

Federal Court To Hear Petition On Segregation

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — A judge federal court was scheduled to hear a petition today asking an end to segregated public transportation facilities in Mississippi.

The petition also asks an injunction from arresting persons for refusing to observe state laws requiring whites and Negroes to use separate waiting rooms and other facilities.

A bi-racial group of 17 "freedom riders" followed 190 of their predecessors to jail Sunday for refusing an officer's order to "move on" from segregated waiting rooms at the bus and rail terminals here.

They were part of the almost continuous trickle of integrationists into the capital which began in May when the Congress of Racial Equality and a number of Negro groups vowed to "fill up the jails" in protest to segregation.

The suit today was filed by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People on behalf of three Jackson Negroes arrested at the terminals.

The petition claims that Negroes "have suffered and shall continue to suffer irreparable injury as a result of the enforcement of state segregation laws while they are traveling." It also alleges that Negroes are subject to "daily public inconveniences, harassment and embarrassment" in violation of their constitutional rights.

The 17 riders arrested Sunday came in two groups. Eight Negroes and a white man were arrested shortly after noon when they arrived at the Central of Louisiana train terminal from New Orleans.

The other group of eight persons was arrested a short time later at the bus terminals. They came from Montgomery, Ala.

The arrested and jailed as they were taken away to jail.

"That man didn't tell us to move on but to wait," Patricia McMillan, 24, said. "I thought he was ordered to tell us three times. Let's do this thing according to law."

91 To Compete In Beauty Contest

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Pictures and briefings were on tap today for the 91 contestants from all over the world competing for the title of Miss Universe.

Ninety of the entries, in a variety of dress ranging from bathing suits to a parka, showed up Sunday night in Miami's Bayfront Park for the pageant's opening ceremony. They presented gifts to Miami Mayor Robert King High and were given white gold purses emblazoned with Miami seals.

The pageant, which ends Saturday with the selection of Miss Universe, gets underway in earnest Wednesday with the selection of 12 semi-finalists in the race for Miss U.S.A.

Harassed pageant officials today worked to unravel a snarl over the credentials of the Cuban entry.

No entry appeared here from Fidel Castro's island republic, so Miami's Cuban exile colony whipped up an impromptu contest, named buxom Maria Victoria the winner, and sent her into the limelight as "Miss Free Cuba."

Maria didn't get very far. Pageant officials told her she was lacking credentials proving her age (she says she is 25) and marital status (she says she is single.) She was not on hand Sunday night.

An estimated 2,000 persons saw the beauties in their first public appearance.

Miss South Dakota, Sharon Hoffman, stunning in a skin-tight purple swim suit, caught many eyes. She presented Mayor High with a balloon symbolic, she said, of her state's claim to the title "balloon" test capital of the world.

Miss Alaska, Judy Ostad, performing in a fur-lined parka, presented High a flag. Gesturing toward her parka she said, "I'm colder than anybody; it's 110 in here."

First Federal Assn. Assets Show Big Yearly Increase

The mid-year statement of First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. shows assets totaling $18,819,089.92 as compared with $10,821,028.50 on the same date last year. This sharp rise is in contrast with the general economic trends and speaks well for business conditions in this area.

On June 30 savings accounts amounted to $11,956,824.00 were paid dividends at the rate of four per cent a year and amounting to almost $210,000. Since Dec. 1960 the thrift accounts advanced from $10,158,287, a jump of over 25 per cent.

E. C. Harper Sr., president, said that the directors had added over $85,000 to the reserves that now stand at $1,315,519 and stressed the added safety for savings that comes from this fund in addition to the up to $10,000 insurance on each account by Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp.

Harper added that operation for the six months just closed has been very gratifying, and the fact that there was an increase in the number of loans handled amounting to 27 per cent as compared to the figure for June, 1960, indicates that First Federal is serving well the people in this county and nearby DeBary, Enterprise and Osteen.

The local thrift firm has 5,200 savings accounts on its books, the officer said, again representing a substantial increase over the figure of a year ago.

While the savings association has not escaped the "squeeze on profits" that has been said to characterize business in general this year, the new building has provided some efficiencies that have "eased the strain" somewhat and have worked for the benefit of the savers and borrowers at First Federal, Harper said.

With what economists say is the "low spot of the business drag" behind us, there is every reason to feel that the next six months will afford even more opportunities for progress, it was said. The general temper of the home building industry is that there will be no sudden spurt in new home construction, but there will be advance, especially by those who recognize the opportunity in today's labor and material market, Harper concluded.

Directors are A. Edwin Shiholeer, Sanford F. Doudney, Howard Faville, E. C. Harper Sr., George Touhy, J. H. Van Hoy, Jack I. Greene and Robert E. Karas.

Even 'The Bard' Gets His Own Television Show Now

By FRED DANZIG
NEW YORK (UPI) — Television gave the bard a bonus Sunday: a show of his own.

William Shakespeare, the most honored playwright of the past TV season, had no trouble holding his own as the star of CBS-TV's "Accent."

What's that? Did someone say, "who cares?" For those who may still regard Willy as a writer who never could make it on TV, as one who appeals only to a tiny audience, may I remind them of the following facts:
The TV public, when last summoned to a national election by the editors of the TV Guide Magazine, chose "Macbeth" as "the best single dramatic program" of the 1960-61 season.

And the people who comprise the TV industry saw things the same way. They sprinkled five "Emmys" upon the "Macbeth" film, topping off the outpouring with the "TV Program of the Year" title.

So you see, Shakespeare has got to be TV's fair-haired boy. He appeals to everyone. Right? In fact, I'm just about ready to accuse CBS of playing follow-the-leader by presenting this rating blockbuster about "sure-thing" Shakespeare.

But seriously, as Danny Thomas once said — or was it Henry Youngman? — I enjoyed what there was of the half-hour "Accent." For the first in a series of summertime visits to European cultural landmarks, "Accent" aimed its cameras at the Royal Shakespeare Theatre at Stratford-on-Avon, England.

The visit to the world-famous Shakespeare festival permitted some bright conversationalists to oscillate across the Shakespeare-cope. There were sections of the program devoted to Stratford's history and to a lot of acting from "As You Like It" but I was sorry that producer Bill Rubin had no time left for the cameras to tour the insides of the festival theater.

The discussions, guided by Alexander Kendrick, took place on the lawn outside the theater and gave us a chance to hear how Christopher Plummer, Vanessa Redgrave and Peter Hall, the 30-year-old director at Stratford, feel about the bard.

Hall, the sprightliest of the talkers, seemed to have dedicated himself to the worthy task of eliminating boredom and boria, both off-stage and on, from the theater. He appeared anxious to help actors and audiences get new kicks out of Shakespeare by riding the plays of lingering traces of Victorian age interpretations.

But Hall didn't seem to be sold on his summertime audiences. "In the summer," he said, "we get rather stuffy audiences. They come to worship." Plummer, a veteran of Shakespeare festivals in the Stratfords of Connecticut and Canada, found audiences at the three places to be equipped with helpful, fresh attitudes. Miss Redgrave, daughter of Michael Redgrave, addressed herself primarily to the Bard's talent-stretching qualities.

Viewers seeking an answer to the question, "Why Shakespeare?" should have been helped by this program, brief though it was.

The County Commission today authorized District 3 Commissioner James P. Avery to draw up a directive taking all able-bodied men off the county welfare rolls.

Action Slated On VFW Post Liquor Permit

The Cassberry Board of Aldermen, meeting in regular session Monday with all members present, again tabled action of the South Seminole VFW's request for permission to seek a small club liquor license.

Art Bloch, commander of the Post, appeared before the board at its June meeting, with plans to build a $20,000 home at Interstate Rd. and SR 436 pending approval of its operation under the small club license.

Alderman Roba Ledy, with agreement from other board members, stressed the fact that residents of the surrounding area especially those in nearby Howell Park, should be consulted although the property on which the building is to be constructed, and the surrounding properties, come under commercial zoning.

The matter is on the agenda for further discussion at a scheduled session at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Women's Club.

Other business of the Wednesday meeting will be action on annexation of certain lots in Seminole Park, requested by E. C. Westerman, and discussion of the purchase of a boat and trailer for the Volunteer Fire Dept.

Agents Testify In Peel Trial

TITUSVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—An undercover agent who said he was paid $8,300 for a murder that never occurred returns to the witness stand today to testify in a tangled case of plot and counter-plot.

