Campaigning By Two Parties Enters Into Home Stretch

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—The campaign for control of the 4th Congress today rolled into its final week with both parties planning a 77th-hour speedup of efforts to lure voters still straddling the political fence.

The Republican National Committee announced yesterday that some 100 prominent Republicans will make more than 250 speeches in 36 states during the closing days of the campaign.

GOP efforts will be climaxed on election eve by a "get-out-the-vote" appeal by President Eisenhower.

National economic conditions, a prime issue in the campaign, will be reviewed tonight by Eisenhower in a nationally televised "non-partisan" talk from Washington.

Vice President Nixon, the most active of the GOP campaign speakers, will speak today in Nevada, Arizona and Idaho.

Republicans Are Conferring Today In Emergency Political Situation

FORT MYERS (AP)—The political emergency created by the death of the gubernatorial candidate, J. Tom Watson, had Republican leaders conferring by telephone today with no immediate solution to the problem of a replacement candidate.

Harold Alexander, the party's state executive committee chairman, said he was conferring with committee members as fast as he could reach them by telephone.

He was handicapped by the fact that only a week remains before the election, and courtesy to the dead candidate and his family called for restraint in actions.

Van Fleet Says Will Not Be Candidate

FORT LAUDERDALE.—Gen. James A. Van Fleet sent word from his hospital bed in Washington today that he will not be a Republican candidate for governor.

"I have no desire to run," he informed the Fort Lauderdale Daily News, a nurse relaying his message.

He had no other comment, and there was no word concerning the illness which has kept him in Walter Reed Hospital for two weeks.

Van Fleet declined to be named for the gubernatorial candidate before the state primaries were held. His name was advanced again because of the death yesterday at Tampa of J. Tom Watson, former Democrat who registered as a Republican and announced for the governorship.

Watson's death, after which it could discuss the general problem. But time is very short.

The Miami Herald published a suggestion that Alexander himself might pick up the banner and become the party's candidate. Asked to comment, Alexander said:

"There has been no thought of anything like that."

His answer did not appear to be a flat rejection of the idea, but the Herald commented such an action "was considered as a long shot."

Ben Collins expressed his regret today at the death of his Republican opponent.

"I am terribly sorry," said Collins. "Mr. Watson and I have differed many times over the years but I have always regarded him as a personal friend."

"I am proud that in this general election campaign neither he nor I have expected the word of opposition to the other in any way dealing with personalities."

Buenos Aires, Argentina.—A river launch capsized and sank near the big river port of Rosario yesterday and the latest official report said 13 passengers perished.

The launch operator said the passengers, including a young girl, Rosario to Victoria across the Parana River, all congregated at one rail.

Charge Bringing Protests Matter To Go Before Body

Answering a storm of protest over the recently applied water and sewer tax, City Manager Warren E. Knowles today advised that the problem will be taken to the city commission at its regular meeting at the City Hall tonight.

Many citizens are expected to be present to lay their complaints directly before the commission. Taxes are now set at 68 per cent of the water bill for commercial establishments and a $1.85 minimum for residential.

Numerous complaints have been received since the first half of the year. The sewer bills were mailed out last week. The only provisions for adjustment in the ordinance apply to commercial establishments. No official has the authority to make an adjustment or concession in any of the residential billings. All appeals for adjustment must go through the superintendent of the sewer department and be approved by the city commission.

The rates were determined by the fiscal agents and consulting engineers, and approved by the bond attorney. The amount necessary for the sale of bonds in order to undertake the water and sewer program, he added.

The water system benefits under the present plan by the extension of the new water plant to increase capacity, a completed project at the water plant to pump water from the well field to the well field. Every individual in the city actually will use the new sewer system because all sewers will be collected in one large intercepter line now being constructed on Second St. This is true whether or not a new line is actually laid or else to the extent that the old sewers are collected in this new line. This is in compliance with a State Board of Health order to do away with the numerous outfalls along the lake front," Knowles said.

He said the tax is set up so that users of the sewers will pay for maintenance and repairs until operation of the sewer department.

Knowles remarked he intended to recommend to the City Commission at tonight's meeting that it after more than 20 years and explaining the sewer ordinance and telling how and when appeals and adjustments can be made and how users can obtain credit for the same, not return to the sewer system.

Highlights In History Of Electric Light

1879—Edison's First Practical Electric Light—14 lumens per watt. Filament of carbonized cotton thread.

1919—Tipless Lamp—Eliminated bulb breakage and improved the appearance.

1925-1926—Incandescent Lamp—First strong inside frosted lamp. A smooth bulb, diffusing light with negligible loss. 11.1 lumens per watt.

1928—Development of 50,000-watt incandescent lamp, then and for the next 25 years the largest in the world. It was developed for Light's Golden Jubilee, for motion picture production and aviation needs. Produces 1,500,000 lumens in contrast to the 0.35 lumens produced by the tiny 0.17-watt "rain of wheat" lamp developed for surgical instruments.

1929—R-1 Sunlamp—For the first time the equivalent of mid-summer sunshine indoors from man-made "sun".

1934—Lucaline Lamps—Tubular incandescent lamp types providing users with continuous lines of light. Available in 15, 30, and 40-watt sizes. In 12-inch and 18-inch lengths and in clear, inside frosted, and a variety of colors.

1935—First Three-Lite Lamp, giving three separate levels of light from a single light bulb equipped with two filaments. Either 100 or 200 watts or the sum of both for 300 watts of light.

1936—Silvered-bowl Lamps with coating of "mirrored silver" on outside of bulb's bowl for a variety of commercial and other uses. Seven sizes ranging from 100 watts to 1000 watts.

1938—Fluorescent Lamps—A revolutionary lamp development—cool light of radically higher efficiency (now up to 70 lumens-per-watt) and longer life (now more than 7,500 hours).

1945—Circulite and Silimine Fluorescent Lamps—New forms of high-efficiency fluorescent lamps particularly adapted to the needs of architect and designer. Circulite: 32 watts, 12 inches in diameter; Silimine: 66 inches long.

1949—150-watt Yellow Lamp, designed for outdoor use and to be most attractive to bugs and insects.

1950—An Ozonem-producing Lamp (4 watts) for dispelling unwelcome odors.

