Teachers' Pay Hike Dims, Angel Opines

Chances that Seminole County teachers and other school personnel receiving a pay raise for 1970-71 term appeared rather dim after a Monday meeting of the school salary committee with administrative officials and board members.

Teachers were being asked that beginning first year teachers receive a $7,000 starting salary with an index figured on this base to cover all instructional and non-instructional school employees but after the finances for next year were explained by Walter Teague, assistant superintendent, it appeared this request and any other might be too much for the system to finance, and to fund already committed expenditures.

Another $300,000 might come from federal moneys, but this fund is to be withheld because of the de-segregation problems or the possibility that it will not even be funded this year by the federal government.

Strikes And Spares

Yes, it is true that one of the teams in the City League has been "contributing" to their city each week and with the accumulated amount does plan on going to the Bahamas at the end of the bowling season.

Brewer And Lee - Weekly Winners
Once again we had tremendous participation in the Bowler of the Week roll-off on Tuesday night. So many that it required the separate divisions; one for the higher and another for the lower averaged bowlers.

Her First Sanctioned 200
While giving the opening lessons or instructions for the Seminole Junior College bowling classes, I emphasize that "a strike is nothing more than luck." All bowlers can well remember those times when you consistently hit that one three pocket and all you get is a bunch of 10s, or from the portside, a solid seven!

Her First Sanctioned 200
Mary Jo Langer of the Friday Seminole Junior College class struck out enough of those 10s to finally finish with a 217!

Player Back For Monsanto

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — South African Gary Player, one of the world's most outstanding professional golfers, returned to the American tour with an offer of exhibitions to benefit the United Negro College Fund.

Player, one of the favorites for the $30,000 first prize in the Monsanto Open, a 72-hole test beginning Thursday, volunteered for a series of exhibitions with leading American Negro professionals.

Player, whose native country has a national policy of apartheid, mentioned such players as Charlie Sifford, Pete Brown and Lee Elder as possible opponents.

"I want to do this to offer concrete physical evidence to support my statements," said the tough little South African, who earlier had called for sports to be divorced from politics.

Player, whose last previous appearance in the United States was last fall, said his business manager, Mark McCormack of Cleveland, is working on details of such exhibitions.

Player is one of four men to win the Big Four of Professional golf — the U.S. and British Opens, the Masters and the PGA National Championship. It was during the course of last year's PGA tournament that he became the target of demonstrators who threatened to disrupt the event.

Player shot a 68 in an exhibition Monday, his first appearance in this country this year and played a casual practice round with U.S. Open champion Orville Moody Tuesday on the 6,628-yard par 71 Pensacola Country Club course.

