BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

THE QUESTION IS WHEN WILL YOU KNOCK AND BE ADMITTED? The kingdom of God cometh not with observation...

THE PORTS

We too grow tired in the great light... The threat horse, our logic frayed... We too grow cold, reach inconclusion...

EDWARD PAUL MOODY

Study the Constitutional amendments to be voted upon Nov. 3. Don't leave it entirely to the other fellow to decide what the Constitution under which you must live will be.

The Key West Citizen is greatly concerned over the order freezing salaries and wages. "Now that salaries are pegged," it says, "we suppose we will have to get along on what we get."

We're hearing a lot about the man power problem during the last few weeks, but if this situation doesn't improve pretty soon we'll be hearing more about the horse power problem.

Farmers in the southwest are importing Mexican laborers to assist with their farming operations. There is plenty of Cuban and Bahamian labor near here which could be imported if sufficient labor is not available locally to harvest our crops.

If a revolution breaks out in France against the Vichy government, it will be a bloody affair and one which even the Germans can hardly contemplate with equanimity. Anyone who has read Carlyle's French Revolution knows that when the French people arise, heads will fall and rivers flow red with blood.

Dean Acheson of the Columbia School of Journalism speaks with the American people. It carries the burden of educating the public, to serve as the chief propaganda agent of the government. It backs the war to the last line of type, and for the sheer it is both censored and uncensored.

Would it be the new tax bill which has been considered the difficult question which various groups in this country have made in the war effort? It is to be expected that those who are not getting along well in business should be taxed more heavily than those who are.

It is to be expected that those who are not getting along well in business should be taxed more heavily than those who are. The new tax bill will be a heavy burden on those who are not getting along well in business.

The New Tax Bill

You will not like the new tax bill which became the law of the land when the President signed it yesterday. By "you" we do not mean those habitual detesters of tax bills—the three or four percent at the top of the economic pile—we mean every one of you, every one who earns $600 a year or more, some 45,000,000 of you, and even the rest will pay greater so-called "painless" taxes.

There are a good many features of this new tax bill and we would never attempt to enumerate them all or explain any of them. We are neither a lawyer nor a certified public accountant. And we expect to have to hire both before we can figure out what our own tax will be. But suffice it to say that Senator LaFollette, shortly before voting for the measure, called it "the worst tax bill in history."

Right off the bat the poor devil who earns $20 a week gets soaked right on the jaw with a "Victory" tax—so-called to make it more palatable—which takes a dollar a week out of his payroll. And everyone else who earns $12 a week or more will pay a similar tax based on 5 percent of his weekly salary or wage. And the employer, whoever he happens to be, becomes the tax collector, filches the pay envelope and remits to the government.

Then when it comes time to figure up what your income tax is you will find that the normal rate has been increased from 4 to 6 percent while the surtax is increased so that it ranges from 13 to 82 percent depending on how much you make. But there is a post war credit for all good little boys so that part of the taxes which you pay today will be returned to you after the war is over, provided there is anything left in the Treasury out of which to return it. So the picture is not quite as bad as it could be.

Nevertheless, the single man who earns a thousand dollars a year and up to now has paid $11.40 income tax, will now pay $70.60, plus a "Victory tax" of $18.80 with a post war credit of $4.70, making a total net tax of $84.70 while the man who earns a hundred thousand a year will find that he must give $60,819.80 to the government, not including his state and county taxes, and assuming that his income is derived from investments and not earned. In the latter case he gives all but $25,000 to the government.

Knowing this, the little fellow who is now making more than he ever did before in his life and is finding that as his income increases his responsibility to the government increases with it, should not complain too much. After all, there is a war to win. And if it takes all the money, all of us have, it will be much cheaper than losing it.

Haven't They Heard?

We in this country believe that in time of war equal sacrifices should be made by all people and groups alike. We believe that when terrific wartime taxes are levied, everybody should be made to pay in proportion to his capacity. We believe that when men are drafted the same proportion should be called from one town as another. We believe that when food is rationed everyone should be treated alike.