1953—Six new 150-watt reflector color lamps for decorating purposes—

Four of the new lamps produce basic colors: red, green, yellow, blue. Two produce blue-white and pink tints. The colors may be mixed with white light to produce almost any color in the rainbow.

1929-1954—Typifying G-E's contributions in the 25 years since

Light's Golden Jubilee: The 60-watt household lamp bulb, which sold for 20 cents, today has a price of 10 cents and produces 25 per cent more light (improved efficiency) for the same amount of electrical current consumed. Incidentally, Edison's first lamps sold for $1.75 each.

1064—Development of a 75,000-watt incandescent light bulb, the world's largest artificial light source. Produced by G. E. as a feature of the company's observance of Light's Diamond Jubilee this year. The giant bulb measuring 42 inches in height and 20 inches in diameter is rated at 2,400,000 lumens. Its light is equivalent to that from 3,374 60-watt household bulbs, all burning at the same time. Electric current used by the 75 KW lamp is equal to that required to light 30 average American homes. Its tungsten filament weighs 2.7 pounds, enough of the metal to provide coiled filament for 67,500 60-watt lamps.

THE SWEET TEMPERED SWAY

believes that black is white and the earth is flat—if you insist on it

The sway is a retailer who believes everybody and everything without fear or favor.

If his employees take off for grandmothers' funerals on the day of an important bull game—he believes them.

And if all the salesmen who sold him stock said their companies were losing money on the deal—he would believe them.

After listening to sales talk, he believes one brand is as good as another, and gives them all equal display.

And doesn't care what kind of advertising he gets because they all seem equally strong.

Fortunately the sway is a rare creature.

Most retailers know that customers do have strong brand preferences, and that preferences quickly can change.

They are quick to take advantage of manufacturers' newspaper advertising — featuring the product in their own store displays... and including the brand in their own newspaper ads.

Since the retailer himself advertises in newspapers, he knows that the manufacturer who does the same is really in earnest, is sincerely after the market.

He knows that the best advertising is the kind that reaches his own customers, all of them.

And he likes the manufacturer who thinks the same.

All business is local...and so are all newspapers!

Pennsylvania Democrats Victory Cry Already Frightening GOP Hopefuls

Editor's Note — This is another of several stories by raving Associated Press reporters analyzing the campaign in key states.

By DON WHITEHEAD
HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Pennsylvania is a good example today of a state where the Democrats have whopped a victory cry so insistently that even a number of Republicans appear to be half-way convinced they may be right.

As in Ohio and Michigan, Pennsylvania Democrats have seized on two themes and hammered so hard on them that they have taken the initiative in establishing the major campaign issues.

Theme No. 1 There is a groundswell of sentiment toward the Democrats because the voters are disenchanted and anti-President Eisenhower himself but with his Republican administration.

Theme No. 2 The Republicans are responsible for a breakdown in the economy, and policies which have thrown men out of work, even less take-home pay to others, and reduced the farmers' income, therefore these voters are turning to the Democrats.

The effectiveness of the Democrats' strategy lies in its simplicity and the fact that no one, not even the Republicans, can be sure until election day that they aren't right. The Democrats face a 2-3 disadvantage in registrations.

The Republicans have been so busy trying to explain the slack in employment as a transition from war to peace that the record of the Eisenhower administration and the end of the war in Korea have been relegated to secondary importance.

In the last 10 years, the Democrats have elected only one governor in Pennsylvania, George H. Earle in 1941.

But this time they are waging a full-bank campaign for the governorship and are far more optimistic than the Republicans generally in their claims of congressional seats.

National and international issues have faded into the background and local issues are dominating the gubernatorial campaign between Republican Lt. Gov. Lloyd H. Wood and Democrat George M.

Leader—with the state's unemployment the main issue.

The Democrats and Republicans aren't far apart in estimating the number of jobs. The Republicans say somewhere near 350,000, the Democrats about 377,000.

Rep. Samuel K. McConnell Jr., GOP congressional campaign chairman in Pennsylvania, said: "If there were no unemployment, there would be nothing to this ball game."

And, despite the unemployment, the Republicans insist the state's economy generally is sound and improving, and that the Democrats are exaggerating the situation to gain votes.

On the surface at least, the Republicans have pitched up their intraparty squabbles and are united in their support of Wood although, privately, politicians say there still is bitterness between the supporters of U. S. Sen. James Duff and Gov. John S. Fine.

Fine has taken little part publicly in the campaign.

The battle for the governorship has almost totally eclipsed the fact that the outcome of the congressional races in Pennsylvania might mean the difference between Republican or Democratic control of Congress for the next two years.

Neither of the state's two GOP senators is up for re-election this year, but there are contests for all of the state's 30 House seats now divided 19 Republican and 11 Democratic.

Five of the Democratic House seats are in Philadelphia districts where the Republicans have one—the seat held by Rep. Hugh Scott Jr., former GOP national chairman. Scott won two years ago by only 217 votes and the Democrats claim they will hold their five seats this year in the Philadelphia delegation and capture Scott's seat.

But Republican strategists predict they can re-elect Scott and win three of the five Democratic seats.

As to districts outside Philadelphia, Democratic strategists say they hope to pick off the GOP seats of Rep. Karl C. King (8th); Rep. Joseph L. Carrigan (10th); Rep. Edward J. Bonin (11th); Rep. S. Walter Stauffer (19th); Rep. John P. Saylor (22nd); and Rep. Louis E. Graham (25th).

The most optimistic Democratic claim is that they will reverse the party's positions in Congress and that the Democrats will come out of the November election holding 10 of the 30 seats.

But some outside opinion is that the Democrats are going to be disappointed if they seriously think they can make such a sweeping shift.

One GOP strategist said: "If things go well for us, we'll pick up two or three Democratic House seats and hold onto those we have. If they go badly, we may lose three seats. I wouldn't too encourage a few weeks ago—but I think things are looking better for us all the time."

A POWER SAFE SCIENTIST SAYS
BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—If you happen to live near an atomic power plant, there's no need to feel uneasy, a scientist said last week. They can't blow up like an atomic bomb.

In fact, said Harold W. Huntley, an engineer with General Electric Co.'s Atomic Products Division, nuclear reactors for production of peacetime power can be designed so they are as safe as conventional power plants.

Mill Executive Says Conditions Equal

READING, Pa. (AP)—A history mill executive says he's found "economic conditions in the North and the South are about equal" and has announced that his firm is moving back to Pennsylvania.

