Dead is Gregory A. Fraker, 27, of 1626 N. Atlantic Drive, Altamonte Springs, and Allen Curtis Tedder, 39, of 1701 W. Carlton St., Longwood. They are the 39th and 40th traffic fatalities in the county this year and the third in Seminole County during the holiday that began 6 p.m. Wednesday and ended midnight Sunday. A Deltona man burned to death in a flery two-vehicle scheduled today to determine if Two Seminole County men crash early Thanksgiving morning on State Road 46, west of Sanford.

> According to Lake Mary Police, the men, with Fraker driving. were westbound around 9:38 p.m. in a speeding 1964 BMW hardtop when it left the interstate for an unknown reason and rolled, ejecting Fraker and Tedder. The car was traveling between 80 and 90 mph at the time and left the road on a straightaway just south of Lake Mary Boulevard.

Tedder, hurled 84 feet, died on impact. Fraker, tossed just behind the car, died shortly after paramedics arrived. Tests were alcohol was involved. The men apparently were not wearing seat belts, according to Lake Mary Police.

Statewide, fatalities from four unrelated traffic accidents Sunday helped pushed the statewide holiday death toll to 33, below the FHP's expectation that at least 42 people would be killed in traffic accidents.

The Patrol said that after preliminary investigations, at least seven of the 33 fatalities were alcohol-related. FHP did not investigate the Lake Mary accident because it happened within the city's limits.

North's Blizzard To Cool Florida

By United Press International An angry winter storm blasted the upper Midwest with sub-zero temperatures and blissard conditions, stranding air and road travelers and closing schools today.

Central Florida will feel a cooling trend with tonight's temperatures easing into the low 50s. Winds are expected from the north at 10 to 15 mphs. Tuesday, the Sunshine state's forecast is sunny and cool with highs in the mid-60s and winds 15 to 20 mph.

In the country's midland, the first blizzard of the winter was over Lake Huron and on its way to Canada early today, but not before it left up to 2 feet of snow and below-zero temperatures with 60-mph winds in the Upper Mississippi Valley.

Most road crews in lowa and eastern and southern Minnesota quit for the night hoping conditions for clearing the roads would improve by morning.

In Des Moines, the airport remained open, but many of the roads were closed, including interstate 80, the main east-west artery.

Basically the entire state is snow and ice covered," said a spokeswoman for the lows Highway Patrol. All schools in Des Moines were closed, as were the state universities and most other colleges.

Blizzard conditions Sunday forced lows officials to call in the National Guard to search for vehicles stranded in wind chill readings of 50 degrees below zero. A 15-car pileup was reported near Mitchellville.

"There's some idiots still out there," said Ed Thornton, a foreman for a Department of Transportation garage in Des Moines.

Zoo Backers Drafting Tax Referendum

By Sarah Nunn Herald Staff Writer

Advocates of maintaining a zoo in Sanford decided today to seek legislation to allow a referendum asking whether voters are willing to fund a local zoo through property taxes.

Supporters of a local zoo agreed to a property tax figure of 15 cents per $1,000 assessed property value. The figure was agreed up as supporters met this morning at the Chamber of Commerce.

The tax would net $900,000, a figure which the group admits is more than the funds needed to subsidize the size of zoo they want.

Operating costs for a small-tomedium size zoo is $540,000 based on 1985 costs and would increase to over $600,000 next year, according to Central Florida Zoological Society Executive Director Alan E. Rozon.

The additional money money would act as a "cushion" against possible erating cost increases, said A.B. Peterson Jr., one of the proposed zoo

The 15 cents property tax would be the maximum that could be levied under the proposed bill. An amount equal to or less than that could be collected if the referendum is approved. but an assessment beyond that would have to be approved by a special act of the legislature, Peterson said.

For Fire, Rescue

First Response Pact Must Wait

By Karen Talley Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Fire Chief Gary Kaiser is looking into a new communication system for his fire department and at the same time has fired off a memo to County Commission Chairman Bob Sturm criticizing Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith for saying the county is dragging its feet in negotiations to reach a first response pact with Kaiser's memo was prompted by the letter Mayor Smith sent Sturm last month requesting the two governments renew wastewater management and first response fire and rescue jointventure discussions. In the correspondance she states that Sanford Chief Tom Hickson received "less than enthusiastic support" from Kaiser regarding first response when the two men met earlier this fall.

Kaiser disagrees with this statement and his position is apparently bolstered by Hickson, who said the mayor 'misinterpreted" what he told her about the meeting he had with the Seminole fire chief. Both men said they came away from the discussion with an understanding that a first response agreement would, for the time being, have to take a back seat to the county's efforts to obtain a new fire communications system.

A first response pact would necessitate the city joining the county's communications system.

Sanford's fire chief said he agreed "it wouldn't make sense" for the city to join the county's present system. "I can see their point." Hickson said, "and I told the mayor that. Why convert to system they may not be using for very much longer?"

Kalser pointed out that he's been proposing first response fire and rescue service for nine years and has received "little interest" from Sanford all that

Now, according to Kaiser, while the county is looking at a new communications system for its fire department, "I don't see the logic of discussing first response."

"Whether we get a new system or not. I'm still all for Sanford joining us. ? thought I'd made that very clear to Chief Hickson," Kaiser said.
At the chiefs' meeting, "Gary (Kaiser) said because of the information they're collecting (on a new communication system). first response couldn't be an issue right now." Hickson said, "I guess Mayor Smith just misunderstood

Filipinos Denounce Acquittals In Aquino Murder

MANILA. Philippines (UPI) - Filipinos denounced the acquittal today of Armed Forces chief Gen. Fabian Ver and 25 others in the Benigno Aquino murder as a fatal blow to the country's judiciary.

"It's a triple murder." said Aquino's brother. Agapito. "They killed Ninoy all over again. They killed (alleged assassin Rolando) Galman and they also killed the judiciary." Ninoy was a popular nickname for Aquino.

"Not only is it condemnable but it is a reindictment of our entire judicial system," said human rights lawyer Joker Arroyo. "The government does not have the capacity or the willingness to render Justice or impartial judg-

"This travesty of justice strengthens our resolve to dismantle the dictatorship." It said. "Today is certainly the saddest day in our nation's history. For today, we are finally convinced that justice is dead in this country."

Opposition leader Salvador Laurel, a presidential aspirant in an election tentatively scheduled for February, vowed to reopen the case if he

"Justice will ultimately be given him (Aquino)

Doo Dah Does It With Disrespect

PASADENA. Calif. (UPI) - More than 100 off-beat entries, including a flasher's drill team and a Santa Claus on roller skates, delighted thousands of cheering and laughing onlookers at the 9th annual Occasional Doo Dah Parade Sunday afternoon.

About 40,000 spectators lined Colorado Boulevard and adjoining streets for the irreverant parade, begun as a spoof of the elaborately organized Rose Parade that draws national attention to Pasadena every New Year's Day.

Among the more popular entries was a flasher's drill team - a group clad in trench coats over white T-shirts with the slogan, 'Where's the beef?"

Members of the Ocean Beach Geriatric Surf Club and Precision Marching Surf Board Drill Team carried their surfboards and tried to catch a wave to the tune of "Surfer Joe." while being chased by a large plastic shark.

One group attracting groans was the Texas Chain Saw Massacre Drool Team, with members displaying both saws and artificial limbs.

While normal marching bands eschew the Doo Dah Parade, the procession did attract such "musical" entries as the Mercy Hospital Bakersfield Bedpan Band, with members dressed in nurse's frocks drumming out a beat on bedpans, and the Marching Leech Kazoo

The largest entry was called "Styrofoamasouros," a 50-foot dinasour skeleton pulled by attendants dressed as cave people.

Two groups imitated the Bhagwan Shree Raineesh and his followers, with one of them carrying a make-believe guru on a litter under a sign reading "My other car is a Rolls-Royce."
In a nod to the upcoming holiday season.

Santa Claus zoomed by on his roller skates wearing bright red shorts. Among the veterans of past Doo Dah parades were the Precision Briefcase Drill Team. wearing business suits and waving suitcases in intricate routines, and a group called Toro. Toro. Toro pushing lawn mowers in formation. As usual, this year's parade had no theme no prizes, no official order of march - and little sanity. It did have a queen and grand marshal, drinking buddles Jerry Collins and Willie Bowman of the Loch Ness Monster Pub. Local legend has it that the Doo Dah parade was conceived at the Loch Ness by regulars grousing that the city's famed Rose Parade would smell a little sweeter with a healthy dose of diarespect.

Warning After Rape

Badge, Light Don't Identify Cop

By Susan Loden Herald Staff Writer

A badge and a blue light don't necessarily a police officer make, as a South Florida woman has learned.

