BUDGET OF OPINION "JUST BETWEEN YOU AND ME."
EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT
A CHIEF IS AMONG YE TAKING NOTES AND FAITH,
"HE'LL PRENT 'EM"---SO SAYS SAUNTERER.

The city primary election is approaching and it would seem from the oppressive silence that pervades the political atmosphere that there would be no candidates for the office of aldermen. While I have no particular kick against any one it seems to be high time that the gentlemen who expect to become aldermen should make an announcement. I never kick against the administration, that is I never kick very much. If a man will not take this office he should not kick against those who will take it and endeavor to give it their best endeavors. The people used me once for aldermen and that once is enough for most men and yet I could name a number of men here in Sanford who have held the office that should run for it again. They have the experience and I tell you it takes the experience and lots of it to give the city the right kind of administration. I would favor as many men for the position as possible men who have at some time or other held the office for I really believe they know the business best. Some of the aldermen who have just served the city should be urged to remain at their posts and others who will not again serve the city in succession should be supplanted by men who at other times have held this position. Then again the city should have at least one or two men who are familiar with finances and can manage the finances of the city as they would their own.

I like the way the city council took the challenge of the railroad the other night. They wanted certain crossings and a flagman and said so and the railroad said no but the aldermen passed a resolution calling on the railroad for improvements and they will get them too. There are several things that the railroad will have to do here and the sooner they do it the better.

The postoffice boys up again this time with an appeal to the voters to hold a primary election to determine who is the best man to be appointed. About one year ago I talked about a primary election but not one man came forward to second the motion and it is useless unless every candidate in the race expects to enter the primary. Another thing not to be lost sight of is the permission of the congressman to take the postoffice out of the appointive class and into the elective class something that few of the congressmen will stand for. Unless the candidates and all of them want a primary and the congressman acceded to the request to appoint the nominee the primary will fall flat and this I stated to the people last year. I have nothing in the world at stake on the postoffice matter and only want the best man to win just as I would in all other public matters but the postoffice is some different than the ordinary political job and many of the candidates will find this out before the matter is decided. Only I would like to remark in passing that Congressman Sepra will name the candidate and name him in the manner that best suits him. If he prefers a primary that will take away his appointive power he will allow the primary to decide the question. If he does not wish to have this prerogative taken away from him and appoints his own choice it is strictly up to him and always has been. And again I would like to ask if the Republicans when they were in power ever had any trouble appointing a postmaster, or if they ever let a Democrat linger over, or if they ever called for a primary to let the people have a voice in the postoffice? Why should Republicans or any other parties have anything to say about a Democratic postoffice appointment?

PEOPLE AND EVENTS

Household Shower at Mrs. Takach
At the charming home of Mrs. T. A. Neal the members of the St. Agnes Guild "showered" Mrs. Julius Takach, one of the spring brides with a miscellaneous assortment of household necessities and pretty accessories.

The beautiful vines of love's wreath trailed everywhere in graceful profusion, covering mantels and draperies with its little pink flowers with here and there bowls and vases of pink hibiscus peeping from a background of ferns and potted plants.

Mrs. Takach delighted with a selection of vocal solos, her rich, sweet soprano, if possible, sweeter than ever. Her selections included "Uncle Rome" (Homer), "Thou Rememberest When the World Forgets" (Carrie Jacob Bond), "A Little Bit of Heaven" (Earliest Ball) "Al-lah" (Walter Kramer). At the conclusion of this delightful feature Mrs. Braxton Perkins and Miss Saidee Williams presented two trays, piled high with ribbon tied packages, with an appropriate little speech. A contest on the "way to be happy when married" elicited much merriment and laughter, the prize being won by Miss Williams. A delicious salad course was served at the refreshment hour. Enjoying the happy occasion were Mesdames Julius Takach, Archie Betts, Gwynn Fox, E. D. Mobley, Cecil Gabbett, Aspinwall, C. M. Hand, B. L. Perkins and Misses Saidee Williams, Janie Stumoff, Lillian Herring, Lucrea Chappell, Annie Hawkins, Clara Phillips, Charlotte Hand and Miss Huiley.

Wesleyan Classes at Orl ando
A big bunch of Sanford folks will go down to Orlando tomorrow to attend the Federation meeting of the Wesleyan Classes which convenes in that city today. Rev. F. E. Steinmeyer, Rev. A. H. Cole and A. R. Chappell left today. Tomorrow Dr. L. R. Phillips will carry car load, also Hon. L. P. Hagan and O. J. Pope. There are other cars slated to go, all well filled with enthusiastic members and friends of the Brotherhood and Wesleyan Classes of the Methodist Sunday school of Sanford. Mrs. F. E. Steinmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adams, J. K. Mettlinger, Sunday school superintendent, C. C. Cobb and W. D. Coulbourn are among them.

COUNTY HAPPENINGS

ALTAMONTE HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Bates and family have returned to their home at Altamonte after a very enjoyable summer in Kalamazoo.

The McMichaels from Toronto, Canada are expected here. They are coming to see us to attend to the installation of electricity in their house.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Haight have arrived from Lansing, Mich. Mr. Haight is the manager and owner of the new light plant and says that he will have his plant ready for operation within a very short time. He is going to put electric lights in the hotel, and in every residence in Altamonte, about twenty-five in all. The Briggs and the Fogg cottages have already been wired. He will start wiring the hotel next week. Mr. Haight is going to place about twenty-five lights over the streets, on the road to Maitland as far as Ballard's down the side road to the Fogg's and around the lake to the Briggs home. The electricity is generated by a 25 H. P. Fairbanks-Moss special electric engine. The generator generates 2,300 volts and transforms 110. An oil fuel is used, called Fuel Distillate. This fuel will be contained in an 80,000 gallon tank at the plant. The electric engine will use 2 1/2 gallons of this fuel per hour. A 24 hour service will be supplied, the plant closing down for one hour only each day at noon. Nine miles of wire will be required to carry the electricity in Altamonte. About two miles of pole line have already been put up.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Bates and Everett Bates their son are motoring down from Mount Vernon, New Hampshire, and are expected here this week. Many improvements have been made in the Altamonte Hotel, and Mr. Bates writes that he expects a big season. The hotel will open about the first of December.

Wekiwa and Ethel Items

There was no Sunday school or prayer meeting at Ethel last Sunday week on account of the heavy rain. Friday and Saturday the roads were completely flooded. After spending Saturday and Sunday very pleasantly with her parents and other friends Miss Daphney Farmillon returned to Sanford.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

FOR MAYOR
I will be a candidate for the position of Mayor of Sanford, subject to the decision of the White Primary to be held in November. Having served the city two terms as Alderman and knowing the needs of our commonwealth, I believe I can be of benefit to the citizens in many ways as Chief Executive and without making any pre-election promises will state that the laws of the city will be enforced impartially, but according to the letter of the city ordinance. As an Alderman for four years and according to that record, I claim my claim for the suffrage of the voters of Sanford.
Respectfully,
J. D. DAVISON

For Clerk and Collector
I wish to announce to the voters and my friends that I will be a candidate for the office of Clerk and Collector, in the white primary to be held Nov. 16th, subject to appointment of Mayor.
I will highly appreciate your support.
Respectfully,
HARRY J. WILSON.

To the Voters of Sanford
I am a candidate for re-election to the office of Clerk and Collector, in the white primary to be held Nov. 16, 1916. I have filled this office for five years and think that I have the necessary experience and will appreciate your support.
Yours truly,
M. W. LOVELL.

TREASURER AND ASSESSOR
I wish to inform the voters in this city that I will be a candidate for the office of Treasurer and Assessor in the white primary to be held Nov. 16th, 1916, subject to the appointment of the Mayor. I SHALL BE VERY THANKFUL FOR YOUR SUPPORT.
ADDISON L. WILLIAMS.

INLAND CANAL ACROSS STATE INVESTIGATED

SANFORD MEN ATTENDED MEETING OF ENGINEERS IN JACKSONVILLE

Messrs. C. R. Walker and E. T. Woodruff representing the Inland Waterways Committee of the Sanford Commercial Club were in Jacksonville attending the hearing of the U. S. Engineers regarding the different routes to be decided upon for the Florida inland canal.

Preliminary examination into the question of whether the government shall take over the Florida East Coast canal or adopt the St. Johns river route from Mayport to Titusville was made yesterday by the government engineers sitting as a federal commission at the office of Major W. B. Ladue, corps of engineers.

The commission is composed of Col. W. C. Langfitt of Savannah, Ga., Charles Keller of Mobile and Major Ladue. All of them are members of the federal engineering corps.

Mr. Woodruff and Walker spent some time during the morning in the engineer's office and were well pleased with the information secured regarding the proposed canal, which is expected to be of immense value to the state.

Mr. Woodruff, speaking with a representative of the Times Union, said that it was in his opinion most important that the canal route be as suggested and endorsed by thousands of people living on the St. Johns river and in that neighborhood. That the utilization of a present and excellent waterway which flows through a fertile section where there is already great thrift and enterprise displayed, seemed to him most important.

Referring to the fate of the last river and harbors bill, Mr. Walker said that it was essential that the best possible showing be made as to the needs of the canal and the probable results. There had been admittedly enormous waste by the government in the river and harbor projects and economy was certainly to be insisted upon at this time.

Ocala Gets Next Meeting

Orlando, Oct. 28.—L. D. Harris of St. Petersburg, president; J. H. Bunch of Jacksonville, vice president; F. G. Wade of Tampa, secretary; and Mrs. A. Curtis of Ocala, treasurer, are the new officers of the Florida Wesley Bible Class Federation, which met in Ocala Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

After a warm contest between Ocala, Gainesville and Wauchula, Ocala got the next meeting place, the date to be selected at a later time.

The sessions were largely attended from all sections of the state.

Elks Memorial Day

Elks Annual Memorial Day will occur on Sunday, December 5th and the various committees have been appointed to arrange for the program and speakers and music. This annual feature of the Elks lodge grows better each year and is looked forward to not only by the members of the lodge and their families but the public as well. The services this year will be greatly enlarged and some of the best home talent in singers and speakers will be on the program.

