$2100 Is Needed To Last Out Remaining Weeks Of Play

DELAND — Seeking to preserve the Florida State League franchise at DeLand, civic leaders gathered yesterday to discuss means to finance the club for the remainder of the season.

Immediate action is needed to retain the franchise, it was stated, as the June payroll must be met before midnight Sunday. Directors disclosed that about $2,300 is needed for the remaining 10 weeks of play while there is but $100 in the club

Hitler Jubilant As French Accept Terms

BERLIN, June 27 — (AP) — Adolf Hitler jubilantly crashed his fist in his palm when the news reached him that the French had signed his armistice terms, the radio said yesterday in describing the preview of a German news reel of the French's reaction on that occasion.

"For the first time since the outbreak of the war the Germans people will see the man whom they definitely consider the greatest man in German history recording emotions," said the broadcaster.

Hitler's look of "stern poise" is replaced by an expression of "joy and exuberance," said the announcer. "He stretches his arms as a man who is freed from a heavy burden" and then in elation "hits his palm with his fist."

LONDON, June 27 — (AP) — London bus fares, about two cents, will be raised to about three cents after July 3, the government announced yesterday.

Montana has shown a consistent gain in per capita wealth while the figure for the nation as a whole has fluctuated.

Considered as the team most likely to beat out Sanford when the season opened, the Hatters have slumped into sixth place. Attendance here has been one of the league's lowest, averaging but 275 for home games to date.

It was learned that Palatka, a league member in previous years, and Lakeland are bidding for the first franchise available.

Thirty-five fans turned out for the special meeting at the Chamber of Commerce. A committee composed of Pat Bama, Bill Peck, J. H. Tatum, F. J. Calkins, Robert O'Toole, Jim Fribble, Bill Cooley, Earl Burns, G. M. Milson, Walter Lahrman, and Charles Kirkconnell pledged itself to raise the necessary operating funds. Madwin Peck presided. In the past, DeLand has sold more players to higher ranking leagues than any other club in the circuit, including Jack Bellinger who went on to the Philadelphia Phillies, and Huck Gentry, now starring at Minneapolis.

League President Henry Gray could not be reached at Gainesville last night. However, on his visit to Orlando last week he stated that to the best of his knowledge all teams were financially sound, though two franchises could be "placed within 48 hours if necessary."

Sanford is one of three cities in the state which has been selected by the I.A.A. one of the schools in the Civilian Pilot Training Program, the non-collected class. The others are at DeLand and Jacksonville. There are 230 such schools being established in the United States.

The course will consist of a ground school where the students will be taught along with allied subjects. The general public, both men and women, can take this course even though they are not eligible to receive a pilot's license. This provision of the program for non-competitive taking the ground course will not exceed $10.

The only payment which competitors will make is the purchase of a uniform for a flight suit and a flight cap. The cost of these items will be refunded to the competitor at the completion of the course. This provision of the program will not be required for flight certificates.

The qualifications of these schools are being reviewed by the Federal Aviation Administration. The first class will begin on Monday, July 1, 1940.

Only one school will be available in Sanford.

Applications For Enrollment May Be Obtained At C. Of C.

The first class in the non-competitive preliminary flight training course to be given here through the Civilian Pilot Training Program of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, will be held in the Sanford High School next Monday night at 7:30 o'clock under the direction of R. E. Kipp, principal of the Sanford Grammar School, who was awarded his master's degree at the University of Florida last Spring.

Mr. Kipp will be assisted in the class by W. R. Baker of Lake Mary, a retired instructor in the Army Air Corps, it was decided at a meeting of the Aviation Committee of the Chamber of Commerce here.

Fifty young men who are eligible for scholarships are desired for the first class and in order to be assured that there will be a sufficient number enrolled in this first class, invitations have been extended to eligible young men in several cities. However, there are several indications that the quota for this first class would be filled by youth in this county.

Many of these have already sought to make applications. These inquiries can obtain registration blanks at the Chamber of Commerce building or from A. W. Lee, chairman of the aviation committee.

More Defense Funds Needed, FDR Indicates

President Intimates Added Funds To Be Used To Place Huge Equipment Orders

WASHINGTON, June 22.—President Roosevelt indicated today that increased appropriations would be sought for the Army, but offered no suggestions on the amount.

