Efforts To Smother Reactor Continue

MOSCOW (UPI) - Officials said today they would close many Ukrainian schools early and evacuate 250,000 schoolchildren to camps away from the crippled Chernobyl nuclear power plant.

A Tass report issued today said the air force was ordered the day the accident occurred to dump sandbags on the reactor once the fire was extinguished.

A Western reporter among a pool of eight allowed into Kiev. 80 miles south of the Chernobyl power station, said the atmosphere in the capital was anxious but there were no signs of

The reporters were told by Kiev residents that it was difficult to obtain air and rail tickets to get out of the city.

Residents also said police were carrying out spot radiation checks of people in the street. Trucks were washing down roads in the capital and police were stopping cars near the airport for "apparent radiation checks." the Western report-

Hans Blix, the director-general of the U.N.-affiliated International Atomic Energy Agency, was quoted on Soviet television as saying smoke was still visible from the damaged reactor Thursday.

"We have seen the site from the air and we have seen that a little smoke is still coming up. We have also seen that there is a lot of activity to contain the reactor." said Blix, a Swede.

The IAEA is the world advisory body that provides information and assistance to governments with nuclear power plants.

As Blix, who is part of a three-man team of IAEA officials invited to the Soviet Union, toured the disaster scene. Soviet scientists Thursday continued their almost two-week battle to control the damaged Chernobyl reactor.

Ukrainian Health Minister Anatoly Romanenko told the republic's newspaper that although radiation levels "were going down significantly" the population should still take precautions to minimize potential radiation contamination.

He said the Ukrainian Council of Ministers decided to close schools that were taking in children evacuated from areas around the plant. See REACTOR, page 3A

Scenic Board Plans Design Competition

The Sanford Scenic Improvement Board is developing guidelines for a design competition that could result in landscape architects from all over the class" development of areas country vying for the right to spearhead the aesthetic development of Fort Mellon Park, the Lake Monroe marina entrance and the lakefront property that extends from Mellonville Avenue to U.S. Highway 17-92.

Contingent on city commission approval, a financial award, in addition to the opportunity for aesthetic design of these "plum" areas, would serve to lure "quality" submissions of architectural renditions to a local judging panel, according to scenic board chairman Sara Jacobsen. The winning entry would then be contracted out by the city for implementation. she said.

If city commit the competition, it would be publicized through architectural and engineering trade publica-

On Wednesday night scenic board members agreed to adopt the competition proposal in concept and spend the next several weeks developing the "specifications package" that would serve to guide the entrants' efforts.

The guidelines will not be developed in such a way that they would prohibit "artistic freedom," Ms. Jacobson said.

The scenic board views the competition as enabling "first whose natural attributes deserve nothing less, Ms. Jacobson said.

The scenic board feels that Fort Mellon Park in particular "is an underdeveloped site that has the greatest potential for being the most outstanding site in the city," she said.

The nearby lakefront property and marina entrance are "natural tie-ins" for aesthetic development as well. Ms. Jacobson

The scenic board is also viewing the revisions it is making to the Sanford landscape ordinance as a means of perpetuating the city's aesthetic attributes. The board's proposed amendments will be presented to the city commission for discussion during an upcoming work session; Ms. Jacobson said.

If subsequently adopted by commissioners, the revisions would upgrade and specify the type of landscaping that should be included on commercial site plans and also provide what the board hopes will be a safeguard to assure that developers' final

Lake Mary Rams In Battle For Baseball Championship

WINTER PARK - Rollins College's Alfond Stadium won't be a safe place for low earned run averages or finicky fielders tonight when Lake Mary's Rams and Gonzalez Tate's Aggies collide for the Class 4A State Baseball Tournament championship at 7 p.m.

Both clubs feature outstanding hitters from top to bottom and both used their slashing bats to advance to tonight's final Thursday with impressive victories in the semifinal round.

• Tate, a powerhouse from Florida's Panhandle. bludgeoned Miami Christopher Columbus with a three home-run attack for a 10-2 victory. Right fielder Jeff Hatch homered and tripled while driving in five runs. Chris Cassels, who also homered, pitched a five-hitter for the victory. Center fielder David Partrick slugged Tate's third round tripper.

• Lake Mary, ranked No. 1 in the state by the Florida Sports Writers Prep Poll, used three hits and three runs batted in by Mike Pinckes along with a three-run homer by Mike Schmit and a clutch by Mike Schmit and a clutch pitching effort by Schmit to drop Sarasota Riverview, 7-4, before 1,360 and in the second grants.

"Tonight's grants will be what a state championship is supposed to be," Tate coach Randy Putman said. "Both teams teams have great hitters. It will be a slugfest. That's the way it should end." Lake Mary coach Allen

Schmidt

Tuttle agreed. "Tate put on a display," he said. "But we'll be ready. Our kids can hit with anyone."

Riverview coach Larry Altier said he liked the offense of both teams but he thought Lake Mary might have a slight edge. "It will be a tough battle," Altier said. "I like Lake Mary. They hit the ball real, real hard. You can't discount Tate's defense, but if Lake Mary hits the ball like they did tonight. Tate's in trouble."

Lake Mary lefthander Steve Shakar and Tate righthander Mike Emmons will have the arduous task of keeping the hitters in check. Both pitched well in the playoffs, but neither faced the depth of hitting strength of tonight's clubs.

"They hit the ball great." Shakar said about Tate. They had many business of the course of the Putman said. "I'm cou on my pitcher to pitch just a little bit better than theirs."

The nine-man patrol scouting for traffic offenders from Seminole to Osceola counties is a Florida Highway Patrol repeat of a similar unmarked detail a week ago that passed out 147 tickets in about 61/2 hours. said Lt. Chuck Williams. spokesman for the FHP. in Orlando.

The purpose of the special patrol is to crack down on speeders, tailgaters and those who weave in and out of traffic. Williams said. The special patrol will monitor traffic from about 8:15 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Though the cars — usually driven by supervisors — are unmarked. the troopers are in uniform.

"We have a high noncompliance to the speed limit."

said Williams referring to traffic detail will have a deterent effect on sections of I-4. A study a year ago indicated that in many sections of the interstate in central Florida as much as 80 percent of the drivers exceeded the 55 mph limit with an average cruise speed of 70 mph. He said he hopes the special and impart "a little paranoia."

He explained that if drivers know there are unmarked cars as well as the usual marked patrol they may drive more carefully.

"Our ultamate goal is to slow people down." he said.

He said the initial idea was to have the unmarked patrol once a month but it was so successful last week as measured by the high ticket rate that it was decided to repeat it today.

"I'm sure it will be more often than once a month." he said.

Oviedo High Teacher Resigns

Monica Hood, a first year English teacher at Oviedo High School, has resigned in the wake of misconduct allegations, according to schools spokesman Karen Coleman.

Miss Hood, 24, 1941 Linden Road, Winter Park, is the first female teacher of six to resign or be suspended for alleged misconduct this spring.

The resignations of Hood and teacher Robert M. Cannon, also under investigation for alleged misconduct, will be acted upon during next week's regularly scheduled school board meeting. The meeting will take place at the county school offices building, 1211 Mellonville Avenue, Banford, at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

According to Mrs. Coleman, allegations against Ms. Hood are being investigated by Health and Rehabilitative Services, as well as the state Department of Education's Professional Practices Services. Officials would not comment on the resignation or elaborate on the allegations because Miss Hood resigned before evidence for suspension pending termination could be presented to the school board.

Cannon, 39, 291 Gary Bivd., Longwood, a 13-year veteran vocational drafting teacher at Lyman High School, was arrested at the school April 30, charged with prohibited acts by a custodial authority, in connection with alleged sexual involvement with a 17-year-old female Lyman student. Cannon was released from Seminols County Jail on the date of his arrest on $6,000 band.

School officials and Superintendent of Schools Robert Hughes is expected to recommend the board approve acceptance of the resignations.

Tax Reform's IRA Battle Begins

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The first major battle over the Senate Finance Committee's tax reform plan - saving Individual Retirement Account tax breaks - has already begun, even as President Reagan launches his own push Ending what was virtually a non-stop flood of praise for the bill, several senators went to the Senate floor Thursday to begin an assault on the plan's proposal to drop the IRA tax deduction for most people.

Eliminating the bulk of the IRA tax break, charged Sens. Alfonse D'Amato, R-N.Y., and William Roth, R-Del., not only would hurt the middle class, but would both reduce the incentive to save money and harm America's competitiveness.

AUSTIN, Minn. (UPI) - The United Food and Commercial Workers took over Local P-9 because of its strike against Geo. A. Hormel & Co., but ousted leaders of the maverick meatpackers locked up their union hall and vowed to fight the move in court.

Ousted Local P-9 President Jim Guyette told cheering strikers he would go to Washington today to ask a federal judge to expedite a suit charging the parent union interfered in the local's 9-month-old walkout at Hormel.

'We don't think the international is practicing democracy. We intend to carry on with our strike. We are fighting for our jobs and our contract." said Guyette, who led the Aug. 17, 1985, walkout of 1,500 union workers.

NEW YORK (UPI) - A U.S. appeals court refused to block deportation of an accused Nazi war criminal to the Soviet Union, saying it felt no compassion for "a man who ordered the extermination of men, women and children kneeling at the edge of a mass grave."

But a three-judge panel of the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled Thursday that evidence from witnesses at a deportation hearing against Linnas was "overwhelming" and that it appeared no other country would accept him.

Nader Blasts Insurance Reform Stance TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - Invited to Tallahassee by Florida trial lawyers, consumer advocate

Ralph Nader met with lawmakers and urged them to enact tough new insurance regulations and resist tort reform remained almost level during the Nader's Center for Responsive Law was paid $5,000 by the trial lawyers for Thursday's visit. Nader, along with the trial lawvers, are opposed to several far-reaching tort reform proposals currently before the Legislature.

'For several months the distortions and falsifications about allegedly skyrocketing jury verdicts and runaway judgments have had free play in the mass media," Nader said. "In the last few weeks the facts have caught up with the insurance industry's

The consumer group also found that between 1980 and 1985, property casualty stocks increased 194 percent versus 84 percent for all stocks on the Dow Jones Index. In 1985, property casualty stocks rose by 50 percent, almost double the rise of the stock market generally, the group said.

Contrary to insurance spokesmen's claims of an industry in crisis, the group said insurers' net worth increased by $7.6 billion in 1985.

"I have never seen a more vicious, falsified propaganda

His aides distributed a copy of campaign to severely impair the rights of injured sick people to have their day in court against their perpetrator as the casualty insurance industry has been conducting in the last year." Nader said.

> Nader supported bills pending in both houses that would give the insurance commissioner wide authority to review premiums and order refunds of excess insurance profits. Pending proposals would also roll back premiums rates, some as much as 300 percent

Nader also urged legislators to provide a standby program for businesses in case insurance companies stop doing business in Florida, as some lawmakers have warned would happen if a rollback is approved. He also called for an insurance consumer advocate office in each

Nader said he opposes capping non-economic damages including those for pain and suffering, which are contained in bills currently pending before the Legislature. The bills would also revise the legal doctrine of joint and several liability, feed punitive damages into state coffers and provide for structured settlements.

"At the federal level there needs to be regulation of the foreign re-insurers, like Lloyd's of London, who are lobbying in this country to bring our legal system down to the lowest British denominator, where it's almost impossible for a person to win against General Motors or DuPont." Nader said.

He said Congress should repeal federal legislation exempting the casualty insurance industry from federal anti-trust

The P&Z okayed the rezoning and gave approval to the project as a development of regional impact. The project is considered a DRI because the total number of parking spaces exceeds 2,500.

The P&Z also ruled that the project does not require an amendment to the county's comprehensive land use plan. County planners said the construction is consistent with other development along 17-92. The P&Z decisions, however, were not unanimous.

P&Z member Jim Weinberg. who voted against the expansion, said the construction will have a "major impact" on the area.

'I feel (Flea World) has become a victim of its own success," Weinberg said. "This is not the location to continue this development. It is getting so big, it needs more land and better access."

The chief opposition to the expansion centered around proposed access from the development onto County Road 427.

P&Z Chairman Sue Lewis. who voted against the rezoning. said the plan should be redesigned to provide access onto vided on 427. 17-92 instead.

The additional 35,000 ca expansion will enhance traffic problems on 427 and create pressure for commercial rezoning there, Ms. Lewis said.