South's Progress

Columbus, Ga., Oct. 27.—The Industrial Index says in its issue of this week: "In keeping with the general business revival in the southeast is the greatly increased activity in the lumber and naval stores industries. There has been gradual improvement in the lumber industry, and it has been greatly augmented by the filling of the mills of the largest lumber order ever received in this country. This means, among other things, a clearing up of stocks.

"There is continually increasing activity in the iron industry, with an upward tendency in prices. "The seed alone from a bale of cotton are bringing a comparatively large sum, and millions of dollars are being received from the sale of the staple.

"There is general activity in industrial lines, the volume of trade is good and the evidence of the return of prosperity are many and substantial.

"With the voting of $275,000 of road construction bonds by Dade county, Florida, the construction of a highway through the Everglades and connecting Miami and Tampa is assured. Lee county voted $350,000 of bonds for the purpose.

"Escambia county, Florida, will vote upon the issuance of $1,000,000 of bonds for constructing highways and bridges.

"A South Carolina cotton goods manufacturing company will increase its capital stock from $600,000 to $1,000,000 and establish an additional mill.

"A contract has been awarded for the erection of another fine residence in the Winter colony at Miami, Fla. It will be built between the palatial home of William J. Bryan and the $1,000,000 Dearing estate, now being constructed.

"Among the items of construction work to be done, as reported this week are: Apartment house, Fruitland Park, Fla.; bank building, Bradley Junction, Fla.; church building, Moultrie, Fla.; hospital building, Dothan, Ala.; hotel building addition, Fruitland Park, Fla.; jail, Windsor, Ga.; roads, Houston county, Ala.; and Lincoln county, Miss.; sewers, Jacksonville, Fla.; dormitory, Jacksonville, Ala.; Gamesville, Ga.; will vote upon the issuance of $50,000 of bonds for erecting school building and Postoffice, county, Miss.; and $50,000 of bonds for erecting a court house.

"Construction contracts were awarded as follows: "Church building, Birmingham, Ala.; 28 miles of roads, Lee county, Fla.; road and bridge, Etowah county, Ala.; incinerator, Athens, Ga.; power house and machine shop annex, Winter Haven, Fla.; $50,000 feet of concrete curb, Tampa, Fla.

"A stock food mill will be established at Savannah, Ga. A company has been formed at Rome, Ga., to manufacture lumber and boxes. A cold storage plant will be established at Gulfport, Miss."

Game Law Knocked Out

Jacksonville, Oct. 25. By issuing a writ of mandamus against Judge Phillips of Duval county, directing him to issue a hunter's license under section twenty-five of chapter 6539 of the laws of Florida of 1915, the supreme court has virtually nullified the principal sections of the game laws of 1915, which abolished the state game department and unconstitutional.

Officers of the Duval County Gun Club, which brought the test case in the shape of a petition for writ of mandamus against the county judge who issues the licenses, accept the step of the supreme court as an indication that the license sections will be thrown out. It was alleged that the new act is discriminatory in that unless a man resides in the county in which he desired to hunt, for six months prior to his request for license he could not be issued one.

Have Your Own Tester

Citrus fruit growers owning their own apparatus will probably save themselves long and costly delays in shipping their fruit. In the opinion of N. O. Penny, state inspector of citrus, he advises all growers to provide themselves with the necessary apparatus to ascertain whether or not grapefruit and oranges contain the percentage of solids and acids as required by the department of agriculture at Washington as showing the fruit to be ripe. The necessary testing apparatus costs only four or five dollars, said Mr. Penny.

FIRST MEETING OF DEBATING AND CARNIVAL CLUB TUESDAY AT TAMPA

WAS DECIDED TO NAME THE CLUB "THE SANFORD MOCK CONGRESS"

The Sanford Debating Club have decided to name themselves "The Sanford Mock Congress." The preliminary meeting of the club was held in the auditorium of the Congregational church Tuesday evening. The meeting was called to order at 7:45. Mr. R. A. Dawson being elected temporary chairman. After a speech from the chair, putting forth the object and purpose of the debating club Mr. E. E. Rogers submitted the following resolution, which after being thoroughly discussed was seconded and passed unanimously.

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that there should now be formed a debating club for the purpose of studying and discussing moral, economic and political questions affecting county, municipal, state, national and international affairs and that such debating club should take the form of a mock congress fashioned upon the methods and procedure of our national house of representatives.

The congress then proceeded to elect officers:

George Fox was elected president, Willie Shepherd, vice president, and W. I. Tyler, Secretary and Treasurer. Messrs. C. R. Walker, Judge Herring and Father O'Riordan were appointed a sub-committee to draft by laws.

The following gentlemen will give a ten or fifteen minutes' speech on congressional law and procedure after the by laws have been submitted at the next meeting Tuesday, Nov. 2nd: Editor Bob Holly, Judge Herring, Prof. Ezell and C. R. Walker.

Ticks in Dade

Miami, Oct. 27. While the strenuous campaign waged by the Stock Growers Association of Southeastern Florida, in conjunction with the Federal and State Boards of Health has successfully placed Dade county tick-free, there remains much work to be done before the United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Animal Industry will officially recognize this county as being absolutely tick-free.

This point was brought out at a meeting of the Stock Growers Association of Southeastern Florida at the court house by Dr. J. V. Knapp, Federal inspector, in charge of the tick eradicating campaign which has been waged for the past six months.

THE BIG FAIR AND CARNIVAL AT TAMPA

WILL HAVE EXHIBITS FROM ALL OF THE COUNTIES OF SOUTH FLORIDA

Although the promotion work has been conducted quietly and without the usual blowing of trumpets it is evident even at this date that the South Florida Fair, to be held at Tampa Feb. 4 to 12 will be a pronounced success in every feature, and it is not believed that there will be a county in the section, the east coast included, that will not be represented by a general or at least individual product exhibits of all kinds. Half of the counties have already signified the intention of having general exhibits, and others will enter in November. The movement met with instant favor after it was inaugurated, this being due to the character of the business men behind it and to the fact that they are not inspired by a selfish motive, their one object being to develop every county in south Florida and make the fair a permanent feature.

Among the principal reasons given by President W. C. Brown of the Fair Association, President D. C. Gillett of the Tampa board of trade and Fair Secretary A. I. Allen why all counties should be represented by exhibits are the following:

The Gasparilla Carnival held at the expense of Tampa business men for ten years will be used merely as an advertising and crowd drawing adjunct to the fair. For several years past it has been given more free advertising in the north and west than the New Orleans Mardi Gras, also the lowest railroad rates on record. It is expected to draw something like 150,000 visitors, fully half from other states. Among these will be several farmer homeseekers, for them special trains will be run. The attendance at the last carnival was something like 100,000, in spite of bad weather and it was decided to hold the fair simply because the business men of Tampa saw to reason why south Florida should miss such an opportunity for advertising its resources.

Leading bankers of the country predict that an era of almost unbelievable prosperity is about to come to the country, owing to good crops and heavy demands from European countries, and the tourists and homeseekers who come to Florida this winter will have money to spend and invest. Unusual activity is already being noted in real estate circles throughout the section.

Tampans will, as usual, promote the nationally famous Carnival for no feature of which will a penny invested in the Fair be spent.

The city of Tampa has given the Fair a ten year lease on Plant Field, behind the city's municipally owned hotel and in the principal residence section of the city, and plans have already been perfected for erecting a number of big exhibit buildings thereon. Because of interest manifested in the Fair movement, though, it may be necessary to add a number of large circus tents to house some of the product exhibits.

Owing to the location of the Fair grounds, the widespread advertising that will be given in the metropolitan newspapers, the fact that the European war and the closing of the San Francisco and San Diego Expositions will drive many tourists to Florida who have never visited the state before, the general interest that is being manifested in our section and the low rates already granted by the railroads, the Fair is expected to be a success financially, as well as otherwise. Every penny of profit made will be devoted to increasing the scope of the Fair from year to year, and every officer, with the exception of the secretary, who devotes his entire time to promotion work, will give his services and money without any charge whatever. New exhibit buildings will be added, the amount paid for premiums increased and the class of amusements, which will be the best that can be procured will be improved from year to year. The amount to be paid in premiums this year will be between $10,000 and $15,000, and more if the money can be secured.

Officers and directors of the Fair declare that there will be no feature to which any one can possibly object, and that everything possible will be done to induce desirable people to locate in the various counties of south Florida, and to teach our own people the best methods of cultivating the soil of our section. In short, the Fair movement was not inaugurated for the benefit of Tampa, which draws as many people as it can take care of through the Gasparilla Carnival, but to contribute to the development of every nook and cranny of South Florida.

State Highway

The newly created state highway commission met in Orlando yesterday at the office of M. M. Smith, a member of the commission. The selection of a state highway commission engineer was discussed but action was postponed until a future meeting.

Nothing of importance came up at the session except routine road matters. It adjourned subject to call of the chairman, Ed Scott of Arcadia. Others present were J. D. Smith of Marianna, F. O. Miller of Jacksonville, and M. M. Smith, Orlando.

A feature of the meeting was an address by E. W. James of Washington, in charge of the maintenance department of the U. S. bureau of good roads. G. R. Ramsey, county engineer, also made a few remarks. Orlando Sentinel.

The C. E. Convention

The South Central District of the Florida C. E. Union will meet in convention at Kissimmee Nov. 10 and 11. It is expected to make this the banner convention for attendance, and every C. E. Society is urged to send a large delegation as possible, especially for the second day, as Karl Lehmann, Southern States Secretary of C. E. Work will be the chief speaker on that day. Any delegates going either by auto or train from the surrounding section are asked to send their names to Miss Madron E. Russell, 319 Main St., Kissimmee, Fla., as soon as possible.

Ford Delivery Wagons

J. L. Miller believes that the bakery business should have a quick delivery system and accordingly has purchased two Ford cars and built special delivery bodies on them. They will be painted and put in first class shape and be used for the rapid delivery of the baked delicacies.

State Convention Here

The Presbyterian Synodical of Florida will meet here on the second and third days of November, representing the three Presbyteries of Florida. All the meetings will be open meetings and the ladies of the missionary societies of the city are cordially invited to attend. Program will be given in Friday's paper.

