Circuit Court Won't Rule On Law Legality

Motion To Quash Indictment Against E. E. Brady Denied; Trial Date Is Set

Hardy Dismissed On Boyle Motion

Later Investigation Was Conducted By State's Attorney

For the second time in three days Judge M. B. Keith of the Ninth Judicial Circuit today declined to rule on the constitutionality of a law passed by the 1935 State Legislature after the hour set for adjournment. A motion to quash indictments returned against E. E. Brady, member of the State Legislature from Seminole County, because of alleged unconstitutionality of the law which created the office of assistant state attorney was denied. The court also denied another motion asking for a bill of particulars in the Brady case.

Following the denial of the two motions by E. F. Haushalter, Mr. Brady's attorney, and the court's ruling sustaining the new indictments returned yesterday charging the legislator with embezzlement, the defendant was arraigned and his trial set for Dec. 18 at 9:30 A. M. Mr. Brady through his attorney pleaded not guilty in both indictments.

Attorney Haushalter first presented his motion to quash an indictment because of alleged unconstitutionality of the law. He stated that he was not worried about that feature of the lawyer's motion. However, the same motion contained the other complaint that the Brady indictment was improperly signed, and this was sustained.

New indictments were returned by the Grand Jury yesterday, and Mr. Haushalter granted his motion this morning. He argued that because the legislative act was passed after the legislator had stopped the clock of the office of assistant state attorney, it is non-existent and that the assistant state attorney "assumed" his office. The motion was promptly denied.

The defendant's attorney then presented a motion asking for a bill of particulars, claiming that the indictments "fall to set forth sufficient facts," but this motion was also denied. The court, in advising the attorney that in his opinion the indictments contain all necessary information as to dates, agency, etc.

Mr. Brady is accused in one indictment of converting to his own use and in another indictment of fraudulently disposing of a pair of mules said to be the property of one H. R. Grogan.

After the arraignment of Mr. Brady, Assistant State Attorney L. F. Boyle advised the court that after the Grand Jury had adjourned he had conducted a thorough investigation into the Rubin H. Hardy case, stated he had conversed with parties whose testimony is unimpeachable, and moved that the three indictments against Mr. Hardy be nolle prossed. The motion was granted, and Mr. Hardy, who was in the court room when discharged.

The court room was discharged. Mr. Hardy of reason, charging him with having set fire to houses owned by A. E. M. Bell, Mrs. M. A. Warren and D. R. Knott.

Court recessed until Dec. 14 at 9:30 A. M.

Celery Producers In Oviedo Section Signing New Pact

Agreement Approved By 75 Percent Of District Tonnage

Celery producers of approximately 75 percent of the celery tonnage in the Oviedo district have signed the new celery marketing agreement it was reported today by Charles H. Pickett, secretary of the celery control committee. It had no comment to make on the signing of the new pact as it had no right to check on the agreement having been out of the city. It is not clear if the celery from Oviedo today, but will be back in Sanford next week.

According to Mr. Pickett, rapid progress is being made in procuring additional signatures in the Oviedo section and he predicts that at least 75 percent of the growers there will ratify the new pact.

Sixty-six percent of the growers out of celery must sign the new agreement before it goes out of force, Mr. Pickett said. The new pact has been tentatively approved by the Secretary of Agriculture in Washington, but his approval which will be necessary to put the agreement into effect will not be given until it has been approved by the producers.

Tampa Loggings So Well Planned Probe Is Delayed

TAMPA, Dec. 13 (AP)—The state and logging probe against the logging industry in Seminole County today was delayed because a county grand jury said the probe was so well planned that considerable time may be required to complete an investigation.

"We do not want to go off half-cocked," said Factor. "This well-planned logging done quickly and secretly at night is bringing any number of difficulties."

Canning Force At Eckerson's To Be Doubled

Plant To Can Hearts Of Grapefruit In Sanford Factory Beginning Monday

More than doubling the force at the big factory at Thirteenth Street and Elm Avenue, the Eckerson Fruit Cannery, Inc., of Sanford will have their factory going full blast next Monday. It is operating now, canning grapefruit juice, but the canning of grapefruit hearts is to begin Monday. The plant will be in operation all winter, officers of the company announce.

Notice was given yesterday that Eckerson's will require many more women workers at the cannery, applicants to apply at the plant this morning and Saturday morning, preference to be given former employees. About 100 persons are now employed at the plant, but an additional 100 will be put on Monday.

In discussing the fruit situation today, E. F. Eckerson of the Eckerson Fruit Cannery, Inc., said he is impressed that the growers, for their own interest, should take stock and endeavor to dispose of their citrus products in a manner which would show them the greatest return.

Mr. Eckerson brought out the fact that the cannery during recent years have paid prices for fruit far in excess on the average, of what was realized by growers, disposing of their fruit through other medium. He said that growers of the state paid less work on the average of better than 50 percent more than the growers of the state on first grades received by fresh shipments and showing like 65 percent more than they received for second grades, other grades, in proportion.

Mr. Eckerson predicted that it will be long before the growers will realize a fair price for the fruit in a competitive field which is now being done by the shipping of fruit grades and also the handling of truck pick-up movements. He predicted that the present grading procedure at the cannery will be discontinued and that growers will receive a fair price for their fruit.

The Christmas cheer committee of the city will report at the annual meeting of the judges of the success of its campaign for a clothing store, to be distributed to children of the point on Christmas. E. J. Chairman, C. E. Adams of a committee said that donations continue to come in.

Advertisements in today's Herald show a slight drop in the price of oranges to spare the Warren Estate control act and the new federal tax imposed in cases where the grade was not awarded a stamp. Today's price for oranges is $1.75 per 100 pounds for 10 pounds.

Selassie Pleads As British Parliament Opposes Peace Plan

Rebellion Threat In House Of Commons Against Plan Made To End Hostilities

Chamberlin Leads Cabinet's Revolt

King Wants Peace In Fear That War May Spread To Europe

LONDON, Dec. 13 (AP)—A rebellion against the proposal for peace was threatened in the House of Commons today as opposition grew in Geneva that the plan would be turned down. By letter and telegram the British constituents protested to their representatives in Parliament against any war settlement suggestion which would give Italy a part of Ethiopia.

Mutiny in the British cabinet has been brewing, informed sources said, under the leadership of Neville Chamberlain, chairman of the exchequer. Unofficial reports that King George intervened to force through to completion the Anglo-American peace formula was denied in diplomatic circles.

The monarch it was said was deeply concerned over the possibility that the war in Africa might spread to Europe unless a quick peace were insured.

Despite bitter opposition in the House of Commons on the ground that Italy was being allowed to dictate its own terms, the cabinet went ahead with the peace program.

Bible Verse for Today: LOVE AS BROTHERS: Finally, be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another, love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous. 1 Peter 3:8.

