BUSINESS MEN GIVE VIEWS ON HUTTON CLAIM

Survey Shows Majority In Favor Of A
Court Determination
Before Payment

47 Prominent Men Interviewed

One Favors Early Payment But Many Fail To Make Comment

According to an impartial survey conducted today by The Herald to determine accurately the sentiment of the leading business and professional men of Sanford toward the immediate payment by the City of $210,946.54 claimed by the Hutton Construction Company, 47 individuals were interviewed, of which 13 declared themselves to be opposed to the payment of the warrants until their legality had been decided by the courts, one expressed himself as being in favor of immediate payment and 33 declined to make a public statement.

John Mussen: "I don't believe in being robbed just because somebody wants to rob us. I feel very strongly about this matter and don't think the claim should be paid until it is ascertained by court action that the warrants are legal obligations of the city."

S. R. Dighton: "I think the Commission should force the Hutton Construction Company to establish the legality of its claim against the city."

John Meisch: "If Mr. Hutton is entitled to his money, I think he should be paid, but I don't think the Commission should pay any bills until they are proved to be just obligations of the City. The City should not think of meeting these claims until they have been passed upon by the courts."

Volie Williams: "If they owe the money they ought to pay it and if they don't owe it, I'd have chin whiskers as long as Abraham Lincoln's before I would pay it. I think the Commission should abide by the Gaylon Cummin report and have the matter settled in court before paying the Hutton claim."

W. S. Coleman: "I feel that if Mr. Hutton's claim is just, if he is using due diligence in trying to collect on those warrants and could not get his money, that he should be paid by all means. However, since the question has been raised, I think the validity of the claims should be investigated thoroughly before payment is made."

B. L. Perkins: "I think it should be paid. We are going to have to pay it in the long run and we might as well pay it now."

E. A. Douglas: "I certainly think that the City should make the Hutton Company prove the legality of its claim. This is a serious question, involves the rights of every taxpayer, and I think that every phase of these transactions should be considered before the City even thinks about paying the money. The courts are the only means by which we can test the validity of the Hutton bill."

J. G. Ball: "If the City of Sanford owes the Hutton Construction Company I want to see them paid. But if the auditors and financial expert, Mr. Cummin, who have gone into this matter, say it is not a just debt, the City Commission should better take their advice."

S. A. B. Wilkinson: "I absolutely think this matter should be threshed out in the courts before any attempt is made to pay these warrants."

Dr. J. T. Denton: "I think the warrants should be proved a just claim by court procedure before they are paid by the city."

Frank Evans: "I think the public interests are the first interests to be satisfied. In the case of any warrants they should not be paid until a thorough investigation establishes their validity, and I know of no way of making a final test except through a court's decision. I believe the Commission would be in error to rush headlong into the payment of this claim. Unless this matter is brought before the courts there

Fire Damages Ship
Belonging To Clyde

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(INS)—The Clyde liner, Seneca, was damaged to the extent of half a million dollars, the lower section of Lackawanna pier No. 11 consumed and a number of smaller craft destroyed when fire broke out on the Eleventh Street dock, Hoboken, today. The flames quickly spread from the wharf to the big liner tied up at the pier and oil that had become scattered over the water carried the flames to other smaller vessels, Hoboken and New York fire equipment, including fireboats, fought the stubborn blaze for hours. Two members of the Seneca's crew were rescued by firemen. The intense heat seriously handicapped firemen who finally obtained the upper hand.

VET AUXILIARY TO GIVE BALL ON HOTELS OPENING

Forrest Lake Hotel To Hold Formal Opening Tomorrow Night With New Year's Eve Dance Sponsored By Women

The Hotel Forrest Lake will formally open its doors for the 1928 season tomorrow night with a New Year's Eve ball staged under the auspices of the American Legion Auxiliary. At the same time the building will be opened for inspection and a cordial invitation to the general public to see the hostelry was extended today by G. H. Schlosser, manager.

The ball, which will begin at 9 o'clock with a grand march, will be a benefit affair for the Auxiliary. Elaborate preparations have been made and the affair is being anticipated as one of the season's outstanding social events. Mrs. George W. Knight, president of the Auxiliary, is chairman of the dance committee and is being assisted by Mrs. Robert J. Holly Sr., Mrs. W. Theodore Langley and Mrs. C. L. Goodhue.

The Auxiliary has engaged the Semole Synopsators to furnish music for the evening. Special dances and other entertainment features will be introduced, and attractive favors will be distributed among the guests.

In connection with the hotel opening, Mr. Schlosser expressed the hope that Sanford people would regard the hotel as their own, to use it at any time for affairs of all kinds. Each organization in the city will be permitted to have use of the hostelry once each year without charge, he said.

New Year's dinner on Sunday will be the first meal served under the new management. A number of guests have already been entertained at the hotel and reservations are being received daily, the management reported.

The hotel opens this year for the third season, but contrary to the previous policy it will be operated the year round instead of the usual four months' season. The hostelry has been leased to R. O. Middleton, New York and Palm Beach hotel man, who has placed Mr. Schlosser here as manager and E. J. Middleton, his brother, as treasurer.

R. O. Middleton is the operator of several hotels in the east and in addition has the lease on the Bath and Tennis Club, exclusive Palm Beach club. Mr. Schlosser came to Sanford from Palm Beach where last year he was manager of the Bath and Tennis Club.

The new management anticipates a busy winter season, expecting to entertain many tourists, many for part of the year, and some for the entire season.

Lake Mary People To Honor Pioneers On Saturday Night

Lake Mary citizens who are 60 years old and over will be the guests tomorrow night at the third annual reception to be given at the Chamber of Commerce building beginning at 8 o'clock.

The affair has been one of the biggest events of the season for the past two years and it is being anticipated by Lake Mary people with equally as much pleasure this year.

Final preparations for a program that will be complete with numerous entertainment features, have been arranged. Several speakers will address the gathering and following the program refreshments will be served.

In connection with the affair, Frank Evans, one of those in charge of the program today issued a cordial invitation to every pioneer citizen of Seminole County to be present tomorrow night.

Johnny Hughes and Julio Lopez, rival Texas featherweight boxers, are managed by the brothers Mory Morteiz and Julio Mnotez, respectively.

HIDDEN FACTS RECEIVE AIRING BY HISTORIANS

American Historical Society
Told By Professor That
Researchers Have Unearthed
Discrepancies In History

Battle Of Monitor In Civil War Cited

Professor Does Not Believe
Historians Are Depriving
Illustrious Men Of Glory

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. Another hoary myth of American history was blown out of the water today in the final session of the American Historical Society's annual meeting.

The romantic glamor which has been woven by patriotic American historians about the historic battle between the Monitor and the Merrimac in the Civil War, according to professor J. P. Baxter, of Harvard, is made of the same cloth as the long accepted story about George Washington and his cherry tree.

Professor Baxter does not agree with Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago that the most heroic incidents of United States history are being systematically deflated by the kings bencher in the interest of British world domination, but he contended vehemently that we should look our history squarely in the face. He disarms response from Thompson's supporters by bestowing the lost glory of the Monitor and the Merrimac incident, not upon England but upon the France of Napoleon III.

"Manuscripts hitherto unused in Paris, London and Washington," Professor Baxter told the assembled professors, "indicate that France, not the United States, played the leading role in the introduction of ironclads. The shells commonly attributed to the combat between the Monitor and the Merrimac have been greatly exaggerated. From 1860 until 1864 the French fleet on paper at least, was superior to the British in armored vessels."

Professor Baxter's paper on "the significance of reform in naval construction," stimulated widespread comment among historians attending the annual session of the society. Heretofore the battle between the Monitor and the Merrimac, one of the pivotal incidents of the Civil War, has been regarded generally as the dividing line between the era of wooden and ironclad naval ships.

Professor Baxter's report is the result of years of special study from original manuscripts in the archives of Great Britain, France and the United States.

"The annihilation of the Turkish fleet by shell fire at Sinope in 1853 led Napoleon III to construct five armored floating batteries, three of which proved their worth in the capture of Kinburn, in October 1855. By 1860, thanks to the enthusiastic support of the emperor and to the genius of his chief naval constructor, Dupuy de Lome, they had solved," with the Gloire, the problem of sea-going ironclad. France at once increased its program of sea-going ironclads in 1860 from six to sixteen ships. The revolution in French building policy thus brought about was the decisive factor in the introduction of the ironclad ship."

Officers Make Raid On Exclusive Club Evading Liquor Law

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(INS)—In a sensational raid on the Chez Helen Morgan early today, a large squad of federal prohibition agents seized a quantity of alleged liquor, wrecked the interior of the exclusive night club and forced 500 formally attired patrons to the street.

The officers arrested Helen Morgan, a musical comedy star, as the owner of the establishment. She and eight of the club's staff were taken to a police station in a patrol wagon and charged with illegal possession of liquor.

The actress, who plays a leading role in "shot boat," a Broadway production that recently opened here, was highly indignant. Bondsman came to her rescue and before dawn she was free on bail.

The raid was made under the personal supervision of Regional Director Major Maurice Campbell. It was taken to indicate that further raids will be made on night resorts where preparations have been made to usher in the New Year riotously.

NEGRO BANK FAILS

MEMPHIS, Dec. 30.—(INS)—The Fraternal and Solvent Bank and Trust Company, Memphis only, and the South's largest negro bank, failed to open its doors today. The institution was turned over to the state bank examiners this morning. Attorneys for the state banking department will file a petition in chancery court today asking a receiver be appointed for the bank.

