Two school girls raped

By Dan Ping

SANFORD — Police are searching for suspects who sexually attacked two girls as they walked home from Sanford Middle School.

The attacks occurred within a 24-hour period, but police have yet to determine whether the two incidents are related.

"We're just not sure at this time," said Cleo Cohen, public information officer for the Sanford Police Department.

Youths attacked on seperate days while walking home from school

"There are some discrepancies in the victims description of the attacker, but one of the girls has had a very difficult time describing exactly what happened."

Cohen said the first attack occurred about 3:15 p.m. Wednesday in an alley in the 900 block of West 20th Street. The 11-year-old girl reported to police that she was sexually assaulted by two black males, one of whom them victim apparently recognized.

A witness, however, told police that three black males ran out of the alley at approximately the time of the incident.

Police weren't notified of the attack until nearly seven hours later. Cohen said it was difficult for officers to determine what happened

The second attack occurred about 4:15 p.m. Thursday on a pathway of 24th Street between Hartwell and Marshall avenues. The 13-year-old girl told police a large black male, approximately 40-years-old put his hand over her mouth and pulled her from pathway she was

Audubon Society plans for year 2000

By Michelle Jeria Managing Editor

SANFORD — The Seminole Audubon Society is kicking off its 2000-01 year with a look at the wonders of migration.

Parks Small, a biologist at Wekiva Basin GEOpark will present the program, which will include up-close photos of birds and information gathered from the fall migration banding station, Seminole Audubon Society Publicity Director Barbara Watson said. The following week, the Society will take a field trip to the reigration station.

"The meeting will include several wonderful, colorful and up-close photographs," Watson said. "Prople who are interested in the identification of birds will really enjoy it."

Small is a member of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Scrub-Jay Recovery Team and works with the fall migration banding station at the Wekiva Basin.

SANFORD — As visitors to downtown Sanford walk along First Street past the along Pirst Street past the many antique shop windows, dine in restaurants, or sif on a park bench, very few stop to notice the beauty directly overhead.

The architecture of Sanford's older buildings can be looked upon as works of art. Their style and elegance are a reflection of the cities colorful history. Each architecturoryogated his or her per-colorful history. Each architect incorporated his or her personal design for the crowning gloty atop each building.

Many of Sanford's building.

Many of Sanford's buildings were build before 1900 and still maintain their original extentors. The city was founded in 1870 by General Herry B. Sanford. Architect's at that time were influenced by a Variety of architectural styles ranging from Classical Revival to Beaux-Arts Classicism. To appreciate the beauty of Sanford's elegantly decorated buildings, walk slowly and beep looking up.

AFC East: Indianapolis Colts face difficult foes

By Howard Siner NEASPORTS

Life is tough in the AFC East.

For 2000, the most difficult schedules in the NFL belong to, in order, Buffalo, Miami, Indianapolis and the New York Jets. New England faces the sixth hardest slate.

Going into the 2000 season, here's a look at the division (with the teams listed in their approximate order of strength):

1. INDIANAPOLIS COLTS: With an 0-5 career mark in the playoffs, head coach Jim Mora is eager for another shot. The Colts - third in the NFL in scoring in 1999 and 17th in points allowed - have high hopes, too.

The league's top young passer is Peyton Manning

(4.135 yards, 26 touchdowns). All-NFL running back Edgerrin James led the league in rushing (1,553 yards, with 13 touchdowns) as a rookle. All-NFL wide receiver Marvin Harrison (115 receptions, 1,663 yards, 12 touchodwns) is a veteran. Tight end Ken Dilger is one of the best.

Defensive linemen Chad Bratzke and Ellis Johnson are rising stars.

2. NEW YORK JETS: Rookie head coach Al Groh is working in the shadow of legendary Bill Parcells, who retired to the front office. The Jets closed out their season at 7-2 after an injury-riddled 1-6 start.

Back from a torn Achilles tendon, veteran quarterback Vinny Testaverde gets help from running back Curtis Martin (1,484 yards). Wide receiver Wayne Chrebet Is game.

The All-NFL stars are center Kevin Mawae and linebacker Mo Lewis.

Three of the record four first-round draft picks defensive end Shaun Ellis, linebacker John Abraham and tight end Anthony Becht - might contribute right away

3. MIAMI DOLPHINS: The Dolphins are the only NFL team to go through the 1990s without a losing season. Now they've lost coach Jimmy Johnson and quarterback Dan Marino to retirement. Dave Wannstedt is the new head coach.