Cuba is having some more political trouble. What they need down there is a Townsend Plan.

A reactionary is a person who believes in the laws of action and reaction.

If such prices go much higher it won't be long before the suckers will be left again.

Wasn't it Horace Greeley who used to say: "Go West, young man, and now they say, "Go east, young man!"

And what are they going to do with the China Chipper after the stamp collectors have been taken care of?

As we get it, the Ethiopians have been left entirely in the dark, not only by nature, but by their European friends.

The only question which the great powers are trying to decide is whether it would be better to fight the war now than wait a couple of years.

We see where the American Farm Bureau Federation advocates a "managed currency." What do they think we've got now, a mismanaged currency?

The Supreme Court holds that the slot machine is not a lottery. And probably it's not gambling either. Since there's no element of chance involved, it couldn't be.

Now they are going to use coercion for the purpose of making highways. That will make it easier on the pedestrians when they get run over.

Professor Owen of Massachusetts Tech, and father of George Owen, famous Harvard footballer, says all football players should be paid a decent salary. That would probably be better than paying them and pretending you don't.

With Dr. Karl Lehmann at the helm of the Lake county chamber of commerce our county should be considered as taking a fresh start upward in prestige, wealth and population.—Leesburg Commercial, Semisole's loss; Lake's gain.

According to Paul Mallon, when Major Berry, who is trying to revive the NRA, stated at the industrial conference in Washington the other day that the "only fly in the business statement today is 11,000,000 unemployed," someone is supposed to have whispered, "That's SOME fly," to which someone else replied, "That is practically 11,000,000 flies."

The outstanding American woman as announced early this week was Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. Dr. Francis Ross Sabbe, Mrs. Owen Rank, Mrs. Ruth Evers Owen, Mrs. Frances Perkins, Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh, Judge Florence E. Allen, Miss Amelia Earhart, Mrs. Anne O'Hare McCannish, and Mrs. Mary Anderson.

The president of the American Association of State Highway Officials commends the newspapers of the country for the fight they are making against careless driving and urges them to contribute to the fight by publishing responsible headlines. It used to be the habit of newspapermen to say in bold and heavy type that most of them have now come to the conclusion that the public ought to be educated in a real way out of the horrors of highway accidents.

"Fundamental Accord"

One night last week three alleged communists were seized on the streets of Tampa immediately after a police investigation into their revolutionary activities. Taken to the woods by a gang of ruffians, the three men were severely beaten, and one of their number, a man named Joseph Shoemaker, was so badly injured that on Monday night he died.

Following his death, an inspection of his personal effects, disclosed a letter which President Roosevelt had written him several years ago, thanking him for his political views and indicating substantial agreement between the two. Shoemaker had written the President outlining phases of his so-called "plan" calling for "production for use instead of profit."

"I read the enclosed material with deep interest and attention. In fact, I have kept it in a file of information which I have collected to shed light on the present economic conditions, and that is why you have not received an earlier acknowledgment of your courtesy in sending it to me. You have probably seen through newspaper reports that you and I are in fundamental accord on the principles upon which you touch."

In order to understand the special significance of President Roosevelt's letter, it is necessary to understand just what is meant by the phrases "production for use," and "production for profit." If we do not understand that "production for profit" is the heart and soul of the capitalistic system, we may fail to see the danger in President Roosevelt's "fundamental accord" with the theory of "production for use."

If a person believes that this country should adopt a policy of "production for use," he necessarily believes that the profit motive should be abandoned and the capitalistic system abolished. Furthermore, he must also necessarily believe that the system to be substituted for our capitalistic system be the communistic system, since that is the only political system there is which is based upon "production for use."

Now we do not believe that President Roosevelt believes in communism, and we do not think he believes in the abolishment of the profit motive or in the theory of "production for use." Certainly the major policies of the New Deal, as exemplified by the AAA and the NRA, which held rather to fascism than to communism, do not indicate a belief in the "production for use" theory. In both of these policies we see production actually curtailed by government acts for the express purpose of creating a profit.

And yet President Roosevelt wrote Joseph Shoemaker that he was in "fundamental accord" with his "plan" of having industry and agriculture produce manufactured articles and food crops for use only, not for profit. In other words farmers should plant all the acres available, harvest all the crops possible, produce the very maximum on their fields, regardless of the demand, regardless of the market, regardless of whether they make any profit or not.

This is not a fault confined particularly to President Roosevelt. Most of our political leaders have the habit of agreeing with anyone with whom they happen to be talking or writing. Even though the "plan" may be hopelessly impossible, even though it would mean the abandonment of our traditional form of government, the complete wreckage of our country, our political leaders, particularly if there is an election in the offing, are pretty likely to agree that it would be a fine thing.

We wonder if it would not have been better for Mr. Shoemaker, and the interests which he is supposed to have represented, if President Roosevelt had written him candidly that most people in this country really prefer a profit on the things they sell or (a wage) on the work they do, that the idea of producing a maximum, not for yourself, but for the people as a whole, is utterly alien to the basic policies of this country, and that communists at present is confined largely to Russia where it has not met with notable success?

Perhaps if Mr. Roosevelt had written such a letter, Mr. Shoemaker might have reconciled himself to the capitalistic system.

Hell A-Popping!

Being the wife of a famous war correspondent is not all it is cracked up to be, if one is permitted to read between the lines of Fay Gillis Wells' recent dispatch to the New York Herald Tribune from the bomb-scarred battlefields of Dessay, Ethiopia. She is there, in that trouble zone, as the wife of Linton Wells, who is covering the Italian adventure in Africa for American newspaper readers, and occasionally she taps off a dispatch herself when she sees something her husband is too busy to notice.

It was probably for this reason, while her husband was feverishly engaged in trying to explain their presence to a group of ignorant Ethiopian officials, that Mrs. Wells happened to be the first to notice the approach of five Italian bombers in search of the Lion of Judah who just at that moment was making his temporary headquarters in Dessay.

"Peculiarly," Mrs. Wells writes, "I seem to have been the first who noticed—at least that honor was accorded me by the officials, because I suddenly said in the middle of the argument:

"Well, look who's here—Italian planes!"

"Whereupon pandemonium reigned.

"The American Seventh Day Adventist Hospital compound was near by and our car and guns were parked half way there. My husband said: 'Run for it, darling.'

"While the natives began firing incessantly and the planes began dropping bombs, I ran, while Linton headed for the car to get the guns. He changed his direction and ran after me when a bullet tore through the left shoulder of his coat. He joined me later in the doorway of the hospital while bullets fired at random rattled against the walls.

"The next fifteen minutes we devoted to pacifying the frantic patients and women attendants, stepping out momentarily to look up at the Italian planes, lying eyes all around us, while the terrified citizens fled indiscriminately.

