And guess who showed up for the finale?

Deputy stable after stroke

SANFORD — A veteran Seminole County sheriff's deputy is in ICA Central Florida Regional Hospital after suffering a stroke Friday morning at the sheriff's office.

Charles (Chuck) Littleton, 50, a judicial service officer, is in the intensive care unit, listed in stable condition. Littleton was found unconscious on a restroom floor around 8 a.m. Friday by co-workers at the sheriff's office at Central Florida Regional Airport. Friday evening, Littleton was conscious and talking in the hospital.

A 20-year veteran of the department, Littleton works at the juvenile detention center.

Alleged stalker phones victim from jail

SANFORD — A Winter Park man, who held Seminole County sheriff's deputies at bay during a four hour stand off Thursday, will remain in jail for trying to call his ex-girlfriend.

Robert Richard Abbarno, 40, is being held without bond for violating a protection order granted earlier this week to his ex-girlfriend, Cynthia Henry. After the order was served, the man went to a nail salon where the woman worked, brandished a gun and held her hostage. Others in the salon were released although witnesses said he pulled the trigger of the gun which did not fire. Henry was released and SWAT team deputies subdued Abbarno four hours after the incident began.

Abbarno was arrested for attempted murder, aggravated stalking, three counts of aggravated assault and false imprisonment. Bond was set at $30,000 Friday at the man's first court appearance when the attempted murder charge was downgraded to aggravated assault.

Friday evening, Abbarno attempted to call Henry collect from the jail. She did not accept the call. Under the court issued protection order Abbarno was not to contact the woman in any manner, including by phone.

Teen charged with rape

OVIEDO — A 15-year old boy was charged with raping a 14-year old girl in an Oviedo apartment building about 12:20 p.m. Friday. The two were out of school on intercession. No other details are available.

Tracing transfer of outspoken chief for state attorney

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — State Attorney Norm Wollinger says he had planned to move Ralph Eriksson to Brevard County for some time, but recent comments made by the outspoken Juvenile Division chief led him to play his hand early.

In September, Eriksson stood before Seminole County commissioners and questioned the need for a Juvenile Division coordinator position and criticized the placement of probationers by the County Probation Unit. The comments brought a bristling retort by juvenile division Judge Leonard V. Wood, who labeled Eriksson a "political antagonist."

The last straw for the decision came after an Oct. 11 hearing in Clearwater before a statewide committee. Eriksson accused Seminole County circuit judges of violating state laws by detaining children in the county Juvenile Detention Center illegally.

Eriksson also seemed to suggest he would file a complaint with the Judicial Qualifications Commission in his comments to a statewide committee examining juvenile detention laws and procedures.

Wollinger said he received a call from Wood the next day to complain about the comments and received another call from a member of the committee, relaying Eriksson's comments. Wollinger said he met with Eriksson Oct. 18 and told him of the transfer.

"The decision was already made before Oct. 10 but no time-table was set," said Wollinger. "It could have occurred any time during the next six months. But circumstances escalated the changes. It (the Oct. 11 comments) may have accelerated the move, but it didn't initiate it."

Since this past Monday, Eriksson has served as a felony prosecutor in Wollinger's Titusville office. He is replaced by Laura Bosco, a prosecutor with six years experience with the juvenile divisions in Volusia and Brevard.

Meanwhile, Timmy Kavanaugh, pre-kindergartner at Idyllwild Elementary School in Sanford, takes on the jaunty air of a hobo; the kind who 50 years ago rode the rails from town to town, staying long enough to trade odd jobs for pocket money and hearty meals. Recycling trends across county continue upward

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — Nearly 87 tons of garbage was separated for reuse during the year which ended in September, a 17.7 percent increase over the previous year.

Recycling trends continue to edge upwards as the county completes its first full year recycling both garbage and yard debris. When comparing the January-to-September period in 1992 and 1993, recycling edged upwards 4 percent. The countywide recycling program began in November 1990, but yard waste collections didn't begin on a broad scale until January 1992.

The county must meet a 30 percent recycling rate by the end of next year. The county has attained a 27 percent adjusted rate, compared to a 23 percent adjusted rate during the same July-to-June year between 1991 and 1992.

Recycling efforts throughout the county edged up a bit between August and September, according to the monthly report released by the Seminole County recycling office. About 8.1 million lbs. of garbage was diverted from the county dump in September through county and city recycling programs, according to the report. A total of 7.6 million lbs. of garbage was recycled in August.

SANFORD — Mission workers Altermese Bentley and Ida Boston share the excitement of having made the trip to the 12th Baptist Youth World Conference in Harare, Zimbabwe, Africa recently.

"Don't be misled by the title Youth World Conference. I was not the only grandma on a cane," Bentley said.

The theme, she said, was a very deep one for youth from around the world who are truly dedicating their lives and "Risking All for Christ."

Boston spoke of the history of the Baptist World Alliance (BWA). It is a fellowship of 165 Baptist unions and conventions with a membership of 38 million baptized believers. This, she said, represents a community of over 75 million Baptists ministering in more than 200 countries. This organization, Bentley said, was founded in London, England in 1905 with special emphasis on fellowship, evangelism, aid and

School bus stops addressed

By VICKI DeSONNIE
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - The Seminole County school board has placed the authority to add school bus stops as needed in the hands of the the School Safety Advisory Committee (SSAC), but parents who want to move or remove stops still have to take their request before the board.

Tuesday evening the board unanimously approved the committee's request to authorize the superintendent or his designee to implement the findings of the committee as soon as possible after it has reached "sufficient consensus at its monthly meeting."

The SSAC was formed last year after the tragic accident at a bus stop outside the Hills of Lake Mary subdivision on County Road 46A in which one middle school boy was killed and two others were seriously injured when a runaway trailer crashed through the stop.

The committee is comprised of law enforcement and traffic engineering officials from Seminole County and from each of the municipalities in the district. A school district representative, representatives of AAA and the Florida Department of Transportation as well as some PTA parents also serve on the committee.

The group is chaired by Steve Decker, chief traffic engineer for the county. Decker said the group reviews all requests for changes to or removals of bus stops. Representatives of the committee visit the site and then report back to the group at a monthly meeting.

"We don't vote on the matters," Decker explained. "We try to reach a consensus on

Lake Mary may close center

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY - The continuation of weekly events at the youth center in Lake Mary will be questioned Tuesday night. The subject is expected to be discussed extensively at the meeting of the Lake Mary Parks and Recreation Advisory Board.

Parks and Recreation Director John Holland explained, "For the past couple of years, we have opened the Community Center on Friday night, for the youths of Lake Mary. They have been able to come in and play pool or ping pong, and get involved in other activities."

"Recently however," he continued, "the popularity of the center has been dwindling, and the number of volunteers who serve as chaperones has disappeared completely."

Holland said the question now was whether or not to continue the weekly gathering. "If so," he said, "what can we do to get volunteer help, or create a new interest in the youth center?"

He suggested any Lake Mary citizen who has ideas or wishes to give input into the discussion, should attend the meeting.

The P&R Advisory Board will meet Tuesday, Nov. 2, beginning at 7:30 p.m., in the commission chambers of Lake Mary City Hall, 100 N. Country Club Road.

Safety first for Hallowe'en

With Hallowe'en on a Sunday this year, some youngsters are taking advantage of the situation and going out last night as well as tonight.

Regardless of when or how many trips they make, there are some cautions which must be taken, before anything is eaten by the children.

While it's sweet that some people become involved in the spirit of giving to the point where they will make their own home-made cookies, 99.9 percent of them, no doubt, would be real yummy.

That one tenth of a percent however, could be lethal. Regardless of how trusting most people are, there are a few who either intentionally or accidentally, could cause harm.

The suggestion here is, don't eat home-made treats unless they are from grandmother or some person who can be completely trusted.

Regarding candy, the same recommendations are made this year as in the past. Do not consume any candy which is not individually wrapped.

Some people may give small gifts. If the children bring them home, be certain that, whatever they are, they won't be a safety threat to anyone in the family.

People are cautious about safety when purchasing groceries. The same should be true for accepting treats on Hallowe'en.

If stomach problems occur as a result of digesting some of the treats, seek medical help immediately.

If any foreign object, such as broken glass or razor blades are found in any of the items, report it to the nearest law enforcement agency.

Precautions and examination may take some time out of the Hallowe'en thrills, but it could save a life, and would be well worth it.

Thank you, new friends

September 1993 marks the first anniversary of the publication of my book, "Idella: Marjorie Rawlings' Perfect Maid," and it has been a year I will always remember.

I would like to take this opportunity to say thanks for all the joy and excitement your newspaper and its readers have given me. There have been newspaper and magazine articles, television and radio interviews, and I have had letters from readers all over the world. I have been overwhelmed by invitations to speak in your churches, clubs, schools, colleges, and even in corrections facilities. Everywhere I go, people ask if there will be a sequel to the book, because they want to know more about Marjorie Rawlings and about my life. To all these wonderful new friends, I'd like to say thank you, and tell them that with God's help I'll do my best to answer their request soon.

Dealing with frustration, rage, anger

Authors Deborah Prothrow-Smith and Michele Wiseman advocate limiting the sale and distribution of non-sporting firearms. In view of the obvious penchant for violence exhibited by many young people in this country a gun control law seems in order. There is no need for high powered semi-automatic handguns to be in the hands of aggressive youngsters.

Aggression exists among all races, all classes and in every corner of the globe. Researchers find men are more violent than women. Some have suggested that the male hormone testosterone causes male violence. It is unclear whether aggressive feelings and violent acts cause increased production of the male hormone or the hormone produces aggressive feelings and violent acts.

Socialization may be paramount in creating aggressive tendencies when comparing boys and girls. Male and female toddlers between the ages of 12-18 months have been observed hitting, pushing, kicking and grabbing. However, 80 percent of the time caregivers ignore these tendencies in girls while focusing attention upon boys who behave in this manner. This serves to reinforce boys' negative behavior.

Doctors, psychologists and other mental health professionals concur that aggressive behavior is learned consequently mental health providers believe the appropriate therapeutic intervention can teach individuals new ways of behaving and relating. Behaviorally oriented therapies offer promise of standardizing mental health.

Anger is neither good or bad; it is the way one handles anger that is in question. Handling anger aggressively is physically or verbally hurting other people. Anger and aggression originate when a young child's basic needs and basic drives are unmet. "Aggression explodes when anger grows and individuals do not have enough internal defenses to control their anger."

As a poor child grows up in America factors that fan the flames of anger and aggression are these: being poor in a nation that places great value on material possessions, being a victim of racism, attending a school where students' intelligence levels are pre-conceived, living in a violent environment, exclusion from the social and economic mainstream.

Children are some of America's poorest citizens. One in two African American children are poor, one in three Hispanic children are poor. The fastest growing group of poor children are white. We are no longer the land of the two-parent family where father is the breadwinner and mother remains at home. Instead, the majority of mothers work. Thus the need for expending resources upon a comprehensive family policy. This would provide support to families in meeting children's basic needs. This would encourage poor working women to remain in the labor force, rather than receive welfare.

The authors indicate that building more prisons for violent members of society has not served as a deterrent. The funds spent incarcerating hundreds of thousands of young males might be better spent addressing the needs of families. A comprehensive family policy would provide: universal health care, subsidized high quality child care, schools open and serving children educationally, recreationally and socially.

"Children are not the blame for their inability to handle anger in non-lethal ways. Parents, teachers, clergy and health care providers have failed to teach them this most basic survival skill."

Men, women, sex, confusion

BOSTON — Let's take this one more time from the top. The subject is men, women, sexual violence, sexual pleasure and utter confusion.

Some weeks ago, I wrote about Antioch College's new sexual offense policy. At Antioch, consent is not silence, it's not the absence of a no. On the Ohio campus, a student has to ask for and agree to each new level of physical contact.

I wrote as well about Katie Rolphe's much ballyhooed book, "The Morning After," which suggests that campus obsession with date rape is dangerously retro. It not only harkens back to the days of sexual repression, she writes, it patronizes women as victims in need of protection from men.

Antioch has continued to be grist for media mills: it has even been the subject of a skit for "Saturday Night Live." Young Katie Rolphe has gotten the bright lights, big sales often awarded to bright women who dissent from other bright women. (See Camille Paglia.) Both Antioch and Rolphe were part of a Newsweek cover story called, "Sexual Correctness."

The tone of these pieces and of my mail suggests the same thing. People in favor of exploring new sexual codes of conduct are seen as the New Puritans, unromantic, libidino-squashing, hormone-hostile prudes. People who criticize the codes do so as the Ardent Sensualists, friends of uninhibited unrepresentative love.

Well, frankly, I think the struggle — however awkward — to rewrite the dialogue about sexual relations is a good one. But not because I am opposed to sexual freedom. Because I am, blush, a believer in sexual pleasure.

The point of the talk of sexual consent is, first of all, to protect women from violence. But the freedom from violence, from the fear of forced sex, is itself a first step toward sexual pleasure. Mutual sexual pleasure.

Remember the Palm Beach rape case? Mary Koss of the University of Arizona asked, mischievously and seriously, what would happen if the burden of proof in such a rape case were turned around. What if a man had to convince a jury that he went into the sexual encounter with the intention of having a mutually satisfying experience? What if a woman's pleasure were the standard of consent? Why is that the sort of question only asked by female stand-up comics?

This is what's being asked on many campuses. I am not suggesting that it's rape unless she has an orgasm — though I doubt if any women who had an orgasm Saturday night called it date rape Sunday morning.

But I am suggesting that women and many men are redefining sexual liberation. Sexual liberation is no longer a question of whether and how often a woman does it with how many men. It's a question of her own joy in the sex. It's being redefined by women who need to feel free from fear. Free from pressure, to feel.

Nobody has done a poll on pleasure, but I wonder about the early sexual experiences of young women in the post-sexual revolution. How many actively chose their partner, their moment, and how many were pressured? How many of those women felt pleasure the first time? How many felt disappointment? These early experiences can set up an imbalance that infects the relationships of men and women, husbands and wives, years later.

The most quoted line in Katie Rolphe's book is that "someone's rape may be another person's bad night." It's a line that not only trivializes rape but trivializes the effect of the bad night. It not only denies the reality of sexual violence and minimizes the old fear of pregnancy and the new fear of AIDS — it also denies the desire for good nights.

One young man who read about the Antioch policy blurted out honestly and angrily that if he had to get verbal consent, he would "never get to have sex." The checklist the Antioch students wrote is a bit much, but what he saw as an impediment to sex, may be a prerequisite for a lifetime of mutual pleasure.

I'm not surprised that women who have assumed equality in so many areas of life are pursuing it in this most intimate place. I'm not surprised that women who were given one definition of sexual liberation would want to write their own. Nor am I surprised that the men in their lives and on their campuses would join that process.

Call it prudishness if you want. But at root, they are finally talking about the pleasure principle.

Because I am, blush, a believer in sexual pleasure.

NAFTA raises Kantor's stock

WASHINGTON — The real comeback kid of the Clinton administration may be U.S. Trade Representative Mickey Kantor, who is coordinating the administration's uphill battle to win congressional passage of the North American Free Trade Agreement. The agreement may sink, but Kantor has shined.

"The president thinks he (Kantor) has done an extraordinarily good job," said one senior White House official. "I think this guy is very savvy. He's a Bob Strauss kind of negotiator. He knows how to show people their self-interest. He brings a lot of the skills of politics to the negotiating table."

