HOUSE AGAINST SETTING ASIDE LABOR BOARD

Supporters of Howell-Barkley Bill Which Would Abolish Rail Labor Board Receive a Setback in House.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Supporters of the Howell-Barkley bill to abolish the rail labor board suffered a reverse in the house Monday when a motion to strike out the enacting clause was adopted 144 to 134.

The vote was on an amendment by Representative Sanders, Republican, Indiana, would have the effect of killing the bill. Friends of the measure at once clamored for a roll call vote but Representative Longworth, the Republican leader, sought to prevent reconsideration by moving to adjourn. The roll call on his motion was then taken with supporters for the bill attempting to prolong the session.

The Democratic-Republican insurgent coalition supporting the bill got the upper hand again on the roll call, the house refusing, 212 to 171, to adjourn.

A vote then was taken on a motion by Mr. Longworth to recommend the measure without instructions to the commerce committee.

Roll Call Delayed
Friends of the bill succeeded in keeping it before the house, voting down the motion to adjourn, 212 to 171. Another vote then was taken on the motion to strike out the enacting clause.

The roll call vote on the motion, however, was delayed, foes of the bill succeeding in a maneuver which reopened debate.

Fail to Reach Vote
The house adjourned Monday without reaching a vote on the Howell-Barkley bill to abolish the railroad labor board, consideration of the measure cannot be resumed before two weeks from Monday.

So determined was the opposition of Republican organization leaders to the proposal that many Democrats and Republican insurgents supporting it doubted whether the bill could be pressed to a vote unless congress remains in session throughout the summer.

The coalition which two weeks ago by petition took the bill from the commerce committee lost control of the situation long enough Monday for opponents to put through a motion to strike out the enacting clause, an action which would have the effect of killing the measure.

Representative Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, author of the measure, demanded another vote, but before it was taken four hours were consumed with a variety of roll calls forced by opponents.

In the end friends of the bill succeeded in restoring the enacting clause by a vote of 188 to 160.

Would Call up June 2
Mr. Barkley, before proposing adjournment, told the house it was apparent a final vote Monday night was out of the question. He indicated he would attempt to call up the measure again on Monday, June 2, and said privately that if adjournment of congress prevents house action at this session, the fight to enact the bill will be next December.

Mr. Barkley charged that opponents of the measure not only were determined that it should not pass but were denying it "decent consideration."

Foes of the proposal declared that if it is called up again they will seek to stave off a vote by offering a flood of amendments.

HARRY K. THAW FREE WILL FACE NEW YORK CASE

Will Go to New York Immediately To Face Charges of Beating Frederick Gump Several Years Ago.

PHILADELPHIA, May 20.—Free and again in possession of his large estate, Harry K. Thaw, who has spent the greater part of the last 17 years in jails and asylums, plans to go to New York to face charges against him of alleged assault on Frederick Gump, Jr., in 1917. A civil suit growing out of this charge has been settled out of court and motion will be made to quash the criminal indictment.

After withdrawal of a motion for retrial filed by his divorced wife, Evelyn Nesbit, Common Pleas Judge Monaghan tonight entered judgment on the verdict of the jury which declared him sane, directed that he be given his liberty unconditionally, that his mother, Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, be discharged as committee of his person and that his property be restored to him by the trustees of his estate.

Thaw, who is visiting his mother in Pittsburgh, was immediately notified of the court's action. He had been on parole from the Pennsylvania Hospital for Mental and Nervous Diseases since the jury verdict on April 22. A special attendant accompanied him to Pittsburgh.

Former Judge John M. Patterson, Thaw's counsel, said tonight that Thaw would voluntarily appear in New York to answer charges pending against him for an alleged beating administered to Frederick Gump, Jr., of Kansas City, in 1917. A suit for damages, brought by Gump's father, has been settled out of court.

NEW YORK, May 20.—Harry K. Thaw will be arrested on a bench warrant and brought to New York, to answer an old indictment for assault against Frederick Gump, Jr., of Kansas City, immediately his final release is signed in Philadelphia, District Attorney Blanton said today.

Arrangements have been made to have the authorities here notified as soon as the millionaire is finally freed, he stated. It is understood that Thaw will come voluntarily.

Mr. Blanton said he would then communicate with young Gump and his father, who now are in California, and try to have them come here as witnesses. Thaw made a settlement of the Gump case in the civil courts, when it was understood an agreement was reached not to press the criminal prosecution. For this reason Mr. Blanton is uncertain whether the Gumps will respond to his request.

HARD FIGHT IS MADE TO BEAT SOLDIER BONUS

President Coolidge's Active Efforts to Secure Defeat of Passage Over His Authority Proved To Be of Little Help As Senate Voted Two To One To Reject His Veto.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—President Coolidge made a futile last minute effort to have his veto of the soldier bonus bill sustained in the senate fight Monday which resulted in the passage despite his attempts to prevent it. Toward trying to ward off its passage, he called into conference seven Republican senators. Four of these he had previously voted for the bill and their ballots in support of the executive.

Although there were only five senators who had supported the bill on its first passage to vote against it today. They were Col. Rhode Island; Keyes, New Hampshire; Mc Kinley, Illinois; Philip Colorado, and Sterling, South Dakota. All except Senator Colt were at the White House conference. The others attending the conference were Cameron, Arizona; Harrell, Oklahoma, and Dale, Vermont.