LAND ADVERTISED IN HANDSOME BOOKLET

FINE PIECE OF WORK CENTRALLY ISSUED FROM HERALD OFFICE

The Herald Printing Co. of this city has recently issued a booklet on Black Hammock lands for the Swope Land & Investment Co., that is causing much favorable comment from the press and from other critics in this and other states. The booklet contains sixteen pages with cover of four pages printed on India tinted dull finish book paper and makes one of the most pleasing effects in high grade printing that has been issued from a Florida printing office in some time.

The booklet is couched in language entirely different from many of the lurid tales of get rich quick land companies and with a directness of simple English the truth is told in a most convincing manner that is bound to appeal to the prospective purchaser of Florida lands.

In the first place Black Hammock lands hardly need any boosting. They are strictly in a class by themselves and the author of the booklet had no trouble in telling the simple truth about the Black Hammock district. This tract is probably the best located, best drained and contains the best lands of any tract in the entire south and needs no coloring to attract attention. The Swope Land & Investment Co., knowing this only wished to call attention to the tract in the endeavor to get the investor to have one look. This one look will mean a purchaser for the lands speak for themselves in language eloquent enough to convince the most skeptical critic of Florida land. Located in the heart of the best county in the state, surrounded by flourishing orange groves and trucking lands, general farming and stock raising lands, lands that are now filled with contented people and people who have lived there for the past twenty or thirty years and made good, the Black Hammock lands cannot be classed among the experimental lands of other parts of the state.

With two railroad lines into Oveido and another line but a short distance away, with brick roads in the process of construction, with good schools and churches and stores and all the conveniences of a thriving little city near by the people who contemplate a residence in Florida either for a winter home, for orange growing or stock raising or winter gardening are bound to select Oveido and Black Hammock lands after they have inspected them and seen other lands in Florida.

The booklet recently issued by the Swope Land & Investment Co. is good because it tells the truth in every line and they omit investigation. The proof of the pudding is in the eating, thereof and the proof of the booklet is in the Black Hammock lands just as they are today with the adequate drainage, flowing wells for irrigation, quality of soil, surroundings, good roads, shipping facilities, modern conveniences.

The Herald Printing Co. takes a just pride in this piece of printing, just as the Herald takes a just pride in the city of Oveido, their fine citizenship, good location and the productive lands that surround the city, chiefly among them the Black Hammock lands.

Unveiled Monument

The unveiling and dedication of the memorial monument to the noble women of the Confederacy was a very important event in Jacksonville Tuesday and was attended by between six and seven thousand people. United States Senator Duncan U. Fletcher presided and delivered an inspiring address. There was a great parade of the United Confederate Veterans, the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the Sons of Veterans, companies of the Florida National Guard and the Boy Scouts. Miss Jessie Palmer Partridge of Monticello, daughter of General Benjamin W. Partridge, unveiled the beautiful memorial. St. Augustine was represented by Miss Edythe Klair Corbett of Anna Dummitt Chapter, and by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Middleton.

Mrs. Beitelson has been feeling quite under the weather of late. We hope for an improvement soon.

Mrs. Clark is quite a bit better, but little Charlie is not very well.

Mrs. Jack Vaughn visited with Mrs. Thompson on Wednesday. Mrs. Thompson on Wednesday. Miss Edna took supper with her on Saturday.

A sneak thief helped himself to quite a lot of meat at Mr. J. A. Thompson's meat market the first of the week.

Margaret Eriksen was sick with fever on Saturday.

Mr. Miller is fertilizing his groves and Mr. H. G. Lundquist has been helping him this week.

We understand Mrs. Anna DeForest is expected soon.

Mrs. Ballinger asks all in the Senior Class at Sunday school to be sure and bring their section of the chart Sunday. Two of our girls, Miss Olga Vahlen and Miss Mabel Tyler, were sick with pneumonia last Sunday.

GENEVA NOTES

The new correspondent has got herself a lot of interesting material should not be held back.

The "Geneva Singers" met at the Kilboe house for practice Saturday night.

The younger people enjoyed the picture Friday night. Quite a number were present.

Epworth League social Friday week.

It is rumored that there will be a Methodist parsonage built in Geneva.

We have got quite a number of amateur song composers here—some of them really inspired.

Geneva has been saddened by the death of Mrs. Mercer and Judge D. E. Pattishall. Mrs. Mercer, who has been in Geneva some time as Mrs. Seig's mother. Mrs. Mercer was quite aged, and died after a short illness and she leaves quite a number of relatives. All Geneva will miss her kindly face and pleasant voice. To the loved ones we extend our sympathy.

Judge D. E. Pattishall was one of the Geneva boys that made good. Freeman worked his way from the bottom to the top. We shall miss his presence. This wonderful master mind conquered all obstacles that he met. He worked his way through college and has held the office of Dean of Stetson College. He afterward studied law and after he graduated went to Palm Beach to practice and after a year's time he was elected county judge. His death, though expected, came suddenly. He was buried in Palm Beach Friday. He leaves a wife and brother, Mr. H. H. Pattishall of this town. Mr. Pattishall was present at the funeral.

Mr. Tommy McLain was carried to the hospital. His illness became serious.

That new correspondent caught the d... Serves 'em right for hitting in.

Miss Georgia and Mr. Bert Pattishall are at home again.

Mr. McLain and crew have gone up the river to pick his oranges.

Rev. C. E. Guttridge preached an interesting, inspiring sermon last Sunday evening.

The quit has enlisted, now Fervor March.

The singers will meet at Mr. C. F. Harrison's next Saturday night.

GENEVA JOTTINGS

The old adage "More rain less work" must assuredly be true from the frequent rains we've been having here.

The chill damp days and the ripening oranges make us want to get out and hustle.

Messrs. Otis Mapp and Stephen Childs of Forsythe, Ga., are down for the winter. This is Mr. Child's first winter in Florida, but so far he is favorably impressed. Both are stopping at Mrs. J. W. David's.

All were sorry to hear of the death of Freeman H. Pattishall, although it had been expected for some time, as he had been in Johns Hopkins institution in Baltimore for some time. Mr. Pattishall was a resident of Palm Beach, but was formerly of Geneva before he went to law school.

Mrs. Mercer of Americus, Ga., who was here with her daughter, Mrs. Seig, died at the home of Mrs. Wicks last Wednesday at 4:25 a. m. Mrs. Mercer was 82 years of age and was attacked Monday morning with acute indigestion. The cause was in the competent hands of C. J. Marshall, M. D., and Mary Bradley, R. N., but old age was too much for her. Funeral services were held at the home of Mrs. Wicks at 9 a. m. Thursday and the remains taken to Americus for burial.

Mrs. Ballard and children, who have been in Sanford for some time returned Friday evening.

Last Friday evening a chicken pillow was given in honor of Messrs. Thorpe and Smith at the town hall. Dancing and games were enjoyed until a late hour when pillow stuffed and hot coffee with cookies were enjoyed. Only the "elite" were present.

Miss Irene Peters is at Daytona for a few days.

Mrs. Patterson's sister, who has been with her for some time has returned home.

Rev. Garthridge filed his regular appointment at the M. E. church Sunday morning and evening. He has a number of interesting talks.

Messrs. Walker, Prevatt, Victor Peters and Homer Nicholson were in the study—please bear in mind Geneva is not stuck cow hunting just now.

Mrs. Clark and Proctor and Messrs. Johnson and Mapp started a few afternoons ago for some "palmetto cabbage." Some had axes cut or saws and cut and only two had axes. The four got down to the house and the company as a whole they broke the board and decided to take off horses' heads.

Mrs. and Mr. Walter Y. Young of New Smyrna and Mrs. Olive of Sanford are all at the Kilboe House for a few days.

Say "Bob" Holly, when you stopped at the Mason don't think you were rather out of your spurs and say, did you remember to tip the bell boy to his credit account?

LAKE MARY ITEMS

George Arrants of Sanford was a Sunday visitor here.

Mrs. Paul Keely spent last week in Jacksonville.

R. N. Poston and Richard Carter were Sanford visitors first of the week.

Rev. H. M. Morey expects to leave Upsalga, Mich., on November 2nd and arrive here to take up his duties as pastor the first Sunday in November.

A straw ride was given last Friday night in honor of Mrs. Frank Evans. The party went to Sanford to the movies and thoroughly enjoyed the trip in spite of the rain that fell on their way home. Those who made up the party were, Mrs. Frank Evans, Mrs. T. A. D. Morris, Miss Amanda Sjoblom, Messrs. T. A. D. Morris, Abbie Sjoblom, Johnnie Evans.

Better Train Service

The following letter will be good news to the travelling public.

It gives me pleasure to advise that effective with first train southbound Monday, Nov. 15th and first train northbound Tuesday, Nov. 16th, the service of the Tampa Special will be resumed between Jacksonville and Tampa, leaving Jacksonville daily 9:15 a. m., arriving Tampa 4:00 p. m. Returning leave Tampa 12:45 noon, arriving Jacksonville 7:30 p. m.

The train will consist of reclining chair coaches, Pullman parlor car with broiler buffet service, and Pullman parlor observation car.

The train will stop at the following points between Jacksonville and Tampa: Palatka, Sanford, Orlando, Kissimmee, Lakeland and Plant City.

This train will be in addition to three daily trains, each of which are equipped with Pullman service, leaving Jacksonville 7:00 a. m., 1:00 p. m. and 7:00 p. m., leaving Tampa 6:10 a. m., 10:30 a. m. and 9:00 p. m.

The improvement of this service speaks for itself and shows how the Atlantic Coast Line feels with regard to the needs of the public.

Yours very truly,

Nurses Train on a Doll

For use in training schools for nurses a doll has been designed, five feet tall, made of a heavy wooden material that is waterproof and has some of the features of a human body. It is complete in every detail, even to the ear and nasal passages. It is used as a dummy on which beginners can practice the attentions they will later have to bestow upon patients.

King of Game Fish

The grandest of all fish hoppers is tarpon, otherwise "silver king" or "grand exalté," a monster herring, which may measure six or seven feet and weigh a couple of hundred pounds.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT RICH MILK?