He intimated that the added funds will be used to place large orders for defense equipment. Asked whether he had been brought to his attention that the Army drafting program was involving new large amounts, he answered it is now being looked upon whether to some kind of program it would not be necessary to give the expanded order now to assure industry it would get part of its money back.

It was previously reported that the President intended to seek an increase in the defense budget for the fiscal year 1941. The $4,000,000,000 program would be a 10 per cent increase over the $3,600,000,000 program for 1940.

The President said under the program set for 1941, in great part, the necessary funds would be obtained by the sale of government bonds.

The powers which are today available for execution by the President include the power to suspend the writ of habeas corpus, to grant pardons and to commute sentences, to appoint and remove judges, to appoint and remove officers of the United States, to grant reprieves and commutations, to grant pardons and to commute sentences, to grant reprieves and commutations, to grant pardons and to commute sentences.

RAF Bombers Aided Oil Refineries In Daring Daylight Raid Into Germany

The major European struggle between Britain and the Axis powers was marked by the British air force over the British Isles, and the torpedo-bombing of a supply ship 2,000 miles from the British coast by a British submarine off the south coast of Norway.

The sinking incident, comparatively minor in itself, has disclosed one of the first clues of the secret chosen by Hitler for the hurried invasion of England. German bombers raided Britain for the seventh time in 10 days, and from southeast England to southwest Scotland. The British said "no serious damage," and "very slight casualties."

A British bombing plane, in a surprise attack on Germany, destroyed a large oil refinery at Danzig, Poland, starting from the air base at RAF Bomber Command, starting from the air base at RAF Bomber Command, starting from the air base at RAF Bomber Command.

Germans Charge Soviet Action Is British-Inspired Trick To Extend War Zone

A clash of German and Russian interests as a result of the Red army's march into Besarabia and northern Bucovina appeared in the Nazi reaction to the Soviet triumph in Rumania.

Officials of the German legation in Bucharest, charged that the Russian coup was a British-inspired trick to create a new front for the European War but that Germany would act only if its own territorial and economic interests were damaged.

Germany, they argued, was more immediately concerned with smashing Britain.

These quarters said frankly that Germany had advised Rumania to accede to Russian demands on the grounds that it was only a "temporary adjustment" and that German "interests will settle things later."

Rumania, after yielding to the stiff Russian ultimatum, pushed most of its army troops to the frontiers.

Hungary and Bulgaria called up their reserves.

Turkey sent its fleet into the Black Sea, stripped for action, and ready to defend the Dardanelles against any attack.

Need For Food In Europe To Effect Florida Farmers

Agricultural Future Of State Should Be Of Prime Interest

JACKSONVILLE, June 22.—A warning that the European war would result in serious problems for Florida agriculture was given here yesterday at the opening of a three-day meeting of market managers and advisory committees of the Florida State Farmers' Marketing Board.

"We do not know which way it will turn and we do not know exactly what conditions we will have to meet, but at present the very best solution of the war will create problems that are new and difficult," said William L. Wilson, director of state markets for the agricultural marketing board.

"Agriculture and the particular type of agriculture in which we are chiefly engaged will be deeply affected. Wouldn't it be a good idea for us to consider the various possibilities, lacking definite information as well as a perfect predicting ability, wouldn't it be a good idea to consider plans for the immediate future of agriculture in Florida that we may advise our farmers and guide our work to fit?"

Wilson asserted, "there will be a great need for foodstuffs in Europe and we must be in position to respond."

Should Germany win, he declared, a world-wide barter campaign probably would be launched "and the United States itself will probably be the target."

He outlined the proposed United States plan for economic cooperation among the American nations involving exchange of goods, adding "we should be careful not to overproduce the type of things which we may be asked to assist our neighbors to market."

"The third possible solution of the war," he said, "may be the utter defeat of England and the actual defense of our own shores."

In such an event, he said, a problem for American agriculture would be the raising of "any products now imported from other countries."

As an increase of 100 license tags issued and $3,975.17 in revenues collected from this source was disclosed in a comparison of the auto license record of this year with that of last year by Tax Collector J. D. Jenkins.

