Does Israel Have 'Bomb'?

By Tom Tiede WASHINGTON (NEA)—In the heat of the Arab-Israeli Yom Kippur war a French general, Georges Buis, casually told a reporter that the Israelis "certainly" possess a nuclear threat.

The opinion went un-noticed in most U.S. newspapers, as speculation on the "Israeli bomb" usually does. The prospect has always been too unpleasant for widespread popular contemplation.

Now, with a tenuous truce in partial effect, and thoughts somewhat less inflamed, it may be well to consider the general's assertion, if only as an added, ultimate, element in the argument for a more stable Middle East.

Buis' belief, of course, is not sacred. He is director of the French Institute of National Defense Studies, and it was his nation which assisted Israel in the construction of at least one nuclear reactor, but the existence of an Israeli bomb has not been confirmed.

Many experts say the bomb does not exist. The arguments are that there is no record of an Israeli test, that past Israeli leaders (notably David Ben-Gurion) have long insisted their nation would not be the first to introduce such weapons in the Mediterranean, that, actually, U.S. (and world Jewry) opinion prohibits Israel from having so much gunpowder so near an open flame.

Others, however, firmly believe the bomb dwells in Tel Aviv. The Arabs, for instance, argue that in Egypt are that the Israelis obviously have the expertise, the technology and, with the exception of uranium, the resources. Arab sources point out that money is no limiting factor.

factor, former U.S. Secretary General U-Thant once estimated the production of a small yield atomic bomb at about $15 million. "That's about one night's intake," says an Arab diplomat, "for the United Jewish Appeal."

And certainly, adds Cornell professor George Quester, Israel does little to discourage speculation. A retired Israeli general last year wrote an article for the popular press which warned Egypt against new weapons. The shooting down of the Arab airliner last winter," asks Solomon, "We think the reason it was done so hastily is that the plane veered too near the Sinai reactor and the Israelis panicked."

The Dimona reactor alone, say nuclear experts in the United States, is capable of producing at least one bomb a year. Conventional wisdom has long after the U.S. 6th fleet had already done so. They play a tricky game. And at the very least, if they don't have the bomb now they can quickly put one together.

No doubt, Alan Solomon of the Committee for New Alternatives in the Middle East, says the Israelis now have three working nuclear reactors. One, the largest, is the French-built original at Dimona. And there is possibly one in the Sinai. "Remember the shooting down of the Arab airliner last winter?" asks Solomon. "We think the reason it was done so hastily is that the plane veered too near the Sinai reactor and the Israelis panicked."

But would Israel do it? Dr. Herbert Scoville, former CIA official, now a member of the Federation of American Scientists, believes it would be most unwise. "It would be terribly stupid of them to use it. They would only be asking for a retaliation. They would be inviting the Russians to give similar weapons to the Arabs. No, it would be stupid. But having said this I should add that the antagonists there are not always so wise."

Arabian Oil Nations Reduce Production

KUWAIT (AP)—The Arab oil nations announced new production cuts today in their offensive against supporters of Israel but said "friendly countries" would not be affected.

The 10-member Organization of Arab Petroleum Exporting Countries (OAPEC) announced production would be reduced this month by 25 per cent of the September output and by five per cent of the November output in December.

But the announcement after a seven-hour meeting of the nations' oil ministers said the 25 per cent reduction would include the oil already cut off by the embargos against the United States and the Netherlands.

The standing of Britain is uncertain, and the Arabs have openly sympathetic with the Arab position against Israel.

The oil states delegated two oil ministers — Algeria's Abdel Salam Belaid and Saudi Arabia's Ahmed Zaki Yamani — to visit Western capitals, including Washington, to explain the Arab position. The other Arab countries involved are Kuwait, Iraq, Syria, Abu Dhabi, Qatar, Bahrain, Egypt and Libya.

Five of the nations also have stopped shipping to the Netherlands.

Kuwait officials said a major question at the meeting was how to ship oil to friends and prevent their sharing it with enemies.

Monetary Outlook Bittersweet

Republic Of China Future Uncertain

COPLEY NEWS

The outlook of its leaders must have been bitter as well as sweet as the Republic of China noted the 62nd anniversary of its birth as a republic in ceremonies at Taipei Oct. 10.

By and large the Republic of China has met the objectives of individual freedom, representative government and prosperity that were envisioned by Dr. Sun Yatsen in 1911. Indeed, the prosperity and well being of the Republic of China on Taiwan are the envy of much of Asia.

In sharp contrast, Communist China across the straits, which has acquired the bulk of Chinese real estate, has failed to meet the precepts of Dr. Sun on all counts. Its people are not free, they are not prosperous and they have no direct voice in their government. Communist China is a dictatorship.

On the basis of this comparison, the Republic of China is entitled in all respects to first class membership in the world of nations. It is a sad fact that despite its accomplishments and its peaceful industrial goals, the Republic of China is slowly being excluded from the world.

Farther it lost its membership in the United Nations, including its voice of the International Security Council. It slowly is losing diplomatic recognition of the other nations of the world. U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, who will visit Peking again this month, will not even stop in Taipei while he is in the East. Finally, there are indications that the Republic of China soon will be dropped from the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank.

In many ways exclusion from the international financial club may be the cruellest cut of all. The ultimate resource that the gallant nation has in defending its independence is the international trade that its industry and resourcefulness brings.

The roots of Taipei's troubles are evident. A world tired of war and enchanted with what it believes is a general reduction of hostilities between capitalism and communism is willing for the moment to sacrifice the free Chinese nation and to make dangerous concessions to an enemy of freedom. In doing so, it is confusing size and power. Communist China's land bulk and 800 million peasants loom larger than a small island and 15 million people. If the celebration in the Republic of China stirs any American interest in China, we hope that citizens will ask themselves which China really represents the peaceful aspirations of the Western world.

Standards Needed For Pensions

COPLEY NEWS

Unfortunately, that is the direction in which the more zealous reformers would take us. The nation's experience with Social Security should be instructive in showing what can happen when there is continual congressional tinkering with such programs financed by employer and employee contributions.

