THANK PEOPLE OF SANFORD

Enterprise People Were Well Treated By Ladies and Doctors Enterprise, Fla., Oct. 25, 1917 To Editor of the Sanford Herald:

As you are aware, a number of our young people somehow became victims of that awful disease, trachoma, which necessitated prompt medical attention and operation.

About fifteen from the Orphanage and seven from the town were taken over to Sanford last week, and put on the operating table.

Mrs. Brooks, matron of the Orphanage, Mr. and Mrs. J. Pratt, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Gordon, Capt. and Mrs. R. J. Allen and myself want to thank the kind hearted people of Sanford, especially your local branch of the Red Cross, the physicians and nurses, who without remuneration were untiring in their attention and expended nearly every ounce of strength and nerve force ministering to the ones operated on in their hour of deep need. Those splendid, generous ladies night and day were at the beck and call of the suffering ones. They were always ready to soothe, comfort, and quiet the fears of the little tots, as well as the older ones.

During the more than twenty-four hours we were under the care of your faithful nurses, skillful physicians and big hearted people of Sanford we were impressed with the fact that there is so much good in men and women still, and how they bring brightness into darkened lives and shadowed homes. We wish through the columns of your paper to assure all these people who helped us, our gratitude and the kindly feeling we must always cherish for those who were real friends in our hour of need. We commend them all to Him who said, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." W. J. Bartlett.

CLEAN UP CAMPAIGN

Civic Committee Wants Cooperation of Our Citizens

A Clean-Up Campaign involves the renovation of the interiors of buildings as well as yards, streets and alleys.

The removal of all rubbish and things that are useless is most important. Cellars and attics particularly need attention.

Did you stop to think rubbish is responsible for most fires?

Nothing will do more to improve the looks of a town than the liberal use of paint. Not only dwellings but business fronts should receive attention.

Signs should be freshened—they indicate prosperity if newly painted. Useless and unsightly outbuildings should be torn down. Open spaces and fresh air are better.

Business houses need attention. Rubbish accumulates in cellars under stairways, in store rooms, passage ways and in the rear of hotels and restaurants. Look out for RATS here.

Alleys need attention. A clean yard is not sufficient, it should be pleasing to the eye. Plant grass and flower seeds.

Sod bare spots in lawns. Plant shrubs, vines and trees. See that places between sidewalk and curb are well sodded.

The threshold of a town should be made inviting to the visitor whether he comes by automobile, trolley or train.

Do you have a back fence? If so, do you throw things over it? If so, will you quit? Clean it up and sow morning glory seeds.

If a lot owner will not clean up his lot, let the neighbors club together and do it. We are our brother's keepers. The experience will do him good—and the neighbors too.

We, the civic committee of the Welfare Department of the Woman's Club invite you all to join in with us in this the growing need of the hour—a Clean-Up Campaign. We need all the pap you can give us.

Let us all enjoy this, the team work of making Sanford and surrounding country a place unusually attractive for the many tourist friends who will stop with us and expect to make this their home while here, with the happy thought that they may want to remain with us always. Let the threads of other things for a few days rest that we may concentrate all our attention on this our important task and make it one long hobby.

Thanks in advance for your hearty cooperation.

HEALTHFULNESS WILL BE STRESSED IN ADS

Campaign of Exchange is Mapped Out

That citrus fruits are "medicine that tastes better than food and food more potent than medicine" will be the keynote of this winter's advertising campaign of the Florida Citrus Exchange.

Copy for magazine and newspaper space featuring the food and health value of oranges and grapefruit, prepared by Jefferson Thomas, the advertising agent of the Exchange was presented and adopted yesterday's meeting of the board of directors.

This advertising material, previously had been acted upon by the advertising committee and endorsed with enthusiasm by Dr. J. H. Ross, the president; W. L. Skelly, general sales manager; C. E. Stewart, Jr., business manager; Directors Gillett and Tilden and others present.

In emphasizing the usefulness of citrus fruits in maintaining strength and preserving health, the Exchange is following up the tenor of its advertising for several years past. In the past two or three seasons the campaign for the education of the public along these lines has had the cooperation and support of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange.

This year the advocacy of wider consumption of oranges and grapefruit because of their food and health qualities and in order that more solid foods, like grains and meats, may be conserved like shipment abroad, has the cordial backing of the United States food administration. Magazines and newspaper articles now appearing with the approval of Mr. Hoover and his staff strongly stress these points and call attention also to the economy in buying citrus fruits at prevailing prices.

To Handle Vegetables

Arrangements that have been under discussion for several months were finally completed for giving the benefit of the sales machinery of the organization to vegetable growers. It is believed that a large number of these will market their product through the Exchange this season, contracts to this end having already been made in several communities. Wherever practicable, local associations of vegetable growers will be formed, but in other places truck will be handled through the existing bodies of citrus growers—especially where many of the members of these grow both fruits and vegetables.

