FEDERAL MEN ISSUE WARNING TO DRUGGISTS

Prohibition Agents Are Conducting Drive To Stop Sale of Certain Ingredients of Drink

Juniper Oil Gets Placed Under Ban

Officials Say Action Not Authorized And Would Not Be Legal

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(INS)—Prohibition agents are conducting an apparently unauthorized campaign of coercion and threat against druggists and other dealers in non-intoxicating beverages in an effort to enforce the Volstead act. It was learned today.

Druggists have been warned by agents that the sale of certain non-intoxicating substances, such as preparations of Juniper oil commonly known as "Gin Tonic" may result in the loss of their licenses to sell medicinal drugs.

Sales of this character were characterized by dry agents as "compounding a felony," although no violation of the prohibition laws constitute only misdemeanors.

Officials declared that statements of this kind are not authorized by prohibition men and are being made without the knowledge of the treasury department. It is explained by prohibitionists that where substances are sold and labeled as medicinal there is a violation of the law and such transactions will be stopped by the government.

Officials admitted, however, that there is no violation of the Volstead act in selling non-intoxicating beverages, even though they may later be used in combination with alcohol for drinking purposes.

Some grocers in the national capital have been stopped from selling non-alcoholic beverages, such as vanilla and cocktails, on the ground that these liquids contribute to violations of the law. These beverages are widely advertised in newspapers and magazines as containing satisfactory non-alcoholic drinks.

By the addition of alcohol the vanilla and cocktails may be converted into substantially the same concoctions as were sold before prohibition and it is for this reason that the attempt to stop their sale was made.

While prohibition agents against the sale of grape ale and other soft drinks in night clubs, on the ground that these beverages obviously were to be made "the back-ground" for highballs and cocktails, some officials privately expressed doubt whether this form of prohibition is legal.

When prohibition agents discover the actual use of alcohol with soft drinks, or with concoctions of other varieties sold by drug stores and groceries, arrest is permissible, but otherwise there are just grounds for action, according to officials.

Sinclair Lewis, Of Babbitt Fame, Weds Newspaper Writer

LONDON, May 14.—(INS)—Sinclair Lewis, American author, was married today to Dorothy Thompson, an American newspaper writer. There were two ceremonies. The first was held at the Henrietta Street Register's Office, the second in the Savoy Chapel.

Both Lewis and Miss Thompson had been divorced. Mrs. Sinclair Lewis obtained a divorce from her first husband in Reno, Nevada, just a few weeks ago. Under the regulations of the Church of England divorced persons cannot be married in church property. However, Savoy Chapel lies upon land owned by the Prince of Wales, just off the Strand, and this restriction does not apply there.

Lewis wore an ordinary blue lounge suit. The bride wore a navy blue tulle gown with a coat of similar material and a blue hat. She carried a bouquet of lilies.

After the chapel ceremony there was a luncheon at the Savoy Hotel. Among the guests were Anita Loos, author of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," and Rebecca West, the English novelist. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis said they were going on "a honeymoon." They will leave England in an automobile.

Nine Prominent Citizens Of Brockton, Mass., Drown As Fishing Boat Capsizes

BROCKTON, Mass., May 14.—(INS)—Nine prominent citizens of this city and a Maine guide were drowned in lower Moosehead Lake, Maine when a motor boat capsized according to a telephone message received this afternoon from Captain James E. Lays of the Brockton Police Department and former city marshal. The message came from the Greenville Hospital. The list of dead was given as follows:

Chief William E. Daley of the Brockton Fire Department; Sheriff Earl Blake of Plymouth County; Dr. Andrew F. Peterson, former city physician; Dr. David Bridge; Knute Salander, local business man; John Sandberg, proprietor of the Brockton Jewelry Company; Dr. Frank Moberg, former Mayor Harry Howard; G. Fred Dahlborg, Chairman of the Brockton Highway Commission and Sam Buddlin, guide, of Greenville, Maine.

The message from the bedside of Captain Lays stated that the boat overturned and that he alone of those aboard had reached shore safely. Captain Lays made his way from the scene of the overturning to Greenville, where he collapsed after telling of the plight of his companions. He was reported by the Greenville hospital to be in a serious condition as the result of immersion in the water.

The party of amateur fishermen left here in an automobile before daylight Sunday to spend a week in the Maine woods. It was their intention to fish for salmon during the greater part of the week. The accident took place, it was understood about 6 P. M. last night.

Captain Lays made his way to the shore near McKenzie's camp and from there struggled through the woods and across a 400-foot-deep ravine carrying Joseph Messier, Thomas Sullivan and Albert Fuller left there this afternoon for Greenville. An attempt will be made to land on the surface of Moosehead Lake near Kineo. They will render whatever aid possible in the search for the missing men or their bodies.

SENATOR TAYLOR OFFICE ASPIRANT, SPEAKS TONIGHT

One of Five Remaining Candidates In Race For Governorship Will Address Citizens In Auditorium Of City Hall

Senator John S. Taylor, of Largo, one of the five remaining candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor, is scheduled to speak in behalf of his candidacy at the City Hall Auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock. The West Coast aspirant is expected to arrive in Sanford this afternoon in time to confer with friends here.

Senator Taylor is the last of the gubernatorial aspirants to visit Sanford. He has been preceded by Dr. Foss A. Hathaway, chairman of the State Road Department; James M. Carson, of Mount Dwylo; Charles of Tampa; and Sidney J. Catts, of DeFuniak Springs.

A large crowd is expected to gather to hear Senator Taylor speak. He is well-known by the county as one of the members of the legislature which separated Seminole County from Orange County in 1917.

The senator is running on his record in the state legislature both as a member of the house and the senate and on a platform which includes improvement for the state's schools, including the two state colleges and the common schools; increased pledges of Confederate veterans; more effective child welfare laws; the abolition of occupational licenses and taxes on individual homes, curtailment of unnecessary bond issues for local improvements, and a just workmen's compensation law.

Robbery Is Believed Motive For Murder Of Well Known Ace

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—(INS)—Murder, motivated by robbery, was committed by a person who sought to offend the deed with flame, was the theory on the basis of which sheriff's investigators today pressed further their inquiry into the mysterious death of Dave Lewis, nationally prominent auto racing driver.

A bullet wound in his head, Lewis' body was discovered in his ranch home in San Jacinto Canyon near here. On the adjacent ground near a brush fire of unknown origin was a 45 calibre army automatic revolver.

The possibility of suicide was minimized by investigators when it was learned Lewis did not own a revolver. Relatives of the dead man declared they were aware of no possible motive for suicide. Lewis was looking forward, they elected to participate in the coming speedway races at Inglewood and planned to depart for the Indiana try on May 23.

The theory that a robber entered Lewis' ranch home, and killed him upon meeting resistance gained credence with the revelation that the home contains many articles of value. It is thought that the probable assailant fled from the house after killing Lewis and started the brush fire to cover the murder.

COUNTY ARRAY OPPOSITION TO OF POLITICIANS HOOVER WORKS SPEAKS AT BEE TO STEM TIDE

Before Crowd Of 300 Persons In School House Of Oviedo, Candidates For Office Appeal For Votes In Primary

Chicken Dinner Is Served By Women

Charges And Insinuations Are Noticeably Lacking In Most Of Speeches Of The Evening

Seminole County's political army stormed Oviedo Saturday night where 300 persons crowded into the school building to hear the candidates make appeals for votes from the citizens of that section.

