Brain Cell Changes Come With Aging

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries. I've had cataracts removed from both eyes.

I got new glasses just a few months ago and in that short time my vision has worsened. I also have trouble remembering names. For the past year or two, I have become forgetful and somewhat confused.

Is there anything I can do to retard the hardening of the arteries? Could hardening of the arteries cause me to lose my mind altogether and become completely confused later on?

I'm 77 and know these conditions are common with old age. There are medicines that help to relieve associated anxiety and depression.

It's important in such instances to remain active, have goals and try to maintain your interest in life. It also helps to stay in the same surroundings if at all possible. Familiar objects and surroundings seem to help reinforce the functions of the brain and enable the person to avoid some confusion.

Some of these problems are not just something that happens in old age. Some may be from diseases that have not been fully defined yet. You see them occurring in people in their early 70s and sometimes even before that. On the other hand, you see people living in well past 90 and continuing to be as sharp as a needle.

I am sending you the Health Letter number 13-6 on Cataracts. Other readers who want this information can send 75 cents in check or coin with long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1000, Radio City Station, New York.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDEOOL For Wednesday, September 12, 1979

YOUR BIRTHDAY
Sept. 12, 1979
Alliances formed this coming year will be of help to you in material ways. Someone who once did something good for you will be in a position to do even more for you in the months ahead.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Unless you marshal your forces properly today you may not be able to accomplish all you hope to. Be wary of situations where the odds are not in your favor. How to get along with other signs is one of the sections you'll enjoy in your new new Astro-Graph, Box 406, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10101. Be sure to specify birth date.

LIBRA (Sept. 22-Oct. 23)
Do not advise another to do something today unless you know from personal experience that it will work. If he or she fails, you'll be blamed.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Joint ventures could become a sticky concern today if you get involved with incompetent associates. Do it yourself, rather than delegating.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
Let no one pressure you into making important decisions today. In order to keep their good will, you may use fealty judgment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Give co-workers the velvet glove treatment today if you hope to gain their cooperation. Being pushy when you should say "please" will prove disastrous.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Avoid situations with your peers today that have political overtones. Treat all your friends equally, instead of favoring favorites.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Try not to bring up domestic issues that will arouse your mate's opposition. It's not likely that these matters can be resolved today.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Be careful how you phrase remarks to others today. Your words could be taken out of context and interpreted a way you didn't intend.

Taurus (April 20-May 20)
Your normal caution in managing your resources could wear you today and cause complications. Don't allow extravagant whims to gain control.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Attempting to juggle too many projects at one time is not a wise course of action today. Limit your agenda to top priority items.

Cancer (June 21-July 21)
A failure to attend to your responsibilities today may be due to seeing them in your imagination as more difficult than they really are. Think "win."

LEO (July 22-Aug. 23)
Pals who usually don't give you any grief may not give you any today. If you're willing to excuse their behavior, they'll excuse yours.

Garbage cans line alleyway behind Mr. P's supper club today.

Garbage, Delivery Trucks Spell Problem In Alley...

The city of Sanford has implemented two steps to help alleviate a problem with raw garbage stored in an alley between First and Second streets and damage caused by delivery trucks.

Sanford city commissioners okayed the construction of a garbage bin at the rear of Mr. P's Supper Club, behind which the alley runs.

Two downtown Sanford merchants had complained to the county sanitation department that Bob Patrick, owner of Mr. P's, was permitting storage of raw garbage behind the restaurant in open containers.

County sanitation officials said as a matter of routine procedure in such cases, the state's attorney's office would be contacted to determine if prosecution might result in the matter.

City Manager Pete Knowles told commissioners he did not see prosecution as a solution, but suggested the city commissioners authorize Patrick to build a bin to store the garbage in. It was Patrick himself who had asked the city manager to get that permission so he could put in the bin, Knowles said.

Val Robbins, county sanitation, could not be reached today to see if the installation of a bin by Patrick in the alley would solve the problem from his department's standpoint, or if Robbins would continue pursuing the matter.

Residents Flee Coastline As Frederic Aims At Land

MIAMI (UPI) — Residents fled a 300-mile stretch of coastline from Panama City, Fla., to Grand Isle, today in the face of "extremely dangerous" hurricane Frederic, bearing down on them with 130-mile-an-hour winds.

Landfall on the coast of Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama or Florida was expected in "late afternoon, this evening or tonight," said Neil Frank, director of the National Hurricane Center.

As we watch it today, we'll begin to zero in on the location," Frank said. "It's 50 or 60 miles across and it will take five or six hours just to move across the coast."

Frank said residents along the Gulf Coast have been experiencing strong winds up to 30 miles an hour since yesterday and those winds would increase today.

At 10 a.m. EDT, an advisory placed the center of Frederic at latitude 27.8 north, longitude 87.3 west, or about 230 miles southeast of New Orleans. It was moving toward the northwest at 12 mph and was expected to move toward the north or north-northeast at 12 to 15 miles an hour.

Gales extended outward 150 miles to the north and 100 miles to the south of the center.

In Louisiana, Grand Isle on the eastern edge of the warning area was evacuated by mid-morning.

Low-lying areas in Alabama also were evacuated in the morning.

County Sets Tax Rate Budget Benefits Seniors

By GEOFFREY POUNDS
The Federation of Senior Citizens benefited Tuesday while Seminole Memorial Hospital and the health department during the 1979-80 Seminole County budget.

County commissioners voted to increase by $12,833 the budget of Federation programs. The increase will allow the group to maintain the hot lunch program to more than 140 elderly during the year. In addition, $6,461 of the increase will go to a new program, community care for the elderly, which will provide home health care and day care services to ill or disabled senior citizens.

Prior to the formal approval of the $40,463,473.54 county budget, the commissioners heard testimony in favor and against an 85-cent tax hike to residents in unincorporated sections of the county. The tax hike will be used to fund construction of five fire stations and to help pay the salaries of 18 firefighters who previously were paid through CERTA funds received by the county.

The budget request by the commissioners calls for a five percent increase over the 1978 year. However, the tax rate for county residents in incorporated areas will stay the same as the present rate, $6.63 per $1,000 assessed valuation. With the approved fire district tax increase, residents in unincorporated areas of the county will pay $6.25 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

"I'm sorry to say it, but I've gotten to the point where I see government at all levels as adversary. I'm ready to take a cut in services. As a citizen I'm always asked to give something. I don't see politicians who are willing to bite the bullet," said Richard Smith of south Seminole in reference to the fire district tax hike.

That the majority of these testifying supported the tax hike.

Grace Barnhart said her home in the unincorporated area of the county suffered $48,000 in fire damage recently. She said the damage would have been much higher had it not been for the county firemen.

Lake Mary City Manager Phil Kulbes and City Treasurer Madeleine Papa go over budget figures today.

Lake Mary Tax Hike Nixed; Now What?

The fate of four Lake Mary's nine-member police department and its four-person communications unit remained uncertain today as city officials began the belt-tightening process mandated by the voters Tuesday.

Mayor Walter Sorenson, City Manager Phil Kulbes and City Treasurer Madeleine Papa were closeted in the early morning hours preparing recommendations for some budget cuts.

At the same time Police Chief Harry Benson said today he will make whatever personal sacrifices are necessary to save as much of his department as possible and Sheriff John Folk stood waiting to be told by Benson how he can help the smallest municipal police force in the county.

It really wasn't much of a surprise, city officials admitted today, that the referendum on a 50 percent plus property tax increase failed Tuesday. The size of the failure is what some officials said surprised them.

"One has to have enough of an ability to listen to have heard what the people were saying," said Sorenson.

Councilman Harry Terry, senior member of the council, having served since the city was incorporated six years ago, said, "Plain and simple the people don't want their taxes raised."

Nearly 44 percent, 508 of the city's 1,128 qualified electors, turned out at the polls Tuesday to cast 419 votes against and 189 votes for the proposal to increase property taxes from $3 per $1,000 assessed valuation to $4.25.

A special council meeting is set for 6 p.m. Thursday for the official cuts in the budget to be made. The property tax rate in the city will be set at $2.84 per $1,000 assessed valuation, the maximum allowed by law without voter approval. The tax rate level represents five percent more income from property taxes than the current five percent rate.

"There will be cuts, the depth and breadth of which I do not know at this time," said Mayor Sorenson. "We will try to do all the penny pinching we can and I personally hope we will have to cut as few services as possible."

"I didn't expect the failure to be of this magnitude," Sorenson said, pointing to the 70 percent voter denial of the increase.

What the possibilities that the city will now adopt a utility tax to raise revenues to match those turned down by the people in the referendum.

"I personally am opposed to a utility tax at this point," said Sorenson. Councilmen Francis Mark, Harry Terry and Pat Southeast of New Orleans. It was moving toward the northwest at 12 mph and was expected to move toward the north or north-northeast at 12 to 15 miles an hour.

Gales extended outward 150 miles to the north and 100 miles to the south of the center.

Transit Strikes Affecting Over 1 Million Commuters

By United Press International
Hundreds of thousands of commuters in three major U. S. cities had to juggle their travel plans today because of transit worker strikes that have closed down public transportation systems.

A total of more than 1 million commuters in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Boston were affected by continuing strikes and shutdowns of service.
In Boston, an estimated 10,000 rail commuters had to find other ways to get to work because maintenance workers, who walked off their Boston & Maine Railroad jobs last Friday, defied federal court orders to resume work and expanded their picketing Tuesday to the second of the city's two rail terminals.

