

List Of Debts Owed By Morgan Group Won't Be Published

Banker's Widespread Financial Activities Are Related By Official Of Company

WASHINGTON, May 26.—(A.P.)—The Senate banking committee today decided to withhold from publication a list of debts owed by the partners in J. P. Morgan & Company to the firm. The decision was reached in an executive session but no agreement was reached on the question of publishing the partnership articles under which to great banking house operates.

George Howard, president of the United Corporation Utilities holding organization testified that the corporation acquired the utilities stock from the Morgan firm in 1929 at $12,000,000 less than their market value. The stock was in Mohawk, Hudson Power, United Gas Improvement Company and Public Service of New Jersey.

Howard testified the stock deal gave the Morgan firm control of the utilities corporation. In turn the United Corporation was authorized to issue total capital stock of 13,000,000 shares, consisting of 1,000,000 first preference shares and 12,000,000 common shares, and 10,000,000 common shares. The shares were closely followed by Morgan and his partners. Howard told the crowded room that no first preference stock had been issued but 600,000 of $100 preference stock had been issued and also 800,000 shares of common stock. All of this stock had been bought by Morgan. The firm also received 714,000 option warrants entitling it to purchase that number of common stock shares at $37.50 per share.

3 Children Of Jobless Father Beaten To Death

FRAMINGHAM, Mass., May 26.—(A.P.)—Three children of an unemployed father were beaten to death yesterday in their home in a six-storied block which soon afterwards was swept by an incendiary fire. Their mother, Mrs. Nellie Dyzinski, who police said would be charged with the slayings, and another child, were both in a critical condition in a hospital. Firemen and neighbors, who found the children, first believed they had died of burns but an autopsy ordered after bloodstains had been noted revealed the cause of death.

ROOSEVELT SON DEFENDS ACTION OF J. P. MORGAN

States Financier Has In No Way Violated Letter Of The Law

BOSTON, May 26.—(A.P.)—James Roosevelt, son of the President, said last night that J. P. Morgan, "his partner," and probably many others like him in a lesser way, have in no way violated the letter of the law and have acted strictly within their legal rights.

Commenting, in a prepared address, on the Senate banking investigation and Morgan's testimony that he had paid no income tax in the United States in 1931 and 1932, Roosevelt said: "The legal fact lies not with Mr. Morgan, but with the law and those who drew the law and allowed such a thing to be."

He said Morgan, his friends, and many others, "have taken advantage of what the law allowed, and you and I will agree they probably would have been inhibited if they had not done so."

The investigation, he said, was not for the purpose of persecuting anyone, but "rather to awake the public to the inequalities of the law, and so to arouse public opinion that no group, no matter how powerful financially it might be, may block a change of the law, to rectify those errors of the past."

Referring to Calvin Coolidge, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Charles Francis Adams and others as private citizens who received the opportunity at a price well below the market value, Roosevelt said: "There is nothing illegal in that. If Mr. Morgan came along to you today and told you how you could buy what he considered a very good security on the market, for a price well below what you could go out and buy it for yourself, you probably would not miss the chance. If you had faith in Mr. Morgan's judgment you would probably do nothing else—but that is not the point."

"The point is that many of these offers were made not only to those individuals mentioned to which no strings were attached, but also to individuals who were at the head of great banking institutions."

HOUSE TAKES UP IMPORTANT REVENUE BILL

Senate Is Busy Upon 2nd Administration Measure To Settle Bond Debt Problem

TALLAHASSEE, May 26.—(A.P.)—Speeding to finish legislative work before midnight of June 2, the Florida House today was deep in consideration of the biennial appropriations bill while the Senate was at work on the second administration measure to settle public debt problems.

The House, taking up the Senate's appropriations measure provided to strike out all provisions of that measure after the enacting clause and insert figures were approved by its own committee as an amendment to the Senate bill.

The measure at which the Senate was working was the bill to amend the law to allow use of floating tax revenue, now going to counties for bond debt retirement, for the outright purchase of these bonds, thus wiping out parts of the debts without so much outlay of money.

