Computer Can Get Help To Your Door Minutes Faster

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

Sheriff's deputies will be at the scene quicker, department spokesmen say, thanks to an $185,000 computer system that can shave precious minutes off response time.

The computer, contracted for today, can instantly locate the source of a call and determine the closest and most appropriate unit to dispatch.

The Seminole County Commission Thursday gave unanimous approval for purchase of the computer aided dispatch (CAD) system, which is expected to be operational by late March.

Sheriff's spokesman John Spolski said the system will greatly improve the overall capabilities of the department. He said it is capable of cutting minutes from response time, currently averaging six minutes.

Cities in the county will also be able to tie into the system, if they choose.

Officials signed a contract with the National Cash Register Co. today for an NCR 85-65 central processing unit with disc drives, a tape drive, a high speed and a low speed printer, nine terminals that operators will use to type in information and three monitors that will show the location of all patrol cars at all times.

Communications department dispatchers, who will be trained to operate the system, will continue to use the old manual system as backup during the first couple of months the new system is on line. The manual system will remain functional in case the new computer fails.

But Spolski and Dick Telson, manager of criminal justice information, who carefully researched for the last three years all available systems before making a recommendation to the County Commission, anticipate little or no trouble making the transfer.

"This is a turn key system," Telson said. "As soon as it's installed it will be functional. We don't have to worry about developing our own software because we'll be using a three-quarter-million-dollar system developed and paid for by the federal government."

The new system will be tied to federal and state computers and will give deputies immediate access to any information available at those levels. Spolski said that eventually Central Florida counties probably also unify their local systems.

The sheriff's department will also be able to instantly transfer information to the courts and the criminal justice department.

Spolski said the computerized system will also allow them to develop detailed statistics on high crime areas. That will enable the sheriff's department to know where a greater concentration of manpower is needed. "We hope to make it hot enough that in a lot of areas crime will drop off."

Telson said the system was chosen with an eye on the county's future growth. It can handle up to 300 terminals and could eventually include patrol car units and it has 911 emergency system capabilities. Although, he added, 911, which cost $4 million for Orange County to install, wouldn't be cost effective for Seminole County now.

Spolski said: "We're at the dawn of a new era of communication for Seminole county. The progress the sheriff's department has seen in the last nine years will be overshadowed with the changes we will make in the next three to six months. We have plans for a new radio system, which will complement the new dispatch system. When they are both on line the Seminole County sheriff's department will have one of the most advanced systems in the nation."

Sobik Suspect Innocent

A Seminole Circuit Court jury has found an Orlando man innocent of armed robbery and burglary in a case involving the owner of the Sobik's restaurant chain.

James Alfred Elliot, 22, of 1919 E. Mark St., was acquitted early Thursday afternoon by a four-woman, two-man jury in its second day of deliberation.

Elliot, who had been held in jail since Oct. 19, 1982, was charged with the July 12, 1982 robbery of John Sobik III and Dennis Sobik and the burglary of the home of John Sobik Sr., of Ferne Drive, Longwood. The Sobiks are sons of John Sobik Sr., owner of the burglarized home and a sandwich shop chain.

Elliot and two accomplices were accused of stealing jewelry, coins and guns from the elder Sobik's home.

The jury began its deliberation Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. but recessed at 8:45 p.m. after the members requested a transcript of testimony that had not yet been transcribed. The six-member jury renewed its decision-making process Thursday at 9 a.m.

Elliot was not released from custody after the trial but was turned over to Orange County authorities for sentencing on an unrelated robbery charge, sheriff's Capt. Jay Leman said.

Another defendant in the case, Robert Taylor, who is serving a 30-year sentence in Mississippi, will not be tried for his alleged participation in the robbery-burglary, according to Assistant State Attorney Ralph Eriksson. A third suspect, Carl Williams, a former neighbor of the Sobiks, was found shot to death in Georgia the day after the robbery.

With the main blaze out, Sanford fire fighters, some still wearing oxygen tanks, pull and extinguish burning furniture from Susan Lee's 16th Street home after a 9 a.m. fire that gutted the one-story building. According to a hospital spokesman, Lee, burned in the fire, was to be transferred to a burn center in Orlando.

Invalid Pulled From Blazing Home

A bedridden Sanford woman was rescued from her burning home this morning when a workman doused himself with water and crawled into the burning building to save her.

Susan Lee, 41, of 1504 W. 16th St. was pulled from her burning bedroom, when William Stroman, of 2706 Orlando Drive, with the help of Douglas Denmark and Louis Cauthen Jr., also of Sanford, broke the bedroom window, entered the room, tugged the woman from her flaming bed, and passed her to three other rescuers who carried the woman away from the fire, according to Sanford police officer Guy Brewster.

Lee was to be transferred today from Central Florida Regional Hospital to the burn unit of the Orlando Regional Medical Center as soon as her condition was stabilized, a hospital spokesman said.

Stroman said he and Denmark were cleaning a yard across from Lee's home when they saw smoke rising from the blue one-story building.

There were kids on the porch yelling there was a fire and a woman in side, said Stroman.

"I tried to go into the living room and the [fire] grew when I stepped inside the door. So I hosed myself with water, wrapped a wet sweater over my head, and my hair still got singed," said Stroman as he stood still wet and shivering in the cool morning temperature.

Unable to go through the house, Stroman, followed Cauthen, of Celery Avenue, to the home's bedroom window and broke it.

He seemed to know where to go, said Stroman. Cauthen also cut his hand when they broke the window, according to Stroman.

Stroman then crawled through the window into the bedroom, pulled Lee from her bed and passed her to the rescuers outside. There, Willie Law, Charles Pierce, and Bobby Pierce, all of 18th Street, helped Stroman, Denmark and Cauthen carry the woman to the street in front of her home. Later, when the fire, which gutted the house, caused a power line to fall across the street, the men carried Lee across the street, Stroman said.

Cauthen was treated for a small cut at the hospital and released, according to a hospital spokesman.

Brewster said the children who summoned aid were preschoolers.

Stroman said he saw a wheelchair in the house, confirming the youngsters' statements that the woman could not get out of bed on her own.

The state fire marshal said the blaze was accidental, according to Sanford fire Lt. Bill Lee.

Court Clerk Opens Office In South End Of County

Residents of south Seminole County will no longer have to travel to Sanford to handle business with the Clerk of the Circuit Court's office.

Clerk Arthur H. Beckwith Jr. Thursday opened a branch office in the Palm Springs Center at the corner of State Road 436 and Palm Springs Drive, Altamonte Springs.

Known by most residents as the Albertson's shopping center rather than by its official title, Beckwith's office there will provide the following services: collecting traffic ticket and child-support payments, intake for recording instruments for the official record and all criminal and civil case filings, issuing marriage licenses, accepting applications for passports, the sale of documentary stamps, and record checks via computer between the branch and Beckwith's main courthouse office.

Microfilm readers are also available for persons who want to review officials records of the past 20 years.

Eloise Pfeiff, chief deputy clerk, said services at the office may be expanded or deleted depending on need.

'Water Crisis' Shortage Feared As EDB Spread Foreseen

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

A crisis over Sanford's ability to continue providing an ample and safe water supply is on the horizon.

Despite the good news received by the city that a fourth well at the Mayfair Golf Course, suspected of being contaminated with EDB — ethylene dibromide, a pesticide — is well within the state standards for safety, it is possible, a state official says, that the entire seven-well field there could become contaminated.

And city manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles pointed out in a memo to the city commission today the possibility of a water shortage is real.

Three wells at the course are already shut down because of EDB contamination. Another well is out of operation for repair, but should go back on line within the next week, Knowles said.

With the four wells down, the city has lost 3.8 million gallons daily of its 9.1 million gallon daily capacity, leaving about 5.3 million gallons daily for use.

The city's customers in November were using 4.9 million gallons per day and the usage went up this month.

"Note that during the past 24 days of usage, the city has reached or exceeded the daily capacity of the 11 wells on four days. It must also be realized the 5.3 million gallons per day is based on all 11 wells running 24 hours a day, seven days a week without let-up, without rest or rotation and without any down time for maintenance or repairs," Knowles' memo said.

"There is no reserve and there is no room to accommodate growth by additional building or increased demands created by warmer weather," he said.

Meanwhile Bill Bostwick, district engineer for water and solid waste with the state Department of Environmental Regulation, St. Johns River District, said:

"We are concerned the EDB might spread to the other wells. If the city doesn't pump the contaminated wells, the EDB might be pumped into wells that are operating."

Preliminary tests by a state agency of samples from the fourth well taken by the county health department showed an EDB level of .13 parts per billion, above the state's acceptable level for safety of .1 part per billion. However, final tests showed the EDB level to be at .07 part per billion, well within the safe level.

The three down wells represent 20 percent of the city's water supply. The city has a total of 15 wells, seven at the golf course and eight more at a U.S. Highway 17-92 — Airport Boulevard site. However, the golf course wells are considered the city's primary water supply.

And the Seminole County Health Department will continue to

There is no reserve...

The need for taking action is critical!

—City Manager Pete Knowles

monitor the four functioning wells at the golf course on a weekly basis. John Cochran, health department sanitarian, said today.

Meanwhile, Knowles has notified Sanford city commissioners to expect more shut downs of wells at the golf course.

"(With continued testing of operating wells at the golf course), ...You can expect some more shut downs in the future," Knowles said in his memo. "The need for taking action is critical."

Cochran said samples from the wells are sent on to the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services in Jacksonville for analysis.

In Knowles' memo, along with other recommendations, he suggests the four remaining EDB-free wells be pumped and the resulting water "wasted" — disposed of in some fashion.

A county official said today the city would have no problem from the county health department in getting permission to pump the contaminated wells "to waste."

Russ Miller, director of the county environmental health section of the health department, said, "We would have no problem with that with DER approval."

Noting that about 1,000 new dwelling units are expected to begin construction within the next 120 days, Knowles said that equates to about 500,000 gallons more water needed per day.

"This is a deficit water demand," Knowles said.

"Warm weather, building, yards and gardens etc. will have a water demand of 6.5 to 7 million gallons of water daily. The full capacity of the system will still be 5.33 million gallons daily, without reserves, rest, or rotation of wells."

Knowles earlier urged city commissioners to call for conservation of water and to set a moratorium on new construction until the water crisis is resolved.

The majority of commissioners interviewed at the time said the building moratorium would be called only as a last resort.

Knowles also recommends in his memo that the commission execute a contract with the engineering firm of Conklin, Porter & Holmes to coordinate and develop plans for building a new well in the Hidden Lake area and to study and recommend ways of ridding the three down wells of EDB.

NATION IN BRIEF

Amnesty For Aliens May Cost $25 Billion

HOUSTON (UPI) — A Rice University economist estimates a bill granting amnesty to certain illegal aliens would cost taxpayers $25 billion a year if enacted into law, a figure the sponsor of the measure branded absurd.

Dr. Donald Huddle said he considered three factors in his calculation: the cost of unemployment insurance for American workers displaced by illegal aliens, the loss of tax revenue due to underpayment of taxes by illegal aliens and the cost of social services to displaced U.S. workers.

Sen. Alan Simpson, R-Wyoming, one of the sponsors of the bill granting amnesty to certain illegal aliens, called the figure a "gross distortion."

Simpson said Huddle's calculations were based on figures that even experts cannot agree on. He said there are no accurate figures available on the number of illegal aliens within the U.S. or how many American workers they might displace.

Huddle, a member of a state task force on illegal immigration to Texas, based his figures on estimates that 65 American workers are displaced by every 100 illegal aliens working in the U.S.

Pentagon Tightens Security

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon, the world's biggest office building, is following the White House and the State Department in implementing tighter security measures as a precaution against terrorist attack.

"Almost a day doesn't go by here where there isn't a threat of some kind," spokesman Michael Burch said Thursday. "Bomb threats to the Pentagon are not infrequent."

On Dec. 20, the Pentagon will close the three tunnels that go under the building near the public subway station that are used by commuter and military buses, taxis, vans and other carriers, a building circular announced.

After that date, vehicles will have to pick up and discharge passengers at parking lots outside the building, it said.

Right To Die Ruling Today

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI) — A judge must decide whether quadriplegic Elizabeth Bouvia can carry out her wish to starve in a hospital or if doctors who do not want to be "dispensers of death" have the right to force-feed her.

Superior Court Judge John News finished hearing eight days of testimony Thursday and promised a ruling possibly this afternoon in the landmark case.

Mrs. Bouvia, 26, filed a complaint in October seeking an injunction to prevent hospital staff from force-feeding her so she can die rather than live as a severely disabled cerebral palsy victim requiring constant care.

She asked the medical staff only to give her painkillers and provide hygienic care.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: A snowstorm that blinded the northern Plains drifted into Canada today, granting a brief respite to Duluth, Minn. residents who with "pure daring and courage" kept on driving through the most snow on record for any autumn season. A broken water main in Detroit early today forced Detroit Edison to shut down 95 percent of its downtown steam heat system, leaving 4 square miles of a major business and hotel district without heat in brisk 30-degree temperatures. One hotel offered 50-percent discounts after it ran out of space heaters. One to 4 inches of snow swept out of northeast New Mexico across northern Texas and into Oklahoma, and light snow from the storm moving into Canada lingered over the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley, stretching from Illinois to West Virginia. Frigid Arctic air swooped down from Canada, plunging temperatures near the border to well below zero.