Other matters connected with the selling plans of the Exchange for the fall and winter season, many of them of a routine nature, occupied the time of the directors at yesterday's meeting. The list of division and district managers for the year was announced by Sales Manager, Skelly as finally completed, there having been but few changes. Discussion of the selling charges for the coming year brought out comparisons with the figures of independent and speculative marketing agencies which showed that Exchange growers generally fare considerably better in the matter of net returns for their fruit than do the patrons of these agencies.

Thanks the Ladies

My Dear Mrs. Hill: Your very fine present arrived several days ago and it certainly was a welcome surprise. Just the right thing at the right time. I certainly am very fortunate that I am a Sanford boy as none of the rest in our company have received anything like that.

The sweater came in just when needed, as the weather changed quickly and the night it came the wind was blowing pretty strongly and going right through you, just about like our Florida weather in winter. The helmet and wristlets will come in mighty handy when we get further north as we expect to next week.

I had just written Laura telling her to finish one she had started last summer, but guess her yarn gave out anyway. I never got it.

I'm getting along pretty well, although this is an awfully lonesome place to stay for three months. No white people here at all, except the men in training and I think that most of us will leave this coming week.

Now I will leave it to you to express my appreciation of the sweater to the ladies of Sanford. I certainly will think of them whenever I wear it. Thanks once again.

Sincerely yours, LeRoy P. Chittenden.

EAGLES HOLD BIG MEETING

Buy Second Liberty Bond—Lodge Room Crowded—Old Timers Speak

The Eagles recognized as being one of Sanford's most progressive and patriotic orders, aside from standing foremost in features of fellowship and brotherhood, held a rousing and spirited meeting on Tuesday last. Many matters of the utmost importance were discussed and business transacted galore. So down the line the meeting went until the period came known as "The good of the order period," and at this time every member is urged to say something beneficial to the order. The crowd moved uneasily for every man present was brimful of enthusiasm and wanted to say something in keeping with the high standard of this order. The first speakers praised the officers and the members for their cooperation in making this lodge stand foremost in its real purpose, and too, it can be safely said that no lodge can excel this one in harmony and good will to everybody.

There were members from all over the county: Oyiedo, Wagner, Geneva and in fact every important city in Seminole county was represented. Some of the our of town brothers when asked to speak said: "They couldn't say a word," but spoke with the oratorical powers of a senator.

Things then drifted into the patriotic features and patriotism is the all-prominent for which the lodge stands, having already sent three of its members to the defence of the integrity of the Good Old U. S. A. and to propagate Democracy. Aside from this the lodge already holds one nice sized Liberty Bond, and made arrangements for the purchase of another.

A new feature has been added in the form of an insurance policy and now it is possible for the members to buy one of the best and cheapest lines of insurance on the market and in view of this fact may new applications for membership are being filed daily.

After delicious and tasty refreshments were served the crowd gradually and reluctantly dispersed.

Dr. McMULLIN WRITES

Thanks Citizens of Sanford in Very Kindly Greetings

The following letter from Dr. McMullin, the U. S. Health Board surgeon here last week writes the following letter to Dr. Denton:

Dear Dr. Denton: Since leaving Sanford I have been decidedly on the go and am practically taking the first opportunity to write you.

The watch was delivered to me in Saturday at the Seminole. I find myself unable to express how deeply I appreciate this token from the good people of Sanford. My appreciation of the intrinsic value is to the fullest extent, but I can assure you that this fades into insignificance compared to my appreciation of the spirit and goodwill and for the gift.

Ask Your Grocer For CHEEK-NEALS COFFEES Best by Every Test

We had a wonderful clinic at Sanford and I enjoyed being with you doctors more than you realized. It is not often that I find such general and hearty cooperation on the part of all the community, and Sanford is to be congratulated on having doctors who are so interested in the welfare of the people as to forget their own personal interests and unite in the movement for public health. That they do appreciate their efforts was shown by the hearty cooperation of the good citizens and the extraordinary good sense the parents displayed in having it done at once.

It will always be a pleasure to hold up Sanford as an example of what it should be and can be accomplished by cooperation of all.

My visit to your town and people will always remain to me one of the pleasantest recollections and the desire to return to them always present.

Let me again thank you and all for the splendid work made possible by your efforts and for the beautiful gift which is appreciated more than you know.

Regards and sincerest good wishes to all. I am,

Sincerely yours, John McMullin.

SMOKES FOR THE SOLDIERS

OVER THERE THE BOYS NEED THE COMFORT

If we all could understand the real state of affairs "over there" in France and Belgium we would be ashamed that we are not doing more for those brave American lads now on the firing line and the hundreds of thousands more who are to follow. Particularly when it is so easy to help.

A cigarette, according to the men who have been there is the soldier's greatest joy. Every quarter contribute 25 cents each month as long as the war lasts. To others it is suggested that they follow the plan of Ella Parker Butler, the famous short story writer. Every time Mr. Butler buys a smoke he sets aside one for a soldier. "If I spend a dime," he said, "my soldier gets a dime; if I spend a dollar for tobacco my soldier gets a dollar's worth. He's going to smoke every time I do."

tributed to our tobacco fund will make one soldier happy. Every quarter buys a 45-cent kit of tobacco and cigarettes and each kit contains enough to last even the hardest smoker a week.