James W. Yenser, the undercover agent, is one of the main witnesses against former West Palm Beach City Judge Joseph A. Peel Jr. Peel already is serving a life sentence for masterminding the 1965 murder of Circuit Judge and Mrs. C. E. Chillingworth and now is on trial on charges of conspiring to kill Floyd (Lucky) Holzapfel, the man allegedly paid by Peel to take the couple to sea in a small boat and throw them overboard.

Yenser testified Monday that the trial began that he received a total of $8,300 from Peel between January and September of last year to kill Holzapfel.

He said he was under contract with the Florida Sheriff's Bureau to gather evidence against Peel. Yenser admitted under cross examination he kept $5,000 of the money given him by Peel and turned the rest over to the state agency.

County Can't Realign JP District, Board Told

County Attorney Mack Cleveland Jr. today told the County Commission that it has no authority to realign or "alter" any peace justice or constable districts in Seminole County.

Cleveland, who also is state representative for this county, made the remarks after District 6 Peace Justice Elmer Ashley complained to the board on the proposed redistricting move and asked the commission to reconsider its plan on slightly changing the three districts in conjunction with the realigning of the commissioner districts.

Cleveland also told the commission that the board has the authority to hire an administrative assistant but the board tabled any action on an assistant until further study.

Commissioners John Fitzpatrick and Vernon Dunn cited the need for a deputy clerk or administrative assistant to put the county on a sound economic base.

However, two county residents in the audience asked the board not to take any hasty action on hiring an assistant because of the cost to the taxpayers.

Cassberry Alderman Mrs. Hope Bennett asked the board "where would the money come from to hire any assistant?" Fitzpatrick said, from tax revenues and said it was too premature to discuss an assistant at this time.

Joseph Barbro told the board that it ought to hire District 3 Commissioner James P. Avery as assistant. "He's the best man for the job," he said.

Rescue Teams Head For Island
QUEILIMANE, Mozambique (UPI)—Rescue teams headed by sea and air today to an isolated beach to pick up the remains of survivors of a Portuguese ship that caught fire during a storm and was ripped by explosions.

A handful of survivors was stranded on the lion-infested beach 30 miles from the ancient slave trade port of Quelimane.

The 2,037-ton "Savo" ran aground near the mouth of the Mahindi River off the southeast African Coast of Mozambique Friday.

Portuguese authorities in Lisbon said Monday night the ship had carried 443 persons. At least 30 Portuguese soldiers and 105 African troops among them were dead or missing. Naval officials in Lourenco Marques, Mozambique's capital, said there had been 565 persons aboard and that 237 were dead or missing.

Marine Admits Going 'Over Hill'

Engineers Get Sewage Plant OK

The Sanford engineering firm of Leffler and Bush today started work on preliminary plans and designs for a sewage treatment plant for the city.

Monday night, the City Commission signed a contract with Clark, Daly, Dietz, Leffler and Bush to draw up plans for the plant and said that the plant would be constructed "whenever it was economically feasible."

Engineer William Leffler estimated today that it would be about four weeks before the preliminary plans are completed.

A primary plant for a 30,000 population is expected to cost approximately $320,000 and one for 40,000, some 25 percent more. The city will decide on the plant once the preliminary plans are completed.

In other business, the commission approved the low bid of Universal Sealing Co. for 60 theatre type chairs for the commission chambers at a total cost of $1,428.

Awarded the low bid to American Cast Iron Pipe Co. for cast iron pipe at a cost of $18,289.

Hearing Set On Revoking Hotel License

The City Commission Monday night set Aug. 14 as a public hearing date to consider revoking the city license for the Palm Hotel on W. First St.

Both Building Inspector M. H. Yelvington and Fire Chief Mack Cleveland Sr. have called the three story building a serious health menace and fire trap.

The board agreed to hold the hearing after City Manager, W. E. Knowles informed commissioners that an official of the State Hotel Commission inspected the building Monday and was "fabergastical" about it.

Knowles said that the "official plans to report back to the state board to have the state license of the hotel revoked.

At the same time, the commission, condemned an old building located at 708 W. Ninth St. after Cleveland said he received numerous complaints that the building was a fire hazard and health menace to the area.

Cleveland said he inspected the building and urged the commission to remove the building.

Discoveries Aid Kidnap Search

MOAB, Utah (UPI)—The discovery of a rustless 22-caliber rifle and a short-handled shovel gave new impetus today to the nearly week-long search for a 15-year-old kidnap victim in desolate southeastern Utah.

The rifle was found buried 300 yards from a mining camp in the Polar Mesa region northeast of here. The shovel was found by searchers Monday in the same area.

Authorities believed they belonged to Abel Aragon, 35, Price, Utah, suspect in the kidnap of Denise Sullivan, of Rockville, Conn., and the slaying of the girl's mother, Mrs. Jeanette Sullivan, 41.

Aragon, an ex-Marine and winner of the Navy Cross in World War II, killed himself with an automatic pistol when FBI agents approached him in his automobile Friday night.

Explosions Blast Italy Railways
MILAN, Italy (UPI)—A series of terrorist explosions blasted railway lines in northern Italy today, virtually cutting off international train traffic.

Police and railroad workers found numerous mines and explosives on lines that pass over the Alps into Switzerland and Austria. Authorities halted all rail traffic in these areas until undamaged lines could be checked and cleared.

Wanted: Residents Protest Landfill Dumping

A delegation of about 30 persons, bearing a petition of 100 names, Monday night protested the dumping of garbage into a city borrow pit on W. 22nd St. through 19th St. between Lake and Marshall Aves.

The protest was made at the City Commission meeting.

Residents complained that the situation is creating a "serious health menace, depreciating the property and that the city is 'slipping something over on us.'"

However, Mayor Joe Baker quickly assured the delegation that the area had been designated a sanitary landfill area and has the approval of Health department officials.

In an effort to seek some sort of solution, the commission, after debating the issue well over an hour, ordered a clamping down on outside dumping and a rigid enforcing of the hours. They also ordered the police department to police the area against scavengers and to log the area if necessary.

The board emphasized that it would be a two week trial period to see what could be accomplished.

Cleveland Spells Out State Law

County Attorney Mack Cleveland Jr. today told the County Commission that it has no authority to realign or "alter" any peace justice or constable districts in Seminole County.

Cleveland, who also is state representative for this county, made the remarks after District 6 Peace Justice Elmer Ashley complained to the board on the proposed redistricting move and asked the commission to reconsider its plan on slightly changing the three districts in conjunction with the realigning of the commissioner districts.

Explosions Rip Virginia City

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (UPI)—Two gasoline storage tanks exploded near here Monday, seriously burning a truck driver and leveling a one-story general store.

The first tank exploded while John Fearman, 28, of Kernersville, N. C., was unloading gasoline from his tank truck at Willie Hunt's grocery-gas station in Saneet Forks, six miles north of here.

Other blasts followed and sheets of flame took hundreds of feet into the air. About 20 residents in the area left their homes as flames from as far as 20 miles away covered on the small community.

Telephone lines were cut by one of the explosions, and U. S. 29, which passed the general store, was blocked while firemen fought the flames.

Firefighters were able to contain the blaze before a third storage tank was ignited.

Fearman, who drove a truck owned by the Maybelle Transport Co. of Lexington, N. C., was hospitalized here.

He stumbled into the general store after the first blast and said to Mrs. Hunt, the owner's wife, "I'm hurt, I think I'm hurt bad."

New Methodist Circle To Meet

By MARIAN R. JONES
The Bethany Circle Two of the Orange First Methodist Church will meet at 8 p. m. today at the home of Mrs. Jack Dodd with Mrs. John Cox, chairman, presiding.

This will be the first meeting of the Circle Two which was formed at a recent reorganization of the original Bethany Circle. Circle One met at 8 p. m. Monday with Mrs. Lovi Norman, chairman, and Mrs. Gerald Smith as substitutes.

The Methodist Mary Martha Circle also met Monday at the home of Mrs. Clara Marlow with the Chapel Guild met July 2 at the home of Mrs. T. L. L...

Gen. Maurice Challe, top leader of the revolt, was brought back to France for trial, was convicted and sentenced to 15 years in prison. Lesser figures in the uprising have received comparatively mild sentences.

The sources said the eight fugitives forfeited their claims for clemency when they escaped French justice rather than face trial for leading the armed insurrection against President Charles de Gaulle's Algerian policy.

Salan was former commander-in-chief in Indochina and former commander of the Algiers military district.