The last move of the administration was to get delay in the vote until Saturday. Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, asking unanimous consent to defer action until that time. The senate was in no mood for delay, however, and as Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, objected, there were immediate cries of "direct vote," from both sides of the chamber.

Senator Curtis of Kansas, assistant Republican leader, in charge of the bill, moved for a vote and was joined by Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, in suggesting the debate was unnecessary.

Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, and other administration leaders, joined with Senator Curtis in voting against the president.

Material Tax Cut Fades
White House officials in discussing the senate action emphasized that the Mellon tax reduction program was predicated upon the assumption that there would be no bonus legislation. While they refused to say so directly, they left the impression that congress would not pass a bonus bill.

Secretary Mellon was not prepared to discuss the effect of the bonus upon the treasury's financial program but he said that "sooner or later there must be provision for payment and it can be met on a by no tax basis."

The treasury secretary conferred with President Coolidge after the senate acted, but neither he nor White House officials would disclose the subject matter of the conference. Mr. Mellon also declined to comment on suggestions by some treasury officials that the treasury could not do otherwise than recommend a veto of the pending tax legislation as a result of the passage of the bonus.

Mr. Mellon said he could make no intelligent statement concerning the whole situation until he had received from his assistants information now in preparation concerning the effect bonus payment will have on future fiscal operations of the government.

Cost of Bonus
The cost of the bonus has been variously estimated from $2,250,000,000 to $4,000,000,000 treasury officials making the higher estimate. The only cash provided for it is $50 to each service man not entitled to more than that in adjusted service credit. Others would receive a paid up twenty year endowment insurance policy.

The cost for the next fiscal year, when it is figured the cash payments will be made, has been estimated at $150,000,000, which proportions of the law say can be taken care of and taxes reduced at the same time. After the next fiscal year the cost is expected to decrease slightly and it is figured (Continued on page 8.)

CITIZENS LAKE MONROE LISTEN TO CANDIDATES

Nineteen Candidates Present Platforms At Gathering Held On Monday Night

Interest Centers In Sheriff's Race

Seekers of Sheriff's Office Engage In A Few Personalities

Before a crowd of citizens estimated to have been between 250 and 300, candidates for the several county offices Monday night presented themselves and their candidacies to the voters of Lake Monroe in the third of a series of precinct political gatherings held under the auspices and management of the county Democratic Executive Committee.

Robert J. Holly, secretary of the county committee, served as chairman of the meeting, allowing each candidate five minutes in which to present his claims. The meeting began shortly after 8 o'clock and closed at 9:30 o'clock. Nineteen seekers of office spoke to the gathering including Judge J. J. Dickinson, candidate for delegate to the national Democratic National Convention and M. O. Overstreet, candidate for re-election to the state senate from this district.

Chairman Holly introduced Judge Dickinson as the first speaker. Stating that he would be glad to represent the state at the convention and if elected, he would do all in his power to have Florida's choice nominated, the judge declared that it is his belief that this convention will nominate the next President of the United States.

Judge Dickinson then took occasion to flay the Republican Party and administration declaring in "uncertain terms that it is rotten to the core" and that the time has now come when the people must rise up and declare themselves against any such irregularities and mismanagement of the affairs of government. Judge Dickinson pointed out the numerous cases where Republican office-holders have been found guilty of questionable dealings in office and forced to resign in disgrace and several of whom had to enter the prison cell. These conditions, he reminded his hearers, must change and he stated that it lies within the province of the Democratic Party to make the change.

Mayor Forrest Lake was the next speaker of the evening. Stating that a man's future is best judged by his past record, the mayor declared that his past record of four terms in the house should insure his return to that body again. He pointed out that, if elected, he will be the only member there for the fifth term and as a result will be able to render even better services than he has in the past. He stated that the issue between he and his opponent is a matter of personality inasmuch as neither of them has any record.

J. R. Lykes, the other candidate for legislature, declared that he is in favor of an equalization of taxes for state purposes. He stated that Hillsborough county, one of the richest in the state, actually pays no more into the state treasury for state purposes than does Seminole. This, he said, meant that Seminole is being assessed at a 35 per cent valuation for this purpose while Hillsborough is being assessed at a 10 per cent valuation. He stated that school systems were also unbalanced by this method and pointed out in reply to Mayor Lake's statement concerning his good record, that recently he mayor and the other two commissioners of Sanford allowed an official of the Southern Utilities Company to install them in a meeting and all of them took it without an answer.

Senator Overstreet stated that he is making his race on his past record, every act of which, he declared he is proud. He promised if returned as state senator he would give honest and conscientious service. As the speaker finished his talk, a voice in the audience yelled "O'Brien hasn't a look-in."

None of the candidates for state's attorney were present but the chairman read a letter from George A. DeVities, the incumbent who is seeking re-election. Due to a pressing engagement in Daytona, he was unable to be present, the letter stated.

John G. Leonardy was the first speaker of the candidates for the office of county judge. He stated that he had been practicing law in Sanford for five years and that he had been raised in this and Volusia county, having been born at Ocala, across the river. He reviewed the records of his opponent, declaring that Schell's record was "a record of failure" and that it is his belief that he will be elected.