Nicholas Malesky, president of the Bella Co., a history dyeing and finishing firm, said last week: "The labor situation in the North is more favorable than it has been for many years. More productive employees are again available."

In backing a long time trend in the textile industry, Malesky declared that "the advantages obtained by the move to the South are gradually disappearing." He added that, by moving North, "the company is closer to the markets."

Malesky of Stowe, Pa., moved his company to Mount Pleasant, Pa., several years ago from its original site in this area. He'll relocate in the 100,000-sq-ft Bella Co. plant in Stowe.

UN Must Grow

United Nations Week should serve as a reminder of the bright hope with which the idea of an international forum for settling the differences among nations was conceived.

It came into being after the bloodiest and most destructive war in history. In its infancy it was confronted with the necessity of dealing with the innumerable new problems posed by the atomic bomb. Its most ardent supporters would not say that its success has been spectacular or that as yet it has lived up to the hopes which gave it birth.

Yet it is not wise to be impatient with the UN. The problems which men seek to solve through its agency have been accumulating for centuries. It is too much to expect that in a few brief years the UN could eliminate those problems and establish harmony and peace in all the world. The UN will have to grow. It will have to learn from its mistakes, even as individuals and nations have learned from theirs.

The UN can work if its members do not abandon faith that it can be made to work. President Eisenhower and the political leaders of both parties have reaffirmed America's desire to strengthen the UN and to make every effort to build its success as an instrument of world peace.

Hallow'een Pranks

No one would deny youngsters the pleasure and the excitement of Hallow'een. But Hallow'een is not an excuse for malicious mischief, for destruction of property, for pranks which may seriously inconvenience or endanger people.

It is not always the youngsters commonly referred to as juvenile delinquents who are responsible for the goblin mischief. Too often it is boys and girls who are ordinarily well-behaved who see nothing wrong

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

If ye abide in me and my words abide in you, ye shall not want, and ye shall be able to do unto you.—John 15:7. But many of us forget the word IF. If we did so abide we would not make silly and selfish prayers.

New Moving Picture Named 'Phfff'

NEW YORK (AP)—Naming a Hollywood movie is sometimes more of an intellectual strain than producing it. Aptness is less desirable than box office appeal, which explains why you never have seen a picture called, "2-2-2-2," or "Son of 2-2-2-2." You don't want a title that tells too much about the film. Columbia Pictures has come up with the year's oddest title, "Phfff," starring Judy Holliday, Jack Carson, Kim Novak and Jack Lemmon. It's a matrimonial farce in which a young couple discover that the only thing worse than being married to each other is to be divorced from each other. Picking the title was easy. Everybody—well, everybody on Broadway, anyway—knows that "Phfff" was coined by Walter Winchell to describe a marital bust-up. As he recalls it himself, Walter originated the expression while talking with the late Texas Guinan, the night club usener who made "Hello, Sugar!" famous. She was giving Winchell a tip that Mr. and Mrs. So-and-so had divorced. But a waiter opened a bottle of champagne just as she reached the word "divorced," and the popping cork drowned out the sound. Winchell scribbled down "Phfff." Assured of a good eye-catching title, the executives at Columbia Pictures then had to face a bigger problem: How to spell it. This brought on quite a conference. The two-F men favored

In cutting a clothelaine, upsetting a garbage can or removing a neighbor's gate. With such youngsters there is seldom a desire to be malicious, but their pranks can have serious consequences nevertheless.

When parents will talk the matter over with their children, will try to channel enthusiasm for Hallow'een into better directions. They will impress their youngsters with the need to respect the property and the rights of others. The parent who turns his head away from youthful pranks because it is Hallow'een is remiss in his duty. He may pay for his neglect later by seeing his child lose the very necessary respect for other people's property and right that is so essential to good citizenship.

Stock Market Crash 25 Years Ago

NEW YORK (AP)—Twenty-five years ago the "era of wonderful nonsense" ended in a sickening thud at the corner of Broad and Wall streets.

The bull market, which started tentatively in 1923 and gathered the speed and force of Hurricane Hazel in 1929, crashed in an October panic on the stock exchange.

Will it happen again? Most unlikely, say the experts, because of far different conditions today.

The quarter-century anniversary of the collapse finds the majority today confident that the present bull market shows few signs of growing into something like the dizzy doings of 25 years ago.

Stock prices have been pointing higher most of the time since 1949 and have taken their steepest climb in the last 12 months, while general business activity was trending in the other direction.

But brokers point to many reasons why they think that stocks won't run away again—and eventually crack up—as they did in the '20s.

The shoeless boys and song-and-dance men who rode the 1929 frenzy—mostly on paper-thin margins and borrowed money—aren't playing the big board today.

Professionals who formed pools to run up stock prices for unloading on other groups—like chain letters—aren't allowed to operate today.

Most of the big buying this year has been for investment, institutional and industrial pension accounts.

A five-million-share day on the New York Stock Exchange was considered normal in 1929 when everyone was buying—often without knowing just what he was buying.

Brokers are content now with a two-million-share day and often get less.

Government agencies now police the issuance of stock in 1929 new issues poured out in huge volume much of it never listed on the exchange.

Once you had to put very little cash—brokers carried most of the stock's price on margin. Now you must put up 50 per cent in cash, and brokers say most of their business is for all cash.

Veterans Corner

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to four questions of interest to former servicemen and their families:

Q. I have a 30-percent service-connected disability which occurred in Korea. Would that alone be enough to entitle me to Public Law 10 training?

A. No. A service-connected disability alone is not sufficient to entitle you to Public Law 10 training. You also must be in need of training to overcome the handicap of your disability. Need would have to be established at a session with a VA counselor.

Q. I am going to a vocational school under the Korean GI Bill. I understand that I am allowed 30 days of absence a year. Do legal holidays and week-ends count as absences?

A. No. However, other days during school vacation periods—such as Christmas and Easter—would be counted as absences.

Q. I have a permanent GI insurance policy on the endorsement plan. At the end of the endorsement period, how will I be paid the money—in a lump sum or in monthly installments?

A. You may choose to receive the proceeds in either manner—lump sum or monthly installments, ranging from $5 to $40 in number. Q. I pay premiums on my GI insurance once each year, in advance. What would happen if I were to die shortly after making my yearly advance payment?