During a recent interview, Kantor was surprisingly measured for a man who has been under constant fire from anti-NAFTA demagogues such as Ross Perot. Yet Kantor resists matching Perot's pantomiming with what would be an equally absurd claim that NAFTA will be a panacea.

"We can't continue the status quo with Mexico," says Kantor. "The rules are stacked against American workers. This is what confuses me about (the critics') position. Why wouldn't you want to change those and make them better? What is it about 80 percent of the loaf that's not as good as zero?"

Kantor and White House officials know they are still well short of the House votes needed to pass NAFTA on Nov. 17. From the start, anti-NAFTA forces have been better organized, more vocal and more diversified in their critique of the pact. Clinton didn't begin pushing it until early September, by which time NAFTA was trailing by more than 100 votes in the House.

The White House began by adopting a divide-and-conquer strategy: Approach each undecided member, find out what was bothering them about the agreement and address it personally. The closely guarded White House vote count lists by category what is required to woo undecided members — including "district candy" (read pork barrel spending), "vice presidential appearances" and "calls from Cabinet members." But poor coordination between the White House and its congressional allies almost created a backfire.

"The problem we had for 10 days was that we found out what they needed and then the administration wasn't delivering it," one House Democratic leader told us. If a member mentioned organized labor as the reason for voting no, it was regarded as a lost cause. "I think you can probably look at the (Federal Elections Commission) reports of everybody, and if they're getting over half their money from labor, they're gone. If they're not, maybe they're willing to stand up," says the House Democrat.

With the loss of House Majority Leader Richard Gephardt, D-Mo., to the anti-NAFTA side, attention is focusing on Rep. Henry Waxman, D-Calif., the leading environmentalist in the House, who is undecided and could take as many a dozen votes with him when he makes up his mind.

There have been some unsettling moments for pro-NAFTA members of the House Democratic leadership. One Democratic leader recalls getting a call from Treasury Secretary Lloyd Bentsen asking for his vote. "I said 'Lloyd, I'm with you,'" the member says. "They (the administration) are not functioning. Something isn't clicking."

Pass or fail, Kantor's performance on NAFTA marks the end of a personal comeback.

The agreement may sink, but Kantor has shined.

Conference

justice. Africa has often provided a focus for the BWA's ministries. She also said to keep the youth involved in Baptist affairs, the Youth People's Department was formed in 1928 in Toronto, Canada.

The opening session brought greetings to the 4,000 youth from around the world, singing and giving praise to the Lord in their native languages and costumes. Their being there, Mrs. Bentley said, expressed their witnessing through the medium of music and arts. It indeed was an explosion of enthusiasm and sheer joy which brought to life the theme "Risking All for Christ." The opening show displayed the exciting array of talent — dance, drama, puppetry, instrumentalists, soloists, choirs and bands representing many countries. She said the praise and worship times consisted of top professional studio musicians drawn from Zimbabwe, South Africa, and the international community. Taking part in the evening celebrations was a mass international choir with the African choirs as its base. Boston and Bentley agreed that one couldn't have felt any more welcomed as when the words of the "Welcome Theme Song" sung by Patrick Dube of Zimbabwe were echoed throughout. "There is Hope" was the production theme sung by Dave and Liz Pass. The songs and hymns for the conference, they said, reflected the wide variety of traditional and youth music available throughout the world, with traditional African choruses and songs included.

The morning community groups, Boston said, were led in praise and worship by artists and groups from around the world. They expressed a variety of musical style and culture. This was exciting to her because she is a musician and an expressionist in her way of dressing.

The conference in itself was a learning experience. There were worship and praise services similar to local conferences, and the youth were focused on the issues in today's world. There were seminars on the topics of "Dealing with the Reality of AIDS, Sexuality and Spirituality, Christians and Human Rights, The Role of Young Christians in Politics, Peacemakers in a Violent World, Christian Lifestyles in the Midst of Poverty, Baptists — Who Are We?, Responsible Use of the Media in Presenting the Gospel, Windows for Women, and Sharing Your Faith Through Sports and Recreation." Bentley said certainly the challenge was there for Christians to take advantage of — "Risking All for Christ — Our Only Hope to Reach the World."

Keynote speakers were from Romania, Nigeria, England, Zimbabwe; Tony Campolo who represented the United States, and India. They told of the many cultural interchanges, the learning, Bible studies and fellowship about the joys and sufferings of the worldwide Baptist family. These images will forever remain in the minds and hearts of these two missionaries who thought it not robbery to "Risk All for Christ" and attend the conference. They will never forget the thrill of seeing 4,000 young people gather in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ to celebrate, to explore and to apply God's word and to have an intercultural fellowship with one another. There were personal encounters in small groups; there were many friends made from all over the world. Bentley brought back a walking cane given to her by a young lady who wanted to be her friend. She has already heard from her and they will continue to exchange letters and gifts from the United States and Africa.

The 12th Baptist Youth World Conference of August 1993 gave many stories and experiences to Boston and Bentley which will remain with them for the rest of their lives. They will remember that many young people from Africa literally risked all they had in just getting to the conference. Thirty young people from Kenya they said traveled six days by boat, train and bus to get to Harare. They all went home rejoicing saying, "It was worth it!" The United States made history as the newly elect president of the Youth Department was chosen, Ronald Bobo, pastor of Westside Missionary Baptist Church, St. Louis, Mo.

The two travelers said it is not always possible to convey in words the feelings of hope that occurs when Baptists from around the world gather to encourage one another. There were moving stories of witness and service expressed by citizens of Brazil, Togo, Zimbabwe, Nagaland, Korea (where the last conference was held), Belarus, Romania, Ghana, Australia, Cuba and many other countries. The fact remains that Baptists speak many languages, represent many cultures, even have different political persuasions said Bentley, but there is a core belief in Christ and scripture which unites all. They are aware of the psalmist and what he meant when he said, "How pleasant it is when brethren dwell together in unity."

These two women are planning their next conference which will be held in Buenos Aires, Argentina Aug. 1-6, 1995. They agree it's not too early to plan.

Editor's note: Part 1 of the African conference experience appeared Sunday, Oct. 24. Copies are still available.

Joseph Wise, director of transportation for the school district, said he believes the committee has done a good job of reviewing the bus stops and making recommendations to the board.

"This is a hard-working group," he said.

Recommendations for discontinued service would still need to be approved by the school board.

Did you remember

If your body clock appears to be out of sync with the clocks in your home, you remembered.

According to the Uniform Time Act of 1986, (amended in 1988), the last Sunday in October marks the end of Daylight Saving Time, and the return to Standard Time. 'Spring forward, fall back' to remember which way to turn the clocks. In this case, you should have turned your clocks back at 2 a.m. this morning to 1 a.m.

Alleged rape still under investigation

LONGWOOD — Police are still investigating an alleged rape that occurred early Friday morning.

While no arrest has been made, Police Capt. Terry Baker said a capias has been filed through the State Attorney's office.

The case is "questionable," Baker said. He refused further comment, however.

The suspect, who is presently in South Seminole Community Hospital where he is receiving treatment after attempting suicide just prior to the time police found him, is expected to be transferred to the Seminole Crisis Center for psychological treatment soon. After that, he will be free to go, Baker said.

Man arrested for sexual assault

Seminole County sheriff's deputies arrested a 35-year-old man Thursday, charging him with the kidnapping and sexual assault of a woman in Winter Springs last month.

Deputies said Mark Hokey is accused in an incident that occurred at Question Pond at the county's Environmental Study Center in Winter Springs.

Deputies said that at 3:30 p.m. on Sept. 20, Hokey assaulted the woman after tying her up in a wooded area in the park.

According to Ed McDonough, public information officer for the Seminole County sheriff's office, investigators had received an anonymous tip regarding Hokey's movements since the incident.

He was taken into custody Friday morning at a restaurant in Fern Park.

of using their positions for private gain on the lease.

The Orlando area boasted only one foreign trade consulate, a one-person Canadian office, until 1989 when the Italian Trade Commission Center opened next door to a supermarket in a complex owned by frozen food king Jeno Paulucci.

The two Italian trade officials allegedly picked the site over more favorable U.S. locations, overpaid on a lease that was for five years instead of one as stipulated by the Trade Institute's board of directors and falsified records to cover up the lease.

Memo to the Board of Directors, dated 11/15/89, and Giovanni Peruzzi, 55, director of the center, have denied the charges.

Calls to the center were referred to New York, headquarters for Italy's North American trade operations.

"We have no comment on any matter," said Gaspare Asaro, deputy trade commissioner in New York in charge of the Florida office.

More than 2,000 business and political figures have been implicated in the Italian investigations, which uncovered a longtime practice of paying bribes for contracts and exposed ties between the Mafia and political leaders.

Paulucci said he did nothing wrong in landing the trade center, and any doubts about the suitability of the Orlando area for the site were "stupid."

Paulucci said he insisted on a five-year lease and was unaware of a one-year limit. The lease for about $20 a square foot gave the center a "choice spot right at the corner of the shopping center."

He said no Italian or U.S. investigators have contacted him about the case.

Paulucci, 75, made millions before selling the Chun King and Jeno's frozen food lines and now is offering the Michelin and Yu Sing brands. He founded the National Italian American Foundation in Washington and served as its chairman until retiring last year.

The center, which was expanded in 1990 to include nearly 10,000 square feet of exhibit space, is the only foreign trade exhibition center in the United States outside New York.

Aside from occasional shows of Italian goods, the center stood empty most of the time except for its small office, where a director and several assistants worked.

Italian Trade Commission employees are paid by the government, but much of the operations are financed by private trade organizations representing manufacturers and designers.

medications I take my physician still won't let me drive. So my dear wife, Louise, "pedals" me here 'n there when I have chores away from home. Consequently, I have time on my hands and am writing a history of the Orin H. and Cara Bradshaw Stenstrom family. After my father died in 1935 my mother married John W. Salisbury, an ACL locomotive engineer in 1942.

Some of you real old timers might help me. My dad as a young man worked for the Atlantic Coast Line. He was a member of a switch engine crew. In 1918 he was severely injured in a railroad accident at Rands Siding. His left thigh was crushed. He was brought to the office of ACL physician Oliver J. Miller Sr., M.D. When stabilized he was immediately sent to the ACL hospital in Waycross, Ga. That's where he met my mother, a registered nurse.

The question is this: We know that Mrs. George H. Fernald donated her lovely home at Fifth and Oak which became known as the Fernald-Laughton Memorial Hospital. But that didn't take place until May 1919. Therefore, where was my dad treated before being sent to Waycross. But that's not the only reason for the question.

You real old timers will remember Jesse E. Spurling. He and his wife Katie parented six daughters. They resided in the huge, white manor home on the west side of the 2000 block of Mellonville Avenue. It was known as "The Oaks." Tragedy struck this family twice.

First, Spurling's wife died in 1911 at the age of 36, leaving those six girls. It is believed she may have passed away at a "hospital" believed to be located on the southeast corner of Eighth and Elm once owned by M.M. Smith. It was directly across the street from the house most of us remember as the Annie Nelson home. Many of you oldsters may recall that for many years Miss Annie managed the lunchroom at Sanford Grammar School between Sixth and Eighth streets and Myrtle and Elm avenues.

(We have been told Sanford Grammar may have been the first public school in Florida to serve hot lunches.)

We have checked with some real old timers, such as 82-year-old Eunice Martin, and her sister, old Olga Hunter, and others. But nobody can recall the Smith home at Eighth and Elm being a "hospital." On the other hand we have learned that the mother of Miss Annie and her brothers, Ernest (Shorty) and Edward, Matilda Nelson was somewhat of a nurse and mid-wife and assisted some Sanford physicians in birthing children.

Since Spurling was a Methodist there was talk of placing the six daughters — since the oldest was only 10, in the denomination's children's home across Lake Monroe in Enterprise. But Spurling decided to raise the six girls himself.

The second tragedy came in 1928. Spurling was quite visible in Sanford since he drove what might have been the area's only Pierce-Arrow sedan, noticeable for its unusual configured headlights. Spurling, who had been instrumental in founding the Christian Missionary Alliance Church at 14th and Park, was killed in an auto accident at Park Avenue and 25th Street.

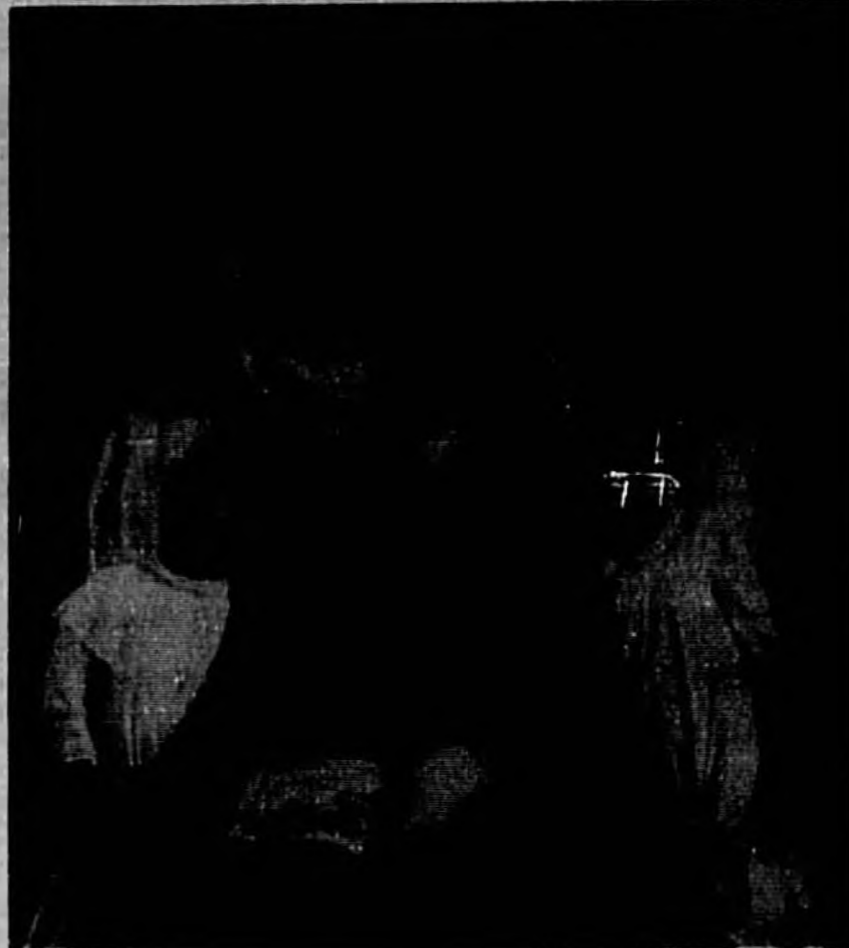

Three of the daughters are still living. They are Mrs. Blanche Stringer of Winder, Ga., widow of furniture man Ivy Stringer and mother of former Sanford resident, Tommy Stringer; Mrs. Anabel Cowan of Orlando, widow of local department store owner, Ralph Cowan, and mother of Ralph Cowan Jr., an accountant at J.C. Penney; and Mrs. Thelma Danforth of Orlando, widow of Harold Danforth who founded WDDB of Orlando, central Florida's first radio station.