Sharon had both been living on a political office and that it is his belief that he will be elected.

Van Gunten Made Secret Payments on Resale of Lumber

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Geo. H. Van Gunten, a lumber merchant of Newark, N. J., testified Monday at the trial of John L. Phillips of Georgia, and others on charges of conspiracy in surplus government lumber sales that he made secret payments to George M. Chambers, government inspector, of $7 per thousand feet on the resale of approximately a million feet of surplus lumber purchased. Chambers who is now deceased, was one of those named in the indictment with Phillips.

Van Gunten told the court that the payments to Chambers were in addition to full payment of the contract price made to Phillips and John Stephens, the former's partner in the lumber firm which contracted for sale of the lumber and another of those indicted. The witness said the "bonus" was paid out of $9 per thousand feet received on the resale of the lumber.

D. L. Sent, president of the Canton Lumber Company, of Baltimore, Md., and a brother-in-law of Chambers, who preceded Van Gunten on the stand, identified a number of letters signed by the latter. Among these was one written by Chambers to the witness soliciting him to invoke political influence to secure the resale for sale of a quantity of lumber which the army construction division claimed to be needed by the government. The letter was written in 1918 about the same time that H. L. Dougherty of Valdosta, Ga., another witness Monday, stated that he was writing to Hoke Smith, then senator from Georgia, to use his influence to the same end.

Male "Petters" Scored By University Co-Ed

SEATTLE, May 19.—University girls, like their sisters out of school, do not like to be "petted" and must be "veritable Amazons" to defend themselves against the "male of the species," according to an anonymous woman contributor to The Columns, a University of Washington publication.

"The man who doesn't eventually try to 'pet' is a rare specimen, and also a thorough diplomat," declared the contributor in the article entitled "The He-Petter." "This type lends zest to the game—wonder and intrigue."

"Nowadays, to defend herself a girl must be a veritable Amazon, with no regard for broken sedan windows. But even an Amazon may go down to defeat with a twisted, bruised jaw before some of the strong arm he-petter cave-men."

"The he-petter thinks that, even in an interval of petting after every date, and nothing short of war, pestilence or famine can induce him to avoid such a scene."

In defense of the men and attacking the article, one of the men students wrote the following in another unsigned story:

"The real man gets the girl who doesn't 'pet,' but the he-petter is nabbed by the shiek-chasing co-ed."

BURHANS SPEAKS TO SENIOR CLASS SUNDAY MORNING

(Continued from page 1.) take with him? All that he can take is that which has been woven or built into the fabric of his personality while here. This soul being with all of its capacities and powers as they have grown and developed. This is all.

"A true illustration is that of a father who sends his son away to school for life's preparation. After the school days pass, the son returns to his father taking with him only those same powers of being which he brought, developed and enlarged and better fitted for use, or twisted, perverted and misdirected toward evil.

"Each personality is given the planet of his own soul and life to subdue and rule therein. While man has dominion over the animal life on the earth, and mastery of natural forces for his own welfare, the power of rulership was given primarily that he might have dominion over himself. The planet of the human soul is of greater value than any material planet revolving about the sun.

"It is a wonderful realm that God has given man. And it is this world that man is to subdue. We find that there is wild and untamed life that must be mastered. There are fertile valleys and splendid plains that must be cultivated and made gardens of delight and groves of delicious fruits. There are mountains of difficulty in which lie hidden golden veins of truth and gems of surpassing value. A world to conquer worthy of every human effort and demanding the very best in man.

"Dominion was given that man might rule and govern within himself. That he might so relate his life to his surroundings to explore and exploit the hidden wealth of his kingdom. That he may so govern that every natural force and power of his inner being may be made strong and virile, to accomplish his Father's will and to do his own manly purpose for man. But man have failed. God placed the scepter in the hands of the living soul.

Through unbelief sin entered and death by sin. The spiritual nature lost the rulership and the mental and fleshy natures began to dominate in the life. Through the good news of the Gospel, the Lord Jesus has given new life to the dead soul so that it can wield the scepter again. Sin need no longer have dominion over the soul and all men may, if they will, begin to rule their lives by divine grace and thus bring themselves under divine law.

"If these things be true, the most worthwhile of life is the proper development of one's manhood. Man lives alone and no one man can enter into his personality and God himself only enters that he may breathe the fullness of life upon him to quicken every power and make his every part to unobscure the entire man.

"Every soul will take with it to the hall of memory in which is fitting with photographic truthfulness, the record of its journey through this life. Every important action will be pictured there. The kindly thought, completed in action, will stand out in beauty. The ugly and sinful thought, wrought out in life will darken the hall with its deformity. Our Heavenly Father increasing source of happiness and delight. If we live as we should it will be so, but if we abuse and degrade our inheritance, we will find the hall of memory a source of torment instead. No wonder a certain man cried out in agony 'If I could only forget.' God only can make that possible. He can blot out the past. He covers the sin and puts in the mind the memory of the cross with its cleansing stream and thus covers the ugliness that has been in our lives.

"The things then of greatest importance to every man is that he become a 'good man full of faith and the Holy Spirit.' By this means he will take with him a character and personality of which even the matchless Son of God shall not be ashamed and shall be glad to confess before the Father and the holy angels."

