

Longwood To Screen City Manager Hopefuls

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

"We've got to take the bull by the horns," declared Longwood Mayor Harvey Smeritson at a workshop Monday night as a communication problem with its ex-city attorney led the commissioners to decide to by-pass a screening committee and choose its own city administrator.

A workshop is scheduled for 7 p.m. Wednesday at city hall for the commissioners to begin narrowing the list of applicants for the position of city administrator. The commissioners were asked to review the 63 applications and each submit the names of persons they consider most qualified for the job.

The post left vacant for the past two months by the pressured resignation of David Chacey is being filled temporarily by Acting Administrator Greg Manning, the city's police chief.

At his last city commission meeting on Feb. 18, City Attorney Frank Kruppenbacher, who announced his resignation on Feb. 11, said the committee of which he is a member would screen applicants for the city administrator post and rank them according to qualifications by the March 11 commission meeting.

Since then, however, Smeritson said

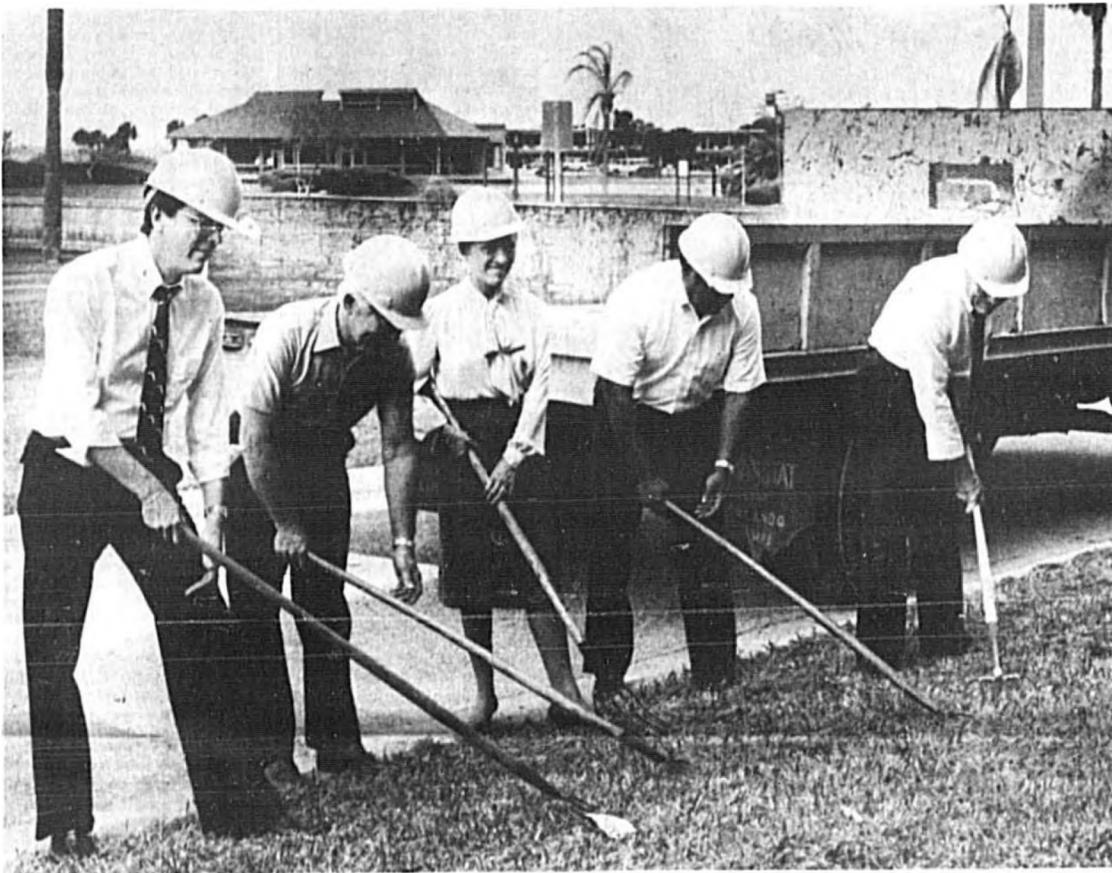

Kruppenbacher, who was supposed to be coordinating the committee's efforts, has not picked up the copies of the applications nor contacted acting City Administrator Greg Manning, also on the committee. The mayor said the city staff and members of the commission had been unable to reach Kruppenbacher by telephone and he has not returned their calls.

Kruppenbacher said today that he had been waiting for the city to send him the resumes so that the committee could review them. "Am I supposed to spend money driving out there to pick them up when they could put them in the mail?" he asked.

When told the commissioners had decided to screen the resumes themselves, Kruppenbacher had two words—"Good luck."

Others on the five-member committee are Paula Stewart, deputy controller for the city of Orlando; Jim Skaggs, associate superintendent of Employee Relations for Orange County School Board; and Dennis Kelly, Longboat Key city manager.

Smeritson said a second work session will probably be required before the list of hopefuls is narrowed down to the five finalists from which to select the new city administrator.

Pitching In

Sanford city commissioners try their hands with pitchforks as they work to clean up the lawn at city hall Monday as part of this month's city cleanup, paintup, fixup campaign. Left to right are: Commissioners David

Farr, Milton Smith, Mayor Bettye Smith, Robert Thomas and John Mercer. The commissioners plan to spend the entire day, March 30, doing manual labor in the cleanup drive. Everyone is encouraged to participate.

Encroaching Industry Irks Homeowners

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Fearful that the city of Sanford through annexation and rezoning is permitting creeping industrial zoning to spoil their rural residential neighborhood, North Lake Jessup homeowners have banded together to stop the movement.

And at a meeting of their homeowners association over the weekend with city and county officials as guests, the property owners explained their chagrin and asked for understanding.

Melanie Gilmartin, a spokesman for the group, said Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith and City Commissioner David Farr understood their opposition to any further rezoning in their area.

"We had such a good feeling walking away from the meeting," Mrs. Gilmartin said, adding Mrs. Smith and Farr and Seminole County Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff and Bob Sturm should be commended for taking their time on a Sunday to attend the meeting. She said there are 40 owner-members of the organization. Stanley Duffendach, 4400 Hallelujah Way, is president of the group.

Mrs. Gilmartin said the bad feelings between the homeowners and the city developed after the former city commission in December rezoned 19 acres of land off Pine Way from agricultural to industrial.

Farr said the meeting was a "beginning dialogue."

He said, "The property owners on Pine Way and Hallelujah Way are interested in protecting their life style and their homes. They wanted to let the officials know they have grouped together in a homeowners association and asked the mayor to attend their meeting. I went along with the mayor."

He said the group is ready to let the city commission know their concerns, made Mrs. Smith and him aware of the investment they have in their homes and what their desires are.

"They are doing it right, trying to get themselves educated and informed," Farr said.

Mrs. Smith, meanwhile, called the meeting pleasant, congenial and informative.

"They wanted us to be aware and we are," she said. "We will look carefully at any changes there."

Sturm said the homeowners' primary concerns are present or future industrial encroachment by Sanford into their agricultural and residential community.

Sturm said in the county's comprehensive land use plan, the North Lake Jessup community is planned as agricultural-residential. "And the county has no plans in the making to change it, but property owners can always request a land use change."

During hearings on the rezoning in September before the city's planning and zoning commission and in December before the city commission, attorney William C. Hutchison, representing himself and other owners of the 19-acre parcel off Pine Way, said he didn't know what would be developed on the property. He said one can't spend the thousands of dollars required for engineering a parcel for development until the proper zoning is in hand.

Hutchison, pointing to his past city service of 17 years as city attorney, said he makes sure when he is asking for a change in zoning that it is best for the community as a whole. "It would not be in the best interests of the owner to develop the tract into something trashy," he

Sanford's Finances In Good Shape: Auditor

The city of Sanford is in good financial condition, "but that could be run into the ground real fast" if the city begins spending reserves, Auditor Harold Hartsock warned in his annual report to the city.

Explaining page by page, the 30-page audit of municipal finances (for fiscal 1983-84, Hartsock said the city's monetary affairs were handled so well, it was not necessary for him to include "a qualified opinion."

Auditors generally qualify the soundness of a city's finances in an audit to criticize how city funds have been handled or to make recommendations on how financial accounting should be changed or improved.

The audit showed the city during the fiscal year spent some $690,000 to rehabilitate city wells at the Mayfair Country Clubs after their contamination by the pesticide EBD (ethylene dibromide).

Hartsock also said that the police and firefighters pension plans are sound. Other city employees are covered under the Florida Retirement plan.

Abortion Fails Court Order

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — A woman had an abortion over the weekend despite a court order won by her former fiancé.

The unidentified 24-year-old woman, of Booneville, had the abortion at a Planned Parenthood clinic Saturday, at least two hours after her mother was served with the court order, said Dick Woods, president of the Fathers' Rights Association.

Charles Buel, 21, won a temporary restraining order from a Dallas County district court Friday to stop his former girlfriend who was 13 weeks pregnant from having an abortion.

When he heard the abortion had taken place Buel "was very broken up," Woods said, "but he hopes his case will encourage other fathers."

Surplus Food Distribution Set

Surplus food commodities will be distributed Thursday, Friday and Saturday to the disadvantaged in Seminole County.

Recipients in the Sanford area will pick up their commodities at the county agricultural center, 4320 S. Orlando Drive, Sanford on Saturday, rather than Wednesday, the usual distribution day, said Jenny Penny, manager of the Seminole Service Center of the Central Florida Chapter of the American Red Cross.

She emphasized that recipients must go to the distribution centers for their specific zip codes.

Food will be distributed Thursday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Altamonte Community Chapel, 825 state Road 436 in Altamonte Springs, in residents of Altamonte Springs (32701), Casselberry (32707), Winter Springs (32708), Forest City (32714), Fern Park (32730), Goldenrod (32733) and Longwood (32750) and to those living in Seminole County, but whose mailing address is Apopka (32703), Maitland (32751) or Winter Park (32792).

Friday: from 10 a.m. to noon at the Baptist Church on Lake Mills Drive in Chuluota for residents of Geneva (32732), Oviedo (32765) and Chuluota (32766).

Saturday: from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the county agricultural center, for residents of Lake Mary (32746), Lake Monroe (32747), Sanford (32771) and the Springs (32779).

Mrs. Penny asks recipients to bring proof of identification as well as the eligibility card given to them at the time of enrollment in the Red Cross' surplus food program. Those persons who have not enrolled but who believe they are

Security Tightens Around Blackmun After Shooting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A bullet blasted through a window of Justice Harry Blackmun's home, showering his wife with glass and smashing into a chair moments after the author of the Supreme Court's ruling on abortion had left the room.

Blackmun, 76, said in a statement Monday that one 9mm bullet had been fired through the window of his Arlington, Va., high-rise apartment.

No one was injured. The incident apparently is the only time a justice has ever been shot at, the Supreme Court Historical Society said. No justice has been assassinated.

FBI spokesman Lane Bonner said the agency is investigating the shooting with local police.

Blackmun and his wife, Dorothy, were in the living room of their apartment shortly before 11 p.m. Thursday. He had just walked out of the room when the shot was fired.

Mrs. Blackmun, who was described as "quite upset," was showered with glass. A source said the bullet punched a hole in the window "the size of an apple or orange."

Bonner said the bullet was found embedded in a chair.

Blackmun appeared on the bench

Monday morning while opinions were released. His secretary, Wanda Martinson, said Blackmun was at work later Monday in his library.

Blackmun, author of the 1973 landmark ruling legalizing a woman's right to an abortion, has been the target of numerous threatening letters.

Security around Blackmun has tightened since the shooting. He is under near constant protection and no longer even touches his mail, sources close to him said.

Sources said he received last week a typewritten letter bearing a New York postmark in which the writer threatened to blow Blackmun's brains out and said he would attend the justice's funeral "and laugh."

A similar letter was sent to an unnamed congressman, and CBS reported Monday night a threatening letter from Buffalo, N.Y., was mailed to a second unidentified Supreme Court justice.

Another FBI spokesman, Bill Baker, said the agency has not established a connection between the shooting that the letter Blackmun

Packed Pistol Message

NEW YORK (UPI) — An unidentified man mailed Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis a loaded pistol and 40 extra bullets, along with a letter asking her to support him for president, police said today.

Police said the loaded .38-caliber Smith and Wesson revolver arrived Monday afternoon at the Park Avenue address in Manhattan, where Onassis works as an editor at the Doubleday publishing company.

Officer Anthony Vellelong, a police spokesman, said the package also contained 40 extra rounds of ammunition. Police said Onassis did not see it because her secretary opened the box.

The parcel came from an unidentified man and contained a note asking Onassis to "support (him) in the presidential election in 1988," Vellelong said, adding that the package had a Los Angeles postmark.

Police said the letter to Onassis, who was married to the late President John F. Kennedy, was not threatening.

NATION IN BRIEF

Getting Lead Out Of Gas Will Push The Price Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Production costs are likely to go up under the new government orders to cut gasoline lead content by 90 percent, but neither the administration nor the industry is predicting the future of retail prices.

Lee Thomas, administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, ordered the two-step reduction in lead content of gasoline Monday, saying the action is needed because "lead in the environment is still a major public health problem."

Under the new regulations, the first reduction in gasoline lead content will take effect July 1, when no more than 0.5 grams of lead will be permitted in each gallon of gasoline. Current standards allow 1.1 grams per gallon.

Lead content must be reduced further to 0.1 grams per gallon by Jan. 1, 1986.