"I think this creates a change in the community that's unfair for people who live there," she said of Sunland Estates, the residential subdivision abutting Flea World property on the north. "Growth is a part of our reality, but not to the detriment of people there."

The expansion, Ms. Lewis said, will speed up commercialization of 427. Her concerns were echoed by the county's land management division, which appeared to be at odds with county planners over the 427 access.

County Land Development Coordinator John Dwyer said his department had no problem with the rezoning but feels access on 427 will open the door to other commercial uses along

"We are opposed to this because of the pressures for additional land use and zoning changes without an increase in the level of service on 427." Dwyer said.

County Planning Director Tony Vanderworp, however, said the project would require additional review and possible redesign unless access la pro-

Bombs Hit More Civilian Targets In Libya Than First Thought

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Pentagon said Thursday that bombs dropped during the air strike against Libya hit more civilian areas than at first thought, with non-military sections damaged in the capital of Tripoli and the seaport of Benghazi. Three bombs, probably from one Air Force F-111F fighterbomber, fell in the vicinity of the French Embassy in Tripoli and two others were "near misses" from the attack on barracks in Benghasi that fell 700 yards off target, the Pentagon said.

The updated assessment of the April 15 attack by 13 F-111Ps and 12 Navy A-6E against five sets of military targets was provided by the Pentagon in 2 Vs of the tonnage or number of bombs dropped on Libya.

"The results of the strike met the established objectives." the statement said. "While complete destruction of each of the five targeted installations was never envisioned, all targets were hit and all targets received very appreciable damage.

"At the same time, collateral damage (to civilian areas) was held to a minimum." Although the Pentagon said "only 1 to 2 percent of the bombs impacted in civilian areas," the figures were meaningless without information about the total number of bombs that were dropped. The 13 F-111Fs carried four 2.000-pound "smart" bombs that are guided to targets or 12 500-pound gravity bombs against their three targets in the Tripoli area. But no breakdown of which aircraft carried which bombs ever was provided by the Pentagon.

"Of those bombs which did not impact in the target area (in Tripoli), three were probably from one F-111 and it seems likely they impacted in the vicinity of the French Embassy." the Pentagon said, without giving the total number of bombs that did not impact on their assigned targets.

"Two other bombs were near misses from the attack on the Benghazi barracks," it said. "These fell some 700 yards off target and damaged two civilian houses plus some adjacent walls and out-buildings.

"This is the only collateral damage we can say may have been caused by U.S. weapons on the basis of a careful examina-tion of photography of the target areas. Any other damage claimed by the Libyans, if actu-ally true, most likely resulted from Libyan ordnance falling back to earth."

Thatcher Takes Beating In Midterm Elections

LONDON (UPI) - Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's Conservative Party today suffered a stinging defeat in midterm elections, losing a seat in Parliament and control of at least 668 local and regional councils.

Conservatives barely held onto a second Parliament seat in the Conservative stronghold of West Derbyshire, north of London, where a third recount of the ballots early today showed the Conservatives won by just 100 votes out of 39.692 cast.

"The Conservative Party being swept away is a demonstration of how deeply unpopular the government's policies really are," said John Cunningham, a member of Parliament and the opposition Labor Party.

"This government is at last, thankfully, on the way out,"

Thatcher, who had monitored Thursday's election returns at her official residence at No. 10 Downing Street. had no immediate comment.

She and her Conservative Party were in no danger of losing control of the government because only two parliamentary scats were at stake, due to a death and a retirement. The Conservatives held a commanding 393-207 majority over the Labor Party in the House of Commons going into Thursday's elections.

Arms Talks Resume At Crawl

GENEVA (UPI) - U.S. and Soviet negotiators maintained the same slow pace at the latest round of the stalled superpower arms talks.

With the two sides remaining deadlocked on the main issues, there apparently was no point in accelerating the proceedings. The new round of talks, which opened Thursday, was the fifth since negotiations began on March

President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev agreed at their summit last November to step up the pace of the talks.

Their goal was to seek 50 percent cuts in nuclear arsenals and an interim accord on eliminating mediumrange missiles. But although each side subsequently put proposals on the table, the pace of the talks remains as

Engineer Defends Quality Control

WASHINGTON (UPI) -NASA's chief engineer says he has recommended the agency tighten quality control on the space shuttle program, but disagrees with a senator's charges that quality assurance has "eroded" or "virtually disappeared."

Milton Silveira said that as a result of the Challenger disaster, he has recommended that NASA increase quality control staffing for the shuttle program.

"After an accident like that. that's one thing you usually end up doing: tighten quality assurance.

Sen. Albert Gore, D.Tenn., charged Thursday the agency has suffered a serious breakdown in quality control that may have contributed to the shuttle disaster and the failure of a Delta rocket launched last Saturday.

Gore said NASA documents showed that the number of quality assurance personnel at the civilian space agency has decreased by 71 percent since June 1970, at the peak of the Apollo moon landing program.

"NASA's quality assurance program has not only been croded, but in some cases it has virtually disappeared," he said.

Silveira disagreed with Gore's conclusions, claiming technicians at some centers today doing quality control work are listed under other categories.

Kiev's mayor told reporters the move, which would affect about 250.000 children, was not an emergency measure but a decision to move up the date of the summer holiday. The vacation was to begin May 25.

Ukrainian Prime Minister Alexander Lyashko told a news conference in Kiev Thursday the temperature of the reactor had fallen to about 570 degrees and the fire had almost stopped.

Lyashko said 84,000 people had been evacuated from the Chernobyl area, 35,000 people more than officially mentioned previously by government officials. He added that the seriousness of the accident was concealed from the Kremlin for two days.

The Tass news agency today said air force Major Gen. Nikolai Antoshkin received orders on April 26, the day the plant exploded and began to burn, to choke the reactor with sand when the fire went out. The fire has spread radiation throughout much of Europe.

It said more than 5,000 tons of sand were dropped in packages of six to eight sand bags from military helicopters flying over the station several times a day.

A Significant But Partial Reform

We are heartened by the South African government's decision to eliminate the pass laws, the complex of statutes and regulations that required blacks to get permission to be in "white areas," which account for 87 percent of the country.

Under the pass-law system, all South African blacks over age 16 have been required to carry identity books showing where they live and work. More than 200,000 were arrested in 1984 for violating so-called "influx controls," and, according to various human rights groups, those convicted have been among South Africa's worst-treated prisoners.

In abolishing virtually all laws prohibiting blacks from moving freely within the country and from migrating into black sections of cities, the Botha government went beyond expectations. In fact, this decision could be labeled the first truly significant reform the Botha government has made as it moves toward its professed goal of dismantling the hateful system of apartheid.

Much remains to be done. Black South Africans, for example, will still be prohibited from living in white areas. In addition, more than 8 million blacks deemed citizens of the four nominally independent, so-called black homelands are unaffected by the demise of the pass laws. According to a government spokesman, negotiations are under way with the governments of the "homelands" to provide dual citizenship to their citizens.

The most significant reform - some plan that guarantees genuine power sharing for the country's 24 million blacks — is yet to be. Until the Botha government shows some movement in that direction, any reform even one as significant as dismantling the pass-law system - must be viewed as

Nakasone pledged to take steps to redirect Japan's economy toward domestic growth and consumption and away from exports and Japan has prospered in recent years by selling its products to other nations while restricting imports. The result is an annual trade surplus, meaning that Japan's exports exceed its imports.

Some economists say that trade surpluses can hurt a nation in the long run. Nations hurt by a chronic trade deficit - more imports than exports - sometimes lack the buying power to continue a pattern of heavy imports. Sometimes, as a way of correcting the protectionist policies to encourage their people to buy domestic products or to restrict

An exporting nation needs solid, stable customers. Nakasone and his advisers are right to propose a policy to strengthen Japan's customers.

Japan's prosperity is due in part to the assistance it has received from the United States. The United States has looked after Japan's defenses and encouraged its economic development. Japan uses only about 1 percent of its gross national product for defense, compared with 5 percent in Western Europe and 8 percent in the United States.

By counting on the United States to help protect Japan's home island and the shipping routes vital to Japanese commerce, Japan has been able to devote more resources to the production of cars, televisions and cameras.

Nakasone's commitment to allow more American goods to compete in the Japanese market could be a way of paying off part of that debt.

Chernobyl Produced Political Meltdown

I exaggerate, but consider what would happen if Ralph Nader and Jane Fonda were unleashed upon the societies of Eastern Europe.

That will not happen. But when - literally and figuratively — all the dust from the Chernobyl nuclear disaster settles, it is plausible that its most important political impact may occur in the Soviet satellite countries and will take the form of a huge boost for what in the West would be called "the consumer/environmental" movement. As politicians all over the free world have come to understand, that is not a movement to be trifled with, even if its claims are often exaggerated.

Now, it is true that the communist countries have been relatively successful in putting down political dissent. Most of their subjugated peoples would surely like a free press, free labor unions and free politics. Some courageous few in totalitarian countries will stand up and dissent publicly when such rights are denied. But, as we have learned, the number of dissidents who will defy the state on these issues is small. After all, the punishment can be imprisonment or death. Most people will go along to get along, even while hating their governments.

So for 40 years now, Western strategists have wondered how, when and if the peoples of the captive nations of Eastern Europe would ever break the yoke of communism.

Comes now the nuclear plant disaster. This is not a matter of "mere" free politics, free press; free unions. This concerns the health and survival of mothers and bables in countries adjacent to the Soviet Union. In Poland particularly, it is feared that the Chernobyl accident may cause a significant increase in cancer deaths. And the Polish government, unlike the Russian, has publicized some of the dangers.

Now, the nations of Eastern Europe already have some nascent environmental and consumer movements. For example, in East Germany there is an anti-nuclear action group closely linked to the Lutheran church. There is a small anti-nuclear and anti-pollution group active in Hungary. And, of course, in Poland, Solidarity was always more than just a union; it was an umbrella for a variety of citizens' rights groups that included labor, agriculture, academic and consumer. Consider this situation against the backdrop of what is now the current state of the global nuclear power industry. No new plants are scheduled in the United States. We have 101 operating plants. Of the 27 plants still under construction, the great majority are close to completion, with billions of dollars of ratepayers' monies sunk into them. Chernobyl will activate the U.S. anti-nuke movement, but there is not much left to fight about. (I hasten to add that in my judgment, nuclear power on the U.S./West European models is still the safest form of power generation there is.)

Roughly the same situation - completion or near-completion of nuclear plants - exists in Western Europe and Japan.

Interestingly, the next big expansion of nuclear power had been scheduled for - where? Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union!

Will there be protests in these lands where protest can lead to jail or worse? I'll wager there will be.

WILLIAM RUSHER

Danger And Dollars

Economics is a far more primitive and undependable "science" than its practitioners would have you believe, and even its most fundamental and obvious tenets are subject to more exceptions and qualifications than are good for the human nervous system.

I fondly supposed, for example, that the experience of the United States in the past quarter-century had made at least one thing blindingly clear: If the federal government spent more, in a given year, than it took in, the deficit would have to be covered by (1) borrowing. or (2) inflating the money supply. The former course would "crowd out" private borrowing (on which economic expansion, and therefore prosperity, depend so heavily); the latter would result in ruinous infla-

I was utterly mystified, therefore. when the large deficits of 1982 and subsequent years failed either to crowd private borrowers out of the credit market or trigger renewed inflation. Ronald Reagan, I knew. was good, but was he that good? How on earth could he permit deficits of that size, while simultaneously persuading both interest and inflation rates to fall?

Finally, with the help of a few perceptive friends to whom I put the problem, the truth dawned on me. My previous conception of the economic verities was correct — in a closed system. But the American economy is not a closed system: Outsiders are free to participate in it. And European, Japanese and other foreign investors, watching the dramatic steps taken by President Reagan to restore the health of the American economy (the 1981 tax cuts, deregulation, etc.), developed a powerful desire to participate in the boom they saw coming. Hundreds of billions of dollars worth of foreign capital began pouring into the American economy year after year - capital that made it possible for the government to borrow the money needed to cover its deficits without crowding out private borrowers.

As a South African businessman explained it to me last year. "What you have going here is a sort of reverse Marshall Plan. The key to it is Europe's confidence in the U.S. economy under President Reagan."