Her truck was pulled off Interstate by two men who flashed a police-type blue light in their vehicle of the officer, Spolski advises a driver and showed badges when they approached her car.

The woman challenged the men when the ordered her out of her vehicle just after midnight Thursday. but then it was too late. The men showed no weapons, but the 34-year-old woman was knocked out with a flashlight. When she awoke in the bed of her pickup truck at about 3 a.m. she was bruised and nude, a rape victim.

What should she have done? Insisted on seeing a photo-bearing identification before folling her car window down or getting out of the car, said Seminole County sheriff's spokesman John Spolski.

Then, if in doubt about the identity to stay in their vehicle, with the windows rolled up and that they ask that the officer, if driving an unmarked car, call a marked patrol car to the scene.

Another alternative. Spolski said. would be for the driver to ask the jail or to a police station, to confirm that the stop was official.

In the case of a weapons brandishing officer approaching a stopped car. Spolski said, in a routine type traffic situation, there would no reason for a plain clothes sheriff's deputy to display a weapon, or for a uniformed officer to draw a gun. Spolski said similar incidents like Thursday's in Ft. Lauderdale plagued Seminole County two years ago. A police impostor whose car was equipped with a blue light was stopping cars, brandishing a gun and making threats.

Spolski said he expects there could possibly be "copycats" who would officer to follow him and her to the mimick the Ft. Lauderdale area attack and cautions motorists that a badge isn't proper identification for a police office.r

Stars Shine On President During Hollywood Salute

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - President Reagan ended his Thanksgiving vacation in California today, basking in the glow of an all-star Hollywood salute to him.

The President was flying to Scattle on his way back to the White House to attend a $700,000 fund-raising lunch for Sen. Slade Gorton, R-Wash.

Reagan has been silent for a week on the panoply of domestic issues facing him, but was expected to use the political appearance today to throw in a few licks in support of his beleagured tax reform plan and his balanced budget proposal.

The president Sunday night took part in a television taping of "All-Star Party for Dutch Reagan," a Variety Clubs benefit to be aired on CBS Dec. 8.

Among the more than 100 stars, most of a conservative political bent, were Frank Sinatra, Charles Bronson, Monty Hall, Sammy Davis, Dean Martin, Angle Dickinson, Liberace, Burt Reynolds, Joan Collins, Linda Evans and John Forsythe.

NEW YORK (UPI) - The theft of $7,000 in donations and poor-box money from the St. Patrick's Cathedral parish house may have been an inside job because the two masked gunmen knew their way around the maze-like building, police say.

Capt. Charles Luisi of the Manhattan Detective Bureau said Sunday police are "checking into church employees."

Luisi said the suspects, who struck Saturday night in the parish house adjacent to the landmark cathedral, "were quite familiar with the physical layout of the building. They apparently knew where they were going."

He also said. "The suspects were familiar with the ushers' procedures."

Luisi said the suspects held four church ushers at gunpoint before locking them and two maintenance workers in a walk-in vault. No one was injured.

Atlantis' Construction Practice Over

Crew Will Be Comet Watchers Today

By William Harwood UPI Science Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) - Atlantis's construction crew built a 45-foot tower and awung it about like spacewalking Paul Bunyans to usher in the space station era, then relaxed today and awaited a chance to ace Halley's comet.

Astronauts Jerry Ross and Sherwood Spring spent 6 1/2 hours working in the shuttle's open payload bay Sunday night in their second spacewalk in two days to practice construction techniques considered vital to NASA's plans for building a permanently manned space station in the

"You guys do good work and 'Ace Construction Co.' might be in business in a few years," radioed astronaut David Leestma from mission control in Houston.

The other crew members are commander Brewster Shaw, co-pilot Bryan O'Connor, Mary Cleave, Rodolfo Neri of Mexico and Charles Walker, a commercial engineer with McDonnell Douglas Astronautics Co.

On the eve of landing, the shuttle fliers faced a light schedule today that included tidying up the ship's cramped cabin and an opportunity to view Halley's comet from space. The crew began an eight-hour sleep period about 2:15 a.m. EST.

Atlantia, making its second flight, is scheduled to end the 23rd shuttle mission Tuesday at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. Because of rain on the normally dry lakebed shuttle runways. Atlantis is expected to land one orbit early around 4:33 p.m. EST on a concrete strip at Edwards.

While Atlantis's crew slept early today, NASA engineers hauled the flagship shuttle Columbia to the launch pad for blastoff Dec. 18 on the 10th and final shuttle flight of 1985. Its crew will have a hard act to follow.

In one of the smoothest shuttle flights to date. Atlantis's astronauts successfully launched three costly communications satellites and laid the groundwork for largescale orbital construction.

"Let's go build a space station," Ross exclaimed Sunday after completing the assembly of the 45-foot aluminum tower.

"OK. Where do I sign up?" replied Spring.
The spacewalks on Friday and Sunday were designed to demonstrate the ability of spacesuited construction workers to assemble the trusses and beams that will be used to build an orbital habitat in the next decade.

"I think we're very anxious to get this data and I think it'll be put to very quick use in planning the nation's first space station."

said Doug Heard, chief investigator of the tower project. Ross and Spring first practiced erecting the 190-pound tower and taking it apart Friday. During Sunday's outing. Ross rode on the end of the shuttle's robot arm. operated by Cleave from inside the crew cabin, to complete the task again.

Once the tower was assembled, the spacewalkers took turns lifting it out of its mount in the cargo bay and maneuvering it about as future workers might during construction of a real space station.

, Television beamed down from the shuttle showed Spring on the end of the arm nearly 50 feet above the shuttle, easily swinging the spidery truss about in a spectacular demonstration of the effects of weightless-

The spacewalkers then reassembled an open framework pyramid structure made with six 12-foot. 65-pound beams and maneuvered it about as well.

"God. I hate to go in." Spring said shortly before the triumphant spacewalkers returned to the shuttle's airlock at 9:57 p.m. EST Sunday.

"I know," said Ross, reflecting on the vagueries of shuttle flight assignments. "Especially when you think it might be the last time you ever get a chance to do it."

> The merger would have a major impact on commodities, ranging from Midwest grain and Appalachian coal to car parts and wood products, and would affect interested parties from the California Association of Manufacturers to the New England Electric System.

"Contrary to appearances, this is an issue of direct importance to California," manufacturers from the state told Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., in a recent letter. "Studies show that about a third of Conrail's billings originate or terminate in California."

New England utilities say the merger could increase the cost of electricity from coal-fired power

Norfolk Southern's withdrawal from the Conrail sweepstakes seemed likely until two weeks ago when Justice Department officials, in a preliminary ruling, said the railroad appeared to have resolved antitrust concerns blocking the merger. Douglas Ginsburg, assistant attorney general for antitrust matters, said a Norfolk Southern track divestiture plan would maintain rail competition that otherwise would be lost in many Midwest and Northeast markets in a merger.

However, at a Senate hearing Nov. 21. Ginsburg conceded he made his announcement without independently verifying many of Norfolk Southern's claims for its plan, which calls for the Guilford and Pittsburgh & Lake Eric railroads to buy or lease Norfolk Southern track.

Road Stays Open; Police Get Building

By Jim Searls Herald Staff Writer

There is a half mile dirt road in Lake Mary that several residents would like to see closed because of noise, traffic and trash, but the city wants to keep it open so police and rescue units can provide service to the adjacent Lake Bingham Woods subdivision.

The unhappy neighborhood residents brought their case to a Lake Mary city commission meeting last week.

At that same meeting the commissioners voted to allocate $7,600 in contingency funds for a temporary building the police department wants to occupy. Commissioner Buzz Petsos discussed his continuing dislike of portable buildings and questioned why the city opted to obligate themselves to pay a total of $17,776 to an Orlando company over the next two years to pay for the temporary structure.

A group of area residents led by developer Hanns Schweizer's son Bruce and Karen Robertson told commissioners that when they purchased their homes in Lake Bingham Woods they had been told the road was a temporary Florida Power and Light access road and that it would soon be closed. They complained of noise from cars that passed behind their homes and in part blamed college students from nearby Seminole Community College.

"Main Road is covered with trash and it is becoming heavily used by people who use it for access to other streets." Mrs. Robertson said. "I don't like all those cars going up and down that road night and day. People can look right up into the backs of our homes from there.'

Another resident, Bill Neff, said, "If police and firemen can get back there anybody can."

Roger Jarand, an administrator at Seminole Community College, told about his knowledge of the situation.

"I have lived in that area (Lake Bingham-Road) for seven and a half years and I use that road four times a day to get back and forth from the college." Jarand said. "I don't think traffic is that bad and frankly I like having that road open. If one of you had a heart attack you sure would want that thing open. We just went through a terrible brush fire season here and having the volunteer fire department back there could save a home from burning."