A. The present value of premiums paid in advance of the current month would be refunded to your beneficiary.

Advice Is Given To Two Parties

By ED CREAUGH (For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP)—Advice to the Democrats: Keep plugging. Advice to the Republicans: Quit groaning.

These words of counsel have gone out in the closing days of the congressional election campaign from two men pretty high up in their parties—President Eisenhower for the GOP and National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell for the Democrats.

If the Eisenhower and Mitchell statements told the whole story, there would be no doubt the Republicans are in trouble and the Democrats riding high, with the election only 11 days away.

Party leaders, even presidents, don't always gauge the situation correctly, however. Besides, their campaign statements are designed for a specific purpose—in this case, to build a fire under party workers. Such statements don't necessarily reveal the speaker's private opinion of who's ahead.

The President spoke at a GOP rally in New York yesterday—a day that saw him wade much further into the thick of the campaign than he had done before. He even made face for the politicians and the photographers, pulling down the corners of his mouth in a grimace of dejection. He declared the Republicans are never going to win if their leaders "are going around pulling their faces this way."

What the GOP needs, said Eisenhower, is a "fighting heart"—the kind Jack Dempsey had when, after being belted out of the ring by Louis Firpo in 1923, he came back and knocked Firpo halfway home to his native Argentina in the second round.

The President wasn't saying the Republicans are on the ropes, much less out of the ring entirely. But his picture of a glum GOP in need of more backbone was in sharp contrast to the picture Steve Mitchell was painting of the Democrats in Washington.

Mitchell said victory is "within our grasp." But the Democrats can still beat the election, he said, by relaxing too soon.

"I am deeply disturbed," he went on, "by reports of voter apathy and Democratic complacency. The two together could spell victory for the Republicans."

This is something new for the Democrats. They haven't been troubled by overconfidence since the first two Franklin D. Roosevelt terms. The Republicans seemed to have established a monopoly in overconfidence in 1936 to their bitter regret, since the Democrats beat them.

It wasn't just happenstance, by the way, that Eisenhower picked New York as the place to start campaigning in earnest. That's a state both parties are determined to capture—not only for its stake in this election, but because of 1956 presidential politics too.

On the face of it, the Democrats have more to gain in a governorship. They'd like to put their campaign strategy in place.

Reds Chameleons Churchman Says

BOSTON (AP)—Catholic Archbishop Richard J. Cushing of Boston says, "The Reds have taken on so many colors it is sometimes difficult to spot them."

Speaking last week at the convention of the (CIO) Utilities Workers Union, he said:

"Some Communists are pink professors. Some are blue bloods. Some are lavender old ladies. At least one has donned the scarlet stiletto. Some are green youngsters, freshly sprouted in the field of politics and social action."

"Yellow is a color not known among the Reds, especially when citizens become aroused and the white light of publicity is turned on the Reds government bureau and elsewhere."

On the other hand the GOP candidate for governor, Sen. Irving M. Ives, can keep his Senate seat if he loses. If he wins he can, and undoubtedly would, name another Eisenhower Republican to succeed him in the Senate.

But here is a Republican worry: What happens to its now-powerful New York state organization? Dewey, who has led it in the past, has in effect turned over the reins to the Democrats. What happens if Dewey drops them? Could the Dewey element keep control of the block-busting 96 votes New York will cast in the Republican National Convention of 1954?

Mitchell said victory is "within our grasp." But the Democrats can still beat the election, he said, by relaxing too soon.

On the other hand the GOP candidate for governor, Sen. Irving M. Ives, can keep his Senate seat if he loses. If he wins he can, and undoubtedly would, name another Eisenhower Republican to succeed him in the Senate.

Mitchell said victory is "within our grasp." But the Democrats can still beat the election, he said, by relaxing too soon.

"I am deeply disturbed," he went on, "by reports of voter apathy and Democratic complacency. The two together could spell victory for the Republicans."

This is something new for the Democrats. They haven't been troubled by overconfidence since the first two Franklin D. Roosevelt terms. The Republicans seemed to have established a monopoly in overconfidence in 1936 to their bitter regret, since the Democrats beat them.

It wasn't just happenstance, by the way, that Eisenhower picked New York as the place to start campaigning in earnest. That's a state both parties are determined to capture—not only for its stake in this election, but because of 1956 presidential politics too.

San Francisco Defeats Detroit, Takes NFL Lead

By JOE REICHER
The Associated Press
San Francisco's power-packed offense owned a triple distinction today.

1. They are the only undefeated eleven in the National Football League.

2. They are in undisputed possession of first place in the Western Division for the first time this season.

3. They are the only team to defeat the defending champion Detroit Lions in a regular season game.

The 48ers ground out a thrilling 37-21 victory yesterday that jarred the Lions out of the lead and into second place.

An overflow crowd of 50,000 that jammed San Francisco's Kezar Stadium cheered itself hoarse as the 48ers burst into a 17-0 lead in the first quarter and never were touched although they had to slay a desperate last-period rally by Detroit.

Y. A. Tittle, quarterbacking with a cast on his broken left hand, and full back Hugh McElhenny, running like an early yearling, led Frisco's explosive attack.

Tittle passed for two touchdowns and McElhenny reeled off runs of 60 and 34 yards to snap Detroit's 10-game winning streak.

It was a great afternoon for quarterbacks, especially for veteran Charlie Conerly, Otto Graham and George Blanda. Conerly, enjoying his best of several professional seasons with New York, literally tossed the Giants into a three-way tie for first place in the Eastern Division.

Conerly's Charlie passed for three touchdowns in a 24-7 triumph over Washington's hapless Redskins.

Pittsburgh made the three-way tie possible Saturday night, defeating the Eagles 37-7 on the passing of Jim Finks and the running of Lynn Chandler.

Graham passed to a touchdown and scored two more while leading Cleveland to a 10-7 victory over the Chicago Cardinals.

High-powered running by Paul (Tank) Younger and Dan Towler offset a tremendous one-on-one show by Chicago's Blanda and spearheaded the Rams to a free-scoring 42-36 victory over the Bears.

Blanda completed 28 aerials for 325 yards and hurling four of Chicago's five touchdowns.

A recovered fumble in the third period set up a Green Bay touchdown that gave the Packers a 7-6 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles.