For so so passer Damon Huard, Miami went 5-1. Running back J.J Johnson had only 3.4 yards per carry. But the Fish were 13th in the league in scoring. Credit All-NFLer Olindo Mare's field goal record. And a lack of turnovers.

The defense, which was 19th in the NFL to points allowed, features All-NFL linebacker Zach Thomas and All-NFL cornerback Sam Madison.

4. BUFFALO BILLS: Don't look for Bruce Smith. Thurman Thomas or Andre Reed. The last biglinks to Buffalo's four straight Super Bowls are gone.

Coach Wade Phillips returns most of a defense including linebacker Sam Cowart, nosetackle Ted Washington and defensive end Phil Hansen - that game needs a boost from rookie J.R. Redmond. APC EAST in 1999: INDIANAPOLIS, 13-3 [champion): BUFFALO, 11-5 (wild card): MIAMI, 9-7 (wild

AFC Central: Lucky Titans are good

By Howard Siner NEA SPORTS

Luck in the playoffs helped the Tennessee Titans become the surprise AFC champion. But they did beat Jacksonville three times last season.

Coing into the 2000 season, here's a look at the division (with the teams listed in their approximate order of strength):

1. TENNESSEE TITANS: They lost the Super Bowl by one yard on the last play. Tennessee's 13-3 mark was the best ever for a wild-card playoff team. Coach Jeff Fisher's Titans were 7-1 in games won by a touchdown or Behind quarterback Steve McNair (2,179 yards passing, 12 touchdowns) and running back Eddie George (1.304 yards, 9 touchdowns), they were seventh in the league in scoring. Tight end Frank Wycheck (69 catches) and All-NFL offensive guard Bruce Matthews helped.

The Titans were 15th in points allowed Inst season. All-NFL defensive end Jevon Kearse had 14.5 sucks as a rookle. Import linebacker Randall Godfrey is tough.

2. JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS: The Jags, under coach Tom Coughlin, were an NFL-best 14-2 in 1999. No other team has been to four straight playelfs and played in two conference title games in the past three years. First in the league in points allowed last season and sixth in scoring, Jacksonville burned out while failing to defeat Tennessee. Quarterback Mark Brunell, running back Fred Taylor and All-NFL offensive tackle Tony Boselli star. Linebacker Hardy Nickerson was imported to help All-NFL linebacker Kevin Hardy. Offensive tackle Leon Searcy and are out for the season with Injuries.

All-NFL free safety Carnell Lake

3. BALTIMORE RAVENS: They closed out the season with a 6-3 burst. Note: quarterback Tony Banks (2,136 yards, 17 touchdowns) started the last 10 games.

The Ravens have been in Baltimore since 1996 without a winning year.

Coach Brian Billick's team was 14th in the league in scoring and sixth in points allowed in 1999. Veteran tight end Shannon Sharpe was a good pickup. All-NFL linebacker Ray Lewis, defensive end Michael McCrary and safety Rod Woodson lead the defense.

4. PTITSBURGH STEELERS: Free agency has decimated coach Bill Cowher's Steelers at last. They opened at 5-3 in 1999 NFL this season. He can support and finished at 1-7.

Import quarterback Kent Graham figures to replace ineffective Kordell Stewart. Rookie wide receiver Plaxico Burress fits in. But running back Jerome Bettis can't wear out.

Linebacker Levon Kirkland and safety Lee Flowers are the only notables on the defense, which was tougher against passing than rushing.

5. CINCINNATI BENGALS: At 52-108 in the 1990s, the Bengals set an NFL record for most losses in any decade. The club hasn't been to the playoffs since 1990. Coach Bruce Coalet is 21-36 in four season in Cincinnati.

Young quarterback Akili Smith is backed by veteran import Scott Mitchell. Rookle wide receiver Peter Warrick must replace injured Darnay Scott (out for the season) and Carl Pickens (departed). The Bengala gave up the most points in the

6. CLEVELAND BROWNS: The Browns scored the fewest points in the league in 1999 and allowed the third most. Coach Chris Palmer needs big help.