Kennedy Rival Turns Self In

NEW YORK (UPI) — David Kennedy, son of the late Robert F. Kennedy, reportedly will be placed in a metropolitan area hospital for treatment of drug addiction.

The New York Daily News said today the Harvard dropout "turned himself in" to Kennedy family members Tuesday after running away from the family compound in Hyannis Port, Mass., Monday.
The paper earlier reported Kennedy, 34, was brought to the compound by his uncle, Stephen, last Thursday, a day after he had been robbed of $30 in a seedy Harlem hotel known to police as a heroin addicts' hangout.

Teacher Strikes Number 74

By United Press International
Teachers this fall are striking at a pace far ahead of last year, the National Education Association says.
Today, strikes by 10,000 teachers in 14 states were keeping more than a million pupils out of their classrooms and most of them were demanding more money.
The association said Tuesday there are 74 active strikes, compared to 88 strikes through Sept. 11, 1978, but added it was "too early to predict that this year's eventual total will much surpass the year-end 1978-79 figure of 178."

Carswell Assaulted

ATLANTA (UPI) — One-time U. S. Supreme Court nominee G. Harold Carswell was hospitalized for head wounds Tuesday after police searched for the man who assaulted him in a downtown hotel room.
The 50-year-old Florida attorney told police he met the suspect, described as a young white man with curly hair and a beard, at the dining table of the Omni International Hotel. The attack occurred about 3 a.m. Tuesday after Carswell invited the man to accompany him to his room.

Congress Pay Raise in Works

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress may resist the temptation to permit a hefty pay raise of nearly 13 percent, and instead settle for a 7 percent hike in line with President Carter's wage and price guidelines.
The 7 percent figure was recommended Tuesday by a House Appropriations subcommittee. The bill now goes to the full committee and then to the House.
Under present law, Congress is in line for an automatic compound pay increase beginning next month: 7 percent recommended by the administration this year plus a 5.5 percent hike Congress deferred last year.

Hospital Decision Due By First Of Year

A decision on whether to sell or lease Seminole Memorial Hospital to a private organization should come before the first of January, according to Seminole County Commissioner Bob Sturm.
During a work session Tuesday, commissioners agreed on a draft proposal for accepting offers from interested groups. If the plan is followed, all offers will be received by mid-November and a final decision on the matter will be made before the first of the year, Sturm said.

Casselberry Man Charged In Kidnap

A 20-year-old Casselberry man, held without bond, was to go to court today on charges of kidnapping, according to the St. Johns County Sheriff Department.
George Joseph Brown, 26, of 273 Thorne Drive and a teenage accomplice were arrested Tuesday by the St. Johns county police while hitchhiking on Interstate 95 north of St. Augustine.
The St. Johns police said that Brown and his teenage partner allegedly abducted at knife-point a Sears and Roebuck Company employee from the Orlando Fashion Square parking lot Monday night. The teen-ager was charged with sexual battery in addition to kidnapping.

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Attorneys for the Internal Revenue Service have filed a lawsuit to foreclose on property the government claims Glenn Turner illegally placed in trust for his children to avoid paying $1 million worth of back taxes.
The property adjacent to Turner's unfinished castle and boathouse in Casselberry, an Orlando suburb, has been assessed at $214,000. The lawsuit says Turner and his wife bought the land from Kencot Interplanetary Inc. Aug. 24, 1972.

Teddy Won't Rule Out Candidacy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Further fueling speculation that he may seek the presidency next year, Sen. Edward Kennedy said in an interview published today that he has not ruled out the possibility of a candidacy.
Kennedy, D-Mass., said his decision will be based on President Carter's ability "to deal with the economy over the coming months" and whether Americans think "things are going to get better," the Boston Globe reported in a copyrighted story.

"My position at this time is that I have not ruled out the possibility of a candidacy," Kennedy said in an interview with the Globe.

Kennedy also denied a published report that he had asked Carter during a White House luncheon last week not to

Can Sex Aid Arthritis?

CHICAGO (UPI) — An expert on sexuality and human relations says arthritis sufferers may get some relief from their ailment by engaging in sex.
"Sexual activity stimulates the adrenal glands to lose additional cortisone and this alone provides from four to six hours of relief from arthritic pain," Dr. Jessie Potter said. "This is a physiological fact."
Cortisone, a steroid drug naturally produced in the body, sometimes is administered to arthritis patients to provide pain relief and to reduce swelling in inflamed joints.

An Eroding Credibility

In Hans Christian Andersen's "The Emperor's New Clothes," it takes a child to proclaim what no one else will admit: Namely that the emperor is, in fact, naked.

In this case, the "emperor" is an outmoded American strategic doctrine intended to deter Soviet aggression up to and including nuclear war by guaranteeing the "assured destruction" of the Soviet Union's urban population and industrial base.

That little-noticed development, first reported by the Financial Times of London in its World Business Review, has been confirmed by unhappy government officials here.

Vast amounts of money are involved because many of the nations bordering on the Persian Gulf are spending their newfound oil wealth on massive public works projects that often cost hundreds of millions of dollars apiece.

Including in that category are nationwide highway networks, telephone systems and power grids as well as pipelines, refineries and petrochemical facilities to maximize domestic utilization of the region's vast oil resources.

The recent chilliness is evident even in Saudi Arabia, a nation traditionally sympathetic to the United States and the temporary home of approximately 25,000 Americans, many of them employees of U.S. contractors.

Construction contracts in the region were estimated at $23 billion last year — but the U.S. share was only 3 percent, compared with 9 percent of the total only three years earlier.

Much of the business lost by American firms is being picked up by companies based in South Korea, Japan, Taiwan and India, as well as various European countries.

The population boom may be slowing in the maternity wards, but not in the nation's prisons. For the first time in the country's history, more than 300,000 men and women are in the custody of state and federal corrections authorities.

Recently released Justice Department statistics show that at the end of last year, the prison population stood at 207,284, up 3 percent over the previous year. Increases have been recorded for four consecutive years.

Prisoners under federal jurisdiction totaled 29,263, down 7 percent from a year earlier. But the number of state-incarcerated inmates rose 4 percent to 277,021.

ANGLE-WALTERS Victims Of The Peace Bid?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Carter's widely acclaimed decision to play a pivotal role in negotiating an Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty has claimed an unexpected victim.

Business opportunities for American corporations are dwindling rapidly in the Middle Eastern countries that are hostile to the terms of the peace treaty.

That little-noticed development, first reported by the Financial Times of London in its World Business Review, has been confirmed by unhappy government officials here.

Vast amounts of money are involved because many of the nations bordering on the Persian Gulf are spending their newfound oil wealth on massive public works projects that often cost hundreds of millions of dollars apiece.

RONALD REAGAN Soviet Fairy Tales

Books, a ballarina and a brigade of Russian troops have kept the Soviet propaganda machine working at full steam (as in hot air) these past couple weeks.

Three incidents have shed a great deal of light on the methods Soviet officials and news media use to keep their citizens in the dark. We have witnessed a panorama of serious propaganda techniques in recent days, including the concoction of a fairy tale version of events, ridicule and blatant lies.

The fairy tale was invented to completely distort the events surrounding the defection of Bolshoi ballet star Aleksandr Godunov and the diplomatic imbroglio which developed over the plans of his wife, ballerina Ludmila Vilasova.

While American officials succeeded in getting the chance to talk to the ballerina before her departure for the Soviet Union, we will probably never know for sure whether she was pressured by Soviet officials into returning.

But to hear the Soviet news media report the incident, Ms. Vilasova was kidnapped by American officials. No mention was made of the fact that for three days Soviet officials refused to allow the ballerina to leave the plane and tell the American press what she really thought.

As for Godunov, no mention was made in the U.S.S.R. of the defection until after Ms. Vilasova had returned to the United States. Then, he was portrayed as a victim of blackmail. The Russian people still do not know that the two dancers are married.

The Soviet agency Tass utilized another of its favorite techniques — ridicule — in reaction to the U.S. claim that a brigade of 2,000 to 3,000 Russian combat troops are based in Cuba.

Tass took specific aim at Sen. Frank Church, who first released reports from intelligence sources that the ground troops were based in Cuba. A Russian spokesman said, sarcastically, that Church had somehow developed "striking distance vision."

Perhaps these two incidents depleted the Soviet energy for creative propaganda. By the time the Moscow International Book Fair convened in the Soviet capital last week, Russian officials resorted to nothing more than outright lies to explain the censorship of many American books.

Take a look at some of the titles of the books banned from the fair by Soviet censors and you can quickly understand why the totalitarian state fears them: "Animal Farm" by George Orwell; "The Golem Archipelago" by Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn; "White Nights" by Menachem Begin; "Bravo Barryshnikov" and many others.

agreed on at the Vienna summit and each side withdrew to prepare his own copy of the treaty. The Soviet Union prepared its version quickly, using high-speed word processing machines that corrected errors almost instantaneously. The Americans then sat around for hours waiting for a computer to prepare their copy as manually prepared manuscripts with painstaking corrections of every typing error. The completed manuscript was then laid into 1000-rod-long, duplicating machines.

The Russians do, of course, eventually catch up in areas that are reported as vital — more important than peace — such as grain and oil and minerals. But part of the Soviet barometer of success in the SALT negotiations stems from their speed in producing their treaty. They are and always will be technologically inferior.

