tion in issues that might have a that since Kiwanians represented leaders in the business world, and since in union there is strength, there is no reason for the organization not making its strength felt for things that are right.

As an instance he told of the declaration of a Florida Kiwanian who at the convention said: "We have a senator from our state of whom we are not proud," and then declared his club had wired the senator expressing the disappointment of its members that he had not taken a stand for a cause."

President Hall also told of the inspirational talk of columnist Drew Pearson upon Democratic principles, of the installation of J. N. Emerson of Washington State as new-president of Kiwanis, and of the fine attendance of the meeting from the United States and Canada.

Secretary Ralph A. Smith told of benefits derived from the conference of secretaries at the convention, of retiring president Hamilton Holt's inspirational address, of a talk on the United Nations Charter in relation to world peace by former Governor Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, and of a fine talk by General Omar Bradley, head of the Veterans' Bureau. He described the huge $12,000,000 arena where the convention was held with its world's largest organ. Rotary sent a huge floral gift and congratulatory telegram to the Kiwanians, he said.

Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Hall told of the fine entertainments given at the convention, especially the style shows.

Mrs. Smith told of the fine replica of Silver Springs exhibited under direction of Peter Schaaf. Mrs. Hall gave details of the style show and vaudeville, and both ladies declared the convention was delightful, interesting and inspiring.

A LESSON IN EGGS

Because eggs are abundant now, are good substitutes for meat, are one of the most versatile of all foods and because they are good for folks, home-makers will do well to use them frequently in their menus. Here are some questions and answers about eggs that should be of interest to home-makers:

Are large eggs a better buy than small eggs?

It depends on the price. "Medium" eggs (average 21 ounces per dozen) are as economical as "Large" eggs (average 24 ounces per dozen) of the same grade. If at least one-eighth cheaper, "Small" eggs (average 18 ounces per dozen) are as economical as large eggs if at least one-fourth cheaper.

Is shell color—white or brown—related to food value?

Color of shell makes no difference whatever in the food value or quality of flavor of the egg inside.

Is a newly-laid egg always a "fresh" egg?

A newly laid egg that is not cooled quickly and handled carefully may lose its "fresh" qualities in a day or two. On the other hand, an egg given right care and storage may keep these qualities for several months.

Does an egg when opened show signs of "fresh" quality?

Yes. A high, rounded yolk and firm, upstanding white are signs of "freshness." As an egg loses "freshness," the yolk is flatter and the white more watery.

Should eggs be washed before storing at home?

No. Washin' removes the protective film or bloom, which helps keep bacteria and odors from getting through the porous shell. Any dirt can be wiped off with a dry, rough cloth.

Should eggs be kept cold in home storage?

Eggs deteriorate in a warm place and should be kept at a temperature between 32° and 45° F.

Does an egg contain good protein, vitamins, minerals?

Eggs provide protein in the top class with foods like meat and milk for building and repair of body tissues; iron for red blood cells, and phosphorus and some other minerals; vitamins A and D, and B vitamins—thiamine, riboflavin, and niacin.

Does orange color in a yolk always mean more vitamin A than a pale yellow?

No. Yellow corn and green feed in a hen's diet are good sources of vitamin A and tend to result in deep colored yolks. But a hen's diet low in these feeds and rich in fish liver oil may result in pale yellow yolks with just as much or more vitamin A.

Is a hard-boiled egg the same as a hard-cooked egg?

No. Eggs may be hard-cooked without boiling, and cooking at high heat toughens the egg protein. For hard-cooked eggs at their best, simmer—don't boil—the eggs 35 to 30 minutes. For all egg dishes, a success secret is to use low to moderate temperatures.

THE VEIL OF SECRECY concerning the plutonium-producing atomic pile at Oak Ridge, Tenn., has been lifted. The discovery that could destroy plutonium is now being used by U. The graphite block, which has been surrounded with lead-brick casing for protection, is removed (bottom) as a girl worker inspects its radioactivity with a special device. (International)

ACL To Share In Purchase Of 117 Streamlined Cars

The Atlantic Coast Line Railroad will share in the purchase of 117 lightweight, streamlined passenger train cars, derivatives of which are expected to commence during the middle of 1946, according to information received by W. M. Black, superintendent of the Jacksonville division from C. M. Davis, president of the line.

The other railroads sharing the purchase are the Florida East Coast Railroad, the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad. The cars include 71 sleeping cars, 30 coaches, 13 dining cars and three baggage cars. Pullman Car Company was given the order for 95 cars and American Car and Foundry Company for 22.