Quarterback Tim Couch (2,477 yards, 15 touchdowns) and wide receiver Kevin Johnson (66 catches, 986 yards) are coming off rookie years. Veteran running back Errict Rhett is an import. Defensive end Courtney Brown was the No. 1 draft pick in the outside linebacker Jamir Miller on the right side of the defense. AFC CENTRAL in 1999; JACK-SONVILLE, 14-2 (champion); TENNESSEE, 13-3 (wild card); BALTIMORE, 8-8: PITTSBURGH, 6-10; CINCINNATI, 4-12; CLEVELAND, 2-14.

NFC Central: Bucs have points to make

By Howard Biner NEA SPORTS

Falling just six points abort of the Super Bowl is something the Tampa Bay Buccaneers don't want to repeat.

If their offense improves, Green Eay won't catch turnovers up in the NFC Central. Going into the 2000 season, here's a look at the division (with the teams listed in their approximate order of strength): 1. TAMPA BAY BUCCANEERS: Defense is what coach Tony Dungy counts on. The Bucs were third in the NFL in 1999 in points allowed. An All-NFL trio - linebacker Derrick Brooks, defensive tackle Warren Sapp and safety John Lynch - lead the atoppers. Defensiver linemen Brad Culpepper and Childi Ahanotu boost the strong front wall.

On offense, Tampa Bay was just 27th in the league in scoring. It lost the NFC title game to St. Louis 11-8. Mike Alstott is the All-NFL fullback.

All-NFL center Jeff Christy is new here. He's joined by guard Randall McDaniel and wide receiver Kryshawn Johnson, two more star importa. Quarterback Shaun King must emerge.

2. GREEN BAY PACKERS: The Pack hasn't had a losing year since quarterback Brett Favre took over in 1992. But he's thrown 46 interceptions in the past two seasons. In 1999, GB was 26th in the NFL in turnovers. Running back Dorsey Levens (1,034 yards) and wide receiver Antonio Fereeman (74 catches) can do better, too.

The team was 10th in scoring last season, but 20th in points allowed.

Mike Shorman, Green Bay's new coach, has a defense that collected only 30 sacks. Oil the defensive line, import Russell Maryland must help Santana Dotson and Vonnie Holiday. Veteran safety LeRoy Butler can still make plays.

3. CHICAGO BEARS: Not since 1990 have the Bears won a division title. Coach Dick Jauron expects young quarterback

Cade McNown and young running back Curtis Ents to step up. Chleago fied for 25th in scoring last season. All-NFL kick returner Glyn Milburn Is a threat. Wide receviers Bobby Engram and Marcus Robinson can play. To get better, the offense has to reduce

The defense tied for 20th in points allowed. Cornerback Thomas Smith and defensive end Phillip Daniels are top-quality imports. Rookie linebacker Brian Urlacher can have an Impact, too. Defensive tackle Jim Flanigan and safety Tony Parrish make contributions.

4. MINNESOTA VIKINGS: Despite the longest tenure (eight seasons) of any NFL coach, Dennis Green has worries. No team in the league made more turnovers in 1999. Second-year quarterback Daunte Culpepper isn't accurate enough. Departures left holes on offense. The key remaining stars: All-NFL wide receiver Cris Carter (1,241 yards), wide receiver Randy Moss and All-NFL punter Mitch Berger.

The defense was 18th in the NFL in points given up, and 27th in yards allowed. So linebacker Bryce Paup was added and three defensive linemen were drafted. Safety Robert Griffith hits hard. Linebacker Ed McDaniel is very quick.

5. DETROIT LIONS: They made the playoffs without star running back Barry Sanders, who retired. The Lions were 15th in acoring and 14th in points allowed. However, quarterback Charlie Batch must stay healthy. He throws to wide receivers Herman Moore and Germane Crowell. Running back James Stewart isn't Barry Sanders.

It's a good thing coach Bobby Ross also has place kicker Jason Hanson.

Defensive linemen Robert Porcher (who had a contract feud) and Luther Elliss (a Pro Bowl choice) were the big stoppers, Middle linebacker Stephen Boyd and cornerback Bryant Westbrook must get more from their talent in order to boost the Lions.

Bears, Rams net second wins

Volleyball teams roll over foes

By Dean Smith SPORTS EDITOR

LAKE MARY - They have been the powers of girls volleyball in Central Florida for the past few years and nothing seems to be changing this year either.

Lake Mary and Winter Springs both romped to their second victories of the season without a defeat Thursday evening, pounding Seminole Athletic Conference foes Lake Howell and Lake Brantley, respectively, in straight games.