Do you know how rich the raw milk you are feeding your children is? Do you know how old the raw milk is when delivered to you? Do you know how pure and clean it is? Have you counted up how much milk you waste in the course of a month because of its turning in such a few hours' time?

Have you had the unpleasant experience of having to send out for more milk when extra, unexpected guests arrived—or worse yet, not being able to make a certain dish because you couldn't get the extra milk in time?

Comparatively few people are situated where they can get raw milk that is of known purity and richness. The problem of a safe milk supply is not a local one—it is the problem of the city, of the country and of the small town.

And after the procuring of good, raw milk comes the question of how to keep it. In the city, where milk is seldom less than twenty-four hours old when delivered, in the country where the ice supply is uncertain, the problem of keeping milk is a grave one.

The logical result—the solution of the problem—is a supply specially designed to meet the requirements of the demand. A dependable, evaporated milk is the safe one for every locality. Of uniform richness, absolutely pure and sweet, evaporated milk is just pure, fresh cow's milk with nothing added and only the water removed, then hermetically sealed and sterilized.

Evaporated milk reaches the housewife just as sweet and pure as the day it was placed in the can. She need have only one small can open at a time, and that will keep sweet for several days after it is opened. It is a safe, pure, and economical supply.

Though a quantity of practical experience is required to appreciate the value of this milk, it is a supply on hand for any emergency. You may always count on it for a safe, pure, and economical supply. Milk is a staple article in the home, and prepared on a few minutes' notice with a supply of Carnation Milk.

Children Have Pet Jackdaw

At Llanelli, Wales, a workhouse there is a pet jackdaw. It accompanies the children from the workhouse to and from school regularly perching on a tree when sight of the door while they are at lessons and immediately they are out, it flies over them on the return journey. On Sundays he accompanies them to Sunday school in quite a different direction.

OUR PUBLIC FORUM

J. J. Brown
On Farmers' Union Invites Co-operation

Cooperation is a mighty word that is ringing from ocean to ocean, reverberating from field to factory and echoing down the corridors of business. It is the slogan of the Farmers' Union, the guiding star of progress and the cornerstone of a new civilization. No man or organization can prosper without cooperation. Mr. J. J. Brown, president of the Georgia Farmers' Union, in his annual address, extending to the business interests an invitation to co-operate, said in part:

"The time has come when it is absolutely necessary for the business men and the farmers of this country to get together and stand for the best interests of our country, in order that we may change the conditions that now exist in the handling and marketing of farm products. For that reason the Farmers' Union is holding public meetings throughout the country and we are cordially inviting the business interests to co-operate with us in our efforts to build up our agricultural interests.

"At the beginning of the government, from eighty to ninety per cent of all the wealth of this country was in the hands of the farmers. Since that time they have gradually lost in the great race of life until today the farmers of this country own less than thirty per cent of the wealth. And while the farmers of the United States produced last year ten billion dollars' worth of new wealth, they received, in round numbers, about forty per cent of this wealth, while those who manipulated and speculated in their product received sixty per cent.

"What would you think of the merchant who, knowing the cost of his goods, would allow a consumer to walk into his store and tell him at what price he must sell his calves? My friends, that is exactly what we farmers have been submitting to for the last half century. We do not blame the merchant, neither do we blame the man who takes advantage of the famous system of marketing our products, thereby making millions of dollars in a business called legitimate, but we farmers are to blame for submitting to such outrages.

"I believe in scientific farming, intensive farming, diversified farming, and every kind of good farming. I swallow the hog and hominy proposition. But all these things are matters of putting the cart before the horse and the whole farming machine simply cannot get anywhere. We must meet the basic economic conditions first, then add to them these other things.

"We've had one palliative plan after another given us from every source under the sun, but until we organize and demand, as organized, enlightened citizens demand and obtain, we may expect the tidal wave of failure to engulf the entire South and the land of our inheritance may pass from us forever."

J. J. Brown

LOVE AND MARRIAGE

ALWAYS A FRUITFUL SUBJECT FOR DISCUSSION.

It Has Been Said That Almost Any Woman Can Ensnare the Man She Chooses If She Uses Power She Possesses.

The various methods employed for the captivating and ultimate permanent capturing of more mankind have been a fruitful subject for discussion this many a day. The season's new books are full of it. "Any woman can have any man she likes if she pursues him vigorously enough, or eludes him—either does," says Doris Edgerton Jones in Time o' Day. "There are two ways for a woman to get what she wants. Either chase it for all she is worth or run from it in the same manner. It depends on the man."

Most decidedly it depends on the man, says Ellen Adair. The average man detests being openly and obviously run after. For assuredly it brings upon his head the ridicule of his fellow men and the scorn of his feminine acquaintances. The whole point is in the manner of the running after and in the varying degrees of diplomacy which accompany the pursuit. Once let a man see that he is being boldly chased—then farewell, farewell to rosy hopes of matrimony.

According to Thackeray, any woman with fair opportunities and not actually a hump can marry whom she pleases—but he adds that it is mercy that the little dears are like the beasts of the field and do not know their own power! The artifices used by the weaker sex for the capturing of the male creature fall desperately wide of the mark through their own ignorance of the nature of the species. It is pathetic to note the misplaced energy which is doomed to meet with no reward.

"Faint, Yet Pursuing," is their motto, and one which they will get leave to follow to the bitter end, alone and unattached. And all because a lack of diplomacy is there. These women cannot and will not understand the masculine mind and the masculine point of view and until they do so they need never hope to be successful in the great adventure.

For love is, after all, the great adventure. It is at the same time the most entertaining and most satisfying thing in the world. To quote a recent novel, "Love is good for anyone. It's the most educating thing in the world. I could, I should insist on everyone's being in love at least three times in their life." We should have a lot of less stupidity and mistakes in the world. Why, you learn diplomacy, tact, sympathy, how to be really happy—for the time, anyway.

Just the being with someone whom you love and know loves you, gives a feeling of rest and comfort.

The writers of these pleasing pieces of information ignore the reverse side of the picture and pass over all the chances that the man or woman in love takes.

The writer declares: "To meet your true mate—that is luck, to recognize him when you meet him—that is in proportion, to be able to win him when he has resigned him that is art, and to keep him when you've won him some people say that's a miracle."

It would appear, then, that according to the opinion of the last-named, the matter of love is fraught with strange difficulties and obstacles.

If that as it may, there's nothing half so sweet in life as love's young dream. And though it may only last a short time, on the other hand it may endure as long as life lasts—and any how, the game is more than worth the proverbial candle.—Philadelphia Evening Ledger

Expert Opinion.

The late Henry Beach Needham, the flying expert who was killed with Lieutenant Warneford in France, was often consulted by aeroplane inventors.

An inventor from Seattle submitted a triplane model to the young expert last spring. Mr. Needham studied the model attentively for an hour. Then he laughed and said:

"I'd advise you, my friend, to try your hand now at inventing a submarine for one of the belligerents."

"Yes," said the inventor, puzzled. "Yes," said Mr. Needham, "for judging from this aeroplane model, I am convinced that a submarine designed by you would fly."

Unusual "Wooden" Legs.

In consequence of the war, the artificial limb manufacturers in France are finding themselves hard pressed at the present time to keep supplied with the requisites of their business, since all the hospitals are making such demands on the supply. Artificial legs, for instance, are made in some instances of a sort of compressed cardboard. And the raw material for this is now being obtained from the banks of France! All the old notes are periodically destroyed and converted into a pulp, which is then disposed of to the paper mill. And so the gallant plouffe's "wooden" leg will represent a fortune!

Exhibition of Old Paintings. Old Indian paintings may be on exhibit at Lahore next January. The proposal of having an exhibition of old Indian paintings in connection with the Triennial Museum conference to be held at Lahore in January next is not yet finally settled, but it is in contemplation to have an exhibition of old Indian paintings by loan from ruling chiefs and Indian nobles.

New Sports Sweater for Fall

No outfit is quite complete in these days without a sweater of some sort. And there is a wide and varied choice in sweaters, for they are claiming more attention than ever before in their history.

There are finely woven sweaters of silk, in gay colors, which one sees at the afternoon concert, at the country club, on the beaches and the golf links, and in any other outdoor meetings of fashionables. There are sweaters considerably like them, made of artificial silk, usually in more vivid colorings than the all-silk variety. Then there are the practical wool sweaters, similar to that shown in the picture, and belonging to the same class.

The new models are carefully designed to the end that they may embody just the right style. In the example pictured here, for instance, it will be noticed that the sleeves are well shaped and finished with a cuff and button. The patch pockets leave a turnover flap, and the new order of things in belts is recognized. The collar may be turned up close about the neck if required.

Because this is a sweater for real comfort in cool days it is rather heavy. Its usefulness begins with fall, and continues to the coming of another summer, for it reinforces the too light wrap in the depths of winter. It is an excellent model to choose for the young girl to wear to school during the autumn months, and nothing could be better designed or arranged for sports wear.

Sweaters of wool stand the rough handling which they are likely to get from young people, and continue to look none the worse for it. Now that they are made in beautiful colors and with so much attention to style, the field of their usefulness is wonderfully increased.

Three New Models for Fall

Of all things, millinery requires careful choosing, and, after it is bought, the hat requires careful placing on the head, if it is to fulfill its destiny. According to an old millinery maxim that destiny is to improve the appearance of the wearer. "You must look better with your hat than without it"—that is the exacting test to which each new mode is to be subjected.

The three new models for fall, which appear here, are types that will repay a little study on the part of those who consider things before buying them. They include a small turban, a turban with extension crown which forms a halo brim, and one of the graceful wide-brimmed hats to which fashion is extending welcoming hands.

Quite a number of these wide-brimmed hats are shaped with brims turning upward at the back. This has brought in the underbrim trimming again and it is not confined to wide-brimmed shapes. Short, curling ostrich plumes fit into the trimming of the underbrim in the most graceful way.

The small turban is made of corded silk, and would be equally effective in panne velvet. The material is covered with corded tucks and serves for the covering of the hat and for its trimming. The edges are finished with a silver tinsel braid which has the effect of needlework. It looks like close-set overcast stitches, and needlework decoration is a feature of the new fall millinery.

The turban with extension crown is made of black velvet and white chiffon. A bead work ornament trims the front and is made entirely of white beads.