AREA FORECAST: Variable cloudiness and cool with a chance of showers late today. Highs mid 60s to near 70. Wind northerly near 15 mph. Rain chance increasing to 30 percent this afternoon. Tonight and Saturday mostly cloudy. Chance of rain and thunderstorms. Lows in the 50s. Highs near 70 to mid 70s. Wind tonight northeasterly near 15 mph. Rain chance 40 percent tonight and 30 percent Saturday.

BOATING FORECAST: St. Augustine to Jupiter Inlet out 70 miles — Wind northwesterly near 12 knots becoming north to northeast 15 to 20 knots late today then northeasterly 20 knots tonight and Saturday. Seas 4 to 6 feet today but higher well offshore. Mostly cloudy. Scattered showers south today and over area tonight.

Business Inflation Lowest In 20 Years

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Less expensive food and fuels pushed wholesale prices down 0.2 percent in November, a surprising drop that made it possible for 1983 to record the lowest business inflation in two decades, the government said today.

Food prices dropped a full 1 percent and gasoline and fuel oil went down even more, the Labor Department said.

So far this year the annual inflation rate for wholesale prices is just 0.3 percent. It would take the largest increase of the year in December, a 0.7 percent increase, to hoist the annual rate to 1 percent, department analysts said.

The only question is whether 1983 will be the best year for business inflation since 1964's 0.5 percent or 1963's slight decline, they said.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said, "It shows the economy is operating at a record low level of inflation. The figures today are remarkable news that indicates we are well on target for the president's program for sustaining economic growth with low inflation."

The 0.7 percent increase for finished goods is the lowest in 17 years. Speakes said, putting the annual rate for finished goods at less than 1 percent.

The November decline was the third monthly drop this year and had not been anticipated by leading forecasters.

The Producer Price Index in November was 286.8, equivalent to a price of $286.80 for goods that cost business $100 in 1967.

The largest turnaround for the month was in food prices, which went up 1.1 percent the previous month.

The effects of the summer drought that damaged crops finally faded for fruits and vegetables. After shooting up 18.5 percent in October, fresh fruit prices fell 9.5 percent at wholesale in November. Vegetable prices went down even more, dropping 16.5 percent.

Beef prices were down 1.6 percent, the second decline in three months. Pork prices were off 2.9 percent.

Gasoline prices dropped 1.1 percent in the latest report, which reflected mostly October pump prices. Fuel oil was 1.8 percent cheaper. Natural gas moved up only a slight 0.4 percent.

The stable wholesale prices have been the biggest reason consumer inflation, reflected by the department's Consumer Price Index, has shown exceptionally mild acceleration, running around 3.9 percent at an annual rate through October. Food prices, while up only a moderate 1 percent for the past 12 months, have contrasted with steep declines for the year in fuel prices, with gasoline prices falling 9.6 percent in the same period, the department said.

Fuel prices have been held in check worldwide and sent down domestically by weak demand.

The price index measures changes in the cost of nearly 3,400 commodities bought in large quantities.

Especially significant for business was the fact the report showed no change in prices for capital equipment, the factory gear and construction machinery that makes up 22 percent of the index.

The combination of stable prices for large equipment and plentiful corporate cash from improved earnings is compensating for high interest rates and beginning to turn into increases for modernization and expansion. That creates new jobs and focuses resources on restoring a competitive edge to industry.

Police Investigating Pair Of Hefty Thefts

A couple of apparently strong thieves have been at work in Seminole County. In two separate thefts, a refrigerator and a stove were lifted.

The refrigerator, valued at $500, disappeared from 74 Lake Monroe Terrace, Sanford, between Nov. 30 and Wednesday. It was unknown how the thief entered or exited the building which belongs to the Sanford Housing Authority.

The refrigerator was subsequently sold and police recovered it Wednesday at 1412 W. 13th Street, Sanford.

The other hefty theft occurred when someone entered the garage of a house under construction at 1536 Pickwood Avenue, Fern Park, between Dec. 9 and Thursday and took a $378 kitchen range. Dennis Buckley, 33, supervisor for Bellair Homes of Altamonte Springs, reported the loss to the Seminole County sheriff's department.

AUTO THEFTS

A 1979 Ford Bronco valued at $6,500 was reported missing from the lot at Altamonte Auto Sales on State Road 436, Altamonte Springs. It was discovered to be missing between 8 p.m. Monday and 8:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Salesman Paul Robinson, 33, reported the loss and gave Seminole County sheriff's investigators the name of a suspect, a report said.

Ann-Marie Miller, 21, of 101 Hillcrest Avenue, Altamonte Springs reported that on Tuesday at about 3:57 a.m. she heard a car start outside her home, but she didn't realize that her $8,700 car was missing until she checked her driveway at 6:14 a.m. She reported she had lost a set of keys about three days before the theft.

A Seminole County sheriff's deputy found the car about one block from Ms. Miller's house at 8:45 a.m. The driver's door was open and the ignition was on, but the key was missing. A camera in the car was not taken, but a board imbedded with nails had been taken from the backseat, a report said.

OFFICER ASSAULTED

An Altamonte Springs man arrested for disorderly conduct and battery to a law enforcement officer posted a $1,000 bond and was released from the Seminole County jail.

Seminole County sheriff's deputy Jason Pauska was hit in the face when he was assisting another officer who was making an arrest during a disturbance at 11 a.m. Wednesday on Marker Street in Altamonte Springs. Pauska's report said the suspect was being uncooperative and combative during the confrontation, but was eventually handcuffed and jailed.

A woman who was accused of interfering with that investigation was also arrested.

John Richard Volkema, 18, is scheduled for a court appearance on Dec. 30. Fanie Smith, 18, is being held in lieu of $500 bond. She was scheduled for a court appearance at 1:30 p.m. today.

CHECK CASHED

A Sanford man who allegedly cashed a $244.20 payroll check he found in the lost wallet of a Stromberg Carlson employee is being held in the Seminole County jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Seminole County sheriff's investigator Ron Gilbert reported he recognized the suspect in a photo that was taken of the man when the check was cashed at Pantry Pride, Sanford.

The man had presented the check, driver's license and Pantry Pride check cashing card of Scott G. Woodward, but allowed the store cashier to take his own photo at the time of the transaction, a report said.

Robert Lowell Folles, 36, of 28 Henderson Lane, was arrested at 3 p.m. Wednesday at his home. He faces charges of forgery and grand theft. He was scheduled for a court appearance at 1:30 p.m. today.

Wright Brothers' Flight Marked By Irreverence

KITTY HAWK, N.C. (UPI) — The Man Will Never Fly Society gathers once again this weekend during the 80th anniversary celebration of the Wright brothers' alleged first flight to give an object lesson in its motto: "Birds Fly — Men Drink."

Society members will be present Saturday when a Virginia Beach, Va. man attempts to recreate the 1903 event in his replica of the Wright Brothers' first plane, said co-founder Ed North of Nags Head.

"We're going to get 100 volunteers to drink three martinis and stand upwind and blow like hell," North said Thursday. "If he doesn't get off the ground, he won't give a damn."

About 350 people will attend this year's meeting. The society first met in 1959 when North and Jack Aulis, then an area newspaper reporter, sought a way to break the boredom of winter on North Carolina's Outer Banks.

"We've got no purpose except to have a party. It's always the night before the alleged first flight," said North, a retired doctor and former pilot.

The society's membership is "somewhere around 5,000. We don't keep an accurate account," North said.

Despite its irreverent attitude towards flight, he said about 40 to 50 percent of the members are pilots and most are associated with the aviation industry.

A LITTLE POT
An Altamonte Springs man who was arrested at 10:46 a.m. Wednesday and charged with possession of a controlled substance and not having a driver's license posted a $500 bond and was released from the Seminole County jail.

A police officer reported that when he saw what appeared to be a drug sale at Marker and Leonard streets in Altamonte Springs, he stopped a suspect who was driving away from the scene. The man could not produce a driver's license, but did turn over a small bag of marijuana valued at about $5, a report said.

Jeffery Mark Kangas, 22, of 275 Cranes Roost #1827, is scheduled to appear in court on Dec. 30.

WALLET MISSING
A wallet containing $195, which had been found and turned over to campground officer Gwyneth M. Donahue, 68, of 12 Oaks, Sanford, disappeared from a counter in the office of Oaks Campground around 10 a.m. Wednesday, a report said.

The wallet, which belonged to William R. Williams of Lot 88, 12 Oaks, was left unattended on the counter and disappeared while Mrs. Donahue wasn't looking. She said that a sliding glass window of the office had been opened during the theft, the report said.

BANK CARD THEFT
Barbara A. Rosenbeck of 102 Weeping Elm Lane, Longwood, who had reported her "Super Sam" card missing from her home on Nov. 11, reported Wednesday that five withdrawals totaling $800 had been made from her account since the card disappeared.

During the last transaction at Barnett Bank on State Road 434, Longwood, the machine did not return the card to the thief. Bank photos show that a man wearing a baseball cap used the card at that bank to make all five withdrawals, a report said.

CONSTRUCTION THEFTS
Plywood valued at $919 was reported missing from a construction site at Ross Lake Lane, lot 16, Sanford. Roger Barkston, 27, building supervisor, reported that the wood disappeared between 3:30 p.m. Tuesday and 7 a.m. Wednesday, a report said.

Lumber valued at $138 was also reported missing from a construction site at 1524 Sugar Wood Circle, Maitland. A secretary for Complete Interiors, Altamonte Springs, reported that the lumber was taken between 5:30 p.m. Tuesday and 7 a.m. Wednesday, a report said.

JEWELRY TAKEN
A gold necklace with charms, a pendant watch and a telephone valued at $1,400 were taken in a break-in at Route 4, Box 75-A, County Road 15, Lake Monroe.

Frances Galloway, 49, reported that someone entered her home Tuesday by using a pry tool to open a side garage door. She said that the thief took items only from her bedroom and may have been scared off, a Seminole County sheriff's deputy's report said.

Israeli Gunboats Hit PLO Positions

TRIPOLI, Lebanon (UPI) — Israeli gunboats harassed Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat but bombarding guerrilla positions in Tripoli as Arafat prepared to evacuate his fighters in Greek ships.

The gunboats attacked Palestine Liberation Organization positions north and south of the northern port of Tripoli for about a quarter of an hour late Thursday with 76 mm cannon and rocket fire, witnesses said.

In Tel Aviv, the Israeli army issued a statement confirming the attack and said PLO gunners returned fire at Israeli gunboats but there were no Israeli casualties. The Israelis claimed direct hits on PLO roadblocks and positions.

The shelling was the third in a week by the Israelis, who are harassing Arafat as he and his fighters, cornered by Syrian-backed Palestinian rebels, prepare to flee Tripoli.

American Nun Killed

LIMA, Peru (UPI) — Dozens of police opened fire on a carload of convicts holding three American nuns hostage, killing one nun and eight criminals, authorities said. Another nun was wounded.

The dead nun was identified by authorities Thursday as Irish-born Joan Mary Sawyer of Boston, a naturalized U.S. citizen and a sister of the Saint Columban Order.

Witnesses and police said the convicts fired back at officers but a nun who survived charged the inmates attempting a jailbreak were armed only with knives.

Rebels Capture Volcano

United Press International
Salvadoran rebels captured the slopes of a volcano overlooking the capital of a northeastern province, killing 40 soldiers and wounding 25 others in two days of fighting against U.S.-backed government forces, military sources said.

Leftist rebel radio broadcasts said Thursday 100 soldiers were killed, 65 wounded and nine taken prisoner in the two-day battle for Cerro Cacahuatique, a 4,900-foot volcano 69 miles northeast of San Salvador that overlooks the Morazan province capital of San Francisco Gotera.

Police Club Crowd

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Police used tear gas and clubs to break up a crowd in Wroclaw as the Solidarity underground called for protests today to mourn those killed when martial law was declared two years ago.

Witnesses said the crowd in Wroclaw, 190 miles southwest of Warsaw, was in the city's market Thursday night, listening to a loudspeaker announcement apparently related to the underground's call for demonstrations.

First Civilian To Fly In Shuttle In 1985

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The space agency expects to invite journalists, artists and writers to apply in the spring for a flight into orbit aboard the space shuttle to tell the American people what spaceflight is like.

James Beggs, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Thursday said the first flight of such a professional "civilian observer" is expected to be possible in 1985.

He said the agency will take the first step in opening up the shuttle to the public by publishing in the Federal Register next week proposed procedures for selecting citizen-observers.

NASA said it is not yet accepting applications for such flights.

NASA announced later that the proposed regulation to be published in the government publication "will establish a citizen-observer-participant evaluation committee at NASA headquarters to manage the selection process."

"It sets up the basic guidelines for applicants such as health, training and space adaptability," NASA said. "Applicants will be evaluated by a NASA-designated outside review panel with the agency retaining authority for final selection."

The agency said civilian-observers would have to meet "certain criteria still under review." Beggs said there will be 60 days for public comments on the proposal and then NASA will have 60 days to make any changes before issuing a formal "announcement of opportunity." He said this was expected in the spring.