Can't Get Too Much Tobacco

He's going to smoke every time I do."

Last night the Board of Trade told Rev. Geo. Hyman good-bye until the end of the war. To say good bye is to say a staunch oaken spoke from the wheel of progress in Sanford. Mr. Hyman is not only an A-1 member of the Board of Trade, but a member of action. When Hyman headed a committee, you could mark results sure and satisfactory. Not only this, but he was always planning and building for Sanford and his works are here to show it. When we think of saying good bye to George Hyman we appreciate more the meaning of that little word, and recalled to us is the verse tendered by a Japanese school boy, who after four years study in this country was leaving for his native home and as the big ship left the pier he handed to his room and classmate an American, this verse:

There is a word of grief, the sounding token,
There is a word bejeweled with bright tears,
The saddest word found lips have ever spoken;
A little word that breaks the chain of years,
Its utterance must ever bring emotion
The memories it crystals cannot die;
'Tis known in every land—on every ocean,
'Tis called—good-bye.

At noon yesterday the three Sanford Banks reported Liberty Bond sales totalling $66,150, with two banks so far not reporting their own subscriptions which to all appearances will aggregate a total of more than one hundred and ten thousand dollars. With all of Uncle Sam's little units, and there's thousands like Seminole county, doing this sort of work, it won't be long before this old war is over.

Sanford appreciates indeed the material interest the many Seminole county members take in the Board of Trade. This should be because the Board of Trade is doing its utmost to benefit Seminole county in every way possible and we are glad to know that so many are appreciating it. The Board of Trade can benefit you when you least expect it and need it most.

Today's Tribune tells of the application of railroads for another hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission leading to an increase in freight rates. According to reports the net earnings of all roads have fallen off and for the month of August a decided decrease is shown in comparison to August a year ago. However this slump is principally on the eastern and northeastern lines and not in the agricultural districts of the United States. While the slump on eastern railroads ran into a few million, the decrease on southeastern lines represented only one hundred thousand for the month. If you figure an increase to produce an amount that will cover this, you will find that not over one-tenth of one per cent on the total gross earnings of Southeastern carriers will do the job. An increase of fifteen per cent as previously asked and which will likely be asked for within a short time will produce increased earnings of more than $5,000,000 a month. The railroads are of course under heavy expense and must be provided with liberal rates in order to produce, however, the enormous increase asked for is beyond reason and goes from necessity to actual dividends, eliminating entirely the thought of expansion.

Smokes for Soldiers

By Gelett Burgess
Whenever you're throwing your butt away,
Whenever you're lighting a new one,
Just think of the fellows that called away.
And how you would like it, if you were they,
And home one at home sent YOU one!

You finish the package, the devil you care!
There are shops—and you've got the money.
It's a diamond sight different "Over There."
It's a damned long journey to God Knows Where.
Yet they fight and you don't. That's funny.
For a war is a mixture of various Hells
From vermin and rats to stench; But it isn't damnable German shells, Nor the mud or the blood or the gas that falls
The most on the men in the trench
The most on the man in the trenches.
It's the ice cold nights without ever a smoke—
It's the fire hot days that are meaningless;
And a hospital ward ain't so much of a joke
And there's only one thing that can always provide
A smile—that's Miss Nicotina!

Did you ever refuse him a cigaret
When your pal hadn't any? I doubt it!
TODAY YOU HAVE THOUSANDS OF FALSI
Tobacco is scarce at the Front. I'll bet
You'll see they're not going without it!

AGAINST COMMISSION FORM

Miami Votes in Favor of Present City Council

Miami will not have the commission manager form of government this year, and the voters of the city will not have a chance to decide whether or not they want to adopt that more modern and efficient plan of administration of public affairs. By a vote of more than two to one Mayor-elect John W. Watson and his unpledged associates on the anti-city manager ticket were elected yesterday as members of the charter commission, and will submit to the voters for adoption such changes as they think should be made in the charter.

Candidates on the Junkin ticket and advocates of the commission-manager plan generally expressed themselves today as not surprised by the vote, and predicted that the city manager plan will be adopted the next time the question is brought to an issue. Under the law, there cannot be another charter board election within a year.

Although throughout the campaign the candidates on the Watson ticket have taken the position that they were neither for or against the city manager plan, but willing to investigate its merits; they threw this pretense to the winds immediately upon the announcement of their election, and claimed the result to be a popular verdict against any material change in the present plan of government.—Miami Metropolis

Some Advancements

However, the assurance from the photographers' convention that wedding group pictures are still in vogue does not indicate that civilization has not advanced. The bridegroom no longer puts a cigar in his mouth and keeps his hat on when the picture is taken.

Housekeepers Can Save $200,000,000 on Food

In these days when the high cost of living pinches nearly every home, no waste should be overlooked. One of the most flagrant and the most easily prevented, is the destruction of food by rats. One rat will often do a hundred dollars' damage of food and property in a single night, and a careful estimate gives over $200,000,000 as the value of foodstuffs destroyed annually by these pests. Exterminate them with Stearns' Paste and save this enormous loss of food. A small box of Stearns' Paste costs only a few cents and is usually enough to completely rid the house of rats and mice; also effective against cockroaches and waterbugs.—Adv.