The soft and graceful brim of the third hat bespeaks, for it, and for many others of the same character, first place in the favor of young women. It is made of velvet in black or one of the dark shades of fashionable colors. The trimming is of white fancy ostrich and looks like a bit of fireworks, done in front. It throws its sprays in front of the eye of the wearer with an abandon unknown to ornaments hitherto. But it is strong in the knowledge that it is less in the way of vision than many a veil.

Firestone Faith

The Firestone ideas of motor- ing are founded on a belief in the wisdom and common sense of the motorist—and this faith has been justified. Firestone success has proven that the car owner wants safety, comfort and Most Miles per Dollar. He wants the quality that costs less to use. The Non-Skid lettering is an imprint of safety. You need it always—but particularly at this time of year. It holds the standard for endurance and economy. The letters prevent spin or skid in any direction, they radiate the heat of road friction, insure perfect traction with gasoline economy, car-protection and maximum comfort. Everywhere experienced motorists praise Firestone performance.

Taunt Roused Soldiers.
Frederick the Great was the author of certain characteristic sayings, but none more so than that which he uttered at the battle of Kolm, when his troops were wavering under a fierce fire: "Does he period, would ye live forever?" A taunt whose harshness was justified only by its success.

Chinese and Japanese.
Chinese and Japanese do not speak the same language nor can they be said to have the same religion. Confucianism is the prevailing faith of China, while Buddhism is the chief religion of Japan. Geometry probably had its rise in Egypt, though it was perfected by the Greeks.

Have About the Right Idea.
One thing I never saw in Russia was a parent punishing a child. I asked a venerable old man in Moscow whether that was the rule or had my observation just been meager. "It is wrong to lay violent hands on the growing ones," he told me. "Russians do not do it. It might break the spirit or spoil the character." Exchange.

War Casualty.
"What do you mean by calling me up at this time of night? Henry, I'll be waiting for you when you get home." "That is, m' dear," Henry's voice was missing dreadfully. "I just wanted tell ye I'm interned at Casey's saloon till wars over. Good-night." Buffalo Express.

Beavers Becoming Scarce.
In spite of all their intelligence the beavers are having a hard struggle for existence. They are so eagerly sought by trappers and they have so many enemies among the other four-footed creatures that in America they are threatened with speedy extinction.

Troublesome Dish.
The jackal, which requires ten hours boiling, is a food requiring much preparation but it does not hold the record in this respect. That is held by the elephant. Elephant's foot, a real delicacy, will not attain its full succulence without a good 36 hours' baking.

Why Do Business Men Advocate The Florida Citrus Exchange?

It is a significant fact that the business men of every community in Florida, which has a Florida Citrus Exchange packing house, proudly advertise this fact to the world.

There is equal significance in the fact that nurserymen, packing house machinery men and others whose future success depends on the prosperity of the citrus industry, are consistent boosters of the Exchange.

No less is it significant that bankers, land company operators, newspapers and others interested in bringing to Florida men and money for the further development of the State, make a great deal of the Exchange as the key to the future.

These things would not be true, and the keenest business men of Florida today would not be such staunch supporters of the Florida Citrus Exchange, if in their judgment it had failed to do the work for which it was founded.

The degree of success which can be attained by the Exchange in the future working out and execution of plans for the good of the citrus industry in Florida depends upon the measure of support it receives from the growers of the State, and with control of fifty per cent or more of the citrus fruits grown in Florida it can do twice as well for its grower-members as with twenty-five per cent.

Now is the time to add your support to that of your fellow-growers in making bigger and better the Florida Citrus Exchange—the only truly co-operative body now at work for citrus Florida. Put your fruit in the Exchange and sell it yourself—you will have as much voice in the organization as any other member. See the manager of your local association, if there is one in your community, otherwise communicate with this office.

ABOUT PEOPLE AND EVENTS

A RESUME OF SANFORD HAPPENINGS UP TO DATE. Address all Communications for this Column to "Society Editor," or Phone Mrs. R. A. Terhune, Phone No. 708.

Social Calendar Tonight: Sarah Wight will entertain with a costume party. Presbyterian Halloween social at the church. Frances Chappell will entertain the Doololly and C. C. C. Club. Saturday afternoon: Mrs. Fannie Stenbridge Munson's musicale to the Literature Department. Saturday night: Florence Henry will give a Halloween party.

Cabaret Bazaar: The cabaret bazaar on Tuesday evening at the Woman's Club rooms, under the auspices of the Social Department was a brilliant social success and one of the most enjoyable entertainments given by this popular department. There was a suggestion of Halloween in the pretty decorations and the club rooms were never more attractive. Against the background of white walls and woodwork the graceful vines of the white star jessamine hung in wonderful, pretty festoons with here and there the funny little faces of the Jack-o-lanterns peeping between the vines. Larger Jack-o-lanterns were placed about the rooms, holding cut flowers and ferns. Great masses of goldenrod glowed and shimmered like sunshine in charming profusion. In one corner of the reception hall was a fancy candy booth, gaily decorated with yellow and black, with cunning little black cats completing the attractive appearance of the booth. This was presided over by Mrs. J. B. Stahling and Mrs. John T. Brady, who sold delicious home-made candy. The dancing element enjoyed that pleasure until a late hour, while the more sedate indulged in card playing.

Mrs. W. P. Carter, hostess of the evening, is a gracious, charming beauty and has made a record during the October programs with some of the most delightful affairs of the season. Assisting Mrs. Carter in serving were Mesdames Lillian Herring, Sadie Williams, Eleanor Herring and Vera Terhune.

Members of the Woman's Club, presided over by Mrs. Fannie Stenbridge Munson and the Literature Department for the Saturday afternoon musicale at the Woman's Club rooms. This is the annual musicale that is given by Mrs. Munson complimentary to the Literature Department, on this occasion being given the most successful of March 1915.

Announcement: The regular business meeting of the Woman's Club will be held at the club rooms, Wednesday, November 3rd, at 8 o'clock. The subject of the evening will be "The Woman's Club in the Future." The meeting will be held at the club rooms, Wednesday, November 3rd, at 8 o'clock.

SYNOPSIS.

The New York police are mystified by a series of murders and other crimes. The principal clue to the criminal is the warning letter which is sent the victims, signed with a "clutching hand." The latest victim of the mysterious assassin is Taylor Lodge, the insurance president. His daughter, Elaine, employs Craig Kennedy, the famous scientific detective, to try to unravel the mystery. What Kennedy accomplishes is told by his friend, Jameson, a newspaper man. After many fruitless attempts to put Elaine and Craig Kennedy out of the way the Clutching Hand is at last found to be none other than Perry Bennett, Elaine's lawyer and the man she is engaged to marry. Bennett flees to the den of one of his Chinese criminals. The Chinaman forces from Kennedy the secret of the whereabouts of $7,000.00. Then he gives the lawyer a position which will suspend animation for months. Kennedy reaches Bennett's side just after he has lost consciousness.

TWENTY-THIRD EPISODE

THE TELLETALE HEART.

Elaine had dropped in one afternoon to see Kennedy at the laboratory. Craig was working over a straight-backed chair which stood close to the wall. On the arms were short straps, apparently to fasten down the arms of the sitter.

As they chatted, Elaine watched Craig curiously, examining the chair and especially the left arm, on which was placed a metal disk in such a way that the wrist of anyone sitting in the chair could be strapped in contact with it. Finally Kennedy attached a pair of electric wires from beneath the chair arm, connecting with the disk, and running down one of the legs, thence through a crack in the floor to the back room of the laboratory.

"What is it?" asked Elaine. "It looks like a death chair."

"Scarcely as bad as that," laughed Kennedy, taking up a large clock-faced dial which had a single hand evidently intended to be swung around by some force through the graduated scale on its face. "This is the sphygmograph—a scientific third degree," he explained, indicating both the chair and the dial. "It reads a person's thoughts and feelings through the pressure of the blood."

I was on my way from the Star office when I happened to spy a face in the crowd that seemed familiar. It was of a Chinaman and although I could not just place him, I knew that I had seen him somewhere before. I decided to play detective.

Not many minutes before, down in that secret den in which the serpent Wu concocted his villainies, that worthy had been at work again, tireless.

With subtle satisfaction, he had held in his hand, which was carefully gloved in rubber, a small glass tube—perhaps three-quarters of an inch in diameter.

In the tube was a minute but at most priceless particle of that strange element, radium. For a moment Wu regarded it, then took up a handkerchief that lay before him. Already he had ripped a stitch or two from the seam in the hem. He slipped the little radium tube into the hem of the handkerchief.

"Here," he said, gruffly to a servant "Take this here" and the other thing to Inez. You know the address."

"Oh uptown he went until he came to a rather ordinary looking apartment house. He went in without discovering that I was following.

I glanced about. No one was watching me. Then, to be sure that I would recognize the house, I noted it by marking a small cross with a pencil on the stonework of the steps.

I did not know at the time, but I found later that upstairs the house was rented by a doctor, which was answered by a maid, a mulatto with a marked gypsy cast of features.

The maid opened the door into the hallway and admitted the messenger. Inez took the note and the lead case, waving to the maid to leave her. Then she tore open the note and read:

"Have her blind the increased over her eyes. If in place three minutes, blindness will result in a few days."

"Tell the master I shall have it done as he directs," she said to the Chinaman as she followed him to the door.

Inez turned and went into the back room, her boudoir, where the maid was waiting. She brought out from a closet a rather gaudy yellow dress, a tambourine, a headress and some other materials.

"Now, I want you to put this on," she instructed the maid. "Here in this box I have a handkerchief which I want you to use. Tie it over her eyes and keep it there—three minutes at least; longer if you can."

As I looked at the house outside, it immediately occurred to me to let Craig know what had happened, and I sought the nearest telephone booth and called the laboratory. Elaine had just gone when I called up, and I told my story of having seen and trailed the messenger and marked the house.

As I turned away at my end of the line Kennedy hastened to join me. I returned to the apartment, bent on carrying out Craig's orders. To my surprise, when I rang the bell, the door was opened by a colored maid. I had not expected to get in at all, but this seemed easy.

