knee.

"He returned to the practice field yesterday," Donahue said. "He may be involved in some spot playing. He will not play extensively and he won't play at all if he's not healthy."

The Bruins also lost tight end Derek Tennell, who was ruled academically ineligible late last week. Joe Pickert and freshman Charles Arbuckle will share time at tight end.

Saturday marks the beginning of the post-John Lee era and Donahue still has not decided on the replacement for the All-America kicker. David Francy and red-shirt freshman Alfredo Velasco are both expected to play.

"You very well might see both in the game," Donahue said. "It will depend on the game and how they do under pressure. We'll probably experiment in the first two or three games. But I do have confidence. I think they have abilities."

Donahue said the key will be the Bruins' ability to stall Oklahoma.

"The biggest problem on de-fense is to be able to withstand the onslaught of 12-, 15- or 17-play drives," he said. "We've got to be able to sustain our drives. We've got to keep the ball or our defense will have to be on the field too much."

SWITZER LAUDS BACKS

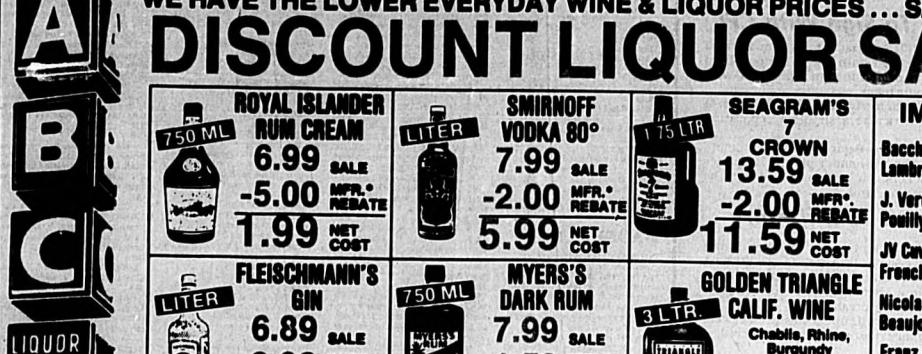

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) -Oklahoma coach Barry Switzer said Tuesday the Sooners will face the best running back combination in the country when his team hosts UCLA in the opener for both schools.

"I have looked at the backs of the schools in the top twenty." Switzer said at his weekly news luncheon. "Eric Ball and Gaston Green (of UCLA) are the best one-two tandom by far.

The 6-1, 209-poud Ball injured GUCKENHEIMER his left knee in a practice 10 days ago but returned to practice Tuesday and is expected to be at full speed Saturday when the No. 4 Bruins visit the No. 1 Sooners.

"We recruited Gaston out of Gardena High School outside of Los Angeles, we didn't know ANNE de FRANCE about Eric Ball," said Switzer. White French

Ball and Green combined for more than 1,400 yards rushing and 17 touchdowns last season. Ball set a Rose Bowl rushing 3.99 1.5 LTR. 2.69 record as he ran for 227 yards in LUMIT TWO PER CUSTOMES W/COUPON UCLA's romp over Iowa. He also added four touchdowns in addition to being named Player of the Game.

She Enjoys Cooking From Scratch And Her Recipes Show It

my hobbies, too, and I've been baking since I was a little girl."

Mrs. Benton, of Sanford, credits her mom, Julia Weber, with fostering her interest in sewing, making her a specialist with a needle and thread. "My mother told me that I was would have to take a year of home economics in school first to learn the basics in sewing, because what she would be teaching me were all the short cuts," she says. Even today, Mrs. Benton's mother is a fine seamstress who does alterations for a local department store, an it's no wonder that those department store, so it's no wonder that those particular talents have rubbed off on her daughter.

As a young cook, Mrs. Benton was putting things together in the kitchen before she even knew how to follor or understand a recipe. While baking a cake once, she remembers calling her mother at work to ask where she kept the "creamed sugar" referring to a portion of the recipe which called for creaming the butter and

Mrs. Benton enjoys cooking from scratch, and her yeast rolls and home-made noodles are a good example of the time she takes to give certain favorites her personal touch.