He was forbidden to return to Algeria in 1960 because of a personal attack on De Gaulle's Algerian program. In November, 1960, he slipped across the border into Spain, where he lived in a sort of self-imposed political exile and made statements that he would "live for Algeria" when the time came.

DeMolay Mothers Name Officers

Officers of the newly formed DeMolay Mother's Circle, whose members hold the same office in their organization, are Mrs. Woodrow Cook, president; Mrs. Dick Alken, vice president and Mrs. Mary A. Carman, secretary.

Main function of the new circle will be to help and assist with the enjoyment, well-being and general welfare of the DeMolay boys particularly during the summer months, Mrs. Cook says, adding that she would like to stress "that the circle is not limited to mothers alone but that any relative of a DeMolay is eligible and invited to membership with the group."

Meetings are scheduled at 7:30 p. m. on the first Monday of each month at the Masonic Temple in Sanford.

At the July 8 meeting, the mothers planned a beach party and picnic for the boys and their dates on July 16. Those planning to attend are to meet at the Temple where a 1 p. m. departure is scheduled.

Area Entries Seen In Parade

Quite a few Seminole County business firms and organizations were represented in Longwood's Fourth of July Holiday Parade.

An entry list submitted by Carl Lemmer of the Longwood Volunteer Fire Dept., which sponsored a day-long celebration, included Stonecraft Assoc., South Seminole Veterans of Foreign Wars, Casselberry Fire Dept., Casselberry Kadois of America Corps, Joan's Grocery, the Better Bros. Wagon unit and a large section of horses and riders including those from the Silver Star Dode Ranch.

City Council Chairman E. C. Carlisle's first action at the regular business session Thursday was to give the firemen "wholehearted thanks of the entire council for the overwhelmingly successful event."

United Lutherans To Organize Area Church

Announcement was made Friday of the arrival in Casselberry of the Rev. Ronald D. Miller, BD, who has been assigned to the area to organize a United Lutheran Church.

Miller, Missionary of the Board of American Missions of United Lutheran Churches in America, and his wife, the former Betty Jane Barker of Barnwell, S. C., are residing at 221 Mocking Bird Ln. in Casselberry.

He is a native of Savannah, Ga., and is a graduate of Newberry College, Newberry, S. C., and of the Lutheran Southern Theological Seminary, Columbia, S. C.

All United Lutherans in the area and other interested persons who would like additional information concerning the new church are asked to write or phone Miller.

COMPLAINTS that waste materials dropped into Lake Monroe by barges unloading chemicals were a proved unjustified Saturday in an investigation by a representative of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

Harry Hersh of the commission staff is shown as he watched workers complete the unloading of liquid fertilizer from an Allied Chemical barge and the loose hanging hose (at left) showed no drippage. The barge held 2,000 tons of the liquid when it began unloading. "It appears that waste materials were killing fish in the lake were not correct," Hersh said. One of the work crew said that the most waste he could recall from a barge load was not more than a couple of gallons, which he estimated could not have any effect on the water or the fish. Nova Scotia Episode Shows Russians Still At Work

By CHARLES CORDEY
WASHINGTON (UPI)—A recent incident at sea off the coast of Nova Scotia has served to dramatize anew the unending intelligence gathering contest between the Soviet Union and the West.

For years the big maps and the data display boards at various U. S. military headquarters have had colored pins and little flags stuck in them. These show the daily maneuvering of Russian surface vessels and submarines near North America — but in international waters.

The ships — trawlers, tugs and larger types — engage in fishing off the Grand Banks. They also do scientific research on the Gulf Stream and the upper air, as the Russians say.

But their antics, and U. S. Navy photographs, show that they also double in electronic eavesdropping, mapping and gathering of data about possible missile targets and other military enterprises.

Not much has been said about these activities since Robert S. McNamara became defense secretary and clamped down on certain types of information. But they are called to new attention by the Nova Scotia episode.

According to the Canadian Navy, a Russian trawler changed course to pick up a buoy used in exercises for submarine detection. The "sonobuoy" was about 60 miles off the coast. The Canadians said it contained microfilm and a small radio transmitter, but nothing secret.

Simultaneously with the Nova Scotia incident, a foremost authority was asked about the Soviet trawlers' operations. In Boston, Vice Adm. John T. Hayward, and deputy chief of naval operations, said the Russians had equipment in their vessels which "makes it clear to the least technically minded that they are here also for other purposes" than fishing.

He said, among other things, that trawlers and at least one submarine were mapping the New England coastal waters.

Other authorities pointed out that the Russians are highly advanced in oceanographic work. By

Test Of Strength

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—Virginia Democrats select a nominee for governor today in a primary that will test Sen. Harry F. Byrd's 25-year domination of politics in the state.

Despite a bruising campaign and the promise of hot sunny weather, fewer than half the million eligible voters in this predominantly Democratic state were expected to turn out. Anything over 345,000 votes would be a record for a state primary.

Balloting at the state's 1,061 voting precincts extends from 6

a. m. to 7 p. m. standard time in all but a few areas which legally adopted daylight saving time.

Voters found two full tickets on the primary ballot for the top three state offices, governor, lieutenant governor and attorney general. The winner will meet Republican H. Clyde Pearson in November in a gubernatorial battle. The GOP has not won in almost 100 years.

Auditors Jump On AF Purchase

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Government auditors said today the Air Force bought a $41,000 screw-making machine even though the Navy had two of the complex devices lying idle in storage dumps.

The auditors said the Air Force purchase was just one example of waste caused by "inadequate management" procedures set up by the Defense Department to coordinate machine tool buying by the armed services.

The General Accounting Office (GAO), charged by Congress to look for waste and corruption in government, said more than 20 per cent of the machine tool inventory maintained by the Army, Navy and Air Force was idle.

The auditors, in a report to Congress, said the total Defense Department inventory contained 500,000 items of production equipment worth about $5 billion.

They said 140,000 of these machine tools — valued at $1.5 billion — were in general reserve. Despite the large supply, however, the auditors reported that the three services spent an additional $63 million for machine tools in the fiscal year ending last June 30.

"In the course of our review, we identified procurements of over $700,000 which were made when identical or substitute idle equipment was available," the auditors said.

"We consider the procurements to have been unnecessary."

West Can't Count On Red - China Split

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk has warned that the West should not count on a basic split between Russia and Red China to bring victory over communism in the cold war.

He said Monday that there was solid evidence of "some tensions" and "irritations" between the two major Communist powers but added, "I don't think that the prospect of such divisions would be a sound basis for policy for the free world."

Rusk told a National Press Club audience that the Berlin crisis was "most serious" but he declined to speculate on whether it could lead to nuclear war.

He said it was "most unlikely" that Red China could get into the United Nations this fall. However, he acknowledged the United States was having some trouble finding a formula to keep the Peiping regime out.

Berlin and Red China, the cabinet officer made clear, are only two aspects in the long struggle for survival that Western democracy must wage against Communist imperialism.

Rusk said the "central issue" of the grave crisis which has split the world was the Communists' "announced determination to impose a world of coercion upon those not already subjected to it."

The West should not doubt that the Communists mean this, he said, for "on this point they have proved" their intentions. At stake, Rusk said, "is the survival and growth of the world of free choice."

Rusk said the Communist world was grappling with mounting dissension and a "growing demand for freedom" from the satellite Red peoples.

"The world of coercion has its problems . . ." he said. "Dissensions within its ranks, national resistance in this modern imperialism and a growing demand for freedom are among them."

"It has learned that economic aid does not buy puppets, that intimidation awakens its own resistance, that the United Nations is tougher than they thought, and that those who set out to 'possess the minds' of man have set themselves against the course of history."

In discussing Soviet-Red China

tensions, Rusk said "it must be kept in mind that the two powers were united within a "doctrinal framework" and had "certain common interests."

Similarly, he warned of dangers to the free world in days to come. "If there are those looking for still waters, we are not there," he said. "We can move on with confidence if we are prepared to do what has to be done. The free world has enormous strength, including the inner strength of purposes which are deeply rooted in the nature of man."

Raiders 'Step' Up Training Against Castro

MIAMI (UPI)—Patrick's raiders stepped up their training today in preparation for commando operations against Cuba, despite the arrest of two of their men by Broward County authorities.

Deputies arrested and filed vagrancy charges Monday against six men, two of whom admitted being members of Jerry Patrick's anti-Castro Intercontinental Penetration Force Interpen.

Robert Sullivan, 24, and Joe Gorman, 31, both said they were waiting at the time for an airplane to practice parachute jumping.