"The planes disappeared over the hills to the north, and we breathed sighs of relief. 'Well, that's over for today.'

"Then, ten minutes later, the planes returned and again began dropping destruction all over the place."

"That's what they call it over there in the war zone. 'An airplane lays an egg.' That means it drops a bomb from under the cockpit and blows a hole in the earth or a hospital, or whatever happens to be hit as big as Mammoth Cave.

JUST BETWEEN FRIENDS

By GEORGE GARNER

Partly through missionary work among seasonal guests, one convinces also himself that summer in Central Florida is even more delightful than winter. Tales of 108 degrees at Columbus, Ohio, and 102 at Buffalo, N. Y., and 100 plus at numerous other Northern cities remind the Central Florida resident that the century mark seldom if ever is reached in this area by the thermometrical mercury. On the other hand, one ponderers that never in his long life did he make a fire, till he came to Florida to enjoy anticipated summery winters. Indeed, even yet he can't always tell the difference between pine wood and oak, and he longs for the arrival of summer, wherein he finds no trouble in keeping cool. More and more, he finds, winter visitors are learning the truth about Central Florida summers, and no small percentage of the number of new, permanent residents is attracted by the winter, just as much as by the winter.

But, there are so many things to stir the blood in these days that one is apt to become overheated even in a Central Florida winter. As when a lady at the Orlando High School P. T. A. meeting, last night, discussed politics and the schools and urged that members of the Legislature and other jobholders be held to their election campaign pledges, to provide adequate funds for proper education of the children. Almost, one forgot the subject on which he was slated to speak, and was moved to devote himself to development of the lady's theme. Only by exercise of tremendous self-control did he refrain from profanity, in referring to the situation and to the politicians. In brief, he suggested to the ladies most drastic action to discipline the politicians. For one thing, he suggested a determined boycott—boycott them men in their business and their homes and their social life, he urged; ostracize them and their families; treat them as the untouchables that they really are—and, do not release the pressure in the slightest until they actually make good their school support promises. An impractical suggestion? Not a bit of it! I have advocated tar and feathers instead of adulation for national "statesmen." The state school children who betray the children of Florida and their mothers and fathers will may be subjected to corresponding treatment of another kind. Denunciation and demands by parents and children and teachers make no impression whatever on the political hide. The politicians must be branded "Unclean," and be regarded as unfit for decent association until they turn to honesty and decency. It is unthinkable that national and state jobholders and other politicians should sit secure in enjoyment of their regular salaries or emoluments, while the state teachers are forced to accept less and less pay and the children to be deprived of much school time. In Orange county are three officials drawing $7500 a year apiece. "I would be willing to take all three jobs at a total of $300 a month," I am told by a keen, experienced business man and former banker, at present filling a position of high responsibility, trust and adequate salary. Yet, such $7500 jobholders in the state strut around with heads held high and receive the homage of the plain citizens who pay them. They are taking bread and butter out of the mouths of hundreds of worthy teachers. They are depriving thousands of children of educational facilities. They are compelling fathers and mothers and others to contribute money for luncheons for underprivileged children. Yet, they are honored and esteemed by their victims. Men who are willing to do such things are not so much to blame for doing them as the people are for permitting such men to get away with it. Parents and teachers and children should stop complaining and should take drastic action. But, they won't. They'll do just as the lady did at this Orlando P. T. A. meeting—get the grouse off her chest and feel relieved for a time, till her feelings overflow again.

Another terrific blow for the national Republican party is threatened in the prospective retirement of Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska to private life. If you don't believe Norris is a Republican, look at the label on his chest. Indeed, Norris is just exactly the same type of Republican that Franklin D. Roosevelt is a Democrat. Norris, for the Republican, campaigns for Roosevelt and is in every way, his subversive tool. Roosevelt does not hesitate to support any Republican who will help to pull his chestnuts out of the fire. Such men are in a way just as dishonest as a clerk who taps a till. Grover Cleveland once said that Woodrow Wilson was "intellectually the most dishonest man" he ever knew. Good old Democratic Grover might have been interested in some present-day spectacles. In close personal observation of Norris, for years, I never could find one attractive trait in the man; to me, he was repulsive. Fletcher, I regarded, as did others, as a harmless old mediocre Senator; but, in a way, he's a likeable chap—which Norris conspicuously is not. It will be a happy day for the nation, when both the Republican, and Democratic parties get rid of their counterfeit, politically dishonest members.

Markham Now Sings Of Man Without Hoe

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Edwin Markham, eighty-four years old, whose poem, "The Man With the Hoe," stirred the world thirty-six years ago, said today that "the man without hoe" is in worse plight than he peasant his poem described as "A thing that grieves not a that never hopes, Stolid and stunned, a brother the ox." Visiting a ramshackle squatters' camp near the stockyard he pointed to the huts and the to the fat cattle awaiting slaughter, and cried: "Look at the difference. Man no longer brother of the ox. . . . He has become the brother of the beat dog."

Precedent Is Set By Indian Mothers

SANTA FE, N. M., Dec. 13. — A precedent for American Indian mothers has been set by three women of the Tewa tribe, who came to take "tea and counsel" with Girl Scout leaders in this city. ## Girl Scouts Discuss Next Year's Work

Plans for next year's work were discussed at the meeting of the Seminole County Girl Scout Council held Monday evening at the Sanford Girl Scout Little House on Commercial Street. The Council is organized to aid and advise the Troops already in the county, to help in the organization of other troops and to bring about better co-operation between the public and the Girl Scouts.

Foremost among plans for next year is the forming of another Scout Troop in Sanford and the first Brownie Pack of Sanford. Quarterly review of progress of Troops in the county will be turned in this month.

It was announced that the annual meeting will take place in January for which special invitations will be issued. The entertainment for the affair will be participated in by both guests and Council members and a broadcast is being planned.

Members were informed that Miss Severance and Miss Allen, operators of the Marionette Show, are recovering rapidly from recent injuries in an automobile accident, and will give the show, "The Point of Youth," here in February. The show is of particular interest to Sanford because the background of the plot is laid in Florida.

Among other events planned is the Lake Mary Troop's silver tea in March, and the first County Court of Awards also scheduled for March.

Mrs. J. P. Hall, Mrs. Gordon Flynn, and Miss Flora McPhaul as hostesses.

Big Rodeo Gets Under Way; Another Show At 8 Tonight With Thrilling Event At 9

Sanford's first wild west rodeo, featuring steer riding and bull-dogging, got under way this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and the contestants received some valuable limbering-up exercises for the evening's performance which begins at 8:00 o'clock.

Wild Florida steers from Crescent City are being used and the management has received entries from all over Florida in the various events, which are being staged under the auspices of the Sanford Fire Department and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Fire Chief Mack Cleveland, who was busy today attending to last-minute details of the rodeo, is among the surprise entries and will attempt to bull-doze a ham sandwich in front of the grand stand at exactly 9:00 o'clock Eastern Standard Time.

