County Seeks Special State Library Law

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County commissioners will ask the county's legislative delegation to introduce a special act to certify the county's $7 million bond issue.

Commissioners voted Tuesday to seek the legislative help over the strong objections of Commissioner Robert G. "Bud" Feather.

The legislative assistance is necessary because the bond issue election was not properly advertised. The resolution passed by commissioners calling for the referendum said the issue was to be advertised three and five weeks prior to the October election.

Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn said that through an oversight the only advertisement on the referendum was a sample ballot printed several days prior to the election.

She told commissioners Tuesday that seeking the special act from the legislature is the "cleanest way" to certify the election. The other alternatives are to hold another referendum or seek certification from the state Supreme Court.

But Feather objected to the special act as he has objected to the $7 million bond issue at each step in its evolution.

"I think that that act, the referendum was the most atrocious act I've seen a government do," he said.

Feather said the board was not as helpful to opponents of the measure as it was to proponents of the library bond issue. He said commissioners refused to ask the county's Office of Management and Budget to analyze the true long-term costs of the bond issue.

County Attorney Nikki Clayton said in the October the bond issue would cost more than $20 million in principal and interest if the bonds are sold for 20 to 30 years.

Feather estimated the total cost of the bond issue at more than $100 million when costs of new materials, staff and maintenance are included.

Feather said the county's road problems are the top priority and should be addressed before libraries.

"I'm not against libraries. I think libraries are necessary, particularly in light of the high socioeconomic level of our population," he said.

Feather claimed a concerted effort was made by supporters of the library referendum to place it on the October runoff election ballot rather than the primary election in September or the general election in November.

Because of the low turnout (only 10.9 percent of the county's registered voters cast ballots at the October election), Feather claimed a true representation of the peoples' feelings was not received in the referendum. The bond issue received 4,651 votes while 3,345 votes were cast against the issue.

"I think Mr. Feather is beating a dead horse," Commissioner Robert Sturm said. He called the 68,000 registered voters who didn't cast a ballot "the silent majority in favor of libraries."

Commissioners Bill Kirchhoff and Barbara Christensen said they support the bond issue. Delays, they said, will add to the costs of the bond issue.

But Feather refused to give in. "This staff, this county has not divulged to the taxpayer what the true cost of the $7 million bond issue is," he said. "That's the major concern and I want the Legislature to ask the question 'How much is it going to cost the taxpayers?'"

Sturm defended the majority position. "We have to put emphasis on roads and transportation, Bud, but we are not going to pave all of Seminole County just because it's our main priority," he said. "There are other priorities."

And while Feather lost the vote 4-1 on the special act by the legislature, commissioners also voted to ask for a breakdown of estimated costs on the project.

Commissioners ordered their staff to prepare the analysis of costs for the length of the bond issue. They will examine the costs for 10, 15, 20 and 30 years.

The bond issue will pay for construction of branch libraries in Oviedo, Lake Mary, Lake Howell-Tuskawilla and Wekiva-Forest City along with a new main library in Casselberry and an expanded branch library in Sanford.

7 County Officials At State Meeting

It will be lonely at the top level of Seminole County government this week.

Four of five county commissioners, County Administrator T. Duncan Rose, Assistant County Administrator Jim Easton and County Attorney Nikki Clayton will be in Jacksonville through Friday at a conference of the state associations for commissioners, administrators and county attorneys.

While they are out of town, Director of Public Services and Development John Percy, will serve as acting county administrator.

Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn will make a presentation on transportation and Ms. Clayton, who serves as the president of her group's state association, will chair a panel discussion on the costs of growth.

Mrs. Glenn said the conferees would put forward their recommendations for legislative action at the annual meeting. In addition to Mrs. Glenn, commissioners Robert Sturm, Barbara Christensen and Robert G. "Bud" Feather are attending.

Among the items the state association will push for is the removal of the referendum requirement for implementation of a county 1-cent gasoline tax. That would allow the commissioners to levy an additional penny tax on gasoline without voter approval.

The additional 1-cent gasoline tax is one measure Seminole County's legislative delegation has recommended commissioners initiate to raise additional money for transportation.

The additional penny gasoline tax could generate an additional $600,000 annually.

The state group also is seeking to extend the optional 1-cent county sales tax. Seminole County commissioners do not support the increased sales tax for their own use but feel counties should have the fund-raising opportunity for projects they feel are necessary.

The Legislature approved the optional county sales tax to finance construction of sports stadiums and other public facilities for one year. But that bill has expired and commissioners want it extended to allow construction of jails and other facilities not in the original bill.

A clarification of the state's homestead exemption is being sought. The state Supreme Court recently struck down the residency requirement for the $25,000 exemption. Under that requirement, people owning a house who are state residents for less than five years received only a $5,000 exemption.

The striking of the requirement means that county governments will be forced to raise the tax rate to take in the same amount of revenue.

County officials want the Legislature to come up with another formula for the homestead exemption which will restore funds to the counties.

A clarification of double taxation laws is also sought. Many counties, including Seminole, have faced lawsuits by cities claiming they receive little or no service for their county tax dollars. In Seminole County, the county and cities came to an agreement which should resolve the question but legal definitions need to be made, commissioners claim.

Seminole commissioners also want the legislature to take over bond payments on roads built by counties but accepted into the state system. The county currently pays $400,000 annually in bond payments on State Road 434.

Mrs. Carl Galloway Jr. (left) and Mrs. Al Galloway, widows of former Winter Park Telephone Co. executives, share the spotlight

Winter Park Telephone Dedicates, Renames Home

Telephone company officials unveiled a plaque at a special ceremony to dedicate and rename the former corporate headquarters for Winter Park Telephone as the Galloway Building.

The dedication, which was held at the building on East Altamonte Drive Tuesday, was made in honor of the founding family of Winter Park Telephone which is now a part of United Telephone Company of Florida.

Winter Park Telephone and United Telephone System's other affiliates in Florida — Orange City Telephone, Florida Telephone Corp. and United Telephone in south Florida — joined together under the one name on Jan. 1.

Nearly 100 people, including more than a dozen Galloway family members, attended the ceremony. Among the Galloways were the widows of founder Carl Galloway's sons, Carl Jr., Joe and Al.

Paul Henson, chairman of United Telecommunications, Inc., headquartered in Kansas City, Mo., delivered the dedication address. He praised the Galloways for their contributions to the telecommunications industry in Florida and the nation.

Also attending were Troy Todd, president of United Telephone Co. of Florida, and Forrest McPherson, vice president at Winter Park.

"The Galloways' motto was 'All we have to sell is service,'" said McPherson. "That motto brought them satisfied customers. United vows to maintain the Galloways' dedication to fine service."

McPherson said the business office on the ground floor will continue to handle the telephone service needs of residence and business customers in United's Winter Park and south Seminole County areas.

Winter Park Telephone first occupied the 107,000 square-foot building in November 1976 to establish its corporate headquarters for its operations that provided telephone service in a 110-square-mile area of north Orange and south Seminole counties.

The Winter Park phone company began in 1910 when Carl Galloway and his father, who were partners in a grocery store in Maitland, invested $60 in a magneto switchboard, 10 telephones and some wire. They believed they could save time by securing food orders for their store over the telephone.

Demand for telephone service mushroomed, and by 1915 the Galloways were in the phone business fulltime. Winter Park Telephone was the 10th largest non-Bell telephone company in the country when it joined United Telephone System in 1979.

The United Telephone System, the second largest non-Bell telephone system in the nation, is operated by United Telecommunications headquartered in Kansas City.

For Capital Cases

Police Want Penalty To Stay Stiff

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Central Florida Law Enforcement Association members went on record this morning opposing a proposal of the Task Force on Prison Overcrowding to modify the 25-year mandatory minimum penalties in capital cases.

Currently, the majority of that special committee appointed by Gov. Bob Graham has voted for proposed legislation to grant state prison inmates gain time for good behavior.

State Rep. Bobby Brantley (R-Longwood), a committee member, said by granting gain time for good behavior an inmate convicted of a capital offense could serve as little as 12½ years in prison.

Today's meeting held at the Sanford Airport restaurant was attended by law enforcement officials from Seminole, Orange and Osceola counties as well as Jim York, chief of the Florida Sheriff's Association; Walt Israel, a member of the State Police Council; Douglas Cheshire, State Attorney of Seminole and Brevard counties; and eight members of the Central Florida Legislative Delegation.

Seminole County Sheriff John Polk will represent the law enforcement association at the Feb. 24-25 meeting of the task force in Tallahassee.

Polk said he will present resolutions of opposition to the task force not only from the Central Florida Law Enforcement Association but also from the Central Florida Law Enforcement Council.

Polk told the gathering that filled the banquet room at the restaurant that Louis Wainwright, in urging support of the measure, told the task force that those persons sentenced to a 25-year mandatory term "have nothing to lose and are dangerous in the prison system."

Polk said sarcastically that since the prisoners are dangerous, Wainwright and the state Department of Corrections want "to let these men loose on the public."

Polk added that the Department of Corrections is trying to "slip this legislation in the back door."

The sheriff said if the DOC wants to reduce the number of prisoners in the state prison system they "ought to pull the switch" on those in death row for many years.

Brantley said he asked for the number of prisoners who would be let loose under the DOC proposal. He said he was told that it would affect none this year and only three or four during the next four years.

Polk suggested the way to reduce the number of prisoners in the state prison system, now nearly 27,000, would be to build community correctional facilities for non-violent offenders and to put these men to work on the roads in Florida.

Reagan Plans His First Area Trip As President

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

President Ronald Reagan is scheduled to come to Orlando March 8 to address the 41st annual Convention of the National Association of Evangelicals, according to United Methodist evangelist Dr. Herb Bowdoin, who has his Methodist Hour International headquarters in Altamonte Springs.

Bowdoin, who also is scheduled to speak at the March 8-10 convention at the Sheraton Twin Towers, said he was told by the president of NAE at a meeting of the National Religious Broadcasters he attended in Washington, D.C., that Reagan had definitely committed to come.

"I think it is tremendous that he (Reagan) would come and be identified with this national group of Christian leaders," said Bowdoin. "I heard him speak to the National Religious Broadcasters in Washington and he brought a tremendous message of hope and Christian faith. The president realizes the great spiritual need in America and I'm glad to see him getting involved."

Bowdoin was interviewed by telephone today from Nashville, Tenn., where he is attending a United Methodist Council on Evangelism of which he has just been elected secretary-treasurer. He said he will speak at a National Religious Broadcasters workshop during the NAE convention on the topic "Your Local Church Can Use Radio Effectively." He also will have a panel composed of area pastors who are on radio and television regularly, such as the Rev. Jim Henry of Orlando First Baptist Church and the Rev. Alex Clattenburg, pastor of Calvary Assembly in Winter Park.

Among the other convention speakers will be TV evangelist Rex Humbard, the Rev. Jerry Falwell of the "Old Time Gospel Hour," Leigh Ford, evangelist with the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association, and U.S. Sen. William L. Armstrong (R-Colo.).

The NAE represents 30 to 40 million Christians in America, said Bowdoin. It is an organization that brings all denominations together. The convention is open to anybody who would like to register and some of the meetings will be open to the public.

The president also is tentatively scheduled to attend a Republican Party fund-raiser while in Orlando March 8. Party officials have been trying to bring Reagan to Florida since he took office more than two years ago.

State GOP Chairman Henry Saylor today said he was "still waiting for confirmation." He said the state party's resources were depleted during last year's elections and a Presidential visit could mean up to $1 million for the party.

IN BRIEF

'Always Alone', He's Convicted Of Bigamy

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — It took only 94 minutes for jurors to convict Giovanni Vigliotto, the man who wore a ring inscribed "Always alone" but married 105 women during worldwide exploits and swindled at least one of them out of her life savings.

Vigliotto frowned slightly when the verdict was read Tuesday, his stoic behavior in sharp contrast to his conduct during the six-week trial.

At one point, Vigliotto had burst into tears and fled from the stand when he was questioned about his family, who allegedly was tortured by Nazis.

"I feel terrific," prosecutor Dave Stoller said after the verdict was read.

Patricia Gardiner, 43, the Mesa, Ariz., real-estate agent who accused Vigliotto of abandoning her penniless after their marriage, smiled broadly and exclaimed, "Both counts!" Vigliotto was convicted of bigamy and fraud in his marriage to Ms. Gardiner.

Two-Pronged Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Ways and Means Chairman Dan Rostenkowski has a plan that would permit the 10 percent personal income-tax cut to take effect July 1, but would repeal all other tax reductions scheduled in 1984 or later.

Rostenkowski, D-Ill., made the proposal Tuesday as a way to reduce the federal deficit.

Rostenkowski, whose committee must originate tax legislation, estimated his plan would gain about $130 billion in new revenue by 1988, about the same as Reagan's tax proposals.

Hitachi Sorry For Espionage

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Japanese electronics corporation Hitachi Ltd. entered a surprise guilty plea to charges of plotting to steal IBM computer secrets and was fined $10,000.

"The trial is something like a fish bone stuck in the throat and our decision to plead guilty is to remove this and concentrate on our business," Hitachi Vice President Katsuke Arai said in Tokyo today.

Hitachi, which has annual revenues of more than $15 billion, admitted its guilt Tuesday after a plea-bargain in which the U.S. government promised not to file more criminal charges in the industrial espionage case. The company also apologized to the court.

Conservation Effort Starts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A private national conservation group opened a three-year campaign today aimed at providing significantly increased protection for endangered animals and plants in the United States.

The Washington-based Nature Conservancy, which maintains the largest privately run nature preserve system in the world, said it hopes the new effort will protect as many as 150 endangered animals and plants by preserving their habitat at 75 to 150 sites scattered across the nation.

The drive is the only private effort on a nationwide scale "comparable in size to present federal endangered species habitat protection," said Nature Conservancy President William Blair. He noted his organization expects to "target high-priority preservation sites in virtually every state."

Brothers Arrested In Protest Of Dad's Discharge

WINTER PARK (UPI) — The giant American flag was flying upside-down. The police were gone. Geoff and John Walker were home from jail.

Things returned to normal at the Walker residence Tuesday.

But Monday, Geoff and John perched on a flag pole and set off sirens for several hours in their latest protest to the Air Force's dismissal of their father 17 years ago.

Geoff, 25, and John, 18, were arrested and charged with disturbing the peace after several neighbors complained about the noise. Five sirens blared through the Orlando suburb for more than nine hours before Orange County deputies pulled the plug.

The men wore gas masks, pressed walkie-talkies to their ears and handcuffed themselves to a plywood roof rigged against the 90-foot flag pole that sits in their front yard.

Police SWAT team members needed a fire department "bucket" truck to roust the men from the platform.

The pole-sitting was just the latest "stunt" in the Walkers' attempt to draw attention to their fight to "clear the name" of their father.

The family of nine painted its bungalow red, white and blue; flies the giant American flag upside-down — a signal of distress; and routinely hands out leaflets to passers-by describing the plight of their father.

Maj. Grover Walker was labeled paranoid by military psychiatrists and drummed out of the Air Force in 1966 after complaining that his superiors were leaking secrets to the Soviet Union.

Walker, 61, and his family have been fighting the label ever since. They contend they've been blacklisted from jobs and harassed by police.

The issue is "whether the United States is being run by a justice system or by psychiatrists," said James Walker, 23.

On several occasions, the family has held "freedom rallies" in the neighborhood. Deputies arrested Walker and two of his sons during one of the rallies. Two of the Walker boys were arrested once for trespassing at the Pentagon.

"They discredited my father by saying he was a kook," said Geoff Walker. "They said he was paranoid. Once someone's labeled paranoid, everything they do is labeled as a symptom of their illness. Now that both of our parents are labeled, they can say the kids are the same way."

Grover Walker, who was in a Bethesda, Md., hospital undergoing minor surgery and missed Monday's incident, has seen his lawsuits against the government dismissed.

"The individual has no means of redress," said Geoff Walker. "That's why we've gone to publicity stunts."

The Walkers said President Reagan must begin inquiries into the matter of psychiatric labeling.

"We want an apology from the White House, we want a public explanation why they've been using this Soviet tactic of branding dissidents as mental cases and we want some kind of checks and balances so that a person has some kind of recourse," said Geoff Walker.

Some of the Walkers' neighbors complain about the periodic outbursts but others are supportive, said Geoff Walker.

"They value their property as more important than their freedom," he said. "You've got to sacrifice sometime to save your freedom. They're going to have to bear with us."

The Orange County Commission will hold a hearing on the Walkers' flag pole, which stands 65 feet higher than county regulations allow.

But the family says it will not bring the pole down under any circumstances.

"We will stick with it even if it cost us losing our property," said James Walker. "They'd have to put the entire family out on the street to enforce the law."

"We'll set the sirens off again if they try to take the pole down."

Governor Urges Truckers To Return To Their Jobs

By WILLIAM C. TROTT
United Press International

With support for their strike waning in some states, leaders of the Independent Truckers Association met with congressional allies early today, trying to build a coalition to represent their interests and end the strike within "a week or two."

Reports of violence against non-striking truckers also declined in the strike, which began its 10th day today, and drivers planned protest convoys in Massachusetts and Minnesota.

North Carolina Gov. James B. Hunt Jr. appealed to independent drivers to go back to work, saying interruptions in normal truck traffic "cost the people of our state jobs and money."

Oregon Gov. Vic Attyeh told truckers he would contact the state's congressional delegation on their behalf and Gov. Joseph E. Brennan of Maine said he would help them air their views, but did not support them.

New Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole denied the strike had widely disrupted commerce and said her representatives would meet with "all responsible representatives of the trucking industry" to discuss the issues.

Many states reported Tuesday truck traffic had increased from last week.

"The truckers just can't afford to stay out for a long period and there are a lot of them going back," said ITA representative Charles Brown of New Jersey. "But we feel we have made our point."

ITA President Mike Parkhurst said he has been meeting with "dozens" of congressmen or their aides, trying to find a voice for truckers' problems — especially the 5-cent fuel tax and higher road-use fees.

"The only encouraging thing is we've got some congressmen who are concerned and that's always encouraging," Parkhurst said early today after a meeting. "But we're not going to be satisfied until we see something significant on paper. We've met with several congressmen and it seems the bottom line is Congress is going to have to react."

Rep. Peter Kostmayer, D-Pa., one of the congressmen meeting with Parkhurst, said they are working on a document, a "kind of commitment by Congress to address the issues, to lay out the concerns of the truckers and what they think needs to be done."

"Hopefully, the truckers would see that as the beginning of a good faith effort at dialogue ... and go back to work," Kostmayer said.

"It looks like something could be worked out shortly — in a week or two," said ITA spokesman David Kolman in Los Angeles.

A few reports of violence still punctuated the strike with police in Kentucky reporting seven new shooting incidents and one attempt to force a trucker off the highway. More than 625 shootings and almost 1,900 other acts of vandalism have been reported with one driver killed.

The main turnpike through Ohio and Pennsylvania was still earning its nickname of "Combat Zone" as drivers dodged bullets, rocks and bricks.

In Illinois, a spokesman for the Tri-State Tollway said there were almost twice as many trucks on the roads during the day as last week.

And in North Carolina, "Our people in the field do have the general feeling traffic is picking up again," said Russ Edmonston, a spokesman for the state Department of Crime Control and Public Safety.

Jury Finds Two Men Innocent In Rape Case

By VICTOR ASSERSOHN
Herald Staff Writer

Two Eatonville men accused of raping a 25-year-old teacher's aide from Orlando were cleared of the charge after 5 1/2 hours of deliberation by a jury.