In the light of this rather common belief in this country, it is interesting to note that in Washington where the regulations which govern the rest of us are made, the full fury of the war's mighty blast has not yet been felt. President Roosevelt said recently upon his return from a nationwide tour that the rest of the country was far ahead of the Washington bureaucrats. They are far ahead in sacrifices at any rate.

And the Memphis Commercial Appeal, as if to show that food rationing has not yet made itself felt in our capital, reports on a recent dinner meeting of the field representatives of the Office of War Information where Archibald MacLellan, poet and Librarian of Congress and former head of the Office of Facts and Figures, addressed the gathering.

"Following the feast of reason that Archibald no doubt provided, the physical man seems to have required refreshment," says the Commercial Appeal. "First, he got it at a bar, where the guests got Martin, Manhattan and Diaguiri cocktails, and/or Scotch highballs. Then as the old hillbilly song runs, 'They asked 'em in to dinner an' this is what they eat'":

- Stuffed Tomato with Crabmeat Lumps
Russian Dressing, Stuffed Celery, Salted Nuts
Cream of Fresh Mushrooms Profiterole
Truite au Bleu, sauce Mouseline,
Pommes Amendine
Supreme of Guinea Hen with Virginia Ham, Perigourdine
Braised Celery au jus, Pommes Fonglantes
Bouquet of Asparagus, sauce vinaigrette (plate)
Souffle au Chocolat
Sauce Vanille, Petite Fours, Demi Tasse.

Taxpayers, "the rationed, the sacrifices generally will be charmed to learn that a dry white wine was served with the fish, Bergundy with the meat, and appropriate liquors with cigars and cigarettes at the conclusion of the meal.

Even the OWI officials from the hinterlands were surprised at the lavishness of Washington hospitality, according to newspaper accounts of the "climax on national sacrifice." But we have seen no reports from them on the subject.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By RUSSELL KAY

Concocting questionnaires to fire point blank at harassed and helpless business men, big and little, has long been a favorite indoor sport with Washington bureaucrats. Crackpots and busy bodies, once enrolled in an official letter society invariably turn to the questionnaires as their first line of defense. Not knowing the answers, they seek them from the other fellow and blame him if they're wrong.

Are you an employer?—How many slaves do you retain?—Have you stopped kicking the janitor?—What kind of car do you drive?—How do you manage to stay in business? (Answer YES or NO) If you cannot answer these questions you are a failure. How long have you had a nervous breakdown?

WASHINGTON

By JACK BITNETT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22, (WW)—American women in general and those in the uniform of the WAAAC, WAVES and WAFFS in particular owe a 31-gun salute to Jean Knox, chief controller (major general) of the British Auxiliary Territorial Service.

Her brief visit to the United States has done much to convince the Army, Navy, and other brass hats that women can do a valuable job in his war. The reason is that General Knox is herself a convincing speaker. There is every reason in the world why she shouldn't be. She is chic, charming and feminine. She wears her uniform as if it were something draped off by Secretary of War.

Married at 17, after a conventional childhood in a well-to-do London suburban family, she spent the next eleven years as a conventional British housewife and mother. Now, only 34 years old, she is a veteran of nearly four years in uniform and hero of the story of more than 150,000 British women soldiers who do everything from waiting tables to manning the anti-aircraft guns. She's the romantic major general in the British army and although she graduated from an officer's training school comparable to that for our WAAAC's at Des Moines, she has won all her promotions from captain up on merit.

She gives her salute to the housewife when the war is over, the war on two fronts—in the home and in the ranks of the millions of nonuniformed workers. There, she says is the hardest job of all.

Her husband, Capt. George Knox, is a flyer in the RAF. And since her belt in the importance of women soldiers to take the place of men who can go into the firing line, there is one other point on which she is blue-eyed for the general, in her close-clipped bob and pompadour of curls, goes strictly serious: the value of all this to women when the war is over, the war on two fronts—in the home and in the ranks of the millions of nonuniformed workers. There, she says is the hardest job of all.

