Outstanding Black Students Get Scholarship Chance

Three Seminole High School black students, more than at any other Central Florida school, have been named semifinalists in a national scholarship competition. One student was selected from Lake Mary High School.

The National Merit Scholarship Corporation has released the names of 1,500 semifinalists for the 22nd annual National Achievement Scholarship Program for Outstanding Negro Students. Seminole High and Lake Mary High were the only Seminole County schools with students placing on the list. Angela L.

Freeman, Marvin R. Johnson and Alvin C. Jones from Seminole; Martin S. Aubroree from Lake Mary.

In the state of Florida only the cities of Fort Lauderdale, Jacksonville and Miami have more black students represented among the semifinalists. The city of Tampa had one semifinalist. Altogether, 62 Florida high school seniors were selected to be eligible for the scholarships.

Seminole High Principal Wayne Epps said the three semifinalists comprise "the largest number of students, to my knowledge, that have ever received this distinction at Seminole High."

"They have all worked very hard to prepare for the qualifying test and we are very proud of them," Epps said. "This accomplishment reflects the tremendous effort they achieved in pursuit of overall academic excellence. I think they did an outstanding job."

The four Seminole County seniors are eligible to continue in the competition. About 700 achievement scholarships worth more than $2 million will be awarded, according to Nancy Giles, director of public information for the program. To become eligible for those awards the students must fulfill additional requirements and the results will be published next spring. The organization has given out $30 million to more than 10,300 black students since 1964.

More than 70,000 black students nationwide entered the program last year by requesting consideration at the time they took the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship

This is 'the largest number of students, to my knowledge, who ever received this distinction at Seminole High.'

Teachers Picket; Talks To Resume

By Jim Searls
Herald Staff Writer

Teacher picketing of Seminole school open houses continued Monday as the Seminole County School Board and the Seminole Education Association teachers' bargaining unit, agreed to end their three-week standoff and go back to the bargaining table this week.

The bargaining session is tentatively set for 4:30 p.m. Thursday at the Lake Mary High School Media Center, located in the library, said SEA Executive Director Marshall Ogletree.

Chief negotiator for the school board, Ernest Cowley, declared talks at impasse Sept. 4 when members of the school board negotiating team and the SEA's "crisis team" failed to reach agreement over salary increases for the coming year. That was the first negotiating session since the teachers union, representing most of the county's 2,000 teachers, voted down their newly approved contract in a special vote Aug. 26.

After the impasse was declared the Florida Public Employee Relations Commission was notified and a list was sent out this week naming seven men, of whom one will be chosen, to be a "special master" or hearing officer for the arbitration process. Both groups received identical letters.

Ogletree said he received a hand-delivered letter from Cowley on Thursday accepting the SEA's desire to return to contract negotiations as soon as the SEA agreed to a place and time.

In the letter to Ogletree dated

Sept. 19, Cowley said, "We recognize the fact when two parties to negotiations are at the state of impasse, the parties are not precluded from continuing to negotiate. Based upon your request to resume negotiations, the management negotiating team is willing to meet with the SEA negotiating team on a date and time that is convenient for both parties. Please suggest a date and time for this meeting."

Ogletree said the SEA is ready to go work selecting a hearing officer from the PERC list and he expects, "that we will be ready to work intensely on settling the

First Tax Hike In 15 Years

Sanford Property Levy Up 27.5%

A unanimous vote Monday by the Sanford City Commission enacted the first tax hike in the city since 1970 — 27.5 percent.

The approved $13.5 million dollar budget for 1985-86 translates into a 94 cent raise in the property tax rate from $3.33 to $4.38 per $1,000 assessed valuation. The commission met during a regularly scheduled meeting at 7:30 p.m. in Sanford City Hall.

The approved budget is a $3.5 million increase over the $9.9 million 1984-85 budget. Its $4.38 tax rate is expected to generate $1,648,772 in revenue based on the current tax base.

Dick Barnett, 2070 Grandview Ave., spoke against the proposed budget during a short public hearing on the issue. Barnett said he is "concerned whether an increase (in taxes) such as the one proposed by the commission is going to make Sanford desirable" to people wanting to move into the area.

In a second major item, the commission formally approved a consent order committing Sanford to upgrading its sewer piping by 1995 or face legal action by the state Department of Environmental Regulations.

Alex Alexander, head of DER, expressed appreciation on behalf of his department for the commission's decision to approve the consent order and his hopes that DER and the commission can "continue in the spirit of

Longwood Raises Taxes

By Jane Casselberry

A $3.9 million budget for fiscal year 1985-86 was adopted by the Longwood City Commission Monday night by a 4-1 vote.

The budget calls for a tax rate of $2.90 per $1,000 assessed property value and it was adopted unanimously. It is a 38-cent per $1,000 increase over the 1984-85 tax rate of $2.52. Last year's budget was $3.2 million.

The new tax rate is a 26 percent increase over the state certified rollback rate. That is the tax rate required to generate the same amount of revenue as the previous fiscal year taking construction added to the tax rolls for the first time and higher assessments into consideration.

The 1985-86 tax rate is expected to raise $800,239 from property taxes. The fiscal year begins Oct. 1.

Commissioners June Lormann, Larry Goldberg, Ed Myers and Mayor Harvey Smerilson voted for the budget. Commissioner Perry Faulkner said he voted against the budget because he didn't agree with some of the job positions and salaries in the budget. Faulkner said the people of his district didn't want him to support the budget so he didn't.

Altamonte Springs Man Jailed In Fatal Stabbing

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

A 33-year-old Altamonte Springs man was being held without bond today charged with murder in the Sept. 6 stabbing death of a Sanford woman.

Patricia Penn Sessions, 36, of 119 McKay Blvd., Sanford, bled to death from a single stab wound on the back of her left thigh, which cut a major artery. She had been attacked in a field behind a home at 308 Longwood Ave., in Altamonte Springs, according to Seminole County sheriff's deputies.

After questioning several witnesses in the case over the past 2½ weeks, a suspect, who had been implicated by witnesses, was arrested at his home at 122 Decota Ave., at about 7 a.m. Monday.

Johnell Warren has been charged in the case and was being held in the Seminole County jail.

Sheriff's spokesman John Spolski said there had apparently been a dispute between Ms. Sessions, an unemployed file clerk, and Warren prior to the stabbing.

Waymon Franklin, of 308 Longwood Ave., told sheriff's deputies Ms. Sessions had called him earlier in the evening and told him she was coming to his home to see his daughter.

At about the time Ms. Sessions was expected to arrive, around 10 p.m., Franklin told deputies he heard gunshots behind his home but did not investigate because he feared someone might be shooting at him.

He told deputies he opened the door and

United Way Kicks Off Campaign

Sharyn Dickerson, chairman of the Major Industry division, was the first to report in the United Way of Seminole 1985-86 fund drive with a total of $9,375.

She said Simplimatic Engineering of Sanford has raised $3,457 in pledges toward its goal of $5,000 in its first United Way campaign and United Technologies Communications, Longwood, has raised $6,958 so far.

The United Way of Seminole kicked off its drive campaign today with a breakfast for division heads at Stromberg-Carlson, Lake Mary. Forty-five Seminole United Way campaign workers also joined in the Heart of Florida tri-county kickoff luncheon held at the Orlando Expo Centre featuring Seminole's Sweetheart and honorary chairman, Leigh Moorcraft.