Boyd Palmer otherwise known as the Arizona Kid, will ride one of the late model Plymouth coaches in the hurdle event. He will strive to jump over two Ford's and one Chevrolet in a six-minute leap.

Jaunty Joe Marionette, will be seen astride Five Star Final, a horse that is famed from Hollywood to Broadway as the "real" thing. Joe will be remembered as the well-known writer of "Jaunty Joe, the Horse King."

Outstanding among the cow-punchers will be Sir Arthur Brannigan, an time banker, who will ride his notorious bucking horse "Insufficient Funds." Brannigan stated today that he had as good as his sleeve in the form of a horse named "Stop Payment," which he guarantees will throw anyone who attempts to get aboard.

Among other prominent bronco-busters entered in the events are Henry "High Tension" Coleman, on Voltage; "Gentleman Jim" Slingley on Bum Check, and last but not least Marion Lamar (Red) on his entry, who expects to "clean up" in many events.

There'll be more rodeo thrills tomorrow, the Saturday afternoon program to begin at 2:30 o'clock.

Sanford Legion Post Will Send Report To District Conference

Reports of the remarkable increase in membership of Campbell-Lanning Post of the American Legion will be sent to the second quarterly conference of the Fourth district in Fernandina tomorrow and Sunday, but the local outfit will not have a representative at the meeting, Commander L. F. Boyle said today. The Sanford post of the Legion has chalked up a 200 per cent membership increase this year, leading all the posts in the state, and Commander Boyle said he wished a delegation from this city could attend the conference and "speak" about it, but Fernandina is too far away.

Commander Boyle, judge advocate of the Department of Florida, is to be the main speaker at the district conference.

Boy Boxers Will Present Program In Oviedo Dec. 19

A cepting an invitation extended by unanimous vote of the Men's Club of Oviedo, the Seminole Boys' Athletic Club will go to Oviedo on Thursday evening of next week and put on a benefit show for the children of that community, Judge R. A. B. Wilkinson, Club sponsor, announced today. Receipts from the show will go into the fund being raised by the Men's Club to provide Christmas cheer for underprivileged children and therefore admission charges of 25 and 10 cents will be made.

F. W. Talbot, president of the Men's Club, told Judge Wilkinson over the phone this morning that he expects fully 300 persons will see the lads put on their exhibition.

Judge Wilkinson has not as yet outlined the program, but said

Noted Quint Star To Play At Gainesville

GAINESVILLE, Dec. 13. — A capacity crowd is expected Saturday night in the University of Florida gymnasium for the basketball clinic which brings to Gainesville, and for his one and only appearance in the state, the famed Chuck Taylor, one of the greatest basketball players this country has ever known.

In order to give the finest practical and scientific demonstration of basketball fundamentals, the University of Florida, through Ben Clemons, basketball coach, shown in panel B, will be built at the opposite end of the campus adjacent to Mayflower and Pugsley Halls for women.

Quarter Million To Be Spent At Rollins

Construction of the five new student residences to be built at Rollins College with a PWA loan of $275,000 will begin next Monday. The dormitories will be built under contract at a cost of $231,950, the lowest bid among three submitted. It is expected that they will be ready for occupancy with the opening of the fall term in 1936.

The buildings represented by the architect's sketch in panel A are the men's group and will be placed adjacent to Rollins Hall for men. The women's group, shown in panel B, will be built at the opposite end of the campus adjacent to Mayflower and Pugsley Halls for women.

More Money To Be Given Florida Canal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13. — Senator Fletcher of Florida and after a call at the White House yesterday President Roosevelt promised "to give us all he can scratch" for the Florida ship canal.

The senator talked with the President about the future financing of the $145,000,000 project, from which $5,000,000 already has been provided.

Mr. Roosevelt will talk the matter over with Harry L. Hopkins, Works Progress Administration, Fletcher said. He indicated there would be an early decision.

Farley Will Ask For A Mail Line Flying Atlantic

New Services Hinges Only Upon Landing Treaties Abroad

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—(AP)—The inauguration of a trans-Atlantic air-mail service was reported by officials to await only the negotiation of reciprocal agreements permitting American planes to land on foreign soil. Heibler that long remaining obstacle, however, lies a tangle of international competition, involving at least four countries, each trying to drive as advantageous a bargain as possible.

A formal statement issued last night at the close of a week of conferences between American, British, Irish and Canadian government representatives, said "understanding" reached on a reciprocal basis had raised the "hope" for the 1937 objective.

"It is expected that experimental flights will be begun early in summer of 1937," said R. Walton Moore, assistant secretary of state and chairman of the conference, "and it is hoped that scheduled services will begin by the summer of 1937."

Postmaster General James A. Farley, announced recently that he would seek an appropriation to effect an air-mail service to Europe with experimental flights next summer and scheduled flights within a year thereafter.

At the same time a delegation of British, Irish and Canadian postal and aeronautical officials arrived in Washington for conferences tomorrow with the Inter-Departmental Committee on Civil International Aviation. This group consists of half a dozen federal officials who are charged with co-ordinating matters pertaining to flights between this and other countries.

Assenting American air mail contracts will be awarded only to American companies using American equipment and American crews. Mr. Farley hinted nevertheless at possibility of agreements for joint operation of routes with foreign lines. "Because foreign landing fields will be necessary," he said, "any arrangement made probably will be for joint operation by two companies—one American and one foreign."

Harlee Branch, Second Assistant Postmaster General in charge of air mail, said that the southern route, via Bermuda and the Azores, was preferred to the northern route, by Newfoundland and northern Ireland, because of wintertime difficulties. It was recalled, however, that Great Britain has closed Bermuda to trans-Atlantic flights by other than British planes. Whether some means of breaking that deadlock would be proposed at tomorrow's meeting none would say.

"It's all a matter of reciprocity," one official said. "If the British are going to fly here by way of Bermuda they'll have to let us use Bermuda, too. They won't be able to land in the United States without permission."

How's Your Health

PLASTER OF PARIS

When a bone is broken it is the aim of the physician who treats it to reunite it, so that the bone when knitted by nature will be of the same length, shape and structure as it was before it broke. To accomplish this, it is essential that the limb be immobilized or fixed.

However, immobilization, particularly of the arm or leg, tends to cause shrinkage of muscle, the lowering of blood circulation through the fixed limb, and consequent interference with good nutrition. This threatens injury to the joints, nerves and the other tissues.

Physicians have therefore long struggled to achieve both the anatomically desirable end result of a well reconstructed bone, and the physiologically desirable end result of a healthy limb free of injury. But it hasn't always been possible to attain this combination.