The Rams (2-0) whipped the Silver Hawks (0-2), 15-1 and 15-6, while the Bears (2-0) waltzed past the Patriots (1-1), 15-5 and

Rogers' experience carries him to victory

By Heak Sendon SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

SAMSULA - Justin Drawdy (#12) was confident after winning the Super Late Model feature Friday at Orlando Speedworld, and he looked especially stout in the heat race last Saturday (August 20th) at New Smyrna Speedway.

He lined up on the outside pole with David Rogers' #11 Thi Ranch Dodge inside at the start of the feature. Drawdy came off 4 in the Hamke chassis Monte Carlo and powered Hamke chassis Monte Carlo and powered past Rogers to take the lead going into turn 1. He drove a smart, fast race until Rogers' experience let him alto under Drawdy and grab the lead and oventually the win. Travia Kittleson drove the $85 Bob Steel Chevrolet to third place finish over Jeff Emery $12, and Jeff Anderson $10 who put on a good show.

Chad Allman was back in the Gator Golf $67, and held off a hard charging Tank Tucker driving Randy Dye's $43 Country $3.1/Speedway Dodge Avenger to take the checkers in the Late Model feature.

Theater

the songs are in four-part harmony, which can be difficult. "And, a little bit of acting didn't hurt."

The musical's director is Alton LaThrop and musical director and planist is Doug Sinning.

According to Preston-Baum, everything is following schedule for opening night.
"We are really excited,"

Preston-Baum said. "This will be the first musical performed in the theater."

Performance dates include Sept. 22, Sept. 23, Sept. 29 and Sept. 30. All performances begin at 8 p.m. and tickets are $25 for the general public and $20 for students, seniors and children.

Other performances scheduled for the new season include Cherish the Ladies, an allwomen traditional Irish Band, on Oct. 7; The Moscow Boys Choir on Dec. 2; The Dukes of Dixieland, an evening of New Orleans jazz on Jan. 6; Mother Hicks, a children's story, on Feb. 1; John Amos in "Halley's Comet" on March 3; and "Having Our Say," the story of the Delany sisters, on May 4.

Members of the theater are asking the community to come out to support and enjoy the first entertainment season at the Helen Stairs Theatre.

"This is the community's theater, and the community needs to support it," Stairs said. "Things community members can do include volunteering, becoming members, buying season tickets and attending the performances."

The theater, originally known as the Milane Theater, was built in 1923 and included 823 seats. contained a four-Mory fly and an orchestra pit. In 1936, after the Milane Theater was acquired by new management, the theater was renamed the Ritz, which closed in 1978. In 1984, it reopened as the Showtime

VOTE FOR MARK HERR SEPTEMBER 5"

Just what you want in a County Judge: someone who is just.

Unlike others, who have received campaign contributions from individual attorneys and law firms, Mark Herr has made it his policy not to accept campaign contributions from either. In fact, he has returned and declined all such offers because he wants to remain impartial - without even the appearance of influence or impropriety to get in the way of his judicial responsibilities. In other words, money from colleagues won't get Mark Herr elected — your vote will.

More Americans are going broadband to surf the 'net

More than 2 million U.S. households already have highspeed Internet access - commonly known as "broadband" and many more are expected to by year-end.

Should yours be among them? To help you decide, here's a quick guide to broadband services and providers:

To appreciate broadband, you first have to understand bandwidth — the speed limit of digital information traveling through an electric wire or wirelessly through the air. The most commonly used bandwidths in the consumer market are expressed in kilobits, or thousands of bits per second (kbps). The standard 56k modern can move data at a maximum rate of 56 kbps. Broadband refers to a bandwidth of at least 128 kbps.

Broadhand allows data to flow continuously from the Internet to your computer: It's on whenever your computer is turned on, so you never have to dial a number for access. New broadband services will do more than just show you Yahoo's home page a few seconds sooner. They'll give you access to many new Web sites and services that a 56k dial-up connection simply can't accom-modate conveniently — sharing home videos, say, or accessing complex multi-media Web sites rapidly.

In theory, any company with a right-of-way to your home can provide broadband service. However, the majority of people who have broadband service today use a cable TV connection. Most of the rest get broadband through a phone line.