Modern Chinese Girls Defy Old Traditions

PEKING, May 19.—"I cannot bear the tyrannical rule at home, therefore I have decided never to return. I shall cut off my hair and become a nun." In these words Pei Chi, an emancipated Chinese girl, is said to have defied her father after he had reprimanded her for writing to certain Chinese magazines on the subjects of democracy, feminine freedom and love. The father has appealed to the police to help him find his wayward offspring.

Further evidence that the Chinese maiden of today is unwilling to have her future arranged for her without a voice in the proceeding comes from Hangchow, in Chekiang province.

Tsai Tseng, nineteen, a pupil of one of the local schools, decided to have a "look see" at the man selected for her by her father. Finding him as she expected, uncouth and a country lad, she expostulated with father. Not willing to offend his old friend, the prospective bridegroom's father, the parents of the girl managed to secure her conditional promise. The young man must dress himself in foreign clothes for three months and at the end of each week must present himself for inspection.

COMMISSION IS FAVORABLE TO $71,000.00 OFFER

(Continued from page 1.) estimate to be acquired from the company would be valued at $7,000. This makes a total of $80,000 which would easily take care of the purchase price of $71,000.

Mr. Craig stated that this course would include the sum of approximately $40,000 which would have been saved as a part of the purchase price.

Among those advocating accepting the recommendation were M. F. Robinson, George D. Bishop and H. B. Lewis. E. A. Douglass stated that he was in favor of paying the company for the actual value of the plant and not one cent for "good will." The latter, the company has not, he stated emphatically.

City Engineer Fred T. Williams stated that he was against negotiating with the plant while City Manager W. B. Williams stated that from it was to the city's best interests to acquire it.

In the offer of $71,000 allowance was made for the company's net earnings of $6,000, and also for the sum of $4,000 which is said to be the price that the city pays for water service for hydrants. It also shows the value of the real estate which was listed at about $7,000.

SOLDIER BONUS BILL IS PASSED OVER THE VETO

(Continued on page 8.) In 1922, when President Harding vetoed a bonus measure, the house repassed it by a vote of 258 to 54, but the veto was sustained by the senate, the vote being 44 to 28, four less than the required two-thirds majority.

Nineteen of the senators who then voted to sustain the veto are now in congress and five who were paired for the veto at that time are here. Included in the seven who voted against the bill on this passage this session were two new Democratic senators, Bayard, Delaware, and Bruce, Maryland. If all of these voted similarly at this time, opponents of the bonus would need seven other votes to prevent repassage, presuming every member was present and voting.

Senators and congressmen are due for a sad awakening when they return home, if they think the former service man is satisfied with the treatment of the wounded man or such a bonus as has been urged," James A. McFarland, national commander of the disabled American veterans, said in a statement tonight.

McFarland's statement. Declaring that his organization has consistently favored an adequate compensation," Commander McFarland said that "during the past five months, we have seen the floor stage given over to a fight for what is left of the original bonus, without the actual enactment of any laws for the relief of the men for whom relief is an emergency matter."

The ex-service men's anti-bonus league, having the president's veto of the Harsum pension bill has sent through its president, Knowlton Durham, telegrams to all Republican senators saying "the bonus does not represent a public need."

ENGINEERS TO MEET

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—Among the largest conventions to be held here this year is expected to be the tenth annual meeting of the American Association of Engineers, to convene June 11 to 14. Delegates from every state in the union and from all American possessions have announced their intention to attend.

Jefferson Davis Home At Memphis Becomes Noted War Memorial

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 19.—The old home of Jefferson Davis in this city is to be repaired and preserved as a two-fold memorial of the Civil War and the World War. The quaint old structure is to be maintained in its original plan and design in the midst of a small group of mansions of other days which still stand in the heart of the downtown district.

Veterans of the World War have sponsored the movement, which has as its object not only the preservation of the Davis home for the historic value of its Civil War associations, but also to give Memphis its first No. 1 American Legion, a home that is to serve as a memorial to World War dead.

Jefferson Davis lived in Memphis two years during the reconstruction period. His home was located at what is now Court Avenue and Fourth Street, almost within a stone's throw of Main street. The house was the center of the city's social activity during the brief period the ex-president of the confederacy and his family lived here. But when Mr. Davis moved away, the dwelling was permitted to fall into decay and as the business district pushed eastward from the river, it became enmeshed in a crowded district of business structures.

The Legion's appeal for funds has found ready response among the people of Memphis and in the surrounding territory. The Legion asked for $50,000 with which to buy the property and pay for its repair. The major portion of the sum has been paid in, and the first two payments have been made on the purchase price of the property.

Says Entire Earth Is Ruled By Sentiments

BERLIN, May 19.—The prosperity of popular songwriters in America has aroused the caustic criticism of a writer in the Berlin Montagspost. He declares that all the American popular songs about love and mother are written by a lot of charlatans who fool the tired money-mad American public, a people of "no real feeling, but full of sickly sentimentality." The success of many of the American songs and dance tunes in Europe, even in cultured Germany also seems to be extremely annoying to this writer.