What is needed is a set of standards and regulations that would place the trustees of private pension systems under restraints comparable to those imposed on the banking and securities industries. There is a public interest in the solvency of banks and the security of their deposits. There is also a public interest in the field of pension funds, whether considered in terms of the $150 billion in assets which they hold in the aggregate, or in terms of the individual worker who is relying on one of his retirement income.

On the one hand, employers understandably would prefer to see a minimum of government supervision over pension programs. Federal intrusion into their business affairs is annoying enough as it is. The business world cannot deny, however, that far too many employees are being short-changed under loosely supervised pension plans which do not deliver on their promises.

On the other hand, there are enough well-managed and successful private pension plans to show that it is hardly necessary to establish government-sponsored retirement funds as a remedy for abuses.

Don Oakley Clothes make the career

Postmen, policemen, bus drivers and many other people always wear distinctive, identifying clothing on the job. In recent years, however, the idea has mushroomed to include bank clerks, door-to-door salesmen, car dealers, hotel personnel and even funeral directors.

identifies his employees as service people to customers. Because it must be better made, longer lasting and more comfortable on the job, career apparel copes with extremes of fashions. Employees like it because it solves the problem of "what to wear" in the morning and consider it an extra fringe benefit, especially when the company pays all or part of the cost.

The concept is growing so fast that it has resulted in the formation of a Career Apparel Institute, an offshoot of the uniform industry. But "career apparel" is definitely not uniforms. It is more like the snappy tailored outfits long worn by airline stewardesses, whose glamorous image has, in fact, been one of the factors responsible for the phenomenon. Career apparel is a unified sense of business attire that combines fashion and function while projecting a desired image for a company. In addition to building company identity, other advantages are cited: Career apparel enhances an employee's sense of being part of a professional team and upgrades (a) work performance; there is less employee turnover; (b) it makes a company look more efficient to the public and Infant discrimination? We are selling parts of our minority population down the river by making the model of the white Caucasian baby the rule to follow in infant development, says pediatrician Dr. T. Berry Brazelton. Some of Brazelton's findings, based on 20 years of practice in the United States, plus studies he conducted in Africa and southern Mexico, are detailed in Race Relations Reporter magazine. A newborn Mayan baby, for example, will follow a dangling red ball for several minutes at a time. The best a white baby will do, says Brazelton, is a minute and a half. White babies are also more immune to cold and stress. In Africa, if you pull a newborn black baby up to sit, "he has enough motor strength for his head to come up in one heave and they come right up on their feet." Your typical white baby "doesn't have the kind of motor capacity or the energy or the motivation to do what the black baby can."

Memos Reveal Antipress Tactics

by Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's scathing hostility toward the press infected almost the entire White House staff long before his latest press conference.

A series of secret memos, dating back to the first year of the Nixon Administration, show how the staff schemed to intimidate reporters and their employers into giving favorable coverage in the media.

The White House tactics included plans to use the Federal Communications Commission against the network, to stimulate letters to newspapers and to block reporters from interviewing Nixon aides when it appeared the stories might be unfavorable.

The first disclosure of the memos came in the form of a campaign to intimidate Nixon's news critics was made last week by Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., who made public a memo from Jeb Stuart Magruder to former White House staff chief H. R. Haldeman. Magruder recommended using the Justice Department, Internal Revenue Service and Federal Communications Commission to harass offending news organizations.

Other documents, which haven't yet surfaced, show the White House was going after the media with a vengeance. In one memorandum, Haldeman's briefcase carrier, Lawrence Higby, declared: "What we are trying to do here is tear down the institution."

He referred to a July 1970 statement which Life magazine attributed to newscaster Chet Huntley, then about to retire from NBC. Huntley was quoted as saying of Nixon: "The shallowness of the man overwhelms me; the fact that he is President frightens me."

Wrote Higby to Magruder: "The point behind this whole thing is that we don't care about Huntley — he is going to leave anyway. What we are trying to do here is tear down the institution. Huntley will go out in a blaze of glory, and we should attempt to pop his bubble."

Higby suggested stimulating petitions from the public and pressure from station owners demanding Huntley's immediate removal. "Let's put a full plan on this and get the thing moving," urged the young Haldeman aide.

Huntley's Denial But by the next day, the White House learned that Huntley planned to apologize to Nixon and to deny the validity of the quotation in Life magazine. Still, the White House staff kept churning.

Maguire, in a memo to Haldeman, suggested: "Since the newscaster enjoys a very favorable public image and will apologize for his remarks, claiming to be misquoted, we should not attempt to discredit him personally. The focus of our effort should be to raise the larger question of objectivity and ethics in the media as an institution. To do this, we will have to turn objectivity into an issue and the subject of public debate. The Magruder plan called for the White House staff to "plant" stories raising "the question of objectivity and ethics in the news business."

He also sought to recruit a journalism dean, congressmen, private groups and Vice President Spiro Agnew to flip the press. FCC Chairman Dean Burch would also be called upon to "express concern about press objectivity."

Media Watchdogs Magruder also envisioned "a blue-ribbon media watchdog" committee, which "John Cosgrove, a former president of the National Press Club," could set up. The presidential assistant wanted even to arrange for a senator or congressman (to) write a public letter to the Legislature and to all executive and judicial branch officials, suggesting the "licensing" of individual newsmen.

While demanding fairness for themselves, however, the White House schemed to keep the Democrats from being treated fairly. Charles Colson wrote to Haldeman on August 26, 1970: "The other side is really being hurt as they begin to understand the FCC decisions. The Democratic National Committee is using every procedural move (and CBS is cooperating) to stay the decisions... I think it is time for us to generate again a PR campaign against the Democrats and CBS."