As a young, attractive single parent, Mrs. Benton knows that quality time spent with her two youngsters, Coy, 4, and Jacob, 2½, is an important factor during their formative years. "I like to take the boys to the beach on weekends," she says, "and on picnics. And the boys love to go fishing at a lake in Deltona."

Mrs. Benton's full-time job at Sprague Electric near Sanford starts at 7 a.m. After dropping the boys off at a neighborhood day care center, she becomes part of the work force as a quality assurance inspector in the electronics field. With about 131/2 years at Sprague, Mrs. Benton is almost a veteran among her co-workers. These some co-workers are very familiar with Mrs. Benton's cooking skills and very often request that she bake something for a special get-together

As a child in Canton, Ohio, Mrs. Benton recalls a close family circle, but "nothing unusual. We just had a normal childhood," she says. Her brothers Sterl, Fred and Tim Weber, and sister. Karen Reynolds are still in close touch. "Dad was a heavy equipment operator on construction sites, but when I was 7 years old we moved to Sanford so I don't recall too much about Ohio."

Mrs. Benton's school days were spent attending the Christian Home Bible School in Mt. Dora from seventh through ninth grades, and she is a 1972 graduate of Seminole High. Lots of memories are awakened as she remembers working at Winn Dixie as a cashier during her senior year. Then her thoughts focus on the good times she had playing "Powder Puff" football at school. Having two brothers who hold unbroken records in the sport was an asset when she joined them "out in the street in front of our house. They taught me the game and I could kick a football pretty good back then," she says.

"I love to swim and water ski," says Mrs. Benton. "I'm like a duck when it comes to water. a neighbor who was an instructor in the navy taught us to ski when we were very young, and we'd go out in our boat and have a great time fishing and water skiing.

'My father's background is German and Pennsylvania Dutch and my mother was a farm girl, so I was raised with a lot of good food," states Mrs. Benton. "I collect cookbooks and like to try out new recipes. When I can, I like to have friends over for dinner.

Mrs. Benton is optimistic about her future, and enjoys dating occasionally. At the present time, her priorities are maintaining a comfortable home for her sons, and caring for their growing needs. Good nutrition is important in their diets, but once in a while Mom treats them to her delicious baked goodles.

Listed below are Mrs. Benton's quick and easy

is 'Mistake' Became A Chocolate Institution

I'm not sure when the brownie, an all-American lavorite, came into being, but I imagine it happened by mistake. Someone did not measure chocolate cake ingredients accurately and the results were a fudgy cake-like substance that the thrifty baker cut into squares and renamed a brownie. That first "mistake" has been refined and enhanced to become an American food "institution." There are both cake-like and chewy types, some with nuts and other fillers, frosted

Sometimes it is difficult to get the bottom center of the brownie completely baked in the micro-oven. I have the best results if the batter is microbaked in an 8x8 square baking dish. Cover the brownies with waxed paper and allow the product to "stand" 10 minutes to complete the cooking. If the bottom of any baked product. especially thownies, does not get completely done, try elevating the baking dish on an inverted saucer during the microwave baking, then set on counter top for the standing time. Rotate the container during the baking time if the microwve oven does not have a carousel.

Micro-baking of brownies may be a challenge at first, but well worth the effort. Keep an accurate account of the timing and procedure to make the job easier next time.

Damage To Hemes And Cers Total $2.7 Million

CERRITOS, Caltf. (UPI) - The death toll from the collision of an Acrometico jetliner and a small plane forc to 85 today with a report that 18 bodies were found on the ground - 15 of them at a

The dead included 64 on Aeromexico Flight 498, three in the small plane and 18 on the ground in the residential neighborhood.

Fire Department Spokesman Gary Oversby told The Los Angeles Times that 18 bodies were discovered in a house on Reva Circle and that only three of them were from the sirliner.

"The rest were in the house, on the ground, when they died," Oversby said. "That brings the total passengers, six strline crew members, three people in the light airplane, three at the Estrada home and 15 more here." "Apparently all of them were attending a party at the house where they died," Oversby said.

The pilot, tentatively identified as William Kramer, 53, was one of three people in the single-engine, four-seat Piper Archer that dipped the rear of Flight 498 Sunday as the DC-9 approached Los Angeles international Airport.

