By The Associated Press
The upset-happy Vanderbilt Commodores are sharpening their passing attack in preparation for a Saturday football meeting in Atlanta with unbeaten Georgia Tech.

Nick Germanos were the top receivers.
Coach Ralph Jordan's Auburn Tigers worked to eliminate fumbles, and then held an offensive drill. Jackie Creel, 135-pound halfback, returned to action after having been out since the start of the season with an injured knee.

Gators Concentrate On Passing Defense

GAINESVILLE (AP) — Florida's pass defenders will go through another wringer this week. Slipped around by Vanderbilt's Bill Krietemeyer last Saturday, they are up against Georgia Tech's Zek Bratowski, Krietemeyer is 10th best passer in the nation and Bratowski 12th.

Crippled Hatters Take Rest Before Beginning Drills

DELAND (Special) — A crippled Stetson Hatter football squad took Monday off before launching drills yesterday afternoon for the formidable Parris Island Marines next Saturday's foe.

Not lamenting over being held to a 6-6 deadlock with the Spartans, Hatter Coach Jay Pattee gave high praise to his defensive platoon for holding the patient Tampa Spartans last Saturday, the Hatters were dealt a crippling blow when it was learned that Pass-Snapping end Dave Laude would probably be out the remainder of the season due to injuries received in this game.

Laude has a back injury and will be hospitalized for about 10 days while Han is suffering from pulled inter-tarital muscles.
The Hatters began the week with work on polishing up their pass defense, ball handling and experimenting on a new backfield combination.

Powell, Betts And Yates Pace No 6 To 3-Game Sweep

Dot Powell, Ellen Betts and Coleman Yates teamed up to smash 1,350 pins staking No. 6 bowlers to a clean three-game sweep of their series with the last place No. 3's in Mixed League action at the Sanford Bowling Alley last Monday night.

The victories likewise swept the No. 6's into second place for the first time this year. Yates was the individual scorer in the game with a 498 series, tops in the league for the evening. Betts recorded a 428 score for her series contribution while Dot Powell chimed in with a 424 three-game set.

For the losing No. 3's were led by Teppell's 455.
No. 1's maintained their front ranking position with two wins in three with third place No. 5's. Morris Sjoholm received 455 pins for three sets and Ted Burnett flattened 444 to spearhead the winner's assault. Bob Basore's even 400 was the top effort for losing No. 3's.

Miami Hurricanes Hope To Come Back Against Marquette

CORAL GABLES (Special) — University of Miami's chances of rising above a so-so or even disastrous football season will be measured by the success of the Hurricanes against the powerful Marquette University eleven in the Orange Bowl, Miami, Friday night Oct. 24.

Despite heavy losses from its 1951 eleven, Marquette has come up with a horde of fine new talent—including a complete offensive backfield—and, after a first game loss to powerful Wisconsin, has rolled to a series of impressive victories.

Miami fans are perhaps most impressed by the 21-0 victory scored by Marquette over Boston U. Just before Boston U whipped the Hurricanes 9-7, that margin of victory could have been much larger as a fourth TD was fumbled away and a fifth lost when a back, Ed Mixan, termed the 'best 170 pound halfback in the country' by Milwaukee sports writers is another of the offensive threats.

Alabama Seeks Revenge Against Mississippi State On Saturday

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Alabama will try to get back on the winning side of the ledger Saturday against Mississippi State. The dopesters figure the Tide should do it by a one-touchdown margin.

Alabama's main offensive threat is the passing of quarterback Clell Hobson and the running of right half Bobby Marlow. Both were well shackled in the Tennessee game.

Tropical Storm In Caribbean Develops Hurricane Velocity

Miami Forecaster Describes Latest Disturbance South Of Cuba As Humdinger

MIAMI (AP)—The hurricane in the Caribbean Sea developed winds of 25 miles an hour today and was described as a "humdinger" by chief storm forecaster Grady Norton.

A Navy hurricane hunter plane which emerged from the storm advised all future flights to "avoid the north quadrant which is extremely turbulent and very wet."

Norton said the disturbance now "has wound up into a very severe small hurricane" with a well-defined eye only 15 miles in diameter.

The Navy plane which pierced to its eye reported turbulence and accompanying radio difficulty made it necessary to fly out of the hurricane before a report could be made by radio.

An 11 a. m. advisory had reported the hurricane with 30-mile winds drifting slowly northward about six to seven miles an hour. Gales extended out from the center about 50 to 75 miles.

The storm then was centered 320 miles south of Havana, Cuba.

Only one other hurricane this season, Able in late August, reached the coast and it blew out over the Carolinas and Virginia with minor damage. The others moved harmlessly up the Atlantic.

Meanwhile, Florida began drying out after one of the worst east coast storms in recent years. Weather Bureau observers pointed out that the two disturbances had no connection.

The northeast storm brought heavy rains to Southern Florida and dumped nine inches of water on Nassau, Bahamas—an all time record—in 24 hours ending at 8 a. m. Wednesday.

Coast Guard search and rescue headquarters handled 24 calls during the two-day storm, using five planes, five big cutters, four 83-footers and 30 smaller craft in rescue operations.

Three boats sank, three fishermen were drowned and high seas from strong winds caused damage running into many thousands of dollars.

The deaths were three Negro crew members of the 50-foot Sea Fawcett which sank off Cape of the Florida east coast.

The 100-foot fruit boat Micawber with nine men aboard reached port in Tampa after a 10-hour battle with the storm. The vessel was leaking badly and low on fuel when the Coast Guard arrived with a portable pump and fuel and escorted it to Tampa.

The Coast Guard hadn't rescued it when it did, we'd be on the bottom now," said the Micawber's captain, 33-year-old Marshall Talum from Honduras. The ship was enroute to Ft. Myers with 14,000 coconuts.

The Coast Guard also took in tow the shrimp trawler Rosa Mae, with an injured crewman aboard, and the trawler in Tampa, which was damaged by small craft warnings, which had blown along both Florida coasts since Monday, went down as the high pressure area moved out of the state.

Pope Endorses County Zoning In Nov. 4 Election

Referendum Is Slated On Powers Of Board To Zone Seminole

Enthusiastic endorsement of the county zoning proposal which will appear on the ballot in the general election, Nov. 4, was given today by Pope John XXIII, who is expected to visit the county in the very near future.

"It is very desirable to have this county zoned," he stated.

He stated such action was the "only way to keep the county off the County and State highways, which ruin the approaches to the various towns in the County and to the County itself. At the present time, there is no control over what type of construction which may be built on State and County highways, which may have a decidedly detrimental effect on adjoining property."

"The most serious cases," he pointed out, "are on the outskirts of towns, particularly Sanford." He explained the act would provide regulations which would prevent the construction of buildings in the County and in the area of "what is normally seen from the highway."

State Rep. Volle Williams stated today, "I am sure that the people of Seminole County have one of the most identical with the proposed zoning law here, and it has worked out well there."

The zoning proposal was enacted into law, pending the approval by Seminole County voters, by the State Legislature in 1951, after being introduced by State Senator Lloyd F. Hoyle.

A number of complaints were received from residents of the south end of the County, Rep. Williams stated, who asked him to do something about it.

Christmas Seals For TB Campaign Being Prepared

"Volunteer workers for the 1952 Christmas Seal Sale spent a busy day at Christmas Seal headquarters preparing for the mailing of checks of the new Christmas Seals to the National Tuberculosis Association, Homer Osborne, County Christmas Seal Sale Chairman, announced today.

The 1952 Christmas Seal Sale begins on Nov. 17, with the mail delivery of Christmas Seals to residents throughout the county. The sale will be used to finance the 1952 program of the National Tuberculosis Association.

"When County residents open their Christmas Seal letter, Nov. 17, they will find the beautiful glow of a Christmas candle gleaming up at them. The Christmas Seal also bears the red double-barred cross, which appears on the Christmas Seal every year, regardless of changes in design," he stated.

"The Double-Barred Cross," Mr. Osborne added, "is the international symbol of the fight against tuberculosis and the registered insignia of the National Tuberculosis Association and its affiliates, including the Seminole County Association.

Its appearance each year on the Christmas Seal," he stressed, "reassures the public that in buying Christmas Seals they are contributing to the support of an organization dedicated to fighting tuberculosis, a most communicable disease."

"Tom Darling, Amityville, N. Y., designer of the 1952 Seal," Mr. Osborne said, "His design was selected by the National Tuberculosis Association's Christmas Seal Sale Advisory Committee."

The Christmas Seals were produced by the National Tuberculosis Association and supplied to associations in the 48 states and the District of Columbia, and to Alaska, Puerto Rico, Guam, and the Canal Zone.

"When you receive your Christmas Seal letter, you can't afford to forget, you can afford to buy Christmas Seals but you can't afford to have TB," Mr. Osborne urged.

Oviedo Reporter Has Accident In Jax

Marian R. Jones, Oviedo correspondent for The Herald and her husband ran into difficulty in short order on their vacation this week when they had an automobile accident in Jacksonville.

According to a letter from Mrs. Jones, an automobile ran into the rear of their car when they stopped for a traffic light, resulting in a tie-up over insurance adjustment. Finally, the insurance adjuster for the other motorist approved all repairs, and the Oviedo couple continued on their trip after temporary repairs were made on their car. They were on their way to Ohio, Michigan and Massachusetts.

C. K. Carter, 46 Takes Own Life In Long Illness

Body Is Found In His Garage With .22-Caliber Rifle Nearby

The body of C. K. Carter, 46, of 316 Twentieth Street, a former employe of the Florida Power and Light Company, was found in the back seat of his car in the garage of his residence about noon today.

Death was caused by suicide, according to Coroner W. E. Watson, who did not gather a coroner's jury in determining the cause of death.

According to Sheriff P. A. Mero, Carter had taken his life by firing the bullet of a .22-caliber rifle in his mouth and pulling the trigger. The body, he said, was found lying on its side and a towel in the back seat, which apparently had been placed there to avoid getting blood on the car.

William Livingston of the Power Company, long time friend of Mr. Carter, said Carter's son, C. K. Carter Jr., who lived at the garage apartment with his father, had awakened him to go to work yesterday morning. His father had arisen and left the premises.

The elder Mr. Carter was working for the Sanford Electric Company after he had been given a six-month leave of absence from the Power Company last May because of ill health. Mr. Livingston said.

The younger Mr. Carter noticed yesterday but thought nothing of it because his father sometimes drove a truck to his residence from the Sanford Electric Company. The younger Mr. Carter had his license.

1500 Gallons Of Gas Lost In Pipe Break

Traffic was detoured off the Lake Shore Boulevard for about three hours this morning after a break was discovered in a gasoline pipe line at the Sun Oil Company.

Approximately 1,500 gallons of gasoline were pumped last night through the break in the six-inch pipe, which runs between the loading dock and the plant, according to C. J. Wilkinson, warehouse superintendent. The break occurred sometime during the night and wasn't discovered until about 6:30 o'clock this morning by C. A. Saunders, senior clerk for the neighborhood plant of the Standard Oil Company.

