ALLIED SUPREME COUNCIL TO INVITE THE POWERS TO ELABORATE SCHEME

For Rehabilitation of Central Europe and Russia AGREEMENT TODAY

BETWEEN FRENCH AND BRITISH PREMIERS IN CONFERENCE JUST ENDED

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, Dec. 22.—The Allied Supreme Council at its coming meeting in Cannes will be asked to invite interested powers to appoint a commission to elaborate comprehensive scheme for rehabilitation of central Europe and Russia. This conclusion was arrived at in conference of the French and British premiers just ended here. The United States would be invited to have membership in this commission. Germany also would be represented. The question of Russian representative in abeyance.

LONDON, Dec. 22.—Another meeting of the allied supreme council, this time at Cannes, on the French Riviera is the outcome of the parleys between Prime Minister Lloyd George and Premier Briand of France during the past few days. It will be preceded by a meeting of the council of ambassadors within a few days at Paris for arranging the details of the Cannes meeting which is scheduled for early in January. A pledge to secrecy was entered into between the two premiers regarding their London conversations, but the supreme council evidently has been called either to revise the reparations provisions of the treaty of Versailles or to deliberate on the advisability of calling a still larger international conference with a view to dealing with the whole question of international finances and exchange, which is linked up with the question of reparations.

WAS THE GREATEST LIVING AMERICAN JOURNALIST AND HE WAS HONORED THROUGHOUT THE WORLD

DIED AT SEMINOLE HOTEL WHERE HE WAS STOPPING FOR FEW WEEKS ON HIS WAY TO FORT MYERS

Was Great Friend of Florida and Had Property on the Gulf Coast—Wife and Son and Daughter at Bedside When Death Came

(By The Associated Press)
JACKSONVILLE, Dec. 22.—Colonel Henry Watterson, internationally known newspaper man and for many years editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, died at the Seminole Hotel here at 6:15 this morning from heart failure superinduced by congestion of the bronchial tubes. As usual he was stopping several weeks here before going to Ft. Myers for the winter. He became ill several days ago and his condition took a grave turn yesterday. Congestion of the lungs. As usual he was stopping several weeks here before going to Fort Myers for the winter. He became ill several days ago and his condition took a grave turn yesterday. Conscious at intervals and half hour before his death he called his wife to his room. After a few words with her he had his son and daughter called and the three were at his bedside when death came. They said his death was peaceful as he lapsed into unconsciousness sometime before the end.

The Colonel contracted a slight cold Tuesday; while seated in a chair after breakfast yesterday morning he had a sudden acute bronchial attack. His physician ordered him to bed. His condition became worse as the hours went by. He died in the arms of his wife. His son said the body would remain in Florida until some time in the spring as it was deemed inadvisable for his mother to leave for north during the winter on account of her frail condition.

Henry Watterson was one of the last of the old time personal journalists. More than half a century his editorials, with their brilliant, original and phrase-making composition, attracted wide attention. They were commented on and copied by the press of the nation. Besides his power in molding public opinion through his editorials Watterson's influence is credited with having shaped the platform of the Democratic party in more than one presidential campaign.

It was perhaps through an accident that Henry Watterson pursued journalism. Early in life he evinced unusual musical talent and his parents encouraged it. A mishap that crushed his left thumb, leaving that member stiff, caused the musical education to be abandoned, as the piano was his favorite instrument.

A natural bent for writing developed but even in this Mr. Watterson was seriously handicapped as an illness in infancy had affected his vision. His first journalistic experience was gained on a Washington, D. C., newspaper as musical and dramatic critic. His father, Harvey M. Watterson, for twenty years preceding the outbreak of the war between the states, was a representative in congress from Tennessee. It was during this time Henry Watterson laid the foundations for an elaborate knowledge of national affairs, he spending much of his time associating with party leaders of that period and in close contact with the operation of the government.

Watterson's course in letters and journalism in the national capital was interrupted just as he attained his majority by the outbreak of the war. With his father, he opposed the secession movement, but upon the declaration of hostilities, he returned to his Tennessee home, and joined the army of the Confederacy. He served throughout the war, except for a period of ten months, when he established and operated at Chattanooga, Tenn., "The Rebel," a semi-military paper.

Mr. Watterson served first as an aide to the famous cavalry leader, General Nathan Bedford Forrest, and later was on the staff of General Leonidas Polk.

During the campaign between General Sherman and Johnston, Watterson was chief-of-scouts of the Confederate army.

"The Rebel" instantly achieved great popularity. The paper was outspoken and independent, forecasting in many things the Louisville Courier-Journal, a lineal descendant to follow it within a few years.

Abraham Lincoln was said to be the great passion of Watterson's life. His lecture on "Lincoln" was delivered in hundreds of cities and it was his pride to tell of calling on Lincoln the morning of his inauguration and of standing beside him at the ceremony.

"Let no Southern man point his finger at me," Mr. Watterson said, "because I canonize Lincoln, for he was the one friend we had at court when friends were most in need."

When Watterson founded the Journal he made a plea for harmony in the South. Thoroughly reconstructed himself, he urged all to follow his course in complete submission to the federal government.

Mr. Watterson always advocated a "Tariff for Revenue Only," a phrase which he coined, and which finally was adopted by the Democratic party. He was an ardent friend of Grover Cleveland during the latter's first administration as president, but opposed Cleveland's third nomination.

GOVERNMENT TO REFUSE REDUCTION IN RATES ON HENRY FORD'S RAILROAD

POSTPONE THE INVESTIGATION AFTER XMAS

SOME WITNESSES FAILED TO APPEAR IN WATSON ILL. LEGAL HANGING

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Because of the absence of half a dozen witnesses summoned to appear yesterday the senate committee investigation of charges by Senator Watson, Democrat, Georgia, that American soldiers had been hanged in France without trial, was forced over until after the Christmas holidays.

A new batch of witnesses—nine in all—was ordered to appear January 4 for examination in view of their statements made heretofore in letters to Senator Watson and others that they had first hand knowledge of illegal executions.

Except in one instance there was no explanation as to why yesterday's witnesses failed to appear. One was ready to start but there was some delay in delivery of his railroad ticket and he will come later. With the expectation that the missing witnesses might turn up in the afternoon, a second session was held, but the roll was called and none answered. Senator Watson, himself, did not attend the afternoon session.

CHRISTMAS MESSAGE FROM POSTMASTER GENERAL HAYS TO AMERICAN BOYS AND GIRLS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The office of the postmaster general has addressed the following letter to American boys and girls and in it sent a message for them to give their parents:

To the Boys and Girls of the United States:

Christmas is almost here. Your great postoffice department has a big job ahead and needs your help. Think what it means to Santa Claus, to 100,000,000 people and to deliver Christmas parcels to every family in this country within the short space of a few days and without disappointment.

It can be done and we are going to do it if we may have your help. I want to enlist the active assistance of every boy and girl in the schools of our country in getting parcels mailed THIS WEEK to relieve the rush that comes directly before Christmas. Will you go home today and take this message to your parents and friends:

Our postmaster has asked us to mail our Christmas parcels THIS WEEK, or, unless we do, Uncle Sam's load may be so heavy the last few days before Christmas that he won't be able to deliver all the presents by Christmas eve. The parcels must be well wrapped and tied and addressed plainly in order that they may arrive in good condition with their Christmas appearance unspoiled. You can't open your packages, "Do not open all Christmas."

And, there must be a number on your house and a mail receptacle, too. If there isn't Santa Claus's messenger, your letter carrier, may not be able to find the house where the present belongs.

There are some other things, too, in which you can all assist in improving the mail service and in serving our great government. Millions of dollars a year are now wasted because of our great carelessness—yours and mine.

Every day that you drop a letter in the mail box 40,000,000 other letters are already pushing and jamming through the postal machinery. One letter a day for each family of five persons in the United States is given to Uncle Sam to deliver.

When you send a parcel to the postoffice for mailing any day there are about 8,000,000 other parcels ahead of yours passing through the hopper. This is in ordinary; at Christmas time it is multiplied many times. One family in about every ten puts a badly addressed letter in the mail every day. This mixes up over 2,000,000 half-addressed letters with the 20,000,000 fully addressed letters. That means that the fully addressed letters must wait the slow moving, poorly addressed letters just like the larger boys and girls are delayed by a bunch of "bad kids" lagging along.

You boys and girls can help the postal service and save your father some money, because he has to help pay the cost of searching addresses on letters and parcels sent out by this one class of careless and thoughtless families.

First find out if your family is the careless one, then bear in mind that your letters must be handled by skillful mail distributors standing in postoffices and on swaying postcar cars of a mile-a-minute mail trains, often under poor light.