The revenue in Mr. Jenkins' office for the year ended on December 31, 1939, there have been 5,638 tags sold and that the revenue collected for the year ended on June 15, 1940, as compared with 4,688 tags issued and revenue amounting to $3,286.61 for the same period last year.

The revenues collected from the sale of the license tags is remitted to the commissioner of the Motor Vehicle Commission and is placed in the school fund to be distributed to the various counties in a teacher-salary basis.

The Tax Collector said that he has received a limited supply of the Motor Vehicle Operator's Manual for free distribution and stated that anyone calling at his office may have one of the booklets free of charge as long as they last.

Half year tags went on sale June 15th, 1940; to obtain a half year license tag the applicant must be accompanied by a bill of sale from the dealer, dated June 15th or later, in the case of new cars or trucks; or an affidavit that the vehicle has been driven on the roads of the State of Florida since the expiration of the last tag purchased for the vehicle, in the case of used cars, trucks or trailers.

The minimum price of license tags set by law is $5.35, except for light trailers weighing 600 lbs. or less, the minimum of which is $2.75.

New York Hears Reports Of Early Peace In Europe

NEW YORK, June 22.—(AP)—Industrial and financial circles here yesterday heard reports of early peace in Europe.

Well-informed business circles with important international connections said they had received information through various channels that a peace agreement might be reached, acceptable to all parties.

The information, which they considered reliable, indicated the offer was on the part of Britain with some prospect of being accepted.

The information was obtained from a source in London, according to reports of news columns in London.

The British minister of foreign affairs is reported to have said in a broadcast that the offer would "help to take out of the very heart of the European conflict the main cause of the war."

The offer was said to be a peace agreement which would be acceptable to all parties.

143 Enrollees In CCC Are Allotted To 12th District

There will be 143 young men enrolled in the Civilian Conservation Corps from State Welfare District No. 12 during the month of July, according to information received today from the office of the district director, Mis Margaret Windau, in Orlando.

This welfare district is composed of Prevard, Orange, Ocoola, Volusia and Seminole counties.

The announcement said that 128 men will be enrolled at the Ocala Camp for Florida service on July 11 and that on July 13 there will be 18 men accepted at DeLeon Springs, for Florida service.

Florida's quota has been fixed at 1,851, which is slightly less than the October enrollment last year. The enrollees must be between the ages of 17 and 25 1/2 years, physically fit and citizens of the United States. They will receive compensation in the amount of $30 per month, with subsistence, and those chosen as camp leaders will receive $45 per month and assistant camp leaders $38 per month. The latter two groups comprise 10 percent of the personnel.

Under a change in the regulations of the Corps, non-enrolled young men who are not accepted will be accepted for enrollment. They will be required to spend $22 of their monthly earnings with the camp finance system which will be returned to them when their enlistment expires.

Enlistment is for a six-month period, with the option of enlisting for a maximum of two years.

About 20 percent of the enrollees will be assigned to the Ninth Corps Area, on the Florida Coast, the others assigned to Florida, Mississippi, South Carolina and Texas.

SIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

WE ALL BELIEVE AND OPEN ARE CONFUSED: Lord, I believe; help thou mine unbelief—Mark 9:24.

INVITATION

(From the Class Poem at Lawrenceville School) I was not there to jump to the parade... I was not there to hear the music... I was not there upon the battered fields...

DAVID LOUIS POSNER.

One good way to read the future is to eliminate wishful thinking... The Republicans haven't accomplished much at their convention yet, an exchange remark. But think of the fun they had!

A tip from Karl Lehmann reveals we are about to encounter a watermelon. We are holding our breath, Karl, and our stomachs.

The Republicans seem to have dropped Willkie. Now all they have to do is stop Roosevelt—Post Miami News Press. And then stop Hitler.

Miss Myers, although commending Hitler from Europe, says the Petersburg Independent points out is trying to appease Hitler.

Henry Ford refuses to make transport airplanes a day if Great Britain is going to get them. What's the matter, Henry, haven't the Englishmen been good customers of yours?

We'll bet it would be as big a shock for the Japs as for most U. S. citizens to wake up next morning and read in the papers that the U. S. fleet had sailed at Sanitosa.

Chalmers Dies says he is going to have some interesting information on the subject for release soon. The foundation it seems, is already decided between the parties.