Earl Eugene Hardy, 28, who faced between 30 years and life if he had been found guilty of the rape was convicted of simple battery, a first degree misdemeanor carrying no more than one year in jail.

The other man, Charles James Arnold, 25, was found innocent.

The two men were alleged to have picked up the teacher's aide while she was waiting for a bus near her apartment Oct. 3. Hardy had been identified as the driver, the jury heard, and when the woman had got into the car, a man identified as Arnold had been hiding in the back seat.

The woman testified that after having got in the car she had been forced to smoke marijuana cigarettes on a journey of about 16 miles. When the car stopped in a field near Forest City Road in Seminole County, Hardy, she testified had allegedly laid out a blanket, held a knife to her and threatened to cut off her clothes. He and the other man had allegedly raped her, and both of them had forced her to perform sexual acts as the two men laughed and joked.

Arnold and Hardy admitted having sex with the woman but both said it was voluntary. Hardy also admitted that he had shown the woman a knife and had only done so to show her what he could use to threaten her but had not actually threatened her.

Hardy is scheduled to be sentenced on April 7.

Two men who chased after a burglary suspect and then handed him over to Police were awarded plaques by the Altamonte City Commission last night.

Robert Munch and James Longhane, who used to live at the Wymore Road apartment complex, saw a man sitting on a car in the apartment complex and when the owner of the car said she didn't know who the man was, Munch and Longhane chased him and cornered him.

They then led him back and the man, Luis Muniz, a 32-year-old Orlando grove worker, was charged with one count of car burglary. He is awaiting trial.

The plaques were paid for by the Altamonte Springs Police Department.

ORDERS FIREFIGHTERS OUT

A man who ordered Sanford firefighters out of an apartment from where smoke was coming, was arrested for obstructing the firefighters.

Charles William Barkley, 48, was said on the arrest form to have ordered firemen out of the apartment "even though there was a dense cloud of smoke" in the apartment. He was warned of the consequences but continued to hinder the firefighters, says the report. The Sanford Fire Brigade was called to Apartment No. 74, Semoran Garden Apartments at about 4:54 p.m. on Monday.

ROBBERY ARREST

Brian Kim Robinson, 1008 W. 3rd Street, Sanford was arrested on a charge of robbery after he is alleged to have grabbed a young woman around her arms and chest and snatched her purse from her hands. The purse contained about $40. The incident, says the arrest form, happened at 10:50 p.m. on Friday as the woman was walking along West 1st Street.

CAR CAREENS INTO SALES LOT

A car driven by Robert Carl Schultz, address not listed, went out of control and smashed into a car on a parking lot causing thousands of dollars in damage, police reported.

The accident occurred as an AMC car driven by Schultz spun across the road after he had applied his brakes and smashed into a Chevrolet parked on the Kondracki Auto Sales lot on U.S. Highway 17-92 at 7:45 a.m. Friday, police reported.

The Schultz car pushed the parked car into another car causing $2,000 damage to that car and $1,500 damage to the Chevrolet. The damage to the AMC was valued at $2,000.

MAN ROBS GAS STATION

A man asked a gas station clerk to change $20, then ordered her to lie on the floor. When the clerk at the Imperial Gas Station at 1206 Park Avenue in Sanford refused, the man reached over the counter and took an undisclosed amount of cash, police reported. The robbery occurred at 6:35 p.m. Friday.

UNWANTED PAINT JOB

Red paint was poured over two cars owned by Russell Davis causing $900 worth of damage to the two cars parked outside his home at 1203 Randolph Street, Sanford.

The incident happened between 10 p.m. Sunday and 8:15 a.m. Monday when the paint was poured over a VW van parked on the lawn causing $800 damage. Eggs were also smashed over the van and paint was splashed over a Honda car parked under the carport. Damage to the Honda was put at $100.

In a similar incident, yellow paint was poured over a car belonging to Edith Carroll of Rosalia Drive, Sanford. This incident happened while the car was parked in W. 9th Street, Sanford, between 6:30 a.m. and 8:02 on Monday.

CASH STOLEN

A burglar broke into the house of Robert Norlan, 100 Magnolia Lake Court between 8:32 and 9:03 p.m. on Saturday and after searching through drawers and closets stole $1,000 in cash and six adult tapes valued at $300.

NEW CARS RAIDED

Seven new cars were broken into in a fenced compound owned by Chumbley VW on U.S. Highway 17-92 in Sanford and radios and stereo speakers were stripped out of the cars. The value of the property is not known. The theft occurred between 11:38 a.m. Friday and 12:50 p.m. Saturday.

FIRE CALLS

Sanford Fire Department responded to the following emergency calls on Monday:

- 8:02 a.m. U.S. Highway 17-92 and Park Drive, accident.
- 9:09 a.m., 217 Park Ave., rescue.
- 11:22 a.m., 2433 Yale Ave., rescue.

DUI ARRESTS

The following persons were arrested in Seminole County and charged with driving under the influence (DUI) of alcohol or drugs:

- Frederick Henry Hager, 35, of 513 Seville Ave., Altamonte Springs, who was arrested after he had called Police to say that his vehicle collided with a parked car in the Woogie's pub parking lot. He was arrested at about 1:45 a.m. Tuesday.
- Harold Bruce Hatcher, 38, of Jacksonville was arrested on Lake Mary Boulevard, north of Interstate 4, at 4:30 p.m. on Monday after his car had been seen to swerve between lanes. He was also charged with failing to maintain his lane.

Fingerprinting Of Youngsters Is Increasing

United Press International

Schools and police agencies across the country are using a tactic on innocent children that is most often reserved for common criminals.

But the kids' parents aren't complaining about the burgeoning programs in which their children are being fingerprinted. They just hope they'll never have to rely on them.

Law enforcement officials say 1 million children are reported missing each year and 150,000 are never found — a statistic that prompted the first Missing Children Act, signed by President Reagan late last year.

A UPI survey showed at least 11 states had a fingerprinting program or were considering one, including Ohio, Indiana, Florida, Illinois, Kansas, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Connecticut, Oregon, Rhode Island and Pennsylvania.

The School Board in Brevard County has decided to implement a fingerprinting program in the public schools there.

No such programs exist in Seminole County and none is currently under consideration.

A few parents oppose the program, calling it a violation of civil rights and "too much of the Big Brother syndrome." Some local offices of the American Civil Liberties Union also have expressed some opposition, although there is no official national policy.

William Olds, executive director of the Connecticut ACLU, said child fingerprinting in Berlin, Conn., "is a matter of deep concern."

"There is a definite strong risk and strong potential for invasion of privacy or misuse of the prints in the future," he said in response to concern by several parents.

"We talked with parents and at first they were very against this," said Union County, N.J., Undersheriff John Troiano, a pioneer of the fingerprinting movement. New Jersey has 44,000 students in its program.

"We asked them, 'How would you like your child fingerprinted?' and they would say, 'No, no.' But when we explained the idea to them they liked it," he said, adding, 92 percent of the parents in the county have agreed to allow their children to be fingerprinted.

He said most parents start to like the program after they learn they will be the ones to keep their kids' prints on file, not police.

"Every day people identify their stereos and TV's with serial numbers but nobody does anything about children," Massachusetts Gov. Michael S. Dukakis said in announcing his state's first child fingerprinting program in Waltham.

The FBI backs the program, calling fingerprints "invaluable" for finding missing people — and the kids don't seem to mind.

"It feels kind of weird," a Junction City, Ore., third-grader said as one of 18 volunteers rolled his blackened thumb onto a white fingerprint card in the West Coast's first school-sponsored child fingerprinting program.

"I think it's a great idea," said Dana Williams, 9, a third-grader at a West Middlesex, Pa., school in a program involving 750 children.

Berlin, Conn., Police Chief William Scalise tried to assure parents the prints would not be used for any purpose other than to find their children should they ever be declared missing.

But Sgt. David L. Blue of the Indiana State Police said, "It's just too much of the Big Brother syndrome for many people to feel comfortable."

A nun helping with the program in Cleveland said: "I'm sorry to see it come to this point, but if this is what we have to do in the society we live in, then we have to take precautions."

Unions Aim At Longwood Nursing Home

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Longwood Health Care Center is one of Beverly Enterprises' 624 nursing home facilities in 37 states and the District of Columbia being targeted by two of the country's largest labor unions.

The 1.4 million-member United Food and Commercial Workers International Union, AFL-CIO, and the 750,000-member Service Employees International Union, AFL-CIO, CLC, have joined forces in a unique patient care organizing project aimed at unionizing Beverly's 50,000 non-union employees.

The firm has 5,000 workers who already are members of unions, according to Robert Van Tyle, chairman of the board for Beverly Enterprises in Pasadena, Calif.

The Service Employees union has been assigned the task of organizing employees in this area. William H. Wynn, president of the United Food and Commercial Workers, and John J. Sweeney, president of the Service Employees, have said Beverly's workers "suffer low pay and poor working conditions despite the company's phenomenal growth and profits."

Van Tyle denies this saying, "When you look at the rest of the industry our direct pay rates are just about the same. But when it comes to fringe benefits, ours are better...even the unions admit that."

The Longwood facility at 1520 Grant St. in Longwood is part of the nation's largest nursing home chain. Beverly Enterprises is a proprietary firm with 6,000 known shareholders and is a member of the New York Stock Exchange.

Eighteen percent of the stock is owned by Hospital Corporation of America which owns Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford and is building the South Seminole Medical Center in Longwood. The HCA financial vice president is on the six-member board of Beverly Enterprises.

The health care facilities include both skilled and intermediate care centers.

Union leaders have reported preliminary results of an in-depth study of the Beverly Enterprises patient care record, which they said was "the first time any chain in the health care industry has been subjected to such scrutiny."

They said Beverly Enterprises has "grown to be the darling of Wall Street and has shared in millions of dollars of profits."

Van Tyle, however, explained, "It's a tight business with a low profit margin. For every $1 in revenue we have a profit of 3 cents. From my experience in business, we're not making high profits. As for return on equity, the average equity of the company for 1982 was a return of 15 percent, but the year-end equity was 10 percent. U.S. industry in general has a return of about 15 percent."

"Sixty percent of our revenue dollar goes to labor," he added.

"Some of the facilities we have acquired already were union controlled and over 11 years the service has not been any better there than in non-union facilities," said Van Tyle.

"We got a strong reaction from a bunch of our employees over union criticism of non-union patient care. 'What does the union mean saying that,' they wanted to know. 'We do a good job.' There was a lot of resentment."

The union has distributed handbills about organizing to Beverly employees. "The law requires if employees want to join the union they have a right to do so," said Van Tyle. "But we have a right to say no to a closed shop and a check-off system."

In order to call a vote on joining the union, a minimum of 30 percent of the employees have to request it. The National Labor Relations Board will then conduct an election and if 50 percent or more vote in favor of having a union, they can do so.

If the union demands higher wages, Van Tyle said, it could mean higher rates for private patients or higher costs passed on to the state for Medicaid patients.

"We are growing rapidly," said Van Tyle. "In 1983 we will add 125 new facilities. Because of our size we can cut costs by buying things like food and furniture in larger lots."

A union spokesman said the union will continue its drive to organize the firm's employees for "as long as it takes."

Around The Mulberry Bush

Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak's recent conference with President Reagan served a highly useful purpose in focusing distracted American attention on the need for a harder peace shove in the Middle East. He warned the United States that time is running out.

Unfortunately, in his parting statement, Mubarak again urged President Reagan to force Israel to withdraw its troops from Lebanon. Mubarak knows Israel is anything but a compliant pawn of the United States. He would have been better advised, therefore, to have placed his emphasis on a joint withdrawal of 40,000 Syrian and Palestinian troops simultaneously with Israel's 30,000 occupying forces.

Israel has declared it is ready to pull out when Syria does and not before. The Israelis have too much invested to abandon Lebanon to Syria and the PLO. Now, however, after indicating a willingness earlier to pull out of Lebanon, Syria is digging in, bolstered by massive Soviet military assistance, including anti-aircraft missiles believed to be manned by Soviet personnel. How Syria, thus fortified by the Soviet Union, can be dislodged to restore an independent Lebanon is becoming a highly troublesome new problem in the Middle East, which of course has more than its share of trouble already.

Actually, peace is being chased around the proverbial mulberry bush. Egypt and Jordan have served notice that negotiations on the fate of the West Bank lands occupied by Israel must await Israel's withdrawal from Lebanon. This is more than agreeable to Israel's Prime Minister Menachem Begin, who believes time is on his side.

Meanwhile, Israel and Lebanon finally got around to opening formal talks in late December, the first since 1949. But the going is painfully slow. Israel wants peace and normal relations, including trade and open borders, which Lebanon is reluctant to grant because of bitter opposition from the Arab world outside Egypt. Moreover, Israel now insists on manning three permanent warning outposts in southern Lebanon as a precaution against future aggression.

Such an escalation of terms by Israel must impede the withdrawal of foreign forces from Lebanon by giving Syria a plausible reason to demand similar concessions.

West Bank negotiations continue to be no more than a vague possibility. Mubarak emphasized during his Washington visit that he is doing his best to bring King Hussein of Jordan and the Palestinian leadership into the peace process. But King Hussein still hesitates, waiting for a blessing by the Palestine Liberation Organization, which according to the Arabs is the sole representative of the Palestinian people. The PLO remains too divided for consensus between clashing groups, the most radical of which are backed by Syria and Libya. And Saudi Arabia's consent is necessary for any direct peace negotiations with Israel.

The West Bank situation, however, is not completely without hope. The Israeli newspaper MA'ARIV quotes Prime Minister Begin as saying that after peace in Lebanon "he would propose to King Hussein of Jordan to meet with him in Jerusalem or in Amman in order to build a free confederation between Eastern Israel and Eastern Transjordan." Begin also said he would propose "open bridges on the Jordan and free access for the Jordanians to the ports of Haifa and Ashdod."

This little-heralded flexibility on Begin's part has encouraged King Hussein, according to reliable reports from Amman, to indicate cautiously his interest in direct talks with Israel, contingent upon the PLO's acquiescence.

Such a condition leaves little room for optimism. Although Israel's resolute policy of adding settlements to the West Bank is believed to be designed to prompt the Jordanian king to the negotiating table before it's too late, there is no reason to believe the PLO might be similarly prompted. Until then, or unless Israel changes its West Bank policy, it's difficult to argue with Begin's assertion that he can't negotiate West Bank issues until there is someone to negotiate with.

"The way I see it is, if we win one of the big sweepstakes contests, we'll be able to keep our heads above water."

By JANE CASSELBERRY

Students in the Gifted Program at Idyllwild Elementary School, Sanford, recently visited the local offices of State Representative Art Grindle (R-Altamonte Springs) and U.S. Representative Bill McCollum (R-Altamonte Springs).

The field trip was made in connection with a unit in government which the children had been studying.

Here are some of the thank-you notes which they wrote to the legislators. They show some of the things that impressed the young visitors most; with the spelling unchanged, courtesy of their teacher, Elaine O'Neal.

Dear Representative Grindle,
Thank you for letting us visit your office. I think you are neat. Please do a good job. I learned alot about you.

Thank you, Kenny Bare

Dear Representative Grindle,
Thank you for letting us come to your office. It was neat. I learned a lot about your job. (Hope to see you in Tallahassee.)

Thank you, Donald James

P.S. Have a good year!

Dear Representative Grindle,
Thank you for your autograph. My sister said I was lucky to get your autograph. I still don't understand about vetoing, though.

Sincerely, Beth Bordenkircher

P.S. I want to sell you a car!

Dear Representative Grindle,

I enjoyed seeing your office. The rug was soft.

Sincerely, Tyler Gray

P.S. Thank you for the autograph.

Dear Rep. Grindle,

Thank you for letting me come to your office. I enjoy it very much. I enjoy looking at the piece of paper that showed how a bill becomes a law. Thank you for your autograph.

Sincerely, Joey Nicholas

Dear Representative Grindle,

I liked your office a lot. I also like the work you do. I hope your still in that type of work, because I heard that your pretty much out of it. I liked the visit.

Yours truly, Steven Wilbur

Dear Congressman McCollum,

Thank you for letting us visit your office. I think you're neat. I want to be a congressman when I grow up.

Thank you, Kenny Bare

Dear Mr. McCollum,

I enjoyed touring through your office. I sat in your chair. I understand you can do many things. Please see what you can do about putting soda in the fountain.

Sincerely, Klanga U.K. Ford

Congressman McCollum

I really appreciated you inviting me and my other classmates to see you office. Your office makes you seem extremely important with all of your awards.

Sincerely, M.B. Caraway

P.S. I hope you get reelected.

Dear Congressman McCollum,

I enjoyed the visit to your office. Your Secretary was pretty nice to let us by some of your candy. While we were there you were in Washinton.

Your friend, Alex

Dear Congressman McCollum,

Thank you for letting me come to your office, even thou you weren't here.

Your friend, Tim Stevenson

Dear Congressman McCollum,

I liked your work and the office a lot. I hope you are doing good. Thank you for letting us go there. I liked learning about what you do.

Sincerely, Steven Wilbur

Dear Congressman McCollum,

Thank you for letting us come to your office. Where were you? I loved your office. Especially the carpet.

Sincerely, Beth Bordenkircher

Dear Cong. McCollum,

Thank you for letting me come. I enjoy the wallpaper and the lake view.

Yours truly, Joey Nicholas

What's Reagan 'Gaffe'?

An odd but also very instructive thing happened to Reagan in Boston right after his State of the Union address.

On a visit to emphasize importance of advanced technology, in which Boston excels, Reagan visited a local bar and hoisted a beer with Tip O'Neill voters, and then told some businessmen that it might be a good idea to abolish the corporate income tax.

This turned out to be a red-alert gaffe, as the president knew even as he was speaking his mind.

He put the notion very defensively: "I realize that there will be a great stirring and I will probably kick myself for having said this," Reagan said; but then he said it, "In our tax structure, the corporate tax is hard to justify."

Whereupon the roof fell in, and White House spokesmen went into full retreat.

Now opposition to a corporate income tax is hardly a heretical idea among informed people.

Though they agree upon little else, virtually all economists since Adam Smith agree that a two-tier tax upon capital is a bad idea, and today economists as diverse in other ways as Lester Thurow and Milton Friedman oppose such a tax.

Coolly considered, the corporate tax is a sham. It turns the corporations into branches of the IRS, since, of course, corporations do not pay the tax themselves but pass it along to their customers in the form of higher prices.

More than five years ago, the impeccably liberal Brookings Institution was on record against the corporate income tax with a publication called "Must Corporate Income Be Taxed Twice."

Other advanced industrial economies, such as England, France, and West Germany, have avoided this form of taxation.

So why, after Reagan had made his extremely modest proposal in Boston, was the idea regarded from the White House on down as the worst thing that had ever been uttered?

By the next morning, White House spokesman David Gergen was assuring the Washington Press Corps that nothing of the kind was even under study within the administration. The media viewed it as yet another Reagan "gaffe."

What Reagan had done, of course — and he knew it even as he so tentatively did it — was offend the mythology within which "corporations" are "bad." This mythology constitutes the mind-set of much of the national media — $35 hair-dos on 15-cent heads, Charles Kuralt once cracked — and it is they who define a "gaffe."