Before the meeting, which began at 7:30, 150 of the victors were served with chicken suppers prepared in the school kitchens by the women of Oviedo.

The candidates and members of the audience from out-of-town were welcomed by R. F. Wheeler, county commissioner from that district. R. J. Holly, just returned from Washington where he testified before the Federal Trade Commission, presided at the meeting.

Charges and insinuations were lacking from most of the speeches. Even in the more hotly contested races for sheriff and county judge the speakers were only mildly aggressive, according to observers.

Samuel A. R. Wilkinson and Judge J. G. Sharon, candidates for the nomination as county judge, were the first speakers. They were followed by John G. Leonard and Weyman E. White, the aspirants for county prosecutor. The candidates for the legislature who talked were: C. W. Entzinger, M. M. Ladd, L. P. Hagan, J. R. Lykes, and R. W. Pearson, Jr.

Only four of the candidates for county commissioner talked. They were: S. D. Ballard, D. M. Douglas, S. F. Long and D. H. Robson. Sheriff C. M. Hund, E. P. Grady, E. E. Walker and E. F. McClelland all spoke in behalf of their candidacies for sheriff. Speakers for tax assessor were E. H. Kilber, A. Vaughan and Joe Chittenden.

Vanma Douglas, D. L. Thrasher and R. R. Deas all spoke for applicant in the race for clerk of the court. T. W. Layton and Mrs. Maybelle Maxwell spoke in behalf of their candidacies for superintendent.

Senator J. J. Parrish of Titusville was the only speaker running in more than one county. He made an appeal for re-nomination as state senator from Seminole and Bradford Counties.

13 Cases Face Judge Of Municipal Court

Thirteen cases confronted Municipal Judge Wayman E. White in police court this morning. Nine of them resulted in fines and sentences for the defendants.

Edgar Lee, arrested on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, was fined $200 by Judge White but sentence was suspended on 120-day good behavior, and the judge warned him against appearing in court again on the same charge.

Other cases were: Ralph Robinson, disorderly conduct, fined $5; Marie Ford, disorderly conduct, $5; Ruby Smith disorderly conduct, $5; C. J. Maurer, driving under the influence of liquor, case continued until May 23; E. D. Duncan, drunk and disorderly, $25; Joe Simpson, drunk, $5; John Gamble, assault, $50 or 30 days; John Anderson, Henrietta Robinson, disorderly conduct, $10; Jake Robinson, disorderly conduct, $10; Wansley Potter and Charley Morgan, reckless driving, dismissed.

Prominent Citizens Make Bond For Key

Three well-known Sanford citizens are serving as surety on the bonds under which A. R. Key, former vice-president and cashier of the Seminole County Bank, was released following his sentence on two indictments in connection with the failure of the bank by Judge DeWitt T. Gray, of Jacksonville, last Friday.

The men are Boy Spang and Igo Fish, Sanford celery farmers, and G. A. Speer, of Speer and Son, one of the city's largest stores. They signed two bonds, each for $3,000 to enable Key to be at liberty while his cases go to the supreme court on writs of error.

The names of the bondsmen could not be learned until today because of the illness of Vance Douglas, clerk of the circuit court, who approved the bonds.

Keen Detective Work Lands Woman In Jail As Result Of Murder Plot

BAYPORT, N. Y., May 14.—(INS)—Accused of plotting to murder her husband, Mrs. Frederick Austin, 28, and her alleged lover, Arthur Abadore, 28, were in the Riverhead Jail today as the result of an unusual bit of detective work by Charles Barcelona, a deputy sheriff.

The woman, it is charged, confided her desire to do away with her husband to a truck driver and he promised to find her a gunman. Instead, he notified Barcelona and the latter was introduced to Mrs. Austin and Abadore as "Joe Russo, a tough New York gunman."

Barcelona was to receive $80 for killing the husband and a share of the victim's $4,000 insurance it is alleged. The deputy says it was further agreed that he was to kill Abadore's wife, for $20, in order

New Tax Reduction Bill Carries Greatest Relief Measure Since Great War

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(INS)—The new tax reduction bill today carried an $118,000,000 cut in corporation taxes, the greatest relief proposed for American business in any revenue measure drafted since the war.

The slashes included an $32,000,000 reduction in the regular corporation tax rate, which was dropped 13 1/2 to 12 1/2 per cent, $12,000,000 reduction through increase of exemptions from $2,000 to $3,000 and $24,000,000 through adoption of a graduated scale of taxes for small corporations.

The $24,000,000 graduated scale slash, applying to corporations with incomes up to $15,000, was not approved by the administration and was inserted in the bill only because several states' Republican Senators were absent when the vote was taken. The result was 40 to 38, two insurgents—McClator and Norbeck, of South Dakota—voting with the Democrats.

Their task has been made doubly difficult—perhaps impossible—by the apparent willingness of the Mellon machine in Pennsylvania to take Hoover if President Coolidge cannot be persuaded to stand again. Upon that nearly all the practical politicians of Washington were agreed today.

Hoover's pledged and committed delegates strength is due to cross the 400-mark this week, not counting any votes from New York or Pennsylvania, whose combined strength is 169 in the convention. From this it is apparent that if New York should follow Pennsylvania into the Hoover camp that fight against Hoover at Kansas City becomes more or less an idle gesture.

As of today, Hoover has approximately 367 committed delegates. New Jersey will add 31 in tomorrow's primary, and on next Friday Oregon will fall into line with 17, pushing the Hoover total to the 400-line. In both these states Hoover has no opposition, and the state leaders are for him. Their 14 votes go to him by default. Even half of New York's 90, coupled with Pennsylvania's 79, would put the Cabinet candidate within a few votes of the necessary 515.

The Senatorial leaders of "the allies" privately admit that the outlook for stopping Hoover is not a rosy one. Publicly, however, they are maintaining a bold front, and are determined to go down fighting. Conferees will hold their week to strategy. It is perhaps a coincidence that the Senate's investigation of campaign expenditures in Washington at this more or less critical time. As Hoover's forces have brought Frank O. Lowden

CHINESE APPEAL TO AMERICA FOR AID AGAINST JAPS

Association of Universities
And Colleges Charges That Japanese Have Committed
Atrocities In Late Fighting

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(INS)—The Japanese have committed barbaric atrocities in the fighting around Shanghai which more than 14,000 were killed in two days, charged in a statement issued today by the association of universities and colleges (Shanghai) appealing for American support for the Chinese Nationalists.

The appeal for American sympathy was addressed to "The Secretary of State, Senator Borah, Congressman Porter and the people of the United States." Borah is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Porter is chairman of the house Foreign Affairs Committee.

"Just as the Nationalist forces are completing the unification of China," the statement said, "the Japanese are suddenly sending 2,000 into the interior of Shanghai to stem our advance. The territory is now completely flooded by the Alien Japanese troops with machine guns, poison gas, airplanes and all the implements of modern warfare."

"They have already launched an extensive campaign of organized butchery of our national forces and civilian population. More than 1,000 citizens have perished in two days. Some have been murdered. Others were shot. These Japanese troops were shown the audacity to loot and burn the Foreign Affairs Building and murder in cold blood the commissary and his entire staff of ten persons who among other things had their eyes gouged out before their eyes were dispatched with bullets."

"What is the great American government going to do in the face of this organized endeavor at the annihilation of the Chinese Government and the people who have done us wrong except to struggle as the great American nation once struggled itself to establish an independent national life?"

