

Fight Likely If County Balks On Library Bonds

By Diane Petryk Herald Staff Writer
 Friends of the Library President Pat Herring said she is not surprised by Seminole County Commissioner T. D. "Bud" Feather's comment that new libraries mandated by a bond issue referendum would be financially infeasible for the county.

"The bond issue was passed by the electorate," she said. "We are against it at the time."

Feather said Friday the commission may not go ahead with the bond issue because it will result in its putting itself in a "hedgehog" position by incurring the debt, interest and principal alone, he said, will cost $750,000 a year. With operating expenses, that figure will double.

Feather said the county cannot afford $1.5 million per year for libraries when it needs funds desperately in more critical areas.

"Libraries are very important," Mrs. Herring said.

"The first thing people ask about when they move into the area is what are the schools like. Libraries are sort of an extension of the schools."

The type of people moving into Seminole County will demand good libraries.

She said Friends of the Library will likely lay any attempt to cancel interest on the bond issue referendum by getting out and trying to educate the public to what they would be missing. But as for legal action if the county commission fails to issue the bonds:

"Frankly," she said, "We don't have that kind of money."

Mrs. Herring, who was just elected president of Friends of the Library, said the organization currently has about 145 members, but plans a membership drive through the summer.

Since she has not met with the group's board yet, she said she cannot be specific about their plans.

In regard to Feather's comments, Jean Rhein, Seminole County's library services director, said:

"I try not to react to individual commissioners' opinions. I only react to a vote of the commission."

Ms. Rhein said she was in favor of putting the library referendum on the table. "There's always a way to issue new bond issues."

Although Feather and County Administrator T. Duncan Rowe III have pointed out that the "Citizens' Choice" tax rollback amendment would seriously hinder any county attempt to provide for anything beyond critical services, Ms. Rhein said, "There's always a Proposition 13 somewhere."

"But I think we have to see on what we have now, not what might happen two years down the road."

"I think we have to grow. Then if it hits, it hits. We can't anticipate disaster."

County Administrator Rowe, however, said the county must prepare itself for the reality of the situation.

Commissioner Sandra Glavin told the Friends of the Library annual meeting Wednesday that she is certain the tax rollback amendments, also known as the Havitt bill, will pass. But she added she thinks the county will be able to build at least one good library, stock it and keep it operating, Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff also said he believes the commission will find a way to pay for operating the new libraries.

"If the Havitt bill does not pass, that might mean a property tax hike."

"We might have to raise taxes to fund county services," Kirchhoff said.

"If Havitt passes, however, Rowe said, it may take a miracle to find the funds."

He explained:

The funds would have to be granted at the expense of other services. And, he said, there isn't a lot of fat in the organization.

Architects Picked For Five School Projects

Five school construction projects will move ahead this week as the school board approved contracts with four architectural firms. They are:

—The Eugene W. Benz Co. of Winter Park, which will design a $270,175 addition to the Rosenwald Elementary Child Care Center in Altamonte Springs. The firm's fee will be $13,250.

—The Dainwood, Derryberry, Fritch and a partnership of Casabeyri, which will design Elementary V, a $4 million elementary school to be located in Sanford behind the School Board offices at 1211 Melville Ave. The firm's fee will be $200,000.

The FDP partnership will also handle the remodeling of the Middle School in Sanford. It is estimated that the remodeling will cost $325,000 and the firm will receive 6 percent of the construction cost as a fee.

—Prized Architects of Winter Park will design the $1.2 million Lanier Elementary School addition. Their fee will be $54,000.

—Watson and Co. of Orlando will design the renovation and repair of the gymnasium at Lynett School in Longwood. The estimated cost of the project is $525,000. The firm's fee is $20,000.

School Board members Jean Bryant and William Knott voted against the Benz firm for the Rosenwald addition. Knott had previously recommended another firm, but was not selected by the board's executive committee. Board members Roland Williams and Pat Telson voted against Watson and Co. for the Lynett school. Williams said Watson designed the gym roof and design problems caused it to collapse. Knott said a previous bond merging it was not

 It's kind of frustrating when you've spent all the time and effort studying about and then building your own solar oven only to have it mean to cooperate. Just ask some fourth graders of Red Bug Elementary School, Casselberry. It happened to them this week. In the top photo, the students sit around waiting for the sun to come out from behind a cloud and cook the hot dogs they had planned to have for lunch. Ten-year-old Terry Bateson (below) doesn't seem to mind the wait. He's either not hungry or a very patient fellow.