"CORPORATE CHECKMATE" is an excellent, sweeping chronicle from all the way to the top, from the early days of the industrial revolution to the present. It is a masterpiece of research and reporting, and it is a must-read for anyone interested in the history of the world. Lighter Side

And Dress Properly, Too

WASHINGTON (UPI) — To the great lump of physical fitness literature that has bulged up in recent years — like Martina Navratilova's blimps — has now been added a new book on walking.

I can understand how someone about to handle the first time might want a few instructions. Particularly landing instructions. And anyone making a maiden scuba dive undoubtedly could profit from a few pointers.

In the normal order of achievement, however, people learn to walk before they learn to read. You might think a book explaining the basic principles of ambulation would have an ex post facto quality for most readers.

Nevertheless, "Walking" is the latest text, run on for 275 pages in the Bantam paperback edition. Moreover, some of its passages bristle with insights and erudition not heretofore published. For example:

"Walking is an easy, natural exercise, which really doesn't require much thought. All you have to do is watch where you're going." Good point! If you are one of those walkers who like to keep reminding themselves that one foot goes in front of the other, except when you are marking time, backing up or sliding, then you obviously stand to gain a lot from the book.

Soon or later, the vast outpouring of manuals on walking, jogging, skipping, sauntering, leaping, hopping and other fitness activities will come full course. Meanwhile, we can look forward to the publication of a new best-seller titled "Dynamic Sitting."

The joys of sitting, and the many health benefits that accrue therefrom, have been largely overlooked by the millions of Americans bent on "taking up" something physical. A few savvy souls see in the forthcoming book, there is a great deal more to sitting than simply pulling up a chair and plopping one's self down.

A truly dedicated sitter must master a wide variety of techniques, known to the connoisseurs by such colorful terms as "sitting," "sprawling" and "slumping down." There is the difficult "one leg tucked under" sit. The graceful "ankle over knee" position. The capable of hitting a different target. It took the Soviets five years to "MERV" their land-based missiles. In 1971, we perfected MERV missiles for our nuclear submarines. The Russians spent eight years closing that gap.

A top-secret CIA report on SALT says the Soviets "went the other way." "The Soviets reportedly continue to have considerable respect for the technical and industrial strength of the U.S. They have witnessed the U.S. military strength in great effect in the past. Today the U.S. is presenting a new modernization program of which the Soviets are very much aware, we believe, particularly fearful."

When the Russians count on their technological and production capability in areas covered by the SALT agreements, "it could frighten them considerably," the CIA report concludes.

The Russians lay in debts that are taken for granted in the United States, while obviously known in the Soviet Union. It is reported that the U.S. is providing a large amount of money to the Soviet Union in the form of a loan. The U.S. is providing a large amount of money to the Soviet Union in the form of a loan.

Senate Subcommittee Hearing Valium Rapped By Users

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The president of Hoffman-LaRoche Inc., makers of Valium, the nation's No. 1 selling drug, was impassive as witness after witness denounced his company's product as addictive and responsible for the near ruin of their lives.

One woman stepped up to the microphones at the Senate subcommittee hearing Monday and told Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., and Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, she had reached through a New Jersey snowstorm just to get her dose of the supposedly safe medication.

Another said she had taken to supplementing the tranquillizers with "four ounces of wine" each day. William Ryan, a priest from the New York City borough of Brooklyn said he suffered from delusions, nightmares, paranoia and "was afraid that buildings would fall on me."

Dr. William Thomas of Long Beach, Calif., said his last dose was years ago, but the "pins and needles" and the "burning skin" feeling returns even now and withdrawal was like "somebody pouring kerosene under your skin and then putting a torch to it."

Dr. Richard Crot of the Food and Drug Administration also voiced concern about Valium and the manufacturer's campaign geared to increase its sales. Dr. Nelson Hender of Johns Hopkins Hospital warned that physicians, in prescribing tranquillizers for patients complaining of stress and anxiety, may prescribe them thinking they are not addictive but may "create the situation you are trying to treat."

Three hours into the hearing Robert Clark, the bald, stocky and bespectacled president of Hoffman-LaRoche, acknowledged there was a problem with Valium, but "practically every" witness to the drug's ill effects "was disobeying plain instructions."

"You need have no concern about our willingness to tackle this problem," he assured Kennedy. Hoffman-LaRoche is funding a $4.8 million program of research at Cornell University. He stressed that Valium benefits the overwhelming majority of patients for whom it is prescribed, and that "over half of the Valium prescriptions do not call for refills at all."

Annual sales of Valium are reaching beyond $200 million. Guter said in justifying his approval of the higher rates, "Nationalwide is Florida's third largest auto insurer. The second largest, Allstate Insurance Co., raised its rates 24 percent last week, citing rising repair costs, hospital rate increases and other inflationary pressures."

Auto Insurance Hike OK'd

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Insurance Commissioner Bill Guter said today he is approving a 7.4 percent increase for Nationwide Mutual Fire Insurance Co. but not the 13.3 percent hike the company requested.

Guter said he rejected the original rate hike put in effect by Nationwide on its automobile and truck policies three weeks ago and approved the revised proposal submitted last week. Nationwide is Florida's third largest auto insurer. The second largest, Allstate Insurance Co., raised its rates 24 percent last week, citing rising repair costs, hospital rate increases and other inflationary pressures.

Mideast Talks Ready To Go Into 2nd Gear

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — U.S. presidential envoy Robert Strauss said today negotiations on the future of the Palestinians and Jerusalem can be stepped up and he expressed hope the issues can be resolved within the next few months. "There are no more areas of conflict between the parties and areas of difference," Strauss told reporters at Ben-Gurion Airport on his arrival from Egypt for a two-day visit that will include talks with Prime Minister Menachem Begin. Strauss, President Carter's Middle East envoy, said he was certain the three parties in the negotiations — Egypt, Israel and the United States — share a common timetable and approach and "can now shift into second gear" in the talks. The sixth round of autonomy talks are to open in Egypt Sept. 25. Strauss expressed hope that in the next few months, "We will be able to solve the most difficult, controversial and acrimonious questions". Strauss termed his talks Cairo the "most constructively worthwhile and useful" since he became President Carter's special envoy to the Middle East. He came to the region to be briefed by Sadei and Begin at the summit talks held between the two leaders in Haifa, Israel, last week. Interior Minister Josef Bar Greded Strauss and said there is no intention of letting the autonomy talks drag on under their May deadline. Unions and the future of Jerusalem. He said he held 4 1/2 hours of talks with Egyptian President Anwar Sadei and described him as "Israel's good friend and Prime Minister Menachem Begin's strong ally." All three parties to the Palestinian autonomy negotiations "know now where they are going toward a comprehensive peace," he said. Sadei, he said, has moved "from hope to certainty."

Girl, 12, Can't Bear Giving Up Racehorse

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — The veterinarian who treated the horse, named Lucky, said it was half-dead. She showed Laine how to lance the animal's abscesses and administer medication. She spent so much time nursing Lucky at the Bluefire Stables near Orlando, she was nicknamed Groomer. The owner finally made a gift of the horse to Laine after Lucky regained his spirits and his sleek coat. A tattoo on the animal's lip indicates he is a thoroughbred, a former racehorse with a bowed tendon that might shatter his leg if he jumped higher than three feet. "I'm glad at him, he looks at me with real sad eyes and I can't stay mad," said Laine, whose mother drives 14 miles to drop her off at the stables before work and picks her up again at the end of the day. The 12-year-old girl was promised that she could keep Lucky as long as she did not neglect her homework. "But I can't keep my promise," said Mary Reeves, who is supporting herself and Laine on her salary as a proof supervisor at a bank. Because of rising costs, she said she can only afford to pay the horse's boarding fee until the end of the month. Zoning laws keep her from moving Lucky to her home. "I'm told he would be worth thousands if he didn't have the bowed tendon, but he'll bring only $600-$800 to be killed for dog food," Mrs. Reeves said. "That would break Groomer's heart."

Dr. Roger Cossaboom, who says we should prepare for "economic doomsday," relaxes in his University of Central Florida office.

'Doomsday' Is Predicted

By BARRY F. DILLON Herald Correspondent "It is time to prepare for economic doomsday," said Dr. Roger Cossaboom, professor of economics at the University of Central Florida. Cossaboom, who lives in Oviedo, was speaking recently to the Sertoma Club, one of the many organizations he has addressed in Seminole County. "Living with inflation" was the title of his speech. "Just how do you live with inflation?" Cossaboom asked rhetorically. "The key is preparing for economic doomsday." "I don't give a date for the doomsday, unlike a number of speakers on economics," Cossaboom said. "I believe in insuring yourself against it." "You have life, auto, health, home and other kinds of insurance. Why not doomsday insurance? I give doomsday a 20 per cent chance of occurring. I give a lesser chance to other things I have insured." How do you insure yourself against doomsday? "If doomsday does happen, we will be without grocery stores, banks, and our currency will have no value." "I don't know people know how to grow their own vegetables or produce their own meat?" "What I suggest is becoming self-sufficient. There is definite movement toward self-sufficiency. There is a great demand for survival courses, hand-powered grain grinders, gardens, dried foods, and other survival insurance." "I have a friend who represented a 10-family group of doctors, lawyers and a sociologist. He went to New Mexico to establish a retreat. At the retreat each member was taught a special self-sufficiency trade, so that if doomsday did happen, they could rely on themselves to survive. Of course I don't expect everyone to do the same. "We should learn a lesson from the Depression. A man was admired during the Depression if he could repair an item without calling for help. Self-sufficiency was the key to survival during the Depression. "Self-sufficiency is not limited to an individual. Almost everyone belongs to an organization. If the members of an organization combined their resources and solved their own problems instead of turning to the government, we would be a lot better off economically." Chrysler Collapse Would Cripple Detroit, U.S. Says

DETROIT (UPI) — The economic collapse of Chrysler Corp. would devastate "The Motor City" — doubling Detroit's unemployment rate and increasing racial tensions, a government study says. The analysis, published Tuesday in the Detroit Free Press, was prepared by the Department of Transportation and has been forwarded to the Treasury Department for review. Chrysler, the No. 3 automaker and nation's 10th largest firm, has predicted losses of more than $700 million this year. It has asked the federal government for $1 billion in financial aid. The report said the impact on Detroit of a Chrysler collapse would be even worse than that of the Arab oil embargo and economic recession of 1973-75. The area required more than two years, until mid-1977, to recover from that downturn. Unemployment would double, racial tensions would increase and some parts suppliers would go bankrupt, it said. The study, said a Chrysler spokesman, "confirms what we have been saying all along."