The maid brought me a chair, and I took it. I did not notice, however, that she was careful to place it in a particular spot with the back to the wall.

I laid my hat and gloves on the table. As I did so, one glove must have dropped on the floor in an inconspicuous place by the leg of the table.

I sat down while the maid left me for a moment to call her mistress. In my best detective manner I gazed about the room, endeavoring to extract some clue. I was about to examine the room more closely when I heard someone coming and restrained my interest in the surroundings. Inez entered, and I rose.

"Won't you sit down?" she asked, with exaggerated politeness. "For what am I indebted to you for this visit?"

"Well," I replied, "perhaps you recall the last time we met."

Inez stood by the table, listening to me. I thought a bit mockingly. As I spoke her hand moved to the edge of the table. Suddenly before I knew it, the room blacked before my eyes and all was blackness.

Inez had moved her hand over and had pressed a secret knob. A bar in the wall just beside my head had sprung out, striking me a terrific blow and knocking me out.

The maid, who had run in, and Inez lifted me up unconscious, and carried me into the back room.

It was scarcely five minutes after that Kennedy came to the entrance to the apartment. There he noted the mark which I had made. He had just decided to go in when he heard a noise. It was Cissy, arrayed in all her glory, going out with a parting word of instruction from Inez. He drew back into the angle of the hall.

I was still unconscious, and Inez was standing over me when she heard the tinkle of the bell.

Craig unconsciously took the very chair in which I had been sitting and sat down nonchalantly. A she saw him, she had given a little gasp.

As Craig watched her keenly, however, he was able to discover that underneath her calm exterior she was very nervous and excited.

"Well," demanded Kennedy with an enigmatical smile. "You didn't expect to see me again, so soon, did you?"

Inez seemed to be overcome for the moment. She rose and moved over to the table.

Walt a minute," interrupted Kennedy. "Come back and sit down. I have something to say to you."

Nervously her hand gripped the table and moved along toward the secret knob.

Kennedy noticed it, but he had not moved his chair from the position in which it had been placed for me. At that moment, though, his eye fell on my glove, which I had inadvertently dropped on the floor. He reached down and picked it up. As he did so the bar in the wall flew out just missing his head as he bent over.

Seeing that her scheme had failed, Inez made a dash for the door. Kennedy sprang to his feet and seized her.

Elaine on her return from the laboratory had gone to the conservatory of the "Dodge house, and there was busying herself pruning the rose bushes.

Once she happened to glance up at the end nearest the street. She could see a strolling gypsy going by, and the gypsy, apparently, had spied her through the open window.

"Good afternoon, mistress," greeted the gypsy coming up to the fence. "Wouldn't you like to have me read your fortune?"

Elaine was fonesome. She looked the gypsy over, and the picturesqueness of the woman appealed to her. Laughingly she consented, and the gypsy entered.

The gypsy took Elaine's hand and looked at it carefully. "You are in danger from a powerful Oriental criminal," announced the gypsy at last.

Elaine was, to say the least, impressed.

"He is a very dangerous man," went on the gypsy.

"And that is not all," the gypsy hinted. "In darkness I could make you see the vision of your persecutor and his den."

She nodded knowingly at Elaine, and at the same time from a fold of her dress drew out the lead case, managed to open it and took out the handkerchief. Above the table she twisted it into a flat band.

"Let me show you," she said, handing the handkerchief to Elaine. "Tie that over your eyes."

Elaine was sitting with her own handkerchief in her hand, but she turned quickly. When she faced the gypsy again she had a bandage flat over her eyes.

"Now, mistress, try—let yourself go," urged the gypsy. "Let me guide your mind. I will show you."

Elaine did try to put herself in the frame of mind the gypsy wanted.

"Not yet," returned Elaine. "Try—let yourself go—forget this room, forget time," urged the gypsy.

Craig looked from my glove to the face of Inez.

"Where is Mr. Jameson?" he demanded sternly.

"I don't know," she replied, facing him defiantly.

"You do know," contradicted Craig, forcing her to accompany him and leading her into her back room.

As they entered her boudoir, Kennedy saw my foot protruding from the blanket she had thrown over me. He pulled it off.

"Well!" he exclaimed, starting back. "I'll be—"

His exclamation was cut short by the ringing of the telephone bell. Inez took a step toward it.

"None of that," interrupted Kennedy, stopping her. "You keep quiet. I'll answer it. Hello!"

It seemed that, perhaps half an hour after he had dispatched the messenger to Inez, Wu decided to call her up to see whether everything was going as he had planned. He had asked for her number. As the operator gave him the call, he heard a man's voice answering.

Instantly he was all suspicion. He waited to hear no more, but quickly hung up the receiver. So it happened that Kennedy got no answer.

"You have a remarkable face," Kennedy remarked at length. "Your composure is wonderful. But, young lady, I believe that was your Chinese friend, Wu Fang. At any rate I am going to try to find out. Do you think you can locate that call?" he asked when he finally got the operator.

"No, I can't locate it exactly," came back the reply a minute later from the girl at the telephone exchange. "But it came from Chinatown—somewhere on Pell street, I think."

Kennedy thanked her, hung up the receiver and faced Inez. He was just in time to prevent her destroying Wu's message. There was the crumpled note. He took it and read it.

Kennedy looked up quickly from the ominous message to the inscrutable face of Inez. As he considered the note, his mind worked rapidly. Quite apparently it was Elaine against whom the new peril was directed. But what was it that could blind her? He thought a moment. Could it be a drug?

Craig seized the telephone and called the Dodge house.

Some minutes passed after Elaine had bound the handkerchief over her eyes. She sat opposite the gypsy, but as she would, she could see no vision that she did not herself conjure up.

Mr. Kennedy on the telephone announced Jennings.

"Will you answer it, auntie?" asked Elaine. "Tell him I'll call him up in a few minutes."

Aunt Josephine followed Jennings out and went down the hall to the library, where she picked up the receiver which Jennings had left.

"Oh, Mrs. Dodge, is that you?" Craig asked anxiously. "Where is Elaine?"

"She's in the conservatory. There's a gypsy here. They're sitting there like a couple of ninnyes waiting for a vision of."

"Good heavens," interrupted Craig, not with a handkerchief over her eyes is she? "Yes," quick, tell her to—rip it off yourself—quick—quick!"

Aunt Josephine knew Craig too well to stop to ask why. In great excitement she dropped the telephone and almost ran from the library. As she entered the conservatory she could hear the low droning voice of the gypsy. She had pulled the bandage from her own eyes and was watching Elaine keenly.

The gypsy was on her feet in an instant with an air of sneering triumph. "You are criminal!" cried Aunt Josephine. "Help! Jennings, help!"

In the apartment of Inez, Kennedy was now endeavoring to get Aunt Josephine on the telephone again. But neither he nor the central could seem to get any answer from the "Dodge house."

Meanwhile I was slowly recovering consciousness and had managed to get on my feet. Dazed though I still was, I could see that Kennedy had discovered something terrible in order to have had to neglect me so long.

He was working the receiver up and down frantically now. Finally he hung it up. By the expression on his face I gathered that, whatever it was, he feared the worst. His face wrinkled in thought, he gazed, perplexed, first at Inez, cold and defiant, then toward me. He seemed greatly surprised to see that I was myself again so soon, after being laid out flat.

"Walter," he asked earnestly, "do you think you could watch this girl now?"

"Why—yes—I can do it," I replied reassuringly.

"Then take this gun," he directed. "Don't let her touch a thing—and keep your eye peeled all the time. She's a tough customer. I want you, as soon as you feel able, to take her over to the laboratory and wait."

I nodded and he dashed out.

"Why, auntie, what's the matter?" asked Elaine, wondering at the suddenness with which the bandage had been torn from her eyes. "What does it all mean?"

"You—you criminal!" repeated Aunt Josephine accusingly at the gypsy, then turning to Elaine, "Why, Craig called up and warned me not to let her put anything over your eyes. I didn't wait to hear any more. I just ran in and tore the thing off."

FINANCIAL SCHOOL REPORT

I hand you herewith for publication, Annual School Report for Seminole County, for year ending June 30th, 1915. This exhibit shows a slight reduction of outstanding debt over the previous year. But this showing is unsatisfactory to your County Board, and it has taken such action in the management of the schools this year as shall result, it is hoped, in putting the school system on a cash basis July 1st, 1916.

The past year's work throughout the county passed off in a very satisfactory manner.

The schools opened under most auspicious conditions. The school buildings, as a rule, were all repaired and improved during the summer; and the attendance throughout the county is much larger than last year, also the efficiency of the teaching force approaches nearer than ever the standard desired and hoped for by the Board. There is every reason to expect that patrons, children and teachers will make the best record yet, this year.

Let us, one and all work together unselfishly for one thing: that the children of the county have the best educational advantages possible, for the money available for the purpose. Don't be a knocker, or a fuss maker, but be a peacemaker and a worker.

Your County and Local Boards are all unselfish, loyal friends of the children, and if you will familiarize yourselves with the nature of their labors and problems, I am sure that you will conclude that your sincere sympathy and co-operation is merited. In this connection, it is due that you should know, that through the management of your County Board there has been saved to the taxpayers of the county this year, already two thousand dollars. It is safe to estimate that this year's expenses will show a saving, July 1st, 1916, of not less than five thousand dollars over last year.

In conclusion I wish to express your County Board's sincere appreciation to the teaching force of the county for their faithful services in the past, and urge them to even greater success, if possible, this school year.

Yours for the best schools in the state.
D. L. THRASHER,
Superintendent Public Instruction.

The fake gypsy was looking eagerly about the room, apparently for a means of escape. Just then Jennings hurried in.

"Jennings," cried Aunt Josephine, "seize that woman!"

As Jennings approached her, the gypsy suddenly developed a remarkable strength. She gave him a shove that sent him reeling. His foot caught on the edge of the fountain and he staggered a minute, unable to recover his balance then, with a great splash, fell in. The gypsy turned and fled through the palms, Elaine and Aunt Josephine following her.

She ran as far as she could, coming up to the glass wall that formed the inner end of the conservatory. Further retreat was impossible. She seized a little rustic chair and dashed it through the glass. Cautious, she managed to make her way through the opening she had broken.