The three deceased daughters are Mrs. Beulah Mae Wells, wife of well-known Sanford outdoor sportsman and mechanic — the late George Edward Wells; Mrs. Florence Birdie Monforton, wife of the late furniture man Edward Monforton of Sanford, and Mrs. Ola Keene, wife of Edward Keene of Jacksonville.

Prominent among the daughters in Sanford was Beulah who was the mother of a well known quartet of sisters. They were Mildred Katie, Florence Elizabeth, Violet Mae and Gladys Meta.

Mildred is the widow of the late William (Bill) Stemper, former Sanford mayor, insurance and real estate agency owner. Florence is the wife of retired Sanford lawyer Douglas Stenstrom who is a former Seminole County judge, state senator and for 25 years attorney for the local school board. Violet is the widow of World War

We've also learned that about 1908, or perhaps a couple years earlier, Dr. James N. Robson had an office and either a "hospital" or "clinic" with several beds in a three-story house located about in the middle of the west side of the 200 block of Park Avenue. The Robson family resided nearby on the northwest corner of Third and Park.

Dr. Robson, native of Charleston, S.C., got his college education there, took a two-year pharmacy course in Charleston, then went to that city's medical college for four years. One of his sons, Harry, now 74, recalls when during local epidemics folks lined up at his father's office for shots to combat flu, diphtheria and other illnesses. There was no charge for the injections, Harry said. But his dad put a c/c box at the exit and folks would contribute whatever they could afford.

We also found out there was a physician named Mitchell who had an office in a two-story

Transfer

Reasons for the transfer...

Wolflinger said the transfer was made for several reasons. He said he was afraid he would lose Bosco, a "top flight" prosecutor, due to her daily commutes between Volusia and Brevard Counties. He said he wanted to give her a position closer to her home.

Also, Wolflinger said there were several vacancies in Brevard and Seminole counties, a situation further challenged by the Oct. 11 resignation of Seminole County division chief Jack Scalera following his drunken driving arrest.

But Wolflinger volunteered that Eriksson's comments to county commissioners, and his Clearwater comments, contributed to his decision to move Eriksson. The now open conflict between he and Wood, previously confined largely to the courtroom, was damaging to justice, he said.

"One of my responsibilities is to assure that juvenile justice runs efficiently and open communication is an important element of that," said Wolflinger. "I can't remove too many people, but I can remove someone to improve effectiveness. I can't move a judge, but I can move one of my people. I'm not going to let bickering between parties rule."

The complaints begin...

The transfer ends Eriksson's tenure as a prosecutor in Seminole County which continued for more than 19 years. It was the last 43 months as chief of the Juvenile Division that Eriksson created the greatest controversy.

The complaints began soon after Eriksson took over the position. On April 24, 1990 — less than two months after Eriksson assumed control of the office — Guardian Ad Litem director Ortrich Gross wrote Wolflinger, saying while Eriksson had helped improve the processing of cases, he seemed unprepared at times. GAL volunteers represent the child in dependency and abuse cases.

Abuse cases were delayed and delayed again because he failed to subpoena state witnesses, she wrote.

"These cases are not difficult to prove, but they do take some preparation and planning. Neither is occurring," she wrote.

GAL complaints continued into the following year when Gross submitted a packet of seven letters from GAL volunteers complaining about Eriksson's conduct, especially in dependency cases. As a result of the complaints, Gross said she met with county division director Russ Bausch, Eriksson and his staff were removed from all future dependency cases.

Eriksson and Wolflinger say the laws regarding prosecutor's involvement had changed and as a result, prosecutors were no longer involved in the process. The GAL and Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services each retained attorneys.

"They thought I was the GAL's attorney," said Eriksson. "I was not. I was to represent HRS and the state of Florida. GAL kept going in and getting Judge (Leonard) Wood to issue orders with no one else present. They are a party to proceedings, but not to the exclusion of everyone else."

The GAL rift continued until Eriksson's transfer. Nancy Armstrong, program coordinator, said his removal was a "relief." Armstrong said it often appeared to her that Eriksson was working on behalf of the parents, when HRS attorneys were seeking to have them removed from the household.

Eriksson responded he has a duty to uphold the law, even if that meant pointing out the law to an opposing attorney.

In the open...

Although Wolflinger admits he has had an ongoing concern about excess staffing in Seminole County, that concern reached a head in September when Eriksson appeared before the county commission. He questioned the need for a juvenile justice coordinator, saying he and his secretary have little to do.

Eriksson also told commissioners probationers were being under-used and were allowed to choose easy assignments rather than being forced to clean roadsides and other tasks now performed by tax-funded employees.

The comments attracted circuit Chief Judge Jerry Lober, Seminole County Administrative Judge O.H. Eaton Jr., and Wood to another meeting 10 days later in defense. Wood said he could not have "unraveled the mess" he found when he took over as juvenile division judge nearly five years ago without the aid of the coordinator, Steve Shapiro and his secretary.

Wood told commissioners his changes to the system after taking the juvenile division in 1989 may have caused problems with prosecutors and defenders.

"It took me three or four months to unravel that shambles," said Wood. "During that time, I may have created some personal animosities with the state attorney's office or public defender's office," said Wood. "It's disappointing that somebody who is disgruntled with the this system tries to affect people who have been performing their job efficiently."

Commissioners didn't make changes, but they ordered an audit to establish what the coordinator and other judicial officers do.

On the road...

But Eriksson saved his strongest critique during his appearance in Clearwater before the Juvenile Detention Task Force, working under the Governor's Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Advisory Committee. A tape of Eriksson's comments was obtained from the task force HRS liaison, Kimberly Budnick.

Eriksson is heard to refer to a "snapshot" study performed for the task force which showed the Seminole County Juvenile Detention Center had 2.3 percent of the 1,398 juveniles in detention on Aug. 23, 1993. But the study found six of the 17 juveniles detained for contempt, 35 percent, were in the Seminole County JDC.

Confinement solely for contempt has been prohibited by the Florida Supreme Court since October 1992.

"How can we expect children to respect the law when those administering the law intentionally violate it or the law is obviously violated with respect to the child," Eriksson said.

"Are you saying your judiciary is acting in blatant disregard for the law?" came a question.

"If you look in the court file, I'm saying this is what you'll find," Eriksson answered.

One task force member was heard to comment, "Ralph, do you plan to continue living in Seminole County?" to the chuckles of other members.

Another task force member asked if Eriksson planned to file a complaint with the Judicial Qualifications Commission or elsewhere.

Eriksson can be heard to comment, "Not yet."

Eriksson said his last comment was meant to mean he didn't know.

"What I meant to say was I'm not yet aware of anybody filing such a complaint," said Eriksson. When asked if he planned to file such a complaint, he paused and answered "No comment."

The comments angered one committee member so much he telephoned Wood the next day. Hillsborough County Circuit Judge Vince Giglio said Eriksson's comments surprised everyone.

"He said the judiciary was guilty of illegally detaining children in the juvenile detention center," said Giglio. "I'm not about to sit there and hear someone malign when they are not there to defend themselves. It struck me as somewhat cowardly to make those comments."

Wood said he has not detained juveniles strictly on contempt charges, but does exercise judicial discretion.

"When I detain somebody over there, I feel it's for the safety of the public," Wood said in response to the charges. "I believe it is an unbelievable position for the chief of the juvenile division of the State Attorney's Office to take."

The exact nature of the six contempt detentions could not be determined due to confidentiality of juvenile court records, but David Croy, in charge of all JDCs in central Florida, said all six were sent there by Seminole County judges.

Although all of the contempt confinements came from Seminole County judicial orders, Croy said only 44 percent of all children held at the JDC were from Seminole County courts.

Only give or accept tightly wrapped or packaged candy.

rooms during the past six months. Most were from Orange County because the JDC in Orlando was full, Croy said.

Ethical responsibility...

Eriksson said he has a responsibility to right wrongs, wherever they may be.

"I certainly do," he said. "My personal morals and my oath as an attorney require me to do so. I was taking a very aggressive posture because I want someone to come and look at the file. I was not able to get anyone in Seminole County interested in the use of the detention center."

or politics...

Wood has his own idea about the criticisms and the transfer.

"It's been very obvious to me and my people he will run against me next year," said Wood. "That's behind the transfer. He'll be getting exposure in Brevard County. That's where the votes are."

"That's hogwash," answered Wolflinger. "Their personal back and forth and dislikes have no place in the justice system. Titusville is the smaller of the jurisdictions in Brevard."

"I've not given any thought to it," said Eriksson. "It's not a burning desire of mine."

The final word?

Wolflinger: "The bickering between him and Ralph belongs in juvenile court. It's time to move on to adult court, for everybody."

Lions set for Homecoming

OVIDEO — Oviedo High School's students, teachers and parents have completed plans for Homecoming 1993.

Festivities will culminate with the football game on Friday, Nov. 5 against Lake Mary High School and the Homecoming Dance in the Oviedo High Commons on Saturday, Nov. 6.

Special events have been planned for every day during the week before the game. Dress up days, the annual Powder Puff game, a Mr. Oviedo Contest and the School Spirit Day are part of the calendar of events.

The Homecoming Parade on Friday will begin at the school's campus, travel through downtown Oviedo and return to John Courier Field for a pep rally.

There will be a pre-game barbecue sponsored by Bono's Barbecue and the Oviedo High School Booster Club. It will be from 5 to 7 p.m. in the front parking lot at the school.

Tickets are available and cost $5 in advance, $6 at the gate and $3 for children.

The pre-game festivities begin at 7 p.m.

A special half-time show will feature the crowning of this year's Homecoming Queen and the introduction of alumni Homecoming Queens.

The Homecoming Dance will be on Saturday night in the school's commons.

"The students, faculty and staff of Oviedo High School join me in inviting all alumni of the school to return to campus for Homecoming 1993," said principal Wayne Epps.

Students celebrate drug free lives

Red ribbons adorned the offices in the administration building at Seminole to welcome the start of this year's Red Ribbon Week.

S.A.D.D. (Students Against Driving Drunk) sponsors this annual celebration of living drug-free lives, and to spread the word there was a lot to do.

Monday morning announcements were read reminding students of the importance of leading healthy lives and a fundraiser was introduced.

"We tried to think of a way to get everyone involved other than the traditional things, so we came up with a 'Drug Free and Proud' chain. Basically the students and Faculty buy a strip of red paper for 10¢ to be added to other papers creating a chain. The different classes compete with each other and with the display them next week at the Homecoming pep rally. So far the teachers are winning," explained Jaime Dillman, chairperson of S.A.D.D.

Throughout the week members of the club read important information on the history and reasons behind Red Ribbon Week. Tuesday afternoon posters were hung that were drawn and designed by club member Donnie Cerce and club advisor Mr. Jennison that read 'Real Life IS Drug Free' and on Wednesday students and staff displayed their pride by wearing the famed red ribbons.

"I really liked seeing so many people wearing the ribbons. I even had a lot of kids come up to me and ask for them. That shows that we're not as messed up as everyone likes to think," said Dillman.

The celebration of not using illegal substances was started in 1985 in memory of Drug Enforcement Agent Enrique Camerena who was tortured and murdered by drug traffickers.

Since then, both M.A.D.D. and S.A.D.D. have adopted the event into their programs.

"This has been a very positive week. We've been selling out of the chain papers so we'll have to make more and everyone has been great about showing support," concluded Dillman.

As the ribbons come down and the chains grow, this Red Ribbon Week draws to a close and Homecoming Week shines on the horizon.

Jaime Dillman, who prepared this report, is the chairperson of S.A.D.D. at Seminole High.

Homecoming set at Seminole

The 16 candidates for King and Queen of Seminole High's Homecoming '93 have been decided.

Voted for last week in Contact classes, the candidates for queen are: Daphne Brown, Velabrina Campbell, Jill Gruby, Sarah Letchworth, Briget Nasso, Lindsay Marwick, Jennifer Snell and Heather Youmans.

The candidates for Homecoming king are: Jason Boffey, Andre Hall, Brian Haworth, Alex Martinez, Matt Parker, Anthony Sanders, Gerard Shine and Shawn Stewart.

From these candidates, the girl receiving the most votes will be named the Homecoming Queen and the boy with the most will be named the Homecoming King.

King and Queen candidates will ride together as couples in the Homecoming Parade in downtown Sanford on Nov. 4. All are seniors (as all court nominees and members must be) and are well known throughout the school. The King and Queen will be announced during the Homecoming game on the evening of Nov. 5.

This year the Fighting Seminoles will be playing the Leesburg Yellowjackets (...again).

The theme for Homecoming is "Beware...Seminole Park," after "Jurassic Park," the smash movie hit.

Clubs, bands, organizations, ROTC, dance team, cheerleaders and, of course, the football team, will all be involved in the parade.

To embellish the Homecoming Week, theme days have been decided.

Monday is designated as Hippie Day. Like the hippies who went before him, senior Rod Gorby will don the free spirit attire.

"Hippie Day is the one day I can be myself without standing out," Gorby remarked.

Tuesday will be Twin Day. Students will pick a friend and they will dress as twins.

Wednesday will be GG Day. Students will "put on the Ritz" by "dressing to the nines."

Thursday, revelers will dress in their favorite college colors or outfits.

Friday, the big day, students will show their spirit by wearing the black and orange school colors. Also on Friday, classes will decorate their classroom doors to show their spirit. Long a tradition at Seminole High, door decorating allows everyone to get into the act.

Decorated doors are judged during second period and the winning class is honored at the Homecoming Pep Rally.

The Homecoming Pep Rally promises to be a blockbuster this year.

As always, it will be in the stadium instead of the gym and will be longer than the usual 20 minutes. Clubs will perform skits focusing on the Seminole Park theme.

Rumor has it that a very large prehistoric yellow jacket may make an appearance only to be squashed by the Seminole Park rangers (the Fighting Seminoles).

Also during the Pep Rally the court will be introduced and a senior hat contest will take place. Seniors traditionally make highly decorated newspaper hats and wear them during the day. Since this is their last high school pep rally, the focus on the seniors is understandable.

During halftime at the Homecoming game, the Marching Seminoles will kick off the festivities by opening the program. The Flag Corps and the ROTC sabre team will be on hand to usher in the Homecoming court.

Lisa Cullum

Candidates for Queen will be escorted by their fathers; candidates for King by their mothers. After the introductions are made, the newly-elected royalty will be crowned by Mrs. Schapker. They will reign for the next year.

Another event is the Homecoming Dance, following the Homecoming game Friday night.

Nothing is the buzzword around school more than "Homecoming." Mainly when they refer to "Homecoming," they are referring to the dance.

A mini-prom of sorts, this is a fun way to get together with friends and have a good time.

Dressing up is all part of the experience and adds to the excitement of the night. This year's dance will be held at the Sanford Civic Center. The cost is $4 in advance and $5 at the door.

Tickets will be sold before school and at both lunches every day beginning Tuesday.

Lisa Cullum, who wrote this column, is a junior at Seminole High School.

Students of the month at Goldsboro Elementary are: Mohagany Waldo, Justin Baker, Zantavious Joseph, Britney Bryant, Barbara Gray, Mary Kimball, Tyler Markovitz, Frederick Tiger, Holly Swofford, Glenn Lee, Brandon Bryant, Samantha Carver, Jamie Clemmons and Marvin Knight.