Thomas estimated the administration's move will increase gasoline production costs by 2 cents a gallon, but he said he could not forecast the likely effect on retail gasoline prices.

Elevated levels of lead in the blood are blamed for a variety of health problems, including behavior disorders, anemia, mental retardation and permanent nerve damage.

Who's Liable For Poisoning?

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A $5 billion industrial safety suit has asbestos firms and their insurance companies grappling over who is liable for lung damage suffered by generations of asbestos workers.

A Superior Court judge Monday began hearing testimony in the effort by five manufacturers to place the liability on insurance companies for as many as 35,000 unsettled workers' claims.

The manufacturers, including Johns-Manville — once the nation's largest asbestos manufacturer — are suing 65 insurance firms, charging they are liable for lung damage and cancer suffered by workers going back before World War II. The suit also seeks $5 billion in punitive damages.

Workers and health experts have long held that exposure to asbestos, a fire retardant, can lead to cancer or "asbestosis," severe lung damage.

More than 100 lawyers are involved in the case and a school auditorium was remodeled at the cost of $200,000 to accommodate the lawyers and other participants of the case.

Teachers Defy Strike Ban

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Teachers in Jackson, Mississippi's largest school district vote today whether to join a court-defying strike that has already spread to 31 school districts and idled 93,000 students.

The strike by the nation's lowest paid teachers continued for the seventh day despite an extended restraining order by an angry judge who said he wished he had the National Guard at his disposal.

So far, 5,143 teachers have walked off their jobs to demand higher pay. The teachers, who average $15,971 a year, are demanding a $3,500 raise in each of the next two years.

Hinds County Chancery Judge Paul Alexander said he would decide next Tuesday whether teachers are subject to state anti-strike laws and rule on a request by Attorney General Ed Pittman to order the teachers back to work.

Israel Blamed For Bombing; Moslem Leaders Call Strike

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Moslem leaders called for a general strike today to protest a bomb blast that killed at least 12 people in southern Lebanon and blamed Israel for planting the explosive.

The bombing Monday at a religious center in Maarakeh, a Shiite village 8 miles east of Tyre, came a day after Israel launched the second phase of its three-stage military withdrawal from southern Lebanon.

The explosion tore through the second floor of a two-story building housing a mosque, killing at least 12 people and wounding 25 others, said U.N. spokesman Timor Gokael. Civil defense officials said 65 people were injured.

Minister for Southern Lebanon Nabih Berri, also leader of the Shiite Amal militia, blamed Israel for the blast, saying Israeli troops planted the bomb during a weekend raid on the village.

Quake Death Toll Up To 135

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Soldiers cleared away rubble today to search for more victims of the nation's worst earthquake in 25 years that left at least 135 people dead, nearly 2,000 injured and more than 152,000 homeless.

Thousands of Chileans were sleeping in the streets, afraid that aftershocks would topple buildings and crush anyone inside.

Small-to-medium tremors shook central Chile at a rate of two per minute Monday.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Tens of thousands of Midwest homes lacked power and Michigan's Silverdome lacked a roof today in the wake of a wintry storm that piled 30 inches of snow on the Plains before glazing the Northeast with snow, rain and sleet. The storm Monday night blanketed northeastern New York and northern New England with 10 inches of snow while pelting the coast with rain. Up to 30 inches of snow was on the ground in South Dakota, where the Sioux Falls airport and 100 miles of Interstate 90 remained closed early today. Monday's storm shut down schools in South Dakota, Minnesota, Illinois and Michigan and closed airports in Detroit and Minneapolis. Three deaths were blamed on the storm, one each in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois. Great Lakes winds gusting to 80 mph today combined with 2 feet of snow on the ground to create "near blizzard" conditions that closed roads in Michigan's upper peninsula, police said. About 13,000 homes were without power in the lower peninsula.

AREA FORECAST: Today partly cloudy and mild. High in the low to mid 80s. Wind southeast 10 mph. Tonight variable cloudiness with a slight chance of showers. Low near 60. Light wind. Rain chance 20 percent. Wednesday partly cloudy and a little cooler. High mid 70s to near 80. Wind northeast 15 mph.

BOATING FORECAST: St. Augustine to Jupiter Inlet out 50 miles — Southeast wind 10 to 15 knots today and tonight becoming northeast and increasing to 20 knots on Wednesday. Sea 2 to 4 feet increasing Wednesday. A few showers north part tonight otherwise partly cloudy.

'Insider' Pleads In Stock Fraud

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The man who at one time ran the Pentagon's day-to-day operations and a Dallas stockbroker have pleaded guilty to charges concerning "insider" stock trading that brought in $2.5 million in illegal profits.

Former Deputy Defense Secretary Paul Thayer and Bill Bob Harris entered guilty pleas in U.S. District Court Monday to felony charges of obstructing justice and giving false testimony.

Both men each face up to five years in prison and $5,000 fines. Sentencing was set for April 18.

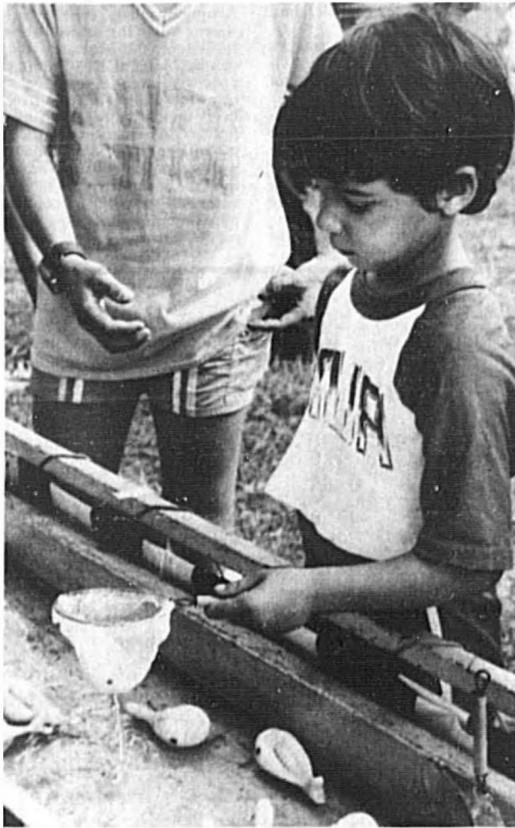

Thayer, 65, was in charge of all the day-to-day operations at the Pentagon as the deputy defense chief. He served in that job for a year, resigning Jan. 12, 1984 when the allegations of "insider" trading first arose.

Thayer and Harris were accused of lying to Securities and Exchange Commission investigators looking into tips Thayer gave Harris on pending actions by corporations that could influence stock prices.

The tips, prosecutors said, were shared with others, including women who had "close personal" relationships with the men.

The SEC began investigating Thayer and Harris in February 1983 and both gave sworn testimony to the agency. U.S. Attorney Joseph DiGenova said the men "obstructed the SEC's investigation by giving false testimony."

Assistant U.S. Attorney Charles Roistacher said Thayer made no direct profits off the tips but because he was "basically the only source of support" of Sandra Ryno of Dallas, with whom he had a "private personal relationship," any money she used to buy stock came from him.

ACLU: Miranda Ruling To Invite Police Abuse

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Civil Liberties Union says a Supreme Court decision fine-tuning the Miranda rule is an "invitation" to police to avoid proper procedures while making an arrest.

The justices, voting 6-3, ruled Monday that police deserve a second chance to advise a suspect of his rights and obtain a confession after bungling the first.

The decision overruled the Oregon Court of Appeals, which had thrown out the burglary conviction of Michael James Elstad on the grounds his confession was improperly introduced as evidence at his trial.

The 1966 Miranda decision requires officers to tell suspects of their right to be silent, to have an attorney and to avoid self-incrimination.

The high court said Elstad's second confession was legitimate, even though he did not know his first admission of guilt could not be used by police because they had failed to advise him of his rights.

ACLU spokesman Burt Neuborne said the court was "unwittingly" chiseling into the Miranda protection.

"What's particularly dangerous about the opinion is it creates an invitation to the police to extract — to get as much as they can — without giving a Miranda warning and then say, 'Very sorry, forgot to give you a Miranda warning.'"

"Having tricked you the first time, they give the Miranda warning and take the statement again," Neuborne said.

But William Summers of the International Association of Chiefs of Police said, "I don't believe it's going to have that effect."

The percentage of Miranda violations will continue to be minuscule, Summers said. "Miranda has been around long enough that everybody knows it."

Writing for the court, Justice Sandra Day O'Connor said "neither the general goal of deterring improper police conduct nor the Fifth Amendment goal of assuring trustworthy evidence would be served by suppression" of confessions like Elstad's.

Police first questioned Elstad about a burglary at a neighbor's house on Dec. 17, 1981. Before the officers had placed Elstad under arrest or advised him of his rights, he admitted, "I was there."

The state did not try to introduce Elstad's initial confession at his trial, but did present a subsequent confession obtained by police after they had properly advised him of his rights.

Justice John Paul Stevens, in a dissenting opinion, said the court's ruling, while creating a "narrowly confined exception" to the Miranda rule, was inconsistent with prior decisions.

He said the decision "denigrates the importance of one of the core constitutional rights that has protected every American citizen from the kind of tyranny that has flourished in other societies."

In other action Monday, the court:

— In a case from New Hampshire, held 8-1 that a state may not prevent lawyers living outside its borders from practicing law in its courts.

Burglar 'Wraps Up' Victim, Makes Off With $200

A burglar threw a towel over the head of a 34-year-old Longwood woman and forced her forehead into her bathroom sink and commode and then fled with $200 from her purse.

According to a Seminole County sheriff's report, Deborah Elaine Shenk of 2006 St. Andrews St. confronted an intruder in her upstairs bedroom at about 12:30 p.m. Monday.

The pair struggled and the man scratched Ms. Shenk's chest, the report said. He then wrapped her head in a towel and forced her down into the sink and toilet. She threw a glass at him, the report said, and the man took $200 from her purse and fled.

Ms. Shenk did not require medical treatment, sheriff's spokesman John Spolski said. He said the intruder apparently did not attempt to sexually assault Ms. Shenk.

GUNMEN & PAL JAILED

Three Tennessee men were being held in the Seminole County jail, two on weapons charges and one arrested on warrants. They were nabbed by Altamonte Springs police after a man who gave them a ride reported they offered to sell him guns.

George Welsh of Orlando, reported to police he picked up the hitchhikers and drove them to McDonald's, state Road 436, Altamonte Springs, at about 7:30 a.m. Saturday. During the trip the men offered to sell him guns, the report said. Welsh never saw the weapons, but after he dropped the trio off he called police, a police report said.

Altamonte Springs police were dispatched to the restaurant and spotted the suspects. Two were each carrying single .22-caliber handguns and the other was wanted on charges of trespass and battery, a police report said.

Charged with carrying a concealed weapon were Victor Donnel Turner, 25, of Nashville, and Bryan Patrick Hewitt, 20, of Memphis. Both were being held in lieu of $5,000 bond each.

After a computer check, arrested on two warrants was Charles Larry Kelly Jr., 27, of Memphis. He was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

AGENTS NAB POT SELLER

A 33-year-old Winter Park man has been charged with sale, cultivation and possession of marijuana after he reportedly sold a small quantity of the drug to an informant working with lawmen.

Seminole County drug task force agents reported the informant bought $30 worth of marijuana from the man at his home on Feb. 15. Agents recorded the serial numbers of the bills the informant used in the deal, a sheriff's report said.

Sheriff's deputies entered the suspect's home Saturday with a search warrant. Marijuana, drug paraphernalia and the recorded bills were found along with $120 more in cash, a sheriff's report said.

Joseph Andrew White, 33, of 3217 Coleus Court, was arrested at his home at 11:20 p.m.

Saturday. He was released on $5,000 bond and is scheduled to appear in court March 18.

BRIGHT LIGHT DRUG FIND

Longwood police reported charging a Longwood man with possession of cocaine and drug paraphernalia after being attracted to the suspect because he didn't dim the lights of his car after he was signaled to.

Police first noticed the vehicle on county Road 427 and followed it to Dogtrack Road, where the man was confronted. He had no driver's license and was arrested on that charge and for failure to dim his headlights, a police report said.

The man started to walk away from police and was stopped and searched. Lawmen reported finding a small plastic bag of what tests showed to be cocaine, a spoon, matches and a syringe on the man.

Drug charges were added. Stephen Joseph Ligac, 31, of 274 E. Bay Ave. was arrested at 1:48 a.m. Sunday. He was released on $5,000 bond and is scheduled to appear in court March 18.

DROPPED DRUG

Longwood police responded to a disturbance call at the Seminole-Orlando Kennel Club, Dogtrack Road, and reported charging a man with possession of less than 20 grams of pot after they reportedly saw him drop a small bag of what appeared to be marijuana on the ground as they approached him.

Rickie Williams, 27, of Eatonville, was arrested in the club parking lot at 4:36 p.m. Saturday. He was also charged with resisting arrest without violence. Williams was being held in lieu of $500 bond.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

Charles LaMantia, 73, of 510 Lake Kathryn Circle, Casselberry, reported to deputies his pocket was picked. He reported his wallet containing $120 and other items were taken around noon Saturday at Flea World, U.S. Highway 17-92, south of Sanford.

Kenneth L. Small of Newark, Ohio, reported to deputies $840 in travelers checks were stolen from his car while the vehicle was parked at the Seminole Golf Club, 1750 E.E. Williamson Road, Longwood, around noon Saturday.