The address on every letter, card, or package must be correct, complete and legible, including the house number and name of street, and the "From" address should be in the upper left hand corner so that the mail will be returned to you in case it is not delivered. Do not abbreviate names of states, because so many look alike when abbreviated.

Put the proper amount of postage on your letters and wrap the parcels carefully. Avoid fancy writing, as it causes postoffice clerks and letter carriers to stop and study and thus lose time. Make the address plain and easily read, and always use pen and ink or typewriter and light-colored envelopes so as to save the eyes of the postoffice clerks. Do not use envelopes that are so frequent shroud unloves of unusual size. The little ones that are so frequently used for cards and notes at Christmas and other holiday times cause an untold amount of trouble and labor, as they will not fit our cancelling machines and must therefore be cancelled by hand. Because of their size and tendency to slip out of a package, these small envelopes are more likely to be overlooked or lost.

Mail your letters and packages early in the day, because this avoids overloading and delaying the mail at the end of the day.

Your local postmaster and your teachers will tell you more about the postal service.

Do these things and you will win the grateful appreciation of the people in your postoffice and especially of your postmaster general.

WILL H. HAYS,
Postmaster General.

ONE DOLLAR A BOX FOR FIRST STRAWBERRIES

The first refrigerator of strawberries of the season left here Wednesday evening and they sold for one dollar per quart at the shipping platform. They were raised by Walker & McEwen and have all they can produce until Christmas sold at one dollar per quart.

The Wauchula section will cut more figure in the strawberry game this year than ever before, for there is a much larger acreage.

Beans which were planted since the storm are beginning to come in and if frost keeps off another two weeks truckers are going to be well paid for their venture. Poucher & Murphy have in fifteen acres of beans and expect to make their first picking Monday. They have been offered five dollars a crate for a hundred crates.

Peppers continue to sell for five and six dollars a crate and even eggplants are now selling for $1.50 per crate at the platform.

Sixty-seven carloads of oranges have left Wauchula the past week. Ordinary stock is selling for $2.50 to $3.00 per box f. o. b. Tangerines are bringing fancy prices.—Wauchula Advocate

CONDUCTOR A. A. STONE KILLED AT INVERNESS

A. A. Stone, conductor on Atlantic Coast Line, extra freight No. 800, north-bound from Lakeland to High Springs, was instantly killed at 12:45 o'clock this morning at Inverness. Details of the accident were brought to Lakeland by Coast Line train crews, who state that Conductor Stone stepped across the track directly in front of the approaching engine. He belonged to the order of Railway Conductors, and had rooms at the residence of Mrs. Lohr, 401 South New York avenue, in Lakeland. There service, his mother, who is living in Macon, Georgia, and one son, a baseball pitcher at Mercer University. Engineer Henry Brower, who was on the engine which caused Conductor Stone's death, brought the body to Lakeland this morning on train 213, turning it over to Gentry and Futch. Emerson Barber, flagman of the extra, finished the run to High Springs for Conductor Stone.

Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been completed.

A peculiarly sad feature of the death is that this was to be Conductor Stone's final trip as an employee of the Atlantic Coast Line. He had planned to go to High Springs and return on this run, and the proceed to Macon, Georgia to spend the Christmas holidays with his mother. He had intimated to friends that he had concluded to retire permanently from active duty as a railroad conductor.—Lakeland Telegram

The victim of the attack, who was taken to a local hospital, was suffering tonight from shock and bruises, according to her physician.

An annual conference at Washington would help some, but we can't all go into the hotel business.

INFORMATION FOR MERCHANTS ABOUT TAXES

TREASURY DEPARTMENT REGULATIONS RELATING TO INCOME TAX RETURNS

The following statement is issued by Collector of Internal Revenue D. T. Gerow of the district of Florida:

"Merchants, manufacturers and business men generally need experience, no difficulty in taking their inventories for the year 1921 to conform with the new revenue act. The language of the Revenue Act of 1918 and the Revenue Act of 1921, (Sec. 203), relating to inventories are identical:

"That whenever in the opinion of the Commissioner the use of inventories is necessary in order clearly to determine the income of any taxpayer, inventories shall be taken by such taxpayer upon such basis as the Commissioner, with the approval of the Secretary, may prescribe as conforming as nearly as may be to the best accounting practice in the trade or business and as most clearly reflecting the income."

"Present treasury regulations provide that inventories must be valued at either 'cost' or 'cost or market, whichever is lower.' Taxpayers were permitted, regardless of their past practice, to adopt the 'cost or market basis, whichever is lower' in taking their inventories for 1920. Thereafter the regulations provide, changes can be made only after permission is obtained from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

"In the case of a merchant 'cost' means the invoice price less trade or other discounts, excepting strictly cash discounts approximating a fair rate of interest, which may be deducted or not at the option of the taxpayer providing a consistent course is followed. To the net invoice price should be added the cost of transportation and other necessary charges incurred in acquiring possession of the goods.

"In the case of a manufacturer 'cost' means the cost of raw materials and supplies, expenditures for labor and indirect costs incident to production, including a reasonable proportion of management expenses, but not including any cost of selling or securing return on capital.

"Market' means the current bid price prevailing at the date of the inventory for the particular merchandise. The burden of proof as to the correctness of the price rests upon the taxpayer in each case. Where no open market quotations are available, the taxpayer must use such evidence of a fair market price at the dates nearest the inventory as may be available, such as specific transactions or compensation paid for cancellation of contracts or purchase commitments.

"Where, because of abnormal conditions the taxpayer has regularly sold merchandise at prices lower than the market bid price, the inventory may be valued at such prices. The correctness of such prices will be determined by reference to the actual sales of the taxpayer for a reasonable period before and after the date of inventory. Prices which vary materially from the actual prices so ascertained will not be accepted as reflecting the market.

"The value of each item in the inventory may be measured by cost or market, whichever is lower. An entire stock may not be inventoried at cost and also at market price, and the lower of the two inventories used. Inventories on whatever basis taken will be subject to investigation by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, and the taxpayer must satisfy the commissioner of the correctness of the prices adopted. He must be prepared to show both the cost and the market price of each article included in the inventory.

"In the conduct of modern business, it is of the utmost importance that every business, large or small, whether corporation, partnership or individual, shall maintain an exact record of receipts and expenses. No special system of accounts is proscribed by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, but the books should show in detail inventories, purchases, sales, capital investments, depreciation, and similar items in making up income tax returns."

BIVINS-HERNDON

A brilliant and beautiful event of interest to a wide circle of friends, was the marriage today at high noon of Miss Norma Herndon and Lieut. Hugh Albert Bivins, of Carlstrom Field, Arcadia, which was solemnized at Holy Cross Episcopal Church, Rev. A. S. Peck officiating, in the presence of many friends and relatives of the young people.

The decorations were of wondrous beauty, handsome palms encircling the edifice, and being arranged about the chancel. The chancel rail was entwined with feathery fern and tall white wicker baskets filled with giant white chrysanthemums and asparagus ferns were effectively placed. Garlands of feathery asparagus fern and wide white satin ribbons were artistically draped in the arches. High above the altar were golden vases of chrysanthemums, and tall cathedral candles burned in crystal candlebras. The pews for the relatives and friends were roped with garlands of asparagus fern, caught at intervals with the single large chrysanthemum.

As the guests were assembling, a beautiful musical program was rendered as follows, under the direction of Miss Sara Madre, organist: Tenor solo, "For You Alone" (P. J. O'Reilly), Mr. Maurice Helston; contralto solo, "I Love You Truly" (Carrie Jacobs Bond), Mrs. Marion Giles; quartette, "Bridal Chorus" (Lohengrin), Messrs. S. O. Shinholser, Ralph Warren, Maurice Helston and J. D. Parker; recessional, Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

The bridal party was led by the bride's maid, Miss Esther Miller, and the groom's man, Lieut. Strahm, who entered together, coming down the center aisle, taking their places at the chancel. Miss Miller was lovely in a gold colored velvet costume, being fashionably long waist effect, and beautifully combined with gold colored georgette. With this was worn a large black picture hat. Miss Miller carried a "Shepherd's Staff" with pink roses and Parma violets tied with pink tulle.

Miss Marjorie Clay, as maid of honor, entered alone. Her exquisite frock of peranium pink brocaded velvet was made panel effect, with trimmings of self colored georgette. Her hat was a smart model of black lace, and she also carried a "Shepherd's staff," with valley lilies and Parma violets tied with white tulle.

The ushers were Walter Connelly, James Higgins, Hawkins Connally and Alfred Robson.

Entering from the vestry room into the church came the groom attended by his best man, Lieut. Patrick, who was joined at the chancel by the bride.