Investigators said the Piper was in restricted airspace between 6,000 and 7,000 feet and was required to contact ground controllers. But officials said the Piper did not contact the tower and apparently never appeared

The DC-9 was struck from scent from 7,000 to 6,000 fe All 84 people about were killed after a terrifying 30-to-60-second upaide-down fall from more than Coroner's spokesman Bill Gold said an autopsy showed the pilot of the small plane died of 'multiple injuries" and from a heart attack. Gold said the heart attack happened before the pilot was decapitated in the collision that sheared off his plane and much of the jet's control stabilizers, sending both craft plunging into the suburb of Los Angeles.

The 18 dead on the ground died in explosions, fire and from the falling debris. The 15 found in one home were apparently attending a party, it was reported.

Authorities reported $2.7 million in damage to homes and cars in the area.

The search for bodies, completed Monday night, was made more difficult by problems in determining which victims were passengers and which were resi-

Authorities said Aeromexico Capt. Arturo Valdes Prom. 47, had been in contact with the Los Angeles control tower just before impact and was told to watch for another small plane - not the Piper — in his vicinity.

National Transportation Safety Board investigators said the controller handling Flight 498 was "distracted" when the third plane "popped up" unexpectedly in the airspace, but it was unknown if the distraction below during its authorized de- was relevant. The controller was to be given a drug test Tuesday, trying to cope with the horror.

The Piper was squipped with a transponder, which magnifies a plane's presence on radar screens. The device's switch was in the "on" position, but it was not known if it was working.

An Aeromexico passanger list showed that 36 of the 58 passengers were American citizens. There was one Colombian and one Salvadoran. The rest of the passengers and the six crew were listed as Mexican citizens, many of whom lived in the United States.

Officials kept the impact area cordoned off, while several families spent a second night at a Red Cross shelter set up at Cerritos Elementary School where the small plane crashed.

Counseling was available to survivors and experts said many could have problems for years

Gary Mucho, head of the NTBB's Los Angeles office, said the Piper took off from Torrance. Calif.. Sunday morning bound for Big Bear, Calif.. under visual flight rules on a day when visibility extended 14 miles.

It struck the DC-9 as the airliner was descending prior to landing at Los Angeles International Airport, 20 miles away. The flight originated in Mexico City with stops at Guadalajara, Loreto and Tijuana.

Mucho said the impact sheared away 10 to 18 feet of the DC-9's horizontal stabilizer and some of its vertical stabilizer. A plane cannot be controlled without the stabilizers.

The airliner's "black box" flight data recorder and in-flight voice recorders were found at the crash site and sent to Washington for analysis.

Aquino Cites Island In State Of Calamity

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) -Typhoon Wayne flooded wide areas of the main island of Luzon Tuesday, sending more than 50,000 Filipinos fleeing to safer grounds and leaving at least 19 people dead, officials

President Corazon Aquino proclaimed an emergency in the 13 towns and four cities in metropolitan Manila after touring the capital region.

The proclamation of a "state of calamity" in the capital authorizes officials to commandeer essential goods for relief services and imposes stiff penalties for hoarding.

The Manila Weather Bureau said Wayne was located in the Babuyan islands about 330 miles north of Manila, between the Philippines and Talwan, this evening.

Wayne, which left more than 50 people dead in Taiwan, was moving southwest at 6 mph toward the South China Sea with peak winds of 87 mph.

Combined reports from relief services and the official Philippine News Agency showed at least 19 people died in the provinces of Bataan. Pampanga. Rizal and Manila, mostly from drowning. Several were electrocuted and one was crushed under a collapsing wall. Two others were reported missing. The Red Cross said 50,670 Filipinos in 8,445 families were evacuated to churches and schools in metropolitan Manila, the mountain resort city of Bagulo and in the provinces of Bataan, Bulacan and Pangasinan.

Most of the evacuees were residents living in low-lying areas of the Philippine capital, where authorities suspended classes and ordered government and private offices to close down for the day.

Floods washed out bridges, crushed 800 houses in Pampanga. Tarlac and Bataan and damaged crops.

Aquino visited Santo Domingo Church in the Manila suburb of Quezon city and distributed to 298 families relief bags consisting of a kilo of rice, a can of sardines and dried fish.