Is U.S. Sitting On A Big Oil Supply?

BUCHAREST, Romania (UPI) — The United States is sitting on 30 billion barrels of petroleum in each of its exploited reservoirs. The other 67 percent, usually heavy crude oil, is too commercially infeasible. Other nations reported similar problems with extraction, saying their figures ranged from 20 percent to a high of 40 percent. "If we could raise the extraction percentage to only 60 percent of existing wells, we would no longer need to talk about the problems of an immediate oil crisis," said congressmen Wilhelm von Loebmann, a vice president of German Shell. The different methods of "enhanced oil recovery" discussed included steam flooding, injection of air into reservoirs to burn some of the oil in place, carbon dioxide flooding and various chemical processes. Delegates reported differing degrees of success with each method, but all agreed the new technologies carry steep price tags — with costs running at 10 to 30 times those of existing methods. "In some cases it is like putting up a billion-dollar rig to be able to extract a coke bottle full of oil a day," said a Canadian delegate. The methods also consume much energy. Steam flooding recovers 50 percent of the petroleum that would be wasted but consumes as fuel about one of every three barrels produced. The Americans said they extract about 200,000 barrels of oil a day using "enhanced oil recovery" methods and hope eventually to bring up to 30 billion barrels of the "lost case" petroleum to the surface. They warned, however, that "even under favorable conditions" the cost of enhanced oil recovery would be $10 to $25 a barrel.

Yaz' Plight Reminiscent Of Early Wynn

NEW YORK (UPI) — That last one can be a back-breaker as Yastrzemski is beginning to find out, and if he's like to know otherwise about it, he should check someone like Early Wynn. For the past two nights, Boston's 40-year-old first baseman led so hard, maybe too hard, and failed to get that coveted but elusive 3,000th hit of his. Wynn struggled through the same kind of frustration trying for 30th pitching victory, only with it wasn't a matter of two weeks but two seasons. Wynn, a starter with the White Sox in 1952, he needed only eight innings for his 300 total, but all he could manage was seven, his last three starts of the season in September and leaving one victory short.

Released by the White Sox that winter, Wynn looked as if he would wind up his career with 299 victories and just when he was about to give up hope, the Indians signed him near the end of June 1963. It's ironic that the Yankees may be the club Yastrzemski reaches his milestone against, because as a kid from New York's Long Island, he always wanted to play for them. When they offered him a $45,000 bonus in 1959 while he was finishing up at Notre Dame, he was all for grabbing it, but his father, Carl, Sr., an outstanding semi-pro player in his own right, said nothing doing. "Yas' father was right there with him when he signed with the Red Sox for $108,000. The late Johnny Murphy was the one they negotiated with and after the signing, Cronin, who was general manager at the time, said he wanted to see the boy they were finally all that time. Looking at Yaz and then at his father, whose baseball ability he knew all about, Cronin said to Murphy: "Are you sure we're signing the right guy?" He certainly turned out to be the right guy. Yastrzemski's teammates call him "Polack," but they call him with affection and with admiration. "If I have a problem, I go to him," said outfielder Dwight Evans. "He has taught me how to relax and how not to worry about what other people might say. If I'm in a slump, he'll give it to me straight. Look, he'll say to me, you can listen to this guy and that guy, but you're the only one who can get yourself out of it. You're the one who has to go up there and do the hitting."

Yastrzemski will play another year, maybe two. And when he finally does decide to quit, there already is another Yaz, his son, Mike, who may pick up his glove. Mike, 17, is a good-looking outfielder-third baseman who just finished high school and plans to play ball for former Yankee infielder Dick Howser coaching at Florida State. Frank Malone, the one-time Red Sox third baseman who now scouts for them, worked with Mike at Boca Raton not too long ago and likes him a lot. "He's got a good chance to make it," Malone says. "That would be nice. It took people awhile to learn how to spell Yastrzemski, and now that every one does, why drop the name from the boxscores?"

First Impressions:

They played real well. And our defense has assumed an identity. They wear T-shirts that say "Black Friday Defense." Oviedo's Friday night opponent is St. Cloud and it will have to be a job for his Black Friday crew. Jim Raley, Lake Brantley: "We lost to the No. 7 team in the state by 6-0. What more can you say? Well, for one thing I would rather look less than impressive and win, than look good and lose a close one. You have to win the rest of the way. Lake Brantley, Seminole and Trinity Prep coaches, on the other hand, prefer to figure that one loss a losing season does not make. Below are listed first impressions from local coaches. Joe Montgomery, Oviedo: "I think football is overrated in our society. But I don't want to get fired. Not when we have more talent here than in any of the last several years. Out shutout was the first we have had since we blanked Wymore Tech several years ago. "You have to look at our tackles — Ray Williams (6-1, 255) and Troy Pagels (6-2, 227).

Hope springs eternal from the breasts of all football coaches in Seminole County, be they winners or losers in last week's game. You see, the beautiful thing about football — especially in the early going — is that the most important game is the one you are getting ready to play. There are five games on tap this week. It's Seminole at Mastrand on Thursday night, with Friday encounters including Lake Brantley at Lyman, Lake Howell at Spruce Creek, Trinity Prep at Frostproof and Oviedo at St. Cloud.

Joe Jerry Posey, Seminole High: "I found it ironic that the teams picked to challenge for the district championship (Brantley, Seminole Spruce Creek, Apopka and Deland) lost. But district and conference is still even. "We were a lot slower starting than I had hoped. Evans was very tough, but we knew they would be. I saw some bright rays of hope and we did some things well. We got real good blocking from our offensive line (Louie Miller, Scott Smith, Joe Russi, Jeff Gibson and Dennis Germann), but we didn't block out their linebackers very well. "We are going to get better." Bill Scott, Lyman: "We made more mistakes than I had hoped, but we played with intensity and I feel we are going to improve and be a real good football team." Scott praised defensive tackle Andy Rock, sophomore linebacker Glen Preisling, center Steve Shofner and quarterback Jeff Meyer. And of the big game Friday against Lake Brantley, Scott commented, "they're coming to our place, and we're ready to play." See FIRST, Page 11A

By MILTON RICHMAN

George Brett The Best? NEW YORK (UPI) — Ballplayers are like women. They talk a big game for years, they talk about being the best in the business. They hold him in awe and admiration that they'd stop whatever they were doing to watch him hit in batting practice. He was so good, they watched him and talked about him all the time. Something with Stan "The Man" Musial, and for the past dozen years or so, Rod Carew has gotten similar treatment. Finally, the ballplayer all the others have been busing about is George Brett. Many think he's about ready to take over from Carew as the best hitter in the game, and his manager, Whitey Herzog, feels he's No. 1 right now. Prime candidate for this year's American League MVP award, Kansas City's exciting 29-year-old third baseman probably could pass such others as Dave Parker, Fred Lynn, Jim Rice and Carew and emerge as the game's premier superstar. Right now, he's shooting for his second batting title with a .330 figure that includes the most hits in the league, 194, most doubles, 41 and most triples, 17. If he should go on to win all three of those titles Brett will become only the fifth AL player ever to do so, the previous four having been Ty Cobb, Bobby Veach, Charlie Dehringer and Joe Voornik. Statistics generally are dull. Brett's aren't because they provide a rather accurate profile on him as a ballplayer. He's second in the league in total bases with 238; second in runs scored with 107; fourth in slugging percentage with .584 and eighth in runs batted in with 98. Along with that, he has 19 home runs, eight game-winning runs and 14 stolen bases. What about him in the field? Okay, what about him? If you ask Brett what kind of third baseman he thinks he is, he answers with a word you can't put in a family newspaper. He's giving himself the worst of it, though. True, he made 16 errors last year, but that was only five more than Gold Glover Graig Nettles committed, and the 26 double plays he participated in were only five less than the number in which Nettles and Buddy Bell, the two league leaders, took part. Brett is anything but a butcher at third base. He can make every play that has to be made and he has a faculty for making the big play. The majority of his errors are careless ones, mostly the throws, but he rarely makes an error that costs the Royals a ball game. To be named MVP this year, Brett will have to beat out some tough competition. Bud says Brett: "Winning something like the MVP would be a tremendous honor, but if I had my choice, I'd rather be in a World Series." For the past three years, he has gotten into the playoffs but never gotten past them, the Royals having been beaten all three years by the Yankees. Whatever happens, the Royals, who trail the Angels by four games in their division, won't be playing the Yankees again in this year's playoff. "That's a good," says Brett, who still feels KC has a chance to make his year's playoff. "Not that we're afraid of the Yankees or intimidated by them, but we've just had so much bad luck against them. It would be good to play somebody else. The Orioles are a good ball club. They have a great defense, strong pitching and need of hitting, but we were 6-4 with them this year." Considering he underwent surgery on his thumb only three weeks before the season started and had to wear a special cast for a long time, Brett, who has hit over .300 since the All-Star break had a tremendous year. Should he win the MVP, his three brothers, Ken, who pitches for the Angels, John, who once was in the Red Sox organization, and Bobby, probably would get even more of a kick out of the award than Brett himself. That's how tight-knit a family they are. "You may remember a few years back how Ken, when pitching for the Yankees, came off the mound toward home plate to shake George's hand after his brother hit a home run off him in an exhibition game at Fort Myers, Fla. Ken's Brett didn't do it to be a hot dog. He meant it. "I just don't make it too much of a habit," he said to his kid brother.