Patrick, leader of the group said "it was harassment, and the people responsible will share the blame if one of these boys gets shot up on a Cuban beach because he wasn't trained properly."

"We will request legal assistance from the American Civil Liberties Union," said Patrick a former U. S. Marine who fought with Fidel Castro's army before defecting.

Interpen will accelerate its parachute training program as soon as possible, Patrick said. He said his group plans to invade Cuba, leaving an unarmed foreign country at night, parachuting into the waters off some unguarded beach and then swimming ashore with their gear.

After gaining a foothold in the Escambray or Sierra Maestra mountains, they will begin the same type of hit-and-run guerrilla warfare that Fidel Castro used to topple Fulgencio Batista, Patrick said.

Neither he or his men have any hope for immediate popular support.

"We've only got about a dozen men now," Patrick said. "But that's how many Fidel had when he reached the Sierra Maestra."

Congress May Give Quick Okay On Securities Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House commerce subcommittee may give quick approval today to a bill that would allow the Securities & Exchange Commission to make an investigation of the rules that control the nation's stock markets.

The $750,000 authorization bill, requested by SEC Chairman William L. Cary, would let the agency make a long-term study, to see if the regulations are adequate to protect investors.

Subcommittee Chairman Peter F. Mack (D-Ill.) said he hopes the full committee will approve the bill before the end of the week.

Hearings by his committee, he said, demonstrated "a serious need for a thorough review of the rules and regulations governing the sale of stocks."

American Stock Exchange President Edward T. McCormick endorsed the investigation, but said the exchange's members "adhere to a strict code of ethics."

The SEC is studying the exchange's procedures after a report that one of its members engaged in manipulation.

Other congressional news:

Postal — The administration's compromise bill for a $502 million postal rate increase faced a showdown in the House Post Office Committee. Committee approval would at least sustain the administration's dim hopes of getting postal rates hiked this year. However, rejection would kill the bill.

The administration originally asked for $701 million more in postal revenues to cover the rising deficit in the Post Office Department. The compromise would bring the rates up to five cents for first class and eight for air-mail.

Breakfast — President Kennedy called to congressional leaders for their weekly White House breakfast and a prodding on the administration's lagging foreign aid bill. Kennedy said Monday the long-term program was "vital to our own security and the fight for peace."

Joe Maffett Gets Honors At Clemson

Joe Maffett, who often has visited the Sanford home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George Maffett, has been elected to serve in the dual capacity of drum major and student bandmaster of the Clemson "Tiger Band" for the next school term.

Young Maffett, who is majoring in textile engineering, is a junior at the South Carolina College and served on the senior band staff as Drum Major during the past term.

He also has been a cadet captain and commander of the Air Force ROTC Band and president of the Concert Band. He recently was elected vice president of Mu Beta Psi, national honorary music fraternity of the campus.

In May, he received the Chicago Tribune Silver Medal Award for outstanding leadership in the Clemson Air Force ROTC program and also was selected to receive the AF-ROTC Band trophy for winning first place in an Atlanta, Ga., band concert.

Joe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Maffett of Saluda, S. C.

Federal Mediators Continue Attempt To Settle Strike

NEW YORK (UPI) — Merchant ship engineers are expected to appeal today or Wednesday from a federal court order imposing a 30-day Taft-Hartley injunction against resumption of the national maritime strike.

Two other unions may join the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association (MEBA) in an appeal to the Federal Court of Appeals against the injunction issued late Monday by Judge Sylvester J. Ryan.

The judge's injunction came in the Kennedy administration's first use of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Ryan, ruling two days ahead of schedule, found that resumption of the strike would imperil national health and safety and would tie up at least 332 American merchant vessels.

The judge also dismissed contentions of the MEBA and the Masters, Mates and Pilots (MMP) union that neither fell under the Taft-Hartley Act because members were supervisory personnel.

That claim could be the basis of the appeal which attorney Lee Pressman said he would make for the MEBA. The MMP also may join the appeal, as well as the Seafarers International Union (SIU), which represents unlicensed seamen.

Negotiations resume today between the MEBA and the American Merchant Marine Institute ended with "no apparent progress," according to a federal mediator, and no date was set for another meeting.

The mediator said he could not say whether he was hopeful over the complex labor dispute being settled before expiration of the injunction Sept. 21. But he said every attempt would be made to resolve the issues among five unions and six employer groups.

Ryan, who brought a halt to the 18-day shipping strike July 3 with a temporary injunction, directed that negotiations continue during the "cooling off" period. He said the injunction would "serve to encourage" free collective bargaining to end the strike. Ryan's action Monday extended the injunction sought by the Kennedy administration to 80 days from the date the initial restraining order was issued.

One of the main stumbling blocks to settlement is MEBA insistence that it be given the right to organize engineers on American-owned ships flying foreign flags.

Esquire Inc., announced Monday that Coronet will cease publication with its October issue, almost 23 years to the day since it first appeared on the nation's newsstands.

A. L. Binder, president of Esquire Inc., said the decision to discontinue publication was reached after efforts to sell the magazine had failed.

Although the magazine's circulation is at an all-time high, Binder said it has been losing money at an accelerating rate for the past two years.

Week Brings $158 To Altamonte Sale

By ATLANTA MCGINNIS

Members of the Altamonte Springs Library Assn. working at the daily rummage sale being held in the old post office building, report that $158 was taken in last week.

All money made at the sale is being applied towards the purchase of the town's present library building and property.

Among bargains donated for sale this week are a four-year-old male registered cocher spaniel, an electric ironer, a disposal unit, two apartment size washers, a 26-inch by 36 inch gold leaf picture frame, a five drawer mahogany vanity and bench with a fitted glass top and a volume of the Book of Knowledge by Funk and Wagnall.

Mrs. Glenn Humes, chairman of the rummage sale, says that more items are coming in daily.

Needed by the library, which this week is receiving an interior paint job, are a typewriter which will hold catalog cards, files, up-to-date fiction books and children's books and volunteers help to build more library shelves, Mrs. Humes says.

MacArthur Returns To Manila Bay Corregidor Fortress

CORREGIDOR ISLAND (UPI) — General of the Army Douglas MacArthur returned to Corregidor today and urged the free world to remember the lesson of the Manila Bay fortress and to go on to victory in the present world crisis.

The old warrior's wife, Jean, wiped tears from her eyes as she walked once again on the fortified island where she and her infant son shared her husband's last stand against the Japanese invaders of the Philippines in 1942.

The 81-year-old general clasped his wife closely to his side as she shared the honors paid to him today. Frequently they looked around at the massive rock formations and spoke of their experiences here.

The name Corregidor has become a legend through the free world," MacArthur said in a brief speech. For all time and all eyes, it is a symbol of liberty.

"Here and just across the channel on Bataan, the Philippines soldier with his American comrades—in his youth and strength, his love and loyalty—gave all that mortality can give . . .

"In the crisis the free world faces today, the lessons of Bataan and Corregidor should not be forgotten."

Times Change

LONDON (UPI) — Charles A. Lindbergh was received by the secretary of the Ministry of Science to the airport as its representative.

But only a minor government official was on hand this morning to greet Russia's Maj. Yuri Gagarin, who became the world's first spaceman when he orbited the earth earlier this year.

British newspapers drew the contrast in lamenting a lack of imagination shown by Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government in arranging a reception for Gagarin on his first visit to a Western nation.

The Soviet "cosmonaut" was invited by the British organizers to attend the big Russian exhibition currently at Earl's Court Hall.

Gagarin also will pick up gold medals from the British Interplanetary Society and the Amalgamated Union of Foundry Workers — he was once a foundry worker.

The visit therefore is not an official one and the government resolved what the Daily Mirror described in a front-page attack as two days of stuffed shirt panic" over protocol by sending only the

Safety Meet Set By ACL

The Sanford Safety Committee, Tampa Division, Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, will hold its regular quarterly meeting in the assembly room at their station, Sanford, 7:30 p. m.

All employees, their friends and families are being invited. Mr. W. E. Giles, Safety Engineer, U. S. Naval Base, Sanford, will talk on safety and show a motion picture entitled "Rescue Breathing" their latest picture on mouth to mouth resuscitation. This film is of great value to all, as it carries the latest instruction and demonstrates this important part of first aid.

Door prizes, one for the ladies and one for the men, will be awarded and refreshments will be served.

Officers of the Railroad from Jacksonville, Ocala and Tampa are expected to be in attendance.

DeBary Women Plan Year's Work

Members of the DeBary Volunteer Fire Dept. Auxiliary Executive Board met last week at the home of Mrs. Charles Ulrich, president, to make plans for the coming year.