The statement concluded with a request that the United States Government "investigate this matter and take appropriate action."

Second Airplane To Leave With Aid For Stranded Bremen

ST. JOHN, N. B., May 14.—(INS)—Weather conditions permitting, it was expected that the second relief expedition to the beleaguered monoplane Bremen on the Labrador mainland would take off for St. Georges, N. F., today.

Lieutenant Muir, Fairchild, pilot of one of the relief planes, has practically recovered from the attack of appendicitis he suffered upon his arrival here Saturday. A third plane requested from Washington by Major General J. E. Fechet, in command of the expedition has arrived here. In the plane were Lieutenants E. Wood, Quanda and Richard E. Cobb. The latter was picked up at Boston and will bring Fairchild back home for treatment.

Lieutenant Quisada will replace Fairchild in the relief plane, it is expected. Fred Melchior, the Junkers pilot, who is going to the Bremen's bleak haven with the expedition, will pilot the ship back to New York, if the expedition succeeds. He will be accompanied by Dr. Louis Guisiner and the mechanics who removed the plane to the mainland from Greenville Island.

LOWDEN SPENT 60 THOUSAND IN HIS CAMPAIGN

Sum Is In Sharp Contrast To 1920 Drive When He Disbursed Nearly Half Million

Illinois Candidate Appears At Inquiry

Former Governor Reveals How He Was Besought By Friends

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(INS)—Former Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, has spent $60,000 in his campaign for the Republican Presidential nomination he told Senate Presidential funds inquiry today. Total receipts in his campaign have been $64,700, of which he personally has contributed $12,500 or $16,000.

This sum was in sharp contrast to his 1920 campaign, when his managers reported expenditures of $414,987. Senator Steiwer (R) of Oregon, chairman, first introduced Lowden to members of the committee and there was a round of handshaking. This unusual greeting was extended to no other candidate. "We want to thank you, Governor, for your courtesy in accepting our invitation to appear here," Steiwer added.

Lowden explained how he entered the Republican Presidential race. "A year ago this Spring, some of my friends came to me and Moore wrote me about the Presidency," said Lowden. "I told them I was doing nothing about it. A little later, they were Clarence Ames to me. They were Clarence P. Duck, Homer M. Cust and Robert D. Clark, now a resident of Los Angeles. They asked me whether I had any objection to their getting together and getting up a little organization to watch developments as they might affect me. I had no objection because my correspondence had been going very heavy and I was glad to have somebody look after it. So really, they are acting with my consent and they are the only ones to whom I have given that consent."

"I have made no political speeches although a good deal of pressure was put upon me." He said Duck had charge of all receipts and expenditures. Lowden said he had made no effort to win California, "because we looked on that as Hoover's state." Thomas P. Moffett leads an independent organization in New York, Lowden said, he knew nothing about its expenditures.

Senator McMaster (R) of South Dakota, brought out that Lowden's organization had spent but $125 to win his state's delegation. Lowden didn't know it.

Senator Bratton questioned Lowden about the formation of a publishers "Lowden for President" Club, Ira H. Marshall, of Chicago, was its active head. The organization sought pledges from newspaper publishers to support Lowden editorially. The governor said he knew nothing of the club's activities.

Lowden told how he stayed out of all "favorite sons" states. "The only question in Indiana was whether Senator Watson would be a candidate," said Lowden.

Effort To Enforce Prohibition Law Is Blamed For Crime

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(INS)—The "attempted enforcement of Prohibition" has contributed in a large measure to the 400 per cent increase in the prison population of the United States since 1919, the House Judiciary Committee declared today in reporting the Foraker Bill to establish two federal narcotic farms to cure drug addicts.

Conviction in federal courts have multiplied four times during the period, with the result that federal prisons are greatly overcrowded, the report said. "This picture of overcrowding is a sad one to contemplate," the report added. "To pack men as though they were animals is a brutal manner of treatment even for convicts."

The committee said conditions are particularly bad at Atlanta, Leavenworth and McNeil Island prison. Location of the farms would be left to the Treasury Department. Addition to the farms, apply for admission to the farms, "increase in crime in its most dangerous character is frequently traced to the addict who becomes the author and perpetrator of crimes of violence," said the report.

Gold Star Mothers Urge Enactment Of Bill Before House

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(INS)—Gold Star Mothers and widows, representatives of the A. E. F., the American War Mothers Association and other similar groups appeared before the Senate Military Affairs Committee today in support of the House Bill which would send approximately 4,000 war mothers to Europe to visit the graves of their dead sons.

The measure passed the House unanimously in February, and Senator Copeland, (D) of New York, urged that Senatorial action be hastened, as a number of war mothers had already died since House passage of the bill.

"These mothers are dying off," he said, "and we must make haste if we will send them to see the graves of their dead sons." Mrs. F. O. Nock, of Washington, a war mother, objected to sending of war mothers on the basis that most of them had married under the stimulus of war, and had since remarried. She said the widows did not have the same poignant memories as the mothers.

RALLY TONIGHT

Longwood tonight will be the scene of the county's sixth political rally of the Democratic primary campaign when 30 odd candidates for offices ranging in membership in the legislature to that of District 4 will speak. The meeting is to be held in the Longwood library building unless the crowd is too large. In that event it will be held in the open air. The speaking is scheduled to begin at 7:30. B. J. Holly, chairman of the county executive committee will preside.

Celery Feds Outhit Beach Boys But Can't Get Runs; Lose 5th Straight, 6 To 5

Sanford's sad Celery Feds lost one more baseball game yesterday afternoon to the Palm Beach Sheriffs. The score was 6 to 5 and the Feds would have taken the tilt if the Sheriffs hadn't scored a couple of runs in the eighth inning, the first one squaring the count and the second one winning the game for the Beach Boys.

The Feds got 10 hits to the Sheriffs meagre seven, but it isn't hits but runs that win the ball games. The Feds have found that out this week. They lead the league at bat, but they are way down near the bottom when it comes to capturing contests.

Three errors in the Sanford column of the box score tell part of the story of yesterday's game, but not all of it. The Feds can lose by a wider margin without making single miscue. If they aren't getting the "breaks" they had better go and find a few and bring them into the hall park.

Today, the last game of this series between the two teams is scheduled. Monday the Feds meet Orlando, Boy Score:

Whitney Colt Gets Better Odds To Win Derby Classic Upon Capturing Preakness

BY DAVIS J. WALSH International News Service Sports Editor NEW YORK, May 12.—Victorian's price for the Kentucky Derby to be run at the classic downs one week from today, has receded like a freshman's chin as a result of some overnight reflection upon his winning performance in the Preakness late yesterday afternoon. The Whitney colt probably was no better than 8 to 1 in the Derby book this morning, whereas he was 15 to 1 on the eve of the Preakness and as high as 20 to 1 last week.

He would be held even lower today, if it wasn't for the fact that Reigh Count is as low as a snake in a wagon track already and you can't fool the boys by offering them short money on everything in sight. As it is, the Preakness lengthly will make the odds lengthen materially on quite a few public choices for the Derby and, if you think I don't mean Nassak, Distraction, Brooms, Pete Wrack, Bobshela and kindred disappointments of the Preakness, then you don't give me credit for a one and three quarters inch clearance above the eyebrows.