Cincy Vaults Back Into Lead

By United Press International The Cincinnati Reds gave every indication Tuesday night they have the experience to withstand the stress and strain of pennant fever. That experience, in the form of Dave Concepcion and George Foster came through with the big hit Tuesday night when they stroked back-to-back homers in the seventh inning to lift the Reds to a 9-4 victory over the Houston Astros. The triumph validated Cincinnati's on-field game ahead of Houston into first place in the NL West. Before Concepcion hit his career-high 16th home run, his 4-year-old son was standing by the rail yelling for his father to hit one. "All little kids want home runs so I guess he was yelling for me to hit one," said Concepcion. "I took two pitches and I figured I better do something." The Reds' outburst under five runs was accompanied by the wild work of Tom Hummel in the sixth inning. Hummel, 19-4, took over for Tom Seaver in the eighth but ran into trouble in the ninth when he allowed a pair of runs and had runners on first and third. Hummel, however, struck out pinch hitter Art Hays to end the game.

By United Press International Carl Yastrzemski has learned many things in the major leagues not the least of which is patience. "It took me 19 years to get this far, so I didn't expect it to happen in a day," he said, after failing to get his 3,000th hit Tuesday night. "I'm not frustrated. I'd just like to get it over with. ... But through it all, I've learned one thing — there's always tomorrow." Yastrzemski, the Red Sox star first baseman-outfielder, went hitless in three official trips to the plate as the Boston Red Sox lost to the New York Yankees, 6-2. "I've always felt comfortable, ready to go," added Yastrzemski, who's been plagued with foot problems. "But I haven't had a comfortable feeling for two months since I was taped up." Reggie Jackson, who drove in three runs with a double in the eighth and his 30th homer of the year in the ninth to lead the Yankees' attack, was sympto-

Sanford To Appeal EPA Pesticide Ruling

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The Sanford City Commission has turned down an offer by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to settle a dispute on the improper use by the city of a pesticide a year ago.

The commissioners, voting unanimously Monday night, instructed City Attorney C. Vernon Mize to begin the appeal process on EPA's charges against the city for using the weed killer in a drainage ditch in the city in the summer of 1976.

EPA spokesmen had told the city it would settle the issue for a $4,000 payment from the city rather than imposing a $5,000 or higher fine, at least one city commissioner Monday night said.

it in their ear," Stenstrom said. Prior to the commission's decision, Moore said he had been told $4,000 was the minimum the city could be assessed, adding a fight with EPA would be an "uphill battle."

"The minimum it is going to cost the city is $4,000 and if we want to appeal it is going to cost more," Moore said.

On questioning from City Commissioner John Morris, Mize estimated the costs of an administrative appeal, especially if the appeal were held in Atlanta, at $1,000.

Morris said, facetiously, however, that the way the federal government is going, if the appeal period lasts two years and the city is fined money away," said Commissioner Eddie Keith. "I'm for telling them to stick $4,000, that amount then might be worth only $2,000. "And we'd be saving money," he said.

Bruce Granoff, attorney in the legal branch of EPA's district IV enforcement division, said Tuesday the administrative hearing will be held in Sanford and be open to the public. He said an administrative law judge, an employee of EPA, will preside at the hearing.

"The hearing could be held as early as October or November," Granoff said, adding the hearing will be open to the public. He said attorneys for both sides will present evidence at the hearing and briefs will be written by attorneys for both sides on the legal aspects. A decision could be made 30 days after submission of the briefs, Granoff said.

If the administrative decision is not to the city's liking, it then may appeal to the regional administrator in Atlanta and, at a last resort, to the federal appeal court in New Orleans.

The controversy stemmed from the city's use a year ago of a pesticide to kill weeds in a drainage ditch. EPA spokesmen said federal law prohibits the use of the pesticide where "runoff was likely to occur" into a stream of water.

The spokesman said it is believed as a result of the application of the weed killer 75 to 80 fish were killed. "The material was known to be toxic and clearly labeled as such," the spokesman said.

Skyjackers Seize Plane With 128 Aboard

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — Two "very cool" hijackers who demanded to see West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt seized a Lufthansa airliner with 128 people aboard on a domestic flight today, police reported.

The hijackers, whose nationality was unknown, took over a Boeing 727 with 121 passengers and a crew of seven on a flight from Frankfurt to the Cologne-Bonn airport. It was not known if they were armed.

The West German airliner landed as scheduled at 10:25 a.m. (5:25 a.m. EDT) at the Cologne-Bonn airport, which lies about midway between the two cities.

Passengers and crew remained on the plane and it taxied to a position outside Hangar One. Police said the motives of the hijackers were unknown, but in radio contact with the airport tower they demanded a meeting with Schmidt and the right to make a declaration to the press.

"They are very cool," a police spokesman said. "They apparently are not deterred."

Schmidt was informed of the hijacking while he was at today's regular cabinet meeting and he dispatched trouble-shooter Klaus-Juergen Wischniewski to the airport tower to conduct the negotiations with the hijackers.

Wischniewski, a state secretary in the Schmidt's chancellery, oversaw the operation that led to the capture of a Lufthansa aircraft hijacked by terrorists to Somalia two years ago.

Schmidt also convened a meeting of the government's Crisis Staff under chairman Gerhard Baum, the interior minister.

"They demanded Chancellor Schmidt be brought to the airport and representatives of the press, too," he said. "They made threats about what they would do if their demands were not fulfilled."

Cesar said the men had taken the plane over, but he objected to use of the word "hijack."

The airport was closed to all air traffic eight minutes after the airliner landed but flights soon were resumed.

People Vote 'No Tax Hike'

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The 231 voters at Winter Springs Tuesday of the referendum on a property tax increase will not mean a reduction in services, City Councilman and Finance Commissioner William Arnold said Tuesday.

AREA DEATH

MRS. ELLINOR LINCOLN, Mrs. Ellnor R. Lincoln, 69, of Lake Marham Road, Sanford, died Tuesday at her residence. A native of Holly, N.Y., she had lived in Sanford for several years. She was a homemaker, a communicant of Holy Cross Episcopal Church, Sanford, and a member of the Hunt Monument Co.

Official results showed that 407 voted against and 210 persons voted for. Turnout for the election was 617 or 23.8 percent of the 2,589 qualified electors.

Arnold said he is most disappointed by the turnout. "If the people don't care, why are we supposed to care?" he asked. "I'm losing faith with the people," Arnold said. He said the election is obviously saying the people are happy with personal services such as police and fire protection. But they don't particularly care for parks and street maintenance, streets, ditches and swamps being cleaned out and capital improvements.

"We (the council) pretty well agreed we would not raise the property taxes the five percent allowed by law if the voters turned down the tax increase referendum," Arnold said. "The new tax rate will give many city property owners a nine cents per $1,000 assessed valuation reduction in taxes," Arnold said.

Cook Of The Week

Kids Get Into The Act

By TOM NETSEL
Herald Staff Writer

When the administrator of Seminoole Memorial Hospital (SMH) goes into the kitchen he likes it to be a family affair. The kids get right into the act helping with the kitchen chores.

Charles Bentley, originally from Winter Haven, has been the administrator at SMH for two years but on special occasions enjoys whipping up something tasty in the kitchen.

Bentley feels the kitchen is a good place for young people to learn and to put to use concepts taught in the classroom.

It's still a good recipe. But he cautions that is is much better to use this cooked pudding version rather than the quicker instant.

POPPY SEED DRESSING
3/4 cup sugar
1-3/4 cup white wine vinegar
1 tsp. dry mustard
1 tsp. salt
Mix above ingredients in bowl. Add slowly and mix until thick. (Mixer can be used)

SEAFOOD CASSEROLE
1 pkg. wild and long grain rice (do not use seasoning)
1 lb. cooked shrimp
1 lb. lump crabmeat
4 tbsp. butter
4 med. onions sliced thin
12 tsp. chili sauce
1/2 tsp. thyme
1 tsp. paprika
1/2 tsp. paprika
1 pint half & half
Saute onions in butter until yellow. Add cooked rice and cream (half & half). Add seafood, chili sauce, salt and paprika and herbs. Put in casserole and bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees F.

BAR-B-QUE SAUCE
1 (24-oz.) bottle ketchup
1-2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce

1/2 bottle Heinz 57, (15-oz.)

1 tablespoon butter or margarine
Combine cream and cottage cheese, 2 tablespoons sugar, flour, lemon rind and vanilla. Beat until smooth.

