Mrs. H. H. Kastner Surprised At Party Tuesdays Evening

Mrs. Harold H. Kastner was given a surprise party last Tuesday night when her husband escorted her to Richard Gorder's Embassy Terrace in Orlando for a birthday dinner.

As she walked in the entertainer played "Happy Birthday" and her Sanford friends walked down the aisle to greet her singing "Happy Birthday."

A beautiful gold and silver evening bag was presented to her by the following: Mayor and Mrs. J. C. McGill, Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Millhiser, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Samuel and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Keta.

Few Women Wear Exclusive Dress; No Matter Cost

By DOROTHY ROE AP Women's Editor
When America's well-dressed women stepped out in the Easter parade, few, if any, were wearing one-of-a-kind costumes, whether they paid $25 or $1,500 for them.

The recent embarrassment over the almost identical dresses of Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Mrs. Durrice Crane at a Washington tea points up the fact that in today's world of mass-produced fashions the First Lady is no more certain than Judge O'Grady that she won't meet herself walking down the street.

Schoolboy Artists Receive Acclaim

SHINWA, Japan (U)—Three young schoolboy artists in this small Kyushu village were proud possessors of a letter of praise from a well-known amateur critic today.

The boys, Masanori Nogata, 13; Noboru Mitama, 13, and Ken Hamazaki, 11, each sent landscapes to the "critic" last December, and recently received a letter of praise and appreciation from him.

Bob Young Proves That Being Normal Can Pay Dividends

By BOB THOMAS LAS VEGAS, Nev. (U)—One of the least likely persons you'd expect to find in this fabulous fun town is Robert Young.

After all, Young is the picture of normality. A solid citizen, he is the father of four daughters in real life and three children on TV's Father Knows Best. Although flashier stars draw the headlines, Bob has proven that being normal can pay off, even in Hollywood.

He and his for-real wife Betty (Jane Wyatt) in her TV counter-part, were here for a year before she starts a year's work on TV films. And there is one of the nicest success stories of the year. Bob did Father Knows Best on radio for a number of years. The gentle comedy seemed a natural for TV.

"But I wasn't sure I wanted to get into it," he remarked. "I didn't know if I wanted to undertake all that work. Oddly enough it was Loretta Young (no relation) who helped convince me. She told me TV was the thing to do. And then I ended up opposite her on Sunday night."

The actor was realistic about the show's chances for success. "I knew it was going to build slowly," he said. "It was that way on radio; people didn't call up their friends and tell them to be sure and listen to it. The show built enthusiasm slowly but when it did get fans they were intensely loyal."

This peculiar loyalty proved the saving of Father Knows Best. A couple of months ago, the cigarette sponsor announced it was dropping the show. This brought forth a flood of letters from determined fans. Even hardboiled TV editors joined the campaign to find a sponsor for the pleasant, homey series.

Young believes that this wave of enthusiasm was a major factor in finding a new bankroller. A paper concern dropped My Little Margie for Father Knows Best. All the options are picked up, the filmed series will run into an investment of 10 million dollars.

The minister said the habit of presenting Easter eggs is a custom thought to have been derived from the Persian Magi, the egg being the symbol of creation, birth and resurrection. "Possibly the resurrection of Spring."

New Use For The Amazon

A longtime realm of romance bids fair to become an abode of prosaic business. This is the Amazon basin, whose dense vegetation makes exploration difficult. Because it is unknown, writers of adventure stories have drawn upon it heavily as a location for their tales. One of the better known examples is "The Lost World" by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, author of the Sherlock Holmes stories. This novel depicted an immense plateau so cut off from communication with the outer world that dinosaurs and other prehistoric creatures could still survive there. Doyle was rather free with his geography. He laid the scene of his story in the Amazon jungle, yet the plateau corresponds to nothing known in that river valley, but is more like the Koraima plateau in British Guiana. But the actual location of fictitious adventures does not matter much.

Now comes word that oil deposits have been discovered along the Amazon's great tributary, the Madeira river, 50 miles above where it flows into the Amazon and 1,000 miles from the latter river's mouth.

To develop this find will take years, since it involves bringing drilling equipment through the jungle from the United States or Europe. Be that as it may, the days of the Amazon valley as a land of mystery are plainly numbered.

Serendipity

The late Sir Alexander Fleming, discoverer of penicillin, was a living example of serendipity. This word, long rare, has lately become better known. It dates back to an early Italian romance, "The Three Princes of Serendip," an old name for Ceylon. The princes set out on a quest, and incidentally gained in the process some unlooked-for advantages. One, for example, learned how to understand the language of birds. Horace Walpole, 18th century English literary figure, took up the story, and coined the word "serendipity" to denote some unexpected result of an action begun for another purpose.

Fleming discovered penicillin in this way. He had his laboratory window open while experimenting on bacteria. Leaving the room for a moment, he found on his return that mold had blown in through the window and killed the bacteria. At first dismayed, he soon realized that without planning for it, he had found a potent weapon against germs. Penicillin and its cousins are the result of Fleming's serendipity.

History has many parallels, and almost everyone has known examples. A homely instance is that of a man who attends a party against his will, simply to please his hostess and at the party meets a girl whom he later marries.