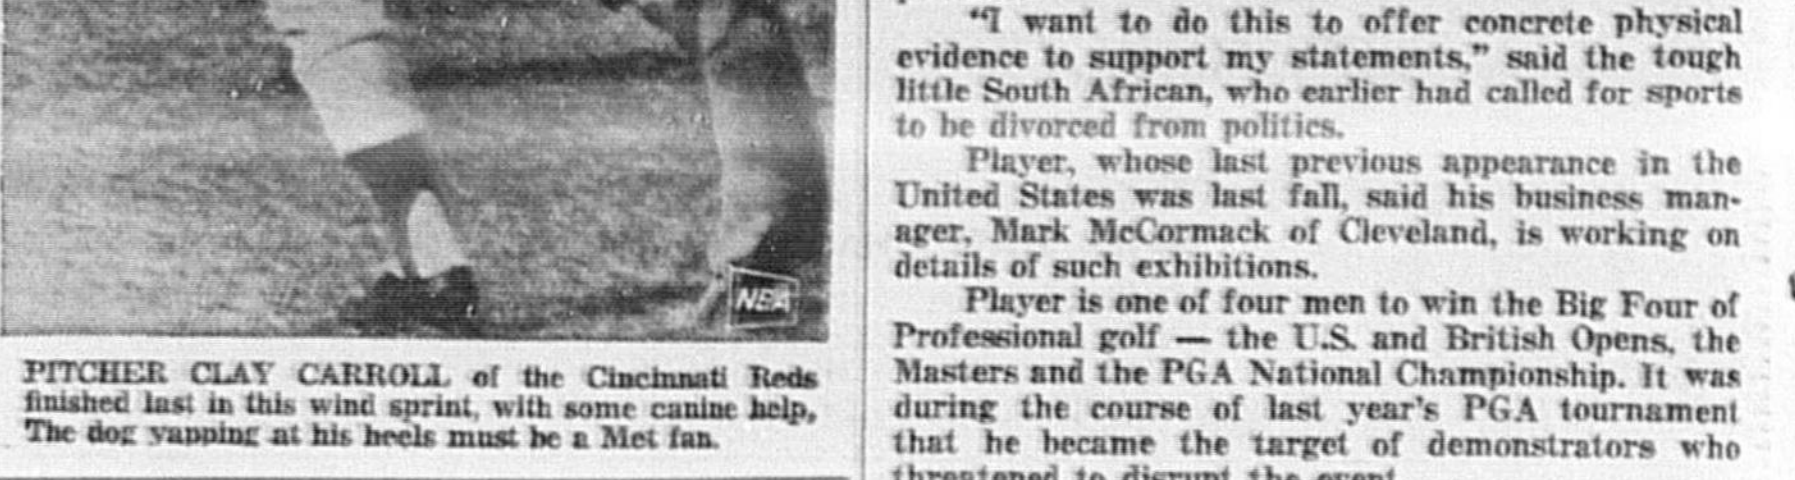

Player said that Moody also had volunteered to play in the benefit exhibition with Negro pros. Player, who won over $100,000 in only 16 tournaments last year, said he plans to play in about 15 or 16 this year in two or three trips to this country.

One of the strongest fields of the year opposed him. Among them were Arnold Palmer, who lost a heartbreaker in the Citrus Open to Bob Lunn last week; defending champion Jim Colbert, all four of the major title holders from last year; and all but the Brown, Lee Trevino, Tommy Spivey, including Lynn Duggan and Bruce Devlin.

Seattle Change Off??

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Amid threats of multimillion-dollar law suits, court injunctions and antitrust challenges, the American League abruptly called off the scheduled Tuesday meeting of the Seattle baseball franchise.

The league meeting in Tampa was postponed, Cronin said, because of "recent indications, not withstanding the American League's decision to keep the Pilots in Seattle, that an attempt will be made to move the franchise prior to the commencement of the forthcoming baseball season."

Seminole Splatter Lake Wier Nine

By ROBERT SMITH
Herald Sports Staff
Seminole High's diamond nine, behind the one hit pitching of Kip Braden and Paul Watson, evened his season record at 2-2 with a convincing 4-0 win over visiting Lake Wier yesterday at Seminole High field.

The Seminole Splatters scored in the very first inning as Tommy Gracy swatted a single and second base. Ronnie Nobles pushed Gracy across with a double against the center field fence.

The remaining Tribe runs were collected in the fourth inning of play. Nobles scurried to first base on a Lake Wier error. Gordon Braden followed him, getting to first on another error. Kip Braden got to first on yet another error, scoring Nobles in the process. Paul Watson's single drove in Braden and Braden.

Braden struck out eight and walked three before Watson replaced him in the fifth frame. Braden gave up the hit while Watson walked two.

Most of the Seminole bases came by way of errors, as the team only had three hits. LAKE WIER... SEMINOLE...

Head Coach Paul Mikler, of Orlando said that the main problem for the Lions was their pitching. He went on to say that Winter Park has a good team and a strong left handed pitcher.

This Friday, the Lions will play their third game of the season as they trek to Ocoee. On Saturday the Lions will play their first home game as they host Sanford.

