S. WILL DELAY ASKING FRANCE FOR PAYMENTS

Government Adopts
Lenient Attitude
Toward The French
In Financial Crisis

Statements Given
Out Are Guarded

Officials Also Assert
U. S. Will Have No
Part In Private Loan

WASHINGTON, Apr. 9.—The American attitude toward France in her complicated financial situation will be one of sympathy, it became known Wednesday, and any disposition to suggest that France make some movement toward funding her debt with the United States has been indefinitely postponed.

Following explanation made at a White House Tuesday by the state department, a Wednesday statement at the state department explained that the United States does not expect repayment of private loans floated in this country and that disapproval however unofficial, would be given in the most extreme cases.

Officially, the state department has been made to supervise foreign loans floated in this country, the state department explained. The first suggestion of cooperation between the state department and bankers on this matter was contained in a memorandum for the president, dated by the state department during the Harding administration, March 1922.

Interest of Government: Expressed in that statement the interest of the government in the flotation of foreign loans in this country was expressed and bankers were asked to furnish the state department with information concerning proposed operations.

While the official utterances are guarded, it is a fair inference from what has been said that the American government deprecates the suggestion that this country will lend its influence with banking trusts to prevent loans with the view of forcing a conference. Further limitation of arrangements for the purpose of collecting its international debts.

Senator Wheeler Unjustly Indicted, His Friends in Washington Declare

By HARRY B. HUNT
WASHINGTON, Apr. 8.—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, late progressive candidate for vice president, twice indicted on charges of having helped a Montana oil land scheme, in violation of law, left Washington Mar. 20 on his way to trial.

Wheeler's friends have insisted that his indictments are persecutions rather than prosecutions, inspired by political and personal enemies. Whether or not that is true, it does seem that Fate has taken a hand in making the time of his trial at Great Falls, Mont., a period of extreme anxiety and distress for him.

Washington will have its chance to bid for literary immortality late this month when several hundred literary ladies, some with long hair and many with short, some poets, some novelists, some scenario writers and some dramatists, assemble here in the annual meeting of the League of American Pen Women.

QUEEN OUTFITS ROYAL KITCHEN AT LONDON

Queen Mary Personally Supervises Spring Cleaning At Palace Prior to Departure on Cruise With King

Labor Saving Devices Bought By Sovereign

England's Most 'Housewifely' Queen Advocates Economy. At Buckingham, Windsor

WINDSOR-ON-THE-THAMES, Apr. 8.—Almost the last journey away from Buckingham Palace made by Queen Mary, known as England's most "housewifely" queen, before departing with the king for his Mediterranean cruise, was a one-day visit to Windsor Castle to see that the spring cleaning had been started in proper order, so that everything would be spick and span for her return toward the end of April.

Incidentally, the queen brought with her to the castle, her summer home and one of the world's most magnificent structures, a number of labor saving devices which she had bought herself the day before at an ideal home exhibit in London. One of these was a new kind of knife cleaner, the queen examining the apparatus and making several inquiries as to whether the dealer was certain that the polishing roller would not harm certain old fashioned knives of very delicate make which were used generations ago in the kitchens of Windsor.

Another exhibit which interested the queen keenly was an improved kind of mop. She watched the demonstration with interest, and even took hold of the handle herself for a moment, but she did not buy, much to the disappointment of the dealer.

Economy, however, is the watchword at Windsor as well as the royal palace in London. Under the present regime there is no encouragement for wastefulness such as obtained in the days of other rulers.

Bird Protection Society Members Are Aroused By Those Wearing Feathers

LONDON, Apr. 8.—Use of stuffed humming birds for decorative purposes in dress has aroused the ire of the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds, which issued a new appeal recently to women, urging them to abstain from wearing the feathers of egrets, birds of paradise, herons and other rare species in the name of humanity and common sense.

Other parts of the world, according to statements made at the annual meeting of the society in London, when ways and means were discussed to put an end to this business. A proposal was made to form an international committee under the League of Nations, and the Duchess of Somerset likened to savages the women who adorned themselves with these contraband feathers.

IN THE SPRING TIME

Bulbs I planted in the fall,
Covered them, and that was all;
Blister blew the wind that day
As I smoothed the bed of clay
But I whispered: "In the spring
This will be a lovely thing."