As well as Christine Williams, Steven Chapman, Christine Barrett, Tracy Morgan, Alex Effinis, Corten Terkera, Gregory Abache, Toby Dykes, Jerome McKinzie, Sabrina Ellison, Jasmoan Davis and Alicia Abram.

Also Christopher Castner, Ashley Case, Jeffrey Peterson, Annie Correa, Jerone Hunter, Kyle Horick, Jason Blanton and Tarius Burke.

Winter Springs Elementary School's artist and authors of the month:

Third grader Brandi Nordine was named artist of the month.

Authors of the month included: Christina Gekas, Nichole Davis, Brian Wood, Brooke Barker, Evita Rodrigues, Erin Leichtenberg, Jennifer Wykoff, Monica Tyminski and Jessica Breland.

HOUSE CALL

New procedures for heart disease

Coronary angioplasty, percutaneous transluminal coronary angioplasty (PTCA), was started by Dr. Gruentzig in Switzerland in 1977. It is performed like a cardiac catheterization. A long tube (catheter) is inserted into the artery in the groin area and a tiny guidewire and balloon are introduced. The balloon catheter is advanced and positioned at the narrowed area of the coronary artery. The balloon is inflated and the cholesterol plaques are squeezed and flattened against the artery wall. It opens the artery so that blood may flow through it more freely.

—Joe S. Kim, M.D.

The PTCA has been very effective, and its use has grown rapidly. In the U.S., over 250,000 procedures are done in a year, which is about the same number as coronary bypass surgeries. The initial success rate is 90 percent. Emergency CABG surgery due to a complication from a PTCA is performed in one to three percent of cases but death occurs in less than one percent. Restenosis (the return of artery narrowing) occurs in about 30 percent of cases, mostly within six months after the PTCA. A second PTCA usually gives good results with fewer complications.

Atherectomy actually cuts and removes cholesterol plaques (like Roto-rooter) in the coronary compared to the PTCA. Laser angioplasty may be considered only for the areas which cannot be dilated by PTCA.

Stents are made from metal wires and are used with a balloon catheter to scaffold the treated vessel. They are used to dilate larger vessels such as bypass grafts.

Balloon valvuloplasty, in this procedure valves can be dilated using a large size balloon, but there are still technical difficulties to overcome. It offers temporary relief to the patients who cannot undergo valve surgery.

Cardiac transplantations have been performed successfully for the very sick patient, but the problem is the limited number of donors. Many researchers are working on new artificial hearts.

artery. This is still experimental. Its complication rate is somewhat higher than PTCA and the restenosis rate is over 30 percent. The arthroectomy may be used for an obstruction of a bypass graft or for the restenosis after PTCA.

Laser angioplasty, this technique is also experimental. It is more difficult to perform and there is a higher possibility of complications and restenosis

Made with love

The members of HCA Central Florida Regional Hospital Auxiliary sponsored a craft, plant and book sale in the cafeteria to the delight of many of the visitors to the hospital. CDC predicting severe influenza season

VNA, ALA begin flu prevention, inoculation

By KELLEY MITCHELL
Herald Staff Writer

In 1992 there were more than 129 million reported cases of influenza nationwide, resulting in 249.6 million bed days. Officials at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention are predicting that this year's influenza season will be much worse with the Texas, Panama and Beijing strains, according to the Visiting Nurse Association.

In an effort to offset these predictions, the VNA Respite Care and the American Lung Association are mounting an influenza prevention and inoculation drive urging individuals to get immunized against this potentially serious lung disease.

The best period to receive the vaccine is between October and November, before the peak of the influenza season.

The disease usually starts with chills and fever, which rises quickly to as high as 103°F. These signs are often accompanied by, or followed by, headache, backache, and an overall sense of weakness. Sore throat, cough, runny nose, inflamed and watery eyes and flushed skin often occur. Children with flu tend to experience nausea and vomiting. Symptoms usually improve within a few days to a week, but in some patients weakness, fatigue and sweating may last for several weeks.

Pneumonia and other lung infections, heart conditions such as myocarditis and encephalitis are among the serious complications of flu.

Vaccination is especially important for people with an increased risk of complications from the disease and for those who are likely to spread it.

These groups are: people who are 65 or older; people with chronic heart, kidney or lung disorders; children with asthma; people with diseases of the immune system, metabolic disorders such as diabetes, and blood disorders such as inherited anemias and sickle cell; children and teenagers on long-term aspirin therapy; residents of nursing homes; people who live with or are in close contact with someone in one of the above groups.

VNA nurses will be in area neighborhoods for the next month giving flu shots for $10 per shot.

The schedule for the VNA flu shot program for Seminole is as follows:

• Thursday, Nov. 4, from 9 a.m. to noon, Publix, 81 Alafaya Woods Blvd., Oviedo.

• Thursday, Nov. 4, from 3-6 p.m. Albertson's, 2381 S.R. 434, Longwood.

• Wednesday, Nov. 10, from 3-7 p.m., City of Longwood Community Building, 194 S. Wilma St., Longwood.

• Thursday, Nov. 11, from 9 a.m. to noon, Publix, 2160 Howland Blvd., Deltona.

• Thursday, Nov. 11, from 3-6 p.m., Albertson's, 503 E. Altamonte Springs Dr., Altamonte Springs.

• Wednesday, Nov. 17, from 2-6 p.m., Seminole County School Board, Mellonville Ave., Sanford.

• Thursday, Nov. 18, from 9 a.m. to noon, Gooding's, 1024 E. Hwy. 436, Casselberry.

• Thursday, Nov. 18, from 3-6 p.m., Publix, 651 W. Lake Mary Blvd., Lake Mary.

• Thursday, Dec. 2, from 9 a.m. to noon, Gooding's, 1074 Montgomery Rd., Altamonte Springs.

Flu shot advised for some athletes

By IRA DREYFUSS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Aerobic athletes who work out very hard may need flu shots, because their training can leave their immune systems weakened, a researcher says.

"In my book, they are in the same camp as the elderly and as health care workers, who are at increased risk," said David Nieman, professor of health and exercise science at Appalachian State University in Boone, N.C.

Nieman's earlier work has shown that highly trained runners are more likely than more moderate exercisers to succumb to respiratory infections such as a cold or the flu.

Most exercisers, who work out at more moderate levels, don't face this special need, said Nieman, an expert on the relationship between exercise and infection.

Very hard workouts create an outpouring of the stress hormones cortisol and epinephrine, which trigger one of the body's first lines of infection defense, natural killer cells, to flood from the spleen into the bloodstream, Nieman said.

Natural killer cells fight viruses by destroying the viruses and the cells that the viruses infect; they also destroy cancer cells in much the same way, Nieman said.

But the cells don't find an infection to fight when a hard workout mobilizes them, so they then apparently look in other tissue, and don't return to the spleen for up to six hours, Nieman said.

"We feel viruses can gain a foothold in that period. Increasing the risk that an athlete will come down with something later on," Nieman said.

Nieman and colleagues investigated this by having 10 highly trained runners work at almost a race pace on a treadmill for 45 minutes in one test and walk for 45 minutes in another. Researchers checked the athletes' blood for numbers of natural killer cells and for levels of the stress hormones.

The study was published in the American College of Sports Medicine's journal, Medicine and Science in Sports and Exercise.

Cortisol and epinephrine levels were significantly higher when the exercisers ran but not when they walked, the report said.

The higher levels of stress hormones drew a lot of natural killer cells into the blood soon after hard exercise — after which the cells' levels were down for more than three hours, the report said.

The researchers tested the ability of the natural killer cells to do their job by pitting them against cancer cells in a test tube. Activity on a per-cell basis was higher after hard exercise, but there were fewer cells in blood taken after the hard workout, so the overall effect was a reduction, the study said.

The idea that hard exercise creates a window of opportunity for infection, which Nieman and others support, has its critics, however.

Other studies indicate that highly trained athletes have higher natural killer cell levels in general, so individual exercise bouts which lower the levels for a while may not make that big a difference, said researcher Laurie Hoffman-Goetz.

Also, natural killer cell activity is only one part of the immune system, and should not be overemphasized, said Hoffman-Goetz, a professor in the Department of Health Studies at the University of Waterloo, Ontario.

Seminole County farms are smaller but more profitable

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Florida Department of Agriculture Commissioner Bob Crawford has released the 1993 Florida Agriculture Facts. Seminole County continues to have its share of the farm business.

The amount of crops and their value however, continues to be lower each season as more of the county is taken out of agricultural zoning.

The map in the 1993 report contains what might be considered irony. As Seminole County is considered as basically a vegetable crop area, the vegetable used to identify this is a stalk of celery.

Several decades ago, Sanford was known as the "Celery Capital of the World." Celery was the major cash crop, especially on fields east of the city, along the street which was named after it, "Celery Avenue."

Now, celery is only considered a major cash crop in the Everglades, with crops valued at $31,419,000 produced this year in 6,065 acres.

Specific crop acres and values in the report are based on the total 1992 calendar year.

The following statistics are listed for Seminole County:

- Crop receipts, $25,104,000;
- Livestock receipts, $2,148,000. Total, 36th in the state.
- Number of farms, 390; acres in crop/pasture, 34,068; range and woodland, 25,865 acres; total farmland acres, 59,933. 50th in the state.
- Total production and service employees, 752. Combined payroll, $1,049,000.
- Citrus production, 1,206 acres; 110,300 trees; 97,000 boxes produced. 24th in the 25 citrus producing counties in the state.
- Beef cattle, 6,600 cows; 3,400 calves & others. 40th in the state.
- Dairy cattle, not sufficient to be considered as an industry in Seminole County.
- Horses and pigs, same as dairy, too low to be considered.

Seminole County was included in several other listings. It ranked last out of 10 counties producing cucumbers. It was too low however, to be listed as one of the major top 20 producers of cabbage, beans, sweet corn, green pepper, potato, squash, strawberry, tomato, or watermelon crops, although each is grown locally, mostly in small non-farm size rural areas.

The report does not give county-by-county comparisons with previous years, but does include state-wide figures. Generally, Florida farmers are producing more crops, earning better incomes, and doing it on fewer acres than ever before.

Crawford commented, "Agriculture rivals tourism as the state's foremost industry. Florida is the nation's eighth leading agricultural state, with annual farm cash receipts totaling more than $6.1 billion."

He continued, "It also provides farm employment for as many as 127,000 people and generates more than $18 billion in farm-related economic activity."

For information on the report, contact the FDA, Bureau of Information Services, 545 E. Tennessee Street, Tallahassee, FL 32308.

FAMU rules at Citrus Bowl

ORLANDO — Kwame Vidal rushed for 157 yards and scored three touchdowns to lead Florida A&M to a 41-14 victory against Morgan State on Saturday at the Florida Citrus Bowl.

With three touchdowns in the first half, Vidal outrushed the entire Morgan State (2-8, 0-5) team by 132 yards before leaving the game in the third quarter with a fractured right leg.

Florida A&M (4-4, 2-3) scored 17 first quarter points and rolled up 594 yards of offense.

AROUND THE STATE

FSU does it again

TALLAHASSEE — Top-ranked Florida State (8-0, 6-0 Atlantic Coast Conference) survived a scare Saturday when quarterback Charlie Ward was knocked out of the game with a rib injury, the only difficulty for the Seminoles in a 54-0 victory over Wake Forest (2-5, 1-4).

Ward's roommate, freshman tailback Warrick Dunn, took up much of the offensive slack and the Seminoles tied a school record with their fourth shutout. Florida State has outscored its opponents 350-38 this season.

Florida State clinched at least a share of its second straight league title and tied an ACC record with its 15th straight victory. Maryland set the record in 1975 and 1976.

Ward, who was 13-of-20 for 125 yards, was hurt in the final minute of the half with the Seminoles already ahead 34-0.

A 14-yard pass from Jon Stark to Casselberry's Marquette Smith climaxed the rout.

Florida holds off Georgia

JACKSONVILLE — When Florida's passing game bogged down in the rain, Errick Rhett just kept on running.

Rhett rushed for 183 yards and two touchdowns and Judd Davis kicked four field goals in sloppy conditions Saturday to lead No. 10 Florida to a 33-26 victory over Georgia.

The win was the fourth straight for the Gators (6-1, 5-1 Southeastern Conference) in the bitter rivalry that Georgia (4-5, 2-5) dominated before Florida coach Steve Spurrier returned in 1990.

Rhett scored on a 9-yard run in the first quarter and carried 14 times for 46 yards during a 60-yard touchdown drive he capped with a 20-yard run for a 20-0 lead late in the third.

The 21-play march lasted nearly 11 minutes but didn't take the heart of Georgia. Kanon Parkman kicked two fourth-quarter field goals and Eric Zeier's bid to give the 'doga a chance to win in the closing seconds fell 2 yards short.

Miami tramples Temple

MIAMI — Ryan Collins threw for two touchdowns and scored on runs of 51 and 5 yards Saturday to lead fourth-ranked Miami in a sloppy 42-7 victory over Temple.

Collins had three potential touchdown passes dropped before he departed midway through the third period with Miami leading 28-7.

The Hurricanes (6-1, 4-0 Big East) extended their winning streak at home to 55 games, two shy of Alabama's NCAA record. Coach Dennis Erickson earned his 100th career victory, including 50 at Miami.

Temple (1-7, 0-4) crossed midfield only twice.

Bethune falters in second half

DAYTONA BEACH — Jamea White scored two touchdowns and set a single-season rushing record for North Carolina A&T as the Aggies defeated Bethune-Cookman 29-14 Saturday.

White, a senior, rushed for 147 yards on 16 carries, giving him 989 on the year to break the old record of 941 set in 1983 set by Mike Jones.

The Aggies (7-1, 4-1) trailed 14-0 but converted mistakes into 29 unanswered points.

AROUND THE WORLD

Magic rule London

WEMBLEY, England — Dennis Scott scored 14 points in the fourth quarter, leading the Orlando Magic to a 120-95 preseason victory Saturday night against the Atlanta Hawks.

After the Hawks had cut the lead to 81-80 early in the quarter, Scott keyed a 17-3 Orlando run with eight points — including consecutive 3-pointers to put the Magic ahead 98-83.

Scott, a fourth-year shooting guard out of Georgia Tech who has been relegated to a reserve's role, finished with 18 points.

O'Neal led the Magic with 23 points, but only had eight in the second half. Nick Anderson added 16 points and Penny Hardaway added 12.

Atlanta's Kevin Willis had 29 points and 10 rebounds, both game highs. Dominique Wilkins scored 18 points, just three in the second half.

Ayers claims district title; six county teams advance

By TONY DeBORNIER
 Herald Sports Editor

ORLANDO — On a cloudy and blustery day, the Lyman and Lake Howell girls and Lake Brantley boys cross country teams thrived while the Lake Mary, Lyman, and Oviedo boys survived.

Those six teams earned the right to advance to next Saturday's 5A-Region III meet on the strength of their showings at the 5A-District 5 meet yesterday at the Naval Training Center Annex near the Orlando International Airport.

Also advancing is Lake Mary's Angie Olson, who finished second in the girls race. Toby Ayers led the Lake Mary boys to a regional berth by winning the boys race by 13 seconds over Lake Brantley's Dan Hilley.

The top six teams and the first five individuals in both the girls and boys events advance to the regional meet.

"This race is about survival," said Lake Mary boys coach Willie Calloway. "You have to survive these rounds so that you can run again next week. And it's not about times. It's about places. You want to score well enough to advance to the next level."