Cable systems are designed like small networks, sharing bandwidth among a group of subscribers. The more people online, the less bandwidth available for each home. Most cable systems now offer just one provider - usually either AT&T's Excite@Home or Time Warner's Road Runner. A special modem, separate from the cable-TV converter box, handles the Internet traffic. One call to your local cable company should tell you whether you can get cable modern service.

Telephone access, commonly known as DSL (digital subscriber line), uses a digital signal to transmit large amounts of information over an existing phone line - without interfering with voice calls. DSL also uses a special modem.

DSL doesn't have the maximum bandwidth capacity of cable, but because DSL works on a private line, its bandwidth isn't shared and so doesn't slow down as usage increases. However, a DSL signal can't be used over distances more than two to three miles from the telephone company's central switching office. Until the technology advances, homes too far from that office can't receive DSL service at all. There are several types of DSL available. To locate providers in your area, go to www.dslreports.com or www.getspeed.com. While one company handles everything involved with cable installation, deregulation of local phone service has opened the DSL market to independent companies that, in turn, contract with Internet Service Providers (ISPs). Your local phone company is also involved. That makes DSL installation more complex.

Installation service with either technology can be expensive, but many providers offer free or discounted installation and equipment (in addition to the modem, you may also need an approximately $40 network card for your computer) in return for a year's contract. If your computer is relatively old and can't accept a network card, you may need to replace it.

You can expect to pay $40 to $45 a month for broadband service, whichever type you chose. Our nationally representative survey of households with broadband service shows that neither technology can claim an advantage in speed or reliability, although cable-modem service had a slight edge in cost and in ease of set up and technical sup-

If you're interested in acquiring broadband, start by investigating the cable and DSL providers in your area, as well as the ISPs. An especially attractive introductory offer, an alliance with a good ISP or a company's reputation for good service and customer support should ultimately matter the

NOTICE OF ELECTION

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL

I, Katherine Harris, Secretary of State of the State of Florida, do hereby give notice that an election will be held in each county in Florida, on November 7, 2000 for the ratification or rejection of a proposed constitutional amendment and other public measures of the State of Florida:

> NO. 1 CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT ARTICLE X, SECTION 19 (INITIATIVE)

BALLOT TITLE: Florida Transportation Initiative for statewide high speed monorall, fixed guideway or magnetic levitation

BALLOT SUMMARY: To reduce traffic and increase travel alternatives, this amendment provides for development of a high speed monorall, fixed guideway or magnetic levitation system linking Florida's five largest urban areas and providing for access to existing air and ground transportation facilities and services by directing the state and/or state authorized private entity to implement the financing, acquisition of right-ofway, design, construction and operation of the system, with construction beginning by November 1, 2003.

FULL TEXT OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT:

BE IT ENACTED BY THE PEOPLE OF FLORIDA THAT:

Article X, Section 19, Florida Constitution, is hereby created to read as follows:

High Speed Ground Transportation System

To reduce traffic congestion and provide atternatives, to the traveling public, it is hereby declared to be in the public interest that a high speed ground transportation system consisting of a monorall, fixed guideway or magnetic levitation system, capa-ble of speeds in excess of 120 miles per hour, be developed and operated in the State of Florida to provide high speed ground transportation by innovative, efficient and offective technologies consisting of dedicated rails or guideways separated from motor vehicular traffic that will link the five largest urban areas of the State as delemined by the Legislature and provide for access to existing air and ground transportation facilities and services. The Legislature, the Cabinet and the Governor are hereby directed to proceed with the development of such a system by the State and/or by a private entity pursuant to state approval and authorization, including the acquisition of right-of-way, the financing of design and construction of the system, and the operation of the system, as provided by specific eppropriation and by law, with construction to begin on or before November 1, 2003.

Sodas are OK, but these cool drinks hit the spot

Summer is the season for sipping tall, cool drinks. And I don't mean soda.