The question therefore becomes, how long will foreign capital continue to bail us out of these large annual deficits? One might think that the decline in U.S. interest rates would cool the ardor of foreign investors, but this misconceives the focus of their attention. They don't invest here to take advantage of high interest rates per se: if they did, foreign capital would have flooded this country during the Carter years, when rates exceeded 20 percent.

What foreign investors are interested in is the chance to make a profit on their investment, and the best bet for that is a basically healthy economy. By cutting taxes, deregulating the economy and signaling a determination to end the upward spiral in domestic spending. Mr. Reagan told a watching world. "Come on in - the water's fine." They're still coming.

They will continue to come as long as they have confidence in the American economy. Barring some unexpected and devastating economic downturn - particularly one accompanied by an equally unexpected improvement in the prospects of their own respective domestic economies - there is no reason for foreign investors to turn away from this country.

The next serious danger of a decline in the rate of foreign investment may therefore come toward the end of the Reagan administration.

Simply by being in office, Ronald Reagan performs a tremendous service for this country.

DON GRAFF Indonesia Restricts Free Press

Mochtar Kusumaatmadja is certainly one for the vivid phrase.

"We are not against press freedom." he is quoted as saying in a New York Times report. "But on the other hand, we don't have to like it. I mean, when a hurricane hits you, you don't have to like it."

Mochtar Kusumaatmadja is foreign minister of Indonesia, and he was referring to a nasty little incident that occurred when President Reagan stopped off for a brief visit there en route to the Tokyo

Two Australian journalists with the presidential press party had no sooner landed than Indonesian authorities sent them packing on the next plane out. The expulsion was in retaliation for a report in the Australian press on Indonesian President Suharto and his wife, whose talents for making a corrupt buck were compared to those of the Philippines' Ferdinand and Imelda

Marcos. It didn't matter that the expelled Australians, who were radio reporters, had had nothing to do with the report in question, which had appeared in a Sydney newspaper. It was enough that they were

Australian and journalists. The Times own Southeast Asia correspondent was also expelled. The specific complaint was not stated, but in her case it could at least be assumed that it was something displeasing to the Indonesians that she had actually

What really interests me is not so much the expulsions as such, but the foreign minister's justification, as noted above. And he went on to chide Western critics for not understanding the role of the press in Indonesia:

"In developing countries we cannot have a freewheeling press. It might be deceptive and people would get too excited. People here have not yet developed the critical sense to judge stories without being unduly influenced or distracted."

I can't buy that for a minute. It is the same tired old argument authoritarians always trot out to justify the denial to their peoples of the right to know and consequently, or so it is hoped, the ability to think for themselves.

Press controls may be effective in keeping that dangerous information from the Indonesian public. But at the price of continuing economic deterioration and growing discon-

Mochtar Kusumaatmadja ought to keep that in mind when he speaks of being hit by hurricanes.

JACK ANDERSON

State Department Expects Riots In Iran

By Jack Andersea And Dale Van Atta WASHINGTON — Will next

Tuesday mark the beginning of the end for the Ayatollah Khomeini's Moslem fundamentalist regime? State Department intelligence analysis believe there's at least a chance that widespread riots throughout Iran on May 13 could shake the foundation of Khomeini's power and eventually lead to his

What's so special about the date is that it is just 40 days after the agonizing death from cancer of Khomeini's revered rival, the 85-year-old Grand Ayatoliah Shariatmadari, Shiite Moslem tradition dictates that 40 days after a loved one dies, the death be commemorated with suitable displays of grief.

In Shariatmadari's case, there is a special reason for honoring him on the 40th day: Khomeini not only ensured his rival's death by refusing to let him seek cancer treatment abroad, but would not grant permission for a funeral of proper dignity. Next Tuesday would be a suitable occasion for Shariatmadari's thousands of followers to express their outrage about both the death and the dishonor perpetrated by Khomeini.

Whether the dead ayatollah's followers can pull off the demonstrations they are planning is, of course, a question U.S. experts can't answer. When Shariatmadari died on April 3. thousands of Moslem clergymen and other Iranians swarmed into the streets of the holy city of Qom and eleewhere.

Khomeini responded to this "mutiny" by the supposed backbone of his islamic revolution with the same ferocity he has shown toward less exalted opposition groups. Police arrested the mullahs by the dosen, and it is believed that as many as 600 cieries are now behind bare in various Iranian

It's not clear whether these arrests deprived Khomeini's opponents of potential leaders to rally around, as he obviously hoped, or will, on the contrary, add the incitement of martyrdom to the widespread public outrage over Shariatmadari.

The day after the old ayatollah died, another group - potentially as dangerous as the clergy - demonstrated their grief and anger. Roughly half the bazaars in Tehran shut down in protest.

A combined opposition of mullahs and merchants could be a powerful engine of destruction - as Khomeini has every reason to know. It was precisely this alliance that brought down the shah and opened the way for Khomeini to seize

Another crucial question for Foggy Bottom's Iran-watchers is whether Shariatmadari, beloved as he apparently was, can become the kind of martyr who will galvanise both the fanatic Shittes and other discontented elements of the lesnian populace.

State Department sources told our associate Lucette Lagnado it has never been all that clear that Khomeini had a firm grip on the clergy's loyalty. Many of them, like Shariatmadari, believe that exercise of temporal power by a holy man violates Moslem teachings.

But like others in Iran - the Bahais and "Westernized" women - the cieries were afraid to make public their misgivings about Khomeini's fundamentalist revolution, even though they considered Khomeini himself a flaming hypo-crite, using religion to serve his own worldly ambitions.

When he was alive, Shariatmadari courageously spoke out against Khomeini — only to be implicated by the regime in a coup attempt and forced to make a humiliating apology on television. It may well be expecting too much for a dead hero to succeed where he failed in life. But stranger things have happened in the land of "The Thousand and One Nights."

Mystery Woman Can Testify In Drugs And Murder Trial

WEST PALM BEACH (UPI) -A "mystery woman" given a new identity under a federal witness protection program can testify in a drug murder trial wearing a hood to hide her face. a judge ruled, but prosecutors must find her first.

Judge Richard Burk ruled Wednesday that lawyers for Judy Haas McNelis, 42, can take sworn statements from Roberta

Childers' former husband was convicted of killing Eastern Airlines pilot Frank Marrs of Lake Placid. McNelis is accused of ordering the 1980 killing and is charged with first-degree murder.

"She (Childers) can come in and testify with a hood over her head if she has changed her identity," Burk said. Prosecutors contend McNells was the mastermind of a major interstate drug smuggling ring. They believe Marrs made several flights for the smuggling ring and was killed so he would not have to be paid.

Gary Childers and John Parella pleaded guilty to the murder and were each sentenced to 15 years in prison.

Another woman, Jean Tumulty of Delray Beach, also Palm Beach County Circuit was convicted of being involved in the murder and was sentenced to spend 25 years to life in prison.

McNelis, according to reports, avoided prosecution on the murder charges after escaping from a Valdosta, Ga., city jail in

She became the target of a major search and was placed on the U.S. Marshal Service's 15 Most Wanted list. In February 1985, McNelis was arrested in a Fort Lauderdale motel and placed in federal custody. During Wednesday's hearing. McNelis' lawyer, Phillip Butler, told Burk he wants to take a statement from Gary Childers' ex-wife to determine what she knows about Marrs' death.

Butler said he did not know how to reach Roberta Childers because she was placed in the federal witness protection program and given a new identity. Since she has not previously given a deposition, Butler does not know whether she can provide any helpful information.

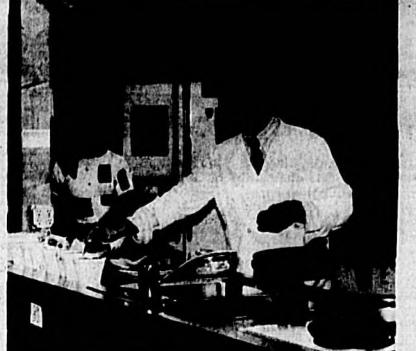

"She's somewhat of a mystery woman," he said.

Prosecutor Gay Broome argued that taking a statement from Mrs. Childers would serve no purpose.

"There is nothing to be gained by providing this witness," Broome said. "It would endanger her life."

Broome said she would contact a U.S. attorney in Washington who may be able to contact Mrs. Childers. If Mrs. Childers is found, she may not

Track and field is for the most part an individual sport but the success of Seminole High's Fighting Seminoles depends heavily on teamwork as well as individual prowess.

The epitome of unsulfishness for the defending 4A State Champions is senior sprinter Louis Brown. Because his explosive speed is so important to the relays, he rarely competes in an individual event. Brown would rather share the spotlight with his teammates.

"He's a very unselfish individual," Seminole coach Ken Brauman said. "Because he is so valuable in the relays it's hard to move him into an individual event. He's the man that breaks the relays open for us. But he doesn't mind because he wants to do whatever's necessary for the team."

Brown is one of a number of performers who hope to turn in their best efforts for the Tribe Saturday night at the Class 4A State Track and Field Championships at Showalter Field in Winter Park.

The meet gets under way at 3 p.m. with the field events. Running preliminaries start at 5 with running

Brown will be competing in his third consecutive state meet and, altough he was a key figure on last year's state title team, he has yet to be a state champion in an event he competes in.

"He's been a steady performer for three years." Brauman said. "Now he wants to graduate being a state champion and an all-american. He's really excited and enthused about running in his last state meet."

Brown is a key figure on all three Seminole relays, the 440 relay, mile medley and 440 relay. Brauman said Brown has run 47.8 spilts several times on both the medley and mile only the mile medley. The 'Noles are third in both the 440 and mile relay.

"We're going to be hard-pressed because there are some real good times coming in." Brauman said. "But we have beaten the teams with faster times in the 440 relay and one of them (Jacksonville Ribault) in the mile relay.'

Also running on the 440 relay for the 'Noles are junior Eric Martin, sophomore Dwayne Willis and senior Pat Davis. Joining Brown on the medley are Davis. Martin and senior Billy Penick while Martin, Willis and freshman Maurice Roberts also run on the mile relay.

Along with running on the relava. Martin has one of the top times going in the open 440. Defending champion Tyrone Kemp of Gainesville Buchholz leads with a 47.4 and Martin is a close

Brauman said Martin likes running both the 440 relay and the quarter which follow each other in the order of

"He can run well in both races without any problem." Brauman said. "He feels like the 440 relay warms him up for the quarter.'

The teams that are chasing Seminole are Buchholz and Ribault. Brauman said Ribault is similar to Seminole in that it gambles on the three relays and has a long jumper and 100 meter man. Buchholz, Brauman said, is more balanced with a miler, half miler, two miler and several good sprinters.

Senior Alvin Jones will look to give Seminole some big points in the field events as he has the top jumps going in in both the triple (50-2) and long jump (23.71/2).

"Performance wise, no one is close to him in the triple jump." Brauman said of Jones. "But there are two or three

Dwayne Willia kids ability wise who could challenge

him if he has a poor day. While Jones looks to defend his title in the triple jump. Penick will go after his second title in the mile. But he will be hard-pressed by Clearwater Countryside's Roger Letchworth who has the best time (4:17 to Penick's 4:17.9) coming in although Letchworth did that time at the Florida Relays compared to his 4:21 at the regional meet. Penick has run his best two races the past two weeks.

"So far this season. Billy (Penick) has run what he's had to to win," Brauman said. "Hopefully, he'll do it one more time."

Rams, Tate Re-Load For Final

Pinckes, Schmit Ease Lake Mary By Sarasota, 7-4

By Sam Cook Herald Sports Editor

WINTER PARK - Mike Pinckes drove in three runs while Mike Schmit clubbed a three-run homer and scattered six hits as Lake Mary moved into the championship game of the Class 4A State Baseball Tournament with a 7-4 victory over Sarasota Riverview before 1.350 fans Thursday night at Rollins College's Alfond Stadium.

Lake Mary's victory, its 32nd in 34 games, sets up a blockbuster final tonight at 7 against equally hard-hitting Gonzalez Tate. The Aggles. 25-8, leved Miami Christopher Columbus, 10-2, in Thursday's other semifinal. Mike Emmons will pitch for Tate against lefty Steve Shakar for the Rams. Riverview finished 22-11.