First Celery Of Season Bringing $2 Per Crate Is Shipped On Thursday

Sanford shipped its first celery of the season on Thursday, two cars being handled by the Sanford-Oviedo Truck Growers Association and one by the American Fruit Growers Inc.

The celery was of good quality, unusually so for this time of the season, it was reported. The cars left two days earlier than the first one shipped last year by the American Fruit Growers.

All of the shipments brought $2 per crate, which is declared to be a good price for this time of year when the market is overloaded with celery from California.

Celery shipped by the Sanford-Oviedo Truck Growers was grown on the farm of Otto Schmechel. One car went to Miami and another was consigned to Philadelphia, J. C. Hutchinson, general manager, announced. Most of the celery averaged four to six dozen stalks to the crate.

The American Growers' car came from the farm of C. A. Hinton. It rolled early yesterday morning for a northern point.

It was announced by local shippers that several cars a week would move from now until the middle of January when a material increase will be noted. Peak shipments are forecast for the middle of February until the first of March.

Prospects for fair prices throughout the season are bright despite an unusually heavy competition from California, it was claimed. This is, however, contingent upon an even distribution basis. E. L. Marcell, sales manager of the American Fruit Growers Inc., said in this connection.

"If the growers don't get excited and try to overload the market with their products, we have an opportunity to maintain a fair price through the season. Judicious handling of the crop in the field will work advantageously to the farmers' interests."

WOMAN CHARGED WITH VIOLATION OF SLAVERY LAW

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 30.—(INS)—Mrs. Mabel Arico, wife of an automobile salesman, was free on $5,000 bond today on charges of violating federal anti-slavery laws, while her alleged slave, Anna Lamu, 20, lay in charity hospital where doctors and nurses were attempting to restore strength to her wasted body.

Mrs. Arico was arraigned last night before a United States commissioner, and entered a general denial of the girl's story that she had been held prisoner for three years, had been forced to eat with dogs and chickens, had been beaten with a hose, struck on the thumbs with a hammer and viciously starved.

The girl's plight was revealed when a neighbor discovered her searching for food in a garbage pile, and summoned police. They turned the girl over to the United States District Attorney Wayne Borah, who filed slavery charges after an investigation.

In the hospital, the girl exhibited scars, welts and bruises that covered most of her body, including the plain imprint of a shoe heel on her left cheek and a broken front tooth which she said had been struck by Mrs. Arico with a hammer when she once attempted to run away.

Mrs. Arico, stunningly dressed, and wearing many diamonds on her fingers, lives in a pretty, vine covered brick house in the best residential district. She is about 28 years old.

"Of course I beat her some times," she was quoted as saying, "but only when she was delinquent. And of course I did not keep her prisoner. How could I? I paid her a weekly wage and the girl ate with the dogs because she preferred to eat that way."

LINDBERGH LANDS

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(INS)—Colonel Lindbergh landed at Belize, British Honduras at 9:15 A. M. Central Time today, according to a cable dispatch to the Western Union offices here.

MAN SHOOTS WIFE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 30.—(INS)—While a 15-year-old daughter noked on in terror, William R. Walz, 51, shot and killed his wife, Ethel, 29, here today and then committed suicide. Police believe a family argument was responsible.

SINCLAIR CHARGED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—(INS)—The federal grand jury today returned a presentment charging Harry P. Sinclair, oil magnate, and six associates with conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Startling Revelations Considered Imminent In Hickman Murder Case

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 30.—(INS)—Startling revelations in the Marion Parker kidnapping and murder case were promised today as District Attorney Asa Keyes ordered a sweeping grand jury investigation of the astounding confessions of William Edward Hickman, 19-year-old confessed kidnaper, killer and bandit.

While the new grand jury inquiry was called for the primary purpose of delving into the murder of C. Ivy Thomis, Los Angeles druggist, killed in a holdup of his Rose Hill Pharmacy, Keyes indicated the investigation would attempt to clear up many of the uninvolved phases of the abduction and brutal slaying of the little Parker girl.

The grand jury investigation was ordered following the dual confession of Hickman and Welby Hunt, 16-year-old Kansas City youth, that the two boys planned and executed the daring holdup of the Rose Hill Pharmacy which was climaxed by the fatal shooting of Thomis on Christmas Eve, a year ago.

Hickman admitted firing the fatal shot. Hunt confessed to his participation in the robbery, but denied responsibility for the killing.

SMITH'S GIBE AT KLAN MAY SPOIL CHANCES

Political Leaders Are Uneasy
Over New York Governor's
Blunt Denunciation Of Ku
Klux Klan In Public Letter

First Time Smith Has Criticized Klan

Says American Liberties Extend Protection To Those Untrue To Its Principles

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 30.—Political leaders at the Capitol today were wondering what effect Governor Smith's blunt denunciation of the Ku Klux Klan will have on his chances of winning the Democratic presidential nomination next year.

For the first time in his career, the governor today had publicly denounced the Klan. He declared that he abhorred the purposes of the Klan and that he would accord its members even-handed justice.

The governor's stand on the Klan was made known in a letter he wrote to Paul M. Winter of Jamaica L. I., who complained to the executive that police had interfered with Klan parades.

In replying to Winter's letter, the governor pointed a recent court decision which said: "American liberty extends the protection of the law even to those who are false to its principles."

The governor added: "I subscribe unreservedly to that declaration of principle, I regard the purposes of your organization with abhorrence and I consider them subversive to the fundamentals of American Democracy. Nevertheless, insofar as it lies within my power under the law, I would accord to you exactly the same even-handed justice that I would give to anybody else."

Winter had requested the governor to order an investigation of police interference with Klan parades on Long Island and to have the state's attorney-general decide whether such parades are lawful. The governor told Winter he had no authority to order such an investigation or make such a request of the attorney-general.

Physician Arrested In Connection With Gruesome Murder

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—(INS)—Dr. Charles F. McMillan, a physician and surgeon, was under arrest here today on suspicion of the murder of Mrs. Amelia Appleby, said to be a wealthy property owner of Chicago and Los Angeles, whose body, bundled in a canvas sack, was found on Christmas night in a ravine near San Fernando.

Police said the slain woman, who was identified by a forked thumb nail, also was known as Mollie Burke, Amelia Ellenbrough and Margaret Ellenbrough. She had been missing from her home at Los Angeles for several days when the gruesome find was made.

Although Dr. McMillan admitted he had been handling the woman's property, he denied any implication in the murder. Deputy sheriffs' who arrested Dr. McMillan at his home here, reported they found him examining some of the woman's papers when they arrived.

Among these papers, the officers said, was a power of attorney and a will purported to have been executed by Mrs. Appleby, bequeathing her property to the doctor.

Campaign Begun To Check Florida Rum

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., Dec. 30.—(INS)—An intensified campaign to check the flow of contraband liquor from the West Indies into Florida was foreseen here today in orders transferring to the Florida East Coast 40 picked coast guardsmen along the North Carolina and Virginia Coast.

Announcement of the transfers was made at the headquarters of the seventh district of the Coast Guard here. The district embraces the Atlantic Coast from Cape Henry Va., to the tip of Florida.

FRIENDS SURPRISE AL SMITH

ALBANY, Dec. 30.—(INS)—Friends of Governor Smith were surprised for him when he sits down to his birthday dinner tonight. On the table before him will appear a marvelous white cake, a replica of the White House. The governor will be fifty-two years old.

Remus Held Insane By Decree Sending Him To Institution

Judge States Evidence Shows Remus Thinks
It Not Morally Bad
To Commit Homicide

Decision Comes
As Severe Shock
Alienists Testimony
Instrumental In Securing Conviction

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 30.—(INS)—George Remus, once the "brains" of a powerful bootlegging ring, today was adjudged criminally insane and ordered sent to the State Asylum at Lima, Ohio.

The finding handed down by Probate Judge William Leuders is the sequel to the killing by Remus of his wife, Augusta Imogene Holmes Remus, whom he accused of carrying on a love affair with Franklin Dodge, federal prohibition agent.

Following a trial of five weeks a jury of ten men and two women after deliberating nineteen minutes brought in a verdict of "not guilty on the sole ground of insanity" the only "not guilty" verdict allowed in the charges of the trial Judge Chester Shook.

Mrs. Remus was shot and fatally wounded by her husband the former bootleg king, on Oct. 6, as she was enroute to the court of domestic relations where she was to testify in her suit for divorce from Remus.

Under the jury's verdict it was compulsory that Remus be brought before probate court for a sanity hearing. This hearing was conducted Wednesday, with Judge Leuders and three alienists presiding.

"The medical man, it was learned, decided that Remus was sane, but a dangerous psychopath, and recommended that he be kept in custody. It was brought out during the hearing that Remus recently made a statement to the effect that "it might be legally wrong, but not morally wrong, to kill Franklin Dodge."

Judge Shook, in his decree holding Remus insane, declared that the "evidence discloses that George Remus at this time does not believe it morally wrong to commit further homicide."

"Therefore, from the evidence, testimony, and exhibits submitted in this case, the court is of the opinion and finds George Remus to be insane and a dangerous person to be at large."

"It is therefore ordered that George Remus be committed to the Lima State Hospital for the insane and there confined until otherwise he might be discharged by due process of law."

Police Search For Abductor Of Young
Girl In California

REDLANDS, Cal., Dec. 30.—(INS)—A manhunt riddling the conducted for William Edward Hickman is in progress in Southern California and the Mexican border today. The object of the search is Robert E. McClanahan, paroled ex-convict, who McMillan Evelyn Smith, 11, from her Oakland home on Christmas day.

The child, who had been with a Redlands welfare worker by her abductor, declared she had been attacked by him in the course of the automobile trip from Oakland.