Let's face it, soda is low on nutrition and high in sugar (or artificial sugar). Likewise, bottled iced tea and many "juices" (or juice-flavored drinks) are in the same boat. I admit that there are times when nothing, at least for me, is as satisfying as a cold Coke, and I have lately developed a thing for Root 66 brand Key lime soda (it's got a nice, tart kick). OK, so I'm not nutritionally per-

I am very fond of making "sodas" with the flavored syrups that you see in bars these days (they are often used to fla-vor coffees). My favorite is a mixture of chilled seltzer and tamarind syrup over ice. Serve it with a slice of lime and you have about the most refreshing drink you can imagine. I'm also very fond of making iced tea. Although I sometimes use the powdered kind, I think it often results in a muddy, bitter drink. It's better to take the very few minutes needed to boil some water, brew some real tea, and

But there's lots more ideas to explore. The following recipes come from several sources: One is "The Best American Recipes 1999" by Fran McCullough and Suzanne Hamlin. The 'We Drink It" was invented by Ginny Callan, a former Vermont restaurateur and author of "The Horn of the Moon Cookbook," and "Beyond the Moon" Cookbook." The cucumber Idag drink comes from "Drinks Without Alcohol," by Jane Brandt; her recipe notes indicate it's a periect drink to take to the beach in a cooler, I've also included from her book a delightful iced coffee recipe, with great flavors from bitters and vanilla extract. RELIGION

An American right: declarations of faith

Give me the ability to be charita-ble, forgiving and patient with my fellowmen - help me to understand their motives and their shortcomings - even as Thou understands

Harry S. Truman

Controversies occur whenever religion pours into the political arena. The latest involves Democratic vice presidential nominee Joe Lieberman.

Although Lieberman's nomination was widely hailed as a breakthrough for tolerance, some have begun criticizing

These critics say that Mr. Lieberman's declarations of faith as a devout Jew and his calls for more religion in public life are an affront to Americans who are less religious

I would hope that Mr. Lieberman continues his long and eloquent argument that there has been a general decline in moral values in this country, I trust he respects the boundaries between church and state.

One of my earliest books about the presidency of Harry S. Truman includes a number of references to religion. As a young man, Mr. Truman began recit-ing a dally prayer, part of which precedes this Apparently, Mr. Truman said this prayer from his high school days, as a window washer, bottle duster, floor scrubber, bank clerk, farmer and a number of other jobs leading to the presidency.

I don't recall President Truman making a big deal of his religiosity. He was Give 'em hell, Harry. But, he always prayed before the giving.

Harry Truman said he would rather be right than be president Assuming the presidency upon Franklin Roosevelt's death, he was in the White House during the critical hours that came before World War II ended and families came together again in Today, Mr. Lieberman is calling for yet another "awakening" of religion as an antidote to violence, promisculty and degrada-tion of family values. Hopefully, not too many will be offended

Harry Truman and Joe Lieberman would have made an interesting ticket if they were of the same generation. Strong-willed, they would have disagreed on many topics - religion would not have been one of Imagination can take people to a whole new world closed in the 1960s, I was too old to cry. It's different today. All that remains of the Cleveland amusement park where I spent some of the happlest days of my childshood - and even my teens — is the arch over the entrance to The park, where collored lights once glittered and blinked.

The lights have gone out, their sockets empty and trusted. The music from the Edance hall is stilled. In my Timagination, though, I can still Thear the Fat Lady sing and the screams from the roller coaster rides: the "Thriller," and the even steeper "Flying Turns.

As I made this recent sentimental journey down memory lane, I felt a tear running down my cheek. I was no longer too old to cry. There was one thing, however, about Euclid Beach - and all amusement parks — that has always tended Plagenz to spoil my fun just a little. It is the fact that amusement parks never seem to amuse the people who worked there.

The fellow who pulls the handle on the roller-coaster ride might as well be pulling the switch on the electric chair for all the fun he seems to get out of his job.

Seeing the great stone faces on all the people who work at these "fun emporiums" makes me think that, if I owned an amusement park, I would send in the clowns. I would dress up all the employees in clown costumes and paint broad smiles on their faces. That way they couldn't be kilijoys for all the happy people who were there. It might even brighten the gloomy countenances that lurked behind the painted-on smiles. Pretending you're somebody you aren't can often work wonders.

Look what it does for the Happy Hypocrite in the Max Beerbohm story. This ugly fel-low puts on the mask of a handsome man so he can win the girl of his dreams — which he does. Then, when the mask eventually gets pulled off, it turns out that his own face has become like the face on the Religious orders sometimes give their initiates new names, like Sister Felicity or Brother Orchid. Almost literally, they are born again. They become new people. It happened to several char-acters in the Bible. Abram, Simon and Saul won everlasting renown — as Abraham. Peter and Paul.

What's in a name? Well, how far in the entertainment world do you think Doris Mary Ann Von Koppelhoff would have gone? Or Ella Geisman? Or Emanuel Goldenberg? Or Archibald Alexander Leach?