A German music publisher, when asked about the kind of songs Germans like, laughed and replied that the taste all over the world in popular songs is about the same. In his opinion love and mother are just as "sure-fire" in Germany as they are in the United States. He cited the long run the American film, "Mother," is having in the German cities and predicted the world would never tire of the gray-haired mother and the golden-haired maiden in song, story and drama.

Police Are Searching For Assault Suspect

SAVANNAH, May 19.—County and city police were today combing the city and county for a negro, who yesterday attacked an eleven-year old girl in the western section of this city. Several suspects were arrested last night and early today but were released when two small boys who witnessed the crime, declared that none of those arrested were responsible. The little girl and two brothers were picking flowers near the cemetery when the negro attacked the child.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY. TRUTH MAKES FREE.—Then said Jesus, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free. John 8: 31, 32.

ROMANCE. I will make you beaches and toys for your delight. Of bird-song at morning and star-shine at night. I will make a palace fit for you and me, Of green days in forests and blue days at sea.

I will make my kitchen, and you shall keep your room, Where white flows the river and bright blows the broom. And you shall wash your linen and keep your body white. In rainfall at morning and dew-fall at night.

And this shall be for music when no one else is near. The first song for singing the rare song to hear. That only I remember, that only you admire. Of the broad road that stretches and the roadside fire.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Sidney J. Catts is scheduled to speak in Sanford today. Don't get caught by the day.

Folks who are always criticizing the younger generation are usually the ones who were most severely criticized when they were young.

The mere fact that a man has a deep base voice and can be heard a block away doesn't mean that he is saying anything.

Northern newspaper editors noting the frequency of hold-ups and robberies in Florida are becoming convinced of the wealth of this state.

Is it proper to call a female villain a villainette?—Ocala Star. If you speak of Mrs. Valentino as a sheikina.

We extend to Sidney J. Catts, candidate for governor of Florida, a cordial welcome to our city and wish him the best of luck in this gubernatorial race. Yes we do NOT.

A policeman in Los Angeles was called off his beat and informed that he was heir to a five hundred thousand dollar estate. It sounded to him like hot air.

Most of the Florida papers are now sacrificing much of their news space to political advertisements.—Tampa Tribune. Not if they make 'em pay cash.

The Plant City Courier, although declaring that Jennings will be our next governor, maintains that Catts will beat Martin. That is absolutely ridiculous. Catts won't get a half dozen votes.

The St. Petersburg Independent rightly thinks that the "Orlando girl who won the Pulitzer prize in journalism has more to her credit than if she had won a million prizes at bridge.

No one mentioned thus far for the presidency of the United States is as peculiarly fitted for that eminent position as is William Gibbs McAdoo. He has served his country in many and varied capacities and he has never been found wanting. He has never failed in the arduous tasks which have been presented to him. He succeeded, where others had failed, in the construction of the Hudson tubes, an engineering feat comparable with that of the Panama Canal. He was conspicuously connected with the Federal Reserve act and the establishment of farm loan banks. He efficiently manipulated vast sums of money during the crisis of the World War and has any other living man. McAdoo is a man who can be relied upon at a critical time to efficiently accomplish that which is best for his countrymen.

A man who deserves your consideration when you vote for the Democratic delegates-at-large is Gilchrist B. Stockton. He is a graduate of Duval High School and Princeton University. He was a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford University where he won a degree in law. He served on Hoover's Commission for Relief in Belgium during the World War. In 1916 he was appointed a special assistant to the American ambassador in London. When the United States entered the war he joined the navy and became an aide to Admiral Sims. After the war he was appointed Chief of the Mission to Austria with the American Relief Administration at Vienna. He is a world figure with a keen knowledge of political conditions, who could well serve his state in the Democratic convention. He pledges himself to support the choice of the voters of Florida as expressed in the primary.

What Makes For Good Citizenship?

Wherever one walks in these days just a short time from the big state democratic primary he hears talk of politics and is urged to support this candidate or that candidate. Politics both national and local occupy prominent places in the conversation of Florida people now. And as June 3 approaches more and more will be said and heard. But in it all are emphasized those principles which make for good citizenship.

Political meetings are of frequent occurrence in Seminole county. Candidates tell of their qualifications for holding public offices. They speak of good citizenship. They are urging good citizens to support the best in citizenship and to vote for the candidate who will give the citizens the best in service.

But what makes for good citizenship? Dr. Henry Lewis Smith, president of Washington and Lee University has presented the following five great ideas on which the proper kind of citizenship in America should be based. The Sanford Herald reprints them from the Lakeland Star-Telegram. They are:

First, the children of the nation are at once the richest asset and the chief source of power, more potential than all the other human sources combined; therefore, their proper development is of the first importance.

Second, the supreme task of a Christian democracy is the right training of all its citizens.

Third, education of intellect alone is fatally inadequate. The heart and the character must be developed as the mind is improved, for if they are not, the work will have been in vain.

Fourth, mere political and industrial democracy may by its triumph cause the downfall of civilization, unless education and religion reach the masses before they seize the power.

Fifth, when democracy has outgrown its experimental stage and has become strong, it will be seen that the real leaders are not politicians, bankers or statesmen, but those who have devoted their lives to training boys and girls. They will be known then as the real builders of the nation and civilization.