Lake Mary, ranked No. 1 in the Florida Sports Writers Prep Poll, knocked out Riverview fireballer Richard DePastino with three runs in the first. The Rams roughed up reliver Todd Rincon for four more in the second for a 7-0

Thereafter, Rincon, a curveballing righthander, checked the mighty Mary bats. Tuttle said the Rams, who have been content to score early and coast late, will need to continue hitting against

"There was a reason the hitting stopped tonight." Tuttle said. "That kid (Rincon) was a pitcher. We can't stop hitting against Tate. That was quite a display they put on.'

Lake Mary's display lasted just two innings, but it was just as impressive. Pinckes, a senior third baseman, delivered a two-run double in the first, an RBI single in the second and then legged out another double in the sixth.

"He's a pressure player." Tuttle said about his Lake Brantley transfer. "Pinckes played a great game and he'll play another one Friday."

Schmit, albeit not flashy, was effective. "I didn't feel that I had good stuff," the 15-0 righthander said about his six-strikeout, five-walk and 114-pitch performance. "I couldn't throw the curveball where I wanted to, but I had enough when I needed it."

Veteran Riverview coach Larry Altier agreed. "The pitcher (Schmit) was tough in the clutch." he said. "He got his slider working and when he needed to, he made the big pitches.

Schmit handled Riverview's 3-4-5 hitters on one double in 11 at-bats. Cleanup hitter Andy McDonald, who had 53 runs batted in this year. was hitless in four trips, striking out twice. DePastino, who hits third, was 0 for 3.

DePastino was plagued by first-inning control problems which set the table for the Rams' three runs. The hard-throwing righthander walked Shane Letterio on four pitches and passed Kelly Hysell on a 3-2 count.

Pinckes, who is 11 for 17 (.647) in the playoffs.

Lake Mary's Kelly Hysell, left, has a double high five ready for Mike Pinckes (No. 34) after a clutch hit. Pinckes drove in three followed with a scorcher to right center which rolled to the wall for a double, driving home Letterio and Hysell for a 2-0 lead. Schmit walked and when Ryan Lisle's hard ground ball one-hopped off third baseman Clay Schuett's glove for an error. Pinckes raced around for a 3-0

Brett Molle followed with a single to right center to load the bases and bring on Rincon. Neal Harris hit Rincon's first pitch into a 5-2 force out for the first out. Rincon then picked Lisle off third base for the second out and retired T.J. Sutton on a pop fly to ease out of trouble.

The Rams, nevertheless, eased Rincon back into trouble in the second. Matt Messina walked and stole second. One out later, Hysell blooped a single to right field, sending Messina to third. Hysell stole second and Pinckes crushed a sinking liner to left which scored Messina for a runs to help the Rams into the Class 4A State Baseball Tournament final tonight. The Rams meet Gonzalez Tate tonight at 7.

"I watched him (Rincon) carefully," Pinckes said. "Whenever he came overhand it was a curve and whenever he dropped down it was a

Aquinas' Clutch Hits Oust Oviedo

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

ORLANDO - The Raiders of Fort Lauderdale St. Thomas Aquinas certainly didn't live up to their billing as being an awesome hitting team with a virtually unstoppable pitching ace. What the Raiders did display, however, was the ability to hit in the clutch. On the other hand, Oviedo's Lions couldn't come up with the big hits with runners on base as Aquinas claimed an 8-3 victory in the Class 3A State Tournament semifinias Thursday night before 1.001 fans at the University of Central Florida.

Aquinas, 28-3-1, advances to the state finals tonight at 8 against cinderella Satellite which downed Palatka. 3-1, in Thursday's first game. Mike Cecere will start on the mound for the Raiders while Satellite coach Pete Campbell said Ron Strieff would start but ace David Lowe, who pitched a five-hit complete game in Thursday's win over Palatka, may also see some action on the

And all of the Lions' hits off starter and winner Tony Pisciotta were well-hit including a pair of doubles by Mike Sink that would have gone out of most ballparks, and all three runs were earned. Pisciotta, who now has a 14-2 record, went into the game with a 0.70 earned run average.

"They (Aquinas) are not a .400 hitting ballclub," Mable said. "At least they didn't look like it tonight. We hit the ball just as well as they did, they just got them when it counted most." Oviedo starter Craig Duncan held the Raiders scoreless and hitless through the first two frames and the Lions had the first scoring threat of the game in the bottom of the second.

Randy Ferguson drilled Pisciotta's first pitch into left field to lead off the second and Glenn Reichle bunted Ferguson to second. After Pisciotta fanned Mike Sink, Bobby Bradley pounded a single to right and Mabie waved Ferguson around third. The throw from right fielder Chad O'Donnell was off line but Ferguson tried to go in standing up and catcher Mark McAninch slapped the tag on him for the third

St. Thomas then erupted for four runs on five hits in the top of the third. Vic Bellavia belted Duncan's first pitch of the inning over left fielder Frank Torres' head for a double. Bellavia moved to third on Pisciotta's fly out and scored when Ray Portu's infield dribbler went for a base hit. # Hatch Drives In 5 As Gonzalez Sinks Columbus

By Sam Cook

Herald Sports Editor WINTER PARK - "Down the Hatch."

That's where Miami Christopher Columbus' hopes went Thursday as Jeff Hatch made a sparkling catch in right field and then drove in five runs with a homer and a triple as Gonzalez Tate rolled into the championship game of the Class 4A State Baseball Tournament with a 10-2 victory over Columbus before 400 fans at Alfond Stadium at Rollins College.

Tate, 25-8, will send righthander Mike Emmons against Lake Mary tonight at 7 for the title. Columbus finished 28-5. Lake Mary trimmed Sarasota Riverview. 7-4, in Thursday's other semifinal. Steve Shakar will hurl for the Rams.

Tickets are $3. Hatch, a left-handed slash hitter, turned in a superb running catch in the third inning to choke off a Columbus rally, smashed a two-run homes in the fourth to give Tate breathing room and delivered a bases-loaded triple in the fifth to put the game out of reach.

"Hatch batted cleanup all year but I dropped him down to seventh in the order to take some pressure off him." Tate coach Randy Putman said. "That catch might have been the play of the game. It was sure important at the time.

Chris Cassels went the distance for Tate, allowing five hits, striking out two and walking four. Juan Munoz took the loss, giving up seven runs (six carned) before departing after two batters in the fifth.

Tate jumped ahead. 1-0, in the first and added two more in the third. Brian Howell walked. David Partrick reached when his bunt was misplayed and Chris Cassels dropped a bunt single to load the bases. Greg Blackmon hit into a 6-4-3 double play to score the run.

"I thought when we got out of that first inning with just one run scoring that the momentum would turn." Columbus coach Brother Herb Baker said. "But that catch (by Hatch) turned the momentum again. It was a great play."

After David Partrick lined a two-run homer off the top of the fence in right field for a 3-0 lead in the top of the third. Hatch turned in his defensive gem in the bottom of the inning.

Cassels walked Jorge Fabredras and Herbie Rodriguez singled to ignite the rally. Fabregas faked a steal on the pitch to Rodriguez and when Howell broke to cover the bag. Rodriguez punched it through the opening. Juan Barquin walked on a 3-2 pitch to load the bases.

Mike Tosar followed with a healthy fly ball to center field to score Fabredas to pare the lead to 3-1. Cassels then jammed dangerous Jorge Gonzalez with a fastball and he popped weakly to Howell for the second out. Carloz Diaz, the cleanup hitter, was next and he took a Cassels fastball on the line and deep to right field. Hatch and center fielder Partrick both converged, but Hatch reached over his shoulder at the last instant, catching the ball just before he ran into the four-foot fence.

"I didn't think he'd get to it," a relieved Cassels said. "That was a helluva catch.

Hatch said he had his doubts, too. "I knew it was close to going out." he said. "I say Partrick coming but I didn't think he could catch it. I got it just before I hit the fence." Hatch put his bat to work in the top of the fourth. Emmons drew a one-out walk to start the frame. Hatch then picked on a 1-0 fastball and jerked it over the right center field fence for a 5-1

"It was a fastball and he grooved it," Hatch said. "I couldn't let that one go by.

One inning later. Tate erupted for four runs to put the game on ice. Partrick singled and stole second before Cassels singled him to third. Baker hooked Munoz in favor of Alex Garces. Blackmon followed with a base hit up the middle to score Partrick for a 6-1 bulge. Travis Fryman bunted both runners along before Baker intentionally walked Emmons to set up the force plays.

With the infield playing halfway, though, Hatch-rifled a triple just inside the first base bag and into the right field corner to chase home three more for a 9-1 lead.

An inning later. Cassels drilled a homer to right field to push the lead to 10-1. Columbus picked up a run in the seventh on a double by Edurado Crus and a two-out RBI single by Tosar. Cassels retired Consales on a liner to shortstop to end the

Johnson, Hawthorne Prepare For June Dirt Run

The fourth annual "World Series of Dirt Racing Street Stock 100" is coming to Volusia County Speedway June 6-8. Two of Sanford's top drivers are now in the process of getting ready for the prestigious event which will pay $10,000 to win.

Harold "Fat Rat" Johnson and Casey Hawthorne will be after the biggest purse they have ever run for when the green flag drops. Johnson is a veteran on the tricky dirt tracks. having put many miles on the dirt before moving over to the hard top.

The car Johnson will drive is a 1969 Camaro sponsored by Jerry Shirley Paint and Body Shop. He has the help of a bunch of the old time dirt crowd that was active back when Sanford had at least a dozen drivers racing at VCS. Among the dirt veterans helping out are former driving star Chris Dellarco, top motor man Charley Butler, race car builders Steve Morris and John Kirkgard.

Johnson ran VCS for over six years and his driving style was second to none. With the knowledge he and his crew have Johnson could be the star of the show.

"I could use a little sponsor money, if anybody would like to help," Johnson said. "I have to buy dirt tires and other things that I don't have since I went asphalt racing, just give me a call at 322-0250."

Sanford's other driver is a rookie on dirt. Hawthorne has only run about five events at VCS, but made them all count. He is bringing his multi-feature winning 1970 Ford Mustang out of storage and preparing it for the dirt. The Mustang which won over 20 features at New Smyrna Speedway last year was entered in last years Street Stock 100.

If they gave out an overachievers award in prep track and field, Oviedo High sophomore Karl Wright would be a leading candidate for it.

In his first year of track, Wright has qualified for the Class 3A State Track and Field Championships Friday night at Showalter Field in Winter Park. And he did it in an event, the 330 intermediate hurdles, he had no idea he'd even be competing in at the beginning of the

"When I first started out, I didn't even want to touch the hurdles," Wright said. "I wanted to do the 220 and the relays at first. But coach (Ken Kroog) asked me do to the hurdles and I figured I might as well give it a

Wright will look to cap off an excellent season by placing in the 330 hurdles at the state meet Friday night. Preliminaries begin at 5 p.m., with the 330 hurdles the next to last preliminary event. Running finals begin

Wright finished second in the regional meet with a school record time of 39.3. That broke the mark of 39.5 that Wright shared with Greg Washington. Washington set the record in Kroog said he figured Wright would learn the hurdles this year, pay some dues, and hope to qualify for state as a junior.

"When I first saw him (Wright), I though he'd have a better year as a sprinter." Kroog said. "But he really has come on in the hurdles. He still doesn't have the form down, but he's really quick inbetween the hurdles and that's waht got him to state."

Wright said he would like to get down around 38.5 in the state meet and he feels he still can get much faster.

"I've got the speed, but I have to learn to get lower over the hurdles," Wright said. "And I still have to work on my trail leg and keep my left arm from crossing over my body." When Wright first started the hurdles, his main problem was floating over the hurdles. He's worked hard to improve that area but said he still didn't realize how far he could go until late in the season.

"I was really lousy over the hurdles the first couple meets." Wright said. "But I've got better at that. It was probably the SAC (Seminole Athletic Conference) meet where I realized I had a chance to do something in the hurdles. That's the first time I went under 40 seconds."

Placing at state as a sophomore would be Wright's goal and to do that he must run a good race in the prelims and come back strong in the finals.

"He's fast enough to make the finals," Kroog said. "Placing would be a good goal for him. Next year, we'll work on his form and on getting a high place. If it comes before then, it's fine."

RELAY GOES FOR RECORD

While Wright was the only Oviedo athlete to qualify as an individual, the Lions' mile relay team will go after the school record Friday night in the final event of the meet at Showalter

The Oviedo mile relay team of senior Bubba Wright, sophomore Karl Wright, junior Robb Hughes and senior Mark Stewart qualified for state with a time of 3:25.8 in the region meet. The echool record, set in 1983, is

"Those guys really surprised me," Kroog said of the mile relay. "I didn't think they had a prayer of getting to state."