Police expressed the belief that the man sought, aided by a confederate in the one who Wednesday night chloroformed Lawrence Ferguson here, and off with $100, two diamonds and two watches.

The child said he had accompanied her abductor when she said that his well-to-do mother would adopt her.

Search Conducted Find Girl Kidnap

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(INS)—Police today began a search for Miss Tessa McMillan, a telephone operator who was kidnapped last night from her home in Glendale, a suburban four men who blackjacked her and forced her into a cab.

Miss Tessa and Lester 19, her escort, were walking the street with another couple when the taxi cab to the curb and four men beat freely, and seized the cab. Brady's injuries were by an ambulance surgeon.

FINDING OF BODY PROMPTS SEARCH FOR TAXI DRIVER

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(INS)—A taxicab driver was sought by the police today in the hope that he could throw some light on the mysterious death of Mrs. Mary Harrington, twenty-nine, a vaudeville actress. She was beaten to death, in the opinion of the authorities.

Her body, clad in silk pajamas and silk dressing gown, was found in her room, the walls of which were spattered with blood. There were several wounds about her face and head, indicating that she had been struck with a sharp instrument.

The police were informed that a large blue taxicab had been parked frequently in front of the apartment Mrs. Harrington occupied. When her husband, Guy Harrington, actor-manager now playing in Wilkesbarre, Pa., was informed of his wife's death, he exclaimed "It's that taxi driver."

Harrington said that his wife, who recently brought suit for divorce and won an uncontested action for $10,000 although the final decree had not been granted, had received attentions from other men.

The attractive young woman's death was, according to the police, similar to the baffling murder of "Dot" King and Louise Lawson. Mrs. Harrington's dressing gown was bloodstained and there was blood on the floor. No weapon was visible, however. Search of the apartment indicated that her diamond ring and other jewelry were missing. She had advertised to sublet her apartment while she paid a visit to her mother in Joplin, Mo.

Alice Rhinelander Alleges Cruelty In Suing For Divorce

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(INS)—Mrs. Alice Jones Rhinelander has commenced suit for separation from her husband, Leonard Kip Rhinelander, it was learned today. The New York society man's colored wife alleges cruelty, inhuman treatment and abandonment in her summons and complaint.

Papers in the suit are on file at White Plains, N. Y., sheriffs of three counties in the metropolitan district have received a copy of the papers, but Rhinelander is believed to be in Louisiana and copies of the summons and complaint have been mailed to authorities there, in the event that the supreme court here grants Mrs. Rhinelander's appeal for privilege of service by publication.

Judge Samuel W. Swineburne, Mrs. Rhinelander's attorney, said she probably would seek alimony of $1,000 a month. She is now receiving $300 a month from Rhinelander.

Probe May Be Made Into Death Of King

BERLIN, Dec. 30.—(INS)—Possibility of an official inquiry into the death of the late King Ferdinand, of Roumania, exists today at Bucharest as the result of accusations made by Dr. Jonescu, a noted physician, according to reports from the Roumanian Capital.

Writing in the Bucharest newspaper "Indreptarea," Dr. Jonescu alleged that Ferdinand's life was shortened by either "careless or ignorant treatment," by Dr. Juvary, the royal physician. Dr. Jonescu's allegations are supported by four other doctors.

According to Dr. Jonescu, the royal physician "either through ignorance or intentionally concealed the fact that Ferdinand was suffering from intestinal cancer until it was too late to operate."

HOTEL SOLD

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 30.—(INS)—The Oliver Hotel of this city, one of the largest hotels in Florida, has been sold to the Oliver Hotel Properties, Inc., it was announced here today by J. S. Carnes, its owner. The consideration in the sale was announced as $1,000,000. The transaction was in cash, Carnes said.

Rickard Selects Windsor Canada For Next Big Bout Because Of Low Tax Rate

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service
Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(INS)—Wot, ho! for Windsor, Ont., the land of King George and the Imperial quart, God save them both.
"Having plenty of time on their hands and other people's money to spend, the boys sat themselves down beside T. Rickard today and named the next heavyweight championship fight to Windsor, a town of 50,000 just across the border from Detroit and within easy access of Toronto, Chicago, and the Middle West in general.

A comparatively small town, it seems, but with a large floating population, meaning that they walk in and probably float out, meantime floating an occasional loan, there being no less than three race tracks in the vicinity. Loan-floating, therefore, might be taken to be one of the necessities of life, like a loaf of bread, to be the last two steps on a ladder.

"Anyhow, T. Rickard had a good story and he told it well. The synopsis of the plot was simply this: In Canada, the government tax on prize fights, a term translated from the vulgarism, is only two percent. In New York, if a bill before Congress passes, the government and state taxes will total thirty per cent. In Chicago, they will total thirty-five per cent.

Mr. Rickard allowed that he cared rather deeply for that two percent tax. He neglected to say anything about that four percent beer tax, then. Mr. Rickard is a polished gentleman of the world and avoids the obvious whenever possible.

though some of them seem to be ideally suited for the place. But commissioners do read the sport news and maybe legislators do not. So he dropped his idea where he thought it would do the most good, meantime hoping for a perfect relay on the throw to the plate.

Perhaps I wrong Mr. Rickard's motives. It may be that he pines for new fields to defertilize and that the good old Dominion is opening for a harvest. Windsor's accessibility to Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago and the other big towns of the Middle West doesn't make it a bad bet and, when you get to thinking it over, thirty percent taxes and two percent beer aren't quite the attraction they might be.

The writer happens to know that Rickard and the New York commission aren't far apart on the idea that the next big fight should be held here. The commission is willing to make concessions. It had hinted that it will double its ante on ringside seats. Mr. Rickard will concede a putt or two also. He will give each commissioner a ringside seat.

CANZONERI IS FAVORITE
NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(INS)—Tony Canzoneri rules 7 to 5 favorite to defeat Bud Taylor in their scheduled ten-round bout here tomorrow night. Eddie Long, Bud's manager, informed Tex Rickard that he will be glad to match Taylor with Benny Basa for the featherweight championship if he also certifies Canzoneri, and will also entertain a proposition to close a match with either Kid Francis or Archie Bell for the bantam title.

TEX TO SIGN SHARKEY
NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(INS)—Promoter Tex Rickard now plans to sign Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, for three big bouts next season. If Sharkey beats Tom Heeney on Jan. 13, he will be matched with either Jack Delaney or Johnny Rizzo. If he wins that fight, he will be sent against Jack Dempsey for the fight to meet Tunney, according to Rickard. If the Boston cruiser is eliminated, however, all bets will be off.

Cohen Named Head Coach Of Louisiana As Donahue Resigns

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 29.—(INS)—Russell Cohen, assistant coach of the University of Alabama, and former Vanderbilt University football star, will assume the position of athletic director and football coach of Louisiana State University Jan. 1, succeeding M. J. Donahue, according to an announcement by President T. W. Atkinson.

Donahue's resignation as head football coach and athletic director of the university came as a bombshell to Southern athletic circles. Donahue has been one of the outstanding athletic figures in the South for the past quarter of a century and has produced a number of champion teams at Auburn and Louisiana.

Golf Semi-Finals To Be Played Sunday

Semi-final matches in the short-stop tournament at the Municipal Golf course will be staged next Sunday, according to an announcement today by Finer Carlson, local professional in charge of the arrangements.

In a fight H. Faville meets J. Spencer and Clyde Chapman plays J. Higgins. In a fight C. E. Meyers will play E. Page and T. Ludwig meets Charles Powell. J. G. Bull, Sanford macebearer, is the latest to succumb to the lure of the mashie-niblick according to Mr. Carlson, who reports that the hardware dealer is displaying fine form for a beginner.

TUNNEY JOINS CLUB

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(INS)—The six hundred millionaires of sporting privileges who patronize Tex Rickard's big boxing spectacles have received a notable addition. Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion, has joined and thus becomes No. 801 in the Madison Square Garden Club, incorporated, a social organization of Garden stockholders. Tunney is the only boxer member. Jack Dempsey is supposed to have invested $150,000 in Garden stock, but as yet he isn't a member of the inner circle.

Sportwriter Chooses His List Of Leading Pugilists For High Ranking In 1927

By Sid Mercer
International News Service Special Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(INS)—In attempting to rate the ten best boxers in each of the eight standard divisions and the junior welterweight and lightweight classes on the basis of their performance in 1927, I have endeavored to weigh competitive performance, willingness to meet all comers, improvement wrought by experience that comes with industrious pursuit of matches and restraint in the practice of "picking spots."

Several champions do practically all of their fighting in the next higher division to the one in which they hold title. Thus several names appear in different classes but the ratings change with the elasticity of poundage.

The late Tiger Flowers is entitled to a high rank among the middleweights and a place among the light heavyweights but his name has been omitted from most of the lists and will be from this one.

Jack Dempsey, while ranking high among the light heavyweights, is well down in the heavyweight list because he has not been active in the top division. George Godfrey defies close rating because he has been forced to meet inferior opponents. The welterweight and lightweight divisions are overlapping to a confusing degree, as are the junior lightweights and featherweights, the bantams and featherweights.

Bud Taylor remains champion of a poor class of bantams and mingles with featherweights. He, old bantam rival, Tony Canzoneri, is now an avowed featherweight.

Another bantam who always gave Taylor trouble is Bushy Graham. We list Graham, although he has been idle since last February by degree of the New York Boxing Commission. He accomplished nothing this year, yet he deserves a spot.

My 1927 list is as follows:
Heavyweights—Gene Tunney, Jack Dempsey, Jack Sharkey, George Godfrey, Tom Heeney, Johnny Rizzo, Jack Delaney, Paulino Uzcudun, Knute Hansen, Jack Remaut.