The Democrats will hold their 15th National Convention about the 15th of July, and if it has been decided for a third term it'll be for stronger and more united aid to the Allies. What's the matter?

Somebody who isn't a Democrat, it would be such a shock to have to get in touch with the Democrats in order to find out what they are doing. The Democrats are doing nothing.

The Republican Nominee

After President Roosevelt had turned to two outstanding Republicans, Stimson and Knox, to strengthen his cabinet in the hours of crisis, the Republicans nominated a Democrat in their Philadelphia convention last night. Wendell Willkie has long been recognized as a liberal and a Democrat and in 1932 was a strong supporter of Mr. Roosevelt in his campaign for the presidency.

But when the New Deal began putting the government in the utility business, Mr. Willkie, head of Commonwealth and Southern, was one of the few utility executives whose record and standing both financially and otherwise were sufficiently above reproach to permit him to make a vigorous fight against the TVA. This fight culminated in 1939 when he forced the government to pay $78,000,000 for utility properties taken over by the TVA in Tennessee.

Though Mr. Willkie is a utility man he can hardly be regarded as a silk-stocking candidate. He came up the hard way, born in a log cabin in Indiana, working his way through school, graduating in law, practicing in his home town of Elwood, Ind., then in Akron, Ohio, and finally in New York City where he soon rose to the position of chief executive of a large utility organization which he now heads.

While many of the Republicans would make out of the Democrats the "war party," Willkie's record is no less pro-Ally than is Mr. Roosevelt's. Had the Republicans nominated Senator Taft, they would have been regarded as the party of isolationists. Had they nominated Mr. Dewey, they could have been charged with "appeasement" policies. But Mr. Willkie early came out for all possible aid to the Allies.

It is plain to be seen that the Republicans were thinking of preparedness when they nominated Mr. Willkie. He is not a politician and never has held political office. He is a big business executive. His entire adult life has been devoted to the task of making the wheels of industry turn. It is clear the argument will be advanced now that if anyone can gain the unqualified cooperation of industry and push our rearmament program to a speedy climax, Wendell Willkie can.

It is by no means certain that the Republicans can sell this argument, or their candidate to the country, but they have probably made the best choice which was open to them. The outcome will depend a great deal upon what the Democrats do at their Chicago convention next month. But as we see it, the Republicans have not made the task of the Democrats any easier.

A Vanished Generation

The realization is dawning slowly, but none the less painfully, upon a great many Americans that they have been made the victims of an extraordinary cruel swindle. That is, they have been robbed of one of the finest times of life—a whole period, in fact. That is the period, which, in happier times, was known as middle age.

This age had no very definite boundaries; it might be anywhere in that long span between thirty and sixty. But still middle age was a fact. Millions of Americans were middle-aged. They went about their business quietly, and were generally regarded, with some reason, as the true backbone of the country. And these years of middle age were uniformly happy. Men did their best work then. If lucky and assiduous, they piled up a competence to insure them against the coming twilight.

They had outgrown the foolishness and impetuosity of youth, but the blight of old age was still far ahead. Fine people, as we remember them! They are gone now; their entire period has been abolished. It is as if a whole race had been swallowed up in some inexplicable social cataclysm. Under the present dispensation in this country, a man is a child, eligible to belong to the American Youth Congress, until he is around forty years of age. And when he reaches that age, what happens? He is an everybody knows, a dodderer, suitable neither for cannon fodder nor the pleasant pursuits of peace. Somehow the old system made more sense.—New York Herald Tribune.

Partners, Not in Crime

Patrolman Smith of the Berkeley, California, police department, and his partner Joe climbed out of their car at the mouth of a dark alley. "Let's look it over," Smith whispered. At once Joe ran silently ahead. Suddenly Joe barked.

For Joe is one of the ten Doberman pinschers that nightly ride the police patrol cars in Berkeley, guard prisoners, sniff out fugitives, follow the trails of lost children and wanted men.

This night, Officer Smith found Joe standing over the body of a man recently slugged and robbed. Leaving him on duty, the patrolman spread the alarm. And when the victim had been rushed to the hospital, it was Joe and two other Dobermans that took up the hunt and led their human partners to the criminal. As the man reached for his gun, he went down under a mass of dogs.