The NASA administrator said the observers will be journalists, artists and writers who would be able to "translate the experience into real terms for the public."

The first opportunity for such a flight would be in 1985, Beggs said. He said three or four civilian observers might be accommodated each year.

Beggs, answering questions at a luncheon sponsored by the Washington Press Club, said NASA's plan is to place such civilian observers on the agency's payroll temporarily and provide the required training without charge.

New Truce OK'd In Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Representatives of Lebanon's warring factions agreed today to honor their oft-violated cease-fire, prompting the government to order the reopening of Beirut airport, government officials said.

The sources said the warring parties agreed to honor the Sept. 26 truce starting 2 p.m. (7 a.m. EST) and allow Beirut International Airport — closed since Nov. 30 — to reopen.

They said the pledge was made at a meeting in Damascus attended by ranking Lebanese army officers, Syrian and Saudi Arabian mediators, and representatives from Lebanon's warring militias.

But before the new cease-fire deadline came into effect, Lebanese troops and Shiite Moslem militiamen fought intensive clashes close to the airport runways.

Military sources said government forces traded heavy machine gun fire with Shiite Moslem gunmen and came under artillery and mortar fire from Druze gunners firing from mountain positions east of the capital.

The foreign ministers of Syria, Lebanon and Saudi Arabia are scheduled to meet in Damascus Sunday to select a date and location for the second round of Lebanon's peace talks, Lebanese President Amin Gemayel said.

Today's apparent breakthrough at the talks in Damascus came after a day of fighting around Beirut and the U.S. naval bombardment of Druze mountain targets southeast of the capital.

The battleship New Jersey fired 40 rounds in 25 minutes Thursday from its 5-inch guns after the Marines stationed near Beirut airport came under small arms, shell, rocket and anti-aircraft fire, Capt. Wayne Jones said.

The Marines retaliated with tanks, mortars and artillery, Jones said. No Marine casualties were reported but three French peace-keepers were wounded in a roadside explosion in a Shiite Moslem area of central Beirut.

Security Order Came Too Late

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department is moving to protect American embassies around the world from terrorists, but the order for extra precautions arrived too late to ward off an attack on the U.S. embassy in Kuwait, a senior U.S. official said.

The official said Thursday the money to strengthen the security measures at the U.S. embassy in Kuwait — asked for two months ago — was approved on the day a terrorist drove a 10-truck loaded with explosives through a gate and into the embassy compound.

The consular building was destroyed, but the main building was largely spared. Three people were killed, none Americans, and scores were injured.

"The message was waiting to go out when the event occurred," a senior department official said.

The senior official said a cable was sent to all 256 diplomatic posts Thursday regarding the laying of pipes and installation of gates to prevent attacks by suicide drivers ramming trucks packed with explosives into U.S. installations. That was the method used by Islamic radicals to destroy the U.S. embassy in Beirut in April, killing 63 persons, and the U.S. Marines barracks at the Beirut airport in October, with a loss of 240 servicemen.

The State Department, itself, has been surrounded by trucks, cars, and cement dividers to prevent a similar kind of attack. New barriers also protect the White House.

The official said the tactics of terrorists have changed from assassinations of ambassadors and the seizure or burning of embassies as in Iran, Pakistan and Libya.

Holiday Extra Work For Tiny Florida Town

By Bill Lohmann
CHRISTMAS, Fla. (UPI) — During the Christmas season, the post office in this tiny central Florida town may be the busiest this side of the North Pole.

Thousands of cards and letters seeking the Christmas, Fla., postmark flood the small brick building and inundate the postmaster and her two clerks.

Last year, the post office handled more than 115,000 pieces of mail between Thanksgiving and Christmas — more than the rest of the year combined. The numbers increase each year as word of the tradition spreads.

"We don't look forward to the extra work, but we meet a lot of nice people," said Postmaster Joy Mrs. Chittum whose been on the job for 10 years. "We enjoy it."

People come from all over the United States and the world to Christmas, a blink-and-you-miss-it town of about 3,000 people located 20 miles east of Orlando on U.S. Highway 50. A guest book in the post office testifies to that.

The book includes names from San Francisco, Massachusetts, Canada, Switzerland, Japan, Italy, the Philippines and Malaysia. Many others send boxes or packets of their Christmas cards to the post office to be mailed with the special postmark.

The town derives its name from Fort Christmas, a citadel established on Christmas Day in 1837 by the U.S. Army during its campaign to rid Florida of Seminole Indians.

Many of today's residents are descendants of the first troops, who occupied Fort Christmas. A replica of the fort still stands two miles off the main highway.

Mrs. Chittum says the town is proud of its special place during the holiday celebration.

A "permanent" Christmas tree — a giant red cedar draped with red ribbon — stands 100 yards up the road from the post office. A huge nativity scene rests at its base.

For the post office's part, a small

Christmas tree remains decorated year-round in its own little corner.

It's all part of the town's attempt to practice the Christmas spirit 365 days a year.

"The spirit's sort of contagious," Mrs. Chittum said. "It's a real comfortable atmosphere around here."

There's even a resident Santa Claus to take care of any mail for the fat man in red. Jack James handles the hundreds of cards, letters and requests that arrive at the post office each year addressed to Santa Claus.

He answers each one and sends along a postcard — with the Christmas, Fla., postmark, of course — that has a picture of Santa Claus on the front. James foots the bill himself.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Malpractice Issue May Go To The Voters

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Florida doctors may turn to the ballot to get what they want on the controversial medical malpractice issue, after having failed working through the Legislature this year.

Leaders of the Florida Medical Association will present a plan calling for a proposed constitutional amendment to the FMA House of Delegates at a meeting next month in Jacksonville, the St. Petersburg Times reported Thursday.

If they are successful in getting enough signatures from registered voters, the proposal could go on the ballot for the November 1984 general election. It is unlikely, however, the proposal could include all of the things doctors sought from the Legislature in 1983.

During the legislative session, doctors wanted laws making it easier for malpractice cases to be dismissed, limiting damages for pain and suffering, changing the way liability is apportioned among defendants and allowing damages to be paid over extended periods.

Bank Guard Confesses

MIAMI (UPI) — A bank guard has confessed to masterminding Tuesday's armored car holdup at an Intercontinental Bank and has led police to the home where the gunmen stashed more than half of the $440,000 they stole.

Valeriano Cordova was one of two guards held at gunpoint by three Spanish-speaking men who grabbed the cash as it was being loaded into a Wells Fargo armored truck.

Cordova, 57, was arrested Thursday on charges of conspiracy to commit armed robbery, armed robbery and possession of a firearm during a felony.

Hialeah police said Cordova confessed to organizing the heist when confronted by authorities.

Police are still searching for the remaining $150,710 and the three unidentified gunmen who escaped after the hold-up.

Rate Hikes May Be Killed

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter has served notice on two insurance companies that he will disapprove their $2.2 million rate hike unless they can justify it in the next 60 days.

Gunter's announcement Thursday involves the Lansing, Mich.-based Auto-Owners Insurance Co. and its affiliate — Owners Insurance Co. — the state's 12th largest auto insurers.

Gunter said Auto-Owners' 8.5 percent hike would generate an additional $2.2 million in premiums for the company next year. The 5.1 percent hike by Owners would raise an additional $30,000.

...Water Crisis Looms For Sanford

And, Knowles' memo says: "The Sanford City Commission is urged to review, study consider the need for water conservation regulations and building construction regulations to phase it with availability of water resources."

He also urged that the city staff be authorized to explore possible state or federal assistance to off-set costs of the "search for EDB solutions and data since Sanford's work may have state wide future application in the present void of data on treating drinking water to achieve acceptable EDB levels. Meanwhile, of state emergency plans to provide bottled water for those whose wells are contaminated with EDB, Bostwick said, "No one ever considered providing water on the scale of that which might be needed by the city of Sanford."

Give Bell System Breakup A Chance

Surveys show that most Americans don't know what to make of the breakup of the Bell System. But why should they? Even experts can't agree on what the future holds for telecommunications.

All that's known for certain is that American Telephone & Telegraph, the world's largest corporation, never will be the same again after Dec. 31. On New Year's day, AT&T will split into eight independent companies. Local telephone service will be provided by seven regional firms. What's left of AT&T, including its prestigious Bell Labs research arm, will compete with IBM in computers and with Sprint and MCR for long-distance business.

For many years, AT&T's virtual monopoly on the telephone business in the United States has given Americans universal phone service that is the envy of the rest of the world. No matter its benefits, however, monopoly status disturbed anti-trust purists and the Justice Department filed suit to separate AT&T from its Western Electric manufacturing division.

AT&T agreed to its own breakup even before completion of the anti-trust trial. No wonder. The days of dial-ring-talk-listen are numbered. The world is engulfed in a telecommunications revolution.

As differences between computers and telephones continue to blur, it may not be long until telephones and computers combine in a single terminal. Wires already transmit data as well as voice. And, major corporations are establishing their own communication systems, some utilizing satellites. Divestiture thus gives AT&T an opportunity to compete in the lucrative and growing high-technology market. If the new firm succeeds, its shareholders may achieve a return on investment that far exceeds anything permitted the old monopoly by federal and state regulators.

Win or lose, the new AT&T should have little direct effect on telephone service. The impact of divestiture on telephone users will depend mainly on the performance on each new regional company.

Nevertheless, divestiture will cause some increase in most telephone bills, at least initially. One reason is that long distance charges no longer will be priced to subsidize local calls. For the same reason, long distance callers can expect a price break.

To minimize the loss of long distance revenues, the Federal Communications Commission has authorized the new regional telephone companies to charge residential customers a $2 monthly fee for access to long distance lines. Self-styled consumer champions in Congress saw the access fee as a political issue.

The telephone service provided by AT&T has surpassed anything offered by the state-owned phone systems that operate in most other nations. Hopefully, freeing AT&T to enter high technology competition will help to keep the United States in the vanguard of the telecommunications revolution.

'Chicken' At Sea

It's at least unsettling if not downright chilling to learn that a Soviet naval frigate collided with an American destroyer in the northern Arabian Sea when the Russian ship steered too close to the U.S. carrier Ranger. It was the first time in years that Soviet and U.S. warships have come too near to a potentially serious incident, but it may not be the last. Pentagon officials say Soviet ships have stepped up such close approaches and apparent harassment of U.S. vessels, both in the volatile Persian Gulf region and the Western Pacific.

Although Russian intelligence ships routinely have shadowed American carriers and their escort ships, the buildup of the Soviet and U.S. fleets in the Indian Ocean has created a greater likelihood of incidents. The American destroyer had sought to intercept the Soviet frigate's course near the Ranger when the two ships grazed hulls, causing minor damage to the destroyer but no injuries.

It's unlikely that such incidents would cause a shooting war between the superpowers. But in the present Cold War atmosphere even pinpricks can escalate into something serious. One of the sensible ways to avert trouble on the high seas would be for the leadership in Washington and Moscow to set the example of a more moderate, tone, along with rational agreement to eliminate encounters that resemble nothing so much as teenagers playing "chicken."

BERRY'S WORLD

"I've decided to get a jump on the fattening holiday season."

AROUND THE CLOCK

By Diane Petryk

You've come the wrong way, baby. With statistics showing lung cancer soon to be the #1 cancer killer of women, it's clear the familiar cigarette ad slogan is a bit twisted.

In 1950 less than one in 12 cancer deaths occurred in women. By 1968 women accounted for one-sixth of all cancer mortality. By 1979 the rate was one-fourth.

Soon: equal opportunity death.

The male lead in cancer mortality has steadily diminished from the 1950's, when smoking by women was, if not taboo, at least frowned upon socially.

The American Council of Science and Health this month says the misconception that women were immune to lung cancer came from studies in the 1950's when few women had smoked long enough to show up in disease statistics.

"Since then there has been a frightening increase in smoking-related disease among women," said ACSH research associate Cathy Becke, Popescu. "Cigarette smoking is now responsible for one-fourth of all cancer deaths in women and for many deaths from emphysema, bronchitis and heart disease as well."

About 37 percent of American men and 28 percent of American women smoke cigarettes. These figures represent a significant drop in the rate of smoking among men, from a peak rate of more than 50 percent, but less of a decline in smoking among women. The female rate has declined only a few percentage points over the years from the 1965 peak of 33 percent.

We are just now beginning to witness what the U.S. Surgeon General called the "first signs of an epidemic of smoking-related disease among women," as the first generation of women who have been smoking for most of their adult lives passes through middle age. Lung cancer, which has been the leading cause of cancer death in men for sometime, took the lives of 31,000 American women last year. It is expected to surpass breast cancer soon in becoming the #1 cancer killer of women.

And while women appear well on their way to achieving an equal opportunity to die of cigarette-related illness, certain other groups will have even greater than equal opportunity, as we are witnessing a shift in the demographic profile of the average smoker.

The white, sophisticated, upper-middle class male smoker who once adorned cigarette ads is now being replaced by blue-collar workers, blacks and those with limited income and education, as well as women.

The increase in smoking among blue-collar workers is particularly disturbing because some of these individuals are also exposed to carcinogens in the workplace — such as asbestos and cyanide. These occupational risk factors can act synergistically with smoking to compound the risk of disease.