DUI ARRESTS

The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—William B. Pearson, of 1141 Landmark Lane, Casselberry, was arrested at 8:40 p.m. Friday after his car failed to maintain a single lane on state Road 434, Seminole County.

—James Dean, 33, of 3301 Sanford Ave., Sanford, at 8:18 p.m. Sunday, after his car was involved in an accident on state Road 46, Sanford. He was also charged with careless driving.

—Barbara Anne Berber, 30, of Ocala, at 6:53 p.m. Saturday, after her car was seen weaving and hitting the curb of U.S. Highway 17-92, in Seminole County.

—Curtis M. Holmer, 31, of Chesterfield, Mo., Saturday after his car ran off the roadway of Old Chuluota Road, Chuluota, and became stuck.

—Tyler Lincoln Hughes, 19, 1621 Stanley St., Longwood, at 3:26 a.m. Saturday, after his speeding car ran a red light on county Road 427 at state Road 434, Longwood.

—Michael Lawrence Beltzer, 18, of Orlando, at 7:38 p.m. Saturday, on state Road 419, Oviedo, after his car failed to maintain a single lane.

Sunshine Connection Helps Young Mothers

Evening Herald, Sanford, Fl. Tuesday, March 3, 1983-3A

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Concerned volunteers who want to do something positive to prevent child abuse in Seminole County are making the Sunshine Connection. A new perinatal support program for first-time mothers 25 and under, Sunshine Connection is housed at the South Seminole Community Hospital, state Road 434, Longwood.

The first-time mothers with whom the volunteers are working on a one-to-one basis are young married women and unwed teenagers. They are assigned to the program by doctors and the Seminole County Health Department, or they may contact Sunshine Connection directly for assistance, according to Jean Livesay, volunteer with the sponsoring group, Ursula Sunshine Child Abuse Prevention, Inc.

The goal of the Sunshine Connection is to prevent child abuse by giving the young women counseling and emotional support during this traumatic time. This support cuts the amount of stress which often leads to abuse and neglect.

The prospective mothers are referred to the program in the early stages of pregnancy and stay in it until the baby is six months old. At that point they can go into programs offered by the Seminole County Mental Health Association.

"The volunteers will offer assistance for various needs by providing a sympathetic ear, answering questions about their pregnancy, or referring them to the proper agencies for such things as financial aid," Ms. Livesay said.

"Sometimes the girls cannot even turn to their families for help. When they learn their daughter is pregnant some parents refuse to have any more to do with her."

Charlotte Markham, Sunshine Connection program coordinator, said "We had 50 prospective volunteers at our first orientation, but of course not everyone will join the program. Most have, but we need more, both men and women. We have already had referrals of several girls and expect the number to reach 150 by December. For volunteers who do not care to work directly on a one-to-one basis with the mothers, or in some cases the young fathers, there are other areas where we use their help."

Men may apply as volunteers to give emotional support to young fathers and mothers.

Before the volunteers are permitted to work with the young women in the program, their applications will be carefully screened and they will be interviewed. Volunteers are required to take 30 hours training, but they can be assigned to a mother after 10 hours and can complete the course at their convenience. Sessions are available in either the morning, afternoon or evening. Part of the training is in-service when the mothers and volunteers attend peer group discussions, according to Ms. Markham.

The program was sparked by the tragic abuse and consequent death of 5-year-old Ursula Sunshine Assaid at the hands of Donald McDougall, boyfriend of her mother, Susan Assaid, while living in Altamonte Springs in September 1982.

In an effort to prevent such abuse from happening to other children, Melanie Arrington, a south Seminole County resident, contributed $50 to open a memorial fund in the dead child's name at Barnett Bank in October 1983.

"It was such a tragedy," said Ms. Arrington, "but we are trying to make something right out of the wrong by trying to prevent it from happening to other children."

Since then, she said, some $4,000 has been donated to the fund. The 12-member board of directors was chartered by the state under Ursula Sunshine Child Abuse Prevention, Inc.

The Sunshine Connection is spin-off program of the fund. The board bid successfully with the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services for the funds to set up the perinatal program and was awarded a grant of $10,200 in mid-December to provide funding for seven months. It hopes to reapply at the end of that period for closer to $15,000 to operate for another year.

This money covers only the coordinator's salary and a few incidental expenses, but not enough for rent, telephone and utilities, so the group welcomed the donation of office space at South Seminole Community Hospital, Ms. Arrington said. There has been a delay in getting the funds until a federal employer number was obtained, which has now been done.

The Sunshine Connection services are free to the young mothers. So far the youngest girl in the program is 13 years old, Ms. Livesay said.

If the situation is such that the mother can't care for her child, adoption may be one of the alternatives or suggestions recommended, but the final decision is up to the girl, she explained.

Young girls often think of their baby-to-be as a doll to love and dress up and will love them back without regard to the many responsibilities involved in full-time care and difficulties in raising a child by herself.

However, in real life babies dirty their diapers, get sick or hungry and cry a lot. Caring for the baby restricts the teenagers social life and there is no one to turn to, that's when anger and frustration set in and may lead to neglect and abuse.

Through the Sunshine Connection, Ursula Sunshine Child Abuse Prevention hopes volunteers will be able to help eliminate these problems through education and advice.

Ms. Markham said donations of maternity clothing, baby clothing, household items, baby beds and carseats are needed for the "Mother's Store" for the young mothers to buy at garage sale prices. Also needed are donations of books on pregnancy, nutrition, or child care as resources for the mothers.

The ultimate goal of the group is to raise $116,000 during its first year of operation to set up a crisis nursery at a medical facility in Seminole County, where children can be cared for when they are abused by their parents or parents can bring them when they feel a stressful situation may be about to trigger such abuse. The parents would receive counseling and referral to the appropriate social agencies depending on their problems. There is currently no such resource here.

The 1980's Bank ShakeUp: How's It Going To Shake Out?

In five years of deregulation, we've seen more changes in the American financial system than in all the other years put together.

Today, banks offer discounts on commissions when you trade stocks and bonds. Stock brokers offer services that seem like bank accounts.

S&Ls no longer have their legal "1/4% edge" in interest rates. On the other hand, they can offer more kinds of loans.

Even department stores and insurance companies can get in the act. Now, most places are going to "wait and see" before they make a move; but, at NCNB, we're not.

We'll keep working to deliver the best possible service. It may not always mean the lowest price, but we'll work to see that it means the best value. For example:

More For Less.

Lots of places offer you money market rates, but only one offers them along with other bank services at special rates or no charge.

We call it Deluxe Banking, and we've made it easier to get.

Now you can qualify by depositing just $1000; keep a $15,000 balance and there's no charge.

High Rates For More People.

Maybe you've thought about investing in Certificates, but you haven't wanted to commit a $2500 lump sum. Now you can invest in any certificate we offer with a minimum deposit of only $1000.

Until this year, you've had to deposit $2500 in an account to earn money market rates. Now, on personal accounts, we've cut our minimum deposit to just $1000.

More IRA Flexibility.

A lot of people like the IRA idea, but would like more control over their investment situation.

That's what our new Investor Option IRA is all about. It lets you combine fixed-rate certificates, a money market account, stocks, and bonds—whatever works for you. So come in and let's talk it over.

More Retirement Benefits.

If you're retired with pension and/or Social Security payments, have them deposited direct with us. We'll give you free regular checking, free personalized wallet checks, a free 24-hour banking card and a free 2x5 safe deposit box for a year.

NCNB Extra Checking; some places offer some of these things, some offer others, but no place that we know of offers all of them.

A Changing Neighborhood.

What you see here is just the beginning. We'll keep working on better ways to handle your money.

So, if you're not sure where your bank, broker or S&L is shaking out, come see us.

This year, next year, and long after the dust has settled in the shakeup of 1985, we'll still be here working harder than ever to be the best bank in the neighborhood.

Revolt Of The Taxpayer

There was a taxpayer revolt at the start of this year, and it succeeded in part. It was not a revolution against the money, but against the process.

You may have been involved in the thing yourself or you may have noticed it in the news. It boiled up because of new Internal Revenue Service requirements for logging the use of private vehicles for tax-deduction purposes.

Farmers were the most obvious and all-purpose victims of a new record-keeping system so massive that it got in the way of doing the job. In many situations it took more time to do the daily paperwork of logging every single move than the useful work involved in the moves themselves. At first, farmers were obliged to log every trip to the barn, every trip from the barn, every move about the farm separately.

Salesmen also were victims. Salesmen, as with some others using cars necessarily on the job, use the car time to think and prepare for the task immediately ahead. The logging interruption and vexation break one's concentration on such jobs.

In short, it was an incredible bureaucratic intrusion interfering with important tasks where the bureaucratic methods are totally foreign and terribly inefficient.

When these regulations hit all kinds of businesses and their employees, a scream went up from California to Maine, and congressmen from every district found themselves buried in mail. Now the rules have been modified.

The IRS folks, however, were not the bad guys. Congress mandated a system to crack down on the tax-free use of automobiles. They felt sure there has been cheating on the use of cars for "business travel" being used for both business and personal tasks.

Congress is not really the bad guy either, although good intentions are not enough. Congress wanted to cure that cheating. But by now it ought to understand the inefficiency, expense and unfairness of instituting systems that abuse everybody as a means of dealing with only a portion of offenders.

The easy answer in Washington for any problem seems to be to impose some special duty on everybody to get at the few. We are all forced to pay in personal freedom and aggravation for the misdeeds of a comparative few whenever this is done.

This is not the only time when what seems practical for Congress is, in fact, a staggering task dumped on millions of people, amounting to millions of wasted man-hours and intrusion into the busy lives of millions who are not really involved in the thing they're after.

For them it's practical. For us, it isn't. Congress means well. It does the same thing with benefits, too. Often it is easier to legislate a much broader benefit to meet a need-problem than is involved in the actual need.

(This also is tempting politically because people who don't need it still enjoy a break or a hand-out. It didn't hurt at the polls.) The problem is built into government, itself, even more than it is politically.

Government only knows one way to function, and that does not include the exercise of discretion and judgment. It means rules, regulations and records to be administered across the board without variance.

BERRY'S WORLD

Jobless Rate Remains Threat To GOP

WASHINGTON — Despite continued high unemployment, President Reagan's Council of Economic Advisers barely mentioned the worsening jobless rate in the economic report that it issued in early February.

That set off tremors of apprehension among some of Reagan's supply-side allies in Congress, who fear that the No. 1 priority of his successful first term — reducing the jobless rate — has been relegated to the back burner by the White House high command.

Letting up on the jobs issue to concentrate on the president's budget and defense initiatives spells not only economic trouble for the administration, but deep political problems for Republicans in 1986.

With the likely prospect that Congress will cut the fiscal 1986 deficit substantially, GOP lawmakers fully realize that they will have to bear the brunt of outrage from angry special interests whose programs will be cut. But they also know that the most effective political antidote to protect them from being defeated at the polls is a sharply reduced unemployment rate amid continued economic growth.

Reagan's State of the Union speech dealt with economic growth issues to spur further business expansion and job creation. However, his tough rhetoric has not calmed jittery supporters.

Such insecurities are being openly voiced by "opportunity society" House Republicans like James Courter of New Jersey. Courter says that Reagan's chief second-term goal must be "to bring the unemployment rate down well below 5 percent. It is imperative that economic growth be the first priority of our economic policy."

Courter's fears are well-founded. Unemployment has been rising since November, when it stood at 7.1 percent. January's 7.4 percent rate puts the jobless rate virtually where it was when Reagan took office in January 1981.

To regain the moral high ground and push the jobs issue to the top of the legislative agenda, Courter and other supply-siders are urging the administration to launch a major offensive in support of a legislative "jobs" package of economic-growth initiatives.

As presently crafted by Courter, Rep. Jack Kemp of New York and other supply-siders, the package includes these three components:

1. Enterprise-zones legislation to give special tax incentives to anyone investing, hiring, working and beginning new businesses in depressed urban areas.

A complete tax overhaul that combines the best features of the Democratic Bradley-Gephardt Fair Tax plan, the Republican Kemp-Kasten Fair and Simple Tax proposal and the Treasury plan.

By removing 1.5 million working-poor families from the federal income-tax rolls by doubling the exemptions, by lowering the top personal tax rate to 25 percent and by further reducing the capital gains tax, Congress can encourage work, promote savings and trigger new investments and business formations.

3. Federal Reserve Board reform to ease wild fluctuations in the money supply, stabilize the value of the dollar and further reduce interest rates.

One more feature must be in this package: a reduced minimum wage to open up summer jobs for 17-to-21-year-olds — especially in our inner cities, where unemployment among minority youths is more than three times the national rate.

ROBERT WALTERS

Farmers And The Dollar

WASHINGTON (NEA) — "I'm selling wheat today for less than I did five years ago — but buyers in other countries now must pay more for it than ever before," says Farnam, Neb., rancher-farmer Tom Vickers. "It can't go on like this."

Vickers holds a relatively modest political position — he's a member of Nebraska's state legislature — but he understands far more about the impact of global economics on domestic agriculture than does the country's leading elected official.

When President Reagan was asked about the plight of the nation's rural residents at his February news conference, he insisted that "the farm problem is the result of things that have been done in the past."

"A lot of it has to do with the runaway inflation, the double-digit inflation that we had in the past," proclaimed the president, apparently oblivious to the devastating impact of the overvalued dollar on agricultural exports.

When one journalist suggested that the strong dollar — a result of the massive federal budget deficits during Reagan's tenure — might be the leading cause of other nations' inability to purchase this country's farm crops, the president rejected the idea.

"The problem with the dollar today," explained Reagan, "is that our trading partners in Europe have not caught up with us in their economic recovery."