When received, the cars will be used to completely modernize train service between New York and Florida and intermediate points. There will be three trains of this type in service.

The cars will represent the latest advancement in the fact that the sleeping cars will contain only individual enclosed accommodation without the familiar upper and lower berths of the conventional open section cars. The dining rooms will embody an entirely new type of seating arrangement to facilitate the service of new types.

Webb suggested that the remaining 23 witnesses on the educational phases of the charges be thinned out.

Bowles Again Flays O. P. A. Extension Bill

Economic Stabilizer Hints Resignation If Congress Okeys Amended Program

WASHINGTON, June 20, (AP)—Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles assailed anew today the Senate and House O. P. A. extension bills and called them "inflationary booby traps." At the same time, Bowles dropped a broad hint that he is prepared to resign if the amended price control program is passed by Congress.

Bowles expressed his views on the price extension situation in a statement prepared for release at a news conference. To his blast at the proposed extension legislation, Bowles added that he would pick up his hat if legislation unacceptable to him passed when he said: "I could never agree in any compromise which can only bring us one step nearer inflation."

However, Bowles again appealed to President Truman to veto any price extension act which is not in accord with the program of the administration to hold the line against inflation. Bowles added that a veto might then be followed by House and Senate action permitting price and rent controls to continue as they are for another year. The present price control legislation expires June 30.

Meanwhile, members of the Senate-House conference committee trying to iron out differences between the two chambers on extension legislation maintained a ceiling on words. The members said they would keep all further business secret until they have finally worked out legislation they feel will be acceptable to both houses of Congress.

Eisenhower Says Reds Want To Be Friendly To U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 20, (AP)—General Dwight Eisenhower told the House Appropriations Committee today that he believes Russians wish to be friendly to Americans. Eisenhower said there is no question, in his opinion, of the hope of the ordinary Russian that he is going to be a friend of the United States.

The Chief of Staff made his remarks during discussion of the Army Appropriation Bill sent to the House floor today.

Eisenhower said he believed that eventually we can work out the basis of friendly relations with Russia. He added: "I do not see how we can afford to do anything else."

General Eisenhower also declared he is opposed to giving away any secret of the United States, meaning the atomic bomb, until there is workable machinery for seeing to it that there will be a policy similar to our own. He offered the opinion that it will be necessary to occupy Germany and Japan for a minimum of three years.

Moughton Making Investigation of County Schools

Seminole County's schools are being investigated by Elton Moughton, architect, who is making a careful survey of the buildings in order to determine emergency repairs. It was announced today by Supt. T. W. Lawton, who has returned from Gainesville, where he attended a three day course for superintendents which was conducted by Prof. W. I. Johns.

Principal subjects discussed at Gainesville were equitable teacher salaries and capital outlay on new school buildings, said Mr. Lawton.

An investigation of school lunchrooms in the county has revealed that they are not unsanitary, nor are any buildings in a dangerous condition; however, some buildings are in need of repair, said Mr. Lawton. This condition, he declared, was due to the fact that labor and materials could not be secured for this work during waiting.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

IF WE DO NOT GROW SPIRITUALLY THERE IS SOME MORAL INCREASE TROUBLING US. WE SHOULD CONCERN OURSELVES ABOUT THIS. They go from strength to strength.—Psalm 84:7

The Senate refuses to kill the OPA, but it sure is doing a good job of kissing it to death.

Did you see where the $20,000-000 Richmond dirigible base sold the other day for $47? Bet there was a good profit in that job for somebody.

The Department of Agriculture warns that Americans face a slumped diet in the next 12 months than in the past year. Meanwhile, will certain fruits and vegetables be allowed to rot in the fields, as they did last Spring, because farmers can't get cost of production out of them?

Explaining the necessity of the American loan to Britain, the Tampa Tribune says, "To provide it with dollar exchange needed to re-establish Britain's position as a purchaser of American and other foreign goods." What are we going to sell 'em? Butter, bacon, or molasses?

A Democratic candidate for Congress in Tennessee says that Senator Claude Pepper, Henry Wallace and Sidney Hillman "are fronting for Communism." We don't know how many communists there are in New York, Boston and Philadelphia to front for, but there certainly aren't many in Florida. Most Floridians seem agreed that the American system of free enterprise is a pretty good way of doing business.