Crackdown Sees Limited Success

By STAN SWINTON
(The Hal Boyle)

ROME (AP)—Beating the income tax is a national sport among the rich of Italy and France. Mass cheating costs both governments untold millions. Each has tried to crack down, with limited success.

The American taxpayer has a stake in this situation as he prepares his tax return—with no cheating permitted—for the April 15 deadline. Part of his tax goes for foreign aid, and he can ask:

"Why should my money go to help countries where the rich often dodge taxes?"

The U. S. government agrees there's no justice in that. It has used its influence to encourage tax reforms in these countries. The French and Italian governments agree too—but look at their problems.

Cina Lollabrida is probably the highest paid film star in Europe. She declared an income of $4,800 last year. The government estimated her minimum income at $40,000. That's shabby if you credit a private estimate in the film industry that she may have taken in as much as $350,000.

Handsome actor-director Vittorio de Sica told the tax man he earned $18,000. The collector thought $64,000 was about right. An authoritative Italian source says De Sica probably made $300,000.

Blue-blooded Prince Alessandro Torlonia declared $17,500 income—somewhat short of the $1,379,800 the tax man set.

How do they get away with it? In Italy the present tax law has no provision for sending tax dodgers to jail. In France, cheaters who are caught get off with fines, almost invariably. Most never are caught.

But the basic problem is more complicated. The income tax is old stuff in the United States, which derives over 80 per cent of governmental income from individual and corporation income taxes. Here the rich always have been powerful and most revenue comes from hidden taxes, taxes that hit the poor harder proportionately than the rich. Only in recent decades has the balance of power shifted and the tax structure been modified.

France collects only about 25 per cent of national revenues from income tax. Hidden taxes on industry, food, sales and the like make up the rest.

Italy picks up about one-sixth of the government income from direct taxes. The bulk comes from a three per cent tax on every transaction in the country, national monopolies on salt and tobacco and similar levies.

Leaders in both countries recognize that income taxes are a fair way to apportion the cost of government on the basis of ability to pay. The public is hard to convince, however. Latins prefer paying in driblets and drabs.

Actually it costs them as much or more under the present system. The over-all tax burden in Italy is 27 per cent of gross national product. In France it's 31 per cent.

There is some excuse for the rick diking taxes. If an honest man paid all the indirect taxes and the full income tax, he could go broke. The tax rate anticipates cheating in declarations. In France, for example, income tax rates for the middle and upper brackets are higher than in America even despite the tremendous additional burden of indirect taxes.

The tax collection system encourages bribery and evasion, too. Many a tax collector is a $150-a-month civil servant. Temptation is great.

Moreover, Europeans don't talk about their incomes the way Amer-

Dulles Supplied With Fires, Pans

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles has a handy supply of fires and frying pans. He keeps hopping from one to another. It's the way he does things that gets him into it.

A month ago, someone in his State Department "leaked" the Yalta papers to a newspaper on the very day Dulles was in the Democratic, Rep. Clar of New York, intimated he does not think much of Dulles' spine. He said: "I could make a better backbone out of a banana."

The Italian-born Corsi, a specialist on immigration problems, is a Republican who not only ran for mayor in New York City but campaigned for Dulles when the latter unsuccessfully ran for the Senate. Dulles brought Corsi here three months ago as his special aid on immigration problems. At that time Dulles called Corsi "my old friend" and said he was the "best qualified man" for the job.

Congress has put restrictions on immigration, even on refugees from communism. The Eisenhower administration is committed to loosening up the law. Corsi, soon after coming here, recommended changes.

He was pounced on by Rep. Walter (D-Pa.), one of the authors of this country's basic law which puts quotas on immigration.

Walter said Corsi has been a member of Communist fronts. Corsi denied it. Walter kept up his gunfire. Last week Dulles dropped Corsi. How come?

The State Department explained Corsi really had only been hired for 90 days. Corsi shot back it was the first time he had heard about the 90 days, that he wouldn't have

Heroux Sr. Freed In Smuggling Plot At State Prison

LAKE BUTLER (AP)—George Heroux Sr. was freed Sunday of charges he helped in a gun smuggling plot that led to the killing of a Hartford state prison official by his convict son George Jr.

Sheriff John H. Whitehead said he and State Atty. T. E. Duncan agreed there was not enough evidence against the father, a fishing equipment salesman of Providence, R.I.

The son used the smuggled gun in an escape attempt last Monday, killing J. G. Godwin, assistant superintendent, and wounding two of six unarmed guards who overpowered him in a corridor near the office of Supt. L. F. Chapman.

Heroux Jr.'s former wife Ruth confessed slipping the gun into prison on a visit. She said Heroux wanted three weapons for a general break but she wouldn't go that far.

Zarobin was checking on reports that 21 Russian seamen, aboard the Soviet tanker, Tuzoppe, had sought political asylum. The ship was seized by Chinese Nationalists last June while en route to Red China.

Edna Michels, Earl Snavelly Wed In Double-Ring Ceremony

Miss Edna Theresa Michels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Michels, and Earl Snavelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl George Snavelly, were united in a beautiful double-ring ceremony yesterday at 6:30 p. m. in the All Souls Catholic Church with the Rev. Father Richard Lyons officiating.