The bride, who entered with her father, B. W. Herndon, by whom she was given in marriage, was a picture of girlish loveliness, in her handsome traveling costume of sapphire blue chiffon velvet, made Russian blouse effect, banded with wide bands of fur. Her hat was a chic model of gold cloth, banded with fur and trimmed with touches of sapphire blue velvet. Her flowers were a shower bouquet of orchids and valley lilies.

The beautiful marriage service of the Episcopal church was used in uniting the two lives, the betrothal ceremony taking place at the chancel, followed by the final nuptial vows before the altar where the bride and groom knelt to receive the sacred benediction.

Immediately following the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Connelly where an elegant wedding breakfast was served, the bride and groom leaving during the afternoon for a wedding trip, their destination being unknown.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Herndon and is one of Sanford's loveliest girls. She is a general favorite with a host of friends and since the announcement of her approaching marriage, has been the honoree at a series of delightful prenuptial courtesies.

Lieut. Bivins is from Elkin, N. C., and is from one of the most prominent families of North Carolina. He has many friends throughout the states of Florida and North Carolina who will be interested in his marriage.

Upon their return Lieut. and Mrs. Bivins will make their home at Arcadia. Their large number of friends join in wishing them every future happiness.

"SPURLING'S SUBDIVISION" is attracting attention—lots are being sold right along and building in this section is such as to gladden the heart of those who have the good of Sanford at heart.

This is no idle talk—I have weighed the statement and to say just what is my candid convictions would put it most too strong for the careful, conservative person—that person whose eyes are turned backward—The fellow who has VISION will agree with me now—the other later.

BIG STORM FLOODS BUFFALO CAUSES HAVOC

DAMAGE

BUFFALO, Dec. 19.—A ninety-five mile an hour gale swept the city yesterday, uprooting trees, tearing down chimneys, smashing plate glass windows and piling up the water in the harbor to an unprecedented stage. One man was killed in the storm.

The damage throughout the city was great, but heaviest losses occurred along the water front, where a 300-foot wireless tower was demolished, boat houses and small docks were swept away and several hundred pleasure craft were smashed or carried down the river.

The property loss will run into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

A window hatch, torn from the top of a business block, fell on a passing automobile killing Frank E. Kiefer, one of the two occupants, and injuring the other seriously. The hatch went through the windshield and pinned Kiefer to the seat. The automobile, with both occupants unconscious, ran about a block before it swerved and crashed into a store front.

Two women were caught under a falling tree near the water front. One of them, Miss Margaret Cochrane, sustained both legs broken. Her sister Katharine, was internally injured, and fireman had to cut away part of the tree trunk before she could be released.

The wind, blowing from the southwest, directly down Lake Erie, piled up the water until Bird Island pier and Squaw Island were almost completely submerged. Nearly 100 squatters' shanties were carried out into Niagara river. Their occupants were rescued by police, firemen and coast guard crews.

Three ferryboats used in the service between Buffalo and Fort Erie were piled up on the rocks between the river and the canal.

At Tonawanda the water rose eight feet above normal, flooding the large lumber yards there and carrying thousands of feet of timber into the river and over Niagara Falls. A dredge anchored off Grand Island began to drift toward the falls, but managed to find anchorage by digging its steel dipper into the mud on the river bed.

Seldom has such a volume of water poured over the brink of the Niagara cataract as yesterday. The waters of Lake Erie, crowded into the Niagara river, caused a swirling flood where usually there are only a few scant inches. Floods poured over the precipice, so that the pier of the Maid of the Mist was submerged.

Many islands just above the falls were submerged for the first time in years. Great property damage was done on the upper river between LaSalle and Niagara Falls to riverside boat houses and motor boats. One estimate of the property loss there is $300,000. No loss of life reported. All the large lake boats here weathered the storm. Some dragged their anchors, but none was beached.

Three gasoline fishing boats were sunk in the harbor at Dunkirk.

CARDUI HELPED REGAIN STRENGTH

Alabama Lady Was Sick For Three Years, Suffering Pain, Nervous and Depressed—Read Her Own Story of Recovery.

Faint Rock, Ala.—Mrs. C. M. Stegall of near here, recently related the following interesting account of her recovery: "I was in a weakened condition. I was sick three years in bed, suffering a great deal of pain, weak, nervous, depressed. I was so weak I couldn't walk across the floor; just had to lay and my little ones do the work. I was almost dead. I tried everything I heard of, and a number of doctors. Still I didn't get any relief. I couldn't eat, and slept poorly. I believe if I hadn't heard of and taken Cardui I would have died. I bought six bottles, after a neighbor told me what it did for her.

"I began to eat and sleep, began to gain my strength and am now well and strong. I haven't had any trouble since. I sure can testify to the good that Cardui did me. I don't think there is a better tonic made and I believe it saved my life."

For over 40 years, thousands of women have used Cardui successfully in the treatment of many womanly ailments.

If you suffer as these women did take Cardui. It may help you, too. At all druggists. B 35

NOTHING NEW DAIL EIREANN PUBLIC DEBATE

SINN FEIN CANNOT TELL WHAT THE RESULT WILL

DUBLIN, Dec. 20.—When the Dail Eireann adjourned last night after two lengthy public sessions devoted to earnest debate, nothing tangible had developed to indicate how the members would vote on the question of ratifying the treaty designed to set up the Irish Free State.

Immediately after adjournment the correspondent interviewed four prominent Sinn Feiners. All of them declared it was impossible to make any estimate of the relative strength of those favoring and those opposing the treaty, or to hazard a guess as to which side would eventually gain a majority.

DeValera, Griffith, Collins, Childers and several other prominent men in the councils of the party, spoke on either side, but it is generally agreed that the most sensational and most impressive contribution was Robert Barton's narrative of the circumstances under which he and other delegates were, according to his statement, forced to sign the treaty without referring it back to the cabinet at Dublin.

Mr. Barton said his oath to the republic was the most sacred bond on earth and he had broken it as the lesser of two alternative outrages forced upon him, and because he was compelled to choose immediately.

Mr. Griffith, he explained, had repeatedly sought to have the terms referred back to the Dail Eireann, but this Premier Lloyd George directly negated. The signature of every member was necessary or war would follow at once, and the prime minister gave the delegation until 10 o'clock to make up their minds.

Griffith, Collins and Duggan were, he said, for the signature, but he and Gavin Duffy were against it. He held out, and that placed the responsibility for war on him; so he signed, rather than commit the Irish people to war without consultation.

"And so," he exclaimed, "I now fulfill my undertaking, and recommend to you this treaty."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Modified proposals of France as to naval ratio to be allotted France under naval limitation agreement was presented to naval subcommittee of fifteen of conference today by the French delegation head.

Four Power Treaty Does Not Cover Islands—Harding

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—President Harding, it was said today at the White House, does not regard the four power Pacific treaty as covering the principal islands of the Japanese empire. This view, contrary to that voiced repeatedly by official spokesmen of American delegation, was described at the White House as the president's personal opinion not based on consultation with other members of the administration.

CARTER PIERSON HELD WITHOUT BAIL FOR KILLING MRS. PIERSON

WEALTHY TOURIST ROBBED AT MIAMI AS HE ENTERED HOME

MIAMI, Dec. 20.—As he entered winter home here late last night Huston Wieth, wealthy St. Joseph, Mo., citizen, grappled with burglar who after a tussle escaped with a diamond ring he wrestled from Wieth's hand and $300 cash from his pocket. Police have no clue to the identity.

It took a constitutional amendment to change a clove from an alibi to a boast.

BUSINESS BRISK ON WALL STREET DESPITE THREAT

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—No developments.

This was today's report both on the second explosion against which Wall Street had been warned, and the government's investigation of the 1920 blast.

Lower Manhattan apparently failed to take seriously letters mailed to brokers, predicting that by night fall towering skyscrapers within five blocks radius would be laid low.

Clerks appeared concerned only with getting to work on time. J. P. Morgan, who was supposed to be the chief object of the plot, arrived, unattended, at his office at his regular hour. The usual Monday crowd at the intersection of Wall, Broad and Nassau Streets seemed greater, if anything, for New York is a city of the curious.

True, a few more guards could be seen on duty, and the special prerogative of Santa Clause to secrecy was violated, as suspicious-looking Christmas packages were searched. Once a red motor truck, loaded with blue barrels, recalling the ominous death wagon in which the 1920 bomb burst, caused a flutter, but proved quite harmless.

FOUR BIG HANGARS DESTROYED BY FIRE AT LANGLEY FIELD TODAY

NEWPORT NEWS, Dec. 19.—Four huge frame hangars at Langley Field were destroyed by fire this morning, the loss was two hundred thousand. One Martin bombing plane was destroyed.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. Dec. 20.—A general alarm was sounded here late last night to fight a fire in the business district. At 1 o'clock the blaze had destroyed a jewelry store and a delicatessen shop.