In their mind-set, it is perfectly all right for Walter Mondale to address a homosexual fund-raiser (that is not a "gaffe"), but it is forbidden for Reagan so much as to hint that corporations might have a beneficent role to play in our economy and should not be singled out for preferential harassment by the tax code.

FBI Links Teamsters Boss To Mob

WASHINGTON—The secret transcript of an FBI-taped conversation between two notorious mobsters will be introduced as evidence at the pre-sentence hearing starting Monday for Teamsters President Roy Williams, who has been convicted of an unsuccessful attempt to bribe former Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev.

The FBI overheard a conversation between Chicago crime kingpin Joseph Lombardo and Kansas City mob boss Nick Civella.

For years, government sources have said Williams was in Civella's pocket, and the recorded conversation gives strong evidence to support this suspicion.

Lombardo was also convicted along with Williams in the bribery plot.

Much of the conversation—held at the Crown Center Hotel in Kansas City on March

The Austrian Connection

WASHINGTON (NEA) — For a possible answer to one of the most perplexing questions in politics today — whether or not President Reagan will seek re-election — try to identify the next U.S. ambassador to Austria.

That apparent non sequitur actually makes sense with a relatively simple explanation which begins with the observation that supposedly reliable speculation both here and in Austria has centered on Helene von Damm as the leading candidate to fill the vacant ambassadorial post.

Mias von Damm has been an extraordinarily dedicated loyal Reagan supporter throughout the president's entire political career, beginning with his first bid for governor of California in 1966 when she served as a campaign volunteer.

By 1968, she was Reagan's personal secretary, a post she held during the ensuing six years of his governorship. After service in the 1976 and 1980 Reagan presidential campaigns, she returned to the position of personal secretary when Reagan was inaugurated in early 1981.

Mias von Damm moved to the White House personnel office in early 1982 and now heads that operation, but she remains one of the small circle of Reagan loyalists who enjoy full access to — and the confidence of — the president.

If Reagan was planning to seek re-election in 1984, it's logical to assume that he would again want her at his side — and she would want to be there, as she has been during every one of his campaigns for public office.

But Mias von Damm is a native of Austria, and if the president decides not to run for a second term, the appointment of his longtime personal aide as this country's ambassador to her native land would be a suitable reward for almost two decades of devoted service.

The connection seems somewhat tenuous but this theory is considerably more plausible than some of the speculation circulating among nervous politicians — especially Republicans — who have become concerned about Reagan's intentions.

It's obviously in the president's best interest to postpone public disclosure of his decision as long as possible — especially if he decides not to run but wants to minimize the period in his current term during which "lame duck" status will substantially reduce his power and influence.

Many politicians assume that the president won't reveal his plans until next autumn, but a delayed decision to retire rather than run would not be welcomed by Republicans who favor someone other than Vice President George Bush as the party's 1984 presidential nominee.

The list of other potential GOP contenders reportedly includes Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee and Rep. Jack F. Kemp of New York as well as "dark horses" such as Sen. Robert Packwood of Oregon and Sen. Jesse Helms of North Carolina.

Because the first step in the delegate selection process, Iowa's precinct caucuses, now is only slightly more than one year away, a Reagan decision not to run announced in the fall would give those candidates little time to organize and offset Bush's unofficial status as heir apparent.

The "new right" wing of the Republican Party is almost certain to mount an intense effort to deny the nomination to Bush or Baker — a campaign which could leave the party badly bloodied.

The prospect of a bitter internecine struggle for the right to succeed Reagan apparently was on the minds of many members of the Republican National Committee who recently gathered here for a routine meeting.

Former Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes unexpectedly offered a motion to endorse the Reagan-Bush ticket for re-election in 1984. That formulation probably was technically improper because the party apparatus traditionally maintains an official position of neutrality in all contests until after the primary elections have been held — but Rhodes' motion was approved without a murmur of dissent.

Progress With Ear Implants

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

UPI Health Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Inner ear surgery and implants of electrodes to stimulate ear nerves are opening a door on inner ear deafness, the president of the American Otologic Society says.

Dr. Jack Van Doren Hough said the implants help patients by improving speech reading ability and providing awareness of environmental sounds.

"We no longer consider this procedure experimental," the Oklahoma City hearing specialist said at a symposium marking the 25th anniversary of the Deafness Research Foundation.

"Rather, we feel it is now in the stage of continued research and development, as in any other good surgical procedure."

The implant is designed to boost auditory perceptions among the four-fifths of the hearing-impaired who suffer from a nerve loss or inner-ear defect.

"We have found an open door and successfully entered the mysterious ... inner ear — and we have stimulated it electronically," Hough said.

"The means we use is called cochlear implant."

"In some cases, which are totally deaf, we have implanted electrodes at the end of the nerve fiber and have stimulated it directly with minute electrical signals. As was hoped, the brain received these signals and interpreted them as sound."

"The hearing is far from perfect, but the results obtained with the cochlear implant are evident and the consequences enormous."

Over the past four years, 12 cochlear implant teams in various medical centers nationwide have implanted the electrodes in over 200 adult patients who are totally deaf, he said.

"Over 1 million hours of patient use have been documented without known injurious effects. There have been no fatalities and no long-term morbidity complications."

"The bottom line on use is this: The average patient use of the implant (the time the external unit is turned on) is 10 hours per day. This is perhaps the strongest evidence of the implant's usefulness."

What the patients hear is far from proper or normal hearing for speech discrimination.

Patients cannot distinguish pitch variations well, but they can detect differences between male and female voices and can recognize certain well-known people by their voices.

Hough said there is excellent sound perception of rhythm, intensity variation, and duration of sound.

Benefits of giving sound — auditory information — to people who formerly lived in a silent world is not to be underestimated.

"Sound warns, alerts and gives people a feeling of being included and being involved," Hough said.

Some details on the operation:

FBI Links Teamsters Boss To Mob

25, 1979—deal with Williams. My associate Tony Capaccio obtained a copy of the incriminating transcript.

Lombardo broached the subject of the Teamsters' multibillion-dollar Central States Pension Fund, which the federal government had put under control of an independent manager, the Victor Palmieri Co.

The Chicago mobster complained that the Palmieri company had frustrated attempts to manipulate the pension fund.

Ironically, the conversation takes place during the time frame in which government prosecutors say Williams and Lombardo tried to execute their bribery scheme.

"We have to get things running smooth again like they used to be," Lombardo said, adding that they needed Williams "in order to get these things corrected."

Lombardo continued: "Nick, you're the only one who can get to Williams, to have him listen and act. Williams has to be the one to do it and it has to go through you."

Civella agreed, and said: "Williams is not dragging his feet. He disagrees on the method of making the change, but not that change is needed." He added that he had "checked personally with Roy about it."

Later, when Lombardo reiterated the need for Williams to take action against the fund managers, Civella said, "I want to protect Roy. He's a friend of mine."

At one point, the two mobsters discussed Teamsters financier Allen Dorfman, the victim last month of a gangland execution. Dorfman, it seems, wanted more personal power over the fund. He had also been convicted in the Cannon scheme. But Civella had reservations.

"Allen has ego problems," he observed. Then he added, more to the point, that "the government would swoop down" if Dorfman was running things.

Speak of the devil, Dorfman entered the room and talked with the two mobsters about setting up a meeting with Williams.

"For Roy's sake, I want to set it up," said Civella. "I get accused that I'm paranoid, but if he was to get caught with me anywhere it would blow him out of the tub."

Recalling a recent newspaper article linking Williams to him, Civella said another article "won't hurt me, but it would hurt him."

"We've got a lot of work to do," said Lombardo. "We got to get the fund back. Get good lawyers. Got moves to make, lot of scheming to do."

Health Official Reports

Hepatitis Vaccine Too Expensive

ATLANTA (UPI) — A federal health official says the new hepatitis-B vaccine is so expensive that many people who should be vaccinated are not getting the injections.

Most of the vaccine is going to doctors, nurses and other health care professionals, according to Dr. Donald Francis.

"It costs about $100 a series. That's why only doctors, nurses and other health care workers have been getting it," said Francis, who was in Atlanta recently to give a report on vaccine reaction to the CDC's Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices.

One reason for the high cost, he said, was the estimated $30 million to $40 million that Merck Sharpe and Dohme laboratories sank into its development.

Francis said health workers are at a greater risk of contracting the disease, but he would like to see more of the higher risk groups — homosexuals, drug abusers and their contacts — getting the preventive treatments. About 200,000 new cases of hepatitis-B occur each year and a large number of those are sexually-active homosexuals and drug abusers.

Francis, the assistant director for medical science, division of hepatitis and viral enteritis of the national Centers for Disease Control in Phoenix, Ariz., helped with vaccine's efficacy trials prior to its licensing in November 1981 and continues his studies of its effectiveness and reactivity.

Francis said homosexuals and drug abusers, who are at high risk of contracting the liver ailment, may continue to avoid the injections the absence of a government-funded program to get the vaccine to those who can't afford it or are unwilling to pay the cost.

"There's been no run on the vaccine, as we thought there might be," he said.

Francis said 200,000 doses of the vaccine had been administered between last July, when it became available to the public, and January, not nearly as much as had been anticipated. But he expects that figure to grow steadily, reaching perhaps 700,000 in the near future.

"There's no question of the cost-benefit of this vaccine," Francis said. "It's been remarkable."

Francis estimated the vaccinations of 200,000 health care workers against hepatitis-B will spare 2,000 of them a year from getting the disease. At least four per year will avoid liver cancer, a sometimes fatal complication of hepatitis-B.

Since hepatitis-B vaccinations first started, health officials have tried to keep track of reactions or complications following immunization, Francis said.

"A compilation of reports of complications for approximately 200,000 recipients show only a handful of minor diseases, of which few if any are higher than the expected incidence in that large a population," Francis said.

Altogether, 99 illnesses were reported following the vaccinations, but of that number only about six minor ailments may have been connected with the vaccine, he said.

"We've got nothing that is greater than the expected number in those populations," Francis said. "It looks very good."

Hepatitis-B, formerly known as serum hepatitis, is the most serious of the three viral forms of the disease. Of the 200,000 new infections in the United States each year, about 50,000 develop clear signs of the disease, such as jaundice. An estimated 10,400 patients are hospitalized and 200 of them die each year.

About 12,000-20,000 patients annually go on to become chronic carriers of the virus. There are some 400,000-800,000 carriers of the disease in the U.S., posing a threat to their families and close associates.

Wholesaling Business Is On The Comeback In U.S.

By LeROY POPE
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Wholesaling, considered a dying business not too many years ago, has staged a tremendous comeback and is growing considerably faster than the Gross National Product.

It's an industry of 307,000 firms, 5.4 million workers and its sales are an astronomical $1.2 trillion a year, says John C. David III of Denver, president of the Distribution Research and Education Foundation of the National Association of Wholesaler Distributors.

David got his figures from a survey conducted for the foundation by the national accounting firm of Arthur Andersen & Co., Chicago.

The revitalization of wholesaling has taken place slowly and steadily but it probably will be a surprise to persons old enough to remember the disappearance of so many local and regional wholesaling firms and their corps of "drummers" or "Knights of the Grip" who traveled by train (later many made their rounds in Model T Fords) and sold to stores big and small.

The rise of supermarkets and other chain merchandising outlets brought a prolonged shift to direct buying from jobbers and manufacturers that decimated the smaller wholesale houses and the army of drummers.

James W. Norris, Arthur Andersen's wholesale distribution accounting expert, says the turnaround came about because the wholesalers improved their productivity dramatically and now give both manufacturers and retailers a lot of value added services.

Perhaps a more fundamental cause was implied in a recent speech by Chairman Walter B. Wriston of New York's huge Citicorp. Wriston said the history of American business, particularly the recent history, showed that no marketing system can be supported for long by a single product line.

Norris agreed with this. He said the Andersen survey of the wholesale industry demonstrated that manufacturers increasingly find market research, financial and inventory management and actual distribution functions too costly and complex to carry out themselves.

This is particularly true, he said, because the wholesalers also provide the retailers with a lot of warehousing, delivery and credit management services as well as some value-added packaging and other process services that the manufacturers otherwise might have to provide.

Norris said the Andersen survey results indicate wholesaling volume probably will grow by 4 per cent a year and this will be significantly above the growth of the GNP, he said.

The larger revenue base of wholesale houses will prompt a number of them to go public, Norris said. There already are a number of large regional wholesale houses. Fleming Cos. of Oklahoma City has sales of around $3 billion, for example, and is publicly owned.

The Andersen survey indicated the number of publicly owned wholesaling firms will grow by 50 percent and they will increase their share of volume from 37 to 60 percent. There will be many acquisitions and mergers and sales of $20 million a year will be about the smallest for a viable company.

The business will be invaded by foreign operators and investors and by 1990, the survey indicated, 10 percent of all wholesale firms in the United States will be foreign-owned and will have 15 percent of the market or about $450 million a year.

Computer automation will be stepped up, especially for order processing.

Marines Want Good Wives, Too

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Marines not only want good men, they also want good wives — apparently ones who conform to a Marine handbook outlining the proper ways to entertain, dress, correspond — and raise families.

"Officers Wives Handbook," distributed by the Marine Corps, instructs wives in etiquette, answering invitations, calling cards, introductions, conduct of children and much more.

The handbook says, "Standards of social behavior have not changed measurably through the years."

It advises officers' wives, "Traditionally the wife takes care of correspondence," and, "Traditionally, it is the wife's responsibility to answer social invitations."

"However, for official functions the officer should assume the responsibility because it reflects on his attention to duty if there is no response."

A copy of the handbook was provided to United Press International by the wife of a Marine major who was less than enthusiastic about it.

She said the book is an insult to women and questioned the need to spend taxpayers' money when, as the handbook points out, many of the references are available in base libraries.

"An extremely important and valuable part of our Marine Corps family is the (Officers Wives) Club," the handbook says in the first chapter, "Standards of Social Etiquette."

"As a member, you will find opportunities to give of yourself and your time for the good of others, as well as opportunities to satisfy your own and intellectual interests," the wives are told.

But the Marine wife said: "The Officers Wives Club is rather controversial for many women," she said. "Many feel they have no responsibility for their husband's success in the Corps, and don't intend to accept these responsibilities until a green government check is issued. Pay me. This isn't two for the price of one."

Kathy Lawrence, president of the Officers Wives Club, said she did not find the handbook offensive, calling it a guide rather than a mandate for conduct by officers' wives.

"It's how you perceive things," said Mrs. Lawrence, the wife of a Marine captain in Quantico, Va. "I guess some could find it offensive, but others just say, 'Oh, OK.' I kind of take it lightly. I don't find it offensive."

An entire section is devoted to the dress code. "Three easy tips for successful dressing always are: Learn the dress code of the area. Be neat. Keep things simple."

"Happy Hour" is described as an event that usually takes place at the Officers' Club on Friday afternoons.

This winter, warm up your house with a new heat pump. And a check from FPL.

We could pay you several hundred dollars to replace an inefficient heating/cooling system with a high-efficiency central heat pump.

You save two ways. Your new efficient heat pump can lower your heating bills by as much as 50% when compared to the conventional electric heating systems that many of our customers have. And, if you qualify, you'll also save with FPL's Watt-Wise™ cash incentive.

A heat pump both heats and cools your home very efficiently. In the winter, it extracts heat from outside, pumping it indoors. In the summer, it cools by removing heat and humidity from your home. Ask your contractor for details.

Will everyone benefit from this Watt-Wise Products Program? Yes.

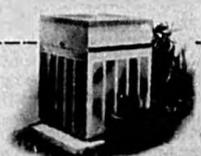

Because this program costs less than the oil necessary to generate the electricity wasted by inefficient heating and cooling systems.

We're working hard at being the kind of power company you want.

For more information on how to qualify for the Watt-Wise incentives, send us the coupon or call the toll-free Watt-Wise Line, weekdays 9-5 at

Charitable Groups Seek To Coordinate Efforts

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

This is a busy time of year for area charitable agencies as they strive to stretch available funds to meet increased demands for assistance.

Gene Keltner, director of the Central Florida Chapter of the American Red Cross, met in Orlando this week with representatives of several charity agencies from Orange and Seminole counties such as the Health and Rehabilitative Services (HRS), the Salvation Army, Catholic Services, and the Red Cross, to assess the present situation regarding aid for needy families and transients.

The question was what agencies in the two-county area can do to help each other, what kind of services are provided in Seminole, and what help is available for transients flocking to this area in search of jobs or to escape the northern weather. "Neither the HRS nor any of the other agencies represented had funds to care for them," said Keltner. "We don't have transients lined up at our door because we put them to work."

There was an inquiry about setting up a food line in Sanford similar to Orlando's Christian Service Center's Daily Bread program. Seminole County Salvation Army commander Capt. Mike Waters, while offering to help set one up, said the Salvation Army does not have funds, food or space to contribute.

Keltner said it would be a mistake and he does not think a food line is needed in Sanford. "You would have burns and panhandlers coming to Sanford from all over the country," he predicted.

Keltner said he believes what resources are available should go to help local residents in need first. "The Red Cross stands ready to help families who live, and work here and need our services," said Keltner.

Keltner sees a need to open up better communication and cooperation between social service agencies. For instance, he recently learned that families who had been burned out of their homes were being sent to the Sanford Christian Sharing Center for aid, while the Red Cross, which has primary responsibility for providing help in such situations, was not being notified.

People Respond To Pleas

People have responded to pleas for help from the Sanford Christian Sharing Center. As a result things have gotten back on a more even keel, according to Director Jean Holch.

As a result of the recent Evening Herald article, donations of food, clothing, bedding and checks came in, she said.

So despite of a second-story high water line which froze and a refrigerator which caught fire, things are looking up for the center. The center had depleted its emergency funds and supplies in mid-January.

The Sanford Lions Club, which learned of the situation through the article, bought the sharing center a new refrigerator.

"We now have a whole rack of bedding to help migrants and families that are burned out," she said. "Our biggest demand for emergency help right now is for heating oil."

The center, operated by volunteers, is sponsored by 19 local churches. — JANE CASSELBERRY

FPC Pays $50,000 NRC Fine

Florida Power Corporation has sent a $50,000 check to the Nuclear Regulatory Commission for payment of the fine levied by the agency for violations of security regulations.

"We are deeply committed to maintaining a security program that is well above the basic requirements," said John A. Hancock, vice president, nuclear operations. "Florida Power Corporation and the NRC do not consider these occurrences to represent a deficiency in the total security system.

"In addition," Hancock said, "on the basis of the provisions of the contract we have with our private security agency, Pinkerton, we have a means by which we intend to recover our costs in this matter."

This marked the first fine ever levied against Florida Power by the NRC.

Florida's Junior Senator Will Run Again

Hawkins Wants To Accomplish Much

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Paula Hawkins bristles when she hears about critics that question her effectiveness as a lawmaker.

The eyes of the former model widen, and she launches into a detailed description of what she has done in two years in the United States Senate.

She laughs frequently and pokes good-natured fun at herself, but she is very self-confident about her role as one of two women in what has been a male bastion for two centuries.

"If I can go home, an activist like me, and say, 'Gosh, I've accomplished a lot, I think my critics just don't know what I do,'" she said in an interview in her office.

Mrs. Hawkins, 56, a Utah-born Mormon grandmother who doesn't look her age, got involved in her first political fight in 1958 in trying to get a sewer system built in Maitland, Fla. She says she's been in a fight ever since.

Mrs. Hawkins served two terms on Florida's Public Service Commission and is a former vice president of Air Florida. She earned a reputation on the PSC as a champion of the consumer, a title she says she still deserves in the Senate.