Unfortunately for the president, his stylized version of contemporary economics does not comport with reality in the global marketplace.

Agricultural exports were valued at $4.8 billion in 1970 but soared until they peaked at $43.8 billion in 1981. They dropped sharply to $36.6 billion in 1982, declined to $36.1 billion in 1983 and recovered only slightly to $37.8 billion last year.

The fundamental problem faced by the nation's farmers is that they have become too efficient. In a typical year, they produce 400 million to 500 million bushels of excess wheat and about 1.2 billion bushels of excess corn — even after accounting for domestic consumption and export sales.

To relieve the economic pressure caused by overproduction, half of all crops and one-third of all feed grains must go into international commerce.

The most rapidly growing export market for grains and oilseeds has been the less-developed countries — but those are precisely the nations whose ability to buy has been most severely restricted by the depressed value of their currencies in relation to the dollar.

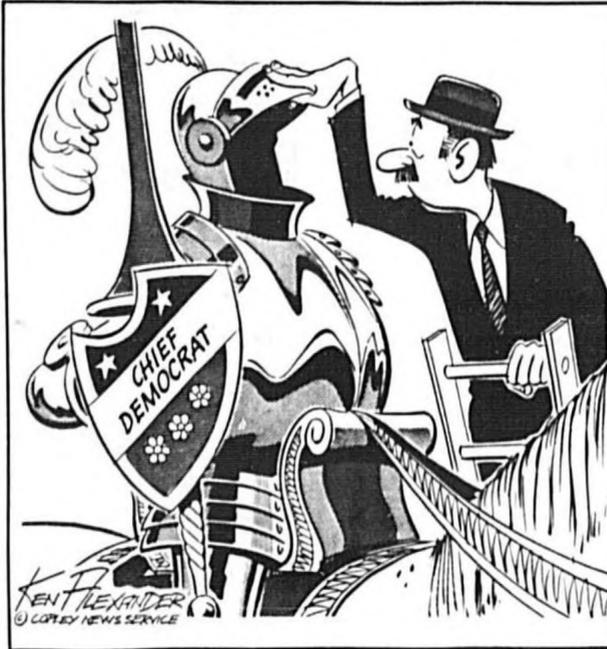

JACK ANDERSON

Senators Decry 'Secret' Arms Pact

WASHINGTON — In a diplomatically worded letter hand-delivered to the White House, three conservative Republican senators have all but accused President Reagan of lying when he led Congress and the American people to believe he was holding the Soviets to the terms of the unratified SALT II treaty.

In previous columns, I have reported that the Reagan administration made a secret deal with the Soviets in September 1981, assuring them that SALT II would not be ratified and that therefore the treaty's limitations on long-range missiles and bombers was no longer operative.

In June 1982, the administration apparently tried to reinstate some of the treaty provisions — though not the numerical limit on strategic weapons — and got the Soviets to agree to a "political commitment"

JEFFREY HART

A Dream Dies

The great dream flowing out of the 19th century is dead, and it is fitting that it died most spectacularly in France where it was born. It has died throughout the rest of the advanced world as well — in England, in Scandinavia, in Spain, though it still flickers in Greece. It is dead in Germany, Holland, Belgium.

The great dream was socialism, the belief that the centralization of power plus rational planning would lead to the good society. The communist countries took the road of hard socialism, the program enforced by police and concentration camps. The European democracies took the softer road, "social democracy," the advanced egalitarian welfare state.

During the past two years, the soft version has died in Francois Mitterand's France, where the dream was born in revolution in 1789. It has died in a lethal collision with reality.

If France was the appropriate country, Francois Mitterand was the appropriate leader, virtually the ideal of European socialist man. Mitterand is bright, humane, literary, complex. He is known as "the Florentine" for his ability to maneuver politically. If anyone could make the thing work, it would be Mitterand.

He came to power in May 1981 — a few months after Ronald Reagan — with an agenda of 110 social reforms, a collection that represented a distillation of socialist thought. These reforms were largely implemented, and they left France horrified and bewildered.

Major industries and most banks were immediately nationalized. The planners believed that this would result in a quick economic expansion which would finance their larger socialist plans. The nationalized banks denied loans to the private sector, but poured funds into idealistic socialist projects. The French franc collapsed on the world market and had to be devalued.

The crippled private sector, further punished by strikes, laid off thousands of workers and young people entering the job market failed to find jobs. The Mitterand government responded with make-work, non-productive projects.

With a falling economy and a plunging franc, the socialist utopia ran afoul of its old enemy, the Catholic Church. France's schools are 80 percent public, the rest Catholic. On the socialist agenda was a "unified" school system under government auspices. After three years of negotiations, French citizens took to the streets, filling the boulevards and parks of major cities and finally conducting in Paris the largest peaceful demonstration since World War II: three million people marched. Mitterand shelved the whole project.

Under the pressure of reality, the socialist Mitterand has been forced to execute a political U-turn. Under "soft" socialism, people still have the vote, and you cannot send dissenters and surplus labor to the Gulag.

DON GRAFF

Shame On Shultz

George Shultz ought to be ashamed of himself.

He's the cool head in administration inner councils, the steady hand at the foreign policy wheel, the one supposed to see reality as it is — shades of gray rather than an ideological black vs. white.

So perhaps the most dismaying aspect of the escalating disinformation campaign on Nicaragua is the high-profile participation of the secretary of state.

That escalation got its biggest boost at the president's Feb. 21 press conference. Pressed by several correspondents on his objective in Nicaragua, he acknowledged that it is the removal of those now in power there.

There was much subsequent comment that this was the first time he had not justified the pressure on the Sandinistas as being necessary to halt arms supplies to the Salvadoran rebels.

But why the fuss? It has long been perfectly clear that the Salvadoran connection is peripheral to Ronald Reagan's beef with the Sandinistas. His problem has always been the Sandinistas themselves.

He was making this clear before he was elected. Even before he was nominated in 1980, he was calling for the return of the government to "the people" of Nicaragua.

Who he had in mind as "the people" was not so clear, however. Most observers at the time — even in the U.S. Embassy in Managua — generally agreed that the Sandinistas enjoyed widespread public support. In power barely a year, their revolutionary junta still represented a broad political spectrum.

Those in opposition were mostly former Somoza guard members and political cronies — the former hiding out in the Honduran jungle, the latter opening bank accounts in Miami. Scarcely the "freedom fighters" the president now extols.

The president says Congress is resisting him on Nicaragua because it does not understand the situation.

He is the one who does not understand — especially not what history teaches are the consequences of American intervention such as he now acknowledges is his objective in Nicaragua. From the last time around in that country, when the 1920-30s Marine occupation spawned the Somoza dynasty, to Guatemala in 1954 and Chile in 1973, it has only made bad situations much, much worse.

He ought to be told. But if not by cool, steady George Shultz, who?

Mona Changes Her Mind — New Conference: SAC?

A lady has a right to change her mind, doesn't she? Well, Sanford's Mona Benton is changing her mind.

Mona, the best basketball player in Seminole High's history, said Monday night that she has not yet decided on which college she will continue her basketball career.

A month ago, the Seminole High senior said she would attend Florida Junior College in Jacksonville. She made a verbal commitment to FJC recruiter Ken Patrick after visiting the school. Since then, the 5-7 guard has had second thoughts.

"I haven't signed anything and I'm not sure where I'm going," said Benton, considered one of the top 16 players in the state. "I'm still waiting on some offers. I like Stetson, Central Florida and Stetson but I'm not ruling out the junior colleges either."

Mona said she is still interested in Florida Junior and Seminole.

Benton's coach, Ron Merthie, said he would like to see her go to a four-year school. "We didn't put all that work in over the past four years for her to go to a junior college," said Merthie. "Arkansas and Alabama are interested in her and she can play that level of basketball. That's where she should go."

Patrick, whose daughter Tracy played for FJC coach Linda Worth while she was coaching at Valdosta State, said he thought the junior college route was the best one for Mona.

"I think the best place for Mona is a junior college," he said. "She can be a major college player but she has to work on a few things first. Junior college is the best place for her next year."

SCC coach Heana Gallagher didn't jump into the debate but did say, "We have some sneakers for Mona here. We'd love to have her. She would work real well with Tammy Johnson. We'd have the best two guards in the state." Benton said she will make a decision by April 1.

Lake Brantley dedicated its baseball facility Monday night and it is a beauty to behold. A few years ago, the field had quite a slope to it. I remember one game where a kid made a diving catch in left center and disappeared. The umpire found him, though, ball intact. Last year, a few of the Patriots dedicated parents leveled the field and now it's among the best in the state. It's neat and clean and the grass looks great. The fans sit above the playing surface which gives it a major-league atmosphere.

"We had a great group of people who did a wonderful job on it," said Lake Brantley Principal Darwin Boothe Monday night. Boothe saluted Richard Coffey, Earl "The Pearl" Beatty, Clayton Garrison, Ron Bass, George Smith and Tom Salmon for their efforts. Benny Arnold, assistant superintendent for facilities and transportation, was also on hand for the festivities.

Boothe, who is one of the driving forces behind the new Seminole County Conference, said there was an amicable parting between the county and the rest of the Five Star Conference members.

"They (the Volusia County schools) said they would like to keep the Five Star and its logo going, which was fine with us," said Boothe.

Boothe said he expects the new conference to start taking shape by the middle of the month. "We're discussing a name right now," he said. "We'd like something that would look nice in a headline. Maybe something like SAC (Seminole Athletic Conference)."

Jerry Green, whose son Randy is a slugger on the Patriot junior varsity, was quick to point out that the varsity's victory Saturday was not the first since 1979 over Apopka. Jerry should know, his other son, Billy, hurled the Patriots to a victory in 1982 at Apopka.

"One of the best games I've ever seen pitched," said Ron Bass. "We had a 3-0 lead going into the seventh and the Apopka fans were trying to drive our players crazy."

They almost did as the Pats survived a couple of defensive lapses for the 3-2 victory over the Blue Darters.

Smith Stops 'Noles

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

ALTA MONTE SPRINGS — Tim Smith, Lake Brantley's stylish southpaw, knows about tough luck. In his three previous outings, he had performed well enough to be 3-0. Instead, he was 1-2.

So when Seminole's James Hersey turned in a sparkling effort for six innings at Lake Brantley Monday night, Smith wasn't about to feel any sympathy for his mound opponent.

He didn't have time. He was too busy disseminating nine hits while hurling the Patriots to a 1-0 Five Star Conference victory over the Tribe. The victory keeps the Pats tied with Lake Mary for the conference lead with 4-0 records.

"Our defense has had lapses every now and then," said Smith about his occasional non-support. "But the further we go, the better they have done. They did a good job tonight."

Smith, 2-2, didn't have many lapses either. He used an sharp-breaking curveball to effectively extract himself from several minor jams. "I was through too many fastballs early in the game," said the left-handed junior. "I tried to work inside more later in the game. It worked, they were swinging at them."

The whitewash was Smith's second varsity shutout and the fourth loss in a row for 4-6 Sanford. The Tribe is 0-4 in the conference. Smith picked up his first blanking last year against Trinity Prep.

"Chalk up another one for the cardiac arrest kids," said Lake Brantley coach Gary Smith about the Pats' ninth win in 12 games. "Tim is really a competitor. He may not throw that hard but he comes in there with that curveball when it counts."

Hersey, meanwhile, mowed down the Patriots in order until he walked No. 9 hitter Smith with two outs in the third. A nice scoop on a low throw by first baseman Tony Cox averted any further danger and retired the side.

The Seminoles had an opportunity to break the deadlock in the fourth when Hersey lined a two-out single to center. On a hit-and-run, Roy Jensen, who had three hits, looped a single to center and Hersey raced to third just ahead of Mike Beams' strong throw. Dexter Franklin followed with a topper past the mound on which shortstop Andy Dunn charged and tossed him out to end the threat.

Lake Brantley's run came in the fourth. Brad Dunn walked but was picked off first, one of three for Hersey. Dunn, however, kicked the ball out of Gary Derr's glove and made it to second. Mark Coffey then looked at four wide ones to put runners at first and second. Hersey then struck out Beams for the first out but a passed ball moved the runners to second and third.

Coach Smith then flashed the suicide squeeze sign with Mike Davis at the plate. The hard-hitting catcher couldn't handle the high pitch and catcher Jensen threw the ball to third baseman Franklin who made a diving tag to retire the quickly retreating Dunn for the second out.

Mikki Eby takes a vicious cut against Lake Howell. Hawks nipped Oviedo, 1-0.

Harris Hurls Red-Hot Rams Past Faltering Sand Crabs

Rob Laris
Special to the Herald

Monday afternoon's matchup between homesteading Lake Mary and Daytona Beach Seabreeze illustrated exactly why the Rams, now 7-1 and 4-0 in Five Star Conference play, are streaking. It also showed why the Sandcrabs, still searching for their first win at 0-7, are faltering.

Lake Mary scored two runs in the first, pounded out six in the second inning, then added two more runs in the fourth frame to coast past Seabreeze, 10-0, in a game halted by the five-inning, 10-run rule.

Junior righthander Neal Harris was the beneficiary of the hard-hitting, as he yielded just three hits en route to picking up his first win of the young season.

Wednesday against conference foe Spruce Creek, the Rams will look to continue their winning ways in a home game that begins at 3:30 p.m. Anthony Laszaic is the pitcher tentatively scheduled to work.

"I felt a little nervous, but then I settled down," Harris said about his first start of the year. "I just tried to throw strikes and use my fastball, curve and slider."