Has The Back Yard Been Neglected?

In the rush to clean up the front yard of your property have you neglected the yard in back of the house? Some folks have worked on the theory that few people see what is in the back yard and so they "polish the toes of their shoes."

It is a comparatively simple matter to let a back yard become unsightly. While some effort is made to keep the grass cut in front of the house and the bushes trimmed, very often on account of lack of time or of carelessness the surroundings in the rear are allowed to go unattended to and tin cans, high grass, leaves, trash, old wood and accumulations remain for long periods of time undisturbed.

A national movement, for the cleaning up of the unsightly back yards which many cities exhibit to travelers along the railroad lines has been started by the Industrial Division of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. Plans for the elimination of objectionable rubbish will be discussed at the Associations convention which is scheduled to be held at Washington, D. C. June 3-6. This movement will in all probability spread all over the country and the big and small cities of the nation will carry on a campaign to clean up the back yards.

Not only should the yards of residences be kept in clean condition, but the property surrounding business houses should be kept as well as is possible. Civic organizations are to be asked to take an active part in the movement about to be started in Washington.

In its program of beautification Sanford can accomplish a great deal by a campaign of this character. Let Sanford become known as the city of clean yards. Let this city lead in worthwhile movements of this kind.

Aside from the appearance of well kept yards it will contribute largely to better health and sanitary conditions. There will be fewer mosquitoes and summer pests if the people do their duty and insist on the cleaning up of premises.

While this subject is before us perhaps it might not be amiss to urge that those persons who own vacant lots clean them of the heavy growth of grass and weeds. As the summer season approaches Sanford will be helping itself in many ways by cleaning up all unsightly and unsanitary spots.

IF THE PRINCE of State love benevolence, he will have no opponent in all the empire.—Mencius.

THE SMALL TOWN STUFF

When somebody in St. Petersburg wants to take a slap at a political move or other project suggested he calls it "smalltown stuff" and means that in a sneering way. That of course is just propaganda like all the rest of the politician or a tin-horn promoter.

That St. Petersburg has retained some of its smalltown stuff is a matter of gratification. There is much about a small town that is admirable. It is well that St. Petersburg, having grown to be a real city, has not lost the most marked and worthwhile attribute of a small town, which is neighborliness and kindness.

A few days ago a widow of only two weeks lost her home by fire. Everything she had, excepting only the clothes she wore, went up in smoke. The morning following the fire neighbors started out to raise money to provide for her necessities, and all over the city men and women opened their hearts and their pocketbooks and gave liberally. A goodly sum was quickly raised and the woman and her baby were provided for.

That is "smalltown stuff." You don't often find subscriptions being taken for the needy in a big city—except through organized charity. In the big city the sufferers are referred to the Salvation Army or the Associated Charities. These organizations do fine work, but the heartthrob is not there and in many cases there is need for something more personal. This widow, for instance, was not actually in need of attention from the charity workers, who could only provide for a few days' supplies, but she did need money to buy clothes and to get a new start in a home of some kind and the smalltown method was the best.

St. Petersburg has not lost its heart while growing into a city. It still retains kindness and neighborly affection and sympathy—and this is well. Let us hope that the Sunshine City may always retain the good qualities of the small town while acquiring the advantages and powers of a city. One thing that makes St. Petersburg so attractive to the thousands of winter visitors is that there is here the smalltown cordiality and hospitality along with the conveniences of a city. A big city is cold-blooded, and St. Petersburg has never lost that way.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

By IRVIN S. COBB. After years of economy Mr. and Mrs. Smith had amassed a neat little fortune and had moved from the farm to a house in Buffalo, equipped with all the modern conveniences. A little later they made their first visit to view the wonders of Niagara Falls. Together they stood at the brink and watched the sweep of the waters as they poured over the edge of the cliff and fell with hoarse roar into the chasm below.

As Brisbane Sees It

To Collect, Hurry. One Good Deed. Our "Lucky" President. Copyright, 1924.

IF FRANCE WANTS real money from Germany let her hurry. In the last few days twenty-five German firms have failed. One failure after another has been reported. The government stepped in to stop trouble. That doesn't look hopeful for the "thirty-two billion gold dollars" claim.

WHEN EUROPEAN NATIONS decided to take what money they could get from China after the Boxer uprising the United States got some of the indemnity cash and then realized that it was international blackmail. The money was sent back to China to be used for education. China now thanks the United States Minister, saying that other nations have followed our example. "So shines a good deed in a naughty world."

THE NEW TAX BILL has a clause that will enable the public to know what income taxes rich men are paying and what rich men pay no income tax. Mr. Hoover says this is very sad because "it will put small firms at the mercy of big ones." It will also put some big tax dodgers within reach of the public and that may do some good and stimulate tax paying. Some that have no objection to cheating do object to having it known.

HAVING VETOED the soldiers' bonus, the president, it is said, will next veto a bill for the relief of farmers, that would appropriate $200,000,000 to establish a government agency to market agricultural products—whenever the president announces "an emergency."

If the president vetoes that bill and adds the wrath of the farmers to that of the soldiers he will prove that, like Napoleon, he believes in "his star."