Head Coach Paul Mikler, of Orlando said that the main problem for the Lions was their pitching. He went on to say that Winter Park has a good team and a strong left handed pitcher.

Many Records Shattered Impossible Dream?

If Seminole High basketball Coach Joe Mills were to compose a song pertaining to the 1969-70 season, he would have to call it "The Impossible Dream." Impossible as it was, it did happen.

The Seminole boys defeated 83-68 last Saturday night by the Martin County High Tigers in Stuart. It was the finals of the Class A Region 2 tournament, and the loss meant it was the last game of the season for the Tribe, giving them a record breaking 20-8 season record.

After the New Year, the Seminole started off with a big win over the New Smyrna Barracudas, 52-39. Kearsse, with 21 points, led in the scoring for the Seminole for the eighth consecutive time.

They topped Kissimmee 65-53 and then on the talented Hornets 43-46. Bill Corso came through with 17 points to help take the win.

The Seminole five hit Palatka South 48-47 in the first round of competition of the Class A Region 2 tourney, but fell from competition as the last to host, Martin County High, 63-68.

They then defeated Orlorio, Merritt Island and Lynn, before falling to Apopka. They topped Eau Gallie, but then fell once more to Deland. The Faber Lanes, New Smyrna, with 21 points, led in the scoring for the Seminole for the eighth consecutive time.

Hounds Rap Dogs

By CHUCK GRILE
Herald Sports Staff
Last night at the new Lyman High baseball field, the Lyman Greyhounds snapped a five game losing streak by beating Deland 4-3 in a game that went right down to the wire. This is the first all-time event this year that Lyman has beaten Deland, as the Bulldogs have wiped out the Greyhounds in both football and basketball. It comes as a very gratifying win to Coach Jim Payne as in past years his Hounds have had trouble with the Volusia County 9.

Haywood Hot & Mad

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Spencer Haywood was hot and John Beasley was mad.
The result was a spectacular 4-point performance by Denver's Haywood, the super rookie center, but Beasley, spurred by an earlier scuffle, sparked by Dallas Chaparrals to a 124-116 American Basketball Association victory Tuesday night. It left the Chaps one-half game behind the leading Rockets in the West Division.

Grey Boyles Honored

Sanford Herald sports staff... Grey Boyles, swim coach, assistant football coach and junior varsity basketball coach at Seminole High, was honored this month as a special feature of THE COACHING CLINIC, printed by Prentice-Hall of Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey.
The magazine distributed nation-wide, and is widely accepted by coaches and physical education instructors.
This is the second time Boyles has been honored by this magazine asking him to do a story. Two years ago he did a feature on swimming, and this month's issue carries Boyles' story, titled "Motivation Drills For Defensive Football."
Boyles stated in the article, "It's my feeling that a boy must have fun and really enjoy football or it will not respond to the coaching."
Golf Dan Sikas scored a hole-in-one in two PGA tournaments in 1969.

Refugee Addresses Women

By MILDRED HANEY
 At a recent meeting of the DeBarry Women's Club, Mrs. Jan Kosowski of Deland gave a talk on Communism, "Our attitude toward Communism, Italy, and then to England. In 1950 she came to the United States and has lived in Deland for 10 years. She also spoke on socialism in Russia and China and gave a description of life in these countries, recommending the book "Amerika."

Seventy members and seven guests were welcomed by President Mrs. William Grein. Mrs. Paul Thum introduced two new members, Mrs. J. E. Thompson and Mrs. Gertrude E. Young. Mrs. Charles Davis opened with a prayer and Mrs. John Dick, Americanism chairman, led in pledge to the Flag with Red Skelton's rendition of Pledge to Pin.