The altar of the church was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli and lilies and the couple exchanged vows before the altar railing. Tall, baskets of lilies and palms stood on each side.

Mrs. F. E. Roumillat Sr. was soloist and organist. She rendered Schubert's "Ave Maria" and "Oh Perfect Love" after which the traditional wedding marches were played.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a white tulle, ballerina length gown with a woven orchid design. Sleeveless, it featured a long torso bodice with a scoop neckline with a low "V" back and a short matching bolero. The nylon veil was shoulder-length trimmed with narrow "Lily of the Valley" lace attached to a small hat of the same material as the dress. She also wore white nylon gloves and carried a white orchid on a covered prayer book.

Miss Mary Ann Michels, sister of the bride, acted as maid of honor and wore a pink tulle dress identical to that of the bride. She also had nylon gloves, white heels and a small hat of matching material. She held a nosegay of pink carnations.

Miss Shirley Ann Snavelly, sister of the groom, served as bridesmaid and wore an aqua tulle dress identical to that of the bride with white nylon gloves and heels and a small hat of matching material. She also carried a nosegay of pink carnations.

Little Miss Linda Kay Snavelly, sister of the groom and flower girl, was dressed in an aqua tulle gown styled similar to that of the bridesmaid. Her floral headpiece was carried by a small nosegay of sweetheart roses.

Gerald P. Dawson of Fairmont, Neb., acted as best man and the ushers were Richard A. Karcher, Kansas City, Kan. and John W. Thomas of Water Town, S. D.

Mrs. Michels chose for her daughter's wedding a navy crepe print dress with navy accessories and a purple orchid corsage.

The groom's mother wore navy blue also with navy accessories and a purple orchid corsage.

A reception followed in the church annex and was given by the bride's parents. The bride's table was beautifully decorated with arrangements of pastel spring flowers and was covered with a green crocheted cloth. Punch was served from one end while the three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom was placed on the other.

For her wedding trip to south Florida Mrs. Snavelly chose a green silk print dress with elbow length sleeves, white batiste cuffs and a Peter Pan collar. She wore the white orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside at the Park Ave. Trailer Park in Sanford upon their return.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Earl G. Snavelly, Linda Kay Snavelly, Shirley A. Snavelly, Joyce B. Snavelly and Max Hamilton of Concordia, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Owens, Dos Owens, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Owens, Mrs. J. E. Smith of DeLand, Mrs. E. H. Owens, Mrs. A. Michels, Miss Rosemary Michels, Miss Kit Michels.

Miss Warmoth, Francis Wilson Exchange Vows

In a lovely candlelight ceremony Miss Margie Virginia Warmoth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Richard Warmoth Sr. and Francis Lorne Wilson, son of the late Mrs. Ouida Wilson, were wed April 9 at 4:30 p. m. in the First Presbyterian Church with the Rev. A. G. McInnis officiating.

The church was beautifully decorated with a small arrangement of flowers on the table at the entrance, fern and gladioli in the windows, and sprays of gladioli at the family pew. A background of palms was placed on the rostrum with two baskets of white gladioli and two candelabra on each side.

Mrs. Evans McCoy was organist and played "Cavatina," Raff; "Nocturne," Grieg; "Traumerei," Schumann; "Nocturne," Chopin; "Salut A'mour," Elgar; the traditional wedding marches and "I Love Thee," Grieg; "Because" and "Prayer," Pericot, were sung by Robert Brown, soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was stunning in a princess-style full length nylon tulle gown. A lace yoke and inset panels down the front created a full sweep look. The yoke and neckline were outlined in pearls with the long sleeves coming to points at the wrists. Her veil created a tiered illusion and was attached to a coronet of lace trimmed in pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid corsage.

Acting as maid of honor, Miss Jeanne Wilson, Sanford, sister of the groom, wore a ballerina-length dress of aqua tulle patterned similar to the brides with the exception of lace, sleeves, and panels. Wearing a coronet of aqua net and lace, she carried a bouquet of yellow roses and tulips.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. J. T. Dabney Jr. and Mrs. Floyd Greene of Chester, S. C. sisters of the bride. Their dresses were fashioned identical to that of the maid of honor.

LeRoy Gilbert, Orlando, acted as best man with John Shepard, Tampa, Fred Rossetter, Sanford, and Gerald Luther, Sebring serving as ushers.

Little Miss Frances Anne Hopper, Chester S. C., niece of the bride, was flower girl. Her dress of aqua tulle was ankle length and featured a lace yoke. Her headband of aqua net was trimmed with yellow flowers. She carried a basket of white flowers.

The answers to everyday insurance problems. By CARRAWAY & MCKIBBIN

QUESTION: My wife and I have been thinking of buying a trailer home and taking a long vacation trip. How could my Liability insurance be made to cover the trailer?

ANSWER: Under the terms of most standard policies, payment of a small additional premium will broaden your Liability coverage to include the trailer. However you must insure the trailer in the same Company which carries your automobile Liability or your car will not be covered while it is pulling the trailer. There are certain types of policies which automatically include a trailer with an insured car so better have your policy checked by a competent insurance agent.

*If you'd address your own insurance questions to this office, we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be no charge or obligation of any kind.