Jarand went on to say that the area has a large incidence of house burglaries and that he wouldn't argue the point if commissioners did vote to close the road but he said the move would be "shortsighted." He argued that the developer (Schweizer) hired Orange Paving Co. of Orlando to dump sand in the middle of the road to close it. "That's not a very friendly thing to do to new neighbors, you know," Jarand said.

At that time the city had to force Schweizer to remove the dirt so people could pass.

City building official Stan Welling told the commission that the road has only a half right of way of 25 feet from the city and the road meanders through private property and is partially on an FP&L right of way. Commissioner Charlie Webster said that the road was there when he bought his property nearby some 25 years ago and that the road became more traveled when Larry Dale developed the adjacent Cardinal Oaks subdivision and widened one end of it a few years ago. He downplayed any problems with the road and said there was really nothing the city could do about it.

Welling said he had been approached by area citizens about the situation in the past and said. "it appears something needs to be done there."

But when the vote for closure came only Commissioner Russ Megonegal voted for the measure. Other commissioners, most notably Ken King, said the idea of putting barricades at either end had been tried in the past without success because drivers could simply create a new road of their own by driving around them through the woods. King also said that the only parts of the road that are clearly under city jurisdiction are the two openings and that the rest of the road snakes through the woods changing course with weather conditions.

Some Lake Mary residents would like to see this road running behind their homes closed, but the city commission refused to honor their request on a 3-1 vote.

The proposal failed 3-1. Commissioners Charlie Webster and Buzz Petsos also voted against closing the road. Mayor Dick Fess was absent and Commissioner Paul Tremel was taking his place as vice-mayor and did not vote. The mayor only votes in case of a tie in Lake Mary.

In other business the commission gave the police department $7,600 out of the city's total of $24,876 for emergency allocations to pay for electrical hookup and furniture for a 24-foor by 60-foot modular building unit.

Police Chief Harry Benson told commissioners he was pleased with the portable building the city agreed to lease for the next two years from Diamond Engineered Space in Orlando but he said it would feel more like home for his department if electricity, water, phones, communication equipment and furniture could be purchased, hooked-up and moved in.

"That is a really nice building and we need the space pretty badly," Benson, Lake Mary's first and only police chief, said. "I think if we (police department) shop around we may be able to get everything we need for less than the $7,600 we're asking. We're definitely bargain hunting." he Petsos, on the other hand, has fought the portable building concept since his days on the planning and zoning board and questions the contract the city signed on Oct. 29, 1985 with the Cleveland, Ohio based company.

'I don't understand why the city should form a Capital Facilities committee to look into buying land for new city buildings while we sign a contract obligating the city to spend $667 a month for the next two years." Petsos said.

Petsos also said the contract not only financially obligates Lake Mary until Oct. 1987 but also states in section #27 that, "The city may exercise the option to purchase this unit on or about October 9, 1987 for a buyout price of $17.776." That would mean it would cost the city of Lake Mary a grand total of $33,784 to purchase the aluminum and wood portable structure.

Notwithstanding his commitment to stand alone with his argument. Petsos finally gave in and voted for the allocation along with the rest of the commission. The commission achieved a "consensus" of opinion by arguing that the police department's critical lack of space (they share cramped quarters with the volunteer fire department in a single concrete block building) outweighed any immediate financial concerns.

For a widow or single person, joint conversity is often not appropriate, as you lose 16 year homestead exemption, 16 of the exclusion on the $125,000 on sale of a home, etc. The perfect solution for many is something called the living (reversible & amondable) trust — you are your own trustee, no bank is secessary. An atterney friend of Mrs. Stock's calls it a "fency Will." She calls it one of the best kept secrets of the legal profession — it evolds probate.

At the death of the second apounc, if your assets are over $500,000, the LR.S. could callect $7% or higher! With the use of a living brust, the bill tends to zero on up to $1.2 million.

Oyster Bowl Has Crack Lineup

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) - A crack lineup of the Cajun country's best oyster shuckers were to pit skills Sunday in the first French Market Oyster Bowl.

A series of qualifying heats trimmed the ranks of the professional oyster shuckers - most from hotels and restaurants - before the final competition, with judges selecting a winner based on speed and finesse.

Contestants were required to pop open 24 oysters as fast as they could and arrange them prettily on the half shell in a tray. Points were to be deducted if the oysters came out damaged or dirty.

"The holiday season is traditionally a time of heavy oyster consumption, and we want to spotlight this important Louisiana seafood," said Frank Tulios, chairman of the Louisiana Scafood Promotion and Marketing Board.

Congress Must Stop Silly Sally

The Legal Services Corp. may be right that past audits of federally funded legal services agencies were too friendly and cozy, but the search-and-destroy teams that LSC is now sending out are hardly the answer. Instead of scrupulous but impartial monitors, LSC has been using teams that include not only people who are vehemently opposed to the program but individuals who have themselves been defendants in suits brought by lawyers from the local legal services agencies that they are supposed to be auditing.

in the case of California Rural Legal Assistance, which provides legal assistance to thousands of California farm workers, and which Ronald Reagan has been trying to destroy since he was governor of California. the 17-member monitoring team includes a former official of the Immigration and Naturalization Service who was sued by CRLA in Texas, a former official of the American Farm Bureau Federation who specialized in farm labor issues, and a longtime lobbyist for the National Rifle Association. Others on the team have backgrounds in international trade. marketing, criminal investigation and public relations. How those backgrounds and the accompanying attitudes qualify the team to engage in an effective and objective audit defies the imagination.

Federal law requires that audits be done every 18 months to make certain that the agencies, which provide legal services to the poor, are run responsibly. In the past, those examinations, which were usually done by staff members of other legal service agencies, may well have been as LSC officials charge, too much of an exercise in mutual back scratching. But under the new system, the audits have now gone off the other deep end, demanding thousands of documents, including detailed client files, which can only intimidate the agencies and their clients, impair the delivery of legitimate legal services and jeopardize general confidence in the

All that might be understandable had there been a series of scandals in legal services delivery. But in recent years, the only major scandal has been the Legal Services Corp. itself, which has been packed by the Reagan administration with people hostile to its programs and which has often seemed more like an instrument designed to destroy rather than support the activities it's supposed to be administering. Had it not been for Congress, the whole legal services program would by now already be dead. The audits are another sally in that campaign, and once again Congress will have to step in.

Still Number One

As U.S. competitiveness in world markets declines and we worry about economic decay, our living standards remain the world's highest — far higher than those of the competitor we most fear: Uapan. While the difference in per capita income between the two nations is no longer enormous, the U.S. is still comfortably ahead: $14.093 vs. $9.717, and the average U.S. hourly wage last year was $9.17 vs. Japan's $6.06.

These numbers reflect living conditions in Japan that most Americans wouldn't tolerate. The average Japanese home is only half as large as the American (and twice the price), only 34 percent of Japan's communities have modern sewer systems, and central heating, modern kitchen appliances, even washer and dryers, are relatively rare. This doesn't mean Japan is poor. Most Japanese families have televisions, modern sound systems and cars.

But money still matters. The Japanese may be savers, not spenders, but they still simply have less money than Americans. We may have our slums, but it will be a long time yet before this country ceases to be the most comfortable place to live in on earth.

BERRY'S WORLD

GEORGE McGOVERN

President's Popularity A Political Paradox

Reflecting on the recent Geneva summit. I am struck by one of the paradoxes of American politics: the public tendency to give a political leader new approval and enhanced popularity for moving even modestly to correct earlier blunders and mistakes.

President Reagan is emerging from his recent talks with Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev with the image of a peacemaker, an advocate of cultural and scientific exchange, a proponent of arms control and a reasonable negotiator. It is said by Mr. Reagan and others that he brought the Soviets back to the negotiating table by his toughness and his military buildup over the last five years.

I'm delighted that the president, after five years in office, finally met with his Soviet counterpart. I am delighted, too, that the two men have agreed to meet again in 1986 and 1987. In this dangerous nuclear age, it is suicidal folly for the two superpowers to break communications between their two top leaders.

The political paradox is that after five years of the worst possible management of Soviet-American relations (make that six years, if you include the last year of the Carter presidency).

Mr. Reagan has suddenly emerged with a popular negotiating triumph.

But for the sake of history, and in the interest of truth, it is important to keep these developments in perspective. What are the facts?

Fact 1: For the first time since the second world war, an American president has gone through an entire four-year term without meeting his Soviet counterpart.