Then the winter came and frowned
On that little patch of ground,
Covered it with ice and snow;
Uglier it seemed to grow,
Bleak and desolate and bare
As if death itself were there.

Now the sunbeams come to toil
Busily above my soil,
And with sculptors' blows precise
Now they chip away the ice,
Melt with torch the frost and snow
So that every bulb may grow.

Through the black earth I can see
Beauty coming back to me,
Life in blossom shall unfold,
Red and pink and yellow gold!
Thus my tulips in the spring
Prove the faith to which I cling.

Quick Action Necessary

It is doubtful if there are any persons in Seminole county who do not know about the bond election to be held May 5. It seems certain that the bonds will carry and that this county will spend one million, seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars for more and better roads and by so doing take another progressive step.

Investors are buying property on the strength of the proposed bonds being issued. People from other sections of Florida, as well as those from other states, are buying real estate realizing that the construction of roads will result in greatly increased property values. Confidence in the outcome of the election is evident. The average citizen is really giving little thought to seeing that the bonds are successfully voted.

As is usually the case in bond elections few individuals think about them until the voting is over. The supposedly good citizen talks about what bond elections mean to a community and then forgets to register or qualify to vote himself. It is probable that history will again repeat itself next month when a good many citizens will try to cast their ballots and discover they have neglected to pay their poll tax.

The carrying of the bond election on May 5 means a great step forward for Seminole county. But to assure success good citizens must qualify to vote.

In order to participate in this election it is necessary to be a property owner, to be registered, and to have a poll tax receipt. It will be too late to pay this poll tax after Saturday. The citizen who has not already paid his tax, must act quickly if he would vote.

Surely every good citizen will qualify.

A Mighty Mean Indictment

They've indicted a man for alleged manslaughter down in Dade county because a man who drank the liquor the alleged murdered manufactured died too soon.

The still owned by the man was confiscated by the sheriff who also found a most disgusting concoction of debris and poison chemicals in the mash that was used for the fiery drinks he was providing for enough customers to make his business profitable.

But one fellow having a thinner lining in his insides most unthoughtfully died with his bottle near enough to tell the tale. And they have brought a murder charge against the unlucky bootlegger! Surely Dade county jurors will not be mean enough to send that man to prison. He merely was furnishing an extra "kick" in the stuff he sold. And if he goes to the convict camp for his alleged crime, it will look just as if there is something wrong in this business of selling poison to one's fellow-man.

Every pint of liquor, regardless of where or how it is made, is poison. Some brands of it acts more slowly than others, but all of it leaves its trace. The manufacturers of alcoholic drinks since the beginning of time have been murderers and worse, but somehow when a man has gone down, down, down and finally died a drunkard's death, it has not been the fashion to trace his bottles back to the stills and the mash, and to the fellow who took that method of making money.

Every vender of bootleg liquor, intended for beverage purposes, is a vender of poison; every vender of liquor imported, sealed and "pure", for social drinking is a vender of poison. These potential murderers and the potential murderers "higher up" are as much entitled to indictments for manslaughter as is that Dade county moonshiner whose victim so unthoughtfully died in a hurry. The equal rights business doesn't get a fair show.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

BY IRVIN S. COBB

A man I know told me that one evening he got on an "L" train in Chicago to go to his home in the suburbs. In one of the lengthwise seats near him sat three negroes—a big, wide darky in the center, with a little slender darky on each side of him. The big negro was looking for trouble; that much was plain.

Every time the guard, who was a little German, opened the door to call a station the big darky would mimic him, and then the other darkies would laugh admiringly. The pestered guard finally protested, whereupon the big darky threatened him.

"Go on, you Dutchman!" he said. "If you sass me, I'll hit you just one, an' knock you as high in the air 'you'll starve to death comin' down!"

"He'll do it, too," said one of the little negroes.

"He will 'at!' assented the other. "Ef he say he'll do it, he shore will!"

Just then the door flew open and in came the German, accompanied by another guard, nearly seven feet high. The German pointed out the disturbed, and the giant, without a word, grabbed him by the collar, jerked him out of his place like a tooth out of a socket, cluffed his fist on one side of the head and then on the other, dragged him bodily over the gate upon the platform of a station from which the train was just moving. Then he reopened the door and gave the friends of the late departed a hard and threatening look. But they were staring straight ahead, of them, their eyes blinking and their faces indicative of a great mental concentration.