The immediate area of the break was saturated with the escaped gasoline. The Fire Department stood by in the event of fire while the Police Department rerouted traffic.

The only gasoline lost was the amount pumped through the break, which couldn't be seen in the darkness last night, Mr. Wilkinson said.

AUTO ACCIDENT

Charges were issued against an Osborn resident and the father of a youthful Sanford motorist last night following a two-car collision on State Road 412, one mile east of Sanford, about 9:00 o'clock, according to Highway Patrolman R. D. Harrison.

Irving Harvey Viens Jr., 34, Osborn, was charged with disregarding a signal, while Harry Frank Osborn, 20, Sanford, Boulevard, Sanford, was charged with permitting his daughter to operate a motor vehicle in violation of a restricted license.

20-Year State Road Cost Set At 2 Billions

Figure Does Not Include Any Rights-Of-Way Which May Need Acquisition

GAINESVILLE, Fla. — Improvement of the Florida state highway system to adequate standards over the next 20 years will cost over two billion dollars, South eastern highway and surveying engineers told today.

Costs of maintenance, administration, and miscellaneous items for the total system were estimated at $2,215,000,000 for Lawrence S. Waterbury of a New York engineering firm.

Waterbury was the first speaker at a highway and surveying conference given by the University of Florida's civil engineering department.

In his talk on a future plan for Florida highways, Waterbury said "these costs do not include an allowance for contingencies or the cost of any rights of way which may be required on either the primary or secondary system."

He said total anticipated revenue from all present sources is $1,751,000,000 which will leave a deficit of $462,339,000. The present deficit is about 265 million, he said.

Waterbury said his firm has made a study of Florida highways and that the "phenomenal growth" has resulted in a present demand for highway facilities which the existing highway system fails to provide.

"The primary system needs is not more roads, but better roads, he added. The existing network is reasonably adequate, but roads require vast reconstruction."

Waterbury explained that present revenues will not meet future needs, claiming that the toll road principle is "the most feasible and realistic approach to some of Florida's pressing highway problems."

"The trend toward toll highways is evident and is growing," he said, adding however that it is not the absolute answer.

Florida's principal highway deficiencies were found in his firm's study to be inadequate existing arterial roads along the east coast and through the central region, roughly from Daytona Beach area to the Tampa Bay area.

He said "the only feasible answer to Florida's most predominant arterial highway problem is a system of limited access toll highways, roughly from Jacksonville to Miami and from the vicinity of Daytona Beach to the Tampa Bay area."

The length of the east coast turnpike route is approximately 400 miles, he said, and will be approximately 128 miles, the route of the cross state turnpike is close to Orlando, Kissimmee, Winter Park, Lake Wales, Lakeland, Plant City and Tampa.

The construction cost of the Florida turnpike system was estimated by Waterbury to be 2,215 million dollars.

"The Dutchman" Is Indicted Upon Contempt Count

Grunewald Refused To Tell Congress About Tax Dealing

WASHINGTON, Pa. — A federal grand jury today indicted Henry W. (The Dutchman) Grunewald, shadowy man about Washington, on 22 charges of contempt of Congress.

Grunewald's name fitted in and out of the sensational parked hearings last year by a House committee investigating tax frauds.

Grunewald finally was called as a witness last January, but declined to answer any questions.

About all the investigators got out of him in five sessions was the statement "I was born in 1902." He declined an advice of counsel to say where he was born or talk about anything involving him since that date.

Today's indictment charged a long list of things that Grunewald refused to tell the House Ways and Means Subcommittee, headed by Rep. King (D-Calif.) while officials of the Internal Revenue Bureau knew, and whether he had ever discussed any tax cases pending in that bureau.

Grunewald, 47, convicted on each count of the indictment, was subject to maximum penalties of 22 years in prison or $25,000 fine or both.

The matter the King committee particularly investigated was Ryan, married Lord Ogilvy, today in Britain's plushiest wedding of the year.

Princess Margaret and the queen mother led the list of 1,000 guests who packed fashionable old St. Margaret's Church in a glittering array of some of the finest food in Britain.

The slim, brown-eyed American bride is a great granddaughter of the American financier Thomas Fortune Ryan.

Hollywood Movie Stars Make Big Hit In Sanford At High School

By RALPH TOMPKINS

Seminole High School students and a large delegation of adult movie fans were treated to Hollywood in the High School auditorium. Frankly, last period classes weren't quite up to their scholastic par, but there were good reasons. For the boys those reasons were soon to materialize in the persons of Marion Marshall, devastating beauty who starred in "Snake Pit" and many other film releases, and luscious Barbara Ruck, MGM recording star. And the girls were to be dished out some real Hollywood stuff by the stuttering cowboy, Roscoe Ates, acrobatic Carleton Carpenter, and handsome Jerome Courtland and Mel Ferrer.

Immediately after Principal Herman Morris rang the closing bell, the halls were filled with girls pouring into the auditorium. Charlie Morrison emceed the affair, and while waiting for the movie stars treated the gang to a nostalgic show of "Old Man River." The band followed with spacy bits of "Dixie" and "Blue Tones." Gene Arnold from the Naval Air Station thrilled the

Seventh Division Troops Beat Off Chinese Attacks

SEATTLE, W. Va. — U. S. Seventh Division troops on Triangle Hill tonight threw back an assault by Chinese forces who snatched the peak shortly after dark.

Flare punches and searchlights lit up the attacking Red for the hours of American and South Korean artillery. Front line officers said the battle raged for two hours.

The Red attack was powered by elements of one battalion about 500 men.

In another central front battle, South Korean troops repulsed the crest of Iron Horse Mountain. The battled heavily against counter-attacking Chinese.

The U. S. Eighth Army and the 10th South Division captured complete control of the hill and a 200 by 400 ft. area by 10:30 p. m. The Chinese launched their counter-attack about 90 minutes later.

Fighting for the high ground at the western end of the old Iron Horse had raged for two weeks. The Reds had held it since Saturday.

About 20 miles to the east, U. S. battle front officers said the Chinese were bringing up fresh troops to reinforce their battered battalions. They were being held at the Iron Horse and Super Ridge and Triangle Hill.

They said one complete Chinese division of 10,000 troops had been moved in the Central Front line of the past 10 days.

Ten B26 Superfortresses last night rained through a barrage of Communist ground fire in an attack on a line and lead plane only 20 miles east of the big MIG base at Anju, Manchuria.

They dropped 100 tons of bombs on the target of trucks, depots, flak positions, searchlights and Red fighter planes. Far East Air Forces said all the B26s returned to Okinawa.

They said the Chinese on Super Ridge last night sent a rattle party against Chinese troops on their flank. AP correspondent John H. Johnson said the MIGs and the Reds at 8:30 p. m. and knocked them off an outpost hill in a two-hour skirmish.

Twenty Chinese jabbed at American positions on Triangle Hill in the pre-dawn darkness but with drew after a brief fight.

3-State Search Made By Police For Bandit Gang

Robbery Kidnap Deal Led By Self-Styled "Three-Gun Maniac"

SPARTA, Tenn. (AP)—Police searched three states today for a bandit who shot a man and described himself as a "three-gun maniac" and lived up to his description in a bloody kidnap and robbery spree.

The same man, including a kidnap victim who hung on to his captor, and a rifle throughout, captured at least 10 persons and 100,000 dollars yesterday at a police post.

No law of the victim's name escaped, some told a police post today. Their names to police authorities, police then took up the trail and the capture of all were announced today.

A wide search and a wide hunt, launched through the states, described himself as a "three-gun maniac" and lived up to his description in a bloody kidnap and robbery spree.

Accuses "Old Guard" Led By Taft With Having An Attitude Of "Isolationism"

BY DON WHITEHEAD

WITH STEVENSON, E. Adlai Stevenson made his first bid for Pennsylvania's big block of 42 electoral votes in Erie today with a slashing denunciation of the Democratic 20-year record and a slashing attack on the Republican record.

He accused the Republican "old guard" led by Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio as having an "attitude of isolationism" which he said threatened the security of the United States and the world.

A half hour earlier he had accused the Republicans of offering "an easy way" to the solution of world problems. He said that "easy way" label was on the Republican battle.

But inside it's the same old swamp of "isolationism" led by the audience that the Republicans had steadily opposed constructive programs sponsored by the Democrats over the years.

The men of the old guard who have captured the Republican candidate have learned little in these intervening decades," he said.

Stevenson was moving back in Ohio today for a major speech launch which his campaign manager said will lead with Republican "small talk."

Funeral Services Held In Batavia For M. E. Heintz

Funeral services for Malcolm E. Heintz, 21, of the Dodson Rd., Batavia, formerly of Batavia, N. Y., who was killed Oct. 6 in the crash of a Navy patrol plane in Argentina, New York Post, were conducted in Batavia on Saturday, Oct. 18.

The young man was married to Miss Myrtle Hardy of Sanford on July 20.

The services were conducted by Airman Ralph Thorsen of Minneapolis, Minn., and Lt. Ralph W. Foster of California. The latter served as co-pilot on the crew in which Heintz was second mechanic, but did not make the fatal flight because another pilot was making a check flight in the ship.

Six of the 12 crew members aboard the plane were killed in the crash which occurred as the flight was returning from a nine-hour routine patrol mission. Visibility was poor and it was dark. The pilot was unable to make a controlled approach. The plane struck the ground short of the runway.

The Heintz family had been sent to Newfoundland only three weeks prior to the accident. Heintz transferred from Paulticus River, Md. A veteran of service in the Korean War zone, Heintz's mother, Mrs. Heintz, had recently served aboard the USS Latta, an minesweeper, and had made three trips to the Mediterranean aboard the big carrier. Earlier when he was 17, he received his basic training at Great Lakes, Ill.

Young Heintz was born in Batavia on Nov. 23, 1930, a son of Charles N. and Edna A. Heintz. He attended the Dodson Rd. He attended Corfu Central School, the family having formerly resided on the Kelsey Rd. in the town of Batavia. He has two sisters, Gladys H. of the West Main St. Rd.; six sisters, Mrs. Charles Calkins of the Pratt Rd.; Mrs. Robert Wicks

Most Businesses Report Profits In Quarterly Report

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Profits are on the upgrade again—if the first companies to report prove typical. The first 45 corporations to announce their net earnings after taxes for the July, August and September quarter show:

Profits of 29 running ahead of the same period of 1951; 16 making less.

These early earners are but a handful of the hundreds yet to report and contain only two of the industrial giants. Thus they are far from conclusive evidence of a trend. Also, they may prove to be heavily weighted by a few companies who made striking gains this summer.

But they make cheerful reading for stockholders when compared with the profit trend earlier this year.