WEDDING BREAKFAST (From Monday's Daily)

Mrs. A. P. Connelly entertained with her usual charming and gracious manner Saturday morning at a wedding breakfast honoring Lieut. and Mrs. Hugh Albert Bivins, whose marriage at high noon was a brilliant social event.

The living room and reception room were adorned with baskets and vases of pink roses. In the dining room the wedding colors, white and green were used. Crystal vases and baskets were effectively placed on the mantel, cabinets and the buffet.

Beautiful in its appointments, of crystal, china and silver, was the beautiful breakfast table, covered with an exquisite lace cloth. In the center was a crystal basket filled with white roses and fern, the handle tied with a fluffy bow of green and white tulle, at the corners were crystal candle sticks holding white tapers with green and silver shades. Suspended from the chandelier was a large white wedding bell, tied with green tulle, with a single white rose as clapper. The place cards were in a bridal design, and the favors for the girls were wedding bells filled with green and white mints, the men's favors were baskets of mints. A five course breakfast was served.

In cutting the bride's cake, which was white topped with tiny American flags, Miss Marjorie Clay, drew the thimble, Lieut. Strahm the dime and Miss Sara Mardre the ring.

Covers were laid for Lieut. and Mrs. H. A. Bivins, Lieut. Strahm, Miss Estelle Miller, Mr. Maurice Helston, Miss Sara Mardre, Alfred Robson, Miss Daphne Wimbish, Miss Dorothy Rumph, James Higgins, Miss Nell Lane of DeLand, Miss Marjorie Clay, Lieut. Patrick, Walter and Hawkins Connelly.

20 MILLIONS FOR RUS- SIANS RELIEF PLAN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—A bill authorizing the President to expend $20,000,000 out of the funds of the United States grain corporation for relief of the distressed and starving people of Russia was passed Saturday by the House, 114 to 51.

Opponents of the measure fought it to the last and forced roll call on the ground that the vote as announced did not include a quorum of the House. The roll call resulted 181 to 71, and the bill now goes to the Senate.

In wrangling over the measure the House attempted to chop it to pieces with amendments. The first actual test was on an amendment by Representative Bankhead, Democrat, Alabama, to reduce the amount from twenty million to ten million, which was defeated 78 to 60.

There had been two solid hours of debate during which a flood of eloquence was let loose on the argument that the starving children of Russia regardless of the bolshevik ruin that he brought about their distress should have their cry for bread silenced with American food, when a new fight was started over proposals to tear the bill to pieces.

Christmas weather.

Lettuce weather and orange weather.

Have a little patience and courage. Sanford is coming.

And Sanford stores are ready to take your orders for anything you want.

The lettuce market is picking up so the wise ones say but it is picking up too late to pick up anything.

And after the first of the year the big things will come to pass that we have wanted for many years.

Rumors say the stock markets of Wall Street are to be destroyed. Well, they that live by the stocks should perish in the stocks, so why worry?

Sanford subdivisions will begin to move after the first of the year. Several big sales will be put on about that time and Sanford property will move fast this spring.

Welcome to Capt. Atkinson and Captain Atkinson, Jr., to our city. They will put on a fine boat on Lake Monroe and take out parties and give our beautiful lake the publicity that it deserves.

Tampa gas rates will have a substantial reduction on January first. Sanford gas rates should be reduced but no one can find the gas. It has been reduced so low in the tank that no one can use it.

"Death Stalks on Heels of Booze Party" reads the headlines in the daily papers. Nothing new in this. Death usually stalks in the wake of booze parties sooner or later. It is only a question of time with present day booze.

This is the week for the Sanford merchants to go after the holiday trade with a bunch of daily advertising. Give them the prices. We can sell cheaper than any other place in the state but people will never know it if you do not advertise.

We hate to say it again but honestly folks, Sanford will have the country club and golf links and this paper will be able to chronicle the facts about the first of January and it is real this time. And it is all the better after the long wait for it is within reason and reach.

The Sanford Herald will adopt several new policies after January first. It will tell a few things about Sanford and Sanford people that they will not like but it will be the truth and will be told in order that they can change their policies to conform with the growing city of Sanford.

France may be our ally but she pulls some funny stunts that give rise to the question of whether France is not the greatest friend of France in the world. Her actions gave rise to this question after the war when she grabbed everything in sight from America and her actions now in wanting more navy than any other power would indicate that same spirit.

Sanford Daily Herald is to be congratulated on its splendid 24 page Christmas edition of yesterday and the Palm Beach Post also had a 24 page edition for the same date and the Daytona Journal and St. Augustine Record had dandles. All of these specials were well patronized by advertisers and gotten up in metropolitan style.—DeLand News.

Under the caption "Use Your Glad Hand," the St. Petersburg Times publishes an editorial which could be profited by in other towns also. The Sunshine City paper says: "There are in St. Petersburg today many newcomers—winter visitors here for the first time. Greet these visitors with 'your glad hand.' Make them feel that you do your best to make them glad for the same reason. Not only the newcomers, but the old friends back again for another season in God's best climate should have your hearty welcome to ring in their ears and bring them to a realization that our interest in them is not entirely mercenary. Don't be afraid to stick out 'your glad hand'."

THREE CHEERS.

Congress has passed a new revenue act reducing Federal taxes $835,000,000 a year.

Six months ago the government could not enact the Adjusted Compensation bill because the estimated annual expenditure of $200,000,000 it entailed threatened to bankrupt the country; now it is in that happy state in which it can not only afford much needed relief to industry by removing the excess profits tax and the surtax on large incomes, but can sweepingly reduce taxes on such articles as seal-skin coats and polo mallets.

Nothing could be more heartening and we can scarce forbear to cheer. The grave danger of national ruin is passed. And, having steered the country through this critical period and seen its way clear to reducing the tax on seal-skin coats and polo mallets, Congress will, of course, will lose no time now in making the patiently awaited adjustment with the ex-service men of the nation.—Legion Weekly.

CHRISTMAS GIFT

Money not being very plentiful this year, the advocates of the suppression of Christmas giving and of the "practical" Christmas gift are in their glory. Away with all of them! This does not refer to those who must adopt this attitude from dire necessity, but to the great army of people, who, because they are a little lazy, selfish and unimaginative, are glad of excuses for letting themselves down easy at Christmas time.

Christmas isn't a time for driving home the hard facts of life. It's a time for forgetting them as far as possible, and festering all life's cheerful possibilities. It is a time for thinking not for reasons for not giving but of reasons for giving, and for giving, as far as may be, the things that are desired and unexpected rather than those that are directly needed and would have to be forthcoming soon, regardless of the day. Anyone who deprives himself of this aspect of Christmas loses more than he gains.

Foolish, thoughtful, cheap, expensive, practical or fantastic, let the gifts be given, each one, down to the most minute or ordinary, with the high light of festivity. If you can't give anything else, give yourself. Wrap your face in a smile, and tie up with a bunch of cheerful words. If you are not a practical person, so much the better.—Gainesville Sun.

ENCOURAGEMENT OF LAW OBSEQUIVANCE NECESSARY

One of the reasons for the general lack of law enforcement in this country is the existence of such a multitude of useless, petty laws. But this is no excuse.

Law is law—here the consideration should end. Under our system of government we elect representatives to make our laws and after they are made the principle of good citizenship requires that they be observed. When the so-called best citizens treat laws as inconsequential inconveniences, what can be expected of the class of lawlessly-inclined?

And yet many of the laws written on the statute books might as well not be there—in fact, they do more harm than good, since an unenforced law encourages general slackness in enforcement.

A law that cannot be enforced should never be passed! It serves no purpose other than to stimulate lawlessness, and at best the country has too much of this.

Generalizing on the subject of law enforcement, The Miami Herald makes an excellent point, saying:

"This regulation of the individual with reference to his relations with those around him, we call law. The law is made that all may understand their duties, one to the other and to the social organization, and that none may be permitted to impose upon his neighbor or unduly stretch his own pleasures to the detriment of those around him. Simply stated, that is the reason why men would have more happiness and would prosper more if they would obey the law."

Unfortunately, many individuals have come to look upon laws as barriers in the path of personal liberty, which causes them to regard all laws more or less through eyes of suspicion. But the real purpose of law is not to deprive any many of his rights; it is to make every man safe in his rights.

However, laws are enacted in such volumes that the ordinary citizen is kept busy trying to stay within bounds. What was permissible a few years ago is illegal today, and so it goes. Before we can get down to the rock-bottom of enforcement, it seems, many of the petty laws must be abolished and proper emphasis placed upon the fundamental laws. More and more our system of human relations is becoming entangled in technicalities, and while some of these details are necessary to many of them are tediously availing.—Florida Metropolis.