Water Lake Mary Leaders Trying To Find Some of Their Own

By Donna Eaves Herald Staff Writer
 The first step, albeit a small one, has been taken toward getting the city of Lake Mary its own water supply.

City officials and local developers met Friday to map strategy on what should do what and when in order to have Lake Mary from water supplied by Sanford.

Don McInish, an engineer for the proposed 133-acre Lake Mary Woods development, said the preference would be for the developer to connect to Sanford's water supply as had been planned for more than a year. But, he added, if that is not possible he would like to talk to Lake Mary's consulting engineer about building a water plant in Lake Mary.

McInish said if the city wants the plant expanded to serve more than just Lake Mary, Woods residents, that would be up to the city. Presumably, the plant would be donated to the city after construction.

At the same time, Jerry Petraitis, representing Residential Communities of America which plans to develop 700-plus housing units off State Road 404, said his firm will have a "concrete proposal" on the water issue to make to the city within two weeks.

And Hans Schweitzer, who is planning the 31-home Lake Shiloh Woods subdivision, estimated to finish that Sanford might be required to supply water to the development.

Several times, Schweitzer urged that the city contact Sanford and ask that the commitment be fulfilled.

Mayor Walter Sorenson told Schweitzer that he will take the request to the Lake Mary City Commission at its next meeting.

"If they want me to do it, I will," Sorenson said, adding, "My impression is that..."

'Retirement' Has Been Less Than Relaxing For Jail Chief

By Michael Beha Herald Staff Writer
 Jim Schoultz has been busy in the 11 years since he retired as chief of the U.S. Army's top cops.

Schoultz led the Army in 1972 after 25 years of service, most of it in the military police. Among his duties as "The Number Two Cop in the Army" was supervising one of the Army's toughest stockades — at Leavenworth, Kansas.

Schoultz planned to hang up his badge and go when he moved to Seminole County in 1972. "I came to Florida retired and I planned to stay in Florida," he said.

But the retirement was short lived. He was coaxed into working as administrator of Orange County's jails on a temporary basis. That temporary job lasted eight years until Sheriff J. Lawson Latta was elected in Orange County and appointed his man.

In 1981, Schoultz moved on to Brevard County where he supervised operations at the county's old, overcrowded jail in Titusville. He came home to Longwood to take over as administrator of the Seminole County Jail. It's another "temporary" post with Schoultz saying the job of administrator is a "one-year" position. Schoultz said he plans to stay only for a year or two.

Schoultz said the jail is a 24-hour facility in enjoyable compared to the difficulties he encountered in Orange and Brevard counties.

Brevard County is under a court order to find more space for inmates. The jail there has been plagued with escapes and overcrowding problems.

In Orange County, more than 1,000 prisoners are in the county's three jails. "It's a rough situation here because of the sheer volume of prisoners," Schoultz said.

"Seminole County is in better shape than the neighboring counties because of the reversion of its jail facility. The jail opened in 1980 and has most of the latest detection technology available."

But things are not perfect at the jail.

"A February fire inspection revealed several problems which have since been corrected. Trainers resolutely constructed a shed behind the jail to store paint and other flammable materials which were being stored inside the jail. A mechanism for opening inner and outer exit doors simultaneously is now in place. In event of an emergency...

"The jail is already showing signs of strain as the county's population grows at a frantic pace. Seminole is expected to need a new facility within seven years, Schoultz said. Even now, prisoners occasionally are forced to sleep on the floor because there aren't enough beds to accommodate everyone."

By 1990, the county is expected to need more for 500 prisoners and, by the year 2020, 800 beds will be needed.

"Pretty soon we're going to have to start thinking about 1980," he said. "It's not that far off."

County officials have already begun talking about a jail expansion project. County Administrator T. Duncan Rowe has told county commissioners they need to plan for Lake Mary's Mike Rowan seemed to have "worth" going in the State J.A. Track & Field Championships Friday at the University of Florida. He was named as the only runner on two successive jumps. Rowan, a junior, was the only runner to earn a place. See Sports, page 1A.

Sanford's Mike Merriam tossed a no-hitter and hammered two home runs on Bonfield's unopposed O.A.V. 11-0 in Little League League play at Sanford's new Ray Avenue Field. Merriam also tossed a six-inning Sanford Junior League play over Ball Motor Line. See Sports, page 1A.