Among men, smoking is inversely related to income and educational level. Female executives, however, are more likely to smoke than their blue-collar sisters.

And, although the relationship is less pronounced among women, with both sexes the more educated a person is, the less likely he or she is to smoke. That should be telling us something.

Better Times On Hand

The condition of the nation as 1983 draws to an end is vastly better than it was at the end of 1982.

Then, the recession gripped the country. The economy was at low ebb. Americans were fearful that unemployment would continue to worsen. And on the international front, the United States was in great need of a tonic experience.

If the economy isn't booming now, and in some areas it is not, there is, nevertheless, continuing, wonderful improvement.

The statistical indicators reflect the rapid restoration of the economy. Detroit is selling cars like the proverbial hot cakes.

New construction is evident across the land.

America isn't entirely out of the woods, of course. In the turbulent modern world, it is too much to expect that everything will be perfect. The global environment is full of huge problems that will vex Americans for decades to come. However, the Reagan administration has done a superb job of managing crises and helping get the domestic economy back on track. The liberal prophets of gloom have been proved wrong, and they are more than a little dismayed and angry that things aren't very bad so that they could promote a political revolution.

Mr. Reagan is entitled to take a bow for his outstanding leadership in a very difficult period.

After several years of his presidency, it is clear that he possesses an extraordinary degree of stability.

He isn't rocked by events. The ship of state has sailed very smoothly with him at the helm.

With the economy in good shape, the vast majority of the American people appear to be content with the way things are going, and they should feel that way.

The polls indicate a high degree of public approval of the President.

Americans are content not only because of domestic economic improvements but because of the strengthened international posture of the United States.

For years, Americans have been gravely alarmed by the deteriorating security situation in the Western hemisphere.

Nicaragua is still a festering sore, but President Reagan has arrested Cuban and Soviet ambitions in the Caribbean.

The invasion of Grenada was both an effective hemispheric defense action and a signal to the enemies of freedom that the U.S. will draw a line.

The invasion has encouraged the democracies of the Caribbean basin. They know that the United States stands behind them with tremendous power.

The knock-America chorus in the major media was outraged by Grenada, but the country as a whole applauded.

Army Buddies Ease Way For Meese

WASHINGTON — Napoleon boasted that every French soldier carried a marshal's baton in his knapsack. The question now is: Does every White House counselor carry a pair of colonel's eagles in his briefcase?

I've already reported the peculiar circumstances that surrounded the promotion of President Reagan's right-hand man, Edwin Meese III, to full colonel in the Army Reserve. With the help of high-ranking friends in the Pentagon, Meese was quietly given a reserve assignment created specially for him, and a supposedly ironclad training requirement was bent to make his promotion possible.

As it happens, Meese isn't the first White House counselor to covet a colonelcy. Nearly 10 years ago, Gerald Ford's counselor, John Marsh, wanted to be promoted to colonel after 20 years in the Virginia National Guard. But he told friends he didn't have time to complete the rigorous studies required for promotion while serving as President

Tough Call On Lebanon

NEW YORK (NEA) — In a world as political as the one we live in, not one but two questions must be answered regarding the recent developments in Lebanon: 1. What is the best policy for the United States to follow in the circumstances? 2. How will developments there affect next year's American presidential election?

Clearly, the present state of affairs is highly unsatisfactory. American Marines are coming under lethal attack from local forces backed by Syria and the Soviet Union, yet are under orders that severely limit retaliation. If that situation is permitted to continue, we can expect a small but steady home-ward stream of body bags and wounded Marines — not the kind of strain that a volatile democracy like the United States is well suited to endure. Yet, to authorize substantially broader retaliation would amount to a U.S. declaration of war on Syria — a development that would overthrow the Soviet Union, inflame the whole Arab world against the United States, drag this country into a potentially unwinnable war in the Middle East and heighten the danger of a nuclear confrontation between the superpowers.

The only other choice is to pull out — if possible during a lull in the fighting, and under the auspices of some new settlement that seems at least halfway bearable.

Let us remember how and why we got there in the first place. Israel, understandably weary of defending its northern borders against terrorist attacks by PLO forces based in southern Lebanon, invaded that country in June 1982. Unfortunately, its tanks did not stop at the Litani River, which was as far as they needed to go to eliminate the PLO bases, but swept on northward to Beirut and forced the PLO to leave Lebanon altogether.

This development outraged the Arab world, and the Reagan administration brought pressure on Israel to conduct a partial withdrawal southward. To keep Syrian and related forces from filling the resulting vacuum, however, a "peacekeeping force" of American,

French, Italian and British troops was sent ashore at Beirut. (It is particularly fitting that Western European nations were involved in this operation, since it is they who are heavily dependent on Middle Eastern oil and therefore have the most direct stake in the region.)

But if our soldiers pull out now, who will fill the vacuum? More Western European forces? Not likely; the French have already sustained painful casualties there. The Europeans are far more likely to follow the American example and pull out themselves, rather than move in to replace our departing troops.

Syria, then? And, behind her, Russia? That seems gloomily inevitable, as matters stand. Perhaps, as Henry Kissinger has suggested, some sort of tripartite partition of poor, beleaguered Lebanon can be arranged, with Israel occupying the southern third, Syria the northeast and the Christian Phalangists the northwest. But even that relatively fortunate dispensation would cede to Syria and her Soviet backers a third of a previously anti-communist nation — something Ronald Reagan has sworn would never happen "on his watch."

You may be sure the Democrats are watching developments in Lebanon with fascination. In the ruthless calculus of pure politics, what they would benefit from most is the status quo: a running sore in the side of the Reagan administration. But they rightly suspect that Mr. Reagan won't be so obliging.

What, in any case, should the Democrats call for? They certainly won't advocate still deeper involvement — that would run counter to their whole recent inclination to reduce this country's overseas commitments at almost any cost. But they also don't quite dare call for an American withdrawal, lest they seem indifferent to the interests of Israel, which are close to the hearts of many American voters. So they wait ... and watch.

Pretty clearly, the Lebanese ball is in Mr. Reagan's hands. But it's fourth down and 10 to go, and I know what the Gipper would do in that situation.

JEFFREY HART

Murdoch's Patriotic Home Run

Yes, the U.S. Marines are fighting men and it is part of their job to die if necessary, but it is nevertheless agonizing to think of those men in Beirut playing the role of sitting ducks as Christmas approaches.

Rupert Murdoch's New York Post pulled a brilliant bit of journalism last Wednesday. It ran, as a front page item, what amounted to a Christmas card for our Marines over there. The drawing by the great cartoonist Rigby said in effect, "New York loves the Marines," and there was a line on which you can sign your name. The Post is going to send all of these signed greetings to the Marines in Lebanon. Mr. Murdoch is an Australian and a tough character, but he hit an emotional and patriotic home run with this one.

It is false to say that the Reagan administration has not had a Middle East policy, but it is correct to recognize that its policy has just about come to the end of the line. Optimists gave the administration's policy a 50-50 chance 18 months ago; the administration gave it full support, and it is only realistic to say that the policy did not work.

Israel has not been willing to give an inch on Palestinian autonomy on the West Bank. King Hussein, the Great Survivor, was not willing to broker any deal. The administration expected more of Saudi Arabia, oil rich but militarily weak, than the Saudis were willing to deliver. Egypt's great and cosmopolitan leader Anwar Sadat was killed and has been replaced by a provincial. And the dream of a united and pro-Western Lebanon has been shattered by Assad's intransigence and goal of a "greater Syria."

The Reagan administration hoped that the Gemayal government in Beirut could reconstitute the Lebanese equation, bringing rival political groups into the government, and that a way could be found to withdraw both Syrian and Israeli forces. The Marines were sent in to facilitate such a process, but it is not happening.

Lebanon is going to be partitioned. Syria will control the northern part of the country. Israel will take the south. Period.

Thus we now face a clear turning point in U.S. policy, and a good deal depends upon how we handle it. I would like to state first the conclusion of my argument.

On the principle that you pay a very high price for killing Americans — "you" in this case being President Assad of Syria — the U.S. naval forces off the Lebanese coast ought to turn their full fire power on the Syrian assets in the Shouf mountains and the Bekka valley. The retaliation would send a message to Assad-equivalents everywhere.

Ford's counselor. So he gave up the quest.

Meese was not obliged to make such a choice. The Army promotion board, after lobbying from his high-ranking buddies in the reserve, decided to waive the stiff training requirement in Meese's case. By an ironic twist of fate, the secretary of the Army under whom Meese was promoted is the same John Marsh who sacrificed his hope for a colonel's eagles a decade ago.

The Army's rule-bending was understandable politically; an attempt to win an influential friend in the White House. But what is truly bizarre (even something of an insult to Meese) is the White House action that permitted him to win his ardently sought promotion. Here's what my associates Dale Van Atta and John Dillon discovered in their investigation of the Meese affair:

Under a fairly recent annual screening process conducted by the Defense Department, no federal employee can remain in the active reserve if he is considered indispensable to the government in his civilian capacity during an emergency. The reason for this is obvious: The Ready Reserve must have a trained corps of professionals who can be called up immediately in time of war. The military doesn't want to waste its reserves budget on people who won't be available when needed.

There is, in fact, an Army regulation that makes anyone who is "a key federal employee" normally ineligible to serve in the active reserve.

According to a Pentagon source who handled the Meese appointment, letters are sent out each year to every government agency — executive, legislative and judicial — requesting a list of every employee who is considered "critical to the operation of this agency."

In Meese's case, the Pentagon letter went to the White House. As one source explained, the White House didn't come right out and declare that Meese is "not in a critical position and could be a mobilization asset."

"The White House sent over a list of jobs that were critical," the source said. "The counselor to the president was not on it." So Meese can be put in uniform in case of a military emergency.

Since the reserve job — as liaison officer between the Selective Service System and Defense Department headquarters — was created specially for Meese, it is possible he could hold both his Army and White House jobs in wartime.

I've obtained the official job description for Meese's Army position. It lists eight separate duties, but when they're distilled from bureaucratic jargon to plain English, they amount to keeping up his interest in the draft and providing "technical advice" to the Selective Service director, Thomas K. Turnage.

The rewards for Meese aren't great. As a reserve colonel, he makes $2,028.36 a year and will receive an 18 percent boost in retirement pay. But if Meese is ever called up, one thing seems certain: He'll be the most powerful bird colonel in the Pentagon.

For The Person Who Has Everything, Give a Plant

Christmas shopping can be quite a challenge — to your brain, as well as your budget. In addition to the consideration of cost, there's always that old question of what to give. For some of those on your list, plants might offer a nice solution. A healthy, vigorous plant usually is a welcome addition for either home or landscape. But, before you rush to your favorite nursery, you should consider what to look for, and what to avoid in plant selection.

grades, conditions, and standards, and it's sometimes hard to tell which ones have the best chance for survival. Usually, better plants will cost you more money. But, this isn't a hard and fast rule. When nurseries have sales, they often offer top quality plants at bargain prices. The important thing is to be able to tell what quality is.

If you visit a nursery which tags plants according to the standards of the Florida Division of Plant Industry, you'll have a much easier time deciding on quality. A "Florida Fancy" is an extremely healthy, vigorous plant — well shaped, with good strong branches and dense foliage. A "Florida Number One" is a healthy, vigorous plant with a good shape and a good supply of leaves. All other plants are labeled "Number Three."

While these are the cheapest plants, they also have the poorest chance of survival. If your nursery doesn't classify plants this way, or if you buy gift plants from a supermarket, discount store, or similar outlet, you'll need to be able to identify vigorous, healthy plants on your own.

Look for compact, rather than spindly plants. An abundance of foliage is usually a good sign. A spindly plant without a good supply of leaves may be the victim of various leaf spot diseases or insect problems which have caused leaves to fall. Make sure the leaves have a good, uniform color. Check tips of leaves for brown or yellow discoloration. Inspect the trunk and branches to see that they are well-formed, without cracks, peels or scars.

Carefully examine each plant for any signs of insect or disease problems. Some things to look for are speckling on the leaves, which indicates spider mite injury; curled or distorted leaves, caused by aphid injury; and small bumps on stem and undersides of leaves, resulting from a scale attack. Common disease problems often show up in yellow or brown leaves, rotting stems, and brown roots. Check the soil to make sure it has good color, and hasn't been too heavily compacted. Pick each plant up and make sure that roots aren't growing out of the bottom of the pot.

Some other considerations involve where a gift plant will eventually be grown. If the plant is to be kept indoors, you should determine whether it requires special lighting. If the plant is to be grown outdoors, you must determine whether it's adaptable to the climatic conditions of its eventual planting site. Your nurseryman should be able to help you in making such decisions.

If you follow these basic guidelines for selecting gift plants, your living Christmas presents should provide many years of enjoyment.

All Extension Programs are open to anyone regardless of race, color, sex, or national origin.

Whether you're shopping for a gift plant for a friend, or for an addition to your own collection, you should choose your purchase carefully. Plants come in a wide range of

Judge Says To Teens: Go Home And Grow Up

DEAR ABBY: I am now the father of two small children. When I was a teen-ager, our minister read something from your column that contained a powerful message. It went something like this: "Kids, don't sit around asking where you can go and what you can do for entertainment, go home and do something constructive. Grow up!"