Gulfstream Gossip

GULFSTREAM PARK, Hialeah—J. W. Rodgers, agent of Duke Fer, one of the top three-year-old sprinters in training, is returning to Gulfstream Park for the March 4-April 22 winter meeting. He will be one of eight horses being shipped to the seaside track by trainer E. H. Brumfield. Duke Fer filled up an auspicious record as a youngster, finally losing his first race in a Florida Derby prep race last March. His failure in that event then caused him to miss his engagement in the Derby.

The Locust Farm Stable, now in charge of Paul Berard, chairman of the Illinois Racing Commission, will be represented by eight horses at Gulfstream Park during the approaching winter season. Del Carroll will be in charge of the contingent.

Frank H. Merrill, Jr. has notified Gulfstream Park officials that he is shipping 16 horses from Canada for a winter campaign in Florida. Merrill, one of the leading trainers in the Dominion, has an especially strong stable this year, led by the stakes-winning Sampson and Pleasant Boy, and including many other hard hitting allowance horses.

Herb Paley, who was represented by only four horses at Gulfstream Park a year ago, is returning this winter with 40 in tow, and he promises to have one of the steadiest outfits on the grounds. In the string are six color-bearers of the Twin Oaks Stable of R. B. Frelinghuysen and H. O. H. Frelinghuysen, and seven owned by Philip Godfrey. Compadre, Ed, Ritzky Bender, Tubular, Fay the Piper and Counterparty are among the best members of the stable. Ticky Bender is a probable for the 1955 Florida Derby, richest race of the Gulfstream season.

James Donn, president of Gulfstream Park, will visit Garden State Park for the Oct. 30 running of the Garden State Blakes, richest event on the metan turf. While at the New Jersey course, Donn will contact trainers and owners represented in the race, and distribute stakes blanks for the 1955 Florida Derby, to be held at Gulfstream Park next March 25. This sophomore event guarantees the winner no less than $100,000. Many of the Garden State starters are expected to be pointed for the southland feature.

Kevan Geoper, the Australian who won the British Empire Game 440-yard championship at Vancouver this summer, is a student at Michigan State.

Specializing plus for the U.S. Navy, Coach Haradson, now coach for West Virginia's grid team, coached the high school football team at the Garden State turf. He is now, after a Navy stint, in Wichita, Kan.

Sports Roundup

By GAVIN TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—Close friends have been unable thus far to dissuade Sugar Ray Robinson from attempting to make a ring comeback after two years on the tap-dancing circuit. The once-great fighter who retired as middle-weight champion in December 1952 is in training and declares he is serious about winning back the 160-pound title.

Many who saw Robinson at his unbeatable best back in the middle '40s cherish the memory and wish that he would not subject them to the same pain that Joe Louis did when he returned a few years ago a blubbery caricature of his former self to be pounded out of shape by the likes of Ezzard Charles, who wouldn't even last three rounds with the fighter at his peak.

It's an old story of the prize ring. They say that admirers of Jim Jeffries wept when their idol came out of retirement and was seized by Jack Johnson. Jeffries, though, had been urged to give it a try, and Louis needed money. Nobody has asked Sugar Ray to put the gloves on again, and he has approximately half the loose money in Harlem.

The suggestion we are about to make is that Robinson get himself a copy of the films of the Jimmy Sullivan-Kid Gavilan thing in Philadelphia last week and play it a few times after he has finished his training chores. We would suggest that he may particular attention to the inept performance of Gavilan, who five years ago was good enough to give him, Robinson, a fairly tight tussle for the welterweight crown.

He will see that the Cuban, though only 28 by the record book, is no better than a shadow of the one they used to call the Hawk. He will see that, after six months of doing nothing more strenuous than the rumba, Gavilan was afraid to open up and really fight Saxton until the closing rounds lest his legs give out on him. That seems the only possible explanation of his failure to make a more valiant effort to protect his title against the home town decision that he feared.

If Gavilan is that far over the hill at 28, Robinson can well wonder what his chances would be of going 15 grueling rounds with such a relentless puncher as Bolo Icho who succeeded him at middleweight king. The Sugar boy says he is 32, the book credits him with 34 years and you probably would be safe in splitting the difference.

Contestants For SEC Title Must Face LSU 'Spoilers'

By MERCER HAREY
Associated Press Staff Writer
Louisiana State is out of the running in the Southeastern Conference football championship race, but Gus Timley's "spoilers" will have a hard time in what does not seem to be a title-contending territory. Mississippi and Missouri State must get by the Tigers to keep their hopes alive.

Quarterback Al Duggett's fine play cutting and passing, plus some key blocking and decoy work by Lou Deutchmann, were major factors in LSU's upset victory over Florida, previously unbeaten in conference play.

The Miss likely will be holding out when the Rebels march into Baton Rouge for a Saturday night battle with the Tigers, who just a week ago spoiled Texas Tech's dreams of an unbeaten season and a share of the national title.

Mississippi, previously unbeaten and the nation's top offensive team, was unable to score on Arkansas' winless Razorbacks and the Rebels scored 4-0. The game counted as a conference contest for the Rebels as the defeat was doubly costly.

Alabama, which like Florida and Ole Miss had a 3-0 SEC record before Saturday's game, got its lumps from a rugged Mississippi State team which finally is getting its injury problem under control. State trounced Bama 12-7.

The fall of the three leaders elevated the No. 1 spot in the SEC standings Wally Futrell's Georgia Bulldogs whose 7-0 victory over Tulane gave them a 2-0 SEC record. Georgia's other SEC victim was Vanderbilt, which with Tulane seems certain to ride the tail end position in the standings this year.

Things get tougher for Georgia from here on, starting with Alabama in Birmingham Saturday. Then the Bulldogs meet Florida, Auburn and Georgia Tech.

Tech was another upset victim Saturday, falling 13-6 before a hard-hitting Kentucky team which shrugged off a siege of injuries and virus attacks.

In non-conference games, Auburn cuffed Florida State 33-0 and Tennessee, having its trouble with "breather" foes this year, edged Dayton 14-7.

The Ole Miss-LSU and Georgia-Bama games top the SEC program, along with the Mississippi State-Florida scrap. Big inter-conference games are Tech at Duke, Tennessee at Kentucky and

Gators Still Hope To Win SEC Title

GAINESVILLE—The Florida Gators return to daytime football this week, all hoping for the Southeastern Conference title in spite of a 20-7 upset loss to Louisiana State Saturday night.