The 1985-86 campaign has as its goal $550,000. John C. Knapp of United Technologies is chairman of the drive.

Knapp announced the following goals today: Education, $90,000; Medical, $90,000; Government, $20,000; Professional, $15,000; Financial, $40,000; Commercial, $35,000; Major Industry, $338,000; Major Retail, $70,000; Golf Tournament, $6,000. Raised out last week, the golf tournament is rescheduled for Oct. 4 at Sebel Point Country Club, Forest City.

Larry Stieckler, chairman of the United Way executive committee, said the Heart of Florida tri-county campaign provides access to more businesses, the ability to look to Central Florida as a whole, and makes it possible to raise County's 1985-86 goal of $550,000. "The United Way of Seminole is still ambitious and makes the decision as to where the money goes and how much."

Streets Without Signs Dilemma For Seminole

By Janie Gaat
Herald Staff Writer

County roads without street signs may pose a legal problem for county commissioners if emergency assistance, such as police, fire, or ambulance service, called for through a countywide E911 system has trouble finding a street address. And putting up the signs could cost almost a million dollars.

County staff could not find any legal precedent concerning whether a county would be liable for not getting emergency assistance to someone on a road within a countywide E911 system but whose address could not be found, Steve Decker, county traffic engineer told commissioners at a worksession Monday. They also could not determine if the county would be held liable for maintenance of those roads or signs.

However, commissioners, fearful of a lawsuit and uncertain of their legal liability, have asked county administrator Ken Hooper to look into the costs and time element of making and erecting street signs on approximately 9,732 intersections not currently signed. That estimate includes county roads and privately owned roads that are within county jurisdiction but receive no county funds for maintenance.

The 'E' in E911 stands for "enhanced" meaning sophisticated equipment will allow dispatchers to pinpoint the address of any caller that dialed the emergency number. The address of the caller will automatically appear on a computer terminal screen in the public safety office along with directions to the site.

"With E911 if we have an address on the street we have a responsibility to respond to a call on that street," said Roanne Rubin, E911 coordinator for Seminole County.

Approximately $997,530 and 1,824 days would be needed to make the signs and 809 days to install them if the work is contracted out, Decker said.

Another alternative would be for the county to manufacture and install the signs itself, a move Decker says could severely impact his office's budget.

"If I have to do them internally it will devastate my operations budget," Decker said. "If I did it with my manpower it would cost $385,000."

Part of the reason for the high cost is that the signs are double sided, and four are required for one intersection. Also the federal and state standard signs that the county uses, are reflective which necessitates their being hand lettered, Decker said.

A final alternative would be to require residents or businesses on a street to buy street signs for their street or intersection, Decker said. The cost could be divided between several people that way and would save the county further costs for maintenance if residents or businesses were required to replace destroyed or missing signs.

Donald's An Also-Ran

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — Donald Duck got 291 votes in Sweden's general election, up 37 percent from 1982 but not enough to elect him to parliament.

Final tallies for the Sept. 15 election were released Monday. They showed Donald Duck — the popular Walt Disney cartoon character — with 291 votes, up from 184 votes in the election three years ago.

And, while well behind the winners, the duck did beat such rivals as Garfield the Cat.

NATION IN BRIEF

Dollar Plunges In Wake Of Group Of Five Intervention

NEW YORK (UPI) — An agreement by major Western powers to weaken the dollar by intervening in exchange markets sparked its largest single-day drop in more than a decade in frantic trading that pushed gold prices up sharply.

The dollar plummeted 5 percent to its lowest level in weeks in Europe and New York Monday during what one London dealer called "a headlong rush to sell dollars," but its most spectacular drop was against the Japanese yen.

Following Monday's events, Japan intervened to boost the yen against the dollar at the opening of trading on the Tokyo exchange today, government officials and bankers said.

The agreement Sunday by top monetary officials of the United States, Japan, West Germany, France and Britain — known as the Group of Five — sparked the drop. Their agreement to bring down the value of the dollar included active intervention in foreign exchange markets.

The decision, a significant turnaround for the Reagan administration, is intended to improve American competitiveness in foreign markets, cut the U.S. trade deficit and head off protectionist moves in Congress directed mostly against Japan.

Treasury Secretary James Baker said the agreement may not translate into a lower trade deficit for another 10 to 18 months.

Consumer Prices Up Slightly

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumer prices, despite a leap in housing costs, increased in August by only 0.2 percent for the fourth straight month, holding the annual inflation rate to what promises to be a 13-year low, the government said today.

Without the month's price acceleration blamed on rising housing costs, the Labor Department's Consumer Price Index for the month would have shown no increase.

"Nearly 80 percent of the increase is due to shelter costs," said Labor Department analyst Patrick Jackman, who helped prepare the report. "There were declines in food costs, energy costs and the cost of used cars."

With the slight price index increase — the same recorded in May, June and July — the annual U.S. inflation rate through August stood at 3.3 percent, marking a 13-year low.

If the year ends with the same low rate, 1985 will be the best year for inflation since 1972.

14 Killed In Plane Crash

WEYERS CAVE, Va. (UPI) — The pilot of a twin-engine airliner, flying in "soupy" fog over the Blue Ridge Mountains, reported his navigation system failed before the plane crashed into a peak and burned, killing all 14 people aboard.

A Civil Air Patrol helicopter spotted the smoldering wreckage of Henson Airlines Flight 1517 in dense woods Monday night, more than eight hours after it blipped off radar screens on a flight from Baltimore to the Shenandoah Valley Airport.

Two doctors were lowered from the helicopter to the crash site atop the peak but found no survivors and authorities began removing the bodies at daybreak.

Elderly Sanford Couple Robbed

A Sanford couple claim that a man who has lived at their home for several years forcibly took $1,400 from their home.

Percy Oliver, 83, and his wife Emily, 70, of 2371 Randell St., told Seminole County sheriff's deputies the man came into their home around midnight Saturday, pushed past them and took the cash. Oliver reportedly told deputies he feared the suspect, a sheriff's report said.

Mrs. Oliver later confronted the man at the Club 2 Spot in Sanford and he reportedly gave her back $400 and said that was all he took. The Olivers told deputies they want to file charges in the case, the report said, but no arrest has been made.

SLEDGEHAMMER TO BLAMMER

An 18-year-old Forest City man who allegedly swung a sledgehammer at his stepfather during an argument has been charged with aggravated battery.

The man told sheriff's deputies he held the hammer but didn't swing it, while his stepfather, Lee Webb, 42, of 540 Marty Blvd., Forest City, claims he did, a sheriff's report said.

Webb told deputies the fight was part of an on-going problem and the latest incident began when Webb walked into the suspect's bedroom at their home at about 7 p.m. Saturday, the report said.

Webb alleged the suspect said, "I'm going to put you in your grave" as he swung the sledgehammer, the report said.

Barney Kamalani Lee was arrested at his home and charged with aggravated battery at about 8:45 p.m. He was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

RAPIST RIDER

A 27-year-old Oviedo woman reported to sheriff's deputies that she was raped by a man to whom she gave a ride Sunday after meeting him at the Deluxe Bar in Sanford.

The woman told deputies that as she drove with the suspect he grabbed her and forced her to have sex. The attack allegedly occurred at about 2 a.m. along a dirt section of Celery Avenue east of Sanford.

