

St. Pete Commissioner Says Passage Of Homestead Act Will Delay Bond Settlements

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 5.—Continuing his discussion of the proposed homestead exemption amendment, City Councilman Henry W. Adams has turned to a study of the effect the amendment will have on the city's efforts to refund its bonded indebtedness.

"In a recent article, Adams discussed the probable loss to the city in operating revenue should the proposed amendment be passed, and raised questions as to how the loss in revenue would be replaced."

"The proposed amendment," Adams said today, "will inevitably delay a definite settlement of the city's bonded indebtedness because it does not explain whether homesteads will be exempted from taxation to support a refunding bond issue."

"Under the agreement reached between the city and the bondholders committee, refunding bonds will be issued to replace former bond issues in default. If this refunding issue is backed by the same tax as the former issues then the agreement will stand. But if the proposed is an anticipation of a 'big killing'.

In support of his charge, Adams quoted the following paragraph from a pamphlet written by Vincent D. Wyman, mayor of Coral Gables, attacking the proposed amendment.

"The bond 'racketeers,'" writes Wyman, "are also convinced that loss of operating expenses through adoption of the amendment will result in taxing officials raising tax valuations on homesteaded properties, now valued for taxing purposes at less than $5,000, so that on a $7,000 increased valuation, for instance, operating tax might be levied on the $2,000 non-exempt excess. This would result in a pro rata increase in levy for debt service."

"As things now stand, the city's financial position with regard to its creditors has been clarified, and business conditions more or less stabilized as a result. But the proposed amendment will disrupt this clarification and stabilization."

Adams also related two other points which must be settled in the courts if the amendment passes, and which will cause considerable confusion until the courts make their final ruling.

"First," he said, "there is the question of whether home owners who rent their homestead for even one month of the year are entitled to exemption under the proposed amendment."

"Several lawyers have voiced the opinion that a homestead, must not be rented for even a day. If that is so, it's going to cut down the number of homesteads in this city to a small number."

"Second, there is the question of whether homes erected on city lots after the amendment passes, if it does, will be exempted from taxes for debt service."

"Here again, lawyers contend that such homes, if erected on lots subject to debt service levies before the proposed amendment, would not be exempt after adoption of the amendment."

UTAH BANKER URGES NATION HALT SPENDING

O. W. Adams Hits Rising Taxes, Sees No Substitute For Thrift

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 5.—With more than 25 percent of our national income absorbed by taxes and 37 percent expended by governmental agencies, Orval W. Adams, vice-president of the Utah State National Bank at Salt Lake City, in an article in the current issue of "The American Bankers' Association Journal," urges that the country "stop petitions for public improvement far beyond our means to afford; realize that we cannot solve our problems of governmental finance by easy expedients and admit that nothing can replace 'collective thrift.'"

"The government," Mr. Adams writes, "and all its political subdivisions under which we live are spending annually $14,700,000,000, which represents approximately 37 percent of our national income. While this is far beyond our ability even to estimate or imagine, this thing we can understand: that it is far beyond our ability to meet. How and when shall we bring all our power, concentrate all our intelligence to call a halt to such wild abandon?"

"But that is only half of the picture. While we are spending $14,700,000,000 to meet the obligations of government, we are paying out of our current taxes only $7,975,000,000 annually. What of the balance? That is the legacy which we are transferring to the future generations as an impressive evidence of our solicitude for their well-being."

He says that in 1913 our tax bill was $22 per capita, in 1933 $70, and in 1935 public expenditures per capita amounted to $80, and in 1935, as compared with 1913, on a per capita basis, taxes were 220 percent, government costs 300 percent and public debts 600 percent increased.

Farley declined to say in what states the Democrats expected to gain Senate seats, but predicted that Sherman Minton, Democratic nominee, would defeat Senator Robinson in Indiana.

"A joke" was the way he described the move in New York to put Col. Henry Breckenridge up as an independent candidate for the Senate. Senator Copeland, Democrat, is up for re-nomination. Pressed for a statement on Copeland, Farley said he was not even a delegate to the convention that would nominate the Democratic senatorial candidate.

Farley said he would support Governor Lehman for re-election in New York.

JIM FARLEY BELIEVES GOP HEAD IS JUST 'WHISTLING IN DARK'

(Continued from Page 1) —if you can call it an issue—that is, the attack on the President's recovery program, has fallen flat. People are satisfied that this Administration has performed a wonderful job and as a consequence the President's popularity is greater today than when he took office. The natural sequence of this is that the country will re-elect a Congress in sympathy with the President's program.

"The minority party leaders realize this is evident from the circumstances that nearly all of their congressional nominees are running largely on their record of having supported the recovery legislation. I think you will find when we pick up the lame ducks after November the majority of fatalities will be among those who opposed the President's policies and tried to hinder the emergency measures."