A month later, Colson submitted a brutal report on his meetings with officials of the two networks. "Terribly Nervous" "The networks are terribly nervous over the uncertain state of the law, i.e. the recent FCC decisions and the pressures to grant Congress access to TV. They are also apprehensive about us. Although they tried to disguise this, it was obvious. The harder I pressed them (CBS and NBC) the more accommodating, cordial and almost apologetic they became. (Then CBS President Frank Stanton for all his bluster is the most insecure of all...)

"There was unanimous agreement that the President's right of access to TV should in no way be restrained," Colson wrote. "Both CBS and ABC agreed with me that on most occasions the President speaks as President and that there is no obligation for presenting a contrasting point of view under the Fairness Doctrine."

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1973 by Charles T. Johnson, N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My fiancée, a talented young man, plays the guitar in a small group, which up until now has played only for their own enjoyment. I have told him repeatedly that I didn't want him to play for the public, whether it be a concert, reception, or dance. He always assured me he wouldn't. Now the group is getting offers, and he wants to play professionally.

Maybe I sound selfish, but I want my husband home nights, so our children will know their father. Most musicians are gone nights and weekends, and have to play in Lord knows what kind of places.

I don't want to force him to make a choice between me or his music because I know how much he loves his music. Yet, I could never be happy as a musician's wife, no matter how successful he became.

I know many girls would be thrilled to have their husbands up on a stage, but I'm different.

STAGE FRIGHT IN WACO
DEAR STAGE FRIGHT: There can be no compromise here. If your fiancée loves music, and wants to make it his career, you are forcing him to make a choice.

No man is as miserable as he who sacrifices doing what he wants most to do in order to please his wife. Unless he's the man who does what he wants to do, and has a nagging wife at his elbow reminding him of how miserable she is.

DEAR JERRY: In answer to the girl who thought she was getting too much attention from her father in law. She doesn't know how lucky she is. I once had the same problem, or thought I did. Then my husband died at an early age, and my father in law expressed his love for me. To make a long story short, I married my father in law. I was 30, and he was 60. We have had a wonderful life together and are still in good health. I am now 60, and he is 90.

So, don't put down the father in law. Chances are he is a lot like his son, only older.
HAPPY WITH PAPPY
DEAR HAPPY: You don't say where mother in law was when father in law expressed his love for you, but if she was alive and kicking, shame on Pappy for having traded in his older model for a newer one.

DEAR ABBY: I have a beautiful 22-year-old daughter. She has always had many boy friends and girl friends until a year ago when she met this one girl at school. Since then, nothing has been the same.

My daughter has dropped all her other friends and the associates only with this one girl. They are together morning, noon, and night. They have all their classes together, and after school this friend comes home with her, eats dinner here, and on weekends she spends the nights here.

They never have dates, but it doesn't seem to bother them—they are so wrapped up with each other. It just doesn't seem normal to me.

Abby, I am beginning to wonder about the relationship between these two girls. I love my daughter more than my own life. What should I do?
HEARTSUCK MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Let your daughter know you love her and accept her as she is. There is no more convincing proof of your love.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Why don't stores advertise hours?

By POLLY CRAMER

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY: My problem is with dress and skirt belts that become limp when they are laundered. Often the backing cracks, too. What can one do to make such belts firm and new looking again? — MARGARET.

DEAR POLLY: My Pet Peeve is that the large stores in shopping centers do not always put the hours they are open in their ads. We go to some in Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, and even New Jersey, and no two seem to have the same shopping hours. After driving perhaps 1 1/2 hours it is annoying to find the stores do not open until 10 a.m. and it may be only 9:30. Doubtless they think everyone knows the hours but since the 9-to-5 store hours tend to offer few people can keep the different hours straight. — N.I.P.

DEAR POLLY: Barbara, who has a white spot on her pecan wood bed, should rub the spot with petroleum jelly. If it stand overnight and then wipe it all off. Repeat if necessary. I won a Polly Dollar for this as a pointer some years ago. — MELBA.

Melba, I do want to thank you again for this pointer. I have used it many times and found it to be great. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY: I want to tell Barbara who accidentally sprayed disinfectant on her pecan wood bed that I had a white mark on my peaco dresser. After trying everything I rubbed it with a broken pecan nut meat. It worked like magic and no mark was left. — MRS. R.L.C.

DEAR POLLY: I sprayed disinfectant all over the house and white spots appeared on my coffee table. I wrote to the company that makes the spray and they suggested cigarette ashes wet with fresh lemon juice. Apply with a cloth but do not leave on too long, just a very few minutes, and then wipe with a clean dry cloth. I have used this for four or five years. — MRS. E.S.A.

DEAR POLLY: Most families have the problem of scuff marks on the floors but a quick and easy way to remove them is to wet a cloth or paper towel with silver polish. Rub the scuff marks and they will come off with every effort. It is a bit easier for people cramped to wheel chairs to give a quick cleanup to rugs by using a child's hand sweeper which does a fairly good job, is light and easy to handle. — MRS. L.G.

WORRY CLINIC

Horace's wife craved more romance. But she unwittingly was making him more and more plain. Note, too, the birthday present the Pennsylvania dentist's wife gave him. Was it an erotic blouse or a bodour chesecake, avoid cigarettes!

CASE Y 562: Horace T., aged 38, is a bank teller. "Dr. Crane," his wife explained, "Horace is a good provider but very demonstrative. "As the past few years our marriage has been largely platonic. "So do you think he needs some sex vitamins or hormone shots to perk him up in the bedroom?"

"He isn't so old that he should be impotent, for he is only 38. "But he has even demanded that I buy twin beds, saying I waken him when I roll over at night."

"Dr. Crane, I'd like a more romantic husband so how can I get Horace to perk up in the bedroom?"

"Cigarettes thus help dissipate a wife's unexpended erotic energy. "But they also inhibit a man's sex drive, if he is a smoker, for they seem to anesthetize his ardor. "You are aware of the fact that smoking cuts down a man's stomach hunger. "By the same token, it apparently curbs his erotic appetite, too! "Even if the husband is a non-smoker, then that stale tobacco habit of his wife may also throw him into a platonic state. Tobacco thus acts as a form of chemical castration. "When I mentioned this fact before a Pennsylvania Dental Convention, 700 doctors wrote the very next week for the booklet below."