Guests were Mrs. Annabelle Merrill and Mrs. Walter Black. Hostess, Mrs. Harvey Jones, was assisted by Mrs. George Rich, Mrs. Frank Weiden, Mrs. Claire Fellows, Mrs. J. E. Seiter, Mrs. Harry Miller, Mrs. Gustav Deisinger and Mrs. Glenn Smith. The table was decorated in a patriotic theme in honor of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

Mrs. Frank C. Woodruff spoke on the Eye Bank. She informed the members that Seminole Memorial Hospital was the seventh hospital in Florida to carry on this program, and there are now forty hospitals participating. To date, 60 pairs of eyes have been donated by DeBarry for research and the prevention of blindness. Anyone interested may contact her or the hospital.

AN INTENSELY INTERESTING talk by a woman who had experienced many almost unbelievable trials during the conflict the past years in Europe, held the attention of the women attending the meeting of the DeBarry Women's Club. Welcoming the speaker, Danuta Kosowski, (center) are Mrs. Rose Fortbeck, hospitality chairman (left) and Mrs. Ruth Cressney, program chairman (right). A writer and translator in Washington Information Department, Mrs. Kosowski is also a correspondent and translator for the Polish people who are in London. She now lives in Deland with her family. Southern Music Reviewed At Daughters Gathering

The home of Mrs. M. R. Strickland in Loch Arbor was the beautiful setting of the Norman DeVere Howard chapter meeting of United Daughters of the Confederacy with "Southern Music" as the theme of the program. Mrs. Troy Ray ably presented the program reflecting wide research and knowledge of her subject.

She stated the South being rich in its heritage of romantic beauty, culture, worship, and folk-lore, dear to the hearts of every Southerner, has contributed much to music as related to its history.

During the War Between the States many songs were written and today remain favorites of the people. "My Maryland" widely considered one of the greatest war lyrics, was written in 1861 by James Ryder Randall who was then an "exile" in Louisiana.

" Dixie," the most popular of the States was written by Daniel D. Emmett of Ohio in 1859. It was a big hit and was soon carried to the battlefields where it became a great inspirational song of the Confederate Army. Those who value the heritage of Dixie and are proud of the traditions the song represents should not remain silent when efforts are made to banish it from college campuses and schools.

Florida, fortunately, has a law passed by Gov. Claude Kirk's legislature, which declares "Dixie" shall not be outlawed or banned in Florida schools.

Best loved and known of these were those composed by Stephen C. Foster. Although he was born in Western Pennsylvania, his songs are best identified with the South. Among his best are "Old Folks at Home," "Swanee River," "Beautiful Dreamer," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Swanee River," "Old Sassafras" and "Old Black Joe." In 1940 Stephen Foster became the first musician to be elected to Hall of Fame of New York University.

In Mrs. Ray's presentation, she stated those of an living in Florida should visit the Stephen Foster Memorial located on the Swanee River not far from Lake Wales. Ironically, Foster is said never to have seen the river for which his song is named, but selected the river because of its poetic and rhythmic sound.

Much other music has come from the South as well as great musicians. While not a Southern composition, "God Bless America," written by Irving Berlin, should be in our hearts and sung with love and reverence for God's guidance. We can pray that "The Faith of Our Fathers" will live on in the minds and hearts of our people. She concluded by saying that with songs in our hearts surely we can live in peace with our fellow man, at home and throughout all the world.

Routine business was conducted by the president, Mrs. H. B. McCall. The hostess was assisted in serving delightful refreshments by her daughters, Mrs. Thomas Bowden of Winter Park, to the 15 members and guests attending.

Serve Yam Pancakes For Brunch

By CECILY BROWNSTONE, AP Food Editor

You won't be disappointed if you decide to make these Big Yam Pancakes for a weekend brunch. They're light, flavorful and interestingly spiced. They taste just right with butter and maple syrup. And crisp brown pork-sausage links are another perfect accompaniment.

This recipe will feed six to eight, so company can be expected. But should you have only three or four eaters, it's an easy formula to divide in half.