In the April, May and June quarter much more complete reports showed U. S. corporate earnings running 13 per cent behind the 1951 record quarter.

In the first three months of this year corporate profits after taxes averaged 9 per cent behind the 1951 first quarter.

Stockholders have another cause for cheer. In spite of lower earnings during the first half of this year, directors of many corporations maintained or raised dividend rates.

For the first nine months of this year total dividend payments ran 1 per cent ahead of the corresponding period last year.

In many industries, earnings prospects appear even brighter for the final three months of 1952 than for the quarter just ended. Year-end extra dividends may not be as generous as formerly, but many observers feel that total dividend payments for the year may equal possibly top, last year's record payments.

The 45 corporations so far reporting show the usual wide variance in profit pattern. Four of them operated in the red in the third quarter. Two others were sharply lower.

One was a steel company, reflecting losses from the strike. The four small iron and steel companies to report so far showed combined net profits 49 per cent below earnings in the 1951 third quarter. For the first half of the year, (including the strike month of June), 32 iron and steel companies had combined earnings 21.5 per cent below the first six months of 1951.

On the bright side, nine of the 29 with higher earnings show substantial gains.

Distracted Father Shoots Television Set Right On Nose

By SAUL PETT
(For Hal Boyle)

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y. (AP)—Every now and then an obscure little man rises up in wrath and smites the sounds and sights of a world that is too much with him.

In doing so, he becomes a hero to many of us who share his convictions but not his courage.

Such a man is Frank P. Walsh. Unable to submit any longer as a captive audience, he rebelled. He shot his television set. He shot it dead, right through its 12½-inch eye.

But Walsh paid the price of martyrdom. He lost his job. "And I'm still in my wife's doghouse," he said. "It's very cold."

Mrs. Walsh, mother of five children ranging in age from 5 to 15, can't explain her husband's precipitous action. "The set may have been on a little too loud," she conceded. "But always before, when he complained of the noise, I turned it down and that was that."

Mrs. Walsh looked forlornly at the empty corner of her living room so recently occupied by her television set.

"I feel so lost without it," she said. "It cost $258 and I don't know when we can get another one. We had it two years and only made the last payment this August."

Mourning her loss, Mrs. Walsh said television had become part of her life. It was her habit, she said, to turn it on at 10 in the morning for an early movie while she cleaned up in the living and dining room.

From 11:30 to 12, she watched "Strike It Rich" while she "got the kids' lunch ready." Then came "Bride and Groom," "Love Of Life" and "Search For Tomorrow."

"I almost always turned it off at 12:45 and didn't turn it on until 3 o'clock for just one-half hour of 'The Big Payoff'." Mrs. Walsh said. "Then I kept it off until the early show movie came on at 6:15. From then on, I used to keep it on until I went to bed."

Now she came back to Frank Walsh, who is 38, tall and thin. He used to work nights for a private detective agency and by day he did odd electrical jobs. Frank liked the lights and the detective stories. He had nothing against television except when it disturbed his sleep.

Several times before the fatal incident, he said, he had felt like shooting the set when the sound shook his early evening naps.

"Finally," he said, "it happened Sunday night. I woke hearing somebody scream, 'Hey, Abbot!' It was Abbott and Costello and I got nothing against them. But I was mad not being able to sleep. I figured the easiest way was the quickest.

"I told them to move over and then I fired from an angle, about 15 feet away. Caught the tube in the upper right corner. It exploded into a thousand little pieces but the glass didn't fly far. Nobody was hurt, but the TV was ruined.

"I guess my wife got scared. She took the kids outside and called the cops. They came and saw I was sober. They took my pistol and pistol permit away. Without them, I couldn't work and knew it. So after the cops left, I changed my clothes and went down to a neighborhood bar and really got 'naded.'"

Walsh paused and looked at his wife.

"Now that it's over and I realize 'I've done,' he said, "I'm sorry I did it."

Mrs. Walsh said nothing. She just looked at the empty corner.

In 1951 there were 9,300,000 people in the United States who were single because their spouses had died.

that the legislation in the House of Representatives. The representative said today he didn't want to "back out" a referendum measure, "on the people of the County can determine the zoning proposal."

Rep. Mack Cleveland expressed warm approval of the proposal, saying, "I think it's a pretty good thing if the people want it (and) I think it's a good idea to have a referendum on it." He pointed out the zoning regulations would protect property investments made by County residents.

The county zoning regulations are listed under chapter 27,806 (No. 1418), Senate Bill No. 105, which states, in opening the bill is "An act to amend the Board of County Commissioners of Seminole County, Florida, to adopt zoning regulations and building code governing the use of property not included in any municipal ordinance and bordering upon, adjacent to and adjoining any State or County road to prevent the use of property of not to exceed 500 feet from said roads and providing penalties for violations thereof."

This exact wording will appear on the ballot at the general election Nov. 4 which will separate from the ballot existing candidates for elective offices.

Under Section No. 1 of the law dealing with the granting of zoning, it provides the purpose of the legislation is to promote the health, safety, morals and the general welfare of the community and that the County Commission is empowered to regulate and restrict the use of property in the County lying outside of municipalities and within 500 feet of the central line of any state or County road.

Section No. 2 states that districts may be set up in such a way as to best carry out the act in regulating and restricting the erection, construction, reconstruction, alteration, repair or use of buildings and structures on such land and water. All zoning regulations must be uniform within a district, but one district may differ from another.

Section No. 3 stipulates that regulations shall be in accordance with a comprehensive plan and designed to lessen congestion on the highways; to secure safety from fire, panic and other dangers to promote the public health and general welfare; to provide adequate light and air.

To prevent the overwatering of land and water to avoid undue concentration of population; to preserve and facilitate the development and display of the natural beauty and attractiveness of roadsides; to facilitate the adequate provision of transportation, water, sewerage, school, parks and other requirements. Regulations will be made with reasonable consideration, among other things, of the character of the district and the peculiar suitability for particular uses, and with a view of conserving the value of buildings and encouraging the most appropriate use of land and water throughout the County.

The County Commission shall provide for the manner in which regulations and boundaries are set, altered and changed or changed from time to time, but no regulations or boundaries will be effective until a public hearing has been held on each matter.

who identified himself as "Mr. Watson" and who told him he had better "play along" with Nathan and Naster. He said this man had a guttural voice.

Nathan and Naster took the witness chair and denied there was any truth in Teitelbaum's story. Testimony was developed that T. Lamar Caudle, assistant attorney general since fired, exclaimed when he heard the story of the guttural-voiced telephone call "That must have been 'The Dutchman'."

Charles Oliphant, chief counsel of the Internal Revenue Bureau testified that Grunewald had made inquiries about Teitelbaum's tax case. Oliphant resigned his government post in the midst of the inquiry.

Hollywood Stars
She was promptly carried bodily onto the stage by Roscoe Ates and placed in the lap of Mel while Jerome sang the rest of the song right to her. A good time was had by all.

Not to be outdone by her male colleagues, MGM's own recording artist, Barbara Ruick, came to the mike and frankly announced, "I want a man!" Stanley Kauter turned out to be this man and Barbara came right out into the audience and led him by arm-and-carriage right on the stage and sang to him. This was all new to Sam, it was plain enough to see, but the highlight of the day was when blonde Miss Ruick gave Sam a big warm kiss right where kisses can be most appreciated. The audience went wild, and so did Sam.

Carleton Carpenter, the popular long-legged hinged genius of many Hollywood movies, asked for a partner for a Charleston and Sanford's Ann Rahon answered the call and the couple did one of these old traditional Southern dances to the delight of the audience.

Mayor Stempert presented a big golden key to the movie troupe with other appropriate remarks to conclude the program. Marion and Barbara, the only women on the tour of celebrities, were each presented a lovely corsage by the president of the student body, Bobby Morris, and Marion was made an honorary Fire Chief of the City of Sanford by Chief Mack Cleveland following the performance.

The whole show ended with a bang and will be long remembered as a realistic touch of Hollywood which paused while in Sanford yesterday.

Section No. 16 provides penalties and Section 17, the effective date. Section No. 18 stipulates that the act shall not become effective until it has been ratified by a majority of the qualified electors of Seminole County who shall vote at an election (Nov. 4) called for the purpose of ratifying or rejecting the act.

Blues In The News

The routine monthly Council of Personnel Investigation of SAAS is scheduled to be held this Saturday at 8:30 a. m. in the Adm. Building, Room 100. The agenda for the meeting is "Blues in the News" and "Blues in the News" will be the main item on the agenda.

Paul Hunsinger will be making his home country trip to Sanford this week. Paul is taking the leave to bring his wife to Sanford to live. He is attached to the Social Services Department at the station.

The new municipal Sanford Theater (which is looking for more members that are sincerely interested in the efforts of the group) will have an open house at the station on Saturday, Oct. 23, from 10:00 a. m. to 1:00 p. m. The purpose of the open house is to be held during the Thanksgiving week. There are still a few seats left for this year's season. Those interested in joining the group should contact the manager of the Sanford Theater at 100 W. W. St. or by phone at 100 W. W. St.

Sam Chaffin returned to duty with the operations Department this week after spending a few days at home in Orl. He is a member of the Sanford Fire Department. George Crocker, Treasurer of the SAAS, Sunday Department has left the station for St. Paul, Minnesota where he will spend about 10 days with his family and friends.

Have you realized there are only 43 days left until Christmas? We all know that Christmas is a wonderful time of the year. It is a time when children are overjoyed with the news that Santa has brought them things they want and need. But there are also many little girls and boys who have very good and very bad things to tell Santa about.

As you know, Santa doesn't come to the children's homes and he doesn't see the children. He only sees them through the eyes of the children. So if you have any bad things to tell Santa, you should tell them to the children. They will tell him for you.

It is a good idea to tell Santa about your bad things to him now, so he can know about them before he comes. This way, you can be sure that Santa will know about them and he will be able to help you.

Bandits

The victims said the boy with the boxing gloves claimed to be a former Golden Gloves boxing champion in Florida.

Johnson said he has contacted police in Jacksonville and Miami, who are following up several leads found in the bandits' luggage.

All of the bandits were described as being well dressed and Johnson said their luggage indicated they "always traveled first class."

He said the luggage also contained a hawk saw and other tools adapted for burglary.

patented today through industrial cities of New York state, hitting at what he called opposition slanders and innuendoes that he would destroy unions.

The Republican presidential candidate told a cheering crowd in Schenectady, home of a big General Electric plant, that his opponents were making such charges because they wanted to perpetuate themselves in power and divert attention from their own record.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, 1938 GOP nominee, was accompanying Eisenhower on the trip from Albany to Buffalo.

Florida Adds New Teaching Device In Scientific Courses

The University of Florida has added a new teaching device which reduces seasons to minutes.

Without the device, a planetarium would be necessary for teachers of astronomy and physical science to take their classes outdoors during many seasons of the year to accomplish what can be done in one sitting, by way of star identification.