"But, Dr. Crane," a prominent dental surgeon protested, "my birthday occurred the day after your speech and do you know what my wife gave me as a present? "A box of cigars, plus several cartons of cigarettes!"

"But she had always been diffident in the bedroom, so was she trying to curb my desire for bodour chesecakes?"

Send for my booklet "How to Break the Tobacco Habit," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, and do not send money unless you are sure you are getting one of his booklets.)

Impeachment: 1868 and 1973 (?)

Andrew Johnson

By Don Oakley
The constitutional crisis engendered by the Watergate tapes controversy has focused the curiosity of Americans on the only other time in their history that a president has stood in peril of being removed from office by virtue of Article II, Section 6 of the Constitution — the impeachment clause.

On Feb. 24, 1868, a bill of impeachment embracing 11

Richard M. Nixon

charges was brought by the House of Representatives against Andrew Johnson, 17th president of the United States. On March 13, his trial began in the Senate, and in voting on May 16 and 26, he was acquitted. The Senate each time falling just one vote short of the two-thirds needed to convict.

Are there any similarities or parallels between those momentous events and the impeachment fever gripping many Americans and an uncertain number of congressmen today? Are there any lessons that can be applied to our own time?

Aside from the sheer mechanics of the impeachment process itself — assuming that the current crisis reaches that point — the answer is no. The two periods and the circumstances of the two embattled presidents can scarcely be compared.
For at least a year preceding those fateful days in the spring of 1868, Andrew Johnson, having been locked in combat with a Congress dominated by "Radical Republicans" bent on treating the South as a conquered province.
Two years after Appomattox, in the midst of the Reconstruction Acts, Congress in effect consistently failed to over-ride the vetoes of President Johnson.
Congress usurped the role of commander-in-chief from Andrew Johnson, going so far as to deprive him of central control of the Army. Today, it will be considered a significant victory if Congress succeeds in limiting the President's war-making initiative to a 60-day period over his expected veto.

—As noted, Congress denied to Andrew Johnson the right to remove civil officials, including members of his own cabinet. Today, we wonder who will be next to join the long line of aides, secretaries and others exiting the executive branch, either resigning under a cloud or being ousted by Richard Nixon.
—Even Andrew Johnson's opponents doubted the constitutionality of the Tenure of Office Act (it was, in fact, eventually nullified by the Supreme Court). Today, even supporters of Richard Nixon fear that he is attempting to place himself above the law.
Not least of the contrasts, there was no breath of scandal surrounding the Johnson administration, no question of honesty or morality.
The initial tournament will be held at the Atlanta Country Club during Labor Day week-ends and will feature 144 players competing for a purse of $250,000.
The field will be composed of all tournament winners for 1974 with the remainder determined by a point system.
Pope McIntire, president of the Atlanta Golf Course Foundation, announced the tournament of the tournament with TPD Commissioner Joe Dye.
McIntire said the 1974 tournament will replace the Atlanta Classic but the classic will be resumed in May or June of 1975.
"The tournament will be moved around each year," he said. "It is hoped that this Labor Day weekend tournament will be the climax, sort of a world series, of a golf season."
McIntire added that he hoped the tournament would give the United States another major event similar to the Masters, U.S. Open and LGA tournaments.
GOLF BOSS RETIRES
The tour...
Joseph C. Dey Jr., 64, is retiring boss of the $8 million golf tour at the end of next February, when his five-year contract expires.
A leading candidate to succeed him as commissioner of the Professional Golfers Association's Tournament Players Division is Sam Gates, 67, New York lawyer. Gates presented the touring professionals in the bitter battle when they threatened in 1968 to break away from the PGA and go forth on their own.
Gates mentioned for the post are Jack Tutill, longtime director of the tour, and Gardner Dickinson Jr., veteran player who has been active in affairs of the tour.
Francisco that Sunday, owner Rankin Smith said he had no intention of firing Van Brocklin. It turned out to be a Sunday of hope.
"Since that time we've just persevered and hung in there," the Dutchman said. "If you just stay with people, eventually things will work out."
Perseverance has paid off in the string of four victories. The last win came Sunday on the toe of an Italian-born placekicker of Hungarian extraction, Nick Mike-Mayer.
Mike-Mayer booted five field goals to bring the Falcons from a 10-0 first quarter deficit to a 15-13 victory. His game-winning kick came with 52 seconds left from 15 yards out.
The win lifted the Falcons to within one game of National Conference West-leading Rams, who held a three-game lead two weeks before suffering losses to Minnesota and Sunday's defeat to Atlanta.
Lee replaced veteran quarterback Dick Shiner and saw some action in the Falcons' Oct. 7 loss to San Francisco. It was at a time when critics and stadium sign painters were demanding Coach Norm Van Brocklin's ouster.
What had started out as a football team filled with confidence was turning into a cauldron of malcontents carrying signs reading "No more Dutch treats" and "Fire Van Brocklin."
Before the 13-9 loss to San Francisco, Lee has hit on 67 of 109 passes for 972 yards and five touchdowns while suffering three interceptions.
BOSTON (AP) — Flamboyant Derek Sanderson, colorful on and off the ice, has been assigned by the Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League affiliate, the Boston Braves.
Sanderson, a star center who has brought screams of joy from hometown fans and screams of fury from opposition lookers, has been plagued with a back injury.
He was hurt in a scrimmage during preseason training, was hospitalized for a time at Mas-