House OKs Bill To Open Police, Teacher Records

Florida Weekly, Saturday, Feb. 14, 1982 • Page 1B

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Saying the public has a right to know about citizen complaints against its members, House today passed legislation to open up police and teacher records.

But the legislation, drafted by a special judicial subcommittee on oversight, also would require the state to pay for the records and to limit the release of information to the public.

The bill, which also would require the state to pay for the records and to limit the release of information to the public.

Opponents asserted opening up the records would allow officers and teachers to be sued in the news media on baseless charges filed by disgruntled students, in the case of teachers, or by lawmakers called "maggots" and "disturbs," in the case of police.

Proponents said the records need to be open to ensure internal investigations of complaints are properly conducted. They also said that opening up the process would allow falsely accused police and teachers to clear their names since the initial charges invariably become public through word of mouth or news leaks.

Under current law, records of a citizen complaint against a police officer officially become public only if the complaint is substantiated. Teacher records are closed entirely, even if the teacher ultimately commits multiple murders, as he happened in DuDe County.

The police bill (HB 1260), passed 64-44, would keep complaint records confidential until an internal investigation is completed. It is effective in mid-June, that finding would be tagged onto the complaint and citizens filing a complaint could be convicted of a misdemeanor for disclosing it prematurely.

The teacher measure (HB 1261), approved 73-36, would open up teacher personnel files, including official transcripts, but allow teachers to insert their own statements and bar any anonymous adverse reports.

Rep. Dexter Lehtinen, D-Fort Pierce, who leads the open government subcommittee, said the procedures proposed for teachers and police are the same used by the state Ethics Commission where investigating elected officials and noted that criminal complaints against citizens become public whether they are founded or not.

The citizens of this state have a right to see whether an investigation was done, how it was done and whether it was legitimate."

The other bills sent to the Senate would:

- Open up the meetings and records of search committees for state university chancellors and community college presidents just as searches for university presidents are open now (HB 1040), approved 71-40.
- Propose a constitutional amendment opening up the meetings of judicial nominating commissions (HB 1155), approved 106-4.

- Keep confidential witness lists and writers or recorded confessions made by a suspected criminal until trial (HB 1128), approved 112-0.
- Allow the subpoenaing of hospital patient records related to investigations but keep them confidential unless released by a court.

Two Senate Sunshine bills approved by the House and sent to Gov. Bob Graham would:

- Allow local research and development authorities to keep certain business-related records confidential (SB 316), passed 112-0.

IN BRIEF

Driver Who Crashed Into School Bus Dumped

ORLANDO (UPI) — The driver of a dump truck that slammed into the back of school bus loaded with elementary school children was charged with manslaughter after a jury found him guilty of manslaughter.

At least 20 people, including truck driver Stanley Majewski, 25, of Orlando, sustained minor injuries in Friday's accident.

Majewski's children and Majewski were taken to DuDe County General Hospital with cuts and bruises and "somebody not even that," said hospital spokeswoman Sandy Miller.

Another eight school children were taken to Orlando Regional Medical Center, also with minor injuries.

All were treated and released.

The Florida Highway Patrol said indicated the truck rear-ended the bus as it was stopped to pick up children about 9 a.m.

Beach Boat Brewing

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Legislature is expected to give state rights over the future sale of beach bars to Gov. Bob Graham's "Save Our Beaches" program.

The Senate passed and sent to Graham Friday bills saying legislative approval would be necessary for the further sale of beach bars to finance the beachfront protection program.

Graham may veto the bills, the result of a dispute he has had in recent months with House Transportation Chairman Herb Morgan of Tallahassee.

Sun, Flagship Agree To Merge

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — A net of "free-stated" details led Flagship Bank Inc. to reconsider an acquisition offer from Sun Bank Inc. and agree to a merger that would make Sun the largest bank in Florida, officials said Friday.

A merger agreement was reached Thursday night, nearly three days after Sun broke off negotiations because of "unacceptable" revisions demanded by Flagship.

Joe Webb Jr., president and chairman of Orlando-based Sun, said the $351 million agreement was "essentially the same proposal" that was offered to Miami-based Flagship last week.

"It's essentially the offer we made earlier," said Webb, a "wax" character known for his fiery tongue. Some technical matters were resolved, but the price was the same.