She calls herself "an individual to help those who don't have a lobbyist." "In Florida, my position always seemed to be for the people," she said. "I know that's a corny phrase. They still associate me with being a champion and a fighter."

In Washington, she has focused on what she calls "people issues." Her proudest accomplishment thus far was the signing into law of the Missing Children's Act, which obligates law enforcement officers to use the national crime computer to find missing children.

"I could almost open a child find agency here," she said, noting that her staff is investigating the cases of at least two missing children.

The act brings the FBI into domestic child-snatching cases for the first time. The federal crime-fighting agency has agreed to investigate such cases for one year on an experimental basis.

"We're going to have hearings in February to find out how well the FBI is doing," she said.

"For those who say I've been ineffective, I think that's the most meaningful legislation that's ever been passed, at least to me," the senator said with pride.

She has been married to Gene Hawkins, a central Florida electronics engineer, for 35 years. He made history, in a sense, by becoming the first man admitted to the Senate Wives' Club. It was later renamed the Senate Spouses' Club.

Fifteen women have served in the Senate, but most have been widows who assumed their late husbands' seats. But Mrs. Hawkins and her female colleague, Nancy Kassebaum of Kansas, earned their places on their own.

Florida's junior senator, a Republican, said her job would probably be easier if she were a man.

"I don't think it's been an asset," she said of her sex, adding that her existence would have been easier if she had chosen to "sit on the back row for two years and be quiet."

"I have a lot to do," she said. "I don't know how many days I have in this job — I don't think any of us do. I want to be an activist and get a lot done."

SEN. PAULA HAWKINS

She's already planning to run for re-election in 1986.

"We're going to file the papers, I hope, right away," she said. "There's a lot of speculation I might not run. We're going to end it by filing (and creating) a committee to re-elect."

Mrs. Hawkins has been slowed by a neck injury suffered in a freak accident which occurred last year during an interview in an Orlando television studio. Inexplicably, a set partition came crashing down on her head, jamming her vertebrae.

"I'm still in therapy and I'm still in traction," she said. "And I will be for 'x' number of months. This is not mending like it should."

"I damaged several discs in my neck. And the only relief you get from intolerable headaches is traction. After you have traction for about an hour, the headache goes away, so you know that eventually it can be cured with therapy."

Her doctor has set up traction apparatus in her apartment in the Watergate complex.

"When I do it, my hands are this color," she said, displaying them for inspection. "When I don't, they turn blue."

She said she has no plans "at this time" to file suit against the station. "The press always asks me that," she said.

Another touchy question is her position on the Equal Rights Amendment. She says she never discusses the ERA unless she's asked.

"When it was introduced, I thought it was a great idea," she said. "And I actively worked for it in my state. And then I listened to the arguments."

"It's worded so vaguely. Every law that we ever had had would have to go to court."

"I want equity for women," she said. "And I want equal pay. And I want them to have pensions and anything they can define by statute. (But) I'm not going to get involved in that fight, for or against. I never have. I don't stray off on fringes."

Mrs. Hawkins said female activists on both sides of the issue stay angry with her for her inaction on the ERA.

"Florida is a very conservative state," she said. "I wouldn't have been elected had I been identified with any groups."

Paula Hawkins has been closely allied with the Reagan administration, and is considered conservative on most issues. But she claims to be a liberal "on personal issues."

"I think the answer to the state of economy we have right now (is ending) double-digit, 10 percent unemployment," she said suddenly. "If it's 5 percent, we have a balanced budget, we have no problems with (Social) Security."

"All of that can be solved if we put 5 percent of those unemployed to work," she said.

Inflation, the GOP's No. 1 public enemy, was not mentioned.

Mrs. Hawkins claimed much of the credit for the Jobs Training Partnership Act, a jobs bill now embraced by the Reagan administration.

"In the beginning he didn't like it worth a darn," she said of the bill the administration now claims will create and retrain thousands for worthwhile jobs.

Mrs. Hawkins said she put six months of work into the bill, only to find Reagan didn't intend to support it.

"We sent word back that he had nothing to say if it's (unemployment) going to go to double digit," she said.

"You have nothing in place, CETA expires in October. What are you going to say?"

"They didn't like it at all, but we've taught them to like it," she said.

If the program doesn't result in jobs, she said, it will not be funded next year.

"The Labor Department fought it for a long time," said the senator. "Now he (Reagan) talks about his Job Training Partnership Act. I remember how hard it was to make him a partner!"

Mrs. Hawkins is also proud of a law she pushed to passage that makes day care expenses tax deductible for wage earners making less than $30,000 a year. Before, only those making more than $30,000 could deduct day care costs.

She has also introduced legislation to establish day care centers for nurses and other women employees in their own hospitals.

"The best place in the world to keep that child is where you're working," she said. "The hospital's a natural place. It won't take much money."

If hospital day care centers work, she wants to expand her idea to other work places, she said.

Mrs. Hawkins says she's worked countless hours on the Senate Drug Enforcement Caucus, which she formed and which now has 29 members. She says her proposals were incorporated into the highly successful President's South Florida Task Force.

She claims that "personal diplomacy" in the form of a letter to the premier of China led to a commitment to help stem the flow of drugs from the Asian nation.

"The people I've worked with ... will tell you there's not a harder worker in the Senate," she said. "We're effective because we get it passed. You can say you've introduced 1,100 bills. So what, if you can't get them passed?"

Mrs. Hawkins said she's worked hard to stop the flow of illegal aliens into Florida, a job she said is not finished.

"We have to seal our borders," she said.

Paula Hawkins talks like a politician struggling to defend herself from what she considers unjust criticism. She worries that her accomplishments in Washington aren't like the victories over the utilities at the PSC — they don't make headlines.

Democrats In U.S. House Are Taking Charge Again

By DON PHILLIPS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After two years in the political sun, the House Republican party is trudging back into its old life as a true minority.

In fact, Democrats, who firmly control the House this year, are using the meat-and-potatoes philosophy of politics to chop the Republicans back into an even more impotent minority than their 38.2 percent share of the House would indicate.

The first two years of the Reagan administration were golden ones for Republicans. Riding the crest of the Reagan wave, it didn't seem to matter that they had only 192 of the 435 House members when the 97th Congress convened in 1981.

With the help of a popular president, a Senate in GOP hands and enough conservative "Boll Weevil" Democrats to give them a majority on key issues, Republicans began acting like a majority. Democrats, after being swept aside on numerous votes, stepped back into the traditional role of a minority, offering ideas that they knew would fail, for the single purpose of getting their views on the record.

Republicans romped while Democrats covered. "I had some fun for two years," House Republican leader Robert Michel said. "There were some happy days because we were on top of the situation." But with the dawning of the 98th Congress this year, times have changed for House Republicans.

The downhill slide actually began in mid-1982 when they began losing key votes.

High unemployment and a deteriorating economy allied into Reagan's popularity and appeared to turn public attention away from budget-cutting and toward fear for the economy and their own jobs.

Reagan's veto of a supplemental appropriations bill was overwhelmingly overridden by both the House and the Senate. Historians may record that Sept. 9, 1982, override as the turning point in GOP fortunes.

But it was the 1982 elections that hammered the GOP back into a minority status, both by electing 26 new Democrats to the House and by placing new fears in the hearts of those Republicans who survived. The party count in the House now is 287 Democrats, 165 Republicans and three vacancies.

When Congress convened this year, Democrats took three steps to be certain that Republicans do not regain even a hint of their former power.

First, the Democrats cracked the whip on their own party's discipline. They removed the most active of the Boll Weevils, Rep. Phil Gramm of Texas, from the House Budget Committee, in effect forcing him to switch parties. Remaining Boll Weevils said they got the message and will toe the line more closely.

Next, Democrats adopted new House rules that would tighten many traditional minority rights. The most important change involves restrictions on riders to appropriations bills. Traditionally, these unrelated amendments have been attached to yearly money bills as a means of accomplishing social goals ranging from anti-abortion bills to a cutoff of funds for the Vietnam War.

Finally, Democrats packed key House committees with liberals of their own party and held down the ratio of Republicans on the key committees — Ways and Means, and Rules. The Energy and Commerce Committee, which will handle key environmental, health and other social legislation this year, went one step further by packing subcommittees with Democrats.

New Hope Is Found For 250,000 Victims Of MS

BOSTON (UPI) — Medical researchers today reported new treatments that temporarily improved or halted the progress of multiple sclerosis, offering new hope for some 250,000 Americans afflicted with the crippling disease.

Long-term exposure to one of the treatments, however, could cause cancer and other powerful side-effects that could make the medicine worse than the disease for many patients, the researchers said.

The Multiple Sclerosis Society warned the treatments were experimental and urged patients to continue their prescribed therapy, but said studies published in the New England Journal of Medicine "clearly provide grounds for hope."

Researchers at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston said progressive multiple sclerosis can be temporarily reversed or halted for the first time with a combination of chemotherapy and a pituitary hormone drug known as ACTH — a treatment they said may be the first step toward a cure.

Another study at the New York

Medical Center found using a high-pressure oxygen chamber had short-term benefits for patients with stabilized or slow progressive multiple sclerosis.

Multiple sclerosis attacks the central nervous system, affecting coordination, speech, sexual, bladder and bowel functions. Victims are left weak, fatigued and spastic and often look as though they're drunk.

Fewer than half the victims have severe, progressive multiple sclerosis, which leaves victims unable to walk, speak, feed themselves, and incontinent.

The Boston physicians said 18 of 20 patients with severe progressive multiple sclerosis who received a common form of chemotherapy known as cyclophosphamide and ACTH were improved or had the progress of the disease halted six months after the treatment. The procedure was still beneficial after one year in 16 of 20 patients.

Doctors carefully avoided saying a cure was in sight. But since the treatment offered the first real clues to the nature of the disease, they were optimistic about future treatment.

"This is the first step toward finding an effective treatment for multiple sclerosis," Dr. Howard L. Weiner said.

However, researchers warned high doses of the drugs over a long time may cause cancer or leukemia, and the side effects may outweigh the benefits except in the most severe cases of MS. Initial side effects include hair loss and bladder complications.

The New York researchers, meanwhile, showed treatment with high pressure pure oxygen had a "positive, though transient" effect on MS sufferers.

Twenty 90-minute treatments with hyperbaric oxygen produced "objective improvement" in 12 of 17 patients, who became more mobile, less tired and had improved equilibrium. The results lasted six weeks or longer. Only one of 20 patients receiving another type of oxygen improved.

An accompanying editorial said the studies added to the understanding of the disease and suggested paths to take in its treatment.

Low Tech Parents Get Help

DALLAS (UPI) — A computer camp for groupies is helping "low tech" adults keep up with their "high tech" children.

Ted Whitley, 49, and his partner, Jacques Vroom, 38, began American Computer Education last summer because they felt existing computer schools were not designed for the ordinary person.

"The approach is pretty darn simple and intensive," Whitley said. "What we do is bring people in for three full days and during that time we depart dramatically from computer education elsewhere. We deemphasize programming in favor of exposing students to a variety of software with applications to fit their needs. We try to humanize computers."

Vroom said the human aspect is essential to working with the machines.

"The computer manufacturers have thought of everything except the people who have to use the machines. It's all very high tech," Vroom said.

"Almost all the students come in unsure, and they tell me they weren't good in math and can't type and they probably will hold the class back. But I tell them you don't need to know either math or typing to run a computer."

The majority of the students who pay $395 to attend the course at a Victorian house near downtown Dallas do not own a computer and many come because they feel left behind by the machines their children seem to understand so readily.

"One out of eight students come because they are tired of being browbeaten by their children about it, or they know their children are going to be learning about computers soon and they want to be able to talk to them about them," Vroom said. "It's the 1980's equivalent of the new math."

Joan Harris, 27, a real-estate agent from the central Texas town of Fredericksburg, said she took the course to keep abreast of developments in her competitive field.

"I think my firm is going to get a computer this year and I needed an intense course quickly," she said. "I couldn't afford to take a week off and go to a camp in the summer — that's my prime time to sell real estate."

She said she entered the class as a computer illiterate. "I didn't know anything when I came in," she said. "Now, I will be at least know what questions to ask at the computer store and I know what kind of program I need."

"It's like learning to read. I feel like they taught me to read and now I've got a whole library in front of me and I can go use the books."

Oviedo Shocks Osceola, 62-61

Murphy's Free Throw With No Time Remaining Drops Kowboys

Herald Sports Editor

The shot heard around the state Tuesday night didn't come from 40 feet away. And it wasn't a rousing slam dunk. Ronnie Murphy, lifted to towering heights by the Oviedo crowd chanting "Ronnie, Ronnie," dropped in a free throw with no time remaining to give Oviedo a shocking 62-61 victory over 3A kingpin Kissimmee Osceola.

"I had to do it for my team," bubbled an exuberant Murphy after the game. "The players and the fans wanted the game, so I had to give it to them."

The setback was the first of the season for coach Ed Kershner's powerhouse after 26 straight wins. The Kowboys ranked No. 1 in the 3A Prep Poll, waltzed to the Las Vegas Christmas Tournament championship earlier this year and were ranked SEVENTH IN THE NATION by the USA TODAY newspaper.

"This is the biggest win of my career," said Oviedo coach Dale "Digger" Phillips amidst a jubilant Lion locker room. "(Guard Chris) Boston probably deserves the game ball except for Murphy coming through in the clutch." And he did come through.

Trailing by 11 points on three occasions during the first quarter and by 15 at the outset of the second, the Lions rode Murphy's 28-point, 15-rebound, 10-assist and six blocked-shot performance back into contention.

Threading the needle like a veteran seamstress, the 6-4 senior continually beat the pressure of All-Americans Frank Ford and Jimmy McCrimon to find teammates Darren Reichle and Bill McCartney for layups or baseline jumpers.

"We were concentrating too much on Murphy," said Ford after the game. "Instead of coming out and playing five on five, we were playing five on one. That's what killed us — his passes. He hit the open man all night."

Phillips left the key was to stay within six points of Osceola until the fourth quarter and then make a move. The move came with 6:21 to play.

Trailing 51-44, Mike Schwabb, Murphy and McCartney rattled home three straight buckets with Murphy's coming on a spectacular, sky tip in after a missed shot.

The flurry pulled the Lions within 51-50 with 4:48 to play and called for a time out from Kershner. After the pause, Boston came up with the key play of the game when he swiped the ball from McCrimon.

"Boston made the key steal and when he knew he couldn't make the layup (Osceola's 6-6 Kenny McGee was looming in his path), he turned around and ran some time off the clock," said Phillips.

At the 4:24 mark, Murphy tossed in a jumper and Oviedo had a 52-51 edge, its first lead of the ballgame. It didn't last long. McCrimon, shackled by Boston and Dave Knott in the Lions' Diamond and One defense, threw in a jumper to give the Kowboys a 53-52 edge.

The Lions ran down the clock until Murphy came through with another spectacular tip with 3:25 to play to regain the lead, 54-53. The backbreaker, however, came 15 seconds later.

Grabbing a loose ball at the top of the Osceola free throw line, Murphy took off for the other end with the closest Kowboy 30 feet away.

Ten feet from the basket, the 6-4 jumping jack went into a 360-degree whirl and slammed home a rousing dunk which put Oviedo up by three, 56-53.

"I would have killed him (Murphy) if he would have missed it," said Phillips about the acrobatic move. "If he makes it, though, it fires up the team and fires up the crowd."

After Murphy's spectacular slam, the Kowboys lost a chance to pull closer on a free-throw lane violation and a missed charity toss by Derrard Ford.

But with 1:30 to play, Frank Ford muscled in a rebound to move the Kowboys within one. Murphy, however, found Reichle open and the 6-2 junior hit the layup and was fouled. His pressure free throw gave Oviedo a 59-55 edge.

At the 1:02 mark, though, McCrimon tossed in a jumper and 17 seconds later followed it up with another to knot the score at 59-59.

Oviedo ran the clock down to 23 seconds before Murphy gunned in another one for a brief 61-59 edge. McCrimon, nevertheless, came right back with a 12-footer to tie the game at 61-61. The 6-0 guard finished with 17 points, 10 below his norm.

Oviedo signalled for a time out with 10 seconds to play.

Guards Gene Angel and Boston deftly moved the ball past halfcourt and found Murphy on the right wing. Murphy had trouble controlling the ball, then regained control and went up for a 20-footer with one second to play.

Prior to getting airborne, however, McCrimon was detected grabbing his wrist, sending Murphy to the line with no time left for a one and one.

Kershner called a time out to make the 6-4 senior sweat. But it was no sweat when he stepped to the line and dropped in the only toss needed to wrap up the upset of the season — 62-61.

"They've improved a lot since the first time we played them (an 80-60 Osceola win)," said Frank Ford who had 28 points. "I have to give credit to coach (Dale) Phillips. He brought them a long way. That made the difference tonight." Even though it was just one point.

Mitchell Jumper Scuttles Creek

By CHRIS FISTER
Herald Sports Writer

PORT ORANGE — "You thought you had a victory, but evidently, you got burned."

One of the favorite cheers of the Seminole High cheerleaders after a victory pretty much tells the story of the Tribe's game with Spruce Creek Tuesday night at Spruce Creek.

Willie Mitchell swished a jumper with one second left in the game to give Seminole a narrow 60-58 triumph over the Hawks in a key Five Star Conference matchup. Mitchell's jumper came after Spruce Creek thought it apparently had the game on ice.

With the score tied at 58-58, Spruce Creek's Willie Cooks drove the lane with 12 seconds left and as he went up for a layup, the referee's whistle sounded. The Hawks started celebrating because they thought the call was against Seminole, but the home crowd was devastated when the call was an offensive foul against Cooks.

Seminole got the ball with 10 seconds left and called a timeout to set up a last shot. "We set up a play to go to either 'Kiki' (Calvin Bryant) or Willie (Mitchell)," Seminole coach Chris Marlette said.

The inbounds pass went to Vernon Law, who passed off to Bruce Franklin who spotted Mitchell in the clear. Mitchell received the pass and went straight up, when the ball left his hands — there was no doubt — it was going in.

Seminole now stands 17-9 overall and 10-3 in the Five Star Conference, taking over sole possession of second place over the Hawks who fell to 9-4 in the Five Star and 18-7 overall.

Spruce Creek sprinted to an early eight-point lead, 12-4, eight of those points coming on breakaway layups by Rod McCray.

The Tribe came back and reeled off 10 straight points to take a 14-12 lead with 1:22 left in the first quarter. A jumper by Cooks at the buzzer gave the Hawks an 18-16 lead after one quarter. McCray scored 10 of his 18 points in the first quarter.

Spruce Creek maintained the lead in the second quarter and led by six, 32-26, at halftime.

"We didn't play with very much intensity the first half," Marlette said. "It seemed we weren't ready to play. Last Friday we were really intense for DeLand but yesterday we had a bad practice."

Early in the third quarter, Spruce Creek increased its lead to nine points, 37-28, on a free throw by Cooks.

Seminole hung tough, though, and thanks to fine free throw shooting, the Tribe turned the nine-point deficit into a one-point lead, 46-45, as the third quarter ended. Seminole hit 8 of 8 free throws in the third quarter.

The Tribe scored six straight points at the beginning of the fourth quarter and built a seven-point lead, 52-45, on a jumper by William Wynn after a Spruce Creek turnover.