BIG YAM PANCAKES

- 1 cup sifted flour
- 2 tablespoons baking powder
- 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 2 cans (each 16 or 17 ounces) yams, drained and mashed or 2 1/2 cups mashed cooked fresh yams
- 6 large eggs
- 6 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
- 1 and 1/3 cups milk

On wax paper sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg.

Into a large mixing bowl turn the yams. Thoroughly beat in the eggs, one at a time. Beat in butter. Gradually beat in milk. Add sifted dry ingredients; stir just until combined.

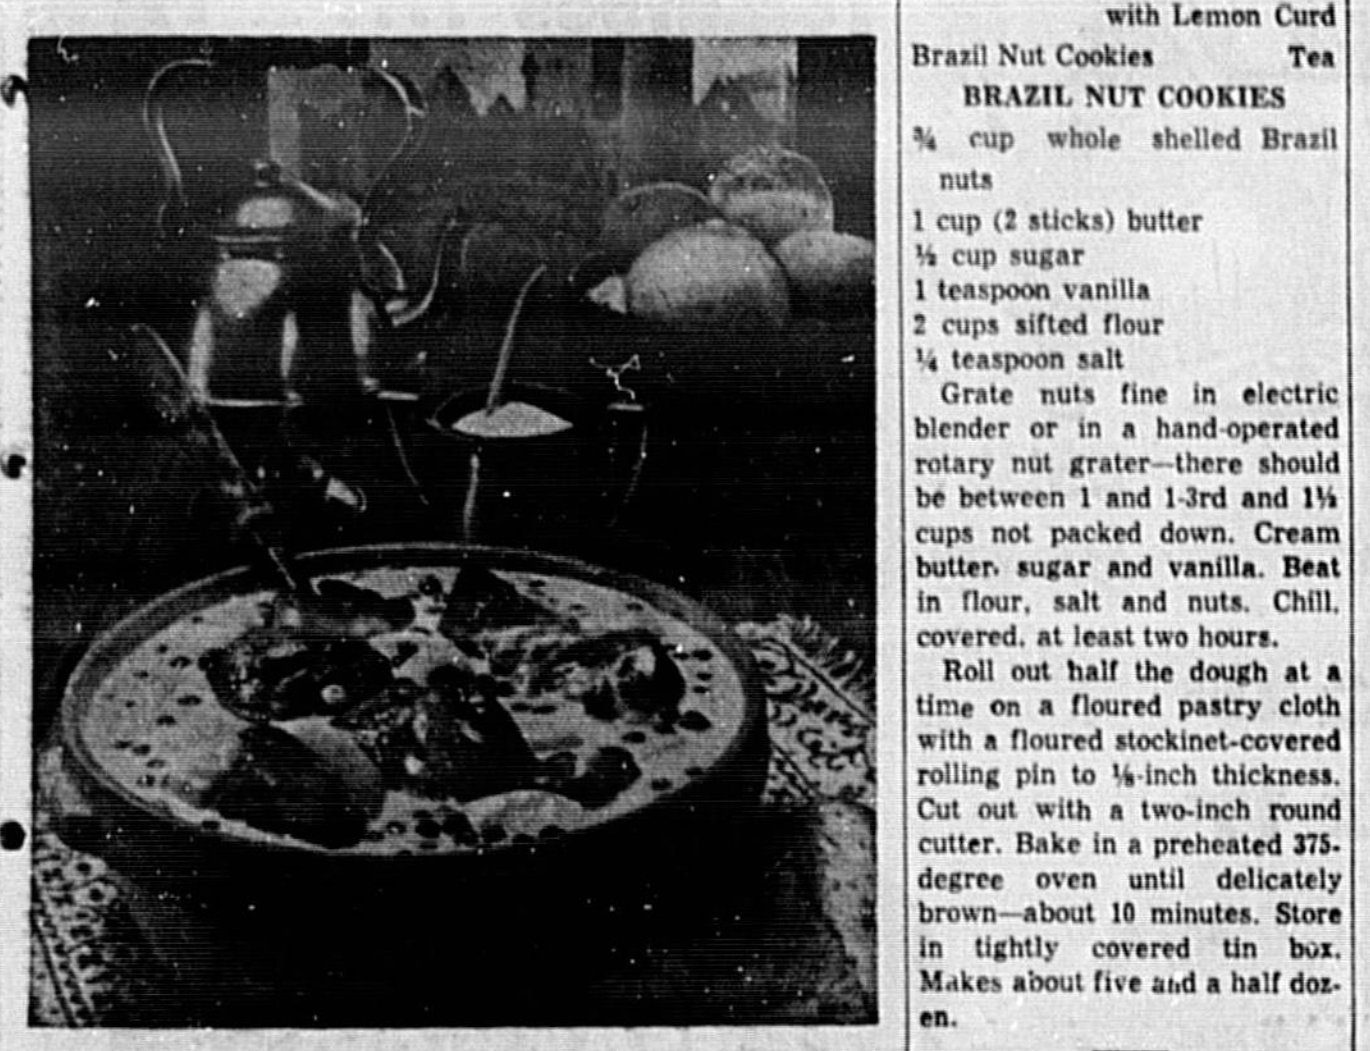

Bake on a hot greased griddle, pouring 1/4 cup batter for each pancake; if necessary, spread batter with spatula to make each pancake about 4 inches wide. Cook until bubbles form on surface and edges look dry; turn and brown other side. Keep pancakes hot in a warm oven while rest are being baked.

Serve with butter, maple syrup and browned pork-sausage links.

Makes about two dozen large pancakes.

What's Cooking On St. Patrick's Day?

ST. PATRICK'S Day fare... a lamb stew with vegetables and a creamy gravy.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE, Associated Press Food Editor

Serve an Irish dish on St. Patrick's Day!

Irish Stew is perfect. That means a lamb stew with vegetables—onions, potatoes, carrots and green peas. The peas aren't traditional but they taste good and add a touch of green.

IRISH LAMB STEW

- 4 1/2 pounds lamb neck slices
- 3/4 medium onions, peeled and sliced
- Salt and pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon rosemary leaves, crushed
- 2 chicken bouillon cubes
- 1 pound (2 large) potatoes, pared and cut in 1-inch cubes