Comedy Writers Shocked At News

NEW YORK (AP)—It's hilarious, simply hilarious, being a television comedy writer. Just a few days ago the two writers of the Martha Raye Show, which goes on tonight, were sitting in their elaborate triple cell, high up in a Manhattan tower. They had been locked up together for more than two weeks. But now they were too stunned even to detest each other. Said Ed Simmons to Norman Lear: "If only we spent all our time watching television, we wouldn't have time to write stuff that gets us into trouble." Lear nodded numbly. They had just been shattered. With rehearsals about to begin, with sets and costumes well along in production, with only a few score hours to actual performance, they had just finished, after two weeks of work, a script satirizing Jackie Gleason. And then someone gave them the word: Both Milton Berle and Red Skelton had done the same thing recently. "I think we ought to hire some invalid or shut-in to do nothing but watch TV for us," said Simmons.

Plane Debris Found East of Pensacola

PENSACOLA (AP)—Debris from a C-47 missing since April 1 was found about 15 miles east of Pensacola Beach Sunday night. A brief case containing a letter addressed to the aircraft's co-pilot also was found in the same area. A spokesman at Brookley Air Force Base, Mobile, Ala., said the debris was found by a resident of the area. It was turned over to the Florida Highway Patrol until Air Force authorities at Eglin Air Force Base could investigate.

Austrian Trade Minister Arrested by Mistake

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The Russian arrested Austrian Trade Minister Udo Illig Sunday after a charity balloon flight wafted him into their zone. They released him and his companions three hours later with apologies. Illig, his son and several others set out from Vienna in a Swiss balloon scheduled to land at Batsburg in the American zone. But wind currents carried them over Soviet territory and they landed near Arheathal, about 25 miles below Vienna.

The Aedes Aegypti mosquito, one of the common carriers of yellow fever, lives almost entirely in and around human habitations, says the World Health Organization.

Anti-American Hotbed Succumbs To Serenity

CAMP TOYOUNI, Japan (AP)—The white beaches and country lanes of tiny Toyouni fishing village nestle serenely along the sandy shore of Chiba Peninsula.

American service men stroll quietly through the town. Nearby Japanese farmers work their pine bordered fields. Down on the beach men of the sea and their wives loiter patiently over their nets. Yet a scant few months ago Toyouni—a picturesque settlement of 8,000 some 60 miles east of Tokyo—was known in the Japanese press as the hottest bed of anti-Americanism in all Japan. The transformation is a high point in the difficult art of human relations. A story of constant effort by the U. S. Far East Command and level headed Japanese officials.

When the occupation ended in April 1952, a series of demonstrations began. Angry, gesticulating villagers paraded through the streets carrying signs demanding "Americans go home." They marched and counter-marched. Their friends demonstrated in Tokyo and communist agitators rushed to the area to try with almost no success, to whip the peaceful protests into violent outbreaks.

The villagers carried their grievances to the Japanese foreign office in an attempt to explain they were not "anti-American" but felt they had been wronged. Far East Command officials discussed the problem with the foreign office and a series of conferences between village leaders and local military officers also began.

Slowly there were signs of progress. Camp baseball teams began playing Japanese teams. One officer explained, "We did it in a Japanese-American style—using the American hard ball for four and a half innings and the Japanese rubber-sponge type softball four and a half innings." Other improvements came quickly with the arrival of a new base commander, Maj. Lloyd Henry Adams of El Paso, Tex. Adams stopped the firing whenever a good fishing catch was reported in the ocean danger zone. He called off training in June and July, the best fishing months. Target planes were carefully kept well out over the water to prevent injuries when they were shot down. "Life here isn't so bad now," Adams said recently. And Toyouni's mayor, Masanaka Sakurai, readily agreed.

Michigan State's first athletic team playing a regular schedule was the baseball squad in 1950.

THIEF "ACCIDENTLY" TAKES MONEY

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Three men tried to rifle the cash register of a gasoline station Sunday but were foiled by K. O. Burnett, Oklahoma City motorcycle officer, who works there part time. Officers later quoted one of the thieves as saying: "I didn't intend to steal the money. I was just looking at it. I accidentally hit the cash register and when I regained by senses I had the money in my hand."

17-Year-Old Sets Swimming Record At Daytona Beach

DAYTONA BEACH (AP)—Shelley Mann, tall, trim, 17-year-old high school girl who loves swimming "better than anything," set a new national 250-yard freestyle mark Saturday the first time she ever tried the event.

She gave up the 100-yard butterfly title to enter the 250-yard freestyle at the National AAU Women's Indoor meet. "The idea is to have fun," she explained before the race.

And fun she had. She stroked the distance in 2 minutes 49.4 seconds, a second better than the old time set by Della Muelenkamp of San Francisco in 1933.

The Arlington, Va., girl also won

100-Yard Freestyle and 400-Yard Medley, Making Her a Triple Winner for the Second Year.

She then combined with three teammates to win the 400-yard medley relay for the Walter Reed Hospital Swim Club of Washington, DC—in the new time of 4:33.5. The old time of 4:34.4 was set by the Lafayette, Ind., Swim Club in February.

Miss Mann's great performance and versatility made Walter Reed a runaway winner of the three-day meet with 43 points. Lafayette was second with 33. Indianapolis was third with 33. Fort Lauderdale Swimming Assn. fourth with 32 and Los Angeles A.C. fifth with 26.