Reigh Count can't be hammered down any lower than he is, but it seems safe to say that the result of the Preakness will serve to make the Hertz horse all the more a favorite when they call the derby field to the post.

Victorian proved himself a good colt with the heart to run through the stretch but it would have required a victory by a horse like Nassak, highly esteemed these many weeks, to affect Reigh Count's status to any great extent. A Nassak victory would have cemented Eastern sentiment in his favor. The triumph of Victorian nearly means that the issue among Reigh Count's so called contenders has been somewhat confused. What of Toro, for example? This horse might have won the Preakness with a better ride from Ambrose. They will drop his last price, which was 30 to 1, like a discredited relation. Sun Beau was held at 60 to 1 in the last list I got. He should be much shorter today in view of the fact that he ran on the outside throughout the Preakness and yet had something in the stretch. These horses may not go to the derby, of course, but the average mugg doesn't know that or he wouldn't be betting against the book.

Strolling Player didn't place, either, but he ran rather forwardly and may be ready to show that he is mastering American racing if and when he gets a chance at the longer distance. He had been cut to 12 to 1 in the books but probably will soar as high as twenty on yesterday's returns. Solace, in the money yesterday, unfortunately isn't entered in the derby. He was interfered with at the break but ran stoutly and showed a particularly good stretch run.

Nassak, it is said, was carried wide most of the way but the Sinclair horse was in a contending position when he folded up. I remember that Zev ran sixteenth in the Preakness and came back the next week to win the derby but the indications are that Nassak is no Zev. In fact, he left some doubt of his ability to go a route. As for Distraction, he showed no inclination to go too far. This pair was 10 to 1 for the derby yesterday morning. That price probably will more than double itself today.

Poisons Mother To Avoid Seeing Her Long Death Agony

BERLIN, May 11.—(INS)—Because he loved his mother too much to be able to witness her long death agony, Alfred Neukranz, 23, put poison into her drinking cup and made her end painless and quick. This was three years ago. Now the crime has been discovered and Neukranz has been charged with murder. He has confessed, but police have freed him without bail pending trial because they believed in the purity of his motives. The discovery was caused by Neukranz's conscience. Though no body asked any questions at the time of his mother's death the young man became melancholy and tried to kill himself. He was rescued, but his progressive melancholy, caused talk and popular interest soon centered his talk about the death of the mother. When the police heard about it and asked Neukranz he admitted all.

He told how one June night he sat up with his mother all night, trying to ease her pain, and how when toward dawn the pains came ever more violent he got up, poured a glass of water and put it into a glass of water and it to his mother to drink. She awoke relieved and did not awake

GOVERNMENT REGULATION OF PRICES

Number One

BRITISH RUBBER CONTROL

From the Monthly Bank Letter for May issued by The National City Bank of New York

THE system of control which the British Government has had in force in recent years over the marketings of rubber from its Asiatic Colonies, Ceylon and Malaya, will come to an end November 1, next, according to notice recently given by that Government. When the scheme went into effect these colonies were producing about 75 per cent of the world's new supplies, but production was in excess of consumption and the price was unremunerative. It was said that many of the plantations were operating at a loss and that extensive abandonment would result unless relief was afforded in some way. An attempt was made to obtain control action by the British and Dutch East Indies, but the Dutch authorities declined to join and the British authorities decided to go it alone. The plan of control was to regulate exports by the price of rubber in London, restricting them when the price was low and relaxing the restriction as the price advanced. The production of the two colonies was so large a proportion of the world's supply that this control was temporarily effective, but it had the serious disadvantage of the development of the industry at home and stimulating it in other countries. They were holding an umbrella for producers all over the world and under the necessity of reducing their own proportion of the supplies as production increased elsewhere. The British share of world supplies had fallen from 75 per cent to 50 per cent, with development continuing, the British Government some months ago appointed a committee to review the situation. Presumably, the report of this committee convinced the authorities that the restriction was not working advantageously to British interests, hence the announcement of abandonment. The price of rubber has declined to about 17 cents per pound, which is about where it was when the plan was inaugurated. The British industry has had several years of hectic prosperity, tempered in the last year by declining prices and reduced exports, but it is now back to where it was before, but with more competition in sight for the future, for which its own policy is largely responsible.

Coffee Control in Brazil

Brazil is a country of vast varied resources, but possesses such advantages for the production of coffee that the productive energies of the people have concentrated largely in that industry, with some of the undesirable results which are always seen in what is called a "one crop" region. The climatic conditions are similar over the area in which the bulk of the crop has been grown, and production and prices have been subject to great fluctuations. The Brazilian Government has been struggling for years with the problem of stabilizing the price. The country produces approximately 75 per cent of the world supply, and owing to differences in quality much of the coffee grown elsewhere is not directly competitive. The Brazilian plan of control, like the British plan for rubber, is by restriction upon marketings. The railroads are not permitted to bring coffee to the ports except as authorized by the Coffee Institute, which regulates offerings on the market and fixes prices. Warehouses are built at railroad points in the interior, where coffee is received and bills of lading issued against it, the shipments to be moved in the order in which they are received. The Federal Government and the several States in which coffee is produced have borrowed very large sums abroad for the purpose of making loans to the producers upon this coffee in storage, pending its movement. It is generally recognized even by the defenders of price regulation that some kind of control over production must accompany it, otherwise supplies will increase, and will find the same old level. In Brazil there is no direct restriction upon production, but it is obvious that if coffee accumulates in the warehouses and the date of removal becomes more and more remote, interest, storage and other carrying charges will become increasingly burdensome, and effect a gradual reduction of the net return to the producer. It is evident that a continued accumulation of coffee would eventually break down the system.

The Stimulus to Production

The present plan has not been operating long enough for results to show in production, inasmuch as coffee trees do not come into bearing until about five years old. Reports indicate considerable activity in planting, particularly in States where coffee culture has been on a small scale in the past. Last year the authorities of the Coffee Institute addressed a communication to the President of the State of Parana, where production has been increasing, inviting that State to join the Institute and put the coffee regulations into effect, urging the common interest in making the system effective. The President of the State of Parana replied politely, commending the policies of the Institute, but explaining that the State of Parana was just getting started in coffee business, and did not wish to discourage the development. He asked that they be excused for the present. The reply illustrates the fundamental difficulty in all attempts to control production and prices. The people who are established in a business are in favor of maintaining the status quo, but those who are just getting started want to be free to export. However, the State of Parana was afterward brought into the Institute along with other States in which production is increasing, and all of Brazil is now united upon the policy. Nevertheless, the new districts present a problem, because the young trees produce much more abundantly than the old ones and therefore at lower costs, hence there is danger that production will increase to such an extent that even though the price is sustained the restrictions upon marketing will make the returns unprofitable to the old plantations.

A Critical Year

Last year the coffee crop was very large, owing to favorable climatic conditions, and about harvest time the Government seems to have relaxed its control over the market perhaps to clear out old stocks. In any event, the price declined until it was down from the high level maintained in previous years. The price of "Santos 4," the brand coffee which has the largest sale in the United States, on the New York market touched 20 1/2 in November 1924, declined to 10 1/2 at the low point in May 1927, facing the harvest, and is now at about 22 1/2. These are considerable fluctuations for prices which are supposed to be stabilized, but undoubtedly the world has been much greater for the organized "defense."