Fact 2: For the first time since World War II. Soviet arms negotiators abruptly broke off arms control talks with American negotiators: this happened in 1982. If Mr. Reagan wants to claim credit for the Soviets' return to arms negotiations, he should also assume the blame for driving them out of the negotiations three years ago, since they left in disgust over what they considered an irrational Reagan negotiating position.

Mr. Reagan claims that the secret of his success in handling the Soviets is that in escalating military spending he has been following a more "realistic" course than his predecessors. Actually, the Reagan policy was based on the illusion that the Soviets were ahead of us in strategic military power, and therefore Mr. Reagan had to increase arms spending during the last five years to catch up. The truth is that our strategic military power has been superior to that of the Soviet Union for 40 years and remains so today.

Fact 3: Nothing substantive was achieved on arms control at the summit and neither the 1979 SALT II agreement nor the ABM Treaty of 1972 was reaffirmed. After six years of worsening relations and a stalemate on arms control, the recent summit has begun to restore arms control to about where it was under President Carter in 1979.

Spending Abounds

WASHINGTON — For the past decade I've been investigating and exposing wasteful, unneeded, unaffordable and ineffective federal spending totaling tens of billions of dollars — from revenue sharing for wealthy communities to corporate welfare.

I have pored over countless computer printouts detailing billions of dollars in grants, questioned contract officials about dubious procurement projects and held each program and agency up to this single criteria: Is this expenditure necessary? Very often, the answer is no.

So it is always more than a little astonishing to hear political leaders in Congress and elsewhere, and many of my colleagues in the national news media, say that spending can't be cut without hurting the needy or cutting deeply into the muscle of our national security. When I hear such talk on the House or Senate floor or in the press galleries. I have to wonder where these people have been living. Certainly not in Washington.

San anyone defend giving away $4.6 billion a year in borrowed "revenue sharing" money to every community in America, regardless of need? I mean, really — $200,000 a year for Beverly Hills? Does anyone truly believe that America will crumble if we stop distributing $3.5 billion a year in community-development block grants to thousands of localities that hardly qualify as poor — especially since the states are piling up healthy surpluses?

Does anyone think our defense will be weakened if we stop retiring officers as early as age 38, or cut $750 million a year in commissary subsidies for well-pensioned military retirees in second-career jobs?

The list of highly cuttable programs, and the potential three-year savings, is seemingly endless: $3.9 billion in cheap Export-Import Bank loans to Fortune 500 giants like Boeing and General Electric: $1.8 billion in subsidized loans for wealthy rural electric and telephone cooperatives: $1.4 billion in Urban Development Action Grants that have helped rich corporations like Hyatt and Amway build ritzy hotels: $5.3 billion for the Small Business Administration, which helps few businesses, and whose bureaucracy alone costs nearly one-quarter of a billion dollars a year; and on it goes.

"...Yeah, I guess you could say that the hospital put me on a special diet..."

WILLIAM RUSHER

'Facts' Can Mislead

Among the many blessings we Americans can count as we sit down to our holiday dinners this year, is a brief respite from the national hysteria over careinogens, or cancer-producing chemicals, in our food. The environmentalists, who long ago discovered that they could terrorize large segments of the population into doing their bidding by exaggerating the risks of cancer from various sources (e.g. nuclear power plants), aren't quite crazy enough to take on the traditional celebratory dinner.

And yet, as the American Council on Science and Health points out — not to frighten us, but rather 40 show us how meaningless or even misleading some of these "scientific facts" can be — there are indeed minute quantities of known carcinogens and powerful toxins in typical American meals.

Take cream of mushroom soup. for example. Mushrooms contain hydrazinesand parahydrazinobenzate acid - both known carcinogens. As for roast turkey, there lurks within it a substance called methyl glyoxal that is not only carcinogenic in rats but also mutagente (i.e., can cause genetic mutations). And yams: Did you know they contain cyanogenetic glycosides, which can produce hydrogen cyanide upon being chewed or digested, thereby releasing cyanide? Even pumpkin pie has safrole in it, a chemical that causes liver cancer in animals.

"Our purpose in presenting this lesson on toxicology." explains ACSH's executive director Dr. Elizabeth Whelan, "is not to frighten further our already chemical-phobic nation, but rather to emphasize the reality that the human race has long been consuming naturally occurring toxins. These minute levels of natural polsons, however, have no known deleterious effects on health. When one understands the omnipresence of toxins and carcinogens in nature's own food supply, one can see the absurdity of panicking over minute levels of man-made chemicals (like EDB and PCB)."

The ACSH, which is one of the sanest organizations now advising the public on the scientific aspects of health (including nutrition), has issued a tongue-in-cheek menu, listing the toxological effects of chemicals naturally occurring in every course from soup to nuts. But, as ACSH Research Associate Linda Behre stressed: "To receive toxic levels of the chemicals in this particular meal, one would have to consume truckload quantities every day of turkey and vegetables - 'a sheer impossibility. It is neither necessary nor practical to avoid the minute levels of carcinogens and toxins in our food. Our preventive medicine efforts are better spent in more productive ways."

The press release accompanying the menu ends with a perky "Bon appetit from ACSH!"

Ladies In Tea Time Thanks

By Helen Thomas UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nancy Reagan is sending a thank-you letter to Raissa Gorbachev for the tea, the hospitality and the gifts she recevied from the Soviet first lady at the Geneva summit meeting.

Mrs. Gorbachev was expected to do the same for the same reasons. The two first ladies hit it off, and they will be seeing each other at future summit meetings — next year in Washington and in Moscow in 1987.

Mrs. Reagan was influnctial in bringing about the summit meeting, pushing for a "get acquainted" session to size up the Kremlin leader, while some of President Reagan's advisers wanted to play it safe, having him go to Geneva only if there were substantive agreements to sign.

Aides said the first lady also urged that the two leaders meet in small cozy salons at the villas where they held forth, adding to the picture of the chummy "fireside summit."

U.S. observers and reporters were struck by Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev's ability to make decisions without reading option papers or consulting advisers. They also saw that he was clearly the man in charge who was prepared to argue his case on all scores.

Reagan was impressed by the depth of Gorbachev's convictions and belief in his own system of government.

While neither man convinced the other on the substantive issue of "Star Wars." the president's dream of a total defense in space for the United States, the big plus was the improved understandling of each other, and the slight opening of a window where the dialogue could continue into the future.

The so-called "news blackout" at the Geneva summit was viewed as more of a ''dimout'' or a "brownout" for the two leaders continued to field questions during picture takings. And although the lid was on for White House officials who are known for flagrant leaking of news, still there was enough grist for the rumor mill to keep the wires humming.

The irony of it all is that Secretary of State George Shultz bragged that it was he who had pressed Gorbachev for the news blackout, and the Soviet leader went along. So an official of a democracy asked the leader of a closed society to refrain from giving out any information.

Suriname Is A Cuba In The Making

By Jack Anderson And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — Suriname is developing into another Cuba-style dictatorship in the Western hemisphere. Its Marxist strong man. Desi Bouterse, desperate for cash to keep his repressive regime afloat, has turned to two tainted sources of money: Libya and Colombian drug dealers.

But he's learning that there's no free lunch in the foreign-aid game.

When Suriname was given its independence by the Netherlands in 1975, the Dutch promised $100 million a year in aid until 1990. The stipend continued even after Bouterse's military coup in 1980 and his growing leftward tilt.

Bouterse cultivated and modeled himself after Maurice Bishop, the Marxist prime minister of Grenada. At Bishop's suggestion. Bouterse succumbed to Fidel Castro's overtures and welcomed a Cuban ambassador to Paramaribo in September 1982.

Cuban aid soon followed, as did the quid pro quo. Dozens of Cubans arrived in Suriname to assist Bouterse in setting up a Marxist dictatorship — which would be under Castro's control. The Cubans trained Bouterse's bodyguards, and even acted in that capacity themselves. Surinamese officials were sent to Cuba for indoctrination.

Both the Dutch and American governments (the United States was also sending Suriname some modest aid) grew increasingly uneasy at the blossoming Bouterse-Castro relationship. In December 1982, when Bouterse rounded up and executed 15 opposition leaders, Dutch and American aid was cut off.

Castro, himself dependent on Moscow gold to bolster the shaky Cuban economy and his foreign adventures, proved slow in providing the money he had promised Bouterse. So, according to our CIA sources, the Surinamese dictator accepted the offer of a loan from Colombian marijuana and cocaine traffickers.

Meanwhile. Brazil. which borders Suriname on the south, woke up to the danger of this Castro foothold and sent a military strike force across the border in April 1983. Literally under the gun. Bouterse agreed to decrease the Cuban presence in his country in return for a $300 million aid deal with Brazil.