Tell Her It's MURDER

Copyright, 1954, by Helen Reilly. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

SYNOPSIS
Jim Andrus had served a prison term for the murder of a woman. He was a lovely man, but he had been in prison for a long time. He had a beautiful girl, Susan, who was his wife. She was a lovely girl, but she had been in prison for a long time. He had a beautiful girl, Susan, who was his wife. She was a lovely girl, but she had been in prison for a long time.

CHAPTER THREE
ANDRUS shouldn't have talked to Judge when she came up to Sing Sing five months ago. He had said very little, but a little was all Judge needed. She not only read between the lines, she produced whole pages extemporaneously. He kept anger under blankets with an effort.

"The doctor, I'm afraid, will not have a fertile field. I haven't got any brains to speak of."

But Dr. Fernandez got the story behind the story out of him, what there was of it. Later on that night Fernandez talked to McKee, head of New York's homicide squad, over the telephone. "Interesting fellow, Andrus, been around—not a youngster, Judge Carmody's nephew." The medical examiner outlined the case in three sentences. "Andrus feels that he didn't drive his car on the night before the wedding. He thinks someone else drove it, ran the child down and was afraid to come forward. . . . What? No he has nothing concrete. . . . Yes, the evidence against him is pretty strong. Know any good man up there who'd give it a thorough going over?"

McKee was uncommittal. The ambassador was a lovely lady and Fernandez was suspicious; on the other hand, where men were concerned and work, he was ahead and hard-headed. He had evidently taken a liking to the Andrus fellow. . . . The most McKee would promise was that he would have it looked into.

On the following Wednesday, Andrus went up to his aunt's place in Hastings for Thanksgiving when Judge refused to take so. Susan Dwight was on the same train. Andrus had done a lot of intensive thinking about the silver flask in the intervening days. It was the one solid thing he had to hold on to. He hadn't found the flask or the slightest trace of it.

There was one place it might possibly be. . . . Susan Dwight was three seats up from him. He looked at the back of her head for a long time. Then he walked along the aisle, and sat down in the vacant seat beside her. She didn't know who he was for a minute or two, thought he was just anyone, sat staring out at the drab landscape. Then she turned.

National Hockey League referees handed out approximately 100 minutes more in penalties this season for the first half of the schedule as compared to the same period a year ago.

Moon Has Degree Along With Career In Major League

By WALLY MOON
St. Louis Outfielder

(Wally Moon, National League rookie at the year with the St. Louis Cardinals after only one previous full year in baseball, discusses his meteoric rise.)

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — I started playing in organized ball in 1950 but hadn't reported to a spring training camp until 1953 when I went with Rochester.

When I signed with the St. Louis organization in 1950 I requested that they let me finish my schooling at Texas A & M. I was a part-time ball player because of my schooling. The Cardinals went along with me and I'm grateful to them.

I have a masters degree which I received in June of 1952. I can teach any subject in school or go

Fred Girard Haney Polite Little Guy; Manages Pirates

FT. MYERS, Fla. (AP)—Fred Girard Haney, the polite little guy who manages the Pittsburgh Pirates, is carrying a medal from the St. Jude Shrine these days. It's his good luck piece.

It is covered with tape which was while when his wife gave it to him seven springs ago.

"Some one gave this to my wife (Florence) in 1949 when I first managed Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League," he explains. "I had never won a pennant in my eight previous seasons as a manager but I won the pennant that year."

"I haven't seen the medal in years. I only found it recently. Maybe I can win another pennant with it, but I'm not going to worry about the pennant. I'm not silly enough to think we can win it. Let the clubs near the top worry about it."

"My wife is a Catholic and she enrolled in the St. Jude Shrine. He was the patron saint of hopeless cases."

Haney must lay awake nights wondering when St. Jude will come to his aid. In his two years in Pittsburgh the Pirates have finished last in the National League and it's about time someone helped him.

"We have depth with great potential in pitching," says Haney. "Our biggest need is to get some guys with power who can hit. We must have left 1,200 men on base last season. We had as many hits as anybody but they were mostly singles. We also need defensive help in the infield."

From here it looks like the job in Pittsburgh is too big, even for St. Jude.

Amazin' Mays 'Just Knows' What To Do

By WILLIE MAYS
Giants' Center Fielder

When somebody asks me, "Willie, how do you know which direction to start running when a batter hits the ball?" I really can't give a good answer.

Playing center field you just seem to know. Sure, there's an awful lot to learn, but I think you can learn it best by playing and knowing something about the fellows you are playing against.

If the batter usually hits toward the right, play a step or even several steps that way. You'd be surprised how many drives are missed by just a step. They cross you up once in a while but usually not. You can't play in the same spot all the time and expect to do a good job. You move in or back or to the left or right.

When you play a lot you just seem to know what direction to start when the batter hits the ball.

I guess you call it second nature. Lots of times I start after a ball without really thinking what direction I'm going. I'm trying to catch it the best way I can and be set to throw back to the infield. A center fielder is sort of the engineer of the outfield. And you try to get to everything you can.