The management of the Institute has been in capable hands, backed by all the resources of the Federal and State Governments, but it is doubtful if the Institute would have gotten through last year so successfully but for the fact that the latter part of the year's crop is more evident from the bloom of coffee trees that the following crop would be a short one. With coffee as with most of the fruit crops very large yield seems to exhaust the trees, so that the following crop is a smaller one. This is true of coffee crop now being harvested and the knowledge of this fact has been very helpful to the authorities in their undertaking to control it.

Notwithstanding this fortunate outcome, the lesson of Brazil's experience is the same that can learn from every such experiment. It is that an effective control over supply is essential to success in price regulation. Brazil has been in a position in coffee production scarcely equalled by that of any country in the case of another commodity. Big crops have been favored by small ones in a manner which has favored regulation, the warning production of the trees has offset much of the planting. Nevertheless, it is a fact that there is elsewhere a real price-lifting tends to increase production, and thus counteract own influence. Price-regulation requires complete control of industry by the regulating authority. Government regulation production involves practically surmountable difficulties.

YANKEES DEFEAT CLEVELAND WHEN GEHRIG HITS ONE

Heavy Slugger Knocks Homer With Bases Full Allowing Team To Finally Trample West's Strongest Outfit

NEW YORK, May 12.—(INS)—Philadelphia today appears to be the only team capable of stopping the New York Yankees from blasting their way to another American League Pennant. Cleveland, the West's strongest representative, could take only one of three games from the world's champions.

Timely home runs by Babe Ruth and Buster Gehrig, New York's mighty sluggers, ruined the Indians on successive days. Yesterday Gehrig smacked his fourth circuit clout of the season with the bases full and the Yankees finally conquered George Uhle, their pet nemeser, who was rushed to the mound from the bullpen in the ninth. Paschal's unexpected bunt in the ninth with two out tied the score and Meusel's double won the game in the tenth, 7 to 6.

Those amazing Athletics have copied thirteen of their last fourteen starts. Yesterday they kayoed Sam Gray, former Mackman who has been a perfect wow as a St. Louis pitcher, and took an 11 to 5 slugfest from the Browns. It was the A's sixth straight victory. In the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals have won five straight. Alexander the Great fanned nine men as the Cards nosed out the Phillies yesterday, 3 to 2. The Red Birds have been greatly strengthened by two trades made with the money days. They got George Harper, slugging New York outfielder, and Jimmy Wilson, crack Philadelphia catcher, in exchange for the injured Bob Farrell and a flock of Minor Leaguers. With pitchers Jones, Root, Carlson and Nehf in good shape the Cubs are likely to surprise the League-leading Giants in the series starting today. Yesterday Nehf, the world series hero of other years, who failed to make good with the Reds last season, held Brooklyn to five hits and won a 3 to 0 duel from the great Dazzy Vance. Hack Wilson walloped his fourth homer.

Southpaw Lucas, the red head of the Reds, blanked the Boston Braves by a 10 to 0 score. Washington finally trimmed Detroit 9 to 5 and the Red Sox regained seventh place from the White Sox when Todd's homer put Chicago on the short end of a 4 to 3 count.

The Giants and the Pirates did not play.

Eastern Crews Will Race For Childs Cup

PRINCETON, N. J., May 12.—(INS)—Princeton will defend the Childs Cup against Columbia and the University of Pennsylvania this afternoon in one of the classics of the Eastern rowing season.

The Tigers and the New Yorkers were equal favorites in the varsity race over the mile and three-quarters' course on Lake Carnegie. Princeton has a veteran eight that defeated M. I. T. in its first race of the season a fortnight ago. The Columbia crew, which won the intercollegiate championship last year, was beaten by Yale last Saturday and is without the services of Captain Alastair MacBain at No. 2.

Harvard, Cornell and Massachusetts Institute of Technology will compete in another regatta this afternoon at Cambridge, Mass.

Always... a square USED CAR deal from the Buick Dealer

The Buick dealer is in business to stay. His future reputation depends upon his treating used car buyers fairly.

He wants to please used car purchasers because he knows that satisfied used car customers are prospective new Buick buyers.

The man who buys a good used car—honestly represented—at a fair price—receives splendid value in transportation.

In his enthusiasm for the car he has bought, and the value he has received, it is only natural for him to look upon the dealer as his friend.

The Buick dealer has many such friends because he represents the true condition of the used cars he offers for sale.

And that is good business—for the Buick dealer, as well as the used car buyer.

It strikes us that in a three cornered race, Sidney J. Catts would have no chance and we for one would like to see his every chance eliminated.

Candidate Carlton mud many a vote in Dade county last week. We talked to a number of people who had never heard of him three or four months ago, say they were going to vote for him.

Senator Taylor Comes

Senator Taylor of Largo is coming to Sanford today. He will speak in the City Hall tonight at eight o'clock in behalf of his candidacy for the office of governor. Every citizen in this city should avail himself of the opportunity to hear him and to form some opinion relative to the strength and wisdom of his candidacy.

The Herald has a great deal of respect for the Largo candidate. We are not personally acquainted with him but we have watched his conduct in the state house and senate and in the business world of Pinellas county for several years and we are thoroughly convinced of his honesty, common sense, and sincerity of purpose.

We do not believe there is another candidate in the race who is as altruistic in his motives as Senator Taylor. We have long been of the opinion that he is running for the governorship for the sole reason of the good he can do to the state by giving it a sound practical administration. We cannot see where Senator Taylor will get anything out of it for himself.

Unfortunately, however, we believe his candidacy at this time is ill advised. He was prevented from announcing until a late date by having to wait for a ruling of the supreme court on his eligibility. He was in the same class with Dr. Mackenzie as having been a part of the legislature which raised the governor's salary. Dr. Mackenzie too was kept out of the race until too late to make a thorough campaign. Dr. Mackenzie withdrew.

We do not believe Senator Taylor's strength at the present time is any greater than Dr. Mackenzie's was when he withdrew. That the Largo man will continue to gain votes as long as he remains in the election, even up to election day, is almost indisputable. Everyone is favorably impressed by him and some will mark their ballot according to the dictates of such impressions. But we do not believe enough will do so to make the Senator a factor in this race.

Senator Taylor, in all probability, will not deny that there exists in the gubernatorial race two great issues. The first, and we believe the least important, is the road department issue, whether Dr. Hathaway has been extravagant in his management of road construction. The second and paramount issue of this campaign is the Catts menace. Senator Taylor has failed to identify himself with either of these issues.

He has an excellent platform, he is an excellent man, and the worst we can say for him is that he has no chance of election. It is perhaps regrettable that he has no place in this campaign.

About Deadbeats

Periods of depression more than anything else bring to the surface the real depths of a man. If a man is crooked at heart but hesitates to violate the conventions and fears the bars of the penitentiary, he may not steal, but he will, when income is low, allow his bills to go unpaid almost indefinitely.

Such persons are called "deadbeats" and the Lake County Citizen writes interestingly of them in a better way than we could: We reproduce in full what the Citizen says, as follows:

"Every person who has conducted a business in which the extending of credit is practiced must be impressed with the large number of people in the world who appear to be born deadbeats.

"There are a few in every community who make pretensions to business and social standing, yet were never known to pay a bill when it was due and seldom pay one at all, excepting as a result of hounding or legal action.

"Morally there is no difference between one who fails to pay a honest debt when he can pay it and one who robs a till or cracks a safe. In fact, if there be any decency in either it appears to be on the side of the common criminal, who at least does not abuse confidence and friendship.