After the attack the man forced the woman to drive him home, a sheriff's report said. No arrest has been made.

KNEECAP KNIFED

A 62-year-old Oviedo man has been jailed on an aggravated scene. Bass was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

BATTERED WOMAN

Sheriff's deputies charged a 30-year-old Apopka man with battery after they arrived at his home at about midnight Sunday and reportedly heard a woman crying, "Get off of me!"

The woman, who was not named in an arrest report, had a bruised nose and said the suspect tried to choke her, a sheriff's report said.

Terry Rodwell Hunter, of 1632 Beam Lake Road, has been released on bond.

BATTERED WIFE

Seminole County sheriff's deputies responding to a dispute call at 312 4th St., Apopka, at about 12:30 a.m. Sunday charged a man with battery after his wife told them he had hit her in the face with his fists.

The deputies reported the woman had a swollen face and a bloody lip.

John Whitney Files, 27, was arrested at his home. He has been released on $500 bond and is scheduled to appear in court Oct. 2.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

Nadine Barnhill, 31, of Bronx, N.Y., gave Seminole County sheriff's deputies the name of a man who may have stolen $500 from her purse after she fell asleep at 240 Oxford Road, #22-G, Fern Park, on Saturday. When she awoke her purse and the man were gone, a sheriff's report said.

A $1,100 gold necklace was stolen from the home of Penelope Leek, 39, of 321 W. Hornbeam Drive, Longwood, between Sept. 18 and 21, deputies reported.

An $800 male cockatoo was stolen from its cage on the patio of Janis Murphy, 35, of 1811 Lake Shore Circle, Longwood, on Friday or Saturday, a sheriff's report said.

called Ms. Sessions' name, but got no response.

Spolski said that during the investigation three witnesses told deputies they had seen a man armed with a handgun choking a woman in a field behind Franklin's house. The man reportedly threatened witnesses with the gun, a sheriff's report said.

Ms. Sessions was not shot or strangled to death. She died as the result of a single stab wound in the leg, which was inflicted by a knife with a six-inch blade, an autopsy performed at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford showed. Deputies reported finding a knife at the scene of the attack which has been identified as belonging to Ms. Sessions.

Franklin said after he heard the shots he called Ms. Sessions' boyfriend, Michael Lorenza Lark, 35, of Orlando, who was at 337 Longwood Ave., and asked him to come to his home to look for Ms. Sessions, the report said.

Lark and other witnesses found Ms. Sessions in a field behind Franklin's home. Lark took her to Florida Hospital-Altamonte Springs, in her car. She was "clinically dead" when found, because of the blood loss, Spolski said, and was pronounced dead at the hospital.

Before Warren was implicated in the case, Spolski said, investigators were given conflicting stories and false leads in the case.

He also announced Friday that the faculty representatives of the SEA, who make up the legislative body of the group, have voted unanimously to support the school board's $100 million bond issue to be voted on Oct. 22.

"We (SEA) want to go on record as being in full support of the bond issue. We feel it is in the best interest of Seminole County to get behind this issue and that voting against it would prove to be short sighted," Ogletree said.

SEA President Debby Whitmire said, "In spite of the stalemate surrounding their contract, teachers are still willing to support the school board on this important issue. It's too bad the board can't show the same commitment to their teachers at the bargaining table."

Whitmire also said the SEA will continue informational picketing at school open houses. Monday and a few teachers handed out flyers stating their case for more pay at Spring Lake Elementary, 695 Orange Ave., Altamonte Springs and at Seminole High School, 2701 Georgia Ave., Sanford.

During the picketing SEA members hand out grievance letters to parents describing their side of the contract issue and urging them (parents) to call or write school board members to express their feelings.

cooperation" to help Sanford with its sewer problems.

In the consent order, which passed 5-0, the city agreed to upgrade the city's sewerage so during flood conditions sewage will not flow into Lake Monroe along with storm drainage as it does now. In exchange, the DER agrees to the 1995 date to allow Sanford time to change its sewage treatment method to landspreading and also generate revenues by growth to pay for the expensive piping changes. The city is planning a $30 million bond issue to change treatment methods. The replpning, a separate action, will cost $8- to $9 million.

In other action, the commission:

- Postponed until Oct. 14 the naming of an under-construction park at Academy Manor. Evan Barnes, 142 Bethune Circle, spoke on behalf of the Academy Manor Neighborhood Association and suggested the names Ruby Mother Wilson Memorial Park, Bobby Thomas Community Park and Academy Manor Community Park.

- Renewed lease for one year to the county for use of part of the first floor of city hall by the Public Defender's office.

- Agreed to draft a lease of lot 1, Sanford Marina, so the 1.8 acre lot can be commercially developed with business selling marine items or services. The vote was 4-0 when Mayor Bettye Smith abstained from voting because her son, John Smith, is involved in development of the area.

- Approved three bids for work in the city. Sanford Irrigation and Sprinkler Systems Inc. was awarded the contract to install and modify the irrigation system at city hall, cost $2,250. Agreed to purchase a wheel loader from Florida Contractors Equipment Co., of Orlando, cost, $69,164. Awarded a bid to Expert Roofing Co., to re-roof the Westside Recreation Center and Restroom roof on the Tourist Club, cost $17,000. A low bid on the roof of $14,900 was withdrawn by Allen Roofing Co.
- Donated $1,000 to lobbyists pressuring Congress to pass legislation to nullify a recent Supreme Court decision affecting most governmental agencies' salary costs. The ruling stated municipal, state and federal agencies must pay overtime wages to most employees rather than compensatory time off. Cities nationwide have been asked to donate funds to the lobbyists. National Institute of Municipal Law Officers, based upon city population. The Supreme Court ruling was Feb. 19 and takes effect Oct. 15.

- Approved the use of Ft. Mellon Park for an AKC sanctioned match March 23. The event is sponsored by the Seminole Dog Fanciers Association.

"Whatever it costs and however long it takes to do it I think it's essential to have those street signs," Commissioner Fred Streetman said.

Streetman and Commissioner

Sandra Glenn both said they felt the county should provide the signs, but Mrs. Glenn said a study would have to be done on cost and time before the commission decides which method to implement.

Part of that study would be a driving assessment of county intersections to find out exactly how many signs will be needed, a "massive project" according to Decker.

mission voted down a proposal for a sharp increase in application fees for such administrative functions as rezoning, annexation, site plan reviews and variance requests. They opted to send it back to the drawing board after Sharon Wright, 216 W. Warren Ave., said she wanted to move her design business from her home to a retail outlet but found the application fee prohibitive.

Under the proposal, she said, she would have to pay $655, plus advertising costs, just to go before the historical commission to seek necessary approval for the proposal and site plan.

Ms. Wright said the historical commission wants to encourage the small shops of artists and craftsmen and small businesses to locate in Longwood, but the proposed high application fees would keep them out.

The commission decided to discuss the fee schedule at a worksession Oct. 15.

Qualifying Test. Participants compete within regions and these semifinalists represent the highest scoring students in each region.

Each student who qualifies as a finalist will be eligible for one of three types of scholarship. All 700 finalists will compete for one of 350 national achievement $2,000 scholarships to be allocated on a regional basis. A committee of high school and college educators will evaluate the abilities and accomplishments of the students and will select those students that appear to be most academically promising. Winners will receive single-payment awards that are supported by about 50 business and industrial sponsors along with a large group of achievement program donors.