Lyman and Lake Howell finished first and second, respectively, in the girls' standings, the Lyman Greyhounds posting a raw score of 51 to Lake Howell's total of 110.

Also qualifying for the regional meet were Deltona (118), Boone (146), Dr. Phillips (147), and Winter Park (151). Lake Mary's girls were seventh (184), Lake Brantley came in eighth (189), and Oviedo was 11th (274).

Despite her team's seventh-place finish, Olson qualified for the regional by finishing second to Oak Ridge's Nicole Singleton, also a single qualifier. Singleton, the only member of the Oak Ridge girls cross country team, covered the two-mile course in 12 minutes, 22 seconds while Olson finished in 12:30.

While they were shut out of the top three spots, the Lyman girls took four of the next seven positions and had their top five runners (who make up the team score) in the top 21.

Leading the Greyhounds were top-10 finishers Kianah Bresnick (fourth, 12:43), Kelly Hudson (8th, 12:44), and Maeve Alford (10th, 13:10). Also scoring for Lyman were Loretta Keith (11th, 13:11) and Linda Davis (21st, 13:44). Somer Forgy (25th, 13:51) and Melissa Filippin (53rd, 14:22) also ran for Lyman.

Doing the scoring for the second-place Lake Howell Silver Hawks were Cally Howell (sixth, 13:03), Beth Whitehead (17th, 13:33), Amy Fitch (23rd, 13:47), Tamara Salaman (24th, 13:48), and Winsome Clarke (38th, 14:02). Erin Gerber (50th, 14:32) and Isabel Cheng (52nd, 14:41) also represented Lake Howell.

Besides Olson, scoring for Lake Mary's Toby Ayers (above), who finished second to Lake Brantley's Dan Hilley in the Seminole Athletic Conference meet last week, came back to win the 5A-District 5 race Saturday, finishing 13 seconds ahead of Hilley.

OCS Rams capture volleyball, soccer crowns

From Staff Reports

MAITLAND — Orangewood Christian School snared a pair of district titles Friday, claiming the 1A-District 6 girls volleyball crown and the District 2 boys fall soccer championships.

At Warner Christian in Daytona Beach, the Rams' girls volleyball team swept Mount Dora Bible Academy (19-4), winning 15-6, 15-7.

It was the second consecutive volleyball district title for Orangewood Christian (29-3). For two members of the Rams — Allison Hirschy and Jeannifer Dickinson — it was the fourth consecutive season (volleyball, basketball, softball, and now volleyball again) where their teams were district champs.

The Rams started slowly, trailing behind 5-0 before Abigail Melton served six consecutive points (including three aces) to give Orangewood Christian a 6-5 advantage.

After Hirschy fired three aces to give the Rams some breathing room, Melanie Hogan served the last five points of the game. Amy Vandestreek contributed four kills during the first game. Andrea Hart had a pair of kills.

The second game was more of the same. Hogan was 4-for-4 from the serving line and Hirschy served the last seven points, including a stretch of four jump serves for aces. Vandestreek and Hart each registered three kills.

Meanwhile, at Lake Deatiny Park, Scott Armstrong was leading the Orangewood Christian boys soccer team to a 9-0 whipping of The Master's Academy (15-5-1) from Winter Park.

Armstrong finished with four goals and two assists. Jakob Hardrick added three goals and one assist. Chris Miller had a goal and an assist.

Dan Vandestreek also scored a goal. David Brunner and John McCully each had one assist.

Orangewood Christian (17-3-1) outshot The Master's Academy 23-3 and had a 4-1 edge in corner kicks, forcing The Master's Academy goalie to make 10 saves. Ben Maynard and Patrick Moore, who shared the goalkeeping chores for the Rams, did not have to make a save in notching the shutout.

As luck would have it, both the boys soccer and girls volleyball teams will face the same opponent in their respective regional championship games. St. John's Country Day School of Orange Park.

Both contests will be played at St. John's, the Region I boys fall soccer game scheduled to kick off at 3 p.m. and the 1A-Region III girls volleyball match set to start at 6:30 p.m.

DeLand exploits Lions' miscues

By BILL KERNS
 Herald Correspondent

DeLAND — Oviedo High School's football team returned from a week of rest with a dulled sense of execution, committing four turnovers in allowing a district loss to the homecoming DeLand Bulldogs 34-13 Friday night at Tom Storey Field.

"We didn't play well," said Oviedo head coach Jack Blanton. "Coming in, I thought we were prepared, but we just were not. I don't think I did a good job preparing us."

The loss all but erases any hopes Oviedo had of snaring a playoff berth. Currently, Lake Brantley (5-1 in the district) is in first with Lake Howell and Spruce Creek (each with two district losses) sharing second.

Oviedo (3-3 in the district, 3-5 overall), DeLand (5-3 overall and in the district), and Deltona each have three district losses.

The Lions will try to pick up the pace next Friday at 7:30 for their homecoming against district and Seminole Athletic Conference foe Lake Mary.

DeLand took a 20-0 lead and never looked back. It wasn't so much that the Bulldogs dominated, but they made the big plays and took advantage of Oviedo's mistakes. Oviedo self-destructed, squandering three golden scoring opportunities in the first half.

It started with Oviedo's first drive. After making it to DeLand's 33, Mike Smith of the Bulldogs intercepted Ryan Hinshaw's pass. In the second quarter Oviedo made it to the 22 before fumbling. Later, the Lions drove to the 28 before a botched play and a clipping penalty set them back to the 50.

Tracy Andrews scampered 28 yards for DeLand's first score on a play that typified why Blanton complained that "we didn't tackle well."

Smith, who had two interceptions in the half, set up the DeLand's second score with a 30-yard punt return to the Oviedo 10. Bill Cherry's 10-yard run made it 13-0 on the next play.

Early in the third quarter, Andre Byron made it 20-0 by sweeping outside for a 20-yard touchdown run. This followed Hinshaw's third interception.

Shawn Sams (No. 48) contributed 41 yards on four carries Friday night to Oviedo's ground attack against DeLand.

Prepare gear for shrimping season

Another shrimping season is rapidly approaching. Haulover Canal and the Oak Hill area are two local hotspots for these tasty critters.

Shrimping is a nighttime proposition involving specific gear such as lights (preferably underwater), long handled dip nets, and good anchors. Around Oak Hill, the strategy is to anchor broadside to the current during an outgoing tide. Shrimp are funneled out of Mosquito Lagoon to the awaiting shrimpers.

Underwater lights permit better visibility than the traditional gas lanterns because there is less distortion and water ripples are minimized. The best shrimp nets are made of lightweight aluminum and have wide diameter hoops for fewer missed shrimp. Quality nets have pockets in the bottom that retain shrimp so shrimp dipper can continue to harvest shrimp without fear of them escaping before time can be taken to empty the net.

With the boat anchored broadside to the current, a typical strategy is to place lights at the bow and stern with shrimpers at each end of the boat. Lights should be placed in such a fashion that the entire side of the boat is well lit. Some shrimp will float by on the surface while others will be so deep that they are barely visible.

Needless to say, fresh batteries are a must. A good battery will usually run one light for a tide of six hours. It is always a good practice to have separate lights for lights and not to use your starting battery for this purpose. It could be a long night on the water if your starting battery is drained too low to fire up your outboard motor.

Shrimping is definitely a lot of fun for the entire family. A word of caution however. When shrimping is good, it's very good, but when it's bad, it can be a very long night on the water. Always call to local tackle shops or fish camps such as Le Fil at Oak Hill to make certain that the shrimp are running to avoid having a slow night.

SHUPE'S SCOOP
Empty milk cartons and other containers are excellent for freezing shrimp. Freeze them in water to avoid freezer burn. Shrimp are also much easier to clean after they have been frozen.

FISHING FORECAST
Pay careful attention to the marine forecast before venturing out this weekend. Predicted cold fronts will make fishing conditions rough for big waters. Expect good bass fishing in the river. From Pascale Lake south will have less pressure and more lunker bass.

FISHING

Anglers serious about catching the trophy of a lifetime might well consider using shiners during the cool months. Big bass prefer large meals this time of year, and shiners account for more bass over 8 pounds than any other lure or bait.

Sebastian Inlet continues to be the place for snook action, as well as tarpon, jack crevalle, redfish, and flounder. Remember to use live bait in the daytime and lures at night.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports spotty offshore action due to high seas and dirty water. This could be a good weekend to fish in the Port for sheepshead and flounder, or go back in the Banana or Indian rivers for redfish and trout. Trout feed heavily at night during the full moon, so don't expect fast action on the flats.

Sheepshead are the top species at Ponce Inlet, and the average size is picking up with the winter run approaching. Fiddler crabs or live shrimp is the best bait for these toothy bait-stealers. Drum, redfish, and other assorted bottom species can also be caught with some regularity. The best action is taking place from the north jetties.

Richards was the better of Ekers in both series, 541-423, and game, 197-167.

BARBOUR BROTHERS
Joe Jonika edged Bill Rehlander for high series in the men's division, 528-525. Frank Harrington nipped Pete Pierce for high game, 190-186. Harrington also earned a Patch Ward for picking up a 7-9 split.

Dottie Holmes rolled the high series in the women's division with a 508, but the big story was Darlene Kilnehan, who earned a Patch Award for rolling a high game of 196 on a 144 average on her way to second-best series of 502. Holmes had the next best game, posting a 180.

TUESDAY NITE MIXED
Mitch Helarich bettered Don Kerner for both high series (557-537) and high game (214-201) in the men's play. Mary Bartels had the highest series, 554, and high game, 201, in the women's division.

Nancy Johnson had the second best series with a 508, while Harriet DeGroat had the next best game with a 190.

Mary were Shawn Barkley (seventh, 13-03), Renee Frank (45th, 14-32), Brenda Mell (55th, 14-45), and Allison Neri (75th, 15-20). Other Ram finishers were Megan Paget-Widkes (79th, 15-28) and Ursula Yadav (95th, 15-59).

Lake Brantley's Ashley Nasser just missed qualifying individually, finishing sixth in 13:03. Completing the Patriots' team score were Katie Koepke (31st, 13:55), Chrissy Yousefzadeh (44th, 14:27), Erin Gerber (47th, 14:35), and Lindsey Hayes (61st, 14:57). Also running for Lake Brantley were Kelly Blakely (60th, 15:28) and Lucy Cross (103rd, 16:27).

Oviedo's Tracy Katscos, who was kept from defending her 1092 Seminole Athletic Conference championship last week because of a bad back, managed to finish 12th Saturday in 13:15.

Also scoring for the Lions were Christine Markey (54th, 14:44), Beth Jansen (67th, 15:05), Ashley Radkevich (68th, 15:07), and Leslie Scheuer (73rd, 15:17). Sharon Liptak (101st, 16:23) also finished for Oviedo.

Where the Lyman girls were runaway winners, the boys' team competition was extraordinarily close.

To begin with, Edgewater edged Lake Brantley 99-100 for the district title. Oak Ridge and Lake Mary both scored 125, but Oak Ridge took third because of a superior finish by its sixth runner. They were followed by Lyman (145) and Oviedo (163), which beat out Boone (167) for the final regional berth.

Lake Howell (311) was 14th. Hilley and Hunter Kemper (10th, 17:03) were the top finishers for Lake Brantley. Also scoring for the Patriots were Joel Elsemann (28th, 17:53), Sean MacKenzie (29th, 17:57), and Jeremy Boehl (31st, 18:00). Aaron Mieswinkel (34th, 18:02) and Omari Wise (61st, 18:49) also ran for Lake Brantley.

Combining with Ayers for Lake Mary's team score were Aren Cook (17th, 17:23), Richard Heinzman (18th, 17:32), Alex Bohne (41st, 18:10), and Jarrod Tarkinton (48th, 18:22). Other Ram finishers were Kami Burnette (58th, 18:39) and Scott Heath (84th, 19:26).

Lyman's Rob Evans was the only other Seminole County finisher in the top 10, coming in fourth at 16:33. Completing the Greyhounds' team score were David Kinsley (30th, 17:58), Ryan Hunt (36th, 18:04), John McElfahey (37th, 18:04), and Mike Koch (38th, 18:05). Lyman also was represented by Damon Grimaldi (60th, 18:47) and Ray Flores (94th, 19:47).

Leading Oviedo's effort was Scott Thelen, who finished 12th in 17:10. Also scoring for the Lions were Brad Stebbins (21st, 17:40), Mike Tercha (22nd, 17:42), Frank Prokop (44th, 18:14), and Ty Kracht (64th, 18:51). John Pryor (78th, 19:15) also completed the race for Oviedo.

Making up Lake Howell's team score were Chris Kempink (23rd, 17:45), Cory Frank (51st, 18:23), Matt Miller (56th, 18:37), Ben Brown (82nd, 19:19), and Ryan McDermott (99th, 20:13). Craig Noyes (120th, 21:34) and Paul McLaughlin (124th, 22:22) also represented Lake Howell.

Bowl America thriving in Sanford, nationally

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Bowl America, a nationwide organization, has just released its 1993 annual report.

The company is live and well, and continues to grow.

In Sanford, Bowl America is located at 190 E. Airport Blvd., has belonged to the company for approximately 20 years. Nick Newman is the manager, having moved to Sanford early this year from another facility.

"If Sanford and this area continue to show improvements in economy," Newman said, "I see nothing but good times ahead for Bowl America."

Newman said the construction of the expressway, relatively near the Bowl America facility, is not proving to be a problem.

"People know how to get here regardless of construction," he said, "and business has been doing very well."

He projected there may be some enhancements or improvements in the Sanford facility within the next few years, although he could not go into detail.

On the national level, Bowl America presently has 25 bowling centers, with a total of 936 lanes. 14 centers are in the Washington, D.C. area, with others near Baltimore, Richmond, Jacksonville, and the Central Florida area.

All fired up by ceramics competition

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — When a relatively new business enters competition with others who have been in the area for many years, expectations are not usually high.

Not so with Ceramic Showplace of Lake Mary. It has proven to be a winner.

The business, featuring both retail sales and ceramic decorating training, has only been in operation for six months. Yet owners Linda Herndon and Dee Redwine took the challenge and entered ceramic pieces done by their students. In an area-wide ceramic show in Orlando recently.

The results astounded both women, as well as owners and operators from ceramic shops throughout the area. With a total of 38 entries in the competition, all 38 came in winners.

"We ended up with six second-place trophies," said Herndon, "but all of the rest were blue ribbon and trophy winners. It was unbelievable."

"Those 38 pieces of ceramic were done by 24 of our students," Redwine said. "They ranged in age from seven years old, to a senior citizen of whom I wouldn't dare say her age."

She said the students ranged from novices to those with previous ceramic training, to one professional.

In addition to regular business hours, Ceramic Showplace is open three nights each week, to give ceramic classes. "The classes are on a continuing basis," Redwine said. "Some are just starting, while others have been at it for a long period of time. We have no limitations, and previous experience isn't needed to start our classes."

The ceramics start on a mold, then require cleaning, baking, painting and decorative work. "For some people, it brings out artistic skills they didn't know they had," Herndon said.

Both women expressed extreme pride in the accomplishments of their students, and look forward to entering more competition in the future.

Ceramic Showplace is located at 101 N. Country Club Road in Lake Mary. The address is different from when they opened.