CHEESE TURNOVERS WITH FRESH BLUEBERRY SAUCE
Turnovers
1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened
1 cup (8 ounces) cottage cheese
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 package (10 ounces) pastry mix
1 egg
2 teaspoons milk
Blueberry Sauce
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 tablespoons cornstarch
1 pint blueberries
1/4 cup water

Place a scant 1/3 cup of cheese mixture in center of each pastry round. Fold in half. Moisten inside edges of pastry with water and press firmly with fork to seal. Prick tops. Beat egg with milk and brush over tops of turnovers.

Prepare pastry mixture according to package directions. Roll out half of pastry. Cut 3 inch rounds. Repeat with remaining pastry.

Place a scant 1/3 cup of cheese mixture in center of each pastry round. Fold in half. Moisten inside edges of pastry with water and press firmly with fork to seal. Prick tops. Beat egg with milk and brush over tops of turnovers.

Retirees With Lake Home Are 'Had' By Friends, Kin

DEAR ABBY: We speak for countless others who, after having spent a lifetime working to get a place of retirement, find that we have been "had" by friends and relatives who come out of the woodwork because we have a place on the lake.

My husband and I built our summer place with our own hands — clearing land, felling trees, digging wells and building our home. In the land of 10,000 lakes, ours seems to be the only lake with fish in it, and of course there's a free boat which is usually left dirty, plus dead fish here and there.

When we're not here, they take over as if the place were their own, bringing friends who pass the word about the fantastic fishing.

We had planned on leaving this lovely place to our children and grandchildren, but we are ready to sell — boat and all. We hope they take time out from fishing to read this. Sign me...

Here's How To Feed Those Hungry Growing Students

Almost! The children are back in school. Now another problem looms: What to feed the growing youngsters — for breakfast, after-school snacks and easy supper.

Many youngsters who refuse to eat eggs or cereal will stand down the minute they see a toaster. Tasty drink in the morning. So, put the blender to work by whipping up combinations of fruit and milk for their breakfast.

lightly with oil. Do not cover. Let rise in warm, draft-free place until puffy, 1 to 1 1/2 hours. Bake in 475-degree oven 8 to 7 minutes or until bottoms are golden. Remove from baking sheets and cool on rack. If rounds don't open completely, cut open with tip of sharp knife. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 10 rounds.

BEF IN POCKET BREAD

4 pocket bread rounds, halved
1 medium onion, coarsely chopped
2 large cloves garlic, minced
2 tablespoons cooking oil
1 cup vacuum-packed plain ground beef
2 (8-ounce) cartons part-skim ricotta cheese
1/2 teaspoon dried mint leaves, crushed
1 teaspoon oregano leaves, crushed
1/4 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup minced parmesan cheese
Teaspoon salt
Chopped tomatoes
Romaine lettuce, shredded
Cucumbers, thinly sliced
Wrap bread in foil. Place in cooler vacuum-packed meat germ, regular.
2 (8-ounce) cartons part-skim ricotta cheese
1/2 teaspoon dried mint leaves, crushed
1 teaspoon oregano leaves, crushed
1/4 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup minced parmesan cheese
Teaspoon salt
Chopped tomatoes
Romaine lettuce, shredded
Cucumbers, thinly sliced
Wrap bread in foil. Place in cooler vacuum-packed meat germ, regular.

You may add wheat germ, yogurt or even ice cream to sandwich them. After all, any breakfast is better than none to launch an active day at school and play. Of course, the details are also good after school.

If you're watching diets, you can prepare the drinks with skim milk and low-fat yogurt. Another treat is stuffed pocket bread. This handy style of sandwich from the Middle East has recently been adopted by Americans.

You can fill the bread with almost any combination of meats, cheeses, fruits or vegetables to eat hot or cold. Don't forget the snacks. Nutritionists advise that carbohydrates — even sweets within reason — are essential to healthy growth.

It's a wise parent who keeps the refrigerator stocked with fresh fruits and vegetables. When readily available, these healthy snacks quickly become part of children's eating habits; that means they will consume less candy and soda pop.

FLORIDA ARRIVE ALIVE

3 packages active dry yeast
1 1/2 cups warm water (100 to 110 degrees)
1 1/2 cups warm water (100 to 110 degrees)
1 cup unweetened wheat flour
2 cups milk
1/4 cup melted butter
1/2 cup shredded cheddar cheese
1/2 cup shredded parmesan cheese
1/4 cup shredded cheddar cheese
1/2 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 tablespoon minced parsley or parsley flakes
1 tablespoon chopped anchovies, optional measures 1 envelope by 2 inches in length by 1 1/2 inches in width. The small box is not to be used in a dry mixer. You're ready to go!

1x2

FRANKS POTATO SALAD

6 hot dogs (or 4 quarter-pound size franks)
2 pounds red boiling potatoes
1 1/2 cups plus 2 tablespoons flour
1 cup hot water
1 ounce plus 1 tablespoon vinegar
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
Pinch of pepper
1 cup celery, chopped
1/2 cup green peppers, chopped — fresh or frozen
1/2 cup onions, chopped — fresh or frozen
Boil potatoes until soft but firm. Cool potatoes sufficiently to be handled, then peel and slice. While potatoes are cooling, cut hot dogs into thin slices and saute in oil for about 5 minutes. Remove hot dogs from oil, add flour and blend. After flour has been completely blended, add hot water, vinegar, sugar, salt and pepper, stirring constantly. When mixture comes to a boil, lower heat and continue simmering for several minutes. Combine chopped vegetables in large mixing bowl; add sliced potatoes and hot dogs. Mix well and add hot salad dressing. Toss until well blended and set aside until serving time.
If desired, potato salad can be made in advance and refrigerated overnight, then warmed slightly before serving in a low oven or microwave. When reheating, add a few tablespoons of hot water to keep mixture moist. Serves 6.

Pocket bread is Middle Eastern solution to sloppy sandwich problem.

Desserts Are Like Treasured Heirlooms

End Meal With Delicate Bavarian

Old-fashioned desserts are like treasured heirlooms passed through the years from household to household.

This creamy, fluffy, coconut run Bavarian is smooth and light. Its flavor is heightened by the addition of CocoRibe, a clear delicate liqueur of coconut and rum that turns a Bavarian Cream into a dessert dream.

Vermette CocoRibe is also delicious in coffee and adds the right amount of sweetness for most coffee drinkers. Or enjoy this unique liqueur straight up as a perfect after-dinner drink.

- 3 eggs
- 2 cups milk
- 1/4 cup flaked coconut
- 1/2 cup plus 2 tablespoons Cocolle coconut rum liqueur, divided
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
- 1 medium saucepan, mix unflavored gelatin, sugar and salt; add eggs beaten with milk. Let stand 1 minute. Stir over low heat until gelatin is completely dissolved and mixture thickens slightly, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat; add coconut. Cool slightly. Add 1-3rd cup of the liqueur; blend well. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Whip heavy cream with remaining 2 tablespoons liqueur. Fold whipped cream into gelatin mixture. Turn into a 8-cup mold. Chill 3 to 4 hours or until firm. Unmold onto a serving plate. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Try Marinating The Vegetables

Variety in vegetables is extremely important for good nutrition and each kind of vegetable has a different nutritional plus. So instead of staying with a few tried and true favorites, experiment with Marinated Vegetables and discover a whole new world of eating goodness.

Cereal Accents Favorite Treat

Apples are one of nature's most versatile fruits and long-time favorite treats. Whether they're in lunch boxes or transformed into a pie, sauce or cider, apples are always delicious.

Soup 'N Sandwiches From Same Chicken

Say "soup and sandwiches" and watch the faces of youngsters and others alike light up. Not only is this a favorite combination for lunches and light suppers; it's a most nutritious mealtime duet, especially if both are made of chicken.

According to the National Broiler Council, you can cook one chicken and make both a pot of hearty soup and a tasty filling for sandwiches. Chicken is one of the most economical sources of complete protein available at the meat counter today. Savings are even greater when a whole bird is used — including even the skin and bones.

With the busy season of fall activities ahead, it's important to serve meals that will help keep the family operating at peak efficiency. Chicken Tacos is a different kind of sandwich the whole family will enjoy. Or, instead of taco shells, the filling may be placed on a hot dog roll, pita bread or an open bun.

The soup is a delicious and unusual combination of chicken and frozen snow peas. Together they provide a meal that is well balanced, rich in vitamins and protein but low in calories and in fat content. There are many variations of chicken soup, ranging from clear broths to thick, creamy textures. And only slight changes in seasonings and ingredients used will produce an almost endless variety of chicken fillings for sandwiches. Let your imagination take over and you'll be surprised how far one chicken can be stretched for real savings in your food budget.

SIMMERED CHICKEN
(For Tacos and Soup)
1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in parts
4 cups water, divided
1 small onion, quartered
1 rib celery, with leaves
1/4 teaspoon salt, divided
1/4 teaspoon pepper

In deep saucepan, place chicken with 2 cups of the water, onion, celery, 1/4 teaspoon of the salt and pepper. Cover and simmer about 45 minutes or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease. Remove chicken from saucepan and refrigerate until chicken can be handled with ease; remove all meat and cut into bite-size pieces and place in refrigerator until ready to use. To contents of saucepan, add chicken bones and skin, the remaining water and salt.