Of the remaining 350 renewable four-year scholarships, about 225 will be sponsored by over 100 corporations, foundations and professional organizations. To encourage black students with particular career interests these grantors designate their scholarships for finalists planning to pursue related college majors. Some sponsors specify scholarships for residents of communities they serve or for children of company employees. Winners of these corporate-sponsored four-year scholarships will receive awards ranging from $500 to $4,000 for each college undergraduate year.

The remaining 125 scholarships will be financed by more than 40 colleges and universities and will be awarded to finalists who attend their institutions. The winners will receive between $250 and $2,000 for each of four years study at the sponsor college.

Epps said he was particularly pleased with the efforts of Alvin Jones. He said Jones is the defending Florida state champion Division 5-A for the triple jump in track and field and a member of the defending state champion Seminole track and field team. "We are especially proud of Alvin's accomplishments," said Epps. "He represents the best of the scholar-athlete student in Central Florida."

IRS Needs More Workers On Job

It's becoming clear that Internal Revenue Service woes this year were a result of too many tax returns, too few workers and unrealistic work goals.

The fact that a $103-million computer system was put on line before it was properly tested didn't help much, either.

In case you hadn't heard, the IRS had its worst year ever.

The glitches started in January, when the Philadelphia IRS office — one of 10 regional centers — mistakenly accused 27,000 corporate taxpayers of tax delinquencies.

Another 150,000 individual taxpayers also received delinquency notices by mistake.

Some liens were placed wrongfully on property, and bank accounts were erroneously frozen.

Philadelphia also shredded thousands of tax returns by error — or possibly because some harassed employees decided that was the best way to lighten the workload.

Other regional centers also had problems.

Fresno, Calif., mistakenly destroyed 60,000 letters from people trying to resolve tax problems; another 20,000 letters were shredded in Austin, Texas, and a lesser number of documents were destroyed by mistake in Andover, Mass.

An article in the September issue of The Washington Monthly points out that the glitches started long before the computer breakdown.

It quotes one National Treasury Employees Union official as saying overwhelming workloads have led to large-scale foul-ups for the last four years — the trouble starting well before the computer was installed.

The number of IRS employees — 87,500 — has remained essentially the same for the last five years.

But in that span of time, the number of taxpayer returns has climbed from 137.4 million to 173.7 million.

The IRS has attempted to handle the rising workload by reducing by 20 percent the staff members who handle taxpayer inquiries, process returns and get the refunds in the mail.

The personnel remaining in these jobs have had to pick up the slack and have faced unrealistic work quotas.

Overwhelming workloads led to large-scale foul-ups.

Clearly, massive tax reform is needed on several fronts.

The income tax must be simplified and made as fair as possible for all.

But on top of that, the IRS must clean up its own house so that it can do its work with accuracy and precision.

Until the code is simplified and until the computer works, more help must be hired.

Congress and the Reagan administration are to blame for failing to appropriate the necessary funds.

Medical Misspending A National Scandal

WASHINGTON — A confidential audit says the government is wasting $315 million a year in medical research payments for unrelated overhead costs at hundreds of universities and institutes across the nation.

When more money is being poured into what federally funded grantees call "indirect costs" (i.e., overhead expenses), that means less money is available for needed biomedical research.

A draft of the unreleased audit, a copy of which I obtained, concludes that because of the excessive growth in indirect costs, the federally funded National Institutes of Health "could not fund over 9,000 (medical research) projects that were deemed worthy of support."

The investigation, conducted by Department of Health and Human Services' Office of Inspector General, examined indirect costs at 13 major research universities, including Harvard, Yale, Johns Hopkins, UCLA and the University of Missouri.

The internal audit's shocking discovery: 55 percent of the 1984 indirect-cost payments by the federal government "did not benefit government-sponsored research." Instead, this money paid for administrative, faculty and clerical salaries, light and heating bills, new buildings and equipment, and other expenses not directly related to the actual research.

"When you put more money into research, it doesn't necessarily mean it goes into research, but it might go into campus guards," says HHS Inspector General Richard Kusserow.

"Let's be honest about it," Dr. Bernadine Healy, deputy director of the White House Office of Science Policy, told my assistant, Tracy Fletcher. Indirect costs, she said, are "a block grant" given to a university. "The question is, should one big university be getting a larger block grant than another?"

There is, in fact, little rhyme or reason to how the costs are figured. Private institutions usually get higher indirect-cost payments than public institutions. Reimbursement rates range anywhere from 99 percent at Harvard Medical School to 31 percent at Kansas State University.

Clearly, when the government pays for research, it should be responsible for some of the costs of equipment and other research-related expenses involved in carrying out the grant. But just how much of the universities' overhead tab should taxpayers be asked to foot?

Increasingly, say worried HHS investigators, more and more of NIH's finite research dollars are going to subsidize university overhead. NIH's spending on indirect costs has outpaced spending on actual research by almost 3 to 1 since 1972.

From 1972 to 1982, direct (i.e., research) costs rose from $642 million to $1.6 billion, or 151 percent. Yet indirect costs leaped from $166 million to $690 million — a whopping 315 percent increase — during this same period. Over the past two years, indirect costs have continued to rise dramatically, auditors say.

Sadly, members of Congress, facing political pressures from local universities, have done nothing to solve the problem. A General Accounting Office audit issued last year was ignored on Capitol Hill, even though it uncovered numerous examples of skyrocketing indirect costs.

EDWARD J. WALSH

Economic Fallacy, The Facts

In 1975, Business Week published a scary article predicting a "capital crunch" within 10 years that would threaten the survival of the American economy. The economy did crash in 1980, but because capital was consciously withdrawn from the credit markets by the Federal Reserve System in order to wring out inflation — an excess of capital that many Americans actually enjoyed. To untold thousands of businessmen, the cure was worse than the disease.

Business Week has now done it again, with a story entitled "The Casino Society" dealing with financial speculation. The gist of the piece is that high-paid investment bankers, arbitrageurs, and takeover pirates are really running the economy — and running it into the ground. Business Week predicted, as it did with the capital crunch story, that "the casino society has the potential of engineering a serious financial collapse."

Now, many things have "the potential of engineering" a collapse — that kind of sentence structure is called hedging one's bets.

A "casino society" story will very definitely sell copies. And there is an element of truth in the view that speculation diverts assets from productive investment. But — as with the capital crunch story — this one deals with symptoms, not the source.

The source is U.S. economic policy, and has been for many years. A new study to be released by the U.S. Business and Industrial Council reminds us that expenditure on compliance with pollution control regulations drains some $55 billion annually from U.S. manufacturing. The tax system, despite the catcalls of the anti-business lobby, remains deeply biased against capital formation. Thanks to federal tolerance of labor union monopolies, the cost of creating a new job in a General Motors auto plant now runs $50,000. Trade and antitrust laws are a maze of bureaucratic contradictions.

For about 10 years, however, many economists — mostly liberals, have condemned business for paying more attention to quarterly earnings than long-term investments. They were, and are, content with the theory that businessmen as a group are complacent, lazy, and greedy. Today, the same critics are disturbed as the rash of arbitrage, short selling, takeover battles, and heavy borrowing in the corporate world, and are hauling out the old theory that business is either an insidious force, or plain dumb.