Britain is on the spot with respect to the Jewish-Arab dispute in Palestine. If she favors the Jews, the Arabs revolt; and if she favors the Arabs, the Jews riot. Meanwhile, big and mighty Russia is watching on the sidelines, extending encouragement first to one side and then the other, always ready to come to the aid of either faction in a military way once the lines are permanently drawn. No wonder Bevin does not like the American attitude of telling Britain what to do but refusing to accept any responsibility for results.

It is all right to spray with DDT in an effort to get rid of bugs and other germ carrying vermin, but don't do it too enthusiastically, and be careful to follow directions, a friend of ours advises. He tells of a housekeeper who went into her kitchen with a spray gun, plastered floor, walls, ceiling, closet shelves and kitchen cabinet with DDT, but forgot to cover food and dishes, while doing it. Result, a series of stomach upsets among her children. Care should also be taken not to expose the skin to concentrated DDT, as it is toxic.

In great contrast to a few months ago, Florida hotels which last winter were being torn apart by tourists trying to get rooms at any price, are now half filled with bell hops, waiters, and other employees standing around doing nothing while waiting for someone to arrive. Meanwhile, in North Carolina, Virginia and northern resort centers hotel and housing accommodations are more intolerable than ever with dozens of applicants for every room available. Why wouldn't it be a good idea to sell some of these tourists on the advantages of coming to Florida in summer when rents are low and accommodations easy to get?

In view of conditions existing in private employment, one should not be too critical of lax supervision at the State Penitentiary at Raiford where 13 convicts escaped on June 12 and where 32 guards are hired to watch 1,500 convicts. If the 32 guards were able men, imbued with confidence in themselves and inspired with morale toward their jobs, they could probably limit the movements of the prisoners to within a few miles of the prison, but when all of them are underpaid, work long and monotonous hours, are anxious to quit anyway and seek other employment where the compensation is definitely better, one can hardly expect ultimate supervision.

Dying OPA

There is no real reason for those who disliked OPA to throw up their hats and cheer its passing, nor for those who feared its death to weep with despair. The nation will survive whatever happens, whether for better or for worse, and no one at the present moment knows which it will be.

It is really astonishing how many ups and downs the American people have managed to take in their stride and go right on. Some have been good, some bad. Some of the most annoying—and useful—controls of this war were put on because of the lack of such controls in World War I had disastrous results. The hope was that the new plans would work better than the old. In all fairness it must be said that on the whole most of them did.

There are two basic troubles with new and untried bright ideas, whether in government, in a family or in social relations. One is that enough other people are seldom willing to help. Most any good idea will work if enough people want it to work and help put it over. But the drags, the sniping, the assumption that if it's new it must be bad—all these make it difficult for its proponents to make clear to people what it really is and what it's for. So they oppose.

The other is that unknown and unsuspected factors have a way of entering the picture. They are like the bugs in a new mechanism. Given time and good will they may be eliminated. It's harder to get them out under heavy opposition.

Whether taking the starch out of OPA is good or bad, there is only one answer to the basic trouble. That is production, not only by unions and big concerns, but by every humble citizen doing his bit. Gripping and loafing don't help.

Pre-War Homes

Everybody, including Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt, wants the veterans housed, Congress has voted $400,000,000 as subsidy to finance such housing. But it looks as if this isn't what the veterans themselves want. A survey by the New York State legislature shows that over 71 per cent of discharged service men want to rent houses, and only 20 per cent to buy shelter. The remaining nine per cent were occupied with other problems. And the United States Employment Service reports that 75 per cent of ex-GIs are making $40 a week, or less, which wouldn't permit a very heavily mortgaged home.

Unless the housing subsidy funds are used with care, a situation may develop in which veterans will assume mortgages beyond their budgets, particularly if general living costs continue to rise. There is also the danger that the houses, built under present building shortages and demand pressures, might be of poor or flimsy construction. Such a combination of mortgage burden and upkeep costs would be a calamity and not the housing solution the nation wants for its service men.

It is a gigantic undertaking to get a huge military force back into civilian living. It requires the brains and the selfless devotion of the nation.

Future Of Helgoland

One piece of German territory wants separation from Germany. Helgoland, the island dot in the North Sea which, till dismantled, was a German fortress for the Elbe and Weser rivers and the great ports of Kiel and Hamburg, would like to join either Great Britain or Denmark.

Helgoland was British once. In 1890 Lord Salisbury, the British Prime Minister, traded it to Germany in exchange for Zanzibar in East Africa, thereby taking a step which his country had many years to regret. Its few inhabitants are largely Frisians, akin to the original Angles and Saxons who colonized England 1500 years ago, and speaking a language as near English as German. Ibsen once wrote a thrilling play about Vikings at Helgoland.