Lightweights—Tommy Lourentz, Jack Delaney, Jimmy Slatton, Leo Lomski, Micky Walker, Yab Okun, Mike McTigue, Maxey Besenblum, James J. Braddock.

Middleweights—Micken Walker, Jack McVey, George Courtney, Dave Shale, Joe Anderson, Maxey Rosenblum, Jack Malone, Paul

Latzo, Phil Kaplan, Allentown Joe Gans.

Welterweights—Ace Huddins, Joe Dundee, Sammy Baker, Hilario Martinez, Johnny Indrasano, Mushy Callahan, Jimmy Findley, Tommy Freeman, My Sullivan, Lew Tendler.

Lightweights—Sammy Mandell, Jimmy Mel, Sid Terris, Bruce Powers, Phil McGraw, Lope Tenorio, Baby Joe Gans, Kid Kaplan, Stanislas Loayza, Ruby Goldstein.

Featherweights—Benny Basa, Tony Canzoneri, Bud Taylor, Al Rosen, Teddy Baldeck, Red Chazy, Andrew Rontis, Dominick Payne, Sammy Dorfman, Johnny Rizo.

Bantamweights—Bud Taylor, Ed Bludack, Archie Bell, Willie Smith, Bushy Graham, Ignacio Hernandez, Johnny Vacca, Vic Folsom, Abe Goldstein, Chuck Hollman.

Flyweights—Izzy Schwedtz, Frankie Genaro, Frenzy Belancco, Gusdoy Brown, Johnny McCony, Hubert Wolgast, Billy Skelly, Blas Rodriguez, Pete Samstel, Willie Davies.

Demonstrations Of Cruiser Given Here

Daily demonstrations of the Bassett outboard cruisers are being given at the Municipal Yacht Basin by Frederick H. Woodard, state distributor, according to an announcement today.

The cruiser was placed in local waters yesterday and attracted considerable interest of local sportsmen, many of whom took a ride with Mr. Woodard in the twin little craft.

The cruiser is 22 feet long and has a beam of six feet and six inches. The boat can be driven upon shoals or snags without injury to the hull or machinery, and is especially designed for Florida shallow waters.

HOCKEY STAR INJURED

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—(INS)—Dick Irvin, right wing of the Chicago Blackhawks' hockey team, is in the hospital today with a fractured skull, sustained in last night's game with the Montreal Maroons. The Maroons won, 4 to 3.

ENROLLMENT OF COLUMBIA LEADS ALL UNIVERSITIES

New York Institution Has 32,244 Registration For Past Term; University Of California In 2nd Place

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 29.—Columbia University of New York ranks first in the number of students enrolled by American universities for 1927. The University of California ranks second with 25,534 New York University third with 22,708, City College of New York fourth with 21,008 registrations and the University of Pennsylvania fifth with 17,620.

The list of enrollments was made public by Dean Raymond Walters of Swarthmore College who based it on reports received from the list of 211 institutions of the association of American universities on the basis of registrations as of November 1. All of the institutions show an average increased enrollment of 25 percent over that of five years ago. Forty-two of the largest universities have expanded 28 percent. Dean Walters said:

The "Big Ten"

The first 10 colleges on the basis of all resident students places:
Minnesota sixth with 15,752
Illinois eighth with 12,384
Wisconsin eighth with 12,380
Ohio State tenth with 12,055

On the basis of full-time registrations, that is of students spending 12 hours or more a week in collegiate classes, California ranks first and Columbia second. The list on this is as follows:

1. California 17,311
2. Columbia 13,275
3. Illinois 12,003
4. Minnesota 11,307
5. New York Univ. 10,218
6. Ohio State 10,935
7. Michigan 9,709
8. Wisconsin 8,942
9. Harvard 7,565
10. Pennsylvania 7,565

Statistics show that the largest percentage of gain was in universities or colleges having an enrollment of more than 3,000 students. The growth of the college group with enrollments of between 1,000 and 3,000 showed an increase of 20 percent. The third group of 53 colleges of 500 to 1,000 had an advance of 23 per cent while the 65 smallest colleges in the survey having bodies of less than 500 presented the smallest increase of only 15 per cent.

Women's Colleges

The ten largest exclusively women's colleges in the country and their enrollment reveals Hunter tending the list with 4,011 students; St. Louis second with 2,977, Wellesley

Bud Taylor Meets Canzoneri Friday

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(INS)—Though he is specializing at the present time in dealing to featherweights, Bud Taylor has no intention of forsaking the bantamweight division, over which he has won an championship in all boxing territory controlled by the National Boxing Association.

This does not include New York which is an exception; not at all displeasing to Taylor since he can come in here and fight at catchweights, a privilege he would not enjoy if he were recognized as champion. Under this division, Taylor will box his old rival, Tony Canzoneri, at the featherweight limit here next Friday night.

ARMY MAY PLAY TEXAS

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 29.—(INS)—Southern Methodist University, in Texas, may be given the date on Army's football schedule made vacant by the break with the Navy, it was reported here today.

Southern Methodist is now scheduled to play Army in its second game next season. Efforts are being made in Washington to bring one of the big Pacific Coast teams here for the open date on the Saturday after Thanksgiving Day.

Harrison Declares Illinois Overrun By Vicious Politicians

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. Dec. 29.—(INS)—Politics in Illinois writer in a bog of corruption, the worst the state has ever known, Carter H. Harrison, former mayor of the City of Chicago, declared in answer to a request that he become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate in the event there is an election to fill a possible vacancy.

The senate has refused the oath to Frank L. Smith, U. S. Senator-elect from Illinois. Whether he can keep his grip on the office or whether a new senator can be elected or appointed is a much mooted question throughout Illinois at present.

"Illinois politics," Harrison declared, "are certainly, in both great parties, at the lowest ebb I have known for the almost two generations I have either been actively engaged in them or near the sidelines, a close and interested observer."

The great mass of voters in the state, Harrison asserted, "don't give a whoop" as to charges and counter charges of corrupt alliances, stolen elections in Chicago and other cities, and misuse of public funds.

"I come near knowing this present day political game from the inside out—its filth, its depravity, its utter villainy," Harrison asserted.

Three meals a day, seven days a week!

NO EASY order, that. If any man hinks it is, let him try to plan just seven consecutive dinners without repeating a single item on any one menu. A woman must have considerable ingenuity to plan — and considerable executive ability to prepare — 21 meals a week.

In recent years, many new dishes have graced the dining tables in our homes. Delicacies that were once secrets of restaurant chefs are now prepared quickly and easily in our own kitchens.

And advertisements have had much to do with adding to the variety of our national diet. A beautiful picture of a tempting dessert, with full directions for making it — another recipe for a luscious salad — a new use for an old familiar staple — in such ways do the advertisements continue to arouse the most jaded palate, and to save the perplexed housewife!

It is well worth while to read and study the advertising pages. To all that pertain to the home, to all that pertain to every-day life, the advertisements contribute. Whether meals, motor-cars or music, let the advertisements help you make the choice. You will find them wise in council, trustworthy in service.

Read the advertisements — they help you get the most out of life and save you time and trouble doing it

New Period Of Prosperity Faced By Southern States Never Before Approached

By Joseph L. Laube
 International News Service Staff Correspondent
 ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 30.—(INS)—A new era of prosperity, such as has never before been experienced, faces the Southeast. The last seven years has seen an unprecedented development in the agricultural wealth, population, industry, mineral and water resources and manufacturing, according to a commercial survey of the Southeast made public today by the United States Department of Commerce.

Such rapid developments have occurred since the general census of 1920—that this progress cannot be translated into statistical form, is the government's official report.

The report, covering Georgia, Florida, Tennessee, Alabama, and North and South Carolina, was compiled by the United States Department of Commerce under the direction of Julius Klein, director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. It involves the character and distribution of the population, geographic conditions, natural resources, productive activities of the six states, commodity movements and development of transportation and trading centers.

The southeast's agricultural importance is stressed by the survey. In only 34 counties out of a total of more than 450 in the region, did agricultural products constitute a relatively unimportant portion of the total county products, the survey said. "In twelve of these, principally Florida, timber products practically represented the total. One sparsely settled county in North Carolina was credited chiefly with fishery products, and in Walling County, Ala., mineral products predominated."

In 1923, according to the survey, there were 1,254,881 farms as compared with a total of 6,371,817 for the United States, giving this comparatively small area over one-fifth of the farms in this country.

North Carolina led the southeast with 283,491 farms, Tennessee second with 252,669 farms, Georgia 249,109, South Carolina 172,787, Alabama, 237,631, and Florida, 59,417.

While recent years have shown a decline in the cotton acreage, there has been a general extension of cotton planting northward since the coming of the boll weevil. In spite of new difficulties facing cotton culture in parts of the south, national production has shown a steady increase since the low output year, 1921, the report showed.

"The southeast has been participating in this increase and contributed heavily to the 16,103,670 bale crop of 1925 and to the crop

Many Mothers

Buddy, 12-month old boy from an orphanage at Little Rock, Ark., is having the time of his life entertaining the co-eds at the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville. Buddy has come to the university to help make the courses in child-rearing practical, and he has many "practice mothers" who see to his feeding, sleeping and baths.

present cost of producing meat animals.

"We are confident that they do not wish to harm this industry and incidentally, reduce the power of producers to purchase shoes, woolen goods, etc., from your territory. Your assistance will be greatly appreciated."

Beef Prices High

Beef prices are higher, the chamber pointed out, but the rise in price is due to shortage of the product. One of the industries that was hit hardest by after-war deflation was the beef industry. In fact it was almost ruined.