Farley declined to say in what states the Democrats expected to gain Senate seats, but predicted that Sherman Minton, Democratic nominee, would defeat Senator Robinson in Indiana.

"A joke" was the way he described the move in New York to put Col. Henry Breckenridge up as an independent candidate for the Senate. Senator Copeland, Democrat, is up for re-nomination. Pressed for a statement on Copeland, Farley said he was not even a delegate to the convention that would nominate the Democratic senatorial candidate.

Farley said he would support Governor Lehman for re-election in New York.

Another speaking tour was announced yesterday by Farley but the dates are indefinite. He plans, however, to leave Aug. 15 for Nashville, Tenn., and then will swing west through Little Rock, Oklahoma City, Topeka, Kan., and Denver, where he is to speak either Aug. 21 or 22 to a rural mail carriers' convention. He said he probably would stop at Des Moines enroute back, and that in September he might dedicate a post office building at St. Paul.

Farley said he would support Governor Lehman for re-election in New York.

SILVER SHIRTS PLAN REVOLT SAYS MARINE

(Continued from Page 1) planned "capture" of the San Diego city hall by force, saying: "It was planned for early in May, when the communists were to stage a May day celebration. The Silver Shirts were ready, too. The 200 armed the Silver Shirts had orders to converge on the city from the outskirts. They counted on the communists going in before them to bring the city by storm. Then in the confusion the Silver Shirts were to overthrow the communists, their avowed enemies."

"The capture" of San Diego failed, however, Gray said, when the communist demonstration failed to materialize.

In declining to appear before the committee Dr. Graying displayed a $215 check on newspapermen. It was endorsed by E. W. Rehner. "Somebody must have made a fool's confusion," he said, "as E. W. Rehner is a lady—my personal secretary."

Hayes said that as an intelligence worker in the Marines he obtained membership in the 350 Silver Shirts.

"I was made an instructor," Hayes testified. "The Silver Shirts were armed with rifles, pistols and shotguns, but mainly Springfield rifles bearing a United States government mark."

"I was told the rifles had been purchased from members of the military force in San Diego. "I saw 2000 pounds of ammunition and was told there was another 12,000 pounds cached in four places near San Diego. The ammunition, I was told, had been purchased from Corporals Hudle and Edelson at the North Island naval base."

The former Marine testified the offer for guns and ammunition was made by W. W. Kemp, who described as commander of the San Diego Silver Shirts.

Hayes quoted Kemp as saying "anything the Silver Shirts did would be countenanced by the San Diego sheriff's office with the exception of the under-sheriff who is a Jew."

"The Silver Shirts," Hayes quoted Kemp as saying, "will not be bothered when the time comes to act. Firearms of both the sheriff's office and the police department will be turned over to us. The under-sheriff will be liquidated."

Barnett Named Head Of Junior Commerce Body

This proposal had about a dozen supporters but it was defeated when 16 members approved Andrew M. Carraway's motion that persons beyond the age of 35 be accepted as associate members with full power to vote on any questions brought before the body of the organization but with no right to hold office.

Announcing that he would delay the appointment of standing committee heads until later this week, President Barnett proposed that as a first step, the organization stage a private dance at the Trianon Dance Club on Thursday night Aug. 16, for the purpose of acquainting members and their families with other members, enlisted or prospective, and their families.

For this reason, an increase in net earnings and gross receipts is held at the Court House as a fairly accurate indication of the improvement in general economic conditions.

From their receipts the fee officers deduct the expenses of operating their departments, and from the net income they take their own pay. This pay is limited by law to $7500 a year. But, the office must do a certain volume of business annually to produce the full amount. None of the officers made the maximum salary in 1933, nor will they this year unless heavy gains are reported for the last six months of this year.

THE WEATHER

Partly cloudy tonight and Saturday with scattered thunderstorms on Saturday.

Another rare species will try to get. Dr. Ditmars continued, to the Giant Horn Frog, which is a length of more than 10 inches. It is bright green, has long yellow horns, looks like a dog and can jump as high as a flea.

Most famous of Tom's stunts is that of rolling his Plymouth over while driving 80 miles an hour. Only a Ford-built automobile can stand the punishment, Tom says, and it is good to know such safety can be obtained even on the roughest of cars. The car rolls completely over two or three times while Tom is strapped inside to the wheel.

There are three varieties of these "Horn Frogs" from the scientific point of view. They are called "Horn Frogs" because of their brilliant coloring. They are found in the southern states.

Dr. Ditmars then demonstrated the method which he used to secure poisonous snakes. He pins their heads to the ground with a forked stick and grasps their bodies in his right hand.