Six years of Nazi rule topped off by six more of war are apparently too much for its people. Under British or Denmark they would feel safer. They will probably have to move somewhere. There is talk of blowing up the island.

Board Of Health Physician Says Polio Outbreak "Not Alarming"

Dr. R. G. Sondag Asserts Diphtheria Causes More Deaths Among Children In State Than Paralysis Has Ever Claimed

By The Associated Press. Dr. R. G. Sondag, director of preventable diseases for the Florida State Board of Health, said yesterday that there are equally important diseases in this section of the country which cause far more deaths in children than poliomyelitis.

"Infantile paralysis is a disease which is dreaded by all parents, and we do not wish to minimize its importance," he stated. Dr. Sondag added, however, that diphtheria causes more deaths in children in Florida than has ever been caused by polio in any one year.

"Diphtheria is an absolutely preventable disease," he declared, "yet no one gets excited about this condition. Tuberculosis is the cause of a great many deaths in Florida, and it, too, can be definitely controlled."

Dr. Sondag said that there was no need for the "mass hysteria" during the past few weeks over the reported increase of infantile paralysis cases in Southern and Southwestern sections of Florida. Public health officials are "concerned" about the situation, but are not "alarmed," he declared.

However, Dr. Sondag asserted that the disease poliomyelitis can reach alarming proportions in Florida if people do not adhere to certain precautionary steps. Dr. Sondag presented the following detailed information on infantile paralysis, its prevention, and symptoms:

The word [poliomyelitis] was derived from a Greek term "Polios," meaning gray, "myelos," meaning marrow, "itis," meaning inflammation. All put together, "poliomyelitis" means an inflammation of the gray marrow of the spinal cord.

Since it is most prevalent in children, it has been given the common name of infantile paralysis. It begins with fever. This is an acute infectious disease beginning with a moderate initial fever, usually headache, and symptoms such as vomiting or constipation, drowsiness attended with periods of irritability, stiffness of the neck and spine, development of a tremor or perhaps exaggerated muscular reflexes after which a paralysis develops in one or more muscular groups, and later atrophy or wasting of the muscles.

Medical science does not as yet know, nor has it been able to identify, the germ which causes this disease. We do know that it is caused by a specific filterable virus, which means that the causative agent is so small that up to the present time it has escaped recognition under the microscope. It is presumed that the nose and throat discharges of infected persons, and probably more frequently the nose and throat discharges from those not suffering a clinical attack of the disease, are more likely to spread the infection.

The bowel discharges also contain the virus or causative agent, and are a factor in the spread of the disease.

It is presumed, therefore, that the disease is transmitted from one individual to another by the discharge from the nose and throat of carriers or persons with subclinical infections. Usually the case which has been diagnosed as poliomyelitis ceases to be a source of infection if isolation techniques are rigidly enforced.

The virus has been found in flies, and every precaution should be taken in the household to reduce the fly population by adequate screening of the home, by the use of commercial sprays containing DDT, and by reducing the possible breeding places of flies.

Under the latter category, we should dispose of all garbage, lower discharges, nose and throat discharges, in a sanitary manner. Garbage containers should be well covered and the premises kept scrupulously clean.

Although no individual is absolutely immune, a high degree of immunity seems to exist in the adult population. Even during epidemics, only one person in several hundred suffers a clinical attack of the disease.

Since this is a disease about which we do not know all that we should like to, we must under existing conditions, take every precautionary measure known to medical science to prevent a further increase of poliomyelitis in Florida.

The recognized methods of controlling this disease are: Isolation of the patient diagnosed as having poliomyelitis for two weeks from the onset of the disease. Definite contacts with a case of poliomyelitis should be restricted to their premises for a period of two weeks.

Disinfection of the nose, throat, and bowel discharges, and articles soiled herewith should be carried out.

Known contacts, too, should follow this precautionary measure, since, we presume carriers to be the most important factor in spreading the disease. All children with fever or any sign of beginning illness should be isolated in bed pending an accurate diagnosis. Observe your children carefully each day, and at the first sign of an infection such as fever, headache, or nasal discharge, isolate your child in bed, call your physician and wait until an accurate diagnosis has been made of the child's condition.

Protection of children against unnecessary contacts with other persons, especially those outside their own homes, during an increased prevalence of polio, is a wise precautionary step to follow. Any contemplated nose and throat surgery should be definitely postponed until the season of increase of this disease has passed.