Bama Closing in Ohio State Still Number One

Associated Press Sports Writer
Runner-up Alabama has narrowed the gap on No. 1-ranked Ohio State in what seems to have become for the time being, anyway — a two-team chase for college football's national championship.
The Buckeyes of Ohio State blanked Illinois 30-0 Saturday and received 35 first-place votes and 1,146 points from the 62 sports writers and broadcast-casters who participated in this week's Associated Press poll.
Alabama also posted a shut-out, 35-0 over Mississippi State, and earned 14 first-place ballots and 1,066 points. Last week, the difference was 1,148-1,052.
There was no change among the next five teams, either — Oklahoma, Michigan, Notre Dame, Penn State and Louisiana State.
Oklahoma defeated Iowa State 34-7 and polled seven No. 1 votes and 819 points. Michigan, a 49-13 winner over Indiana, received one top vote and 888 points.
Notre Dame pulled down one first-place vote — its first of the season — and 746 points for a 4-7 trouncing of Navy while the four remaining No. 1 ballots and 714 points went to Penn State, which beat Maryland 42-22.
Louisiana State received 500 points for a 51-14 rout of Mississippi.
Previously unbeaten Arizona State's 38-31 loss to Utah dropped the Sun Devils from eighth place to 14th, enabling Southern California and UCLA to move up. Southern Cal rose from ninth to eighth by walling-in California 50-14 while UCLA climbed from 10th to ninth with a 62-13 drubbing of Washington.
Missouri, which dropped out of the Top Ten a week ago, moved back in with a 31-7 triumph over Kansas State that lifted the Tigers from 12th to 10th.
The Second Ten consisted of Nebraska, Texas Tech, Texas, Arizona State, Houston, Tennessee, Miami of Ohio, Kansas, Kent State and Pitt.
Kent State and Pitt made the Top Twenty for the first time. Kent defeated Marshall 35-3 for its seventh victory in eight games while 5-2 Pitt downed Syracuse 28-14.
Last week's Second Ten was composed of Tennessee, Missouri, Nebraska, Tulane, Texas Tech, Miami, Colorado and Toulson, with Auburn and Texas tied for 19th.
9. UCLA 7-4 431
10. Missouri 7-10 352
11. Nebraska 6-11 310
12. Texas Tech 7-10 310

Lights, Cameras... NFL Is On The Air

By STEVE BUSHEFF

"OK, who got for the postgame interview tonight? Oh, not that ex-jock again. Man, can't they sign anybody but ex-jocks? This guy has been on Monday night, Tuesday night and Thursday night football. He's flopped at all of them. Now we get him. What luck, huh? If they go to five nights of football next year, instead of four, the guy will probably be the play-by-play announcer on Fridays. I just hope I stay on Wednesdays."
"Oh, well, did the translator get here? Yeah, you know the guy who can understand all these foreign placekickers. Our ex-jock will never be able to interview them if he isn't. And these guys are on every week. We've had a 9-6 game, two 6-3 things and last week it was 3-7. These soccer kickers are making all the dough now."
"What's that? Phone call for me, OK, I'll take it. Yeah, boss. Yeah, Well, thank you, Hey, that's great. Thanks for calling me, boss. I sure appreciate it. Yeah. Thanks again. Goodbye."
"What about Tommy? Where is he? Oh, there you are. You got the lights fixed right? We have to make sure they stay just on the field, you know what I mean? We can't let them show those rows and rows of empty stands. Sure, the fans sit home know no one is there. But it's still embarrassing. Especially when the canned crowd reaction whoops it up after something exciting, like a good punt or what have you."
"Well, they got their wish, didn't they?"
"OK, OK, let's get busy. How about the scoring table? You got it ready? It should be set by three. It is? Good. Who'd have ever thought it, huh? Halfway through a season and no one has scored a touchdown, yet. All right, how about those six cameras for the secondary? What a pain, huh? We got to have them, though. We got to show those zone defenses are shutting off everything. It's about the only action we have nowadays."
"Listen, Joe, save one isolated camera for the quarterback, OK? The guy might just decide to throw a pass and we want to be there if he does. I know he hasn't thrown any in the last four games. But this coach is cagey. He likes to gamble every once in a while."

Especially when the canned crowd reaction whoops it up after something exciting, like a good punt or what have you."
"Well, they got their wish, didn't they?"
"OK, OK, let's get busy. How about the scoring table? You got it ready? It should be set by three. It is? Good. Who'd have ever thought it, huh? Halfway through a season and no one has scored a touchdown, yet. All right, how about those six cameras for the secondary? What a pain, huh? We got to have them, though. We got to show those zone defenses are shutting off everything. It's about the only action we have nowadays."
"Listen, Joe, save one isolated camera for the quarterback, OK? The guy might just decide to throw a pass and we want to be there if he does. I know he hasn't thrown any in the last four games. But this coach is cagey. He likes to gamble every once in a while."
"What about Tommy? Where is he? Oh, there you are. You got the lights fixed right? We have to make sure they stay just on the field, you know what I mean? We can't let them show those rows and rows of empty stands. Sure, the fans sit home know no one is there. But it's still embarrassing. ONE THAT DIDN'T get away, this 27 pound Chinook salmon was hauled out of Lincoln Park lagoon on Chicago's lake front by Joe Czekala.

AP Lineman Award Won By Ricky Brown

ATLANTA (AP) — "I don't think we've ever had a defensive end play a sounder game of football than Ricky Brown," said assistant coach Jack Thompson of Florida.

Brown, a 231-pound senior from Longwood, Fla., turned in four big plays in the first quarter alone and was in 13 tackles as the Gators ended a longstanding jinx with a 13-0 victory over the Tigers.

It was the first time in history for Florida to win a football game at Auburn.

Brown's four first period plays that set the tone for the day included three sacks of the Tiger quarterback and recovering a fumble. He graded out at 94 percent.

For his performance, Brown was named today The Associated Press Southeastern Lineman of the Week.

"He just did a great job of playing defensive end like it is supposed to be played," said Gator Coach Don Dickey. "He was never out of position all day and he turned in a lot of his own plays allowing the other guys to make the tackle."

Another top defensive effort came from Louisiana State's Binks Miesisto, who made 10 tackles in the Tigers' 51-14 conquest of Mississippi.