Does this ring a bell? If so, can you locate it and publish it again?

'Dear Abby'

ROCKY MOUNTAIN NEWS FAN, DENVER

DEAR FAN: The item to which you refer was written by Philip B. Gilliam, a juvenile court judge from Denver. It was titled, "An Open Letter to a Teen-Ager." It appeared in my column nearly 20 years ago. And here it is:

"Always we hear the plaintive cry of the teen-ager: What can we do? ... Where can we go? The answer is, Go home!

"Hang the storm windows, paint the woodwork. Rake the leaves, mow the lawn, shovel the walk. Repair the sink, build a boat, get a job.

"Help the minister, priest or rabbi, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army. Visit the sick, assist the poor, study your lessons. And then when you are through — and not too tired — read a book.

"Your parents do not owe you entertainment. Your city or village does not owe you recreational facilities. The world does not owe you a living. You owe the world something. You owe it your time and energy and your talents so that no one will be at war or in poverty or sick or lonely again.

"In plain, simple words, grow up: quite being a crybaby. Get out of your dream world and develop a backbone, not a wishbone, and start acting like an adult.

"You're supposed to be mature enough to accept some of the responsibility your parents have carried for years. They have nursed, protected, helped, appealed, begged, excused, tolerated and denied themselves needed comforts so that you could have every benefit. This they have done gladly, for you are their dearest treasure. But now, you have no right to expect them to bow to every whim and fancy just because selfish ego, instead of common sense, dominates your personality, thinking and requests.

"In heaven's name, grow up and go home!"

DEAR ABBY: What should we do when guests drop in uninvited at the precise moment when our favorite television program comes on?

My husband and I never go out on that night because we want to stay home and watch this particular program.

BUGGED IN BOZEMAN, MONT.

DEAR BUGGED: You can either bite your tongue, turn the TV set off and lie through your teeth about how "happy" you are to see the drop-ins, or you can greet them with, "Hello! We were just about to watch our favorite TV program. We hope you like it, too, because we wouldn't miss it for the world."

Then turn up your set so they won't hear you grinding your teeth.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MULLING IT OVER IN MANKOTO: I agree with your bumper sticker. If you think education is expensive, try ignorance. Education without common sense is a load of books on the back of an ass.

DEAR ABBY: What should a lady do when she approaches a male friend and she notices that his zipper is down? This happened to me in a hotel lobby where I was meeting a friend for lunch.

I didn't have the nerve to say anything to him about it, so we both sat all through luncheon with his zipper open. Naturally I didn't enjoy the lunch very much because I kept thinking that maybe I should tell him.

Well, when we finished lunch and he took the napkin off his lap, he said, "Oh, Lord!" Then he zipped up his zipper.

My question: Should I have told him when I first noticed it? And if so, how?

ON THE SHY SIDE

DEAR ON: Yes. You should have whispered in a quiet and confidential manner, "Please check your zipper."

SCC Lesiure Time Classes

The Lesiure Time Program at Seminole Community College announces that the following classes begin the week of January 2, 1984. "These classes are self-supported by student fees at no expense to the taxpayer," according to Fay C. Brake, coordinator of the program. Registration begins on Jan. 3, in the Registrar's Office at SCC.

JAZZ DANCE/EXERCISE (morning, afternoon and evening classes) — A total form of dance and exercise in which you are taught proper body alignment, coordination, discipline, flexibility and rhythm. You accomplish muscle toning, stamina, poise, and confidence in yourself, along with appreciation for music and total enjoyment. Jane Fonda's Workout is taught in this class.

FITNESS AND FIGURE CONTROL (evening class) — Instruction in ways of improving fitness and appearance through diet and exercise. Each student participates in endurance activities, flexibility exercises, and muscle strengthening activities.

COMMUNITY BAND (evening class) — An organization open to anyone in the community interested in performing all styles of concert band literature. No audition is necessary. Any band instrument will be acceptable.

CONDITIONING (evening class) — Modern day conditioning using the Nautilus equipment. Selection of individualized program including jogging, flexibilities and calisthenics.

OIL AND ACRYLIC PAINTING (morning class) — Basic to advanced techniques in acrylic and oil painting concentrating on use of color, composition and perspective as applied to portrait, figure, still life and landscape painting. Students will furnish their own supplies. Prerequisite: competence in Drawing and Sketching.

Trinity Prep Sets 15th Annual Alumni Party

Trinity Preparatory School will once again welcome all of its Alumni back for an annual Alumni Christmas party, to be held Dec. 27.

Since Trinity is in its 15th year, and more than 700 Central Florida young people have passed through the school's portals, the affair promises to be a festive occasion full of nostalgic conversation.

The party will be held in the home of the Headmaster, The Rev. H. Benton Ellis. He would like to also encourage and extend a hardy holiday welcome to all Trinity faculty to come to the party and laugh over old times with past students.

Alumni are asked to attend the party at two different time-periods during the evening. Classes from 1980-1983 are invited from 5-6:30 p.m., and the '70s decade should attend between 6:30-8 p.m.

For more information about this casual affair, individuals are asked to call Trinity Prep's Alumni Office, 671-4140.

Hillery Shoots Down Lady Hawks, 79-77

Dieidre Lifts Seminole Into 1st

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

When Sanford's Lady Seminoles needed the big baskets Thursday night, they wanted the ball in the capable hands of Dieidre Hillery. So, with the score tied at 77-77 and just 10 seconds remaining, the Lady Tribe got Hillery the ball, and she promptly hit a 15-foot jumper to lift the Lady Seminoles to a 79-77 victory over Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks in Five Star Conference basketball action at Seminole High.

"She (Dieidre) really came through for us tonight," Seminole coach Ron Merthle said. "We needed a big game from her, especially after two of our starters (Maxine Campbell and Catherine Anderson) fouled out."

Hillery led all scorers Thursday night with 28 points and she also had a game-high 12 rebounds. The 6-2 senior also kept her streak of double figures in rebounds and scoring alive, doing it for the ninth straight game. Mona Benton added 18 points for the Lady Tribe. Anderson tossed in 12 and Campbell netted 10. Geneene Stallworth added seven points and seven rebounds.

Tammy Johnson led the way for Lake Howell with 25 points. Mary Johnson added 23 and Elizabeth Dietrich chipped in with nine. Janene Brown and Monica McNeil had nine rebounds apiece for the Lady Hawks.

Seminole upped its record to 8-1 overall and 5-0 in the Five Star Conference with its seventh straight victory. Seminole is now the only unbeaten team in the conference standings. The Lady Tribe's triumph also snapped a seven-game Lady Hawk win streak and a streak of three straight wins for the Lady Hawks over the Lady Seminoles. Lake Howell now stands at 8-2 overall and 4-1 in the conference.

The Lady Seminoles will get back in action after the Christmas break in the Lady Hawk tourney at Lake Howell High on Tuesday, Dec. 27. Seminole opens the tourney against Merritt Island while host Lake Howell goes up against Winter Park.

From the way the two teams came out in the first quarter, you could tell it was going to be a high-scoring affair. Seminole scored four points in the last 27 seconds of the quarter to turn a two-point advantage into a six-point edge, 25-19, going into the second.

Anderson, Campbell and Stallworth led the way for Seminole in the early going. Anderson with eight points in the quarter. Campbell with six and Stallworth with five. Tammy Johnson and Brown scored six points each for the Lady Hawks in the first quarter, but Brown, who averages over 10 points a game, did not score again the rest of the night.

Seminole went up by 10 points, 31-21, early in the second quarter and increased it to 11, 39-28, with 3:19 left. Lake Howell outscored the Lady Seminoles, 11-4, the remainder of the quarter to cut the lead to four, 43-39, at halftime. Dietrich led the Lake Howell surge with seven points, including 5 for 5 from the free throw line.

Lake Howell tied the score at 43-43 early in the second half on a jumper by Kellee Johnson, the first tie since it was 4-4 early in the first quarter. The Lady Hawks took their first lead of the game, 47-45, as Tammy Johnson hit a pair of free tosses with 6:21 left in the third quarter. The two teams traded baskets the remainder of the quarter and it wound up tied, 61-61, going into the fourth.

Seminole took charge early in the fourth quarter and built a 10-point lead, 74-64, with 3:32 remaining. Lake Howell didn't call it a night at that, and came back to outscore the Seminoles, 11-2, in the next two minutes to cut the Lady Tribe's lead to one point, 76-75, with 1:38 remaining.

Seminole's Sharon Jenkins then hit one of two free throws to make it 77-75 with 1:11 left. Both teams traded possessions without scoring before Lake Howell's Cherie Green pulled down a rebound and made the follow up shot to tie it at 77-77 with 32 seconds left.

Girls Basketball

Lake Howell then fouled Mona Benton with 25 seconds left, but Benton missed both shots and Lake Howell had the ball with a chance to go ahead. But, the Lady Hawks committed a turnover with 15 seconds to go, and Hillery then swished her jumper for the winning bucket. Lake Howell had one more shot, but couldn't send the game into overtime.

"It was just a tough, hard fought game," Merthle said. "Lake Howell played very well, they never gave up. When we went up by 10, I thought we might be able to slow up a little and take some time off the clock. But, Lake Howell came right back at us."

LAKE HOWELL (77) — Barma 0, Brown 4, Dietrich 9, Green 2, J. Johnson 0, K. Johnson 2, M. Johnson 23, 1, Johnson 25, McNeil 4, Rae 0, Scott 6. Totals — 31 15-24 77.

SEMINOLE (79) — Anderson 12, Benton 18, Campbell 10, Carpenter 2, Hillery 28, Jenkins 1, Smith 1, Stallworth 7. Totals — 23 13-31 79.
Halftime — Seminole 43, Lake Howell 39. Fouls — Seminole 21, Lake Howell 22. Fouled out — Anderson, Campbell, Dietrich, Scott.

Alexander Hits 36

In junior varsity action Thursday, Temika Alexander poured in 36 points as the Seminole JV, playing with only five players, rolled to a 84-43 rout of Lake Howell's JV.

Seminole, 3-1, scored the first 14 points of the game and led, 27-10, at the end of one quarter. Seminole led by 20 points, 45-25, at halftime.

Behind Alexander's scoring binge, Revonda Wallace tossed in 24 points. Yolanda Robinson added 12. Ramona Hillery nine and Beatrice Smith eight. Smith and Hillery also did the job under the boards for the Lady Seminoles.

Goroum's 24 Cuts Down Bucs

Lyman's Kim Goroum may be just a shade over five feet tall, but she cut the Mainland Lady Bucs down to size Thursday night.

The diminutive senior scored a career-high 24 points, handed out seven assists and made five steals to lead the Lady Greyhounds to a 65-56 Five Star Conference victory over Mainland Thursday night at Daytona Beach.

"Valerie Jackson got us going in the first period with eight points, then it was Goroum, Goroum, Goroum," said Lyman coach Dick Copeland. "Kim really had a great night."

After Jackson tossed in eight in the first quarter to give Lyman a 14-12 lead, Goroum began her hot streak with six points in the second quarter as the Greyhounds raced to a 33-22 halftime edge.

"Mainland played a man-to-man and Kim got a lot of points off that," said Copeland. "We were hurting them on the boards, too, because they were our size."

Jackson pulled down 20 rebounds. Kim Forsyth collected 18 and Kim Lemon snatched 11 for the 'Hounds. Jackson finished with 14 points. Lemon had 11 and Forsyth chipped in 10.

In the third and fourth quarters, Goroum totaled 14 points as Lyman built its lead to 51-34 after three before finishing with a nine-point win.

Lyman, 4-2, takes on Colonial at 5:30 p.m., Thursday, Dec. 22 in the 1st Oviedo Outlook Girls Basketball Tournament at Seminole Community College. A victory over Colonial propels the Lady Greyhounds into the championship game against the Oviedo-Boone winner on Friday.

LYMAN (65) — Forsyth 10, Jackson 14, Boey 2, Goroum 24, Lemon 11, Carman 4. Totals 31 33-65

MAINLAND (56) — Hickley 6, Weight 7, Robertson 12, Abney 4, Thompson 2, Johnson 4, Green 6, Lewis 12. Meagley 2. Totals 23 6-19 56.
Halftime — Lyman 33, Mainland 22. Fouls — Lyman 16, Mainland 16. Fouled out — none. Technicals — none.

Maxine Campbell only has eyes for the basket as Lake Howell's Tammy Johnson gets ready to take a charge during basketball action Thursday night at Seminole High School. Coach Ron Merthle's Lady Seminoles upended Lake Howell, 79-77, in a key Five Star Conference game as Dieidre Hillery popped in a 15-footer with 10 seconds remaining. Hillery finished the night with 28 points and 11 rebounds. The 6-2 senior's big shot kept Seminole undefeated in the Five Star and handed Lake Howell its first conference loss.

Lyman Gets Early Present As Christmas Tourney Opens

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Lyman gets an early Christmas present tonight when Lake Mary hosts the Lyman Christmas Tournament beginning with the first round at 5:30 in the Lake Mary gym. The second round will follow immediately at 8.