The Senate passed a measure as a companion to the chain store tax bill making it unlawful to control prices and monopolize markets, to undersell through a system of rebates or engage in trade practices designed to put competitors out of business. The bill is said to be designed to aid independent merchants.

A rear first fight occurred between Robinson and Brown of Dade over the passage of an act amending the racing law to extend the season 15 days and providing for alteration of seasons for tracks where there are more than one in a county, preventing split seasons and requiring the putting of $50,000 bond. The legislators were separated before blows were exchanged.

Truce Is Definitely Effectuated In China

(By The Associated Press) Dispatches from both Chungking and Tokyo agreed today that a truce has been signed to put an end to hostilities in North China between the Chinese and Japanese. In Sanghai, there were official denials and strict censorship but none the less there was no doubt that an agreement had been concluded. The Tokyo announcement was made by the foreign office. Terms of the truce, the Japanese say, are that the Chinese forces are to be kept southwest of a line running across North China territory forming within 15 miles of Peiping, while Japanese soldiers are to remain south of the boundary. Cession of the "protection" zone figures in the deal.

SIDELIGHTS ARE GIVEN IN TRIAL OF J. P. MORGAN

Government Is Paying Big Banker $3 Per Day For Testifying

WASHINGTON, May 26.—(A.P.)—Ferdinand Pecora, swarthly, Italian-born investigator of the Senate Banking Committee, trains on a train and 10-cent cigars for a task, such as the Morgan and Company inquiry. He works 20 hours a day—sometimes longer, if necessary.

That he is protesting yesterday that his work in searching the records of the House of Morgan was delayed because heads of the firm objected to keeping their employees working after 6 P. M. "They insisted," said Pecora, "that we stop work at 6 P. M. every day. Other firms permitted us to remain in their offices until midnight."

J. P. Morgan, one of the world's richest men, has earned $4 from the government since he came to testify before the Senate Banking Committee.

He is entitled to $3 a day but he must pay his own hotel bill. Morgan and his partners occupy a luxurious and in one of the most famous hotels in the Capital.

Several persons were searched in the Senate caucus room when the third day of the inquiry began. Department of justice agents led the job and it was learned the move was designed to protect the usually heavily guarded J. P. Morgan.

Even international bankers cannot resist the notorious heat of a Washington summer.

UNITED STATES PREPARING FOR ECONOMIC WAR

Country Is Taking No Chance With Possible Failure Of Big London Conference

WASHINGTON, May 26.—(A.P.)—The United States government was said in official quarters last night to be arming itself for economic war if international efforts at the world economic conference fail to achieve lowered trade barriers.

At the same time, officials expressed some concern lest strong protectionistic feeling in various parts of the world should lessen the prospects of success not only at London but in the arms reduction conference at Geneva.

Open sentiment as to the prospect of lowering tariffs and other trade barriers at the London conference opening June 12 has been expressed by Asst. Sec'y Raymond Moley of the state department, close adviser of President Roosevelt and one of the leading architects of his domestic reconstruction program.

Sec'y Hull, a lifelong advocate of low tariffs, has taken a more optimistic view in general but has told newspapermen it must be determined forthwith whether tariff reduction will be the objective or whether the goal will be finally abandoned and every nation turned back upon a policy of commercial isolation.

Other officials said definitely though privately that the United States is putting itself in a position to embark on a policy of competitive commercial independence of the rest of the world and to work out a more self-contained national economy if efforts at international action fail.

Three particular pieces of legislation were pointed to as possible measures which might be employed in underwriting this far-reaching transformation of the American economic system—the farm relief bill, new which import taxes are levied equal to processing taxes on domestically produced goods; the industrial recovery or government-business partnership bill; and the new labor measure under which it is expected the Chief Executive would be given authority to raise the tariffs as well as lower them.