In addition, by a simple adjustment, the operator may transport his audience to any spot on the earth's surface, depicting the sky as it would appear from there.

Planetaria as such are not new devices. One of the best known is the Hayden Planetarium of the American Museum of Natural History in New York City. This theater of the sky has a 75-foot dome and about 9,000 stars, including those of the sixth magnitude are shown.

The University of Florida planetarium consists of a projector and a dome of 18-foot diameter. Seen with final seating arrangements, 50 students may be seated under the dome at one time.

The projector is a simply made apparatus, as explained by Dr. Alex Smith, assistant professor of physics. A light is made in shining through a plastic surface full of small holes of different sizes, producing the interior of the dome and becoming a replica of the heavens.

A motor attachment to the projector can cause it to rotate, giving the same effect as the earth's rotation during different times of the day and seasons of the year.

Among other attachments to the projector is a clear globe with a map of the earth painted on its surface. A light within casts a shadow of the earth on the dome to demonstrate the relationship of the stars to the earth at a given time.

There is also a coordinate projector which enables the student or other observers to read the altitude of a particular star from the earth's surface.

McCarthy Welcomes Probe Of "Franking"

PORTLAND, Ore. — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said here last night that he welcomes investigation of a complaint that he abused his franking privilege.

He denied that he had ever used the franking privilege which allows congressmen to send official business letters through the mail without stamps.

A Postoffice Department spokesman said in Washington that the complaint against McCarthy came from "someone who apparently received through the mails something which they believed should not have been franked."

McCarthy, who is stumping the West in behalf of the Republican ticket and the investigation should cover others too.

"I know of several people who do misuse this privilege. This is particularly true of people who use it for campaigning," he said, but without mentioning names.

Spotty Damage To Crops Reported In Wake Of Downpour

MIAMI — Spotty damage to crops and pastures was reported today in the wake of a two-day storm that dumped tons of water on Southern Florida.

Clearing skies brought cheer to some sections but farmers agreed that a general hurricane could cause a lot of damage to crops and dikes in the Everglades.

"People are in a state about three times as much water into the canal and they can carry it," said Lamar Johnson, chief engineer of the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District.

The Kissimmee River emptying into Lake Okechobee from the north is out of its banks, Johnson reported, but a dry summer in the vast Kissimmee River Valley left its lakes low with plenty of storage space for water.

Flooded conditions were reported along the western side of the big lake and some ranchers evacuated their cattle from pastures under water.

Charles D. Kime, county agent at Ft. Pierce, said the tomato crop in that section can make "a crop" if future conditions are favorable.

Teacher Who Will Not Salute Flag Is Facing Dismissal

MIAMI — A school teacher and mother of three children, whose religious faith forbids her to salute the flag today faced dismissal by the trade County School Board.

The board voted Wednesday to charge against Mrs. Kathryn Singleton, second grade teacher at Newa King Cooper Elementary School, alleging her action violates the state school law.

Under the former provision of the law, the school board must show cause why Mrs. Singleton should be discharged.

County School Superintendent James F. Wilson recommended that the charges be filed because he anticipated a lengthy suit over the matter.

Mrs. Singleton, a teacher in the Dade County system for 15 years, is a member of the Jehovah's Witnesses. She has refused to lead her class in the daily salute to the flag.

Mrs. Edna Bird, principal of the school, said Mrs. Singleton however, does not feel or discourage her pupils from saluting the flag.

"I've made a personal decision and I don't feel that I've done anything wrong," Mrs. Singleton said.

She has three children of her own, the oldest a boy of 11 who she said also attended meetings of her sect. She said she did not know whether the girls refused to salute the flag.

"That's a matter which is left entirely up to him," she said.

TYRONE, Pa. — Fire destroyed a Pennsylvania railroad shopman's home early today. Five of his six children are missing.

Edwing T. Smith said only he, his wife and their 8-month-old baby escaped.

The fire started in a rooming house and it would be several hours before they could probe the ruins. Cause of the fire was unknown.

Neighbors reported Smith jumped from a second floor window after his wife jumped with their young child in her arms.

Mrs. Smith and the baby were reported in critical condition. Smith's condition was fair.

The missing children are Tommy, 14; Kenneth, 13; Rose Mary, 11; Daniel, 8; and David, 2.

HITLE VERSE TODAY
Be as good as your word, don't be a living counterfeit. They say and do not. — Matt. 23:3.

Casualties in the Korean war to date have reached the distressing
they are beginning to increase again, 885 last week alone. Never before in all American wars have we lost to many men, and gained so little.

It's funny how some people seem to be able to detect from reading this column that we are against Stevenson. Their perspicacity and intuiveness is positively amazing.
But after all, don't we have just as much right to be like as they have to be for Steve? Or have we?

Judge Millard Smith was in to see us the other day quite enthusiastic about the progress the "Democrats for Eisenhower" group are making in this part of the state and making no bones about his position in the matter. It is no longer a secret to vote the Republican ticket. The 1951 session of the legislature changed all that. All you have to do is to vote for a majority of the Democratic candidates on the ballot, not for all of them. And we have no doubt that Judge Smith will vote for a majority of them.

An overwhelming percent of Sanford Negroes, we are told, are going to vote for Stevenson. We suppose some of them think their government checks would stop if like were elected. But have they stopped to think what would happen to them if Governor Stevenson's civil rights program were put into effect and segregation were abolished in public schools? How many of them would like to send their children to white schools, already over-crowded? How many colored school teachers would like to take their chances of finding jobs in white schools?

Governor Byrnes of South Carolina takes as dim a view of Governor Stevenson's ability to shake off Truman and his corrupt cohorts after the election as we do. "If Mr.
Stevenson is elected, Truman will call on him to continue his policies and appointees," says Governor Byrnes. "He will claim that the people have given a mandate to continue Trumanism. Stevenson will be under such obligation to him that he will have to comply with the request of Truman." Anyone who knows his ABCs about politics knows that.

A. J. Prince in the Tampa Tribune suggests that now that all the other presidential candidates have submitted their income statements for the past eight or ten years, it would be interesting to the public generally if President Truman would do the same. Some fingers of scorn were pointed at Senator Nixon because he, a poor man, had accepted private aid in meeting the expenses of his office. President Truman was a poor man too. We wonder how he met his expenses when he was a senator. Did he get some private aid? Or did the Pen-dergast machine put up for him?
Anyway, the record of the various sources of his income during the past ten years, we think would be highly illuminating.

When it comes to political polls
we are inclined to agree with Walter Lippman whose advice is never to bet on anything unless it is a sure thing. "The three Cornell professors—Pearson, Myers and Davis —who predicted the re-election of Truman in 1946, have now applied their formula to this year's election. They findman man in man man." Mr. Lippman says. "They find, if I have understood their report, that they will not come out the day after election without their formula forecasts a Republican or a Democratic victory." And so on.

Florida is no longer in the bag.
They realize that Florida thinks it is not deserting the Democratic party, but that the Democratic party is deserting Florida and its traditional thinking in such matters as state's rights, civil rights and undeclared wars which cost so much in the blood of American youth.

But, in case Menard, Barkley and Truman have not heard how the political winds are blowing in Florida, Life Magazine calls it this way: "Florida will lead all the South in its protest vote against Stevenson because there is no other way to vote in the South except to vote for a Republican or a Democratic victory." And so on.

Night Driving

Warning to motorists: Don't drive at night unless it's absolutely necessary. Seven steps for safer night driving were outlined recently by an insurance expert in Orlando. The dangers posed by after dark travel also were cited. "Night driving is infinitely more dangerous than day-light driving," said Haldane Huckel, chairman of the Florida Mutual Insurance 200th Anniversary Committee. "This is especially true for motorists determined to 'get there' or 'get home' after long hours on the road."

The seven night driving rules outlined by Huckel are:
1. Make regular stops. Get out, walk around, relax. You'll rest your eyes, muscles and reflexes and be more alert when you continue.
2. During a long night trip, stop halfway to your destination and eat a good meal, not just coffee and doughnuts.
3. Don't fight traffic, drive defensively. Be constantly on the alert for the driving errors of others.
4. Get into the habit of not staring directly into oncoming headlights. Look beyond the beams to the road ahead and avoid temporary blindness.
5. Don't overdrive your headlights. Keep your speed down to where you can stop within the distance shown by headlight beams.

6. Overtake slower cars and pass with caution. If a car is coming toward you and two distinct lights are visible it is unsafe to pass.
7. If possible, have a companion with you to help you stay awake, alert and responsible to highway dangers. "Night driving often is cooler and more pleasant," Huckel said. "There usually is less traffic and fewer distractions. You can go greater distances in less time."

The disadvantages and dangers, however, are very real. He pointed out that night driving is more monotonous, you get sleepy, there's a tendency to drive too fast, windshields get spattered with insects, making visibility poor, and help is harder to find in case of car trouble.

Make Your Own Laws

"Do what thy manhood bids thee do,
From none but self expect applause;
He noblest lives and noblest dies
Who makes and keeps his self-made laws"

This little known verse, from a poem by Sir Richard Burton, has always had an attraction for me.

I don't mean, of course, that there is no such thing as an absolute truth. Still less do I mean that whatever anyone thinks is good, is necessarily good for him. But this is obviously not what Burton had in mind. What he meant, I suggest, is that everybody should make an effort to discover the good and true by himself, and thus set standards based upon his own findings. In doing so there are the great mat- ters to guide us; but it is still the individual who must seek and find.

So we should "make our own laws" in the sense of embracing some principle or principles which justify, at any rate to ourselves, an otherwise purposeless and meaningless existence. That is hard enough, but "keeping our own laws" is harder. Here one sometimes feels like the Latin poet who said, "I recognize better things and approve them: I pursue worse things." Yet even to recognize the good is something; indeed it is a great deal. It means constantly acquiring knowledge, whether in great books or in the great school of life. It means having sympathy and understanding. It means striving. And it means having a readiness, at least, for some kind of personal self-sacrifice.

All of us have occasionally met people who seem to have made and kept their own laws. They are the creative ones. Their personalities are in some way illuminated from within. Perhaps, as the Greeks thought, they have often learned through suffering. But they alone are happy because, as Burton suggests, they are fulfilling their manhood.—By Sir Galdwyn Jubb, Permanent Representative of the United Kingdom to the United Nations.

Court Greets Attorney

The Supreme Court of the United States has officially opened its one-hundred and sixty-third term with all the ceremony due this high judicial body. Chief Justice Vinson welcomed the new cabinet member, Attorney General McGranery, to the court and reminded him of his important duties as the nation's highest law enforcement officer.

It was well to mention to the attorney general the seriousness of his duty, especially at the present time. McGranery has promised a clean-up in Washington if such a housecleaning be needed. Many believe that the dust, dirt and debris lie thick. Let the new broom sweep clean.