Scholarship Program Under Fire

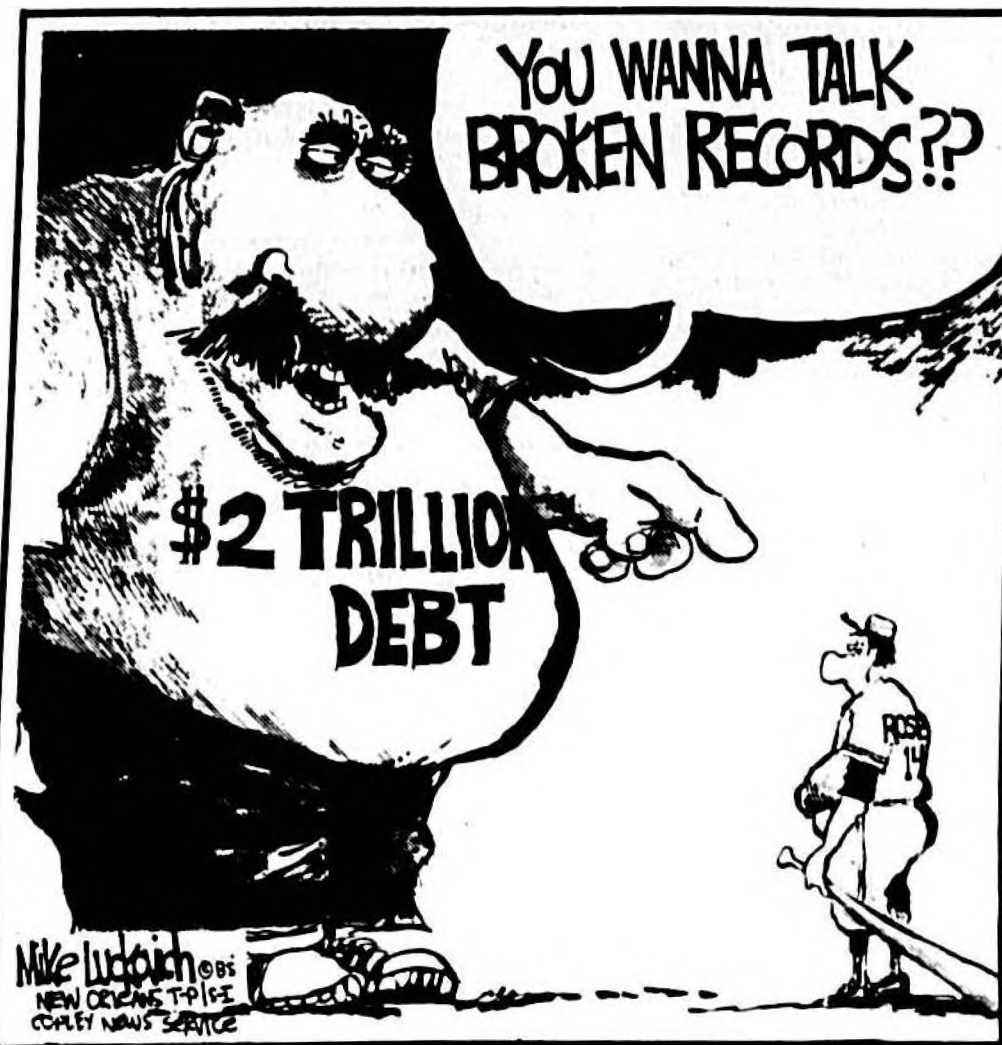

By Jack Anderson
And
Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — For the second time in 18 months, a federal program that grants scholarships to American Indians for medical studies has come under fire. Oversight officials have questioned practices that may have resulted in preference given to relatives of employees in the agency that administers the program.

The earlier review concluded that the program's rules may have been bent to allow award of a $33,264 scholarship at Harvard to the daughter of Dr. Everett Rhoades, director of the Indian Health Service, which manages the program.

Although no evidence of impropriety on Rhoades' part was found, reforms were made in the application-review process.

"While there is some evidence that procedures were modified to allow the award to Dorothy

South Africa Madness

The South Africa fever that has descended upon us has more than a touch of insanity about it. Insanity or, perhaps, demonic possession.

After all, and this has to be said bluntly, the South African government is the best government on the continent of Africa. Yes, yes, apartheid is bad, but there are some 30 much more poisonous regimes on the African continent.

Do not those who are now assailing it and threatening sanctions and so forth realize that? Several hundred people have been killed in recent disturbances, to be sure. But thousands of people have been killed in, for example, Uganda. Thousands more in Nyrere's Tanzania. Hyrere likes to lecture the U.N. The government of Angola would disappear overnight if it were not propped up by Cubans, and is waging a savage campaign of repression against guerilla forces that have majority backing. The government of Ethiopia is thoroughly barbaric, and is waging a genocidal campaign of starvation against its own people. And the moralists among us wish to overthrow the government of South Africa.

I am reminded of a famous story Thomas Mann published in 1929 called "Mario and the magician," a study in mass hysteria, perhaps about fascism. A carnival magician shows up in the fashionable Italian seaside resort of Torre di Venere and turns out to have sinister powers. Under his influence the people in the small town begin to do all sorts of absurd and unnatural things, poisoning the whole atmosphere of the place. I wonder if Senator Richard Lugar, for example, or Sen. Robert Dole, have been spending a lot of time lately in Torre di Venere.

Of course, we've seen the whole process at work before. In an endlessly repeated pattern, the liberal mentality always makes matters worse.

The liberal mentality helped get rid of Chiang Kai Shek. We got Mao Tse Tung, and thank you very much.

The liberal mentality hated Cuban dictator Fulgencio Battista, and campaigned relentlessly against him. We got Castro instead.

The liberal mentality hated the Shah of Iran, and we got the Ayatollah.

The liberal mentality demanded the overthrow of the Somoza regime in Nicaragua, and now we have the Sandinistas.

The liberal mentality hated the regime of Marshall Thieu in South Vietnam. We got communism and a couple of hundred thousand boat people.

In Chile, the liberal mentality much preferred the disastrous Marxism of Salvador Allende to the present military regime. The liberal mentality supported the Salvadoran communist guerillas, now fortunately on the run, and it is eagerly eyeing the Philippines, sensing a chance to overthrow Marcos.

report states. "Compliance with due date is necessary to assure fairness in considering all applicants. By granting awards to individuals who may not have met the IHS filing deadlines, other qualified applicants may have been denied awards."

In addition, the inspector general found 20 applicants who listed Indian Health Service employees as references. In itself this is not prohibited, but "examination disclosed many deviations from established procedures" for the employee-related applicants.

For example, the inspector general concluded that eight of the related applicants were given higher academic ratings by agency reviewers than their scholastic records justified, while 14 of the applications showed no evidence that filing deadlines had been enforced.

In the Rhoades case, the director's attorney said the earlier report "was not grossly inaccurate, and we're not saying that it misses the mark, but it does not tell the whole story."

DON GRAFF

To Reader In New Mexico

"How many times do we have to be outfoxed by the Soviets, and how many countries have to be taken, before our liberals come to the realization that Russia plays for keeps?"

A reader in Albuquerque asks that in a letter taking exception to some of my recent comments on the agony of South Africa.