President Roosevelt Seeks Law Repealing Gold Standard Act

What New Gold Act Means

Here's what going off the gold standard by law means: Government bonds need not be redeemed in gold but can be paid in any legal money. Private debts such as mortgages can be paid in any legal money regardless of whether the original contract stipulated gold. War debts owed by foreign countries can be paid in any legal money, gold not being necessary. It will be unlawful to stipulate gold in contracts made hereafter as the medium of payment. All coins and currency legally issued will become legal tender for payment of public or private debts.

ARCTURUS LIGHT HEADS OF STEEL RAY WILL OPEN INDUSTRY NOTE CHICAGO'S FAIR UPWARD TREND

Beam From Star Has Been On Its Way To Earth For 40 Years

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 26.—(A.P.)—Somewhere out in space, millions of miles away, a light ray is plunging headlong toward the earth from the great star Arcturus.

That light-beam began its journey from Arcturus during the last World's Fair in Chicago, 40 years ago. For four decades it has been rushing through space at the rate of about 186,000 miles a second. Saturday night, at 10 P. M., Eastern Standard Time, it will complete its journey of 211,027,840,000,000 miles (more or less). It will plunge into a great telescope and trip off a delicate mechanism which will upon the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago.

Four great observatories await the moment. At Harvard College observatory at Oak Ridge, in the town of Harvard, a huge 24-inch reflecting telescope will be turned toward Arcturus Saturday night. The telescope will be set so that a light beam from Arcturus will fall upon a sensitive photo-electric cell. Exactly at the stroke of 10, Dr. Harlow Shapley, director of the observatory, will pull a shutter which will flash the 40-year-old light beam upon the photo-electric cell.

This delicate cell, incredibly sensitive to the action of even the feeblest ray of light, will set off an electric current which will be amplified by other electrical apparatus. A galvanometer, another sensitive electrical instrument, will receive this current and will swing an intense mirrored light beam upon a second light-sensitive cell.

The current thus set up in the second photo-electric cell then will be further built up and will send out over telegraph wires to throw the switch opening the great fair.

New Move Would Nullify Gold Clause In Bonds, Mortgages And All Contracts

NEW YORK, May 26.—(A.P.)—Stocks swept into a buoyant advance today when the market learned that President Roosevelt proposed to repeal the gold standard act. Gains of one to more than nine dollars a share were general while a few shares made even larger advances.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—(A.P.)—President Roosevelt today decided that the United States should go off the gold standard by statute. The President requested Chairman Stengall of the House banking committee to introduce a resolution to place the United States off the standard by law.

The Alabama Democrat conferred with the President at the White House. Later he called newspapermen to his office and read a copy of the resolution which he said "declares the United States off the gold standard by statute. It repeals the gold standard act." Stengall said.

He said that under the resolution no bonds, no obligations of the federal government, and no obligations of any form would have to be paid in gold or gold currency upon enactment of the measure.

He said it would be possible for foreign debtors to pay the United States their war debts in any legal money. "This bill frees the United States from the obstacles and handicaps of the gold standard. It is an administration bill and part of President Roosevelt's relief program."

In addition Stengall said the law would make it unnecessary for President Roosevelt to devalue the gold dollar under the inflation provisions of the farm relief act.

Parrish Supporting Laws To Defer Sales

State Senator J. J. Parrish today telegraphed H. M. Papworth that "I am supporting all measures that will defer the sale of tax certificates."

Mrs. Papworth had recently written to Senator Parrish to express herself in regard to the need for a bill that will enable local persons to redeem tax certificates of pay delinquent taxes over a period of five years.

Senator Parrish's answer is contained in the following telegram received late today: "Answering you, tell Brunley and others I am supporting all measures that will defer the sale of tax certificates."

In a telegraphic expression of appreciation of The Herald's recent stories of the sentiment of local persons on various measures proposed or introduced at Tallahassee, Representative C. W. Entzinger today stated that he favors granting Governor Sholtz the request for permission to consolidate bureaus and slash salaries wherever needed.

Representative Entzinger expressed himself as follows: "I am in favor of giving the Governor authority to do what this Legislature has, and I fear will, fail to do: Cut off needless expense and give our people relief."