Splints have been used since most ancient times to appose and keep in position the ends of broken bones. The nature of these splints has changed from time to time, depending upon ingenuity of surgeons and materials available.

Recently there has been developed a new and very effective type of splint made of plaster of Paris bandages. It is of interest to note that plaster of Paris was known more than four thousand years before Christ, and indeed had been used by the surgeons of antiquity. But it is only recently that plaster of Paris bandages have been employed effectively as splints.

The plaster of Paris bandage or roller is of marked value because it can be applied to the tissues over the broken bone in a plastic state. As the plaster hardens, the splint forms a perfect mold, supporting the limb along its full length without excessive pressure at any point.

The rigidity and lightness of plaster of Paris splints make it possible for the patient to move about without risk, and such motion stimulates circulation through the affected limb as a whole.

NOSE HYGIENE

How should one blow one's nose—now that wintry days make the exercise a frequent necessity?

Well, there are two schools of thought on the subject. The urgent that both nostrils be blown at once. The other condemns this as sheer foolish timidity, and favors clearing first one and then the other, meanwhile blocking the opposite.

The argument centers about the danger of blowing the infected contents of the throat, more particularly of the throat behind the nose, into the inner ear opening.

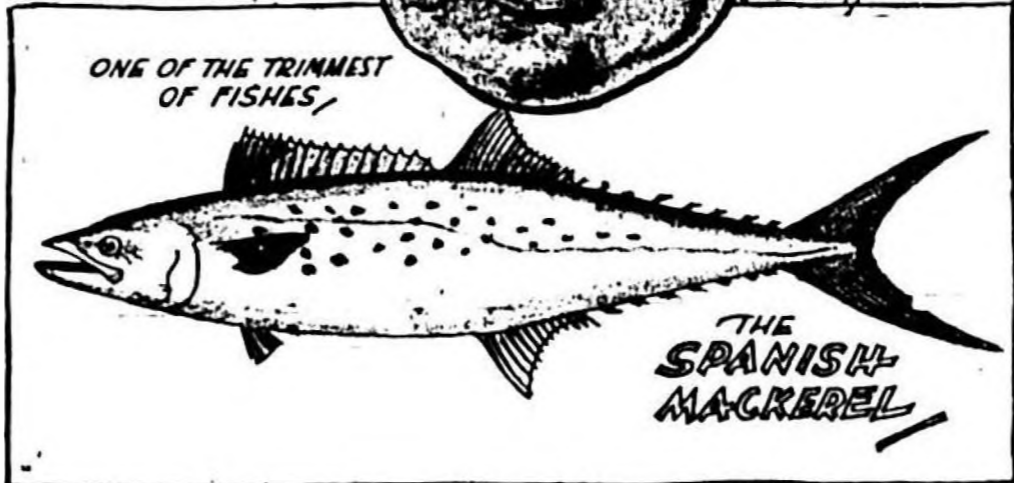

The logic for the "both nostrils at once" method is that thereby the back pressure is reduced. But to this argument comes the reply that "if one nostril is not closed, the effort is required to free the secretions, because there is the loss of an pressure through two nostrils that there is through one."

The issue depends more on other matters than on the number of nostrils blown simultaneously. The head should be held forward while the nose is blown. The position makes it impossible to draw fluid into the ear.

Again, if the nose contains fluid this should be drained off before forcibly blowing it. Sniffing is not advised. When infectious material is present, the forcible sucking in of air may cause some of the material to enter the deflated middle ear.

Nose hygiene does not call for sprays or douches. The upper respiratory tract (as the rest of the breathing tract, too) is equipped with a self-cleansing mechanism. This consists of the cilia or small whip-like projections of the cells of the lining membrane, which by their motion

FLORIDA HIGHLIGHTS

Hiszra and oriental in effect, the TURBAN is one of the most picturesque features of the dress of the Florida Seminoles. Once worn almost constantly, it is now seldom used, except during important occasions or celebrations. It is usually made by wrapping shawls or handkerchiefs many times around the head and securing them in shape by a band, sometimes made of beaten silver. The whole creates a brilliant combination and never fails to attract unusual attention.

The SPANISH MACKEREL is a game and food fish of the highest degree. It feeds and fights on the surface where it eagerly takes artificial bait. Battalions of them move along the outer shores during winter, but in March and April, schools of them enter the inlets and passes, where they afford fine sport. It is usually caught along both the East and West coasts of Florida by trolling. Fishing for them is done mostly on the float tide, but often very successful on the hot of the tide. A six pound Mackerel produces about 1,500,000 eggs!

Vanderbilts Left On Uninhabited Island

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 13.—Their captives as while marooned for two days and nights on uninhabited Lady Macgregor Island in the coast belt off the Queensland coast, the Vanderbilts were rescued by the U. S. S. George Vancouver, who arrived on a six-month cruise around the world following their marriage in September at West Orange, N. J.

The rescue by the U. S. S. George Vancouver to get supplies and a hard boat presented its own problems for the day. The Vanderbilts had a rough but safe landing on the island. Mr. Vanderbilt, the former U. S. Vice Consul at London, and the young Mrs. Vanderbilt, who had been married in September at West Orange, N. J., were rescued by the U. S. S. George Vancouver.

By the inconvenience they caused the experience. The U. S. S. George Vancouver was the first U. S. ship to visit the island. It was the first U. S. ship to visit the island. It was the first U. S. ship to visit the island.

Some Merit Seen In Fess Warning On G.O.P. Policy

Candidates Are Mere Incidents, Party's Ohio Leader Says

By HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(AP)—While his advice may not be taken, Republican politicians realize the warning of former Senator Fess of Ohio that if the G. O. P. is to compromise with the "New Deal" the party might as well endorse Roosevelt for re-election and let it go at that, has some merit.

There is a real difference of opinion among Republicans on the question of how far they should go in their assaults on the "New Deal" in the coming campaign.

Many feel as Fess does—that there should be no pulling of punches in '36. Others are of the belief that it will be a mistake to stamp down too severely on aggressives such as the AAA with its benefit checks to the farmers.

"Another of Fess' observations, coming as it does from a member of the Republican old guard in a physical state like Ohio, attracted the attention of politicians here. "Candidates are mere incidents of importance," he said, "only measured by the philosophy advanced. . . . To talk about the Republicans considered as candidates men who voted for the AAA or NRA, or the other socialistic nostrums, including the financial masquerading, inflation, the silver debase and the wild spending, raises the question, 'Why don't the Republicans endorse Roosevelt and be done with principles of government?'"

Were this advice adhered to, the names of several men in the Senate prominently mentioned as candidates for the Republican nomination automatically would be eliminated from the picture by Fess' strictures.

Where would Senator Borah, for example, find himself if Fess' advice were to be followed? Much of that which the former Ohio senator condemns found support in Borah.