Jennings had, by this time, picked himself out of the fountain and, dripping, joined Elaine and Aunt Josephine in the chase. Out in the garden at last, the gypsy dropped down behind a thick bush.

At that moment a cab pulled up furiously before the house, and Kennedy leaped out and rushed in. The gypsy had gained just time enough. If she had gone on Kennedy might have seen her.

The others were, apparently, looking for her in every direction except the right one. She saw her chance. Stealthily she managed to slip out of the garden by the back way.

As Kennedy dashed down the hall and into the library he met Elaine's maid, Marie, as pale as a ghost.

"For heaven's sake, Marie," he panted, "where are they all?"

In the conservatory, str. she pointed to a "Under you hear the glass break?"

"Glass?" he repeated, running ahead of her now.

He suddenly came upon Elaine. Aunt Josephine and Jennings still vainly searching about, just as they lost track of the gypsy.

"Where did she go—that way?" asked Jennings.

"Hang the gypsy," interrupted Craig. "Let her go—you missed her anyway. But, Elaine—tell me—what happened?"

Aunt Josephine reached down and picked up the handkerchief she had torn from Elaine's eyes. "She bound it over her eyes," she explained to Craig.

Kennedy examined the handkerchief closely. Evidently he was looking for something concealed in it and did not find it. Perplexed, he looked first from Elaine then to Aunt Josephine.

"Are you looking for the gypsy's handkerchief?" Elaine asked finally, seeing his astonishment. Then she stooped and picked up another handkerchief from the floor. Here it is. It didn't look very clean, so when she wasn't looking I dropped it and used my own."

With Trees From Buckeye Nurseries

A Certificate That Is a Real Asset

With every considerable lot of trees bought from Buckeye Nurseries there is now sent a certificate of number and variety of trees, date sold, etc.

The adoption of this certificate has been suggested to us by the number of inquiries received from persons who have bought trees asking for information to give other persons negotiating for the purchase of groves.

In scores of instances that have come under our observation in the past few years, buyers paid a handsome premium on grove properties by reason of the fact that they were planted with Buckeye trees.

In a great number of cases negotiations for the purchase of groves have fallen through when it could not be established to the satisfaction of the intending purchaser that the planting had been of Buckeye trees.

It is obvious the assurance that groves were made with Buckeye trees has come to be looked upon by shrewd investors as second only in importance to the title to the land, in view of the widespread reputation for quality of Buckeye trees.

We want to give our customers tree insurance that will protect them as much as does a title search. So we have devised this certificate, which will be found an asset of no small value in any transaction involving the worth of a grove. It is to the trees what an abstract of title is to the land.

Full particulars as to this new and helpful feature of Buckeye service will be mailed on application. It is described in detail in the new Buckeye Nurseries Catalog. If you have not received a copy of this book, be sure to write us for one at once—the edition is limited and will not last long. FREE on application. Address

BOLD THIEF GRABS BAG AND DUCKS

A HIGHWAY MAN TAKES SACHEL FROM ARM OF MRS. M. FRANK & ESCAPES

Sanford is getting in the big city in many ways and some of these are not to our liking. The highwaymen have their highwaymen off the hand satchels of the highwaymen and at their will rob the streets but our city at the present time has been singularly free from these bold, bad men, due to the vigilance of the police.

Saturday night being Halloween the police were busy with the small and this looked like a golden opportunity for a negro thief who watched M. Frank in his store getting ready to leave for home. After passing the store and accompanied by Mrs. Frank and Miss Florence Mr. Frank wended his way home on Magnolia avenue and just as the party were in the dark part of the block and near their home a man posted against Mrs. Frank and before she could prevent it had clipped her hand satchel from her arm and with the speed of a greyhound ran down the street. About that time a Sanford negro came up and inquired if the man speeding down the street had stolen something and upon being informed that he had went over to Sanford avenue and informed Marshal Tillis and the police force, who responded in a few minutes. They succeeded in tracking the man as far as Eighth street but there he was lost in the darkness and up to date has not been apprehended. Luckily the satchel only contained a few dollars, but Mrs. Frank's greatest loss is her glasses and several small articles had to be replaced.

The boldness of the highwayman demonstrates the ease with which any one can be robbed and every citizen of Sanford and especially the ladies should be on guard at night, for at this time of the season the burglar and highwayman lurks in all the cities and is constantly on the lookout for victims. It would also be well for the business men to be guarded as a few killings would materially decrease the ranks of these bold robbers.

Monthly Magazine for Sanford About the 20th of November will appear the first issue of a monthly magazine in Sanford. This magazine will begin with eight pages, three columns each. It will be called "The Temple Report and will have as editor Mr. George Hyman and as business manager Mrs. Forest E. Gatchel. Six columns will be sold as advertising space.

A sermon will be printed in each issue. Other church announcements and reports will be made therein. All the institutions of the Temple will be given space to give publicity in the columns of the magazine.

Mr. Hyman, the editor, is the pastor of the First Baptist Church of Sanford and has had considerable experience in this line of work. He served when only sixteen years of age as co-editor of the Houston Journal in Georgia. Was editor for a year of Zeitgeist, a monthly magazine devoted to the interest of Christian Education in Christ County, Georgia. He was also editor for a year of Hernado, a monthly magazine in the county by that name in this state.

Mrs. Forest Gatchel is well known in Sanford as a well trained business woman, possessing qualities of personality and character which make her a success in all her undertakings. The magazine will be issued in quantities of 500 and will be free quantities of 500 and will be free distribution.

Garden Prizes Invitations have been sent to Mrs. Holt, state chairman of civics in the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Lewis, vice president of the Fifth District, to act as final judges in the awarding of the City Beautiful prizes. To facilitate the work of these ladies a list will be compiled of home grounds most attractive in each district, by citizens selected for this purpose. This list will be given the final judges, in order that a more careful inspection will be made on November 19, and no pains will be spared to make the contest fair and just.

One cash prize of five dollars will be given in each district to the home and grounds judged most deserving. The bounds of districts and conditions of awards were published in the Herald of October 26.

Mrs. L. B. Bouchelle, little daughter Frances and Miss Marian Earle of New Smyrna are the popular guests of Mrs. Henry Wight.

MIGRATORY BIRD LAW BE ENFORCED

SPORTSMEN WARNED THAT PROTECTION OF WILD FOWL MUST BE OBSERVED

Washington, D. C., Nov. 2. With the approach of the open season for shooting wild fowl, the United States Department of Agriculture is warning sportsmen that the Federal regulations as amended October 1, 1914, will be strictly enforced. Some misunderstanding has arisen from the fact that the various state laws do not always conform to the Federal regulations. This is regarded as unfortunate but in such cases the Department must insist upon the observance of the Federal regulations.

The Department will consider any recommendations submitted in good faith for amendment of the regulations, but will hold no public hearings thereon, nor will it amend the regulations prior to October 15, 1915. It is the purpose of the Department to conform the regulations to the wishes of the majority of sportsmen so far as it can be done and at the same time give wild fowl the necessary protection.

Federal regulations divide the United States into two zones. Zone No. 1, the breeding zone, includes the state of Oregon, Idaho, Nebraska, Colorado, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey and all states north of those named.

The regulations prescribe seasons as follows: Open seasons for migratory birds in 1915 under Federal regulations. Zone No. 2:

- Waterfowl: Oct. 1-Jan. 16. Exceptions: Delaware, Marlan District of Columbia, Virginia, North Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Nov. 1-Feb. 1. Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, Nov. 20-Feb. 15. Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Sept. 15-Feb. 1. Arizona, California, Texas, Oct. 15-Feb. 1. Rails, Coots, Gallinules, Sept. 1-Dec. 1. Exceptions: Tennessee, Utah, Sept. 1-Dec. 1. Missouri, Sept. 15-Jan. 1. Louisiana, Nov. 1-Feb. 1. Arizona, California (coots), Oct. 15-Feb. 1. Woodcock: Nov. 1-Jan. 1. Exceptions: Delaware, Louisiana, Nov. 15-Jan. 1. West Virginia, Oct. 1-Dec. 1. Georgia, Dec. 1-Jan. 1. Shore Birds, Black Breasted and Golden Plover, Jacksnipe, Yellowlegs, Sept. 1-Dec. 15. MANATEE TRUCKERS

WILL ONLY HAVE TWO HUNDRED ACRES IN CELERY

Growers and truckers in the Sarasota Bay district have been busy for two months getting the ground in shape for the fall crops. Seed beds have been planted and the work of setting out the plants begun some time ago.

The usual crops of tomatoes, peppers, eggplant, beans, cabbage and lettuce with a less amount of English peas, cauliflower and parrot have been planted.

The dry weather has been overcome on many farms by irrigation, others where the cropping is done on saw grass lands have suffered no inconvenience from the lack of rain, but the several hours of slow rain all Tuesday made the growing plants take on a brighter if greener view of life, expressed by expanding outward and upward.

The celery crop in Manatee county will not be over 50 per cent of what it was last year. This is due to the initial expense of raising this crop and the price of fertilizer which has advanced 40 per cent over last season. Some 125 acres were planted last year. This year there will probably not be over 200. The prospects for this crop are good this season, so far, much better than last and an optimistic feeling prevails among growers that good prices will be obtained.

Mr. C. W. Chapman, manager of the Manatee County Vegetable Co., who have one of the best farms for raising celery in the county, three miles from Sarasota on the hard road to Bradentown, informs us his company will plant twenty-five acres, fifteen having already been set out, the other ten is being set as rapidly as a force of twenty-five men can get the plants transplanted from the seed beds. Boarding the plants for bleaching will begin about Christmas and shipping the next month. As fast as the celery is removed the land will be planted in tomatoes. The celery already set out is in fine condition and the prospects for a good crop most encouraging.

Celery will be a good crop this year and it is expected high prices will be maintained. Reports from New York and Michigan are that there will be much less celery planted this season than usual and the short crop will command higher prices. Conditions are very favorable for raising this crop and it is expected the price will be maintained throughout the season.