The game at Baton Rouge was Florida's third all-time all-defeat. They've won their three day games and the remaining four are in daylight.

At Homecoming Saturday, Florida will find a tough foe in Mississippi State. It will be the toughest of the Alabamas were good enough to beat Alabama although Florida can thank them for it so far as the Gators' chances for the SEC title are concerned.

Another game that helps was Mississippi's loss to Arkansas in a game that counts in the SEC standings. Alabama, Mississippi and Florida all had 3-0 conference records.

But when two of the SEC co-leaders fell Saturday afternoon, and Florida missed the brass ring Saturday night, the merry-go-round broke down.

Al Duggett, LSU quarterback who passes with an unorthodox underarm motion, led Florida for the second straight year. His passing and kicking gave LSU an up-bull 21-14 last year.

This time he started each of the three Tiger touchdowns. Jones with a pass in 49 yards to John Wood, 50 to Vincent Gonzalez, and 31 to Don Simpson.

But the thing that hurt Florida's sophomores the most were their own mistakes. Bob Smith fumbled the opening kickoff and Florida

Johnny Bratton Will Box Tonight After Suspension

By JACK HAND
The Associated Press
Johnny Bratton, who has been in drydock since he was suspended for a lackluster performance against Johnny Saxton at Philadelphia Feb. 23, got back to work tonight at New York's St. Nicholas Arena against Chicago Varona of Havana.

Bratton blames his Philadelphia trouble on Saxton, whom he describes as "the fightingest fighter I ever encountered," according to Willie Gilzenberg's press release. After watching Saxton win the title from Kid Gavilan last Wednesday, you can say Bratton is wrong?

For a short time, Bratton held the National Boxing Assn. version of the welterweight title. Now that Saxton has taken over, Bratton again has championship ambitions. It had been proved quite convincingly in Chicago last year that he had no chance of ever beating Gavilan.

Bratton takes a career record of 59-23-3 into the St. Nick's bout, to be televised by Du Mont in some parts of the country. Varona has a 55-16 record.

Carmelo Costa, unbeaten Brooklyn featherweight, tops the card at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway tonight against Rudy Garcia of Los Angeles. Costa answered some of the questions that had been asked about him when he showed up at Smith's solid punches and came out to win in his last start.

In 26 pro bouts, Costa has 23 victories and 3 draws. Garcia won the California feather crown in his last start, beating Al Cruz.

The bout will be carried on ABC television.

Local Eleven Overpowered By Might Of Rampaging St. Augustine Gridders

Sanford's Seminoles Friday night crumbled under the attack of superior Ketterlinus eleven and were defeated 28-0.

The Celery Feds' running attack smacked against a stone wall while their passing failed to click once. On the other hand, St. Augustine backs smashed and twisted through the Seminoles' defense behind hard blocking.

Leading the Ketterlinus rampage were Dan Taylor (No. 17), Spencer Goad (No. 22) and Charles Smith (No. 26).

Taylor chalked up 65 yards in rushing, Goad, 72, and Smith, 61. Haink Flowers led the local team in rushing, accruing 50 yards, while Johnny Higgins collected 25, Hawkins, 18, and Jones, seven.

The Yellow Jackets got off to a roaring start at the opening kick-off. Goad running 100 yards and across the St. Augustine goal line. However, the ball was called back to the Ketterlinus 35 yard line because of a clipping penalty.

The first Yellow Jacket touchdown was scored after a 75-yard drive down the field, during which the visitors collected seven first downs. Goad went over for the Sanford seven.

The Celery Feds made their best showing during the scoreless second quarter during which a punting duel ensued. The game during this period was about even.

A blocked punt paved the way for the visitors' second TD at the first of the third quarter. Smith took the ball over the goal line from 27 yards out. A bobble also led to the third touchdown. Ketterlinus recovered a fumble on the 45 yard line and marched down the field for a TD. Taylor crashed through the line for the tally.

Goad caught a pass of about 16 yards and scampered across the goal line for the final TD. Swayne Trisnon booted the four point-after-touchdown. He also chalked up 13 yards in rushing. Prior to Friday night's game, Hawkins, in four games, had gained 310 yards in rushing for 62 tries, making an average of 5.09 yards per try. Flowers, also in four games, had accrued 153 yards for 32 tries, and Jones in three games, 144 yards for 35 tries. Hawkins also had accounted for 203 yards with his passing, and Jones, 73.

The Yellow Jackets outweighed the Seminoles in the line by an average of three pounds per man, while the locals were two pounds heavier per man on the average in the backfield.

Highlighting the SSS defense in the line were Gene Bass, Bud Davis and Bob Shoemaker, and in

Crooms Is Defeated By Hungerford

Crooms Academy lost its third game of the season last week to Hungerford High School of Winter Park 2-0.

Don Burke made the lone touchdown for Crooms on an end run, and was the outstanding player of the evening, according to the Crooms coaches.

Winter Park scored two of its touchdowns after blocking Crooms' punts. The score was tied 6-6 in the first quarter.

HURRICANE SCHMAGG
MIAMI—Curtis Andy Gustafson sent the University of Miami Hurricanes through scrimmage drills against Fordham plays today in preparation for Friday night's football game.

Some of the first stringers were held out of offensive drills, however, to prevent possible injuries.

The coach promised that more pass defense drills would be coming up this week.

"We haven't yet shown we can handle a strong passing attack," he said. Scouts reported Fordham has as strong a passing attack as Holy Cross, the team which the Hurricanes had trouble defeating early in the season.

Will Cuts Off Son Because Of Tea

LONDON (AP)—Mrs. Ada Biggs liked her tea so strong that a mouse could dance on her son told a probate judge yesterday. The son, George R. Dodd, said his mother cut him out of her will because during the postwar rationing days the tea at his house was not quite that sturdy. Mrs. Biggs died in 1931, at 70, after making a new will which left most of her money to charity. The court ruled the new will on the ground that she was of unsound mind at the time. It accepted a previous will made in 1924 which divided the 16,500 pound ($31,000) estate between Dodd and his sister.