But, as Doris Day, June Allyson, Edward G. Robinson and Cary Grant, their names were in lights.

George Baker was unknown and unsuccessful until he changed his name to Father Divine. His flock changed their names, too - to names like Angel Florence or Angel Mary. Many hundreds of these angels found a persona they had never known before.

You don't have to literally put on a mask or change your name to become a new person. You can simply think of your-self as somebody different. Imagine you are the person you have always wanted to be, then start acting like that person. You may fool everybody — including yourself.

You may have an experience like that of the woman who was complimented on her singing at a verty.

"You sing divinely," the hostess said.

"Oh, I can't sing at ail," the woman protested.
"But that scng, it was superb," the hostess replied.
"Oh that," the woman said.

Calcium deposits are common, but are not related to supplements

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have calcium deposits in my spine. Would calcium tablets relieve my arthritis pain or simply make matters worse? I am a 70year-old grandmother.

DEAR READER: Calcium supplements will neither affect your pain of arthritis nor make matters worse. The pain is caused by stimulation of nerves in and around joints (including the spine), resulting from gout and rheumatoid arthritis) or from the age-related wearing-down of joint surfaces (seen in osteoarthritis). In general, therapy for arthritis pain consists of anti-inflammatory drugs (of which there are many, ranging from ibuprofen to Vioxx) and physical therapy to maintain joint fluidity and range of motion.

As each of us ages, calcium in the body shifts location, leaving bone and appearing in the linings of arteries and in tendons. This unavoidable phenomenon is unrelated either to total body calcium or to calcium intake. Rather, it is due to poorly understood age-related changes in tissue metabolism.

Because a deficiency in bonecalcium (osteoporosis) is com-mon in older people, physicians have experimented with various methods to prevent this loss. Exercise, a balanced diet, hormone pills (for women), and other prescription medication have been shown to retard the loss of bone calcium. In addition, calcium supplements (with vitamin D) slow the onset of osteoporosis, without harming metabolism. Therefore, you should consider taking 1,000 to 1,500 milligrams of extra calci-um (with about 500 international units of vitamin D) for this reason, if your doctor agrees. Also as a consequence of aging, calcium deposits may form around the spinal bones, causing "lipping" (seen as a shelf-like protrusion on X-rays) that can rub against nerves to cause pain. This is related to the shift in calcium that I alluded to above. Such deposits are not related to calcium supple-

Because the therapy for the pain of arthritis and the treatment of osteoporosis have undergone such revolutionary changes in the past few years, you should check with your physician to learn what options are available to you. To give you related information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Osteoporosis." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I bruise very easily, even after minor trauma - or, in some instances, no trauma at all. Could the daily aspirin tablet I take be playing a role? DEAR READER: Normal blood clotting depends on a complex series of chemical reactions. As an integral part of this process, tiny blood cells (platelets) play a crucial role by sticking together to form a superstructure that supports the clotting chemicals. When platelets lose their adhesiveness and fail to aggregate, a blood clot cannot readily form. Aspirin (and similar compounds) disrupt platelet stickiness. Therefore, these inexpensive drugs are often used to prevent common diseases, such as stroke and heart attacks, that are related to inappropriate blood clotting. As little as one baby aspirin a day (one-fourth the strength of a standard adult tablet) will significantly reduce the speed with which blood coagulates. I suspect that aspirin is the cause of your bleeding tendency, a common reaction in people who are so treated. Spontaneous or easy bruising is ing at times because of discomfort and the obvious cosmetic

If your Joctor has told you to take aspirin because you are at high risk for stroke or heart attack, you will simply have to put up with the bruising. On the other hand - because aspirin therapy is not recommended for most adults - if you are taking it on your own, I suggest you discontinue it, and see if your susceptibility to bruising disappears in a week not harmful but can be annoy or so. vimin) stailed to notize

I should add that unex-plained bruising may also reflect a serious clotting disoron der not related to aspirin; such diseases include leukemia and thrombocytopenia (a primary disease of platelets), both of which must be aggressively addressed. Therefore, while I suspect that your problem is aspirin-related, you may wish to check with your physician to make sure no serious ailment is 127,920 international passmald of in the countdown to the Seminole County polls opening on Tuesday morning, we Commissioner Grant Maloy announce the winner of the "Mud-Flung-At Award." You've probably guessed — he's Daryl McLain. Keen political observers are pressed to remember so much mud slinging at an indi-

White vidual candidate. McLain, a former rodeo cowboy, hasn't tasted so much dirt since being flung from a bronco named "Beelzebub."