Each Berkeley policeman owns his dog; the city gives him six hours a week for nine months to train it. He pays $100 for a pup, trains it till it is 18 months old. Several of the dogs have been in service for ten years. Dobermans are used because they are the fiercest in attack, the most gentle when called off.

"They make the best partners in the world," explains Patrolman Smith. "They're always on the job, are afraid of nothing, are as smart as most men, more loyal than most."—Readers Digest.

(Continued From Page One) or Navy Air Corps as a cadet. Upon completion of the advance course, the student has a commission in the reserves and is eligible to be an instructor, a position which pays a salary of several hundred dollars monthly. According to present plans, a class will be held in the Seminole High School for the 2 1/2 month period from 8:30 to 10:00 P. M. and if there is a sufficient waiting list it is probable that a second class will be organized, possibly with instruction during the day.

In the 75 hours of preliminary ground instruction the student will receive instruction in the following subjects: History of aviation (2 class hours), Civil Air Regulations (12 class hours), Navigation (15 class hours), Meteorology (15 class hours), Parachutes (1 class hour), Aircraft and Theory of Flight (11 class hours), Engines (6 class hours), Instruments (5 class hours), Radio Uses and Forces (2 class hours). The textbooks for the course will be furnished by the instructor. Mr. Kipp who will be the instructor of the course received a Bachelor of Science Degree from the University of Florida specializing in the sciences and in mathematics. He had some practical engineering work with the State Road Department before he became mathematics instructor at the Seminole High School about five years ago. He is now principal of the Sanford Grammar School.

Mr. Kipp has received last Spring, Mr. Kipp, technical mathematics.

Six Gram Motor Is Built In Switzerland

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, June 25.—(AP)—Monsieur Huguenin of the village of Four-de-Pellis belongs to that fraternity whose mania is constructing the "world's-smallest-this-or-that." M. Huguenin, whose specialty is electrical engines, is busily competing with himself. Last year he exhibited an electrical motor weighing sixteen grams (544 ounces avoirdupois) housed in a match box. It was exhibited at the Swiss National Exposition, billed as the world's smallest electrical engine—and there were no challengers. This year M. Huguenin has constructed an electrical motor weighing only six grams (.212 ounce avoirdupois) which he has placed inside a pearl lent by a jeweler. He says that given time (he's only 45 now) he may do even better than that.

MOVIE MUSINGS

By CHARLIE MORRISON

Well, folks as Samuel Goldwyn, the movie producer, would say, "This thing must come to a conclusion"; which would be Sam's idea of bringing things to a conclusion. My idea in stopping this deluge of double feature combinations which has literally swamped me, is to say, simply and sincerely, "That's all folks!" It would take a half page to list those not yet acknowledged. Please do not send in any more. Those received after this plea, will be used by yours truly to cut out paper dolls.
Although I find it impossible to list all of the combinations submitted by the following readers, I do wish to say that each of you will find two pages awaiting you at the Herald office.
Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Cole, Dorothy Cole, Bummy McCall, Billy Shoremaker, Billy Bingham, Elsie Harman, Bobbie Gut, James Gut and Mrs. J. E. Baurman.

1932 the Federal attorney general, at Fort Wayne, Ind., in Akron, O. He will speak at a utility convention in New York in 1933 and New York in 1934. He is president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and Southwestern.

Willkie married Edith Willkie, born in Akron at Akron, Ohio, before he left for New York. The Willkies have one son, Philip, born in New York in 1928. He is a member of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and Southwestern.

Willkie, who was a dyed-in-the-wool Democrat until 4 years ago, changed into the Republican camp when he believed the New Deal had gone too far.

"The preservation of private enterprise in America," he says, "is the only way to preserve all other rights."

A crusader-burial character known as one of Indiana's best lawyers, Willkie calls himself a "Hoosier," says that as a former member of the Indiana bar, he has had big business relations with labor and the community.

Today, big business has been hit, he adds, and it is the government and government agencies that need looking after.

Willkie stands 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighs about 230. He is not known to anyone whose name he knows. He never has a car; doesn't carry a gun. His office has a country-club atmosphere. He likes to get out on his desk, usually around high with correspondence, and he is about anything. He has a little attention to what he is doing, usually two parts of eight minutes daily, like a Scotch or Irish, in the evening, wears loose blue suits and cheap white shirts.