For a long minute there was silence. Then, as if moved by the same set of strings, the heads of the two little darkies turned gently, inch by inch, until each looked into the other's face across the gap where their friend had been sitting. One of them sighed musically.

"Dat suttingly was a strong man!" was all he said.

Octopuses? We Know Them. Gaggling Karolyi. Immoral Audiences. Al. Smith and Wadsworth. By ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1924)

IDA TARBELL is writing another book to attack the Standard Oil of Indiana. Too late for that; we've used to "octopuses" and we don't mind them.

When the old Standard Oil was said to be worth a thousand millions everybody shivered and some cried "Horror." Now one little branch of the old Standard Oil in Indiana is worth in its new combination more than five hundred millions, and it is NOT the biggest Standard Oil unit.

THE COUNTRY no longer asks: "How MUCH money have you?" but rather "What do you DO with the money you have?"

The Rockefeller on the whole appear to be doing pretty well with their Foundations, their fight against disease, all the way from "Paris to Peking and from Peking to Rome." Also in Central America and all over the globe.

The Rockefeller don't squander their money, don't set a bad example, don't take scores of men away from useful work to wait on them. It doesn't make much difference how much they HAVE, if it pays taxes, and doesn't corrupt government.

COUNT KAROLYI, now in America, was before the war one of the richest men in Hungary, worth perhaps thirty millions. He was the first President of the Hungarian Republic. His entire fortune was confiscated. He came to this country to join his wife, granddaughter of the great Hungarian statesman, Andrássy, Prime Minister of Hungary fifty-eight years ago.

In a few days Count Karolyi leaves for England, where he will speak in public concerning the affairs of his own country and other countries. Great Britain, which is a democracy, will be amused to learn that while in the United States Karolyi was forbidden, by the Government, to make public speeches.

Why was he forbidden? Heaven only knows. Somebody over here who still HAS forty millions probably didn't want him to talk.

In England, where they have brains and a democracy, they are not afraid of free speech.

NEWSPAPERS in New York are filled with groaning about immoral plays. The thing to worry about is not the immoral PLAY, but the immoral AUDIENCE.

When red Indians tortured a victim, the worst part of the performance was not the torture, but the fact that the entire Indian village intensely enjoyed the horrible spectacle, approved and joined in the torture.

The disgusting thing about an immoral play is the audience. And New York supplies many disgusting audiences.

POLITICS in New York State may interest the whole country. Wadsworth, whose term soon ends, may fight Governor Al. Smith for his seat in the Senate.

Governor Smith will be fighting, not for a mere Senatorship, but to show that he has New York State in the hollow of his hand, and thus make himself the "logical" Democratic candidate for President in 1928.

If Senator Wadsworth wants an interesting fight he need only try to beat Smith in New York.

"NOTED CITIZENS" ask President Coolidge to outlaw war.

How would you go about "outlawing war"? How would you keep Austria from declaring war on little Serbia, following the murder of an Austrian heir to the throne?

How would you keep Germany from declaring war on France NOW, if she had the money weapons and flying machines?

How would you keep Japan from declaring war on the United States if Japan thought it her duty to change our minds about Asiatic immigration?

YOU CAN'T outlaw war, but you can do much to prevent it. The way to prevent war is to be ready for it.

Ten thousand first class flying machines, with good pilots, half of them swift pursuit planes, the other half heavy bombing planes, would do more for peace than all the sighs, groans and solemn nonsense about "outlawing war."

HENRY FORD, it is said, wants to start a great automobile plant near Paris. Frenchmen generally are delighted at the idea of Ford's and cheap automobiles.

The lowest wage paid in the Ford factory would amount to 120 francs a day at present money values. French automobile makers object and want Ford kept out by stringent laws.

THAT DOES not show the usual French wisdom. This country was glad to have Frenchmen come over here and show us how to make silk, velvet, glass—including plate glass.

The last will and testament is a document which often throws a searchlight on the inner soul of the testator. It sometimes reveals that facet of character which is polished above all others, whether it be rancor and misanthropy or love and philanthropy.