CUBAN FACTIONS WORK TO EFFECT VIOLENCE TRUCE

Action Taken In Belief Wells Will Act To End Disturbance

HAVANA, May 25.—(AP)—Believing United States Ambassador Sumner Welles soon will move in and political turmoil in Cuba, representatives of the various factions of President Machado's opposition met last night to discuss temporarily refraining from acts of violence.

A "truce on terrorism" was proposed, the Associated Press was informed by the nationalists and Marianistas—members of the nationalist union and adherents of Miguel Mariano Gomez respectively.

The "action groups" including the ABC secret society, were reported favorable.

Welles called on Secretary of State Orestes Ferrara yesterday. After Welles arrived at Ferrara's residence the palace telephoned censors stationed in all newspapers and ordered that nothing concerning the interview be published.

A censor in at least one newspaper ordered that Welles be not mentioned again in any capacity. It could not be learned whether he had interpreted correctly his instructions. The embassy could throw no light on the reason for the sudden prohibition imposed.

It was learned Welles, President Machado and Gen. Alberto Herrera, who resigned this week as army commander to enter Machado's cabinet as secretary of war and navy, will have lunch together at Herrera's Pinar del Rio estate.

The newspaper, Informacion said yesterday Herrera, who will be sworn in this morning as secretary of war and navy, also will be named acting secretary of state succeeding Ferrara, who sails soon for London to attend the world economic conference.

Although not officially confirmed as yet, the Associated Press was reliably informed that President Machado actually has settled on Herrera to hold the state portfolio while Ferrara is away.

Because the constitution provides that the secretary of state shall succeed the president in the event the office becomes vacant, popular opinion has attached considerable importance to the question of Ferrara's successor.

Presbyterian Body To Hold Assembly In North Carolina

MONTREAT, N. C., May 25.—(AP)—With many difficult problems to be considered, including a possible re-hearing of the Rev. Hay Watson Smith doctrinal case, the 73rd general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States will convene here today.

Headed by Dr. William Crowe of St. Louis, the moderator, commissioners and officials of the assembly were arriving last night from the 17 states embraced by the southern division of the Presbyterian Church.

Election of a successor to Dr. Crowe will be the first business before the assembly.

Resumption of membership in the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America is one problem that will be before the commissioners. The Greenbrier Presbytery has filed an overture with the assembly asking that the question be handed down to the presbyteries for decision. Similar overtures have been filed by other presbyteries.

Prohibition will come up for discussion on an overture from the Nashville presbytery asking the assembly to adopt a resolution "urging the maintenance, observance and enforcement" of the prohibition laws. The overture sets out that it is the presbytery's opinion that "gospel temperance and total abstinence should be synonymous" except when whiskey is prescribed by the physician. Even then, the resolution says, the presbytery believes "substitutes" should be used.

PEACE MOVES OF ROOSEVELT TAKING SHAPE

How far the heavily armed countries will reduce their armaments will depend to a considerable extent upon the face of the act of mutual assistance, which will be presented to the conference, probably today.

France particularly will hinge her armaments reduction primarily upon the acceptance of this agreement by continental Europe, ### and secondary upon general agreement to the rigid supervision of armaments which was proposed by President Roosevelt.

The draft of the security arrangement leaves the development of Great Britain out of it.

The big question is whether Germany and Italy will adhere to the pact for without either of these countries it is admitted that the proposed accord would have little practical value.

The security commission of the conference yesterday reported a definition of the aggression which Wouldn't it be too bad if prices should rise and incomes and employment remain as they are?

Secretary Woodin is said to be quite a fiddler, but he hasn't got anything on some of our legislators.

We understand they still have the dragnet out in New York City trying to find someone who will run for mayor.

If there is to be a world race in armaments we imagine the United States could prove itself to be some sprinter as well as a distance runner.

American delegates to the London conference will be allowed only six dollars a day as expense money. Probably some of them will have to get "Papa J. P." to finance them.