Other linemen cited for outstanding performances were Georgia Tech's Mark Fields, Alabama's John Croyle, Mike Raines, Mike Dubose, Sylvester Cross, Oke Eckman and Buddy Brown, Mississippi State's Jimmy Webb, LSU's Warren Capone, Mississippi's Jim Stuart and Stump Russell, Kentucky's Tom Ehlers and Florida's Ralph Ortega and John Lacer.

Sweep Last Four Games Kowboys' Surge Surprises OBC

By LEE GEIGER Herald Correspondent

The biggest news coming out of the Orange Belt Conference is the resurgence of the Kissimmee Kowboys.

Since dropping their first four games to Gaines City, Lakeview, Leesburg and New Smyrna Beach, Osceola has come back to sweep their last four contests.

The surge actually started in the second half of the affair with the Barracudas. After the first 24 minutes the Kowboys were down 33-0. From that point on, Kissimmee started playing as a team.

First they put three T.D.'s across the Cuda's goal line in the first quarter.

Croyle sacked the State quarterback for a 32-yard loss back to the Tide 46 when the score was only 7-0. He also had five other unassisted tackles and returned a blocked field goal 38 yards to set up a Tide field goal.

mean feat in itself, as they are the only points scored this season on New Smyrna before dropping the decision.

Then in quick succession they knocked off Ocala Vanguard, Oviedo, Altamonte and last week threw their first shutout of the season by whipping hapless Apopka, 21-0.

This week the Kowboys play another OBC squad when they meet a skidding Osceola eleven. The Cardinals dropped their third straight Friday when the mediocre St. Cloud Bulldogs (4-4) whipped them 35-7. Osceola has been unable to win since their stunning 9-7 victory over Citrus (7-1).

The Oviedo Lions gave the Astronuts (7-6) their toughest game of the season before falling 27-0 over the east coast. This week the Lions meet Lake Branley (4-3), who will come into the contest still smarting from a 46-30 drubbing at the hands of Rockledge (1-7) in one of the season's stunner this past weekend.

The Oviedo Lions gave the Astronuts (7-6) their toughest game of the season before falling 27-0 over the east coast. This week the Lions meet Lake Branley (4-3), who will come into the contest still smarting from a 46-30 drubbing at the hands of Rockledge (1-7) in one of the season's stunner this past weekend.

Lakeview had a difficult time with a better team average than the OBC squad when they met a skidding Osceola eleven. The Cardinals dropped their third straight Friday when the mediocre St. Cloud Bulldogs (4-4) whipped them 35-7. Osceola has been unable to win since their stunning 9-7 victory over Citrus (7-1).

BICYCLE CASTLE PARTS DEPARTMENT
... Shop owner Ralph Davis

Shop For Christmas Bikes Aplenty At Cycle Castle

Christmas is just seven weeks away so if you plan to surprise someone you love with a bicycle this year, hurry down to Bicycle Castle to lay-away the bike of your choice.

Bicycle Castle, opposite Indian Hills on S.H. 434 one mile east of the U.S. 17-92 intersection, is Central Florida's best equipped bike shop, drawing bicycle enthusiasts from as far afield as Vero Beach and St. Petersburg for supplies and servicing.

Ralph Davis, owner of the store, says the success of the shop is based on the large stock of bikes they carry, their outstanding parts and tools supplies, and the fast and efficient service department.

Displayed in Bicycle Castle are over 100 bikes. Whether you need one bike or enough for the whole family, at Bicycle Castle you can select the size and style you prefer and take it home with you the same day. There's no need to worry whether the bikes you want will be here by Christmas; they're at Bicycle Castle already.

The store's main line is the Italian bicycle from France. A stronger frame and superior craftsmanship have given this line an excellent reputation among top cyclists. Five, 10, 12 and 15-speed bikes are available at Bicycle Castle.

There is a full line of children's bikes, made in Canada, to choose from. Adult bicycles, made in Miami, are increasing in popularity among the elderly. Adult three-speed bikes, great for family outings, are available in a variety of sizes and colors. Buy a safety carrier to attach to the back of the bike and you can take the baby along for the ride too.

Bicycle Castle stocks a wide variety of bike accessories including horns, reflectors, flags and baskets. For trail bike riders there are water bottles, fashlights, emergency tool kits, kit bags and rucksacks. You'll love the colorful selection of T-shirts, training sweat rs and rain capes.

There are bike racks for parking, and chain and cable locks to keep your bike safe.

Browse through the well-stocked bookshelves and a whole new world of adventure and healthy outdoor fun will open before you.

Competent mechanics work in the service department which offers one-day service. Remember now - get down to Bicycle Castle and lay-away gifts this kid - and adults too - will love.

Now Plan Crusty's Pizza Makes Night Fun

The winter season is almost upon us, with the nights getting colder and appetites getting sharper.

What better way to spend a chilly evening than cozy at home with good friends and good food?

The ideal food for such a gathering, of course, is pizza. Hot, delicious Crusty's pizza.

Crusty's pizzas come in five different sizes, and 14 basic combinations of toppings. Enough pizza to satisfy any number of hearty appetites and differing taste preferences.

Just thinking of Crusty's pizza is a mouth-watering experience. That delicious crunchy crust hot and chewy with cheese, spicy with pepperoni, and smothered in bacon, ham, green peppers and anchovies, or ground beef and onion.

Because all Crusty's pizzas are fresh-baked, there is a 15 minute wait after you have ordered, and perhaps a longer wait on busy Friday and Saturday evenings.

Soft drinks and draft beer are served in the dining room while you wait, and there is always a lot of good music and fun on the go.

Sizes vary from the nine inch "mini-pizza" served as a luncheon special (only 89 cents, soft drink included), to the huge 18 inch pizza, big enough for a whole family.

Open seven days a week the friendly folks at Crusty's are there whenever you're hungry. Sunday through Thursday they are open till midnight, and Friday and Saturday nights until 2 a.m.

It's not just luck that Crusty's pizza is so good. Pizzaria owners Edmund Bloom and Hugh Robertson will tell you it's because only fresh, quality ingredients are used, and

Women Will Fly Navy Jets

By FRANK T. MARTIN
Copley News Service

Women will be flying U.S. Navy jet fighter planes one of these days. They're already serving as doctors and civil engineers in the sea forces and seeking careers in the Navy in mounting numbers.