The self-discipline which women are forced to practice in this war will be an asset they can carry into peacetime life with that womanly general in the future generations, she says. Women will come out of this with a new concept of civic consciousness that may go far toward avoiding the muddled world affairs that brought all of this about.

connection with the closed shop agreements at the Tampa Shipyard.

Watson contends that the charter of the shipbuilding company, as granted by this state, does not authorize it to make closed shop agreements or other labor employment contracts. He filed a quo warranto action against the company and seeks information that should shed plenty of light on the subject if he succeeds in securing complete and unequivocal answers.

Watson asked how much the union had collected in membership fees. How many working permits had they issued. How many persons granted such permits were admitted to or disapproved for union membership. How much money was collected for working permits or joining fees or other purposes and not refunded. How many applicants for jobs at the Tampa Shipyard were turned down by the union.

Progress of the action of the Attorney General will be watched with the greatest interest, not only in Florida but throughout the nation, for the public at large would like to know the ANSWERS.

Lecturer in Service Writes Timely Verse

By JACK BITNETT

CAMP UPTON, N. Y., Oct. 22 (FNS)—Don Bladding, 47-year old lecturer, poet and artist, who left his home in Ft. Pierce, Florida to join the colors as a private, this week released the following 8-line verse, which he states is intended to explain his enlistment in the army. He entitles it "Veteran's Heart", and has authorized its release to the newspapers of the state through the Florida News Service. The verse follows:

"VETERAN'S HEART"
I am weary. Yet, if Fate should say to me
"Rest, Soldier, rest. Dismissed. Put down your pack."
Each nerve and muscle would make urgent plea
To listen and obey. A moment's slough
While sleep's insistent fingers press against my eyes
And languor's slow drugged wine

Government Freezing Of Crops Said To Be Increasing Peril

for which the increases are requested, where such price assistance is found necessary.

Growers on the other hand, who insist on growing ill favored crops are warned by Secretary Wickard that "in view of prospective shortages of labor and other supplies, the Department can not assist with production or marketing of the less essential winter vegetables."

Commenting on this statement, Mr. Mewing said that in his opinion, the production and marketing of celery would not be greatly interfered with by this new policy. He referred to the former price plugging efforts of the governing authorities as not having been of much help to local celery growers in the past. He also stated that he believed that there would be no active interference on the part of the Department, with the growing and marketing of celery.

"The only exception to this I can think of is that they might divert from here, railroad cars that we need for shipping celery and send them to some other place to transport what they deem to be a more essential crop," added Mr. Mewing. "As to fertilizer, I believe that most of our local growers are already supplied for present needs, and in the matter of labor, we are not experiencing any difficulties at present."

When a mammoth war plant in California was about to hold up production because it couldn't obtain for months an intricate machine tool that was needed, inventive Sam Carter stepped in. Sam, a Los Angeles machine shop owner, took the transmissions from two junked cars, an old lathe, and the junked frame of a drill press and built the machine, shown in photo, that was needed. It cuts simultaneously the three faces of high-pressure T joints used in ships' fuel and steam lines. (Central Press)

Blanding Conserves Rubber And Gasoline

CAMP BLANDING, Oct. 22.—(Special)—One of the latest steps taken at Camp Blanding to save on vital rubber supplies and gasoline is the storing of various equipment throughout the camp instead of the old method of centralizing all storage in the camp's warehouse area.

Thus, if an organization moves, certain supplies such as dishes, bedding and cots are left in that organization's area, after a careful inventory is made. Then when a new organization takes over that particular area, it finds its equipment already in its proper place.

This method saves countless truck trips to and from the warehouses and also cuts down on time and personnel.

Club Members And Navy Will Have Golf Tournament

A golf tournament, the first of its kind, between personnel of the Sanford Naval Air Base, and members of the Sanford Country Club, will take place at 8:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Allan Stewart, club pro, announced today.