Spruce Creek then flashed back to the first quarter and two breakaway layups by McCray pulled the Hawks to within one point, 52-51. Cooks then hit one of two free throws to tie the game at 52, with six minutes to play.

After Cooks' free throw, the game was tied three more times before Mitchell's last-second shot.

Bryant led the Tribe with 18 points while Mitchell added 14, Jimmy Gilchrist 10 and Wynn and Law chipped in eight apiece. McCray's 18 led the Hawks, followed by Cooks with 16 and Greg Naugle with eight.

In other action, DeLand stayed on top of the Five Star Conference with a 71-53 victory over Lake Brantley at Lake Brantley.

DeLand, 17-7 overall and 11-2 in the conference, received a 24 point performance from Chase Brown; while teammate Derek Watson added 16. Paul Hoffman led Lake Brantley with 19 points and Dennis Groseclose added eight.

The Patriots fell to 5-16 overall and 3-10 in the conference.

In girls action, Pam Jackson and Vikki McMurrer combined for 26 points to lead Lyman to a 41-38 victory over Daytona Beach Seabreeze at Lyman High.

Gimmick Defense Shackles McCrimon

Oviedo cage coach Dale "Digger" Phillips has never been too fond of gimmick defenses. Maybe it's because he's seen too many of them the past two years surrounding Ronnie Murphy.

After Tuesday night's spectacular 62-61 victory of Kissimmee Osceola, however, the heady Lion mentor may be taking a new perspective.

Phillips opted for a Diamond and One defense to shackle the 27-points-per-game scoring of Osceola All-American Jimmy McCrimon.

"We wanted to take McCrimon out of the game as much as possible," said the "Digger." "We knew Frank Ford was going to get his 40 points or whatever (Ford finished with 28), but we wanted to stop one of them."

The shackle job was done effectively, most of the time by junior guard Chris Boston who was spelled once and awhile by teammate Dave Knott.

"Boston probably deserves the game ball except for (Ronnie) Murphy coming through in the clutch," said Phillips. "The second quarter was the key quarter when we stayed with them (Oviedo trailing by four at halftime). "I felt if we were within six in the fourth quarter, we could beat them."

Prep Basketball

Osceola coach Ed Kershner saw a 26-game winning streak snapped for the state's top-ranked 3A team. "I just didn't have them ready," said Kershner. "I coached a very poor game. I'll take all the blame."

Kershner felt Osceola errors at the end of the game (missed free throws, a free-throw lane violation and turnovers) cost the Kowboys.

"We made a couple of errors at the end that we don't usually make," said Kershner. "We had baskets where we didn't put the ball in the hole. Then all those passes by Murphy (for buckets) don't mean a thing."

"Another thing was that call (foul on McCrimon) at the end. But that's one of those things," he added. "If I had them prepared, we wouldn't have to worry about that." — SAM COOK

Medlock May Be Ineligible

An Appeals Board of the Florida High School Activities Association will meet Thursday morning to decide on the eligibility of Lake Mary basketball player Reginald Medlock.

According to Lake Mary Principal Don Reynolds, Medlock's legal guardian, his mother, lives in the Seminole High school district but Medlock, a junior, lists the address of his aunt, who he lives with, which is in the Lake Mary district.

Reynolds learned of Medlock's situation from Seminole Principal Wayne Epps. "I heard from other coaches and kids that he (Medlock) was living in our (Seminole's) zone," Epps said. "So I asked Don Reynolds to look into it."

Medlock has started at guard for the Rams for most of the year. Lake Mary has compiled a 10-7 record but has lost its last four games. If Medlock is declared ineligible, the Rams will have to forfeit all victories and Medlock may have to go back to Seminole High.

Medlock played for Crooms as a ninth grader, but wasn't allowed to play as a sophomore at Seminole because he didn't turn in his Crooms' uniform, according to former Seminole basketball coach Bill Payne.

"There are extenuating circumstances according to Willie Richardson (Lake Mary coach)," Reynolds said. "His (Medlock's) mother is a migrant worker and was in New York at the time we visited him home. He was staying with his aunt at the time but we didn't know it was his aunt." — CHRIS FISTER

Tonight Basketball

8 p.m. Lake Mary girls at Seminole in the first game of this cross-town rivalry. Lake Mary edged Seminole behind the play of Michelle Swartz and Laura and Peggy Glass. The Rams are 18-4 and have received honorable mention in the state's 3A poll. All of Lake Mary's losses are to 4A opponents.

On the other hand, the Lady Seminoles have been struggling lately. Mona Benton's 27 points boosted the Tribe over Spruce Creek Monday night to snap a three game losing streak that has dropped Seminole's record to 15-8 overall and 10-4 in the Five Star Conference.

Seminole's starters include guards Benton and Arlene Jones, forwards Maxine Campbell and Genene Stallworth and center Dieder Hillery.

For Lake Mary, Kim Averill and Lisa Gregory are the guards, Peggy Glass and Swartz start at forward and Laura Glass is the center. Bench strength comes from Andrea Johnson, Courtney Hall and Andrea Fenning.

7:30 p.m. Seminole Community College men at Florida Junior College. SCC, 17-9 overall and 7-3 in the Five Star Conference, travels to Jacksonville tonight to take on Florida Junior College. The Raiders are coming off a 76-58 rout of Central Florida Community College, which vaulted SCC into sole possession of second place in the conference. The second place team at the end of the regular season, hosts the conference tournament.

For SCC, Keith Whitney and Jimmy Payton start at the guards, Ricky Sutton and Delvin Everett are the forwards and Luis Phelps is the center. Jerry Smith had arthroscopic surgery on an injured knee last Friday and is expected to miss at least two weeks of action. Meanwhile, 6-10 center Rudy Kuiper is starting his comeback after a severely sprained ankle sidelined him earlier in the season.

Santa Fe Community College at SCC women

The Lady Raiders have a tough task tonight as they go up against one of the state's top teams, Santa Fe.

SCC stands 11-13 overall and 0-3 in the Mid-Florida Conference and needs an upset tonight if it is to stay in the running for the conference title.

Val Roister poured in 35 points in the Lady Raiders 117-75 rout of Edison Monday night while teammate Katrina Anderson added 19. Also starting for SCC are Sue Winterheimer at center and the guards are either Cathy Jones or Evelyn Smith at one position with either Mindy Patrick, if over an injury, or Mary Jo Miller at point guard. Missy McClelland is strong off the bench.

Gretzky Scores 4 Goals As Campbell Breaks String

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI) — The Prince of Wales Conference All-Stars must have been prepared for an onslaught by Wayne Gretzky, but they could not possibly have expected to be stoned by John Garrett. And that's exactly what happened Tuesday night in the 35th NHL All-Star Game, as the Campbell Conference atoned for losing six of the previous seven classics with a 9-3 rout of the Wales.

Gretzky scored four third-period goals, and he needed all of them to steal the Most Valuable Player Award from Garrett.

The unlikely hero for the Wales stars was acquired by Vancouver just last week and was forced into All-Star action when No. 1 Canucks' goaltender Richard Brodeur was injured. Garrett came in midway through the second period with the score, 2-2, to relieve Murray Bannerman; he stopped eight shots in that period and allowed only one third-period goal.

"Garrett was tremendous," said Wales Coach Al Arbour. "He was very effective for them."

Spurs Outlast Detroit In OT

United Press International

The San Antonio Spurs may be traveling a little lighter in the future.

"I believe we have the money off our backs and have turned the corner," Mike Mitchell said Tuesday night, after the Spurs broke a three-game losing streak with a 147-141 victory over the Detroit Pistons at San Antonio, Texas.

Artis Gilmore scored seven of his 26 points in overtime and George Gervin poured in 41 points to offset a 46-point effort by Isiah Thomas.

Thomas posted a career high, including six points in overtime, and Kelly Tripucka added 34 points for the Pistons. Mitchell had 28 points, 11 assists and 10 rebounds for San Antonio.

"This was a great game, fantastic shooting," said San Antonio Coach Stan Albeck. "I believe this game will get us over the hump."

San Antonio's Mike Dunleavy hit a 3-pointer in regulation to send the game into overtime. Thomas had put Detroit up, 133-130, on a free throw. Tripucka had 12 points in the same period, including a field goal that gave the Pistons a 131-130 lead. "Dunleavy's shot shouldn't have gone in," said Tripucka, "but I feel somewhere down the line we'll win a game like this."

In other games, New Jersey stopped Atlanta, 115-109, Washington downed Boston, 104-101, in overtime, Portland defeated Chicago, 109-93, Houston beat Kansas City, 116-115; in overtime, Dallas got by Phoenix, 112-100, Los Angeles edged Seattle, 121-118, and San Diego romped over Denver, 125-98.

Sale Of Cavs Falls Through

RICHFIELD, Ohio (UPI) — The proposed sale of the troubled Cleveland Cavaliers has fallen through because owner Ted Stepien insisted on trading his No. 1 center.

Real estate developer John Ferchill broke off negotiations Tuesday, saying the trade of James Edwards had changed the complexion of the team.

'Clean' Drew Rejoins Jazz

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Veteran forward John Drew has already won the admiration of the Utah Jazz, and now the club hopes he will get a bonus — from the NBA.

Drew left the Jazz voluntarily last November, enrolling in an NBA-supervised treatment program for drug and alcohol abuse. He was given a clean bill of health in mid-January and rejoined Utah in time to play at Phoenix Feb. 2.

The 6-foot-6 forward had averaged 14 points during Utah's first nine games this year, before leaving the team with full pay. Since his return, Drew has made quite a comeback.

"In the three games since John has been back in the lineup, he is averaging 25 points and three rebounds, shooting 65 percent from the floor," said Jazz Coach-GM Frank Layden.

Dolphins, City At Odds

MIAMI (UPI) — Miami and the Dolphins are at odds again over rental of the Orange Bowl stadium. This time the issue is whether the NFL club should pay the city rental for games wiped out in the players' strike.

City officials are suing the franchise for $135,000 rent that was not paid during the 57-day walkout.

In the lawsuit filed Monday, the city asks for the lost rent, attorneys' fees and interest on rent since Jan. 1, when the city claims the payment was due.

The suit says, according to the team's bitterly negotiated 6-year-old contract to rent the stadium, the Dolphins must pay rent for at least nine regular season or preseason games in 1982, at $45,000 a game.

City officials say the agreement mandates the rent be paid regardless of whether the games were played.

Robert L. Shevin, a former Florida attorney general who is representing the Dolphins, said team owners cannot be held responsible for canceled games.

"We've got the issue of impossibility during the period the games were missed. We couldn't very well play without players," Shevin said.

Shevin said he will also seek to prove the city lost no money because it was insured. But city officials said the $280,000 they hope to collect will cover only lost earnings from concessions and parking, not rent.

Cowboys Dominate Stars

NEW YORK (UPI) — Although the Washington Redskins are wearing the shiny Super Bowl rings, the Dallas Cowboys have the NFC's most lustrous stars.

In voting by 56 writers, four from each NFC city, the Cowboys led all clubs with five players named to the first squad in UPI's 1982 NFC All-Star team, released Tuesday.

Washington's record-setting kicker Mark Moseley and New York Giants' outside linebacker Lawrence Taylor were the only unanimous choices.

Running back Tony Dorsett and tackle Pat Donovan made the first team on offense for the Cowboys while tackle Randy White, inside linebacker Bob Bruening and cornerback Everson Walls represent Dallas on the first-team defense.

UCF Signs Lions' Johnson

College Football

New University of Central Florida football coach Lou Saban wants to go "big time" with the Knights' program. He took his first big step in that direction today by signing six Central Florida area athletes.

Heading the list from Seminole County is Oviedo linebacker Tommy Johnson, a Third Team 3A All State selection. Osceola's elusive halfback Lorenza "Chicken" Rivers, who took the Kowboys to second place in the state, also signed along with defensive back teammate Kenny Blanford.

"We feel we got six excellent players from this area," said Saban today. "We're very happy with the signings."

The Knights also landed David Slockett, a slashing running back from Colonial, David Woods, a wide receiver from Boone, and Vic Riddle, a defensive back from Lakeland. Riddle scored three touchdowns — rushing, receiving and an interception — when Kathleen whipped Seminole last year.

"They're (UCF) getting a good one," said Oviedo coach Jack Blanton. "Tommy (Johnson) is a tremendous hitter and has a great nose for the ball."

Johnson, 6-2½ and 195 pounds, is expected to fill the void left by Casselberry's Billy Giovanetti, a four-year starter for the Knights. Giovanetti, who earned honorable mention All-America status, signed a two-year contract to play for the Tampa Bay

Bandits after his collegiate career ended. Johnson, who was named to All-Orange Belt and All-County teams for the second straight year, led the Lions to an 8-3 year by making 100 tackles. Oviedo won its last seven games.

Elsewhere in college commitments, Lyman's Mike Hill is expected to settle on the Air Force Academy while teammate Willis Perry is being lured by Vanderbilt who plucked Lake Howell's top-notch wide receiver Chuck Scott two years ago.

Hill and Perry led the Greyhounds to their first Five Star Conference championship. Hill was a First Team All State choice while Perry, who was injured near the end of the season, was an honorable mention choice.

Hill is a linebacker and Perry is a defensive back and wide receiver.

Mantle Smiles From The Bench

NEW YORK (UPI) — On the outside, he smiled a lot and was almost cavalier about it.

Hall of Famer Mickey Mantle was trying to tell everybody he wasn't that upset over being booted out of baseball for joining the Claridge Hotel and Casino in Atlantic City, N.J., as its director of sports promotions. He wasn't going to jail, was he?

"He wasn't doing very much in baseball, anyway. So what was Bowie Kuhn actually taking away from him by ordering him to throw in his uniform the same way he had done with Willie Mays. Nothing minus nothing was still nothing, wasn't it?"

"I'm not doing anything I'm ashamed of," said the Yankees' 51-year-old former center fielder. "It's not like I'm gonna stand out in front of the hotel and say to a guy — 'Hey, c'mon in here and gamble.' I'm gonna host five or six golf tournaments, take part in some celebrity roasts and things like that. It's gonna be fun."

Inside, though, it hurt. You could tell it by some of the other things Mantle said.

"Yeah, it makes you think," he confessed to one newsman, who had asked him if he had taken into account what the commissioner's action would mean to him in the long run.

"I thought about it a long time," Mantle said. "I spoke to Billy (Martin) about it and he was asking me if I had to do it. I told him I was making 20-30 public appearances around the country a year and this way I won't have to be traveling so much. One of the reasons I retired when I was 36 was the traveling. That and the same old routine every day. You can't go downstairs in the hotels without being surrounded, you sit in the room by yourself. It gets unbearable."

Milton Richman

Mantle's new job pays him $100,000, the same annual salary he got in his last seven years with the Yankees before retiring at the end of 1968.

The only tangible connection he has had with the game since his retirement was serving as an instructor with the Yankees each spring at their Fort Lauderdale, Fla., training camp. Essentially that was a "token" association, anyway.

"If they wanted someone to strike out, they'd call me," he joked about what he did with the Yankees in the spring. "It really was just public relations. I was not on the payroll... hardly. So I'm not gonna miss it."

Not being able to participate in spring training with the Yankees is about the only penalty Mantle will pay for taking his new job although he cannot join any club in a working capacity until he ends this association.

Mantle was informed of that in a letter from Kuhn that was hand delivered to him at his hotel in New York Tuesday morning.

"I was expecting it," he said. "I called him (Kuhn), but he wasn't in. I wanted to tell him I understood what he had to do and he shouldn't feel bad about it."

Kuhn did feel badly about it. But he also felt he had established the ground rules with Mays and there was nothing he could do but adhere to them in Mantle's case.

"He sent the letter up to me this morning and said he tried to call me in Dallas," Mantle talked about Kuhn's communication. "It was a nice letter."

Mantle made a point of explaining he had worked for the late Del Webb all the years he had played for the Yankees and Webb was one of the team's co-owners and the hotel and casino he was going with now is part of the Webb organization.

"So what's the real difference?" he wanted to know.

By coincidence, both of Mantle's twin brothers, Roy and Ray, work as pit bosses in Las Vegas hotel gambling casinos.

He served as first base coach with the Yankees briefly in 1970 but didn't particularly care for the job.

"I've been offered coaching jobs," he said. "Coaches don't make a helluva lotta money. Can you imagine me making $15,000 coaching for Billy and him making $500,000?"

"What about managing?"

"I probably could never manage," he said, straight up as always. Then he laughed — "You know what I always say — great ballplayers don't make good managers. It takes guys like Billy and Ralph Houk. Smart guys like them. I was never a heady ballplayer."

BASEBALL BLOOMS IN SEMINOLE COUNTY

Sam Momary, Lake Brantley baseball coach, lets his hitters know where the strike zone is. Momary and his Patriots open the baseball season Thursday when they meet Titusville at 5 p.m. in the first round of the Lyman High School Invitational Baseball Tournament. Coach Bob McCullough's host Greyhounds play Leesburg at 7:30 p.m. The double-elimination tournament continues with losers playing Friday at 5:30 p.m. and winners at 8 p.m. The final games will begin Saturday at 1 p.m., 4 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. (if necessary). Locally, coach Bobby Lundquist tests his Sanford Fighting Seminoles in the Fifth Annual Alumni game Saturday at Sanford Memorial Stadium at 1 p.m. Montreal Expo outfielder Tim Raines is expected to play along with brothers Ned, Levi and Sam. Former San Francisco Giant minor leaguer David Wiggins along with Terry, Robert and Dean Smith should also be on hand. On Thursday, Feb. 17, the Seminoles host Oviedo, Lake Mary and Lake Howell in the Annual Seminole County Baseball Tournament. Games run through Saturday.

IN BRIEF

Increasing Drinking Age Opposed By Tourist Group

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Representatives of Florida's tourism and entertainment industries say raising the legal drinking age from 19 to 21 would unfairly discriminate against young people, particularly young women.

Officials of the Florida Entertainment & Dining Association told a news conference Tuesday that Florida businesses would lose at least $500 million annually and the state would be out at least $25 million in sales tax revenues with the change.

Robert Snow, a director of the Orlando-based association, said available studies show that drivers between 18 and 21 are involved proportionately in no more alcohol-related highway accidents than older drivers.

"We think it's a burn rap," he said. The association also asserted that raising the drinking age would discriminate against young women.

City Seeks Nuclear Freeze

CLEARWATER (UPI) — By a resounding 2-1 margin voters made Clearwater the first Florida city to call for a nuclear weapons freeze.

The final vote late Tuesday was 13,585 in favor and 5,785 against.

Supporters of the referendum were ecstatic, declaring the vote a sign that the nation is moving behind the call for a nuclear weapons freeze.

"It's just overwhelming," said Paul Blanshard, chairman of the Upper Pinellas Nuclear Freeze Coalition. "I think the other cities in Florida will now start to do the same thing. Each vote will influence the congressional delegations."

The referendum calls for the United States and Russia to halt "testing, production and further deployment of nuclear weapons, and of new delivery systems" in a mutually verifiable way.

Fleas Love Florida, Too

MIAMI (UPI) — Mild winter temperatures in south Florida this season may bring more tourists — but they will also bring more fleas, perhaps billions more, say veterinarians and insect experts.

The experts say the flea problem in south Florida might be the worst in the country — and will get worse before it gets better.

"There's been a tremendous population of fleas building up in Florida," said Phillip Koehler, an entomologist at the University of Florida. "Florida generally has the worst flea problem in the country. The sandy soils and warm temperatures are ideal for flea breeding," he said earlier this week.