Two wills have been probated recently in eastern cities that are revelations of the lives led by their makers. Both of the writers were women, both were lone-ones to the grace, and neither minded saying so in the instrument later to be exposed to public inspection. The first one left all of her property to a home for dogs, because "her two-legged friends had proved disloyal."

The other will, over which a court battle of five years has just been concluded, leaves a woman's all for a monument to be erected in a grimy cemetery along a railroad line in Jersey City. At her death the estate amounted to $20,000. Nephews and nieces contested the will and the legal battle pared $6,000 from the value of the property. It was all left for a monument because its former owner said she had no friends or relatives who cared a whit about her.

Of the teeming millions above ground, few have names that will live. It is an acknowledgment of individual inconsequentiality that few relish. It must be a souring experience when this condition has reached out on this side of the grave to envelop the individual. Here was a woman who felt that she had lost earthly contact even before death. In the recesses of her mind perhaps was the thought that she was to be cheated of remembrance while living, oblivion after death was only too certain. A massive, imposing monument to which she would devote her entire fortune, she calculated, would be the only way to ever have her name mentioned.

For those who become cowed at the thought of their inability to leave foot prints on the sands of time, the will of the lady who left her fortune for the welfare of the dog has perhaps most to commend it. The bequest at least builds a memorial that lives, even if in a restricted compass. Endowing a piece of marble has little appeal to most of us.

HERRIOT'S DILEMMA

PROVIDENCE NEWS

Premier Herriot of France is none paying for the rashness of some of the promises he made before the general elections of last May. Those elections resulted in the overthrow of M. Poincare and the Nationalist "bloc." A majority of radicals, socialists and liberals of various hues was returned to the Chamber of Deputies. Herriot's party, the Radical Socialists, was the most numerous of these groups, but not numerous enough to command the Chamber. To do that, Herriot had to make an alliance with the out-and-out Socialists, the price of which was that he should end diplomatic relations between France and the Vatican and that he should put through legislation calling for a levy on capital in order to wipe out the national debt.

Herriot himself did not show much enthusiasm for either of these projects until he was forced to do so. He is too astute a man not to realize the foolishness of reviving the old clerical and aristocratic flight which had slumbered during the war. He is too astute also not to realize that the average Frenchman, who hates taxation more than any one else in the world would object to a confiscation of capital. But the Socialists have held a pistol to his head, first on the matter of the Vatican and now on the capital levy.

RUTH IMPROVING AFTER COLLAPSE EN ROUTE NORTH

Rambino Continues Trip From Asheville, N. C., Where He Was Stricken, Taken From Train For Treatment

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Apr. 9.—Babe Ruth, the home run king, who Tuesday morning suffered a collapse as he left the train upon arrival here with the Yankee team, left yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock for New York City. He will arrive there this afternoon.

Ruth's condition was reported by his physician to be improved somewhat but the doctor was reluctant to give permission for the trip to be made. Ruth, however, was persistent in his decision to go to New York as soon as possible. Upon arrival there he will go immediately to the Almac Hotel for treatment by the club's physician.

Ruth left his room at the hotel on the arms of a newspaper man, and Paul Kritchell, veteran Yankee scout who is making the trip to New York with the Bambino. He plainly showed signs of his illness, having suffered with an attack of influenza early in the spring and during the past few days being bothered with the grippe. He had to be assisted in the automobile.

This morning Ruth was reported to be much better. He was said to have been "in a good humor" so much so that he insisted that local newspaper photographers who had been attempting to get his picture be permitted to go to his room and make photographs of him. A reporter asked him later in the day how he felt then and his response was "every bone in my body aches."

NEW YORK, Apr. 9.—Babe Ruth, Yankee slugger, forced by illness to return to New York before the completion of the Yank's exhibition tour in the south will appear in the opening game of the season at the Yankee Stadium Tuesday against the Washington Senators. He may play in Sunday's exhibition contest against Brooklyn at Ebbets field. This announcement was made today by Edward G. Barrow, business manager of the Yanks.

After a long distance telephone conversation with Miller Huggins, manager of the team, Barrow said: "Ruth's recent illness was due to acute indigestion. His present condition is not serious."