Our legislators are all anxious to pass a law making drunkenness illegal but so far have not been able to agree just how drunk a man has to be before he can be accused of drunkenness.

China and Japan have signed a truce, it is announced. That must mean over there that the real war is about to begin. What they've been doing so far is just taking their setting up exercises.

A higher income tax will not come as a severe blow to those of us who work for the sheer joy of grappling with difficult problems and who receive our only compensation in the pleasure of devoted service.

One way of restoring public confidence might be to have the Senate committee investigate everybody in the United States and have all those who can't come clean put in jail. Those on the outside, then, if any, would deserve confidence.

Senator Fletcher knows where he stands with the House of Morgan anyway. Asked whether he would accept a ten thousand dollar deposit (deposit, not a loan) from Florida's senior senator, Mr. Morgan replied, "No I wouldn't. Not unless he had a letter of introduction."

The House of Morgan has sponsored the issue of nearly three billion dollars' worth of securities in the past eight years. The figure for the year 1930 was $900,000,000. Last year the figure dropped to $11,000,000. The average Morgan profit per issue is estimated at about 4 percent. That would mean $180,000,000 in eight years, a nice piece of change.—Paul Mallon. Let's see, twenty partners. Shucks! That's less than a million dollars a year a piece!

We don't know whether the Legislature has settled the dispute over beauty parlors yet, but anyway they've got something else to chew the rag about anyhow. A gentleman from last-looked Sunter county has introduced a bill providing that "All persons are hereby prohibited from bathing in public or appearing at or near any public bathing place when clothed only in what is commonly known as 'trunks' or 'bathing suits.'" The gentleman must have been a very good swimmer.

Women First

Most of the public projects suggested so far for unemployment relief have made provision only for jobless men. With the fact has been overlooked that there are many thousands of women out of work also, or their problem is too complicated for effective solution.

The wife of the President is taking an active interest in providing some sort of work for unemployed women workers. While she recognizes that the women cannot work in the forests she suggests that they can take care of jobs in nurseries or in horticultural gardens during the emergency period. She recalls the "farmerettes" of World War days and says that her husband has advised that he sees no reason why some of the reforestation money cannot be used in putting women to work as well as men.

Mrs. Roosevelt is also backing a project, the object of which is to provide rest rooms for unemployed girls in the larger cities. She says it would be well for every community to establish similar havens where women may go to "read, rest, or write a letter". She reports that the experiment in New York has proven very inexpensive.

Comparisons are odious but if there is to be any favored group for sympathy it should be the women and girls of the country who find their means of livelihood cut off by economic exigencies. While it is bad enough for a man to be out of work and dependent on charity for his food and shelter, it is doubly painful for a woman, who by nature is not intended to withstand the same hard knocks as a man.

It is for this reason that any government provisions for unemployment relief should give precedence to the women, who, although their numbers are a small proportion of the army of unemployed, are, both from the point of view of chivalry and from the point of view of practical welfare, due first consideration.

Lore Of Many Lands

Continual cheerfulness is a sign of wisdom. Would you be strong, conquer yourself. Content is more than a kingdom. It is much easier to be critical than to be correct. A bad custom is like a good cake, better broken than kept.

One of these days is none of these days. If a man deceives me once, shame on him; if he deceives me twice, shame on me. Good deeds remain, all things else perish. Nothing is profitable which is dishonest. He who is afraid of doing too much always does too little.

You may pay more for your schooling than your learning is worth. One should not put too many eggs under one hen. Every "maybe" hath a "maybe" not. Everyone must row with the oars he has. A good example is the best sermon. We should never remember the benefits conferred nor forget the favors received. Follow the wise few rather than the vulgar many. We shall never have friends if we expect to have them without faults. Whatever is given to the poor is laid up in heaven. All things proclaim the existence of God. An honest countenance is the best passport. Hope is as cheap as despair. Were everyone to sweep before his own house every street would be clean. The more a man knows the more he is inclined to be modest. When men speak ill of thee, live so that nobody will believe them.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