Avoid undue physical strain, especially in those cases of known exposure to the disease. Avoid unnecessary travel and visiting during an increased incidence of the disease. This last recommendation meets with considerable disapproval, because many people have planned months in advance for a nice Summer vacation.

Even in the most prevalent areas the chance of contracting poliomyelitis is one in five thousand but we feel every precautionary measure should be followed to reduce the incidence of this disease. Napoleon Bonaparte originated the idea of odd and even house numbers for different sides of the street.

Virginia Fights Rocky Mountain Fever

RICHMOND, Va.—(AP)—Rocky Mountain spotted fever is the name, but Virginia in the Appalachians had the most cases in the nation last year—93. Health authorities now are distributing vaccine against the disease and warning people to check any skin sensations occurring after walks in the woods or grasslands, for fear they may be from the wood tick that spreads the ailment. The tick waits four hours after biting before shooting germs into the skin. About one case of the disease in six is fatal.

Learn To Walk Again At 95

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP)—At 95 a Bedford woman is learning to walk for the third time. She is Mrs. Karen-Hapeich Saunders, recovering at a hospital from a break in her right leg. Aided by the latest device, a "walker," she is making such rapid progress that attendants say she will soon be able to discard it. Just two years ago, Mrs. Saunders was treated for a break in her left leg, from which she has entirely recovered. She believes "old age is a happy time of life," but the ways of this day make her gasp. "Men today are mighty forward," she remarked when some of them kissed her on her birthday. "When I was being courted, a kiss meant something."

Why Its An Error To Drop A Foul Fly

CLEMSON, S. C. (AP)—Some people don't know it but a fielder is charged with an error when he drops a foul fly ball. Here's why.

In the Clemson-Georgia game last night, Charlie Macklin, Clemson's catcher, dropped a foul fly ball. Macklin was promptly placed on the next pitch for a three-run homer.

INSIDE SPORTS REPORT

Public Sentiment

During recent chats with numerous Sanford baseball fans, questions have arisen as to why the baseball association and the manager tolerate the play of this player and that one. Statements have been made concerning one player or another.

City Soft Ball Park

A sore spot among the many young Sanfordites that are participants in the City Softball League is the poor lighting facilities and the conditions of the grounds at the Lakeland Park.

Let's stop a moment, analyze the situation, and spike the foul words.

Naturally the club is not composed of a group of stars. We all realize that. Take the club and compare it with any other in the league. Surely, the other teams may have better individual players. But this is even true of the major leagues. The St. Louis Cardinals have the "Mr. Shortstop" of the major leagues. Does this mean that other shortstops are no good simply because he is a little better than the others? Not at all. The same applies to the local club. Just because some other club may have a better individual player than the Feds, it doesn't mean that ours are no good.

Let's stop a moment, analyze the situation, and spike the foul words.

The fellows in the infield are a good bunch of men. They're always hustling. The pitching staff is improving and certainly no one can underestimate the outer gardeners. We must have a good ball club or we could never have ploughed our way into second place in the Florida State League.

Veteran Chicago Mouthpiece Has Announced 2,000 Cub Ball Games

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY
CHICAGO, June 20 (AP)—Paul Foye has seen 1,250 National League baseball games and he figures on seeing at least 600 more.

SPORTS ODDITY

In a recent game between the St. Louis Browns and the New York Yankees, the two relief pitchers—Jack Kramer and John Murphy—were the ones who were tagged with the victory and defeat, respectively. Each was listed as working two-thirds of an inning.

Let's stop a moment, analyze the situation, and spike the foul words.

Despite the ever increasing infatuation of women by sports, the spectators were "better" than moved in the old days. Foye has undergone some occupational changes, but he used to make his measurement in the press box, and then moved them three times along the ball park side of the stadium, and the third time was the third base line.

Let's stop a moment, analyze the situation, and spike the foul words.

"The game now is faster and more spectacular," he says. "Crowds are bigger and people are more interested. They like to see that ball sail out of the park."

Let's stop a moment, analyze the situation, and spike the foul words.

Slade declared himself that he didn't believe he could make it. He was excited, too, and then Jake Flowers also got the news with a minor injury. "Then," Slade declared, "Robbie came to me." He asked, "How about you, Fresno?" Fresno says, "I laughed and said, 'It looks like it's either you or me, Robbie, and I'd hate to see you out there.' And so Fresno got the job."

Let's stop a moment, analyze the situation, and spike the foul words.