What about Senator Vandenberg of Michigan? Much of the "New Deal" legislation was supported by him.

It has been rumored for some time that Ohio Republicans plan to put up a favorite son in the state preferential presidential primary next spring. The move is said to have the support of the former postmaster general and political lieutenant of Hoover—Walter Brown, Republican national committeeman from Ohio.

The strategy is to make it impossible for an outsider unacceptable to them to come in and grab off an instructed Ohio delegation to the Republican national convention.

Kingsford Smith Once Disappeared Among Cannibals

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The heavy silence which closed around Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, after he was reported seen over the stormy, shark-infested Bay of Bengal, is not new to followers of the Australian ace.

Six years ago he was lost and reported dead. Pursuing one of his thrilling Britain-to-Australia dashes, the flier, with Charles Ulm and two companions, was forced down by heavy storms in one of the wildest and most inaccessible regions along the Australian coast.

There for 12 days the party could do nothing but follow by radio the progress of the search being made for them. They were unable to assist because their sending apparatus was dead. A macabre incident of the experience was learning, by radio, that they were in a cannibal country.

As the searching parties abandoned hope the ace and his companions—like Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn (who sneaked home to hear their own funeral service)—sat in the jungle and heard their own deaths announced to an appalled world. But finally one of the many searching planes sighted them and carried them back to civilization.

It was his war experience on the Gallipoli and western fronts which gave the hero his insatiable appetite for adventure. After the armistice, he left the royal air force and immediately launched into a career that carried through 17 years of record breaking adventure.

He was the first man to fly the Tasman sea he circled the globe, made innumerable dashes from Britain to Australia, nearly lost his life in an attempt to fly from Ireland to New York, was knighted by King George and given the title of air-commodore.

The tall, homely, grinning Australian was born 58 years ago. His famous ship, the Southern Cross, in which he accomplished the first of his major feats, now takes its place in the popular imagination with Lindbergh's famous Spirit of St. Louis.

It was in the battered Southern Cross that Smith, with Ulm an old war buddy, successfully performed the then unheard of feat of flying from California to Australia, a distance of 7,300 miles, in three hops. The first carried to Honolulu, the second and longest to the Fiji islands, and the third on to Brisbane, Australia.

Smith's globe-circling feat was no speed dash, but a two-year project into which went 80,000 miles of flying. He blazed new air trails across mountain, desert and sea, establishing many records.

Asked once what records he would rather break, Smith grinned and replied: "Why, my own, of course!"

The killdeer, commonest American plover, often surrounds its nest with small pebbles and fragments of shells.

Capital Activity Hints At Opening Of Next Congress

Keep Eye On 9 Men In Advice Given By Correspondent

By HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—The opening day for Congress will be a matter of weeks away, but Capitol Hill is bustling with activity.

On both sides of "the Hill" there's evidence of it.

Senator Harrison, of Mississippi is in town preparing for hearings on NRA before his finance committee. Senator McNary of Oregon, Republican floor leader, is here—something unusual for him.

Vice President Garner, Speaker Byrnes and Senator Robinson, Democratic leader of the Senate, are back in the capital from their trip to the Philippine inauguration. And Senator Borah has been in town for weeks.

With the Congress coming on and a campaign, too, keep an eye on:

1. Vice President Garner. "Cactus Jack" is credited with having executed the major part of the Administration's strategy with Congress heretofore. He is slated for the same job in the coming session.

2. Speaker Byrnes. Tall, lanky "Uncle Joe" may have trouble in the coming session. The huge Democratic majority—some probably sitting for the last time as members of the House—may not be as amenable as in days past.

3. Majority Leader Bankhead. "Bill" Bankhead didn't have opportunity in the last session of the House to demonstrate what he can do as his party's leader. Illness kept him from the floor from the day of his selection.

4. John J. O'Connor. As chairman of the rules committee of the House and one of the trimvirates which rules that branch of Congress, O'Connor will have the final say on all matters of procedure.

5. Bertrand Snell, Republican leader of the House, the portly New Yorker will direct the offense for his party against the Administration in that body.

Ethiopian Rains May Give Trouble To Italian Army

Wet Season Expected To Begin Soon In Northern Section

ASMAR, Ethiopia, Dec. 13. — (AP)—What will happen to Italy's big army in Ethiopia when the rainy season comes and sky torrents turn roads into quagmires where men sink to the hip and animals flounder and die?

This is a question preoccupying foreign journalists here who have had military experience. Those reports range from an English general to a French lieutenant.

Some 110,000 men now are lined up on Italy's northern front. They are constantly arriving. They are 50 miles beyond the old border.

In January comes the season of the "little rains," the unimportant one lasting until March. This should not bother them much.

But the real rainy season starts the end of May and lasts until September, blotting out the face of the earth with a sheet of water.

When that evil day comes, the roads constructed so laboriously the last few weeks to enable trucks to carry up provisions and ammunition will be wiped out. Officers make no secret of it.

"Only roads with a strong stone foundation will stand up," said an engineering major. "And less than ten percent of our roads beyond the old frontier are of that nature."

Most of the roads built by the Italians since they crossed the border follow the old caravan routes. Those trails have been widened, straightened, banked, reinforced with gravel, but in the main they are dirt roads.

Trucks in dry weather grind them into powder six inches deep inside a week. Road crews constantly are at work on them.

In the rainy season the caravan trails themselves were impassable, even for mules and camels. The roads will be little better.

What, therefore, will happen to the big Italian army? Supplies cannot be brought up in trucks. There is not enough in the country to support the troops. The trucks, even now, are having all they can do to bring up sufficient supplies, so no surplus can be laid by.

Perhaps, it is suggested, the majority of the troops, after having occupied that part of Ethiopia that Italy desires, will return to Ethiopia, leaving strong garrisons in the strategic points.

Another suggestion is that air transport will be used. Airplanes could take off from Asmara and land easily at Axum or Makale. However, the pay load that a plane can carry in the mountainous war theater is comparatively small.

Air transport, therefore, even taking into account its rapidity and the frequency of round trips, would feed and munition only a small portion of the troops.

One thing is certain—all the fighting that is to be done must be completed before the "big rains." What the Italian high command will do then with its huge body of soldiers will form an interesting chapter of modern warfare.

Baldwin As Four Time Premier Ties Gladstone Record

LONDON, Dec. 13. — (AP)—The prime minister of Great Britain, Sir Stanley Baldwin, today takes his place beside the immortal Gladstone as the second man in Britain's long parliamentary history to win a fourth term in the highest office in the land.

Four others—Derby, Disraeli, Salisbury and Ramsay MacDonald—have held the premiership three times, and nine have held it twice.

Until 1905, the office was technically "unknown" to the law, although history cites Sir Robert Walpole (1721-1742) as the first prime minister.

Before George Washington became the first President of the United States.