Harris' teammates allowed him to relax, giving him an early 2-0 cushion. Second baseman Shane Letterio led off the bottom of the first with a walk. Laszaic, playing shortstop, followed with what looked to be a sure double-play ball, but on the relay to first base the ball got by Stan Tavanese, putting Laszaic on first with one out.

Hard-hitting outfielder Scott Underwood then singled, moving Laszaic to third. Cleanup hitter Mike Schmit wasted little time doing his job, as he lined the first pitch to centerfield for a hit, scoring Laszaic. Attempting the throw Underwood out at third, centerfielder Ken Connell instead fired the ball into his dugout, bringing Underwood home for a 2-0 Ram lead.

After Harris, who struck out four, retired the side in order, the Rams offense exploded for a six-run inning that blew the game open. Kevin Hill flied out to deep left and Ron Natherson walked, then leftfielder Brett Molle doubled, putting runners on second and third. A walk to Letterio loaded the bases for Laszaic who doubled in Natherson and Molle, making it 4-0. Underwood grounded out, but Schmit again delivered, drilling a single to rightcenter field, scoring Letterio and Laszaic. Rod Metz followed with a double, bringing home Schmit, and Ryan Lisle singled to bring home Metz.

The Rams added insurance in the fourth as Schmit and Metz scored again.

Meanwhile, Harris encountered little trouble. In the fourth inning he did give up two singles to Connell and Rob Dytkowk after getting the first batter out. However, he recovered to leave Connell at third.

"We're on a high right now," said Metz, who has five hits in his last three games. "The last couple of games we've really been psyched."

"Lately, I've been on a streak too. I've been hitting extra, and it's helped. I've been pleased."

Head Coach Allen Tuttle also has reason to smile as he readies his club for Wednesday's game — everyone played and another starting pitcher came through with a strong performance.

"It looks like we've got four or five pitchers who can do the job, that's good," he stated. "We're looking for another good game on Wednesday and Saturday against Apopka."

Lake Howell Slips Oviedo

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

CASSELBERRY — Christy Tibbitts pitched no-hit ball for four innings and Jennifer Wallace drove in the only run with a sacrifice fly in the second as Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks slipped by Oviedo's Lady Lions, 1-0, in prep softball action Monday at Red Bug Park.

Lake Howell evened its record at 2-2 with the win while Oviedo now stands at 3-2.

Oviedo managed just two hits in the game, which lasted all of 59 minutes, as Tibbitts was backed by a strong defense keyed by second baseman Sandy Gilles. Lake Howell had nine hits off Jodie Switzer but could push across just one run as Oviedo made some clutch defensive plays to stay in the game.

"It was a good game defensively for both teams," Oviedo coach Jackie Miller said. "Mikki Eby (in left field) made some excellent catches that saved a couple doubles."

Lake Howell loaded the bases with one out in the top of the first but couldn't come away with a run. After Tibbitts shut down Oviedo in the bottom of the frame the Lady Hawks broke on top in the top of the second.

Alicia Dinkelacker stroked a single to lead off and Beth Saunders followed with a base hit. Saunders was out at second when Erin Hankins hit into a fielder's choice which sent Dinkelacker to third. Wallace then delivered the run with a long fly to right that scored Dinkelacker without a throw from the outfield.

Oviedo's biggest threat came in the bottom of the fifth. With one out, Fran Foster's fly ball to Eileen Thiebauth in left was dropped for a two-base error and Caroline Chavis followed with a single to put runners on first and third.

"That's only the second error I can remember Eileen (Thiebauth) making the last two years," Lake Howell coach Jo Luciano said.

Still with one out, Dee Dee Beasley hit a grounder to Gilles who tagged Chavis going to second and relayed to first for an inning-ending double play.

"Gilles made a nice play," Luciano said. "She (Foster) would have scored if we didn't get the double play."

Back to back errors in the bottom of the sixth inning enabled Oviedo to put together another threat but it was turned away when Teri Coe lined out to Hankins at third and Williams flied out to Thiebauth to end the inning.

"We never hit the ball on the ground except for three times," Miller said.

Oviedo got its leadoff hitter on in the bottom of the seventh as Jessica Bradley singled but Jaudon Jonas then made a pair of outstanding catches in short field for the first and second out. Thiebauth, who was moved to right field, put away the final as she caught Chavis' fly ball. "Chavis likes to hit to right so I moved Eileen (Thiebauth)."

Lake Howell opens Five Star Conference play Thursday at home against Lyman while Oviedo hosts Colonial Wednesday and goes to Lake Mary Thursday. Lake Howell's junior varsity hosts Lake Mary Wednesday.

BRANTLEY BATTERS EVANS
ORLANDO — After managing just three hits in a 1-0 loss to

Softball

Boone this past Thursday, Lake Brantley rapped out 17 hits Monday en route to a 14-1 thrashing of Evans' Lady Trojans at Evans High.

"The kids didn't need to play a team like that (Evans)," Lake Brantley assistant Debbie Frank said. "But they needed know that they can hit."

The Lady Patriots capitalized on three straight errors by the third baseman to score five runs in the top of the first. With one out, and Wendy Jeffers on first, the third sacker booted Holly Hagaman's grounder to put runners on second and third. Jeffers scored when the third baseman did the same to Mandy Mathieson's grounder and both Hagaman and Mathieson scored when the third baseman couldn't handle Michelle Brown's grounder.

Brown scored the fourth run of the frame on Kim Robinson's single and Heather Meyer, who had singled to send Brown to third, also came around to score when Evans' outfield played hot potato with the ball.

Lake Brantley added two runs in the third on an RBI double by Brown and Kim Robinson's sacrifice fly. The Lady Patriots rallied for three more with two outs in the fourth on RBI singles by Brown and Meyer along with an Evans error.

Lake Brantley put the finishing touches on with four more runs in the top of the seventh. Evans ruined Lake Brantley's shutout with one run in the bottom of the seventh. The Women of Troy managed just three hits off a pair of Lake Brantley pitchers, Robinson and Michelle Robitaille.

Brown led the Brantley hit parade Monday as she went 3 for 4 with three RBIs. Meyer also went 3 for 4 while Mathieson, Nikki Burke, and Wendy Jeffers had two hits each.

Lake Brantley, 1-1, goes up against Lyman Wednesday at Lyman in the Five Star Conference opener for both teams.

WARRIORS POUND LYMAN

West Orange's Lady Warriors pounded out 21 hits Monday en route to a 11-3 victory over Lyman's Lady Greyhounds in prep softball action at Lyman High.

Lyman, 0-1, opens Five Star Conference play Wednesday as it hosts Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots. West Orange improved to 4-1 with the win.

The two teams battled to a scoreless tie after the first two innings but West Orange broke on top with three runs in the top of the third. Lyman came back to tie it with two runs in the bottom of the fourth and one more in the fifth.

In the fourth, Lyman picked up its runs on consecutive doubles by Denise Stevens, Lori Helms and Gwen LaDuke. In the fifth, Mary Ryan singled, Riane Richardson and Kristie Kaiser walked to load the bases and Stevens drove Ryan in with a sacrifice fly to left.

West Orange came back with five runs in the top of the sixth and sealed the victory with three more in the top of the seventh. Terry Hawkins, Lisa Blair and Susan Campbell had four hits each for the Lady Warriors.

Wallflower Lehigh Gets Trip To Big NCAA Dance

United Press International
Who would figure a wallflower like Lehigh getting invited to the dance?

Mike Polaha's jump shot with eight seconds remaining in overtime Monday lifted Lehigh to a 76-74 victory over Bucknell for the East Coast Conference championship and an automatic berth in the NCAA Tournament.

With a 12-18 record, Lehigh will probably be the only sub-500 team waltzing into the tournament.

"There are 270 some odd teams in the NCAA and only 64 are going to the dance (the NCAA tournament) — we are one of them," said Lehigh coach Tom Schneider, whose team finished sixth in the ECC during the regular season. "We are very proud to be there."

Polaha earned the tournament's most valuable player award. The sophomore guard scored 17 points in the championship game and had a three-game total of 62 points.

In addition, Lehigh's freshman forward Daren Queenan scored 31 points and had 12 rebounds in the final game and a 71-point total for the three-day tournament.

"The championship games are funny," said Schneider. "You never know what's going to happen. We had to wake up and realize what we had to do to win."

"If you're playing up to your potential, you can be there at the end like we were."

Bucknell, the ECC regular-season champion, finished its season with a 19-10 record. Last year, Bucknell lost the ECC tournament championship in overtime to Rider.

Iona and Fairleigh Dickinson also gained automatic bids to the NCAA Tournament. At East Rutherford, N.J., Arnie Russell hit two free throws to break a 54-54 tie with 1:01 remaining and Troy Truesdale added another with three seconds left to lift Iona to a 57-54 victory over Fordham in the championship of the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference tournament.

This marks the second straight NCAA bid for the Gaels, but last year they received an at-large bid because the MAAC champion wasn't granted an automatic spot until this season. "I'm glad we were the ones who got to drink the champagne," said Iona coach Pat Kennedy. "It's an incredible thrill to get the NCAA bid two years in a row. We are very excited."

Elsewhere Monday night, Dirk Koopman scored 16 points and grabbed 8 rebounds to lift New Hampshire to a 53-47 triumph over Colgate in the opener of the ECAC-North Atlantic Conference tournament.

GEORGETOWN BACK ON TOP
NEW YORK (UPI) — Georgetown, demonstrating the superior form which brought it a national championship last year, Tuesday recaptured the No. 1 ranking it lost to St. John's five weeks ago in the latest poll of the UPI Board of Coaches.

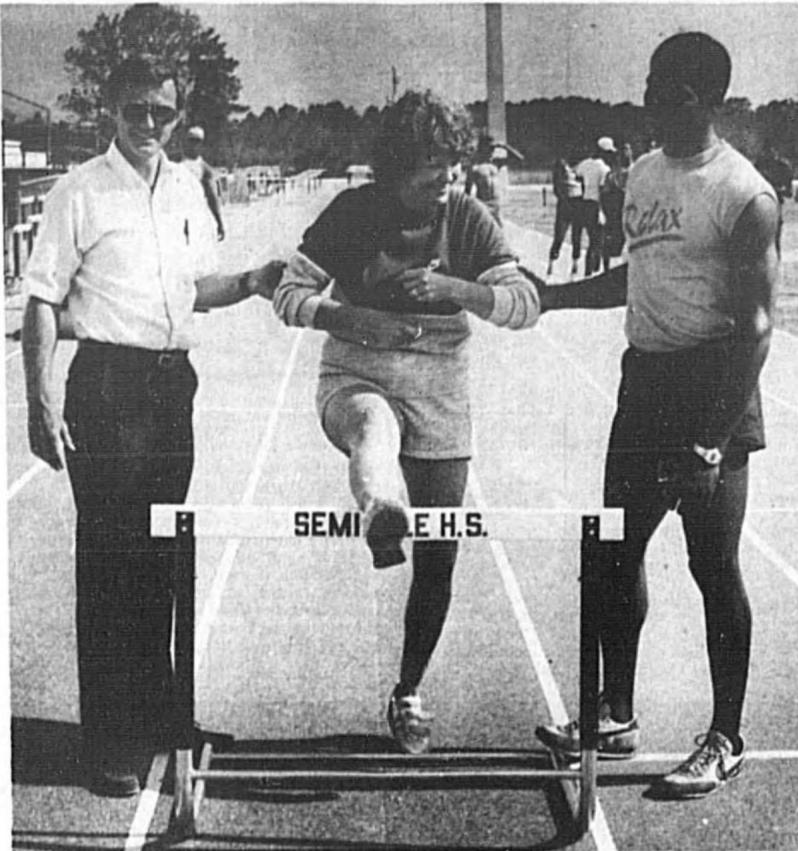

The Hoyas received 35 of 38 first-place votes cast while accumulating 565 points. St. John's, which fell to No. 2, collected two first-place votes and totaled 511 points.

Four coaches did not participate in the balloting.

Michigan, which has already clinched the Big Ten title, held the No. 3 spot for the second straight week and Memphis State, which collected the other first place vote, remained at No. 4.

Georgetown, which had held the top ranking for the first nine weeks of the season, destroyed St. John's in a return match last Wednesday at Madison Square Garden, 85-69, to regain the No. 1 spot. The Hoyas dominated the game from the start, harrassing the Redmen with their patented press. When St. John's settled downcourt, All-America center Patrick Ewing was there to deny the Redmen.

After disposing of St. John's, Georgetown ended its regular season at 27-2 Sunday with a brutalizing 90-63 victory over Syracuse. The back-to-back triumphs over the Big East foes avenged the Hoyas' only two losses of the season. St. John's topped Georgetown 66-65 Jan. 26 and Syracuse knocked off the Hoyas two nights later 65-63.

A Helpful Hurdle

Seminole track coach Ken Brauman, left, and Frank Barnett help Seminole Booster Club President Rose Furell over one of the new hurdles the boosters have supplied for the track team. The Fighting Seminoles can take a positive step toward a state championship with a victory over Orlando powers, Evans and Oak Ridge, in a tri-match tonight at Seminole High's track. "Evans and Oak Ridge may have a little more depth than we do," said Brauman, who won two state titles while at Palatka. "But we have more quality." In addition to senior Barnett, a national-class hurdler, Seminole has the state's top 440 dash man in senior Cliff Campbell and one of the state's best triple jumpers in Leo Peterson. Seminole's 800 relay team of Campbell, Deron Thompson, Louis Brown and Eric Martin has the nation's best time of 1:27.8. The field events begin at 4:30 p.m. while the running finals will start at 5 p.m.