"There's no question that Orlando Central Park has had a positive influence on the economic growth of the area over the past 30 years," says John Smith, president of Orlando Central Park.

Smith, a resident of Longwood, was on hand recently when the park was congratulated for its years of service, by Governor Lawton Chiles.

Chiles' proclamation was read by former Governor Reuben Askew who was in office during the early years of the park's growth.

The celebration marked the park's emergence as a major economic force and included many people associated with the park's storied history.

Among those who were on hand for the event were former park President Jim Brown, Attorney Don Senterfitt, Director Gene Rich, and President John W. Smith.

Smith was pleased the governor recognized the park for its achievements.

The costs of shoplifting

Who's picking up the tab?

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Many larger retail stores are trying to reduce shoplifting by installing detectors at their entrances. Some are also increasing their security personnel.

Nevertheless, arrest and incident reports from the Seminole County Sheriff's office, and police departments in the area, constantly tell of retail thefts and persons being arrested on charges of petit theft.

In recent cases, a man was arrested in Sanford for attempting to shoplift one T-shirt. Another man was accused of taking a pair of pliers from an Altamonte Springs store. In Longwood, a man was arrested for trying to take a package of non-prescription pills.

Convenience stores are also the target for shoplifters. A majority of items taken in the local area during recent times involves beer and/or cigarettes. While police believe some of these particular items are taken for personal use, they believe others are taken for the resale value, to obtain drug money.

On a statewide average, the loss from shoplifting at all retail businesses of all sizes and types, is estimated at over one billion dollars each year. Because items are taken and not paid for, the state coffers also lose approximately $70 million a year in tax revenue.

"Shoplifting is truly a crime, and it is a crime that is largely misunderstood," said W. Bill Kundrat, Jr., president and general manager of the Florida Retail Federation. "It isn't borrowing, and no store is so rich that it won't miss a few items."

This month, the retailers launched a special program designed to cut down on shoplifting. "Unlike many other crimes plaguing business, shoplifting can be deterred," said Kundrat. "The goal of our shoplifting prevention campaign is to educate consumers and retailers about shoplifting, and promote ways we can work together to cut our losses."

Because of the losses, business is forced to increase costs on items sold, to compensate for the thefts. As a result, the honest customer ends up paying more than an item's retail value.

The Florida Retail Federation and the Merchants Association of Florida is urging retailers not to accept shoplifting as a normal "cost of doing business," but to join with consumers to fight this crime and greatly reduce shoplifting in the state.

Area pharmacist recipient of national award

By SHIRLEY K. BAKER
Herald Correspondent

LAKE MARY — Claroy Campbell of Lake Mary, has been selected as one of the four U.S. recipients who will receive the U.S. Pharmacist/Searle Service to the Community Award.

Although his position as chief pharmacist-manager of the Pharmacy Department of an Apopka-based Albertsons keeps Campbell busy, his devotion to providing outstanding voluntary service to surrounding communities has not been diminished. It is his concern and love for helping others that qualifies him for his selection as one of the recipients of this prestigious award from the G.D. Searle Company.

For more than 20 years, Campbell has served the community as pharmacist, teacher, lecturer, community volunteer and local and national worker in Florida A&M University's Alumni Pharmacy Council.

After graduating from FAMU's College of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Science, Campbell served as a pharmacy officer for the Medical Service Corps in the U.S. Army while stationed in the U.S. and France. After his four-and-a-half year tour of duty with Uncle Sam, he acquired employment with the Public Service Department in Chicago, Ill. His duties involved making sure that all pharmacists in his district were complying with local and state regulations.

His immediate supervisor also became his mentor and encouraged him to become more involved in the community, Campbell said. "I remembered that my father was actively involved in the community, and I decided if a person has the opportunity to be of service (to his community), then he should serve." He further stated, "Receiving honors and recognition is not something I set out to do."

Campbell and his wife, Delora, are parents of a son, Keith, who is studying computer sciences at FAMU, his father's alma mater.

Recruited by Walgreen Drug Stores, after their purchase of Liggitts Drugs in Florida, Campbell and his family returned to Florida. It was because of Delora, a health education teacher at Tuskawilla Middle School, that Campbell became involved with schools in the area. Her annual programs related to health, education and drugs were enhanced by Campbell's lectures to her students. He credits much of his success to his wife. According to him, "she is the wind beneath my wings." "Throughout my career, Delora has been my main supporter."

His work with students has resulted in his acquisition of many public service awards, including the Warren E. McCain Volunteer Award from Albertsons earlier this year for his dedication to bettering his community.

In 1991, Campbell was inducted into the FAMU College of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences' Hall of Distinction, becoming only the ninth person accepted in this exclusive society.

As part of his award from G.D. Searle & Co., Campbell had the liberty of selecting a college of pharmacy to receive a $1,000 scholarship in his honor and a national pharmacy organization who will also receive a $1,000 award. His choices are the Na-

Club packs patrons in for education benefit

Santa Claus made his 1993 debut in Sanford a little early this year when he showed up at the Sanford Woman's Club Wednesday, much to the delight of children modeling in the club's annual fashion show and luncheon, "Fashions for Education."

Following the show, the excited children were called on the stage for a surprise, and sure enough, while Jean Metts, club

Family man: Helping is just being a Christian

By SUSAN WENNER
Herald Correspondent

A real "family" person is how Tim O'Keefe describes himself. Devotion to his wife and the big family he married into seem to really keep him going. Although helping people whether they be family or friends has really become Tim's greatest hobby. "To me, helping is just being a Christian," said Tim.

Born in New Mexico, Tim refers to himself as an "Air Force brat." He's lived from one end of the country to the other. "Maine, California, D.C., and North Dakota are some of the states I lived in," said Tim, "but my favorite was Puerto Rico. Puerto Rico was special. It had cooler weather, small schools and you knew everyone. We were taught Spanish since that was the language there but everything was on base, everything you needed. Most places it took awhile to get acclimated but there it was like a small hometown feeling." he said. "My parents moved to central Florida in 1968 and I've been here since."

Tim commented about the softball team in which he is involved. "It's a lot of fun but we're not having a great year."

O'Keefe has been married since April 1991 to Wendy.

Italian Feast called 'a huge success'

The Lake Mary Woman's Club Italian Feast No. 6 on Friday, Oct. 15 was a huge success. From 4:30-7:30 p.m., there was pasta galore for everyone who attended at the Lake Mary Community Building at 260 N. Country Club Road, or to take home to family and friends. The rain didn't keep anyone away. In fact, the rainy weather made it a perfect time to eat piping hot dishes of pasta and the fabulous sauce the women prepared. For adults the cost was $5 and $3 for children under 12 and under three ate free. This charitable, event benefits the Lake Mary Woman's Club Scholarship Fund. Pat Fox of the Lake Mary Woman's Club said "It has indeed been very successful, none of us have stopped serving since we got here." Another member of the club, Wilma

Harper, came to support her club even though she is still recovering from a "four-way by-pass surgery in June. I started coming out in late August but am still in rehabilitation on a program that runs 36 sessions with three per week. When I'm able I'll do what I can for the Lake Mary Woman's Club, but right now I just wanted to show my support by attending and enjoying the food."

City joins COMA to plan and develop park

Concerned Organized Men in Action (COMA), in conjunction with the city of Sanford, have been working since June to develop and plan for the modification of the now present city park and playground located on Orange Avenue at 7th and 8th Streets (east Sanford). Mayor Bettye D. Smith and the Sanford city officials have graciously consented to assist with this project and have chosen to work with Kompan Big Toys of Florida after carefully considering the overall cost, safety features, handicap accessibility and ease of installation and maintenance.

The proposed plans shown will include facilities to accommodate two separate play areas.

one for small children (kindergarten age and under) and one for older children. The plans also include a picnic area and health-fitness trail, all fenced in. The estimated cost for all the equipment, delivery and installation with community help can be $26,000. With this being

Sponsors wishing to join in and give a financial donation of $500 or more will receive special mention in the dedication program; for a donation of $100-$499, contributors will be also mentioned in the program. WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Colegrove Jr.

Collette Conk R.A. Colegrove Jr. exchange vows

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Collette Marie Conk and Richard Arthur Colegrove Jr. are announcing their marriage today. They were married Aug. 28 at St. Mary Magdalen Catholic Church, Altamonte Springs. Father Paul Henry officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Conk of Altamonte Springs, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Colegrove of Sanford.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a full-length white satin gown with sweetheart neckline and short puffed sleeves. The bodice and sleeves were of antique lace covered with seed pearls and clear sequins. The long train was embellished with seed pearls and clear sequins. Her illusion veil, accented with seed pearls and clear sequins, was held by a crown of white leaves, clear sequins and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses showered with purple violets — the roses in honor of her grandmother. Her going-away outfit was an A-line peach crepe de chine dress.

The groom wore charcoal gray tails with pinstripes, white bow tie and vest.

Susan Ogburn of Orlando served as matron of honor. She wore a tea-length dress of purple iris with portrait collar. Maid of honor was Darcy Cannel of New York, N.Y. Bridesmaids were Krista Menyhart of Arlington, Va. and the groom's cousin, Karen Finley of Gainesville, Fla. Their dresses were identical to the honor attendant's. Bernie Banner of Cleveland, Ohio served as best man. He wore charcoal gray tails with multicolored bow tie and vest.

Groomsmen were Patrick Hill of Daytona Beach; brother of the bride, Dan Conk of Altamonte Springs, and Kelly Michael James of Sanford. They were dressed in the same fashion as the best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Bahia Shrine, Temple, Orlando. Guests attended from Virginia, Maryland, New York, Ohio, Alabama and Florida. Candles decorated with purple statice, white daisies, violets and greenery were made by the bride's mother and decorated each seating table. The serving table centerpiece was a dry ice volcano adorned with fresh fruit and greenery.

A three-tiered white wedding cake decorated with white frosting and raspberry filling was featured with small purple violets placed on either side as well as purple statice, white daisies and pale yellow carnations adorning the second and third tiers. There were two white chocolate groom's cakes with small purple violets flanked on either side of the wedding cake. A buffet of roast beef, smoked turkey, sliced ham, various salads, cheeses and breads was served.

After a wedding trip to England, Scotland and Wales, the newlyweds are making their home in Geneva. The bride is judicial assistant to the Honorable John R. Sloop, county judge, Seminole County Court-house, and the groom is a Sanford attorney with own law offices.

Volunteer

She has been a medical assistant for a pulmonary group in Sanford for over five years. They have lived in Sanford for about one and one-half years and are active in many areas of work at the Sanford Church of Christ.

"Tim seems to always be available to help at the church whether it be maintenance or someone in need," said Minister Tony Black.

Meals on Wheels is another of O'Keefe's services to others. "The people we deliver to are so sweet and appreciative," O'Keefe is in a minority from an age standpoint compared to many of the other volunteers. "There are a lot of older people who deliver for Meals on Wheels," he said, "but they still put up with me and I enjoy this."

On one occasion, one of the men O'Keefe delivers to was in desperate need of a fence for his yard. The man's health was not good enough to tackle this endeavor. Tim and his close friend, Terry Wilcox, put up the fence for this gentleman.

Tim has worked for 14 years as an engineer/paramedic for Altamonte Springs Fire Department. O'Keefe told of a somewhat comical call with the department. "A potato truck had overturned on I-4 and there were potatoes everywhere," O'Keefe also speaks grimly of the more traumatic calls. "Suicide is the most traumatic call. We try to revive them but many times all we can do is wait for the medical examiner to get there; it's so sad," he said. "Anytime a child is hurt that has to be the hardest for the department."

A CPR class will be taught by O'Keefe and a fellow employee in November at the Sanford Church of Christ. "My mother-in-law, Elaine, suggested it might be a good idea so I followed up on it," he said. "Our department is big on public relations and CPR classes fill that need."

O'Keefe occasionally teaches CPR for the city of Altamonte Springs employees, schools and businesses. "Classes are mostly taught at the department," said O'Keefe.

O'Keefe was also involved with the Sunset Church of Christ in Miami for a week in helping after Hurricane Andrew. "We did a lot of fixing roofs, repairing the damage and generally patching things up," concluded O'Keefe.

ANNIVERSARY

Anniversary

'Liz and Joe' Mathieux honored at golden gala

GENEVA — Joseph and Elizabeth Mathieux of Geneva celebrated their golden anniversary (actually their 51st) on Oct. 17 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Derrell Dunn, good friends who are also residents of Geneva. On their 50th anniversary, Mrs. Mathieux was in hospital getting a new pacemaker.

The anniversary couple were married on Oct. 15, 1942 at St. John's Cathedral, Jacksonville. Officiating at the ceremony was the rector, Dr. Newton Middleton. They repeated their vows at their home church, First Baptist of Geneva, before the reception. The Rev. Daryl Permenter officiated with Derrell and Vivian Dunn in attendance.

The reception was given to observe 51 years of love and growing together. About 100 people called between 3 and 5 p.m. Mrs. Mathieux wore a beige lace dress with matching accessories and a yellow rose corsage. Mathieux wore a black pinstripe suit with a gold silk shirt and matching silk tie. He wore a yellow rose boutonniere in his lapel.

Refreshments were all prepared by Mrs. Dunn including the cake. The cake was actually three separate cakes joined by golden ribbons. The center cake was set atop white satin columns created with a golden heart interspersed with roses and miniature silk calla lilies. A similar arrangement of yellow roses, calla lilies and greenery was placed between the white satin columns. Accompanying the cake were assorted sandwiches, condiments, chicken salad, seafood salads and miniature rolls. Hershey's "Hugs and Kisses" were placed around in miniature golden baskets. Coffee was served from a golden coffee service and crystal punch bowls offered up a delicious punch.

Mathieux is a native of Geneva and the couple have lived here over 45 years where they are active in the First Baptist Church. She sings in the church choir and has delighted the community with her soprano voice during these years. She also sang in the Community Chorus and Central Florida Chorale under the direction of Julie Bishop whom Mrs. Mathieux praises highly.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mathieux

In addition, Mrs. Mathieux was a substitute teacher for 17 years, was employed at the SNAS Post Exchange, worked as a floral designer and was also a correspondent for the Sanford Herald.

Mathieux is retired from the Seminole County School system where he primarily taught art throughout the entire county. He has graciously given of his artistic aptitudes to numerous community causes and still dabbles in art.

He also keeps busy keeping up their property in Geneva.

The couple have two children, Lennard Mathieux who is in the U.S. Merchant Marines, stationed at Bangkok, and Jeannene Williams of Maitland. There are four grandchildren and four great, great grandchildren.

What has kept the couple together?

She: "Our strong faith in God. He has brought us through so many conflicts and turmoil. We have always survived and come out on top."

He: "Sharing common conflicts and coming out and still loving each other."

season, several families strutted their stuff showing off the colorful attire.

Models included: Mayor Bettye and Dr. Robert J. Smith and their granddaughter, Chelsea; Sheriff Don Eslinger, his wife Mary and their son, Donnie; Donna Frank and her children, Zack and Julie; Polly Pezold and her granddaughter, Jennifer; Lisa and Robbie Robertson and their sons, Matthew, Bryan and Chandler; Bill Brooks, his wife, Pat, and their grandchildren, Katie Fitzgerald and Keith Scott; Sally Moore and children, Steven and Sarah; and Dr. Bob McCord, his wife Gail and their children, Robbie and Baby Alice.