Webb said the acquisition would help Sun penetrate South Florida, where it is currently weak. Sun has 140 banking offices across Florida, while Flagship has 140 offices in the state.

If the deal is approved by Sun and Flagship directors and government regulators, it would make Sun the largest bank holding company in Florida, with more than $6.5 billion in assets.

Southeast Banking Corp. in Miami has $6.2 billion and Jacksonville-based Barnett Banks of Florida Inc. is $5.8 billion.

Sun currently ranks third with $5.2 billion, and No. 4 Flagship has $2.3 billion.

Spokesmen for Southeast and Barnett declined comment.

Under terms of the agreement, holders of Flagship common stock could receive either Sun common stock or $25 per share.

The past agreement has the approval of Juan Vicente Sandoval, a Venezuelan investor, who is Flagship's second largest shareholder. Perez and Flagship had been involved in what the bank considered unfairly takeover tactics.

Perez, now 95 percent of Flagship's stock. He currently has an option to buy another 11.7 percent of stock from a group led by Frank Smathers, Jr., a former chairman of the Flagship bank.

Perez and his associates could not be reached for comment, but Webb said Perez had been in favor of the merger from the outset.

Flagship's request and accord followed quickly.

Flagship's stock, priced at $21.50 in anticipation of a major takeover, jumped $2 a share Thursday, closing at $23.50 in over-the-counter trading.

Sun's stock price could change, however, if the Federal Reserve Board and the Department of Justice receive antitrust complaints in particular areas because of the merger.

If there are competition overlaps, Sun could be required to divest itself of individual offices.

A similar situation occurred last July when Sun acquired $1.2 billion South Century Bank Inc. of Fort Lauderdale. Sun paid $1.1 million, but then divested itself of four Century banks to avoid antitrust complaints in markets where the two companies

I like stories about men helping women. One of my favorites is about Walter Ross. It begins more than 50 years ago...

He reasoned that if women had a chance to get together to read and discuss their own history, the 31-year-old editor of the Littleton of Vinita, Okla. He talked to the librarian about starting a "What To Read Club." She liked the idea and promptly took Ross to meet Sally Rogers Hochstetler, sister of the reformer and wit, Will Rogers.

Mrs. McSpadden, prominent clubwoman, encouraged the book clubwoman, and even helped him design the first weekly program. They all agreed the "What To Read Club," was a full-fledged reading club. It was "learning and friendship," someone suggested a cluster name. Beta Sigma Phi is the name of the club.

Beta Sigma Phi members, half of whom held full-time jobs, gather two evenings a month to discuss chapters of 10 or 20. They pay annual dues of $2.00. In addition, they donate time to volunteer activities and fund-raising projects.

One chapter may accept a weekend shelter day at a battered-women's shelter. They also pay for a study group. They pay for a study group. They pay for a study group.

Walter Ross died in 1969 by his own hand. Bill Ross, and a staff of 90 women, have built a sorority's business affairs from a red-leeked head-and-neck cancer.

BERRY'S WORLD

WASHINGTON - The Social Security Administration has now admitted - at least on its face - something I reported a year ago. Some physically disabled persons die soon after the agency's cold-blooded examiners have ruled them healthy enough to get along without disability benefits.

JACK ANDERSON

the study concluded it certainly was. As I reported last year, I heard that on Jan. 18, 1982, of a heart attack. That was five days after Beazley's death. His appeal of the cold decision two years ago was in its final turn down. He was in the hospital at the time.

Accidental Deaths?

It is not easy to be proven wrong in a courtroom. ... The Nazi press bureau released a quotation from a dispatch to the New York Times, intimating that it supported the presence of troops at the Olympic Games was a lie. ... "This decision was incorrect," the Social Security agency contends. "His disability was not a result of his work. He has never had to do so."

SWOP Offers More Than Work To Handicapped

By Jane Caselberry
Herald Staff Writer

A new home has been acquired for the Seminole Work Opportunity Program (SWOP) and it will be named for Dr. James A. Sawyer, dean of student development of Seminole Community College, and dedicated in his honor.

Sawyer has served as president of the 19-member board of the Kathleen Anderson Comprehensive Work Center Inc., the private non-profit organization that sponsors SWOP for the past three years.