She goes on to provide several examples of liberal errors that have benefited the Soviets: Zimbabwe, a one-party Marxist state instead of the multi-racial democracy that was supposed to follow the end of white rule; Vietnam, where premature withdrawal brought a police state and Soviet-style economy; and Sandinista Nicaragua, which is run by a "little politburo."

All of these examples are well taken and invite extended debate. But I'll pass in order to focus on a point that is basic to the reader's and my differences in this matter. That is the nature of the American relationship with the problem countries of the non-communist world, and whether our policies toward these nations are ultimately in our own best interests.

We often go awry because we see the Nicaraguans and South Africans as "either-or" situations. Either the status quo has to be maintained against an internal challenge — even at the cost of supporting a blatantly repressive regime — or the prize must be allowed to fall to the Soviets.

We tend to overlook the other options that may often exist. These may include identifying and encouraging an existing democratic opposition that is more compatible with our principles and that will seek — and perhaps eventually achieve — power non-violently. That, of course, is the ideal situation — and it exists now, in the Philippines.

Or, lacking any constructive internal leverage, our best policy in the long run could be simply to stand aside, letting an upheaval run its course while publicly taking a stand for justice and against repression. We would at least have identified our interests with those of the good guys, should any emerge when the revolutionary dust settles.

There are many more examples of the consequences of the "either-or" approach, and they are not encouraging. In Guatemala and Iran, to take just two, the crises have proved more damaging to our interests than the diseases we thought we were treating.

The attorney said that a forthcoming inspector general report will conclude that Dorothy Rhoades "deserved the scholarship and won it fair and square."

After the director's daughter missed the minimum score for a scholarship by one point, according to the 1984 report, she was re-evaluated outside established procedures and received a higher rating.

Although the director "maintains that he did not receive negative advice," the 1984 report states, "the evidence indicates that elements of his staff did go to him and contend that he could be compromised and possibly embarrassed if the award was accepted by his daughter."

The report concluded that "the system operative over the past years" was to blame for such situations and made the Indian Health Service vulnerable to criticism.

Seminole Athletic Conference volleyball action heats up this week as most of the teams open play in what promises to be a competitive season. Tonight, in a pivotal early-season match, Lyman hosts Lake Howell (varsity only at 7). Also on Tuesday, Oviedo takes on St. Cloud in an Orange Belt Conference match.

On Wednesday Lake Mary is at Oviedo (junior varsity 4 p.m., varsity 5). In a non-conference match Wednesday, Seminole High opens the season at New Smyrna Beach. Lyman's Lady Greyhounds got off to a flying start with a victory over Oviedo this past Thursday in the SAC opener. Leading the hard-hitting Lady Greyhound attack are seniors Kim Forsyth and Sheila Mandy. Senior setter Dawn Boyesen had an outstanding match against Oviedo. Other standouts for the Lady Greyhounds include Donna Ball, Kristie Kaiser, Lori Helms and Tami Foss, all seniors.

Lake Howell returns just one of six starters from last year's Five Star Conference champions but the Lady Hawks have some experience and a pair of excellent instructors in coach Jo Luciano and assistant Linda Morales.

The top returning players for Lake Howell include seniors Jolee Johnson, Mary Kay Scott, Christy Tibbitts and Anita Cechowski.

Tonight's match will also feature two of the best coaches in Central Florida in Lyman's Karren Newman and Lake Howell's Luciano. Newman, who returns after a two-year absence, led Lyman to a district title in 1982 while Luciano, who took a leave-of-absence last volleyball season, coached a number of successful seasons at Lake Howell.

In Wednesday's action, Lake Mary, 0-1, is looking for its first victory while Oviedo, 2-1, goes for its first SAC win.

Calendar

The Lady Rams dropped a 15-6, 15-6 match to DeLand in their season opener but coach Cindy Henry said the good outweighed the bad. Leading the way for Lake Mary are Kathy Hodak, Betsy Perry, Anquetette Whack, Lara Splatt and Angie Capps.

Oviedo, which is 2-0 in the Orange Belt, is led at the net by Stephanie Nelson and Allison Smith while Kim Verne does the setting. Barbara Malone has been impressive for Oviedo in the early season as she has not missed a serve in three matches.

Seminole High is unveiling what coach Beth Corso said could be a contender by midseason. Experience is the main concern of the players on the squad have not played the sport before. The most experienced players are returning starters Sherri Peterson, Jackie Farr and Cindy Hogan.

● In cross country action this week, Lyman High is hosting a dual meet with Lake Brantley tonight (girls 4 p.m., boys 4:30) in what coach Joe Laughlin said, "should be a barnburner."

The girls teams are close after last week's Edgewater Invitational in which Brantley finished third and Lyman fourth. Lyman is expected to have a healthy team for the first time. Lyman and Lake Brantley are also close in the boys race for the Seminole Athletic Conference title.

This weekend, most Seminole County cross country teams will run in the Seabreeze Beach Run Saturday at Daytona Beach. Those expected to be at the beach include Lake Mary, Lyman, Lake Brantley and Oviedo. Seminole High will not run in a meet while Lake Howell's girls will travel to Jacksonville for the Sandalwood Invitational.

● In swimming, Seminole High will host a tri-meet with Oviedo and Lake Mary Wednesday at 4 p.m. at the Sanora Pool. Saturday, Seminole and Lake Mary will compete in the Bishop Moore Invitational at the Sharidan Aquatic Club. Lyman High will travel to Gainesville for the Gator Invitational.

● In freshman football action tonight, Seminole High travels to St. Cloud. Lake Howell hosts Lake Mary. Lyman hosts Lake Brantley and Oviedo is at Kissimmee Osceola. All kickoffs are 7 p.m.

In a big junior varsity matchup on Thursday night, Lake Mary entertains Seminole. Both teams are 1-0. In other JV action Thursday, Lyman is at Bishop Moore, Oviedo travels to St. Cloud and Lake Brantley hosts Kissimmee Osceola (all kickoffs are 7 p.m.).

In a limited varsity slate on Friday, Seminole High is at Lake Howell and Lyman hosts Lake Brantley.

Rams Relish Open Date; Await Tribe

By Chris Flister

The open date couldn't have come at a better time for Lake Mary's Rams.

Lake Mary, which upended DeLand, 14-10, on Saturday, has a number of nagging injuries that it would like to be healed before getting into Seminole Athletic Conference and District 5A-4 play.

Sophomore running back John Curry was not at 100 percent Saturday after sitting out the first week (21-0 loss to Apopka) with a slightly sprained ankle. Still, Curry was a factor Saturday as he ran 12 times for 40 yards and caught two passes for 56 yards, including a 47-yard touchdown reception from Shane Letterio.

"Curry made that run on one leg," Lake Mary coach Harry Nelson said of the TD jaunt. "If he had two good legs we would have scored down there on the three (DeLand held the Rams out of the end zone after a first down on the four)."

Two of the Rams' senior leaders, Ray Hartsfield and Byron Washington, were playing with injured fingers.

"I wasn't worried about it," Washington said. "A lot of our key players were hurt but we're learning to play with pain."

Washington turned what looked to be a short pass into a big play when he broke loose from a defender, picked up a block and ran 81 yards for Lake Mary's first touchdown Saturday.

"I was just trying to get the first down at first," Washington said. "The DeLand guy tried his best to stick with me but I got away from him and got a key block from Dennis Barnes."

Letterio had an outstanding night as he completed 8 of 13 passes for 243 yards. His best pass of the day, however, did not go for a touchdown.