Fashions from Forever Fashion in Sanford highlighted the second half of the show. The ultimate in formal wear and dazzling Holiday glitz was captured as an elegant and romantic evening took shape. A variety of impeccably-tailored tuxedos was worn by Sanford's leading men with their wives modeling eye-catching and sparkling styles showing lots of leg, bare shoulders, ruffles and jewels.

Gil Madore of Forever Fashion assisted DeLore in his own fashion commentary. Tawana Metts stole the fashion scene wearing a voluminous black and gold ball gown, a brilliant bouffant white and gold gown with ruffles and bow trim, and in the finale, just the right gown for that second wedding — simple white lace and a semi-picture hat enhanced with swirls of sheer tulle puffs. She was escorted in the finale by her brother, Todd, in a white tuxedo.

Escorting the models from the stage, also in tuxedos, were Mark and Scott Metts. Others modeling formal wear were: Tressa Fraasa in a seafoam glitter two-piece cocktail suit, and her husband, Bill; Mary Anne Cleveland in a short black two-piece after-five frock and her husband Sanford Attorney Mack Cleveland; and Dr. Frank Clontz and his wife, Jean, and their daughter, Lisa. Jean modeled a stunning black off-the-shoulder Grecian-inspired dress with an irregular ruffled hemline, and Lisa wore a short black dress highlighted with American blue satin trim.

Many door prizes were awarded as well as gift packages decorating the tables and crafts donated by club members and others.

The servers wore red pants and shorts with white tops and red Santa caps. They were Mary Childers, Kay Hall, Carrie Greene, Jeanette Padgett and Roberta Ziltrower.

She has two daughters: Elvura Bridgum, Trenton, N.J., and Janet Lee Clore, Mt. Holly, N.J.

Today Elvura is very active and still drives. She is a member of the Sanford Senior Citizens Club, the AARP, the First United Methodist Church where she is member of the United Methodist Women and also a Sunday school class.

Elvura said she loves to crochet and has crocheted 30 afghans which she gave away. She is also a prolific reader.

The good-natured 90-year-old birthday girl contributes her longevity to associating with people. "I just enjoy people," she said.

Hone from Europe

Bonna Fitzgerald and her sister-in-law, Michelle Fitzgerald, don't have the dust off their luggage before they are talking about another trip to Europe. The duo has recently returned after spending 12 days in Germany, Switzerland, Paris and Luxembourg.

Bonna said, "It was wonderful. I'm ready to go back." Michelle echoed Bonna's sentiments.

They struck out on their own and visited their husbands' cousin, Charlotte Ellinger in Trier, Germany, who showed them the ropes and arranged several side trips.

They loved the breathtakingly beautiful views through the Alps, the gorgeous flowers all over Switzerland and Germany, the historic, rustic castles and couldn't pass a pastry shop without making a purchase — not to overlook a supply of chocolate in Switzerland.

One of the highlights of the trip was attending a real Oktoberfest in Stuttgart.

Stella hosts circle

Stella Pryor Whitney entertained 12 members of Wildflower Circle of the Sanford Garden Club at her Deltona home. She led the circle through her gardens and then showed them the many crafts she has made and acquired.

Stella also instructed the circle in the art of parchment note paper enhanced with wild flowers, much to their delight.

Circle members also enjoyed having lunch with Stella and plan to make more crafts for the club's annual Holiday Bazaar to be held at the clubhouse on Dec. 3 and 4.

Congratulations

Congratulations are in order to Dottie and Warren Sullivan who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Oct. 30. More on this later.

Teen Conference

The Central Florida Chapter of the International Black Women's Congress is very concerned about issues affecting the African-American female population. As the only international African-American Women's group in this area, they feel the need to address the issues of alcohol and other drugs, peer pressure, teen pregnancy and other social ills.

They invite you and your organization and/or business to join them in sponsoring the first annual conference, "I Ain't Tired Yet — Developing a Wholistic Me." The conference will examine the problems young females

Germany.

Of course, shopping in Europe was pure pleasure. They ran into a language barrier in Paris, but they dared to be brave and somehow managed just fine.

Michelle was overwhelmed with the size of Paris. "It is a neat, big old city," she said.

The girls left their husbands (Mike and Bill) home with the kids who were probably pumpered by Grandmom Lucy Fitzgerald during their absence.

It's good to be home, but Bonna and Michelle can't help but dream of another trip to the continent. Maybe, some day.

Eagle Scout

Steven Kyle will be honored by Boy Scout Troop 34 and his parents, Nancy and Mike Kyle, to his Eagle Scout Court of Honor.

The celebration will take place on Saturday, Nov. 6, at the First United Methodist Church. Please RSVP to Joe Sontos, 322-9885.

Proof of Mom's friendship was in her rice pudding

DEAR ABBY: Back in September 1990, my mother (Mrs. Rudolph O. Oberg) wrote to thank you for your gourmet rice pudding recipe. You printed her letter and the fact that you were working on your second recipe booklet. In her letter, Mother mentioned that she was taking the rice pudding to several elderly friends. The whole family — and many of Mom's friends — laughed about her "elderly friends." You see, Mother failed to mention that she was also "elderly." (She was 78.)

ADVICE
ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

P.S. Instead of declaring a "Return Borrowed Books Week," if people would go through their libraries and put all borrowed books in a box, and place the box just inside their own front door as a reminder to return them, it might help.

DEAR ABBY: The letter about the woman who carried her own tea bags in her purse when she went out to eat reminded me of something that occurred in Veederburg, Ind., many years ago.

That previous July, Mom had parachuted out of an airplane at 10,000 feet. My daughter said she was the only grandmother she knew who had to be telephoned before 7:30 a.m. or after 11:00 p.m. — because she was never home in between!

Mother passed away last March from lung cancer. (She never smoked a day in her life.) When I went to take care of her at the end, there in the refrigerator was the rice pudding. She just wasn't up to delivering it to one of her "elderly" friends — so I delivered it for her.

Someday I'll make rice pudding and take it to an "elderly" friend — and thus continue the tradition for another generation. Thank you, Abby for the joy you brought to my mother's life.

JOSEPHINE KILBOURN, JOPPA, MD.
DEAR JOSEPHINE: Thank you for the joy you brought to my life, by allowing me to share your letter with my readers.

DEAR ABBY: "Disgusted With Bible People in N.J.," lamenting the failure to return borrowed books, is someone I can relate to. I have at least a half-dozen books missing from my library; all were loaned to friends who had promised to return them as soon as they finished reading them. Some of these books I will probably never see again.

Abby, please declare a "Return Borrowed Books Week" to remind the clods to do just that. Actually, I treasured mine so much, I wouldn't mind if they were gift-wrapped and sent to me as Christmas presents!

TULSA HOUSEWIFE
DEAR HOUSEWIFE: I will not disclose your name, but if anyone in Tulsa has a book borrowed from someone whose initials are L.B. living on East 58th Street, please return it.

There was a small family-owned restaurant next to an A&P store. One day, a woman bought a loaf of bread and some lunch meat at the A&P — then came into the restaurant, made her own sandwiches, and asked the waitress to bring her some ketchup.

FRANIN WEISLACO, TEXAS
DEAR FRAN: You are not the only reader who replied to that letter. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: I'm a waitress in a family restaurant, and I've seen it all.

One day, six women came in carrying a cake they had purchased at a nearby bakery. They sat down, ordered coffee, and asked the waitress to please cut the cake and serve it. Can anybody top this?

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
Oct. 31, 1993

Your involvements in the year ahead are likely to be more sophisticated and complex than they have been in the past. Your risks could be greater, but so could your rewards.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Agreements won't stand the test of time if they are not negotiated fairly today. Make sure you don't give up more than you should nor take advantage of the other guy. Scorpio, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 4465, New York, N.Y. 10163. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Try to be helpful to others today, but don't take on more responsibilities than you can manage. If you get overloaded, it won't be good for them or you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Someone you recently treated quite generously might not treat you in the same manner today. There's justification for your ire, but don't make it a big deal.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) There is an easy way to do things and there is a hard way to do things. Unfortunately today you might use procedures and methods that are the most difficult while overlooking the expeditious.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) There's a possibility you might reject some valuable information today just because you do not like the source. This could be a situation where you cut off your nose to spite your face.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Whether doing business on a minor or major scale today, be more cautious and watchful than usual. What is spoken could be as important as what is put in writing.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your mate's ideas might be more numerous than yours today, but this does not necessarily make them more superior. Analyze them individually, not as a group.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be very careful today you do not

YOUR BIRTHDAY
Nov. 1, 1993

Your entrepreneurial inclinations could be very strong in the year ahead and your chart indicates you might take a flyer on an enterprise you originate. Its possibilities for success look good.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're likely to do better today transforming your original ideas than you will do by taking the ideas of others and trying to revise them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Try to stay in control of things today, but do so without focusing attention on yourself. You'll function best as the power behind the throne.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Several friends who haven't been too friendly or cooperative lately could undergo a complete revision of their attitude beginning today. This may occur unbeknownst to one another.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This could be a day of rather outstanding achievements for you, yet your route to success might not follow the course you originally outline for yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Someone has recently given you some very valuable information, yet you might not know its true worth. Today its value might begin to dawn on you.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) A joint venture in which you're presently involved is feasible, but it will require bold measures from both parties in order to succeed. Neither should turn back once committed.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you feel your work performance warrants it, this is a good day to talk with an authority figure about additional benefits. Base your presentation on your record.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're both resourceful and practical today where your work chance you may want something for the wrong reasons and not be happy if you succeed.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you are unduly critical of others today don't be surprised if they start pointing out your flaws. You won't be happy with what they say and they won't be happy with you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Personal funds should not be mixed with other funds today, especially if you're involved in a joint venture. It could create serious bookkeeping problems.

or career is concerned. This is a winning combination and it will arouse enthusiasm in co-workers to also do their best.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Do not underestimate yourself today regarding what you have to offer. If you have to take a gamble on your talents and abilities, do so.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It's important today that you and your mate are in accord where critical issues are concerned. Where harmony prevails, successful results are likely.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Courage on your behalf will be required in order for you to succeed at this time. You may have to completely revise some of your methods and procedures.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You continue to be in a rather promising cycle regarding situations that could spell personal gain. Your probabilities for being able to add to your resources are quite high.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Philip Alder

Here is another deal from the 1983 European Championships in Baden-Baden, West Germany. This time the opposing forces were from Belgium and the Netherlands.

The Dutch had a sensible auction to the reasonable contract of six hearts. However, the declarer, sitting North, misplayed the hand. He won the first trick with the spade ace over West's king. Now he cashed the heart king and led a heart to dummy's ace. He couldn't recover. But if he had started with the K-Q of hearts from hand, he would have been all right. I must leave the analysis to the reader.

When the Belgians were North-South, the auction was bizarre — to put it mildly. Opposite a passed partner, East decided to psych one heart. Then South made an unbelievable five-diamond bid. Maybe he meant to say two diamonds, but five slipped out.

West attacked with the heart jack, of course. South won in hand and led his diamond three.

To West, this was a very strange play. Why didn't South lead a high trump? Or cross to the spade ace and discard losers on the top hearts? Not working out the answers to these questions, West went in with the diamond 10 and switched to a sneaky spade eight.

Having little option, declarer finessed dummy's queen, played a trump to his ace and cashed the king. When the queen and jack dropped, declarer drew West's final trump, the six, with his eight and claimed 11 tricks: two spades, three hearts, three diamonds and three clubs.

As declarer probably said, "Incredible."

Sanford Golden Age Games turns 19

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — What started as an idea sparked by a few local business leaders approximately 20 years ago, has blossomed into a major attraction for Central Florida.

The Golden Age Games will be observing the 19th anniversary this year, with events scheduled from November 7 through 13. The headquarters for the games, as in the past years, will be the Sanford Civic Center, and the adjoining Senior Citizen Center.

The concept of the games began with the Commercial Committee of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce. Actual ideas for the games were first discussed in 1973.

Trevor Banks, Ottawa, Ontario, and Ed Knight, Port St. Joe, Fla., enjoy the festivities during the 1992 games.

As the plan began to develop, the committee solicited a number of local civic clubs to sponsor the first events, and the first games were held in 1974 with 14 events, and a total of about 300 persons participating.

The following year, given the name "Golden Age Olympics," the event sprung to prominence, when former Olympic swimming champion (and movie Tarzan) Buster Crabbe agreed to be the honorary chairman.

Crabbe also attended the third and fourth Golden Age Olympics.

As the event grew, more and more games

Guest chairman Banana George's motto: 'Do it!'

By NICK PFEIFAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The honorary chairman for the 1993 Golden Age Games in Sanford has a two-word motto: "Do it!" "Banana George" Blair, 78 3/4 years of age, lives up to the challenge.

According to formal co-chairman Chris Usry, "Mr. Blair has always strived to overcome any barriers, including age, to become the best he can be. He is a sterling example of fitness and health in older adults."

"To see him perform would make you believe he was born behind a ski boat," she said, "however, it was not until age 40 that he even learned to water ski. Six years later, he took up the sport that would make him a celebrity — Barefoot Water Skiing."

Blair, originally from Toledo, Ohio, is now a member of the Red Water Ski Team, and a frequent performer at Florida's Cypress Gardens, where he can be seen cruising across the lake in his Chiquita Banana Yellow suit, at speeds up to 40 miles per hour on his bare feet.

In the past year, Blair has appeared on the Today Show, with David Letterman, ESPN, Regis and Kathie Lee, Entertainment Tonight, and Sports Illustrated.

His honors include induction into the American Water Ski Hall of Fame in 1991; entry in the Guinness Book of World Records in 1988-89, and has held the barefoot jumping record from 1984 until 1991.

"It's an honor to have Banana George serve as our Honorary Chairman," Usry said. He will be speaking at the opening ceremonies Sunday, Nov. 7th, at 1 p.m., at the Sanford Civic Center.

He will also be officially opening the games by lighting the torch. He will be available after the ceremony for photo and autograph opportunities.

Banana George glides into the forefront at the Golden Age Games.

were added, and participation began numbering over 1,000. For the past few years, as many as 1,200 seniors from across the nation have been competing in the Sanford events.

National sponsors began to spring up, but a problem arose over the use of the word "Olympics" in the title. When the Post Cereal/General Foods company began national sponsorship, they could not obtain permission to use the word "Olympics" in their promotion, so the Sanford events became known as the "Golden Age Games."

Although Sanford was one of the first cities to hold the games for the seniors, the popularity has grown to such extent that almost every state in the nation now has similar games. Sanford still remains one of the oldest and most popular of the crowd pleasers.

It is recognized nationally as the "Nation's Oldest Senior Games."

Co-chairmen this year are Trent Schake and Chris Usry. Usry commented, "It is a great community wide activity, quite a spectacular week of fun and fellowship among seniors.

The games are open to anyone age 55 and older.

On alternate years, the Sanford Golden Age Games are qualifying events for the national Senior Olympics. Even on non-national event years, there is still some limited qualifying in Sanford for a number of the national level games.

The 1993 games have already been conducted during June, in Baton Rouge, Louisiana. One hundred eight athletes from the Sanford Golden Age Games were in the nationals this year. "We had a tremendous showing with our athletes bringing home several medals and ribbons," Usry said.

People who qualify for the national events during this November's games will be eligible for the national event to be held in San Antonio, Texas, in May of 1995.