CHICKEN TACOS
2 cups broiler-fryer chicken, cooked and diced
2 tablespoons peanut oil
1/4 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
1 envelope (1 1/2 ounces) taco seasoning mix
3 fresh tomatoes, chopped
1/4 cup chicken broth
12 taco shells
2 cups shredded lettuce
1 cup shredded Monterey Jack cheese
1 avocado, peeled and chopped
1 tablespoon lemon juice

In large fry pan, place oil and heat to medium temperature. Add onion and peppers and stir-fry about 3 minutes or until soft. Add chicken and stir-fry about 2 minutes or until hot. Add taco seasoning mix, tomatoes and chicken broth; simmer 10 minutes. In 350 degree F. oven, heat taco shells about 5 minutes or until hot. Spoon chicken filling into shells and top with lettuce, cheese and avocado, which has been dipped in lemon juice to prevent browning. Makes 6 servings.

Instead of taco shells, filling can be placed in hot dog roll, pita bread or open bun.

CHICKEN AND SNOW PEA SOUP
1 cup broiler-fryer chicken, cooked and diced
4 cups chicken broth
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon marjoram
3 whole cloves
1/4 teaspoon thyme
1 bay leaf
2 tablespoons rendered chicken fat or cooking oil
1 package (7 ounces) frozen snow peas, chopped
2 green onions, white and green parts, chopped

In large saucepan, mix together chicken broth, lemon juice, salt, marjoram, peppercorns, cloves, thyme and bay leaf. Cover, bring to a boil and simmer 15 minutes. In fry pan, place rendered chicken fat or cooking oil and heat over medium temperature; add snow peas and green onion and stir-fry for 3 minutes. Add all ingredients in fry pan to mixture in saucepan; simmer 5 minutes more. Makes 4 servings.

Chicken tacos team with hearty soup.

Microwaved Ring Molds Excellent

More and more homemakers are realizing the ease and speed of cooking food in a microwave oven. They're also noting that the right cooking utensils can make it even better.

Ring-shaped dishes, for instance, are excellent for microwave cooking. The hole in the center provides more access for microwaves to reach the food. This eliminates the problem of uneven cooking such as an undercooked center.

Some ring molds, such as heat-resistant glass varieties, allow the food to be served two ways—directly from the dish or inverted out of the mold. Foods must be firm enough to hold their shape if inverted onto another plate. When inverted, the rings can be filled with a variety of fruits or vegetables as with this pasta ring and peas.

Other foods such as hash or casseroles should be served directly from the ring mold.

TUNA PASTA RING
NEWBURG SAUCE (Serves 4)
3 cups cooked, drained elbow macaroni
1 can (4 1/2 ounces) tuna, drained and flaked
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1/2 jar (4 ounces) pimiento, drained and diced
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
2 eggs (1 pint) half and half
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup flour
2 tablespoons dry sherry
2 cups chicken broth

In a bowl, mix macaroni, onion, and pimiento. Pour mixture into a Pyrex ring mold greased with margarine or butter. In a bowl, mix the egg, and 1 cup of the half and half until smooth and well blended. Pour mixture over macaroni. Cook in microwave oven, on auto setting for 15 minutes. Turn dish occasionally during cooking. While ring is baking, melt butter in a saucepan, stir in flour. Gradually stir in chicken broth and half sherry. Cook until thick. Stir over medium heat until sauce

The Message Of Bread Is: 'Share Something Created'

In these times of casual lifestyles, impromptu entertaining and convenient foods, the home baker is a unique phenomenon. While others rush madly off to pack a wallop into every leisure hour, the bread baker often goes to the kitchen and starts baking from scratch. The kitchen stands for logic and stability in a fast moving age. And the making of bread and sharing it is a symbolic act, as old as mankind. It tells people what you consider important in life — a measure of self esteem.

Throughout the Christian world, yeast breads are symbols of festivals, the giving of thanks and hospitality. While visiting a brother, many Americans have enjoyed hospitality in foreign homes.

Instead of calorie laden appetizers and costly beverages, refreshments are often delicious rolls or bread, served with a cup of tea or coffee... a sensible way to say welcome. And the act of sharing something created in the home is uniquely the "message of bread."

Inviting guests for dinner today can easily become a matter of high finance. So why not offer a bread table. The setting need not be elaborate because bread should be part of the delectation. Different shapes and sizes as well as taste and texture makes for an interesting menu. Offer one or two dessert type breads, like Pineapple Savarin or Marzipan Brioche for fanciers of sweets. Peanut Puffs filled with prunes and finely chopped cocktail peanuts will appeal to children.

In a sauce pan combine 1 cup chopped prunes, 1/2 cup water, 1 tablespoon grated lemon peel and 1/4 teaspoon ground cloves; bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer 1 to 2 minutes, until thickened. Remove from heat. Stir in 3/4 cup chopped peanuts and 2 tablespoons orange juice.

Moisture May Help Cracking Hands

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I need something for hands that just crack open like you had cut them with a knife. What can I do? I also have high blood pressure.

And I've coughed every winter since I had whooping cough when I was 8 years old. I am now 48.

DEAR READER — In many instances it's absolutely necessary to see a skin problem before you can really tell what it is. That's why you should see your doctor.

You may just have very dry skin. In such instances using a skin moisturizer will solve the problem. No moisturizer is really any better than plain Vaseline. The thick salve can be rubbed over your hands and wiped off clean and still leave a thin film that will trap the skin's natural moisture.

There are a number of infections of the skin that can cause similar cracking and there are untold opportunities for chemical irritation these days.

Regarding your cough, it is a symptom. I am sending you The Health Letter number 610, Cough: How And When To Treat It, to give you more information about this symptom. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents in check or coin with a long, stamped self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1041, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10101.

Anyone who develops a cough that persists any length of time really should see a physician. Those of short duration could be from a common cold but a persistent cough can even be a sign of lung cancer. I'm confident that's not true in your case. If you've had lung cancer for 40 years, you wouldn't be writing to me now.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
 Sept. 13, 1979
 It might be difficult to see at the moment, but this coming year will turn out to be a most fortunate one. You may not recognize it because Lady Luck is working incognito, but she is there.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Go after what you want today in a subtle and gentle manner and your pails will be overflowing. The opposite will be true if you appear grasping or selfish. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail it for each to Astro-Graph, Box 408, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10101. Be sure to specify birth date.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It's important to keep strong faith in what you're doing and with whom, because something quite substantial will come your way if you don't falter.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23) It behooves you to co-operate to the fullest today with those with whom you share an interest. Be supportive and don't make waves.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Take yourself out of the picture when negotiating, or drawing up a contract. If you don't appear self-serving, the other party will bend backward to please you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) This is one of those days when two heads are better than one. Before proceeding full-

DESERT COLUMBO

By JOAN HANAUER

"NEW YORK (UPI) — If you can imagine picking up "Columbo" during his off and dropping him into the police department of a desert resort community, you might wind up with something like "Desert Columbo" which will be seen on CBS Sept. 13, 10-11 p.m., Eastern time, starring Harry Guardino as a former high-ranking New York City police officer who has become chief of police of Tamarisk Wells, Calif., a community no doubt inspired by the popular conception of Palm Springs.

Like Peter Falk's Columbo, Bender has a rumpus charm, a dogged pursuit of villains, portraying a police official as generally a fun — not a constant hero or comic book avenger of evil.

The town consists of rich newcomers as well as descendants of pioneer Westeners. Bender fits into neither group. He's a dude in the West, a big city man in a small town, a working stiff to rich men and an outsider to old-timers.

This episode — meant as the pilot for a series — erupts when a grazed old rancher (you can always tell a good guy by his grizzle) tries to fight the land-grabbing tactics of a slick (therefore bad guy) newcomer, Ben Piazza, who predictably turns out to be a front man for the mob.

The newest angel on the block makes her debut Sept. 12, when Shelley Hack opens as the incoming member of "Charlie's Angels" on ABC. Miss Hack isn't exactly a stranger to television fans — viewers will recognize her from the "Charlie girl" Revlon commercials.

Frederic's Damage Massive; 8 Dead

Waves Follow Quake

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI) — Tidal waves generated by the world's strongest earthquake in two years roared ashore on the remote Indonesian island of Yapen, destroying at least 400 houses and leaving 8,000 people homeless, officials said today.

Unconfirmed reports said about 100 people were killed by the waves Wednesday that were set in motion by a quake registering 8.0 on the open-ended Richter scale.

The tiny island, situated north of Indonesia's West Irian province 1,800 miles east of Jakarta, was in the immediate vicinity of the quake's epicenter and was the worst hit populated area, the Meteorological and Geological Institute in Jakarta said.

A group of small uninhabited islands near Yapen in Cendrawasih today were temporarily submerged by the tidal waves.

Alabama, four in Louisiana and one in Florida. A 4-year-old boy died when his mobile home blew over at Grand Bay, Ala. A 76-year-old Pritchard, Ala., woman died of a heart attack before storm-delayed doctors could reach her. And, a man was killed in a Dothan, Ala., traffic accident at the height of the storm. A woman presumably drowned when her boat overturned near Pensacola, Fla.

Louisiana authorities said two men died and another being washed off offshore in stallions that would be hauled in and two evacuated offshore oil workers were killed in a car wreck north of New Orleans.

Mount Etna Erupts

CATANIA, Sicily (UPI) — Mount Etna erupted like a cannon showering fiery lava on 200 tourists and killing nine of them in the first deaths on the slopes of the storied volcano since 1912.

The sudden molten shower injured 23 others. The lava roared down on the 200 European tourists, most of them in their 20s, as they arrived near the tip of the volatile volcano on a regular tour at sunset Wednesday.