See, I've been asked hundreds of questions about that catch in the first game of the World Series. The one that Vic Wertz hit for Cleveland. Was it my best catch? How did I play it?

Honestly, I don't rate 'em. I just try to catch 'em. When he hit the ball I just started going toward the place it was heading. And I got there.

I've learned a lot since starting to play professional baseball. I got good advice from Chick Genge, who was manager at Trenton in 1950. That's when I started playing in organized baseball.

And I get advice from my boss, Leo Durocher, and the coaches. But what's best for other players might not be best for me. But I try them all out.

People ask why I make catches below my belt and when I learned to do it. I learned while I was in the Army a couple years ago practicing. And I do it because I can get my throw off faster and better. Not many do it, but it's best for me.

Speed is important in getting to the ball and quickness in seeing where to throw it and getting rid of it. It takes practice.

Some say I have unusual speed and reflexes for baseball. Maybe

Casey Aids Name Of Mickey Mantle

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—When Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees was told that a National League manager had said "Mickey Mantle is baseball's most-overrated player," Stengel said:

"If he (the manager) were a pitcher he wouldn't say that. Sure, he's had a bad knee. But it's all right now. He's fast. I can't say he's the fastest man in baseball because we didn't hire him to sprint. We hired him to play centerfield and he does a pretty good job at it for the Yankees."

PISTOLS PROHIBITED

POWELL, WYO. (AP) — Police Chief Don Toay was well prepared for the Big Horn district high school basketball tournament.

He sent word to all participating schools that one of Powell's ordinances would be strictly enforced during the tourney.

It bans water pistols.

Mayor Cordell Proclaims Baseball Week In City

Mayor Denver Cordell proclaimed Baseball Week in Sanford from March 28 through April 2, 1955. The Mayor urged each and every citizen to support the Sanford Cardinal baseball team throughout the coming baseball season.

President R. J. Bauman asked the ticket committee to set its goal for a sale of 450 season tickets during that week. For the first time season tickets may be purchased on a time basis.

The Mayor's proclamation follows: "WHEREAS, the Baseball Association has concluded definite arrangements with the St. Louis Cardinals for organization of a baseball team for this City to be entered in the Florida State League for the 1955 season, and,

"WHEREAS, it is in the interests of every citizen of the community that this major sport be given the active and enthusiastic support which will help to insure this team and the City of a winning Club, and a good season, and,

"WHEREAS, in order that assurance shall be made to the team and to the Baseball Association that there is sincere interest, enthusiasm and active support to back the team during the coming season, and it is desirable that full emphasis be given to the activities of the Association during weeks to come, and particularly during next week, when a special effort will be made for memberships and ticket sales to assure success in the coming season,

"NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the benefits to be derived by this community from active participation in organized baseball, and in order that official endorsement shall be given to this fine program, and the splendid team with which arrangements have been made, I, J. D. CORDELL, as Mayor of the City of Sanford do hereby proclaim the week from March 28 through April 2, 1955, as Baseball Week in this City, and do respectfully urge all the citizens of this community to lend their active personal and financial support to the activities of the Baseball Association, and the Cardinals Baseball Team in its preparations for the coming season."

Phils' Injuries Dim Flag Hopes

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — For the fourth time in as many years a major league ball club has had its pennant hopes dimmed by spring training injuries to key ball players.

This time it's the National League's Philadelphia Phillies. Misfortune scored with a high, hard one when first-line outfielders Del Ennis and Richie Ashburn collided and were injured while chasing a fly ball Friday in an exhibition encounter with the New York Yankees.

The New York Giants were hurt critically when Monte Irvin fractured his ankle in 1952. And last year the Milwaukee Braves lost the services for almost the entire season of the then newly acquired ballhawk, Bobby Thomson, also victim of an ankle fracture.

There was also the loud wail of the Boston Red Sox when the incomparable Ted Williams broke his collar bone while shagging fly balls.

Now the Phillies are worried about Ashburn's puffed and bruised knee and Ennis' leg with a hair-wide fracture of the fibula under the left kneecap. Speculation has it that Ennis, a good fielder and a better slugger, will be out for at least a month. If Ennis is out anywhere near that length of time the Phil's offense is almost sure to suffer.

Ashburn is the team's leadoff man who crossed the plate 111 times last year to lead the team in that department. His ability to play in the season opener Tuesday is doubtful. Ashburn has played 73 straight league games and his absence from the starting lineup tomorrow would smash his attempt to beat the National League mark of 82 consecutive games set by Pittsburgh's Gus Suhr in 1937.

Millers' Manager Offers Outline

By BILL RIGNEY
Manager Minneapolis Millers
Gail Harris, 25-year-old first baseman, has lots of power and is an improved fielder. I can't see him pushing Whitley Lockman off first base for the Giants but you never can tell about those things.

Also, Rance Pless has a big job in trying to replace Hank Thompson at third for the Giants. A left-handed hitter, Gail has real power. He hit 34 homers and drove in 118 runs, hitting .309 last season.

When he came to me last year he said he wasn't much of a fielder but he did better than average for us. He has a good arm and if he doesn't stay with the Giants I sure hope he comes back to us. He has a good chance to make the majors but right now I'd say he would be better off in AAA than sitting on the Giant bench.