Williams, of Miami Wins Championship In State Trapshoot

MIAMI, Fla., Apr. 9.—George D. Williams of Miami won the Florida amateur trapshooting championship here yesterday by breaking 197 targets out of 200, in the feature event of the annual state trap tournament. Paul R. Earle, of Starr, S. C., member of the United States Olympic trapshooting team, equalled Williams' record but was ineligible for the state title. Williams regained the state title, which he had held in 1921 and 1923.

Arthur Cusaden Jr., of Tampa successfully defended his state professional championship, by breaking 569 out of 600 targets.

Earle won the longest run prize, 145.

The all-Florida squad, composed of L. S. Lossing, Tallahassee; C. E. Sands, Fort Pierce; J. B. Larchuca, Cocoa; T. K. Apgar, Daytona; and C. W. Lloyd, Sanford, took the combined squad honors with an average of 93.50. Lloyd was adjudged "over-all" champion.

Milwaukee Takes Slow Game From State League Team

The Milwaukee Brewers celebrated the eve of their departure from Sanford Wednesday afternoon by defeating the home team by a score of 13 to 0.

Herman Bell and Dennis Goarin exercised in the box for the Brewers and Walsh and Weaver pitched for Sanford. The game was uninteresting throughout and was witnessed by a small crowd. The contest was more in the nature of a workout for the Brewers rather than a real contest.

The Brewers were scheduled to leave Sanford at 3:29 this afternoon for Atlanta, where they will play the Crackers of the Southern League Friday. They will play Nashville Saturday, reaching Louisville on Sunday morning.

They will open their season with Louisville on Tuesday, and then will play the entire eastern end of the circuit before reaching their home town on May 1.

Baseball Training Season Has Brought Scores Of Injuries

NEW YORK, Apr. 9.—Injury and illness, which have left the ranks of National League teams depleted, now have set upon those of the American.

The training season has exacted a heavy toll, and at least two great infield players, Walter (Habib) Maranville of the Chicago Cubs, and Joe Hauser of the Philadelphia Athletics, will be out of the game for the greater part of the year.

Maranville, who was expected to become the foundation in the rebuilding of the Cubs, early in the preliminary season slid into third base only to come up with a broken leg.

Hardly had this shadow passed when Denver Grigsby, regular outfielder of the Cubs, suffered a broken collarbone. Jimmy McAuley, Los Angeles shortstop, will endeavor to take Maranville's place and Arnold Stutz, Cliff Heathcote and Zack Miller are expected to guard the outfield until Grigsby can return.

In the loss of Hauser, Connie Mack suffered a serious blow as was that received by Jack Hendricks of the Cincinnati Reds when the veteran Jake Dubert dug the wrist.

Fred Heinrich, a left hand regular boxman of the Athletics will be unable to take his turn at the start of the season next week, as he has suffered a dislocated shoulder.

Meanwhile illness more serious than the previous attacks this spring has put an end to Babe Ruth's appearance for the Yankees for the time being and he will be unable to start against Washington at the Yankee stadium next Tuesday.

Injuries are hampering the Giants' infield. Heinie Groh, third baseman who has kept his feet against the most vicious batsmen was unable to play in the world series last fall because of an injured leg and the youthful Freddie Lindstrom took his place. Now, with a new season little Heinie appears as strong as ever while Lindstrom and Frank Driach are having trouble.

The Brewers left Sanford with 22 men in the squad and this will be reduced to 20 on May 15.

One of the most promising players according to owners Bernhard, on the squad is L. C. Richardson, a well known University of Florida player, who will have first call for the rightfield position with the Brewers. Richardson has a batting average of .286 for spring training, the second highest on the team.

Before leaving the Brewers released six men to Sanford, four outright and two on option. Those released outright were M. E. Walsh, pitcher; Jim Curley, Ross Kinney, outfielders; Frank Stanzek, third base; on option, Rosy Thompson, pitcher; Frank Bailey, first base.

Oliver releases by the Brewers' management before leaving were Frank Walczak, second baseman to Martinburg, Pa.; Henry Gray, former University of Florida pitcher, released outright; Stacy Ross, to Raleigh, N. C.

Chick Wise was released outright, and Tied Campbell, the 19-year-old Missouri pitcher was sent home. "Dixie" Walker was sent to the Birmingham, Southern League team for $3,000.