One of the latest to add his unqualified endorsement to Martin's Liver Medicine is John Bunyon Johnson, of Macon, Ga. In a letter dated August 25, 1917, he says: "It affords me pleasure to report that I have taken Martin's Liver Medicine and obtained most desirable results. Martin's Liver Medicine is pleasant to the taste, does not gripe nor inconvenience the taker in any way. It acts positively and yet gently upon the liver and it is my opinion that it is superior to any liver medicine sold."
Martin's Liver Medicine is a strictly vegetable in ingredients, contains no poisonous calomel, is pleasant to take and is sold with the standing guarantee that if it does not give the effect desired, the empty bottle can be returned to the drug store and the 50c paid for it will be refunded. As a medicine for constipation, sick headache or other liver and stomach troubles, Martin's Liver Medicine is without a peer. Sold by druggists everywhere.

THE CHURCHES AND PROSPERITY

In a recent article by a well known minister he attempted to show that church membership in the United States is not increasing as rapidly as before the war. He says:
"Another reason is the terrific strain—industrially and commercially to which our people have been subjected because of unprecedented prosperity. Men haven't had time to think about the church and religious obligations."

Oh, yes, that's the way with a lot of us. When profit is from 35 to 90 per cent, whether in skinning our neighbor on flour or other food stuff, or in slaughtering our enemies with war munitions, we surely overlook the Lord. Our thinking time is all taken by the next day's possibilities for skinning, and its often real hardship even to thank for our unprecedented prosperity; religious obligations don't get into the day book, let alone the journal or ledger.

But just wait until it's the other way, until unprecedented adversity strikes us. Then we go to church, then we go to begging the Lord and asking Him to make our little insignificant personal affairs His chief concern, and expecting miracles to help us out.

During the great San Francisco earthquake and fire, there were thousands of people down on their knees who never knew before they had any knees, and it is so in all great calamities. A whole lot of people do most of their thinking about church and the Lord when they want something badly, being otherwise engaged when prosperous.

However, the strength of a church does not depend wholly upon the size of its membership, but upon what its members get out of and put into it. Where even but two or three are genuinely gathered together in His name, there is He also with them. The genuine church member is one who worships the Lord even when reaping prosperity or paying his taxes.—Palatka Herald.

WHAT THE KAISER KNOWS

The Government's food pledge asks so very little of the individual American. So little, in fact, that there is grave danger the individual will overlook the importance of doing that little, day in and day out, over a period, if necessary, of years.

But when the kaiser heard of this food conservation by individual Americans, he considered the movement such a menace to German victory that he spent large amounts of money, and employed large numbers of agents in this country to frustrate it.

What is important enough for the kaiser to spend time and money to prevent is important enough for every individual American citizen to help to accomplish. Food will win the war; America must supply it.

But it is only by strict, painstaking daily attention to the Government's very modest request that we Americans can insure the success of the war food conservation campaign. Each individual's part is so small as to seem trivial, but the total, if every one does his part will be tremendous.

The kaiser knows in his heart that if every one of America's 100 million souls eat a pound less wheat flour a week America will have a badly needed extra of 138,000,000 bushels of wheat to ship to its European allies.

He knows that if each of us eats one-third of an ounce less meat fats every day we'll have 395,000 tons more fats a year for the war.

He knows that if each of us eats an ounce less meat a day we will have 4,400,000 more meat animals every year to feed our allies.

He knows that if each of us eats an ounce less sugar a day we'll have 1,185,000 tons more sugar a year.

He knows that if we individual Americans DO save these things, Allied Europe's hungry will be fed and kept contented in the fight against his starving hordes; and that he, therefore, hasn't a chance to win the war.

He was smart enough to realize that if his agents in this country could sneer the food saving idea out of the individual American's mind he would stand a mighty good chance to win the war.

DON'T LET THE KAISER TALK YOU OUT OF DOING YOUR LITTLE BIT OF FOOD CONSERVATION DUTY EVERY DAY. During the week of October 28 join with the other millions of Americans who by banding together, each performing his own small part, are going to ensure victory in the world war for democracy.

Dr. LEEDS HERE
Secretary Anti Tuberculosis Association Speaks This Morning

Dr. Leeds, Jacksonville

Dr. Leeds, state secretary of the Florida Anti-Tuberculosis Association made a brief address this morning to a group gathered at the Woman's Club. Dr. Leeds is making a rapid tour of the state in the interests of his association, planning for the approaching Red Cross Seal sale in December. He stated that this year the National Red Cross has requested the Anti-Tuberculosis Association to make a special effort to have many seals sold, as a large fund will be needed to care for the soldiers who contract tuberculosis. France invalidated home 150,000 of her soldiers afflicted with this dread malady with the result that now the whole country is scourged with tuberculosis. Also since the state board of health has withdrawn the state nurses it is very important that money be obtained to support a nurse in each county, as patent medicines will not help tubercular sufferers; nothing but a good nurse and a competent physician will pull a person through. Finally, Dr. Leeds stated that there is not a state or county institution for the care of the tubercular in the whole of Florida and part of the money from the seal sale will be used to carry on a campaign for county sanatoria.