Midway through the third quarter, Lake Mary had the ball at its own 46 yard line. Letterio then dropped back, stepped up in the pocket and lofted a perfect pass which Ray Hartsfield ran under, gathered in and headed for the end zone. But Hartsfield was caught from behind at the four-yard line after a 60-yard pass play.

DeLand's defense then held Lake Mary out of the end zone after the Rams had a first and goal at the four.

Against DeLand, Lake Mary nearly tripled its offensive output of the opener. Against Apopka, the Rams gained 112 yards total offense. Saturday, Lake Mary had 331 yards total offense, 243 passing and 88 rushing.

But, Lake Mary's loss to Apopka didn't seem as bad after the Blue Darters whipped Winter Park, 28-9, Saturday night.

"We went to war against Apopka without all our guns," Nelson said. "We played lousy but still stood up fairly well. Figuring how they (Apopka) beat up on Winter Park, I'd say we're a pretty good football team."

Lake Mary, 1-1 overall and 1-0 in the district, returns to 5A-4 play Oct. 18 at home against Spruce Creek. But, first on the Rams' minds is healing the injuries and then going after Seminole.

"I guess we can heal our injuries now," Washington said. "We're looking forward to playing Seminole. Especially at home. There should be a great crowd."

first down. Osborn's run from punt formation ignited the Tribe's first touchdown.

Surprised Osborn Reacts To Snap, Makes First Down

By Sam Cook

It was fourth and six. Seminole was on its own 17 yard line. Only 9:30 remained in the game. The Tribe trailed Titusville, 20-0. Things looked bleak for the home team.

Then, a sliver of light kept into Seminole's gloomy situation. Titusville was flagged for an offside violation. The ball was advanced five yards to the 22. Still, Sonny Osborn returned to his punting position 10 yards behind the line of scrimmage. It would be quite a gamble even for one yard.

As Osborn was setting up, however, Mike Levant came running onto the field. He said something to Eddie Banks. "Sweep 8. Sweep 8." But he didn't say it very loud. Not loud enough for James Rowe to hear. That was crucial. Rowe is the center.

"I was trying to point to Banks," Osborn said about proposed fake punt on which Rowe would snap to upback Banks. "I knew Rowe didn't hear the call, so I just kept pointing to Eddie, hoping that he knew what I meant."

Rowe didn't. He snapped the ball to the most surprised man on the field — the punter, Sonny Osborn. "I didn't know what to do," Osborn said about his momentary hesitation. "Should I punt or should I run?"

The natural instinct took over next. He looked to his right and saw a wall of blockers. He took a couple of steps, picked up speed and then he recklessly threw his body into a defender, giving his all for a first down.

When they unpiled the mass, Osborn wasn't sure he'd lunged far enough. Then he peered at the sideline and saw a familiar face. "I looked up at coach and he was grinning," Osborn said. "That was a great feeling."

Mosure had reason to smile. "Boy, talk about a heads-up play," he said. "That Osborn is really something. We snap it to the wrong guy and he still gets the first down. That was quick thinking."

There were a lot of great feelings in the fourth quarter for the Seminoles. After Osborn's crucial first down, sophomore quarterback Jeff Blake moved the Tribe 72 yards in just six plays. Blake hit Herb Hillery for 54 yards for the key play. Soph Curtis Rudolph scored his first varsity touchdown from two yards out with 8:04 to play.

Three plays later, the Tribe had the ball back. Mike Luster unloaded on Wayne Straw and Kenny Morris covered the fumble. Dwayne Willis picked up 15 on two carries before Blake went airborne again. He went long and deep to Dave Rape who snagged the ball with a nice grab and wheeled into the end zone to complete a 41-yard scoring play.

That was the end of the miracle comeback, though. Only 2:01 remained and with the Seminoles down to their last

Hawthorne Motors To State Stock Championship

NEW SMYRNA BEACH — After dominating the street stock action this season with 19 feature wins, young Casey Hawthorne drove the family-owned Mustang to victory in the 100-lap Street Stock Championship of Florida. Dickerson: 3 TDs

SEATTLE (UPI) — Despite impressive statistics, Doug Reed figured Dave Krieg would have a difficult time against the Los Angeles Rams Monday night.

Krieg was the top-rated passer in the NFL last week and the Seattle Seahawks were 2-0. But last night, Krieg was sacked seven times for 81 yards in losses and intercepted twice as the Rams downed Seattle 35-24.

"It was not surprise to me," said Reed, the Rams defensive end who had a game-high three sacks for minus-24 yards. "If it happens in practice, it's going to come in the game. We're a bad group of guys, so it's really hard to keep us out."

"We shut down the run, too."

Seattle's Curt Warner ran for just 32 yards and Seattle managed only 44 yards rushing. Meanwhile, LA's Eric Dickerson made his 1985 debut something special by romping for 150 yards and three touchdowns in helping the Rams improve to 3-0.

Krieg declined to blast his line's blocking — or lack thereof. "We just got beat," he said simply. "We've just got to come back and do better next week."

Dickerson, who set an NFL record last year of 2,105 yards rushing, missed the first two games of this season because of a contract dispute.

"I think I played very well," he said. "I thought I was ready to play. Y'all didn't think I was

IWA, Shade Use Sanford As Test Run For Matches

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Beverly Shade didn't come by the nickname "The Hammer" without just cause. Her excruciating headlocks have left many opponents feeling like a slightly used grapefruit.

Shade, who is one half of the "Arm and Hammer Connection" with Tracy Richards, would like to extend her hammerlock to places other than the wrestling ring, however. As a matchmaker for the International Wrestling Alliance in Tampa, Shade said Monday the IWA would like to control Florida.

"We're going to run the state,"

Wrestling

Shade said, "Shade said Wednesday night's wrestling card at the Sanford Civic Center is a test run."

Wednesday's action, which begins at 8 p.m., features the unpredictable Bugy McGraw against Crazy Luke Graham in the semifinal along with All-South tag team champions Ravishing Randy Rose and Pretty Boy Doug Summers against Golden Boy Chick Donovan and Bah Mack, the Wrestling Cowboy in the main event.

Tragic Tales Confirm Hitchhiking Is Risky

DEAR ABBY: "Tacoma Reader" asked, "What measures can a driver take to reduce the risk if he picks up a hitchhiker?" You replied, "For 100 percent protection, pick up nobody." You answer was 100 percent correct. In essence, the hitchhiker is saying with his thumb: "You pay for the car, the gas, the upkeep and maintenance, the insurance; drive me where I want to go as far as you can, but if you have an accident, I may sue you!"

That's exactly what happened to one of my clients who picked up a hitchhiker. He swerved to avoid being hit by another car, overcompensated and hit a guardrail. The hitchhiker has just filed a $250,000 lawsuit against him, even though we are paying the present medical bills and loss of any income as a result of the accident.

I received many rides as a young man, and I would like to repay those who were kind to me by doing the same for others. However, times have changed, and unfortunately, so have the attitudes and motivations of many people in our society. What a shame that in order to protect ourselves, we cannot be as generous and kind as we would like to be.

C.R.T., ALBANY, N.Y.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago, my son, who was 21 at the time, had just re-enlisted for his second term with the U.S. Navy. He wanted to make it his career. He picked up a hitchhiker, a decent-looking young man about his age who said he was going home to visit his mother.