Attending were Miss Beatrice J. Tyson, past president; Mrs. Carl Gales, Mrs. Charles Schneider, Mrs. Aaron Dunson, Mrs. Adam Muller, Mrs. William Williams, Mrs. Roy Coakling, Mrs. Thomas Howard, Mrs. Gordon Crosby, Mrs. Ardeth Mithner and Mrs. Paul Froesebcher.

What's This!

Hey Mom! Let me read that again. A Democracy cannot exist as a permanent form of Government. It can only exist until the voters discover they can vote themselves largess out of the public treasury. From that moment on the majority always votes for the candidate promising the most benefits from the public treasury with the result that Democracy always collapses under a loose fiscal policy, always to be followed by a Dictatorship and then a Monarchy.

—Written by Professor Alexander Fraser Tytler, nearly two centuries ago while our thirteen states were still colonies of Great Britain.

And Mom, do you remember this tid-bit in the paper the other day?

WASHINGTON—The Government wound up its bookkeeping year with the federal debt at $289,211,154,000.00, the highest level of any fiscal year-end in history.

The daily Treasury statement for June 30, issued yesterday, showed that the debt climbed about $2.7 billion from a year ago, because of higher spending and less-than-anticipated revenues.

And remember, Mom, when you and Dad were talking about the budget and he said that we were spending too much. And Dad said, "We just can't spend more than we make or we'll be in real serious trouble." Is that true of nations, too, Mom?

Oh yeah, and taking a look at that figure of how much in the hole we are, whaddaya suppose Uncle Sam bought with that five cents that's tacked on the tail-end of that long string of figures?

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

CASE 3-428: Marilyn T., aged 24, is the pretty coed who decided to adopt the "reverse English" strategy to win a husband.

She was sincerely interested in handicapped children, so I urged her to take some courses that would be especially helpful.

"Now, remember," I warned her, "you are planning to be a teacher of the handicapped, so be sure you let your male companions know of your goal in life."

"And stick by your guns, for if you do NOT get married, you would have a worthwhile career."

"Thus, when the first boy acts romantic, push him away but don't let him affront his pride. Thank him sincerely for the compliment but remind him you simply can't marry because you want to help crippled children!"

"This 'reverse English' strategy is simply Seneca's advice adapted for girls."

A young man once contacted Seneca, the famous Roman philosopher who was a contemporary of Jesus (4 B. C. to 65 A. D.).

This young man was having trouble winning his sweetheart. So he asked Seneca how to deal with women successfully.

"Go to the archer," replied Seneca, "and see how he handles his bow. With one hand he pushes it away, but with the other he pulls it back again."

In modern slang, what Seneca meant was "keep 'em guessing." And that is exactly the technique I urged Marilyn to adopt.

Boys like to see a girl who has a broad perspective and is committed to an altruistic goal in life. For then they figure she is not primarily concerned with capturing them as marriage partners.

Relaxed and at ease, they let down and have fun, for they figure they need not maintain a constant guard.

If she then indicates their ego with deft praise and repeats the compliments, on every subsequent date, she teaches the boy to lean upon her for emotional support.

"Other folks batter down my pride," such a boy subconsciously reasons, "but Marilyn always makes me feel wonderful."

When he is away from Marilyn, he often encounters rebuffs, reprimands, scoldings and other deflation of his ego.

So he wants to run back to Marilyn, much as little boys run to mother to have their bumps kissed.

Marilyn's prompt compliments reassure the boy. Soon he is leaning on her as a supporting crutch for his ego.

When he later wakes up to the fact that she may be leaving to teach at some distant school, he suddenly gets panicky at losing the crutch.

"She just CANNOT do that to me," he thinks, excitedly. "Why, I can't get along without her!"

And that's when he really puts on the pressure to have her change her mind about a teaching career so she will marry him.

"Marilyn," he pleads, "You can still teach a Sunday School class and later use your training with our children, but PLEASE let's get married."

Well, that's exactly how Marilyn's case turned out. Within a year she was coerced into an apparently reluctant consent to be married.

DON'T PUSH THE PANIC BUTTON!

From Rome

Henry McLemore

ROME, Italy—The old saying (Samuel Clemens, I believe) that everybody talks about the weather, but no one ever does anything about it, doesn't hold true for Europeans.

They do something about it. They faint, for one thing. They close up shop, for another. They also wall, moan, complain, collapse and generally go to pieces over the weather.

Hot weather, that is. Cold weather they take in stride, but from the beginning of summer, until its end, their lives are dominated by the sun.

One would think, to hear the Europeans carry on, that their countries were the hottest in the world, which they aren't by a long shot. A visitor from Needles or El Centro or Yuma would consider most European cities air-conditioned, and so would a man from such hot and sticky places as New Orleans, Washington, D. C. and Des Moines.

The English are just as bad about hot weather as their Continental neighbors. I have before me two London papers and their front pages are dominated by weather stories—stories on how hot it is and how everyone is suffering.

The frightful temperature? 88 degrees! It was so terrible (the papers say) that the men in an automobile plant struck and went home, 130 people fainted on the sidewalks of London, chocolate wouldn't set at a big candy factory so 1,000 girls were sent home until things cooled off.

All that, mind you, at 88 degrees—a temperature which makes the minds of Gila Bend residents turn toward ice skates and woolen undershirts.

Europeans are the greatest thermometer readers on earth. Every house and every store has three or four on the premises, and they are consulted every ten minutes of the day.

As the thermometer goes up, the people go down. They talk of nothing else. Store clerks apologize for being cross and surly and blame the weather. Cops abandon their posts to stand in the shade of trees.

City fathers issue stern warnings about the dangers of the overpowering heat (usually 84 to 89 degrees). Citizens are cautioned to avoid ice in their drinks, to take salt tablets by the handful, to loosen their clothing, to stretch out and fan themselves whenever possible, and to wear leaves in their hats if leaves are handy. They are told to pedal their bicycles leisurely, and to eat lightly.

All of the above warnings have been issued in Rome this summer, and it has yet to be really hot. I mean hot as we Americans know heat.

American tourists are a source of wonder and worry to the Italians. The tourists, most of them bare-headed, traipse from ruin to ruin, church to church, during the hottest part of day, paying no attention to the sun's killing (as the Italians see them) rays.

U. S. Defense Review Slated

By PHIL NEWSOM
 UPI Foreign News Analyst

The United States moved swiftly today to meet Nikita Khrushchev's latest display of brinkmanship over Berlin.

As a direct reply to Khrushchev's announcement of an increase in Soviet military spending and cancellation of a planned reduction in military manpower, President Kennedy ordered a review of United States defenses.

Deputy Defense Secretary Roswell L. Gilpatric said that if the review leads to the conclusion that U. S. military spending should be boosted, revised budget requests will be submitted to Congress.

The United States also released hitherto secret testimony by Gen. Lauris Norstad before the House Foreign Affairs Committee last month.

Norstad, supreme Allied Commander in Europe, said that any serious Soviet move against Berlin would face the might of the entire Western world.

In Paris, NATO officials disclosed "virtual agreement" on a plan to increase from 22 to 30 the number of NATO's front-line divisions in Western Europe if Russia elects to touch off a full-scale Berlin crisis.

Khrushchev had called a halt to troop reductions and he announced an increase of three billion rubles (nominally about $3.5 billion) in the Soviet defense budget.

He said he was "compelled" to make these moves in the face of Western countermoves over the impending Berlin crisis.

He also warned that any forceful actions by the West against an independent Communist East Germany automatically would mean a reply in kind from the Soviet Union.

On Sunday, the Soviets put on display at least 10 new aircraft, including a fighter with a liquid-fuel rocket booster and a big four-engine bomber said to be capable of launching missiles.

The Soviet Tass news agency said new rocket-carrying planes had equipment capable of "destroying any target hundreds of kilometers away, and no defenses can save these targets from destruction."

Norstad told the House Foreign Affairs Committee that his forces, even as now constituted, would "render a very good account of themselves" for a limited time and that he was sure they were a factor in Soviet thinking about Berlin.

NATO forces today are composed largely of U. S. and West German divisions facing 22 Soviet divisions equipped with the most modern weapons.

At his weekend retreat at Hyannis Port, Mass., President Kennedy met with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, the President's military representative.

Rusk described the meeting as ranging over the problems of Germany and Berlin as a "very relaxed but profitable talk."