One of the most brilliant social events in the school life of the city was the lovely reception tendered the graduating class of the Sanford High School by the Junior Class Thursday evening in the high school, the handsome building was ablaze with lights and most beautifully and effectively decorated in the receiving line were: Superintendent J. E. McKinnon, Professor N. J. Perkins, Mrs. N. J. Perkins, Miss Ettae Goodwin Perkins, Miss Helen Rowland, president of the Junior Class, Tenney Deane, president of the Senior Class, Miss Eleanor Roberts, Harry Kanner, Miss Margaret Davis, Bertie Pattishall, Miss Selma Erickson, Miss Anna Engenhart, Wallace Crosby, Miss Aline Frank, and Miss Grace Iversman. A musical program was given by Miss Daniel, assistant vocal and violin instructor at Rollins College, and W. Clay Ingram, also of Rollins College. Refreshments were served by members of the Junior Class.

About 12:30 Sunday morning the prolonged blowing of the fire alarm whistle at the water works plant startled the inhabitants and a bright blaze in the eastern part of the city brought the crowd to the corner of Sanford Avenue and Second Streets where the old Windsor Hotel building was found to be fiercely burning in the roof of the house. This is one of the ancient landmarks of the early city of Sanford and like all ancient landmarks burned slowly enough to be extinguished by the department before any large amount of damage was done. Louis Paine, who occupied the lower room for a grocery and meat market, suffered the greatest loss, as all of his stock and fixtures were at the mercy of the flames of water that were poured into the upper part. Several negro families who occupied the upper stories were forced to seek other quarters.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Pattishall, their daughter, Miss Blanche, and son, Evan, of Geneva, attended the Commencement exercises at the High school during the week

THE GOLD STANDARD

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of discussions by Charles G. Hardy and Lewis S. Lyon, economists of the Brookings Institution, emphasizing the functions of the International Gold Standard.

MR. LYON: The events of the last few days, Hardy suggests that there are some questions which we can never settle so that they stay settled. Every time we think we have solved them, they break out again in new and more perplexing forms. When you and I first studied the nature of money we were told how, after Mr. Bryan's vigorous campaigns of 1896 and 1900, this country decided the monetary question once and for all. Bimetallism and paper standards were completely discredited—the gold standard withstood every assault. But now the abandonment of the gold standard is a matter of public policy.

MR. HARDY: Yes Mr. Lyon times do change. From 1900 up to a year or two ago, the monetary standard dropped out of most people's minds as a political or economic problem. We were on the gold standard; that was all there was to it. We never expected to be on any other standard. In fact, most people did not even trouble themselves to know what it meant.

MR. LYON: And I doubt if a good many people now know what it means. I believe that if we are going to discuss the present problem of our monetary standard we had better begin with a few very simple statements about what a monetary standard, and the gold standard in particular, really mean.

MR. HARDY: All right. Where would you begin?

MR. LYON: I should first want to make it clear that any monetary standard is a unit by comparison with which we express the value of everything else just as we express the length of a yardstick in terms of the gold standard. In fact, the monetary standard has sometimes been a unit of some commodity which had a broad market for other purposes, such as tobacco or beaver skins. Usually it has been a precious metal. Prices of goods or services are simply the value of these goods or services in terms of the value of this unit. When we use gold as a standard our prices are necessarily expressed in terms of some unit of gold. We call any unit, consisting of 23.22 grains of gold, the dollar. That is where I begin.

MR. HARDY: That is the idea of a standard with which all students of money begin, and in fact, it is the way the gold standard historically did begin. But it is important to understand that although gold has been our national standard, practically none of it is in circulation; to realize that the total quantity of money in circulation is over six billion dollars, while the Treasury and

Mickey Mouse Club To Elect Officers

Election of officers for the month of June will feature tomorrow morning's meeting of the Mickey Mouse Club to be held at the Milano Theater at 10:00 o'clock.