"Credit bureaus are gradually making the path of the deadbeat a little more thorny, but he still flourishes to an extent that is a serious handicap to honest citizens."

HOME GROWN HATRED

COLUMBI'S ENQUIRER SUN

A nation so large, so populous, so varied in its interests as this one must inevitably produce numerous absurdities during the course of the calendar year; and for our own part, our brain cells sometimes grow weary of observing them and disdain to take note. But now and then occurs an absurdity so striking that it refuses to go unnoticed. And occasionally it occurs against a background so appropriate as to suggest that perhaps the absurdity was designed to reveal the absurdity in its fulness.

Such was the case the other day. Walter C. Mabie, national commander of the Sons of Union Veterans, is speaking. Mr. Mabie is discussing Mayor Jimmie Walker of New York and the four-year-old grandson of General Robert E. Lee—Mayor Walker, who has on various occasions displayed his friendliness toward the South. Says the vitriolic Mr. Mabie: "Why parade the grandson of an arch traitor on the street dressed in the uniform of his grandfather with the insignia of the dishonored Confederate States on the sword and sash?"

At the moment Mr. Mabie—son of a Union soldier and born long after the participants on both sides in the Civil War had beat their swords into plowshares—was reopening the campaign against the late Confederacy. New Yorkers were welcoming the crew of the ship Bremen. Of the crew were two Germans and one Irishman. Ten years ago this country was at war with Germany. All Germans were anathema to patriotic Americans. The two German aviators whom New Yorkers and the nation at large were tumultuously welcoming at the hour Mr. Mabie was shouting his fat-cry against the Confederacy would, had they set foot on these shores ten years ago, have been locked up as spies and probably have been shot.

Were New Yorkers—many of whom, by the way, are offspring of ex-Confederates—wrong in welcoming so enthusiastically our former enemies, wrong in refusing to bother their heads with the fact that, ten years ago, all Germans were Huns and the begotten of anti-Christ? And if not, then what about Mr. Mabie? How does Mr. Mabie, son of a Union soldier and waging verbal war against the ghosts of men who died in battle before he was born—how does Mr. Mabie, in the light of the demonstration over the Bremen crew, look to the naked eye?

As one to another, we should say that Mr. Mabie looks uncommonly like an ass.

SANFORD FORUM

Editor The Herald: We have often had occasion to admire the courageous attitude of your editorial columns, especially since courage though common to mortals, is rare in newspapers. Also, it has seemed to us that you have stood up under punishment manfully, and refused to use the great power of the press except in the interest of the public good—realizing that the management of a newspaper is in the nature of a public office—a public trust. The people of Florida are facing a very grave situation and two-thirds of them want to defeat Catts for governor, and yet they may easily fail in so doing.

ex-governor will be the "next" governor.

The writer has no interest in the personalities of the four anti-Catts candidates and they all probably are able and honest and make splendid governors, yet to a man on the side lines three of them appear more vulnerable than the fourth as a candidate in the present race.

Dr. Hathaway gives the impression of a big brainy man-of-accomplishments, but if left to make his own campaign would undoubtedly come out last.

He is simply not a vote-getter and he lacks the quality Elinor Glynn has made famous as "IT"; and even his undoubted ability backed by the support of powerful interests, a political machine, and many of the leading newspapers are unable to "put him over".

Senator Taylor would probably make as good a governor as any man in Florida and he is brainy, solid, sober, honest and far-seeing, but he would need a lot of campaigning to get his message to the people and his true worth recognized in all quarters.

Candidate James M. Carson at Tampa on May 11th is quoted by the Tampa Tribune as saying that "Hathaway will not run better than fourth, while Catts is rapidly losing his lead—that it is a toss-up between Carlton and himself." To the man on the side lines, Mr. Carson appears to be another good man gone wrong as a prophet and to the disinterested observer Mr. Carson will be ranking in about the position he gives Hathaway—fourth or fifth.

In the humble opinion of the writer, the only possible chance to beat ex-governor Catts in this fight, is a continuation of the great ground-swell that has set in for Doyle E. Carlton.

Mr. Carlton is developing tremendous strength all over the state. The writer doesn't know him and has never seen him, but sees his growing multitude of supporters in many counties, and is constrained to believe that Carlton is the lone hope of those citizens who are against Catts and all his conceptions and concatenations.

Yours sincerely, H. W. Houk. Talk honesty, decency, straight-shooting or public loyalty to a certain type of politician and he will agree with you grandiloquently put you patronizingly on the back, and then seal unguely of "practical politics" in such a tone as to imply that you are nice but naive and that fine talk made in public is impractical in private.—Jacksonville Journal.

Hemorrhoids, Gas and Indigestion

Woman 37 years of age suffering from hemorrhoids, gas and indigestion, came for treatment. She was very weak and nervous and troubled with insomnia. She had tried so many different doctors that she had almost given up hope of getting better. She was taking two or three cups of coffee a day to keep her bowels open.

After a thorough examination it was diagnosed that the trouble was in the gastro-intestinal tract. She had been eating devitalized foods, which had set up an acid condition, and resulted in constipation and hemorrhoids. Just as it does in most other cases, sooner or later. Seven weeks after beginning the treatment she gave her a thorough examination and found that the hemorrhoids that had troubled her so badly had gone, she had no more gas, her appetite was so ravenous that she was finding it hard to get enough food to satisfy, she was having good normal bowel movements, sleeping well and seemed to be in the best of health. Naturally she is very grateful for what has been done and is willing to tell anybody about her condition. Dr. J. C. Howell, 16 Years' practice in Orlando. Latest Lon Chaney Film To Be Shown At Milane Theater

"Substitute Emotions" are the acting secrets of the youngest heroine of the screen. Just as substitutes were obtained during the war for butter, sugar and other unobtainable commodities, so substitutes for the great emotions of life were devised for Loretta Young when she played Lon Chaney's heroine in "Laugh, Clown, Laugh," which comes to the Milane Theater today.

The sixteen-year-old girl, playing her first big role on the screen, had to depict emotions reaching the very depths of human experience. She had never known these emotions. So Herbert Brenon, the director, hit upon a method of substitution.

Where she had to portray the bitter grief of disillusionment, in her lover, Brenon had her think of the time her pet dog was killed by an auto—for that she understood and registered a reaction of sorrow which, on the screen, appears the desired one. Through-out the picture Brenon made clever suggestions for "substitute emotions" wherever the young actress seemed to be getting beyond her depth.

The new Herbert Brenon production is a vivid story of life behind the scenes of the theatre, with Lon Chaney playing the tragic clown, who makes a supreme sacrifice for the happiness of the woman he loves. Louis Harryman scored all the stage in the spoken version of the famous play.

Miss Young, the screen's newest Cinderella, plays the heroine and Nils Asther, famous for the juvenile lead in "Scott and Sully," Bernard Siegel, Cassy Fitz-Gerald, Gwen Lee, Wampas baby star of 1928, and many others of note are in the big supporting cast.

Mrs. Eldridge Gives Party For Her Club

Enjoyable in every way was the "spend the day" party given Thursday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Eldridge at Paola. The guests were the members of the old Circle number 3 of the First Methodist Church.

At the beginning of this year a new system for the circles was arranged, but members of Circle 3 who had worked with Mrs. Eldridge for so many years desired to re-assemble for a farewell meeting. The members of the circle and the host of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge regret very much that they are planning to leave soon for their old home at Richmond, Va. Their charming hospitality, reminiscent of the Old South, and their helpfulness in all worthy causes will be a distinct loss to our community.