DER Seeks Comments Thursday On Protective Status For 3 Parks

The Department of Environmental Regulation (DER) will hold a public workshop at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Westmonte Civic Center, 500 Spring Oaks Boulevard in Altamonte Springs, to receive public comments on a petition to have portions of the Wekiva River, Little Wekiva River and Rock Springs Run designated as Outstanding Florida Waters.

The protective status is sought by Friends of the Wekiva and is endorsed by the League of Women Voters of Seminole County.

According to the Florida Farm Bureau, the designation could significantly impact farming practices by limiting runoff and certain agri-chemical use.

Previous efforts to safeguard the Wekiva and Little Wekiva have resulted in positive steps to prevent further degradation. Altamonte Springs is exploring innovative ways and means to improve the quality of its waste water discharge into the Little Wekiva so that its anticipated future increase in volume will not increase the nutrient load that fosters weed growth.

Although there are no sure answers yet, the city is searching out new technologies that can accommodate growth without doing unnecessary harm to the Wekiva.

Preliminary to acquisition of the Consolidated Ranch Tract located between Rock Springs Run and the Wekiva River, the state has let bids on two appraisal estimates. The purchase of the Wekiva tract is currently the Number 2 priority for 1983 on the state's list under the Conservation and Restoration Lands Act. An appraisal is the first step toward purchase.

U.S. Today Debuts In Florida

MIAMI (UPI) — A new national newspaper distributed by satellite makes its debut in Florida today.

USA Today, a Washington-based product of Gannett Co., will be distributed in the morning Monday through Friday in south Florida, Orlando and Tampa. The paper will sell for 25 cents a copy at news racks throughout the three urban areas. "I think all of Florida is high on our list of target areas because the state is made up of people who are mobile and who come from somewhere else," said Allen Neuharth, chairman and president of Gannett Co., USA Today's parent firm. Gannett officials said the paper, a mix of short news stories and splashy graphics with virtually no local news coverage, will be available to 54 percent of the U.S. population when it begins circulating in New York April 11.

The ambitious national daily announced last week it had topped the half-million mark for paid circulation less than five months after its first issue came out Sept. 15 in the Washington-Baltimore area.

Coleman Has Birthday In Hospital

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gary Coleman spent his 15th birthday in a hospital bed, but first lady Nancy Reagan brightened the day for the young star of TV's "Diff'rent Strokes" with a birthday card.

Coleman entered UCLA Medical Center Sunday in anticipation of a long-awaited kidney transplant. But an infection prevented the surgery. Instead, doctors operated to drain an abscess from a transplant 10 years ago.

Coleman received many flowers, presents and cards, including a birthday card from Mrs. Reagan that said, "Best wishes to my co-star." The first lady is scheduled to appear in a "Diff'rent Strokes" episode next month. Coleman and Mrs. Reagan met a few weeks ago when he went to Washington for a photo session. He was listed in stable condition Tuesday.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Sharon Fighting For His Political Survival

JERUSALEM (UPI) — A defiant Defense Minister Ariel Sharon resisted mounting pressure for his resignation today over the Beirut massacre commission's ruling that he bore personal responsibility for the refugee camp slaughter.

Prime Minister Menachem Begin called a second special session today to discuss the inquiry findings that sent shock waves through Israel's political establishment and could affect U.S. efforts toward a Middle East peace accord.

A clear majority of Begin's ministers believe the government must accept the recommendations of the three-member panel, a view a government statement Tuesday indicated was shared by Sharon himself.

The defense minister, however, indicated at Tuesday's tense Cabinet meeting he would not resign, leaving it to Begin to fire him, Israel Radio said.

Two long-time Begin friends said today, however, the prime minister would not fire Sharon but would instead offer his own resignation.

"It is absolutely my opinion Menachem Begin will not bring himself to dismiss a man like Sharon, who was so courageous and did so much for Israel in the Yom Kippur (1973 Middle East) War," said one frequent adviser.

"Begin will offer his own resignation," another long-time friend of the prime minister predicted. "Public opinion will then force Sharon to resign."

The commission recommended Sharon quit or be fired because of his "personal responsibility" for the Sept. 16-18 massacre.

The Israeli political crisis surrounding the Beirut massacre report plunged into doubt the immediate future of Lebanon's efforts to secure a quick withdrawal of Israel's 30,000 troops.

Guatemala Frees American

GUATEMALA CITY (UPI) — Guatemala made a U.S. oil executive "real happy" by dropping charges that he and a Spanish companion led a bloody guerrilla raid and clearing the way for the couple to return today to Colorado.

Michael Ernest, 27, and Maria Monteverde, 27, a native of Spain, were to fly to his Golden, Colo., home today after ending a 28-day imprisonment on charges that could have led to execution under Guatemalan martial law.

Cook Of The Week

Baking Way Of Life For 4-H Member

By LOU CHILDERS
Herald Correspondent

Linda Nearhoof's recipe for chocolate chip cookies is one she says "has been in the family" for a long time. She was born in Marengo, Iowa, a small town near Iowa City with a population of approximately 2,500.

According to Linda, making homemade cookies, baking bread and fresh cinnamon rolls was just a part of life for her and an older sister, Roseann. "Most Saturday mornings we baked at least one loaf of white bread and some sweet rolls."

"My parents farmed," she continues, "and we girls did a lot of the cooking once we were old enough." Linda's culinary training was enhanced by more practical experience during 8 years of participating in a local 4-H Club. The recipe for Date Nut Bread came from one of her former 4-H leaders.

Other avenues of interest opened for Linda in 4-H, and in her senior year of high school she won a trip to Chicago for a week as a result of awards she received in photography, citizenship, and home and gardens improvements.

After graduating from Mercy Hospital in Cedar Rapids with an LPN degree, Linda worked for the hospital 12 years. Then she met and married Steve, eventually moving to Spooner, Wis. Last January they settled in Geneva with their daughters, Therese and Paula. Steve is an engineer at Spangberg-Carlson in Lake Mary.

"Recently I have been taking advantage of the excellent selection of cookbooks in the Seminole County Bookmobile," Linda says. Some of the recipes "just sound good" to her, and she tries them. Goopy Potatoes is one such recipe, she says.

Creativity often enters into Linda's cooking. Her own recipe for Zippy Bar-B-Que calls for 1 tablespoon of crushed red pepper. "This sauce is good on ribs and chicken, or it can be used with ground beef to make sloppy joes."

Linda says she is looking forward to some warmer weather so she can make her Macaroni Summer Salad. "This recipe is also good when varied by substituting Italian dressing for the mayonnaise and changing the chopped ham to chicken or tuna."

CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES

1/2 cup shortening
6 tablespoons white sugar
6 tablespoons brown sugar
1 egg
1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1/2 pound semisweet chocolate pieces
Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Measure all ingredients, combine and mix well adding chocolate pieces, nuts and vanilla last. Drop by teaspoons on a greased cookie sheet. Bake 7 to 9 minutes. Yield: 2 to 3 dozen.

DATE NUT BREAD

1 cup dates, chopped fine
1/2 teaspoon soda
1 cup boiling water
1 cup white sugar
2 eggs, beaten

Linda Nearhoof serves favorite cookies.

1 1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup black walnuts
In small bowl, mix dates, soda and boiling water. Allow to cool. In another small bowl, cream together sugar and beaten eggs. Sift dry ingredients together. Add date mixture and sugar and egg mixture. Mix well and pour into a greased loaf pan, or a greased 1 pound coffee can. Bake for 45 minutes in a 325 degree oven. Loosen from pan before completely cooled.

GOOEY POTATOES

6 potatoes diced and boiled
1 package (8 oz.) sliced cheddar cheese, diced
1/2 medium onion, chopped
1/2 cup butter or margarine
6 slices crisp cooked bacon, broken up dash of garlic
Cook potatoes and drain. Saute onions in butter. Add all other ingredients to skillet except cheese. Combine and stir; as mixture warms up, add cheese and continue stirring. Garnish with paprika and serve hot. Yield: 4 servings.

ZIPPY BAR-B-QUE SAUCE

1 cup catsup
1/4 cup water

SMCA's 3rd Concert

Classical Guitarist To Appear

The third concert offered by the Seminole Mutual Concert Association to its members and their guests will be a recital by Charles Duncan, gifted classical guitarist, at 8 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 10, at Lake Mary High School.

Ernst of the Eastman School of Music, has earned critical acclaim. Members may bring house guests by making a donation to the concert association.

Duncan was awarded, on a competitive basis, the Spanish Ministry of Foreign Affairs Scholarship to attend the Segovia Master Class in Santiago de Compostela, Spain. He has also studied with Jose Tomas in Spain and Jack Duarte in London.

'Miss Sanford' Contestants 'Briefed' At Orientation

The Second Annual Miss Sanford Scholarship Pageant is officially off and running.

Orientation was held for the 13 contestants on Sunday, Jan. 23, at 2 p.m. at the Sanford Woman's Club.

Conducted by the contestant chairman Beverly Huffman, the meeting contained a wealth of information on the workings of a pageant.

Several speakers were available to share facts and ideas with the contestants including Carole Pegram, co-chairman of the pageant.

Lee Crowell, Region 3 Director, Miss Florida Pageant Board, spoke on judging, interviews and talent competition.

Martha Yancey spoke on the history and an update of Sanford. She also explained some of the involvements the new Miss Sanford will have with upcoming area activities.

Dean Herman MacGuire, Miss Florida 1981-82, spoke on swimsuit and evening gown competitions, giving insight on interviews and pageant beauty tips.

A film on the 1982 Miss Florida Pageant showed segments of the contestants of that pageant in talent, swimsuit and evening gown competitions. It included the interview with Deanna Pitman and the finale as she was crowned Miss Florida 1982, giving contestants inspiration and adding that "chill-bump" excitement of a pageant.

The Jr. Woman's Club of Sanford, Inc. is sponsoring the Second Annual Miss Sanford Scholarship Pageant to be held March 12, at the Lake Mary High School Auditorium. This is a preliminary to the Miss Florida and Miss America Pageants.

BSP Valentine Girl Honored

The Sleepy Hollow Cove home of Al Kurtz was the setting for the meeting of the Xi Theta Epsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

President Faye Lord opened the meeting. Mrs. Kurtz read a Valentine friendship poem after which she asked everyone to adjourn into the dining room where Valentine Girl Ginny Hagan was honored with a heart shaped cake and a corsage. She was also presented with a heart-shaped candy dish and a sweetheart charm for her bracelet.

A welcome was given to guest Vickie Hughes and Carol Keth who were visiting at the meeting.

Social chairman Donna Frank reminded members of the Valentine Ball, Feb. 12, and made plans for some of the couples to meet and go out to dinner before the ball. Reservations can be made through Vertis Sauls, 322-8830.

Ways and means chairman Vickie Hall explained some of the research seminars coming up this month.

Convention chairman Linda Morris reported that a room has been booked for those going to convention.

Vickie Hall reported that the chapter's obligations to the ball were completed.

Refreshments were served to: Donna Frank, Ruth Gaines, Ginny Hagan, Vickie Hall, Al Kurtz, Faye Lord, Linda Morris, Tracey Wight, Laurel Rodgers, Vickie Hughes and Carol Keth.

Guests Who Eat Food Fast Pay Hostess Compliment

DEAR ABBY: I had guests for dinner three times during the holidays. I set a beautiful table and take a great deal of pride in my cooking.

I made everything from scratch, including the turkey dressing, hot breads and desserts. All my efforts seemed so worthless because my guests tore into the food and ate so fast you would have thought they were on a 15-minute lunch break at a hamburger stand!

What is a hostess to do? Should I have tapped my water glass with a fork to get everyone's attention, and said, "Whoa ... please slow down"?

DISCOURAGED

DEAR DISCOURAGED: Although it's discouraging to see hours of careful preparation gobbled up in a matter of minutes, hold your tongue. Your guests are paying you a compliment.

To suggest that they slow down would only embarrass them and make everyone feel self-conscious.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been invited to a wedding in Chicago next June. Our host and hostess (distant relatives) have asked us to let them know soon if we plan to come so they can reserve "a block of rooms" for all the out-of-town guests. We do plan to attend.

My question: Who pays for the room they reserve for us? If we are expected to pay for it, we don't want to be stuck with one that's too expensive.

How do we handle this? We don't want to be crude, but neither do we want to risk a surprise we can't afford.

COUNTRY COUSINS

DEAR COUSINS: Unless your relatives are very well-to-do, and generous to boot, the guests are probably expected to pick up their own tabs. But leave nothing to chance. Call or write, and ask: (1) Who is paying for the room? (2) How much will it cost?

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for saying that a doctor doesn't always "know" how long a patient has to live; he can only predict.

My grandfather was told that he had six months to live in 1919, 1924, 1927, 1944, 1958 and then again in 1968.

Dear Abby

Grandpa went to be with the Lord in 1982, outliving every doctor who told him when he was going to die.

J.P. IN BAY SHORE, N.Y.

DEAR ABBY: This isn't a problem, but as it concerns you, I thought it was worth sharing.

I love children and have served as a summer camp director for many years. A few years ago, the children asked me to tell them a Christmas story, so I told them about the story of Abigail, the innkeeper's daughter in Bethlehem. Briefly, my story goes like this:

An innkeeper had a daughter named Abigail who was the brat of the village. Nobody could stand her, and she was generally known as the Bethlehem brat. However, on the night that Jesus was born, when she heard the goings-on in the stable, she went down to have a look, and there she found Mary and Joseph and the baby. Mary let Abigail hold the baby Jesus, with the result that she became a very changed little girl, and she never again was known as "that brat, Abigail," or the brat of Bethlehem.

At this point in the story, a 10-year-old boy raised his hand and said, "I'll bet I know what they called her!" I said, "Do you, Luv?" And he replied, "Yes, Dear Abby!"

I'd never have thought of that in a million years, would you?

KATHLEEN PEATIE CUMMING, VICTORIA, B.C.

DEAR KATHLEEN: Probably not. But the folks back in Sioux City, Iowa, might have guessed: "One of the Friedman twins."

Every teen-ager should know the truth about drugs, sex, and how to be happy. For Abby's booklet, send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

SPD HONORS CLUBWOMEN

Sgt. William Bernosky of the Sanford Police Department reads a citation to: from left, Martha Yancey, Pat Foster, Bill Gielow and Vivian Buck, members of the Woman's Club of Sanford. Bernosky commends the clubwomen for their participation in the Neighborhood Watch Program under the club's Public Affairs Department and the Civic Improvement Project. The club welcome sign on U.S. Highway 17-92 proclaiming Sanford as a Neighborhood Watch Community is the only sign in Florida of this nature, according to Bernosky.

UDC Chapter To Furnish Room At Museum

The Norman deVere Howard Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy met at the home of Mrs. Harold Jones in Altamonte Springs. Mrs. Charles Hobson was co-hostess.

Director of District 3, Mrs. Walter A. Williams, Orlando, presided. Reports of Division and District officers and Chapter presidents were heard. Mrs. Hobson reported for the Norman deVere Howard Chapter and announced present plans for the establishment of Seminole County Historical Museum of which the chapter will have a distinctive part. According to Mrs. Zike, chairman of the UDC part of the project, filing cabinets and old showcases of the Civil War era are needed for records. Anyone who would like to contribute or loan artifacts and objects for the UDC room relating to the War between the States era may contact any member of the chapter for information.

Mrs. Troy Ray gave the program and spoke on the comparisons of Virginia's two noblest sons, George Washington and Robert E. Lee. Both Washington and Lee were born in Westmoreland County, Va., she said. Washington enjoyed many advantages that Lee did not possess. He was experienced in politics and was able to get more from the United States Congress than Lee was able to obtain from the Confederate Congress.

Lee, on the other hand had an advantage which Washington did not possess. He had excellent military training and was an experienced soldier, Mrs. Ray said.

In 1788-89 Washington hesitated to accept the Presidency of the United States because he was not sure of himself experimenting with a new form of government, but it is to his eternal credit that he did accept the presidency and became not only the first but also the greatest President this country has ever had.

As to the military ability of the two men, Washington has been greatly underrated and was said to have won most of his battles and won the war. Lee won nearly all of his battles and lost his war. Yet Lee, in defeat was as great as Washington in victory. He was one of those few persons who was born great; Washington was not born great but he achieved greatness.

Mrs. Ray stated many of the world's greatest men have thought they were defeated but their lives have enriched all.

Refreshments were served to members and one visitor, Mrs. Edna Kustes, house guest of Mrs. Hobson.

James P. Costello, D.D.S.

REA Reviews 'Education's Early Years'

Over 70 members and guests of the Seminole County Retired Educator's Association attended a covered dish luncheon in Fellowship Hall of the United Methodist Church, Sanford. Following the luncheon, Kay Lee and Kate Nash gave a slide presentation of "Education's Early Years in Seminole County." The two teachers have been working on this project for the past year and are looking for pictures of early county schools and of classes that attended these early schools. This is an ongoing project.

Members were honored to have as a guest member at this meeting, Mr. Willie L. Sieg, now 92 years old, who with his wife was for so many years an active leader in the county school system.

Mr. Sieg built a school in Chuluota when he and his wife, Mamye, taught there. Later, the Siegs taught at Geneva for many years. Their contribution to education is an inspiration to educators in the county.

President Murray then conducted the regular business meeting. The next meeting will be March 8 at Fellowship Hall.

Hearty And Satisfying Citrus Puddings Recreate By-Gone Days

Few desserts are as redolent with pleasant associations and as comforting to the spirit as pudding. You remember, the aromatic homemade kind that prepared puddings just can't measure up to. Hearty and satisfying, they evoke childhood memories of being pampered after an illness, of cozy dinners on chilly nights.

Aching with nostalgia? Well, you can recreate the warmth of by-gone days by making your own puddings from sturdy basics like tapioca, bread and rice, enhanced by the natural piquancy of Florida citrus. They're really quite simple, and the results will win you huzzahs from those you serve them to.

Orange Tapioca Pudding adds fresh orange sections and juice, and whipping cream to quick-cooking tapioca. Flavorful citrus permeates the pudding, and lends solid interest to its creamy texture. Stirred over low heat, this special dessert requires only five minutes cooking time.

is the basis for Florida Bread Pudding. Baked with orange juice, and grated rind, it is rich and custardy, with the crunch of almonds for accent. And it couldn't taste better if Mom herself had done it.

In Orange Rice Pudding, the solid old standard gets a touch of modern sophistication. The eggs, milk, vanilla and raisins are still there, but this special citrus recipe calls on orange juice to supply much of the moisture that makes rice pudding the stuff dreams are made of. Sections of two whole oranges baked into the pudding add extra body and eye appeal.

So, fill your kitchen with the fragrance of food for memory. Make puddings that serve as nourishing snacks as well as desserts.

ORANGE TAPIOCA PUDDING

1 cup Florida orange sections
 Florida orange juice
 14 cups cold water
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/4 cup quick cooking tapioca

1/4 teaspoon salt
 1 cup heavy cream, shipped
 To section oranges, cut slice from top, then cut off peel in strips from top to bottom, cutting deep enough to remove white membrane. Cut slice from bottom. Or cut peel round and round spiral fashion. Go over fruit again, removing any remaining white membrane. Cut along side of each dividing membrane from outside to middle of core. Remove section by section over bowl to retain juice from fruit. To juice from fruit add enough orange juice to make 1 cup. Combine cold water, sugar, tapioca and salt in a saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, 5 minutes. Cool to lukewarm. Stir in orange juice; chill. Fold whipped cream and orange sections into orange tapioca. Chill until thickened, about 1 hour. Turn into a bowl or parfait glasses. Garnish with whipped cream. Yield: 6 servings.