Construction repair for water damage, which occurred last year, is still not complete, forcing tournament director Skip Pletzer to move the tournament to Lake Mary.

"Lake Mary really did us a favor letting us use their gym," said Pletzer. "They have one of the few gyms with the size to operate a tournament like this."

Lake Mary will get the concessions while Lyman will keep the gate money.

The tournament is comprised of 16 teams. Brandon, which finished second in the 4A State Tournament last year, is making its first appearance. Brandon, Lake Mary, Martin County are rated as the favorites.

The toughest weight class may be 114 pounds. A first ever could be accomplished Saturday night if Lake Mary's Jack Likens (seeded second) and Edgewater's Eugene "Dap" Davis (seeded first) survive the preliminaries. Likens was 33-0 and the 3A state champ at 109 pounds last year while Davis was the state champion in the 4A at the same weight class. Lost in the fanfare is Bishop Moore's Jim Syvertson, also a 114-pounder, who lost to Likens by one point on three occasions last year.

"This could be the toughest Christmas Tournament ever," assessed Pletzer. "We have a lot of quality wrestlers, especially at the lower weights."

Oviedo, which is 7-0 in dual meets, claims the most strength down low. The Lions of John Horn had five wrestlers qualify for the state last year and all return this winter.

First-seeded Jerry Jordan (100), fourth-seeded Shawn Knapp (114), first-seeded Brian Smith (121), first-seeded Steve Berg (128) and first-seeded Mike Hilgar (134) give the Lions a blockbuster of a starting lineup. If all five make it to the finals, and Horn received a surprise from his upper weights, the Lions could give the big boys a run for their money.

Brandon and Lake Mary, though, will be tough to beat. "Brandon has one of the best programs in the state," said Lake Mary assistant coach Doug Peters. "It will take a great effort by our guys to beat them. But, I think we can do it."

"Likens, Robert Rawls (UNL), Ivan Carbia (107) and Ned Kolbjornsen (222) have to win. I think Todd Beauchamp (135) will surprise some people, too. Bob Olson (140) has really worked hard this week, too, but he has to because the Brandon kid (Perrazzola) and Tony Brown (Seminole) are both tough."

While Lake Mary and Oviedo are interested in team titles, Lyman, Lake Brantley, Lake Howell and Seminole will be stilled with a top-five finish and an individual champ or two.

Lake Brantley's undefeated 167-pounder Joe Waresack may have the best shot. Waresack was one of the Patriots' brightest young football players two years ago before going down with a knee injury. The doctor told him the impact of football may give him problems this fall, so he concentrated on wrestling this winter, so he passed up football and has made quite an impression. The rugged junior has two pins and one major decision among his three matches.

Another Patriot standout is Richard Shumann (222), who has three pins in his three dual victories. Seminole's hopes rest with Tony Brown (140) and impressive newcomer Troy Turner. Brown has won all five of his duals with three pins. Turner, a freshman, is 5-0 with two pins.

Lake Howell's Cina brothers could also come away with titles. Both won district championships last year and the older one — senior Steve — was a regional champ. Paul, a sophomore, wrestles at 107 while Steve tips the scales at 187.

Lyman has four vying for championships. Chad Dubin (100) is 6-0 with two pins and Derek Smith (157) is 6-0 with four pins. Jay Hunziker (134) is 5-0 with two pins while Don Lockwood (147) is 5-1 with one pin.

"Hunziker is really coming on," said Pletzer about his solid senior. "Jay really looked tough in his last match (a 14-1 victory)."

In addition to the six county schools, Brandon and Martin County, the tournament field includes Edgewater, Boone, Titusville Astronaut, Bishop Moore, Evans, Oak Ridge and Winter Park.

Wrestling semifinals will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday with the "restlebacks following at 12 noon. Consolation finals get underway at 6 Saturday with the championship finals at 8.

All-Star Theus Bides Time On Bulls' Bench

CHICAGO (UPI) — In a recent game against the Boston Celtics, the Chicago Bulls attempted to make a fourth quarter comeback against one of the NBA's most powerful teams.

The Bulls were in obvious need of an offensive sparkplug, the kind that guard Reggie Theus has provided the past five years. However, on this December night, Theus watched from the bench as the Bulls dropped another game.

These are difficult times for the 6-foot-7 former UNLV guard. He isn't hurt, and says he is in as good physical shape than at any time during his career. He isn't holding out for more money and he hasn't gone public with any disparaging remarks about the Bulls' new coach, Kevin Loughery.

He just isn't playing.

No one in the Bulls' organization will say exactly why. The prevailing theory is that Loughery doesn't think Theus is a capable defensive guard. Never mind that Theus is a former NBA All-Star and has been the leading scorer for the Bulls the past several seasons.

"I understand it's rough on Reggie. He isn't getting the playing minutes he used to," Loughery said. "But we have some young guards who have to get time and play the kind of defense we want."

Unlike many superstars who would have long since called for a "play me or trade me" ultimatum, Theus bides his time. When he does get in, he says he is giving it 100 percent.

But Theus is a proud athlete who obviously shows the hurt of being benched when he feels he should be at his prime in the NBA.

"I don't like it. How else can I say it. But I have to accept the role of the coach and when I'm out there, I'm giving it 100 percent," Theus said. "It would be different if I was hurt. Then I could accept things better. I'm not hurt."

Theus and Loughery didn't get off to a good start this year when Theus held out for more money and eventually signed a new contract. But Loughery insists, along with General Manager Rod Thorn, that this had nothing to do with the decision to go with other guards over Theus.

"We're in a building program. Reggie has to understand that. He is going to have to share time. I understand that it is difficult for him," Loughery says. "Our club was about last in defense last year and we didn't win. I think you have to play defense in this league. Look at the successful teams. They are all playing defense."

Theus earned a reputation in the NBA as a free-wheeling, offensive-minded player. Known for his creativity on the offensive side of the court and for his weaknesses defensively, Theus still is the Bulls' top crowd pleaser and gate attraction.

The simple solution would apparently be for Theus to be traded to another club whose style would more fit his type of offensive capabilities. But Theus hasn't asked to be traded and the Bulls don't seem to be too willing to give him up for nothing.

"We made some offers for Reggie and there wasn't much interest," Thorn said at the time Theus was holding out.

Theus isn't anxious to be traded, although he admits he does fantasize what he would be contributing to several other NBA clubs.

"I live in Chicago (suburban Highland Park) this city and this community mean something to me. I've worked to be a member of this club. It's still my dream to play on the Chicago Bulls as a winner," Theus says. "Yes, my mind does wander some times. What it would be like to be on some teams, playing my style of basketball."

Theus is involved in several business ventures in the area. He is a popular figure in town. He has appeared on the locally-produced Phil Donahue Show, which has glim added national exposure. He has also done some modeling.

But beneath all that, Theus says he is a basketball player, which is why his benching hasn't soured his feelings about the game.

"I know some other guys would be angry and screaming, going to the media with 'their side' but I love this game and I'm not going to do that," Theus says. "When the coach calls me in, I'm going in. I'm not going to sulk. That isn't my style."

But how long will Theus, a start every level he has played in for the past decade, put up with being a second stringer?

"You know realistically I want to start and play for this team; if not here, somewhere else if they trade me," Theus says. "But I'm being totally honest you. I don't want to leave this organization now with the rap that I can't play anymore, that I can't play defense. I have something to prove. Maybe that is what is also keeping me going."

Kuhn Grounds Drug Users For 1 Season

NEW YORK (UPI) — Baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn, saying "we cannot and will not tolerate illegal drug use," Thursday issued one-year suspensions to players Willie Wilson, Willie Aikens, Jerry Martin and Steve Howe for cocaine abuse.

Howe's suspension will be reviewed in one year to determine whether it will be continued. The other three suspensions will be reviewed on May 15, 1984, with the possibility of reinstatement at that time.

None of the players will be allowed to play during their suspensions.

Kuhn, stressing that baseball players were role models for young people, said a number of steps had been taken in recent years to rehabilitate players who voluntarily admit a drug problem.

"At the same time, we have continually warned everyone in baseball that we cannot and will not tolerate illegal drug use," he said, "and that discipline will be imposed in non-amnesty cases or in cases of continued or renewed involvement after undertaking rehabilitation treatment."

"I think there's a message in today's decision: we take the drug problem seriously. We are going to do what is reasonably necessary to protect our game."

The suspension capped a year in which drug scandals have plagued several sports. Four National Football League players were suspended this year for drug involvement. Drug problems in the National Basketball Association led the NBA to adopt a get-tough drug policy involving possible suspension for life.

Wilson, a former All-Star outfielder with the Kansas City Royals, pleaded guilty in October to a misdemeanor charge of attempting to possess cocaine and was sentenced Nov. 17 to a year in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Baseball

Nine months of the sentence was suspended and Wilson is currently jailed at a minimum security prison in Fort Worth, Texas.

Aikens, a Royals first baseman, and Martin, a Royals outfielder, were also given three-month sentences and fined $5,000 and $2,500, respectively, after pleading guilty to attempting to possess cocaine. Martin is currently serving his sentence while Aikens is scheduled to begin his term in January.

In addition, former Cy Young winner Vida Blue pleaded guilty in October to a misdemeanor charge of possession of cocaine and is to be sentenced Dec. 19. Kuhn did not mention Blue in his decision.

Although Howe has never been convicted on drug charges, the ace pitcher was suspended three times by the Dodgers last year and fined $54,000 for infractions believed related to his cocaine problem.

Kuhn said Howe had been tested three times in November for cocaine use and all three tests were positive.

"We are satisfied that these results are accurate and the results had not been disputed by Mr. Howe's representatives," the commissioner added.

In Los Angeles, Dodgers president Peter O'Malley said he agreed with Kuhn's action.

Steve Howe

Willie Wilson

"We respect the commissioner's decision and we will certainly abide by it and, quite frankly, I agree with it," said O'Malley.

"I am optimistic Steve will be pitching again in 1985, but he is responsible for his actions and it will be up to him to prove that he is capable of returning."

The Dodgers said Wednesday they would keep Howe regardless of Kuhn's ruling. "He's a young man with a problem," said general manager Al Campanis. "We consider him part of the family, and we're not going to desert him."

Dodgers manager Tom Lasorda said of Howe, "I told him, 'Hey, if you sleep with dogs, you're going to wind up with fleas.'"

Wilson, interviewed from jail Thursday night on ABC's Nightline, said he felt Kuhn's decision was overly harsh "because I can't be able to do the thing that I love, and that's playing baseball."

"I understand what he (Kuhn) is saying (about baseball players as role models)," said Wilson. "If he wants to make me a model on the baseball field that is fine. But as a role model as a human being, as a person, I only have to be a role model for my own kids."

Agent: Evans Will Sign With Detroit

DETROIT (UPI) — Free agent Darrell Evans, who hit 30 home runs and drove in 82 runs for the San Francisco Giants last season, has agreed to sign a three-year contract with the Detroit Tigers. Evans' agent says.

"I've reached an agreement in principle with the Detroit Tigers," agent Jerry Kapstein said from San Diego Thursday night. "We expect to work through the night in working (out) the wordage. I'm very, very happy with the progress shown with Detroit. I expect a contract to be delivered to my office today."

Evans, who turns 37 in May, will reportedly earn $750,000 a year under the agreement. A Tiger source confirmed the reported contract and said the club would hold a news conference Saturday to discuss the signing of the 15-year veteran.

Evans, a left-handed hitter, has averaged 20 homers and 77 RBI the past five seasons with the Giants.

He can play either third base or first base — the major deficiencies on the Tigers — but was expected to play at first and bat fifth behind catcher Lance Parrish.

Detroit, which finished six games behind Baltimore in the East Division pennant race despite winning 92 games, had never signed a major free agent.

Evans was selected by 17 teams in the re-entry draft, the most by any player since the draft was instituted. The final bidding was said to be between the Tigers, New York Yankees, San Diego Padres and Boston Red Sox. Los Angeles dropped out of the running earlier this week.

It is believed Detroit was the only club that offered Evans more than a two-year deal.

"I am really looking forward to watching Darrell Evans play in Tiger Stadium," said Kapstein.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Stewart, Letchworth Lead Sanford To Division Title

Shayne Stewart pumped in three goals and Josh Letchworth added two as the Sanford 080 Panthers claimed first place in their under 10, Division 2 league with a 5-3 victory over Downtown Orlando in a playoff for first place.

The Panthers finished the season with a 7-1-1 record. Sanford turned in a tremendous team effort as it played without a substitute while Orlando had six subs.

Offensive leaders for the Panthers included Stewart, Letchworth, Matt Teague, Danny White and Steve Swanson. Defensive standouts were, Matt Loring, Ryan Dickey, Jason Walraven, Brian Suber, Kris Esterson, Bobby Greenlee and Scott Reifenrath.

Nicklaus, Miller Tied

BOCA RATON (UPI) — Golf devotees are getting an eyeful of eagles and birdies at the inaugural $450,000 PGA Invitational Team Tournament, where Jack Nicklaus and Johnny Miller go into today's second round with a one-shot lead.

Nicklaus and Miller blistered the 6,875 Boca West No. 2 course Thursday with nine birdies, an eagle and eight pars for an 11-under-par best-ball score of 61.

Michaels To Generals?