Kosar Says He's Still A Hurricane

CORAL GABLES (UPI) — Miami star quarterback Bernie Kosar declares he is still a member of the Hurricanes' football team and won't decide whether to turn professional until he knows which National Football League team plans to draft him.

Kosar, who has two more years of football eligibility even though he plans to graduate this summer, said Monday he might just stay in college if the NFL picture doesn't soon become clear.

QB's Dash Trips Bulls

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Jacksonville's defense kept close watch on the throwing arm of Walter Lewis, but it was the Memphis quarterback's legs which proved decisive in the Showboats' 24-14 victory over the Bulls.

Lewis spotted a flaw in Jacksonville's defensive plan Monday night to scramble for 76 yards and two third-quarter touchdowns.

"They camwith a different scheme the second half. No one was really responsible for the quarterback except maybe the defensive linemen," said Lewis, who also hit flanker Greg Moser with a 22-yard touchdown pass in the third quarter. "When you are in a slon like that, you take advantage of it."

The Jacksonville offense gave Lewis a hand as well, setting up his 4- and 1-yard scoring runs with successive fumbles. The first came when Bulls quarterback Buck Belue, starting his first pro contest in place of flu-stricken Robbie Mahfouz, dropped the ball inside his own 10-yard line. Memphis nose tackle Paul Hannah recovered at the 4 and Lewis ran it in on the next play to put the Showboats on top 14-7.

"My fumble really hurt us," Belue said. "I was running around back there and got hit and gave it up."

Jacksonville return specialist Reggie Butts fumbled the ensuing kick and Doran Major recovered at the 25. Lewis ran the ball to the 14 on the next play and into the end zone four plays later for a 24-7 lead.

"I like it when I'm in control, but it's pretty early in the season and I'm really not in condition for all that scrambling," Lewis said.

Jacksonville, which led 7-0 at the half, closed to within 7 points early in the fourth quarter when Belue hit Aubrey Matthews in the end zone with a 2-yard pass. But Memphis kicker Allan Duncan hit a 24-yard field goal to make it 24-14.

Memphis cornerback Leonard Coleman prevented Jacksonville from getting closer by intercepting Belue in the end zone with 1:15 left.

Sanford Middle Takes 3 Championships In SYSA

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

Sanford Middle School took three of the six championships and Milwee claimed a pair of titles in the Seminole Youth Sports Association (SYSA) basketball tournaments.

Sanford won both the varsity (8th grade) and girls titles and the junior varsity (7th grade) boys crown. Milwee won the JV girls and 6th grade boys championships while Lakeview won the 6th grade girls title. All championship games were played at Lake Mary High.

FOURTH QUARTER LIFTS SANFORD

In the 8th grade boys title game, Sanford Middle went on a 23-16 fourth-quarter run en route to a 69-65 victory over Lakeview.

Lakeview rolled into the finals with a 62-36 rout of Milwee while Sanford held off Rock Lake, 76-63.

The championship game was close throughout the first half as Sanford took a 13-10 lead after one quarter which Lakeview trimmed to one, 29-28, at halftime.

Lakeview surged ahead by 10, 41-31, midway through the third quarter but Sanford came roaring back behind Reginald "Cheese" Bellamy and Tarrance Carr.

"Cheese" pumped in a game-high 29 points, including 11 in the fourth quarter, while Carr poured in 19, 10 in the second half. Mike Burke tossed in seven and Johnny Wright added six for Sanford.

Robert Moore scored 16 of his team-high 22 points in the second half to led Lakeview. Dwight Britson added 10, Bernard Mitchell tossed in nine and Jerod Jones and Bobby Flowers added six each.

SANFORD GIRLS TRIM LAKEVIEW

Adrian Hillman and Leticia Strickland hit back-to-back buckets in the last 30 seconds of play to lift Sanford Middle to a narrow 65-64 victory over Lakeview in the 8th grade girls title game.

Lakeview held onto the lead for most of the fourth quarter despite being without scoring leader Aretha Riggins, who fouled out with six minutes left to play. It was Riggins who had almost single-handedly kept Lakeview in the lead as she funneled in a season-high 37 points, 35 coming in the first three quarters.

Still, without Riggins, Tara Jackson and Anita Mitchell managed to keep Lakeview in the lead until Hillman and Strickland scored to put Sanford up by three, 65-62, with 10 seconds left. Nicole Mitchell scored at the buzzer for Lakeview to make the final 65-64.

Strickland, who was held well under her average the last time the two teams met, broke loose for a team-high 33 points in the final while Hillman poured in a season-high 26 points. Marquetta Presley added six for Sanford Middle. Behind Riggins for Lakeview, Jackson popped in 12 points and Mitchell tossed in six.

SANFORD ROLLS TO JV TITLE

Sanford Middle rolled up a 28-15 lead by halftime then went on a 11-2 third quarter run en route to a 45-24 victory over Milwee in the 7th grade boys title game.

Bernard Eady and Richard Mobley led the balanced Sanford attack with 10 points each. Ondraus Redding tossed in nine while Earl Williams and Kevin Cotton contributed six each.

Ken Morse led Milwee with seven points. Todd

Basketball

Reginald 'Cheese' Bellamy, left, and Tarrance Carr helped the Sanford Middle eighth graders to the SYSA basketball championship.

Patterson chipped in six and Lenon Anderson added five.

Sanford had a much tougher time in the semifinals as it pulled out a 43-36 victory over Rock Lake. In that game, Sanford built a 25-17 halftime lead and increased it to 12, 37-25, after three quarters. Rock Lake came back behind Jerrey Thurston and Juaman Perry to make it close in the fourth quarter but Sanford held on for the win.

Redding's 15 points paced Sanford while Eady tossed in eight. Thurston was high for Rock Lake with 10 points. Bret Cavanaugh added nine, Jamey Wallace contributed eight and Perry chipped in with seven.

MILWEE JV GIRLS STOP SANFORD

Tammy Hudson scored six straight points to break a 21-21 tie with two minutes left to play as Milwee claimed a 27-23 victory over Sanford in the 7th grade girls championship game.

Milwee raced to a 17-11 lead by halftime and held a 19-15 advantage going into the fourth quarter but Sanford came back to tie it, 21-21, on Trina Schuller's four points.

Hudson scored seven of her game-high 13 points in the fourth quarter to lead her way for Milwee. Tiffany Dennison led Milwee's first-half surge, scoring 10 of her 11 points.

Schuller scored all 10 of her points in the second half to lead Sanford's comeback. Rayelga Wynn added seven points and Felicia Myers tossed in five.

MILWEE WINS 6TH GRADE BOYS TITLE

Milwee, which finished fourth in the regular season, surprised Teague in the semifinals, 28-27, the went on to blast Lakeview, 34-18, in the finals of the 6th grade boys tournament.

In the championship victory, Toby Durham led Milwee with 10 points and Cedric Bouey added eight. Eric Walker led Lakeview with a game-high 13 points.

In the semifinals, Milwee led 6-5 after one quarter then went on a 10-3 run in the second to take a 16-8 halftime lead. Teague came back to outscore Milwee, 9-4, in the third to pull within three, 20-17.

Durham scored eight points in the fourth quarter to lead Milwee while Teague stayed close by hitting 6 of 10 free throws.

Durham poured in a game-high 18 points to lead Milwee while Sadat Smith's 11 points were high for Teague.

LAKEVIEW SNARES GIRLS CROWN

Lakeview broke open a close game in the fourth quarter and went on to claim a 31-23 victory over Tuskawilla in the 6th grade girls championship game.

Tuskawilla led by one, 15-14, at halftime behind Quitya Hawkins' seven points. Lakeview bounced back to take a 20-19 lead after three quarters and pulled away in the fourth with 11 points compared to four for Tuskawilla.

Julie Francis pumped in a game-high 16 points to lead the way for Lakeview. Daynette Knight added nine and Lakosia Kennon tossed in six. Hawkins was high for Tuskawilla with nine points while Catharina Beumer added six.

Rogers Outruns Porter — Locals Dominate Stocks

NEW SMYRNA BEACH — Driving the Wayne Densch Budweiser Firebird, David Rogers held off arch-rival LeRoy Porter to win the 25-lap late model feature on Saturday night at New Smyrna Speedway.

Porter, a big winner in the IceBreaker 100 at DeSoto Speedway the previous week, started last by the "bad luck" of the draw, as a damp track forced speedway officials to bypass time trials.

Up in second spot by lap three, Porter challenged from then on, but had to settle for second. Third to fifth were Joe Middleton, John Massey and Forrest Goff. Sixth was the speedway's resident "Fat Rat," Harold Johnson of Sanford who said he did not care at all for Goff's mirror driving.

Kenny Copley led the 20-lap thundercar feature from lap three till lap 18, when he was black-flagged for smoking. Copley's bad luck allowed Richard Proulx to put the CAR CARE machine in victory lane for the second week in a row. Ted Richard, Mark Sills, Mike Fitch and newcomer Ed Eastbrooks of Sanford, who drives a T-bird bodied stocker with power by a 289 cubic inch small block Ford, were scored second to fifth at the finish.

The Sanford/Osteen gang dominated the street stock division with six drivers finishing in the top ten, including winner Bill Kinley. Trailing Kinley were Junior Simmons, Ted Mitchem, Marc Kinley, Shawn Meger and Herb Roberts of the Roberts Brothers Racing Team. Mike Todd, one of the many Todd Brothers competing at the speedway, bought a piece of the turn three wall and consequently was the recipient of the $50 Goody's Headache Reward.

The top five four cylinder finishers were Bobby Sears, Billy Hooven, Steve Thompson, Jerry Symons and Curtis Miller.

A demolition derby and "The Great

Women's Movement Takes Big Step In SOKC Feature Races

LONGWOOD — The women's movement a-la-Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club took a strong positive pace in the right direction here last week when the top three finishers in the annual Kings and Queens Stakes competition turned out, respectively, to be Henry T. Wright's Flo, D & S Young's ML Shana and Valery J. Loyer's Manatee Loxy.

Now, that's quite a domination in the championship field which consisted of four championship female greyhounds and four boys representing the opposite sex.

As for Wright's Wright Flo, the light brindled daughter of Drif's Fast and Wright Free broke from the No. 1 box in the 5/16ths of a mile classic and maintained that top ranking all the way around the track, holding off a late charge by MO Shana who finished second, only a length behind the winner.

"I felt rather good about our chances tonight, although she (Wright Flo) likes it a little better on the outside," said victorious Henry T. Wright. "She was feeling really good all day, she was ready to run tonight."

"It was really important for her to catch her break, which she did. From there, she managed to stay ahead of the field. It was a really good win for us."

Orlando Tennis Sets Qualifying

SAN DIEGO — Orlando Tennis and Racquet Club will be one of nine clubs across the country selected to host regional qualifying tournaments of the eighth annual Ektelon Racquetball Championship series.

The tournament, scheduled April 8-21, is expected to draw entries from throughout the Southeast. Other regional tournaments are scheduled from February through April in Boston, Chicago, San Francisco Bay area, Houston, Los Angeles, New York and Baltimore.

Winners in the Men's Open, Women's Open and Men's Veterans (30+) divisions will win expense-paid trips to compete at the national finals May 1-5 in Anaheim, California. There they will compete for $4,500 in prize money and the opportunity to win qualifying berths for a $40,000 professional tournament that will run in conjunction with the amateur finals.

Cavalliers Check NBA Standings

United Press International

Cleveland Cavalier fans are doing something these days they haven't done in years — they're checking the NBA standings. Egads, they've got playoff fever.

Cleveland, the last team to win a game this year, is no longer the laughing stock of the NBA. The last time this club was talking playoffs, Lenny Wilkens and Austin Carr were the starting backcourt. But times have changed.

On Monday night, World B. Free scored 25 points and the Cavaliers continued their unlikely march toward the playoffs with a 108-104 triumph over the Golden State Warriors.

"The team is really coming along well now," said Free. "All of our early season injuries have healed and we're playing well together and trying to do something positive for the city of Cleveland."

The victory was the fifth straight for the Cavaliers and sixth consecutive road triumph — a club record. Cleveland trails Atlanta by 1 1/2 games in the race for the eighth and final playoff spot in the Eastern Conference.

Elsewhere, San Antonio defeated Philadelphia 109-103 and Dallas beat Phoenix 107-99. A scheduled game between Milwaukee and Detroit was rescheduled after a heavy snowfall punctured the roof of the Silverdome.

Altamonte Has Mixed Doubles

The Altamonte Springs Recreation Department will be hosting a Mixed Doubles Tennis Tournament on March 28-31. The tournament will be held at Westmonte and Eastmonte Parks. Divisions will include open and club, with first round consolation in each. Entry deadline is March 26 at 5 p.m.

You can pick entries up at any local tennis club or come by Westmonte Park. Call 862-0090 for more information. Ask for Claude Winter, Tennis Pro.

Which Manager Gets 1st Ax?

MIAMI (UPI) — Only in baseball do they do so many things backwards. Only in our grand American game has it grown into a tradition, a rite of Spring you might say, to pick out those managers most likely to be gone by the Summer.

It used to be easy when Charlie Finley was still around, and of course, George Steinbrenner never was too far behind when it came to running in new managers and getting rid of his old ones.

Sometimes, the Yankees' boss would become involved with definition by trying to call some managerial move a "reassignment" or some other fancy name like that. He never really fooled anyone, though. Everyone recognized his actions for exactly what they were. Plain old-fashioned firings.