"It was as if an incredibly powerful cannon had blasted on them," said a tour guide who administered first aid.

Mountain guides said the nine tourists who died were "mangled" in the blast of boiling lava.

Wednesday, the guides said six tourists were killed by the molten flow, but early today they reported finding three more bodies under the masses of a boulders and lava blasted out of the main crater.

Storm Lashes Western Panhandle Into 'Disaster'

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI) — Hurricane Frederic threw shrieking winds and flood tides at the bays, bays and barrier islands of the western panhandle early today, unroofing and flooding homes and businesses, knocking out power and phones and washing away roads. One woman was missing and presumed drowned.

When daylight showed the havoc Frederic had unleashed under the cover of darkness, Vivian Hoffer of the Escambia County Sheriff's Department declared: "We have a disaster here."

Neighboring Santa Rosa County also took a severe blow from Frederic's 38 mph winds and 15-foot storm tide, but the damage in Fort Walton Beach and Panama City to the east was relatively minor.

State officials said at least 250,000 persons fled the Panhandle before Frederic's howling winds began snapping utility poles, uprooting trees and sending an awesome surge of water rolling over the barrier islands and resort beaches.

"There is no power in the county except for emergency generators, most roads are blocked by fallen trees and power lines and some coastal areas are underwater. We're virtually shut down except for emergency services," Escambia County Administrator Rod Kendrick said.

Frederic wreaked the most havoc on the Perdido Key area in southwestern Escambia County. At least 150 mobile homes were destroyed and Kendrick said at least 120 homes in the posh Grand Lagoon development were inundated.

Heroic volunteer firemen rescued 45-year-old Dr. John Langley of Mobile, Ala., from a 40-foot capsized boat he clung to for six hours in the intracoastal waterway near Pensacola. An unidentified woman aboard his boat was missing and presumed drowned.

At least six people were injured, including an ambulance driver whose rescue vehicle overturned in Pensacola during the height of the storm.

The curious and the evacuated came out of shelters at daylight wanting to know and see the damage caused by the storm. By mid-morning, 200 cars were lined up at the Pensacola Bay Bridge waiting to get to Pensacola Beach, but police were keeping people out of evacuated areas until lawmen could establish patrols to prevent looting.

"The key situation is that we have almost no power in the county. We have no traffic signals, roads are difficult to pass and if we let a bunch of cars loose in the county, we're going to have a dangerous situation," Kendrick said.

In Santa Rosa County, a wall of water rose out of Escambia Bay and poured over the plush Garcon Point development. Officials said a state building was unroofed and at least 100 homes were flooded.

"One of my deputies said his parents home had water up to the roof," Santa Rosa Sheriff's Lt. Richard North said. "The south (recreational) part of the county had the most damage. One store at Gulf Breeze looked like it had exploded to me and

Decision Due Tonight

Lake Mary To Cut Services

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The Lake Mary City Council at 6 p.m. special meeting today will decide where to chop $70,095 in services from its 1979-1980 budget. The action results from Tuesday's voter rejection of a proposed tax increase.

At the Tuesday election the voters by a better than 2-1 margin, denied the city fathers' request for an increase in taxes from $3 per $1,000 assessed valuation to $4.25. The new tax rate must, according to state law, now be no more than $2.94 per $1,000.

Why did the voters turn down their message to the city council?

"We sent them a message that we don't want higher taxes," said Mrs. Dorothy Fedderson of Lake Shore Drive.

Most of the comments made for the record, however, pointed not only to a disenchantment with taxes generally, but also with the city's nine-member police department and other employees, but also with the city government's management of city funds.

One woman who asked her name not be published said the referendum was the first step in cleaning up city hall.

"We need an entire new city council, one that is interested in serving the public and doing what the public wants of doing things," she said.

Another woman said the city council has "grandiose ideas" for the small community of Lake Mary. One woman said she receives nothing for her tax dollars to the city. "I don't have a paved road, no water, no sewer service and no police protection. I see the police standing around the convenience store instead of on the road patrolling."

"The majority of people thought the city council could cut expenses," Mrs. Pat Christie of 222 E. Wilbur Ave., said. "Perhaps the people realized there is supposed to be a re-evaluation of property in 1980 and I am proposing going up again," Mrs. Brenda Day of Evansdale Road said.

"I think the city council can cut down on the police department," Mrs. Anna Jardine of Fifth Street said.

"I think the city's money is being spent wrongly," said Ed Pratt of 355 Evansdale Road.

"We don't need the police department we've got. We have too many police officers."

"I would like to see someone on the city council who would know how to spend our money wisely," Pratt said.

Councilman Francis Mark said he will make it his colleagues tonight is that city employees be placed on a 32-hour work week, saving nearly $600 weekly and perhaps saving some of the four patrolmen's jobs.

The city council had said if the referendum was not approved, four officers would have to be cut from the police department.

"As far as the fire department is concerned, I can't understand why the council refuses to permit the volunteer fire department to buy the new truck they have offered to buy," Mrs. Matthews said.

Busing Tops School Parley

Four separate courtesy busing requests were heard by the Seminole County School Board Wednesday night. As parents talked about the safety of their children, the discussions with the board members often became heated.

Courtesy busing is a policy whereby the school district provides bus transportation to children who live within two miles of their schools. The district only has to transport students who live farther than two miles but can offer a courtesy to some students within the two-mile limit.

A safety committee, composed of a representative from the school board and representatives from the county commission, countywide advisory committee, and county sheriff's office will review requests for courtesy if asked by the school board.

Three of the groups wanted the school board to direct the safety committee to check out their situation, but one group wanted immediate action because, as Mark Trotter, the Lake Hodges Estate spokesman said, "We are talking about children's lives."

The first group to address the board on busing was from the Skylark Homeowners Association. Mrs. B. J. Chasik, speaking for that group of about 30 parents, said courtesy busing should be extended to the students going from Skylark to Longwood Elementary School because there are no sidewalks and it is one of the heavier trafficked routes in Longwood, according to police chief Greg Manning.

Mrs. Chasik turned the request over to the Longwood Elementary principal, Arletta M. Cobery. Ms. Cobery explained that she tried to get courtesy busing three years ago and was turned down. According to Ms. Cobery, since that time the cars

Seminole Officials Perplexed

House Gets The Shakes

By GEOFFREY FOUNDS

When their neighbors flush their toilets, Ed and Vesda Williams' home begins shaking and Seminole County engineers start scratching their heads again.

The Williams' home at 121 Graham Road, Fern Park, is located immediately in front of the Waverly Drive Lift Station. Pipes carrying water to and from the lift station pumps run parallel to the Williams' property line barely six inches from the end of their lot. During periods of high water use when the lift station is operating at capacity, vibrations are sent through the ground into the Williams' home.

"It's worse in the morning and later in the evening, whenever people are using a lot of water. It occurs every day, but you can never be sure exactly when it's going to start," said the 28-year-old Williams in an interview.

"It doesn't last too long and it doesn't get too loud. It's sort of a dull murmur that sets anything loose vibrating," added Williams.

"It doesn't last too long and it doesn't get too loud. It's sort of a dull murmur that sets anything loose vibrating," added Williams.

Williams and his wife, contend they repeatedly have tried to get county officials to correct the situation, but no solution has been found. The couple said they have talked to public works director Jack Schuler, county commissioner Sandra Glen and others.

"It's a unique problem that we haven't been able to solve, but we are determined to find a solution. We've got consultants working on it now," said Schuler.

"They respond right away, and I really think they are trying to help. But each time they send someone he just looks at the situation and winds up scratching his head," said Williams.

According to Williams, the last time the vibrations were examined was several weeks ago. At that time, he said, consultants from Miami were called in and they, too, were perplexed by the vibrations. He said the consultants believe the final solution may require digging up their yard and packing it with clay.

"We don't understand why they can't dig up their own pump instead of our home," Vesda, 30, said. Ironically, the Waverly station was redesigned two years ago to replace a station that neighborhood residents complained was unduly noisy and caused vibrations.

"When we moved in here two years ago, they were tearing out the old equipment. There were bulldozers and jackhammers going all day long. When they finished, we thought we'd have peace. Now we'll probably get the bulldozers back," Mrs. Williams said.

The station, an enclosed concrete blockhouse, has been sarcastically dubbed "the Monster" by the Williamses. They said far they have had to replace one full-length wall mirror in their dining room that has been jarred loose by the vibrations. Its replacement has started to come ajar. They said their real fear is the potential damage to the foundation of their home that prolonged vibrations may create.

Williams, whose career is real estate, says he is concerned about the effect the problem can have on the home's value. If necessary, he said, he may pursue legal action against the county to resolve the matter.

The Waverly Drive station already has cost the county more than $10,000 to replace and repair equipment and Schuler said it is bound to cost "thousands more" before the situation is corrected.

"It's certainly gotten to be a big headache for us as well," Schuler said.

The public works director said before the digging up of yard has to be done, the county will try installing pipes of flexible materials to reduce the vibrations.

"As if the vibrations were not enough, the Williams said "the Monster" causes other problems.

"Sometimes it really stinks. I don't know if there is a leak or what, but the odor from it is terrible," said Mrs. Williams. "You can be out in the back yard cooking a steak and it starts to smell — you don't feel like eating anymore."

There is a backup diesel generator at the station that kicks on during power shortages, Williams said. But for some reason, every time the diesel unit starts, smoke and sparks fly out of the station, he said.