At one o'clock a most beautiful as well as delicious dinner was spread. During the afternoon singing of old favorite hymns and pleasant conversation was enjoyed. Mrs. J. K. Mettlinger, organizer of the circle and the following ex-chairman were present: Mrs. W. S. Mrs. R. L. Sluhoiser, Mrs. W. E. Thornton, Mrs. Robert Torrence, Raines, and Mrs. C. C. McCrory. Circle members attending gave Mrs. Bobbie Williams, Mrs. Lola Lette, Mrs. J. M. Hayes, Mrs. T. W. Williams, Mrs. P. M. Elder, Mrs. J. D. Parker, Mrs. Marcus Tyre, Mrs. J. M. Moye, Mrs. Ann Adams, Mrs. J. E. Preston, Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Annie D. Mitchell, Miss Florenz Stevens of Americus, Ga., and Mrs. Robert Eldridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walsma of Haines City, are spending a few days here as the guests of Mrs. Harry B. Lewis at her home on Magnolia Avenue.

Master Munson Tibbals of Umattilla is spending several weeks here as the host of his aunt, Mrs. Fannie S. Munson and Mrs. Fannie Reba Munson.

Feds To Meet Colts This Afternoon In Final Game At Home Until Next Week

Orlando's Colts invade Sanford this afternoon for a single tussle at the local baseball park before the Celery Feds start on a week's tour that will carry them to Orlando and Daytona Beach. The first tilt away from home will be a double header at Orlando tomorrow afternoon. The Feds return to Sanford next Monday.

The Celery Feds are due for a win from Orlando this afternoon. So far the Colts have been too much for them, but the wild win they scored over the first place Sheriffs Saturday afternoon should start Saturday's game in the first heat them off today with a bang.

Sanford team has won at home this year. A riot of runs made up for a few losses as far as the fans were concerned. The Feds today are a single game ahead of the Colts in the standings. The Colts are next to the tailend Miami Hustlers.

A big crowd is expected to tax the seating capacity of the Municipal Athletic Field this afternoon. A motored of Orlando fans, with a fresh enthusiasm by the Colts win over the Hustlers Saturday, will be here to root for the team. Sanford fans are expected to turn out to see their team win another game.

After the final game with the Colts in Orlando Wednesday the Feds will move up to Daytona Beach for Thursday, Friday and Saturday. They will meet Daytona Beach here next Monday in a three game series.

Yankees Increase Lead In American League Race As Giants Drop Behind Reds

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service
Sports Editor

NEW YORK, May 14.—Comedy may be the motif of the American League situation, with the Yankees increasing their advantage of 136 per centage points at the end of last week to 142 at the beginning of this one, but to the clubs immediately involved, the National League race is about as comical as a hair lip. The Giants were comfortably behind the Reds, who moved into first place yesterday by winning from the hopeless Phils while the Giants were tossing off their second straight to the Cubs.

The entire National League became tighter than a tailor's hand clamp during the week as the result of a general balancing of values. The Cubs for example stopped losing to everyone and proceeded to win from all comers, beating the Giants and Dodgers out of six straight, gaining no less than 108 points in the percentage table and advancing from fifth to third place in the standing of the clubs. The Cards, meantime, also reeled off six in a row but were stopped yesterday by the Braves. However, they advanced all of 96 points in percentage and moved from sixth place to fourth. They were third yesterday but dropped back a half game behind the Cubs.

That's the kind of a mess-and-out they are sponsoring in the National League today. The Giants and Pirates each broke even in six games during the week but .500 baseball simply won't do even over a brief interval, with two of the remaining contenders coming like the first of the month and the other, Cincinnati, gaining 30 points on the week. The Cubs, Cards and Reds, were the only entries to do themselves any good for the seven days in question losing 98 points in the table and dropping from third to sixth place, where they belong.

By comparison, the American League has no more action than a table. The Athletics and Indians did manage to keep moving in the general direction of some place by winning four out of six and taking the lead in the race on the week. But the Yankees gained 14 and what are you going to do about a case like that? The answer will be found in Mr. Webster's rather interesting attempt to define the word nothing.

The White Sox, Cleveland and Detroit have come to the Yankee Stadium and have left the record of one game won in nine played. The Yankee's pitching may be a bit uncertain and the Indian pitchers did cramp their style to some extent but they always had the punch with men on.

So far, the Indians have looked the part of the best Western club, playing the Yankees tight down to the last out and then knocking off the Athletics for two straight after Mr. Mack's young and old men had won six in a row, and as a fitting tribute to Cleveland's pitching, it might be mentioned that the club averaged just a little more than three runs a game during the week.

Walter Hagen Begins Tour Of Old Country

PARIS, May 14.—(INS)—Walter Hagen, one of the particularly bright stars in America's golfing constellation, has had his ups and downs since coming to Europe last month, two downs and one up to be exact. But he apparently likes the old world, for he plans touring Berlin, Vienna, the Riviera and Ireland and indulging in exhibition matches between trains before returning to the United States for the National Open Championship in June.

After recouping his lost prestige by winning the British Open, "Sir Walter" came to the St. Cloud Country Club yesterday and was beaten by Audrey Bomer, the French open champion, 3 and 2.

Before a record gallery of 3,000 persons, Hagen flashed a rare mixture of brilliant and erratic golf. More than a half dozen times in the first eighteen holes, poor putting prevented him from having or winning holes almost in his grasp.

Auto Hours For Freshmen

George Uhle Of Cleveland And Herb Pennock, Yankee Pitcher, Set Fine Records

NEW YORK, May 14.—(INS)—George Uhle, pitching ace of the Cleveland Indians, and Herb Pennock, veteran southpaw of the New York Yankees, may win fifty games between them this year. With little more than a month of the season gone, each has turned in six triumphs.

Uhle is getting better every time he starts. Yesterday he held the Athletics to one hit. A double by Cochran in the second inning, blanked the Mackmen 2 to 0. Eddie Rommel yielded only five hits but was in a tough spot.

The Athletics who are now practically tied with Cleveland for second place, are four games behind the Yankees. Pennock stopped Detroit yesterday by a 7 to 2 score. The Yankees swept up the game in the first inning with a four run rally. Koenig got four hits and Babe Ruth three.

The Cub's eighth straight victory, a 6 to 5 triumph over New York set the Giants into second place. Sheriff Blake, who hasn't lost a game this season and is leading the "Leagues" pitchers, blanked the Giants after they had planned Guy Bush around for five runs in the third frame. Jackson's first two errors tipped the beans and his third spilled them completely.

The Reds eased into first place on the chin-strap, swamping the punchless Phillies 11 to 4. Callaghan, Cincinnati rookie got four hits.

Although touched for five runs in the fifth inning, Joe Greenweld of the Boston Braves beat St. Louis 6 to 5, and snapped the winning streak of the Cardinals. A homer and a double by Richbourg drove in four Boston runs.

With a revamped line up, the Brooklyn Robins ended their losing streak of five games by trouncing the Pirates 8 to 5. Gunk Hendrick, converted outfielder whose error gave the Pirates Saturday's game in Pittsburgh, lost his third base job to Henson who had not suited him at home playing second. Outfielder Stutz and second baseman Partridge, last year's regulars who have been warming the bench this season, were given another chance to make good.