This time he says his manager, Yogi Berra, is safe for the whole year. That amounts to a vote of confidence, more or less, and you probably know what most managers think of such votes. Not much. They've seen them vetoed too quickly too often.

For what it's worth, though, Berra is presumed to be safe, at least for the time being.

So the names of other candidates for possible rapid departures are being tossed around even before their teams have played a game, and the two you hear baseball people talk about most are Joe Altobelli of the Baltimore Orioles and Whitey Herzog of the St. Louis Cardinals — despite the fact both led their clubs to world championships within the last three years.

Altobelli won it all with Orioles in 1983 but made the terrible mistake of finishing fifth last year. Outside of Eddie Murray and Cal Ripken Jr., Altobelli had no one to get any hits for him last season, but he knows the rules. Excuses, or even valid reasons, aren't acceptable.

The Cardinals beat the Brewers in the 1982 World Series and thereby made Herzog the Man of the Year. Unfortunately for him, the Cards finished third in their division last year, 12 1-2 games behind the Cubs, so what he did three years ago has been almost totally forgotten.

Milton Richman
UPI Senior Editor/Sports

Herzog has always been outspoken. He said what he thought when the Cardinals let free agent Bruce Sutter get away this past winter and that didn't endear him any more with either owner Gussie Busch or Lou Susman.

Where the Cardinals' brass felt they had the best manager in the universe a few years ago, they don't feel that way so much anymore.

Similarly, Edward Bennett Williams, the owner of the Orioles, has let it be known he is anything but enchanted with his club's fifth-place finish last year. Nor has he ever hid the fact he was and still is a great admirer of Baltimore's previous manager, Earl Weaver, who now is at liberty.

According to the word I get, both the Orioles and the Cardinals have to break fast from the starting gate or one or the other or even both could have new managers by June 15.

Few men are any better with words than Edward Bennett Williams, one of the foremost court attorneys of our time. He's here watching his Orioles and you can make what you like regarding the comments he made to me about Altobelli.

"We obviously have given a great vote of confidence to the manager," said the Orioles' owner. "We kept him."

How does that sit with you? I'll tell you how it does with me. To me, it says whether what happened to the club last year was his fault or not, Altobelli shouldn't be making any long range plans. "We finished fifth," Williams went on. "We're not used to finishing fifth. I fault myself most for last year. I allowed myself to become complacent. Never sit on a big lead. I know that from life. There are no plateaus. You're either going up or down. You have to recognize your mistakes and not repeat them. I'll never be complacent again."

Altobelli is as classy an individual as you'll find in baseball. He has heard the rumbles and would be perfectly entitled to say how quickly they forget, but he doesn't.

Instead of showing any resentment over any lack of appreciation for the job he has done since coming to Baltimore, he takes an entirely different tack.

"Look at the opportunity I got," he says. "This is my 36th year in baseball and I can't say I've never worried, but I don't go into a ballgame scared. Look at the two managers who were in the World Series last year," he says, referring to Sparky Anderson and Dick Williams. "Were they ever fired?"

Both were, of course, Anderson by the Reds and Williams by the Red Sox, Angels and Expos.

"Test my case," Altobelli says.

Some Dead Beat

NEW YORK (UPI) — UPI senior editor and columnist Milton Richman was ordered by doctors Monday to take the week off to recover from exhaustion, marking the first time in 21 years that his column — Today's Sport Parade — failed to move on the UPI wires because of an illness.

Richman was taken by ambulance to Broward General Medical Center in Fort Lauderdale Monday morning, complaining of dizziness and nausea. He kept the ambulance driver and attendants entertained by interviewing them about his condition while lying on the stretcher.

Davis, however, quickly made up for his miss by crushing a single to center field to score Coffey with the game-winning RBI.

Hervey was in trouble again in the sixth until coach Mike Ferrell called on Brian Sheffield with two outs and the bases full. Sheffield induced Davis to ground into a force at home and retired Dan Beaty on a pop to shortstop.

Seminole's last hope came in the seventh. With one out, sophomore Joey Corsi singled to left and moved to second when second baseman Rick Koch tried to catch Corsi on the turn for the Pats' lone error.

Smith, nevertheless, took matters into his own hands by striking out pinch hitter Tom Wilks and Alonzo Gainey on curveballs to preserve his gem. Smith finished with six hits and no walks. Hervey allowed just four hits and struck out four.

BAKER, ALLEGRE KEY W/N
LONGWOOD — Clint Baker received last out relief help from Derek Livernolis and Paul Allegre socked a homer and a double as the Lyman Greyhound blanked DeLand, 3-0, in Five Star Conference baseball Monday. Lyman is 10-1 and 3-1 in the conference. DeLand is 3-5 and 1-3.

Baker, relying on a good breaking pitch, handcuffed the Bulldogs until there were two out in the seventh. After a walk and a single, coach Bob McCullough called for Livernolis. Ted Corbett reached on an error to load the bases but Livernolis retired John Haden on a pop fly to Baker at first for the final out.

Alegre, who jacked a homer Friday night, ripped a two-out double in the third inning and scored when the shortstop threw Jimmy Odom's ground ball past first base.

In the fifth, Baker singled to right and after Livernolis popped out, Allegre crashed a towering homer to right center for a 3-0 lead. Kyle Brubaker and Chris Brock had the only other Lyman hits, both singles.

"I threw just about all curves the last three innings," said Baker about his four-hit effort. "I got a little tired at the end."

Lyman travels to Lake Howell for a 3:30 p.m. Wednesday.

MARTIN BLANKS BUCH CASSELBERRY — Junior David Martin hurled his first career shutout and Ernest Martinez singled home two runs as the Lake Howell Silver Hawks trimmed Mainland, 3-0, in Five Star Conference baseball Monday.

Lake Howell improved to 6-5 overall and 2-2 in the conference. Martin (2-0), making just his third appearance of the year, allowed just two hits and was never in trouble as three double plays took the starch out of any Buc upstart.

"That's the best defensive game we've played this year," said Lake Howell coach Birt Benjamin.

Lake Howell picked up all three runs in the fourth inning. Bobby Miller singled to lead off and Vic Roberts forced Miller at second. Dave Marlette singled but Ed Taubensee struck out. Tom Boucher walked to load the bases and Ernest Martinez singled home two runs. Eric Martinez then reached on error on second baseman to bring home Boucher for a 3-0 lead.

Anti-Abortionists Getting Little Support Before Trial

PENSACOLA (UPI) — At least one national pro-life leader says that he has accepted an "invitation" from an anti-abortion group to attend the trial of four people accused of bombing clinics that performed abortions.

Joseph Scheidler, executive director of the Chicago-based Pro-Life Action League, said he'll be at the trial next week of Matthew Goldsby, Kaye Wiggins, James Simmons and Kathy Simmons.

The four face federal conspiracy and explosives charges in the Dec. 25 bombing of three clinics. The two men are also accused of a June 25 bombing. All four have pleaded not guilty.

The Virginia-based American Life Lobby said Scheidler was the only national pro-life figure who has confirmed he would attend. Pro-lifers have also had trouble recruiting Christian entertainers to stage a benefit to raise money for the defendants' legal fund. Performers have indicated they do not want to appear to condone abortion clinic bombing.

Smith Quits Race, Not Party

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Attorney General Jim Smith says he'd rather fight for conservative control of the Democratic Party than switch to the Republican Party and run for governor.

After a month of speculation that he might take his gubernatorial campaign to the GOP next year, Smith called a news conference on the steps of the old Capitol and announced Monday that he will stay a Democrat — and will not run for governor.

The final factor in his decision, Smith said, was formation of a "sunbelt caucus" of conservative Democrats last week by Sens. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., Sam Nunn, D-Ga., and other southerners who — like Smith — are unhappy with the liberal drift of the Democratic Party at the national level.

Quitting the gubernatorial campaign before it really got started, Smith said, was a decision jointly arrived at by him and his family. He said his wife, Carole, and three children "agonized over the rigors of a campaign" and decided he should bow out.

An Airline With No Planes

MIAMI (UPI) — Northeastern International Airlines, grounded by a court order to return its four Boeing 727s passenger planes to an aircraft leasing company, said it will talk to other leasing firms in an attempt to resume service.

Northeastern employees were notified at 5 p.m. Monday that the airline would suspend operations when a flight from Islip, N.Y., to Fort Lauderdale was completed. Workers have been laid off until further notice.

U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Sidney M. Weaver ordered the financially troubled carrier to return the planes.

Factory Orders Still Dropping

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New orders to the nation's factories for manufactured goods fell in January by $1.7 billion or 0.9 percent, the seventh such decline in the last 10 months, the Commerce Department reported today.

It said the decline — to a seasonally adjusted level of $192.2 billion — was caused by a drop in orders for nondurable goods of $3.6 billion or 3.9 percent, involving virtually all products in that category.

Orders for so-called durable goods — which include major consumer purchases such as household appliances and machinery bought by business — increased in January by $1.9 billion or 1.8 percent. This increase was mainly due to the primary metals and electrical machinery industries.

Shipments of manufactured goods were down 1.7 percent in January, the largest decline since October 1982. Unfilled orders at the end of January were about unchanged at $355.3 billion.

Manufacturers' inventories at the end of January totaled $284.9 billion, down 0.2 percent from the month before.

Lottery, Home Schooling Top Pre-Legislative Agenda

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — With less than a month remaining before the opening gavel of the 1985 legislative session, House and Senate committees today begin a series of meetings on major issues before the Florida Legislature.

Among the items on today's agenda is a bill by Sen. Jack Gordon, D-Miami Beach, to legalize a state lottery — similar to a public initiative proposal being pushed by Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington to raise money for schools. Gordon's bill is before the Senate Commerce Committee.

Turlington last week announced he would not run for re-election to the Cabinet, but said he was forming a non-profit organization to collect some 340,000 petition signatures for a constitutional amendment setting up a lottery for school funding.

On another education issue, a House subcommittee has scheduled hearings on a bill by Rep. Walt Young, D-Pembroke Pines, to tighten state regulation of "home schooling." That bill is in direct conflict with one filed Monday by Republican Rep. Dan Webster of Orlando which would allow parents to keep their children at home for instruction if they object to lack of religious influence and other moral conditions in the public schools.

Webster's bill would allow parents to teach their own children at home, provided they keep detailed records of books used in instruction and compile files of work done by their children for inspection by county school authorities.

Young's bill would require annual certification of a home-student's progress by a state-approved psychologist — unless the home study was conducted by a licensed school teacher.

Webster's bill would allow parents to teach their own children at home, provided they keep detailed records of books used in instruction and compile files of work done by their children for inspection by county school authorities.

Another child-oriented issue coming up today is a bill by Sen. Betty Castor, D-Tampa, to allow victims of child abuse to collect from the Crime Victim Compensation Fund for treatment of injuries inflicted by relatives. Existing law forbids payment from the state fund for injuries inflicted by people living in the victim's home.

Challenger Heads Back To Hangar

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The shuttle Challenger was readied for a return trip back to an assembly building today to clear the shuttle launch pad for Discovery's revised mission late this month or early next.

A giant crawler-transporter was driven to the pad Monday to pick up Challenger and its mobile launch platform.

Space agency planners hope to launch Discovery before the end of the month on a revised mission prompted by Challenger's launch cancellation.

Challenger was scheduled to take off Thursday with a crew of seven, including Sen. Jake Garn, R-Utah. But trouble with a tracking and data relay satellite to be carried aloft scrubbed Challenger's flight and disrupted the shuttle launch schedule.

The $100 million TDRS satellite, the second of a planned orbiting fleet of three, was grounded because of problems that surfaced during tests of the first TDRS spacecraft stationed over the Atlantic Ocean.

The space agency refuses to discuss the problem because it involves a secret system that allows the spacecraft to encode military space communications.

The second TDRS satellite and a third scheduled for launch later this year will be modified to correct the problem, but engineers are unsure how long those modifications will take or when the second satellite can be launched.

Kennedy Space Center workers took the 2½-ton satellite out of Challenger's payload bay Sunday, along with a commercial communications station owned by Telesat Canada.

The commercial spacecraft will fly aboard Discovery along with a Navy satellite.

Discovery will be hauled to the launch pad late next week. In the meantime, workers will begin readying Challenger for its next flight — a Spacelab mission scheduled for launch late next month.

...Blackmun

"We have found no link between the separate incidents," Baker said. "We want to be sensitive to the fact that we're looking at the separate shooting incident and looking at the other letters received by the justice."

"We're mindful of the content of the letters while we investigate this shooting incident."

In October, Blackmun was threatened by a group calling itself the "Army of God" avowing militant opposition to legalized abortions. The group has claimed responsibility for attacks on abortion clinics around the country.

In a 1982 television interview, Blackmun said letter writers had called him "Butcher of Dachau, murderer, Pontius Pilate, King Herod — you name it."

The proposed rezoning was turned down by planning and zoning on a 5-4 vote after nearby homeowners, mostly members now of the new homeowners association, protested that industrial development would spoil their neighborhood of single family homes.

Mrs. Smith, then a member of the planning and zoning commission, voted in favor of changing the zoning.

At the hearing before the city commission when the rezoning was granted, then-Mayor Lee P. Moore, and City Commissioners Milton Smith and David Farr voted for rezoning. Voting against the rezoning were Commissioners Ned Yancey and Eddie Keith, who have since left the city commission.

Man's Girlie Magazines No Reflection On Wife

DEAR ABBY: I am a 27-year-old wife and mother. A few years after I was married, I found some pornographic girlie magazines my husband had hidden. It hurt me to discover that he was reading such filth, and it hurt me even more to know that he tried to hide it from me. We discussed the matter and he promised never to read that trash again.