Even Walpole's claim was dubious. Lord Melbourne, in a letter to Queen Victoria, caustically referred to Walpole as having "arranged to himself an office previously unknown to the Law and Constitution, that of Prime or Sole Minister."

Melbourne insisted that Walpole only secured the title because the German-speaking George I had "so imperfect a knowledge of the language of the country" that he had to rely on Walpole for the transaction of business.

But the title stuck, until finally, in 1905, it was recognized by law.

Today, relations between the prime minister and monarch are considerably more formal than in the past. Melbourne, for example, received the following jovial invitation from William IV:

"The King highly approves the day fixed for the meeting of Parliament, and begs that everybody will dine with him after the Council and drink two bottles of wine a man."

Teetotalers in those "two-bottle" days were rare among the sovereign's upper counsellors—so much so that Disraeli wrote: "All Prime Ministers have the gout."

Baldwin's return to office leaves the number of prime ministers still 39. Twenty-eight have been English, seven, Scottish, three Irish and one Welsh.

Coral Gables Bonds Of $7,000,000 Held Valid By U. S. Judge

MIAMI, Dec. 13. — (AP)—Rejecting the city's plea the bonds were issued by "collusion and conspiracy" of former city commissioners, Federal Judge Halsted L. Ritter yesterday upheld the validity of $7,000,000 in Coral Gables municipal securities.

The city, desiring to a suit by bondholders to recover $3,000,000, contended the securities were issued, without election, by commissioners who at the same time were officers of the Coral Gables Corporation, developer of the area that later became the city.

The city alleged the bonds were void, claiming they were issued to raise funds to enable the firm to comply with its promises of extensive improvements to lot purchasers.

Judge Ritter found the question

Sholtz Sends Appeal To Citrus Industry

TALLAHASSEE, Dec. 12. — (AP)—Governor Sholtz called upon the Florida citrus industry yesterday to extend the power of shipment regulation to the State Citrus Commission by naming its members to a committee to administer the proposed marketing agreement.

The Governor said he believed "the grower is again being exploited for selfish purposes," and invited citrus men to make a check of the "interests" that are overloading the market.

The Citrus Control Commission was created by the 1935 Legislature and given broad powers over the industry. However, the authority did not extend to that of regulating shipments.

College Professors Killed By Employee

NEW YORK, Dec. 13. — (AP)—A discharged employe at the Columbia University College of Dental and Oral Surgery late yesterday killed two members of the faculty and himself and wounded a third professor.

The dead were Dr. Arthur T. Rowe, associate dean of the school; Dr. Paul Wiberg, an assistant professor of dentistry, and Victor S. Koussow, who was discharged yesterday morning as a shop mechanic at the school.

Dr. William H. Crawford, an assistant professor, was wounded.

Police said Koussow, discharged following an argument with a fellow worker, obtained the revolver and returned to the school in the late afternoon. He first shot and killed Dr. Wiberg, according to police reports. Dr. Rowe was next. He died shortly afterward. Then, after shooting Dr. Crawford, Koussow turned the revolver upon himself. He died instantly.

Virgin Isle Cocktail Is New Ickes Project

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13. — (AP)—Creation of a "Virgin Islands cocktail" to popularize the islands' rum is receiving attention at P. W. A., but Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the Interior and P. W. A. administrator, said he hadn't tasted it.

He disclosed that one of his aides—he didn't name which—was working on the recipe and was "doing all the tasting himself."

The Public Works Administration has financed a distillery to produce the island's famous brown rum which once made the natives rich. A recent sale of 25,000 gallons of it, Mr. Ickes said, brought a "very satisfactory profit."

Brazil is not a drinking country, Correo da Manhã, morning newspaper here, concluded from statistics of liquor importations last year amounting to only 1,734,440.

New Record In Collection Of Taxes Is Set

More Than One-Third Of Entire Roll Was Paid During Month, Is Jinkins' Report

37.98 Percent Of Assessments Paid

$128,342 Collected; Best Year For Show In Statement

More than one-third of the entire tax roll of Seminole County was collected during the month of November, setting a new high record for state and county tax collections. County Tax Collector Jno. D. Jinkins reported today.

The net amount of state and county taxes collected last month, the collector's statement shows, was $128,342.03. Discounts allowed amounted to $5,444.89. The total amount assessed on the 1936 roll is $352,906.96. The actual percentage of collections during the month, as figured by Mr. Jinkins, is 37.08, "thus setting a new high record of collections for the first month the roll was open," he said.

The collection of $128,342.03 in Nov., 1935, is compared with other years as follows:

Year	Amount
Nov. 1927	$ 73,526.79
Nov. 1928	70,538.05
Nov. 1929	90,219.01
Nov. 1930	101,068.58
Nov. 1931	95,839.40
Nov. 1932	83,776.11
Nov. 1933	84,834.56
Nov. 1934	101,477.00
Nov. 1935	128,342.03

Collector Jinkins' statement shows that for November of this year the 66 percent of the intangible personal property taxes were collected in the amount of $1,430.58. Discounts of $43.69 were allowed on these taxes. The total intangible personal property roll is $2,230.89.

Other collections for November included poll taxes of $167, Slave Drainage taxes of $306.78, State and county occupational taxes of $306.78, state license fees of $137.50, and slot machine licenses of $3,435. Of the latter amount, $1,000 goes to the state and $1,475 to the county. Other collections were state and county taxes assessed on the 1934 roll of $1,899.78 and state and county taxes assessed on the 1935 roll of $157.89.

State and county taxes collected on the assessment roll for 1935 are distributed as follows:

Category	Amount
State taxes	$ 8,289.58
County taxes, including school fund	$3,723.82
For interest and sinking fund on county road bonds	$9,414.78
Black hammock drainage taxes	1,102.53
Special school district taxes for maintenance	16,960.80
Special school districts, for interest and sinking fund on bonds	19,649.67
Total	$128,342.03

A discount of 3 percent is allowed by law for payment in December, 2 percent in January, and 1 percent in February. Unpaid taxes become delinquent April 1, 1936.

The weather man says it is going to be "continued cool" tonight but it will be "slightly warmer" tomorrow. Frost is predicted in north portion of the state if the skies are clear. Sunday will be partly cloudy with rain possible in the northwest portion.

The prediction for extreme northwest Florida for tonight and tomorrow reads: "Mostly cloudy tonight, probably occasional rain Sunday, not quite so cold."

The interior of the east portion is warned of "probably light frost tonight," but it will be warmer there tomorrow.

Congressman And Officials Confer On Bond Matters

Following a conference with City officials of Sanford and other municipalities in Central Florida yesterday, Congressman J. Mark Wilcox promised to make every effort to obtain relief for those municipalities now overburdened by bonded debt.