This year, 1,700,000 less cattle went to the twenty main markets of the United States than in 1926. It was this scarcity that caused beef prices to soar just as the prices of any other commodity would soar.

Producers of the West are not complaining of the high price of beef because they realize beef producers are in a precarious condition, and that such prices are a necessity to the recovery of the industry.

According to government statistics, wages are 133 per cent higher than in June, 1914, and as beef prices are only 45 per cent higher, stockmen believe the nation is easily able to pay the increase in beef prices.

Cattlemen of Colorado say:

"We have been educated up to the belief that the fine hotels of Boston and New York want only heavy, choice cuts. When you put $75 worth of corn into a steer that costs another $75 to produce, to bring a good price. The hotels must pay for such meat as they desire."

Many Protests

Stockman's associations, civic organizations, ranchers and western bankers are voicing protests against the Boston Hotelmen's Association reported action in printing on their menu cards an urge that their guests cease ordering beef products until prices are lower and quality returned to normal.

In an effort to remedy the situation amicably and without possible disruption of general equilibrium so far as the beef industry is concerned, the Denver chamber of commerce forwarded the following message to the Boston chamber of commerce.

"We appeal to you to use your influence with the Boston Hotelmen's Association to cease their movement to discourage use of beef by patrons and to enlist interest of hotel managers in other cities. The success of such a boycott will result in great injury to one of the most important industries—that of growing and fattening cattle. Unquestionably, Hotelmen are working under a mistaken idea of

BRITISH FILMS TO FIGHTING NAVIES MAKE STRONG BID FOR SUPREMACY

English Companies Sign Reciprocal Agreements With German Interests To Give U. S. Strong Competition

LONDON, Dec. 29.—Another step in the campaign of British film producers for world-wide distribution of their pictures in competition with Hollywood, has been taken with the signing of an important reciprocal agreement between two British and German film interests.

The contracting parties are the Gaumont-Picture Corporation, the largest firm of its kind in England, and the UFA, the famous German and distributing organization.

According to the terms of the agreement, which takes effect next April, the Gaumont-British company will distribute German films in the United Kingdom, while the UFA will market English films in Germany and Central Europe.

Important Agreement

Cinema circles here look upon the agreement as of the utmost importance, insofar as it will provide Great Britain with its first opportunity for the distribution of its films in Germany. With this as a nucleus, the British producers hope to extend their scope throughout the world, with the hope of giving the American producers the first real competition of their lives.

This is the first time that a British company has been able to negotiate an "output" contract or such lines for the exploitation of its product in a Continental market. It is deemed especially important at the present time because of the new German "kontingent" legislation, which will restrict importations that even the largest American companies will be able to import only a very small number of films, unless "kontingent" is found for them by German film companies.

To Exchange Artists

The UFA company, according to the agreement, will supply the "kontingent" necessary to admit the Gaumont-British films. The agreement furthermore allows the British company to have a voice in the activities of the German company, and to be present on the studios during productions.

It is planned also from time to time to exchange artists, so that British players may learn the German technique and vice versa.

It is pointed out that the agreement is a trading treaty only, and involves no financial merger or joint capital interest between the two concerns.

Survey Of Boats Under Construction By Several Nations Reveals Leaning Towards Deadlier Warships

LONDON, Dec. 30.—Details of cruisers that can plough through the waves at 36 knots an hour, with gun ranges of nearly twenty miles, and carrying half a dozen airplanes, are disclosed in the 1927 edition of "Jane's Fighting Ships," a review of the world's navies which has just been released in England.

This report gives evidence that while the world has been listening somewhat puzzled, to the talk of disarmament which has been strewn over the pages of its press during recent months, its Admiralties have been urging their designers to construct bigger, better and deadlier warships.

The most noticeable thing in the equipment of these "better" warships is that the aeroplane has become the greatest factor. On the sea, as on land, this has come to be the forefront as the greatest offensive and defensive weapon, and the adaptation of air power to warships has occupied most of the thoughts in the minds of navy builders.

Leads In Carriers

While America leads in the aircraft carrier class, with the Saratoga capable of carrying 72 airplanes, the report shows that the other nation have devoted a great deal more thought to the possibility of all their warships carrying one or more bombing planes, than they have to aircraft carriers alone.

At the same time, however, they are not far behind the United States, for France's latest "floating airdrome" holds 40 small-type hydroplanes, which can be launched by a compressed air catapult at forty-seven miles per hour, after a run of sixty-five feet along the deck. And Japan is credited with having a plane carrier, which has space for fifty machines.

What England has one may only guess, for while the editors of "Jane's" have been successful in combing the majority of the world's Admiralties for secrets of their fighting craft, they have failed at home, as plan and information regarding British ships are rigorously suppressed.

However, it is "reported" that most of Britain's new ships will be fitted with catapults and airplanes.

Second to the airplane, the building of new cruisers has held the center of interest.

It is stated that there is an amazing increase in the power and construction in the navy yards speed of the cruisers now under throughout the world.

Carry Big Guns

The Washington limit for guns, it will be remembered, is eight-inch calibre, with no stipulation as to number. Most of the Powers are satisfied with eight of these guns. The new American cruisers of the Pensacola class, however, are to carry ten, six of them in triple turrets and four in pairs.

Although "Jane's" does not give the disposition of the guns, this is believed to be the case with the Japanese Nachi class, for it is definitely stated that there will be ten. These cruisers, therefore, will be the most heavily armed of any designed under the Washington Arms Treaty conditions.

Italian designers have gone all out for speed. The Trento and Trieste are very lightly constructed but they are able to do thirty-six knots, as against the thirty-two and thirty-three of other nations. The new 5000-ton cruisers of the Coleoni class are to be faster still, and do thirty-seven knots in addition to carrying 6 inch guns of a new and powerful model.

Factors concerning the elevation of guns on the battleships of the various nations are guarded with the greatest secrecy, but it is again "reported" that England's "Kent" type of cruiser has the highest elevation, stated to be 52 degrees.

College Discovers Lights Rays Aid In Healing Rickets

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 30.—Light rays combined with material derived from a fungus growth from rye have been found to be an important aid in the treatment of rickets, according to the research reports of the Medical School of the University of Rochester.

The treatment, which was developed in the laboratories of the medical school, has been explained by Dr. Ethel Luce Clausen in a paper on "The Biological Effects of Light."

A long series of experiments in treating rats affected with rickets was assisted by chemists of the Eastman Kodak Co., and several cures were effected before the treatment was applied to humans. Dr. Clausen said that the result with rickets had led to a wave of enthusiasm over the value of light in the treatment of disease. While some of the enthusiasm runs ahead of scientific knowledge on the subject, she said, the subject offers many valuable opportunities for further research.

BOSTON HOTEL'S PLAINT OF BEEF STIRS STOCKMEN

Westerners Aroused By Reports That Boston Hotelmen Are Advising Guests Not To Eat Beef Products

DENVER, Dec. 29.—Western stockmen and cattle raisers were up in arms today over reports from Boston that the Hotelmen's Association of that city are advising their guests to refrain from ordering beef products in the dining rooms.

And a war of retaliation is in prospect. "If Boston is going to boycott our beef, why shouldn't we answer 'Shoe price too high, so we are going to quit buying shoes'?" ask the stockmen. "Why shouldn't we say, 'Woolen goods made in cas ern mills are too high, so we are going to cut down on our purchases until you reduce your prices?'"

The reported attempt of the Boston hotelmen to boycott the beef industry is seriously handicapping rehabilitation of one of the West's chief industries—that of raising and fattening cattle for market—according to charges made by the Denver chamber of commerce in communications to the Boston and United States chambers of commerce.

Stockman's associations, civic organizations, ranchers and western bankers are voicing protests against the Boston Hotelmen's Association reported action in printing on their menu cards an urge that their guests cease ordering beef products until prices are lower and quality returned to normal.

In an effort to remedy the situation amicably and without possible disruption of general equilibrium so far as the beef industry is concerned, the Denver chamber of commerce forwarded the following message to the Boston chamber of commerce.

Mysterious White Woman Maintains Complete Rule Over London's Chinatown

LONDON, Dec. 30.—Limehouse the Chinatown of London and center of its underworld, is ruled by a white woman, commonly called the "Uncrowned Queen."
This mysterious and sinister figure, according to the Police, is the head of an amazing criminal organization which rules the underworld of London.
She is the brains of numerous gambling rings, the traffickers in raw opium, and the agent responsible for helping Chinese to evade the law, as well as smuggling them into the country. In fact, it is stated, though she is concerned in numerous other criminal enterprises, most of her time is devoted to the Chinese.
For years the law has been trying to trap this woman. Only once was she in their hands but that was for a common charge of assault; and even then they could not get her to give evidence against her, so forced to acquit her.

Past A Mystery
Although her past is a mystery, the story goes, this white woman came to Limehouse many years ago, as the girl-wife of an influential Chinaman. During the many years in which she lived among the Chinese, becoming almost one of them, she came to know the innermost secrets of Chinatown; gaining a wonderful insight of the workings of the Chinese mind.
Winning the confidence of the Chinese, she gained access to the meetings of the ringleaders. Soon her wisdom gave her power among these men, until her word was law. Acquiring an extraordinary knowledge of the law, she formed an organization known as the "Fighting Fund," to which nearly every Chinese who comes to London's Chinatown contributes.
It is said, these are Chinese who pay her enormous sums, while others drop smaller contributions into a basket which she stands upon a table in her room in Limehouse.