McCarthy Hurls 'Prejudice' Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) today hurled a "prejudice" charge at Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) and other members of a special six-man committee which has recommended that McCarthy be censured for certain of his actions as a senator. This was the first time McCarthy has leveled a bias accusation directly at members of the censure committee, although he has indicated he felt Chairman Watkins and Sen. John F. Smith (D-Iowa) and Ervin (D-Ind.) were against him. In his charge today, he mentioned only Watkins by name. Watkins could not be reached immediately for comment. McCarthy questioned the impartiality of the censure committee on the ground that it was composed of members of the censure committee, although he has indicated he felt Chairman Watkins and Sen. John F. Smith (D-Iowa) and Ervin (D-Ind.) were against him. In his charge today, he mentioned only Watkins by name.

GOP Head Doubts Leaders Will Name Watson's Successor

TAMPA (AP)—A Republican official has expressed doubt that Florida GOP leaders will find it practical this late in the year to name a successor to J. Tom Watson, the party's candidate for governor, for whom funeral services were held here today.

"I think it's too late," Walker said. "I think it would cause too much confusion to try to get a new name on the ballot with the election only a week away."

Walker said he could not speak for the committee and had not talked with G. Harold Alexander, chairman of the state GOP executive committee. Atty. Gen. Ervin has ruled only the executive committee can fill the vacancy.

Alexander said he had come to no decision himself and was sounding committee members out for their opinions on how to proceed. He and Mrs. Helen Lieb of Tampa, national committeewoman, called Watson's death Sunday caught him by surprise and they needed time to think the situation over.

Wesley E. Garrison of Miami, a member of the state committee, said he would ask the State GOP executive committee tonight for its members' views on naming a successor.

Garrison was an honorary pallbearer at Watson's funeral. Services were held at the Hyde Park Presbyterian Church and the body was sent to Danville, Va., for burial in the family plot.

Watson, 68, a Tampa lawyer and former state attorney general, died last week of a heart ailment.

Among those mentioned as possible successors to Watson was Sen. James A. Van Fleet of Annapolis, who was sought as the GOP candidate before Watson announced Van Fleet, in a Washington hospital for removal of a kidney stone, died last week.

The Palm Beach County Commission—made up entirely of Democrats—yesterday passed a resolution expressing regret over Watson's death.

RITES HELD TODAY Funeral services were held this afternoon for D. J. Pearson, 87, Lake Mary, who died Saturday at the Fernald-Laughton Memorial Hospital in Danville, Va. Burial was at the rites and burial was in the Oak Lawn Memorial Park.

REVERIES TOMORROW Funeral rites will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. in the Erling Funeral Home for Joseph Baker, 69, who died at Lakehart, Burleson, Va. Burial will be in Oak Lawn Memorial Park.

Both Johnson and Ervin said in advance of the McCarthy censure investigation that they would judge the evidence impartially.

In the Oct. 3 interview McCarthy said renewed previous criticism of a Watkins statement that senators cannot be expected to be impartial on controversial questions. McCarthy called this "the most amazing statement I ever heard." At the time, Watkins explained that what he had in mind was that impartiality.

Ervin said he would not be required in the Senate itself. In his letter today, McCarthy pressed his request for an appearance by Watkins before the investigation subcommittee in connection with the Peress case. Replying to an earlier invitation, Watkins said in Salt Lake City Saturday night his being on hand before Nov. 8. McCarthy said he wants to ask Watkins whether he knows who was responsible for the promotion and discharge of Maj. Irving Peress, a New York dentist whom McCarthy has labeled a "Fifth Amendment Communist."

County Building Included

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—A $16,542,000 issue of bonds to finance school construction in 114 counties was sold today at a record low average interest rate of 2.384 per cent on some 100 bonds houses bundled in three syndicates competed for their purchase.

A syndicate headed by Halley Stuart and Co. of New York bought the bonds at rates ranging from an average of 2.329 per cent for a $7,000,000 issue for Duval County to a top of 2.477 per cent for a $200,000 bond issue for the State Board of Administration.

State bond experts before the sale said they were hoping for a rate of at least 2.5 per cent. They calculated every drop of 10 points on the bid would save about $20,000 in interest charges.

A representative of a syndicate headed by the Union Securities Co. of New York came in a few minutes after the deadline with a bid he said would have taken all the bonds except the Duval and Alachua County issues.

His late bid was not accepted nor opened at the meeting. He said his bid had become tied up in traffic.

The Halley-Stuart Syndicate's apparent low average interest bids for the various county blocks included:

Alachua $2,000,000 per cent for $2,057,000; Manatee 2.441 for $1,355,000; Putnam 2.455 for $993,000; Seminole 2.444 for $950,000.

The Halley-Stuart bid was entered by Colin English, chief Florida state school superintendent; William H. Cates, Tallahassee city commissioner; and Paul Pierce of Orlando, Florida representative of the syndicate.

Prosecutor Thanked For Gentlemanliness

County court adjourned early this morning on an unusual note when Mr. Louis Mac Wall, after being found guilty by a jury on a charge of failing to give a signal, thanked County Prosecutor Kayle Housholder for his gentlemanliness.

The court adjourned early to reconvene Thursday morning at 9:15 o'clock when this afternoon's docket was discovered to be depleted.

Four cases were disposed of yesterday afternoon. A $100 bond was forfeited by Henry Bradley when he failed to appear to answer charges of assault and battery. The case had been continued from the morning session in which Bradley was also absent.

James Lacey Richie, Ft. Myers, forfeited a $50 bond posted on a charge of failure to control speed so as to avoid an accident.

Eather Ouse, Ovidale, was found guilty of assault and battery. He was charged with driving at a speed too great for existing conditions, was made pro se.

In this morning's session two cases were continued, and two disposed of. The case of Abramson Parker, Midway, charged with intoxicating beverages, was continued on the request of Atty. Gen. W. C. Hutchinson Jr. in order to locate additional witnesses.

The case against Napoleon Thorne, Rt. 1, charged with driving under the influence of intoxicating beverages, was continued on the same reason upon the request of Atty. Gen. W. C. Hutchinson.

President Reports Drop Of 400,000 In Unemployment

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today President Eisenhower "would like" to make an 11th hour campaign swing through several states which are being urged by some GOP leaders but has made no decision.

GOP strategists, believing their party got a lift from Eisenhower's two nationwide appearances on radio and television last night, are eager to have the President take to the road.