The bankruptcy law he passed through the House last year was so changed by the Senate as to be unworkable, but the congressman said he hopes that at the next session he will be able to amend that law whereby municipalities can go to court and effect a settlement of their debt problems. He will endeavor to have bondholders' committees placed under the federal Securities and Exchange Commission.

"Bondholders' protective committees benefit no one but members of the committee," Wilcox stated. "The fees, payroll and other expenses set up so much of the money that the majority of bondholders receive only a small portion of the tax money collected."

"Such committees should be scrutinized closely. Banks are rigidly regulated so why not bondholders' committees, which also handle other people's money?"

"When I go onto the floor of the House next session I want to have two bills which I feel certain will not be decided illegal by the Supreme Court. You lawyers can help me in this."

While Congressman Wilcox said he was not in favor of paid lobbyists, still he asked the 70 civic leaders at the conference to send to Washington a committee of about 10 members to explain their problems to the national legislators when they convene for the next session. Such a committee, he said, could help him get through the legislation he proposes.

"If Congressman Wilcox could give me through Congress giving municipalities the right to go to court without the consent of bondholders' committees that will be the solution to the whole problem," said Fred T. Williams, Sanford City attorney.

Lions At Conference With High Officials

Sanford Lions and members of that service club from a number of other towns in Central Florida attended a conference in Orlando last night. The conference was held around the banqueting board in the Dudson-Country Club, and was followed by a dance and floor show.

Melvin Jones of Chicago, secretary-general of Lions International, was the main speaker. Other speakers were Wm. P. Allen of Bartow, International Director, and Ralph H. Martin of St. Petersburg, district governor. Reports were made by President Maxwell Stewart of the Sanford Club, President A. T. McKay of the Orlando Club, President J. J. McFadin of the Leesburg Club, and by President E. C. Shrook of the Ocala Club.

The title will be high at 11:50 A. M. Sunday and 12:34 A. M. and 12:35 P. M. Monday; low tide will be at 6:30 A. M. and 6:34 P. M. Sunday and 6:24 A. M. and 6:45 P. M. Monday.

Wilcox Favors Sanford-Coast Canal Project

Effort Will Be Made To Get Withdrawal Of Protests Made By Coastal Cities

Congressman J. Mark Wilcox favors the Sanford-to-Titusville canal, he told an aggregation of citizens of the Fifth Congressional district yesterday, but the canal project was blocked by protests from Cocoa and Melbourne, on the coast, he declared. Were it not for those protests, he said he might have been able to have obtained favorable action in Washington on the proposal.

The congressman talked about the canal at a luncheon session, but afterwards it was threshed out more thoroughly at a meeting called by proponents of the proposed Cape Canaveral harbor project. Delegates to that meeting from Cocoa and Melbourne reported they were unaware of the Sanford-to-Titusville canal had been entered into the program of Orlando that another meeting be called next week or the week after when an effort will be made to withdraw those protests.

H. M. Papworth, chairman of the delegation from Sanford, declared that Seminole County will offer no objection to the proposed harbor. Judge J. G. Sharon, City Engineer Fred T. Williams and other members of the Sanford delegation supported Mr. Papworth in his assertion.

Three protests against the Sanford-to-Titusville canal were answered by Congressman Wilcox in his luncheon address as he pointed out advantages of the proposed waterway to connect the upper St. Johns River with the Atlantic Ocean. These objections were that the canal would drain the St. Johns flats, that it would destroy grazing lands and that it would raise the Indian River, thus damaging surrounding territory.

In stating that the canal would afford a new route down the Florida coast to the Riviera which would attract yachts and other pleasure craft to the state, the congressman said he had made an investigation of the facts and was convinced that a canal eight feet deep and about 100 feet wide would not flood the Indian River country or drain the St. Johns flats and cause any damage to grazing and cattle lands.

Legionnaires Are To Send Gifts To Their Disabled Comrades

Disabled veterans in government hospitals at Lakeland and Bay Pines are to be remembered by their buddies on Christmas Day, and to that end Commander L. P. Boyle asks every member of Campbell-Leasing Post of the American Legion to take "some gift with him when he attends next Monday evening's meeting of the local post.

The commander suggests such things as cigarettes, tobacco, pipes, shaving soaps and creams, tooth paste, stationery, pens and pencils, pocket combs, socks, handkerchiefs and books.

"The fellows don't have to spend much money, but if every one will put out 25 cents for some gift we can make a lot of the boys in the hospitals happy," Mr. Boyle said. "I hope every man will bring something to our next meeting so we can send nice boxes to our buddies in the hospitals."

Hauptmann Is Sentenced To Die Week Of Jan. 13

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 14. — Richard Bruno Hauptmann, convicted of the kidnap-murder of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., was sentenced today in the electric chair at Trenton during the week of Jan. 13. The new execution date was set by Justice Thomas W. Brandford on Dec. 13. Hauptmann was convicted last Feb. 11.

The laws of New Jersey offer two lines of Hauptmann.

1. His lawyer can ask French and other nations for a writ of habeas corpus on the basis of fresh evidence.

2. They can ask the Court of Pardons to pardon eight men including Guy Harold G. Hoffmann to commute the death sentence to imprisonment.

3. They can ask for a writ of habeas corpus from the governor.

Lloyd Fisher of Hauptmann's counsel has vowed to exhaust all these possibilities before abandoning his client to the electric chair and allowing him to die as the sole person involved in the murder of the Lindbergh baby.

New Altitude Record Set By Miami Aviator

20,000 Foot Height Claimed; No Races For Women Races Protest At Meet

MIAMI, Dec. 14.—(AP) — A new American altitude record and vigorous protests from women pilots, bluntly told "no races for women," got the third day of Miami eighth annual All-American air races off to a flying start today.

G. M. "Tex" Rankin, of Portland, Ore., spiraled down from the skies with an unofficial new record. He said he believed he had climbed to 20,000 feet in a low wing monoplane. His barograph will be sent in Washington for calibration. The existing standard of 19,211 for planes weighing less than 1,250 pounds was established by Willford G. Moore at Kansas City, Mo., in 1919.

Cries of "discrimination" and "shame" came from three air women present after R. J. Walters, contest's chairman, announced these will be no races for women. Race officials said the high wind yesterday caused the women's race to be called off and the program was too busy for it today.

Douglas Fonda, of New York, averaged 161.8 miles an hour in yesterday's outstanding event, the Glenn H. Curtiss trophy race, for licensed planes of 550 cubic inch engine displacement.

Yesterday's crowds watched, awed by the proximity of danger, as field attendants pulled Clem Sohn, famed "bat wing" man, from an air race drawing him in to whirling propellers of army pursuit planes, warning off for flight.

Sohn, dropping from 10,000 feet to 800 feet by means of ingenious wings attached to arms and legs before opening his par chute, came to earth not far from the flying planes.