The Woman's Club in each town acts as local representative in charge of the Red Cross Seal sale. Dr. Leeds will go to DeLand this afternoon, then on down the east coast to Miami, returning to his headquarters in Jacksonville (Duval Theatre Arcade) by the middle of November to start the distribution of the 2,000,000 seals which are to be sold in this state.

Woman's Club Notes

The Welfare Department has assumed the responsibility of being one vast civic committee and are untiring in their zeal to obtain the cooperation and interest of all Sanford residents, as well as these in the surrounding parts.

Following the fall housecleaning of our homes one would naturally enjoy the clean up of that city which we frequent in a business and pleasure way.

All fly breeding traps are to be cleaned up, streets to put on their best clean frocks, and automobilists are kindly urged to refrain from throwing anything in the streets which does not belong there. We love our town. It is our one aim to obtain a healthy, clean and beautiful city. This will be hard to secure without the aid and thoughtfulness of our children and ourselves.

Let us ask the question of ourselves What would Sanford be if all were just like me? It behooves each one of us to do our part. Being thoughtful is one grand donation.

This Saturday night let us have a "clean up first street" for the Sabbath day by remembering to place all papers, banana skins, as well as peanut shells in their respective homes, the garbage can. There is a time for everything and before our tourist friends come it seems most fitting and opportune to clean up.

May we all pull together and with one road smile have our town bright and smiling at us.

Members who are on the home economies committee will please remember to meet at the club house at 2:30 next Wednesday afternoon, this as you will note being an hour

In advance of that set for business meeting of General Club, so we must be on time to finish on time. The Social Department reception was held on Tuesday last with a good attendance. After a pleasant hour spent in playing cards tea was served. There were two tables of bridge, Mrs. B. A. Howard making top score. It was decided at this meeting to prepare Xmas boxes to send to each of the boys who have gone to the front from Sanford.

A very interesting entertainment is being planned by this department, to be given at the High School early in November to raise funds for this purpose, so that every boy may have a real Christmas. Details of this entertainment to be given in a later issue.

LEADS GREATEST OF BANDS

Sousa, Who Joined Marines When Small Boy, Now Back in the Service.

Great Lakes, Ill.—One warm June afternoon in 1898, a small boy strode into Washington barracks and announced to the Marine recruiting officer that he wished to join the service. "I'm going to try my best to be a drummer boy or else a bugle boy," he announced. "I'll work hard to make good."

He did "make good." That boy was John Phillip Sousa, and today his enlistment papers are treasured in the archives of the Marine Corps.

As the years passed John Phillip Sousa gained promotion until finally he was director of the band.

It was not so many years ago that Sousa, master musician, made a triumphal tour of the world, playing his famous marches in all the royal courts of the world. Everywhere he was feted and hailed as the world's greatest march king.

The years passed and Sousa retired from active association with the Marine band, which he had developed into the greatest military band in the world.

When this country was plunged into war Sousa, now past middle age, was eager to do something for his service.

Capt. William A. Moffett, commandant of the Great Lakes Naval Training station, Great Lakes, Ill., wished to have the station bluejacket band developed into the greatest in the navy. Sousa was enrolled as a lieutenant, and musicians throughout the United States made Great Lakes their mecca.

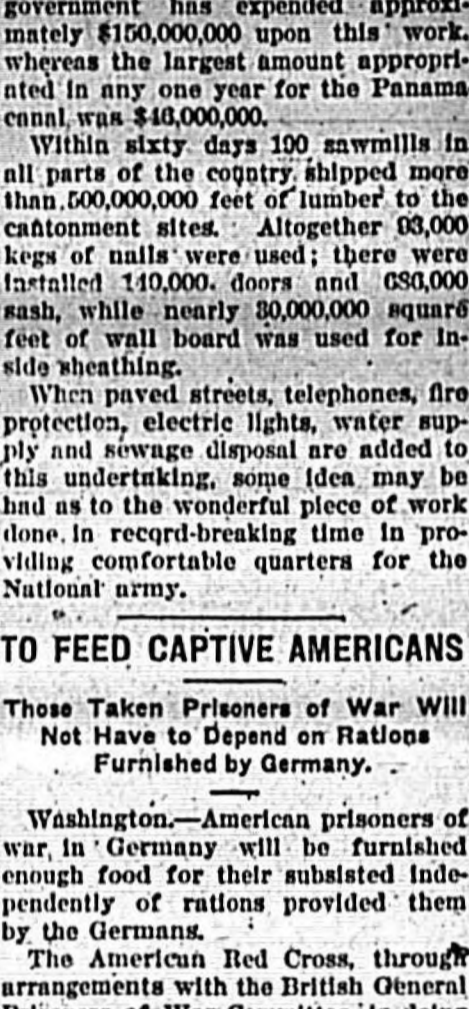

Today this band is the largest organization of its kind in the world. And Sousa modestly believes that leadership of the great band of American sailor boys is as magnificent as anything else in his career.