The team from the air base is now being mobilized with the help of Lieut. H. S. Jantzen, and himself will probably include Lieut. G. T. Swigum, Lieut. Fred Ballard, Lieut. Tom Hancock and others not yet announced.

Among the Country Club members from whom the total team will be selected will be G. W. Spencer, Andy Carraway, John Ivey, W. H. Morrison, John Ludwig, Al Lyon, L. F. Boyle, Howard Paville, Gen. E. P. Housholder, John Herr, Dr. G. H. Putnam, Ed Nelson, H. M. Wat-

No Bus Fatalities Occurred Recently

TAMPA, Oct. 22. (FNS)—The carrying of more than 3,000,000 passengers in buses by Florida motor bus operators in the past 9 months without one passenger fatality is a safety achievement, states Asher Frank, director of the Florida Safety Council.

"Human life is just as precious today as before the war," states Frank, "and we are proud that the bus operators, in spite of their contribution of manpower to war efforts, have maintained such a fine safety record in public transportation."

Mr. Stewart also announced that in the near future an exhibit gallery match for which spectator charges would be made, would be given for the benefit of the club. As a feature attraction two Rollins coaches will play two local golfers.

Ohio Buckeyes Lose Four Men From Backfield

By JERRY BRONFIELD
Wide World Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 22.—Paul Brown, youthful Ohio state grid coach, laid legitimate cause to mourn this fall.

The Buckeyes' crack backfield of a year ago had been graduated in the line.

Also, five top-flight freshmen stars had fumbled in the class room, including the almost legendary Horace Gillon, huge Negro whom Brown had coached at Massillon, and who was expected to furnish something like eleven-tenths of the Buckeye attack.

But Ohio high school coaches had made a promise and their promise is paying dividends to Brown, whose red-tail Buckeyes are among the early-season choices for the national championship.

When Francis Schmidt said good-bye to High Street the prep school mentors stated, in effect, they would send their stars to Columbus if one of their group got the Ohio State job. They meant Brown, of course, whose Massillon teams hadn't been beaten in a half dozen seasons.

Brown went to Columbus last year and the state prep stars have followed him. . . followed to such an extent that this year's varsity has the heaviest sophomore tinge in Buckeye history and is the youngest team in the Western Conference.

Of his squad of 43, only 3 are seniors. There are 24 sophomores and 16 juniors.

It might be added that this probably is the fastest team, as a unit, in modern Ohio State history, as well as the lightest. The 230-pound behemoths are gone because Brown wants his tackles and guards to keep up with his halfbacks. Bill Willis, sophomore tackle (and a beauty) is the only man over 200 pounds in the lineup and he exceeds that by only 50 pounds.

Italy Says Axis Bags 55 Planes

Japs Report Sinking Of 2 Destroyers; Resume Attacks On Guadalcanal Field

VICHY, Oct. 22, (AP)—Admiral Jean Darlan, broadcasting from Dakar, told inhabitants of France's west African naval base, "New dangers are hanging over you."

He arrived in Dakar today as bombers were pondered in France that the United States may attack Dakar.

In the Egyptian campaign, the Italians asserted today that 55 British planes were shot down against a loss of 11 Axis planes in a violent battle over the desert. The land front on El Alamein was quiet.

In the Southwest Pacific Japanese forces have sunk two American destroyers and resumed their attacks on the Guadalcanal airfield, but American fliers are still hitting back hard, the Navy reported last night in a communique which indicated the main battle of the Solomons is not yet joined.

It noted ominously that "large numbers" of enemy warships are still poised in the northern Solomons, apparently awaiting the signal for an anticipated all-out Jap attempt to recapture positions lost to the O'Brien's action "within the last few days."

The Navy said the destroyers Meredith and O'Brien—two of the newest in the United States fleet—were sunk by enemy action "within the last few days."

It said reports or casualties have not been received but it is believed all of the O'Brien's personnel and most of the Meredith's were rescued.

A "normal" complement of each vessel without 115 officers and crew was aboard the Meredith. There was no immediate estimate of the number of blue-jackets aboard the O'Brien's.