Looks After Prisoners
From this room, on the top floor of a dingy little house in Pettitfield this Uncrowned Queen of Limehouse operates. It is here that when Chinamen are arrested for opium smoking, peddling or gambling, she organizes his defense, finding the loopholes through which he so often escapes.
Her first step is to arrange that the prisoner shall have every luxury that the law permits to persons on remand.
Then, aided by her extensive legal knowledge and surrounded by her circle of crafty lawyers, she arranges for a substantial cash bond, even witnesses.
Although she works behind the scenes, she has never been known to come out in the open, the Police are confident that one of these days they will secure evidence, which they claim will render her harmless for a long time to come.

Fear Of Life Said Chief Cause Of All Mental Disorders

LONDON, Dec. 30.—(INS)—Mental disorders are brought about in man by the fear of life almost more than anything else. When man gives up his life's work without leaving enough interests to give a real meaning to life, he runs a great risk of mental breakdown.
This is the substance of a report issued by the National Council of Mental Hygiene, who have recently finished a several years study of the causes which bring about mental disorders.
Unmarried men are more apt to lose their mind than those who have taken on all the responsibilities of life, while many mental breakdowns occur when the prospect of marriage is imminent adds the report.
Denying that heredity has a great deal to do with the general cause of mental disorders, the report continues:
"Established mental disorder is only the result of a long series of morbid changes, initiated perhaps in childhood or youth, a series in which many of the stages are missing and the origin of which may be altogether hidden."
The sudden flaring up of acute mental disorder is often only the terminal manifestation of a long process of slow combustion smoldering during a period of years.
"Periodic examinations of disturbances from an early age are essential; special attention being directed to the teeth and the state of the digestive organs. The public must learn to regard mental disturbances as something to be handled frankly and without prejudice—just like physical disease."

French Colony Of 5,000 For New Tire Factory Is Planted In English Town

STOKE-ON-TRENT, Eng., Dec. 30.—(INS)—In this very English district, made doubly famous by the early novels of Arnold Bennett by its inimitable pottery, a little French colony is trying to settle down and is finding the transfer from Montparnasse to a typical British countryside but little to its liking.
Two things the resident of this new Arcady dislike. One is the weather, and the other the fact that English saloons—or pubs, as they are better known—are strictly supervised by law, and are open only at certain hours of the day.
Few of the residents speak English at all, and they have found difficulty in establishing pleasant relations with the native population of the village.
The greatest difficulty that the colonists encounter is that of finding amusement. A number of the newsdealers and booksellers in the village have stocked their shelves with French novels and newspapers.
Fortunately, Hollywood speaks a universal language, and the French colony is always well represented at the movies in town. The factory is expected to be in operation in a few months.

PEOPLE OF PORTO RICO DESIRE FOR U. S. RECOGNITION

Small Country Belonging To United States Longs To Become Associated In Building Great American Empire
NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Maps of France usually show, on the lower left-hand corner, enclosed in a square, tiny Corsica, the birthplace of Napoleon. The island has been part of France for over one hundred years, it being today one of the ninety departmental units making up the European territory of that republic.
Porto Rico expects some day to be in a similar relation to the United States, of which it has been a part since the year 1898. Of course Porto Rico does not cherish the ambition of furnishing a Napoleon, for there is not upon the face of the earth a more peace-loving country than Porto Rico. What they mean is to contribute their full share in the building of the great American empire of happiness and prosperity, not only for the good of the Western Hemisphere, but for all humanity.
The first thing to do, naturally, is to know each other. Continental with its insular possession in the Caribbean Sea, and American citizens of Porto Rico must assimilate all the good things making for real Americanism.
The island is a veritable tropical garden, four days distant from New York or New Orleans, it has 1,500 kilometers of high-class automobile roads traversing natural scenery comparable only with Switzerland's. Of the 1,400,000 inhabitants, considerably fewer than one-third are colored, the rest are Caucasian.
Our yearly commerce with the United States has increased from less than $20,000,000 in 1899 to nearly $200,000,000 at the present time.
There are in the island more than 750,000 persons aged 15 years or more, of whom some 500,000 are out of work for lack of opportunity. At the same time, practically no manufacturing is going on in the country. There is not one single cotton mill in Porto Rico; more than $13,000,000 worth of cotton textiles having been imported last year. The same is true of shoes, of which $3,000,000 worth were imported. Glassware, furniture and many small articles in the needlework line are also awaiting the energy of the enterprising man. With a density of population of 400 to the square mile, Porto Rico is just ripe for industrialization, and the intelligent doleful labor of the country should make the proposition attractive for American enterprise.
Some may think that an industrialized Porto Rico will import

10,000 Minors Listed As Crooks In Recent Survey Made In New York State

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 30.—(INS)—In a report which reads as weirdly in contrast to all the outward appearance of material prosperity of the United States as the tale of the "wild children" of Moscow," John S. Kennedy, a member of the New York Commission of Correction, asserts there is an army of more than 10,000 boy criminals under the age of twenty-one years of age operating in New York State at the present time.
These juvenile criminals are responsible for 44 per cent of all the crime committed in the State, Kennedy asserted.
To Arouse Sentiment
Kennedy said that his purpose in reporting on this "astounding number" of criminal youths was to arouse public sentiment to the need for measures which will turn away from the tide of crime so many future citizens of the State.
Of the huge total, 5,971 passed during the year ending in June 30, 1927, through the penal institutions in New York City; the city prisons of Manhattan, Brooklyn and Queens and the county-jails of Richmond and the Bronx. Brooklyn had the largest number with 3,001 while Manhattan was second with 984.
During the same time county jails of the State received 84 boys under sixteen, 4,835 between 16 and 21, and 1,110 of 21 years. In addition to these, the report continues, 227 boys between 16 and 20 were committed to State prisons, and there were 100 more 21 years of age.

Efforts
Between these ages 607 were sent to the New York State Reformatory, and 559 between 16 and 21, and 180 of 21 years were committed to other penal institutions. Commissioner Kennedy declared that while in New York earnest efforts are being made through the formation of boys' clubs and similar organizations to training, entertainment and opportunities for relaxation so that boys' minds may be diverted along the path of rectitude and good citizenship, "they are all too few in number and territory covered, and this startling array of figures should result in an aroused public sentiment and a tremendous widening and extension of these activities."
and purchases of automobiles and railway equipment, in his opinion.
"Our position with respect to foreign trade is favorable" said Pierson. "Exports during 1927 have been excellent. Of late, we have heard much about the danger to our foreign trade through the large scale combinations of European competitors, but it probably will be found that much of his danger will be neutralized by improvement in the financial condition of our foreign customers and the purchasing power of foreign money."

READY TO RAISE SUB
PROVINCETON, Mass., Dec. 30.—(INS)—"We will open the hatch of the engine room tomorrow if the weather permits. Our tunnels are practically completed and the pontoons are ready to drop to the bottom," said Commander Hartley of the Falcon, rescue fleet flagship today while divers were completing the second tunnel under the gun of the S-4 now at the bottom of Provincetown Harbor.
Pierson reminds us that a national purchasing power whose limits have not been reached during the last three years has been still further strengthened by a marked improvement in the agricultural situation. He looks for no change in the "decidedly easy condition of money." Credit is ample, inventories uniformly low, banking conditions excellent, and the present year will provide a substantial carry-over of building contracts.

Success In Meeting Business Problems Next Year To Depend Upon Extent To Which Science Will Be Utilized
By W. S. Cousins

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Success in meeting business problems of 1928 will depend in unusually large measure upon the extent to which the principles of science are applied to organization and management. The battle left by 1927 is round and sufficient. No necessary element seems lacking.
This is the belief of Lewis E. Pierson, chairman of the American Exchange Irving Trust Company of New York, and president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Darrow's View Of Social Structure Wrong, Says Mayer

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 30.—(INS)—The opinion of Clarence Darrow, the famous Chicago attorney, that humans are "chips on a stream" tossed back and forth with which we can do nothing, is all wrong, according to Prof. Joseph Mayer, head of the department of economics and sociology at Tufts College, Mass., and author of that widely read book, "The Seven Seals of Science."
"For Darrow to say we cannot do anything about social structure of the world, is wrong," Prof. Mayer, who is visiting here, stated.
The Massachusetts educator declared that although we cannot change natural laws it does not mean we are not able to apply them.
"Fire is a natural phenomenon," declared Mayer. "But man has changed it from a menace to a useful tool."
"The automobile is purely an artificial creation of natural resources. Our modern society is just as artificial as the automobile and the man made it himself out of nature."
"We haven't done it yet," Prof. Mayer explained, "because the foundation of social science is psychology of which we know very little as yet."
In conclusion the New England professor stated that we "do possess the power to control the stream upon which humanity is tossed."

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membrane and inhibits germ growth.
Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membrane and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.
Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

California's Latest Move

California citrus growers, the Times-Union remarks, are launching an advertising campaign for the extension of interest in oranges as a health preserving food.

Experiments in this connection, the Jacksonville paper notes, have proved that this delicious fruit has sustaining qualities that are exceeded by but few things, and their use by well people and sick people; by rich people and poor people, and generously, will tend to better general health.

"Florida will benefit no little through the efforts being made to popularize the orange. It will be a good thing for all growers of citrus fruits, everywhere. Florida oranges are known to be as fine as any grown in the world, and they are preferred by many people, who have had the chance to use and appreciate the fruits of many lands and all sections. California oranges will be recommended, by the advertising that is being sent from that section of the country, but there can be no claim substantiated that would cause anyone desiring oranges to turn away from Florida fruit.