THAT THE PRESIDENT was born lucky as well as wise, sober, serious and moral, everybody knows. He has run for office nineteen times and has been elected nineteen times. Able Republican politicians say that no matter what happens he will be elected for the twentieth time next November. And curiously enough they expect Al Smith to do a great deal toward making Coolidge's election sure. They say, "One state after another may declare for Al Smith but he won't be nominated. His defeat for the nomination will be attributed to religious prejudice and hundreds of thousands of Catholic Democrats, resenting that will vote for Coolidge against any Democrat as a rebuke to the party for refusing to name a Catholic on account of his religion."

There may be something in that. This is to be a complicated election. DAVID COHEN, an old man, 72, is caught begging with $95 in his pocket and $4,100 in the bank. Of course he is put in jail. The justice says with $4,100 saved up, he should act a good example.

Recently some gentlemen stole about five hundred million dollars' worth of oil from the navy of the United States, but nobody put any of them in jail. And they all had considerably more than $4,100. If you MUST do anything wrong, don't work on a small scale. That's dangerous.

LABOR OUT OF OFFICE in England and elsewhere says, "Wait until I get power; I'll show them." Labor gets power in England and gives a good imitation of the average cautious government. For instance, the House of Commons voted by 264 to 168 against making the coal mines national property. Labor men thought that would be done, surely. HAD ADVISING IT and DOING IT are different.

REPUBLICAN GENTLEMEN that tried to "frame up" Senator Wheeler, as corrupt detectives once in a while "frame" a victim when they need a "scapegoat, are in trouble. Men in Montana, who thought that coppers should control the state and the men in Washington who thought oil should be national property, both disliked Wheeler and decided to put him in jail. They will wish before the thing is over that they hadn't made that attempt. It wasn't a good time for it, although it has doubtless often been done before.

MR. COOLIDGE showed wisdom when he picked a California man, McWilliam, for secretary of the navy.

Living in California, looking out across the Pacific, a man soon gets knowledge of Asiatic possibilities and learns that this country needs constant preparation.

Secretary Wilbur wants the government to help merchant ships, which it should do as England does, to an extent that may be really necessary. He is "for preparedness" and it isn't likely that anybody will find him selling the navy's oil reserve in Alaska, as the other reserve was sold. A secretary of the navy who believes he was put in office to worry about the United States and keep it prepared—not to worry about Europe and what European candidates has "any sufficiently" beyond his own hate to be frame within the party.

TEMPORARILY MAROONED

SMALL MEN IN OFFICE

TAMPA TRIBUNE

It is to be questioned if any United States congress as a whole was more generally condemned than that of today. The consensus of opinion of such critics appears to be that such capacity as it has lies in the direction of destructiveness. There is a challenge to show any idea of a constructive nature it has produced or anything it has done to carry out such proportions of others. Such ability as it has, as pointed out, is declared to be used to obstruct measures proposed in the public interest. Leaderless itself, the indictment goes on, it yet refuses to accept leadership of the executive or any suggestion from the outside that might enable it to do something constructive.

But congress has its defenders. They say that it measures up to the average, and declare that much of the attack on the speaker, particularly, is from friends of the party who have been exposed by its inactivity. They also argue that the attitude of big business against it may suggest that it has been standing in the way of some selfish purpose of such concern. Yet, in the enactment of the Fordney-McCumber high tariff law, congress was shown as not averse to listening to some suspected of being animated wholly by selfish purposes. The senate is still too much animated by the spirit of Old Guardian to permit it to be pictured as a popular body.

After giving the senate full credit for such good it may have accomplished by investigation of certain of the departments, which was only in line with its duty, it is emphasized that this is not one feature of the service expected of it. Important as were the investigations that were shown to be necessary, there were many other duties to discharge in the cause of progress and in the public interest generally. There can be no questioning that the attitude of the United States senate has been obstructive to the cause of world peace. First in withholding its assent to the League of Nations, and its allies toward that end, and lately in keeping it from joining the Permanent Court of International Justice.

LET FLORIDA STAY OUT OF THE TRAP

JACKSONVILLE JOURNAL

If proof is needed that the candidacy of William G. McAdoo is meeting that response which precedes victory, it is shown in the frantic efforts to unite the opposition against him. For a while politicians, but principally the foes of Progressive government, who work irrespective of party, professed to see Mr. McAdoo shelved and out of the running. But the impetus given his candidacy by the growing list of states that have committed themselves to his cause has re-awakened the fears of those who always oppose a government in the interest of the masses. None knows better than they that their wild assertions that Mr. McAdoo cannot be nominated are born of the wish and not of facts. The realities of the convention campaign have been to amuse enough delegates to "sweeten" his nomination. By the states have been supported in various states. Repeated efforts have been made to unite upon a candidate that could rally the opposing forces. But everywhere, except here and there where there has been genuine and legitimate sentiment for a home candidate, McAdoo has broken down the barriers. It may be expected that false issues will now be raised in a new attempt to defeat him. That is being done, and the friends of the leading candidate must be on their guard.

The very fact that it is the field against McAdoo proves his popularity and the "wide awake" Democrats are not to be deceived. McAdoo's candidacy has "any sufficiently" beyond his own hate to be frame within the party.