You know it doesn't make sense expecting anybody to break in on a championship club, especially in place of Thompson, the best third-sacker in the majors. But Pless is an excellent fielder and a good right-handed hitter.

We're sending two young pitchers to spring training with the Giants who are good prospects. They'll make it sooner or later. They are Jimmie Constable, 21-year-old, 6 foot 1 lefthander, and Raymond Monsant, Constable has

THE FIRST HOME game of the 16th annual FNL baseball season will be played at Memorial Stadium in Sanford when Orlando will clash with the Cardinals Thursday night.

Prospects Sent For Bosox Team

By PINKY HIGGINS
The Boston Red Sox are bringing up from Louisville a number of good young prospects. Some will make the grade this season.

Marty Keough, an outfielder, is a fine prospect yet he is not on the roster of the big club. But he will get a thorough look this spring. Keough is not a power hitter despite 10 homers, 17 triples and 22 doubles. However, he is a very good hitter, with exceptional running speed. He stole 15 bases at Louisville and led the Little World Series winners in hitting with .302. That's exceptional for a boy who had had only one year's experience in Class C ball.

Gene Stephens and Norm Zauch in both showed improvement and rate a good chance this spring. Although Zauch hit only .289 he had 118 runs batted in, second best figure in the association. He hit 18 home runs and had 38 other extra base hits. He's a big fellow 6 feet 5, weighs 210 pounds and can stretch at first base. Stephens an outfielder, hit .286 and is only 22.

Ivan Delock, back for another trial, was one of the better pitchers in the association. He was tops in shutouts with six. He has fine control and his curve ball has improved. He had a 17-10 record and his earned run mark of 3.29 rated third, among those who pitched 200 or more innings.

Al Curtis, after having arm trouble, finished strong in the playoffs and the Little World Series. He has a good curve and a fine fast ball.

VIDEO ADVICE
PITTSBURGH — Coach Dudley Moore of the highly successful Duquesne University basketball team says it is nice to have the games televised except that he gets more mail — and advice.

Two days after Duquesne lost a 67-58 decision to Dayton University, Moore said he had received nearly a score of letters. All were from TV viewers who suggested various ways of stopping Bill Uhl, Dayton's high scoring center who led his team to victory over the Dukes.

Crone Has Chance To Spend Season With Milwaukee

By GEORGE SELKIRK
Manager Toledo Sox
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Ray Crone, a 23-year-old right handed pitcher from Memphis, has a good chance to stick with the Milwaukee Braves this season.

Crone came to Toledo near the middle of the season last year and in the seven games he completed for us he showed great potential. He turned in seven victories against three losses.

Crone, weighs about 185 pounds and stands 6 feet 2. He has real good major league stuff. He is strictly a control pitcher with a real good fast ball, a good curve and a nice change up.

He is the type of pitcher a manager likes to have on his club. On the strength of a 19-11 record in Class A ball with Jacksonville, Fla., in 1953 he went up with the Milwaukee Braves last spring. In one of his two starts he beat the Chicago Cubs in 10 innings. It was his only decision while working 49 innings, most of them in relief, in 19 games.

He was sent to Toledo in the hopes of getting more work. I believe he is a fine prospect.

Michigan hunters and trappers were paid $67,200 during 1954 as bounties on 3,715 coyotes, 23 wolves and 627 bobcats, reports the state conservation department.

City Commission Approves Contract For Tax Payment

The City Commission recently approved a contract with the Sanford baseball club providing for the payment of city taxes following each game instead of weekly as in the past.

The change was requested by J. C. Davis, spokesman for Sanford Enterprises Inc., which will operate the Sanford Cardinals team.

Under terms of the contract, the organization will reimburse the city for the cost of utilities at Memorial Stadium if the club shows a profit.

Davis said the group this year is starting in better financial shape than the corporation which fielded a team in 1953, the last year Sanford had a team.

He said, however, they might as well not start if the city insists on the new organization paying the $1,000 city tax due from 1953. The Commission decided to take a less lenient attitude about the old debt.

The initial expense of fielding a team in the past has been approximately $2,500, but the only cost of setting the team up this year will be the outlay for transportation from Albany, Ga., to Sanford, Davis explained.

The St. Louis Cardinals' Class D spring training camp is located at Albany.

Davis praised Sanford's agreement with the Cardinals.

City Manager Warren Knowles pointed out that baseball enthusiasm is at a high peak here, and Mayor Denver Cardell said that "Sanford without baseball is a dead duck in the summer."

One "has ever made any money" on baseball in Sanford, Commissioner John Krider said, emphasizing that the prime purpose is to entertain the citizens.

Davis asked how the Commission felt about putting advertising signs on the outside of the stadium. The Commission decided it would "not be a good idea."

Rotary Starting 10th Year

The Rotary Club baseball league, an activity of the Youth committee of the civic club, is in its tenth year of providing recreation, a fuller understanding of the national pastime and a deeper conception of sportsmanship for boys 13 to 16 years of age.

The city generously supports the program in providing a field and this year the games that are played on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays are at the old Municipal ball field at Celery and Mellenville Avenues, starting at 4:30 p.m. The city authorities also make available the Memorial Stadium, lights and all for the "Little World Series" that is played at the end of the season between the pennant winners and a team of all-stars picked from the other clubs.