Dunston Shuns Bunt, Homer Tops Dodgers

United Press International With a 22-mile per hour wind blowing in at Wrigley Field. and Los Angeles leading Chicago by two runs Thursday afternoon. Cub Shawon Dunston looked to lead off the fifth inning by getting on base any way he could.

"I was actually going up there just trying to bunt," Dunston said. "But I saw how close in the third baseman was so I went ahead and swung."

Dunston ripped a line drive on a 0-1 pitch from Jerry Reuss just inside the left field foul pole for a home run to ignite a four-run rally that gave Chicago a 6-5 victory over the Dodgers.

Dunston, who hit only four home runs in his rookie season in 1985, is the Cubs' leader this year with five.

"I'm a little surprised about the home runs, but the coaches say to go up there and keep swinging," said Dunston. Gary Matthews followed

Dunston's shot with an opposite-field double to right, and eventually and scored on Keith Moreland's RBI single to right. knocking out Reuss, 2-1. Moreland scored when reliever

Tom Niedenfuer, who had given up the game-winning homer in Tuesday's 7-6 Los Angeles defeat, uncorked a wild pitch on his first delivery.

Chicago starter Scott Sandergon, 2-1, carned the win, and Lee Smith got the final six outs for his second save.

The victory was the Cubs' eighth in one-run games against 13 losses. For Los Angeles, the one-run loss was its 10th against six victories.

"Obviously, I think it's an important statistic, and we've got to start winning the one-run games," said Dodger manager Tommy Lasorda. "I'm not con-cerned about the bullpen, it's just not been effective. I expect it to get better." In the first, Steve Sax had an RBI single and Greg Brock belted a three-run homer, his fourth of the year, to give Los Angeles a 4-0 lead.

"The guys told me after that first inning to keep putting up zeroes up there and they'd chip away at the lead." said Sanderson, who left after his shoulder tightened. "I made a bad pitch to Brock, but I threw well after that."

Braves 10. Rode 5

At Cincinnati, Dale Murphy slammed two homers and drove in five runs to help Atlanta send Cincinnati to its 10th loss in its last 11 games. Ozzie Virgil and Bob Horner also homered for the Braves to make Craig McMurtry, 1-1, a winner. John Denny. 1-3, took the loss. Cardinals 18, Padres 3

At St. Louis, Tim Conroy got his first two major-league hits. drove in four runs and threw a five-hitter. Willie McGee chipped in with four hits, and Jose Oquendo scored four times to pace a 20-hit attack against loser

Baseball

Dave Dravecky, 2-3, and three relievers. Conroy, 2-1, walked five and struck out two. Pirates 8, Giants 2

At Pittsburgh, Jim Morrison backed rookie Mike Bielecki with a bases-loaded triple to help snap San Francisco's four-game winning streak. Bielecki. 26. who underwent back surgery during the off-season, went 7 1-3 innings to raise his record to 3-0. Scott Garrelts, 3-3, took the loss. COTTIER GETS BOOT

Only the manager has changed. Otherwise, the Scattle Mariners look the same as they have all year. They can't hit, and they can't win.

"Now I know what Chuck went through." interim skipper Marty Martinez said Thursday night after presiding over a 4-2 loss to the Boston Red Sox in the Mariners' first game since the firing of Chuck Cottier.

"They treated me like ager," added Martinez. "I was thankful for that.

T've got lots of time left in my future. I wouldn't want to manage in this situation. I'll get my chance."

The Mariners have said they expect to name a new mana within days. A longtime associate of veteran manager Dick Williams says Williams has the job.

Marty Barrett capped a fourrun seventh inning with a two-run triple, and Mike Brown struck out a career-high eight.

A's 2. Brewers 1

At Oakland, Chris Codiroli scattered eight hits over eight innings, and Tony Phillips and Dave Kingman hit RBI singles in the eighth to give the A's the victory. Codiroli, 3-3, yielded to Steve Ontiveros, who earned his second save in two games. Loser Ted Higuera, 4-2, went the distance. Bine Jays 7, Angels 6

Martinez, batting .107 entering the game, singled home two runs in the seventh to win it for Toronto. It was the first gamewinner for the seldom-used Martinez. Mark Eichhorn, 4-2, was the winner and Tom Henke notched his fourth save. CHICAGO (UPI) - Tony LaRussa will be in the dugout when the White Sox meet the red-hot Cleveland Indians tonight while Chicago management continues negotiations to replace him with Billy Martin. Board chairman Jerry

Reinsdorf, team president Eddie Einhorn and general manage Ken Harrelson huddled with Eddie Sapir, agent for Martin, for nearly three hours at a Chica airport hotel Thursday and promised to talk again sometime

"We said we would get back to them in 24 hours," said Herrelson.

Lowe Whiffs Out 10, Satellite Trims Palatka

By Scott Sander Special To The Herald

ORLANDO - Coming into Thursday afternoon's Class 3A State Baseball Tournament semifinal between Satellite Beach and Palatka. Satellite's 13-12 was not considered too imposing. After all, the Scorpions were not even supposed to make it this far and they certain wouldn't give favored Palatka (20-6) a game.

Or would they? Not only did the Scorps give Palatka a good game, but they sent the Panthers back to Palatka, licking their wounds with a 3-1 loss before 550 fans at the University of Central Florida baseball field.

Satelite will take on Fort Lauderale St. Thomas Aquinas tonight at 8 for the state championship. Aquinas dropped Oviedo, 8-3, in Thursday's second game. Satellite coach Pete Cambell said that Ron Streiff will pitch for the Scorpions. "I don't know much about Aquinas." Cambell said. "It doesn't matter to us who we play." Tickets are $3.

With Palatka leading 1-0 in the bottom of the sixth inning, Satellite senior first baseman D.J. Ellis tripled to the left field fence scoring, two runs which was all ace righthander David Lowe would need..

"The pitcher (Paltka's Bill Jones) was throwing well," Ellis said in between congratulatory hugs and kisses. "He was mixing up the curves and the fastballs. I guessed fastball and fortunately I was right. This win feels just great.

Despite the loss. Palatka coach Lee Parkinson was happy with his team's performance. "We played pretty well out there." Parkinson said. "It all boiled down to one pitch. They got the big hit and we just couldn't. We had our chances but that's the way it goes sometimes.'

Leading the Scorpions almost solely into the state tournament was the performance of righthander Lowe. Lowe fanned 10 and gave up five hits en route to his 11th win of the year. He also helped himself with an RBI single in the sixth inning. Lowe is now 11-5 and strikout total is 173 for the year.

"I felt good out there today," Lowe said. "But I think that I can pitch better."

First year Satellite coach Cambell said that Lowe had a typical outing. "This was an average game for Dave." Cambell said. "He is a real competitor in every sense of the word."

Palatka had an excellent opportunity to score in the top of the first inning. After two walks and a bloop single loaded the bases. Lowe settled down. Lowe whiffed Darrell Paige, Rodney Fulk, and Mike Tucker consecutively to extinguish the scoring threat.

Palatka did take the lead in the top of the third frame. Shortstop Brent Everson'led off with infield single and took second when Scorpion shortstop Henry Carlson overthrew first base. After a strikeout and a pop out, Paige ripped a double to left giving the Panthers a 1-0 lead.

Satellite had a chance to tie up the game in the bottom of the fourth, but failed. Center fielder Pat Rang, the Scorps best hitter at .425, reached base on an error. A stolen base and a bunt moved him to third. Lowe then hit a grounder to second baseman Cason. Cason fired the ball to catcher Tom Boyette who laid the tag on Rang at the plate.

Satellite took control in the bottomof the sixth frame. With one away, left fielder Curt Fullerton singled off loser Jones (10-4). Rang then walked moving Fullerton to second. Ellis followed with the line drive triple that rolled all the way to left field wall, plating Fullerton and Rang. Lowe then belped his own cause with a chopping single to right scoring Ellis and giving the Scorps all the runs they needed.

Lowe fanned Everson to end the game.

"I hope we can play this well Friday," Campbell said. "We felt confident throughout this game that we would win and we already feel confident about the championship game."

Schmit didn't miss either. The lefthanded hitting senior looked at two balls and then deposited the next offering into the tree in right center field for a three-run dinger and a 7.0 lead.

"It was a fastball down a little," Schmit said. "I got the meat of the bat on it and lifted it up a little Rincon checked the Rams on two hits the rest of the way. He struck out six and walked five.

Riverview, meanwhile, got to Schmit for three runs in the second and one more in the third but catcher Lisle, who had his troubles defensively in the first two innings with two passed balls and a throwing error, gunned down a runner trying to steal in the third and again in the fourth inning to curtail comebacks.

Left fielder T.J. Sutton also turned in a spectacular running catch in foul territory to give Lake Mary a lift in the sixth. Sutton raced deep into the left field corner to grab Nick Saldino's long drive, making the an over-the-head stab just before hitting the fence for the second out.

"I thought we were going to come back on them," Altier said. "But that kid (Sutton) made a great play on the foul ball and Schmit was just too tough when he had to be."

Riverview pulled within 7-3 with three runs from the bottom three hitters in the second. Chris Odlerna stroked a one-out single and moved to second on a passed ball. When Scott Pryer's fly ball fell into front of right fielder Hysell for a double, Odierna scored. Schmit walked the ninth place hitter. Saldino, to put runners at first and Pryer alertly stole third and when Rincon delivered a ground ball to the right side. Prver scored. Saldino then stole third and when Lisle's throw sailed into left field. Saldino scored the final run of the inning. Riverview's last run came in the fourth when Steve Tucker drilled a one-out double to right center. Daryl Schmucker followed with a single to . right field to score the run.

Lisle then cut down Schmucker trying to steal but shortstop Letterio reopened the rally when he dropped Odierna's fly ball in short left field. Pryer followed with a liner off Schmit's backside. Schmit, though, recovered in time to throw him out on a very close play at first base.

Lisle cut down another runner in the fourth on another close play and Schmit didn't allow a runner past second the rest of the way.

"Schmitty was fired up for the seventh," Tuttle said. "After the ump called him out on strikes (in the sixth). I knew he'd get mad and put them away.'

Schmit did, on 10 pitches in the seventh. He fanned Tucker on a sharp-breaking curveball to end the game and send his teammates and Lake Mary's fans into a frenzy.

'One more win." Schmit signalled to his exuberant teammates. "That's all we need to be the best in the state."

Grifol, a sophomore catcher for Miami, said Tate's bats were the difference. "Whewwwww," he said letting out his breath. "They can hit the ball. Munoz couldn't get his curveball over. They were just extending their arms and jumping on his fastball. All the home runs were on fastballs."

Tate also showed an art of hitting the ball to the opposite field. Its eight righthanded batters continually went with the pitch. "I drive that down their throats every day," Putman said. The Lions got two of the runs back in the bottom of the third. With one out, Mark Merchant slapped a double down the left field line and he took third on Tony Belflower's groundout. Torres. who had been slumping at the plate as of late. then unloaded on an 0-2 fastball and sent it over left fielder Rader's head for an RBI triple. Alan Greene then smashed a single to right to score Torres, cutting Aquinas' lead to 4-2.

The Raiders added a run in the top of the fifth to make it 5-2. With two outs and a runner on third. Duncan walked McAninch and ran the count to 2.0 on Rader before Scott Bowers came on in relief. Bowers worked the count to 3.2 on Rader who then bounced a grounder to deep short. The only play Belflower had was at first base but the only way he could have made the Oviedo came back within 5.3 in the bottom of the fifth but got only one run after loading the bases with no outs. Merchant led off the inning with a single, stole second, and took third but couldn't score on Belflower's hard single up the middle. After Belflower stole second, Torres walked on four pitches to load the bases. The Raiders came up with one of the key plays in the game though when they turned a 6-4-3 double play on Greene's grounder. Merchant scored on the play but the Oviedo raily was over.

"That was the biggest defensive play of the ballgame." Aquinas coach Ed Waters said. "Oviedo had the momentum when they loaded the bases and they had the crowd behind them.

But the double play quieted them down some." Oviedo had the tying runs on first and third with two outs in the bottom of the sixth and Merchant at the plate, but the junior standout flew out to left for the third out.