- 1 pound (6 medium) carrots (pared and cut in half crosswise and then cut into eighths to make long strips)
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen green peas
- 1 container (8 ounces) light cream
- 1/2 cup flour

Cut away fat from around lamb neck slices. Into a large sautépan turn the lamb, onion, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, rosemary, bouillon cubes and 2 cups water. Cover and simmer until lamb is tender—about one hour. Add potatoes, carrots and 1/4 teaspoon salt, stirring once, until vegetables are tender—about 25 minutes. Add peas and cook until tender—about five minutes.

With a slotted spoon, remove meat and vegetables to a serving dish; deep warm. Skin excess fat from broth. To broth add cream and the flour blended until smooth with one-third cup cold water. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly until thickened and boiling; add salt and pepper to taste. Pour over lamb and vegetables. Serve at Once.

Makes six hearty servings.

CHRISTINE'S FUDGE FROSTING

- 4 squares (4 ounces) unsweetened chocolate

Osgood Pie Uses Brandy

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

A Greenwich Village restaurant in New York City, specializing in Texas-Mexican cuisine, serves an interesting dessert called Osgood Pie. At first we didn't remember ever seeing a recipe for it. But searching among our 3,000 cookbooks yielded results. Two cookbooks from Texas and one devoted to Southern cookery had versions of the dessert.

Just to add variety, here's a new way to make Osgood Pie. Although other Osgood Pies call for a baked pie shell, our recipe uses an easy-to-put-together and mighty good Oatmeal Crust.