The Rotary club members serve as managers of the teams — two men to the club—furnish the balls, catching equipment, bases and bats, and see to it that umpires are on hand. Baseball caps are given to the team members, who furnish their own gloves and shoes.

Two trophies each year are provided by Roy Holler and Sonny Powell for most valuable players and for best sportsmanship, and they are awarded at the "Little World Series" game.

The schedule starts each year soon after the first of April and runs until the middle of May. Following the game between the champions and the all-stars, the sponsors entertain at a function designed strictly for a good time for the team members.

The activity of Rotarians in this Youth program has been commended by parents of the boys who take part in it, high school coaches who see some of the lads move up to the high school nine, juvenile authorities and baseball men in the organized leagues because they

Teams Announced For Rotary League

The Rotary club baseball league got underway in March at an organizational meeting called by Chm. Roy Holler. All interested boys who intended to play were asked to be on hand so the teams could be organized after their personnel had been selected.

League play started April 4 and will last six weeks. The games are being played at the Ninth and Laurel grounds until April 16-when they will be moved to the Municipal stadium.

Mr. Holler pointed out that at the close of the season, there will be the usual "World Series" game between the pennant winning club and an all-star team, played under lights at the Municipal Stadium.

Awards, as in the past, will include miniature baseballs to the members of the winning club and two trophies. The Sportsmanship cup is given by Mr. Holler to the player who during the season has displayed the best sportsmanship. Another cup, given by Sonny Powell, will go to the boy who has shown the most improvement during the season. These awards are made at the "World Series" game.

This is the tenth year in which the Youth Committee of the Rotary club has sponsored this activity in an effort to provide wholesome play, increase the baseball ability of the interested boys and step up their interest in the national pastime.

Howard Gordie will again umpire the games, it was said. The team roster as submitted by the managers are:

PIRATES: Hutchison and Holler, managers; Johns, Hittell, Corley, English, Stotsky, Bridges, Vose, Owens, Butler, Bailey, T. Butner, Sikes.

GIANTS: Scott and Pope, managers; Carter, Dandridge, Stoothoff, Payette, Robinson, McCoy, Halligan, Russl, Davis Gross Farley, Wagner.

CUBS: Weir and Wiggins, managers; Cherry, Howard, Abney, Thomas, MacMurray, Moyer, Stafford, Erickson, Hudson, Harriett, Moss, Koke, Baker.

GOLDEN STATE FOR HORSEMEN

SACRAMENTO, CALIF. (AP)—California was really the Golden State for horsemen in 1954. It topped all other states in net distribution and added money by race tracks, according to the Thoroughbred Racing Assn. The sum was $11,283,000. New York was second with a net distribution of $5,525,775. Illinois was listed third with $7,623,600. Total prize money in '54 came to $75,235,511.

NEW YORK (AP)—What with baseball hogging the headlines in recent weeks, many sports fans probably have overlooked the fact that what promises to be one of the most exciting and dramatic horse racing seasons in many a summer is shaping up very nicely.

Nashua and Summer Tan, who slugged each other silly as 2-year-olds and stood out miles above the Eastern pack, have about completed their serious training at adjoining tracks on Long Island and are fixing to go at it again. The first 1955 meeting of the two fine-looking colts will come in the Wood Memorial at Jamaica April 22.

In their four meetings last summer, Nashua nipped Summer Tan three times, each in a photo. Summer Tan scored in the other one by a length and a half, but had to set an Aqueduct track record of 1:16

Congratulations Go Out To Sanford Cardinals Baseball Players

ALBANY, Ga.—A newly organized Sanford baseball club joined 13 other St. Louis Cardinals' Class B. C. and D squads in spring training here.

The Sanford club was hastily stocked with 22 players who have been in camp for two weeks with other clubs.

Daniel Keith, a veteran of the St. Louis Cardinals' farm system, was named manager of the Sanford entry in the Florida State League. Keith, a first baseman, played with Norfolk in the Piedmont League last year and batted .328. Twenty of the 22 are rookies, but George Silvey, director of the Class C and D clubs, said that more experienced players would be added later after the first year men had a chance to show what they could do.

"We want to pick the best from these rookies to form the backbone of the Sanford club," Silvey said, "because so many first year men are required in the Florida State League. Then we will place more experienced players where they can be of the greatest benefit."

Other members of the squad include: catcher Ron Ott; pitchers John Van Uden, Oscar Hoffman, Dean Baxter, Ken Lavallee, John Petro, Bill Eppley, Jack Findley, Ken Spencer, John Bartek, and Roland Manfredi; second basemen Don Simpson and Dick Snyder; shortstops Nat Sharper, Ron Smiley and Frank Yorchak; third baseman Al Scavelli, and outfielders Clayton Reed, Thurmon Terrell, Bill Skemp and Don Brandt.

Southpaw Bill Werle, getting another major league chance with the Cincinnati Redlegs, showed remarkable control for Louisville in the American Assn. during 1954. In 97 innings he walked only eight men.

The only two players with previous professional experience are first baseman Frank DiMichele, who hit .285 with Paducah, Ky., last year, and outfielder Stan Berry who was with Hazlehurst, Ga., part