FLORIDA BREAD PUDDING

15 thin slices French bread
 2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
 1/4 cup sliced almonds
 4 eggs
 1/2 cup sugar
 2 teaspoons grated orange rind

1/4 teaspoon salt
 2 cups milk
 1 cup Florida orange juice
 Spread one side of each bread slice with butter. In 1 1/2 quart baking dish, layer bread, buttered side down, and sprinkle with almonds. Beat together eggs, sugar, orange rind, salt, milk and orange juice. Pour over bread slices and let stand 30 minutes. Place baking dish in pan of hot water and bake in 350 degree oven 45 minutes to 1 hour or until tip of knife inserted in center comes out clean. Serve warm or cold. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

ORANGE RICE PUDDING

1/4 cup uncooked regular rice
 1 1/2 cups Florida orange juice, divided
 1/4 cup water
 3 eggs
 2 1/2 cups milk
 1/4 cup sugar

rind
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 2 Florida oranges, sectioned

1/4 cup raisins
 Measure rice in saucepan; add 3/4 cup orange juice and water. Cover and simmer 20 minutes or until rice is tender. In large bowl beat eggs with

and cooked rice; mix well. Turn into 2 quart baking dish. Place in pan of hot water and

bake in 300 degree oven 1 hour and 30 to 45 minutes, until tip of knife inserted in center of

Pinto Bean Stew Full Of Protein

Beans are a good source of protein. They also are an economical way to increase the family's protein intake for very little cost per serving.

PINTO BEAN STEW
2 cups (1 pound) dry pinto beans
1 ham bone
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon hot pepper sauce
1/4 cup bacon fat or shortening

1 large onion, chopped
1 garlic clove, minced
4 medium tomatoes, chopped or 1 1/4 cups canned tomatoes
1/4 cup minced parsley
1/4 teaspoon ground marjoram
1 tablespoon (or more) chili powder
Rinse and pick over beans, if necessary. In deep kettle, soak beans overnight in water to cover. The next day, add ham bone, salt and hot pepper sauce. Bring to a boil; reduce heat.

Evening Herald, Sanford, Fl. Wednesday, Feb. 9, 1983-55

Simmer covered, about 1 hour or until beans are tender. Drain beans and reserve liquid. Heat bacon fat in large skillet; cook onion and garlic in fat until golden. Add all remaining ingredients. Cover and cook about 45 minutes, stirring frequently. Combine tomato mixture with beans. Simmer covered, over low heat, another 15 minutes. Remove ham bone before serving. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6-8 servings.

Easy, Quick Tips

Remember all those simple, yet oh-so-special cooking tips and tricks your grandmother and mother used to share? There were just some things it seemed you could only learn by word of mouth.

However, in these busy times, it's often difficult to get that same personalized training. So, we've collected some of grandma's old tricks, added a few new tips, and offered them here. Cut these out and post in your kitchen or file with your recipes. And the next time you wish you had grandma here to offer some cooking tips, refer to this list. Chances are one of these tips will apply to your situation.

— For a different, but easy way to serve fresh fruit, try kabobbing it on skewers. Experiment with different shapes and colors for greater eye appeal.

— Want to serve some unique appetizers in a hurry? Wrap a slice of cheese along with a slice of ham or bologna around a pickle spear. Secure with a frilly toothpick.

— Are you using a glass pan for an oven recipe? Be sure to reduce the oven temperature 25 degrees so the dish won't bake too fast.

— Looking for a quick way to use a few meats, cheese or vegetable leftovers? Toss them in a chef's salad and serve with a cup of instant soup and a roll for a tasty meal.

— It's easy to serve yeast breads piping hot, even if they aren't fresh-baked. Simply put them in a brown paper bag or wrap in foil, sprinkle with a little water and heat 10 to 15 minutes in a 325 degree oven.

— Broiling fish? Be creative and sprinkle with a little dill, oregano or curry powder for an interesting flavor.

— Spice up your rice by mixing an envelope of instant onion soup mix into the water for 2 servings of rice.

— Preparing spaghetti squash? Give it a "pasta" flavor by adding a dash of oregano or basil.

— If you are basting meat with a glaze containing sugar, only use it the last half of the cooking time. You'll avoid burning.

— Making mashed potatoes? Blend in a hearty flavor by adding a package of instant cream of chicken soup mix in with the milk and potatoes.

— For a quick dessert, top a graham cracker with a piece of chocolate and a couple of marshmallows. Broil in a toaster oven or broiler. Enjoy!

— No need for vegetables to be ho-hum. Sauce them up with mushroom sauce made by combining instant cream of mushroom soup mix and 1/4 cup boiling water. Top with buttered bread crumbs for an added texture treat!

— When fixing a punch, make sure all the ingredients are well chilled before combining. Also, add any carbonated beverage at the last minute so as to preserve the fizz.

— Parsley is handy to use for seasoning or decoration. Simply dry a bunch, put it through a coarse sieve and store in a glass jar.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Thursday, February 10, 1983

YOUR BIRTHDAY February 10, 1983 Several small situations may develop for you this coming year which could lead to a second source of income. Don't be discouraged by their size. They can be quite profitable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Be prepared to make prompt changes in your plans today if you find they aren't working out as you hoped. This will avoid unnecessary frustrations. My 1983 predictions for Aquarians are now ready. Send $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to state your zodiac sign. Send an additional $2 for the NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet. Reveals romantic combinations and compatibilities for all signs.

FISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't expose your good ideas today to persons who have always picked them apart in the past. If you're looking to have them evaluated, go to friends who are objective.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) In career situations today it might be wise to keep your bright ideas to yourself. An unfriendly associate might try to block or claim them.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You'll have bright ideas today, but you may not execute them efficiently. What you thought would save labor could add to your workload.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Place temptation behind you today if there's a choice between spending for something new or paying an old obligation.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Try not to make important decisions in either haste or anger today. Either attitude could cloud your judgment and cause complications.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Strive to be flexible in your thinking today, especially in your dealings with co-workers. You could provoke someone who has equally rigid views.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be very selective in making any large purchases today, or you may later suffer from buyer's remorse each time the monthly bills come due.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Unless you are tactful in framing your requests to family members today, you aren't likely to receive their cooperation. Be diplomatic, not demanding.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Problems will only be compounded today if you try to blame others for your shortcomings. Look for amicable solutions instead of scapegoats.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Spell out now what's expected of everyone in any new involvement you may be putting together with friends. This will avert hard feelings later.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Selfish thinking could defeat your good ideas today. Unless there's something in it for the other guy, you're not likely to gain his cooperation.

Diet Won't Affect Your Painful Gout

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — For several years my husband has had joint pains. We assumed it was arthritis and treated it as such. He had knee pain for months. Aspirin and keeping it warm controlled the pain so he didn't see a doctor.

It finally hit him in the toe with such pain, swelling and inflammation that he couldn't walk on it. He saw the doctor and was diagnosed as having gout. The doctor put him on medication and the pain was gone in two days.

The medicine is terribly expensive. I wondered if certain foods or perhaps the method of cooking might have caused the condition to worsen.

What causes the uric acid to build up and crystallize in the joints? Does it ever go away or do you have to look forward to it the rest of your life?

DEAR READER — Gout doesn't always strike the big toe. It can involve many other joints of the body. The big toe is the classic feature and it is very painful. The higher the uric acid the more likely that crystals will form in the joint spaces and cause acute inflammation. And men are more likely to have this happen than women.

Stop worrying about your cooking. The uric acid is mostly produced by the body's cells, and the amount in the food people eat is unimportant compared to the amount the cells produce. Your cells will go right on producing uric acid regardless of the diet.

That is why the medicines of recent times have changed gout treatment. The best approach is to prevent the excessive production of uric acid by the cells and to prompt its elimination through the kidneys. There are many factors that may precipitate an acute attack. Incidentally, weight loss as from those fad starvation diets may cause an attack in people not usually prone to gout attacks.

The gout diet is included in The Health Letter 16-10, Gout, The Uric Acid Disease, which I am sending you. Others can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I had a vasectomy eight years ago due to my wife's health problems. Does a vasectomy affect the production of testosterone or the size of the testicles? What is the procedure for restoration if possible? If the testosterone is low, what sources are available? Can it be obtained from a pharmacy or as vitamin supplement?

DEAR READER — There is no evidence that a vasectomy decreases the production of testosterone in any way and no evidence that it causes the testicles to decrease in size. They do decrease anyway as a man passes middle age and starts to get older.

If the tubes have not undergone too much destruction, the severed ends can be re-connected. Some surgeons use microsurgery for this and it is successful in some, but not all, cases. Success is judged on the ability to produce adequate healthy sperm cells or induce pregnancy.

Yes, if a person needs testosterone he can obtain injections from his doctor or prescribed tablets to hold under the tongue or in the cheek for absorption. Extra testosterone, however, may not be a wise idea. It may cause prostate enlargement as well as other problems.

WIN AT BRIDGE

trump after North showed his diamond support.

South looked at the unexpected five of spades lead and thought he would have been wiser to bid either three hearts or three diamonds rather than three no-trump. It looked as if four hearts or five diamonds would have been a superior contract.

East played the Jack of spades and South stopped to do some high-powered thinking. He could take his king of spades, go to dummy for the club finesse, cash his five diamonds and get out for down one.

Then he toyed with the idea of taking the spade and trying to sneak a heart through, but gave that up as hopeless.

Finally, he came to the winning decision. East needed the ace of spades as part of his opening bid and had ducked to try to clear the suit for his partner. So South let the Jack of spades hold the first trick.

East continued with the ace and seven, but South was in control. All the defense got were the two spades and the ace of hearts.

The Quiet Andy Griffith: No More Mister Nice Guy

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — Soon after he quit portraying television's easy-going sheriff of Mayberry, Andy Griffith dreamed he beat up deputy Barney Fife.

He slugged the puny deputy again and again, mutilating Barney so badly that Griffith awoke in a sweat and frantically telephoned actor Don Knotts — who played Fife — to make sure he was safe.

"I asked my psychiatrist when I got back to California," Griffith recalled recently. "He told me I was killing my image."

The notoriety of Sheriff Andy Taylor still dogs Griffith, 15 years after "The Andy Griffith Show" left prime time airwaves as America's top-rated program and is currently in syndication in 98 television markets.

The show's popularity, however, didn't help Griffith's career. Typecast as a good ol' boy, he couldn't find work for a year. Then he set out to fight the good-natured image by playing characters Sheriff Taylor would have slapped behind bars.

He portrays a Southern land baron, for example, in the movie "Murder in Coweta County," set to air on CBS at 9 p.m. EST Feb. 15.

"It was based on a real case," Griffith said shortly after filming ended in Georgia. "This fellow owned hundreds of acres down in one county. It was called The Kingdom, and it was a feudalistic system. He took care of his own people, but if anybody crossed him, he'd kill 'em."

"He made a mistake,"

Griffith added. "His emotions ran from here to there, and he got real hot and killed a man — in another county. And the sheriff of that county was a good man, and he went after him and got him."

During his post-Mayberry period Griffith also has portrayed a motorcycle gang leader, a script-stealing cowboy actor and an insatiably political Lyndon Johnson.

But he also occasionally gets the hero's role, as was the case when he played a demonologist in another recently completed television movie purchased by NBC. And in early February, he sets sail to tape a "Love Boat" segment.

"If there's a role that fits a man my age, I'm going out for it," said Griffith, now silver-haired and in his mid-50s.

Griffith also serves as board member for a group planning North Carolina's celebration of the 400th anniversary of England's first colonization efforts. He lives part of the year on Roanoke Island in the Outer Banks, where Great Britain tried to plant its "Lost Colony" from 1584 to 1588.

He views the directorship as one more way to pay back North Carolinians for their help to him since his first performing days, when his monologue "What It Was... Was Football" established the former high school music teacher as a humorist. He is just as anxious to sing the praises of Elia Kazan, who he says taught him how to act while giving him his first national fame in the movie "A Face in the Crowd."

He is less affectionate about television's treatment of the South.

"I have a friend who lives in Rutherfordton who loves that Boss Hogg character, and I won't discuss it with him," he said. "I think 'The Dukes of Hazzard' is trash. It's very popular, I guess. Well, it goes for that 3-year-old kind of mentality. I never cared for it."

"I never considered our show a country show. It was a regional show. When I started with the old Taylor character on the Griffith show, I was hired because of a rural background," Griffith said. "Gradually, I changed that over and was less and less and less rural."

Cook A Meal For Two, Four Or More In 20 Minutes

The American household is changing — and getting smaller. According to the Census Bureau, more than half our adult population lives in single or two-person households. In fact, one and two-person households comprise the fastest growing segment of the population.

Food companies and cookware manufacturers are well aware of these demographics and have responded with products that make life easier because they fit present day lifestyles. Frozen foods are a good example. They meet both small and large family needs. The choice is yours. You can buy prepared entrees and vegetables in one or two-serving sizes. But you can also buy fish and chicken products, for example, in family-size packages that let you use just a portion and put the rest back into the freezer for another time. Many fruits, potatoes and other vegetables come in polybags. You can pour out what you need or use the whole bag, a good example of value and convenience. In either case, there are no cooked leftovers unless you want them.

Here's a suggestion for a light, easy supper that can be ready in minutes, thanks to frozen foods and "Little Dishes."

Start with a Creole Fish Bake of fish kabobs and white and wild rice with green beans, cooked with a zesty Creole sauce, prepared and served in the same cookware to minimize cleanup.

Herbed Broccoli Florets and a colorful dessert, Easy Fruit Trifle, complete the meal which can be prepared and served within 20 minutes.

CREOLE FISH BAKE
1 (1 pound) package frozen batter-dipped, French-fried fish kabobs

1 (8 ounce) can tomato sauce
1/4 cup frozen chopped onion
1/4 cup frozen chopped green pepper

1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
1 (10 or 11 ounce) package frozen rice with French-style green beans and wild rice, thawed

Parsley
Remove 18 fish kabobs (1/4 pound) and the envelope of "Sauce Makings" from package of fish kabobs. Seal package and return remainder to the freezer. Blend half the "Sauce Makings" with tomato sauce, onion, green pepper and garlic powder in small bowl to make Creole Sauce.

To assemble, spoon 1-3 cup of the Creole Sauce into each of two 6-inch "Snack-It" Little Dishes. Top each with half of rice mixture. Arrange 9 fish kabobs in diagonal rows on rice in each dish. Bake, uncovered, in preheated 350 degree F. Oven for 15 minutes. Spoon remaining Creole Sauce over fish kabobs; continue baking 5 minutes or until mixture is thoroughly heated. Garnish with parsley. Serves two.

Note: For 4 servings, use entire package of fish kabobs and double remaining ingredients. Arrange ingredients in one 2-1/2 quart oval French White Casserole. Bake in preheated 350 degree F. oven 20 minutes; top with Creole Sauce and bake 5 minutes longer or until thoroughly heated.

Variation: Use frozen chicken nuggets in place of fish kabobs. Replace "Sauce Makings" with dash of paprika and dash of pepper for Creole Sauce; proceed with above recipe.

HERBED BROCCOLI FLORETS

1 (10 ounce) package frozen broccoli florets, thawed
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

1/4 teaspoon basil
1/4 teaspoon oregano
Dash pepper

Arrange broccoli florets in 14-ounce oval "Casser-ette" dish with cover.

Melt butter in small saucepan. Stir in remaining ingredients. Spoon butter mixture over florets; toss. Cover and bake in preheated 350 degree F. oven 15 minutes or until broccoli is thoroughly heated. Serves 2.

Note: For 4 servings, double the above ingredients. Arrange broccoli in 1-quart casserole with cover. Cover; bake as given above, increasing baking time 5 minutes.

EASY FRUIT TRIFLE
1 (10 ounce) package frozen

quick-thaw mixed fruit
1/2 cup vanilla or plain yogurt
2-8 cup cubed (1/2-inch) frozen pound cake, thawed.
Thaw fruit according to package directions; drain off syrup and reserve. Set aside 2 tablespoons of fruit.

Spoon 1/4 cup yogurt into each of two dessert glasses. Spoon remaining fruit over yogurt. Top with pound cake cubes; drizzle with reserved syrup. Garnish with reserved fruit. Serves 2.

Creole Fish Bake begins with a package of frozen, French-fried fish kabobs.

Chocolate Microwaved Cake Instant Success

Two surprises motivated the name for this chocolate cake: Chocolate Cherry Surprise.

When this recipe was first introduced by microwave cooking school teachers, it became an instant favorite. Many students, having heard the myth that cakes don't bake well in the microwave oven, were surprised by the delicious results from this recipe.

The second reason for the name is because canned cherry pie filling is a surprise ingredient. You don't see cherries in the finished cake, but they add delectable flavor, extra moistness, and enhanced richness to the chocolate color.

The one microwave "truth" that cakes don't brown in the microwave doesn't make a whit of difference with this recipe, since ALL chocolate cakes are naturally brown.

This ring shape is ideal for microwaving many foods, since microwaves can penetrate more food molecules in this arrangement. There are many brands of fluted molds especially designed for microwave use.

Although this cake is excellent served plain, a fluffy topping is suggested either to frost the cake or to dollop on each serving. Extra cherry pie filling not called for in the cake recipe serves both as garnish and an added flavor treat.

CHOCOLATE CHERRY SURPRISE

Chocolate Cake:
1 pkg. (18.5 oz.) double layer chocolate cake mix
¼ cup oil

3 eggs

1 cup cherry pie filling

1 teaspoon almond extract

Lightly oil fluted tube pan; sprinkle sides of pan with granulated sugar; shake out excess. Mix together all ingredients; beat according to package directions.

Pour batter into pan. Microwave 10 minutes at 50 percent power, rotating pan once. Increase power level to High and continue cooking 6-8 minutes more, rotating one more time. Let cake stand in pan 5 minutes to finish cooking. Turn out of pan. Cool.

Conventional baking: Prepare batter as above. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 or 60 minutes or until cake tests done.

Fluffy Topping:

1 carton (9 oz.) frozen whipped topping, thawed

2 tablespoons kirsch or maraschino cherry juice

sliced almonds

Sprinkle gelatine into kirsch or juice to soften. Heat in microwave 10 - 15 seconds. Cool a minute or two, then whip mixtures into topping with wire whip. Frost cake, garnishing with sliced almonds. Refrigerate. Top with extra cherries before serving.

Celebration

February Is Potato Lover's Month

Potatoes are America's favorite vegetable. They are also one of the most versatile vegetables around—great for breakfast, lunch, dinner and snacks. You can serve potatoes every day for a month and never serve them the same way twice. So, to help you celebrate Potato Lover's Month, here are lots of serving suggestions, recipes, and ways to prepare all the potato basics.

Serving ideas:
 Souper potatoes are an easy entree. Top a baked potato with a favorite hearty homemade or canned soup like minestrone or clam chowder.
 Pizza potatoes are a cinch. Start with processed hash browns. Cook according to directions, then top with seasoned tomato sauce, cheese and favorite pizza toppings. Slip under the broiler to heat through.
 For a snacktime, make a sandwich of peanut butter and a couple of sturdy ridged potato chips. Just right for two small mouthfuls.
 Pass around potato chips to scoop up favorite soft, fruity yogurt. Sweet and salty.