Willkie was born one of six children and the son of two practicing lawyers. His mother was one of the first women admitted to the Indiana bar. All his friends were refugees from Russia.

Willkie's native memories will be a misadventure, protection, and a boy. In his youth, he was a member of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and Southwestern. He was a member of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and Southwestern.

A Indiana University, Willkie was a nonconformist who wore a loose-necked sweater, chewed tobacco and roared against the family and traditional. Later, he joined Beta Theta Pi, of which Paul V. McNutt was a member. Says McNutt of Willkie: "Win never tries to sell himself, and that's the subtlest salesmanship."

His first day in court was a flop. As an assistant prosecutor, he delivered a powerful oration lasting three hours, but his father, the defense attorney, blasted the state's case with one sentence:

"I am sure my son will be a great lawyer because he can make so much out of nothing."

Coming within an ace of running for Congress, he took a job with an Akron rubber company instead. Later he was a successful corporation lawyer, and in 1924 was delegate to the Democratic convention.

Struck by Willkie's work, E. C. Cobb of Commonwealth Power Corp. announced him to New York to help assemble Commonwealth and Southern Corp. When Cobb's health failed he backed Willkie for the presidency of the firm.

It was as president of Commonwealth and Southern that Willkie gained national fame by fighting the administration taking over company property for T.V.A. Finally, the EEC arbitrated the dispute, setting a price for the company's holdings and Willkie sold out at a good figure.

The Willkies live simply for people in their position. Usually they vacation in Indiana where they have 1,500 acres of farmland. Willkie puts on old clothes and chins with the farmers. At home in the Willkie apartment are thousands of books. And he can tell you what's in most of them.

camp during the summer. He draw from the company the difference between their regular salary and the amount paid to them by the National Guard for the time that they are in camp," the latter said.

In addition, Mr. Woodward was authorized to purchase a United States flag to be displayed on the Fourth of July and other patriotic occasions.

"America must be prepared against all contingencies, and do our part," is the slogan the company has adopted, Mr. Woodward said.

Spanish explorers called the spot at Trinidad, Colo., "El Rio de Las Animas Perdidas en Puratorio." French trappers named it "Purgatoire" and American cowboys made it "Purgatory."

Order Controls Movement Of Ships Harbors Of U.S.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—(AP)—President Roosevelt signed into law today a bill requiring the registration and fingerprinting of approximately 3,500,000 aliens in the United States.

In a statement issued simultaneously, the President expressed the hope that no "loyal aliens" would be subjected to harassment in the course of the program but added:

"With those who are disloyal and bent on harm to this country, the government can and will deal vigorously."

The legislation forbids attempts to undermine the loyalty of the Army and Navy personnel and provides for the deportation of aliens who have belonged to an organization which advocates the overthrow of the government by force and violence.

The registering and fingerprinting will be conducted at 100,000 points throughout the country and will go on into the Justice Department files. Registration, however, will not be required for alien-born citizens.

Higgins States Aviation Class Will Begin Monday

The class which will begin the preliminary flying course next Monday night is rapidly filling. Edward Higgins, secretary of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, said today, while urging boys, young men and women interested to register for the course by noon on Monday.

The Chamber of Commerce building will be kept open all day tomorrow by the members of the American Legion, sponsor of the school, to give information to those desiring to enroll in the classes. Application blanks will also be available at the Chamber of Commerce building.

Mr. Higgins stated that it had been decided to hold the classes in the Grammar School instead of the Seminole High School as was first announced. He explained that the school is in a better location and is a more modern building.

The rapid growth of the association has made it necessary for the directors to seek larger facilities and employ a full time secretary. Mr. Cooper who has acted as secretary since organization, felt he could not give up his other business connections, therefore submitted his resignation.

The board of directors on accepting his resignation at its meeting June 25th, gave Mr. Cooper a rising vote of thanks in appreciation for his services and untiring efforts in behalf of the association.

The organization was formed with a capital of $5,000 in 1935 and in 1936 it paid its first dividend of 4 percent. Dividends have been paid to the stockholders every year.

There have been a total of 197 boys and 236 persons have been enrolled in classes at the association since its formation. The association is now open to all persons who are interested in aviation.