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former New York Jets coach Walt Michaels apparently will be the new head coach of the New Jersey Generals of the U.S. Football League, although his appointment won't be formally announced until next Tuesday.

"Walt, I think, is someone who has proven to be one helluva coach and I can say that we are in the process of signing Walt Michaels and we should have that done some time today," Generals owner Donald Trump said Thursday morning.

A team spokesman said Thursday the Generals would announce their new coach at a news conference at Giants Stadium next Tuesday.

WBC Welcomes Leonard

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The World Boxing Council welcomed former welterweight champion Sugar Ray Leonard's decision to return to the ring, saying "boxing needs a man like him," but a boxing medical expert warned of dangers to Leonard's eyes.

"We believe it was a good decision," Victor Cota, spokesman for the Mexico City-based WBC, said Thursday. "Boxing needs a man like him (Leonard) for his charisma and talent; the people want him."

Rodgers Scrutinizes Vols; Majors Fears For Juniors

ORLANDO (UPI) — Defensive standout Reggie White and 10 other Tennessee seniors will be scrutinized by Memphis Showboats owner Logan Young Jr. and coach Pepper Rodgers when the Vols meet Maryland in the Citrus Bowl Saturday.

"We're looking at 11 players from Tennessee, but I will probably have difficulty taking my eyes off Reggie White," Young said of the All-America player. "Pepper is serious about this player and we plan to make a substantial offer to him."

UT coach Johnny Majors said he was concerned about the USFL scouting undergraduates on college practice fields.

"It greatly concerns me," Majors said. "They haven't bothered us yet, but if they come on our campus I think I'd play hard ball with them to try and lock them out."

Citrus Bowl

White, dubbed the "minister of defense," set a season record in 1983 with 15 quarterback sacks. The 6-5, 264-pound Chattanooga native tied for the team lead in tackles with 72 this season.

Two other players the Showboats will examine are Memphisians John Matthews, a 260-pound tackle, and Mark Studaway, a 240-pound defensive lineman.

Other Vols on the Showboats' list are tackle Curt Singer, All Southeastern Conference center Glynn Steno, wide receiver Clyde Duncan, guards Mike Furnas and Steve Knight, running back Randall Morris, wide receiver Lenny Taylor and middle guard Johnny Williams of Knoxville.

Dolphins Look For Advantage

MIAMI (UPI) — The Miami Dolphins look to lock up the home field advantage in the playoffs tonight while their opponents, the New York Jets, are trying to figure out what went so wrong this year.

The Dolphins (11-4) clinched the AFC East championship two weeks ago and now want to sew up the home edge in their first playoff game on New Year's weekend, probably against Pittsburgh.

In addition, a Miami win could keep the Dolphins in the Orange Bowl right up to the Super Bowl if San Diego and Dan Fouts upset the Los Angeles Raiders Sunday. A Dolphins loss and a Pittsburgh win this weekend would mean Miami would open the playoffs in Pennsylvania.

"We will be ready Friday. The Steelers kept pressure on us by winning. Now it is up to us," said veteran Miami guard Bob Kuechenberg. "Pittsburgh is not a place we want to visit in the playoffs. If we have to play them, we want them down here."

While Miami looks ahead to its playoff situation, the Jets are looking back, trying to figure out what happened to a season that began with so much promise.

There isn't a soul to be found who didn't predict a playoff berth for the Jets last summer, but now New York is 7-8 and about to close the season.

New York coach Joe Walton said he thought his personnel was overrated from the beginning.

"I knew there were a lot of good football teams in this league, a lot of teams with great talent and personnel," Walton said.

"I was trying to make everybody realize there's been a little bit of a con job with all the talent we have. We are

Dickens According To Meese: Scrooge, Reagan Not Unfair

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Just days before Christmas, presidential aide Edwin Meese defended President Reagan and Ebenezer Scrooge in the same speech, saying they are both fair and compassionate figures who are misunderstood.

Meese, who was criticized for his remarks last week questioning whether there are hungry people in America, Thursday defended Reagan's policies toward the needy and then concluded with a defense of Scrooge — the universal Christmas villain.

House Speaker Thomas O'Neill, D-Mass., had responded to Meese's hunger remarks by saying, "There's always a Scrooge during the holiday season."

Speaking to a National Press Club luncheon Thursday, Meese said the "biggest myth of all" about the Reagan administration is that the president is uncaring and wants to hack away at welfare and social programs.

"Rarely has compassion been so mistaken for its opposite," Meese said.

The president's economic policies have lowered the inflation rate to below 4 percent, helping "more than any welfare program known to man," he said.

The presidential aide then surprised the audience by concluding his speech with a defense of Scrooge, the fictional character in Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol, who overworks and underpays employee Bob Cratchit. Meese, without cracking a smile, said to a somewhat bewildered audience:

"Scrooge had a bad press in his time. If you really look at the facts, he didn't exploit Bob Cratchit. As a matter of fact, Bob Cratchit was paid 10 shillings a week — which was a very good wage at that time."

"Furthermore, the free market would not allow Scrooge to exploit poor Bob. England didn't get free public schools until after Dickens was dead. So that the fact Bob Cratchit could read and write made him a very valuable clerk."

"He had good cause to be happy with his situation. His wife didn't have to work. He was able to afford the traditional Christmas dinner of roast goose and plum pudding."

"So let's be fair to Scrooge. He had his faults, but he wasn't unfair to anyone."

The White House had no immediate comment on Meese's remarks.

But Dickens scholars immediately took issue with Meese's interpretation of the character.

Harvard University professor Jerome Buckley described Meese's remarks as more of a fairy tale than Dickens' original story.

"That sounds like a Republican interpretation," he said.

"It's ironic they dare distort anything as familiar as the Christmas Carol. It violates the whole notion of charity," said Buckley.

15—In Memoriam
In Memory of Mildred Kemp Randolph. Let us clasp our hands as we walk together. Let us speak softly in low sweet tones, for no one may tell, if on the morrow one of us will be walking alone. On Dec. 16, 1983 for us that morning came. Joyous that day when once again together we'll be and speak of oh, so many things of the past, but until that day I will walk alone and lonely, counting the days till we're walking together again at last. I miss you I love you. Your sister, Kathleen Reynolds.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY DECEMBER 17, 1983 Persistence and second efforts will bring you quality accomplishments this coming year. When you see something you really want, you'll be prepared to pay the price.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You will earn respect today. Once you make a commitment, companions can bank upon the fact that you will follow through. Major changes are in store for Sagittarians in the coming year.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Today's events will serve further to solidify bonds in an important relationship that you treasure.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your workload may be a bit heavier than usual today due to things you'll be doing for others.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) You have the ability today to see hope in situations where others may only see gloom.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Currents are presently stirring that will bring your family closer together.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) The light, loving touch that you'll be able to put on serious situations today will be a tonic for others involved.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you have been planning a shopping trip, this is a good day for it.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Although you won't deliberately seek contests today, the more difficult the challenge the more pride you're likely to derive from overcoming it.

Blood Cells Altered In Hemolytic Anemia

DEAR DR. LAMB — Six months ago I was diagnosed as having autoimmune hemolytic anemia. I'm 69 years old, 5 feet 5 inches tall, weigh 128 pounds and have lived a life of moderation. I want to accomplish a lot more and would like to handle this situation with the best available advice.
After a blood transfusion I started on large doses of Prednisone, gradually reduced in time. But a week ago my hemoglobin was way down. Now the talk is of possible surgery. Not knowing the whys of the disease is very frustrating; it's like fighting a phantom.
Is surgery the answer? How does the body compensate for the loss?
DEAR READER — It is a complicated problem, but it means your body has a substance that reacts with the membrane of your red blood cells and alters them. A portion of the tiny red cell membrane may be lost in the overall reaction. The resulting rounded cell is sphere-shaped and easily broken. When the red cells break down you are left with an anemia.
The red cells are commonly trapped in the spleen and the rounded cells are destroyed there. One feature of treatment is to remove the spleen so that it cannot promote the destruction of the red blood cells. That is a particularly common treatment in young patients. Prednisone is used to help prevent the reaction at the red cell membrane and, possibly, red cell destruction. Some times immune-suppressing medicines are used as well.
Anemias characterized by insufficient red blood cells occur because of a disturbance in the balance between the number of red blood cells produced vs. the number of cells destroyed. I have explained this general balance in The Health Letter 4-3, Understanding The Anemias, which I am sending you.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm 86 years old. Three years ago something stuck in my throat. My ear, nose and throat specialist gave me emergency service. X-rays later revealed a diverticulum in the esophagus, about the level of the top of the sternum.
Then food particles would accumulate in my throat. After each meal I must hack out a considerable amount of chewed food. For more than a year I have had some difficulty in swallowing. The specialist said 'he could only remove it by approaching the esophagus from the outside. My family doctor advised me not to have the operation but to wait a while.
Are you aware of this condition? Is it relatively common? Could the diverticulum be removed orally? To a layman it would seem less hazardous and more convenient.
DEAR READER — A diverticulum — or pocket-like formation — at that area of the esophagus is not rare. Whether it should be removed depends upon its size and the amount of trouble it is causing you.
But I must tell you that the only way to correct the condition is through an operation on the neck. It is important to free up the entire diverticulum. It would not be possible to do a good job through the mouth, which is why all the various operative procedures for the condition involve going through the side of the neck. The risk is low in most cases and the results are good.
Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

WIN AT BRIDGE

that at the worst there would be a two-way club finesse for his contract. Dummy's king of spades had been demoted, since all South could use it for would be a club discard.
A man in a hurry would draw trumps with two leads, note that West had produced eight red cards as against East's four, see that the odds favored playing East for the club queen, finesse against him and get ready for the next rubber in a few seconds.
South wasn't in that much of a hurry. He decided to get more information, so after playing just one trump, he cashed dummy's ace of spades, ruffed a spade high, led a second trump to dummy, discarded a club on the spade king and ruffed dummy's last spade.
West had produced four spades so South knew that he had been dealt four spades, six hearts and two diamonds, which meant he held just one club.
A club was led to the king and now South could finesse against East with certainty of success.

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby West started proceedings for the defense with the king, ace and five of hearts. The third heart was ruffed high in dummy. With two tricks down the drain, South could see

'Citadel' Classy, But Grim Drama

By David Handler

You can't deny it. The Citadel, this fall's 10-week Masterpiece Theatre series on PBS, is a class act. This adaptation of A.J. Cronin's novel has many of the qualities that are usually missing from Hollywood miniseries, things like taste and depth and good acting.

But it's also bleak, dank and unremittably dreary. There's mold growing on it. The sunny warmth of the great 1938 movie version that starred Robert Donat and Rosalind Russell has been jettisoned.

This makes The Citadel grim and downbeat. There's no humor to lighten this otherwise scathing attack on the British medical profession before the days of Public Health.

To top it off, our star is Ben Cross from Chariots of Fire, and he has to be the coldest halfbut of a leading man around today. The guy's practically blue.

Andrew Manson (Cross) is an idealistic Scotsman fresh out of med school. His first job is assistant to one of three company physicians in a poor Welsh coal mining town. The last assistant, a driver informs Manson, left after a week — partly because he was overworked. "What's the other reason?" asks Manson. "You'll find out," he's told.

A nightmare is what he finds. His boss, Dr. Page (Tenniel Evans), is half-paralyzed from a stroke and bedridden. A pharmacist, Dai Jenkins (Dyfed Thomas) has actually been seeing Page's patients and forging his name on prescriptions.

Furthermore, Page's intimidating, spinsterish sister (Cynthia Grenville), who sort of runs things, assures Manson the system has worked quite fine, thank you. "Dai Jenkins is as competent as most doctors," she snaps.

The sad thing is she's right. One of the other doctors, Bramwell (John Garvin) doesn't even know where the pancreas is located. Another, Denny (Gareth Thomas), is a cynical drunkard who labels all of Britain's doctors as "stupid, greedy or incompetent."

There are no hospital, no ambulances, no nurses. The main sewer leaks into the town water supply — a dangerous situation both the district medical supervisor and the town fathers know about but refuse to remedy.

Manson has himself five cases of typhoid practically before he's unpacked. Denny has six. Nobody seems to care. "This place is awful," says Manson at one point. "I wish I'd never come."

Spurred by Manson's outrage, Denny suggests "curative medicine" — four sticks of dynamite dropped into the sewer. "Blow it up?" gasps Manson. "Desperate diseases require desperate remedies," says Denny.

They blow up the sewer. The rules of law don't apply here. Manson learns in the first episode. You do what you have to.

In the second episode, he takes a shining to the peppery school teacher, Christine (Clare Higgins). "I feel the need to talk to someone," he admits. He ends up going on about his colleagues, who he accuses of merely "dispensing pills instead of asking themselves what's causing the headache." "You're too conscientious," she says. "I feel useless," he says.

He isn't. Doctor Bramwell almost commits a crazed miner to an asylum until Manson diagnoses the madness as stemming from a treatable thyroid problem. The man is saved.

Then Manson's off to deliver a baby. Afterward, while he's tending to the mother, the midwife wraps the infant in a newspaper and sticks it under the bed. She thinks it's dead. It isn't. Manson has it bawling in no time.