Last week, an indoor track meet proved interesting to the more than 100 boys and girls present. Winners of the various events were: 100 yard dash, Elizabeth Cameron; 16 pound shot put, Marjorie Cogburn; potato race, Nell Fischer; newspaper race, Robert Stanley. Mickey Mouse pins were awarded the winners.

Walter Turner was the club member who correctly guessed the identity of Mickey Mouse, played by Harold McLaughlin. Acrobatic stunts were presented by Joe Douglas and Dub Epps, assisted by Lester Guthrie, Bryan Hart and Owee McCuller, while a special acrobatic dance was presented by Ruby Horne.

Unavoidable circumstances makes it impossible to give away Celos tomorrow morning. It was announced, but all children are asked to save their Celos until a later date.

The electric meter will be attached to a new Norge refrigerator, product which the Seminole Tire Shop recently has introduced to Sanford, and the public is invited to visit the showrooms, inspect the Norge, and guess how many kilowatt hours of electricity it will consume within 15 days. First prize is to be $10 in cash or a $15 credit on the purchase of a Norge, while second prize will be $5 or $10 credit on the purchase of a Norge. There is no entrance fee, all persons being eligible to cast a ballot which sets forth their guess.

added references to the banking committee's disclosure that Davis borrowed from the Morgan house and that with Woodin he was on its "favored" customers list.

Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, who promptly answered the Indianan's outburst, contended that Davis' "going to Europe in 1933 is more calculated in my opinion to keep us out of war" than to get this nation into conflict and continued:

"I think that Mr. Davis, whether he made or did not make a loan (from J. P. Morgan & Co.), has Davis in a statement issued shown a stature of statesmanship for which this world is hungry."

"The man who attacks an ambassador abroad when that ambassador is accomplishing signal success in attacking humanity. He is sowing the seed of international hate and ill-will on which wars thrive."

"We sent Mr. Davis abroad to negotiate a disarmament treaty and he has been the most efficient representative of any government on the face of the earth."

Wednesday at Geneva said that he had borrowed $50,000 from the Morgan Company several years ago and was paying it back. Testimony before the committee yesterday afternoon by George Whitney, one of the Morgan partners, disclosed that he had raised the loan to $75,000 at one time but now had reduced it to $10,000. NEW YORK, May 26.—(AP)—The seven consecutive weekly advances, the wholesale food index of Dun and Bradstreet, Inc., dropped two cents to $1.84 for the week ended May 23, but was still 5.1 percent above the same date last month. Grains, some dairy products, sugar, goods, lamb, and sheep were lower. Steers and pigs advanced slightly.

DOMINICAN IN MIAMI MIAMI, May 26.—(AP)—En route to Washington after visiting Rafael Trujillo, president of Dominica, Ulises Espallat, counsel general to the Dominican legation at Washington, arrived here late Tuesday by plane. He was accompanied by Joseph E. Davis, and daughter, Rachel.

O'BRIEN URGES COPS TO STOP GANG KILLINGS

Another Victim Found In Street On Heels Of Machine Gun Fray In Theater District

NEW YORK, May 26.—(AP)—Mayor John P. O'Brien today called on the police and district attorneys to wage a stronger fight on racketeers as the gangsters added another murder.

John Friscia, slot machine racketeer, was killed today in an automobile and flung into the street. Friscia was a pal of George Kennedy, killed Tuesday night with Kitty O'Brien, showgirl, in an apartment. Slot machine strife is blamed for these two killings.

Kitty O'Brien was one of three women gang victims in three days. Two others were wounded as gangsters fought on Broadway.

The names of two Broadway racketeers—Waxy Gordon and Dutch Schultz—were thrust into the police investigation today of a gangster sub-machine gun battle which threw the theatrical district into an uproar before dawn.

Three pedestrians, caught without time to gain cover, were wounded by the gangsters' bullets. Eddie Fintine, 45, a maid, was the only one seriously injured.

Police began working on two theories. One was that the gun play was a sequel to the slaying in the Elizabeth, N. J., hotel of Max Greenberg and Max Hassel, reputed subordinates of Gordon. The second was that the gangsters were "pay-off" men for Dutch Schultz's alleged policy racket.