Balbo Killed In Air Fight Over Tobruk

Libyan Governor-General Led Italian Planes In Mass Flight To U. S.

ROME, June 28.—(AP)—Marsilio Balbo, governor-general of Libya, was killed yesterday while piloting a plane over Tobruk, Libya, during an enemy bombardment. Flags of Italian armed forces were ordered lowered in homage to the "memory of Italo Balbo, Alpine volunteer in the World War, one of the greatest leaders of the revolution, transatlantic flyer and air marshal who died at his post in combat."

The dashing, colorful, black-bearded transatlantic flyer was one of Fascism's celebrities, and mentioned as a possible successor to Mussolini. He was sent to Libya, however, at the height of his popularity. Balbo's name has been heard less often in connection with the possible Fascist successor.

Balbo in 1932 led the historic mass flight of Italian planes to the United States.

Breckinridge Asserts Britain Is Last Bastion

BURLINGTON, Vt., June 29.—Col. Henry Breckinridge, of New York, called upon the American people to arouse themselves from their false feeling of security and asserted that the present world crisis differs from others in that today a nation conquered may be enslaved not for a while but forever.

Urging continued help for Great Britain and her allies, Col. Breckinridge declared that America's security depends on their aid. He said that if they are defeated, the world will be a different place.

Col. Breckinridge said the air plane exemplifies the main difference between warfare today and warfare in the past. "A plane once destroyed is a plane once destroyed," he said.

"The last bastion between America and the legions of hell is Britain," Col. Breckinridge said. "However near we may be to certain incidents of her past, she is the mother of liberty. Kill her and not even the child of Satan himself can remove this fact from her epitaph. Like a dialle, she is the only great free power left to resist the ferocity of the unstable tyrant before we stand alone facing the victorious dictators' drachmas with blood and gashed with the possessions of their victims."

"Some people say the United States has never enforced universal military training except in time of war. Well, my fellow citizens in no war of her history has America been in such danger as now confronts her. The darkest days of the Revolution, the laborious struggle of the Civil War, were as nothing compared with the present moment. Except our..."

Balkan Nations Tremble Under New War Alarms

FRENCH COLONY UNDER JAP GUNS

Russian Thrust Deeper Into Rumania Is Accompanied By Sporadic Fighting

Britain Faces Far East Crisis

Italians Claim Sub Sank 10,000 Ton British Steamer

ARMED Russian forces today penetrated deeper into Rumania than provided for in the ultimatum, and the Balkans trembled under new alarms as King Carol sped the mobilization of 2,000,000 men.

Sporadic fighting accompanied the Russian thrust. Reports through uncertain communications out of the area jammed with refugees and soldiers said that the Red army, occupying Bessarabia and northern Bucovina, might have crossed the agreed limits by force.

Great Britain, facing a crisis with Japan, ordered compulsory removal of all European women and children from Hongkong, a British crown colony. United States officials were expected to follow suit.

Japan's foreign minister warned the western powers that Japan would permit no upset in the status quo of East Asia and the South Seas.

The Russian high command said that one of its submarines sank a 10,000-ton armed steamer, and that some 20 British planes on the ground were destroyed in an air bombardment at Marsa Matruh, on the Egyptian coast of the Mediterranean.

Germany's high command claimed the sinking of three British armed merchant ships totaling 11,000 tons by a Nazi submarine, while another submarine reportedly sank 38,000 tons of merchant ships.

The Rumanian government appealed to Germany to make Russia live up to the original agreement.

Germany stood at least officially on the sidelines and expressed official unconcern.

Hungary rushed troops to the Rumanian border, and threatened an invasion of her own if the Red drive should continue.

A neutral diplomatic source in London asserted that a peace move was in the air and predicted any Nazi attempt to invade England would await the result.

Nazi planes bombed Britain again today striking at the Channel islands of Jersey, and Guernsey, and Southwest, Southwest and Northwest coast of England and Wales.

German bases on the French coast were raided anew by British forces.

Soviet troops occupying coded parts of Rumania moved yesterday beyond those areas into old Rumania itself.

After taking over Cornești, a city yielded by King Carol in his surrender to the Russian ultimatum, they swept into Dobrova, town in the province of Moldavia.

As soon as this news leaked out, the Rumanian government filed an urgent appeal with the German minister that Berlin put hard pressure in Moscow to halt the Red advance and force the Russians to retire to the line named in their original and accepted demand.