He is needed. He does accomplish things. As the series progresses, it is the special and previously ignored afflictions of the coal miners that increasingly become the object of his crusade.

Don't get me wrong. This is an intelligent, quality series. You might enjoy it. I admired it. I just didn't enjoy it. It made me want to stick my feet in hot water.

'The Jeffersons' Keep Going, Growing

By Peter Meade

Franklin Cover has been living in the same apartment house as "The Jeffersons" for the entire decade the CBS sitcom has been on the air and yet he has never felt at home.

"Actors never feel secure," says Cover, who plays Tom Willis on the series, "unless you're Paul Newman or Robert Redford. I don't have a contract for next year — I assume I'd be back — but I don't know."

Right now the only thing

Cover knows is that the series is in its 10th season. He says it seems like every year it's going to end, but so far every year he has been wrong.

"Critics hate us," says Cover, "but no matter what they say viewers watch us."

And they watch no matter what time or night they may be on. In the past nine years, the show has had time slots on Sundays, Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays. This season marks the fourth year that the show has appeared on Sunday.

The late John Belushi (l.) and Stephen Furst are members of a fun-loving college fraternity in "National Lampoon's Animal House," to air on "The NBC Sunday Night at the Movies," Dec. 18.

MONDAY

Dick Van Dyke (l.) and Sid Caesar portray bank employees who gain access to funds from inactive bank accounts and use them to reward do-gooders anonymously in the TV movie, "Found Money," on "NBC Monday Night at the Movies," Dec. 19.

TUESDAY

Child boy Dinty Doyle (center) points out the arrival of the good ship Belle of Erin that has come to carry him and the leprechauns home to their native Ireland, in the Christmas special, "The Leprechauns' Christmas Gold," airing Tuesday, Dec. 20 on ABC.

Has Bette Midler Ever Been Married?

DEAR DICK: My girlfriend and I are having a disagreement over whether or not Bette Midler has ever been married. Could you please tell us her age. — T.K., Sterling Heights, Mich.

The Divine Miss M has never been a Mrs. She turned 38 on Dec. 1.

DEAR DICK: In the Airplane! movie, I say Harriet Nelson played the jive talk interpreter, but my boss says Barbara Billingsley did. Who's right? — A.A., Alameda, Calif.

Maybe that's why that person is the boss. It was Barbara Billingsley, best known as the mother on Leave It to Beaver, who played the part listed in the credits as "Jive Lady."

DEAR DICK: Who played Ruth Gordon's husband in Rosemary's Baby? First, my friend bet me lunch and said Raymond Massey played the part. Then he saw an old movie and bet me $100 that Ray Milland played the part. I'm looking forward to a good lunch and a shopping spree! — J.R.D., Ashtabula, Ohio.

Enjoy. It was Sidney Blackmer.

DEAR DICK: Years ago, I used to listen to a group of Western-style singers and now I can't remember their names. Their theme song was "Tumbling Tumbleweeds." Can you help me? I'd like to find out so I could get some of their records. — Mrs. M.M., Kalamazoo, Mich.

I always associate that song with the Sons of the Pioneers, the group that Roy Rogers started. They backed him up for many years, and that's probably the group you have in mind.

DEAR DICK: I hope you can help me with this. There was a movie in the 1940s, I believe Anne Baxter was in it. She played a woman whose husband and child were killed in an accident and then she became an alcoholic. Thank you for any information you can give me. — C.D.B., Albert Lea, Minn.

Ask Dick Kleiner

I think you may be remembering The Razor's Edge, from the W. Somerset Maugham novel. It was a famous 1947 movie, with Tyrone Power, Gene Tierney and Anne Baxter. That was one of the story situations in the film.

DEAR DICK: In the movie Tootsie, Tom Nielsen, who plays Floyd Parker on The Guiding Light, was supposed to have a part, or sing, or something. But I couldn't find him in the movie anywhere. Just what did he do in Tootsie? I've been trying to find this out for a year now. — M.A., Hollywood, Fla.

He isn't in it. If he did do a part in it, he and that part were cut out. His name is not listed in the credits, which are extensive.

DEAR DICK: Approximately 40 years ago Foster Brooks was on radio in Buffalo, N.Y. As part of his program he often recited the poem "Face on a Barroom Floor," which was very touching. I have never forgotten it and would like to find the correct title because I may have it wrong. Can you help? — L.J.S., Pembroke Park, Fla.

The actual title is "The Face Upon the Floor."

although it is more familiarly known by the name that you remember. It was written in 1887 by Hugh Antione D'Arcy.

DEAR DICK: We have a big argument about the man on the AT&T commercials. I say it is Cliff Robertson and he says no, it can't be, because he is older than that. Who is correct? — D.N., Strafford, Mo.

Cliff has done one, but so has Tony Bill, who looks like a young edition of Cliff. I don't know who wins. It depends on which commercial you are talking about.

DEAR DICK: Is the actor, David Spielberg, related to the director, Steven Spielberg? Is that how Steven got his break into Hollywood — through a relative? — M.E., Center Line, Mich.

They are not related. Steven got his break, barely out of college, by bravely crashing the gate at Universal Studio, showing some executives his student films. He impressed them so much they hired him.

DEAR DICK: I am an avid collector of Robert Wagner photos. On a recent Hart To Hart episode, there was a person who had a wall decorated with many photos of him. Is there any way I can get my hands on those photos? Are they Mr. Wagner's private collection or what? — A.C., Vancouver, Wash.

No, they weren't from Wagner's own hoard, if he even has one. The prop department assembled those photos, many of which had been taken by the show's own photographer for earlier episodes. They're all back in the files now, so there's no way for your hands to get them.

Kanaly's Dream Turns Into Krebbs' Reality

By Dick Kleiner

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Sometimes, important TV story lines are developed in unlikely ways. Steve Kanaly, who is Ray Krebbs on CBS's Dallas, tells the story of how it happened that his character was discovered to have been the illegitimate son of Jock Ewing.

"Larry Hagman and I were off somewhere," Kanaly says. "I was complaining about how Krebbs was never part of the big developments on the show. I said I thought that was because he wasn't part of the Ewing family."

"So, in the kitchen that weekend, Larry and I cooked up the plot of Krebbs being Jock's illegitimate son. Then Larry suggested that to the producers. It took them a year and a half, but they eventually wrote it in."

Kanaly says he has some other ideas he hopes to work in eventually.

But one change in Krebbs will be noticed before this season is out. He's going to grow a mustache. That's primarily because Kanaly wants one, so Krebbs will have to have one, too.

He has one more year on his Dallas contract and isn't sure now whether he'll renew it. If he doesn't, he would like to make some more movies.

IF YOU ARE one of those who complains about the shortage of TV programs the family can watch together, maybe you should give Newton's Apple a try. It's a new science series on PBS, with Ira Flatow answering questions about scientific matters.

Flatow is National Public Radio's science correspondent. He's been doing a show like Newton's Apple for some time on a TV station in Minneapolis—St. Paul.

"It's not just for kids," says Flatow. "I think kids love it, but it's for adults, too. After all, adults are just big kids. And adults are full of questions that have been nagging them for years — such as why we yawn and why does an itch stop when it's scratched and what's at the end of the universe?"

"With computers emerging," he says, "and becoming the center of our universe, everybody is thinking about science. I worry more about genetic engineering than about computers. What will we do when they make cows that are twice as big as today's cows?"

ARIANNA STASSINOPOULOS, the Greek beauty who writes as good as she looks, has a new book, and it's all about the ancient Greek gods. So, since she has written The Gods of Greece, I asked her who she would cast to play the title characters if the book ever became a movie.

Here is Arianna's list:
Katharine Hepburn or Brooke

Shields would play the aloof Artemis, goddess of the hunt. Barbara Walters would play Athena, the goddess who is totally at home in a world of men. Glenda Jackson is her choice for Hera, the clinging, possessive archetypical wife.

For Aphrodite's "natural, unself-conscious sensuality" her choice is Jacqueline Bisset. For Hestia, the goddess of the home, she'd persuade Mother Teresa to make her acting debut. For Demeter, the earth-mother goddess, she likes Maureen Stapleton.

As for the male gods, to play Zeus, the great politician among the gods, she would hire Sir Laurence Olivier. Apollo, the noble, somewhat stiff god of reason, would be played by either Gregory Peck or Charlton Heston.

It should make a good movie, if they can get the god of high finance to advance them the production money.

Entertainment and Restaurant Guide

Variety And Price Make It Nice

Try Dining In Sanford: You'll Like It

Sanford is fortunate in having a variety of restaurants available, most of which offer substantial fare at moderate, if not downright, reasonable prices.

Anything from "down home country cookin'" to dishes with a touch of the international can be found in this community. Chicken and pizza are popular favorites, according to most restaurant owners interviewed, but so are steaks, seafood and other upscale dinners.

Breakfast seems to be a big deal at a small price here with many restaurants serving up platters of sausage gravy on biscuits or the more customary eggs, bacon and...

Restaurants which have been featured in this space during the past eight months exhibit a menu aimed at pleasing the local clientele. Keep it simple, as the expression goes, although simple does not mean without planning, care, thought and, of course, much hard work.

The results of the restaurant features in this space have been surprising to the dining place owners in many instances, bringing many new faces through their doors to try their tempting feasts.

A restaurant advertising on this page for 13 consecutive weeks is entitled to a feature article at least once during this period of the contract. No extra charge is made for this promotional story, which is usually handled through an interview with the owner or restaurant manager.

Multiply this by the average response to consistent advertising, and it is not difficult to understand the excellent reception to the whole program.

Cost of the program is minimal, based on a $4.45 per column inch rate for the weekly ad only. The feature appears Thursday in the Herald Advertiser and, again, on Friday in the Evening Herald's Leisure Magazine...in time for the weekend.

People everywhere enjoy going out and Sanford residents are no exception and, more than that, they like reading about their favorite restaurant, or one they have not visited in some time, or, perhaps, the "new eatery on the block."

Can't afford your own boat? Then rent a houseboat from Sunshine Lines for a cruise up the St. Johns River.

Cruising Up A Lazy River In A Houseboat

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

How about this for a new travel adventure? Imagine being captain aboard your own luxury houseboat on the lovely St. Johns River.

Take your camera and share the tranquil river days with blue heron, bald eagle, deer and racoon. Swim in warm crystal springs. Get hooked on some of the best fishing in the country — bream, catfish and speckled perch abound. It is also the home of the elusive Manatee, or sea cow, which comes to find winter peace in its warm waters.

The lush vegetation, Spanish moss dripping off massive water oaks and cypress, provide shelter for deer, opossums, otters, raccoons and a dizzying variety of exotic birds.

Tie up at the friendly fishing camps and savor the local cuisine. You can skin dive and water ski, too.

All of this is a perfect formula for a fabulous vacation — whether it be a three-day weekend or a month hiatus from the word-a-day world.

All you need is the houseboat.

And those are available for rent from Sunshine Line Cruises at the Holly Bluff Marina near DeLand. It's about the only place in Central Florida where a wide variety of houseboats can be found.

Terry Adolph, founder and operator of the firm for the past two years, said he has a fleet of 30 houseboats — four different types — outfitted especially for the St. Johns River and the Florida climate.

They are air-conditioned and heated, and have hot water showers. The boats are powered with twin engines for extra reliability and a generator to power the air-conditioner, or they may be plugged in at a marina.

Each boat has its own gas refrigerator and range, dishes, glassware and all cooking utensils, water system and hot water tank.

And each is equipped with linens. There is a charcoal grill outside and a little row boat is provided for emergency purposes. Also available for rent is a fishing boat since fishing is one of the primary forms of recreation on the river. And fully rigged bass boats or ski boats which can be towed along behind the houseboat are available.

Sunshine Line also has half a dozen canopied pontoons, ideal for a day or afternoon's picnicking or to explore the river before renting a houseboat.

In the current season which began Nov. 1 and will end Feb. 14, four different style houseboats are available for rent.

•The Sun Manatee, which can hold 2-4 persons. Rental charge is $142 per day and $71 per day thereafter.

•Sun Queen, 4-6 persons, $185 per day for the first day and $93 per day thereafter.

•Sun King, 6-8 persons, $256 per day and $128 per day thereafter.

...Houseboats

● Sun Ambassador, 8-10 persons, $299 per day and $149 per day thereafter.

Better rates are available for two- or three-day midweek cruises and Adolph says six or seven day rentals are the best value.

The houseboats carry all safety equipment required by the U.S. Coast Guard. With the rental, persons are given a "captain's manual" with full information on cruising, boat handling and simple care and maintenance and a river guide with detailed charts, showing all navigable waterways, bridges, harbours, marinas, towns, historical places of interest, provision stores and restaurants.

Sunshine Line Inc. is across the river from Hontoon State Park in Volusia County.

The marina is within four miles of Blue Springs State Park where the largest concentration of manatees in the state can be seen. It is also within an hour by houseboat from the lower Wekiva River, and near DeLeon Springs where the water temperature is a constant 72 degrees. Many other camping sites, state parks and wildlife preserves are within easy distance.

Adolph says about half those who rent the houseboats are novices, either they don't know the river or have never been responsible for captaining a boat before.

"We let them practice before they go off on a cruise," Adolph said.