Florida's duty is plain. Let her stand out of the trap set by reactionaries outside the party and out of the pocket that politicians would frame within the party. Democrats must be awake to the danger. They must not be caught in any such trap. Florida Democrats can help keep the Democratic party out of the reactionary trap by instructing Mr. McAdoo. He is the man who can lead the party to victory and not alone win but commit the party to Progressive principles.

Dan Dobb Says

Politicians ought to think about is fair play. Only a few more months before overcast. The older a man becomes younger everyone else seems. Two heads are better than one in a porch when it rains. A political platform must be strong because the opposition usually jumps up and down on it. No woman with her hair in papers looks half as handsome as she looks. Painting a house would be fun if all the neighbors don't der why you selected such a landish color. Russia is getting mad at many. It must make Russia good to be in position to sever relations with someone. The real problem of this Court they are arguing about. "Who will be the policeman?" "American girls should be as well as the Russians," says wa. They do, and better, sians dance sitting down. Man in Yonkers, N. Y., to go to Sing Sing to play the team there, and that's truth. TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens so Naturally Nobody Can Tell.
 The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.
 Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush your hair, taking one small strand with it and draw this through at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

Finland's Olympic Team Is America's Biggest Opponent

NEW YORK, May 20.—America, whose athletes have met and turned back rivals for her track and field supremacy since the Olympic games were revived in 1896, faces in Finland this year the most potent rival in the history of international competition.

In the judgment of many observers, the United States has not developed her athletic prowess to marked extent over the past few years, whereas Finland has come forward by leaps and bounds. The little Scandinavian nation, with but two score athletes carrying her colors, demonstrated her strength four years ago in the Olympics at Antwerp by capturing nine first places, as many as this country gathered, although losing on total points. This year at Paris the Finns have mustered an array of stars much stronger than their squads of 1920, with most of the veterans of that year still available, and confidently expect to give Uncle Sam's performers a keen battle.

Finland, review of the records of previous Olympiads discloses, has displaced Sweden and Great Britain as America's chief rival in track and field sports, though this season there are also signs of a British come-back. From 1896 to 1908, the United States swept to overwhelming victories in the international meets, but since then the margin of triumph has been narrowing rapidly. Great Britain formed the stiffest opposition in 1908, Sweden jumped into second place in 1912, while Finland, just beginning to come into prominence in 1912, gave Uncle Sam's stars a strenuous fight four years ago at Antwerp.

America's unbroken records of track and field triumphs have been scored at Athens in 1896 and 1904, Paris in 1900 and St. Louis in 1904, in addition to those at London, Stockholm and Antwerp.

At Athens in 1896 American athletes won eight out of 14 events contested, with Great Britain, Greece and Denmark dividing the remaining six. The triumph at Paris in 1900 was even more marked. Out of 22 events, the United States won 17 first places, the United States in 1904, due largely to the inability of foreign nations to send strong representative teams, the Americans swept all opposition before them, winning 23 of 26 events contested, with Canada carrying off two and Greece one.

The 1906 meet at Athens saw more nations competing and interest at high tide. The point score was as follows: United States 21, Greece 11, Great Britain 9, Greece 4, Hungary 4, Australia 2, Canada 2, Germany 1, Belgium 1, Finland 1, France 1.

The 1908 Olympiad in London embraced 100 competitive sports and winter sports. Twenty-two nations represented by 2,666 athletes, took part. In the track and field games in this meet the United States emerged with 13 winners, Great Britain 5, Sweden 2, Canada 1 and South Africa 1.

At Stockholm in 1912 the United States won 14 first places and scored 80 points. Sweden was second with five first places and 30 points. Finland was close behind with six first places and 29 points. Great Britain was fourth with two first places and 15 points, with Canada fifth.

Competition at Antwerp was especially keen. The United States shared first place victories with Finland, each nation scoring nine first places, but America far outdistanced her rival in the matter of seconds and thirds and won by a wide margin.

Kraenzlein's Record Is Seemingly Safe At This Year's Olympics

NEW YORK, May 20.—So long as the Olympic games continue to represent the peak of international athletic competition, the names of two American athletes will linger in the memory of those who follow the turns of the cinder path. These two men reached the pinnacle of individual athletic brilliancy, one by winning four different events in one Olympic meet, the other by winning two events in four successive Olympic meets.

Alvin C. Kraenzlein and Ray Ewry were the athletes who have inscribed their names on the Olympic roll of honor.

Kraenzlein, a University of Pennsylvania star in the late 90's, won four events in the second Olympiad at Paris in 1900. He breasted the tape first in the 50-metre dash, the 110-metre high hurdles, the 200-metre low hurdles and won the broad jump. His performance is the only one on record in the history of the Olympic games where any one athlete won more than three events.

RELIEVED CONSTIPATION

Now is the time to get rid of that stubborn cough which has been "hanging on" all winter. A few doses of the good, reliable FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND will speedily relieve same. Mrs. Sarah Heck, 341 St. Paul St. Memphis, Tenn., writes: "I have been wonderfully benefited by FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND. The first dose stopped my cough. It was a stubborn cough and I had been troubled with it since the first cold spell. Best for coughs and colds. Adv."

"It is too early to talk about marriage," the girl is reported to have declared. "I will wait and see if he can get rid of his country ways."