Bouterse dragged his feet on the bargain, until Bishop was deposed and murdered by Cuban-backed Grenadan Marxists. Blaming Castro for the death of his friend and mentor, and fearing for his own neck after the U.S.-led invasion of Grenada, Bouterse sent his Cuban advisers packing. Though he had previously claimed there were only 15 Cubans in Suriname, about 100 were kicked out (leaving only eight, according to our sources).

This left Bouterse with nothing but his own poverty-stricken populace and the Brazilians to support his dictatorship. He needed more money — and gratefully accepted a promise of $100 million from Libyan dictator Muammar Khadafy.

What does Khadafy expect to get for his money? Our sources say he hopes to expand his influence in South America. He also wants Surinamese passports for Libyan assassination squads, and hopes to get them for his Palestinian terrorist sidekicks as well.

Khadafy has already set about turning Suriname into a Libyan "staging area" for terrorist attacks. One Surinamese source told us there are more than 200 Libyan military instructors in the country, training terrorists.

Meanwhile, Bouterse is raking in money from his connections in the drug trade. Our associate Donald Goldberg has learned that the operators of a huge cocaine factory destroyed in Colombia moved their base to Suriname, where it is guarded by Bouterse's troops, Drugs reportedly are shipped to Amsterdam in diplomatic pouches.

Nelson Needs Stars To Heal For Woodham

By Chris Pister Herald Sports Writer

Lake Mary coach Harry Nelson is hoping the affects of Friday night's hard-hitting game against Lake City Columbia will wear off soon. That's because the Rams go up against defending state champion Pensacola Woodham this Friday in the 5A-1 Section playoff at Lake Mary High.

"We've got a few guys hurting," Nelson said after Friday's 7-3 victory over Lake City. "And against Woodham. We have to have those guys healthy."

The two players who were banged up Friday are linebacker-fullback Brett Molle and quarterback Shane Letterio. Molle injured an ankle early backfield most of the game. But, the senior standout did stay in on defense and made a number of crucial stops.

Letterio had a rib injury in the second half and had to leave for two plays before returning. Letterio threw for 170 yards in the game and that was all of the Rams' offense since Lake City held them two minus two yards rushing.

"Lake City was a bunch of hard hitters," Nelson said. "But

Lady Seminoles Pick Up Experience

"The whole tournament we played with very experienced people." Seminole High coach Charles Steele said. "To compete with kids like Cocoa Beach had. you have to have a team that has played together for a while."

Steele has just three players with varsity experience on his squad, which dropped a 61-35 decision to Edgewater's Lady Eagles Saturday in the third place game at the University of Central Florida.

"There's just a lack of maturity on the team right now." Steele said. "The girls don't have confidence or patience on Surprisingly, the Seminole player selected to the All-Tournament team was Yolanda Robinson, who scored just eight points in three games. "I think whoever picked the team confused her (Robinson) with 'Kitty'

Lady Rams Salvage Consolation Crown

By Chuck Burgess Special to the Herald

LAKE MARY - The Lake Mary Lady Rams basketball team had at least some consolation in the 1985 Lady Sunshine Basketball Classic this past Saturday. It rolled over rolled past Gainesville Eastside, 55-36, to win the third-place game.

After losing the opening round of the tournament to Titusville Astronaut 65-46, the Lake Mary Rams turned the weekend around by winning the consolation round of the tournament.

The Lady Rams jumped to an early 3-0 lead when sophomore center Teri Whyte hit a layup and was fouled. Whyte, completed the three point gift and gave the Rams the lead only 1:21 into the period.

The Rams were paced by junior guard Tony Lawson who poured in a Ram game high 12 points. Whyte was the only other Ram in double figures with her 11 points.

The Rams moved to a 14-8 first quarter lead when Lawson connected on a 10- footer with 36 seconds in the period. That was as close as the Eastside

Rams could get. With the scoring of Cynthia

"She's (Lawson) was our leading scorer last year in junior varsity," head coach Bill Moore said about the sophomore. "She's very tough on defense, but needs to be a little more consistent on the offensive side of the game. She did extremely well considering this was her first tournament and games as a varalty player."

A Ram player who has had a year of experience to her credit is Patterson. Patterson popped nine points through the net, all of which came in crucial points of the game for the Rams.

"We're a very young and inexperienced team," Moore said. "Our defense today showed that. It's going to take a little while to set them (players) in a fixed lineup."

Snowman Freezes Bucs, 21-0

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) -They may have to start calling Green Bay quarterback Lynn Dickey the anowman.

In one of the worst winter storms in NFL history Sunday and with more than 13 inches of snow already on the ground. Dickey connected on 22 passes for 299 yards to set up three Packers' touchdowns in a 21-0 win over the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

It wasn't the first time Dickey has shown his stuff in near blizzard conditions. He tossed for 371 vards against Denver last year during a 15-inch snowfall.

Packers Coach Forrest Gregg said the game against Tampa Bay was very similar to its last major anow contest against the Broncos.

'Lynn Dickey deserves a lot of credit." he said. "To be able to throw the football under those conditions was close to being phenomenal."

Dickey gave Green Bay a 7-0 halftime lead. After connecting on an 18-yard pass to James Lofton and a 19-yard pass to Paul Coffman, he then carried te ball the final yard for his first rushing TD of the season.

When asked about his ability to throw the ball during snowstorms, Dickey said, "I look at it as mind over matter."

"They did not let the snow set to them." Tampa Bay Coach Leeman Bennett said. "Lynn threw the ball just great. We applied no pressure to him, and give him credit for doing an excellent job of getting the ball to his receivers."

Tampa Bay quarterback Steve Young got his team to within scoring distance only once in his second NFL start. But after his drive was stopped at the Packers 16. Donald Igwebuike missed a 33-yard field goald attempt. "I won't put the blame on the weather," said Young, who completed only 8 passes for 53 yards and rushed for 31 yards.

"The Packers had to play in the same stuff and they had very few problems. They were able to score 21 points in it and we should have scored too." The 65 yards the Packers gave up was its lowest defensive total since it allowed just 58 yards against Atlanta on Oct. 1, 1957. in a 23-0 victory.

Bennett said he realized he would not be able to change weather conditions in Green Bay and told his team Wednesday to concentrate on its own play and to be above the elements. "I really feel fortunate we didn't get beat a lot worse than we did," Bennett said. "I felt it was very, very important that we gain a lead early if we could," Gregg said. But Green Bay's first effort to get on the scoreboard failed when right cornerback John Holt blocked Al Del Greco's 25-yard field goal attempt with just 32 seconds remaining in the first quarter. Del Greco also was wide on a 24-yard attempt in the third quarter.

Gregg said he felt the field conditions would get worse as the day went on and an early lead was necessary to win.

Halfback Gerry Ellis, rushing for his first 100-yard game this season, gave the Packers a 14-0 lead in the third quarter on a 35-yard touchdown run. Fullback Jesse Clark scored

Green Bay's final touchdown on a three-yard run in the fourth

The shutout was the first for the Packers in 125 games in the last eight years. The last shutout also was against Tampa Bay in 1977 during the first meeting of the two teams.

The snowstorm was the worst for the date in the history of the Green Bay weather bureau. which began keeping records in the late 1880s. More than 10 inches of snow fell before kickoff and more than 13 inches were on the ground before the game ended. The storm was expected to dump up to two feet of snow in the area before ending.

Lambeau Field, normally packed for a home game, drew just 19,856 fans with 36,586 no shows and 485 unsold tickets. It was the worst attendance since the stadium opened in 1957.

When asked if the league should stop playing games in Green Hay in December, Bennett replied, "I would think if you asked their season ticket holders the answer would definitely be

Line, Marino Worry Ditka As Bears Hunt 13th

MIAMI (UPI) — The Miami Dolphins, who know about going undefeated, can ensure that the Chicago Bears do not.

Monday night in the Orange Bowl, the Bears' flerce pass rush will run up against a Miami offensive line that has allowed only 13 sacks this season. Bears' coach Mike Ditka expresses great respect for the Dolphin line. which has been banged up by injuries this season.

"You can't get to him," Ditka said of Miami quarterback Dan Marino. "He has the quick release. We're going to have to contain him on the coverage."

The Bears, 12-0 and bidding to be the NFL's first unbeaten team since the 1972 Dolphins, have given up only 2.096 yards passing, while the Dolphins, 8-4, have passed for 3,218.

The Bears also have picked off 30 passes while Marino has thrown 17 interceptions this season to go with 19 touchdowns.

Miami offensive linemen say the Bears have the best pass rush they've faced all season.

'They just don't have two or three good guys," said right guard Steve Clark, "they have five or six. They're all good players. They're all aggressive and quick and know what they're doing."

"All the Bears across the front line are great players," said rookie of-fensive tackle Jeff Dellenbach. "They play the intimidation game, it's part of the Bears style."