NEW OSGOOD PIE
Oatmeal Crust, see recipe below
3 tablespoons butter, soft
1-3rd cup boiling water
2-3rd cup raisins
1/4 cup sifted flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1 large egg
1/2 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
1/2 cup coarsely broken pecans
Brandy-flavored whipped cream

Prepare and bake the Oatmeal Crust; let stand at room temperature while you prepare the following filling.
Into a small mixing bowl turn the butter and boiling water. Stir to melt butter. Add raisins. Set aside.
Into a medium mixing bowl sift together the flour, salt, cinnamon and cloves. With a spoon beat in egg and brown sugar. Stir in raisin mixture and pecans.
Turn into Oatmeal Crust. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until set and browned—30 to 35 minutes. If edge of crust browns too much toward end of baking cover it with foil. Serve warm or at room temperature with brandy-flavored whipped cream.

OATMEAL CRUST
3 tablespoons butter, melted
2 tablespoons firmly packed dark brown sugar
1 cup quick-cooking oats
2 tablespoons sifted flour
In a small mixing bowl stir together the butter, brown sugar, oats and flour. Press firmly onto bottom and sides (not up rim) of an eight-inch glass pie plate. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for five minutes. Remove from oven. Use as directed in New Osgood Pie recipe.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Marty, a divorced man, was fit to be tied when he found out that his former wife was doing a lot of drinking. What irked him most was that he was still sending her an alimony check once a month. Finally, Marty went to court to demand a reduction of his alimony payments.

"I work mighty hard for that money," he informed the judge. "Why should I have to pay for her alcoholic binges?"

However, he failed to win the reduction he sought. The judge said once his ex-wife had possession of the alimony, she had a right to spend it any way she pleased.

Most courts have taken a similar, hands-off attitude regarding the behavior of a divorcee. In fact, they have refused to cut her alimony even when she has engaged in immoral conduct with other men.

One court summed up the matter this way:

"After the divorce, the parties go into the world as strangers to each other. (The wife) is no longer one's duty of purity to the husband."

Nevertheless, judges sometimes do reveal a degree of easiness about the gay divorcee, as well as a degree of sympathy for the ex-husband—forced to foot the bills for a woman who is not behaving the way she should.

Accordingly there is a tendency to grant a reduction in alimony if, as a result of her misbehavior, the divorcee's financial needs are actually less than they were before.

That kind of situation arises, said one court, when some new boy friend has taken on the task of supporting her.

American Gourmets Go Irish

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Writer
LIMERICK, Ireland (AP)

Dating roast chicken and string beans with a knife and your fingers is a messy business.

But washed down with a goblet of spiced wine, and served by seven beautiful Irish girls in medieval dress who sing traditional songs around a hearth beside a roaring open fire, it becomes an experience.

The quiet scene was in Bunratty Castle, a 15th century fortress between here and Shannon Airport, where thousands of Americans come every year to be entertained by Ireland's boldest tourist gimmick.

Picture an old castle lit by flambeaux and candles, with tapestries around the walls, a brazier in the center of the stone floor, an assembly room to warm yourself by, a medieval banquet with authentic 15th century dishes, and Irish beauties in period costume.

You could almost forget it was 1970.

Perhaps at moments it was too gimmicky to be taken seriously.

"Good evening, milord," said the red-haired Irish girl, dropping a curtsy. "Welcome to the castle. Would you be carin' for a goblet of hot claret spiced with cloves, milord?"

Was it claret? The cloves were so strong you couldn't be sure.

In the banquet hall everyone really got down to it. The guests sat at long wooden tables and the maidens tied big colored bibs round their necks, as if preparing them for a haircut.

A wooden bowl, a wooden dish, a wooden goblet, a wooden finger bowl filled with water, and a pointed knife. That's your equipment.

The meal came in four removes (old English word for courses) and was said to be prepared exactly according to 15th century recipes. For that you have to take the word of the Shannon Free Airport Development Company, which runs the castle and its attractions as a nonprofit enterprise.

A spokesman said: "We searched through many old medieval recipes, and chose those that seemed most likely to suit modern palates."