St. Thomas then tacked on three runs, two of them unearned, in the top of the seventh. With one out. Chad O'Donnell drew a walk and Kempner followed with a grounder to Reichle at first. Reichle's throw for the force at second sailed into left field and O'Donnell went all the way to third. O'Donnell scored when McAninch reached on an error for a 6-3 lead. Kempner was then cut down at the plate on Rader's grounder, but Jeff Ritchie singled up the middle to score McAninch and Kelly O'Donnell followed with a base hit to lest to drive in Rader for an 8-3 lead. Barrett then came on in relief for the Lions and fanned Bellavia for the third out.

Belflower led off the bottom of the seventh with his third hit of the game. With Belflower running. Torres hit a rope to right field but it stayed up and Chad O'Donnell made the catch and doubled Belflower off first. Greene then grounded back to the mound for the final out.

'We got the hits when we needed them and gave Tony (Pisciotta) a lead to work with." Waters said. "Oviedo gave us a tough time though. Their pitchers have good breaking balls and they hit the ball well. Our guys came through with the clutch hits though and made some big

Gardening Add Color To Your Surroundings With The Begonia Family

One of the most colorful plants we can set out in our gardens are those in the begonia family. it's a big family that includes a wide variety of shapes, sizes, and colors. And, the best thing is that they are rarely bothered by insects or diseases. Choosing the right ones for your particular landscape situation can be confusing. Each variety is suited for a different landscape or home use.

Begonias grown in our area can be divided into three types - fibrous rooted, tuberous rooted, and Rex begonias. The fibrous-rooted types, also known as wax begonias, have a fine root system and waxy green or bronze leaves and stems. Tuberous-rooted begonias are grown from underground storage tubers, and produce large flowers and foliage. The Rex begonias, which have underground stems, called rhizomes, come in a variety of colorful foliage types.

The fibrous-rooted types make excellent bedding plants for flower beds. They look best when massed with at least five in a group. They bloom the year-around, although summer growth is not as great as in other seasons.

Their white or brilliant pink and red flowers contrast with their dark green or bronze leaves, making them excellent display plants. They need at least a quarter of a day of sunlight.

Tuberous-rooted begonias can be used in flower beds, too. But, they're more often used as pot

Alfred Bessesen Urban Horticultrist 323-2500 Ext. 181

plants or in hanging baskets. They are quite light sensitive, and require about 12 hours of sun a day to bloom well. During the shorter days of winter. you can encourage flowering by using artificial

The old standby, Rex begonias, are mainly grown as house plants. In very protected areas, such as an atrium. Rex begonias do very well. their foliage is often cut for use in flower arrangements. The variety of leaf shapes and colors make the Rex begonia a highly prized

Begonias can be propagated by seeds, by leaf or rhizome cuttings, as well as by division and tubers, depending on the type of begonia involved. Seeding methods are difficult - if not downright tough! Good seed is very expensive, and extremely small. And, unless you have special germinating chambers, you'll have a tough time germinating them. Begonias can be grown from cuttings, but this method has its drawbacks, too. Those plants started from cuttings won't branch freely and you'll end up with unattractive single-stemmed plants.

Your best bet is to start with plants produced by commercial growers. Your favorite garden center or nursery should have a good selection. Be sure to choose disease-free plants that appear to be healthy and vigorous. Such plants should produce many branches and become thick and bushy as they mature.

Since most of our soils don't hold nutrients or moisture very well, you'll need to improve the soil before planting your begonias. Adding two or three inches of peat moss or compost to your flower beds and thoroughly mixing it in will help the soil hold the nutrients and moisture in the root zone.

In addition, a little superphosphate and dolomitic lime, plus a couple of teaspoons of a minor-element fertilizer mix should be added for every two square feet of soil surface, and thoroughly mixed into the soil.

If you plan to grow your begonias in pots or planters, make sure the containers have adequate drainage. If begonias are allowed to stand in excess water, the roots will suffocate. A soil mix of one-half perlite and one-half peat moss will provide adequate aeration and allow good growth.

Begonias are not heavy feeders. Apply fertilizers sparingly. Two pounds of a 6-6-6 or 8-8-8 complete fertilizer per 100 square feet of garden bed will meet their basic nutrient requirements. Your container grown plants should be fed once a month with a half-teaspoon of complete fertilizer. Hanging baskets and pots can be fertilized with the convenient liquid fertilizers available at garden supply stores. Be very careful not to exceed the recommended rates of application.

Begonias do best between 70 and 80 degrees F. Remember, high temperatures will retard growth and flowering, but if the plants are in the ground. you can prune them back in early fall to increase branching for better flowering.

Container-grown begonias react the same to high temperatures, but will survive the heat if placed in a light, airy spot for the summer. Rex begonias seem to tolerate the heat much better and may be placed outdoors during the summer. as long as they don't get any direct sun.

Begonias are rarely troubled with insects or disease. But, you could have a few problems especially if the plants are crowded or overwatered. Remove any dead or diseased leaves right away and keep the plants well-spaced to allow for air circulation. If fungus is a problem most broad-spectrum fungicides will control it. But, if you have such problems, you might take a look at your own cultural practices. Happy gardening!

DEAR B.: This piece is from my booklet. "What Every Teenager Ought to Know. Many junior and senior high school teachers wrote to say that they had read it aloud to their students: HOW TO GET PREGNANT

One of the questions I have been asked often by teens is: How far can I go without getting pregnant?"

That is not a dumb question. It's a very intelligent one. A lot of kids get aroused by just lying close to each other while kissing. Then they just naturally proceed to the next step, which is Sometimes they remove some of their clothing because it's "in the way," or they burrow underneath it to explore each other's bodies with their hands.

This is known as heavy petting, or "doing everything else but."
The technical (and legal) definition of sexual intercourse is "penetration." (The male's sex organ must penetrate the female's.) However, as impossi-ble as it may sound, in the medical literature can be found cases where there has been no penetration — the girl remained a virgin, but after engaging in heavy petting, she found herself

No Matter The Form, Alcohol's Still Alcohol

settle an argument. A male member of my family says you can only be an alcoholic if you drink something that is 86 proof. such as vodka or whiskey. I tell him that beer and wine are just as bad. What do you think?

DEAR READER — 1 think you're right. Alcohol is alcohol; it does as much damage in the form of "light" beer as it does in the form of "white lightning," a virtually 100-percent alcohol beverage.

Alcoholism is a disease of denial; it's a disease that tells its victim that no problem exists. One of the alcoholic's favorite ploys is "controlled drinking": this may include substituting beer and wine for hard stuff. The chemical and health results are the same in a wine-alcoholic as they are in a patient addicted to liquor.

I hope the male member of your family is holding an opinion based on ignorance, rather than taking a position that sounds like a justification for continued drinking. Show him my response to your question: his reaction may tell you a lot.

DEAR DR. GOTT - The doctor says my bladder has dropped, but doesn't want to do anything about it yet. When the time comes, should I have surgery or should I have a ring inserted?

DEAR READER — A "dropped bladder" is common in older women who have had children. It can cause poor control of urine-flow, primarily incontinence. If you are experiencing difficulty, a gynecologist may advise surgery to resuspend the bladder in a more normal position. Some doctors use rings or pessaries, rather than surgery, for this purpose. I think the best approach in your case would be to obtain an opinion from a doctor whose judgment you trust. Either option may be appropriate for you, as may a leave-it-alone attitude.

DEAR DR. GOTT - Several years ago my grandmother got "sinus tablets". The prescription can be refilled whenever she wants and the doctor never

DEAR DR. GOTT - Please checks to see if the pills are doing her any good. Could they be hurting her?

DEAR READER - Possibly. In my opinion, any patient on a prescription medication should be checked periodically. In my view. A doctor who fails to insist on regular followups is not a good physician. Frankly, I'm

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Although five clubs might have been easier, it was reasonable for North-South to arrive in four spades. The three-heart bid by South was an attempt to reach no-trump if North had a diamond stopper, and so the momentum of the bidding carried him to four spades. Declarer had a good idea in the play, but not quite good enough.

After leading the king of diamonds. West switched to a spade. Declarer felt that because of the takeout double. West would be short of spades, but he hoped that he would have two. He allowed the seven of spades from East to hold the trick. His plan was to ruff a diamond in dummy, cash the king of spades would have been fine if spades had split 4.2. but five of them in East's hand wrecked the deciarer's approach.

Declarer can succeed, even against the unfortunate trump stack. He must win the spade king, come to the tack of clubs to ruff a diamond, come back to the heart ace to ruff his last diamond, and then play on high clubs. Although East can ruff in. South will be in control. He can ruff a diamond return and play A-Q of spades. Although East will be left with a high trump, declarer will still have made 10 tricks and his contract.

Lesson: You can prevail, even against a bad trump split, if you keep your wits about you and and then return to his hand to take a logical course of play to pull the remaining trumps. That make the tricks you need.

How Much Is A Trillion?

By Elaine S. Povich WASHINGTON (UPI) - The House Budget Committee Thursday moved toward passage of a $993 billion Democratic budget that would chop military spending, increase spending on poverty programs and use new taxes to sharply cut the deficit.

House Budget Committee Chairman William Gray, D.Pa., outlined the proposal to the Democraticdominated panel and said it would protect the elderly and children while allocating adequate resources to the Pentagon though far less than President Reagan requested.

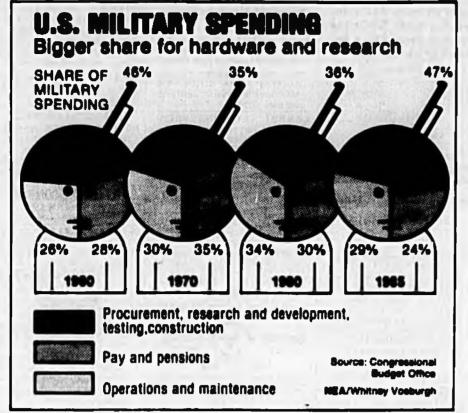

The Democratic spending plan for fiscal 1987 would cut the deficit to $136.5 billion next year - significantly below the $144 billion deficit target required by the Gramm · Rudman balanced budget law mostly due to the defense spending cuts and the requirement that the proposed new taxes go for deficit reduction.

Committee leaders originally sought GOP accord on the budget but statements from Republicans on the panel indicated the Democrats would probably have to go it alone. That could speed passage of the plan, and committee aides indicated approval could come late Thursday.

The Democratic budget allocates $285 billion for the Penlagon, but states that amount will be specified new taxes to withheld until military spending is fully audited. The military got $287 billion last year, Reagan requested $320 billion, and the GOP-dominated Senate allocated $301 billion in its bipartisan $1 trillion budget passed last week.

In a related development, syndicated columnist Don Lambro in the House think reported that Senate Republican leader Robert Dole pledged to attempt to scuttle the budget entirely later this year if defense should not be used to spending were not increased enough to sat- ding, military or isly the White House.

Dole told White House chief of staff publican on the panel. Donald Regan he Rep. Delbert Latta of

"would break up the (House-Senate) conference if we had to. unless we worked out something agreeable to the White House on defense." Lambro reported.

The Democratic budget calls for $13 billion in new revenues, the same as the Senate, but $7 billion more than Reagan requested. The tax figure takes into account $2.5 billion already enacted with the extension of the eigarette tax. About $6 billion of the revenues comes from sales of government assets and "user fees" on things like fishing licences and grazing of cattle on federal lands.

In a departure from the Senate plan, the Democratic proposal calls for the rest of the unspecified revenues $3 billion of that - $4.7 billion in unbe enacted later by other committees - to be used to only to chop the deficit down to $136.5 billion. The Senate budget called for $10.7 billion in unspecifed new taxes. "If the president does agree to a modest increase in revenues. such as the Senate has proposed, many of us these revenues should be applied to reduce the staggering deficits we face." Gray said. "These revenues cover additional spendomestic."

But the leading Re-

Ohio, complained that the way to cut the deficit was not with new taxes but with reductions in spending "and to do it in more ways than just reducsaid. The Democratic budget plan allows a full cost-of-living increase for Social Security and other government benefit recipients. That is estimated at about 2 percent currently, but could go higher.