Not only that, but Navy barracks are educational now, just like college dormitories.

The result is that about 10 percent of the young Americans enlisting in the naval reserve are young ladies.

The authority for all this is Capt. Les Willig, USN, ret., national president of the Naval Reserve Association.

Now a Fort Wayne, Ind., business executive, Willig in an interview said the advent of the all-volunteer U.S. military force was wiped out by use of the reserves as a shelter from the draft but they are flourishing nevertheless.

"The end of the draft and the start of the all-volunteer force has made it (the reserves) streamline and improve our recruiting programs and let qualified young Americans know what we have to offer them," he explains.

Consequently, instead of having to hunt for reserve recruits, the Navy built its reserve to 131,000 by last June 30, only to be told by Congress to cut it back to 119,000.

The girls are doing just about everything in the Navy now—reserve and active duty—except serve on combat ships, Willig points out.

SAIGON (AP) — A rocket attack before dawn today on the Bien Hoa air base killed a soldier and a child, wounded 22 persons and destroyed three F5 fighter-bombers, the South Vietnamese military command reported.

The command said 23 of the 12mm rockets hit the base 15 miles northeast of Saigon and 11 exploded in civilian areas near it.

SAIGON (AP) — A rocket attack before dawn today on the Bien Hoa air base killed a soldier and a child, wounded 22 persons and destroyed three F5 fighter-bombers, the South Vietnamese military command reported.

The command said 23 of the 12mm rockets hit the base 15 miles northeast of Saigon and 11 exploded in civilian areas near it.

At least 100 of the F5 fighter-bombers are based at Bien Hoa, and throughout the morning they were taking out Viet Cong rocket sites.

The Saigon government was predicting a new Communist offensive for weeks, and in the last six weeks the North

Bombing Scare Victim Tells Of Fear, Silence

An "absolutely confused" and "definitely scared" Robert Cousineau today said he still has no idea who planted a six-stick dynamite bomb outside his Casseberry home early Tuesday.

Cousineau, 1090 Crystal Bowl Circle, said "the police won't let us know anything," and added he wasn't sure the attempted bombing was related to the destruction by arson of his Air Flow Design's Inc. fleet of trucks in mid-September.

Cousineau then offered to $12,500 the reward he is offering for information on either the arson or Tuesday's bombing incident. The company previously offered $10,000.

"I'm definitely scared for my family," Cousineau told a longtime news conference at his air conditioning firm's Casseberry office, adding "it's possible the culprit is an ex-worker, but over a 16-year period, the company has had many workers."

Cousineau complained about police work on the case, saying "the police won't tell us anything, and I wish the local police would let us know something — I'm absolutely confused."

U.S. Treasury agents and the Seminole Sheriff's Department arrived at Cousineau's home Tuesday morning and clamped a cordon of soldiers on their investigation, limiting newsmen to the fact six-sticks of dynamite were found.

Wire wrapping the sticks was retained by the federal agents, while the sheriff's office kept the dynamite.

Police immediately barricaded the high-income neighborhood of 25 homes, but lifted the boards by late morning.

The local of the Plumbers and Pipefitters' union tried unsuccessfully to hold an election 18 months ago, said Cousineau, but a majority of the workers rejected the union's sign-up cards.

The explosives were detonated later Tuesday by sheriff's agents at the county shooting range.

If the six-stick device had exploded prior to its disarming by sheriff's agents at 10:15 a.m., students in nearby Casseberry Elementary School and South Seminole Middle School could have been endangered by flying glass.

The bomb was discovered in a yard by Cousineau's 16-year-old daughter, Marsha, on her way to school just after 9 a.m.

A state fire marshal's probe of the blast, caused when arsonists punctured the trucks gas tanks and ignited the leaking fuel, has revealed nothing.

World News Briefs

Guerrilla Ambush
BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Guerrillas killed 24 Thai soldiers and militiamen in a weekend ambush in a sparsely populated area of northeast Thailand, the Communist Suppression Command reported today. Authorities said three terrorists told a patrolling militiaman that a Communist band was attacking a nearby militia post and help was needed badly. Two trucks and a jeep with more than 30 troops were sent to the rescue, and the guerrillas opened fire as they approached the camp. Reinforcements arrived by helicopter after the guerrillas disappeared.

New Rice Developed
MANILA (AP) — THE International Rice Research Institute said today it has developed a new variety of rice — IR25 — that is "resistant to moderately resistant" to most major insects and diseases affecting rice in Asia. The Institute said the new strain has the highest yield of any of a number of varieties in both wet-season and irrigation growing. IR25 is comparable in taste to other varieties, the Institute said, and is resistant to a widespread fungus disease called tungro and to bacterial blight brown planthoppers and green leafhoppers.

Nobel Winner Ill
STOCKHOLM (AP) — Because of his health, the Australian winner of the 1973 Nobel Prize for Literature, novelist Patrick White, will send his countryman, painter Sidney Nolan, to receive the prize for him on Dec. 10, the Swedish news agency said today.

The report said White explained that he is "resistant or moderately resistant" to most major insects and diseases affecting rice in Asia. The Institute said the new strain has the highest yield of any of a number of varieties in both wet-season and irrigation growing. IR25 is comparable in taste to other varieties, the Institute said, and is resistant to a widespread fungus disease called tungro and to bacterial blight brown planthoppers and green leafhoppers.

IRA Chiefs Said Safe
BELFAST (AP) — The Irish Republican Army's Provisional wing said today that the three IRA chieftains rescued by helicopter from Dublin's Mountjoy prison are safe from the massive manhunt under way in the Irish Republic.

An IRA statement gave no clue to the whereabouts of Seamus Twomey, Kevin Mallon and Joe O'Hagen. But it was believed that they would return to Northern Ireland and take a leading part once more in the campaign of violence to end British rule.