So we started with Braume Brose Sw Lambarde, which turned out to be thick soup with vegetables—you pick up the bowl and tip the soup into your mouth. Then came Herbalede Allowes, a concoction of vegetables and spices; and after that the chicken—the stage at which everyone dipped freely into his finger bowl.

Finally, there was a sponge cake with syllabub—a medieval version of whipped cream.

During each remove, and for a half-hour at the end of the meal, the girls gathered round an Irish harp and sang—everything from ancient Gaelic laments to "Eileen Oge" and "The Garden Where the Praties Grow."

Shannon Airport officials claim the banquet has proved so popular since it was started in the early '60s that they now have to put it on twice a night in the tourist season. A spokesman said more than 30,000 people sat down to the greasy meal last year.

They make no secret of aiming the show principally at Americans.

One girl, addressing the diners as "noble guests," recites a brief history of the castle, and actually manages to find an American angle in it. William Penn, founder of Pennsylvania, is believed to have lived there as a small child, when his father, Admiral Sir William Penn, was commander of the garrison.

The Irish stage these banquets at three of their ancient castles, all on the West Coast. At Kinagoe Castle you can watch a pageant of Ireland's history while you eat. Dunguaire Castle the show has a literary flavor, with readings from Sean O'Casey and J.M. Synge.

But even at Dunguaire your fingers end up greasy.

Computer Goofs

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Donald Johnson, executive director of the Kentucky State Fair, reports that a highly-touted computer failed to process prize payments for 1969.

He said it choked up on tobacco payments, stumbled over the quarter horse show and ran scared on the rabbit prizes. The computer has been replaced by people who pulled his strings.

Russian Soups Not Skippy

By TOM HOGG
Associated Press Writer

A country so vast that it stretches 7,668 miles between its eastern and western borders is bound to have a wide variety of foods.

The Soviet leader runs the gamut from the haute cuisine of modern Europe to the culinary delights of ancient Persia and the Ottoman Empire.

Russian eating habits never have ceased to astonish foreigners. In the days of the czars, rich landowners often begged their guests for 50 dishes at a single meal. Winston Churchill, on a visit to the Kremlin during World War II, sat in open awe while Joseph Stalin topped off an evening carousing by devouring a whole roast pig.

Ivan the Terrible may have been a far cry from an ideal ruler, but there was nothing gingerly about his ability as a host. One European told of an evening at Ivan's court when 300 nobles sat down to a banquet featuring such dainties as roach pate, spiced swan, crane seasoned with ginger, loin of bear and saddle of reindeer.

Peter the Great combined the taste of an epicure with the voracity of a starving serf.

An average supper for Peter consisted of a soup containing four varieties of cabbage, followed by such incongruities as gruel, pig with sour cream sauce, lamprey, eels, salted meat, ham and lambing cheese. The ruler washed down this conglomeration with a flood of beverages ranging from a sour beer called quass to vintage Burgundy.

The lavish days of the czars are gone, but the Russians are still prodigious eaters—and drinkers. Instead of imbibing cocktails, they usually precede a meal with several belts of vodka. And belt is the word—the Russians never were sippers. It may be the colorless, odorless liquor known in the West. Or it might be subroka, a yellowish, herb-flavored vodka, or gorilka which boasts a pot of red pepper in the bottom of each bottle and after a few months takes on the aspects of an active volcano. We tried gorilka in Odessa more than 20 years ago and still wince at the memory.

The Russian meal, whether it be at the home of a top commander or a tractor driver, invariably leads off with soup. There is hearty sauerkraut soup, spicy pickle and kidney soup and an epicurean creation of sliced sturgeon and dry white wine.

And there are the countless varieties of borsch, a soup which would serve as an entire meal at most American tables.

Here are two Russian soups at either end of the spectrum: Ukrainian Borsch which one might find in a workers' kitchen and an exotic combination of champagne and salmon stink which one would associate with the fancier hotels in Moscow.