The shooting started when a truck began backing a gangland device for hiding the noise of guns. Out of Eighty-Second Street came two racing automobiles, a sub-machine gun spraying bullets at the leading car.

The running battle ended as suddenly as it started. The first car, its padded sides, steel roof and inch-thick triple glass shattered by bullets, crashed into an iron fence in the middle of Broadway. Its two occupants tumbled out and disappeared, but the bullets were believed to have found their mark. There were blood stains in the car and on the street. The pursuing car wheeled about and raced away.

While refusing to reveal their basis for connecting Schultz with the case, police said two men, named Ahearn and Stevens, were probably the occupants of the wrecked car. They were said to be "making the rounds" paying off policy game agents.

ALUMINUM CAR TO BE PULLMAN EXHIBIT AT FAIR

Product Represents 3 Years Of Research And Design Efforts

CHICAGO, May 26.—An aluminum observation and room car will be the feature of the Pullman Company's exhibit at the century-of-progress exposition. The car, which represents three years of research and design, is hailed by engineering and architectural experts "the finest example of metal craftsmanship ever produced in America."

This car represents the third great evolutionary step in Pullman construction: Wood in 1850, steel in 1907; aluminum in 1933. Although but slightly more than half the weight of a standard steel car this pioneer aluminum Pullman has equivalent strength.

A steel sleeper weighs 180,000 pounds; the George M. Pullman, with air-conditioning equipment and all other accessories tips the scale at 60,000 pounds. Thus, without sacrifice of safety, the Pullman Company points out, this car had made an impressive reduction in the cost of haulage.

Aluminum, which has been used for many years in a variety of ways from the humble frying pan to skyscraper buildings, has been used recently for light-weight sub-urban cars, but the problem of its utilization for all-over construction of a Pullman car brought new problems in engineering and design. Aluminum has characteristics that are radically different from those of other metals. For instance, its temperature expansion is twice that of steel. This and other peculiarities have been overcome and its advantages utilized.

One outstanding feature of the new car is the truck cast of solid aluminum. This truck weighs 10,000 pounds less than the standard steel truck. All parts of the car construction exceed where wear occurs, are of aluminum. Steel is used in wheels, axles, springs, brake shoes, but the remainder is of the lighter metal.

"Contemporary," rather than the loosely used and much abused term of "modern" is applied to the design and finish of the car. It has a modified stream-line effect differing in several features from the standard Pullman. Thermostat control regulates the air-conditioning of the entire car, cooling in summer, warming it in winter and at all times filtering the incoming air. This eliminates the necessity of open windows.

The regulation observation and dome away with on this car. The observation lounge room and the sun parlor have been combined into one large room, with interior decorations, furniture and fixtures designed as part of the unit. The car is lighted by indirect system.

Into the car is built all necessary features with a compactness of construction that gives the maximum of room. Besides the observation room there are sleeping compartments, dinet buffet with monel metal grill and oven, drawing room.

Sidelights Are Given In Trial Of J. P. Morgan

"Oh, no sir," Whitney hurried to explain. The spectators laughed loudly.

Morgan is perfectly willing to act as a messenger boy for a newspaper reported, but his partner, Thomas M. Lamont, doesn't think it is such a good idea.

Yesterday a newspaperman was trying to get a piece of paper passed along to a reporter at another press table. Morgan was sitting between the two men, and the reporter asked:

"Mr. Morgan, would you mind passing this along for me?" Morgan took the paper and was about to hand it along when Lamont saw him. Lamont whispered to Morgan and the banker put the paper in his pocket.

It was a statement, in Morgan's own handwriting, which he made yesterday relative to the fact that he paid a British income tax.

Some congressmen may be resentful against Morgan because of the revelations at the inquiry but the banker's name still carries weight. Senators Robinson, of Indiana, and Long, and Representative Britten all made "bitter" speeches against Morgan yesterday. Every time they referred to him, however, they were careful to call him "Mister Morgan."