Well, you guessed it. Today I found some recent issues of that magazine hidden in a different place. I'm so disgusted and angry I don't know what to do. I happen to be a pretty good-looking woman, so I can't understand why my husband would want to look at filth like that. What should I do?

DECEIVED
DEAR DECEIVED: Please get over the notion that only men with unattractive wives read girlie magazines. What you look like has nothing to do with your husband's desire to look at what you call "filth."

You have much to learn about why men read girlie magazines. (It has nothing to do with you.) Please see a counselor. It would be better if your husband went with you, but if he refuses, go alone, because the problem is yours — not his.

No man should have to hide

Dear Abby

his reading material from his wife. And no wife should "make" her husband promise not to read what he obviously enjoys reading. He is a grown man, and you are not his mother.

DEAR ABBY: Tell the widow who found a whole bunch of keys in her late husband's drawer and was going crazy trying to find out what they were for, not to throw them away.

I also have a goodly supply of useless keys, and one day I plan to make wind chimes out of them.

MRS. P. IN SANTA BARBARA

DEAR MRS. P.: Before you make all those useless keys into wind chimes, if you have neighbors, please ask them how they feel about wind chimes. They may not share your enthusiasm.

DEAR ABBY: Apropos flat-chested women: I recall a lovely French poem set to music. The translation into English is: "Oh, you flat-chested femmes, I adore you. With you, I am closer to your hearts!"

REMINISCING IN CANADA

DEAR ABBY: This is for wives who insist that their husbands wear wedding rings:

My husband and I have been married for 35 years. He wore a wedding ring all those years, and I thought we had a perfect marriage.

Then he went to his 42nd high school reunion, looked up his old high school sweetheart, and started contacting her, writing love letters and making telephone calls. I later found out he drove 200 miles on a regular basis to make love to her. (All day, he says.) The point to all this is: A wedding ring doesn't stop anything.

My boss says I should castrate him. What do you think?

NO NAME, PLEASE
DEAR NO NAME: The old saying, "Don't cut off your nose to spite your face," doesn't apply anatomically here. But I think you get the idea.

Planning Great Azalea Sale

Winifred "Bill" Gielow, center, chairman of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce Beautification Committee, discusses the committee's Great Azalea Sale with Chal Horrell, right, Pat Sentell, left, and other committee members. The sale, open to the public, will be held from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday and Saturday, March 8 and 9, on the patio of the Sanford Civic Center, Sanford Avenue and Seminole Boulevard. Roses, holly and caladium bulbs will also be sold at reduced rates.

Trinity Students Win Honors

Three Trinity students placed in the Florida Forensic Program's District III State Qualifying tournament at Brevard Community College in February and will compete in the state tournament this month. Of the four slots available in the Lincoln/Douglas event, Trinity qualified for three of them. Lloyd Aspinwall, senior from Casselberry; John Eckbert, senior from Winter Park; and Jim Hattaway, senior from Winter Springs, will attend the state tournament at the University of South Florida.

Also placing in the team debate event were novice debaters Alex Maroni and Brandon Siskey, both freshmen from Orlando. They placed fifth.

The experienced

Jane Philips has a wide selection of samples at her Decorating Den decorators at Philips Decorating Den keep up to date on all the latest trends, colors and styles by attending shows and seminars. They are glad to share their decorating expertise with you without charge, but will not try to impose their tastes upon you. They take their customers' tastes and lifestyle into consideration when designing attractive surroundings in which they can enjoy living and entertaining. For your convenience they will come to your home by appointment on evenings and weekends as well as days to show you a wide selection of samples and give you a free estimate. In this way they can coordinate the colors in the surroundings where they will be used. They serve customers in Seminole, Volusia and Orange counties and even decorate condos at the beach.

Call Philips Decorating Den at 322-3315 or 322-7642 to have one of the decorators contact you. They offer for window treatments woven woods, verticals and mini blinds, custom draperies, custom valances. They also carry curtain rods. Decorator Den has a large library of wallpaper sample books which you can browse through before making a choice. They offer professional wallpaper installation or sell wallpaper and fabrics by the yard for do-it-yourselfers. They carry quality names such as Waverly, Schumacher and Bloomcraft. In business in Sanford since 1951, owners Wally and Jane Philips also have a complete dry cleaning service for personal clothing as well as carpets and draperies. If your draperies need cleaning, they will take them down, clean them and rehang them again. They specialize in cleaning wedding gowns and can seal them for storage. They have a cold storage vault for furs and off season garments. Workmanship and service are guaranteed. Philips Decorating Den is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday.

Orange Hearing Aid Centers Offer Free Hearing Tests

Bill Christenson is a state licensed specialist with Orange Hearing Aid Centers at 120 S. Highway 17-92 in Casselberry and at Medco Discount Drugs, 2701 S. Orlando Drive, Sanford. Electronic hearing tests are given free at the Sanford center on Monday only and at Casselberry, Monday through Friday.

Bill Christenson, hearing aid specialist, goes over test results with client.

Christenson was born with a moderate hearing loss in the right ear due to nerve damage. Though it was discovered as early as the first grade, he did not get help with hearing aids until the age of 38.

"I sought help all those years, but was told an aid wouldn't work," he explained. "The reason I chose the Hearing Health profession is to prevent this same situation from happening to others. Being a user myself gives me a first hand knowledge of what the client is experiencing. We are on common ground."

"The end result is that they do not buy a lot of hope that won't work, but are told realistically what to expect. In line with this I sell our 30-day trial as a benefit. In the end it is the client who is the judge."

The latest hearing aid Orange Hearing Aid Centers have to offer is Electone's Triumph. It is a fully automatic aid. It is rechargeable and they pay for the power cell for the life of the aid. The volume is preset by us to the client's hearing needs. The client never has to adjust it.

A no obligation hearing test and demonstration can be obtained by calling 834-8776 or 323-5702.

Dry Canadians Travel To U.S. To Buy Beer

FORT ERIE, Ontario (UPI) — Thirsty Canadians are making beer runs south across the border into the United States because of a province-wide lockout at Ontario's major breweries.

Carling O'Keefe — are unhappy about plans to package beer in aluminum cans using automation, a change they say will result in the loss of hundreds of jobs. The resulting beer shortage has left many tavern taps dry and closed the province-run Brewers' Retail stores.

Canadian Customs officials said they detected no significant use in the number of travelers declaring beer bought south of the border, but motorists are thought to be smuggling in the suds to avoid an import fee.

Beer is still available from at least three independent breweries — Amstel in Hamilton, Brick in Waterloo and Northern in Sault Ste. Marie — but those Canadians thirsty for the major brands must travel to another province or the United States.

"They're probably hiding it in their trunks," said Larry Scott, manager of Friendly Markets on Niagara Street in Buffalo, N.Y., the closest supermarket to the Peace Bridge border crossing.

And, by law, they must pay a high price if they declare the beer at the border. A Canadian law permits a resident to import one 24-bottle case of beer free of charge only if they have been out of the country for 48 hours. On a short beer run, there is a five-case limit and a substantial duty — $5.91 for the first case and $14.55 for each subsequent case.

"They wiped me out yesterday," Scott said of his inventory of Labatts and Old Vienna beer. He said he planned to stock mases of Canadian beer Monday to meet the new demand.

By the time you get the exchange and (calculate) the cost of getting it over from the states, it's not a good move financially," said Mark Kudertian, a Canadian Customs inspector at the Peace Bridge in Fort Erie.

In Alexandria Bay, the store nearest the Thousand Islands Bridge, reported a similar situation Saturday. There were quite a few in here," said Big M sales clerk Jerry Rusko.

The wild brewery dispute centers on job security. Workers at the three major breweries — Labatts, Molson and

Court Refuses To Consider Liquor Price Rule

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court Monday refused to consider claims that a New York law requiring liquor and wine wholesalers to post their rates "chokes off" competition in violation of antitrust laws.

between competing products. The retailer makes no profit in either situation."

The justices let stand a lower court ruling that said the law does not unfairly restrain trade because it fosters a state policy against price discrimination.

"This system at the wholesale level completely chokes off any desire to vary the price" of goods sold to retailers, he said.

The statute binds wholesalers to a price schedule they must file every month with the State Liquor Authority. The schedules are available for public inspection and the listed prices remain in effect all month.

Battipaglia brought his appeal to the high court after unsuccessful challenges before a U.S. District Court and the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

After the rates are made public, a wholesaler may lower prices to meet the competition by filing an amended schedule, but he may not raise the price on anything.

Attorneys for New York said the law represents a sound public policy to eliminate "stimulation of sales of alcoholic beverages and the granting of discounts, rebates, allowances, free goods and other inducements."

The appeal was brought by Jack Battipaglia, owner of a Long Island liquor store and a wine wholesaler business.

The lower court said the law did not result in antitrust violations because it does not force wholesalers to adopt the same price structure.

Battipaglia filed a complaint in U.S. District Court alleging the law's unwanted effect was "to restrain commerce in the product market of wine in the State of New York by prohibiting wholesalers and retailers from competitive pricing which could benefit the consuming public."

The price schemes posted by wholesalers represent their individual acts, New York officials argued, and price similarities between them are incidental.

Battipaglia said the law discourages competition "because there is no incentive for the retailer to choose one wholesaler over the other for the same product or to choose

Menopause Age Varies Widely Among Women

DEAR DR. LAMB — When my grandmother was 36, she went through the menopause. My mother also started at about that age. I am 30 and am concerned. Will I also go through the menopause early? Once a woman starts to take hormones for this, will she always have to take them?

DEAR READER — No one can tell you when you will begin menopause. With your family history, there is a chance that you will have your menopause early. The time of onset of menopause is not exactly correlated with age or other age-related changes in the body. Menopause has been known to occur as early as age 25 in an otherwise healthy woman. It is not rare for it to begin in the late 30s. The most common time is between 45 and 50.

Not every woman needs estrogen replacement when she enters the menopause. Contrary to popular belief, the ovaries don't completely stop functioning. They still produce a sex hormone that can be converted by body fat cells into estrogen. That is why women who have some body fat tend to higher estrogen levels than women who are very lean.

If a woman does need estrogen, she will usually continue to need it. It is needed to replace the amount required to avoid such symptoms as hot flashes, bone loss and other changes. If the estrogen is stopped when it is needed, a woman will then develop the symptoms of menopause.

Knowledge about managing the menopause and providing a safe amount of estrogen replacement has advanced a great deal in the past 20 years. If you do have an early menopause, you will have much better management than was possible for your grandmother, and probably even for your mother.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm 22 and happily married. I've had cold sores all my life. I know this is herpes, but I am very clean and neat and am very careful about what I drink from so I don't get any germs. It is so embarrassing that it makes me want to crawl under a rock, and I feel so sorry for my husband. He says he doesn't care and still loves me. How can I prevent cold sores?

DEAR READER — There certainly is something in your system, and it is the herpes virus — but don't panic. You've probably had it since you were a toddler. Herpes simplex type one is transmitted by kissing. Up to 80 percent of the public may have it. Not enough is known about treatment to really provide a means of prevention, but that will come.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y., 10019.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
Although six clubs would be an excellent contract for North-South, the weak two-heart bid by East crowded out scientific bidding methods. South simply bid three no-trump and North was glad he had enough high cards to make that a comfortable contract.

There was no way to defeat that ironclad game, but East earned himself a top score in the tournament by holding declarer to only nine tricks. First, on the opening lead of the heart five, he played the nine, giving South only one immediate heart trick.

Declarer played three rounds of clubs, and then played ace of diamonds and a diamond to the jack. Since West had signaled with a high spade on one of the clubs, East now returned a spade. West won the king and cleared the spade suit. When diamonds now failed to break, declarer had only nine tricks.

Some may wonder why, after East had played the diamond 10 on the ace, declarer did not go up with the king and drop the queen. The answer is that the 10 of diamonds did not have to be an honest card. East might well have started with 10-x-x or 10-x. If so, he certainly should play the 10. That he had Q-10 doubleton on this particular deal was just a vagary of fate.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY MARCH 6, 1985
Your leadership qualities will be enhanced this coming year and you will find that you can accomplish just about anything you decide. All that's required is a belief in your ability.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Partnership situations could work to your disadvantage today. Strive to be independent and don't let weaker types hold you back. Your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead can help you make better choices that will make your tomorrow happier. Mail #1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're very near the outer limits of letting tasks that require attention slip by. Any additional neglect today will make it extra hard to catch up.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Coercing friends today to do your bidding is definitely the wrong approach. Your actions will only breed seeds of resentment in them.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Basically, you're not an envious person but today you could get a trifle miffed if someone outshines you. Be smart and don't let it show.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you know that certain topics irritate a friend, avoid discussing them today. Once they are introduced, they could cause an argument.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) This could be a tricky day for you in personal finances or business dealings. Don't do anything reckless or impulsive.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Tolerance, as well as give and take, will be required in your personal relationships today. Be forgiving with companions, even if their actions bug you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Guard against tendencies today to create problems that can easily be avoided. Don't step upon anyone's toes, including your own.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) In involvements with friends today, don't try to be the big cheese. Your pals will respond more favorably to consultation than they will to dictation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you have authority over others, wield it wisely today. People who think you abuse your power will try to get even at a later date.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You may feel compelled to champion an unpopular cause today. That's your prerogative, as long as you don't try to force your views on your associates.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be sensible about the way you conduct yourself in a joint venture today, especially if an investment is required on your behalf.