THE WHOLE WORKS

A traveling salesman, according to an eastern exchange, visited a small town and sold the proprietor of its general store some merchandise. When the goods arrived they were not as represented and the merchant consequently returned them. The house attempted to collect the bill and drew a sight draft on the merchant through the local bank, which returns the draft unhonored. The house wrote the postmaster about the financial standing of the merchant and the postmaster laconically replied with an o. k.

By return mail the house requested the postmaster to secure a lawyer to collect the amount and received the following reply:

"The undersigned is the merchant of whom you attempted to palm off your worthless goods. The undersigned is the president and owner of the bank to which you sent your sight draft. The undersigned is the postmaster to whom you wrote and the undersigned is the lawyer whose services you sought to obtain for your nefarious business. If the undersigned were not a so the preacher of the church at this place, he would tell you to go to hell."—Exchange.

MAIL ORDER

Mail order houses are gathering big harvests from orders sent from every town in Florida. Leesburg, not as large as Sarasota, in the months of September, October and November, sent out of town 2,620 orders amounting to $17,881.50. In year's time, this would amount to over seventy thousand dollars, which is more than that city will pay for her part of the asphalt paving on her streets. We have reason to believe that Sarasota spends annually with Chicago mail order houses much more than this, and yet when it is necessary to give notes to keep the schools going for the full term the names on those notes will not be Sears, Roebuck & Co., or Montgomery Ward & Co., but J. E. Battle, P. H. Levy, G. L. Thacker and other Sarasota merchants. Would it not be a good idea, since the Sarasota people are contributing so largely to the prosperity of mail order houses, that the next time the merchants are solicited for their endorsement on notes to keep the schools going, to widen Main street, build the white way, or any of the dozens of other calls that will be made upon them for funds, the secretary of the chamber of commerce take up the matter with the two houses mentioned and solicit a generous contribution from them.—Sarasota Times.

CHRISTMAS HONESTY

It might take more strength of character than you possess, but how would it do for you to spend your Christmas money honestly this year?

We mean, how would it do for you to buy only honest gifts—gifts that actually represent your kindly feeling and your sincere desire to give pleasure to the recipient?

We mean, too, how would it do for you to refrain from buying gifts that are more expensive than you can afford, just because you feel that such gifts are "expected" from you or that such gifts will curry favor with the persons to whom you give them?

Could you go down town with a ten-dollar bill to buy a ten-dollar gift for an influential friend and wind up by using the ten dollars for ten one-dollar gifts for ten uninfluential little children and then be content to send your influential friend just a cheery "Merry Christmas"?

Strength of character is undoubtedly required for folks to be honest at Christmas time. There is so much snobbery, so much kow-towing, so much veneration, standing out at Christmas time—a time more than any other part of the year when folks should be forgetting themselves and their silly ambitions, in their hurrying about on glad Christmas errands that are bringing gladness into homes and hearts that truly need it.—Miami Metropolis.

CONGRESSIONAL CANDIDATES.

It may be a bold statement, but nevertheless a fact, that Florida has not been as particular as she ought to have been in the past, in the selection of congressional and senatorial candidates. For this reason the state has not gotten the recognition it should have.

Men may be good men and yet be poor representatives in congress. They may have no qualifications whatever, and yet if they have friends who can organize the district or the state for them they will go to congress where they will fill a seat, nothing more; they cut no figure whatever in shaping legislation. After two or three months' effort, they may be able to write an imaginary speech and get some other congressman to move to have it printed in the congressional record without its ever having been read in the halls of congress, but so far as their influence is concerned it counts for about as much as the influence of a mouse at a bull fight.

Florida has a host of capable men. Men who would get recognition if sent to Washington and bring distinction to the state. Why in the world we are content to pick up somebody whose chief qualification seems to be his ability to travel around and keep his fences in repair and the political machinery well oiled is a mystery. So long as we do this we can not hope for much recognition or much help for Florida in a national way.

Florida's growing importance ought to enable her to assume a more prominent position in the affairs of the nation. If we send able men to congress and senate, we get attention. "Me to" sort of fellows only furnish trading material for real congressmen. Florida can ill afford to furnish trading material much longer.—Reporter-Star.

F. P. FORSTER FOR LEGISLATURE

To the Editor of the Sanford Herald: I have read your editorial in a recent issue concerning the candidacy of the Hon. F. P. Forster as representative in the next legislature, with interest and approval.

It seems to me that it is the duty of Mr. Forster to allow his name to be used in this connection, and that the voters of the county, men and women, ought to elect him by a very large majority.

It is for the interest of Seminole county that it should be represented in the law-making body of the state by a man of intelligence, knowledge, unquestioned integrity, dignity of character and manner, public spirit, and courage, and this is the kind of man that we all know Mr. Forster to be. He has been a citizen of Florida and of this county for a great many years, is thoroughly familiar with their resources and needs, has wide and intimate relations with all our people and business enterprises, is cautious and conservative in temperament, and enjoys the confidence of all our people whose opinion is worth considering. We know that our interests, financial, educational and moral, may be safely confided to his judgment and care.

Mr. Forster made a good record in the last legislature, and would be in a position to exercise still larger influence, and perform still greater service, if he should be re-elected. He "knows the ropes" as a new man could not—the principles, methods, and tricks of legislative action—and would not need to devote the first half of the session largely to "finding his place" and acquiring influence.

I trust that Seminole county will honor both Mr. Forster and itself by returning him to this important post.

ANTI-LYNCHING BILL LAID OVER UNTIL AFTER XMAS, HOUSE LEADERS AGREE

Democrats Hid Out And Congress Was Quorumless for Two Hours

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—An agreement to postpone consideration of the Dyer anti-lynching bill until after the Christmas recess was reached yesterday by house leaders after several hours of ineffectual efforts to maintain a quorum.

Opponents of the measure blocked efforts to begin debate by an effective filibuster. For several hours business was suspended through lack of a quorum.

Under a resolution adopted Monday night after a spirited fight the bill had right of way with the understanding it was not to be pressed to a final vote before congress suspended activities for the holidays.

When Chairman Volstead of the judiciary committee, which favorably reported the bill, attempted yesterday to call it up, Representative Garrett, Tennessee, Democratic leader, forced one roll call after another, each taking up nearly half an hour's time. When a roll call finally showed less than half of the house membership present, Mr. Garrett made a point of order that a quorum was not present and Speaker Gillett instructed the sergeant-at-arms to round up absent members.

Declaring that less than half a dozen Democrats were on the floor the speaker charged they were attempting to obstruct the bill.

Ten deputies attempted to locate absentees, 30 of whom were needed on the floor before the House could transact business. After a two hour tie up with little prospects that absent Democrats would appear to provide a quorum, Representative Maudell, Republican leader, agreed in conference with Mr. Garrett to delay beginning of debate of the Dyer proposal until after the recess.

With a compromise agreed to enough Democrats trailed back into the House chamber to furnish a quorum when the anti-lynching bill was read by a clerk and the House adjourned to take up a variety of other legislation until the recess begins.

FRANCE TAKES STEPS TO RECONCILE VIEWS ON NAVAL RATIO PROBLEM

Unofficial Advices From Abroad Indicate Good Results

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—France has taken steps to reconcile her views on the naval ratio problem with those of the other powers, but her precise attitude—now the crucial issue of the arm negotiations,—remains in doubt.

Unofficial advices from abroad yesterday indicated that Premier Briand had decided to accept the American proposal for a French capital ship fleet of 175,000 tons in place of the 300,000 tons plan drawn by the French delegates.

Secretary Hughes, as chairman of the arms conference, also received from the French premier a communication construed at the state department as meaning that the French group had been directed to the American program.

But the French delegates themselves did not so construe a long message of instructions received from the premier during the day. They described it as advising them to go as far toward meeting the American views as they could without sacrifice of French national interests. It was said not to embody a specific decision nor to make a reference to any specific tonnage plan.

With the negotiations in that direction, Mr. Hughes and Albert Sarraut, head of the French delegation held a long conference late yesterday afternoon and parted without making any announcement. It was said only that the conversations were proceeding and that there was a mutual expectation of ultimate agreement.

In other quarters also there was apparent a distinct note of optimism, despite the day's mystifying succession of developments. Among American officials an almost unanimous belief prevailed that France eventually would take the American figure for her capital ship allotment even though she insisted on an increase of submarine tonnage as an offset. For the moment the negotiations are concerned solely with capital ships, and to many delegates a five power agreement on that subject does not seem far away.

WATSON'S PROOF DIFFICULT TO MAKE ANY SHOWING —NO EYE WITNESSES

Six Former Soldiers Tell of Alleged Executions But No Evidence

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—None of the six witnesses appearing yesterday before a senate committee was able to give first hand evidence to support charges by Senator Watson, Democrat, Georgia, that American soldiers had been hanged without trial in France.