The West does not believe that Khrushchev intends to push the Berlin issue to a nuclear war but admittedly his present policy of brinkmanship is a dangerous one.

Your Pocketbook

How much house can you afford on a $8,000, a $10,000 or a $20,000-a-year income?

It appears that the old rule of thumb that you can afford a house two-and-a-half-times your annual income is out.

If you are making $8,000 a year, you'll confirm there is a slim chance that you'll find a suitable $18,500 home.

If you gross $20,000 a year, it is debatable whether you can afford a $125,000 home at today's maintenance costs and in view of the tax bite out of your earnings. And, the burden on the $20,000-a-year man to keep up with the country club set in the $125,000 house neighborhood can be as difficult as it is for the $8,000-a-year man to swing the $18,500 home.

If the two-and-a-half-times your annual income rule is out, how should you figure?

List all of your current expenses and project expenses into the future.

A couple with a $10,000-a-year income, for example, with grown children and no aged dependents might well be able to make their $20,000 home a castle—unless, of course, they are set upon expensive vacations, costly recreation and entertaining.

A couple with a $10,000-a-year income and two or three growing children to educate, plus, perhaps, a dependent aged relative, might ill afford the $25,000 house.

Next figure that regardless of other obligations, one fifth of your annual take-home pay will be needed to pay local taxes, the amortization and interest on the mortgage, plus home insurance.

Expect that it will cost about one per cent of the cost of your home to pay utility bills and at the very least another one per cent for average maintenance. (These costs could be higher if your house is old, not well insulated, or in need of costly repairs.)

New figure transportation costs. Often folks have bought a more expensive home farther away from their work only to find that the expected saving was eaten away in commuting costs.

Deduct all of these costs from your net income and see where you stand. See how much remains for "Keeping up with the Joneses"

Miss Etta Gretchen Kirchhoff Marries W. H. Dartnell At Episcopal Church

Miss Etta Gretchen Kirchhoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Emil Kirchhoff, 1617 East Second Street, Sanford, and William Howard Dartnell, son of Mrs. Esther Dartnell and the late Mr. John H. Dartnell of Dover, N. J., were married June 30, at 7:30 p.m. at Holy Cross Episcopal Church.

Rev. John R. Griffith officiated at the double ring ceremony in the Chapel of Peace at the church, which was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli and greenery.

Paul Jenkins, organist, presented a program of nuptial music including the processional "Trumpet Voluntary in D" and the recessional "Trumpet Tune", by Purcell. He also accompanied Mrs. Marjorie Petherbridge, soloist, who sang "Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring", by Bach.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a bridal gown of white silk organza and Chantilly lace. It featured a scalloped Sabrina neckline of Chantilly lace, trimmed with sequins and pearls and long tapered sleeves.

A bustle back effect accented the princess style skirt of silk organza which featured scattered appliques of Chantilly lace and a chapel length train. A cap of silk organza petals, trimmed with pearls, held a finger-tip veil of silk illusion. She carried a nosegay of phalaenopsis orchids with delicate netting.

Mrs. J. Philip Coleman, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a gown of blue peau de sole with gored skirt featuring a sweetheart neckline and bustle effect skirt, with matching accessories and carried a nosegay of American Beauty roses.

John F. Barlow was best man and William Kirchhoff, brother of the bride, served as usher.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Kirchhoff chose a champagne colored silk sheath with turquoise accessories and a corsage of cimbidium orchids.

The groom's mother wore a pink silk and lace dress and a corsage of sweetheart roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Arrangements of white gladioli were placed throughout the house and the refreshment table was overlaid with an imported lace cloth and held an arrangement of pink roses and silver candelabra.

A three-tiered wedding cake was served from a round table with festoons of ivy and white roses. Mrs. Don Reynolds, Mrs. William Lewis and Mrs. George Harden Jr. kept the bride's book.

Assisting with the serving and entertaining were Mrs. Clarence Clause, Mrs. Eddie Walkiem, Mrs. Benjamin Whitner, Mrs. Clifford Baker, Mrs. Fred Dyson, Mrs. William Talipes, Mrs. John Galloway, Mrs. Bart Peterson, Mrs. Joseph Saunders, Mrs. W. A. Adams and Mrs. Malcolm Higgins.

For traveling, Mrs. Dartnell wore a green sheath with matching duster and accessories. After a wedding trip to Jamaica, they will reside on Silver Lake, Sanford.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Coleman, Teryl and Marcella Coleman and Mr. and Mrs. John P. Coleman, all of Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Fred Compton, Dover, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dartnell, Morristown, N. J., and Mrs. W. C. Lewis of Tallahassee.

Frumpy Maturity Is Never Necessary

By ALICIA HART, NEA
Maturity and frumpiness need not go together. Many women seem to feel that they should be "seamless" about appearance when they reach the mature years.

But the truth is that it's never sensible to look dowdy. For if you belong to the black-navy blue-gray school of dressing, you find life has less sparkle.

In the Victorian era, the women did put on drab colors in middle age. But that era is long gone, though its echoes seem to linger on in some respects. Remember, there's no rule that says you must stay away from color. In all fairness to yourself, you should experiment with color each time you make a new addition to your wardrobe.

Discover that a red coat can be as basic as a black one. That royal blue is pure flattery to your skin. That a true and beautiful amethyst will make you feel and look years younger. Extend this thinking about color to every single thing you buy.

And don't wind up with black or gray because you're afraid of color. Give it a chance; find out what it can do for you.

MRS. IRWIN FLEISCHER is admiring the Garden of the Month sign placed on her front lawn, this month, by the Sanford Garden Club. Her garden at 806 Plumosa Drive, was chosen by Mrs. J. P. Cullen and Mrs. C. P. Harkney, from the Azalea Circle, who were on the committee for July.

Couple Surprised At Family Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Fortson were honored with a surprise covered dish supper at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Leo Hunter, on Beardsall Ave.

It was in celebration of their 57th wedding anniversary and was given by their children, complete with wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, made by a daughter, Mrs. N. M. Bennett.

The supper was served buffet style and the menu consisted of baked ham, fried chicken, meat loaf, salads, green vegetables, candied yams, coffee, tea and dessert.

The dining table was covered with a yellow linen cloth, centered with an arrangement of red hibiscus, flanked by yellow candles.

Several nice gifts were presented by the children, Marion Fortson, Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. Hunter, of Sanford, J. W. Fortson, Mt. Dora and J. H. Fortson of Apopka.

They also have 13 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren. The honorees were married June 22, 1904 at the bride's home by a brother of the groom, who was justice of the peace. Mrs. Fortson was raised in Newberry and Mr. Fortson in Washington, Ga.

Mr. Fortson is a retired carpenter, and he and Mrs. Fortson enjoy gardening, their special hobby being roses and vegetables.

Those present for the celebration were Mr. and Mrs. Fortson of Mt. Dora, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Fortson, Linda and Eileen, Mr. and Mrs. Rocky Borah, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett, and Mr. and Mrs. Hunter, Patty and Bobby, of Sanford.

Explosive All-Stars Mix

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Two explosive batting orders collided today in the 10th All-Star game between the National and American leagues with manager Paul Richards of the junior circuit ready to stick with his starting nine if it looked like a winner.

"It may have been the theory in recent years to keep changing the lineup so fans could see all the players, and that may be the theory again next year," the pilot of the Baltimore Orioles declared. "When I came here from across the country to win this game and it should be discontinued if it is not played to win."

Danny Murtaugh, who never landed a berth on the National All-Star as a player but heads them as manager of the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates, took a different stand.

"Any substitutions we make won't cost us efficiency," Murtaugh said. "That's what our club is — all stars."

Whitey Ford, a big winner with the New York Yankees but a two-time loser in All-Star action, was tipped by Richards to work his left-handed magic against a power-packed batting order featuring Willie Mays, Orlando Cepeda, Ed Matthews and Roberto Clement.

Warren Spahn, the National's matchless southpaw, was scheduled to battle the likes of Norm Cash, Mickey Venable, Roger Maris and Rocky Colavito.

Just about everybody was surprised except Murtaugh when he listed the 46-year-old Spahn as his starter and bypassed such younger stars as right-handers Joey Jay and Bob Purkey of Cincinnati along with Sandy Koufax, the Los Angeles Dodgers southpaw.

"It was to be either Spahn or Purkey," Murtaugh said. "Spahn has been known to rise to the occasion — to put it mildly — and he can be just as effective against right-handed hitting as the left-handers when he's right."