Sawyer expressed his pleasure in working with a community-based program that is located in such a remote community. He said that the community supported new facility will guarantee SWOP a long term existence as well as improve its ability to meet the needs of the developmentally disabled within the community.

Having outgrown its facility at 412 S. Sanford Ave., the Kathleen Anderson Comprehensive Work Center launched a membership drive last August in order to generate enough community support to have the $20,000 needed for the down payment on the former Levy Building, owned by HarCar Aluminum Products Co. and located between the HarCar Aluminum and Tropic Mattress on U. S. Highway 17-92, Sanford. After a successful drive, the purchase agreement was finalized March 8.

The 7,000-square-foot building is now being modified to provide restrooms for the handicapped and appropriate doorways, entrances and exits for those in wheelchairs. The operation is scheduled to be moved to the new location sometime between August and November. Currently the workshop occupies 8,400 square feet of rental facilities.

Dick Ferrone, engineer in charge of Marketing Communications, Industry Automated Division, Electronic Corp., Orlando, has been elected president of the board. Not new to the private non-profit organization, he has been chairman of the President's Committee for the past two years.

Ferrone said, "Although our past successes have been many, I accept the challenge of this office and will serve to improve the quality of services provided to our clients, expand our base of services and to accept the challenge of this office, which has been as responsive to our needs."

SWOP Executive Director Bill Poe is his annual recall at the April meeting and SWOP began in 1980 with only six clients. Today services are provided to residents who are either mentally retarded, cerebral palsy, epileptic, or autistic. Most have a combination of physical and mental disabilities that prevent them from finding work in the competitive job market. The center contracts with the state to provide these services.

Procurement of the new facility will provide much of the space needed to accommodate the 47 persons who are on the waiting list, Poe said. "The population of this county is growing astronomically, and the number of disabled that must be served is growing proportionately," he added.

The only sheltered workshop in the county the state's Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services (HRS). Door-to-door transportation is provided for the clients, who currently range from 18-60 years of age.

The clients work from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. They have a 60-day probationary period and are paid in accordance with Department of Labor standards. They pay varies depending on their production level.

SWOP also performs contractual services that extend all across the United States and have a lasting impact on the clients as well as the companies for which they work. They range from local companies such as Preity Pouch, Infrared Industries, Bauer Industries, National Tense, Brown Brothers, Westinghouse Corp., NCR, Disney, Benetton, and the Hugh O'Brien Youth Foundation.

Among the jobs done by the clients are zip coding, bagging, bundling mail; repackaging products in polyethylene bags and film; inserting, collating, folding, creasing, packaging and assembling and disassembling mechanical and electrical components.

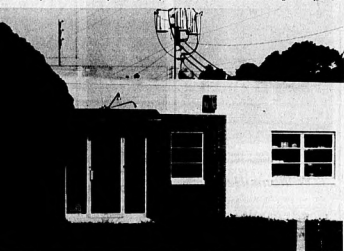

Poe said the workshop began with three on staff and now has eight. With the addition of new clients more rehabilitative aides and another personal adjustment counselor will be needed. He hopes within the next couple of years to expand the operation to 150 clients and a staff of 20.

About 80 percent of the clients live at home, while the rest live in a group situation. Eight are from the facility for the mentally retarded in Fern Park, and six from the Good Samaritan Home and another from the Citrus Group Home, according to Poe.

"They would work seven days a week if we let them do it," Poe said. "They don't want a day off and complain when there is a holiday. When they go on a family vacation they come to us for assurance they won't lose their job while they are gone. The staff had a holiday coming and we planned a long weekend, but the clients voted it down and we had to work. We have a democratic process."

"They've been starved for so long for some place where they are wanted, cared about and can earn money for doing a job that they don't want to be anywhere else," said Poe.

Prior to becoming executive director of SWOP in July 1981, Poe, a former Army major, was employed by HRS in charge of assigning clients to the workshop.

The former Levy Building on U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford, purchased from Harcar Aluminum Products by the Kathleen Anderson

Comprehensive Work Center, Inc. as a new home for the Seminole Work Opportunity Program, is now being modified to suit the needs of the handicapped.

Jacqui Greene Reaches The Top Dance, Ballerina, Dance

By Doris Dietrich
PEOPLE Editor

Jacqui Greene, who she wants to be dancing.

But most of all the talented Sanford dancer has reached her goal as a member of the Cincinnati Ballet Company.