"Magazine advertising and newspaper advertising is read the country over, and every proper effort made to increase the use of citrus fruits will be useful to the industry, wherever carried on. Florida advertises her citrus fruits extensively, but there will be no harm done by any good word said for the fruit emanating from any source. The endorsement of the physicians is certain to have a good effect, as it will certainly increase the use of oranges — and increased use of citrus fruits means better health for America."

While it is true that Florida oranges will benefit indirectly from the advertising campaign of the California growers, that does not seem to be any reason why citrus men of this state should not conduct one of their own. Florida oranges are superior to those of California and this fact is recognized by a large portion of the country, but if we are to sit idly by, while our competitors tell about the food value of their products, then our fruit will soon be forgotten.

Florida growers, of course, are already doing some extensive advertising and it is serving to increase the demand all the time, but general advertising will not suffice to meet the latest move of the Californians. If already many people know that our oranges are the best, it should not take very much additional persuasion to show them that Florida fruit has that much more food value.

Happy Kansas. Big Editor's Big Thoughts. Worked to Death. Good-bye, Mistletoe. By Arthur Brisbane. Copyright 1927 by Star Co.

NEWTON, KANS. DEC. 30.— Going through Kansas this morning on the writer's third trip across the continent this month, the weather is fine, white faced cattle in the standing cornstalks seem happy and fat, you see 40 automobiles in county roads where you used to see one buggy or rickshaw. Kansas pigs, many of them "Jersey Reds," live in wide fields, instead of muddy stys and are clean. Pigs, like human beings, are clean in the right environment.

NEWSPAPERS OF different passing cities, like so many light-houses, give information. The Kansas City Journal, William Allen White's Emporia Gazette, Senator Capper's Topeka Daily Capital and the Murdock Brothers' Wichita Eagle, tell you all there is to know, and more.

GREAT KANSAS edit seem to have about the same interests. First comes the fact that young Hickman, kidnaper and murderer, wonders whether he will be hanged or jailed for life. He won't wonder long. And the other fact that he likes perfumes which cling to his overcoat after thousands of miles in an open car.

NEXT IN IMPORTANCE comes the fact that J. Pierpont Morgan consents to head the U. S. Steel Corporation. And after that information that Mexico on second thought won't confiscate oil lands that were owned by Americans before Mexico's latest constitution was invented.

NEWSPAPERS, TELEPHONES, automobiles, the radio and moving pictures have made interest, appearance, manners and customs in the depths of Alaska and at Key West.

IT WAS SUGGESTED in this column lately that farmers might some day sell cornstalks to make artificial silk and find the stalks worth more than the corn.

William Allen White on his front page says "an Emporian" which means an inhabitant of Emporia, is building a factory to make from cornstalks cellulose to be manufactured into artificial silk, paper, films, celluloid, explosives, varnishes and other products.

These Kansas cattle with white faces will miss the wide fields of cornstalks now left standing, but farmers will be happier.

VICTOR MURDOCK, IN large type on front page says, "Rome was shaken by a quake four minutes yesterday but its agitation was nothing compared to that among the relatives of Sylvester Poli, at Turin, Italy, when they heard yesterday that Uncle Sylvester was coming home from America with $30,000,000."

That sum, amounting to almost 600,000,000 lire, will be very welcome in Italy. Mussolini will know how to make it useful and how to tax it.

SENATOR CAPPER'S DAILY Capital says mistletoe sales have fallen off. There is little demand for it "Kissing is too common nowadays to be looked forward to as an unusual Christmas treat." A modest lady climbing to the top of the London bus held her skirts tightly about her ankles, the weary bus conductor said, "Legs is no treat to me, ma'am." "Legs are certainly no treat in this country, and now the young think the mistletoe a joke. This romance goes into the discard."

AN OLD MAN having worked faithfully for the postoffice for 40 years, got through the extra hard work of Christmas and was found dead in bed. Uncle Sam had no satisfaction, if any satisfaction, if knowing that he got out of that servant "all there was in him." A decent farmer would be ashamed to work a horse as that servant of the richest country in the world was worked.

Postoffice employees should have better pay while they work, and a chance to enjoy part of life in freedom on decent pensions.

JOHN PURCELL, ABLE railroad man, says the Diesel engine using distillate much cheaper than gasoline "is the coming thing." It will take the place of steam engines in railroad motive power. Mr. Purcell thinks railroads will use Diesel engines generating power to run electric motors on new locomotives. That is cheerful news for oil men, when oil takes the place of coal on railroads the oil surplus won't last long.

MR. BABE RUTH amazes "sportsmen" by saying, "Meaning the advanced age of 31," that he believes in all year round training and expects to be "just as good at 40" as he is now. For such work as Babe Ruth does, hard hitting and running 40 should be the best age, and 50 about as good. It isn't their work but their play between times that makes men old.

Nicholas Longworth has been re-elected speaker of the house at Washington. Nicholas is certainly a most popular member of that august body and it's surprising that he doesn't get swell-headed and make a try at the presidential nomination. However, maybe Nick is a wise guy and believes that it's better to be the big chess in the lower house than a defeated Presidential candidate.—Winter Haven Chief.

What Good Hotels Mean

Running through the exchanges the other day, we found this rather interesting bit in the Fort Myers Press. It quotes from Edson R. Waite of Shawnee, Oklahoma, who tells us that good hotels are the biggest asset of a modern city. In view of the opening of Sanford's fine tourist hotel under new and progressive management, we think it might be of interest to reproduce it here, as follows:

The reputation of a city of good hotels goes far and wide. It brings favorable mention from every section. Good hotels bring much business to every city. They bring outside money that is spent in every line of business. They bring shoppers galore. They bring buyers to wholesalers and manufacturers. They bring many salesmen to a city. The better the hotels, the longer they stay.

In the city of good hotels, the salesmen have their samples open and invite the merchants from the surrounding cities to come and look. They bring a big automobile trade to a city. The first impression a visitor gets of a city is the hotels. If they make a good impression, they stay days instead of hours. Nowadays the man looking for an opening for a business, a home or an investment, travels by automobile. If the hotels are good, he thinks it a worth while city. Good hotels often bring homeseekers and new industries to a city, thus assuring a steady, healthy growth. Boost good hotels!

I WOULD NOT be surprised to learn that Henry Ford is the greatest patron of journalism this or any other country has yet produced. He has set the pace in advertising. Now, if his new car shall add to Mr. Ford's billions, it will be plain to the business world that to his seemingly prodigal but in fact highly conservative advertising must be ascribed a very large share of the credit. In this connection, it is well for all advertisers to ask themselves why Henry Ford, Master Advertiser of all time, did not turn to the bill boards. He has bought forests and mines and railroads in order to promote his colossal corporation. He seems content to depend upon indoor advertisement upon the printed page.—From "Random Comment."

FLORIDA ON SOLID BASIS SARASOTA HERALD

We are glad to be able to give our readers in Tuesday morning's Herald a reprint of an interview of Joe H. Gill, first published in the Wall Street Journal. Mr. Gill is vice president and general manager of the Florida Power and Light Company. The Florida Power and Light Company, a subsidiary of the American Power and Light Company, began operation in this state a few years ago. It now has its high power lines up and down the east coast, across the state and up and down the west coast. It covers virtually the entire tourist and agricultural sections of the state. As the general manager of this company, Mr. Gill is intimately in touch with Florida's development and intensely interested in it. His company has already invested over a hundred dollars in the development of its properties in this state.

Mr. Gill is very much encouraged about the future of Florida. In his opinion, this winter will find the tourist business on a stable basis. He sets the valuation of the tourist crop at two hundred million dollars per annum. As he sees the situation, the people of Florida have made ample provision to take care of their tourist business. They are better prepared to receive them than ever before, with better highways, better hotels, better railway service and better recreational facilities. The impression, with which the tourists will leave the state this year, when they return home, will be much more favorable than it has ever been, and the reports they will carry back to the north will only serve to bring many more tourists here in future years. As the Florida Power and Light Company supplies the electricity for practically every tourist hotel in the state, his acquaintance with the tourist condition is both intimate and extensive. His judgment should go a long way to confirm us in the opinion, which we have all entertained, that the tourist business this year would exceed that of any previous year. Hotel bookings throughout the state are to that effect.

It is pleasing to note the emphasis Mr. Gill places upon the agricultural development of the state. He tells us, "An adequate comprehension of the agricultural activity now under way in the state hardly can be conveyed to one who has not traveled in Florida within the last six months." He sees land, which in the boom of 1925 was platted into town lots, being returned to cultivation, great tracts of land cleared, drained and prepared for the plow, groves neglected during the real estate boom, worked over, fertilized and brought back to production, and a new and promising activity among the growers and truckers, looking to the more profitable marketing of their products. Electricity on the farm is going to play a very large part in the agricultural development of the state, and Mr. Gill's company is making an exhaustive study of the situation with a view to placing the resources of the Florida Power and Light at the service of the farmers. Its splendid plant equipment with its facilities for distributing electricity over the territory in which it operates, and its efficient management, constitute it, agriculturally and otherwise, one of Florida's greatest assets. The fact that this company spent, during the past two years, forty million dollars on new construction in this state, is most convincing evidence of the faith of the men at the head of it in Florida. Big men with vision believe in Florida.

Three meals a day, seven days a week!

NO EASY order, that. If any man thinks it is, let him try to plan just seven consecutive dinners without repeating a single item on any one menu. A woman must have considerable ingenuity to plan — and considerable executive ability to prepare — 21 meals a week.

In recent years, many new dishes have graced the dining tables in our homes. Delicacies that were once secrets of restaurant chefs are now prepared quickly and easily in our own kitchens.