George H. Taylor, of Philadelphia, thin and frail and under treatment, as he himself explained, for epilepsy, declared he had seen twelve soldiers hanged, or one more than the number officially listed by the war department as executed in accordance with court martial verdicts, approved by General Pershing. Taylor, confused as to the number of victims, testified at first he had seen three, and then under direct questioning, increased his figures to four, jumping finally to twelve. All of these, he declared, were put to death in and around Is-sur-Tille in the period from April to June, 1919.

In no instance could the witness say he knew whether any or all of them had been tried by a military court.

Because of the evident physical weakness of the witness, Senator Watson suggested that army officers, including Colonel Walter Bethel, assistant judge advocate general, retire from the room, explaining that Taylor was subject to epileptic attacks and that the presence of officers might disturb him. But the former soldier announced he wanted the officers to remain.

Testimony by Henry L. Scott, 22 years old, of Kenmore, Ohio, that he had seen two soldiers shot down in cold blood by a "Major Opley," commander of the Third Battalion, 116th Infantry, brought a quick and sharp denial from Major Heirone L. Opley, at his home at Staunton, Va., who was in charge of that organization and who announced he would be glad to go before the committee. Scott was positive in the assertion that he saw both men killed, at different times, that the first shooting of a courier was witnessed by several hundred men and that he alone saw the second.

Having Major Opley in mind as commander of the battalion, Colonel Bethel pressed the witness closely as to the spelling of the name and later informed Chairman Brandegee privately that Scott evidently was referring to the Virginian. But Scott stuck to Opley.

In making sweeping denial of the charge, Major Opley, at Staunton, declared in a statement that Scott "writes himself down as a skulker by his own testimony," that he belonged to another outfit and never could have been in the fighting line with the third battalion.

Although he did not know of his own knowledge of any executions without trials, Robert A. Harrison, of Wilmington, North Carolina, told the committee he "had witnessed two lynchings," one conducted by "Hard-boiled" Smith. The soldier, he said, was put to death for refusing to accept a stockade with a toothbrush, that the killing, as he remembered it, took place on December 24, 1919, at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, and that he saw the lynching from a distance of 300 yards.

WOMEN VOTERS WILL FORM COUNTY LEAGUE

SEMINOLE COUNTY WOMEN TO MEET HERE DECEMBER 28TH

At the urgent request of the state officers of the League of Women Voters, a call has gone forth to the women of Seminole County to attend a meeting on Friday, December 30th at 2:30 p. m. at the Court House in Sanford, to consider the feasibility and wisdom of forming a league in this county.

This is an organization absolutely non-partisan, which has become national in scope, and which is now being formed in the various counties of Florida. Its slogan is "Better Schools, Better Children, Better Citizens."

The object of a county organization would be to study the conditions and needs of our public schools especially, and the moral and physical environment of our children, and youth, and to take such action as might seem wise to correct any lack of proper conditions that might appear. It is a program which must make its appeal to every woman, and which cannot be answered save by concerted action.

The annual meeting of the State League, of which Mrs. J. B. O'Hara, of Lake Worth, is chairman, occurs in Jacksonville on January 5th and the call is made now for Seminole county to decide her position before that event.

On behalf of a group of interested local women and at their request, representative women throughout the county have been invited to take the lead in their communities by Mrs. W. F. Blackman, of Lake Monroe, and to bring the women together for this conference.

GOVERNMENT IS LOSING BILLION DOLLARS A YEAR

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Modification of the national prohibition amendment to permit the sale of beer and wine would mean an addition to the government's revenue of half a billion dollars a year, high treasury officials said today. Estimates made in connection with the proposed legislation to legalize the sale of beer and wine have revealed, officials said, that $500,000,000 yearly would be collected in taxes from this source.

TRAMMELL WANTS MORE FARMERS' AID

WOULD PROVIDE $50,000,000 ADDITIONAL THROUGH FEDERAL BANKS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(Special)—Senator Trammell today introduced two bills of great importance. One of his measures provides for an additional fund of $50,000,000 a year for loans to farmers through the federal farm land banks. Senator Trammell says thousands of farmers at present are denied long-time loans from the federal land banks because the funds are not available.

His other bill provides for the War Finance Corporation to have authority to make advances and loans to farmers and cattlemen through banks until July 1, 1923, instead of having this relief to the agricultural interests terminated in 1922, as provided by the present law.

Under the law which Senator Trammell seeks to have extended for one year longer the citrus fruit and cattle industry have had advances of large sums made to them through Florida banks by the War Finance Corporation. With the law extended for one year beyond the present life of Florida will no doubt receive further substantial aid.

SEN. FLETCHER SAYS TREASURY DEPARTMENT HAMPERS AGRICULTURE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Control of the treasury department over the affairs of the farm loan board has resulted in defeating the aim of legislation enacted for the purpose of aiding the farmers of the country, Senator Fletcher, Democrat, Florida, charged today. While the farmers were in "distressing condition," he asserted, the agency created by congress to aid them was being restricted by the treasury department to annual bond issues of $150,000,000 and $500,000,000 whereas the amount of issue he said, should be several times greater. He estimated that bond issue of $1,000,000 a day is necessary to meet present conditions.

"But the treasury department is not interested in agriculture," Senator Fletcher asserted, and does not want the bonds for the farm to come into competition with other bonds to aid commercial, industrial business and trade enterprises.

Pierson. An examination of the body of Mrs. Robert Pierson, sister-in-law of Pierson, also killed, showed she died from a wound from the bullet the same calibre as the weapon said to have been used by Pierson.

SENATE PUTS APPROVAL ON RELIEF BILL

ACT PROVIDES THAT TWENTY MILLIONS SHALL BE SPENT

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—The Senate yesterday passed the House bill appropriating $20,000,000 for the relief of the starving and distressed in Russia, with two amendments, one appropriating $500,000 to be used for the hospitalization of former service men in Arizona, and the other setting aside $100,000 for the use of the government in relieving unemployment.

KU KLUX KLAN APPLIED COAT TAR, FEATHERS

ALLEGED THAT REHRER WAS MAN WHO SOLD LIQUOR TO BOYS

(From Saturday's Daily)

People who were on the streets last night about ten o'clock were attracted by a strange figure going west on First street. Upon closer glance it was found to be a young man named Rehrer, who had been tarred and feathered and on whose back the legend in large letters was fastened reading: "I Sold Liquor to Young Boys." It seems that the Ku Klux Klan have been investigating the selling of liquor to the young boys of this city and county and they have determined to stop it since the law cannot touch these people and the boys will not tell who sold it and the officers could not obtain sufficient evidence to convict. However, the Klan has other methods of investigation and they evidently had good reasons to believe that Rehrer was selling liquor and hence their kidnapping last night and the coat of tar and feathers. He was first discovered on the Sanford-Orlando road coming to town and the word spread rapidly in the city and before he could get to the city limits he was followed by a crowd of cars and after he had reached the city he went down as far as First street where he followed First to Elm and disappeared in the direction of the lake.

He was evidently following orders to show himself on First street before he went home as a warning to others and he obeyed his instructions otherwise he would have taken the back streets to his home.

There is no information to where the coat of tar and feathers were applied but it was probably out in the country as he was several miles from the city when he was first discovered.

Sanford High School made its debut into basketball when it walked on the floor Saturday night against Stetson U. Though at first morally depressed they outplayed opponents in first few minutes. Superior experience however turned the tide and Stetson won the first half 20 to 7.

In the second half Stetson's men worked together better and won it by 22 to 7. Sanford has great prospects for victory among teams of their class. The members of the Willing Workers were most pleasantly entertained, Mrs. Ed. S. Ward.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with colors in season. Branches of pine from which floated red streamers, bells, holly wreaths and other Christmas decorations lent a festive air. Vases of fern, roses and poinsettias were effectively arranged.

Various games were enjoyed during the evening, "Telegrams," using the letters in the word "Christmas" caused much merriment. Wauhnta Allen was awarded a glass bird for the prize telegram, which read: "Come home Richard Ingles shot Tom Martin in Sanford." Two prizes were awarded in "Bells and Beans." Robert Grier held the lucky ball and Claude Echols had collected the largest number of beans.

Following the games the hostess assisted by Miss Doris Hand and Mrs. W. R. Bates, served pineapple salad, sandwiches, marshmallows, and individual cakes iced in green and topped with cherries.

Members enjoying this delightful meeting were: Wauhnta Allen, Thelma Spurling, Gladys Robinson, Louise Ferguson, Gretchen Long, Oliver Rutherford, and Doris Hand.

Invited guest were: Anna Kanner, Mrs. W. R. Bates, Frank W. Chase, Claude Echols, Leo Butner, and Robert Grier.