Chicago's leading sacker is right end Richard Dent with 10. Tackle Steve

Football

McMichael has eight sacks and linebacker Otis Wilson has 7.5.

"Everyone knows that "Chicago's strength is putting tremendous presaure on the quarterback," said Miami coach Don Shula. "They know he (Marino) is a drop-back quarterback, so they'll be relentlessly trying to break down the pocket and put pressure on him."

Despite the Bears' pass rush, the Dolphins plan to do what works best for their offense - Marino throwing the ball. Wide receiver Mark Clayton leads the Dolphins with 56 catches for 795 yards, and running back Tony Nathan has 54 for 512.

"Our strength has been Marino throwing the football, so you've got to work hard to get him the time do it." Shula said.

To hear Ditka talk about the Miami offense, you would think the Bears were 0-12.

"It's going to be tough. We haven't gone up against a passing game this year that does the things Miami does," he said. "I don't know if we can keep up with their receivers. I don't think we can pressure Marino."

The Bears make themselves hard to figure by offering different defensive fronts.

"It's very unique what they're doing." Shula said. "It's basically a four-man line, occassionally they drop Dent off and sometimes they put both outside linebackers on the same side and blitz both. They just give you a lot of different looks, or they'll give you that blitz appearance then drop off and play zone."

The Sears own two straight shutouts and have not allowed a touchdown in 13 quarters. Nevertheless, the Dolphins believe they can score. "We have Dan Marino and I think the Bears can be hurt by the passing game," Dellenbach sald. "I don't think anyone on this team feels they're going to shut us out. We can score on anybody.

"There's no question they're a very good defensive line, but we can hold our own against them."

"I really believe the entire country saw the very best team in the country," Johnson said. "I also believe they saw the very best player, (quarterback) Vinny Testaverde."

Romp Past FSU Leaves Gators Wondering

United Press International

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Florida State began preparing for the Gator Bowl Sunday while Florida was left thinking about what might have been.

The Gators, ineligible for the Southeastern Conference title and a post-season appearance because of NCAA probation, trounced their state rivals 38-14 Saturday in the regular season finale for both teams. Kerwin Bell threw for 343 yards and three touchdowns and Neal Anderson rushed for 95 yards and two scores as the Gators extended their home unbeaten streak to 20 games.

Florida finished 9-1-1 with a 5-1 record in the SEC, a mark which could have sent the Gators to New Orleans Jan. 1 for a Sugar Bowl date against No. 4 Miami (Fla.). Instead, Tennessee will represent the SEC.

"When I get in a groove like that, I feel I can complete every pass I throw," said Bell, who hit on 14-of-22, including TD passes of 75 and 14 yards to Ricky Nattlel and a game-breaking 82-yard strike to Frankie Neal. "Not too many people can stay on Ricky one-on-one. They were giving it to him and we were taking advantage of it."

The 11th-rated Seminoles, 8-3, entered Florida Field averaging 35 points per game. Florida grabbed a 28-0 halftime lead and six Florida State turnovers undermined any comeback bid, although the Seminoles pulled within 28-14 in the third period on a 58-yard punt return by Deion Sanders and Chip Ferguson's 4-yard quarterback keeper. Florida State has almost a month to prepare for Oklahoma State in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville. Fla.

"They kept us off-balance," said Florida State defensive tackle Stanley Scott. "We were confused and unsettled out there."

Football

With the Seminoles gaining momentum and most of the crowd of 74.461 hushed, Bell uncorked the game's critical play when he spotted Neal alone down the middle and found the speedy junior for the clinching TD with 3:33 left in the third quarter.

"Everyone was pumped up coming out for the second half," said Seminole defensive tackle Gerald Nichols. "Then Bell threw that long one and that took the wind out of our sails."

Galen Hall, who sports a remarkable 17-1-1 record at the Gator helm, is confident the final year of NCAA sanctions will be lifted when Florida's football program is reviewed next fall.

"This is a very fine Florida State team and we wish them the best of luck in the Gator Bowl." Hall said.

"We played an excellent game, a complete game, and I don't think enough can be said about what this senior class has accomplished: I feel we're one of the top teams in the country."

The Gators will lose starting running backs Anderson and John L. Williams, along with star linebacker Alonzo Johnson, but Bell still has two years remaining.

"Bell is remarkable." said Florida State Coach Bobby Bowden. "We hit him good early — we knocked him flat — and it didn't even bother him."
HURRICANES ROCK NOTRE DAME

The Miami Hurricanes, like the Gators, closed out the regular season in grand style.

The Hurricanes, who will play Tennessee Jan. 1 in the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans, scored in every way imaginable. There were field goals of 39. 47, and 48 yards by Greg Cox.

Vinny Testaverde touchdown passes of 15 yards to Mike Irvin and 7 yards to Melvin Bratton, a 17-yard pass from Geoff Torretta to Andre Brown, runs of 1 yard by Testaverde and 6 yards by Warren Williams, a 61-yard interception return by Bennie Blades, and a blocked punt recovered in the end zone by Bill Hawkins.

Notre Dame could manage only a 3-yard TD run by Allen Pinkett in the second quarter.

Testaverde finished 22 of 32 for 356 yards, two touchdowns and no interceptions.

"We wanted to prove we were a good team and we left no doubts," said Miami defensive end John McVeigh.

"Everything was working for us," said defensive tackle Daniel Stubbs. "We came close to having a perfect game. The 80-yard drive for their touchdown was the only bad part of the game. Otherwise, we showed the whole country what we could do."

IN BRIEF

Knights Go Out With Armor Shining, Carve Up Samford

Central Florida football coach Gene McDowell knows how to win early and he knows how to win late. Now, if he can figure out what to do with those middle seven games he'll have quite a program.

The Knights, who opened their season with two victories, closed it the same way Saturday night with a 35-14 thrashing of Samford (Birmingham, Ala.) University before a record-low 3,022 fans at Orlando Stadium.

The victory allowed the Knights to finish with a 4-7 record and offset the sting of a seven-game losing streak. "This definitely salvaged our season." first-year coach McDowell said. "We improved each game. It was a great way to finish the season."

As he did in last week's win over Savannah State. McDowell substituted freely after UCF took control. Quarterback Tony Lanham, wide receiver Ted Wilson and running back Aaron Sam closed out with excellent efforts.

Wilson caught two touchdown passes among his 11 receptions for 139 yards. His 11 grabs broke the school record for career receptions (106) and tied the record for most catches in one game.

Lanham completed 11 of 14 for 170 yards and two TDs. He opened the scoring with a 44-yard toss to Wilson and later hit the fleet junior from Zephyrhills for a 3-yard score.

No Punster: Fuzzy Wins Record Skins

MURRIETTA. Calif. (UPI) — Although he's always been a marvelous golfer. Fuzzy Zoeller has primarly been known as the PGA's touring comic.

You know Zoeller. He's the one who waved the towel in mock surrender on the 18th green of the 1984 U.S. Open: the same guy whose middle name is Urban.

And let's face it, his nickname is Fuzzy.

But during this weekend's third annual Skins Game, Zoeller may have proven — to the public, at least — that he is putter first and punster second.

Zoeller, a Skins newcomer and the only participant to be shut out in the first round, Sunday earned a record $255,000.

He bagged three skins on three birdies — including a 15-footer on the 12th hole for $150,000 — to defeat Arnold Palmer. Tom Watson and Jack Nicklaus before a national television audience.

"What a feeling," said Zoeller,
"That putt on 12, that's what it's all about, to have the opportunity to choke. I didn't choke.
"It surprised the hell out of Equally surprising was the poor play of Nicklaus, the defending champion and course designer.

The Golden Bear won just one skin for $15,000 — thanks to a missed tap-in by Palmer on Saturday's first hole — and had just one birdle. His missed putts on Nos. 15 and 17 allowed Zoeller and Watson to claim skins.

All this from the man who dropped a 12-foot putt on the final hole in 1984 to collect an incredible $240,000.

"I much preferred the way things went last year." said Nicklaus, very quiet while his playing partners were enjoying a rollicking post-match news conference.

Watson finished second with $100,000 and three skins. Palmer, the sentimental favorite and first-day leader, also won three holes and was next with $80,000.

A birdie on the 15th netted Zoeller $70,000, and his magical day ended with a 20-foot birdie putt of $35,000 on the final hole.

Palmer won $35,000 on the 13th and Watson $70,000 on the 17th for the only other second-day skins.

Cuban Newspaper Publisher In Miami To Face Drug Charges

MIAMI (UPI) - The exiled Cuban publisher of a financially strapped, powerful anti-Castro weekly newspaper, Patria, in Miami today was scheduled to appear in federal court on charges he sold $90,000 worth of cocaine to undercover agents.