Less than 48 hours later, my son was lying in a hospital fighting for his life. The hitchhiker had brutally attacked him, beat him about the head, stolen his car and belongings, and left him on the roadside.

Thanks to the grace of God and a skilled surgeon, my son lived. He suffered the loss of the use of his right hand, and slightly impaired speech. This, of course, ended all hopes of a career in the Navy. He considers himself lucky to be alive.

I want to add my unconditional support of your advice: Never pick up a hitchhiker. Whenever I see a person with his thumb out, I see my son lying in the hospital, fighting for his life. You may use my name.

MRS. PAT DOUGLAS, PITTSBURGH

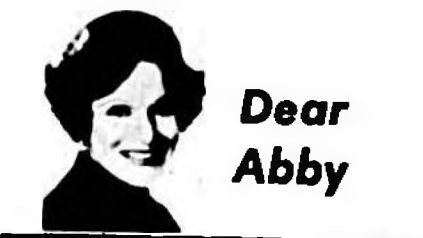

DEAR ABBY: I was happy to read your advice: "Never pick up a hitchhiker!" You should have stressed more emphatically that the person who is "hitchhiking" a free ride also puts him/herself at risk.

Four years ago I was a 20-year-old college student who hitched a ride with a respectable-looking man driving a new, expensive car. He drove off the highway into a wooded area, and at gunpoint, he raped me, drugged me and left me for dead.

Fortunately, I was found by some campers before dark. Later I identified the man from mug shots. The car he was driving had been stolen, and he had a long record of rape and robberies.

I am happy to say he is still serving time for his crime against me.

TRUE STORY FROM ILLINOIS

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I think it was lousy of you to advise people to never pick up a hitchhiker. I've hitched rides all over the United States and Canada, met some wonderful people and seen a lot of territory I never would have seen had I not been picked up.

Sure, there will always be a few bad apples in the barrel, but there are mostly good ones. I think you did a terrible disservice to a lot of good people. I'll bet not one in 10,000 hitchhikers turns out to be a bad apple.

Thanks for nothing.

Will Bill Be The Pinch That Stole Christmas?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Foes of a bill that would restrict textile imports said today it is a Scrooge-like piece of legislation that could ruin Christmas for children by driving up the cost of toys.

manufacturers and shippers who oppose the textile bill.

"Here are some of the most popular toys in America and their prices will go up 100, 200 or 300 percent if the textile bill is approved," said Duncan Dwell, president of the American Fair Trade Council.

The textile bill would initiate limits on textile imports, particularly from east Asian countries. Supporters say the limits are needed because of the slumping U.S. textile industry. The council says their businesses would be hurt if imports are limited and that consumers would have to pay higher prices.

Dwell and two council members appeared at a news conference in a Senate office building. On one side of them was a poster carrying the legend, "Don't let the textile bill ruin Christmas" and on the other was a pyramid of stuffed toy bears, seals, dogs and cats and boxes of dolls, doll clothes and items like toy umbrellas and animals masks.

Roger Kase, president of the retail division of Esprit, said it would be "very difficult" for parents to buy popular toys and still buy U.S.-made toys. The pile of toys included a "Dreamtime Barbie" and a Cabbage Patch doll.

The council is composed of retailers and

A council spokesman said the estimate of higher prices was based on quotas that would limit the import of toys and would push up the price of raw materials.

Firm Acquires Uniroyal

NEW YORK (UPI) — An affiliate of Clayton & Dubilier Inc. has acquired Uniroyal Inc. for a price tag of about $747 million.

Uniroyal's stockholders Monday approved a $22-a-share cash merger under which the tire and rubber company would be sold.

Uniroyal agreed to merge with Clayton & Dubilier Inc., a private investment firm specializing in leveraged buyouts, on May 6.

In return, New York financier Carl C. Icahn said he would terminate his $18-a-share bid to gain a majority interest in the company and would not buy additional shares for six months.

Icahn, who agreed to vote the 3.19 million Uniroyal shares he held in favor of the leveraged buyout with Clayton & Dubilier, received $5.9 million for abandoning his hostile takeover effort.

Cheap Fur Imports Boosting Business

NEW YORK (UPI) — The loft factory of Johnny Karopoulos' fur company offers a few reasons why mink coats have an $8,000 price tag and why consumers should be careful when buying in a market rejuvenated by cheap imports.

Forty expensive fur pelts are in various stages of being treated, cleaned, stretched, fitted, sewn and cleaned again in a 60-hour, labor-intensive process that will yield one full-length coat.

"Each coat is a craft, really," said Karopoulos, examining a luxuriously long black mink in an air conditioned vault. "It takes years to train skilled workers and then you have to pay them very well."

Despite price tags that start in the hundreds of dollars for rabbit jackets and end upwards of $100,000 for a single Russian sable coat, the industry is booming — tripling in the last decade to $1.5 billion in sales last year, says Sandy Blye of the American Fur Industry Inc.

The association represents hundreds of American fur makers, most located in a two-block area of midtown Manhattan.

One reason for the boom is the recent influx of fur coats and jackets from Hong Kong, China, Greece and some Third World countries. Industry officials report.

These furs are less expensive, allowing discount fur houses to sell mink coats for $2,000 apiece that appeal to women on cloth coat wages. But they are often of poor quality, and some American manufacturers, attempting to keep up with the lower-priced competition, have begun to cut corners themselves.

Such discount coats are often made with inferior pelts which can be overstretched or fashioned by unskilled and lower-paid tailors, officials say.

"The industry is really changing," said Connie Karopoulos, executive director of the Master Furriers Guild of America. "It used to be that most furs were of a high quality, but now people have to be more careful of what they are buying."

A well-made fur coat can last 20 or more years, making it cost-effective for people who save by not buying a new coat every two years. A poorly made fur garment may shed excessively or form bald spots, stiffen and lose its shape within a matter of years, industry experts say.

Furs are made from pelts bought at auction throughout the world. Most of the 40 varieties of American furs, such as minks, chinchillas, rabbits and foxes, are raised on ranches much like cattle are raised for beef. Raccoons and beavers are purchased from trappers who capture the animals in the wild.

Pelts are then cleaned and often dyed, with each manufacturer having its own secret recipes of chemical agents to promote luster, softness and colors. Pelts with similarly colored and textured fur are separated into bundles so each coat will have a uniform look.

The pelts are lengthened and narrowed by slicing a series of horizontal cuts in the back and stretching the material. The gaps are then sewn shut.

The strips, now four to five feet long, are sewn together by tailors who are the highest paid of all American garment workers, Blye explained.

By law, fur labels must list the type of fur, its country of origin, whether the fur is sheared or dyed and whether the garment is made with whole skins or leftover parts of skins — such as paws, tails and bellies, Blye said.

According to fur manufacturers, dyeing does not change the quality of the fur, but some consumers prefer undyed furs because they are rarer.

By industry agreement, the lining of a coat is left unattached at the bottom so it can be pulled up and the backside of the fur can be inspected. Consumers should be suspicious if the lining of a coat is sewn shut, furriers say.

The back of the fur should reveal long, straight and even pelts sewn tightly together, Blye said. And the leather should be supple and smooth.

A coat made of paws and tails will be a patchwork of fur parts. Such coats are cheaper, but may not hold up for as many years, industry officials warn.