As expected, Bob West and Don Nicholas bad-mouthed McLain from the get-go. They covet his District 5 seat on the County Commission. If this wasn't enough of a burden, County Chairman Carlton Henley has shamelessly campaigned for Nicholas - and against

And, this just in:

used some of his District 1 re-election campaign funds to purchase a newspaper ad that attacks Mr. McLain. Improprieties of this nature deserve special recognition.

Most of the vagrant opinions about Mr. McLain are without visible means of support. He's a county commissioner and a good one. He has integrity and morals. He's not the anti-Christ as some might have you believe.

There's a saying that there's more devil in the selfrighteous than righteousness in the devil. The Seminole County Commission Chambers have seats not pews. Elected officials, not preachers adopt policy and set a budget in order to enhance our quality of life. Seminole County isn't heaven but it seems to be a pleasing stopover. We have nice schools, nice neighborhoods, nice places to work and play. Good men and women work each day to keep it this way. Elected officials. County and city employees.

For the past eight years, Daryl McLain has served his community well as a commissioner. He's been a champion not only to those in his District (which includes his hometown, Sanford) but to residents throughout the

As you will see on the edi-torial page of this weekend's Seminole Herald, we have endorsed Mr. McLain in Tuesday's Republican Party Primary. It's time to get the mud out of our eyes.

Mother disagrees that abusive boyfriend's ways have changed

DEAR ABBY: Last fall, my live-in boyfriend was abusive to me. My parents chipped right in and helped me move back to my hometown. They were wonderful and supportive even though I'd let them down in the past. They even bought a house so my children and I would have somewhere to live. This boyfriend went to classes, did a Abby lot of praying and I believe he's actually changed. I really do! Abby, he's the father of one of my children. We've started seeing each other and it really feels right. We want to get married.

My mother refuses to accept that he could have changed, and makes it clear she doesn's approve 6he says if I get brik together with him, they will have wasted all that time and money they invested in bailing me out. She says it's my low self-esteem that makes me want to see him.

I don't know how to resolve this. I'm in my late 30s yet I still want my parents' approval. Please help.

DAUGHTER OF

AN IRON-WILLED IOWA MOM

DEAR DAUGHTER: Your mother knows you better than I do. She loves you and doesn't want to see you hurt again, and I can't fault her for that.

Daughter, I'm extremely skeptical about your chances of success in this relationship. If you decide to pursue it, I wish you the best of luck because I'm convinced you're going to need it.

A small percentage of abusers — those who are truly determined and selfmotivated — can change if they receive long-term coun-seling. Only time (at least another year of counseling) will tell If this leopard has been able to change his spots.

Under no circumstances should you reconcile with him unless you maintain financial independence. Ti way, if he should backslide, you won't have to depend on anyone to bail you out. Should you decide to marry this "prize" I urge you to have a rock-solid prenuptial agreement so that you will be taken care of.

So your parents feel they have not "wasted" the money they invested in trying to help you, sell or rent the house and give the proceeds

DEAR ABBY: I quit my job last year to stay at home with my children. All of a sudden, friends and neighbors began calling me to run errands, watch their children, sew costumes for the school plays, etc. Nobody seemed to understand that being a mother IS a fulltime job.

Finally, I found a way to stop all the requests for favors: I made up fliers advertising myself as a "domestic consul-tant." I offered to baby-sit, pick up dry cleaning and groceries, sew and do other odd jobs for a negotiable fee.

The calls are much less frequent now. When someone does call, he or she is prepared to pay me fairly for child care and errand running. When I get requests for things that would interfere with plans I've made with my children (or don't want to do!), I simply tell the caller, "I am overbooked."

ALREADY WORKING (THANK YOU VERY

DEAR ALREADY WORK-ING (TYVM): You're a clever woman and you may have devised a method from which other stay-at-home parents can benefit.

DEAR ABBY: A good friend of mine was married recently, without a traditional reception. I have now been invited to a postnuptial reception for the couple. Does a postnuptial reception carry an obligation to send a gift?

BOB IN OHIO

DEAR BOB: Yes, it does. If you attend the reception, a token of your good wishes is In order.