The National League had a margin in team batting — .309 to .303, and had outscored the Americans 215-206, but Maris — with 23 home runs — and Mantle — with 29 — were far ahead of any individual slugger in the senior loop.

Casey Stengel, who got the axe last year after managing the Yankees to 10 pennants and seven world titles, was slated to throw out the first ball. He had piloted the American All-Stars 10 times.

They went into the clash with a 23-13 edge over the Nationals in the series but had dropped nine of the last 13 meetings including the two played a year ago.

A note of tragedy was injected in pre-game festivities when Ryan Duren of the Los Angeles Angels left the American Leaguers to return home following the death of his infant son, Rookie Ken McBride of the Angels was named to take his place.

Game officials expected a sell-out crowd of 44,000 for the nationally televised game which started at 4 p. m. The stadium had baked in 80 degree heat for two days but cooler weather was forecast.

It's A Mighty Short Step From All-Star To 'No-Star'

NEW YORK (UPI) — They're proving in San Francisco today that it's a mighty short step from all-star to no-star.

Many are the big names which are missing as the American and National leagues go at it in Candlestick Park. And for most you don't have to go back farther than last year.

Demonstrating once again that it's a molecular journey from who's who to who's he.

It's been a bad first half of the season for a lot of them. Guys like Dick Groat of the Pirates, Norm Larker of the Dodgers and Pete Runnels of the Red Sox as a starter.

Just a year ago Groat was on route to a .325 National League batting title with Larker destined to finish two points back. Runnels hit .330 for the American League crown. They played in both All-Star games and life was fun and full of frolic.

But not this time as they sit brooding on the sidelines. Groat has seen a lot of bench duty and is batting a lowly .269. Larker is hitting only .254 and Runnels, not even used regularly, is batting .178.

They've got a lot of company.

In the National League, two-time batting champion Richie Ashburn is hitting .229, against a career high of .330. Bill Maserak, whose home run won the World Series last fall, is swinging with a .254 fatality. Harvey Kluenn of the Giants, three years ago the AL batting king with a .338 average, is trudging along at a .267 pace.

Vernon Law, last year's top pitcher and a 20-game winner, is fretting over a 2-4 record from the disabled list. Robin Roberts, who played in five All-Star games, is a much victimized 1-3. Bob Buhl of the Braves, a solid 16-game winner a year ago, is 5-7.

Johann Antonelli was in the game last year. Now his pipes are sizzling over his 1-4 mark. Sam Jones, who won 21 and 18 the last two years, is 6-5, and Billy O'Dell, who showed such promise at Baltimore, is a mere 4-3.

Runnels has lots of disappointed company in the American League. Jackie Jensen, with a .281 lifetime average, is batting only .250 while his Boston teammate, Frank Malzone is down to .224. Minnie Miñoso, who hit .311 last year, is laboring along at .273 and, while he played in eight All-Star contests, he'd have to pay his way in this time.

Every baseball buff knows Bob Turley was a 21-game winner a mere three years ago. At this All-Star break he's 3-3 with a 5.00 earned run average. Art Ditmar, who used to slide him before being shipped to Kansas City, won 19 games last season but is 2-4 at the moment with a 4.93 earned run average.

Downes, Pender Clash Tonight

LONDON (UPI) — Terry Downes of England, who learned to fight in the U.S. Marines, will try to do an "about face" tonight and win American Paul Pender's share of the world middleweight crown in their return fight at the Wembley Post arena.

"He chopped my face up and stopped me in our January fight at Boston," said Terry today.

"But I'll do the face-chopping tonight. Don't forget Pender got an eye cut in his April defense against Carmen Basile and that'll be my target."

Despite Downes' apparent confidence, rangy, black-haired Pender, of Brooklyn, Mass., was favored at 1-4 to make a successful fourth defense of his 160-pound laurels and register his 15th straight victory.

Because the scheduled 15-round bout was bound to be another thriller or while it lasted, a capacity 10,000 crowd was expected and promoter Harry Lavens figured on a $20,000 gate.

Thirty-year-old Pender, former Brookline fireman, scored a seventh-round technical knockout over 25-year-old Downes at the Boston Arena last Jan. 14 because of face cuts that included a 12-stitch gash on the nose.

Yanks Prepare For Dual Track Meet With Reds

MOSCOW (UPI) — American athletes began working out today in preparation for this weekend's dual track and field meet with Russia amidst the prospects of a propaganda controversy over the scoring system.

Although both the men's and women's events were to be scored individually, according to agreement, United States officials expressed some doubt whether Soviet newspapers would hold true to the agreement.

Pincus Sober, chairman of the National AAU track and field committee, pointed out that Russian newspapers claimed victories in the two previous meetings on the basis of combined scoring although the Soviets had agreed officially to consider the matches as separate.

The American men defeated the Russians in the two previous meetings, but the burly Soviet women easily dominated the U.S. females, thus giving Russian an overall triumph on total points.

Dan Ferris, honorary secretary of the AAU, who met the main body of the U. S. team which arrived Monday night, said he also feared the Soviet publications would use the combined scoring system for propaganda purposes.

Despite the loss of many of their top stars who couldn't afford to leave their jobs for the meet, the American men were favored to win. Among those missing are Dallas Long, Otis Davis, Harold Connelly, Parry O'Brien, Al Oerter, Al Hall, and Rink Bakka—all former Olympic competitors.

High jumper John Thomas, however, will be among those competing and his renewed match with Valery Brumel is long awaited by Russian fans. Moscow correspondents hovered about Thomas Monday night and asked him how high he would jump. Thomas, who suffered three setbacks to Brumel in the United States this winter, said, "High enough to win. I'm in good shape and I'm going to win."

One-fifth of the world's coffee is imported through the port of San Francisco.

Little League Picnic Held

Parents of the members of the Little League baseball team, sponsored by Perfection Dairies, entertained the boys with a picnic and wiener roast, Sunday afternoon at Mullet Lake Park.

The boys and their families gathered at the park at 3 p. m. enjoyed games during the afternoon and the picnic supper. In addition to the wieners the menu consisted of baked beans, potato chips, watermelon and plenty of milk.

Those attending were coach, Cisco Tarrado and his family and the following boys and their families:

Eagles Trade Robb To Cards

HERSHY, Pa. (UPI) — Joe Robb, a 225-pound defensive end on the Philadelphia Eagles' 1960 National Football League championship team, has been traded to the St. Louis Cardinals for Lee Sugar and John Tracey.

Sugar is a 215-pound defensive end with seven seasons of NFL experience. Tracey is an offensive end who has played two seasons in the NFL.

The Eagles completed the deal Monday on the eve of today's start of pre-season training.

Robb, who formerly played at Texas Christian, is starting his third NFL campaign.

California has more farms and ranches than any other state in the Union, with 14,000.

Mary Esthers Takes Over 1st

Mary Esthers regained the top rung in the 2d Bowdoin League with 23 wins and 29 losses, with Adams Painting and Dawn's Beauty Shop tied for second with 20-22 records.

Ladies House of Beauty made a gain and is in third with a 21-21 mark and Ivy's Shoe Store and Toy Coral are tied for fourth with 20-22 wins and 21-21 losses each.

Spikes picked up in the week's competition included the 2-15 by Lucy Meyer of Mary Esthers' and Fran Machee of Richard's; the 4-4 by Julie Weber of Bill's Tavern; the 2-7 by Fran Stump of Dawn's and the 4-2-7 by Alice Cook of Ladies.

Palmer A 'Cinch' In Qualifying Play

BIRKDALE, England (UPI) — Five Americans, headed by Arnold Palmer and Frank Stranahan, were regarded as cinches to qualify today for the British Open golf championship proper, but nearly all the other Yank entries faced elimination.

The field of approximately 350 golfers from 17 countries was led into today's second and final qualifying round by Bob Charles, a left-hander from New Zealand, and John More, a Scottish pro, each of whom shot a 66 on Monday's first round.

British officials estimated that it would require a 36-hole qualifying score of 149 or 150 to survive for the championship flight which begins Wednesday. The field was to be cut to a maximum of 130 players after today's round.

Palmer, who fell one stroke short of tying for the British Open crown last year, shot a 34-37-71 in a heavy rain Monday while Stranahan had a 35-33-71. These "name" pros were topped in the American contingent, however, by Joe Egar of Miami, Fla., who fired a 37-33-70.

Dick Chapman Sr. of Palm Beach, Fla., with a 37-34-71, and Jack Isaacs of Langley Air Force Base, with 37-35-72, were the other Yanks almost certain to qualify for the championship flight.