BOMBING A MUNITION DEPOT

This remarkable photograph was taken inside the German lines from the airplane of an aviator who made a raid on a great boche ammunition depot. The daring aviator, starting out on the apparently reckless venture of getting by the German lines and successfully bombing the Teuton stores of munitions, flew to a point above the depot and dropped quantities of incendiary bombs while the Germans kept firing a terrific fusillade at him. Despite the danger, he kept at his task and earned his reward when he saw the munition storehouse burst into flames. The smoke from the burning depot can be seen ascending. The aviator returned to his own lines safely.

To Feed Captive Americans

Those Taken Prisoners of War Will Not Have to Depend on Rations Furnished by Germany.

Washington.—American prisoners of war in Germany will be furnished enough food for their subsisted independently of rations provided them by the Germans.

The American Red Cross, through arrangements with the British General Prisoners of War Committee, is doing this for the American prisoners in Germany, of whom there are now 101, and a committee of the American Red Cross has been established at Berne, Switzerland, to do this work in the future. This committee will work directly under the American Red Cross and will take over all the work of provisioning American soldiers and sailors who may be held in Germany.

Clock Dials for Summer

Instead of moving the hands of the clock forward and back at the time of changing from standard to summer time, and vice versa, a plan recently proposed in England is to have clocks provided with an adjustable dial. The circular disk of the dial would be put in place by screws in curved slots, and the dial would be rotated through one hour space at the time of making the change, leaving the hands untouched.

Hard Work is Healthy

As a rule, married people live longer than single, and those who have to work hard for their living longer than those who do not. The average of longevity is higher among civilized than uncivilized races. Further, people of large build live longer than those of small, but those of middle size live longer than either.

Summary of the Floating Small Talks Specially Arranged for Harried Herald Readers

Conners and E. T. Woodruff have charge of the Lyceum course this season and while they have not succeeded in interesting as many in season ticket purchases as they would like to they are assured of success, especially since the public know the high class attractions that have been billed.

The Bob Roys were among the best quartette and soloists that have been heard here in many a season and their entertainment went far to excite more interest in the Lyceum attractions.

The war and the consequent drain on the people have done much to discourage the public but the Lyceum course should always receive the best of encouragement and the fact that the four attractions that are booked and will be here during the season will be given for a flat sum of one dollar should cause every man in Sanford to buy at least two season tickets. The four attractions to come for one dollar means that the season ticket is worth considerably more than two dollars and this is a bargain in high class entertainment that should not be overlooked. This price is made by the management in order to come out as the initial sale of season tickets was not up to expectations. You must assist the Lyceum management. This year or forego the pleasure of this high class amusement from this time forward.

BROTHERS KNIT FOR BROTHER IN FRANCE Columbus, O.—Lieut. Col. Charles Gates Dawes, the Chicago banker who is serving with the United States engineers somewhere in France, is going to have a sweater and also a scarf provided his brothers do not drop to many stitches. For several weeks tales have been drifting around of a man seen knitting industriously in Pullman smoking compartments, on Atlantic City hotel verandas, in taxicabs, etc. In a train going out of Columbus one night recently he was identified as former Congressman Beman Gates Dawes of Ohio, a brother of the Chicago banker. Beman knits and knits the while, he discusses oil and electric railways, in which he is interested, with his fellow-passengers in the smoking compartment. "Darn it, there I've dropped another stitch," Beman exclaimed, as he pointed an argument on oil prices. "Well, brother Charley won't mind another hole in this sweater. If I can keep out or arguments on the state of the union I reckon I ought to finish my knitting in about nine months." Beman also contributed the information that Rufus Dawes of Chicago is knitting a scarf for brother Charley. "Mother taught all of us boys to knit," Beman said, "and this is certainly the time for all good knitters to come to the aid of their country."

GROWS NEW "WOOL COTTON" Product is Easy to Pick and Immune From the Dreaded Boll Weevils. Waycross, Ga.—The first "wool cotton" ever seen in Waycross was shown here by Roan Weeks of Nichols. This cotton was grown by Dave Anderson on his farm near Nichols and has attracted a great deal of attention. The cotton grows in from three to four locks to the boll and these locks measure about five to six inches in length. Expert cotton growers claim that one man can pick from 700 to 1,000 pounds per day of this variety. The plant is very similar in appearance to the long staple and grows to be from five to six feet high—the fiber of the cotton, however, is short and looks very much like wool, hence its name. It is claimed for this variety of cotton that it is practically immune from the boll weevil and in support of this it is claimed that not any trace of the boll weevil has been found in the small field of this variety grown by Mr. Anderson, while in the nearby fields of the regular variety the weevils were numerous.

"FIGHTING JACK" PERSHING'S EYE KEEN FOR THE TINIEST OF DETAILS

Inspection of American Training Camp in France Is Described by a Newspaper Correspondent—Officers and Men Made to Realize That War Is a Serious Business—French Soldiers Fond of Americans.