Barkley In Orlando

It is an odd, but nevertheless historically important compliment to Orlando and Central Florida that Vice Pres. Aiken Barkley saw fit to campaign here in a presidential election.

Never before in the modern history of this great area has it been able to attract a top-flight Democratic leader, looking for votes.

Haroldo, Central Florida and all of Florida for that matter, always was considered—and correctly so—in the bag.

"Nothing to worry about down there. Those boys were born that way and they had sooner drown themselves in their lakes and swamps than vote against the Democrats."

Yes, sir. That's the way it was. But time and the misuse of power and ingratitude of Ingrates has a way of changing the loyalty of the most loyal.

This Florida revolution against corruption, mink coats, cold coats, undeclared wars, income tax scandals and using the South for a good thing, has really gotten somewhere.

Otherwise a man of Mr. Barkley's calibre and power in his party would never have spent two days here begging for votes.

Mr. Barkley knows and Mr. Truman knows and all the other party bosses know that Florida is voting.

Florida is no longer in the bag. They realize that Florida thinks it is not deserting the Democratic party, but that the Democratic party is deserting Florida and its traditional thinking in such matters as state's rights, civil rights and undeclared wars which cost so much in the blood of American youth.

But, in case Menard, Barkley and Truman have not heard how the political winds are blowing in Florida, Life Magazine calls it this way: "Florida will lead all the South in its protest vote against Stevenson because there is no other way to vote in the South except to vote for a Republican or a Democratic victory." Mr. R. L. Dean, Editor
Sanford, Florida
I am grateful for this privilege where we have an opportunity to express our thoughts to the public.

What will the hospital cost? This is a question that many people ask, and generally that means, "What will it cost me?" The overall cost as authorized by the bond issue on which we will vote on Nov. 4 is $800,000.00. The individual cost is based on a three mill levy on the real property the assessed valuation of which must exceed $6000 the amount of the homestead exemption—to be taxed at all.

Each property owner can quickly figure what this would mean to him by looking at his last tax statement from the County Collector.

If the assessed value was $6,000.00, the homestead exemption would be deducted, leaving $1,000 in this case it would amount to one-third of three dollars. Very cheap, isn't it?

But who can figure the value of a hospital in dollars and cents? If a loved one is ill and the doctor says hospitalization is urgently required, money becomes a secondary consideration as that life hangs in the balance and any amount would then be gladly paid to save it. If at that time a person could make a contribution to the hospital that was near at hand and that could provide the assurance of capacity, would he be glad to give? Undoubtedly he would.

While each of us hopes that he will not have to face that unhappy situation, many have faced it in the past and it is reasonable to believe that many of us will have to meet it.

The best idea is to pay as we go, be SURE that we have the hospital in case we or our neighbor need it.

And the way to be sure of that is to vote YES on the hospital bonds on Nov. 4.

Yours truly,
George Touhy

TRAVEL AGENTS INVITED

THE WORLD TODAY

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Korean War has assumed the full trappings of a Greek tragedy.

It is being argued with fury on the American political stage as one of the main issues in the presidential campaign.

From either come the winged messengers, in the shape of new bulletins, bearing ill tidings of battles won and lost and of men dying.

To this now will be added the gloomy chorus of the diplomats deploring Korea in the halls of the United Nations.

But in this play the authors, the Communists, have refused, as if enjoying the agony and the smell of death, to write an ending.

The United States, backed by France and Britain, pushed for immediate debate in the U. S. on Korea. So the debate began.

Secretary of State Acheson is expected to lay down today the case for the U. S. and its allies.

And, as Vladimir, Russia's foreign minister, is on hand to blast the U. S. for the Communists.

Before it's over the U. S. and other U. N. nations may condemn the Communists who, operating on the theory that sticks and stones may break their bones but names can't bother them, will hardly be impressed.

So before the debate begins—judging from what's happened in the past—it would be sheer optimism to believe any end to the war will come out of the speeches in the U. N.

HEAVY RAINFALL IN NASSAU
NASSAU, Bahamas—The heaviest rainfall ever recorded in the Bahamas Islands—also inches—was recorded during the 24 hours ending Wednesday morning.

The previous record was 4.86 inches in June, 1946. No serious damage was reported from Tuesday night's downpour and there were no high winds.

Overrule This Court Plan

FLORIDA VOTERS November 4 will be called upon to sit in judgment on the future of the State Supreme Court.

The issue is the approval of constitutional Amendment No. 2, which would make radical changes in the state's judicial system.

Briefly, the amendment would:
1. Enlarge the court from 7 to 10 justices, thus creating three new judgeships to be filled by Governor Warren.

2. Give the chief justice authority to move lower court judges around the state as well, as deemed necessary to handle litigation. Only the Governor now has power to assign judges and then only when a resident judge is unable to serve.

3. Authorize the Supreme Court to prescribe the rules of procedure for all courts. This power now is divided between the court and the legislature.

Sponsors of the amendment argue that the Supreme Court needs three more justices to enable it to keep abreast of the increasing volume of appeals; that it needs control over the lower courts to divide the work more evenly and speed litigation.

There is no denying the need for improvement in Florida's Supreme Court. It may be the "least respected court of last resort in America," as Circuit Judge Vincent Giblin charged in his unsuccessful race against Justice E. Harris Lewis, but it has as many as nine very high among state appellate courts. And the state's appellate courts of lower courts—circuit courts, county courts and justice of peace courts—cries for reform.

But we cannot find much hope for improvement in Amendment No. 2. On the contrary, we fear it would make a bad situation worse.

The amendment contains two serious weaknesses.
First is the fact that it would permit Governor Warren, who already has appointed fifteen members of the Supreme Court, to appoint three more in the last month of his term. A majority of the 10 judges court this would be Warren appointees.

It is bad policy to have a majority of the Supreme Court politically obligated to any Governor, especially when that Governor, upon leaving office, will return to the practice of law.

This objection is made stronger by the fact that under the amendment the chief justice, whose position now is largely honorary, gains great power in the administration of the entire court system. He would be chosen by vote of the justices for as long a term as he decided to fix—and it is not unreasonable to speculate that the six Warren appointees would name the chief justice.

In answer to this objection, advocates of the amendment say Governor Warren promised last June that he would make the new appointments from a list of 40 lawyers and judges nominated by the Florida Bar. The truth is that the Governor did not make a flat commitment to do so. His exact words were:

"Should the people of Florida adopt the proposed amendment to the Florida Constitution adding three justices to the Supreme Court, it is my intention to make appointments to such positions from this list." (Italics ours.)

Even though the Governor's intention undergoes no change, the list of 40 is large enough to afford a range of political choices.

This opportunity for one administration to pack the court is the first and most obvious weakness of Amendment No. 2.

Second, in its effect upon the workings of the court.

The amendment provides that cases which do not involve state or federal constitutional questions, or appeals from death sentences, may be heard by only three members of the court and the vote of two justices will determine the decision.

It is proposed to divide the court into three three-judge panels to grind out decisions in these lesser cases. But the question arises: If one panel decides a point of law one way in one case and another panel decides it another way in a different case, how can the people of Florida ever know with what certainty what rule the Supreme Court intends to follow?

We do not see how it is possible to avoid hopeless conflict in decisions of the court under such a system.

There is, so far as we know, no other state supreme court which attempts to divide itself into three panels in such a way as many as in Florida. The most notable judicial reform in recent years was accomplished in New Jersey. There the supreme court was reduced in size, rather than enlarged; all seven members hear every case. An intermediate appellate court disposes of most minor appeals, thus freeing the supreme court for the consideration of the more important questions.

There are other weaknesses of the amendment which are the weaknesses of confusion.

Any attempt to improve the Supreme Court should recognize the need for (1) a better system of the court, in the form of research assistance.

Amendment No. 2 wholly fails to deal with these needs.

Although the Florida Bar originally endorsed the plan, many of its members now are either lukewarm or vigorously opposed to the amendment; some so far as to call it "vicious" and "a judicial monstrosity."

After studying the arguments on both sides and interviewing lawyers and judges, we are convinced that the intent of the amendment is good but that it offers, at best, a shaky approach to a partial solution of Florida's judicial problems.

We believe Florida citizens on November 4 should overrule Amendment No. 2 and that Florida lawyers should get busy drafting a better plan to submit to the next legislature.

Want to serve something different at your next dinner party? What about fresh fish soup, beef feet, pussy willow greens and, for dessert, lingcod (fish) ice cream? The ingredients may be a little difficult to find since they include a great deal of blubber and seal oil, but you're sure the meal will be sensational.

Elsa Shannon is planning to invite her friends to such a repast when she and her husband Jack go back from their current trip to Newfoundland, Labrador, Greenland and Iceland, where they are assisting for American soldiers with a USO camp unit.

Elsa and Jack recently made an extensive tour of U. S. Army bases in Alaska and the Aleutians and brought back with them the only Eskimo cook book every printed. It was prepared by students of the Shishmaref Day School, Shishmaref, Alaska, with the help and encouragement of their teacher, Isabelle B. Bingham.

Elsa, who was raised in Little Rock, Ark., says she thinks such dishes as coqrug flippers and tomcod liver with salmonberries would add an interesting note to her repertoire of Southern cooking. Says she:

"Right now we like Southern fried chicken better than anything, but travel does broaden one's tastes. Who knows? Blubber ice cream may be delicious."

Here is the recipe for lingcod Eskimo ice cream:

"First cook and boil the lingcod fish with water in the pot and no salt. Remove all the bones from the small pieces. Dry the pieces for a while and mix these with Eskimo ice cream. Add seal oil once in a while and as much water as you need."

The Eskimo ice cream is made thus:

"Grate reindeer tallow into small pieces. Add seal oil slowly while heating with hand. After some seal oil has been used, then add a little water while whipping. Continue adding seal oil and water until white and fluffy. Any berries can be added."

A special delicacy described in the Eskimo cook book is soured seal liver. This obviously is an acquired taste, like ripe olives, as it is made plain by Agnes Kiyutalik, the girl student who submitted the recipe:

"Soured seal liver is made in the summer time. Place liver in enamel pot or dish and cover with slubber. Put in warm place for a few days until sour. Most of the boys and girls don't like it, except the grown-ups and old people. I don't like it either."

Eskimo desserts include such things as dried salmon eggs and blackberries with seal oil, tomcod liver with salmonberries and willow meat with sugar and seal oil.

Elizabeth Jane Dunn To Wed Mr. Horton

Plans were announced this morning for the wedding next Sunday of Miss Elizabeth Jane Dunn to James Lawrence Horton, Jr. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Dunn of Gainesville, and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Horton of this city.

The double ring ceremony will take place in the sanctuary of the First Presbyterian Church in Gainesville at 3:30 p. m. with Dr. U. S. Gordon officiating. Mrs. Louden Ogan, soloist, will be accompanied by Mrs. Elinor Walden. Miss Dunn has chosen as Matron-of-Honor, Mrs. William Jennings, her only attendant, and J. L. Horton as best man for his school friend, William C. Evans and Jack Marrs of Sanford, William Jennings of Gainesville, and Chester Blotch of Washington, D. C.