"After signing a 38-week contract with the company, Jackie says, "The company is my first choice. It's the most exciting thing in my entire life — the goal that I hoped to attain."

Jacqui, 23, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sanford, has been on her toes since she was 8. She began her training under the tutelage of her mother at the School of Dance Arts in Sanford. She later auditioned for Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole and remained with this company until she graduated from Seminole High School.

Before reaching her 16th birthday, Jacqui had already progressed to roles in "Cinderella" and "The Nutcracker Suite." In 1975, at age 16, she was featured in an article in Dance Magazine citing her for accomplished versatility in ballet and modern dance.

After graduating from high school, Jacqui auditioned for the American Ballet in New York and was accepted. She went on to work with the Boston Ballet, including "Seaside," choreographed by the late George Balanchine. She spent several summers studying with Alvin Ailey at the Tilly Falk School of Art in Sarasota, Fla., where she performed with this company.

With an impressive dance education background, the petite dancer received a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of South Florida. Well qualified as an instructor on the college level, Jacqui set her goal to perform — and perform she did. At the university she was selected with the dance department and performed the Pas de Deux from "Swan Lake." She also performed leading roles in "Scott Joplin Suite" and "Anderson Suite," choreographed by Michele Starbuck.

Jacqui studied modern dance at the university and was featured as a guest artist with the Tampa Ballet in "Rite of Spring."

In 1980 Jacqui joined Southern Ballet Theatre as soloist where she was featured in several roles including the fatalistic, mischievous Swanilda in "Coppelia" in December, 1981. Jacqui's partner for this colorful classic was Tom Lake, also of Sanford. But Lake's foot injury during the final rehearsal left Jacqui without a partner and Russell Sudabarb flew in at the last minute to replace Lake as Franz.

While dancing with SBT, Jacqui was featured in the Orlando Opera Company's "The Merry Widow."

She went on to dance with the Cleveland Ballet and perform with the Cleveland Opera Company.

Her teaching experience includes the Cleveland Dancers, Cleveland, Ohio; Southern Ballet Theatre and Southern Ballet School, Winter Park; and Seminole Community College, among others.

According to Jacqui's mother, the Cincinnati Ballet has merged with the New Orleans City Ballet and will perform by this time when the company dances during the season in New Orleans.

The Cincinnati Ballet, one of the country's most prestigious dance companies, demands only the highest standards for its professional dancers. Not only must the dancers be talented, but they must maintain height and weight levels. And they must be pretty. Jacqui and Greene is in the right place.

It's the most exciting thing in my entire life — the goal that I hoped to attain. — Jacqui Greene

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: The lovely widow - is she a myth?

The older women I know seem to think sex is messy, disagreeable and very tiring. Their indoor sports consist of cards, bingo and bragging about their grandchildren.

Outdoor sports? They have none. I have yet to see one walk 20 steps from her automobile.

20 years ago as a happily married employee of a large retail factory, I used to feel sorry for the many "reunited widows." Now I'm beginning to wonder perhaps they don't prefer it that way. As a 70-year-old widower, I have made several "moves" only to find myself facing a wall of indifference. Here is a sample of the responses I've had when I've called to visit my lady-love:

1. "Sorry, I'm leaving for St. Paul to see my grandchildren and won't be back for a while."

2. "I have work in the fourth kitchen all afternoon, and by evening I'll be exhausted."

3. "I can't go to the dance with you - I broke my leg yesterday. I never did that one on!"

4. "I would be going to a good restaurant, sitting across the table from a pleasant, good-humored lady and discussing all manner of things."

I would like friendly company at a lively square dance, for a bicyclic ride or for a walk in the park.

Am I expecting too much? Or am I not?

LOVESOME IN SMALL TOWN

DEAR LONESOME: The first thing you mentioned was how these ladies refer to you, which leads me to believe that for operators you come on too strong in that department. Think about it. That could be your problem.

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago I read in your column that there were tons of non-smokers.

At the time my husband and I were not interested because we smoked. Since then, he has quit smoking and now I, too, as would he's tempted to start smoking again.

Now we're interested in taking a tour this summer with other non-smokers. Where do we write for information?

Serving as attendants in the bride were Miss Martha Eskridge of Burlington, maid of honor, Miss Bonnie Austin of Sanford, cousin of the bridegroom, Miss Betsy Staley and Miss Stephanie Staley, both of Carolina, nieces of the bride.