Refreshments keep seniors' strength up during competition and fun.

Many fun events planned for participants, visitors

By NICK PFEIPAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Although the focal point of the Golden Age Games is competition in various sporting events and skills, there is also a host of fun times planned for participants and visitors.

● Opening ceremonies will take place Sunday, Nov. 7, at 1 p.m., in the outdoor area immediately north of the Sanford Civic Center. One of the highlights will be the official torch lighting, to be conducted by "Banana George" Blair, the 1993 honorary chairman of the event.

Local officials and Golden Age Game leaders will also be on hand.

● A Social Reception will be held Monday, Nov. 8, at the Sanford Civic Center beginning at 6 p.m. There is no charge for this event for athletes and their families. The event will feature food and fellowship, with food catered by some of Sanford's catering businesses. Participants will have the opportunity to meet those who may be competing against them, or renew old acquaintances who travel to Sanford annually to participate in the games.

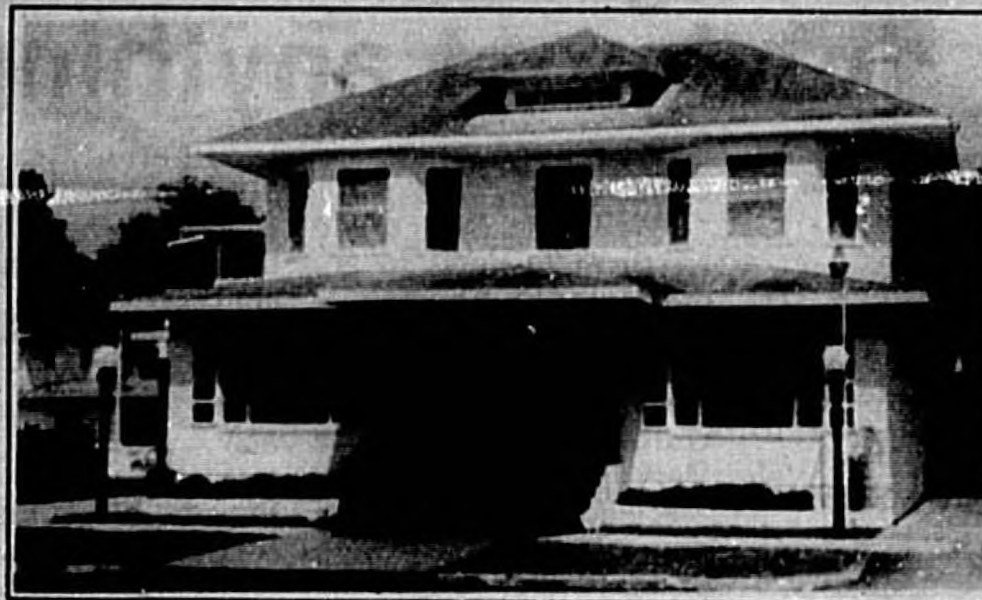

● Tuesday, Nov. 9, participants will journey down the St. Johns River on board the Rivership Romance for a Twilight Cruise. The three hour cruise will feature entertainment, a picnic, and cash bar. Cost, $25 per person.

● One of the most popular events is the dance competition, Wednesday, Nov. 10, held at the Sanford Civic Center. Basically, this is an opportunity to vie for honors in the various dance categories of Experts agree: seniors can do almost anything!

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The senior citizens suiting up for the Golden Age Games in Sanford already know the key to happier, healthier life...get out and do something.

Too often, the experts say, seniors have relegated themselves to a life of game shows and soap operas.

Eating poorly and remaining glued to the television, seniors begin to believe they are not in good enough shape to exercise.

"Well, the best thing for them to do is to get out, talk to a personal trainer and do SOMETHING," said Rick Friend, vice president of Gold's Gym in Lake Mary.

Friend said that the amount of exercise each person, old or young, can do and the types of exercise they can safely perform, vary from individual to individual.

"I can't sit here and tell you they should go out and do this or go out and do that because everyone is different," he said, "but there is something that everybody can be doing to get into better shape."

Ed Thomas, executive director of the Seminole County YMCA in Lake Mary said that seniors should get out of the house and get into some sort of exercise program for their own good.

"That may be the biggest health problem that seniors have," he said. "They think they are not in good enough shape to exercise or they think they are too old to

Schanzle wins medals, stops to help a friend

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — Mary Schanzle of DeBary says she's looking forward to having fun at the Golden Age Games this year.

"I would like them to go back to the way they were when they first started," says Schanzle, 69. "And I think they will, not having to qualify for the events this year."

Schanzle has been an active participant in every Golden Age Game since 1979, particularly in track and field events. This year, Schanzle says she'll concentrate on billiards, dominoes and other "sittin' down" games, along with the pancake race and maybe, croquet. She says she's won so many medals, at least 100, that, well, she doesn't remember how many.

"I just threw a bunch of 'em out," she says with a bright laugh. "I still have a bunch of 'em."

Schanzle says the early games in Sanford were competitive, but much less "sophisticated" than they are now. Fewer participants practiced all year and most approached the games with the intent of having fun, even if they didn't win.

"I remember the first time I was in the 50-yard dash a man, he was wearing an American Legion cap, fell down because he was wearing slick-soled shoes," she recalls. "They didn't worry about such things back then. Some of the older people brought three-wheel bikes for the bike race. They didn't realize until they got there it was for two-wheelers."

Schanzle says Sanford's Golden Age Games reactivated an interest in sporting events. As a high schooler in Fulton, Ky, she played basketball in competition with teams from other schools. The games revived her interest and she, along with close friends Harriett Boyd of Lake Mary and Kay Thompson of Sanford, are regulars and have been for more than a decade.

Both Schanzle and Boyd tell the same tale about Schanzle's first 50-year dash race 14 years ago.

Schanzle: "Harriett slipped and fell. She was complaining so loudly, I thought she had a heart attack, so I stopped to see if I could help her."

Boyd: "When she stopped, I got up and beat her."

They both laugh about the incident. Thompson was first, Boyd came in second and Schanzle came in third. "I knew I was going to get a medal," Schanzle says. "But you know, you can't not stop and help a friend."

Pre-Arrangement Peace of Mind

While most of us give considerable thought to planning the details of all the big events in our lives, few people think about their own or their family's wishes when it comes to funeral arrangements. And that's understandable.

But it's also important to understand how pre-arrangement can help ease the burden on your family and insure you receive the type of service you feel appropriate.

Our professional staff is always on hand to listen to and address your special concerns. Please feel free to call us for a convenient appointment.

get started on a program."

Not true, he emphasized.

"There is something from everyone from the Aqua Exercise class for those looking for a low-impact workout to the the bench step aerobics for the individuals who are looking for a serious workout," he said.

Dalia Reynolds of Bally's International, Inc., said that seniors who have not exercised regularly should not try to make up for lost time.

"In the case of seniors, they should take things slowly," she said. "No pain, no gain, should not be their rule of thumb."

Reynolds recommends that seniors work with the exercise experts at the facility where they choose to work out.

They, like all people beginning an exercise program, should consult their personal physician first to know what limitations they might have.

"I think seniors can do anything anyone else can do when they exercise so long as they work smart," she said.

The Aqua Exercise classes at the Y offer a low-impact exercise program for those beginning to work out.

Thomas said the water offers natural resistance for muscles to be toned and shaped without causing pain.

"It is the perfect exercise for seniors," he said.

Friend said that he has people at Gold's Gym who have been working out for years and others who don't begin until they reach their 70s or 80s.

"It is a very individual thing," he said. "And I can't say they should do this or they shouldn't do that, because there is someone with a hip replacement, for example who can't do things that someone without a hip replacement can do."

There are seniors who have decided to begin an exercise program because they are beginning to feel the creaks and small pains of advancing age, others who want to look better and still others who are preparing for serious competition, such as the Golden Age Games.

"The people who are in it for the competition are probably working out intelligently," Reynolds said. "They don't want to hurt themselves because they want to win."

But those who begin working out without the guidance of a doctor and a personal trainer, like individuals of any age, are destined for injuries.

"Seniors, especially, have to be careful when they exercise," Thomas warned. "But they are certainly capable of doing anything."

Thomas said there are not many seniors who come to the Y to work out. He said that too often the seniors allow themselves to believe they are too old to exercise.

"Nothing could be farther from the truth," he said.

Friend said that at Gold's Gym in Lake

Mary, there are quite a few seniors, including one gentleman in his 80s who exercise regularly.

"We don't let them believe the myths about age and exercise," he said.

All agreed that the Golden Age Games are a great celebration of the physical strengths of senior citizens and more importantly, Reynolds said, "they let seniors have a lot of fun."

Seniors are fast, so are the boats

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Some of the fastest boats in the world will be racing on Lake Monroe during the starting weekend for the Golden Age Games.

The races, International Powerboat Super League World Cup Finals, will take place Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 6 and 7. The starting area has been planned at the rear of the Holiday Inn at the Monroe Harbour Marina.

Sam and Sherron Winter of New Martinsville, W. Va., are overseeing the races. Serving as the American Performance Racing Events Group, they have conducted similar events elsewhere around the world including Belfast, Ireland, Mexico, and Europe. Sam Winter said he expects boats will be coming to Sanford from most of these countries, as well as around the nation.

The boats are between 16 and 17 feet in length.

Winter said they are capable of obtaining a speed from zero to 100 miles per hour in five seconds.

The boats are called "tunnel boats," in that they have a configuration similar to a tunnel under the hull, which allows them to control turns to almost the point of a 90 degree angle.

Three separate events are scheduled for small, medium and larger boats, both Saturday and Sunday.

The finals will be held for the larger boats on Sunday, with possibly 15 to 20 of the craft expected to be in competition. Because of the boats' capabilities of making sharp turns, a relatively small portion of Lake Monroe will be required for the races, thereby allowing ample viewing from the Sanford shoreline. The length of the course originally outlined for the races is 2,500 feet.

As the boats reportedly make little noise, Winter said he did not expect them to be any problem to the events at the Golden Age Games or others along the lakefront.

The Winters said they had investigated four other sites for the races but selected Sanford as being the most suitable.

Sam Winter said if the events prove successful, he intends to conduct other racing events in Sanford in years to come.

The International Powerboat Super League World Cup Finals in Sanford are being co-sponsored by Holiday Inn, Lake Monroe, and the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

Headquarters for the event will be at Holiday Inn.

Holiday CraftFest enhances weekend

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce will be holding a two-day Holiday CraftFest Nov. 6th and 7th. The event will take place in Fort Mellon Park.

Craftsmen from throughout Central Florida will be on hand at individual booths and tables, selling their wares. "It will be the place to start shopping and filling your gift list for the holidays," said Chamber Manager Dave Farr.

Registration has been going on for several weeks for the event. Among crafts announced early are baskets, hats, wreaths, wood painting, glass, blown glass, brooms, silk and dried flowers, pottery, jewelry, wrought iron, wood carings, dolls, and Indian wall hangings.

Especially for the holiday season there will be special holiday clothing and centerpieces also available.

A full schedule of entertainment is planned for both days, and a "Moonwalk" will be set up at the park for the children.

Food will also be available at various locations around the park.

Festival hours are 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday.

"With a full weekend of events, such as the Golden Age Games and boat races," Farr said, "we hope to have a great turnout, and help make this one of the outstanding weekends of the entire year in Sanford."

The CraftFest is sponsored by the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce. For further information, contact the chamber office at 322-2212.

Boyd couldn't wait to turn 55 and compete

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Senior Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — Like a true, dedicated athlete, Harriett Boyd says she'll overcome her injuries to participate in her 15th Golden Age Games this month, but unlike most athletes she doesn't plan to practice much beforehand.

"Usually, I don't practice," says the winner of more than 200 medals, trophies and citations. "I pick up a stone from the yard, I'll see how far I can toss it. But I've got too many fronts in the fire to practice raking my yard, hauling 55-pound bags of feed for the horse. That's my practice."

Boyd, 70, says a hamstring injury from a long-jump event in 1988 and a bowling alley fall left her hip and knee injured, but she'll try out for what sporting events as she can. She says she thinks in a good participating in the track and field events of shot-put, discus and javelin this year, activities she's never tried before. She'll also make returns to archery and maybe freethrow basketball.

And Boyd says she'll try her hand in the talent show. Two years ago, she staged a showstopping performance by vacuuming her pet cat, Streaky, who seemed to take pleasure in the roaring suction, even when popped over his tail. During the performance, Blackey, a little black dog, ran around. The Sanford Herald's tale of the event was picked up by syndicated columnist Dave Barry of the Miami Herald and published throughout the country.

Boyd said Streaky's doing fine and still enjoys the occasional cleanup.

Boyd is a life-long resident of the Sanford area. She was active in sports as a young girl, playing sandlot football and baseball. After high school, work and family look a higher priority and athletics waned until 1975, when the games first started.

"I was real excited when it first came, but I was too young, and I couldn't play then," said Boyd. "I like to be competitive."

polka, fox trot, swing, thumba, cha-cha-cha, tango and others. It is also planned as a fun time for everyone.

Contestants are pre-entered, and are identified by numbers. They are the only ones allowed to compete during the event. Between the competition numbers however, dancing is open to one and all, with the dance floor generally packed not only by persons tuning-up for the contest, but others who just want to relax and take a spin on the floor.

The dance competition is scheduled beginning at 2 p.m., at the Civic Center, Wednesday, Nov. 10.

Wednesday evening, also at the Civic Center, will be held beginning at 6:30 p.m. Interesting speakers have been scheduled, and various announcements regarding the progress thus far, and plans for the remainder of the week will be revealed. Cost is $6 per person, advance reservations only.

Thursday, Nov. 4, a hobby show, open to the public, will be open at Sanford City Hall. The show has only been held for a few years, but has been constantly growing in participants as well as visitors. The hobbies are those in which seniors have become experts through learning family traditions, being self-taught, or obtaining professional training.

Blanket weaving, carrying, model-making, all forms of crafts are displayed.

The hobby show will be held in the ground floor of the Sanford City Hall located at 300 N. Park Avenue.

One of the final events of the week begins at 7 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 13. Participants will be casting their lines into the waters of Lake Monroe in a giant fishing festival. Details will be available at the Civic Center during the week-long events.

Another popular event scheduled for Thursday, Nov. 4, is the Talent Show, at the Civic Center. As is the case with sporting events, talent has no age limitations. There is no charge for admission.

Contestants will be displaying their talent at singing, dancing, impersonations, comedy, and other abilities.

In past years, younger spectators have watched the talent show with astonishment. Last year, a visitor who appeared to be in his 40's was heard to comment, "Look at what those people are doing up there on the stage. They must be in their 60's or 70's, but they are moving like teenagers."

The talent show begins at 7 p.m., and, as all of the Golden Age Games events, is open for the public to observe. The show however, is so popular that early seating is recommended.

Seniors Stop Here.

There are many reasons you may think of stopping when you see our sign. The most obvious, of course, is its color. Red. But there's a lot more to consider. Our Home Style Meat Loaf served under a delicately seasoned brown gravy. Chicken 'N Noodles simmered with fresh vegetables. Country Fried Steak in a hearty country gravy. We've got a dozen new dinners. And if the selection doesn't stop you, the price will. Because seven of those dinners cost less than $6.50. So drop by after the game. Why? Just stop when you see our sign.