Paris.—"Fighting Jack" Pershing paid his first flying visit to the American training camp in France, and left behind him a trail of burning ears electrified men and a spirit of grim, military doggedness that brought the newest recruit to a realization that war, even in the training, may be all General Sherman said it was, and then some.

The soldiers knew nothing about it, but the American commander was expected to arrive on a Monday. He didn't. The camp went on with its routine life. Bright and early Tuesday morning the general drove into the first camp en route from Paris, and things began to hum.

Cavalry were drilling in a huge field off to the left, while on the right a group of infantry was practicing with the bayonet, a bombing squad was throwing grenades and engineers were shoring up a practice trench.

Cavalry Slight Parading.

The cavalry commander was the first to spot the general's erect form. "Tention!" he sang out.

The whole squad drew up short. There was a clatter of spurs and steel as the company wheeled into formation before the commander in chief.

"Salute!" bawled the captain. A hundred sabers flashed in the sun.

"Good work," nodded the general briefly, and he strode over to the infantry.

Some of the men were so busily engaged in trying to perforate stuffed sawdust bags representing suppositious Germans they failed to note the approach of the general.

At the second cry of "tention!" they stopped and stiffened up, guns clattering to their sides eyes rigidly fixed front—all except one man, who followed the general's movements as he made a rapid inspection of their arms.

The general stopped before him.

"The first principle of a soldier is to learn to stand at attention," said he crisply. "Sergeant, have this man stand at attention for five minutes!"

"Fall out!" ordered the sergeant.

The "Sammy" stepped back out of the ranks.

"Tention!" snapped the sergeant.

The soldier fixed his eyes grimly in front of him and never moved them.

"Fall back!" exploded the sergeant at the end of the five minutes, and the incident was closed.

General Pershing talked earnestly for about ten minutes with their regimental commander, commending the men for some of their work, pointing out their faults. Then he passed on out to the bombers and sappers.

The bombers went through the third degree with flying colors. General Pershing making only one comment, when he suggested that one of their number put a little more force behind his throw and not try spillover work with a hand grenade.

Then the train of motor cars made off to the practice fields in the direction of the nearest village where troops were billeted, some of them off duty and lounging around.

The chief commander's car pulled up before a combination stable, hay-loft and dwelling place that the French peasants had shared indiscriminately with their feathered and barnyard animals.

Pershing took one glance at the inscription on the outside of it—"Sergeant K—, Sergeant G—, 62 men."

"Too many for a billet of this size. Who's the captain here?"

Finds Overcrowding.

His name was given.

"Tell him to change these men to another billet where they won't be so crowded," was the order.

Billet after billet was investigated in similar manner, some of them meeting with the general's approval. When they didn't he said so in unmistakable language, direct from the shoulder, that sometimes fairly crisped and cracked.

During his trip of inspection the general was accompanied by General Sibert and a distinguished French officer who has been attached to his staff. Notes were made on all the points he suggested, and what he didn't like was immediately remedied.

The French soldiers here are just as fond of the "Sammys," as they insist on calling the boys, as of their own "copains," or comrades in arms. The few American troopers who can speak French are indeed "the fair-haired boys" so far as the French are concerned. They are invited to share in the "pinard," or red wine, issued to the "pollus," to try their smoking tobacco, and, whenever the hour permits, to have a drink of something in the cafes.

With champagne at eight francs (about $1.50) a bottle, many a French soldier, on his five cents a day, has squandered a whole month's pay in order to buy this little luxury for some of his American friends.

All Kinds of Frenchmen.

Swarthy sons of France from the Basse Pyrenees, blue-eyed Normans, who resemble Englishmen to a startling degree, lanky men from Pitou, the nearest approach to our own rangy Westerners or long-limbed Yankees, all take part in these gatherings and drink in every word of the conversation along with their beverages that cheer.

One stocky Frenchman from Pau, who spoke with a throaty burr and gargled his words, dropped into the cafe reeking with iodiform. He was just out of the hospital and his right arm was still in a sling while his bandaged head gave him the appearance of a turbaned Mohammedan. He took one look at the crowd, saluted and dropped into a chair on the opposite side of the room.

One of his comrades, at the suggestion of the Americans, called to him, saying, "Come and have a drink with the Americans."

The wounded man started violently and jumped to his feet.

"Les Americains!" exclaimed he. "Americains? Vraiment? (Truly?)"

"Why, yes," explained his comrade. "Didn't you know the Americans were here? Where have you been?"

"This is my first day out," apologized the other. "Are you really Americans?" he demanded, turning toward the soldiers.

They assured him that such was the case.

"But what are you, doctors, ambulance men?" asked the Frenchman a little timidly. "Not real soldiers?"

His friend replied a little impatiently they were infantrymen, fighting men, soldiers of the line who would soon be doing their share in the trenches.

The man from Pau was visibly affected. He breathed deeply and then two teardrops welled into his eyes.

"It is a great pleasure," he finally stammered in his own tongue. "They told me the Americans were here but I didn't know they were soldiers, 'pollus' like myself."

Learning to Embrace.

He stretched out his one good hand to the interpreter for the party, a tall, bronzed corporal from Colorado.