Paul Runyan of La Jolla, Calif., the world's Seniors champion, shot a 38-36-74 which left him with a 50-50 chance of qualifying for the tournament proper.

One American, John W. Cotton of Upper Montclair, N. J., withdrew because of an injured shoulder Monday after playing three holes. The seven other Yanks appeared to be out of the running.

Ernie Ball of Oak Park, Ill., and Robert Watson of Chappaqua, N. Y., each shot a 77; Lex

Hank Wins Bout Over Giardello

DETROIT (UPI) — Henry Hank today had assurance his fragile hands, which helped drop him from middleweight contention, were in good condition after testing them on the battered face of Joey Giardello.

Hank won a unanimous 10-round decision over Giardello Monday night in the first boxing show in Detroit's new $18 million Convention Arena, where promoter Max Handler hopes to bring big-time boxing back to the Motor City.

Hander drew a surprising 6,000 persons into the arena. They saw an exciting fight, as Hank, using his overhand right like a hatchet, hurt Giardello in almost every round, opened cuts over and under his right eye, put a mouse under his left eye and bloodied his nose.

Hank, dropped from the rankings because of the injured hands and two losses to Hank Casey, now has a 47-13-2 record, with 24 knockouts. Giardello, eighth ranking middleweight, now has lost to Hank and Terry Downes of England in his last two fights and has a 34-24-4 record.

Local Swimmers Place In 2 AAU Meets

The Seminole Swim Assn. had entrants in two swimming meets Friday and Saturday, the AAU competition at Orlando and another meet at Eustis for swimmers not in the larger contest.

Officials Cry: More Space But, Can We Foot The Bill?

County officials, in an extraordinary three hour session Tuesday afternoon, cited the need for more courthouse space but some were wasive when hit by county commissioner questions on whether the taxpayers would be willing to pay for a new facility.

County Prosecutor Karlyle Housholder: "Don't envy your position but facilities are inadequate. We should have a new courthouse but don't have all the facts on taxes on whether we can afford a new facility. Couldn't say if the people would be willing to pay for new facility but I'll be ready to." County Judge Vernon Mizer: "I will seed double the space in 10 years. Have no vault now—which the law requires." Tax Assessor Mary Earle Walker: "I'm crammed for space but don't know if the taxes will increase as much as the population."

In my opinion I favor a new court house if we can afford it." Circuit Court Clerk Arthur Beckwith: "Need more space. More space needed for state auditor court reporter. Repairs needed now, but can't see dumping hundreds of thousands of dollars to remodel if a new facility will be more feasible in 15 years."

County Engineer Carlton Bliss: "In 10 years will need three times the present space." Zoning Director Robert Brown: "Crowded—no private office." The Commission thanked the officials and said a decision would be reached in the near future.

County Plans HHFA Appeal On Project

The County Commission will go to Atlanta, Ga. the week of July 24 to appeal the Housing and Home Finance Agency's ruling turning down planning funds on a $9 million county wide-water control program.

The board, Tuesday afternoon, agreed to make the trip after Harold Scott of Reynolds, Smith and Hill, Jacksonville engineers, urged the board they have a better chance for appealing by meeting with Federal authorities and "laying their case on the table."

The county had asked for a planning grant of $37,000 with the initial phase in the long range program estimated at $3,820,000.

Scott pointed out Tuesday that the HHFA was not in favor of advancing the money for such a long range program because it felt the county did not have the necessary funds to finance the program.

Scott said that perhaps the county could get planning funds for a five year "modified" program and by the time it can be undertaken the county could get legislation in 1963 to raise the necessary funds.

The Jacksonville firm had been hired to conduct a survey of water control needs. Among the phases in the long range program was Howell Creek, the Little Wekiva and the Neelochatchee River.

'Weather Eye' Cane Satellite Fired By U. S.

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The United States today fired a "weather eye" satellite into orbit around the earth to televise hurricanes from space.

Scientists said the shot went "almost perfectly." The federal space agency said the moonlet's two television cameras were taking pictures on its first orbit around earth, and "we should get some really good pictures on the second orbit, when the illumination of earth by the sun is better."

The radio signals were picked up by tracking stations at Woomera, Australia, San Nicholas Island, Calif., and Wallops Island, Va. There was no indication immediately exactly how well Tiros equipment was performing.

The 285-pound satellite was expected to shed fresh light on the birth, development and movement of tropical storms such as last year's Hurricane Donna—storms which sometimes cost hundreds of lives and billions of dollars in property damage.

Scientists called Tiros III—short for television infra-red observation satellite—"another step in development of a global remote sensing observation system."

The space-age moonlet also will be used in weather forecasting. U. S. meteorological experts stood by at key ground stations to speed the best pictures via facsimile network into Weather Bureau stations in more than a score of cities.

Plaques Ruled Out In County

Bronze plaque makers in the central Florida area were given a setback Tuesday. The County Commission, after debating for more than an hour and by a 3-2 majority, voted to eliminate all plaques from public buildings and structures in Seminole County.

As a result of the ruling, there won't be any plaques on the new county jail as well as none on the rebuilt Lake Howell and Upala bridges.

Two weeks ago, the board agreed to place the 1960 county commission as well as the present board on the plaques outside the new jail.

But, the commission by a 4-1 vote, quickly voted them out. District 3 Commissioner James Avery opposed doing away with the bridge plaques saying that the road department and engineer deserve some sort of recognition.

Four Nabbed In Whisky Raid Here

Local, Federal and State law enforcement officers raided a large scale illegal whisky still operation in East Seminole County Tuesday night and took four men into custody, the Sheriff's Office reported.

Taken into custody and turned over to federal authorities were Marion and Donald Dreggers, Kinest Sanchez and a Negro Osell Vickers. All four will be arraigned in Orlando Federal Court today, according to the sheriff's office.

The still was located on the old Geneva Rd., one mile past Lake Mullet Rd. behind the Dreggers home, Hobby said.

Czech Airliner Crashes; 82 Die

CASABLANCA, Morocco (UPI) — A Czechoslovakian airliner flying into Africa from behind the Iron Curtain crashed and burned while trying to land early today, killing all 82 persons aboard.

One man survived for a few hours but died later in Casablanca hospital. He had been badly burned. His nationality could not be determined immediately.

Five of the victims were reported to be children.

The plane, a four-engine turbo-prop Ilyushin 18, was believed to have hit a high tension wire in fog. It crashed in flames at Boukoura, 10 miles from Casablanca.

The flight carried 73 passengers and a crew of nine. The passengers were said to be Russians, Czechs, East Germans and Moroccans.

The flight, which left Prague and made a stopover in Zurich, Switzerland. It had been headed for Rabat, Morocco, but was diverted to Casablanca because of fog.

When the plane got near Casablanca the tower here also reported fog and waved it on to an airfield at Nouaceur.

The big airliner apparently hit the wires while making its turn for Nouaceur.

The Ilyushin 18 provides the backbone of non-jet service on Communist airlines. Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and other Soviet officials often use them on long journeys.

Reds Hurl New Charges At West

BERLIN (UPI) — East German Communist charged today that Western commercial airlines have flown two full West German army divisions into West Berlin.

A broadcast by the East German radio said the troops had arrived to start "provocations" against east Germany.

The broadcast was made shortly after the arrival of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer who made the trip from Bonn through the West's access air corridors in a U. S. military transport plane.

The Communist charge, which said the German troops had been stationed in West Berlin "disguised as reservists," was seen as a possible indication of a new threat to the Allied air routes into the city.

A West Berlin city government spokesman dismissed the charge as "complete nonsense." There was no immediate reaction from Allied quarters.

$14,000 DuPont Car Damaged In Mishap

A $14,000 continental car owned by Mrs. A. V. DuPont, wife of the wealthy industrialist from Ft. Lauderdale, was involved in a two car collision on SR 66 early Tuesday afternoon, the Florida Highway Patrol reported.

Two persons were injured in the mishap and the driver of the DuPont car, William Rogers of Ft. Lauderdale, was charged with failure to yield the right of way and having no valid driver's license, Trooper Bill Stringfield said.

Stringfield said that Rogers attempted to make a left turn on SR 66 into Dunn's Liqueur Store when his car was hit by a vehicle operated by Mrs. Ruth Stubbings of Eau Gallie. Mrs. Stubbings and her son, Christopher, were injured and treated at Seminole Memorial Hospital for lacerations and bruises.

Damage to the DuPont car was estimated at $1,500 and $800 to the other car.