It was not revealed how the destroyers were lost—whether by sea or air action. They brought to the aid of the O'Brien's two warships and auxiliaries sunk in the Solomons campaign.

The communique revealed a continuing battle in the air activity on Guadalcanal and indicated that American fliers still are bearing the brunt of the fighting.

They shot down a total of 12 Jap planes Sunday and Monday and damaged two more enemy warships—two destroyers and a cruiser which was "stopped by at least one bomb hit," the communique said.

These attacks, which cost the United States only three planes, raised to at least 50 the number of Jap warships and auxiliaries sunk or damaged and to at least 32 the number of enemy planes destroyed.

The damaged cruiser was believed to have been part of one of the many enemy task forces in Solomons waters.

For the fifth successive day, American planes again bombed enemy supply dumps and troop positions on the northwestern shores of Guadalcanal—a strategy apparently designed to keep the Japs from getting set for a major blow.

Health Plan Is Adopted At Board Meeting

Women's Clubs Plan Public Services As Part Of All-Out War Effort

All-out endorsement of a "Health for Victory" educational program, and through condemnation of any "political trifling" with the public health service and county units was embodied in two resolutions presented and approved by 121 women, comprising the Board of Directors of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs, representing 12 districts from Jacksonville to Key West, which met yesterday morning at the Hotel Mayfair for the final program of their two day Fall session.

"Florida leads the nation in natural health advantages such as sunshine and fresh air, but in the matter of health statistics I am sorry to state, it also leads the nation as far as bad health is concerned," said Mrs. Thurston Roberts, chairman of the War Service Committee and immediate past president of the Federation, in introducing the "Health for Victory" program. Her sponsor was Mrs. A. Malcolm Smith, Tampa, chairman of the Department of Public Welfare for the Federation.

The "Health for Victory" program encompasses education in personal fitness, nutrition, sanitation, eating and drinking establishments, safe food and water supplies, adequate housing facilities, immunization and vaccination, rodent control, adequate sewage disposal, venereal disease control, repression of prostitution and allied problems, according to Mrs. Roberts. It is to supplement existing activities along these lines and in no measure to attempt to supplant anything any other agency or organization is now doing. It was emphasized.

Prominent endorsers of the program are Paul V. McNutt, Director of the Office of Defense Production, and John W. Taft, Assistant Director of the same agency. Senator Claude Pepper, and Dr. Gilbert S. Olnick, Chairman of the Division of Health and Housing of the Florida Defense Council, Senior Surgeon in the U. S. Public Health Service holding the rank of Colonel and President of the Florida Medical Association.

Sponsors of the program declared it is an opportunity to help eradicate the serious conditions growing out of problems created by the war. They said that "the sound health of both civilians and armed forces is a vital factor in the winning of every, which calls for all-out effort in every field."

Because of the vast number of military camps and thousands of young men being trained in Florida, such a program is considered especially beneficial to this State.

Colorful protests against the proposed scuttling of the county unit health program and return of many counties to under 25,000 population, to what is termed the old "politically exploited" system of health districts, was made by Mrs. Edward P. Pfaff, president of the Duval County Federation of Women's Clubs, in Florida.

In protest of this proposed change introduced an emergency resolution which was unanimously approved.

Mrs. Pfaff stated that the women's organizations of the State had worked so hard to help institute health reforms and introduced health units in rural and smaller communities that it would be very unfortunate to take them away, especially at a time when necessity could be combined in such a unit in rural areas where not enough people to maintain units in each.

Action leading to the resolution was said to have been brought about by recent announcements in the press by State Health Officer, Henry Hansen that re-establishment of districts in counties of less than 25,000 population would be the policy of the State Board of Health from now on.

Commenting upon this statement, Mrs. Avery Gorton, past president of the Miami Women's Club, stated that she believed commissioners whose policy in turn had always been to cut down on revenues.

Miami, Oct. 22, (AP)—Two top Chicago labor leaders were held by the FBI Wednesday on charges involving evasion of the Selective Training Law.