No formal invitations are being issued but friends of the couple are invited to the wedding and the reception immediately following at the home of the bride's parents at 43 N. E. Eighth Avenue in Gainesville.

Naturalist Notes

By MRS. J. H. BILBEY

The Seminole Audubon Society held its first meeting of the year at the Sanford Garden Center Monday evening, Oct. 20. E. H. Stowe was elected treasurer, Mrs. Howard having resigned that post. Homer Early, naturalist teacher, brought the unhappy tidings from the state office that unless a considerable sum of money can be raised in the near future, the present program of nature study in the schools will have to be discontinued. The Seminole Society's quota amounts to $250.00 and, after some discussion, the society obligated itself to raise that amount. If permission of city and school authorities is obtained, it was decided to have an Audubon tag day in Sanford and Geneva, with the cooperation of the school children. Mrs. C. S. Dickerson, president, will act as chairman for Sanford, Mrs. H. A. Simpson was appointed chairman for Geneva. It is considered most important to keep this course going in the schools. As the children are interested in conservation and show the habits and value of birds, vicious reptiles and even some of the insects, their attitudes change, resulting in less vandalism and carelessness.

Party Tonight For Junior Hostesses

The local USO Committee will honor the junior hostesses who have served during the past year at a party at the USO center tonight at 7:30 p. m. Service men are invited to join the party after registration has been completed.

Miss Elsie Farley will provide the registration of junior hostesses for the coming year. Mrs. Melwyn S. Lindle, USO Director for South Georgia and Florida will attend. Mrs. Ed Lane, chairman of the entertainment committee, will explain plans for the big Hallowe'en Dance, Oct. 31, which will open the Fall season at the USO Center.

Miss Irene Hinton, co-director of the local program, announced that the facilities of the Center are open for the use of married service couples as well as single service men and invited them to attend the program in the evening.

The Misses Irene and Gussie Hinton, senior hostesses, will preside at the party. Refreshments will be served. Servicemen are invited to join the party after registration has been completed.

Mrs. Russi Entertains For Daughter Cecilia

Mrs. J. A. Russi entertained her daughter Cecilia on her eighth birthday, Tuesday at their home. The table was decorated with black and orange crepe paper and the children enjoyed refreshments of cup cakes, cokes, ice cream and Hallowe'en favors.

Mrs. Toni Russi and Mrs. Edgar Blanton assisted Mrs. Russi in serving the following: Susan and Bonnie Benton, Jill Pennington, Jean Smith, Eddie, Bobbie, and Bernice Harbour, Dot Benton, Phyllis Picklimer, Pat Benton, Betty Ann Slaten, Joe, Ronnie, Henry and Rosemarie Russi and Toni Russi.

BAPTIST GROUP

The Adult Sunday School Class of the Central Baptist Church held their monthly class meeting Tuesday in the recreation room of their new church.

A covered dish supper and combination Hallowe'en party were enjoyed with prizes being given for the funniest costume.

Meeting Is Held By Lake Mary PTA

The Lake Mary PTA met Thursday evening, Oct. 16, with School Trustee, Roy Howell, Sr. as the featured speaker. He outlined the duties of the school trustee, explained the administration of the Florida schools and gave an accounting of "Where our money goes."

The organization voted to pay $100 toward purchase of the lunch room. Mrs. W. P. Burke gave a short report on the State School of Instruction which had been attended by several members. Mrs. Ralph Williams and Mrs. C. W. Weidner were elected to attend the state convention in Lakeland, Nov. 11-13, with the PTA paying $100 toward their expenses.

PTA planned for the year has been chosen as the school library. The teachers assisted by PTA books now on hand and plans are under way to add new books as fast as possible.

Mrs. Jim Hise, the new teacher of the third and fourth grades was introduced and welcomed. The Lake Mary orchestra delighted the group with several selections: "The Foxglove's Dream" by Franz Gliden, a medley from "No. 50, Nashville," the always popular "Merry Widow Waltz" from the Franz Lehar opera, "The Merry Land Polka" and concluding with "Shuffle and Taps." Following the music, mothers of the seventh and eighth grades served refreshments. Room count was won by Mrs. Tills' room. Her pupils are making the attractive posters for each PTA meeting and the Hallowe'en Festival.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Miriam Russell has returned to her home in Mayfair after visiting her father, J. C. Haines, in New Jersey.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Packard have returned to their home at 514 Mellenville Avenue after spending the summer in Highlands, N. J.

James L. Horton Jr. has returned to his home in Sanford after being honorably discharged from the U. S. Army at Camp Breckenridge, Ky.

Mrs. William C. Hutchison, Jr. and son William III have returned from Connecticut where they visited their parents. They are now at home in their apartment at 108 West Eighteenth Street.

Mrs. Blanche Gardner of Cleveland has been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Wright at 718 Magnolia Avenue and other friends in Sanford for several days. Mrs. Gardner plans to return to Cleveland at the end of the week.

Meeting Is Held By Lake Mary PTA

The Lake Mary PTA met Thursday evening, Oct. 16, with School Trustee, Roy Howell, Sr. as the featured speaker. He outlined the duties of the school trustee, explained the administration of the Florida schools and gave an accounting of "Where our money goes."

The organization voted to pay $100 toward purchase of the lunch room. Mrs. W. P. Burke gave a short report on the State School of Instruction which had been attended by several members. Mrs. Ralph Williams and Mrs. C. W. Weidner were elected to attend the state convention in Lakeland, Nov. 11-13, with the PTA paying $100 toward their expenses.

PTA planned for the year has been chosen as the school library. The teachers assisted by PTA books now on hand and plans are under way to add new books as fast as possible.

Mrs. Jim Hise, the new teacher of the third and fourth grades was introduced and welcomed. The Lake Mary orchestra delighted the group with several selections: "The Foxglove's Dream" by Franz Gliden, a medley from "No. 50, Nashville," the always popular "Merry Widow Waltz" from the Franz Lehar opera, "The Merry Land Polka" and concluding with "Shuffle and Taps." Following the music, mothers of the seventh and eighth grades served refreshments. Room count was won by Mrs. Tills' room. Her pupils are making the attractive posters for each PTA meeting and the Hallowe'en Festival.

EFC's Leading Ketterlinus Plays Feds Here Tomorrow

Unbeaten Seminoles Face Undefeated St. Augustine In Contest Of Week

By KENT CHETLAIN
You've often heard that two-dollar phrase, "what happens when the irresistible force meets the immovable object." That might just happen tomorrow night when Sanford's undefeated Seminoles meet St. Augustine's once-beaten Ketterlinus Yellow Jackets at the Memorial Stadium in the East Florida Conference's "game of the week."

The powerful Yellow Jackets boast of a mighty 1-1 record this season losing a non-conference tilt to Mainland of Daytona

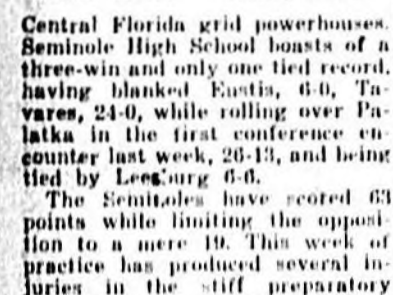

Bubba Blisbee Ed Lockett

Beach, 19-6. However, Ketterlinus has lambasted three conference foes, Deland, 27-6, Seabreeze, 33-7 and Palatka. They are the team to beat in the conference this year and should go into tomorrow night's game here as two-touchdown favorites.

"This will probably be the toughest game of the year," Coach Ganas stated today. "This game is the 11th one for us this year. If we can win then we will have a good chance at the conference title play-off championship."

The season's largest crowd of the year is expected to jam their way into Memorial Stadium tomorrow night to see this clash of

Junior Metts Nolley Nance

Central Florida grid powerhouses. Seminoles High School boasts of a three-win and only one tied record, having blanked Eustis, 6-0, Tavares, 24-0, while rolling over Palatka in the first conference encounter last week, 26-13, and being tied by Leesburg, 6-6.

The Seminoles have scored 63 points while limiting the opposition to a mere 19. This week of practice has produced several injuries in the stiff preparatory drills for the hard hitting Yellow Jackets.

Ed "Rocket" Lockett, power diving fullback who ranks second in total yards gained this year with 170, has developed two charlie horses. Head hitting guard Ross Hannum is also on the "charlie horse" list. End Cullen Wright revealed bruises from this week's rugged practice.

Guard Bubba Blisbee, converted end who turned in a stellar job on the defensive flank position last week in Palatka, has drawn a starting role at the wing position. Nolley Nance, who last week showed his potential, will be inserted in the tackle position on defense with tackle John Carter moving over to the guard slot, vacated by Blisbee.

In the statistical department, Junior Metts leads the Feds in almost every department. The Lake Monroe Locomotive has piled up a phenomenal total of 504 yards in 49 tries for a robust 10-plus average per carry.

Gators Complete Their Drills For Georgia Contest

B Team Will Tangle With Bulldog B's Tomorrow Evening

GAINESVILLE — Florida's Gators finished their last heavy workout in preparation for the Georgia Bulldogs in Jacksonville Saturday by pushing the B team around a wet practice field for two hours Wednesday.

The B team, with its own contest coming up Friday night in Waycross, Ga., against the Georgia B team, worked extra hard, but the solid Florida defenders ate up whatever was thrown their way.

By their return guard Joe D'Agostino and replacement tackle Howard Hampton, the Gator forward wall, which yielded an average of only 107 yards per game on the ground, remained the B team's running attack to earth time after time.

Another B offense with Harry Spears and Bobby Lance throwing the ball, fired hard at the Gator pass defenses, which will be up against a nationally ranked passer for the second straight week in Georgia's Zeke Bratkowski.

Budly penetrated by Bill Kreitemeyer's aerial threats last week, the defenders are determined not to let it happen again.

The offensive teams worked on blocking drills and running formations with the still solid, but not long running in light workout with fellow halfback J. Hall and fullback Dick Casares. Doug Dickey and Fred Robinson worked at quarterback.

Little Tommy Handcock, who ran for two of his three scores when the Gators last visited the Gator Bowl against the Citadel, will probably not see action in the game. The setback from Jacksonville Beach is still nursing his injured shoulder.

Both teams will enter the contest with shutout records in the Southeastern Conference. Georgia has beaten Vanderbilt, Tulane and LSU while Florida has lost to Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt. The Bulldogs also have topped North Carolina State and were shut out by Maryland's powerhouse.

Tennessee's Andy Kozar Ranks 2nd Among SEC Ground Gainers

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Tennessee's Andy Kozar, charged into second place among Southeastern Conference runners by picking up 128 yards against Alabama.