The plan includes a 3 percent pay hike for military and civilian government employees and puts additional money into "high priority" programs lke drug enforcement. AIDS research, embassy security, education, jobs training, Amtrak and poor children's feeding programs. About $1 billion is allocated to build a new space shuttle, but only if authorized by Congress. The plan cuts 10 percent from foreign aid, however, as well as programs like Urban Development Action Grants, mass transit assistance, and the Economic Development Administration.

It also proposes an increase in Medicald funds to allow states the option of covering the elderly poor under the health insurance program.

Senate Votes To Ban Credit Surcharges

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - The Senate voted unanimously Thursday to ban surcharges on credit card purchases and to join the eight other states that regulate "ultralight" aircraft and their pilots.

The credit card bill (CS-SB 58) would allow merchants and gas station operators to offer discounts on purchases made in cash. But they would be barred from jacking up advertised prices for customers who pay on credit.

"They've just got to notify people that if you use a credit card. its going to cost you 'x' amount." said sponsor Sen. Don Childers. D-West Palm Beach. "We're saying that we're going to be sure that the people of this state don't get ripped off."

Ultralights are small. one. or two-person aircraft with fabric wings powered by small engines. The craft and their pilots need not be formally registered with the Federal Aviation Admineistration, although the private United States Ultralight Foundation. Inc., manages a registration.

pilot licensure and instruction system with the FAA's approval. Childers, who also sponsored the Senate ultralight bill (CS-SB 61), said the existing procedure allows untrained pilots of any age to take to the air in craft that may or may not be airworthy.

In the first nine months of 1985, the latest figures Childers could offer, there were 26 reported ultralight accidents resulting in 14 deaths nationwide. The foundation reported 4,149 of the estimated 15,000 ultralight pilots and 1.805 of the more than 10,000 ultralights were registered with it.

"There is no regulation on it and there is no requirement that anyone have any type of training before they get on an ultralight and fly it." Childers said. "You can be a 15- or 16-year-old kid and if the parents buy it you can get on it and fly away."

The bill would pro-hibit ultralight flights by any person not re-cognised by the USUP. Instructors would be required to meet the foundation's standords, and the aircraft would bear registration controllers.

Statue Of Liberty Sculptor Predicted Work's Importance

NEW YORK (UPI) - The French sculptor who dreamed of erecting a giant statue in New York Harbor predicted nearly 15 years before the Statue of Liberty was unveiled that the work will become of very great moral importance."

Auguste Bartholdi wrote to his mother in Colmar, France, in 1871 during a five-month tour of the United States, his first trip to America. He said a small island in the harbor seemed perfect for a monument he hoped to sculpt as a symbol of friendship between France and the United

"Unfortunately, a fort is built upon it - so that there is a possible conflict with the Army." Bartholdi wrote his mother on July 21, 1871. "I believe this enterprise will take on very great proportions. If things turn out as I hope they will, this work of sculpture will become of very great moral importance. We must see about that later."

spondence, written almost 15 years before the statue was built. The century-old corre- and a diary complete with sketches, were donated Tuesday by Chemical Bank to the New York Public Library for an exhibit opening next month to mark the monument's 100th birthday.

The exhibit, titled "Liberty: The French-American Statue in Art and History," is aimed at reminding people of the statue's often misunderstood message, said Diantha Schull, a library spokeswornan.

Everyone thinks it was made with immigrants in mind. It was really a symbol of French and American friendship and the similarity of political and social ideals of the two countries," Schull said.

The 19th century master saw America as a vast land of "diabolical" beauty with magnificent painted deserts and towering redwoods he spotted through the windows of a steam engine train that chugged across the nation.

His travels also took him to the beach cottage of President Ulysacs Grant in Long Branch,

N.J. "He is a cold man, like most Americans," Bartholdi wrote in the July letter. "He has a very energetic physiognomy. He displays an affability that is reserved and simple, but at the same time genuine."

At a ceremony where bankers met with librarians to hand over the documents, officials praised the effort to refocus attention on France's role in the statue's

"In the midst of all the commercialism and hoople that may drown the statue during the centennial, people forgot France," said Varian Gregorian, president of the New York Public Library.

He said the crush of tourists expected to scoop up Statue of Liberty souvenirs and gawk at dazzling fireworks during the Fourth of July weekend extravaganza betray the image Bartholdi had of America.

Bartholdi saw America as sedate, serious, modest but proud," Gregorian said.

Sanford Airport Site Of 1st Aviation Expo

The Sanford Airport will serve as landing strip and display center during the weekend of Oct. 11 and 12 for a multitude of aircraft, air club members and aircraft manufacturers during the first Central Florida Aviation Expo. which is being spearheaded by the Sanford Chamber of Commerce aviation committee with the endorsement of the Sanford Airport Authority.

The event will promote the city and its airport and also provide local residents with a weekend of free and unusual entertainment, according to aviation committee chairman Daryl McClain, who met with fellow committee members Wednesday at the chamber to expound upon the expo efforts they began two months ago.

The expo will feature acrialists from all over Florida. who will demonstrate their skills during "fly-bys" and landing contests, and onground displays will include vintage and experimental aircraft. McClain said.

Also planned is a safety seminar sponsored by the Federal Aviation Association and the committee hopes to provide an aircraft jumping exhibition by world champion parachutists from Deland as well as a display of military aircraft. McClain said.

The October expo is only the first of many the committee plans as a means of "keeping aviation people around the state aware of the Sanford Airport and Sanford and what both have to offer." McClain

The venture has "100 percent support" from the the airport authority, according to Airport Aviation Director and aviation committee member J.S. "Red" Cleveland.

He pointed out that in addition to unique aircraft. onground displays at the expo will feature the planes, aerial equipment and charter and maintenance services that are availible through Sanford Airport based companies.

"We've got a lot to offer locally and we'll show this off at the expo," Cleveland said. "It will be good for the community, good for the airport and provide a good time for our citizens."

County Asks Residents Near Yankee Lake Site For Input On Project

By Barak Flocher

Herald Staff Writer Seminole County is asking 1,400 northwest area residents to attend a May 19 meeting. where they will have the opportunity to have their say about the Yankee Lake wastewater

According to County Environmental Services Director Jim Bible, the county will be mailing out notices this week to residents living north of State Road 48 A radius of the Yankee Lake site, iriniti # live-Wile The meeting has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at Lake Mary High School.

There, county staff and project engineers will be on hand to explain the proposed wastewater treatment program and residents will be able to express their concerns, Bible said.

The county has pinpointed a site for the Yankee Lake plant, some 4,000 feet north of State Road 46 on the northwest portion of the property the county purchased last year. Bible said.

He called the site "excellent" in terms of buffering for odor and visibility and said it is 1,500 to 2,000 feet from Yankee Lake. County Commissioner Bill

Kirchhoff said he feels the site is preferable to the one originally proposed for the plant, which was on the west side of the property 600 feet off S.R. 46.

Kirchhoff said the site chosen will lessen the facility's adverse affects on Yankee Lake, which is located in his district.

He said he has talked with area residents who have expressed as interest in participating on a citizen's study committee for the Yankee Lake they do not want a sewer p located near them, others support the facility "if it's done right," Kirchhoff said.

The county is anticipating having the plant on line in less than two years. Bible said.

Staff will present a final engineering design contract on the project to the county commission May 13, he said.

The status of the Yankee Lake project was discussed in conjunction with a presentation of the county's proposed utility five-year capital improvement program at Tucsday's county commission work session.

According to Bible, the county will formalize a plan which will address $80 million worth of needs over the next five years to provide sewer and water services in the northwest and south central areas of the county.

updated yearly, will map out a schedule and financing for increasing levels of service to existing customers and providing capacity for future growth, he said.

The county is eyeing various methods of funding the project. including bonding and pre-sale of capacity prior to construction. Bible said.

The master plan includes utili-While some citizens have said ty projects in the northwest service area, consisting of Yankee Lake plant construction. Greenwood Laken water and wastewater plant improvements and expansion. Country Club water plant improvements and expansion, and Lynwood water plant improvements.

The county is considering implementing a disposal program whereby developments along Lake Emma Road would take back effluent from the Greenwood facility, Bible said.

The county has projected a two million gallons per day disposal capacity through the program, which would dispose of effluent through irrigation.

Projects in the south central service area include Consumer water and wastewater plant-improvements and expansion, indian Hills water plant construction and Lake Hayes water plant

The plan, which would be expansion. Moscow Art World Divided, Private

MOSCOW (UP!) - Moscow's art world today is divided - but no longer into a revolutionary struggle between insensitive officials and unofficial artists.

The unofficial is no longer revolutionary. It is docile and private.

The communist state, which oversees all art exhibits, publications and critics, has co-opted the avant-garde styles of unofficial artists and has given them official status and exhibition space. On a narrow Moscow street, a line forms, snaking into a cramped basement where a small annual art exhibit is in its ninth year, exhibiting 20 one-time "unofficial" artista. Across town, next to the Kremlin, a gargantuan official exhibit in the Central Exhibition hall (formerly the royal stables) proclaims "We build Communican" with works both realist and abetract.

An old artist living in a modern building behind the Kiev train station has seen neither exhibit, preferring the priviley of his apartment where free-form statues of women sit, slump and stand amid suggestive and fantastic wall paintings.

The two exhibits and the attitude of the old artist, a member of the official Union of Soviet Artists, point up the relationship developed between the art community and Soviet officials since 1874.

That was the year when buildozers and water cannons crushed and souled an unofficial outdoor art exhibit, forcing the plight of the Soviet artist into the world's consciouences.

Officials reacted to the international outcry by giving the artists official status, allowing them to join a special section of the Moscow Graphic Artists. Union. Some refused to tole and Artists Union. Some refused to join and emigrated instead. Some accepted and were given an exhibition space — the cramped side-street

"We stayed and are now members of the union. but the authorities still don't let us exhibit anywhere but here," said artist igor Snegur. pointing around the basement.

The paintings on show range from finely detailed religious paintings to amateurish imitations of Salvador Dali and include witty mixtures of abstract and realist elements.
"We have the exhibition space, this year they allowed us to print posters, and we are able to get materials, but the relationship is still not very good," Snegur said. With official status and control has come censorship. Years ago, artists rebelled against censorship. In 1986 they quietly acquiesce. Officials ordered one painting removed before the current basement show opened — a portrait of President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev at the November 1985 Geneva

The reason, said officers of the Moscow Trade Union of Cultural Workers, was that Gorbachev did not want his portrait "displayed about the city." They were not available for comment on why a Corbachev portrait dominates the entrance of the "We Build Communism" show.

of the "We Build Communium" show.

That giant exhibit shows thousands of paintings, sculptures and posters.

One large painting of a headless woman dancing uses abstract splotches of paint in suggestive places to produce a frenzied, sexual quality. It is a style that would not have been allowed years ago.

But the soldie Muscovites viewing it are unmoved.

"It's boring," said a young woman.

This show's mixture of abstract, impressionist and realist styles. Stustrates another way in which the authorities have circumvented the avant-garde, unofficial artist. By making formerly unofficial styles official, the government has made the avant-garde common.

Soviet authorities are, however, still wary of what has been called the three S's — paintings that are explicitly sexual, strange or spiritual. Artists who exhibit these "tendencies" is their paintings are sometimes kept from showing publicly.

One such artist is Vadim Sides.

One such artist to Vadim Sidur, 61, a World War II veteran and a member of the Soviet Although he has two major sculptures in Moscow, many in West Germany and one in Chicago, Sidur has not had an exhibition in the Soviet Union since 1966.

Soviet Union since 1908.

The state supplies him with materials and an art studio, so he too is complacent. He continues to create erotic sculptures and paintings itomizing the three B's. And he stays at her

Something for nothing, or next to nothing, that's what you get when you mix a lot of time, a bit of training and artistic talent with pine needles that can be sewn together to make baskets or lewelry.

or jewelry.
Josephine Reichen, 77, has been sewing away at these type of baskets off and on since age eight when her older sisters taught her what she might do with the masses of pine needles at their home on the Isle of Pine.

Although she is an American, Mrs. Richen, who now lives in Orlando, was born in Cuba, and the craft she has practiced and taught is one that relies on the long needles of pines that thrive in Florida as well as Cuba.

Shorter needles can be crafted together, but that makes a long task even longer, she said.

That can be discouraging, although in other parts of the country, unless they import long needles from the Southeast, pine needle weavers have to make do with short needles.

Many hours are put into making a small pine needle basket, for which pine needles will be stitched together with strips of raffia from the lining of a palm tree that grows in Magdascar, Mrs. Richen said.