"Will you embrace me, my corporal?" he asked.

The corporal took the outstretched hand but shifted rather uneasily. The French "embrace" consists of a kiss on either cheek. But he hesitated for only a moment.

"With pleasure, mon brave," said he, using the familiar form, and rising to his full six feet he inclined his head and saluted the Frenchman in the manner of the country.

His Jinx.
The day that the men of the Ninth division completed their rifle practice at Fort Harrison a little dog was out on the range, running back and forth in front of the targets. When a bullet hit one of the targets with a "zing," the little dog would rush up to the target with a yelp, barking at the target until another "zing" attracted him to another target. For more than an hour he bounded back and forth in front of the targets, a fearless little venturer in "no man's land," and finally when he was called off, he trotted away not a whit the worse for his experience in front of the firing line of student officers.

"I hope I have the same sort of a jinx on the German bullets that the little mutt seemed to have on ours," said one fellow when the dog had been called off the range.—Indianapolis News.

What is the most economical cooking fat?

When you step into your grocer's you find different shortenings—quoted at different prices. You may want to know which is the truly economical shortening.

The prices don't tell.

Some shortenings will go much farther than others.

For instance:

Many careful housekeepers have found that Cottolene goes very much farther than other shortenings which they had been using.

The reason?

It is very much richer.

Cottolene contains no water. It is always uniform in quality.

You will find, too, that pure, economical Cottolene gives to biscuits, cakes, pies and fried tid-bits a delicate flavor that even expensive butter might well be proud of.

The unusual richness of wholesome Cottolene makes its economy a true economy.

In baking, use one-third less of Cottolene than you have ordinarily used of other shortenings.

Remember that the next time you order from your grocer. Remember, too, that he can supply Cottolene in tins of convenient sizes.

Recipe for BAKING POWDER BISCUIT

Into two cups of sifted pastry flour sift and mix one level teaspoon salt and two rounded teaspoons baking powder; chop in one level tablespoon chilled Cottolene. Wet to stiff dough with 3/4 cup-half water and half milk.

"FIGHTING JACK" PERSHING'S EYE KEEN FOR THE TINIEST OF DETAILS

Inspection of American Training Camp in France Is Described by a Newspaper Correspondent—Officers and Men Made to Realize That War Is a Serious Business—French Soldiers Fond of Americans.

Paris.—"Fighting Jack" Pershing paid his first flying visit to the American training camp in France, and left behind him a trail of burning ears electrified men and a spirit of grim, military doggedness that brought the newest recruit to a realization that war, even in the training, may be all General Sherman said it was, and then some.

The soldiers knew nothing about it, but the American commander was expected to arrive on a Monday. He didn't. The camp went on with its routine life. Bright and early Tuesday morning the general drove into the first camp en route from Paris, and things began to hum.

Cavalry were drilling in a huge field off to the left, while on the right a group of infantry was practicing with the bayonet, a bombing squad was throwing grenades and engineers were shoring up a practice trench.

Cavalry Sight Pershing. The cavalry commander was the first to spot the general's erect form. "Tention!" he sang out.

The whole squad drew up short. There was a clatter of spurs and steel as the company wheeled into formation before the commander in chief. "Salute!" bawled the captain.

A hundred sabers flashed in the sun. "Good work," nodded the general briefly, and he strode over to the infantry.

Some of the men were so busily engaged in trying to perforate stuffed sawdust bags representing supposititious Germans they failed to note the approach of the general.

At the second cry of "tention" they stopped and stiffened up, guns clattering to their sides eyes rigidly fixed front—all except one man, who followed the general's movements as he made a rapid inspection of their arms.

The general stopped before him. "The first principle of a soldier is to learn to stand at attention," said he crisply. "Sergeant, have this man stand at attention for five minutes!" "Fall out!" ordered the sergeant.

The "Sammy" stepped back out of the ranks.

"Tention!" snapped the sergeant. The soldier fixed his eyes grimly in front of him and never moved them. "Fall back!" exploded the sergeant at the end of the five minutes, and the incident was closed.

General Pershing talked earnestly for about ten minutes with their regimental commander, commending the men for some of their work, pointing out their faults. Then he passed on out to the bombers and sappers.

The bombers went through the third degree with flying colors. General Pershing making only one comment, when he suggested that one of their number put a little more force behind his throw and not try spittal work with a hand grenade.

Then the train of motor cars made off to the practice fields in the direction of the nearest village where troops were billeted, some of them off duty and lounging around.

The chief commander's car pulled up before a combination stable, hayloft and dwelling place that the French peasants had shared indiscriminately with their feathered and barnyard animals.

Pershing took one glance at the inscription on the outside of it—"Sergeant K—, Sergeant G—, 62 men." "Too many for a billet of this size. Who's the captain here?"

Finds Overcrowding.

His name was given. "Tell him to change these men to another billet where they won't be so crowded," was the order.

Billet after billet was investigated in similar manner, some of them meeting with the general's approval. When they didn't he said so in unmistakable language, direct from the shoulder, that sometimes fairly crisped and cracked.