Will Ballot Today

Washington, D. C., Nov. 2.—Eight states, New York, Massachusetts, Maryland, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Ohio and Mississippi, will hold elections today. With a few local exceptions, in fact, these constitutional questions will be the dominant issues on election day, including as they do such fundamental matters as woman suffrage, municipal home rule, prohibition, state income taxes, referendum plans, and some lesser reforms.

The woman suffrage question will come up for decision in New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts, which states will furnish in point of population, the greatest test of the suffrage question has ever had in the United States. New Jersey the first state in the east to vote on equal suffrage, defeated the proposition at a special election given over exclusively to the suffrage question on October 19. While it has been held by some political observers that the result of the contest in New Jersey would be reliably indicative of what might be expected in the larger neighboring states, the suffrage leaders have not been discouraged by the big majority with which the issue was defeated in New Jersey, and look forward to the biggest test with confidence.

The importance of this test is indicated by the fact that, in point of population, the states of New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts, which will vote on suffrage Nov. 23, include over 20,000,000 people—a fifth of the population of the entire United States—and these 20,000,000 are practically double the population of the states in which equal suffrage has as yet been fully achieved.

ST. JOHNS RIVER TRIP

GREAT SCENERY, GREAT PEOPLE, GREAT RIVER, GREAT STATE

The AGWI Steamship News is a beautifully illustrated monthly filled with entertaining matter concerning the West India Islands and other points touched by the Clyde and Mallory Line steamers, including Florida. The articles are splendidly written and the illustrations are clearly beautiful. Few articles of a descriptive nature could be more entertaining. The November issue of this pretty magazine has an article, "Water Life in Florida," from which we take the following extracts of great interest:

"The St. Johns river is the inland waterway from Jacksonville south to the fruit growing country. One takes an attractive, Clyde Line steamer, and travels all night up the winding stream with the searchlight playing on the dense tropical jungles most beautifully. You arrive about the middle of the next morning at Sanford, in the vegetable country, from this place much celery and other green stuff is shipped to Jacksonville and the north.

"The trip up this winding river gave to us our first glimpse of the inland life—a glimpse that appealed to us as particularly like the life of the south one meets in a popular novel the fragrant, broad verandah south with its romantic atmosphere, its old gardens and bowers.

The steamer landed at Palatka at about nine in the evening. We had been chatting through the first part of the journey with a sturdy southerner from 'North Carolina,' a young planter, whose conversation had thrown us into another life—the life of the sunny south, and had well prepared us for the enjoyment of Palatka. As the steamer swung up to the landing, there was a laughing, chattering group waiting in the swaying lantern light, and near them an eager group of darkies, anxious to pick up a few coins, hovered to carry our grips, catch the rope, do anything to win our favor, and consequently got in every one's way.

"We went ashore and proceeded up the dark street. The air was fragrant with the breath of orange blossoms and with the dampness of the river and the night. From ahead floated strains of music. The combination made a fairylike appeal to us.

"A dance was on at the big hotel. In the wide lounge and lobby groups of pretty women—it seemed that night that all of them were pretty—chatted gaily with their partners, nibbled at ices, or watched us, as newcomers and possible acquaintances. There was one thing most noticeable about the atmosphere here, a thing that I found true of all the south and west coast towns. It was a most pleasing informality, which extended a friendly greeting to the newcomer without the necessity for words, as well as a cordial camaraderie to the acquaintance. I was pleased with that there; I have been pleased with it again and again in the other towns of southwest Florida. Yet, the people to be found in these inland resorts are quite as genteel, quite as well bred as a class, as those of the east coast.

"We could only stop to chat briefly with those whom we met in Palatka. Our steamer was to start again within a few minutes; it was with a feeling of regret that we turned back to continue our journey."

Plant Sale and Flower Show

On November 19 and 20, at some place to be announced later, the civic sections of the Welfare Department of the Woman's Club will hold a sale of plants that are now ready for a place in Sanford gardens. There will be roses, palms and ornamentals, at catalogue prices and amaryllis bulbs from Mr. Meade at Oviedo. Prof. Nehrling has promised a fine display of calcium leaves from which orders may be taken for tubers to be delivered in the spring, and at prices lower than they have been offered before. It is the intention of those who have this sale in charge to offer some plants not ordinarily seen in Florida gardens, but which have proved their adaptability. The yellow elder is one of these, and it has bloomed to perfection in the garden of B. F. Whitmer and M. F. Robinson. Another lovely thing is the Bauhinia, or Mountain Ebony, which has an bloom like an orchid. There are fine plants of this in the garden of the Hotel Altamonte.

There will be calla lily bulbs for sale, and their suitability is to be judged by the fact that last winter they bloomed in Sanford from Christmas until June in the open.

There will also be plants of pansy, and Bellis Perennis, the pretty little English daisy.

Everybody get busy and clean up. Nov. 17-20.

THE EVOLVING OF CITY ATTRACTIVE

FOUNDATION LAYING AND SUPERSTRUCTURE—BUILDINGS, ASSETS, NEEDS, ETC.

Architectural designing, artisan squaring and plumbing, and mechanical rough hewing are already well accomplished for our metropolitan Sanford, the coming City Attractive. Foundation laying, the vitally important work of all up-building is of intensest interest to every citizen who believes, as we do, in a great future for the county seat of Seminole. Not in the vast expanse of area, as Rev. Mr. Venable observed in one of his excellent addresses while here, not in the wide width or broad breadth or zenith-towering apex, does the greatness of a city consist, but in the spirit of her people. Not for our national, state, county and municipal executives, men who are professional politicians only, but those who are also men of character, men of progression, men of fidelity. The City Attractive must be foundation laid and superstructure built by men of not only high professions, but who, seen or unseen, watched or unwatched, live up to those professions. Public spirit, aggressiveness, unselfish service and shrewd foresight, coupled with righteousness make an invincible combination for the fundamental constructing and subsequent rearing of a city whose renown shall girdle the universe.

Briefly, in word about our assets, and our needs: Lake Monroe and our seawall and our hoped for inland waterway, our extensive and unequalled winter farming territory abutting the city, our rail and water transportation, our manufacturing industries, including the A. C. L. shops; our miles upon miles of paved roads and streets, with more to follow including the Dixie and National Highways; the fine burgs and handsome drives in all directions; pretty dwellings and tasty grounds; delightful shade trees, flowering shrubs, plants and year round verdure; supremest climate in the world; our banks, stores, offices, shops and commercial interests; our always on the right side, bright and newswy Herald; our power for good Commercial Club; and, best of all, our People, our Schools and our Churches. Was ever a young and aspiring town more favored?

We need, always, more enterprising and able men to share our official, commercial and financial responsibilities; more husbands and wives to make beautiful homes, plant more shade, set out and tend blossom, green and lawn; more attendants in our places of worship, more children and adults in our Sunday schools, more God-fearing, God-honoring men and women, in society, in domestic, in trade, and in every walk of life. We want more music in our churches, in our public squares and in our parlors. We want substantial and heartiest support for our city band, and for all competent and helpful instructors in every musical line. We want more grand organs. The pipe organ obtained through the indefatigable efforts and, probably unrealized, perhaps unappreciative large giving of one in our midst, supplemented by the splendid assistance of others, together with Mr. Carnegie's generous gift, is now insufficient for the city's needs. We should have in the very near future four more of these grand, incomparable aids to divine worship and to the rendering of the sublimest and most exalted in heaven inspired harmony. We need visitors, and

BEAUTIFUL BOOKLET FOR OSTEEN

JUST ISSUED FROM THE PRESS OF THE HERALD PRINTING CO. AT SANFORD

Among the many booklets recently printed for various sections of Florida by the Herald Printing Co. of this city is that of Osteen, Florida a fine brochure of railroad folder size describing this beautiful little city in Volusia county. Osteen is about nine miles from Sanford, delightfully situated among the oaks and pines on the high ridge between the St. Johns river and the ocean and about twenty miles from the fine beach at New Smyrna.

Osteen is not a new town but like many other towns in Florida has been taking a siesta, being content with what has been lavishly supplied by nature and the inhabitants knowing they lived in one of the favored spots of the state did not think they were justified in giving away the secret to any one else.

But in the past two years Osteen has taken on new life, chiefly through the efforts of a live Board of Trade and the new booklet that describes candidly and honestly the town and country is the first step of the Board to let the world know what Osteen had to offer the home-seeker and investor.

Osteen is a sister of Sanford, although in Volusia county and we rejoice in her success and public spirit. When the new hard surfaced roads are built from Osteen ferry to New Smyrna through Osteen that little city will expand and grow and become a factor in the life of Volusia county and in this expansion Sanford will assist in every way. A drawbridge between the two counties, connecting the brick roads of Seminole and Volusia will add greatly to the prosperity of Osteen and the Board of Trade will then see the results of their labors and the "home place among the oaks and pines" will be filled with new people, autos filled with tourists in the winter and Florida people in the summer will be speeding over the new roads to the beach and this entire section will take on new life and prosperity.

Navy Needs Supplies

Washington, Nov. 2.—Increases in the navy's store of supplies to make possible the placing of a fleet upon a war basis at a few hours' notice is urged by Rear Admiral Samuel McGowan, paymaster general of the United States navy, in a report to Secretary Daniels.

In a few years the war vessels unfit for service have increased thirty per cent, while there is a depreciation in value in the stores on hand. "In discussing economy," says the report, "this makes a fine showing, but it is a condition which should not longer continue, for it is a matter of history that every great conflict has, in the last analysis, depended largely on the question of supply. There should be no real difference between peace times and war times with respect to ship supply."

tourists, as well as residents, and northern capital, a model-up-to-date hotel, and that promised fine Government Building, that Intra Coastal Waterway, a Library Building, Hospital, County and Boat Clubs, a Y. M. C. A., Golf Links, a County Fair Association, more merchants and business men who will be members of and take an active interest in our Commercial Club.

And last, but not least, we need Enthusiasm. Nothing enthuses like enthusiasm, nothing more contagious, and nothing accomplishes much without it. Let us devoutly enthrone with every breath we draw, every word we speak, every deed we do, and every deed we write, with unremitting zeal and righteousness endeavoring to all the needs above outlined. Thus shall we not only rough hew but superbly and substantially lay the foundation for and build the City Attractive. Faustina