"Some people tell me it (pine weaving) makes them nervous, but it doesn't me," Mrs. Richen said. "I just sit there and calmly feed the pine needles in and keep on sewing.

Some ladies get nervous, get the vapors I guess. The coll goes round and round. Every one of these stitches is a coil, and you just have to keep going until you have the right size."

The raffia and a sewing needle are about all the store bought supplies you need when making a pine needle creation.

Mrs. Richen advises beginners to start their first work on a wooden disc in which small needle holes have been drilled.

That, she said, will help them guage their stitches, so the work will end up uniform.

If you want to pick up on the technique involved in coiling pine needles, adding new ones as others are worked into the basket, so the thickness of the coil remains constant until the stitched basket is built, you don't have to pay for lessons.

Over the years Mrs. Richen has taught many the craft. She demonstrates her techniques at Seminole County schools and had her work on display at the recent "A Day in the Past," at Seminole Community College.

Although she no longer teaches, her former students have been so pleased to learn this pastime, she said, that on Thursday mornings some are always on hand at an Orlando recreation center to teach the art free of charge.

Pine needle crafters, Mrs. Richen said, "will do everything we can to help other people learn."

The raw needles, which should be clean and free of sand for making baskets or jewelry, may also be wrapped in raffia before being worked into a piece. This hides the needles, which serve as a core of the coils and such pieces have a smoother, less rustic look.

The heads of the needles can either be removed or worked into the pattern. Designs can be , a very old American worked into the weaving, but it's difficult to judge just how a design with turn out, Mrs. Richen said. She pointed out a piece which she intended to decorate with woven-in roadrunners. The roadrunners turned out to look more like roosters, she said.

Although she doesn't know the origin of her craft, Mrs. Richen said, "I've had a great many sources say they started it, but I don't think so.

Because of a lack of pine trees in the Everglades, Mrs. Richen doesn't believe the craft originated with the Seminole Indians. She has, she said, seen

He Gets What He Deserves

By Randy Minkoff UPI Sports Writer

CHICAGO (UPI) - It would seem natural for Bob Uecker to write another book about his experiences in Miller Lite Commercials, television sitcoms and late-night talk show interviews.

After all, Uecker did have some success with his initial literary endeavor, "Catcher in the Wry". But if you happen to see Uecker sitting in the "front roocoow" one of these days, the chances he'll be gathering more information for another book are about as good as him making a return to major icague baseball.

"It's not that it was so much work," Uecker says, "I'm doing so many different things right now I don't have time. What they want me to do is a tongue-and-cheek rip job of other players. I wouldn't mind it so much if they wanted to rip myself, but they don't."

Uecker, a mediocre reserve catcher, built a career on making fun of himself, both as a player and as a person. The endearing qualities earned him stardom on the late-night talk one's spring, summer and fall.
show circuit as well as getting 'I work baseball until television sitcom.

the commercials, the TV Tonight Show," Uecker says. expressions. And, you can't put that in a book."

Writing isn't his forte and he admits it.

"Every time I saw one of the first books, what did we sell, 20 copies, well, that meant I had to go back and type another one," Uecker says without deck, probably got him more cracking a smile. "Got to be a fame than anything else in his lot of typing.

Vintage Uecker. Uecker taking a shot at himself.

Part of the reason Uecker isn't anxious to go out and write another best-seller is that he has seen the proliferation of books about sports that exploded onto the scene in the 1960s.

"Want me to be perfectly honest? I don't get a big kick out of sports books. I read the Boys of Summer' and that's about it," Uecker says. "I'm around sports enough that I don't have to go home and read about it some more."

With Uecker's current schedule, it is easy to understand why he doesn't have enough time to read a book, let alone write one. In addition to the commercials and the "Mr. Belvedere" series on ABC, he still does play-by-play for the Milwaukee Brewers. The latter would be enough to fill any-him a place on the now-famous. August, we go back to the commercials and on a regular series in August, and I'll go out and do that, come back and do "I would write a book about baseball and go back," he says. "I do commercials for Chevron. Gulf. Miller Lite radio and "But the key to my act is facial television commercials. The little time I have left I like to spend time relaxing and be by myself. I'm having a great time."

The Miller commercials. especially the one where he spots a seat in the "front row" and winds up in the upper career. "When we did it, it was funny. I imagined how it would be to be cocky and get a front-row seat. The whole spot, the part where I say 'he missed the tag,' all were great," Uecker says. "Don't get me wrong. We had a great director and writer. That's why those spots are so successful.

Despite all the outside activities, Uecker's heart remains with baseball.

'As long as I feel the way I do now, I don't want to give up baseball. It got me here. I wouldn't be anywhere without baseball," Uccker says.

It has been a magical ride for Uecker. Even in his wildest dreams blowing out of a tube in the outfield in St. Louis at the 1964 World Series could baseball's funny man dream he would have the success he has enjoyed?

"Well, no one imagines what has taken place. Do this and stay as close to baseball as I have, how lucky can you get? The other things that came along I couldn't have imagined." Uecker says. "I could have stayed as a bullpen catcher, I did that when I played. I wanted to be a broadcaster, but it boils down for me being in the right place at the right

She's In 'Heaven' Over Michael Landon-

Dear Debra — I would like to know more about Michael Landon of "Highway to Heaven." I really love the name of the series as well as its theme song.— M.M., Beaver Falls, Pa.

Landon was born Eugene Maurice Orowitz on Oct. 21, 1937, in Forest Hills, N.Y., and raised in Collingswood, N.J. He went to University of Southern California on an athletic scholarship after being an All-American javelin thrower in high school. An injury ended his athletic career and he turned to acting. His feature films include "God's Little Acre," "I Was A Teenage Werewolf" and "The Legend of

dichaet Lan

Tom Dooley." After being spotted in a series called "The Restless Gun." Landon signed on with "Bonanza." After the show's successful 14-year-run (1959-73), he went on to do nine seasons of "Little House on the Prairie," before going on to "Highway to Heaven."

Dear Debra — Could you please tell me all about Densel Washington, one of the dectors on "St. Elsewhere"? How old is he? Is he married? What are his future ambitions and where can we write to him? — C.T., Columbia, S.C.

Denzel Washington, who plays Dr. Phillip Chandler on the NBC series, was born on Dec. 28 of an unspecified year (he's probably in his 30s) in Mount Vernon, N.Y. He's married to singer Paulette Pearson and they have a toddler, John David. Considering that he's got some major film roles under his belt — "A Soldier's Story," "Power" and

"Carbon Copy" — Washington is likely to do more of the same. He also has theater experience: He won an Obie award for the off-Broadway production of "A Soldier's Story" and has appeared with the New York Shakespeare Festival. This column doesn't give out address for actors; but fans can always write to an actor in care of the program he or she appears on.

enzel Washington

Dear Debra — I would like to know everything I can find out about my favorite star. His name is Richard Dean Anderson. He stars in "MacGyver." I would like to know if he's married, has kide and everything else, personal life and professional. I would also like to know how I can write to him. Thank you! —S.M., Bakerefield, Calif.

Everything? That personal we don't get, but here are a few basic facts: Anderson will always be remembered to soap opera fans as the first, and very handsome, Dr. Jeff Webber on "General Hospital" (he played that role for five years). He was born in Minneapolis, Minn. His first goal was to be an ice-hockey player: he switched to acting after he broke both his arms in a varsity game. He somewhat of an adventurer: at 17, he took a 6,000-mile bicycle trip to Alaska. Anderson, who not married, also likes the risks of motorcycle skiing, sky diving and scuba diving. He has an Australian shepherd dog at home. Again — readers can always write to their favorites at the network that air the show the actor appears on.

Dear Debra — Here's a television trivial question I'm having trouble proving. Please help me! In the show "Benanns," didn't Ben Cartwright have four sene? Adam, Hees and Little Jee were at home and the fourth sen lived elsewhere and was seen "ence in a blue mesn." I believe he was a lawyer? Who played that part and what was his character's name? (Didn't David Canary some into the picture as a cowhand after Hees died?) Please correct me if I'm wrong. Thank you. — D.A., Atkins, Va.

I'm afraid I'm not going to be of much help to your theory. After all the searching I've done, I still only come up with three sons for patriarch Ben Cartwright (who was played by Lorne Greene). His sons were Adam (Pernell Roberts), Hoss (Dan Blocker) and Little Joe (Michael Landon). David Canary did arrive as a wandering ranch hand after Pernell Roberts wandered out in 1965; his character, Candy, became "like" another son. Then, when Canary temporarily left the series in 1970, two others joined the family: Dusty Rhoades, a friend of Ben's (played by Lou Frizzel), and a teenage orphan. Jamie Hunter (played by Mitch Vogel). They also became part of the family. But I can't find a real fourth son anywhere.

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) - A home by 10. ... They lock the man suspected of burglarizing 20 homes lived in a storage locker during his alleged break-in spree, hurrying back each night to his rented niche before the security gates closed at 10 p.m., police say.

The Boulder Bins storage lot has no residences, but the suspect, Roger Murdoch, 26, apparently lived in his rented space, about the size of a large closet, for several months. police spokesman David Orimm said Wednesday.

'Along with the stolen property, we found clothes, and a portable battery-operated TV (in the locker)." Grimm said.

Murdoch Wednesday was g held at the County Jall on burglary charges. He is suspected of about 20 break-ins, said Grimm.

When he was arrested last week for allegedly trying to sell a stolen camera at a pawn shop, he gave as his address the Boulder Bins on North Broadway.

"When we found out that's where his so-called residence was, we went back and found out that the burgiaries were all committed before 9 p.m.," said Grimm.

"He had good reason to be

OPT Sequel
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)
— Operation Prime
Time will produce
"Hold the Dream," a sequel to the 1984
Emmy-nominated "A Woman of Substance," as a four hour
miniseries next fall.

Don Sharp, who directed "A Woman of Substance," will direct Jenny Seagrove in the role of Paula McGill Fairly, granddaughter and heir of Emma Harte, a role she shared with Deborah Kerr in 'A Woman of Subatance. Producer Harry R. Sherman said he hopes Kerr will reprise her role in the sequel. Production for "Hold the Dream" begins in April on locations in London, the Swiss Alps and New York.

'Stagecoach' Rolls On TV

By Vernon Scott
UPI Hollywood Reporter
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Would it be a sacrilege if NBC-TV

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Would it be a sacrilege if NBC-TV produced a remake of "Gone With the Wind" with David Hasselhoff as Rhett Butler and Kate Jackson as Scarlett O'Hara?

Would there be riots in the streets if "Casablanca" became an ABC-TV movie starring Tom Selleck and Meredith Baxter Birney?

Or should movie classics simply be left alone, to be seen in occasional TV reruns or on video cassettes?

Rarely are great movies remade with artistic or financial success, even though a second or third version of a film may be better than the original.

Many critics thought subsequent versions of "Mutiny on the Bounty" were better than the 1939 original with Charles Laughton and Clark Gable.

All the same, remakes are a gamble with built-in audience resentment.

For better or worse, CBS-TV has produced a two-hour version of "Stagecoach," the 1939 western that was praised as the finest ever made. The film was nominated for an Oscar for best picture. Its director, John Ford, also was nominated for an Academy Award.

Based on a short story, "The Cash and De Stage to Lordsburg" by Ernest are on hand.

Haycox, "Stagecoach" combines action and personal drama involving seven stagecoach travelers — all desperate to reach their destination — who are beset by an Indian war party.

The original cast was superb.
John Wayne swashed and buckled his way through the role of Ringo. Claire Trevor sashayed as the prostitute, Dallas.

Thomas Mitchell won the Oscar for best supporting actor for his portrayal of Doc Holliday. Also starring were George Bancroft, Andy Devine, John Carradine and Donald Meek.

The CBS remake is directed by veteran Ted Post. The cast sounds like a good-ole-boy hoedown among four of the nation's best-known country and western singers.

This time around, Ringo is played by Kris Kristofferson, and Willie Nelson plays Doc Holliday. The rest of the cast is made up of Johnny Cash, Waylon Jennings, John Schneider, and Anthony Newley — all singers — along with Tony Franciosa and Mary Crosby.

The role of Dallas is played by Elizabeth Ashley.

Although no musical numbers were added to the sagebrush saga, country music stars Jesse Colter, June Carter Cash and David Allan Coe also are on hand.