TO SANFORD TO SHOP

There have been a great many comments recently on the increasing practice of a number of Sanford people of going to nearby towns to do their shopping, and that these purchases, made elsewhere, included not only luxuries, but food and clothing as well. It has also been stated that approximately $500.00 worth of merchandise, ordered from Mail Order Houses, is received daily at the local post office.

If, as generally conceded, these statements are true, here is a condition that requires immediate investigation and remedying, for not only are the local retailers seriously affected, but the economic development of Sanford is threatened.

An unbiased analysis of the causes responsible for this tendency to purchase out-of-town would disclose the three following reasons, first, prices in excess of those charged elsewhere for similar merchandise; second, the inability to secure merchandise due to local merchants carrying insufficient stock, and third, the unwise extension of credit to local people, who oftentimes abuse it, and when it has been curtailed become disgruntled and go out-of-town to make purchases for which they are required to pay cash. This, despite the fact, that they have been carried indefinitely by the local merchants.

The solution of this problem is not difficult to arrive at, but obviously will require the combined effort of local merchants to work out in the same manner as has been done in other cities has proven that local people cannot be enticed to buy elsewhere when the merchants are giving maximum quality for minimum price, when they are making a careful study of the desires of the community and carrying an assortment of merchandise that is up-to-date in every particular, and last but of most importance, curtailing the credit of those who are prone to abuse it. In this connection it might be suggested the organization of a local credit association which has proven of inestimable value elsewhere in fixing credit ratings for individuals before selling them on open account.

The Mail Order House will always be a commercial adversary to the local retailer. Their competition, however, can be nullified considerably by extensive advertising designed to reach those consumers who consider the Bible and Mail Order House Catalogues inseparable. The mail order business was built up by advertising, and the retailer must realize that the same weapon is the only one that can be used in the battle to retain local business and keep the money home. The merchant who claims he cannot afford to advertise locally is handling the local business to the Mail Order House, which has proven advertising to be a profitable investment.

Some of our most prominent citizens, it has been stated, are the best customers of out-of-town firms and it has also been stated that merchants themselves are not guiltless of the practice of buying elsewhere than Sanford. This is a condition that denotes a lack of civic pride. Local merchants are entitled to patronage, if they are giving efficient service. They are always the first called upon for donations for charitable and civic causes, and individuals, organizations, and business interests should give them the opportunity of bidding on any business before going elsewhere.

The Chamber of Commerce has been approached on different occasions to inaugurate A BUY AT HOME MOVEMENT, in order to keep Sanford business in Sanford. While it is true that BUY AT HOME Campaigns have been conducted by a great many commercial organizations as a part of their program for meeting outside competition, the following extract from the "Retail Trade Extension Bulletin," issued by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, is both interesting and pertinent to the subject under discussion:

"We do not know any one out of the hundreds of Commercial organizations in the United States, however, which has maintained a committee on 'BUY AT HOME' as a continuing activity. There are a number of arguments against the 'BUY AT HOME' movement which have to be met. Chief of these is that store keepers should rely upon style, quality, price, and service in their bids for trade, and that reliance upon an agreement among their customers to buy at home is artificial and subversive of the best interests of the community. Another argument is that the growth of retail trade and increased excellence of retail stores in any community have never been brought about by the application of the buy at home principle, but, on the other hand, have always been the result of the application by the merchants themselves of sound principles of retail merchandising.

While we have many records of buy at home campaigns, some of which indicate considerable enthusiasm in the initial stages, we have no record of any sustained increase in sales traceable to the campaign. It would seem that most movements of this kind are spasmodic.

In some localities meetings have been held with a view to ascertaining why people went out-of-town to buy. When the reasons were ascertained, the merchants got together in an attempt to eliminate objections and keep the trade at home. Of interest in this connection are the Better Store Service Blanks which the retail divisions of some commercial organizations have prepared for distribution to patrons of local stores. These blanks state that the merchants want to make trading in their towns the best proposition within 15 miles, or whatever the radius of the retail trade territory is, and that they want every buyer in the town always to be sure of unequalled store opportunities. They ask their customers to suggest how this may be done by writing down their suggestions in the blank space provided, signing them, and returning them to the store where they trade, or mailing them to the Chamber of Commerce.

The consensus seems to be that the adoption of modern business methods by the retail merchants of a community in the last analysis is the answer to the problem of solving mail order and outside competition."

From the above it will be noted that the merchants themselves are the most important factors in the solution of this problem. If the local merchants will adopt the slogans: "Maximum quantity and quality" for minimum price—"Varied and up-to-date assortment of merchandise"—"Credit for use and not abuse" it will not only hold our local business but bring buyers from adjacent sections to Sanford to shop.

THAT MOOSEHEART INSTITUTION

Some months ago there was great elation in Jacksonville over the prospects of securing the institution which the fraternal order of Moose proposed to establish in the South. A committee went to a western city to present the claims of Jacksonville to the national officers, for Moose is a country-wide fraternal organization of unquestioned merit and with commendable enterprises in its scope of work. Committees of the order came here and inspected various sites offered and appeared to be well satisfied. But the fact remains, that Jacksonville has not secured the desired prize. Nothing has been done, so far as known, for months, to supplement or strengthen the work already done by local citizens and organizations, and the site for the promised Mooseheart home and school has not been selected.

Now comes Tampa as a claimant for the honor of having this promised institution established in Florida, and, of course, in or near that enterprising city. In the Tampa Tribune of December 15th it was told that aggressive action was being taken by the Tampa Board of Trade, and by various civic organizations of that city, toward securing the Southern Mooseheart. In that report appeared this paragraph:

"It has been learned that the national Mooseheart committee has narrowed the field down until Florida now has practically been decided upon as the state in which to locate the institution, which is to be a home and refuge for aged or invalid members of the Loyal Order of Moose. Three Florida cities are said to be in the race for the location, with Tampa at present in the lead. It is the belief of Judge Cohen and others of the Mooseheart committee that only a display of the Tampa spirit of determination and aggressive 'go get 'em' is needed to clinch the proposition for this city."

This information should be of value to Jacksonville. It is not necessary to refer to incidents that occurred when the matter originally was under consideration here, whether or not there was mishandling that resulted in no decision being made. The main thing now is, if Jacksonville really wants a great institution, one that is not only worthy, but that is of great value to the city or community that secures it, is to get busy and in the right and proper way.

If Tampa, or any other Florida city, secures this prize it will be for the reason that the successful contestant has displayed more active interest and has been able to present claims that warranted the selection of that particular place. Jacksonville has, we were led to believe, stood high in favor with those having in charge the selection of a site. If Jacksonville loses out we can only congratulate the more fortunate claimant—and again "swallow our chagrin."—Times-Union.

CHRISTMAS EDITIONS ROLLING IN NOW

Several Christmas editions, the annual event in the office of most newspapers which the shop looks forward to each year, have begun to arrive. Being always glad to see the other fellow's and filled with greater glee to know that his own edition is off the press and delivered, the newspapers with their forces of men take a big sigh of relief when the operation is performed without any bad luck.

Some mighty good products come from the office of the Florida press and a great deal of pride is taken in presenting them. Little does the reader know that they represent work for days and weeks and because they are filled with advertising which might seem to be a money maker, the reader also gets the wrong impression that the newspaper is making a barrel of money and might start a bank or something, but usually they are just a souvenir of the Christmas event, acting merely as a go-between for the shopper and the advertiser.—Lakeland Star.

Negro Chauffeur Badly Wounded By His Fares

Frazier is Bitten Up By Two Men Who Had Hired Him to Drive

(From Monday's Daily)

Ike Frazier, a well known Sanford negro chauffeur, who drives a car for hire, was badly beaten up Saturday night by two men named Sutton and Hilliard. They had engaged Frazier to take them to the convict camp near the county home and after they had him out on the edge of the city they attacked him, probably with the intention of possessing themselves of the car and he was badly beaten but managed to get to his home and give the alarm to the police who soon had the offenders in the toils of the law. They proved to be two Sanford men by the name of Hilliard and Sutton and they will get what is coming to them as soon as the case comes to court. At present the injuries of Frazier are awaited as he seems to be in a precarious condition and is not expected to live. Frazier is an inoffensive negro who is well known to everyone and the attack on him was cold-blooded and is condemned by all citizens white and black.

FLORIDA KIDDIES EXPECT BIG CHRISTMAS AS USUAL AND STATE THEIR WANTS

From Every Section of State Comes Requests to Santa

WANTS ARE MANY

BUT THE ASSOCIATED PRESS WILL SEE THAT SANTA GETS THE WIRES

(By The Associated Press)
Florida kiddies, running true to form again this year, have consumed reams of paper and hundreds of pencils in the laborious preparation of the annual communications to Santa Claus and the avalanche of notes which have swamped newspaper offices and cluttered mail boxes in the larger towns and cities bids fair to continue until Christmas eve for some of the youngsters may be expected to try to reach Saint Nicholas by special delivery at the last moment.