Congressional Go-By Appears In Merger Plan

Congress Does Not Have Time Nor Inclination To Consider Truman Plan

By Associated Press. It is becoming increasingly clear that President Truman's latest plan for unification of the armed forces will get the Congressional go-by. There are several signs which indicate that Congress neither has the time nor the inclination to consider the Presidential plan before it adjourns next month.

Mr. Truman wants the armed forces unified under a single department of national defense. Congress appears to be going ahead with plans for separate big Army and Navy air forces. One of the President's specific recommendations is for one huge air force. In other words, Congress is proceeding almost as though Mr. Truman had not sent his unification plan to Capitol Hill at the close of last week.

In a speech in Detroit earlier this week, the assistant Secretary for air, W. Stuart Symington, said the budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 provides more money for the Navy's air branch than the Army's. Members of an Army appropriations subcommittee have indicated that the Army Air Corps allotment would not exceed budget estimates. At the same time, a member of a Navy appropriations subcommittee has stated that his colleagues do not want the Navy, or any major component of it, relegated to a secondary position.

Appropriations are being recommended by Congressional committees for the Army Air Force on the one hand and the Navy Air Force on the other. But that is not the only reason to believe that Mr. Truman's proposal is destined for a pigeonhole. Several congressmen have made it plain that there is no immediate intention to take up the unification plan. Chairman Andrew May of the House Military Committee said frankly that he doubts whether Congress will have time to act on it in view of plans to adjourn for the year next month.

A C-54 PLANE from Morrison Field (A), West Palm Beach, Fla., crashed on a mountainside on Taboga Island (B), eight miles off the Canal Zone coast. The plane exploded as it struck the mountain. An Army rescue party recovered 19 bodies from the wreckage. All 23 persons aboard the craft, including 17 passengers, were believed dead. (International)

U.S. Urges 4-Power Program To Keep Japanese Disarmed

Plan Calls For U. S., Britain, Russia And China To Sign 25-Year Agreement

WASHINGTON, June 21. (AP)—The United States is urging that a four-power commission be set up to prevent any revival of Japan's military power. Invitations to join in the plan have been extended to Britain, Russia, and China—and the word from London is that Britain warmly approves the idea, in principle. A Foreign Office spokesman said that Britain will have to consult with the dominion governments, especially Australia and New Zealand, before any decision is made.

Although it was not announced until today, the plan was put forward by Secretary of State Byrnes last April, in conjunction with his similar proposal for Germany. It calls for the United States, Britain, Russia and China to sign a treaty to keep Japan disarmed for at least 25 years. They would do it by creating a joint commission to keep a constant check on Japanese disarmament.

The treaty would not begin to operate until Japan has been completely disarmed and demilitarized by the occupying forces under General MacArthur. It would mean, in effect, that at the end of the mass occupation, the United States would give up its dominant role in Japan. Small forces of troops especially trained in disarmament control would take over.

Under the treaty, Japan's armed forces would be demilitarized and to have no weapons and no explosives, except those needed in industry. Neither could they have any military bases or war plants. If any violation should be discovered, the four powers would move in with the necessary forces to remedy the situation.

At the close of the period covered by the original treaty, the agreement could be renewed for 25 years more, if necessary. Any modifications to be made then would depend on the progress made by Japan toward a peaceful and democratic life.

MacArthur Urges Consideration Of New Constitution

TOKYO, June 21.—(AP)—General MacArthur told the Japanese Diet today the nation was confronted with one of the most vital moments in its life. The Supreme Commander urged the Diet, therefore, to give full consideration without political bias to the new "no war" constitution it is studying. The constitution renounces forever Japan's sovereign right to wage war, said MacArthur.

"It is for the people of Japan, acting through their duly elected representatives, to determine its form and contents—whether it be adopted, modified or rejected," MacArthur's formal statement was read to the Diet.

The Supreme Commander said last March when the constitution first was proposed that it had his full approval.

Tribunal Head Finds Jap Movie Not Convincing

Presiding Officer Halts Prosecution Showing Of Film

TOKYO, June 21. (AP)—The presiding officer at the Tokyo war crimes trial has found a 12-year-old Japanese movie not very convincing evidence against high-ranking Japanese war lords. The picture had been exhibited by the prosecution as evidence of an early effort to spread military propaganda among the Japanese people.

One reel had been shown when the president of the international military tribunal, Sir William Webb, was ordered to halt the showing of the film. Webb, who presided over the trial, said the picture was a dismal failure and the court was into recess.