Potato Hand Warmers heat tummies, too. Split open the end of a hot potato, stuff with a wedge of Cheddar cheese. Wrap in a paper napkin for great eating out-of-hand.
 For a spicy taste change, blend grated cheese, salt, spicy chili powder, and red cayenne pepper and shake over homemade or processed fries.
 A medium baked potato has only 100 calories. Top with chive-spiked cottage cheese or yogurt to keep calories low.
 Serve an entree that is just pennies per serving: Hot Diggety Dogs—frankfurters served in a fluffy baked potato with a blanket of cheese.

For Valentine's Day, serve someone you love this elegant hors d'oeuvre: Top halved, cooked little potatoes with a dollop of sour cream and a sprinkling of caviar.
 Leftovers become "freshovers" when you serve Shepherd's Pie. Combine leftover beef with onion, celery and vegetables; heat, then top with hot seasoned mashed potatoes. (Or use leftover stew.)

Today's breakfast treat: Combine yesterday's potatoes with a little onion and pan fry until golden brown. Delicious with applesauce or sour cream!

Start the morning with a crunch. Add the crisp surprise of crumbled chips tucked into a ham and cheese omelette.
 Potato skins are all the rage. Halve baked potatoes lengthwise; scoop out potato leaving 1/4-inch of potato skins. Brush skins with oil; season to taste. Bake at 475 degrees F. 15-20 minutes until crisp and browned around the edges. Top with cheese, bacon or sour cream.

Cut thick slices of leftover baked or boiled potatoes. Arrange on a cookie sheet and top with shredded cheese and chopped onion. Dab with chile salsa and place in a hot oven until cheese melts. Potatoes oie!

Try substituting reconstituted processed diced potatoes for cooked fresh ones in your favorite potato salad recipe. Fast and delicious.

Stir leftover mashed potatoes into your next pot of simmering homemade soup to add body and tasty vitamins.

Launch a couple of fried or poached eggs on a raft of crisp hash browns. Dust with grated Parmesan cheese and serve with spicy sausage links.

Sliced cooked potatoes make fine bases for elegant appetizers. Dollop with mayonnaise and top with anchovies, salami, egg slices, pimientos, cucumber slices, crumbled blue cheese or tuna salad. Sprinkle with paprika and chopped parsley, if you wish.

Combine diced cooked potatoes with crisp-tender broccoll florettes. Heat Italian-style salad dressing and toss with the hot vegetables for a zesty side dish.

Toss sliced hot potatoes with prepared pesto. Arrange in casserole and dust with grated Parmesan cheese. Place in broiler three or four minutes until top is lightly browned.

Combine seasoned mashed potatoes with drained sauerkraut. Form into patties, dust with flour, and saute in butter or margarine until browned on both sides. They are good with pork chops or ham.

To make potato filling, saute thin slices of apples and onions in butter or margarine. Mix with mashed potatoes and season with salt, pepper, celery seeds and thyme. Use to stuff a chicken for roasting.

Mix mashed potatoes with chopped anchovies and sliced green onions. Season with garlic and mound in mushroom caps. Brush with butter, dust with paprika, and bake in a hot oven for 10 minutes. Serve with broiled fish fillets or as appetizers.

Mix leftover mashed potatoes and a vinaigrette seasoned with herbs, mustard and black pepper. Serve as a savory dip for crunchy raw vegetable chunks.

In a non-stick skillet, brown sliced potatoes dusted with flour in a little olive oil. Add minced garlic, a pinch of thyme and some dry white wine. Cover and cook over low heat until potatoes are tender and liquid is absorbed. Toss with chopped parsley and salt and pepper, to taste.

A Chinese-American treat: Top baked potatoes with canned chicken chow mein and sprinkle with peanuts.

Next time you're having boiled potatoes, add a squeeze of lemon or lime before serving them. Really bring out the flavor.

For holiday tater toppings, serve mashed potatoes topped with a mound of alverred pimento and some sliced green onions. Delicious and very festive.

Quick lunch for hungry youngsters? Prepare a package of frozen hash brown potatoes. Top with slices of Cheddar cheese, split frankfurters and a few dollops of barbecue sauce. Warm in oven until cheese melts and franks are hot.

POTATO SALAD OF VICHY
 6 medium potatoes (about 2 pounds), cooked peeled and diced

1/4 cup sliced green onions
 1 cup buttermilk or plain yogurt
 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon seasoned pepper
 2 teaspoons tarragon
 1 can (16 ounces) shoestring beets, drained

In mixing bowl combine warm potatoes and onions; cool to room temperature. In measuring cup blend buttermilk, lemon juice and seasonings. Pour over potatoes, tossing to blend. Press mixture into 1 1/2 quart mold; chill thoroughly. Unmold; mound beets on top. Makes 6 servings.

VEGETABLE CONFETTI

1/4 cup butter or margarine
 1/4 cup sliced green onions
 2 cloves garlic, crushed
 Salt and pepper to taste
 3 medium potatoes (about 1 pound), cubed
 1 quart mixed fresh vegetables, cut up (broccoli, cauliflower, zucchini, mushrooms)
 1/2 cup chicken broth
 Paprika
 Melt butter in large skillet with onions, garlic, salt and pepper. Add potatoes and vegetables, tossing to coat. Stir in chicken broth. Cover; simmer until vegetables are tender, about 20 minutes. Turn into serving dish. Sprinkle with paprika. Make 6 servings.

GRATED POTATO CHEESE TORTE

5 medium potatoes (about 1 2/3 pounds), coarsely grated
 1 1/4 cups chopped onions
 2 1/4 cups shredded Cheddar cheese
 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
 1 teaspoon each salt and dill weed
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 Chopped parsley, for garnish

Coarsely grate potatoes; measure 6 cups. In large mixing bowl combine potatoes with remaining ingredients except parsley; mix thoroughly. Turn into buttered 9-inch springform pan. Bake in 450 degree oven 45 to 50 minutes, until golden brown. Loosen edges and remove side of pan. Garnish with parsley. Serve warm, cut in wedges 6 servings.

Chinese Cooking, American Style

East Meets West

In China, where there are more people to feed than in any other country in the world, there has always been a respect for food. Good food symbolizes good luck and prosperity, a cure for ills and an omen of good things to come.

The Chinese make the very most of what food they have, even down to the smallest morsels of meat or poultry, sometimes combining them with fruits, vegetables, noodles and, of course, rice. They plan their combinations so that various foods exchange flavors and textures in appealing ways. When they prepare a roast duck or rack of ribs, they are careful to seal in juices and flavor.

Perhaps it is America's own growing awareness of the value of good food that has caused such an interest in oriental cooking. Chinese cooking classes have sprung up all over the country, and many American food products have made the Chinese connection. Among the American classic ingredients that have a happy place in Chinese cuisine is corn syrup. It adds body and a smooth consistency to sauces, helps to blend flavors and causes glazes to adhere better to meats, helping to seal in moisture and flavor.

The makers of Karo corn syrup have adapted a number of Chinese meat and poultry recipes for the American palate. They are all authentic in their origins, but have been developed to suit American kitchens and cooking traditions. They include oriental ingredients prepared American style as well as American ingredients given an oriental touch. East meets West.

RED COOKED PORK WITH PINEAPPLE

1 can (20 oz.) pineapple slices in own juice
 ¾ cup light or dark corn syrup
 1-3 cup soy sauce
 1-3 cup thinly sliced green onions
 1½ tablespoons minced ginger root
 3 cloves garlic, minced or pressed
 ½ teaspoon dry mustard
 1 (2 lb.) boneless pork roast
 Drain pineapple; reserve ¼ cup juice. In medium bowl stir together corn syrup, reserved juice, soy sauce, green onions, ginger, garlic and mustard. Add pork roast; turn to coat well. Cover; refrigerate at least 6 hours, turning occasionally. Drain; reserve marinade. Place pork on rack in foil-lined roasting pan. Roast in 375 degree F oven, brushing frequently with 1 cup of the reserved marinade, about 1½ hours or until temperature on meat thermometer reaches 170 degrees F. Serve with Pineapple Sauce; garnish with pineapple slices. Serves 4 to 6.

Pineapple Sauce: In small saucepan bring 1 cup reserved marinade to boil. In small bowl stir together 1 tablespoon cornstarch and 2 tablespoons water until smooth. Stir into reserved marinade. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 1 minute. Add 4 pineapple slices and heat until pineapple is hot and glazed. Makes about 1 cup sauce.

TANGERINE BEEF

 2 tablespoons soy sauce
 ¼ teaspoon pepper
 1 pound beef flank or top round steak, thinly sliced diagonally
 1 tablespoon corn starch
 ½ cup cool beef broth
 ¼ cup dry sherry
 2 tablespoons corn oil
 ¼ cup sliced tangerine peel
 1 clove garlic, minced or pressed
 1 cup tangerine sections, membranes removed (about 5 tangerines) or mandarin orange sections.
 1 green pepper, cut in thin strips (1 cup)

In medium bowl stir together corn syrup, soy sauce and pepper. Add beef; toss to coat evenly. In small bowl stir together corn starch, broth and sherry until smooth; set aside. In large skillet or wok heat corn oil over medium-high heat. Add tangerine peel and garlic; stir fry 30 seconds. Add beef, one half at a time; stir fry 2 to 3 minutes or until browned. Return beef to skillet. Restir corn starch mixture; stir into beef. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 1 minute. Stir in tangerines and green pepper until heated through. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

PLUM SPARERIBS

2 sides (about 4 lbs.) spareribs
 salt and pepper
 1 can (16 oz.) purple plums
 1-3 cup light or dark corn syrup
 2 tablespoons soy sauce
 2 tablespoons vinegar
 1 small onion, cut in chunks
 1 clove garlic
 Sprinkle ribs with salt and pepper. Place in large saucepot; add water to cover. Bring to boil. Reduce heat; cover and simmer about 45 minutes or until tender. Drain plums; reserve syrup. Pit plums. Place plums, reserved syrup, corn syrup, soy sauce, vinegar, onion and garlic in blender container; cover. Blend on high speed 30 seconds or until smooth. Drain ribs well. Brush with sauce. Broil or grill 6 inches from source of heat, turning and basting frequently, about 20 minutes or until browned. To serve, cut into one-rib pieces. If desired, heat remaining sauce and serve with ribs. Serves 4 to 6.

JEWELLED CHICKEN

1 can (8 oz.) pineapple chunks in own juice
 ¼ cup light or dark corn syrup
 3 tablespoons vinegar
 2 tablespoons soy sauce
 1 teaspoon minced ginger root or ½ teaspoon ground ginger
 2 tablespoons corn oil
 2 whole broiler-fryer chicken breasts, halved
 1 tablespoon corn starch
 2 tablespoons water
 1½ cups assorted fruits, such as sliced peaches or plums, grapes, orange sections or pear chunks
 2 green onions, cut in 1-inch pieces (about ¼ cup)
 Drain pineapple, reserving juice in small bowl. To juice in bowl stir in corn syrup, vinegar, soy sauce and ginger. In large skillet heat corn oil over medium-high heat. Add chicken. Brown well on all sides, about 15 minutes. Pour off excess fat. Add corn syrup mixture. Cover and simmer 10 to 15 minutes or until chicken is fork-tender. Remove to serving platter; keep warm. Stir together corn starch and water until smooth. Stir into liquid in skillet. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 1 minute. Stir in pineapple chunks, assorted fruits and green onions; cook about 1 minute or until heated through. Spoon around chicken. If desired, serve over rice. Makes 4 servings.

STIR-FRY SEA AND SKY

2 tablespoons corn starch
 ½ cup cool chicken broth or bouillon
 ¼ cup light or dark corn syrup
 ¼ cup soy sauce
 3 tablespoons red wine vinegar
 4 tablespoons corn oil, divided
 1 clove garlic, minced or pressed
 ¼ to ½ teaspoon crushed dried red pepper
 1 pound boned, skinned chicken breasts, cut in thin strips
 ¼ pound large shrimp, cleaned, deveined, cut in half lengthwise
 ¼ pound mushrooms, sliced (about 1 cup)

¼ pound snow peas or green beans, trimmed, halved (about 1 cup)
 1 small sweet red pepper, cut in thin strips (about ½ cup)
 ½ cup sliced water chestnuts
 ¼ cup sliced bamboo shoots

In small bowl stir together corn starch, broth, corn syrup, soy sauce and vinegar until smooth. In large skillet or wok heat 2 tablespoons of the corn oil over medium-high heat. Add garlic and crushed dried red pepper; stir fry 30 seconds. Add chicken; stir fry 1 to 2 minutes or until chicken turns white. Remove. Add shrimp; stir fry 1 minute or until pink. Remove. Heat remaining 2 tablespoons corn oil. Add mushrooms and snow peas; stir fry 1 minute. Restir corn starch mixture; add to skillet. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 1 minute. Stir in chicken and shrimp until heated through. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Stir-Fry Chicken: Follow recipe for Stir-Fry Sea and Sky. Omit shrimp. Use 1½ pounds of boneless skinless chicken breasts, cut into thin strips.

Flavorful sauces enhance beef, spareribs, chicken.

Microwave Magic

Cabbage Dishes Rich In Nutrients

Cabbage, broccoli and brussel sprouts are abundant this time of year and at a reasonable price. These vegetables are available year round but in more plentiful supply between October and May. They are cool weather crops.

All these are members of the cabbage family and can not be done any better way than in the microwave. Red and savoy cabbage are microwaved the same as the more common green cabbage.

Cabbage is rich in Vitamin C and low in sodium and calories. To preserve nutrients, microwave just until tender. The flavor will not be strong and the color will be bright.

The general rules concerning microwaving of all fresh vegetables apply to the cabbage family. Microwave, covered, at 100 percent power for 8-8 minutes per pound and allow 5 minutes standing time to complete cooking.

This recipe is for an unusual cabbage dish which is Hungarian in origin.

CABBAGE AND NOODLES

- 4 cups shredded cabbage
- 1 small onion, thinly sliced
- 3 tablespoons butter

Midge Mycoff

Home Economist
Seminole Community College

1/2 teaspoon poppy seeds
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
2 cups cooked noodles medium width
In a 2-quart casserole combine all ingredients except egg noodles. Cover and microwave on 100 percent power for 5-6 minutes or until cabbage is tender. Stir in cooked noodles.

FRESH BROCCOLI

Broccoli is a good source of iron, Vitamin C and A. The stalks have a tough skin which can be peeled leaving a tender inside. These tender stalks can be cooked along with the tender tops. When cooking, arrange the flowery buds (lops) so that they are on the inside (or center) of the container. This provides for even cooking. Fresh broccoli is best when cooked just till tender and served with butter or a Hollandaise sauce.

BRUSSELSPROUTS

Brussel sprouts are miniature cabbage which are a good accompaniment to most meals. One pound, washed and trimmed of outer leaves, covered the microwaved at 100 percent power for 8-8 minutes. Allow to stand 3-5 minutes before serving.

Lemon butter is a good seasoning for these little cabbages.

Other members of the cabbage family are: Cauliflower, celery, cabbage and bok choy.

SPICY APPLE-NUT CAKE

Prepare 1 package Stir'n Frost spice cake mix as directed except—stir 1/2 cup finely chopped pared apple (about 1 small) and 1/4 cup chopped walnuts into cake mix before adding water. Sprinkle frosted cake with chopped walnuts if desired. 6 servings.

Microwave Directions: Prepare cake mix as directed above. Microwave on medium-low (30 percent) 5 minutes; rotate pan 1/4 turn. Microwave on high (100 percent) until cake is dry around edges and slightly moist in center; 3 to 5 minutes longer. (Or if microwave does not have multiple setting, microwave 2 to 3 1/2 minutes longer.) Cool and frost immediately. Sprinkle frosted cake with chopped walnuts if desired. Store tightly covered.

Celery Adds Tasty Crunch To Chowder

Soup and salad meals are increasingly popular, especially with those who are enjoying a more active sports life and trying to keep in shape. Such meals also fit into a schedule and eating habits of older persons who find a tasty soup satisfies them while meeting nutritional needs.

FLORIDIAN CELERY CHOWDER

- 6 slices bacon
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 2 cups diced celery
- 1 can (1 pound) tomatoes, crushed
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon basil leaves, crushed
- 1/4 teaspoon thyme leaves, crushed
- Pinch ground black pepper
- 3 cups milk or tomato juice

In medium saucepan, saute bacon until crisp. Remove bacon strips; set aside. Heat bacon fat until hot. Add onion and celery; cook and stir until onion is transparent, about 5 minutes. Add tomatoes, salt, basil, thyme and black pepper.

Bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer, covered, for 10 minutes. Add milk. Simmer, covered, until hot, about 5 minutes. (DO NOT BOIL). Spoon into bowls. Crumble bacon and sprinkle over soup. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 8 cups.

CELERY CLAM BISQUE

- 4 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 cup finely chopped onions
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1 can (8 ounces) minced clams
- 1 bottle (8 fluid ounces) clam juice
- Boiling water
- 2 chicken bouillon cubes
- 4 sprigs parsley
- 1 small bay leaf
- 1/2 teaspoon thyme leaves
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ground white pepper
- 4 cups thinly sliced celery
- 1 cup heavy cream or light cream
- 2 eggs yolks

In large saucepan, melt butter. Add onions; saute until transparent, about 5 minutes (do not brown). Add flour; cook and stir for 2 minutes. Drain clams, reserving liquid; set clams aside. Combine clam liquid, clam juice and boiling water to measure 1 1/4 quarts. Stir into saucepan. Add bouillon cubes, parsley, bay leaf, thyme, salt and white pepper. Bring to boil. Add celery. Reduce heat and simmer, covered, until celery is crisp-tender, 20 to 25 minutes. Remove parsley and bay leaf. Add reserved clams. Mix cream with egg yolks. Stir some hot liquid into cream mixture; return all to saucepan, stirring constantly. Cook and stir constantly, until thickened, about 2 minutes. Do not boil. Serve garnished with celery leaves, if desired. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 2 1/4 quarts.

Cheese Patties Brunch Favorite

Confirmed meat-lovers are trying more non-meat dishes for a variety of reasons, with the No. 1 reason probably being the budget. Another is the interest in vegetarian-type foods.

Savory British cheese patties, known in England as Glamorgan sausages, make a good brunch dish. Serve this economical, high protein dish with broiled tomatoes and crusty bread.

BRITISH CHEESE PATTIES

- 4 cups soft bread crumbs, divided
- 2-3 cup grated Swiss cheese
- 2-3 cup grated Cheddar cheese
- 1/4 cup minced scallions (green onions)
- 4 teaspoons chopped parsley
- 1/4 teaspoon ground pepper
- 4 eggs, separated
- 2 tablespoons plus 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1 1/2 tablespoons water
- 2 teaspoons prepared mustard
- 4 teaspoons water
- 1/4 cup salad oil

In large bowl, combine 2 cups of the bread crumbs, Swiss cheese, Cheddar cheese, scallions, parsley, black pepper, egg yolks, Worcestershire sauce, 1 1/2 tablespoons water and mustard. Divide mixture into 12 equal portions; form each portion into a patty. In a shallow bowl, lightly beat egg whites with 4 teaspoons water. Dip each patty into egg white mixture then into remaining 2 cups bread crumbs, coating completely.

In large skillet, heat oil until hot. Add patties; brown on both sides, about 5 minutes. Serve with broiled tomatoes and bacon, if desired. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 12 patties.