The SEC statistical bureau today said the Vol fullback has a season's total of 393 yards gained in 69 running attempts. He is topped only by Leon Haden of Georgia Tech with 469 yards in 81 attempts.

Hardeman leads the list by virtue of his record before last week end. He was able to pick up only 34 yards against a rugged Auburn defense. The all-around Tech attack brought a 20-0 victory, however.

Halfback Bobby Marlow of Alabama was bounced back into the SEC's leading receiver with 29 catches to his record though not a touchdown by air.

Steve Melinger of Kentucky shares fifth place in total ferocity with 12, but three of the heaves he snagged went for touchdowns. Passes to Melinger picked off 213 yards.

Buck Martin of Georgia Tech, the previous week's leader, caught only three passes against Auburn, and dropped to second place. DeLoach's 11th pick of the season for 291 yards and two touchdowns.

Other top receivers are Harry Babcock of Georgia Tech, 173 yards and one touchdown, and Jeff Knox of Georgia Tech, 133 yards and a single tally.

Leading punters are Max McGee of Tulane, 21 kicks averaging 42.1 yards; Spence of Auburn, 23 for 40.4; Bratkowski, 22 for 39.6.

LSU Prepares For Mighty Maryland Contest Saturday

By The Associated Press
LOUISIANA STATE, La. — Their third straight day of scrimmage yesterday in preparation for the Maryland game Saturday.

Coach Gaylord Truesley appeared happy over the showing of sophomore tackle George Oyster, who had probably his best game against the Terps. Oyster's work against the scrimmage was "pretty fair."

Bad news came during Georgia's workout at the University of Georgia. Coach Murray Warmath divided his Mississippi State Mustangs for an offensive and defensive scrimmage. Warmath said after the workout he doesn't plan to start a single senior on defense against Alabama. Four freshmen, four sophomores and three juniors will carry the load.

Tulane worked on pass defense in preparing for Auburn. Fullback Max McGee returned to duty after being sidelined with a pulled muscle. Linebacker Charlie Pittman and Charles Camp looked good in defensive drills.

Auburn's Coach Ralph Jordan gave tackles Sam Hanks and Bill Turbeath first team offensive assignments to go along with their first team defensive jobs. Jordan also had Ed Baker running as first team center in place of the injured Guy Greer.

Vanderbilt worked on offense against the "B" team which used Georgia Tech defenses. Coach Bill Edwards wasn't too happy over the drill which was filled with pass interceptions and fumbles.

Georgia Tech worked on every phase of its game, both offensively and defensively. Harry Griffin, sophomore halfback, is the only one who definitely out of action for the Vandy game.

Kentucky coach emphasized pass defense. Coach Bear Bryant said he would use eight freshmen and seven sophomores in his first offensive and defensive platoons against Cincinnati.

Coach Johnny Vaughn's Miskia-corn and other plants, a Brooklyn pharmaceutical firm, Pfizer, Pflizer & Co. (Inc.) reported to the American Institute of Biological Sciences.

Growth responses occurred when plants were given antibiotics in concentrations as low as one part per million parts of water. The tests on corn, it was said, indicated that in addition to taller plants and heavier weights, antibiotic-treated corn germinated more readily than untreated samples.

Yates And Jones Take Over Mixed Loop Leadership

Two men, Coleman Yates and Bill Jones, dominate the Mixed Loop and Women's Bowling League, official loop averages revealed today. Yates' 168 average for six games is high for the circuit and Jones' 157 is a close second, but he has only played three lines.

Ellen Betts, top ranking woman, stands third in the averages with a 152 figure for 12 sets. Two more men, Teeple and Morris Spaldon, down fourth and fifth places, respectively.

Dot Powell's Ellen Betts 145 average is good for sixth place among the individual bowlers and stands out as the second top percentage among women in the league.

Robinson's 2014 total pins ranks top in that department while Robinson holds the distinction of leading the highest single game, a 394 effort.

Crooms Academy Plays Florence Villa Here Tonite

Crooms Academy's undefeated gridiron team will be playing for their 10th victory in the last 11 games tonight in the Memorial Stadium against the "Buckling Bulls" of Florence Villa, the team that held Crooms to a scoreless tie in Winter Haven last year.

The Panthers have been trying to stabilize their unorthodox short-punt formation, which is spearheaded by Captain Oscar Williams with path openings constructed by such linemen as Norman Kivord, center, and Guards William Lewis and Charles Merril.

The Crooms eleven will try to put forth their utmost strength and ability to substantiate a stronger defensive team that versatile "Hall of Steel" Co-Captain "Tricknaw" Jackson and linebacker Joe Baker and Arthur "Dozer" Knight will be the stalwarts in the Crooms defensive set-up.

Tomlin's clash with Florence Villa will begin at 8:00 p. m. in the Memorial Stadium. Seating facilities for both white and colored fans have been provided for.

Coach E. L. Franklin hopes that his Panthers will do better blocking than in previous games. He also says the boys are living up to their slogan, "winners never quits, quitters never win."

The cheer squad will be on hand to instill "spirit" for the undefeated Panthers. For the first time this year the Crooms band will be on hand under the direction of the new band leader.

FSU Gridders Leave For Carolina State

TALLAHASSEE — A 40 man Florida State University football squad left today for Raleigh and Saturday's game with North Carolina State.

The three-times beaten Seminoles were in high spirits and determined to bring home a victory. Although Coach Don Vetter refrained from open optimism, as is his custom, it was evident he believed his squad has a chance to tip the Wolfpack, which has shown little offensive power in losing three of four starts.

"We hope to make it an interesting ball game," Vetter said. "Our defense has shown improvement this week. Injuries to some of our key men may hurt our attack though."

Tailback Roy Thompson and Fullback Nelson Italiano have been unable to take part in contact drills because of hurts. Thompson has an ailing shoulder and Italiano knee trouble. Both are expected to see a lot of action against North Carolina State.

Vetter said he will not name his starters until after Friday afternoon's workout at Raleigh.

"It will be a question of who's ready to go," he said.

Sports Roundup By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—For a long time at about this season of the year we have frequently found ourselves sneaking looks at certain members of the sports writing brotherhood and wondering if they had, perhaps, been bounced upon their heads in extreme youth.

These fellows would go afield on cold, snowy Saturdays and attend college football games as a job of work. They would return home late, frost-bitten and tired. They would bounce out of bed on Sunday, bright-eyed and eager, and beat their way through traffic to witness a professional football game—on their day off.

In reply to casual inquiries, they said they did this because the pro game was vastly superior to the college brand. They said they found pure relaxation in watching skilled artisans in action after they had spent an afternoon with the rahrah boys. They didn't seem to think this especially strange, no matter what anybody said.

Well, this is the nature of a confession. After having been exposed, kicking and screaming, to the pro game twice this season, we are beginning to suspect that it bears about the same relation to the college variety that the baseball Yankees do to, say, the Memphis Chicks. It isn't quite as noisy, but it is much finer football and much more consistently close and exciting.

Having done considerable arguing on the other side, we are not going to propose that every club in the National Professional League can lick any college team in the land. We wouldn't be surprised if such campus outfits as

Krider To Vacate FSL Post; Thinks Loop Can Survive

DAYTONA BEACH (AP) — The Florida State League can survive but it must cut costs, its president, John Krider, says.

Krider, who said Wednesday he will not be available for re-election, called a meeting of directors at Orlando in the league's 13 years of operation.

"I conservatively estimate that the average loss to each club in our league was $8,000," declared Krider, a one-time pitcher who lives at Sanford. He suggested limiting rosters in the Class D league to 15 instead of 17.

Ten teams started the Florida State League's 1952 season but Gainesville wants back in and the teams that finished the season have indicated they want to retain franchises. They are Sanford, Daytona Beach, Orlando, Palatka, Cocoa, Leesburg, Deland and Jacksonville Beach.

Michigan State, Maryland, Oklahoma and maybe two or three others could step right into the money circuit and fully hold up their end.

But the point is that there aren't enough of them, and that it is all too seldom until the bowl games roll around that one gets to see two really powerful college teams have at one another.

165-Mile Winds Strike Cuba As Storm Moves On Path Near Miami

Forecaster Predicts Hurricane's Course Will Bring It Near South Florida Area

MIAMI (AP)—A violent Caribbean hurricane packing winds of 165 miles an hour, slashed inland along the South Cuban coast today on a course that would take it close to Miami.

The center of the storm battered an area about 50 miles west of Cienfuegos, a South Cuban coast port 100 miles east of the capital, Havana.

Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster at the Miami weather bureau, said the hurricane was still small in size but extremely violent and a "real stinker."

The Cuban national weather observer on Cayo Del Este, an island 40 miles off the Cuban coast, reported maximum winds of 165 miles an hour and radioed that "the sea is colossal."

The weather observer huddled in a reinforced concrete weather station while the terrific winds whipped the island.

Norton said he reported the calm edge of the storm's center reached the island at 11:15 a. m. barometric pressure dropped to 27.75 inches. The eye was estimated to be 18 miles in diameter.

The veteran storm forecaster said a Navy hurricane-hunting plane penetrated the tropical disturbance about the same time and registered winds of 130 knots (149 miles an hour).

There was so much spray and the rain was so heavy the pilot couldn't see the surface of the ocean at 200 feet. The pilot warned it would be "too dangerous" to attempt to land in the storm's northern quadrant again.

His north-north-eastward course pointed it across Cuba toward the Florida Straits. He predicted the storm to emerge into today or early tonight.

Storm warnings were hoisted along the Southeast Florida Coast from Vero Beach to Key West.

"The present course will place this area in the western edge of the storm," said Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster in the Miami Weather Bureau.

"But it will be a close shave, and it will bear a lot of watching. Preliminary preparations should be made for the possibility of strong winds."

American Sally Stopped Short Of Red-Held Hill

SEOU, Saturday, Oct. 25 (AP)—Chinese Communist troops today drove U. S. troops from their foothold on a hill near Pimpun, a determined assault on nearby Sniper Ridge in Central Korea.

U. S. troops stormed to within 25 yards of the crest of Pimpun Peak, the only height the Reds still hold on Triangle Hill, before they were turned back by furious mortar, artillery and small arms fire.

Then, early today, from 300 to 350 Chinese Reds struck behind heavy artillery and mortar fire at Sniper Ridge, the highest position on Sniper Hill.

AP correspondent John Randolph reported from the front that the Reds had steadily built up their attack on Pimpun but so far were unable to penetrate the Korean lines.

The South Koreans yesterday had given up trying to clean Chinese from a maze of underground passageways on the northern tip of Sniper Ridge.

U. S. correspondent Milo Farnett said the U. S. Seventh Division soldiers were pinned down by machine gun fire, mines, direct trajectory and mortar fire, hand grenades and small arms fire.

The GIs still were trying to push forward at sunset.

On nearby Sniper Ridge, however, South Koreans gave up their "rat-hunt" for Chinese in a maze of underground passageways on the hill's northern tip.