Alberto A. Rodriguez, owner and founder of the Spanish-language newspaper Patria, was scheduled to appear before a U.S. magistrate on charges of selling seven pounds of cocaine to the agents. He was being held Sunday

Drug Enforcement Administration agents arrested Rodriguez, 63, in his office Friday after a three-month investigation, DEA spokesman Billy Yout said.

Thief Abandons Car And Baby

HIALEAH (UPI) - A still-at-large car thief got more than he anticipated when he realized the car he had stolen had a silent passenger - a two-year-old child - in the back seat. police said Sunday.

Hazel Barrios is safe and unhurt with her parents today after the thief abandoned car and child in a nearby parking lot, said Hialeah spokesman Lowell Coffin.

'This one ended safely, which was fortunate," Coffin said. "The parents are extremely distraught."

The quick-hit crime almost certainly was intended only to be an auto theft. Coffin said. In his haste, the thief probably didn't see the child, he said.

Bedell said the faulty relay switch was part of a system designed to shut down the generator when the production of electric power exceeds demand by a certain degree. But for some reason, he said, the relay switch tripped the generator much sooner than it should have.

Karl Abraham, a spokesman for the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, described the shutdown as a routine event. "It another in the country all the time," he said.

Abraham said the steam released into the air Sunday contained "the very slightest trace of radioactivity.

The exposure to someone standing downwind at the perimeter of the plant would have been "a small fraction of 1 millirem," he said. In comparison, an X-ray gives off 50 millirems.

Sunday's incident was the first shutdown since the reactor was restarted Oct. 3. The plant was idle for more than six years after its twin reactor was crippled in the nation's worst commercial nuclear accident.

Unit No. 1 is a pressurized water reactor, which means its happens to one reactor or nuclear reaction heats water in a closed-loop system of piping.

According to the mayor, the "issue" as described by Hickson indicated to her a first response agreement with Sanford "was low down on the county's priority list."

She also said she asked Hickson twice about his meeting with Kaiser and, "he told me the response was less than enthusiastic."

"I'd be the first to apologize if I was wrong," she said, "But there's still somthing I don't understand. The county has pushed for this for so long and when we wanted to come to the table for it, they pulled back."

answers emergency calls, regardless of whether they are in the city or county. This could necessitate city fire fighting units traveling into unincorporated Seminole County or vice versa. According to Hickson, Sanford residents "might suffer" by the arranangement "If we were out in the county and there was an emergency in the city."

Although he was "impressed" with the communications technology the county is looking into, Hickson said he "still has reservations" regarding first response. "Regardless of what the new system would offer, I need a guarantee that there will be equity of service before I'll commit my department to first response." he said.

The cities of Longwood and Altamonte Springs have first response pacts with the county. Casselberry voted last summer to join, but was told it would have to wait until the county makes a determination regarding the new communications system, Kaiser said.

If the new system was adopted, approximately $100,000 in conversion costs "would be wasted" if Sanford and Casselberry were to join the county now, Kaiser said. He also said although the county bore the conversion costs when lowa, Wisconsin and Michigan. Longwood and Altamonte Blizzard warnings were posted 17 inches of snow.

ment, the closest fire station Springs hooked into the existing system, he didn't know whether the same would apply for Sanford and Casselberry under the new one.

The Motorola Company, which services the county's existing system, is working on a cost estimate for the new technology. Kaiser said, and once received. the financial data will be presented to the County Commission for review.

The Seminole County chief said the new system involves a series of trunk lines such as those utilized by telephone companies. Coordination of channels would be accomplished through two computer terminals, one at the county's Emergency Operations Center and the other at the Sheriff's Department.

These central processing units would be "a vast improvement" over the county's "out dated" two-way radio system, according to Kaiser. He said current problems such as voice distortion and interference through crowded frequencies would be eradicated by a multi-channel system that would enable "max. imum and exclusive utilization of frequency.

The Nebraska women's volleyball team was stranded in Williamsburg, Iowa, Sunday as they attempted to travel by bus back to Lincoln, Neb.

"They were supposed to drive straight through, but at Williamsburg they were practically ordered off the road," said Terry Beck, information director for the school.

The others, including Aviation Security Command Chief Brig. Gen. Luther Custodio, who could have received a death penalty had he been convicted, simply filed out showing little emotion at all. Custodio was perspiring profusely.

Aquino's widow said as she watched the proceedings on television she thought it odd the courtroom was so quiet after the judgment. If they were so innocent, she said, "they would be jumping with joy and not just standing in there not doing anything at all.

"But of course, this is my own perception of how innocent men are supposed to act. For all I know, different people act differently. So, as I've said, who am I to judge?"

Archbishop of Manila Cardinal Jaime Sin also denounced the verdict, saying: "The flagrant disparity between the conclusions by the respected Agrava (civilian commission) board and the decision handed down today by the Sandiganbayan (trial court) threatens to push our country to the brink of violence and despair."

The court upheld the theory that the popular opposition politician was killed by alleged communist-hired assassin Rolando Galman, clearing Ver. 65, and seven others on charges of allegedly covering up military involvement.

The general counsel of the civilian commission that recommended the indictments against Ver. 24 other soldiers and a businessman also thought it curious.

"Obviously, I'm not feeling very happy," he said. "I would have expected smiles and hugs. It was all very somber. But people could say that's military discipline for you.'

"We cannot crase the sadness and shame that befell us." Ver said in a statement afterward. But he said he hoped Filipinos would join hands and put the nation "back on the road to greatness."

The United States has warned that Ver's reinstatement could trigger an angry response from Congress, which is concerned that a growing communist insurgency could threaten two key U.S. military bases in the Philippines.

The court defended the soldiers who shot Galman 26 times after he had been disarmed, saying it was "reasonable to expect them to react in that fashion." Galman allegedly eluded a security net of 1,199 soldiers at the airport.

Aquino had languished in a military stockade for nearly eight years on charges of illegal possession of weapons, murder and subversion before being allowed to go the United States in 1980 for heart surgery.

to allow the referendum because the Central Florida Zoological Society west of Sanford may move its facilities to Orlando.

Whether or not the zoological society goes ahead with its plans, the local group said it wants to see funds generated Survivors include his wife, through a property tax to fund construction of a new facility now or later by the zoological society if it stays in the present location on U.S. 17-92.

> "We encourage and support the present zoo staying where it is. But we've made our point that we do want a zoo there and now we are setting the equipment in motion," Peterson said.

Another member of the group, Doug Stenstron, also stressed that the group's concern is to have a zoo "somewhere in Seminole County, preferably in the same location.

"It's important to emphasize that we support the Central Florida Zoo and hope they find they can remain there,' Stenstron said. "But what if they do move outside the county? That's what we're talking about.'

Stenstron and Chamber of Commerce President Jack Horner agreed to present the proposed bill once it is drafted to the county's legislative delegation. Peterson said he will make the finishing touches on the bill regarding property tax and other information, and said he did not think the group would meet again until after the the measure goes before the legislature.

Deadline for filing is April 8. If and when the legislation is approved, the county would then have the authority to appoint a board to call for a referendum. Zoo supporters said today they would like to see the referendum held during a general election because of the costs involved in holding a special election just for a referendum. County Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff, also at the meeting the zoo is in his district — said a special election would cost the county between $60,000 and $70,000. The group agreed to try and have the referendum put on the ballot during the first primary election, around the first of September.

"We don't want to cost the county more with a special election," Peterson said.

He said the group will promote the zoo issue if a referendum comes about. Offers of financial assistance have come from various people in the community, and Peterson said the group would use any donations for publicizing the zoo issue.

When questioned by Peterson If the group would be "cutting its throats" by asking for more money than is needed. Kirchhoff said that although the zoo effort may "lose some votes," the additional dollars would provide some "leeway" in funding the facility.

Peterson said more figures on operating costs for a zoo will be forthcoming, but he added that the $900,000 is about "onethird" more than what would be needed.

Zoo advocates said they want to see a facility house animals native to this part of the country, rather than exotic animals. They said they want a facility that residents from Seminole and surrounding counties can enjoy.

Give Old Folks What They Want, Not What You Want

DEAR ABBY: We read you in the Midway Driller, Taft, Calif. As residents in a nursing home. we hope you will run again your column on what to give older people for Christmas. It made a lot of sense, and people will listen to Dear Abby.

THANKS FROM ALL OF US

DEAR ALL: Here is it with some minor revisions: DEAR READERS: Can you believe it's time to prepare for the holidays again? Well, it is, so do yourselves a favor and do your Christmas and Hanukkah shopping early. If you're wondering what to give Aunt Jennie or Grandpa, who don't go out much, let me tell you what not to give them:

Forget dusting powder, aftershave and cologne. (They probably have several unopened boxes gathering dust on the closet shelves.)