The White House described as "unofficial" last night's TV radio Cabinet session on the new European defense alliance and the President's later speech on economic conditions.

The latter address, however, furnished fellow Republicans some prime campaign ammunition. Eisenhower reported unemployment had dropped 400,000 to a new total of 2,700,000. This put it below three million for the first time this year.

The employment situation is a major issue in many key industrial states, she said. The air conditioner in the restaurant which would account for the use of a considerable amount of water.

Mrs. Appleby pointed out that the sewer charges extended to her that other restaurant owners would not receive.

There are just a lot of things we'd like to have explained, she told the commission.

A. F. Shindler, city attorney, told Mrs. Appleby that the extra expense is not a tax but an extra charge for sewer use.

The restaurant operator replied that it didn't make any difference "if you're going to have to pay it." Shindler explained that the result of figures compiled by the city fiscal agent, who had pointed out that the sewer charges would be subject to adjustment.

Mrs. Appleby asked, "Who were the charges made before this had been admitted?"

Shindler said the action possibly was made last year when the city was in a bind and regulations concerning the matter would be set up, he said.

Who is going to pay it then? Mrs. Appleby asked. The superintendent of the city water department, E. H. Johnson, would provide for the rules and regulations. Shindler answered that the city would not pay the bill until the bond fund was exhausted.

Objections Brought Before Governing Body

City Sells Parcel Of Land For $4,661; New Bond Ordinance Read 1st Time

Further study will be made into the new sewer charges, it was decided last night by the City commission, after objection to the rates of the charges were voiced by several people at the regular meeting of the body held in the City Hall.

Last night's objections climaxed a flood of protest which has been heaping upon City officials since this month's water bills were received by local users.

Also, last night, the commission decided to sell 14 lots in block four of the Bell Air subdivision to a client of Robert A. Williams, realtor, for $4,661 following a controversy. City William H. Housholder, Jr., representing Great Water House, contended the City would get a better deal with his client's offer.

Mrs. Harold Appleby, operator of Mrs. Appleby's restaurant, the Park Ave., started the ball rolling in the discussion concerning the new sewer charges.

Following a considerable amount of talking on the subject, the commission voted to consult with the city's fiscal agent and consulting engineer to work out reasonable charges on commercial establishments.

In the meantime, it was decided to commercial bills from the sewer department be held up until a decision is reached.

Possibly some sort of decision will be reached when the commission resumes its recessed meeting next Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Appleby said she had received her water bill Friday and that the charge for sewer use was $36.28, for utility tax, $2.40 for the sewer charge, $2.67.

She protested that she would be spending about $300 a year on the sewer charge. "I don't afford it," she declared. "I'm not going to pay it. I'd have to close my door before I could do so."

She said she had an air conditioner in the restaurant which would account for the use of a considerable amount of water.

Mrs. Appleby pointed out that the sewer charges extended to her that other restaurant owners would not receive.

Volusia Sheriff Says Wealthy Man Victim Of Murder

DELAND (AP)—Sheriff James Tucker says he doubts that the death of John B. Kennedy, wealthy Baltimore builder, at Daytona Beach last spring, was a drunken accident as first presumed.

Extensive investigations led him to believe "that Mr. Kennedy's death was the result of unlawful homicide."

The sheriff refused to give reasons for believing the 61-year-old man was slain, nor would he say how he believed it was done nor what the motive might be.

He described the murder as an "executed" killing and said he had intended to present the case to the recessed fall grand jury but did not because "certain evidentiary aspects have not as yet taken conclusive form."

Kennedy was found dead in the surf about 10 a. m. April 30 on an area of the beach unprotected by lifeguards and less than 100 yards from warning signs.

The surf was calm at the time, Ray Hatton, a life guard, reported. He told reporters that friends of Kennedy said the man had no dog on recent surgery.

The body was buried in Baltimore but in June relatives got a court order to disinter it.

Dr. Russell S. Fisher, chief Maryland medical examiner who performed an autopsy, was asked to check specifically for evidence of cyanide poisoning.

Examining the body would have destroyed any cyanide, Dr. Fisher said, adding that his autopsy neither ruled out nor supported the possibility of poisoning.

Examining the body was found in the beach house Kennedy occupied. One capsule, similar to the cyanide capsules, was found in a container.

Kennedy was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of Maryland at the time of his death. He went into the construction business during World War I and had extensive real estate holdings in Baltimore and Florida. A partial appraisal of his estate showed assets of $193,000.

Kennedy and his wife were divorced several years ago. They had one son and one daughter.

Collins Says Dog Track Battle Concerning Taxes Isn't Ended

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Florida's dog tracks have won the first round of the fight to make them pay more taxes to the state, but Gov. nominee Letho Collins says the battle hasn't ended.

Collins, who as Senate floor leader for the late Gov. Dan McCarthy fought to push the graduated tax scale his for the dog tracks through the 1953 Legislature, said as governor he will push for a bill in the 1955 session that will meet the test of the courts.

The U. S. Supreme Court administration last week in 1953 ordered the state to review the Florida Supreme Court's decision voiding the law on the ground the graduated scale of taxes based on daily pari-mutuel handle through the larger tracks exceed protection of the law.

"The people sure have taken a licking on this one. I am disappointed," Collins said. He is to find a legal and fair way in which we can take more revenue from the dog track operators in the state for the support of the government and its services.

The dog tracks now will be taxed under the old law which provides that they pay to the state 5 cents of the 11 cents withheld from every dollar bet by the public through the pari-mutuel machines at the tracks.

The court voided 1953 act substituted for the flat 5 per cent scale for the state a graduated scale based on the size of the daily pari-mutuel pools. Tracks doings gave the state 5 per cent. The state's share increased as betting pools grew larger until the act provided a maximum of $12,000 plus 8 per cent on pari-mutuel pools of $150,000 or more.

The act has brought $2,466,587 in additional revenue from the dog tracks since it became effective July 1, 1953. Under the law 50 per cent of the additional dog track revenue was to be distributed among the 47 counties and 40 per cent was earmarked for the State Welfare Board to permit assistance payments to permanently disabled.

Ernest Conley was program chairman yesterday at the luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club instead of being selected to present the program at the Rotarians' fish fry to be held Nov. 8, as stated in yesterday's issue of The Herald.