Gen. John H. Woon, commander of the 8th Army Division, said "These Chinamen never stop digging. We have to dig them out ourselves like hitting rats."

U. S. observers said the bitter Red resistance probably came from a fresh Chinese regiment which took shell-pocked positions from the South Koreans.

The South Koreans withdrew at dark with the Chinese still holding out.

UN Aide Linked To Communists By Former Red

NEW YORK (AP)—David Zabolowsky, United Nations editorial aide allegedly linked to the pro-war Communist underground, testified today before the U. S. Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

Chambers admitted courier for a pro-war Soviet spy ring, appeared under subpoena yesterday to tell the Senate hearing that Zabolowsky was "without a doubt" a member of the Red underground in 1936.

The subcommittee currently is looking into Communism among American employees of the U. N.

Chambers said he first knew Zabolowsky when they went to Columbia University in 1923 or 1924.

He (Zabolowsky) was a Communist but it was my opinion he was not an organizational Communist but he had open Communist sympathies," Chambers said.

Zabolowsky, a U. S. citizen, is paid $10,000 annually tax free as U. N. publications director. U. N. officials said his work is entirely technical and not concerned with policy.

Chambers testified he next met Zabolowsky, then top man of the U. S. Communist underground, in 1936.

The witness said he was told Zabolowsky was setting up "justness" covers for underground members giving them legitimate business fronts to carry on other activities.

"I believe he secured some covers, letter drops," Chambers said.

The witness added that Zabolowsky had been assigned to a Soviet agent known as Richard, whose principal job was to procure fraudulent passports and other false identification papers for Red agents.

Zabolowsky declined comment on Chambers' testimony.

Committee counsel Robert Morris disclosed during the hearing that Zabolowsky appeared in executive session yesterday before Chambers testified and had "acknowledged that he had gone to Columbia."

Living Costs Drop 1st Time In Six Months

Figures Released By Government Alters Steady Trend During 1st Half Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government today reported a drop in the cost of living for the first time in six months.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics announced that its index—the measuring rod for the government—declined two tenths of one per cent between Aug. 15 and Sept. 15.

There had been a steady climb for the previous six months.

The BLS attributed the drop to lower prices for food, down one per cent in the month.

The decline in food prices was offset in part by increases for all other major groups of living cost items. The price of clothing went up six tenths of one per cent.

BLS pegged the new index at 100.8 per cent of the 1935-1939 base period, down from the August record high of 101.

Today's index measures the retail price of food, shelter, clothing, medical care and scores of other goods and services bought by most wage and salary families on Sept. 15. It takes BLS a month to gather price data and compute the index.

The latest report showed that living costs have advanced 12.4 per cent since Korea and 5 per cent since wage and price controls were imposed January, 1951.

The old series index was 101.4 per cent of the base period. BLS publishes two indexes each month.

The new series, or official figure, takes into account new spending habits of the American people.

More than 50,000 production workers whose wages are tied to the cost of living may get a yearly increase despite the expected drop in today's index.

Contracts which contain cost-of-living or escalator clauses are usually a just a few days or weeks old, measuring prices on June 15, the August figure and the slight dip today was not likely to offset that increase.

Neither the million plus auto workers nor the 100,000 production workers are affected by today's index. Their contracts are up for adjustment in the next two months.

Eisenhower Gives His Pledge To Protect Rights Of "Labor"; Adlai Defends Korean Stand

Stevenson States It's Not Truman's War As Some Have Said But Mankind's War

By DON WHITFIELD
EN ROUTE WITH STEVENSON THROUGH NEW YORK STATE

Adlai Stevenson, carrying his presidential campaign across New York State today, defended United States entry into the Korean war as a stand for collective security.

"It is not Mr. Truman's war," he asserted. "It is mankind's war."

The Democratic candidate called for support of the United Nations as the best hope for world peace.

In a speech at a luncheon in Albany today, Stevenson said his campaign speech last night, accusing his Republican opponent Dwight D. Eisenhower of deliberately condoning "slavery and anti-civilization."

Speaking to an estimated 500 people at Rochester, N. Y., this morning, Stevenson assailed Eisenhower's proposal to let South Korea do the fighting in Korea.

It would "take a Munich in the Far East with a third world war not far behind," the Illinois governor said.

Earlier at Niagara Falls, an after breakfast crowd of about 1,000 greeted Stevenson and he told them his publicists were not discussing the issues of the campaign "they're talking nonsense."

He said he was convinced the people would know the difference between sense and nonsense in the campaign speeches.

At Rochester, he said we are fighting in Korea for the principles of the United Nations and collective security.

"The issue is not great for partisan politics," he said.

Republican promises of a quick end or an easy victory in Korea "are false," he added.

In the stretch drive for the presidency, he looked as though a bare-knuckle fight was inevitable.

The Democratic candidate ripped into Eisenhower last night in Cleveland with a speech which he defended the character testimony he gave for Adlai's conviction of perjury after leaving his State Department secrets to a Russian spy ring.

And Stevenson attacked his own opposition, saying that the Republican foreign affairs advisers "as being even more valuable in criticism than he in the Democratic camp."

Stevenson was known that Stevenson and his advisers regarded the speech as one of the most vital of the entire campaign and one which possibly would make a "break" story.

Accuses Opposition Of Singing Hate Songs And Falsely Saying He's "Union Buster"

By JAMES DUALIN
ABOARD EISENHOWER SPECIAL IN MICHIGAN

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today accused his political opponents of singing hate songs and falsely saying he is a "union buster."

He declared in Pontiac that the Democratic administration had false accusations against him. "This is part, he said, of a Truman administration campaign of fear."

He also accused the administration of singing songs of hate and "hymns of vilification."

At Pontiac, Eisenhower's first stop in Michigan, he was greeted by a police estimated crowd of 1,000. The spectators included Pontiac high school students who were dismissed for the occasion.

In a brief platform speech, the general assailed the Democrats' campaign theme of "living moments which I need not take time to answer."

Sen. Charles McNamara estimated the crowd at Royal Oak, the next stop, at 10,000.

At Royal Oak, Eisenhower introduced Rep. George A. Brown, Fred W. Allen, Republican candidate for governor and Rep. Charles E. Butler, candidate for senator, and called them part of his own team.

Ex-President Truman and the Democrats have a "party record" and Gen. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate, himself admitted it when he spoke of the "mess in Washington."

He told his listeners one of the small failures look place in foreign policy. He promised to talk fully about the origins of the Korean war in his Detroit speech tonight.

The general attacked President Truman for having worked at "putting a complete party conspiracy in" (Continued on Page 8)

Garbage Liquor Problems To Be Aired By City

City ordinance amendments, dealing with liquor selling and garbage collection, will be up for final reading at the meeting of the City Commission at 8:00 p. m. Monday at the City Hall, according to Tom Lamon, City Manager.

Amendments to the liquor ordinance deal with two classes of establishments which sell beer and liquor in conjunction with another business and the closing hours of places primarily selling liquor.

The change with respect with the first phase proposes to allow such establishments, such as restaurants and grocery stores, to operate non-alcoholic portions of their businesses on Sunday.

The second phase deals with moving to closing hour for beer and liquor selling from 11:30 p. m. to 12 midnight.

The garbage collection amendments propose to have the City pick up garbage at the rear of a residence for $1 per month at houses where always do not exist, or for nothing if the garbage is set out at the curb. Garbage collection outside the City will be boosted to $8 and $9 for the special pick-up service at the rear of residences.

Todd-Leadman Suit Is Slated Next Week

A case in which Wallace M. Todd, Lake Mary resident, who has encountered considerable difficulty in recent weeks in operating Palmetto Avenue in the community, charges Lloyd Leadman, also of Lake Mary, with aggravated assault is scheduled for airing in County Court next Thursday.

According to information filed on the case, Mr. Leadman is charged with assaulting Mr. Todd in a recent week and wounding him. The altercation is alleged to have occurred Aug. 25.

An informed source revealed the altercation occurred after Leadman attempted to drive a truck containing barrels onto the beach at the end of Palmetto Avenue and Todd attempted to stop him.

Mr. Todd has been the hub of a controversy in Lake Mary over his alleged closing of Palmetto Avenue after he had purchased property in the area.

Traffic cases will start proceedings of County Court Monday.

ZONING BOARD

The case of Paul Taylor, operator of the Dreamworld trailer court at the south outskirts of the city, will highlight proceedings of the meeting tonight of the City Zoning Board of Appeals.

Mr. Taylor and his attorney, R. W. Ware, appeared at the last meeting of the City Commission, Oct. 13, in an attempt aimed at securing a license for operation of the portion of the court which is within the city limit. A license has been rescinded by the Commission.

BODEN WASH ANHORE

Sanford Herald's Straw Poll To Close On Midnight Next Monday

By KENT CHETLAIN
Voters in the Herald's straw poll continued to back Republican presidential hopeful General Dwight D. Eisenhower at a 7-1 clip over his Democratic running mate Governor Adlai Stevenson for the end of the first week and a half of balloting.

The poll closes midnight Monday and from present indications Eisenhower might seem a slight favorite to carry the county. While the poll failed to reach the large Negro vote, which colored political forecasters say will run 85 per cent for Stevenson, it does indicate that many registered Democrats are shifting their votes into the Republican column, at least for this presidential race.

Many Democrats wrote in that they were voting for a GOP presidential candidate for the first time in their lives. One of the best signs for the Stevenson backers has been the fact that the rail workers are leaning slightly towards Stevenson.

Red Cross Adopts $9,300 Annual Budget

An estimated budget of $9,300, or $900 more than this year, was set as the goal for the 1953 fund campaign of the Seminole County chapter of the Red Cross at the quarterly meeting Wednesday of the board of directors.

Sidney Ives III, chapter vice-chairman in the absence of Raymond Lundquist, chairman.

First aid and water safety committees were authorized and members of these two groups will be appointed. Mrs. Francis Bois and Mrs. Clara Ginn were named as co-chairman of the local "Christmas on the High Seas" program, in which gifts will be provided servicemen at ports of embarkation any navy bases.

Law Requiring Straight Democratic Ticket Vote Changed By Legislature

By HAN FISHER
It is no longer necessary for a Democrat candidate for office to swear that he voted for all of the other Democratic candidates in the last election, or that he intends to vote for all of them in the next election. The 1951 Florida Legislature changed all that insofar as this state is concerned.

Apparently anticipating a split in the Democratic party and to maintain to a certain extent its dominance in any office herein provided for shall be required to take and sign and adhere to an oath of affirmation in writing, in which he shall state the parties for which he is a member, but he did not vote for any number of any other party, national, state or county, at the next preceding general election; the title of the office for which he is a candidate; that he is a qualified voter of the State, giving the name of the county of his legal residence; that he has paid his poll taxes legally due; that he is qualified under the Constitution and laws of Florida to hold the office (Continued on Page 8)