Grandpa doesn't need another necktle, and Aunt Bertha doesn't really want any more brooches, necklaces, bracelets or earrings. With the price of groceries so high, older folks who live alone on a fixed income would be delighted to receive a basket of goodies. Include small cans of salmon, chicken, ham, tuna. vegetables, fruit, instant coffee, tea bags, crackers, cookies and instant soup mixes.

Older people who live in confined quarters do not need more "things" that are ornamental only. Don't send music boxes. statuettes or other bric-a-brac.

A truly thoughtful gift: postcards and some lined stationery with envelopes and a generous supply of postage stamps. (Enclose some felt-tip pens, too.) A handy gift: an assortment of greeting cards for all occasions, so that they, too, can send birthday, anniversary, graduation, get-well and condolence cards to others. (Be a sport and affix postage to some of the envelopes.) Don't give a gift of clothing unless you're absolutely sure the size is right. That goes for color ans style, too. If you're tempted to pass along a scarf, purse, wallet or some little doodad you received three Christmases ago, please don't: the recipient will probably find it just as uscless as you did.

(Besides, you might get it back the year after next.) If you are aware that someone on your gift list is living on a pension, a check for any amount would be much more appreciated than some uscless little trinket. Another thoughtful gift would be a year's subscription to a newpaper or magazine you are sure he or she will enjoy. If you buy a gift on sale, be sure it's appropriate, since if the

pet is wanted and will be properly cared for. And if you want to delight someone who considers his pet a "member of the family." include a tin or two of cat or dog food for the pet.

Don't give wine or liquor unless you're sure the recipients imbibe. Candy, nuts and fruitcake make wonderful gifts for those who aren't counting calo ries, but please have compassion for those who are, and lead them not into temptation. Also remember that many older people have difficulty chewing hard candles and nuts. And nutritionists caution: "Lay off sugar and salt."

instead of giving someone a gift with permission to "take it back and exchange it if it's not what you want," save yourself (and them) time and effort by giving gift certificates in the first place. Holiday time can be very depressing for people who are alone, so if you know someone who might be alone and lonely. give him (or her) the best gift of all—an invitation to have a holiday meal with you and your family. Loneliness is the untimate poverty.

Just The Right Gift: A Wild Bird Feeder heart, is a wild bird feeder. Taking care of a few feathered friends by providing them food and water in the backyard pays many dividends. The 60-million-plus people who feed wild birds find that it is a great way to have pets that are no bother. The Wild Bird Feeding Institute says that attracting and observing the antics of colorful songbirds appeals to all ages, wherever they may live.

There basicly are two types of feeders to choose from. One is the traditional wooden feeder with a base, roof and two sides of wood and the other two sides of a clear material so you and the birds can see the seeds. The other type is a clear plastic tube with openings cut in the sides so the birds can reach the seed.

There are many variations.

While a wooden model with a

Perhaps one of the most en- large landing area may attract tertaining and educational gifts cardinals, you also might find for children, or anyone young at that grackles and blue jays appreciate the same landing area. The trick is to select the appropriate bird seed to attract the species you like. If you select a tubular feeder that dispenses just niger seed, you'll have finches and even a pine sisken or two. But the cardinal cannot get a meal at this style feeder. Feeders may be hung just > about anywhere outdoors: from a bush or tree, from the caves of a house or garage, mounted on a tree or post, or even attached to an apartment window. If you can, place your feeder near some cover, such as a bush or evergreen tree, so the birds will have a place to go when startled. If squirrels are a problem, mount your feeder on a post with a baffle underneath. Be sure the feeder is at least 8 feet away from any climbable surface and 6 feet above the ground so they cannot jump to it.

American goldfinches vie for positions on a tube-type feeder filled with black thistle seeds.

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) - Gov. Edwin Edwards, who has accused prosecutors in his federal racketeering and fraud trial of conducting a political witch hunt, apparently is ready to endure cross-examination at their hands.

Edwards, on trial with seven associates. is expected to testify in his own behalf as the case enters its 12th week today following a five-day Thanksgiving recess.

The case could go to the jury by week's end. Defense attorney James Neal, in an informal setting last week, jokingly polled reporters on whether they felt Edwards should take the witness stand in his own behalf before U.S. District Judge Marcel Livaudais Jr.

Edwards, however, let it be known earlier he always had intended to address the

"I knew that before the trial started," he said.

By testifying. Edwards would open himself for crossexamination by Republican U.S. Attorney John Volz, whom the governor has accused of conducting a political witch hunt against Democrats.

Edwards and the others are charged with acquiring and selling state permits for construction of hospitals and nursing homes through a conspiracy that involved bribery. deceit, fraud and extortion.

The defendants contend they engaged in shrewd business deals. and that Edwards did not participate after he returned to office as governor.

The other defendants are Edwards' brother, Marion Edwards; a nephew, real estate agent Charles David Isbell; hospital consultants Ronald Falgout and James Wyllie: hospital architect Perry Segura: former New Orleans City Attorney Philip Brooks; and seafood dealer Gus Mijalis.

Edwards' testimony is expected to track statements he made to the grand jury that indicted him, and of defense witnesses who already have appeared.

In his grand jury testimony, introduced into evidence earlier in the trial, Edwards dented taking Illegal actions as governor to aid the alleged conspiracy. He conceded, however, that his brother's clout was synonymous with his own, and that he trusted Falgout to say and do things in his name.

The prosecution contends Edwards earned $2 million from the scheme and helped it as governor with an order in July 1984 to prohibit any more permits being issued with eight exceptions.

Forgiveness is Voluntary, Pressure May Prolong

DEAR DR. GOTT - This isn't a strictly medical question, but I hope you can help. Our youngest began drugs at 12, went all the way to cocaine, and even heroin. In the process, he conned and stole from us all our retirement income. He's now rebuilding his life, at age 29, with the love and inspiration of a lovely girl. He has a good job and will be married soon. But he hasn't been able to begin repaying us. He's signed a codicil admitting his indebtedness and disclaiming any part of our wills. But our two daughters won't forgive him and refuse to attend the wedding. We feel they should give him emotional support. Are we wrong? Are there any organizations or groups through which 12 Ansient ner our daughters could realize that drugs are horrible disease and learn forgiveness? DEAR READER - A drug addict can cause phenomenal family upheaval. I think it is to you and your husband's credit that you have been able to forgive you son and persist in supporting him emotionally now that he is recovering. I'm afraid that the act of forgiveness is a highly personal decision, however, and your daughters may not have progressed to the point where they can forgive. Your decision is laudable; theirs may take time.

While you are correct in wanting the family to rally around your son for his wedding, your choice to attend is yours; you cannot speak for your daughters. Saying that they "should" attend is a parental imperative which may serve to push them further away. Their attendance, and their forgiveness, has got to be voluntary.

As part of his recovery, your son is going to have to accept responsibility for the bad feelings he has created in his sisters. Perhaps if your son were to show good faith and make small monthly restitution to you, your daughters could be convinced of his willingness to make progress. If they truly want to learn more about drug abuse, they could seek help from a drug counselor or attend meetings of Narcotics Anonymous, an .organization whose local chapters are available through your local hospital or the Yellow Pages.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have had a terrible bitter taste in my mouth for about three years, for approximately 80 percent of the time. Had about every test that three doctors and clinics can think of. is there any known cause or cure for this type of problem?

DEAR READER - If you have land, Ohio 44101.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby The highlight of Frank Stewart's "Christmas Stocking." a collection of tales centering on an imaginary local bridge club in late December, may well be a team-of-four match between the bad guys — club boor Bill Frump and three out-of-town professionals — and the good guys - the club regulars. The stakes for the club were high - the montes accumulated in the prize fund - but that was hardly meaningful to Frump, who had inherited a considerable fortune. Our next three columns will feature unusual plays involving K-J combinations that only seem like Christmas presents. In today's deal, Minnie Bottoms, so named for her ability to get a bottom score on even run-of-the-mill hands, was the defender against a prosaic one no-trump contract.

Minnie's opening lead of a spade was captured by declarer's king, and clubs were promptly led. In addition to being a not-so-good bridge player. Minnie was also myopic, and so in reaching for her club jack she inadvertently pulled out the king. What was out-of-town South, Bill Frump's imported bridge pro, to think? It looked like a singleton king, and just looking at Minnie Bottoms would tell anyone that deviousness was not her characteristic, so declarer finessed back against the club jack that East was presumed to hold. When Minnie dug out the club jack, declarer had to fail by a trick in one no-trump.

Be with us tomorrow as more myopia leads to disaster for Bill Frump's hirelings.