Blank Space
SEOUL (AP) — Maell Shinoun, a Catholic newspaper in Taegu, 150 miles southeast of Seoul, came out today with a blank space from which a 500-word account of an anti-government demonstration had been censored. The story, which the paper had planned to run on page seven, described a campus rally in Taegu Monday of about 700 university students accusing President Chung Hee Park of operating a dictatorship bulwarked by the Korean Central Intelligence Agency.

British Cash In On Wedding

LONDON (AP) — The bells are already ringing for the marriage next week of Queen Elizabeth II's daughter, Princess Anne, but the sound is coming from Britain's cash registers.

The Commemorative Collectors' Society calculates that the marriage of the 23-year-old princess to Capt. Mark Phillips is worth more than $15.5 million to the souvenir industry.

The romance's commercial spinoff makes the event "the most extensively exploited royal wedding since that of the Duke of York and Princess Mary of Teck in 1907," said Steven Jackson, the society's secretary.

Jackson's society has 1,500 members and advises on the investment merits of souvenirs. He said it has listed more than 60 of the new royal wedding items that it believes have artistic worth and may appreciate in value. Most are in pottery, porcelain, crystal or precious metals.

The most expensive item on the list is an 18-carat gold jewelry boxed in velvet and carrying the initials A and M within a border of foliage and lovers' knots. Only two are being made, and each will cost the equivalent of $2,388. Another expensive buy are gold goblets at $1,164 apiece.

The society estimates that the government will earn more than $500,000 in sales taxes from the souvenir plates, trays, medallions, beakers, mugs and loving cups.

Jackson said he doesn't believe the boom in the royal souvenir market reflects any great surge of loyalty to the Crown.

"The wedding coincides with a period of social affluence and a lively interest in the acquisitive habit," he said.

The marriage takes place Nov. 14 in Westminster Abbey, and 1,500 guests have been invited.

'Tell About Unsafe Buildings,' Kimbrough Asks Grand Jury

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

In the wake of the resignations of two county electrical inspectors who testified recently before the grand jury, County Commissioner John Kimbrough Tuesday called for the grand jury to disclose the sites where hazardous electrical work has been done in Seminole County.

In a letter to State Atty. Abbott Herring, Kimbrough pointed to the Oct. 9 interim grand jury report alleging that electrical jobs being approved which are fire hazards and potential death traps by electrocution.

"As you well understand, as a member of the board of county commissioners, it is my duty to protect the health, safety and welfare of the citizens and inhabitants of Seminole County," Kimbrough stated in the letter.

"This is the request that prior to its adjournment the grand jury make available to the county commission a list of hazardous premises existing within Seminole County.

"In good conscience I cannot, as one commissioner, allow any residence or building to exist in Seminole with the knowledge that the same may constitute a fire hazard or potential death trap," he stated.

Copies of Kimbrough's letter also were sent to Judge Dominic Salfi, chief judge of the eighteenth judicial circuit, and to George E. Hodges, grand jury foreman.

Commission Chairman Sid Vihlen agreed Tuesday night with Kimbrough's position. "If a hazardous situation exists, it must be corrected for the sake of public safety," Vihlen said. "If a residence should burn, the fault will be on the backs of the grand jury and the state's attorney," he said.

AROUND THE CLOCK

By John A. Spolski

Test your memory... back to the time when the County Commission took the action of disposing of a former county attorney.

Wasn't it inferred at that time that "with a replacement (who is a member of a large law firm) he would be in a position of getting assistance from other members of that same private legal firm, but more importantly that this new arrangement would be a savings to the county?"

The former attorney was being paid approximately $10,000 annually.

They're trying to scare us... We're thinking to Jim Alford of the Seminole Distribution Co. (delivering Phillips Oil for Seminole County) he offers words of clarification regarding problems arising from the present fuel shortage.

Last night, one of the area television stations carried a report that there were some oil dealers who were "forcing" customers to take minimum shipments, and/or be obliged to pay a higher price per gallon if you didn't have the capacity to take their "minimum shipments."

If you have any fuel problems such as this, pick up a form at the Post Office (OOG-PAP, Form No. 17) and mail it to the attention of Don Hammond, Suite 78, 1375 Peachtree St., N.E., Atlanta, Ga., 30309.

They will assign a supplier to handle your needs. Granted, it may not be in an unlimited quantity, but at least there will be a responsible company required to deliver fuel to your home.

Court Battle Looms Over $170 Viewer

County commissioners said the chief judge of the 18th judicial circuit, Dominic Salfi, appeared headed toward a court battle Tuesday over a $170 nonviewer viewer.

Assistant County Atty. Howard Marsee was instructed to gain a clarification from Salfi on his court order requiring the county commission to pay for the viewer, before taking the matter to the appellate court.

Commission Chairman Sid Vihlen said two years ago Salfi's request for a microfilm viewer was turned down. "We did not even know of the purchase until we received the bill," Vihlen said, calling the judge's action in purchasing the instrument a "rampant effort to pass the board (of county commissioners)."

Insisting commissioners have always been fair with budget requests, Vihlen called Salfi's court order a "disgrace" and "shocking."

Marsee said the court has much inherent power and the question exists of when the purchase of a microfilm reader

Road To Be Named After E.E. Williamson

E.E. Williamson, a Longwood councilman for the past 17 years, and running for election unopposed to retain his seat was honored by county commissioners Tuesday night.

Mentioning Williamson's years of public service, Commissioner John Kimbrough recommended the county rename after Williamson the section of Longwood-Markham Road from Wekiva Springs Road to the Longwood City limits.

"This man is dedicated to his community," Kimbrough said.

The board approved Kimbrough's recommendation, sending it on to the planning and zoning departments to begin the process.

Kimbrough said the process includes public hearings and it will be a few weeks before the action is completed.

Williamson, 75, is currently in Winter Park Memorial Hospital recuperating from surgery and hopes to be well enough to attend next Monday night's city council meeting. He is listed in good condition.