The Washington Senators made sixteen hits in taking a 10 to 7 slugfest from the White Sox. The Browns and Red Sox did not play.

TRADE IS PENDING

NEW YORK, May 14.—(INS)—A Brooklyn-Pittsburgh trade involving Jess Petty, suspended Brooklyn southpaw, was reported to be hanging fire when the two clubs left here for Pittsburgh late yesterday. The Pirates are said to want Petty and a catcher in exchange for Carmen Hill, pitcher, Johnny Goech, catcher, and Joe Harris, substitute first baseman.

Oil Burning Boats Are More Popular Than Old Coal Type

LONDON, May 14.—Oil is beating coal in the battle for supremacy in shipbuilding, it is revealed by figures issued by Lloyd's great mercantile marine insurance concern.

For the past year the tonnage of motor shipping being built throughout the world has exceeded the tonnage of steamships, the figures show. At the moment the shipbuilding world is experiencing a boom in motor-driven vessels.

The first signs of the boom became noticeable in the quarterly returns for June of last year, when there was a preponderance of 93,000 in the motor tonnage. In the September quarter it had become 120,000 tons. Figures for the March quarter of this year show that oil is leading coal by 100,000 tons.

Coal To Stay

Experts, however, ridicule statements that in the next few years coal driven vessels will have ceased to be laid down. It is pointed out that the most important factor in the returns issued by Lloyd's is that in Great Britain, which still lends in shipbuilding, steam tonnage shows a tendency to increase its supremacy over motor tonnage.

The subject of oil versus coal has become an important controversy among shipbuilders here and in other parts of the world. Sir John Latta, one of the most experienced shipping men in England, disagrees emphatically from those who expect the rapid disappearance of coal from the seas.

"For higher speed," he said in an interview, "say above eleven knots, the Diesel engine is the best, but for speeds below eleven knots I have found that coal is the better. For slow speeds and rough cargo there is no sign that oil will displace coal."

Still In Dispute

"The Diesel engine has given some owners an incentive and in some ways an advantage in the transport of which they are not conscious when they buy a ship," said Sir John.

Number Two THE McNARY-HAUGEN BILL.

From the Monthly Book Letter by Walter Dill Scott

THE McNary-Haugen bill is for the control of domestic prices only, the excess of production over domestic consumption being exported at world prices. It would operate wholly at the expense of domestic consumers.

It is claimed for the McNary-Haugen bill that it is an exception to the general rule that price-lowering measures defeat their own purpose by stimulating production. It is said that the provision by which the excess over domestic consumption is to be sold abroad at world prices will serve as a penalty upon the excess, and will effectively discourage the farmers from producing an excess. It is affirmed that the producer will differentiate between the portion of a crop sold to domestic consumption at a profit and the portion sold to (or alleged) at a loss for export, and will naturally curtail the supply of the latter as cheaply as possible while producing a full supply of the former. In fact there would be no differentiation. All farm products would be sold in the same market as at present, without any attempt to distinguish between what is to be consumed at home and what is to be exported. The farmer never would know whether any part of a crop had been exported or not. He might understand that the price which he received was lower by reason of the fact that the export portion had brought down the average price received by the domestic marketing organization, but he knows now that the less the higher the price will be. If this knowledge does not influence his own policy now, there is no reason to think that increasing export prices ever will influence him, so long as the price he receives is high enough to induce production. The price to buy will determine his attitude, and this bill is intended to increase that price. If it does so, according to all experience it will tend to increase production, which means that prices and production will make their own adjustment under the law of supply and demand.

For a comprehensive discussion of the McNary-Haugen bill the reader is referred to "Farm Relief, a Brief on the McNary-Haugen Bill" by Professor James E. Boyle, of the New York State College of Agriculture, published by Doubleday-Page, New York.

considerable part of the higher price will be simply wasted in maintaining a costly organization.

Promises Illusory

The proposals of the McNary-Haugen bill afford no substantial promise of improvement for general conditions in agriculture. Although temporary gains might result for certain products, wheat for example, by reason of the high import duty made quickly effective, such benefits would not be equally distributed, and many farmers would be losers by them. Furthermore, the artificial price would tend to develop artificial conditions in agriculture, as did the abnormal prices of wartime, which are largely responsible for the post-war depression. While the debate has been going on, the agricultural colleges do not wish to increase the total production of agricultural products at so low a cost as is possible. All of our efforts are bent toward reducing these factors that enter into the cost of production of various agricultural commodities. If we produce more, while the price per acre is less, it means that the farmer gets the benefit of all the increased cost to the consumer.

Efficiency and Overproduction

The Department of Agriculture and clerics of Agriculture in nearly all of the States are constantly demonstrating to the rising generation how the yields of products per acre may be increased and cheapened, and the implement manufacturers are constantly increasing the effectiveness of man-power on the farms. All this is helpful to the farmer who is alert to adopt the new methods, but inevitably makes harder conditions for the farmer who keeps on farming with the practice of an earlier time. It is inevitable that improved methods and lower costs will tend to lower prices.

Appropos of the foregoing we give the following extracts from a recent paper by Professor C. I. Dowell, Dean and Director of the experimental station of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Oklahoma:

"Agricultural experiment stations and agricultural colleges in general are vitally interested in the farmer who says that the main purpose of experiment stations is to increase production. This is not true. Experiment stations and agricultural colleges do not wish to increase the total production of agricultural products at so low a cost as is possible. All of our efforts are bent toward reducing these factors that enter into the cost of production of various agricultural commodities. If we produce more, while the price per acre is less, it means that the farmer gets the benefit of all the increased cost to the consumer.

The exchange value of the various products and services offered on the market depends upon their relative scarcity or abundance, and this in the long run depends upon the distribution of the population in the occupations. It does not lie in the power of the Government to regulate the relations between the occupations, so long as freedom of individual choice and movement is allowed. No benefits that the Government can confer upon a particular group can permanently improve the position of that group unless outsiders are prevented from coming in and sharing them. The law of supply and demand as a system of control is naturally superior to the McNary-Haugen plan. Its workings are seen in the well known fact that any employment in which gratuities or special favors of any kind are customarily received is invariably one of low regular wages. A tax exempt security will sell on a lower interest basis.

Agriculture itself affords a striking illustration of this tendency. In its influence of rising farm values upon current farm earnings, rising land values have been the main factor causing population to swarm over every new area of public land opened for settlement, and the resulting increase in the production of the farm staples has depressed the prices of these products below what they would have been if current income had been the only inducement to land settlement. Moreover, there are advantages incident to farming which do not appear in regular farm income but which count in a final comparison between farming and other occupations. All of these factors have an influence upon production, which in turn has a direct influence upon the prices of farm products, and this familiar example affords a complete demonstration of the futility of such measures as the McNary-Haugen bill. There is no reason to doubt that if Congress should see fit to provide that every body engaged in agriculture should be pensioned at the age of 60, the number of farmers would increase until the aggregate income of all farmers, including the pensioners, was no greater than before.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 14.—(INS)—Echings sentiments expressed collectively by the Harvard-Crimson last Friday, an editorial in today's issue of Daily Princetonian expressed the hope that athletic relations will soon be resumed between Harvard and Princeton. The editorial stated in part:

"On the attitude of the two athletic associations we are not prepared to comment, but we, with the Crimson, hope for the day when Harvard and Princeton men can again renew old acquaintances in friendly athletic rivalry."