Santa and his assistants this week as usual made public hundreds of the notes received and many of the youngsters, it developed, told him the innermost secrets of their hearts and expressed some original idea about what they wanted him to bring them.

A joint note from two St. Augustine kiddies, after listing what the daddy did not make any money on his pair desired said: "I am very sorry to say we fuss over each others toys and if what you bring us is not alike I think it the best thing is not to bring any at all."

One little miss asked for a variety of articles that would be sufficient to stock a fair sized toy shop and concluded: "I don't want much so this is all." She appended the following postscript, "I will leave the window open."

One child thought she would like to round out her Christmas by the addition of a small menagerie and asked among other things for "a rabbit and kitten and dog."

"Dad" evidently had thrown out a few remarks at random about business conditions and their effect upon Santa's bank account in one case for a nine year old hopeful wrote: "As my crops this year you can bring me anything you want to."

"My daddy bought a new car so I can't have much," one boy informed the old fellow.

Of all the notes bearing the Florida postmark, one from Cecil Pacetti, of St. Augustine, won the prize for brevity. Cecil did not waste so much as a punctuation mark. He wrote:

"Dear Santa

A tiny tot who asked for the things that usually delight kiddies of a similar age gave, her sex dead away by appending the usual postscript to her note: "Oh yes, bring me a pound of butter as I do like to eat it so well."

One St. Johns county boy made an honest confession and at the same time indicated that he liked the ladies without discrimination as to looks. "I've been a bad boy this year," he wrote, "but I hope you will forgive me and bring me a blonde doll name Maria; also a brunette named Gertrude, bring me a cat, some candy, fruit and nuts."

A little miss whose mother apparently did not relish the thought of broken bones and skinned joints, figured that perhaps with Santa's help she might put one over on her parents. "I would like a pair of skates," she informed Santa, "but my mother says no, but if you have an extra pair you can bring them and maybe she will let me keep them."

A five year old optimist had a sore foot when he settled down to compose the annual message, "but I want a tricycle and a drum and I guess my foot will get well some day so I can ride."

One Polk county citizen writing from Lakeland, wanted among other things a "villon bow" and a "pear" of stockings while another wanted a "horn" (horn). A third thought to entertain Santa with a drawing on the back of his note of what he called "a otymobil" but which might have served as a picture of a box car or barn with a barrel lying on the ground near each end of it.

From Pensicola a little miss wrote: "I am a dear little girl seven here old and will you please bring me a nice doll and teace set and a nice stove. I am a good girl."

THE DYER ANTI-LYNCHING BILL TAKEN UP TUESDAY FOR A GENERAL DEBATE

Under Program Agreed Upon by House Leaders

BRING TO A VOTE

IMMEDIATELY AFTER CHRISTMAS RECESS SAY MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The Dyer anti-lynching bill was taken up in the house today for general debate under the program agreed upon by house leaders which will bring it to a vote probably immediately after the Christmas recess.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—After a bitter fight the House last night voted to take up the Dyer anti-lynching bill under a rule limiting general debate to ten hours. Leaders, however, have agreed that the measure will not be pressed to a final vote before the Christmas recess.

The vote was 170 to 42 with five members voting "present" and was reached only after more than two hours delay through quorum calls demanded by Representative Garrett of Tennessee, the Democratic leader who directed the opposition to the bill. Twice the sergeant-at-arms was sent out with warrants to arrest absentees before quorums were obtained. Two hours were devoted to the debate which ended in the bill being given right of way in the House.

General debate on the measure, according to plans of leaders, will be stretched over the days remaining before the recess which probably will begin Thursday. More than ten hours may be devoted to discussion of the bill's features, Chairman Campbell of the rules committee said, "to permit comprehensive consideration of a question that cannot be sidestepped."

The bill, introduced by Representative Dyer, Republican, Missouri, would provide heavy fines and imprisonment for persons participating in lynchings and for officials who failed through negligence to prevent mob violence. It would also require counties in which lynchings occurred to forfeit $10,000 to the family of the person killed.

Among those urging passage of the measure were Mr. Campbell, of Kansas, and Representative Foss, of Ohio, and Ansoorge of New York, Republicans, while those who spoke in opposition included Mr. Garrett and Representatives Pou of North Carolina, and Aswell of Louisiana, Democrats.

Mr. Foss declared the bill was not aimed at the South but was designed to deal effectively with mob violence wherever it occurred. One of the most "indescribable" lynchings had occurred in his own state, he added. Mr. Ansoorge said passage of the Dyer bill would "forever wipe the stain of lynching from the pages of American history."

On the other hand, Mr. Garrett asserted the measure should be entitled a "bill to encourage arpe," and Mr. Pou said its purpose was "to pay a political debt." Mr. Byrnes characterized the measure as a proposal which if enacted and held constitutional would prove ineffective, while Mr. Aswell contended passage of the bill would have a tendency to increase rather than prevent lynchings.

DEATH OF MRS. RAULERSON.

Mrs. Avery Janie Elizabeth Raulerson passed away Monday, December 12th at 2 p. m. She had been ill since August. She had spent her last few years with her daughter, Mrs. I. V. Bridges, where she died. Mrs. Raulerson was born in Cameron county, Georgia, 75 years ago, but spent the most of her life near Lake City of this state. She had been the mother of twenty-seven children only six of whom are living, having had three husbands. Mrs. Bridges is the only child of her first marriage. Walter R. Raulerson, the only child of her second marriage. Her second and third husbands were brothers. Mrs. Geo. Mitchell and Mrs. Hugood Warren are also daughters. There are a son and daughter living elsewhere, and sixteen grandchildren living. Mrs. Raulerson was well loved by her children and all that loving care could do was done for her. Rev. George Hyman preached a short sermon at the grave site saying many kind and loving words to help the family in the loss of their dear mother. Many beautiful flowers covered the casket and grave. The burial taking place at Lakewood cemetery, Tuesday, December 13th. The family have the sympathy of all East Sanford in their bereavement.

CELERY SHIPMENTS JUMP

Formerly a somewhat neglected vegetable from the commercial standpoint, celery has gained in popularity quite steadily in the last half-dozen years. Shipments in 1916-1917 were less than 6,000 cars, but each year since then the 6,000 car mark has been exceeded, and last season the total was 10,737 cars. This season the movement to Nov. 5 was about one-fourth larger than to the corresponding date in 1920.

Most of the important producing states have shared in the increase year by year. By far the greatest actual gain was in the two early shipping states, Florida and California, which together supply more than one-half the entire car-load movement of celery. California's shipments increased from 1,914 car in 1916-17, to 3,330 in 1920-21, and Florida's from 1,797 cars to 4,175 during the same period.

The nine states shipping late celery in a commercial way are Colorado, Idaho, Oregon, Washington, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania. New York and Michigan have usually shipped one-half to one-third of the late celery. New York maintained a fairly uniform volume of shipments until last year when the output was nearly doubled. Michigan's shipments have shown more steady gains and have attained nearly double the volume Eastern States have shown no uniform tendency.

New York state leads in supplying main crop celery to Eastern cities. The City of New York takes nearly one-third of its celery from New York State, no other northern section contributing over forty-five carloads. Philadelphia and Cleveland are supplied from nearly the same sources as New York, but Pittsburgh and Cincinnati take about one-half as much celery from Michigan as from New York State, while Michigan supplies Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and Omaha with the greater part of their late crop supplies. New Jersey ships about 150 cars to New York and Philadelphia together. Pennsylvania averages seventy-seven cars per year to Philadelphia, but ships comparatively little to other large cities. Some other states, notably Ohio and Massachusetts plant large acreages to celery, but sell the crop mostly in small lots to near markets.

While shipments of early kinds of Northern celery are received from Michigan and New Jersey in June and July, and from Colorado, Ohio and Pennsylvania in August, the greater part of the crop is shipped in fall and early winter. October, November and December are the most active months.

California celery is in the market from December to March, and competes with Florida celery, as well as with the Northern supply. Florida stock goes chiefly to large Eastern cities. New York takes about one-half its total supply of celery from Florida, averaging 500 to 600 cars per year, compared with 100 to 600 from California. Philadelphia averages 229 cars of celery from Florida and twenty-nine from California. In Cleveland the proportion of Florida celery is about five to one; in Pittsburgh and Cincinnati the two States divide the market about equally. In many Middle Western markets, including Kansas City, St. Louis, Detroit, Minneapolis and St. Paul. California supplies far more celery than Florida, but Chicago has been taking over twice as much celery from Florida as from California, averaging 167 cars per year from the former state.—New York Times.