And, advertisements, have had much to do with adding to the variety of our national diet. A beautiful picture of a tempting dessert, with full directions for making it — another recipe for a luscious salad — a new use for an old familiar staple — in such ways do the advertisements continue to arouse the most jaded palate, and to save the perplexed housewife!

It is well worth while to read and study the advertising pages. To all that pertains to the home, to all that pertains to every-day life, the advertisements contribute. Whether meals, motor-cars or music, let the advertisements help you make the choice. You will find them wise in council, trustworthy in service.

Read the advertisements — they help you get the most out of life and save you time and trouble doing it

A recent visitor to the lower east coast reports there are more people in Palm Beach and Miami at the present time, fully a month before the height of the season, than ever before. The northern man of moderate means is just beginning to realize that he can spend the winter in Florida, traveling to and from, at less expense than he can stay in his own home town.

Camp Hill Visitors Honored By Mrs. Lee

A lovely compliment to two attractive visitors to the city Miss Caroline Mathews and Miss Martha Langley of Camp Hill, Ala.

was the bridge party given Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Alfred W. Lee Jr. at her home in Franklin Terrace, when she entertained the members of the Sans Souci Bridge Club and two extra tables of players.

The rooms of this cozy home were ablaze with quantities of pastel tinted sweet peas and callendulas combined with asparagus ferns. Dainty tally cards accentuating the color scheme were used for the games of progressive bridge.

Upon the completion of the fifth progression scores were compared and Mrs. C. E. Myers who held top score among the guests, was awarded an embroidered guest towel. The club prize, also a dainty guest towel went to Mrs. Emmett McCall. The two guests of honor, Miss Caroline Mathews and Miss Martha Langley were presented silk lingerie.

Delicious refreshments consisting of stuffed apples with cream cheese and nuts, sandwiches, saltines, stuffed dates, cake and coffee were served late in the afternoon by the hostess.

Enjoying this pretty party were Miss Caroline Mathews, Miss Martha Langley, Mrs. Emmett McCall, Mrs. Lee A. Conoley, Mrs. Raymond G. Fox, Mrs. Braxton B. Baggett, Mrs. C. E. Myers, Mrs. Ernest Housholder, Mrs. W. Theodore Langley, Mrs. Ralph Wright, Mrs. Charles L. Parks, Mrs. F. E. Roush, Mrs. Ben D. Caswell, Mrs. J. D. Woodruff, Mrs. Hugh Lalor and Mrs. Edward Lane.

Mrs. Scott Entertains In Honor Miss Scoggan

The handsome home of Mrs. William Moore Scott in Mayfair was the scene of a most delightful as well as beautiful social affair on Thursday when she was hostess at luncheon, complimenting Miss Naomi Scoggan of Washington, D. C. the guest of Miss Olive Newman.

An abundance of lovely cut flowers combined with ferns were used in profusion in the living and dining rooms. The attractively appointed luncheon table was overlaid with an exquisite Italian cut work and linen luncheon cloth. The central decoration was a bowl of fruit, while at either side tall real tapers in silver holders cast a pretty glow over the scene. At one o'clock a five course luncheon was served.

Covers were laid for Miss Naomi Scoggan, Miss Olive Newman, Miss Lillie Fraser of Lake Worth, Mrs. T. A. Jordan of Sebastian, Warner Scoggan, James W. Barnes W. E. Scoggan and Mr. and Mrs. Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Kelt of Orangeburg, S. C., are visiting in Sanford as the guests of the latter's sister, Mrs. T. D. Inabinet.

Woman's Club Gives Welfare Department Party On Wednesday

The Welfare Department of the Woman's Club entertained most delightfully yet informally Wednesday at an At Home at the club house on Oak Avenue, entertaining members of all the departments of the club as well as new residents and visitors to the city.

The affair was in the form of a get acquainted meeting.

Wreaths, garlands of red and green, boughs of cedar and pines, as well as baskets of red roses and poinsettias were used in decorating the spacious club lounge. At one end of the room, a large Christmas tree had been placed, brilliantly lighted with multi-colored electric lights.

The guests were greeted upon arrival by Mrs. Henry Wight, chairman of the department, Mrs. E. A. Douglass, club president, and Mrs. J. C. Gibbs secretary of the club. The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. K. S. Dutton, Mrs. Bolly and Mrs. H. J. Lehman.

A short program was rendered during the afternoon which included readings by Miss Cornelia McRae, Miss Marjorie Forrest and Margaret Talbott. Several piano selections were given by Miss Charlotte Smith.

The daintily appointed tea table was spread with a handsome lace and embroidered cover. A silver basket filled with roses and ferns formed the central decoration. Tea was poured throughout the afternoon by Mrs. M. Martin, while Mrs. W. T. Wheeler presided over the coffee service. Refreshments of sandwiches, cakes, tea and coffee were served by the hostess assisted by Miss Frances Dutton, Miss Marion Hand, Miss Frances Wilson and Miss Helen Wilson.

Mrs. Thigpen Hostess To Every Week Bridge

Of exceptional interest and pleasure was the lovely bridge party given Thursday afternoon when Mrs. W. J. Thigpen entertained the members of the Every Week Bridge Club at her home on Park Avenue. Poinsettias were lavishly used in decorating the rooms where the guests assembled for the games.

The bridge accessories were in keeping with the season and at conclusion of the games, scores were counted and the prize for high score among the club members, a framed print was won by Mrs. James G. Sharon, Mrs. M. H. Mabry, who held highest score among the guests was presented a dainty hand made handkerchief.

At the tea hour the hostess served tasty refreshments consisting of a salad and ice course with coffee. Mrs. Thigpen's guests were Mrs. James G. Sharon, Mrs. M. H. Mabry, Mrs. G. F. Smith, Mrs. George S. Witmer, Mrs. A. M. DeForest, Mrs. M. S. Wiggins, Mrs. Ernest Wiggins, Mrs. Braxton L. WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
WASHINGTON—Politics will be taken out of the selection of prohibition enforcement personnel insofar as the Civil Service Commission can remove it, but the commission can't touch for the politicians.

The work of putting the personnel under civil service still goes on and the commission recently announced that most of the administrative posts probably would be filled by certified appointees by the first of the year.

The big job of examining 20,000 applicants and certifying eligibles for 2500 jobs is still uncompleted, however, because of the lack of funds caused by the Senate filibuster last session.

The only reasonable assumption is that politics will figure importantly in the selection of prohibition officers, despite the efforts of the commission. The fact is that the commission has a check on the politicians and the politicians have a check on the commission's ambition to keep them out of the picture.

Up to the time the commission certifies the eligibles, politics is out of the picture, except that the enforcer who may now hold his job through political influence given credit in the examination for his experience. After that, in the case of the more important administrative jobs to appointing officers may select one out of three men for the job.

In instances where there are numbers of similar jobs open, the commission certifies a longer list, and here three men must be chosen from the first five on the list. For every three men chosen, two may be eliminated entirely. None of the five is discarded until the appointing officer has considered him for three jobs, after which he goes out automatically. Large numbers of eligibles may thus be passed over regardless of their examination marks, but only 66 per cent at the most in the one-out-of-three selections and only 10 per cent where there are numerous jobs of the same type. Most of the present agents took the exams, and many of them will surely be retained.

High enforcement officials here say politics will be kept out of the selectors. The commission hopes so.

CONGRESSMAN LAGUARDIA of New York, distinctly a wet,

The Olympic Ski Events Will Be Held at St. Moritz, Beginning February 5. The rapid progress made by American skiers the past few years lead many to believe that the United States and Canada stand a good chance of emerging from the competition well up in the lead. The most formidable opposition is expected from the Finns and the Norwegians who heretofore have always been able to carry away the lion's share of honors in these events.

"These fellows who get enforcement jobs make so much money that they move into expensive neighborhoods and retire. They go in for society instead of for politics. The politicians know that when they get a man an enforcement job, they only lose him for good."

One man wrote into the Treasury the other day for a job as a "prohibition officer." The applicants spell the word in many ways, but that one seems to be the most peculiar to date.

Assistant Secretary Lowman addressed a tart letter recently to an Oklahoma man who reported to him that his shoes and overcoat had been stolen when a man broke into his room, and that he was sure no one but a dry agent would do such a thing.

"I HAVE sold over 2,000 Ford parts and would like to try my luck selling Federal Radio," a salesman writes to the Federal Radio Commission.

The commission knows one or two jokes itself. Commissioner Sam Dickard was asked recently whether the commission would ask anything from Congress.

"No," said Sam, "we're the boys they're fighting over. The boys never says anything."

John Hancock's signature

You have heard of him, of course. Everyone has. His signature is the first affixed, the most boldly executed, on the Declaration of Independence.

When that great document was drawn up and ready to sign, there was a pause. It was a moment of grave importance to all present. By placing their signatures on this paper, they would put themselves on record as avowed rebels against the British crown—a hanging offense. At this juncture John Hancock stood up, seized the pen, and wrote his name on the parchment as large and black as he could. By this act he advertised to the world that he stood ready to make any sacrifice—even life itself—in support of his principles and ideals. His signature afforded a permanent record of his good faith.

Advertisers who go to great expense to place before the public printed announcements of their products are offering similar evidences of good faith, equal guarantees of fair dealing. Hope Diminishes For Locating Lost Plane

The five destroyers searching the storm-tossed seas off Newfoundland probably will be recalled tonight if no trace of the lost plane is found today. It is six days since the flyers left Roosevelt Field, N. Y. for Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, on the first leg of their attempted trans-Atlantic flight.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(INS) Hope for the safety of Mrs. Frances Grayson and her three men companions in the Dawn was at a low ebb today. Unless they are stranded in an inaccessible section of Newfoundland or Nova Scotia, they are feared to have perished.