All this was not the end of the unhappy country's troubles. Budapest informants advised that while Hungarian official quarters were denouncing "several Rumanian cablegrams published reports of a Russian ultimatum to Hungary, a cable said a similar ultimatum was issued in the official Hungarian press."

The news there accused the Rumanian government of publishing the cablegrams only to alarm the people and make them believe that the Rumanian government was in a state of panic.

French Committee Does Not Want To Be Government

Sole Object Of Group Is To Establish Volunteer Legion

LONDON, June 29.—(AP)—The French national committee, shortly after the British government had recognized Gen. Charles de Gaulle as "leader of all free Frenchmen," last night issued a statement asserting it does not wish to become the government of France.

Sole object of the committee was to form a volunteer foreign legion to be backed by the British government, the statement said.

Formed by de Gaulle, the committee had been attempting to persuade the French colonies to fight against the German and Italian forces.

Apparently fearful of consequences of a complete break with the French government, but anxious to rally resistance of the French empire overseas, Britain last night recognized de Gaulle as leader of the French outside France.

"Whatever happens in other parts of the world, the French volunteer legion will go ahead even if it is an isolated colony of Frenchmen in Britain," the committee statement said.

It emphasized it would continue to rally resistance in the French colonies despite reported cessation of hostilities in Syria where there was an armed force of 500,000 men which it had been hoped would fight "on alongside Britain."

De Gaulle, it was said, was experiencing difficulty in communicating and receiving replies from points of the French empire overseas.

"He has no official news regarding the various parts of the empire," it was stated. "Even if the commander in Syria and North Africa give up it does not necessarily mean that all the forces behind them will give up also."

The committee statement said the French volunteer legion would number several thousand men which would form a mechanized force. The legion it was said, was being recruited from Frenchmen who reside in Britain and from soldiers rescued from Dunkerque and those despatched after the armistice.

It was understood recognition at the head of the French national committee in London would not mean a complete break with the government of Marshal Petain at least not immediately.

"The marshal's government received no approval from the leader of all free Frenchmen, whereas they may be, who will be in official at the Alliance," an official announcement said.

Americas Get Warning From Axis Powers

Told Attitude May Determine Future Economic Relations

BERLIN, June 29.—(AP)—The publication of Berlin-Rome-Tokyo cables, warned North and South American republics that their attitude may determine the future economic relations of "new Europe" with the Americas. The article was sanctioned by Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop.

Inspiration for the article was the forthcoming meeting of the American republics.

Behrs Visit Fair On Three Weeks' Trip To Gotham

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Behr and their two children returned Thursday from a three weeks' trip to New York City where they had many interesting experiences at the World's Fair.

Mr. Behr was particularly impressed with the Borden Milk Co. exhibit, featuring "Elate the Cow" which has drawn huge crowds. Elsie has a home all her own, including living room, bed room, and bath. The entire process of milking is also shown.

"The Florida exhibit has been drawing bigger and bigger crowds," said Mr. Behr, "in spite of its poor location on the extreme edge of the grounds. I noticed a great number of Florida people were listed in the registry."

"The General Motors exhibit is still jammed to capacity. It seems to be one of the most popular at the Fair."

Mr. Behr reported seeing considerable maneuvering of trucks and artillery on his way South. He said that about 15,000 men at Fort Monmouth in New Jersey were apparently preparing for field activities.

According to Mr. Behr, the new Republican presidential nominee, Wendell L. Willkie, is a popular choice in New York and it is felt among the people there that he will make a strong race.

The sentiment toward helping England in her hour of need is divided about 50-50, Mr. Behr stated.

The Behrs experienced considerable cold weather for part of their stay, the temperature being around 55 degrees at times, and sometimes dropping as low as 49 degrees at night. Top coats were still much in evidence. The homeward trip was marred by much rain.

CIVILIANS EVACUATED ALEXANDRIA, EGYPT, June 29.—(AP)—Four hundred thousand civilians have been transported from Alexandria and Cairo to inland desert villages in face of possible attack.

Authorities said 150,000 had left Alexandria and at least 30,000 from Cairo in a steady stream of trucks, with some civilians being evacuated to the desert.
